Swindlers Ply Their Trade On the Great Ocean Liners

Before an ocean liner docked at New York the other day, says the Toronto Mail and Empire, a private detective in the employ of the company was on board, lined up a group of three or four well-known gamblers and forced them to disgorge several thousand dollars which they had won at cards from a passenger. The gamblers, having a record, and fearing a criminal charge, handed over their loot. It is said that the business of swindling passengers on trans-Atlantic steamers is raging on an unprecedented scale in this year of unprecedented ocean traffic. Organized gangs cross and recross the ocean a dozen times a year, operating on most of the big vessels, and plundering their victims of enormous sums. Now then a victim lets out a roar, and again a victim is being plied. More often than not the person who knows he has been cheated refrains from publishing the fact, fearing the subsequent derision. Often, too, the victims never know that they have been defrauded. They merely suppose that they have been the victims of bad luck. If they can afford their losses they keep silent.

gamblers quite recently. Most of the lawyers called on vessels which had been virtually chartered for the occasion, but others went on other ships, and these were the victims. One of them, reported by a pursuer, identified only as "weary" of George Miller in the Springfield Republican, is said to be a criminal lawyer of wide reputation who has prosecuted and defended numerous gamblers in his time. Yet he succumbed to ordinary bait and lost a roll. Moreover he was hooked after the pursuer had warned him to be on his guard against the friends with whom he was playing cards. He said that he could protect himself, and the last move in his system of self-protection was to cable home for more money before he left the ship at Southampton. Another member of the association was induced to part with $300 to a stranger of ingenuitous manners and lordly presence in exchange for a guarantee that he and his wife would receive an invitation to a garden party by King George. Naturally, he was unaware that all the members would be invited.

A Delicate Position.
For some time after the war, but to a less extent today, passport regulations did much to limit the depredations of these traveling swindlers. The big steamship companies have always made war upon them when they got the chance. They have refused to book passage for notorious gamblers, but when one of them turns up traveling upon an assumed name after the ship has put to sea, it cannot turn back to land him. Frequently captains and stewards have warned passengers against certain other passengers, and all of them given general warnings against the practice of playing cards for money with strangers, but these warnings amount to little or nothing. Swindlers are somewhat chary about being specific in their warnings, since one of them made a mistake and told passengers he was one of the crew of a number who he denounced as a crook but who turned out to be a French business man of extraordinary respectability. Naturally this made trouble for both the captain and the steamship line, and it is now the custom for ship officers to be specific only in the case of gamblers whom they know to have been in the hands of the police.

In the Staterooms.
The officers are also faced with the fact that the most serious gambling takes place in the staterooms, and in a staterooming room. If men want to gamble for their bets, they prefer to do it in privacy rather than in the presence of the occupants of the stateroom. To intrude on one of these games, indeed to enter a stateroom without invitation, is something that a passenger would do, even if he knew that a big game is going on. He may blunderingly interrupt a couple of millionaires or captains of industry of similar rude forefathers who would subsequently engulf him with imprecations and loss of employment. It is taken for granted that most recent shipboard are on the lookout for a little relaxation. Some of them find it in the lures of the fair sex. Excess in any of these diversions is discouraged on ship board, but none of them is absolutely forbidden, and the difficulty is in knowing where the line should be drawn. If the man does not know he is hardly fair to call upon the captain to draw it.

Lawyers as Victims.
It is reported that several members of the American Bar Association provided rich prey for the transatlantic

GERMAN DECIPHERERS BABYLONIAN MUSIC COMPOSED 800 B. C.
Berlin, Aug. 21.—(By mail.)—Babylonian music written about the year 800 B. C., which has been deciphered by Dr. Kurt Sachs, curator of the instruments collection in the Berlin high school of music, apparently was played on a 22-string harp, and the notes have many characteristic similarities to the Chinese music of today. The instrument on which the music was played used octaves, double octaves and cordis and fourths and fifths.
Details of the task of deciphering the music were described before the Prussian Academy of Science recently by Professor Strumpf from it had furnished by Dr. Sachs. The earthenware tablet upon which the music had been recorded has been found in the middle of the section of the Prussian State Museum. In size it is roughly equal to five ordinary bricks. The tablet conceived the idea that the first column might be intended to express a rhythm or even time, and Doctor Sachs, taking up this theory as a practical musician and antiquarian, began to test it. In 70 lines he found 62 different syllables. By a process of condensation Dr. Sachs reduced all the sounds and after overcoming a great many other difficulties he concluded that the cuneiform notation represented a polyphonic system.

NO MORE ASTHMA AND HAY FEVER!
"I want every Asthma sufferer in this city to try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Schiffmann announces. "Go to your druggist and get a package of my Asthma and Hay Fever, and should it fail to give instant relief, the druggist will cheerfully refund your money without any question whatever." The Doctor says further: "No matter how violent the attack, how obstinate the case, or what else has been tried, my Asthma and Hay Fever remedies abundantly prove what my remedy has done, and I know it will do the same for others. I am so positively certain that it will produce instant relief and will be found the best remedy ever used that I have no fears of authorizing these druggists to give this guarantee, or of their being called upon for the refunding of money."
No risk whatever is run in buying this remedy under this positive guarantee, and such a personal trial will prove more conclusively than a "free sample" could possibly prove.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF FRANCISCANS
(United Press)
Antebury, Sept. 10.—The 700th anniversary of the coming of the Franciscan Friars to England was celebrated here today, under the presidency of Cardinal Bourne, the head of the Roman Catholic church in England.
Antebury was the place where the Franciscan Friars made their first English settlement in 1224. They arrived at Dover on September 10 and proceeded straightway to this place. Within a few weeks they had made additional settlements in London and Oxford, and within 30 years they had spread throughout the country, bringing a great revival of religion.
According to the Franciscans, their order championed popular liberties against the highly arbitrary rule of Henry III. At Oxford they established a famous theological school from which in later years came Roger Bacon, Duns Scotus and other celebrated schoolmen.

98 OUT OF EVERY 100 WOMEN BENEFITED
An Absolutely Reliable Statement Important to Every Woman
Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. 50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"
Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.
98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.
This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.
Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100.
Did you ever hear anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.
It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure-all—one that is made by the most scientific process; not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 50 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it.
Its reliability and recognized efficiency has gained for it a sale in almost every country in the world—leading all others.

FEDERAL ASSISTANCE FOR HEALTH

The provincial health authorities in Ontario through the Public Health Journal claim that in the discussions which have resulted from the attitude of the Dominion Government toward the general disease grant to the provinces some mention has been made of immigration and the suggestion has been made that immigration by the cradle of native Canadians is perhaps as important as adult immigration from foreign countries.

Another phase of the question, however, has not been discussed. The Dominion Government undertakes to encourage immigration to Canada and to some degree approve the type of immigrant admitted. Under present conditions all immigrants are not desirable from a social point of view and some are diseased.

Phillips-Gorham.

The Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help in Rotherham was the scene of a pretty wedding at 9 o'clock this morning when Rev. Raymond McCarthy, who was celebrant at nuptial mass, united in marriage Miss Bessie M. Gorham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Gorham, and Arthur H. Phillips, a popular employe of Royden Foley, Asst. to the bride, while Mrs. E. J. Cronin sang appropriate hymns. A large number of relatives and friends of the popular young couple assembled at the church, which was artistically decorated with potted plants and autumn leaves. The bride wore a becoming traveling suit of navy blue with polret twill, a smart French hat, an Isabella fox fur, and carried a beautiful bouquet of Ophelia roses. W. P. Phillips and Miss Rose Phillips, brother and sister of the groom, were the attendants. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left on a motor trip through the province and on their return will reside at 37 Main street. They were the recipients of a large number of beautiful presents.

Bennett-Jordan.

Loch Lomond, Sept. 8.—A quiet wedding took place on Aug. 30, 1924, in Newburyport, Mass., when the Rev. Edward Powell solemnized the marriage of Miss Alice Marion Jordan, second daughter of Mrs. and the late Thomas P. Jordan, of Loch Lomond, St. John county, to Guy Bennett, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bride was attired in a grey broadcloth suit and grey silk hat. After the ceremony the young people left for their home in Clermont avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Jackson-Hamilton.

Moncton, Sept. 9.—The marriage took place at 11 o'clock this morning at St. Martin's-in-the-Wood, Shediac Cape, of Miss Margaret Hamilton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hamilton, of Montreal, niece of the late Judge Hamilton, and George C. Jackson, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal. The ceremony which was performed in the presence of a large gathering was solemnized by Rev. John Y. Young, rector of the St. John Mission church, assisted by Rev. W. Tomlin, rector of St. Martin's-in-the-Wood, a church founded and endowed by the ancestors of the bride who were among the first settlers at Shediac Cape.

FALL EXPOSITION

There's a warmth in the very colorings of the Suits, Coats and Frocks that will brighten even the dreariest fall and winter days. Deep browns such as Liberia, casseroles and teakwood—others in various wine shades with a touch of red in them; also squirrel, nutria and pewter greys are lovely in silky-surfaced cloths which compose the various outer garments of the fall and winter wardrobe. Frocks that bear tunics or other suggestions of the "Directoire" period are new and very interesting to fashion-loving women.

You Are Cordially Invited to See These Newest Modes---Thursday and Friday (Costume Department, 2nd floor.)

Coats And Wraps Are Very Beautiful
Here are Cloth Coats and Fur Trimmed Wraps wealthy in charm. Styles are fashion's latest. They have attractions beyond their fine lines, colors and trimmings for they present splendid values. Some of the smartest coat fabrics have a suede-like texture, beautifully rich and soft and are showing in the new bronze tones, pewter greys, shutter grey etc. The Vest-Coat—a garment suggesting coat and frock is a whim fashion proudly introduces. Many Coats and Wraps are made the more luxurious by ample fur collars, cuffs and other lovely trimming touches. Tuxedo revers of fur are a very fascinating feature.

Frocks of Fall Are Straight And Slim
For evening hours you'll find frocks in a glorious riot of rich fuchsia shades with ostrich fluttering from them. For afternoon wear there are pleated crepes, beltless frocks of black satin with colorful embroidery—and other varieties too numerous to tell about. The supple silks, deft drapings and smooth, slim lines of these frocks enhance the charm of the lithe figure. New necklines add much to their becomingness for you may choose from square, oval, V or bateau cuts—the most flattering to your type. Patterns worked in glittering beads are also featured in the new fall frocks showing here on our opening days.

Beautiful Blouses Are Beaded
Beaded Blouses are assuming new importance this fall, and are seen in rare shades to match or harmonize with the fabrics of coats, suits and wraps. They're smart enough and dressy enough to be worn at almost any informal gathering and lend just the right brightening touch to the costume ensemble. You'll think they are the most fascinating blouses you have seen in years.

Costume Coats Are Longer
No longer does the short costume coat hold sway—three-quarter coats are showing on the very smartest suits this autumn. Many of the newest models are youthfully becoming as well as charmingly adaptable to practically any daytime occasion. You're bound to like the straight tailored lines and fine finish which helps to characterize these suits as Fashion's own. The long tight sleeve with flaring cuff is a popular feature and will be found on some of the smartest models. You'll really need to see these suits to appreciate their true value to the autumn wardrobe.

Luxurious Furs
Never have fur garments been lovelier—you'll say that too when you see them. We are showing a collection here of which we feel justly proud. Beautiful Coats in the new Zealand Beaver are vastly becoming and very moderately priced. We can show you too, very handsome coats in Persian Lamb, Muskrat, Hudson Seal, Blended Opossum and other fine furs; plain or trimmed with some rich contrasting fur. Every detail of finish, style, lining and color blending has been carefully considered in the making of these fur garments. Neck Pieces in a large variety also await your selection.

Orchestral Program
Thursday 10 to 12 a.m.; 3 to 5 p.m.
Friday 3 to 5.30 p.m.

Handbags Favored
There's variety aplenty in fashion's favorites in Handbags and purses. Along smart promenades this autumn will be noticed Envelope purses in many sizes and in many colorings. The favorite, it is rumored will be the flat bag to carry under one's arm. It is now showing in our fancy goods department along with other attractive kinds—every one of them fashionable.

Hosiery Style-Right
Hosiery need not be any special kind to be style-right this season as there is a latitude for choice among various style-right kinds. Silks in the lighter shades still have a popular demand but many well dressed women are preferring hosiery to match their different suits and frocks. For sports wear, wool stockings are both practical and good-looking.

New Fabrics You'll Hear About

DEATHS
Mrs. George H. Brown.
The death of Mrs. George H. Brown occurred on Monday at her home in Arlington, Mass., after an illness of a year. Many friends in St. John will greatly regret her passing. She is survived by one son, Ronald, at home, and three sisters, Mrs. R. T. Woodson and the Misses C. C. and Mary Gunn, of this city, and one brother, T. J. Gunn, of St. John. Mrs. Brown, Miss Mary Gunn and Mr. Gunn left for Arlington yesterday to attend the funeral, which will take place on Wednesday at Mount Auburn chapel.
Robert McCarthy.
Many friends will be greatly shocked to learn of the death of Robert McCarthy, of 108 St. James street, which occurred last night following a short illness. Mr. McCarthy had been in falling health for some time but he was able to be up and about and had attended church on Sunday. Acute conditions developed and he died following an operation. He had been employed in the appraisers' room at the Customs house and had been on the Customs house staff for the last 24 years.
Mr. McCarthy was one of the oldest members of the City Cornet Band, having been connected with that organization for about 88 years. He was also a noted athlete in his younger days and had wide popularity. He was of a quiet disposition and sterling character and had a host of friends. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of the Cathedral parish and a devout Catholic. He is survived by his wife, one brother, James, in the city employ, and two sisters, Miss Margaret McCarthy and Mrs. James McMahon, both of New York. His sisters are visiting in St. John at present. The arrangements for the funeral will be announced today.

Social Notes of Interest

Yesterday was a gala day in Canada Club annals when the delegates to the association convention from all over Canada and visitors from the United States were entertained at "The Grove," the beautiful home of Major-General H. H. McLean, Robbessy. The sun, which had seemed reluctant to show its approval of activities in the morning, beamed graciously for the afternoon's delightful social hour. Major-General McLean, vice-president and president of the St. John Women's Club, and H. A. Porter, national president, received the guests in the library with its lovely decorations of roses and asters tastefully arranged in cut glass bowls. His Honor Lieutenant-Governor W. F. Todd and Mrs. Todd, with their secretary, R. S. Barker, Mrs. A. E. Vesey, Mrs. Todd's personal friend, and their guests, Mrs. Huddleston, Orono, Me., and Mrs. Danforth, Skowhegan, Me., and the Governor's A. D. C., Major George Kneffe, led the procession in the long line of guests. They were cordially received and soon were moving about the grounds to investigate the beauty spots of "The Grove." Some enjoyed bowling on the green while others basked in the warmth of the large sun parlor. Tea was served in the large marquee provided by Captain A. J. Mulcahy and his committee. Mrs. Horace A. Porter, Miss Grace Leavitt, Mrs. H. A. Powell and Mrs. F. J. Ryan presided over the coffee and tea urns. Among those who served were daintily gowned young matrons and girls of Robbessy, as follows: Mrs. H. N. Stetson, Mrs. H. H. McLean, Jr., Mrs. Benjamin Lambord, Miss Helen Allison, Miss Lois Fairweather, Miss Margaret Page, Miss Frances Frith, Miss Kathleen Blanchet, Miss Frances Robinson, Miss Betty Thomson, Miss Florence Puddington, Miss Ruth Harrison and Miss Frances Cudlipp. Those who assisted in every department were Mrs. William McAvity, Mrs. D. F. Mahoney, Mrs. H. C. Peck, Mrs. T. H. Carter, Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell, Mrs. Charles Gordon, Mrs. Fred C. Heathey, Mrs. W. P. Bonnell, Mrs. F. W. Daniel, Mrs. W. B. Tennant, Miss Louise Stewart, Mrs. R. B. Travis, Mrs. Henry Page, Misses Travers, Mrs. J. R. Yanwart, Mrs. C. B. Allan, Mrs. J. Royden Thomson, Mrs. A. K. Harvie. In the evening at the reception at Pythian Castle Mrs. John H. Thomson, Mrs. George F. Smith, Mrs. D. C. Dearden and Mrs. E. L. Rising presided over the tea and coffee. Others who assisted in serving were the ladies who acted in the afternoon and Miss Winifred I. Blair, the St. John girl who was chosen "Miss Canada" last year; Mrs. J. de V. Chipman, Mrs. Andrew McDonald, Miss Leslie Pickett, Miss Barbara Dobson, Mrs. J. Charlton Berrie, Mrs. R. Max McCarty, Miss Eva McCourty, Miss Daphne Paterson, Miss Ethel Hazen Jarvis and Mrs. W. P. Bonnell. Mrs. J. Royden Thomson and Mrs. Chipman served the ices.

In the evening at Pythian Castle the reception was semi-formal, with Mrs. E. Atherton Smith receiving, assisted by H. A. Porter, W. J. S. Myles, president of the local men's club and Mrs. Allan G. McAvity, who did valiant service during Mrs. Smith's absence last winter. Mrs. Smith wore a handsome gown of Egyptian wrought silver, made in Cairo, draped over a lovely shade of French blue crepe satin. Her shawl, also Egyptian, was of the color of her underdress of blue with wonderful shades of rose flowers woven into the fabric. With this Mrs. Smith wore a long necklace of blue, which made a symphony of richness, in design and effect. Mrs. W. F. Todd, who was in a lovely gown of deep blue with cut velvet of silver gray applique and rhinestone trimmings, arrived with her husband, the Lieutenant Governor, a little after 9 o'clock. The orchestra played the National Anthem. Mrs. Huddleston was in gray lace over gray satin and Mrs. Danforth was in black Spanish net lace over rose satin. Mrs. McAvity wore a pretty gown of apple green with steel embroidery. Miss Winifred I. Blair was charming in American Beauty velvet, with very effective black velvet picture hat.

Among the guests at the afternoon and evening functions were the following delegates from all over Canada and visitors from the United States: From Hamilton, Mrs. James Thomson, acting president for Miss Eugenie Gibson, daughter of Lady Gibson, who is unable to be present at the convention; Colonel Gordon Weir, Mrs. Thomson's brother; Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlop, Miss Bessie Vallance, Mrs. S. O. Greening, Mrs. McLaughlin, Miss Shaw, Mr. C. H. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hamilton, Miss McLean, Eugene Hisey, manager of the Standard Bank in Hamilton; from Toronto, Mrs. Grabbill, Mrs. T. H. HERE'S SOME LATE NEWS OF THE STYLES IN MILLINERY

(Written for the United Press.)
New York, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(United Press.)—The in-between hat this year will not be a "cloche." For as far as fashions go the cloche is dead. Perhaps no other style stemmed so eulged to the "bobbed" head and women will be reluctant to give it up. "What's what" in Paris soon becomes "what's what" in America and the Parisians have completely done away with all hats which turn upwards in back, front or at the side to suit the wearer.

American milliners are showing the Parisian shape in modified degree, as well as the new fall millinery shade which is a stiff high crown. Round, head-tight crowns, however, are not being shown by smart milliners. Small hats will remain in favor in America as long as women wear short hair. This season they all show the small brim which turns up in front or at the sides with the short back.

Millinery Fabrics.

Black hatters' plush is the most important of fall millinery materials and may either form the entire hat or be used with black satin or felt. Whether women will choose this heavy material for the in-between season hat is yet to be seen, although its later popularity is assured.

Felts are still popular. Two shaded felt combinations are new, such as the black felt crown upper brim with the Madonnas blue felt facing. Brims of felt hats are slashed in various ways. Often they form winged points at the sides or in the back. Brick is a new felt shade sponsored for the tailored costume. Replacing the cloche felts which were so popular with the younger girls are introduced little poke shapes which have rather wide front brims and are almost brimless at the back. A lovely model of this type is made of orchid felt with folds of fuchsia and violet velvet extending about the crown.

Heavy ribbed ribbon forms many early models and ribbon plays an important part in millinery this season. Black satin also is favored for early wear, although it is usually combined with black velvet. For instance, a hat with a stiff crown of black satin has its tiny brim faced with scalloped-edged velvet and a scalloped band of velvet extending about the crown.

Colors.

Black will be as popular as ever this season for millinery purposes. Browns and all wood shades will be extensively worn. Blonde is considered a good shade for the early fall hat and is being worn in Paris at present. Pansy Purple and Venetian Fuchsia hats are shown in almost every Fifth Avenue shop window, but whether these shades are real forerunners of fashion remains to be seen. One would naturally suppose such tones to be a bit mature for the American woman, although everything has been done to insure their popularity and to add youthfulness. In most cases grades tones are used—three blended tones of one color—and this gives a more youthful effect.

Russet is a new fall millinery shade which will doubtless have many followers. Black combined with vivid colored embroidery or trimming is well liked by milliners.

Trimming.

Ostrich pompons, algettes and fancies of all sorts are to be worn this season. Graded color effects in ostrich are new and quite lovely. Feathers in small pompon effects will be among the most effective trims.

Ribbons ranging from very wide to very narrow types will be used in numbers. It has been a long time since the very wide ribbon bow has been used as a hat trim, but this season finds it in favor.

Toadstool Trim.

Among the newest of ribbon trims are the toadstool effects which are made from very narrow ribbon set on end and closely massed together so it resembles the under side of a toadstool. The ribbon is sewed onto buckram which is then attached to the hat.

Fur Coacards.

From Paris comes the fur coacards which adorn the sports hats. Bardsuki or chipmunk is a favorite coacard for the felt hat. Flat, close clipped fur is cut into medallion and applique

SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

JACK DEMPSEY TO WITNESS BIG BOUT

World's Champion Will be an Interested Spectator Tomorrow Night.

New York, Sept. 10.—(United Press)—Among the thousands at the ringside in Jersey City tomorrow night no one will be more interested in the battle between Harry Wills and Louis Angelo Firpo than the heavyweight champion, Jack Dempsey.

As an exhibition of mechanical ability, the champion might be only passively interested because he already has fought Firpo and he certainly knows plenty about Wills. But the business factor, as it pertains to his future activity should be of acute concern to Dempsey.

Firpo and Wills are meeting ostensibly for the purpose of deciding the next victim for the champion. If it is a good fight, if either one of the big cauliflowerers make a good showing it will mean another huge purse for the champion. If the fight should go the limit with the winner through by a "jersey decision" the situation will be just as complicated as it is now.

Perhaps Dempsey might find consolation in that case with the hope that he could meet both of them, but one year hardly will hold two big heavyweight classics and result in a profit for all concerned.

Wills would become a great drawing card against the champion if he should happen to polish off the South Sea Islander in a few rounds. The big colored fighter has been next in line to Dempsey for years, but recently his priority rights to a championship battle have gone back, that his hands are bad and that he is not the fighter he was several years back.

Despite the fact that he has already been beaten by the champion, Firpo would still all any arena in the country in a return bout against Dempsey, because he knocked Dempsey to his knees twice in that memorable battle last fall and slugged through the ropes into the press box. If Firpo wins the ballyhoo will be all ready to spring because it can be pointed out with some justification that the Argentinian is a better fighter than he was a year ago and that he could give the champion a better fight.

Dempsey has been insisting that he wants to get back to his regular business. He says he is tired of fiddling around in the ring and on the stage. Perhaps Dempsey is sincere, but it seems peculiar that he does most of his big talking just before one of his fights. The last bunch of pictures he made are now ready for the screen and the champion is running around the country showing one and all that he is ready to hop into the ring on a moment's notice and fight anyone the "public" suggests. The "public" as referred to by prizefighters is sort of an unknown quantity, excepting where it pertains to the gate.

In justice to Dempsey, it must be considered that he has never shown any inclination to dodge any of his challengers. Partisan supporters of Wills have been yelling for years that Dempsey had drawn the color-line and that he was afraid to meet the former steele. There was never any reason to believe that Dempsey feared Wills, in fact, it is known that he always has considered Wills to be easier than any of his rivals. Dempsey didn't fight Wills because of political obstacles and if Wills comes out of the fight tomorrow night the winner, the promoters will have a tough time picking a spot for the match.

Politicians who keep an eye on boxing are hoping that Firpo wins because it will eliminate Wills from consideration and will remove that pesky "color-line" argument that is hard to answer when vote-getting time arrives. Dempsey, despite his moans to the contrary, could have had a fight this year. He could have any number of fights if he wouldn't demand a million dollars for a few minutes' work. He stayed out of the ring this summer, not because he feared any of the big stars he might have met but because the producers who made his picture insisted that he remain out of the ring for at least six months after his pictures were released.

A million dollars of pictures featuring a former champion would not be worth 10 cents, and Firpo showed last summer that a champion can become a former champion with one good sock, good as he may be.

the same condition to whip Firpo again or to beat Wills if he is called upon to do a trial contest.

Gibbons could give him a good fight, and perhaps Jack Renault, his former sparring partner, could be built up into the role of a trial contender. Gibbons has class enough to draw as many as Bill Brennan did in the Garden.

Dempsey ought to be willing to engage in a few minor bouts and work into the role of a trial contender. Gibbons has class enough to draw as many as Bill Brennan did in the Garden.

Firpo concluded his training yesterday with a final workout against Bill Harte. Wills rounded out his two months of preparation at Southampton with a brisk walk and then motored, with his wife and retinue, to his home in Harlem.

Tomorrow morning both will go to Jersey City to weigh in before the New Jersey Boxing Commission. Wills will occupy a cottage near the arena and Firpo will go to the Elks Club to remain until he leaves for the ring.

Legal efforts to prevent the bout apparently failed with the refusal of President Coolidge and Governor Sizer of New Jersey to interfere with the machinery of the Department of Labor and the New Jersey Boxing Commission.

FIRPO AND WILLS READY FOR BATTLE

Much Speculation as to Winner of Thursday Nights Ring Battle.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The Wild Bull of the Pampas and the Brown Panther of New Orleans paw and glide in their cages today, awaiting the meeting at Boyle's Thirty Acres tomorrow night which will provide an opponent for Dempsey, the killer.

Ticket sales, stemmed for days by the threat of intervention increased today and Promoter Tex Rickard indicated that 60,000 spectators would probably furnish $800,000 receipts for the bout. Unsettled weather now looms as the only possible interference with plans for the fight, which Rickard stated, would be held on Friday.

DOGGERS' STREAK SETS NEW MARK

Fifteen Straight was Big League Mark for the Season.

The phenomenal winning streak of the Brooklyn Robins, which began with Bill Doak's victory over the Cardinals on Aug. 25, brought them close to the top of the National League and also set a number of modern times, and also came within one of tying the modern major league record of sixteen, established by Rube Waddell of the Athletics on July 29, 1908.

Each has hung up seven victories, Doak taking the first game from Boston yesterday and winning the last of Brooklyn's consecutive triumphs. Grimes is not far behind these two with six games to his credit, followed by Ehrhardt with four, and Reuther, Osborne, Dewart and Hollingsworth with one each.

It is true that the Robins' pennant star is in ascendancy in presidential elections, but also took the Boston Braves in 1916 and 1920, the present dash may result in their third flag. However, not since 1914 has there been a similar case of a team coming from behind in the waning days of the season, after being more than seven games in the race, and fighting his way to within a few points of the league leaders.

YACHT PASTIME WINS FINAL RACE

Also Captures Cup for the Highest Number of Points in Series.

The final race for the 30-inch class boats was sailed on Lily Lake last evening by members of the St. John Model Yacht Club. It was the sixth series for the class and was won by the "Pastime," owned by W. Weir, who not only won the race but won the cup, having the highest number of points for the season.

There was a good stiff breeze blowing with occasional heavy puffs of wind. The course called for a long stretch up the Lake and a run home. Four boats started and the "Pastime," the "Priscilla," owned by C. F. Mofard, and the "Canada," by C. L. Carvell, were quite close going to the finish mark.

The following is the standing of the 30-inch class yachts for the six series according to points:

BIG GOLF CLASSIC AT FRENCH LICK

Many Champions Will Compete—Purse of $5,000 at Stake.

French, Lick, Ind., Sept. 10.—(United Press) Champions past and present among the professional golfers of America will meet here in the next big event of the golf season—the Professional Golfers' Association championship meet, Sept. 14 to 20.

The field will comprise 64 of the great golfing stars of the country who are able by sheer ability to fight their way through their sectional tournaments.

One man alone will enter the lists without the qualifying test, Gene Sarason, the little Italian-American, who holds the P. G. A. championship, won from Walter Hagen last year after a sensational battle at Pelham.

Hagen, this year the winner of the British open in one of the greatest nine-hole finishes in the history of golf competition, will be here, hopeful of winning.

There will also be Cyril Walker, winner of the American open at Oakland Hills, Detroit, in June. The critics, because of the great form he has shown in recent tournaments and because of the handy fashion in which he won at Detroit, are giving him a chance to triumph at French Lick. There is much similarity in the French Lick course and the Oakland Hills links.

Then there is little Bobby Cruickshank, who finished a tie in 1923 with Bobby Jones in the national open to less in the playoff. Cruickshank is always dangerous, as shown by his recent win of the Colorado open.

In the list of starters will also be Mike Brady, Johnny Farrell, Long Jim Barnes, Freddy McLeod, and Bill McIlhenn.

The purse at the meet will be $5,000 donated by Thomas Taggart, president of the French Lick Springs Hotel Co. The winner will receive a purse of $5,000 donated by Thomas Taggart, president of the French Lick Springs Hotel Co. The winner will receive a purse of $500 and a gold medal.

The remainder of the purse will be divided among the various contestants. The course will be in fine shape for the tourney.
