SENSATIONS IN COURT TODAY

Juror Scammell Discussed Greek Case Out of Court CAUSES A FUSS

Decided, However, to Go On With Trial—Morning Paper Censured by Judge Forbes—Crown Case Against Meritis Closed.

Hearing in the second trial of George Mirasis, charged with selling Free Speech, was resumed this morning before Judge Forbes. The courtroom was crowded. A number of spectators were sprung by the attorney-general and the proceedings for a time were very lively.

Before the case was commenced, Attorney-General Hazen told the court that he had been informed by the chief of police that one of the jurors, S. W. Scammell, had discussed the case in a street car after leaving the court yesterday and had positively expressed his sentiments in sympathy with the accused Greek. Mr. Scammell was called on to explain by Judge Forbes, and admitted talking about the matter, but denied saying that he would vote to find the prisoner not guilty.

J. M. Truman was the gentleman with whom Mr. Scammell had spoken regarding the matter, but he was not the chief of police. "I don't remember of stating that the jury would disagree," said Mr. Scammell.

His honor was very much displeased, and expressed his opinions strongly regarding the matter. It would be optional with the court, he said, whether the case would be allowed to proceed or not, and Mr. Hazen could decide for himself.

The attorney-general asked for a few minutes to consider the matter, and then decided to allow the trial to proceed, as it would necessitate considerable delay in expediting a new jury and it would be ten days before he could again be present.

Serious Offense by Sin, Says Judge

Regarding a paragraph in the Sun this morning to the effect that the new jury would disagree, his honor was highly incensed, and called the paragraph a serious offense—contempt of court—and said he would deal with the paper when the trial was over.

Mr. Hazen wished to ask Juror Scammell whether or not, at the conclusion of the trial when the evidence was all in, he could decide in his mind as to the guilt or otherwise of the prisoner.

Mr. Mullin objected but was told by his honor that he had no right to interfere. "Probably, Mr. Mullin, you had better take charge of the court yourself," said his honor.

The question was asked and answered to the effect that he would discharge his duties according to his oath.

Postmaster Seals Called

Edward Sears, postmaster of St. John, was the only witness examined for the prosecution. He testified that he had received a letter from the postmaster general to the effect that Free Speech was prohibited through the mails. He at once went to Mirasis and warned him of the danger in selling the sheet in question.

This evidence was objected to by Mr. Mullin but the objection was overruled. The Greek, in his reply, said the postmaster seemed doubtful as to what course he would pursue. The witness saw the prisoner again and urged him to stop selling Free Speech but was told that he (prisoner) thought it would be all right. The witness then told Mirasis that he would probably be arrested if he did not stop selling the paper. The prisoner seemed very irascible as to what he would do. He told the witness that he made about $80 a month from the sale of the paper.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mullin, as to the "friendly interest" witness took in the prisoner Mr. Sears said he acted in the interest of his office and thought that it was every citizen's duty to help prohibit the sale of the Free Speech. This concluded the case for the crown. Mr. Mullin asked for a few minutes' talk with the prisoner and his request was granted. On returning to the court room the prisoner appeared to be ill and was seen to shiver frequently and in walking to his seat tottered against a table.

Mr. Mullin told the court that he proposed to call the defendant to make a statement. He stated that the witness was a foreigner and had not a thorough knowledge of what he called "high-class language" and also that the meaning of obscene and immoral was unknown to him. Continuing Mr. Mullin said that it must be proven, which as yet it had not been, that the Greek had sold Free Speech (which he admitted was a filthy sheet) knowing it to be detrimental to the moral standing of the community.

REJECT SOME SITES FOR A SANITARIUM

Commission Will Not Say Which, However—May Go Afield to Visit Institutions

The commission appointed by the provincial government to decide upon a suitable site for a sanitarium for persons suffering from tuberculosis, held a meeting last evening in Fredericton, where they further considered the matter of a site, but reached no definite decision.

Dr. McAvenny and Dr. Botsford reported having visited sites at Wolford, Kewick Ridge and near Fredericton Junction.

Dr. J. R. McIntosh, who returned from Fredericton today, after attending the meeting, said that while the sites referred to had been considered, there were also other sites, which had not yet been visited, that the commissioners were desirous of seeing before they made a decision.

Some of the proposed sites had been eliminated altogether, but which ones he was not prepared to say.

Another meeting will be held in the near future, he said, in the meantime some of the members would probably visit institutions abroad to see how they were situated, and get information that would assist them in coming to a decision. Several other sites not as yet examined would also be visited and probably when they met again a definite decision would be reached.

HAD TO LET BOYD'S WIFE GO

In the police court this morning James Boyd was charged with intoxication and resistance. Patrolman Alex. Crawford testified that he took Boyd and his wife into custody at the corner of Brunswick and Brunswick streets for intoxication, and that he was endeavoring to lock both man and woman up without assistance proved so strenuous that he was compelled to devote his energies entirely to the husband and release the wife. Both, he said, kicked and endeavored to break through the door. A fine of $24 or ninety days were imposed. Boyd's wife was in the corridor of the court when the penalty was imposed.

ROBERTSON WILL CASE

In the equity court this morning, before Chief Justice Barker, argument was heard in the case of Smith et al. trustees of Hon John Robertson vs. Eliza Robertson et al. An application was made to the court for directions as to the construction of the late John Robertson's will.

Under the will, certain funds are payable to the heirs, among whom are the children of the late D. D. Robertson, a son of the testator.

The trustees contend that the word "heirs" means simply the children. It is contended on behalf of Mrs. D. D. Robertson that the word is entitled to share with the children.

Bowser S. Smith appeared for the trustees, M. G. Tied for Mrs. Robertson, and W. A. Ewing for the daughters of D. D. Robertson. His Honor reserved judgment.

They have been touring in France and Spain for several months in their automobile. When seen by your correspondent Judge Gary was never brighter," he said. "We are showing our faith in the country and its returning prosperity by spending more than five thousand dollars a month at the present time on our new plant at Gary, Ind. This when completed will be the largest, finest and most economically working plant in the world."

"I can say, without exaggeration, that at present we are employing more than five thousand men there, and at the present time we are increasing the number of employees. In the near future we expect to employ twenty or twenty-five thousand men at this plant alone."

Judge Gary said that the United States Steel Corporation was developing several processes to cheapen the cost of making their finer qualities of steel and that this would enable them to offer good, high grade steel for many purposes where the cost was now prohibitive.

Sheffield, Eng., Aug. 26.—The chamber of commerce tonight gave a dinner in honor of Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation. Judge Gary spoke on the subject of the interdependence of trade conditions in England and the United States. He said that recent movements showed a decided advance in trade in the United States, especially in iron and steel and he therefore thought that England had good reason to be hopeful with regard to the immediate future.

He had no objection to free trade, he declared, provided all countries adopted it but it was not fair that an industry should be protected in one country and not in another. He believed in reciprocal relations between all the countries.

GRAND FALLS POWER CASE

Argument Begun This Morning—May Have Fredericton Session

The hearing before J. N. Winslow, the commissioner appointed by the provincial government to determine the amount of the bond to be furnished by the Grand Falls Power Co. in expropriating lands at Grand Falls, was resumed this morning in the admiralty court chambers.

H. A. Powell, K. C., and Chas. F. Sanford, appeared for the expropriating company, the late D. D. Robertson, and Fred. R. Taylor in the interests of Sir Wm. Van Horne and others who formed the old company and claim proprietary rights and leases which the expropriating company seek to acquire.

It was agreed between counsel that Mr. Powell should start his argument first, to be followed by Col. McLean, and then Mr. Taylor to close the argument. It was also agreed that if any new matter was introduced by either counsel, the opposing ones would have the right to speak again on the subject.

Mr. Powell, in opening his address, cited the acts of assembly under which the expropriating company claimed they had rights for storage purposes, for erecting a dam and to expropriate lands at Grand Falls. He then reviewed the history of the Hayes lease and submitted a plan, which was, however, objected to by Col. McLean, as it was not a certified plan from the crown lands office.

Mr. Taylor also objected, claiming that the plan was not a copy of the one attached to the Hayes lease. There was considerable discussion, and finally Mr. Powell said he would continue his argument on the basis of the plan submitted, and a meeting could be held later in Fredericton to examine original plans in the crown lands office, together with the officials.

Mr. Powell was still speaking when adjournment was made at one o'clock, and he will continue this afternoon.

Russian Boy's Search Brought Him at Last to Canada.

BFC OF THE A PASSION

Through Austria, Germany and America Trace Was Sought—Father Had Disappeared from Home—Heroic Struggles of Lad to Find Him.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The World today says: August Linde, cashier for the Athens Hotel, has found his father after a search that lasted years and extended half way around the world.

The father was a merchant in the Russian government of Volynsk, in the year 1886, possessed of property, a wife, a little boy and girl. One day the father disappeared when August was two years old. Year after year the mother searched Europe for traces of her missing husband. When August was ten he set out to realize a day dream of a home in which his father was restored to the chief place, a dream that became a haunting passion.

His first travels took him in Austria, where he went from town to town, asking every postmaster and every official of the older line. Then he went through Germany from place to place. His mother, in the meantime, with her little girl had sought a new home in New York. After searching Germany, young August searched Scotland in vain.

Finds Him in Canada

He had sailed from Glasgow to New York to join his mother, who had landed in 1888 and was continuing the search for her husband. There came hard times for the little boy. He sold papers in the street of New York, picked up what scanty pennies he could find, and spent what he had made buying postage stamps to write to every postmaster of every capital city in the union. The letters came back with the same monotonous information: "No such Linde was recorded in the city directory."

Eight years ago the boy turned his attention to the Dominion of Canada. He wrote to the postmaster-general and his letter brought the reply that mail had been delivered to a man named Linde, and an address was sent. To this address the lad wrote. No answer ever came, and the youngster was on the verge of suicide.

He debated the question of life and death and the seriousness of the situation. He broke to the postmaster-general and his letter brought the reply that mail had been delivered to a man named Linde, and an address was sent. To this address the lad wrote. No answer ever came, and the youngster was on the verge of suicide.

Keeps a Hotel

In 1897, the mother had died. Her daughter had married a Brooklyn man. As a result of correspondence between the son and the father, August went to Dorchester. He returned on Sunday.

He said last night that he found his father, a man of fifty, with another wife and a family of two. His father, he said, owns a hotel, and has considerable property. Linde says his father brought him to day, and share in his business, but that he refused.

NARROW PARTISANSHIP

The Conservative press and party are much worried over the news from London.

It appears that within a reasonable period, as a result of the declaration of the Canadian parliament, and the imperial defence conference, this country will establish yards for naval construction work.

The Conservatives would like very much to be in a position to control the letting of contracts. Of course they would be perfectly honest about it. The only dishonest persons in Canada, the Conservative organs assure us, are the Liberals.

The Standard this morning is more than usually bitter in its denunciation of the "dishonesty, neglect and incompetence" of the marine department. If the people could be persuaded that Liberals are thieves and Conservatives the soul of honor, the Conservatives would come into power, and the contracts would go to members and supporters of that party.

There is another surprise awaiting the position press. The first one came when it was announced that there was perfect harmony in the imperial defence conference, and that the Canadian delegates were not making any attempt to block the proceedings. The next one will come when the people of Canada renew their expression of confidence in leaders who are not carried off their feet by panic or the forward with the development of a policy which is the best for Canada and for the empire. Prior to the last federal elections the Conservative press and speakers did all that disappointed malignity could do to destroy the reputation of the leaders of the Liberal party, and their muck-raking campaign ended in utter defeat. The same tactics will produce the same result in the next federal campaign. The people are weary of the long professions of men who are not one whit wiser than those whom they denounce. The Conservatives are bitterly disappointed. They had hoped for a hitch in the conference at London, and hailed with delight a rumor that all was not satisfactory. But on the heels of the rumor came the denial, and now they fall back upon the familiar charge that if the Canadian government does consent to take part in a programme of naval defence, the work will be marked by dishonesty, neglect and incompetence. It would be much more creditable for the Conservatives to stand impartial questions from a broad standpoint and frankly give credit where credit is due. It will be time enough to criticise the course of the marine department when that department has begun the projected work. The cables from London do not set out with sufficient definiteness for detailed criticism the course to be pursued, but that the approval of the imperial authorities, and the Canadian government may be relied on to do its part with quite as earnest a desire to produce the best results as would be the case if Mr. Borden instead of Sir Wilfrid Laurier were at the helm.

NAVAL PROGRAMME

If the Canadian Associated Press is well informed, the first step in the new naval programme will be the loan to Canada by the imperial government of two third-class cruisers, one for the Atlantic and the other for the Pacific station, with British officers in command. It is stated that these cruisers will be refitted at Canada's expense, and that the officers will be paid by the Canadian government. Presumably the crews will be purely Canadian. It is also intimated that Canada will begin to make preparations to build cruisers of her own, but an Ottawa despatch to the Telegraph expresses the view that the first orders will be given to British builders. The latter statement seems highly probable, since it must take a considerable time to establish a complete plant for naval construction. Of course it is only a question of time when this country will have its own shipbuilding yards, and this is a matter of special interest to the people of St. John.

Premier Asquith stated in parliament yesterday that both Canada and Australia were anxious that the Pacific fleet should be of appreciable strength, and consist of three squadrons—East Indian, Australian and China. This, of course, is an imperial matter, but the home government will meet the views of the overseas states in regard to it. The whole conference appears to have been of a most cordial nature, and to have drawn much closer the bonds of imperial unity.

FOREST FIRES

An article by James S. Whipple, in the Outlook Magazine, deals in a very interesting way with the cause of forest fires, and suggests a course that should receive much more attention in this province than is at present given to it, although some American owners of timber lands make an effort to carry out such a policy. We quote:

"The question has been asked why there should be so many fires in our American forests when there are so few or none at all in the forests of Europe. The answer is this: When the trees are cut in the forests of Germany, France or Switzerland, the entire material in the tree is marketed and removed, leaving no inflammable litter on the ground. In our American forests, owing to lack of a market for such material fully one-half of the tree—the limbs, smaller branches, twigs and foliage—are left upon the ground where they soon become dry and furnish material for forest fires. In the European forests every part of the tree, including the smallest twigs, is sold. The sale of this minor product constitutes over one-half of the revenue. Hence, when the forester is through with his tree-cutting no inflammable material is left upon the ground. Now, if our American lumbermen could sell the limbs and tops of the trees instead of allowing them to go to waste for lack of a market, they would not be obliged to leave the ground encumbered with the inflammable debris and litter which is such a prolific source of fire, and which ignited is so difficult to extinguish. A glance at any picture showing the parklike appearance of a German forest, and the mass of limbs and tops remaining in an American forest where lumbering had been done, will explain readily why disastrous fires are so apt to occur in this country."

The nearest New Brunswick government has got to having to burn the branches and tops of trees removed is a regulation which says: "The tree shall be topped off as small as five inches in diameter, and the lower limbs of every fallen tree shall be lopped off so that the top will lie flat on the ground to rot."

Long before it rots it becomes as dry as tinder, inviting a spark to produce a destructive conflagration.

The Globe, which always rushes to the defence of the Hazen government, came out yesterday with a statement about road money which is quoted with approval by the morning Conservative organ. In today's Times are given interviews with Comrs. Cochrane and Connolly and James Lowell, M.P.P., which clearly place the responsibility where it belongs. The roads of St. John county are in a bad state, and the government is entirely to blame. The attempt to shift responsibility upon members of the Liberal party is both futile and foolish. Just before the by-election great promises were made, but they have not been fulfilled. The people are being punished for having chosen a representative to their own liking.

The Standard says:—"Hug-the-machine Preston, lately government trade agent in Japan, now promoted to Holland, gives out the statement that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is wanted for the position of Governor General of the Union of South Africa. Mr. Preston probably learned this in Tokyo, where they told him that Botha was coming to Rideau Hall." Does that journal of high imperialism, the Standard, mean to argue that there would be anything wrong with either Sir Wilfrid Laurier or Mr. Botha as a governor-general?

Mr. S. H. Blake of Toronto has made another extraordinary attack upon the "higher critics" in religious matters. With advancing years Mr. Blake is developing an increasing bitterness and intolerance. He is not taken seriously by a sufficiently large number of persons to have an appreciable following—even in Toronto.

If it be true that the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co. has decided in any event to close the Springhill mines for even a short period, the result will be very bad for the strikers, bad for the town, and bad for the consumers of coal.

The Standard quotes an article from the "St. John Globe, Liberal." Is there another new paper in St. John? The ancient Globe is the evening organ of Mr. Hazen—Conservative.

Premier Hazen and the C. P. R. appear to be on unusually friendly terms. But they have not yet conspired to keep the west from depopulating this province by harvest excursions.

IN A SWEATSHOP.

Pent in, and sickening for one wholesome draught.

Of air—God's gift that cities sell so dear. They stifle and stifle. The dim lights fall upon Bent bodies, hollowed bosoms and dead eyes.

Their very mirth is horrible to hear. It is so joyless! Every needle-stroke Knits into dainty fabrics that shall go Where fashion floats the protest and the pain.

Of ravaged lives, of souls denied their food. At last the clock-stroke! From the beating shop The prisoners file, and up and down the street Scatter to huddle humdrum call home.

To sin, to die, or, if it may be, clutch Some pleasure fierce enough to draw the thought.

That on the morrow they must meet again. —Richard Burton, Atlantic Monthly.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

WONDERING.

We often wonder what the man whose wife always ties his necktie for him does when she goes away for a summer vacation.

AT THE SUMMER RESORT.

For two short weeks they spoon and spoon. And talk of love and then Back to their work, they go and hope They'll never meet again.

A HIGH PRICE.

Uncle Eben—"If ye ever visit New York and get tired walking around the city, don't ye go into the stock exchange to rest."

Uncle Eben—"Gracious sakes! There they charge $40,000 for a seat!"—Judge.

KEEPING OUT OF SIGHT.

"Have you seen Brown since he got home?"

"No, he borrowed ten dollars from me to go away on."

INDICATIVE OF SUCCESS.

"They seem to be getting on in the world."

"Yes, indeed. I understand her father has taken up golf."

SATISFIED.

Aeroplane may be fun, Still I'm satisfied If I merely get a seat When I trolley-ride.

A TRICK OFTEN WORKED.

"My dear, the hired girl has quit."

"Why don't you get another?"

"I can't afford to. I've got to keep a line to your mother asking her to visit us. She'll do the housework until we can get another maid."

HAD TWO.

"This was a dreadful storm we had yesterday."

"Which one. Domestic or climatic?"

PECK HIT IT.

Mrs. Peck—"I don't know what we'll do to keep our provisions cool now; ice is so high."

Mr. Peck—"Now looky here, Mary, just get some stuff in the freezer. It's a cold now as it was last winter, you don't need to worry anything about the scarcity of ice."

RUBY AND RUBEN.

A country lover to a maid: In town did send this line: "These ruby lips of thine."

To which the maiden did reply, "Barren in the line."

"I'm sorry, sir, but you'll never press Your Ruby-lips to mine."

COME HOME, MOTHER.

Mother, dear mother, come home from the city and see how the summer has done for me. She is a hatter of reputations, and dead as a door nail. She is a hatter of reputations, and dead as a door nail.

BEHIND HER PAN.

The summer girl is coming back from London and from Paris. She is a hatter of reputations, and dead as a door nail.

REVENGEFUL WATER DEMANDS McDONALD'S LIFE

Stevodore Had Saved Several From Drowning - Is Now Lost Himself

New York, Aug. 26—John McDonald, forty years old, a longshoreman who made several rescues of boys from drowning in the North River during the past month, was drowned while trying to save twelve-year-old Robert Lee from death in the river near the foot of West Twenty-eighth Street. The lad, who lives at No. 216 West Twenty-fifth Street, was later saved by James Flanagan, seventeen years old.

On three occasions during the past month an unknown stevedore has jumped into the river from the piers at Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets and saved boys from drowning. He invariably disappeared after the rescue. Last evening he jumped to the Lee boy's rescue, but was drowned.

ONTARIO FARMS DRAINED FOR WEST

(Toronto News)

The depletion of farm help last week and this by the exodus of thousands to Manitoba and the other western provinces is depicted by Donald Sutherland, director of Colonization, in so far as it means a serious injury to Ontario farmers. "The farms and the farmers of the province are suffering severely through the repeated emigrations of able-bodied men to the western harvest fields," said Mr. Sutherland to The News this morning.

Not that the harvesting itself in Ontario will suffer so much for this week, but it will be practically completed, but the busiest season is after the harvest when the farmers start in to get the soil ready for next year's crops, and rid the ground of weeds. This latter has become a very serious proposition and many farms are gradually becoming choked up with the weeds that our farmers have not sufficient help to destroy.

"The newspapers, I think, do too much advertising of the needs of the west and more men go than are needed. Once they become restless with alluring stories of the prairies, our farmers cannot hold them. Nor are there sufficient immigrants coming to supply the vacancies. Indeed the greater part of those are going on to the west. Perhaps one reason is that the Dominion government is advertising its western lands in free 160 acre lots, whereas they do not hold any in Ontario to give away."

LOST MURILLO FOUND IN WEST

San Francisco, Aug. 26—The famous "Murillo" portrait, "St. Jerome" was found in Mexico, where it disappeared, and for which art lovers have made a wide search, has been found in San Francisco in possession of the heirs of the late General Otto Cressop Ord.

The famous painting of the great painter was sold in Paris in 1860 and was never heard of in Mexico, where it disappeared, and no trace could be found by art lovers. It is believed that General Ord, while traveling in Mexico in 1862, came across the rare work in a cathedral in Mexico City and bought it.

WOULD OPEN SUNDAY GAMES WITH SERMON

Chicago, Aug. 26—A sermon would be a fitting opening to each major league baseball game played on Sunday according to Bruce Barton, son of Justice E. Barton, pastor of the First Congregational church, Oak Park. He says that although he does not favor Sunday baseball, yet he thought it a play feasible.

Barton says he has mentioned the matter to some of the prominent ministers of major league clubs and that in all instances his suggestion had been approved. Barton says that the matter had been approved by both President Charles Murphy of the Chicago Nationals and Charles Ebbets of Brooklyn.

"MEXICAN BILL THE SCOUT" AT STAR

Those who enjoy the pictures that make the blood tingle with real red blood, pictures of dashing horsemen and deeds of desperate daring will be delighted with this strong melodramatic feature at the Star tonight and tomorrow, including the big Saturday matinee.

"Mexican Bill the Scout" is a truly western film in every sense. The other features are Edison's "Closed on Sunday," and the screaming comedy "Hiring a Girl." Extra paid for the matinee. Miss Edwards in a pretty song, and plenty of catchy music.

COVENY GIRL ON THEFT CHARGE

Nine Year Old Arrested for Stealing Pocket Book and Confesses

From an incorrigible little girl who prefers to roam on the streets at unseemly hours, Gertrude Covey, aged 10, it now transpires, is accused of theft. At nine o'clock this morning the girl was arrested at her father's home in Winter street by Sergeant Kilpatrick on suspicion of stealing a purse containing $8 from George Whitenet's apartments in Marsh street on Thursday. The girl was arraigned before Judge Ritchie, and confessed to the theft. She was not acquainted with the Whitenet family, but in her wanderings, entered the house and copying the purse on a bureau, she snatched it and fled.

On the night of August 16, the girl was led to police headquarters, and sheltered for the night, and on another night she was escorted to the North End police station at midnight by a man who found her alone in Main street. She informed the police that she was seeking a friend's home and, becoming confused, was unable to reach her destination. She added that owing to the darkness she was afraid to go home. She was detained at police headquarters temporarily.

James Covey, her twelve-year-old brother, was arrested on August 26 for sleeping under platforms and wandering on the streets, and was allowed to go home with his father.

CHANGES IN REGULATIONS FOR LUMBERMEN

The following is published in the Royal Gazette over the signature of Hon. W. C. H. Grimmer, surveyor-general:—

"Notice is hereby given to licensees of the sawmills in this province of the following additional timber regulations as passed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council:—

"It is provided that in future operations trees shall be sawn down at the swell of the roots instead of being chopped down and that the saw be used instead of the axe in cutting the trees in lengths. The tree shall be topped off as small as five inches in diameter and the lower limbs of every fallen tree shall be lopped off so that the top will lie flat on the ground to rot. Scales will be instructed to scale any and all tops left in the woods up to five inches in diameter. No spruce or pine trees shall be used for skidding or building roads, and if such are used will become a charge against the licensee.

No portable saw mill will be set up on crown land without first obtaining a license from this department.

"The following regulations are also submitted by the survey-general with reference to undersized lumber and the thinning of thickets:—

"When licensees desire to cut undersized spruce on licenses of the crown on the grounds that such spruce, owing to its scrubby growth, would never mature to saw logs, where thickets of spruce exist that require thinning, they shall notify the department when an examination shall be made by competent personnel chosen by the department.

"It is the settled policy of the department that whether permits are granted or not to cut undersized lumber on licenses of the crown, no spruce will be cut in any locality where upon examination of the annual growth it can be shown that such growing spruce would, in 75 years, attain a diameter measurement, breast high, of 14 inches and should any such undersized spruce be cut, the scales will make a separate return of it and the licensee will be charged double stumpage."

REV. W. J. STEWART'S CURE OF AFFLICTED WOMAN IN BOSTON

(Boston Journal)

Many persons yesterday called at the home of Mrs. Mary Zief at 12 Ash street, Chelsea, to investigate for themselves the scientific experiment performed upon Mrs. Zief, whereby she has recovered the use of her limbs, which have been helpless since the Chelsea fire. The details of the experiment which Rev. Dr. W. J. Stewart, a Baptist clergyman, and Dr. William B. Hadden, a Boston physician, and surgeon, performed, were given exclusively in Tuesday's Journal.

When seen by a Journal representative yesterday Mrs. Zief said that, though she was not able to walk, she hoped to do so within a few days. She was able to sit up with little assistance, however, a feat not before accomplished since her misfortune in April, 1908, until the experiment in mental suggestion was tried. The family is Jewish, and as Mrs. Zief talks English imperfectly her little daughter acted as interpreter, Mrs. Zief said:—

"Many of the people who called have smiled knowingly, as though there was no truth in the cure just because I am still confined to bed. But there is no doubt that I am much better, and even if I am never able to walk, what has been accomplished is a godsend to me. Moreover, it is still possible I shall walk, but at present I am obeying the instructions of my doctors."

What a Man or a Store Has Done in the Past is Significant of What It Will Do in the Future

So far as it is in control of his or its own action.

If the Oak Hall clothing store has served you, dollar for dollar, with better merchandise than any other store, for twenty years past; then it is logical to assume that dollar for dollar you will get the best merchandise here again today.

Our salesmen tell us enthusiastically that if the advance showing of fall and winter clothing that we are making is a criterion of what is to follow, then the Oak Hall business ought to jump forward by leaps and bounds.

Owing to the advance in prices of labor and materials many retailers are sure to yield to the temptation to substitute cheaper grades of woollens and less careful workmanship.

This coming season the standard of quality in Oak Hall clothing will be moved up a peg—it will be as near perfection as all these years of experience and high ideals can bring it.
