

HIGH FREIGHT RATES KILLING THE MARITIME

Maritime Board of Trade, in Session at Moncton, Adopts Strong Resolutions.

WANT I. C. R. UNDER DEPT. OF RAILWAYS

Demand That Rates be in Accordance With Terms of Confederation.

Moncton, April 29.—Statements that unless freight rates are re-adjusted in industries in the Maritime Provinces would be killed were made by speakers at a representative meeting of manufacturers and business men at a meeting held here tonight under the auspices of the Maritime Board of Trade and the Maritime Branch of the Manufacturers' Association.

Excessive Freight Rates

Excessive freight rates, prejudicial to Maritime interests was the keynote of nearly all the speakers who claimed that the railway commission had no real jurisdiction over the I. C. R. but that the matter of adjusting freight and passenger rates was still properly in the hands of the Department of Railways.

Angus McLean, Bathurst Lumber Company, president during the first part of the meeting, being succeeded at ten o'clock by W. S. Fisher, of St. John.

The principal speakers included Hon. R. E. Finn, of Halifax, J. E. Walsh, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Toronto, H. J. Logan, K. C., president of the Maritime Board of Trade, St. E. Armstrong, St. John, G. L. Martin, Amherst, Hon. C. W. Robinson, Dr. O. B. Price, M. Lodge, Moncton, and Angus McLean, Bathurst.

Unanimous Resolution

The following resolutions were unanimously passed by the meeting, which was attended by delegates from St. John, Halifax, Fredericton, Woodville, St. Stephen, Grand Falls, and other sections, about eight being present.

Moved by H. J. Logan, Amherst, president of the Maritime Board of Trade, and seconded by G. L. Martin, Amherst, and Albert R. Trite, Salloway, president Maritime Stock Brokers' Association, that this meeting declare that the old Intercolonial should be operated directly under the Department of Railways and that the freight and passenger rates on said road should be made in accordance with the terms and provisions under which Nova Scotia and New Brunswick entered Confederation.

FOREST FIRES AT LAKE PLACID

Five Hundred Men Succeed Finally in Subduing the Outbreak.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., April 29.—A forest fire sweeping the outskirts of Lake Placid today called out virtually all residents in the vicinity to fight the flames which were headed toward the Grand View Hotel. Firemen of Saranac Lake were notified to be prepared for momentary call. Dense clouds of smoke were rolling toward this place. Much damage was feared unless the fire fighters soon got control of the situation.

Five Hundred Firemen

The forest fires were halted finally by 500 volunteer fire fighters at the edge of Lake Placid village. All schools were dismissed and places of business were closed while a fire trench, which eventually stopped the flames was being dug. A watch was being maintained tonight by twelve forest rangers. The fire for the most part was on the land owned by James J. Huron, and Fred Johnson and covered about 35 acres. Much timber cut last winter was destroyed.

Employers Refuse Arbitration Board

Ottawa, April 29.—The Contractors' Association has refused to accede to the request made by the Brotherhood of Carpenters that they submit to a board of arbitration, the dispute which has arisen over the wage question. Officials of the Contractors' Association stated today that a strike on the part of the unions comprised in the building trades would have little or no effect on building construction work in the city, owing to the fact that there is very little doing in this line at present.

FASHION DECREE IN CHURCH

London, April 29.—Because hats with broad brims make it difficult to handle the chalice with safety and reverence, commissioners at St. Cecilia's Church, London, are requested not to wear them by the priest in charge, the Rev. C. M. Francis.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED SAYS HON. MR. MCCURDY

Gov't by 23 Votes Wins Division on Attempt to Cut Militia Estimates.

Ottawa, April 29.—After the House had sat until daylight this morning, the Government this evening decided that on and after Monday it would have daylight by moving the hands of the parliamentary clock an hour for the session in connection with the rest of the clocks in Ottawa. Daylight saving time will be in vogue on and after Monday the Prime Minister announced tonight.

Militia estimates were before the House during most of the day and at times they caused a flurry. Various items came in for opposition by either Liberals or Farmers, and an amendment, in reduction an item of $6,255,000 for Canada's permanent force by $2,000,000 was moved by Major C. G. Power (Quebec South) and defeated by 66 to 37. The item carried after House had resumed in the evening.

Parliamentary Forces

The resolution of the permanent force of the Canadian Militia of Police was brought up by F. S. Cahill (Quebec) who asked whether it had been decided whether the two forces should be consolidated. Hon. J. H. King (Quebec) said that a policy of reduction of law and order, particularly in the West, and it had been decided to continue the two forces, both at reduced strength.

Claimed St. John Favored.

In the evening, the House took up consideration of public works department estimates. A. T. Legat (Kent) protested that an item of $38,500 for public buildings in the province of New Brunswick, $33,500 was being spent in St. John. He wished to know why St. John was so favored.

Hon. F. R. McCurdy replied that it was found this year that most of the essential work was in large centres. No work was being undertaken which was not essential this year. Mr. McCurdy emphasized the need for improvements at the quarantine station at Partridge Island. Bubonic plague and typhus were raging in Europe and special care must be taken to prevent their entry into Canada.

INCOME TAX MAN WILL CATCH ALL IF GIVEN TIME

Evaders of Dues Will Then Have to Pay All Arrears Plus Penalties.

KNOWS SOME MEN ARE DODGING TAX

Card Index System Used to Keep Detailed Record of All Wage Earners.

Montreal, April 29.—No person liable to income tax is going to get away without payment of duty. He may dodge income tax one year, or two years, or even three years, but eventually he will be caught up with and then he will have to pay his full income tax to pay for the whole period, plus penalties and interest," said R. C. Graham, chief inspector of taxation, Ottawa, who was in the city today, looking into the work of income tax collection here.

Keeping a Record

Mr. Graham, explaining the method by which an income tax history of all persons was compiled, showing what their resources were and how they had met their income tax calls. While the record for Montreal was very good, it was known that a number of persons were evading liability. It was stated that between two and two and half millions were taken in here today.

Released Radical Broke His Promise

Toronto, April 29.—Released in the police court yesterday morning, John Cogdell, no longer, who was arrested at the time of the demonstration and fight in front of the City Hall on Monday, was again taken into custody yesterday afternoon by P. C. Tait on a charge of vagrancy. The police claim that Cogdell broke his promise to behave himself by going to the Government Employment Office, Front Street, and urging the unemployed gathered there not to accept farm positions under any consideration.

Premier Withdraws Bill

Toronto, April 29.—In the legislature today, Premier Drury withdrew his amendments to the election act, which among other things provided for the appointment of a chief election officer. The Premier said protests had been made against the bill and he thought it well to hold it over for another session.

Quebec Liquor Law Will Be Attacked

Half Million Dollars Subscribed to Pay Expenses of Test Case.

Montreal, April 29.—The constitutional act of the new Quebec liquor law will be challenged before the local courts early next week, as soon as it has been put in force, according to reports today which stated that a fund of $500,000 is already subscribed by the wholesale liquor merchants and distillers' agents for the purpose. It is claimed the new act conflicts with the common law of the dominion and would not stand the test of the courts.

Ships in Collision Off Sandy Hook

New York, April 29.—In a damage off Sandy Hook tonight, the United States Shipping Board steamer Honnedaga, inward bound from Antwerp, was damaged in collision with the tanker Edward L. Doherty, Jr., outward bound for Tampico in ballast. The Honnedaga reported that her fore peak was torn open and her stem plates bent. She anchored inside the bar. The damage to the tanker, if any, could not be learned. The Honnedaga has a gross tonnage of 2,167.

Expecting Strike of Job Printers

Hamilton, Ont., April 29.—The commercial printers of Hamilton will go on strike Monday morning unless employers consent to a reduction in working hours from 48 to 44 hours a week. A general order has been sent out by the International Typographical Union authorizing the strike, it was announced here today. The walk out will be general, with the exception of Toronto, where the agreement has one month to run. It is claimed the employers two years ago agreed to this forty-four week to become effective beginning May 1st.

SENATOR FOWLER OPPOSES JUDGES ON COMMISSIONS

Cites Ontario Timber Probe as Example of Conditions That May Arise.

SENATOR BENNETT HAS NEW PLAN

Opposition to Measure So Keen That Bill is Allowed to Stand Awhile.

Ottawa, April 29.—Strong criticism of the law which permits judges to act on commissions, particularly on commissions dealing with subjects of a political aspect, was voiced in the Senate today.

The discussion arose over an amendment to the judges act exempting the salary of the chief justice from income tax. Senator Ross, when this bill was in committee, moved an amendment to the act, the effect of which would be to restrict judges to the acceptance of commissions from the Dominion Government only.

Senator Bennett

Senator W. H. Bennett on the other hand, proposed an amendment whereby a judge could not act as a commissioner without the permission of the minister of justice, the permission not to be granted until the minister of justice received a certificate in writing from the chief justice of the court of which the judge nominated for the commission is a member, stating that in his opinion the judicial business of such court will not be delayed or affected by the judge in question acting as a commissioner, even this, however did not go far enough to suit Senator Lynch-Staunton, who moved an amendment designed to prevent judges acting as commissioners at all.

Senator Fowler

The question was debated at considerable length. Senators Fowler, Lynch-Staunton, Belcourt, leading in the contention that judges should not accept commissions in any case, or from any government, provincial or federal, while Senators Girroir and Bennett argued to the contrary.

Senator Fowler in the course of his remarks paid his respects to the Ontario judges conducting the Timber Probe for the Drury Government, declaring that if any evidence were required to demonstrate the undesirability of judges acting on commissions of a semi-political character, the conduct of these two judges abundantly afforded it.

Women and children first was the rule, and the mine sweeper Greobe started for New Bedford with 140 of them. She was followed closely by the destroyer McCalla with 160 other passengers.

It is planned to transfer the remaining 140 passengers tomorrow morning. An effort to boat the vessel will be made at high tide early tomorrow afternoon.

Soviets Thrashed Irish "Ambassador"

Then When Identity Was Discovered They Were Profuse in Their Apologies.

Riga, April 29.—A so-called Irish ambassador to Russia arrived in Murmansk early in April, and being unable to speak Russian, was badly beaten on the train by "Red Guards" and robbed of his money and valuables, according to reports from Petrograd today. He was chipped into jail until his identity was established by an extraordinary committee which questioned him, after which he was sent to Moscow on a special train in company with a number of doctors, whom the commission, after apologizing for the incident, insisted on putting at his disposal to dress his bruises. On the arrival of the "ambassador" at Moscow, the foreign office apologized for the "regrettable incident."

FRANCE READY TO GO ALONE AGAINST FOE

If All Allies Fail She Will Not Abandon Firm Policy.

PARIS EXPECTING ANOTHER OFFER

United States Still Hopeful of Ending Trouble by Negotiations.

Paris, April 29.—A growing certainty that Germany will submit modifications to her reparations proposals in an effort to ward off occupation of the Ruhr region by France, prevails generally in French official circles.

There is a feeling, however, that the present German government will not go far enough to make its offer acceptable, and diplomatic circles substantiate the views expressed in the newspapers that occupation of the Ruhr doubtless will be approved by the London conference of premiers and that actual military movements may be expected some time next week.

Deny U. S. Appeal

London, April 29.—Published reports that Premier Lloyd George, as president member of the supreme council, is inviting the United States to send a representative to tomorrow's meeting here, were denied today at the official residence of the prime minister.

"Such invitation has not been issued, nor is it contemplated," it was said. It is for Washington to take the initiative. The door is open for United States participation, as it always has been.

France to Go Alone

In the event of failure by France to receive the support of her allies, the French Government will proceed at once to the occupation of the Ruhr region, arguing that Germany can as easily present new proposals after as before occupation.

Washington Hopeful

Washington, April 29.—The United States Government still is hopeful that the reparations controversy between Germany and the Allies can be settled by discussion.

This was learned authoritatively tonight after the whole situation had been discussed by President Harding and the cabinet and Secretary Hughes had conferred with Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador, and Signor Riccio, the Italian ambassador.

WANTS TO FLY TO THE ARCTIC

New York Expert Plans Air Voyage to the Arctic Coast.

Edmonton, April 29.—An aerial expedition to the Arctic coast is now the aim of John M. Larson, the New York monopolist, who has returned from his preliminary air trip to Pease River. The plans at first announced for a scouting flight to the oil fields and thereabouts have been enlarged to a much more ambitious exploration scheme and arrangements are being made accordingly.

To Plan Flights

With a flight to the top country in July, Mr. Larson who has returned to Edmonton for the present, will go home to New York in the course of a few weeks, and will come back again in time to fly north early in July. He will then take one of his J. L. planes fitted with the pontoons into the far reaches of the Mackenzie country, and his ultimate destination may be Victoria's Land in the Arctic ocean.

TWO KILLED IN INDIA

Bombay, India, April 29.—Unofficial details of the rioting at Malegaon, which was reported in recent messages to the Times of India, show that two constables were beaten to death and a substitute inspector of police was nearly killed by the same method. The trouble is said to have followed the arrest of a number of tribesmen for having disobeyed an order not to carry their native weapon at public meetings. Misses were imposed on the men and incited their fellow tribesmen.

MRS. PERRY MUST STAND TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

MAGISTRATE ATTACKS NEWSPAPER REPORTS

Declares it is Unfair to Condemn Prisoner on Evidence of Coroner's Court.

Yarmouth, N. S., April 29.—Stipendiary Magistrate Chas. S. Pelton this morning committed Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Perry for trial next June on a charge of murdering her husband, the late Captain Geo. H. Perry, at his home on the night of Feb. 26 last. Manfield Ross, fiancé of Mrs. Perry's daughter, Eleanor, was remanded for trial on the charge that "he, knowing that Clara Elizabeth Perry had committed such crime, did comfort, receive and assist her in escaping justice."

Text of Judgment

"The King vs. Clara Elizabeth Perry, decision of Stipendiary Magistrate on preliminary examination. "After carefully perusing the depositions of the witnesses taken before me on this preliminary examination and the cases submitted by the learned counsel for both Crown and accused, I have come to the conclusion that it is my duty to commit the accused for trial. I do not consider it my duty, and feel that it would be improper for me as a magistrate, to make any comment on the evidence adduced, except to say that I am doubtful in my own mind as to whether some of the evidence tendered is admissible.

"This, however, is a matter for the trial judge to pass upon, and I think there is sufficient evidence, although circumstantial, to send the accused before the grand jury for its action.

Against the Papers

"I wish to express my regret that some of the newspapers of the province have seen fit to publish columns of reports in connection with the case which were largely guesses and hearsay evidence. All these things are, of course, inadmissible as evidence in a British court of justice, but a tremendous amount of harm may be done to an accused person, presumed to be innocent until convicted and found guilty, by the publication of such stories. I do not remember my connection with magisterial work of ever before having seen, in this province, a case where an accused person was condemned in the eyes of the public by the publication of such reports taken before a coroner's jury, purely circumstantial and a large part of it inadmissible, and I would respectfully suggest to the proper authorities that something should be done in the way of explanation, if necessary to prevent a recurrence of this mode of influencing the minds of a jury which has to decide a question of life or death, before the case is properly placed before it. I commit the accused, Clara Elizabeth Perry, to trial.

(Signed)

"CHARLES S. PELTON, Stipendiary Magistrate."

Mrs. Perry after stipendiary Pelton completed the decision held a brief consultation with her solicitor, H. W. E. Landry. Action was then taken to bind over the witnesses for the trial, which will be held in June.

Ross' case will be continued on Monday morning, when several more witnesses are to be heard.

PAVING MAY BE DELAYED

The paving of Douglas Avenue may be delayed some time possibly may not be done this season is the latest report. The New Brunswick Power Co. who agreed to lay a groove of rail, now claim they cannot get the money from the banks, it was reported at City Hall yesterday morning and the matter is being discussed by the powers that be. One view expressed is that this is a move to make the city come to time in regard to the distribution of the Musquash power. It is expected the matter will be further considered at meeting of the Power Co. on Monday.

Preacher Guilty of Crime Against Girl

On First Ballot on First Count Rev. Chas. Steeves' Jury Brings in Verdict.

Special to The Standard Woodstock, N. B., April 29.—The case of Rev. Charles Steeves, charged with having carnal knowledge of Edna Brooker, a girl under 14 years of age, was concluded at tonight's session and the court adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when Judge Barry will sentence the prisoner, James McDonald and Charles Steeves.

The witnesses heard this afternoon for the defence were: Chas. Steeves, the prisoner; George Lloyd, Cecil Brooker and Miles Clarke. Edna Brooker, the father of Miss Brooker, was recalled.

The Jurymen

The following constitutes the jury: A. H. L. Bell, Stanley Hatfield, S. L. Lyndal, James W. Gallagher, Harry Claves, Frank Everett, Edward Spence, Chas. McKinley, Frank Gallagher, Alfred Ball, H. B. Scott, W. B. Stone. The jury was addressed by Rev. G. Sullivan for the prisoner, and R. L. Simons for the crown.

At the evening session, Judge Barry addressed the jury, stating that this was a very serious charge, the punishment for life. He reviewed the evidence, and while perfectly fair to the prisoner, no prisoner ever was so severely dealt with in a judicial way in this county than was Rev. Charles Steeves.

The jury on the first ballot within a few minutes after retirement voted Steeves guilty and reported to the court, through their foreman, Hazen B. Scott, a verdict of guilty in the first count, which reads: "Having carnal knowledge of a girl under 14 years of age."

FRANCE READY TO GO ALONE AGAINST FOE

United States Still Hopeful of Ending Trouble by Negotiations.

(Continued from page 1.) Upon what administration officials held their hopefulness was not disclosed as they continued to maintain absolute silence as to the character of the informal exchanges with the Allied Governments, and also as to the views of the United States on the proposals. It became known, however, that neither Great Britain nor Italy had finally rejected as a basis for possible discussion the German offer. France and Belgium were understood to hold that the proposals as such were unacceptable, but apparently by their informal replies to Mr. Hughes were on such a character as to cause officials here to believe that the door had not been closed to further consideration of a settlement by discussion. The impression gained from here tonight that the next formal move in the controversy would await the outcome of the meeting at London tomorrow of the Allied supreme council.

No Word for Germany

It was made known officially that the United States Government had not communicated to Germany any request for a modification of the proposals, and that Germany had not approached the United States Government with any offer of modification. The situation with which the United States is faced in the role in which it finds itself, is recognized as a delicate one. It is emphasized again that the United States is in no sense acting as an agent of Germany, that it is acting purely as an associate and friend of the Allied Governments, its former consideration in the war against the common enemy.

Chief Problem

The chief problem in the whole controversy, in the view here, is to determine how much Germany can pay and make her pay that sum. The United States made its position in this respect perfectly clear to Germany in its last memorandum to that government. On the other hand, it is alleged that anything that would prevent Germany's recuperation and taking of her proper place in the economic world is to be guarded against.

The icicle weighed more than Jimmy.

Improvement League To Be Incorporated

North End Citizens Transact Considerable Business at Meeting Held Last Evening

A playing ground suitable for the requirements of the people of the North End was assured by the energetic legislation enacted at a meeting of the North End Improvement League held in the Dufferin School, on Elm street, last night.

The following were appointed provisional directors ending the taking out of letters patent and the incorporating of the league, J. Fraser Gregory, R. P. Hamm, C. F. Steevens, W. H. Turner and M. P. Smith.

The grounds committee were empowered to go ahead with the work on the grounds and employ men to cross drain the land with a system of French drains. This is a system of drainage in which coarsely broken rock is filled into trenches and covered with cinders, and has been found very effective in draining swampy ground.

POLICE COURT CASES DEALT WITH

In the police court yesterday, Andrew Hackable of Minto was fined $3 for drunkenness and for using profane language. He was advised to get steam up and beat it back to the coal fields.

A juvenile, charged with wandering about and falling to give a satisfactory account of himself was remanded. His father and step-mother are to be summoned to court to account for the young fellow's practices, which have come to the attention of the court on several occasions.

James Race pleaded not guilty to wandering about in Brussels street at an early hour in the morning and falling to give a satisfactory account of himself. He was remanded.

HIGH FREIGHT RATES KILLING THE MARITIME

WANT I. C. R. UNDER DEPT. OF RAILWAYS

Demand That Rates be in Accordance With Terms of Confederation.

(Continued from page 1.) Moved by L. W. Simms, of St. John and J. S. Smiley, of Amherst; Whereas this meeting has been advised that it is in the interests of the Governments of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, to make representations to the Dominion Government in respect to the management and rates on what was formerly the Intercolonial Railway of Canada; therefore, be it resolved that this meeting do request these Governments of the Maritime Provinces to convey the resolution in respect to the subject passed at a representative meeting held in Moncton, April 29, to the Government of Canada. And also resolved that the secretary of this meeting be asked to make representations in the Maritime Provinces to appoint delegates to accompany the government delegates on this mission.

Other items on the programme were vocal solos by Miss Isabelle Jamieson, Miss Hazel Thompson, Miss Helen Clark, Miss Margaret Kier, the judges were Mrs. J. A. MacKeigan, Miss Helen MacMurray and Miss Helen Hannah. Excellent arguments were put forth by both sides of the debate and after some deliberation the judges decided in favor of the negative.

A series of tableaux representing characters from books which proved very pleasing were given by the "Onaway" Group, C. G. I. T.

At the close there was a sale of candy presided over by the "Skylark" Group; also a sale of ice cream and cake conducted by girls of other groups. A neat sum was realized and the proceeds will be devoted to the missionary fund.

WANT SPECIAL PROBE

On motion of C. L. Martin of Amherst, seconded by Mr. W. J. Power of Amherst, it was resolved that each Maritime government be requested to appoint two members of a committee these six to appoint a chairman to act as a special committee to investigate the matter of best methods of advancing the commercial, agricultural and industrial interests of these provinces.

IN FAIRVILLE COURT.

Both the afternoon and morning sessions of the Fairville police court were devoted yesterday to the case of Clarence Burke, James Summerville and his two sons, Alexander and William, who are charged with stealing a quantity of goods from G.P.R. cars in the Fairville yards. J. A. Barry appeared for the accused, and H. H. McLean, Jr., prosecuted for the G.P.R. After the evidence of a number of witnesses had been taken the case was adjourned by Magistrate Allingham.

BODY 3,000 YEARS OLD

Copenhagen, April 29.—The mummified body of a woman who died 3,000 years ago was found recently buried in a field in the Jutland district of Denmark, and is being unwrapped by employees of the National Museum. Her coffin was the hollow trunk of an oak tree and the body was wrapped in a cowhide. She appears to have been a person of rank. Her garments included a short kilt with sleeves and a petticoat, and she wore two belts around her waist and two bronze bracelets on her arms.

Maritime Foundry Has Closed Down

Chatham Industry Has to Shut Down—Snowball Drive is Out.

Chatham, April 29.—The Maritime Foundry closes down today. The dullness of milling and pulp business is assigned as the cause. About twenty men are thrown out of employment. The management hope to resume operations in a short time, however.

Has Sold Tug

Mr. Charles Reimborough has sold his powerful little tug, Sir Douglas, and two scows to Mr. Jerome Bayou of Neguac. Men are at work putting the boat in shape for launching. She will be used for towing, principally pulp wood, during the coming season.

Snowball Drive Out

The J. B. Snowball Co. drive on the Tabusintac is out. The company's cut this year is all on that stream and is about one-sixth of the usual season's output.

The Miramichi Lumber Co.'s drive is coming along nicely with plenty of water, but, as in the case of the Snowball Co., very little lumber is being driven.

Pneumonia Attacks Mr. W. S. Loggie, M. P.

Special to The Standard Chatham, N. B., April 29.—The condition of W. S. Loggie, M.P., is reported tonight as showing no material change. He had a fairly good night last night and seemed somewhat improved during the day. Pneumonia, having developed, Mr. Loggie's condition is considered critical, though hopes are still entertained for his recovery.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Fredericton, N. B., April 29.—M. Hill, chief highway engineer announced this morning that contracts for construction of two stretches of highway under federal aid provision had been awarded and work would begin as soon as possible.

The contract for the construction of 4.8 miles from Spruce Lake to Musquash has been awarded to Whitman Brewer of Devon, W. H. Maxwell of Fredericton, and A. Brewer of Devon. The price is about $28,000 and the road is to be of improved gravel type. The work will be on the St. John-St. Stephen trunk road and will be entirely within St. John County.

The contract for 2.2 miles of highway from Shaw Bridge to Dalhousie has been awarded to J. E. McIntyre and Herman Giron of Charlo Station. The price is in the vicinity of $15,000. The road is also to be of gravel construction.

CRERAR CONFERS WITH LIBERALS AT FREDERICTON

ADDRESS TWO MORE MEETINGS IN RIDING

Good Attendance to Hear Head of United Farmers on Politics.

Special to The Standard Fredericton, N. B., April 29.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Farmers, or National Progressive Party, spoke at two meetings this evening in the York-Sunbury Federal by-election campaign. The first meeting was at Marysville, a manufacturing town, where Canadian Cottons, Ltd., have one of the largest textile mills in Canada, which is now operating only four days a week, and the second meeting was at Nashwaakias, a village three miles from Fredericton.

The meetings were unique in that both were held in places which never before had been honored by the leader of a Federal party, because the people from these places have always attended the big political meetings of the past in Fredericton.

Tomorrow afternoon Mr. Crerar will speak at a meeting at the Farmers' campaign headquarters, where it is expected there will be a good many people in attendance from various parts of the two counties, who will be in town for the week-end market.

Confers With Liberals

One of the most significant figures of Mr. Crerar's visit here has been the conference he has held with delegates of Liberals, including individuals, and a party of four or five, who are said to be representatives of the Liberal executive for York-Sunbury. The Liberals have not nominated a candidate for the by-election, and after a meeting of the executive some time ago, A. H. VanWart, the chairman, announced that they had determined to ask the Liberals of the Unionist wing of the party, who said that the executive had no authority to take such a step and that they should have called a convention of the party. Mr. Crerar's conference with these Liberal delegations is said to have been regarding a working arrangement between the two executives for the purposes of co-ordination and cooperation.

BURNABY WILL NOT NAME MAN WHO HAD BRIBE

Alleges He Was Offered $1,000 Yearly for His Influence in Toronto.

FEARS LIBEL WRIT IF NAME GIVEN

Ontario Legislature Committee Supports Him in His Refusal to Reveal Identity.

Toronto, April 29.—Ralph W. E. Burnaby, president of the United Farmers of Ontario, appeared before the Ontario legislative committee on privileges and elections this afternoon to explain statements he had made at a picnic of the U. F. O. in June last, that he had been offered a bribe of $1,000 if he would secure the appointment of a certain person to the position of government purchasing agent, the $1,000 to be paid annually as long as the man held the job.

Witness said that a man came to his office and made a direct proposition that if he (Burnaby) would help him to get the purchasing agent's job at $4,000, he would get $1,000 a year. Burnaby told the man he would use his influence to see that he did not get the job. Burnaby denied that he had said that bribery had been going on for years.

What He Said

He probably said: "It was no new thing." Witness, however, admitted to J. M. Ferguson he had no knowledge of anything upon which such a charge could be based.

There was absolutely nothing in the way of reflection on members of the legislature. Mr. Burnaby declined to name the man who offered him the bribe, saying there were only two of them in the office. "If I give the man's name, he will probably have a writ for libel out against me before night," said Mr. Burnaby. Witness said he had not given the man's name to any person.

Mr. Burnaby refused to give the man's name, although Chairman R. L. Bracklin ruled otherwise. He was finally upheld by the committee and the chairman's decision was reversed.

FORD FACTORY RE-OPENS

Windsor, Ont., April 29.—Announcement was made today by Wallace R. Campbell, secretary-treasurer of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, that the main factory of the company at Ford, Ont., this week will start work on full time basis. The factory for the last few months has been working but four days a week.

Veterans Oppose All Civil Service Change

Fear Preference for Ex-Soldiers May be Removed at Early Date.

Ottawa, April 29.—Grant MacNeill, the Dominion Commandant, secretary of the U. W. V. A. stated today that the U. W. V. A. was wholly and totally opposed to the proposed legislation before parliament whereby certain appointments in the civil service are taken out of the hands of the civil service commission. The U. W. V. A. had seen this coming some time ago, he said, and had consulted the Dominion command to vigorously oppose the proposal.

Fears the Future.

One U. W. V. A. official stated that the next step might be a proposal to take out of the civil service act the clause providing for preferential treatment for returned soldiers. Certain U. W. V. A. members have stated that this preferential clause was discontinued the service. The U. W. V. A. points out that such is not the case as no returned soldiers have been appointed to positions for which they were not fully qualified. The preferential clause allows a returned soldier to get the position over a civilian all other things being equal.

Manchester, N. H., April 29.—Farmers of Tilton are up in arms. They declare their cows are "running their legs off" every time the town's new sire whistle sounds. The whistle sounds exactly like a calf in distress.

FUNERALS

The funeral of Mrs. Steel, wife of Rev. Dr. George Steel, was held yesterday afternoon from Portland Methodist church following a private service at the house, 123 Main street. This was conducted by Rev. H. B. Clarke, assisted by Rev. Thomas Marshall. Many friends gathered at the church to honor the memory of one who had been a true friend and ready helper. Rev. H. B. Clarke conducted the service. Prayers from the scriptures were read by Rev. Neil MacLaughlan and Rev. H. A. Goodwin and Rev. S. Howard delivered an address. Prayers were offered by Rev. R. F. McKim, Rev. J. C. E. Appel, Rev. Geo. F. Dawson and Rev. Dr. David Hutchinson. Service at the grave was conducted by Rev. E. E. Styles and Rev. Jacob Heaney. Interment was in Cedar Hill.

The funeral of George F. Williams was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 173 Adelaide street, to Cedar Hill. Service was conducted by Rev. G. D. Hudson.

The funeral of Angus Gould was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence, Main street, Fairville, to St. Rose's church. Service was conducted by Very Rev. Dean Charles Collins. Many beautiful floral and many spiritual offerings were received. Interment was in the Holy Cross Cemetery.

DAMAGES FOR ACTRESS

Miss Gordon charged that she had contracted with Gilbert M. Anderson (Broncho Billy) for thirty-two weeks in the movies at $1,250 per week and a share of the profits. She asked $15,000 interest and costs of the suit.

MR. CREAR'S VIEWS

In the course of his remarks at Fredericton on Thursday evening, Hon. Mr. Crear gave utterance to doctrines which sounded strange when coming from a man who desires to pose as a statesman. That he would condemn the tariff from which the greater portion of the country's revenue is derived, was of course to be expected; he had the grace, however, to admit that but for the tariff there would have been fewer factories and less industrial life in the cities, though the natural resources of the country would have been more developed. This is about the fairest idea possible. Of what good would it be to develop the natural resources of the country if there were no factories to turn them to practical use? Better let them stay where they were. What good are our forests without mills to make the lumber merchantable? Why mine coal, if there are no factories to use it? Why develop the iron mines, if the product is not to be manufactured? Why do anything with our raw materials if they are not to be put to industrial use? The very basis of the development of the natural resources of a country is that they may be turned to practical account. The only inference to be drawn from Mr. Crear's remarks is that he would have our natural resources developed so that other countries could obtain them cheaply, manufacture them into useful commodities, and then ship them back here at handsome profit. How long could any country last that carried out such a policy as that?

What "knockers" these farmer politicians are! Their stock and trade is disparagement. They keep on saying things against the Government, against the National Policy, against the growth of the towns and cities, against the public services. Nobody is credited even with good intentions. They will and accuse. But they have no constructive ideas. They find fault with everything and can mend nothing. "Knockers" are of no practical use in politics, and have no earthly chance of getting into power. They make the mistake of trying to get the confidence of the people by a modus operandi that cannot but bring down upon them the weight of the people's scorn. Doubtless the farmer campaigners would not place so much dependence upon frantic denunciation and would not bear false witness against the Government if they knew more of human nature. They do not seem to understand that all the world loathes a "knocker." Nor would they keep up their senseless tirade if they knew anything of politics. The more they rail and anathematize, the more they expose their ignorance of the nation's affairs. Not a few speeches have been made by farmer stumpers in the various by-election campaigns of the past few months, but not one that contained the smallest atom of useful suggestion. And it will be the same with the farmer speeches that are to follow. There is nothing but hot air to be got from that quarter.

THE WEST INDIA AGREEMENT

The Government would be entitled to congratulations on the conclusion of its treaty arrangements with the British West Indies. It had only taken care to provide that the trade through Canadian ports in order to get the benefit of the preference. Under this treaty Canadian products which are subject to customs duties in Barbados, British Guiana and Trinidad, are admitted at rates 50% less than are imposed on the products of other countries; in British Honduras, the Lowland and the Windward Isles the preference granted in favor of Canadian products is 33 1/3% and in Jamaica and the Bahamas is 25%. The arrangement comprises all the British West India colonies except Bermuda, which has so far not seen fit to come in. Canada on her part admits the products of the British West Indies which are subject to Canadian customs duty at rates 50% less than the general tariff rates. These reciprocal trade preferences, substantial as they are, coupled with the operation of the Canadian Mercantile Marine, should result in a substantial increase in trade between the possessions of the British Empire in the West Indies and Canada. The morning paper, usually a knee, the morning crisis of the Government, has been constrained to accord them a modicum of praise. "The trade arrangement," it said, "would commend itself to the sense and the country," and, he believed, "there would be an extension of trade through it." But the pity is that the greater part of this increased trade will come through the West India ports, and Canadian ship-owners will not benefit to any considerable extent.

WASTE OF TIME

The Commons sat till six o'clock yesterday morning arguing over trifles, which after all seemed to have been based on a misconception. This is how time is wasted. It is of course more or less impossible to lay down any hard and fast rule in regard to the daily length of parliamentary sittings, but common sense dictates abandonment of the present habit of prolonging adjournment until the small hours of the morning. Lord Robert Cecil, speaking in the British House a few weeks ago characterized an all-night sitting as a "relief of barbarism," and while that, of course, was a rhetorical exaggeration, there is much that is foolish and harmful in the practice. One objection to it is that after eleven o'clock in the evening very few members remain in the Chamber, the work devolving upon a faithful few, as was instanced by a division there were only forty members present out of 224.

Another reason is that a House which sits up until long after midnight more or less incapacitates itself for the business of the following day. In the present session, for example, it has been especially notable that very late sittings have resulted by a sparse attendance and practically no progress on the following day. Then, again, late sittings impose a hardship upon a number of the members, particularly those who are advanced in years, and as several of the most experienced and useful legislators in the House are men considerably beyond sixty, the objection is a very real one. There are bound to be occasions, of course, when, in the natural course of events, a late sitting becomes necessary or desirable, but taken as a rule, they are injurious, not alone to the health and temper of members, but to the general efficiency of the House. And while it may not be desirable to regulate the matter by specific rules, much good would be accomplished if the practice of earlier adjournments was encouraged.

The Fredericton Gleaner's views on the subject of the vacant County Court Judgeship as expressed in its issue of Thursday are scarcely what one would have expected from a journal which is so fond of impressing upon the public the importance of taking a "broad and enlightened" view of public questions. Had our contemporary itself followed the advice it is so fond of giving others, it would have treated the matter from the broad and comprehensive standpoint of the public interests and convenience which are most seriously affected by the present condition of affairs. The Standard is not in the least concerned with the merits or claims of any aspirant for the position, nor is it giving any covert assistance to any group of dissatisfied and disappointed politicians who have their own selfish interests to serve. The situation taken "broadly" is that the whole of the County Court business of three counties is tied up because there is no judge to deal with it, and this fact is causing a great deal of inconvenience; and that as far as The Standard, as an independent newspaper is concerned with it. We merely followed out the doctrine which The Gleaner preaches, but seemingly does not practice, of proceeding along "broad and enlightened" lines in dealing with it; and what personal interests may be involved, is not in any way our concern, nor are we in the slightest degree interested in them. The Gleaner's treatment of the matter may appear to be plausible, but it is by no means convincing. Why not have an "off day" too, and spend it thinking the matter over?

That the Government should want to find a salaried position for Mr. E. S. Carter to make up for the loss of the Secretaryship of the St. John and Quebec Railways, was only natural; but the way in which they want to work to do it, is not commending them very highly in public opinion. Mr. F. P. Robinson who has been the Secretary of the Public Utilities Commission since its formation, was nominally "retired for cause," and the only cause that can be unearthed is that his place was wanted for Mr. Carter. Not even the common civility of nominating Mr. Robinson or his resignation was accorded, and he was left to learn of his summary ejection through the announcement in the morning paper. This appears to be a favorite practice with the Foster Government. Mr. Cruickshank and Mr. A. D. Thomas were similarly "warned" two or three years ago. Mr. Robinson was an official who gave good and faithful service all the years he held the position, and no matter how great the urgency of Mr. Carter's necessities may be—he deserved more courteous treatment than was accorded him.

Things We Don't Care.
 The surprising thing is not that the Canadian railways as operated by the government are a financial failure but that the people as a whole are not seriously concerned about it. They have apparently resigned themselves to the idea that rail transportation cannot be made to pay for itself and are willing to make up through taxes whatever deficits are incurred. As long as that opinion prevails the Canadian tax-payers may be sure that their burdens on that account will not diminish but will probably continue to increase. Governments in the capacity of industrial managers seldom do more than is expected of them. Usually they do less.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A BIT OF VERSE

ON PUTTING UP A WREN'S HOUSE.

Every little creature makes a home,
 In a cliff where it may rest,
 In a cleft or cave, or on some wind-swept bush,
 A warm and woven nest.
 Every little creature builds and knows
 That some one place is best.

When we have made this little house
 For our little wren,
 And set it carefully,
 Sheltered by lilac branches, very near
 A dark green cedar tree,
 The roof is tight, and we have thought about
 Your ancient enemy.

We made the door too small for sparrows,
 We will keep water near,
 Will you not spend a season as our guest,
 And let us hear
 Your song, that is of all the Summer birds
 Most comforting and dear?

Our garden, like a market, will be spread,
 In such inviting way
 That merchants of the air who happen by,
 Day by day,
 Will give you company that you will find
 Pleasant and gay.

Every little creature makes a home
 Where he may be alone—
 Some shelter from the world in cave
 Or cliff,
 Or beneath wind-blown,
 When we have made this little house
 For you
 To call your own.

Benny's Note Book

Sunday afternoon my cousin Artie came over and we and him was in the sitting room thinking of something exciting to do, and pop came in with his slippers on, saying to himself, "Well, I think I'll take a little nap before I shave, no I think I'll shave first. To shave or not to shave, that is the question. What is the answer? I think I'll take a little nap first."
 With his head down on the sofa and started to do, something came but not much for him, and I said to Artie, G. I tell you, let's wait, I'll get pops shaving things and you can be the patient and I'll be a polite barber and pretend to shave you.
 And I went and got pops shaving cup and brush, and Artie laid back in the morris chair and I ran down and got a clean tablecloth and covered him all up with it except his head, and then I mixed up a hole lot of lather and smeared it on Artie's face, saying, How will you have it, sir?
 Off, sed Artie.
 Yes sir, I sed, and I started to pretend to shave him, Artie saying, Keep some of that lather out of my mouth, barber.
 Yes sir, I'm keeping some out, I sed, And I kept on pretending to shave him, using my ruler for a razor, saying, If I cut you sir, just yell and I'll stop, sir.
 With just then pop woke up and stretched himself saying, To shave or not to shave, that is still the question. And he jumped up and saw me and Artie, saying, Well for Pops sake, look at my shaving brush, look at my shaving soap, look at my chair, look at the floor. Meaning on account of lather being splashed all over everything, and just then he came in, saying, Well for mercy sake look at my clean tablecloth. Meaning on account of the same reason, and Artie had to go rite home, being a cinch for him, and I had to 'stay in the rest of the day and go to bed rily, not being stuck a cinch for me.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Harriet Parsons.
 Hortonville, N. B. April 29.—The death has occurred of Mrs. Harriet Parsons, relict of the late Andrew Parsons, on Saturday, April 23rd. She was in her 85th year. She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate mother, two daughters, Mrs. Fred S. Ford, Greenwood, N. S., and Mrs. G. Fred Parsons of Amherst, N. S.; also three sons, Charles and Austin of Boston, Mass., and Joseph at home. She is also survived by two aged brothers, Alexander and Alfred Smith of Alton, Kings Co., N. S. Her husband predeceased her sixteen years ago.

Mrs. Bernard Durnian.
 Apohaqui, April 28.—The very sudden and untimely death of Mrs. Bernard Durnian took place at her home in Ebb Settlement on the 20th. She was attending to her household duties as usual when she was suddenly stricken with a weakness from which she never rallied. Before marriage Mrs. Durnian was Miss Edna A. Northrup of Belleisle and for several years was engaged in teaching. Particularly sad is the passing of the mother who was only 31 years old and leaves five young children, the oldest of whom is nine years of age and the youngest, six months. She was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and possessed a pleasing and refined personality and was much beloved in her home community. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Sears. Interment took place in Riverbank Cemetery.

flowers made of the dress materials. Tinted laces had most effective dresses, combined with crepe satin, tulle and taffeta, particularly in the light shades of yellow and canary color.

As the evening wore on the fur wraps were worn. During the day many coo feather boas were worn in place of the animal scarfs in henna, harding blue, black, and shades of gray and tan.

On Saturday the weather was too inviting to refuse an invitation to the week-end house party in the country, and smart sporty togs and plain lower portions were thoroughly English in cut and finish, with large horn buttons and chain-stitched linings, in shades of tan, gray, and brown.

Close fitting turbans of clipped ribbon had a new look, and very wide leather belts with three buckles were worn low on the hips with sport dresses.

A black chiffon taffeta frock had full skirt with the hem cut in squares showing a knife pleating of jade crepe underneath the bodice very softly fitted and trimmed with buttons of embroidered ballets.

A model in taupe gros de Londres had a very full gored skirt with seams corded, joined at normal belt to a bodice, with shoulder seams back and front, corded to match the skirt.

TODAY'S TALK

THE POETIC HEART

If you are able to open your eyes in the morning with a happy sense of satisfaction—

If you have learned the secret of song in its sacred relation to beauty in the world—song that having seemingly been spent, yet forever is bathing its rhythmic notes in the sky—

If you can always see the touch of the Master Artist—in the sky, across fields, in darkened alleys as well as in lighted and crowded streets warmed by rapid running tints of the sun—

If you feel with human beings as they pass you on by one, through the busy hours, and can say to each, "God bless you!"

If in the busy-busy of each quickened hour, you can stop at any moment and aid a hungry, fallen, crippled traveller, or break bread, and change thought with one whom you may love—

If through the thrill of baby's smile and the touch of its soft, warm hands, you can climb into a new kind of heaven right here and now—

If every morning bird or beast, every swaying tree or bush or flower, every changing wind—whether in the garb of Winter's snow, or Summer's rain—if every mood of Nature's ways, leaves you happier and makes you want to be bigger and better—

If you never get tired of giving, though many times you feel that you have given in vain—

Then I would say that you have a poetic heart—and something plus—besides

BLAMES WAR FOR RAILWAY MIX-UP

Sir Geo. Foster Says Trouble in Transportation in Every Nation in the Great Conflict

Montreal, April 29.—Addressing the women's branch of the National Liberal and Conservative Association here this afternoon, Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, touched upon the outstanding national problems of railways and tariff. In regard to the former, he took the position that the transportation problem in every country that had been in the war was bad, comparing that of Canada, both with Great Britain and the United States.

In the matter of the tariff, Sir George said that the tariff bill now under consideration at Washington, might work at first detrimentally to the sale and export of Canadian products, but in the end it would be the United States consumer who would pay the duty and not the Canadian manufacturer. He intimated that the general tariff plan of the Canadian government was to stand by the policy consistently followed since 1815 by the Liberal-Conservative party.

RED AND WHITE GINGHAM.

Palm Beach.—The vogue for red and white gingham seems to have reached here as many of the younger set are wearing dresses of this material. One had a skirt gathered exceedingly full at the sides with a straight panel in front and a light basque effect with short, puffed sleeves gathered above the elbow into a tight band. There was a white vestee of ruffled organdie at the front of the waist which buttoned up the back with small pearl buttons.

Front buttons seem to be used more than the French wash buttons on the gingham and volles, but the tiny French wash buttons are still sacred to the hardier chifferlin and lingerie frocks.

It needs a clever woman to marry a poor man and keep him and herself happy. Generally the only way is to make him get rich.

Amateurs are failures in everything except love and then—if they are women—they are often the greatest success.

There is nothing on earth greater and younger than the spring hedgehog unless, perhaps, it is the sentimental youth at his first love affair.

THE FATEFUL YEARS FOR EVERY WOMAN

How to Overcome Troubles That Afflict Women Only.

So far as a woman's health is concerned, probably the most fateful years in her life are those between 45 and 50. Many women enter this period under depressing conditions, through overstrain in household cares, or a neglected condition of the blood, and so they suffer heavily.

Among the commonest symptoms at this time are headaches, pains in the back and sides, fever flushes, palpitation, dizziness and depression. It is well to know that these variations of health can be relieved by home treatment. What women stand in need of all their life, but never more so than in middle age, is fresh, red blood. As a tonic for the blood and nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are always useful, but especially will they help women at this time. Among those who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. J. A. McDougall, Rhodena, N. S., who says: "I was greatly troubled with nervousness, palpitation of the heart, dizziness, and a generally run down condition. It was only with difficulty that I could do my work, and although I had been taking medicine for some time I did not improve. Finally a friend advised Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a supply and began taking them. The result more than met my expectations, and I am feeling better than I have done for years, sleep well, eat well, and do my household work much more easily. In my case the pills certainly did what you claim for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FADS AND FANCIES.

Dinner gowns are without sleeves, but they are cut rather high in the neck.

Blue and white foulard and white serge are combined to make a very smart suit.

A dark blue chiffon gown is trimmed with grape-like bunches of tiny, blue petals.

Taffetas are trimmed in tulle of a matching shade, French blue and jade green being favored.

RELIEF AT LAST

I want to help you if you are suffering from bleeding, itching, blind or protruding piles. I can tell you how, in your own home and without anyone's assistance, you can apply the best of all treatments.

PILES TREATED AT HOME

I promise to send you a FREE trial of the new absorption treatment, and references from your own locality if you will but write and ask. I assure you of immediate relief. Send no money, but tell others of this offer.

Proper Feeding Is Most Important

Care Should be Taken With Child's Diet for First Four Years.

By EMMA HANKO.

A noted authority on child feeding once stated that the future health of a child depended upon the way he was fed during the first four years of his life. Just what foods to give the little ones is often a problem to young mothers, as evidenced in the following inquiry: "My year-old baby has just been weaned. I am greatly in doubt as to the foods that may be given a baby at this time and would appreciate suggestions in regard to her diet."

This baby's diet should be made up as follows: Cow's milk to the extent of a quart a day; a few tablespoonfuls of fruit juice every day (this regulates the bowels and keeps the baby healthy, and no child should be deprived of it); a few tablespoonfuls of well-cooked cereal, like oatmeal (this should be strained at first, but need not be when she is accustomed to it); the yolk of an egg daily. She should also have a hard crust of bread to chew. This helps to develop the teeth, and it is quite essential in the diet of a young child. These foods are all the baby will need; anything else at this time is superfluous and liable to do harm. When the child is thoroughly accustomed to these foods, as she will be in a few months, one green vegetable, such as spinach, should be given daily, for the sake of further increasing the mineral content of the diet.

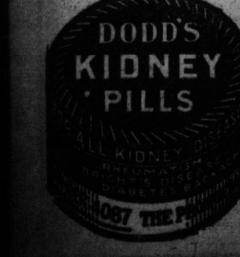

A certain writer on this subject remarks: "The fundamental principle in child feeding is to develop the digestive powers gradually. The weaning of the 'second summer' and 'teething' are very largely the result of an unwise diet. To boast that a 15-month baby 'eats everything' is not a tribute to its precocity, but to the ignorance or culpable negligence of its mother. With a carefully regulated diet, the second year is less perilous than the first."

Collar and undersleeves of white hemstitched organdie are worn on a black taffeta frock.

The short puffed sleeve is worn as much as the plain strap over shoulder for evening.

WEDDINGS.

Neales-White.

Fredericton, April 29.—William S. Neales, D. C. M., son of Mrs. Rev. Dean Neales, and Miss Frances Isabel White, only daughter of the late Charles O. White and Mrs. White, of Oromocto, were married in St. Luke's Cathedral last evening by Dean Neales. They left on a honeymoon in Sussex, Moncton and St. John. They will live in Fairbairn where the groom is employed with the Nashwaak Pulp and Paper Co.

Fowler-Mott.
St. Luke's Church, Waterborough, Queens Co., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, April 27th at high noon, when Miss Gladys Mariel Mott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mott of Waterborough was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. William Cleveland Fowler of Moncton, N. B. Rev. H. H. Gillies of St. Luke's performed the ceremony. The bride, looking very pretty in a travelling suit of navy blue serge with hat to match and carrying a bouquet of bridal roses, entered the church on the arm of her father, as the organ played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus.

During the signing of the register Mrs. MacSuarpe, who also acted as organist sang "O Promise Me." Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the bridal party left the church. The Church was filled with friends of the happy couple who left immediately after the service for their new home in Moncton, accompanied by the good wishes of their hosts of friends.

Nason-Clark.
A wedding of much interest took place yesterday afternoon at 5.15 o'clock in Centenary church, when Miss E. Jean Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Clark, 128 Wentworth street, and Stanley S. Nason were united in marriage by Rev. H. A. Goodwin. The bride wore a blue and gray travelling suit, trimmings of black, with touches of color, gray squirrel furs, gray hat and shoes and carried a bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses. She was unattended. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the relatives and immediate friends of the family. The happy couple left last night for a wedding trip to points in the province. On their return they will reside at 128 Wentworth street.

Both the principals are well-known among the young people of the city. The bride is a graduate nurse of the Boston Homeopathic Hospital, and is the daughter of Charles A. Clark, accountant of the Department of Marine and Fisheries. The groom had three years' service overseas with the 5th Siege Battery. He was a member of the original battery which left here in May, 1918, and served with them in France until the armistice. On his return he was for several months on the staff of the Daily Telegraph, and is at present a member of the teaching staff of the city schools.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of gifts, including several substantial cheques.

LOWTHER COMING TO CANADA.
London, April 29.—Right Hon. J. Lowther, who resigned the Speakership of the House of Commons the other day, will sail for Canada on May 11, it was announced today. He will be accompanied by his wife and daughter. After visiting Ottawa, where he will formally present to the Canadian House of Commons the Speaker's chair, which the Empire parliamentary association has donated for the adornment of the new Canadian chamber, Mr. Lowther will spend some time in the Dominion and probably make a trip as far west as the Pacific coast.

Some Beautiful Costumes Are Seen

New York the past week was a gay one for the young people, and in addition to the weddings and entertainments for the brides, there were many private dances, luncheons and dinners.

The bachelors began an extra series of five subscription dances, and other dances are forming to continue late in the spring. The smart hotels and restaurants are crowded at the luncheon and tea hours with the young people who attend the matinee.

Some very smart black gowns were worn. One of Canton crepe had a wide skirt with row upon row of narrow black silk fringe, for skirt trimming, and for the shoulders and elbow sleeves of the fitted bodice, a low loose girle of Canton crepe lined with canary colored georgette had canary and black floss with bead fringe at hem. With this was worn a turban of buttercups and black suede.

A black chiffon taffeta frock had full skirt with the hem cut in squares showing a knife pleating of jade crepe underneath the bodice very softly fitted and trimmed with buttons of embroidered ballets.

A model in taupe gros de Londres had a very full gored skirt with seams corded, joined at normal belt to a bodice, with shoulder seams back and front, corded to match the skirt.

At the evening entertainments given for the young people the new frocks were many in shades of green, blue, and all shades of yellow, some in taffeta, others with taffeta skirts draped with chiffon, crepe, voile, and lace and the trimmings were of ribbon, braid, galloon, metal flowers and

TORPID LIVER FOR OVER 4 MONTHS

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

When the liver becomes lazy, slow or ceases to do its work properly, and does not supply sufficient bile, it thoroughly acts on the bowels and carries off the waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and liver troubles follow.

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills quickly remove the obstructions, clear away the waste and effete matter by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood and cause so many troubles.

Mrs. Alice Mohrli, Napawan, Ont. writes:—"I was very badly run down and had a torpid liver for four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day my husband brought me home a vial of Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills, and before I had used half of it I was much better. I only used two vials, and I am a different person today. I can safely recommend Lax-Liver Pills to any one troubled with liver troubles."

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills are 25c a vial of all druggists or mailed direct by receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WOMEN ON JURIES.

Edmonton, Alta., April 29.—In accordance with a bill passed by the Alberta legislature women will now be eligible for jury duty in this province. They will not, however, be compelled to serve as jurors. The bill was passed after strong opposition, one of the opposing members declaring that no good woman should be present at some of the cases presented in court. A member favoring the bill declared women ought to assume the responsibility. "It was no worse for women to serve on juries than for women to be forced to attend the trials. Conscientious women would be willing to do their duty."

Through Its Steadfast Reliability Essex Leads in Today's Market

That Quality is as Unusual in Cars of Its Class as Its Wonderful Performance and Its Price
With 50,000 owners giving a solid verdict for Essex reliability it is natural that you know the car best for that quality.
No other thing counts so much with men buying cars today. Of course they are alive to the appeal of low cost and economical maintenance. But not at the sacrifice of quality.
It is because Essex with its low price, gives qualities obtainable elsewhere only in far costlier cars, that it has so notably centered the spring buying.

The Bible Versus Pedagogues

Starkly, the Bible says little about education and much about wisdom. Modern pedagogues say much about education and little about wisdom. In the scriptures we find none of the modern heresy that mere book-learning can transform life.

Our "highbrows" have gone deaf over the power of education as a panacea for all ills. No man of sense would belittle the advantages of education; but neither would he impart to it functions which it does not possess. This foolish, wicked and wandering old world is not going to be made right merely by more secular education. If it were, Japan would be the moral model among nations; and universities would be assemblies of saints. That going to school does not necessarily make young people more moral and noble and patriotic everybody who is interested in reality rather than in theories understands perfectly.

What the College President Said.
The Bible idea of education is not the acquisition of a mass of facts and theories, all soon to be forgotten. It is rather the development of the spiritual aspect of man. Clearly, from the days of Moses to the times of Paul, the Scriptural conception of human growth is that man should know that God is, and that His nature relates Him personally to the affairs of man's life. In other words, to be God-wisely is true wisdom. God's existence and God's will are supreme factors in the training of the human spirit. That there is a living God, and that He means something, and means it tremendously, is every mortal life, is the heart-and-soul height of the Bible teaching about education. To know God is not only essential wisdom; it is also eternal life.

Let's Kindly Deeds Make Happy Lives

Weekly Chat

Are you enjoying these beautiful Spring days? Do they not make you look like a new, like the frisky lambs and like playing for the good old summer time? Not long ago we were chatting about the house-cleaning time both in our houses and in our minds. These are surely busy days for house makers, farmers and gardeners, and while these folks have their rush of work, can you think of another group that are especially busy just now? The folks who go abroad and travel during our frosty weather and when they return there is such a "The birds," you say. Yes! that is right for I am sure the feathered folk are "up to their eyes" in work. When they return there is such a bust to find the proper material to build their summer home. Also the families in many camps, where many anxious thoughts and how perfect these plans must be.

Answers To Letters

EDNA G.—Enjoyed hearing from you again and sorry you were numbering chances the week folk. Never mind they are good things to be through with and even if the chicken-pox does come your way it won't be much to worry over. This time of the year we all begin to long for summer and of course the school folks long for it more than other people do. Hope you do well with your exams.

H. STUART L.—My young friend, if your suggestion was carried out a great many of the members might receive a severe shock and possibly a disappointment, so what's the use of taking chances when so much risks is involved. Imagination is the best method in this case I believe, so the surprise will not be of that nature. Guess again. The Mayflowers must be later in your district than in some others because they appeared in the city a fortnight ago. Hope the little flowers appear for you next time.

CLARA L. G.—You write very well and your letter was quite interesting but you use the little word "saw" in the wrong way. Never write or say "have saw," it should be "have seen." The trees should be showing signs of life or of waking up by now and should be quite interesting. Your poetry was quite pretty and will be nice for today's page, though a little late for the stage of the blossoms described.

A Peep Into Uncle Dick's Mail

Dear Uncle Dick:— It is a long time since I have written to the C. C. and I hope to write often now. I look much like a grown-up person's. Yes, I must be lovely to pick the Mayflowers through the woods. Those are some of the privileges which the little folks live in the country places may enjoy and which the city folk miss. So your neighborhood is fashionable by having Mayflowers. Perhaps you will see a few of them in the country places you know. Thanks for the good wishes you send to our C. C.

IDA E.—Is the writing you send your own? It looks much like a grown-up person's. Yes, I must be lovely to pick the Mayflowers through the woods. COUSIN BERT just got back from a vacation spent... He said that one night, when they were down at the village they were caught in a storm and decided to put up at a hotel, but the hotel keeper played a practical joke on them and when they went to their rooms found that all the beds were taken apart. If you'll follow the dots you'll see what it was and you can imagine the hard time Bert and his friends had to had the pieces and put the things together again.

The Turkey's Nest. Out of The Nest.

One day the old turkey hen went out to find a place to make her nest. She went a long way, and she took a long time to find it when at last she had suited herself, she said— "They may go to the East and go to the West, but they'll never be able to find my nest!"

Once upon a time a mother-bird and father-bird built a nest in a tree. It was made of straw and leaves and all sorts of wonderful things, and even had lace trimmings on it. Soon after the nest was finished, the mother-bird put two eggs in it, and then she and father-bird thought of nothing but keeping those eggs safe and warm.

When they were talking they heard somebody coming, and that she was afraid the water might give the little bird a cold. "Dear me! Dear me!" cried the birds. "There comes a boy!" "What's he got to do with us in his pocket?" cried the frog.

The turkey hen grew prouder and prouder, and she walked about the barnyard like a queen. One day the cook saw her, and said to the children, "Certain and sure that old turkey hen has made herself a nest somewhere."

When the mother-bird and father-bird flew away together to get something for dinner, and while they were gone the little birds heard a queer noise which seemed to come from a pond near their tree. This is the way it sounded: "Kerchuk! Kerchuk!"

When the mother-bird and father-bird flew over the tree, they saw the boy sitting on the ground and looking at the pond. "Oh! what can it be?" said the sister-bird. "He's not hurt, but oh, how frightened he was!" cried the mother-bird.

Not long ago The Companion published a little list of the words that some ingenious listeners have fitted to the songs of birds. It did not include any of the well-known instances you'll find in my frog and the little frog.

As an example of the confidence that birds sometimes have in a man is illustrated by the story in Bird-Love of a pair of robins that built their nest on the under side of an old cart. The mother bird laid six eggs before the cart was filled with oil and ready to start out on the road.

They were crying and calling. I asked her what bird she thought I meant. She said, "A nightingale! This made me so angry that I nearly flung her to the ground. I said, 'No, fool! No!'"

Puzzles

1. Bird Puzzle. Each answer is a bird (though all cannot fly): 1. What bird is an English harp? 2. What do we do when we drink? 3. A heavy cloth? 4. What bird is foolish? 5. What does a rooster do? 6. What bird is a ruler and a workman? 7. What bird is a country in Europe? 8. What Mrs. William D. said to her husband when little Mary misbehaved? 9. Picnic held in a meadow? 10. Group of islands?

Birthday Greetings

"Many happy returns of the day" is the wish of the C. C. to all the little friends having a birthday during the coming week. If your name is not here when you expect to find it, please write and say so; giving the correct date as mistakes are apt to occur with such a large family to account for. For today's list are the following: Shirley Haines, Digby, N. S. Greta Holmes, Doaktown. Fred Manser, Ashmore, N. S. Clara Schofield, Avonmore. Margarette Christian, Sussex. Linda Keith, Lower Falls. Winifred Harper, Jacksonville. Alice Hall, City. When so comes, Deserville. Natica Cynthia Sherrill, Cupid. Elma Marks, Annapolis. Mary D. Hoyt, Hampton. Doris C. Smith, Florenceville. New Members

Again we have some new friends joining our Children's Corner and to them we extend a very generous welcome. There is room for all and the more the merrier. Any of the friends would, I am sure, enjoy getting a letter from some member who has already joined the C. C. and would certainly answer such courtesy with a return letter. In this way acquaintances may be made, friendships formed and a correspondent found all of which helps to make the bond between young folks stronger and their lives pleasanter. Our recent new members are: Vera E. McDougall, age eleven years, address, Lockstead, N. B. Edith Pauline Pomeroy, age nine years, address St. Stephen, P. O. Box 11. Marjorie E. How to Knock a Tumbler

This trick will arouse an immense amount of curiosity and surprise. Do not remember—never repeat it! Sit on a chair behind a table, keeping your audience in front. Place an ordinary tumbler upside down on the table. Cover the tumbler with a newspaper and press the paper down around the glass so that it takes the form of the glass. Then draw the paper to the edge of the table, let the tumbler drop into your lap, quickly returning the paper to the center of the table. The stiffness of the paper will preserve the form of the tumbler. Hold the paper form with one hand and with the other strike it a heavy blow. At the same instant let the tumbler roll easily from your lap onto the floor. It looks like you have positively knocked the tumbler down on the table. Smooth out the paper before anyone can examine it. Once is enough for this trick.

THE DWELLER IN THE COUNTRY

NEXT CAMPAIGN TO BE STAGED EAT MORE MEAT

Demand for Beef, Veal, Mutton and Pork Continues Quiet.

PRICES FOR STOCK LOW AT PRESENT

Great Consumption is Needed to Encourage Production.

It looks as though the best producers would have to follow their brothers of the dairy world in putting on a campaign for increased consumption if they wish to revive interest in their product. Both American and Canadian statistics for last year showed a falling off in holdings of feeder and culler cattle, yet demand continues quiet despite the marked decline in prices.

Prices Going Lower.

Dealers at the Union Stock Yards, discussing the cattle supply and price situation the other day, could come to no other conclusion but that prices will go lower in the immediate future, yet will recover and improve before grass begins to figure very largely in reducing the cause of low prices for cattle in the holding back by the public from purchasing normal supplies of beef, but that within a few months the actual shortage of cattle on the continent together with demand for export, will result in higher prices for grades of cattle on the home market.

Need Bigger Home Demand.

What is needed in the interest of the beef cattle industry and those engaged in it, is not higher prices so much as an increased home demand, and for some time to come, the volume of home demand will be determined by retail prices for beef. Of course, the strongest possible claim in favor of the expanded use of our own beef is that it is a promise of lower prices, but at the same time producers could not justify strong claims in favor of the expanded use of their product. Consumers must be converted from the idea that beef is a luxury before the cattle business can get back to normal and provide encouragement for the many who would be willing to increase production of cattle at existing prices.

World's Supply Short.

Not only in the case of cattle in North America is there a shortage of supply as compared with possible live stock for butcher purposes is short, and yet consumers are depriving themselves, or are being deprived of a sufficient supply. The shortage can only be met from abroad if it continues, and it is full time that increased per capita consumption of meats be encouraged with a view to increasing production of live stock, and vice versa.

GROUND WIRE FENCES

The loss of live stock in fields can be reduced by grounding wire fences at least every twenty rods, though closer is better, and in baryards or small yards where cattle are herded, at every ten rods. Where fences are connected with a building there should be a grounding at the first post from the building, and the ground rod from the building to be connected with the fence. If the ground wires are allowed to project a few inches above the fence, strokes are prevented in the vicinity just as by the points on a building. The fence groundings should be made of the same material as the fence wires—George F. Lewis, Deputy Fire Marshall, Ontario.

Markets Demand Hornless Cattle

The practice of dehorning cattle is almost universal so far as high grade beef steers are concerned. The majority of feeders and practically all the well-finished steers that appear on the market today have been dehorned.

This statement was officially made even before the war by the United States Department of Agriculture. Why should the same practice not be adopted as widely by Canadian farmers? Commission men and expert shippers in both eastern and western provinces say the practice is imperative. They point to results in the States today where, between horned and dehorned, there is often a considerable premium paid for the dehorned.

Many hundreds of thousands of dollars a year are undoubtedly lost in Canada through bruising caused by horns. The damage done to the flesh of otherwise carefully prepared meat animals, often surprises those who see the carcasses hung on the rails in the packing plants.

Yet the positive advantages of de-horning to the producing farmer himself are so plain that it seems strange that the first move has had to be taken by those in the marketing end of the livestock industry. These advantages may be briefly summed up as follows:

1. Animals are far more easily handled on the farm.
2. There is no danger to attendants.
3. Each animal has an equal chance at the feeding trough.
4. There is no going in transit to market.
5. When lots from different farms are shipped to market in the same car there will be no horned cattle to lower the value, by injury, of others that may have been dehorned.
6. There is less shrinkage through excitement and no meat to be cut out of the carcass through horn damage.
7. Dehorned cattle feed more evenly and with more uniform appearance—and a fact that means dollars and cents to the buyer cannot, without extra expense, separate the good from the poor for resale in graded lots.
8. When the practice becomes general the price of beef cattle to the farmer will be correspondingly higher because this heavy loss will not have to be provided against.

Those who know the tendency of marketing and can read aright the spirit that is spreading throughout the Canadian trade believe that the time has almost arrived when buyers everywhere will decline to pay the same price for the horned as for the dehorned lots of cattle.

Commercial Ideas Regarding Breeding

(Frank M. Johnson, Waldboro.) My idea of breeding has been gathered from several years of study in breeding 1,000 or more birds each year. There has been no outside blood used in breeding these birds in over 30 years. Separate lines are carried along so it is always possible to mate birds not nearly related. Usually the outstanding factor always in mind, for the reason that they would be impossible to improve or even maintain high egg-production.

The selection of breeders begins when chicks are six weeks old, at which time the males are picked out from which to select breeders later, those showing earliest maturity with vigor, size and type.

The selection of females for breeding begins when pullets start laying. The early layers are banded. From them the breeders are selected. Not until they have completed one full year of egg-production.

Vitality is the first consideration, with type and capacity to produce large numbers of eggs. Only old hens are used as breeders, we know what they have done, while with the pullets we only know what they should do.

Many birds are retained up to four or five years of age as birds which have the vitality to live and stand up under the great strain of heavy production. These are considered the ideal of breeders.

I believe that all of the indications in judging the vitality of breeding birds the surest is old age, and we can only know this by retaining the birds.

POULTRY NOTES.

Scratch feed or whole grain should be scattered in the litter. Hens like to work for their living. Troughs or hoppers should be used for dry hens. They keep this feed always accessible.

Brood coops with runs should be placed on ground where the grass is green and tender, and, as fast as it is eaten off, the coop and run should be moved to a place where the grass is plentiful.

Progress in breeding poultry stock will be made most quickly by picking out the best individuals in the flock and using them as breeders, rather than by breeding from the flock as a whole.

TO PROMOTE FARMING.

George Washington and Benjamin Franklin were members of the first society for the promotion of agriculture, which was organized in Philadelphia in 1775. Says Professor T. F. Barrows of the Oregon State Agricultural college in bulletin 33 of the "Bureau of Education." About the same time a similar society was organized, among other things, to establish the first experimental farm in the United States. In 1792 a small volume representing the transactions of the New York society for the Promotion of Agriculture was published. This society, organized in 1791, was followed by a similar organization in Connecticut in 1794.

SWARMING MUST BE CONTROLLED IN HONEY BUSINESS

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR MEETING IT

Most Effective Method is to Remove the Queen from the Colony.

(Experimental Farms Note.) Swarming is the natural method by which bees increase, but is a hindrance to the best results in honey production; especially is this true of comb honey production.

The uncertainty of swarming, the reduction of the honey crop through a division of the working force of the colony, the possibilities of losing swarms and the difficulty of controlling swarming without considerable labor, all make the control of swarming the biggest problem in bee management.

Colonies do not all require the same treatment. Swarming may often be prevented by the following manipulations: The introduction of a young queen. Giving ample room for brood rearing than previous to combing the early part of the clover flow. Providing plenty of super room for the storage of honey. Giving adequate ventilation during the hot weather by raising the front of the hive on small blocks to enlarge the entrance. Raising a few combs of emerging brood from the brood nest in a super to reduce congestion of the brood chamber. The destruction of queen cells before they are far advanced.

Colonies that have made advanced preparation for swarming and have capped cells or cells ready to cap over, will often require more drastic treatment.

The destruction of queen cells every nine or ten days requires too much labor and is not always effective. In localities where the swarming season is short, the separation of the queen and brood is usually effective. All the brood is removed from the brood chamber, and placed in an empty super, and the brood chamber is then filled with empty combs. The queen and some of the bees brushed from the combs of brood, are left below with the empty combs and a queen cell is placed in the super. Two supers of combs are placed over the excluder and the super containing the queen cell is now placed on top. All queen cells should be destroyed when the brood is placed in super, and again eight days later.

A more effective method is to remove the queen from the colony at the time the first queen cells are found and to destroy the cells. Eight days later again examine the colony and destroy all the queen cells, but one, or two, and give a water change to the colony. In this way a young queen is obtained that will not swarm. This plan, however, may cause a certain amount of loss of the queen when she starts laying. This may be overcome to a certain extent, by giving a ripe cell at the time the queen is removed.

The best plan is to keep the queen wings clipped for should a swarm emerge, the queen will be unable to fly and will fall to the ground when she leaves the hive. The queen moved to a new stand. A new hive is placed on the vacant stand and the swarm will return to the queen cell. When the queen is allowed to run in with the swarm, the supers from the parent hive should be given to the swarm. Eight days later, destroy all queen cells except one in the parent colony, to prevent re-swarming.

Hog Naturally A Clean Animal

(National Crop Improvement Service.) "A hog naturally is as clean as a dog," says Mr. E. S. Rider, president, Canadian Steel & Wire Co. "Any farmer who is in the hog business, knows that it does not pay to be chambermaid to a hog any more than absolutely necessary and that a hog in order to be healthy, should invest his own crop."

"So, whether pasture of rape or corn is to be utilized, the foundation of a hog farm is a fence which will hold the hog where you put him and not allow him to do damage to other crops."

"In every rotation the field should be fenced that the hogs can do all of the harvesting possible."

"The cafeteria system of hog feeding, in the most profitable hog raising, is the most economical way to harvest."

Mix two cups of cottage cheese with four tablespoons of whipped cream, six tablespoons seedless raisins, two eggs yolk, four tablespoons powdered sugar, quarter teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon grated lemon rind, two tablespoons orange juice and two tablespoons finely chopped candied citron. Bake in a moderate oven twenty minutes. Cool and sprinkle with powdered sugar mixed with a little powdered cinnamon.

The Treatment of Alkali Spots

The term "alkali" as used in connection with a consideration of soils and their properties, is applied in a collective sense to a variable variety of soluble saline compounds comprising, chiefly, sodium sulphate, Glauber's salt, sodium chloride (common salt), sodium carbonate (washing soda), magnesium sulphate (Epsom salt), and occasionally the chlorides of calcium and magnesium. Alkali soils are those more or less impregnated with these saline compounds, the presence of which in notable amounts is injurious to crop growth.

Alkali soils are only found in arid or semi-arid districts; that is, those of scanty rainfall. The origin or formation of the alkali is due to the disintegration, decomposition, and partial solution of the mineral or rock constituents of the soil, consequent upon the "weathering" processes which are constantly in force. In humid districts, those enjoying a more or less generous rainfall, the soluble mineral compounds so formed are disposed of as produced. In part they are utilized in vegetation and in part they leach downward by the rain and find their way into the natural drainage of the country. In semi-arid districts there is sufficient moisture to promote their formation but not enough rain to remove them by drainage. Hence the accumulation of "alkali" in the surface soil. The alkali may simply impregnate the soil, or evaporation exceeds the rainfall, as in seasons of drought, it may appear on the surface as a white incrustation or efflorescence.

Alkali frequently occurs in spots or patches of limited size—a few square yards to several acres. Low-lying lands and depressed areas surrounded by slopes and hillsides from which the alkali is removed by lateral movement of the drainage, are often characterized by such spots or patches. In seasons of exceptionally good rainfall these spots may not give much trouble, but usually the concentration of their salts is such as to injure or entirely inhibit growth. Their amendment or amelioration may be accomplished by the following means:

Where there is provision for irrigation, sub-drainage (tile) followed by repeated floodings will remove the excess of soluble salts. Drainage alone will indeed be effective in time. But it is frequently the case that neither of these ameliorative measures can be employed or amelioration may be accomplished by the following means:

If the patch is not too large, a horse scraper or similar implement may be employed to remove three to six inches of the surface soil. This work should be carried out in a dry season when the alkali is at or near the surface. The loss of this surface soil need not cause any anxiety, as in semi-arid regions the soils are unusually deep and fertile.

Heavy and repeated applications of manure, more especially coarse, straw and horse manure, have been of great value for alkali spots. This treatment has frequently proved entirely successful in reclaiming the soil in the course of two or three seasons. It supplies immediately available food for the young and tender plant; it improves the texture of the soil and serves to destroy capillarity, thus preventing the rise and accumulation of alkali at the surface.

Deep ploughing and frequent cultivation should be practised. The first is beneficial by diluting the alkali, which is more particularly at the surface, with the relatively free lower soil, resulting in a soil mixture in which ordinary crops will grow. The second, by breaking up capillarity and the creator of a match, checks evaporation and lessens accumulation of alkali at the surface. These means, followed by a good crop which will allow frequent stirring of the surface, will, if the impregnation be not too heavy, reclaim the area.

As crops for such patches, sugar beets and mangrels are remarkably tolerant of alkali. The loss of their growth permits of frequent cultivation of the soil, while the shade produced is an additional factor in checking evaporation. Barley and oats are less susceptible to alkali than wheat, and among the good grasses that are more or less resistant to alkali are timothy, red top and perennial ryegrass may be recommended.

Waste Acreage Should Be Utilized

Use of Every Acre Which is Tillable.

(National Crop Improvement Service.) "Our tillable lands have gone and with a further growth and development of the world, we must utilize every waste acre. Stump pulling is a vital problem to the man who is farming in a cut-over country, to the man who is paying taxes on idle stump land and to the man who is seeking a rich farm at a comparatively low price."

"The nearest, quickest and most economical way of clearing out puller and wire rope," with a stump puller and wire rope," says Mr. R. S. Rider, president, Canadian Steel & Wire Co.

"The use of a pulley block so designed that a number of them can be used to double, triple, or quadruple the power of the machine, will conquer the most stubborn stumps without fail."

"When dynamite is used, the roots are left to be grubbed out or pulled out by team, all of which is slow, hard work. Wire rope, however, is a simple, safe, and clean and complete."

"A good stump-puller will pay for itself in the saving of hand labor and a few acres of ground, to say nothing of the increase of crop values. You can use it in the wet season when you can work at nothing else. In fact, the machine works easier when the ground is wet."

"We need every acre."

No Need to Worry About Future Power

Plant Life of Country Contains Enough Alcohol to Furnish Light and Power.

(National Crop Improvement Service.) "The demand for gasoline is growing day by day and economists are always prophesying that the world's supply will be exhausted in a few months. There is no 'carry over' from one season to another—Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers.

"Science has already taught us, however, that almost every growing plant contains alcohol which can be distilled at a very low price per gallon, and which in many respects is superior in power to gasoline."

"There is enough waste on every farm to produce enough alcohol to give this matter the most careful consideration. The principal difficulty of this plan will be to accumulate enough farm refuse to make the process profitable. Therefore it would be wise to have the output of some farmer's organization which will first encourage all farmers to supply a proportionate share in order that there may be sufficient material to make the plan successful."

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING OF 1921 WOOL CLIP

Will be Handled as in Previous Years at Fredericton.

POINTERS FOR THE SHIPPING OF CLIP

Dept. Will Supply Standard Sacks if More Than Ten Fleeces Shipped.

The co-operative marketing of wool in New Brunswick for 1921 will be carried on this year by the New Brunswick Sheep Breeders' Association, an organization composed of the leading sheep breeders of the province for the purpose of fostering the Sheep Industry. The Provincial and Federal Departments of Agriculture will give every assistance however, and the work will be carried on in a manner very similar to that of previous years.

The wool is to be shipped to Fredericton to arrive not before May 30th and not later than June 20th. All consignments are to be shipped by freight collect. Co-operative shipments should be made wherever possible as by so doing freight charges may be materially reduced. Some committees have in past years arranged to have all the wool shipped in one lot from that district; considerable saving could be made if all districts would do this. Where it is not possible to have all the wool shipped in one lot from that district, considerable saving could be made if all districts would do this. Where it is not possible to have all the wool shipped in one lot from that district, considerable saving could be made if all districts would do this.

Preparation of Shipment. At the time of shipping a copy of the freight bill and a statement giving details regarding shipments are to be mailed to J. H. King, Secretary, N. B. Sheep Breeders' Association, Fredericton, N. B. On receipt of the wool at Fredericton a warehouse receipt will be mailed back to the shipper.

In preparing the wool each fleece must be tied separately with the inside or flesh side of the wool out and tied with paper wool tags which must be kept separate, put in a small sack and this placed inside the larger sack. If tags are mostly manure locks it will not be worth while to send them. Care should be taken to keep the wool clean of foreign material and shearing done only when the fleeces are dry.

Standard Wool Sacks will be supplied to shippers having ten or more fleeces. Paper twine and tags will be supplied to all shippers. The best buyers; therefore, wool producers should be obtained at the following places: Port Elgin Trading Company, Port Elgin, N. B.; E. W. Spinnery, Knowltonville, N. B.; Agricultural School, Sussex, N. B.; Vocational School, Woodstock, N. B., and the Departments of Agriculture at Moncton, Fredericton and Bathurst.

There are still large stocks of wool in the world, consequently this commodity is bound to be cheaper again this year than we would like to see it. Since it is well known that when an article is cheap and nobody especially wanting it, unusual care is necessary to place that article on the market in a form that will attract the best buyers; therefore, wool producers will find this year even more than in any previous one that careful attention to all details in connection with the shearing and preparation of their wool, having it handled by the N. B. Sheep Breeders' Association, graded and sold through the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Ltd., they will get the very best returns.

J. H. KING, Prov. Live Stock Commissioner.

FUTURE FOR SHEEP.

Mr. J. G. Robertson, Live Stock Commissioner for the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, dealing with the sheep industry, calls attention to the steady increase in the number of small flocks on farms and predicts a strong demand for high-class pure bred sheep for many years to come.

MYSTERIOUS SHIP LOSSES TO BE PROBED

Sinking of Vessels So Numerous as to Arouse Insurance Suspicion.

UNDERWRITERS ARE BECOMING CAUTIOUS

Getting Fed up on "Struck a Mine" Excuse Given by Captains.

London, April 29.—The cases of ships being lost at sea have become so numerous in the past four or five months that the marine insurance agencies have begun to investigate into the circumstances of these "disasters." These cover some cases in which the full claims have already been paid, in others where they have resulted in the holding up of insurance payments pending inquiry, while still other cases, it is declared in insurance circles, likely will end in criminal proceedings. The most suspicious circumstances attending many recent sinkings, the underwriters declare, have been their almost unending occurrence within a safe reach of land. In underwriting circles it has become a common remark that never has so many lost ships been known with so little loss of life. The Spanish and Portuguese coasts and the Mediterranean have been the scenes of the majority of recent deathless sinkings.

Curious Coincidence.

Another curious fact noted by the underwriters is the frequency of losses of ships and cargoes just three or four days before the expiration of insurance policies on such war time valuations. These valuations were made when shipping was in great demand for warships or the flourishing post-war traffic and, consequently, was at the peak of the long-sustained high market. With the coming of world trade depression, however, shipping values took a corresponding slump and the underwriters refused to continue the assumption of risks at artificially high valuations. It was shortly after the inauguration of this policy, however, that the wave of mysterious losses began. In many cases the explanation of the captain of a lost ship has been that by striking a mine, but the explanation now is failing to satisfy the underwriters who have the Admiralty's assurance that virtually no live mines are jeopardizing the sea, owing to the zealous sweeping operations recently concluded.

C. P. R. SUBURBAN SERVICE

Effective Monday, May 2nd, partial suburban service will be inaugurated. Train No. 129 arriving in city from Wolford at 7:00 a.m. Atlantic time. Train No. 127 will leave St. John for Wolford at 6:10 p.m. Atlantic time. With the exception of Saturdays, May 7th, 14th and 21st, Wolford, returning to the city, leaving Wolford at 2:20 p.m. In addition, there will be noon suburban on May 7th, 14th and 21st, which will leave St. John at 1:20 p.m. Atlantic time, for Wolford, returning to the city, leaving Wolford at 2:20 p.m. The above service will be in operation until May 22nd, after which date practically the entire suburban service will go into effect. The mid-day train running on Wednesdays and Saturdays until July 1st, when it will run daily except Sunday. Between May 1st and 22nd, train No. 106 will leave Fredericton and arrive St. John one hour later than shown in schedules. The company desires to have their patrons note that suburban trains will be adjusted after May 22nd to conform with Daylight Saving time.

DIED IN HIS BERTH.

Halifax, N. S., April 29.—John Etzel, aged 63 years, of Toronto, was found dead in his cabin on the Cunard liner Saxonia this morning. Etzel, who was born in Billingsgate, Germany, was on his way to his old home, where he had intended to spend the rest of his days. He arrived in Halifax last night from Toronto and went aboard the steamer immediately. This morning he was found dead in his berth, having evidently passed away from heart failure through the night. The Saxonia called this morning for Plymouth.

Riordon Had Erratic Course At Montreal

Change in Prices Ended With a Net Gain of Three Points for Stock

Montreal, April 29.—The strength of the paper stocks was the feature today of the trading on the local stock market. Riordon being particularly prominent, and also the Spanish issues. Two issues in the group sold at lower levels, viz. Riordon preferred, not recently traded in, being down 3 1/2 points to 47, and Howard Smith was a point lower at 50.

RAW SUGAR MARKET.

New York, April 29.—Sugar was unsettled early today, but as no business was reported, prices were nominally unchanged. The committee quoting 4-7/8 cents for Cuba's, 4-1/2 cents and freight, uncontrolled sugars were offered at 4.77 for centavos.

Wall Street Is Firmer; Mexican Oils Are Lower

Total Sales for Day Almost $14,000,000 With Liberty Bonds Active.

New York, April 29.—The stock market made further forward strides in the first half of today's active dealings, but the movement became very unsettled later, many of the leaders cancelling the greater part of all their gains.

Have You A "Twenty Pay Life Policy?" A true story of a Canada Life Policy issued over forty years ago. A Policy on your life may do much that you intend to do—if you live. It may pay off the mortgage, supply food and clothing for your family, keep the children at school and prevent a forced sale of your other property. It may be all that is left of your life work—to keep you in comfort in your old age. But—your Policy must be large enough. The Twenty Payment Life. Our new up-to-date policy provides: 1. That premiums will cease in 20 years. 2. That dividends will be paid during the 20 years, and afterwards. 3. That if you should be totally and permanently disabled before age 60, all premiums will be cancelled, and a monthly income paid to you. 4. That each monthly payment will not be deducted from the policy at your death. 5. That after 3 years you may take a Cash Value, or receive a paid-up policy or pledge the policy as security for a loan. 6. That the policy cannot lapse while a cash value exists; that the policy is indissoluble after one year; that you may assign or travel in any part of the world or engage in any occupation without affecting your insurance. (There are many other valuable privileges.) An Immediate Estate. The great advantage over any other form of investment is that a small percentage paid yearly creates immediately an estate of $5,000, $10,000 or more. These active, progressive years of life in which you are enjoying the most money are the years in which premiums can be most easily met. Twenty years is a convenient period, and guarantees spread over that length of time our products did early in hand. Do not delay this important matter. Act for yourselves today. Canada Life J. M. AROUND THE CITY

SUCCESSFUL SALE

A rummage sale was conducted in the lobby of the Queen Square Theatre yesterday morning, by the ladies of the Royal Standard Chapter of the I. O. D. E. Wearing apparel of every description was offered for sale, and a brisk patronage was enjoyed.

BUMPED THE FLOATS.

The Governor Carleton went into ferry service yesterday. On the 7 o'clock trip to West St. John the evening she crashed into the floats. Through some engine difficulty she failed to reverse and this caused the crash. Aside from a jar to the passengers no damage resulted.

REPAIR PRINCESS ST.

The public works department expect to break ground in Prince's street, the block between German and Charlotte, next week. It is the intention to lay a bituminous concrete surface and the work will provide employment for some more men than usual.

STEALING COAL

IS RECOVERING.

H. A. Powell, K. C., returned home yesterday from Montreal. He reports that his wife, who was operated on in the Montreal General Hospital Tuesday morning by Dr. Bazin, is on the road to recovery. He said that her condition had been very critical and the operation was a serious one. He is in hopes that she will be able to come home in a month's time.

TALE OF A CAT.

Frightened by a dog, a cat climbed a telephone pole on Britain street yesterday afternoon and then carefully walked along the cable for about fifty feet. It appeared unable to turn as the footing was so narrow, and being about thirty feet from the street its dangerous predicament was witnessed by a small gathering of people. A man procured a long board and placed it to the cable giving the cat a chance to escape. Pussycat, however, appeared to think the man was trying to knock her off the cable so she made a flying leap, alighted feet first on the sidewalk and as quick as a flash ran into an alley close by.

Mrs. Duncan Campbell, of Jodique, Cape Breton, left for her home last evening after spending two weeks with Mrs. J. J. Donovan, 639 Main street.

LAST REUNION AND DANCE OF SEASON

A large assemblage of ladies and gentlemen attended the very delightful dance held in the Knights of Pythias hall last evening, which marked the last reunion and dance of the season. An exciting programme of dance music was rendered by the Jones' orchestra, and a dainty supper was served by the ladies' committee.

PLEASANT EVENING AT THE MISSION

A large company gathered at the Faith Avenue Mission East St. John last evening for a social gathering. A most interesting evening was spent by all. Mr. A. F. Burdett, superintendent of the Mission gave a talk on a camping trip taken by "The Glensmen" last summer, illustrating various camp scenes with lantern slides.

Mrs. F. S. Porter gave an instructive lecture on "How We Got Our Money" a synopsis of the Old Testament was given by Jas. Flaveling, aged 13 years, and was most creditably done.

Much credit is due the clean and most efficient teacher, Mrs. Bissett, for the evening's programme.

BELIEVED CAPTAIN FRANK HALEY LOST LIFE IN REVERSABLE FALLS.

Man Answering Aged Mariner's Description Seen by Charles Gibbons Outside Railing of Highway Bridge Tuesday Evening—Immediately Disappeared and Splash in Water Heard.

Charles Gibbons, of Fokik Road, may have been the last man to have seen alive Captain Frank Haley, the elderly mariner, whose disappearance has caused much anxiety to his friends, and who has been missing from the home of his son, John Haley, 316 Germain street, west end, since last Monday.

Mr. Gibbons states he was crossing the provincial highway bridge over the reversible falls early Tuesday evening, when he noticed a man about 5 foot, 6 inches in height, and wearing a peaked cap and a black overcoat, standing outside the railing of the bridge. Gibbons states that he went on for about thirty feet, and on looking back found that the man was nowhere in sight; at the same time he thought he heard a splash. He went back to the spot where he had passed the man, but could find no trace of him.

The man's cap was pulled down over his face so that he was unable to distinguish his features in passing, but he noticed that the hands that grasped the rail were those of one used to manual labor.

Gibbons' description tallies fairly well with the general description given the police by Captain Haley's son, viz. "Of medium height, wearing a brown cap and a black overcoat."

It is very probable that a body falling from the bridge would be carried down the harbor and will be washed over the side somewhere down the coast.

Captain Frank Haley was a man about 76 years of age and beloved by a wide circle of friends. If he is the person seen by Mr. Gibbons, the only reason given by those who know him for his being outside the railing of the bridge is that owing to his age he has become mentally unbalanced, after wandering about from Monday evening until Tuesday evening, twenty-four hours later, and not realizing what he was doing, fell in to the water.

He was reported to have been in fairly good health up to the time he left his home, Monday evening, and members of his family and friends never had any reason to believe there was anything wrong with his mind.

He was one of the best known and most popular sea captains calling out of the port of St. John and had been following the sea nearly all his lifetime, mostly in schooners plying between Maritime Provincial ports, the United States and southern ports.

From the description given by Mr. Gibbons of the man he saw at the bridge, it is easily believed that the person was Captain Haley, and he met his death in the waters of the harbor.

The boys who had smoked, but who on June 3rd could say to him they had not smoked a cigarette from last night's meeting up to June 3rd, he would take them to the imperial.

At last night's gathering of the South End Boys' Club S. B. Bestin was present with his lantern and gave an illustrated talk, taking "The Flag" as his subject. Charles Cromwell entertained the club with the harp pipes an exhibition of club swinging, and told a story.

Judge Ritchie also spoke to the boys giving them good counsel. He reminded them that the season for play was at hand and he urged them to play the game and play it fair.

The executive served refreshments of cake and butter which the boys gave their cheer.

suggested in the past because they were looked upon as disgraceful diseases. He said there is no reason to regard them as disgraceful diseases. These are disgraceful acts, he said, but no disgraceful diseases. He spoke of the two types of these diseases.

They had been known to exist for 2,000 years, but only lately have scientists discovered how and to what extent. He says records show there are in the United Kingdom three million syphilitic cases and more of gonorrhoea than in any other country. The population was affected, and Montreal showed twenty-five per cent. of its population affected.

Insanity, paralysis of brain, sterility and miscarriages were to a large extent the result of the disease. He declared that gonorrhoeal infection was responsible for 50 per cent. of the operations performed. These diseases are also responsible for a large amount of sickness and death. He says these diseases can be controlled and that is the question to be worked on.

It is an urban and rural problem, and world-wide, he declared, and prohibition is going on in all sections. The problem must be met by an educational campaign, he said, and the establishment of clinics for control and treatment of these diseases. Government, he said, are realising the seriousness of these afflictions and are providing funds to combat the spread. It was a social problem and society must act to put an end to the existing evils.

Prevention of Tuberculosis. Dr. Porter, in a very interesting and impressive way, dealt with the tuberculosis question. He told of the ravages of the white plague and the fight against it. Voluntary agencies must be had for the work. The Department of Health is central, but the assistance of volunteer workers is necessary for success. He praised the work being done by the I. O. D. E. in their work to prevent tuberculosis.

The agencies for prevention, he said, were dispensary hospital for advanced cases, sanatoriums, prevention, school inspection and open air schools, legislation, education, visiting nurses and a wide-awake association. Begin with the children, he said; see that they are properly cared for and nourished, and the battle is half won.

Following his remarks, a vote of thanks was tendered the speaker. On motion of Judge Forbes, seconded by W. E. Sully, M.L.A., the following committee was appointed to nominate officers for the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.—Mrs. Edwards, Dr. MacLaren, E. T. Hayes, Mrs. W. E. Sully, Mrs. R. Hooper, Dr. Roberts. They will report at a later date.

General Disease. Dr. Bates discussed the ill that follow from venereal diseases. He said that venereal diseases, more than any other health problems, had been

Enforcement of Prohibitory Law

Protest Against Renting City Property for Liquor Business.

The Council of the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance met yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A., the president, Donald Fraser, in the chair.

Rev. W. D. Wilson, general secretary, reported on his trip to Ottawa re the referendum on the importation of liquor, that the probable date would be around the middle of October, that 1,560 new members had been secured at a fee of $1 each.

The report of the executive read by Rev. Z. L. Bush, recording secretary, said a tribute to Hon. Dr. Forster, who had so willingly introduced the motion for the referendum. The report was adopted.

The president referred to the need for a proper organization for the referendum and, on motion, the general secretary was given power to go ahead on this work and associate with him the necessary help. Rev. A. L. Tedford, who was in Saskatchewan during the campaign there, pointed out the need for funds as well as organization.

The names of the committee in reference to the presenting of facts in reference to the enforcement of laws, are as follows:—Rev. W. D. Wilson, Rev. Theobald, Rev. A. L. Tedford, J. Willard Smith, Mrs. David Higwell.

The following resolution also was passed: That in view of the many complaints received at this meeting from different parts of the province as to the lax enforcement of the prohibitory law, this council instructs the executive to lay before the government at the earliest possible date, these facts relative to present conditions, and to urge upon the government that steps be taken to have the law efficiently enforced; further, to take any action that may be necessary to this end.

Carried. Moved and carried that we appoint a delegation to wait upon the commissioners of the City of St. John to protest against the granting of any permit or license, or the renting of any city property for the purposes of the liquor business. The committee consists of J. Willard Smith, Rev. A. L. Tedford, S. B. Bustin and Rev. W. D. Wilson.

Further resolved, that the committee appointed to interview the government, be authorized to protest to the government against the granting of any licenses for export. The meeting then adjourned.

SUGGESTS ST. JOHN FOLLOW ONTARIO

Com. Frink Thinks City Might Profit if Goes Into Cement Making Business for Itself.

Commissioner Frink yesterday threw out a suggestion that the city might, with profit, follow the example of the Province of Ontario which has set aside one million dollars to go into the cement-making business for itself, claiming the price asked for by the makers, $3.20 per barrel, is not warranted by conditions today. He pointed out that the price asked here was $4.50 per barrel, less five per cent. and fifteen cents for bags returned.

ASPHALT PRICE TAKES A TUMBLE

Price Has Fallen Nine Dollars a Ton — Com. Frink Will Call for Tenders.

Commissioner Frink expects to call for tenders for the new supply of asphalt, the first of the week. It will be recalled that some weeks ago tenders were called for and rejected because they were considered too high, and recent happenings have justified the commissioner in his action, the price having fallen $9 per ton.

Open New Garage 90 Duke; May 1

John M. Bates and Oliver W. Wood in Splendid, Roomy, Fire-Proof Quarters.

With the coming of May 1 St. John will boast another garage—and a very fine one. It will be conducted at 90 Duke street by two hustling young business men as the United Garage Company. The proprietors are John M. Bates, who resigned as manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Paradise Row branch, to go into business, and Oliver W. Wood, manager of the United Automobile Tire Co., Ltd., which post he also will continue to hold.

The garage is a large building in Duke street, near Charlotte, built of brick set in concrete, and so fireproof, cement flooring, large entry and exit, a roomy yard before the street is reached and no bothersome street car rails to worry about.

There is storage room for fifty-five cars, a machine shop for repair work is being set up, and Frank Corrier, an expert workman, will be in charge.

The new firm is going to make "Service" the watchword and with their excellent personal equipment and their fine quarters they expect to be able to give auto owners the very best of satisfaction.
