CHAMBERLAIN SURRENDERS. London, June 16.-Friday witnessed an event the political importance of which cannot be denied. The Duke of Devonshire and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, leader of the Liberal-Unionist party, were entertained at a banquet by the chief Tory wire-puller, and it was announced that they would take office in the Tory Government. As far as the duke is concerned, this is natural and inevitable and long foreseen, but Mr. Chamberlain has struggled and fought to retain his own personal independence and separate existence of his party. His decision now demonstrates his belief that in the coming general election the Liberal-Unionist party will cease to exist except in Birmingham and a few midland towns, where his personal influence is still paramount. He has been nine years without the sweets of office, and had he not decided to chain himself to the Tory car he would find himself permanently excluded from power. Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour and the irresistible course of events have been too much for Mr. Chamberlain, as Mr. Gladstone long ago predicted they would be.

They will pay a visit to Lady Henry Somerset at Riegate, where Miss Frances E. Willard, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, is now a guest. The Daily News will say tomorrow The Women's International Temperance convention is timely in view of the local veto bill. It is significant that vast multitudes of women of all countries especially those speaking English are in arms against the greatest social evil of the times. The paper regrets to see the programme includes resolutions on half a score of other subjects. It adds that this is a weakness of women's movements in England, and is a mere scattering of energy. The Telegraph, in its issue tomorrow will wish God-speed to the ladies, who, at the family hearth or in the pulpit, work loyally for temperance. They are destined, it says, to earn the nation's gratitude.

The speakers at Sunday's meetings were worthy of the occasion. The Morning Mail will denounce the polyglot petition and the entire demonstration. It will say that perhaps the most successful demonstration will be the proving to what length impertipence may be carried by a band of blatant female agitators, to whom good taste and propriety are empty terms. BRITISH POLITICS.

Harcourt is Adroit and Optimistic-The Opposition Confident of Regaining Power. London, June 16 .- Sir William Har-

court's speech on Thursday, obtaining control of the time of the House for Government business, was most adroit and optimistic. He had the cheerful, jaunty air of a Palmerston with a majority of 100 behind him instead of a baker's dozen. His declaration that the Government intend to proceed with all the principal bills until they are passed into law was loudly cheered, but the hollowness of the proclamation is generally recognized. Mr. Balfour virtually supported Sir William Harcourt's motion in a conciliatory speech, when he had been assured that there was no intention of subjecting the Welsh Disestablishment Bill to compulsory closure. Mr. Chamberlain made a bitter attack, plan of reform in Armenia, submitted accusing the Government of hypocritiry Great Britain, France and Russia, cal pretenses, and Sir William Harcourt of the worst kind of clap-trap. Turkish ambassador in The difference in tone of the two London, instructing him to ask the Unionist leaders indicated that one favored a waiting policy, while the other Minister to postpone a decision in the decided to precipitate the overthrow of the Government. Mr. Chamberlain's power in a Unionist Parliament will depend upon the strength of his ma-Porte yesterday handed to the British, jority. He will be a more important French and Russian ambassadors a figure if the majority be narrow than fresh satisfactory reply acceding to the if it be large. Nobody believes that he principle of control by the powers, but can be left out of the Unionist Cabinet, asking that the period be limited to but it is natural to infer that Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour would prefer to be released from absolute dependence upon him. They think that their majority will be larger if the elections are deferred until autumn, and are in no haste to overthrow the Government. Mr. Chamberlain is in more of a hurry because from enlightened self-interest he is indifferent to a great majority. Meanwhile Mr. Balfour good-humoredly patronizes Sir William Harcourt, and the Ministers hold on with the ulterior purpose of postponing the elections until February, if they are allowed to do so, and then appealing to the country on a resolution directed against the Lords. Their majority is so small that an accident may happen any week through the caprices or resentments of Radicals like Mr. Labouchere, who do not believe in a drifting policy when the rocks are straight ahead and in plain Sir William Harcourt's declaration that, whether the session was short or long, it would last until the leading measure of the Government were disposed of ought not to be taken too literally. It indicates an autumn session, but it is not probable that the Government will carry out the threat of keeping Parliament in session until the bills are passed. The Cabinet have apparently agreed upon a definite policy, and that is a great gain; it imparts steadiness to the Liberal supporters and encourages them to believe that the party fortunes are not utterly wrecked.

Parliament reassembled after the recess with a loud warning from the Liberal whip that members must be in constant attendance, as divisions would be frequent and perhaps dangerous. The signal was not seriously regarded; the attendance was light for the five-days and the proceedings were dull. The Crefters' Bill passed its second reading on the eve of the election in the Highlands, with both parties bidding for the political support of Inverness-shire. Mr. Healey's Irish Municipal Franchise Bill was carried on the third reading by sharp practice in taking advantage of the rules which exempt from the report stage measures submitted without amendment from the grand committee. The Opposition complained that a partisan majority rejected all amendments in grand committee in order to railroad the bill through the Commons in the American fashion. Mr. Balfour plaintively remarked that not an adverb was allowed to be added nor a comma changed. Apparently there was no great harm in expediting legislation, when the Lords have abundant leisure for looking after adverbs and commas.

Eighteen-Months-Old Bertha Wurr Dies of Cellulitis.

New York, June 16.—Bertha Wurr, the 18-months-old daughter of August Wurr, who lives in the rear house at 44 Morton street, was bitten on the arm by a mósquito on Thursday of last week. The bite made the child restless, and she scratched it continually The next day the arm swelled until it was twice the normal size, and the child became very ill. Dr. Cole, of the Northwestern Dispensary, who was called in, found Bertha in great pain and suffering from a high fever.

The child also had great difficulty in breathing. He prescribed for her, but in spite of his care the little girl died. As the case was a peculiar one, it was reported at the coroner's office, and yesterday Deputy Coroner Huber made an investigation.

After describing the symptoms, Dr Cole said he thought the child's death was caused by the mosquito bite. Dr Huber gave a certificate that death was due to cellulitis, which is an inflammation of the tissue immediately beneath the skin.

NEWSPAPER TRAIN WRECKED.

The Engineer and Fireman Hurt-Air

Brakes Refused to Work. New Haven, Conn., June 16 .- The New York Su lay newspaper train, Que here at 4:26 'clock, was wrecked in the railroad yard here this afternoon. There were four cars on the train, and all but the last car were derailed. The engine was turned completely around and thrown over on its side. Engineer Matt Chiggins and Fireman Chappell were injured. Conductor Hoagland was in the rear car and escaped injury. It is supposed that the train's speed, which is said to have been 55 miles an hour, was too great for the very sharp curve at that point where the accident occurred. The reason the train was going so fast while mearing the station was that the air brakes refused to work. Fireman Chappell was seriously but not dangerously bruised. Engineer Higgins' left knee cap was shattered, and his left leg was broken. He also sustained numerous bruises. The tracks for 300 feet were torn up. Great damage was also done to the switching system.

HANGED WITH A HANDKERCHIEF

Tragic Death of a Brute Who Escared

Lynching. Cincinnati, O., June 16.-An infuriated mob chased Jacob Strack down John street yesterday afternoon amid great excitement. Half an hour previous he had been seen by some women enticing 10-year-old Katie Wise, who lived in the same house with him, to a vacant lot. They shouled to some men near by, who started after Strack. One of the pursuers hurled a brick at the man as he ran. It hit him and he fell; the crowd closed in on him, and it was with difficulty that he was rescued by officers.

Strack is 55 years old. He was taken to a police station and locked up. A few moments afterwards the turnkey heard a strange gurgling sound, and upon investigation found the prisoner hanging to the top of a cell with a handkerchief tied around his neck. He was dead when taken down.

London, June 16 .-- The American horses do not figure very prominently in the list of probable starters in the four days' racing at Ascot Heath which begins next Tuesday. Each of these carriages will be drawn by four bright bay horses and will be followed by a long procession of vehicles conveying an army of royal servants from Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle. All in all, it will be the brightest and most festive royal procession that has been seen in many years. The Afghan Prince, Nasrulla Khan, will make his appearance on Ascot Heath on cup day, Thursday, when he will ride down in the special train of the Prince of Wales.

Rosebery to Retire.

He Publicly Announces His Wish to Separate Schools for Manitoba, as

A Bill to Regulate British Inebriates-Fund for Cricketer Grace.

ROSEBERY WANTS TO RETIRE. London, June 17.-Many have been he assertions and denials that Prime Minister Rosebery was anxious to lay down the cares of office, but the first authoritative statement was made on Saturday, when Lord Rosebery himself confessed in a speech in the Clerkenwell district both his desire to retire from the Premiership, and that the time was near when the Government would be without him. He said that among the many castles in the air in which he indulged was one for the day when he should be released from his post. This day, he added, was not remote, though its nearness might be over-estimated. BERESFORD'S PLUCK.

London, June 7.—When Lord William Beresford and his wife, formerly the Duchess of Marlborough, were driving down Pall Mall on Wednesday, one of the horses attached to their carriage shied and fell. Lord Beresford jumped out and sat upon the horse's head, holding him down until the harness could be taken off and the horse raised to his feet. Lady Beresford was somewhat shaken up, but she steadfastly refused to be taken to an adjacent house while the horse was being raised and reharnessed, and was able to go to a ball given by Lady Londonderry in the even-

GOVERNMENT TELEPHONES. London, June 17 .- The new Government system of trunk line telephones was inaugurated last week with much fuss and blowing of trumpets and gathering together of notabilities. Everybody went into ecstasies at the idea of being able to carry on conversations over 400 miles by wire, as though it never had been done before, say in America. The lines have been erected at an expense of $5,000,000. The mileage completed is 7,595, and all the circuits are metallic.Copper weighing 800 pounds a mile has been used throughout, and it is said that this is the heaviest ever erected. The transmitters used are the Deckert, an Austrian improvement on Hanning's granular microphones, and the receivers are simple double-

FOR BRITISH INEBRIATES. London, June 17.—The Government has introduced into the House of Lords the promised bill dealing with inebriates, and the provisions of this measure are sufficiently drastic to make sinners tremble. Power is given, not only to the High Court of Justice, but to county courts, to commit a person to an inebriates' licensed retreat for a term of six months to two years upon the application of a relative or friend, supported by evidence; and the expression 'habitual drunkard" is extended to include any person who is rendered dangerous to himself or others or incapable of managing himself or his affairs through habitual use of opium or any other drug. Even these powers are not sufficient for extreme temperance reformers, who urge that the backslider should be dealt with earlier in his downward course. They propose, therefore, to extend the definition of "habitual drunkard" so as to include any man convicted of drunkenness thrice within two years. As this would hit hard a good many otherwise reputable people it will be strenuously opposed, but the Government bill itself appears to receive general approval, and will almost certainly become a law at this session should time permit. HE COULD TALK STRONG, TOO. Of the Inverness election a cable correspondent has this to say regarding the Radical candidate: "If Mr. Mac-Rae should be elected the Government would be uncertain of his vote. He is a crofter advocate and a pure Celt. He was sent to London on a land deputation to see Sir William Vernon Har-court, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who thinks the crofter question a nuisance. Sir William used some strong language to the deputation, whereupon Mr. MacRae said: You should not swear at the Hielanders. Moreover, there are others who can swear as well as you. Tam your Government, and tam your bills, Mr. Harcourt.' Sir William was dumbfounded for a moment, but, recovering from his amazement, laughed heartily at the outbreak of the tion without which millions contract pernicious and most destructive habits -habits which make young men permanently aged, pale, haggard, listless, devoid of ambition, easily tried, languid. forgetful and incapable; fill houses and swells the lists of suicides; separate husbands and wives; bring untold suffering to millions, even unto the third and fourth generation. Parents, guardians and philanthropists can do no better service to the rising generation than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an association of medical men who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinted at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits, which are far more prevalent than any layman can imagine, and which if persisted in gradually undermine the constitution and health, and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and inclose with it 10 cents in stamps (to pay postage) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and the book will be sent, secure from observation, in a plain sealed envelope.

Manitoba Minority View.

Viewed by Counsel for the Catholics.

Objections to Changing the Present System Criticised by Mr. Ewart, Q.C.

Ottawa, June 17.—John S. Ewart, Q.C., who is counsel for the minority,

"The Manitoba Government advance six reasons for its refusal to comply with the remedial order. 1. The Catholic schools under the old system were inefficient. 2. There are in Manitoba great difficulties in maintaining an efficient system of primary education. 3. His Excellency in council was not pro-perly provided with information before the order was made; in other words, Mr. D'Alton McCarthy was inefficient. 4. There are some more grave legal difficulties, and the Province still has the whip in hand; in other words, the Dominion Government is inefficient. 5. The members of the Local Legislature having expressely or impliedly given certain pledges are at present inefflcient. 6. 'God Save the Queen.

"I ask permission to make a short 1. The charges of inefficiency that are brought against the former Catholic schools have been answered so often and so completely that nothing but a charitable attribution to the Manitoba Government of monomania can save from very serious characterization its statement that, 'so far as we are aware there has never been an attempt made to defend these schools on their merits.' These allegations are of three kin'ds: (1) Those which are perfectly true, but also perfectly irrelevant, and would be just as useful to prove the inefficiency of the same; (2) those which are specific and untrue; and (3) those which are so general that they are rather villifications than allegations. Amongst those which are true, but irrelevant, the principal one is that very many of the French half-breeds are illiterate. In the United States, where there are no separate schools, the illiteracy amongst civilized Indians, Chinese, negroes, etc., was so great that a separate column was made for them in the educational census. Is this an argument in favor of establishing separate schools in the States? Does it prove the inefficiency of their system of education? If not, why does the partial illiteracy of half-breeds, who, during the present generation, were roving bands of hunters and whose mother tongue is Cree, prove anything against the Catholic schools in Mani-toba? * * * * "Amongst the charges that are specific. but are untrue, is the allegation that in the Catholic schools catechism is the principal subejet of instruction. At the close of my regint lecture in Winnipeg I produced the time tables from five Catholic schools and asked everyone to see for himself the baselessness of this charge. Further, I gave, in the name of the Catholics, a cordial invitation to all to visit the schools at any time they wished. "Another specific charge is that under the old system the Catholics cooked their returns so as to increase their share of the taxes. This charge has now become a general one, for the reason that upon the only occasion upon which it was made specific it was proved to be untrue, and that in the most satisfactory way possible, namely, by the finding of the Court of Queen's Bench. The charge then was specific. It was made as to the city of Winnipeg. It was proved to be false. Since then it has become, as I say, general, and has taken to the woods.

"Another specific charge is that the examination of teachers was a farce. This has been supported by quoting one out of several papers set for a teachers' examination, and then speaking of it, as Mr. Armour does, as though it had been the only one required to be answered. * * At my recent lecture I did all that was possible to remove misapprehension by producing upon the platform for general inspection a larger exhibit of the ordinary work of the Catholic school children: by asking the audience to visit the schools, and by announcing the fact that in one of the Winnipeg Catholic schools there was on that day no fewer than 44 Protestant scholars, whose parents would rather pay for the benefits of the 'inefficiency' of a Catholic school than partake of the excelence of the

"Manitoba's second argument is that

we labor under great difficulties in maintaining an efficient system of primary education. The large amount of land which is free from school taxes, and the great extent of territory over which our small population is scattered, present obstacles to efficiency and progress.' No doubt; and it would he somewhat fair to remember those facts when charging Catholics with inefficiency. But the abolition of separate schools will not change these conditions. As has been so often pointed out, with the exception of the urban lovalities (where there are both Protestants and Catholics enough to make two schools) the Catholic population is almost completely separated, geographically. from the Protestant. Unnecessary duplication of schools could be easily avoided. And this the Mani-toba Government at last seems to recognize, for its apprehensions are now said to rest upon the fact 'that the establishment of a set of Roman Cath-clic schools might be followed by a set of Anglican schools, and possibly by Mennonite and Icelandic and other schools. Why the Anglicans, Mennonites and Icelanders should not in schools to which the other classes of children go, be permitted to teach such religions as they desire, instead of that prescribed by Mr. Greenway, I, for one, have never been able to make out any more than I can understand why Catholics should not have similar liberty. As for separate schools in any other sense than this, Anglicans and others have never asked for them, and would decline to have them. They are perfeetly satisfied with the present syshim of control. The argument, therefore, based upon phantom, is foolish." Mr. Ewart adds: "If Parliament be inefficient, it can do nothing, and if the local members can do nothing they are clearly inefficient, and ought, in my humble judgment, at once make way for those who are free to vote as they think right." In conclusion the writer urges Mr.

The Presbyterians.

Delegates Visit the Asylum and Have a Most Enjoyable Afternoon-Strawberries and Icecream, Refreshments, Music, the Bagpipes and Speech-Making-The Wonders of the Village to the East-A Trip Among the Wards-The Services Yesterday.

A RAILWAY JOURNEY. Nearly all of the delegates, many of friends of both, accepted the invitation to visit the Asylum for Insane on Saturday afternoon. The C. P. R. kindly provided a train of seven cars for the party. It was timed to leave at 2 o'clock, but as long as a figure in a clerical garb could be seen hurrying along Richmond street to the station, the train remained. In fact, the crew of this particular train was most accommodating. The driver must have been a Presbyterian, because even after he started he obligingly pulled up when he saw the figure of a local pastor fleeting towards the departing train in company with a couple of ladies, who were executing a most am azing series of signals with their parasols. It was 2:15 when the train really got under way. The Asylum was reached in exactly five minutes.

AT THE ASYLUM. The party set out for the main building, which looked imposing at the head of a double avenue of beautiful shade trees. It is well known that the natural beauty of the spot was not what commended it as an asylum site when the land was purchased, but the lapse of over a score of years has worked a wonderful transformation, until now, thanks to the skill of landscape artists, gardeners and the trained eye of the superintendent, the place has been made the prettiest of spots. A winding walk brought the party to the park in the rear of the women's ward and inclos-ure, and then they scattered to make their way to different points of interengine houses, the kitchen, the stables, the hot-houses, the shady walks, and the hundred and one points of interest that may be seen in this town of nearly 1,500 people.

REFRACTORY WARD. The Asylum has a perfect system of waterworks, and the best of water from an artesian well. A visit to the boiler and pumping house is most interesting. You find ice-cold milk and cream in the refrigerator of the butcher shop, and pass a snug little church on your way to the bakeshop, where they turn out over 500 loaves of bread a day. You take a peep at the carpenter shop and of Black and Cream Tips in bunches the men at work there, and then pass on to the central kitchen, where a system of radial tramways carry the meals Special line of Ladies' Fine Straw to the different wards. Upstairs you find as nice a concert hall and ball room as could be desired. The visitors inspected the many agencies provided for the comfort of the patients, and for contributing to their happiness. The care and consideration extended to the patients by those in charge was borne testimony to by many of the visitors. It was conceded on all hands that the lot of the patient is made as bright, pleasant and comfortable as it is possible to be made, and all came away thankful that humanitarian considerations are first in the treatment of those who are unfortunate enough to have their minds unhinged. This was fully acknowledged by the Assembly moderator (Dr. Robertson), Principal McVicar, and Rev, James Buchanan, who spoke at the afternoon tea served to the visitors. Rev. W. J. Clark, Mr. Robert Reid, and Rev. J. A. Macdonald, St. Thomas, also spoke, while Dr. Bucke made a brief response.

NOTES. Dr. Reid was present in a carriage. The strawberries were grown in the Asylum garden.

There are nearly 1,100 patients and about 200 workers and attendants. Many men have drifted from the barracks to the Asylum as attendants. This accounts in part for the excellent pipe music. The Asylum Band, under Dr. Sippi, delighted the visitors. The hymnal committee issued an important suplementary report on Saturday. The churches of Scotland have been engaged in compiling a hymnal which shall be common to all the Scottish churches, and a number of copies of the draft have been received by the committee. About 350 of the hymns are identical with hymns in the draft prepared by the committee, but the drafts conflict in some particulars, and as the committee is anxious to see a common hymnal adopted for the Presbyterian Churches of the British Empire, a year's postponement of the final decision is suggested.

ASSEMBLY SERVICES. The city pulpits were for the most part filled yesterday by Presbyterian ministers who are delegates to the Assembly. The three services at St. Andrew's Church were attended by very large congregations. In the morning the learned Dr. Macmillan, of Halifax, occupied the pulpit and preached a very instructive sermon. At 4:30 in the afternoon the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered by the moderator, Rev. Dr. Robertson, assisted by the retiring moderator, Rev. Dr. Mackay, Rev. Dr. McVicar, Ex-Moderator Dr. Sedgwick, and Rev. Dr. Thomson, Sarnia. The building was crowded to the very doors in the evening. Rev. Peter Wright, of Portage la Prairie, preached from the text, Titus, ii., 13 and 14: "Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior Jesus Christ, who gave limself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works."

Rev. W. J. Clark had charge of the meeting, which was addressed by Rev. Dr. Smith, Honan; Rev. Dr. McKay, and Mr. Koa Kou, of Formosa. Without certificate, 3,102 were removed. Dr. Smith, in his address to the children, compared their lot with that of answers to the questions that were the Chinese young people. How these same boys stood by him when a mob of 4,000 besieged him for three days and nights, so he always loved the boys. Dr. McKay dealt with the great success he has had in Formosa. Mr. Koa Kou, Dr. McKay's student, also addressed a few words to the children, and sung a verse of a Chinese hymn in the native tongue. He then said: "I like to sing English hymns best, because you can sing right out of your mouth instead of through your nose." He sang a verse of "Jesus Loves Me" in English, and in a remarkably clear tone and voice. A liberal collection was received for mission purposes.

MONDAY MORNING. An interesting point was brought out at this morning's sederunt in connection with the report of the committee on records. The committee discovered on going over the records that a layman had been elected moderator of the Presbytery of Whitby.

Dr. Sedgwick, while not wishing to discuss the merits of the question, because he did not think the time opportune, asked whether the Presbytery had acted constitutionally. The law of the church was that the moderator of the Presbytery should be a minister as much as the moderator of the session, or synod, or General Assembly. Not only in his judgment was it the ex-pressed law, but it was the unwritten law. The matter should not be allowed to pass unchallenged, and the Presbytery should 'not have taken the matter into its own hands, but should have est—the buildings, the gardens, the had the question decided by the As-workshops, the farms, the pumping and sembly. Dr. Sedgwick moved in effect sembly. Dr. Sedgwick moved in effect that the matter be remitted to the Presbytery of Toronto and Kingston to in quire into and deal with.

Elder Walter Paul, Montreal—Is it a fact that at the present time there is an elder a moderator of a Northwest synod? The Moderator-I am not aware. In the discussion which followed Rev. Mr. McQuaig, Welland, stated that for two years an elder had acted as moderator in the Presybtery of Welland and he made a capital officer. Elder Paul wanted the matter discussed at once without any beating about the bush. Dr. Sedgwick then gave notice of motion to discuss the constitutionality of the matter at a future sederunt of the present Assembly. Dr. Murray wanted him to give a year's notice. "If Dr. Murray will guarantee that I will be alive at the end of the year I will," said Dr. Sedgwick.

He moved that the overture be received and the requests granted.

Dr. J. K. Smith, of Port Hope, seconded, saving that the young people were the life-blood of the church. (Applause.)

Several other speakers favored the motion, and Dr. Laing urged caution as far as the expenditure of funds was involved.

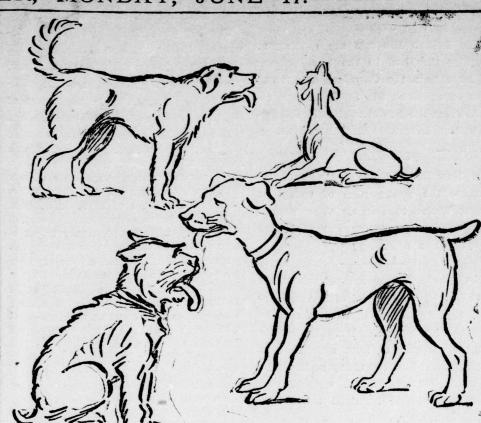

The motion carried amid applause, and a standing committee on young people's societies will be formed.

STATISTICS. The report of the committee on statistics contained figures galore. Dr. Torrance, Guelph, in presenting the report, dwelt strongly on the fact that the total receipts last year-$2,126,987was the largest sum paid since 1875.

-(applause)-and $70,687 more than the preceding year. "In the midst of stringency, God has touched the hearts of our people," said Dr. Torrance, "and the church's revenue, instead of having a decrease, has had an increase."

In the Presbytery of London, $29,058, being a decrease of $110, were paid towards stipend; $86,129, an increase of $235,532, towards congregational ends: $11,516, a decrease of $1,425, to the schemes, and $101,424, an increase of $21,736, for all purposes.

GRATIFYING INCREASES. The summary of statistics showed that in the number of churches and stations, 2,339, there was an increase in 1894, over those in 1893, of 115; in sittings with which these are provided, 517,517, of 19,666; in families, 93,635, of 1,997; single peron the roll, 179,579, of 4,667. THE EXCITING NEWS FROM THE OLD WORLD

The two most important cablegrams sent from Europe within the last 48 relate to the alleged contemplated resignation of the Liberal leaddership by Lord Rosebery, and what is now a critical stage in the settlement of the Eastern question.

Lord Rosebery more than hints that he would be delighted to hail the day when he could lay down the responsibilities of office. He may mean exactly what he says, and may consider his far from satisfactory health a good reason why he should let some one else lead; or he may throw out the hint as a challenge to those who have been grumbling at the line of policy he has chosen to pursue. Time alone will tell. But the declaration now has an unsettling effect

The news regarding the attitude of Great Britain towards Turkey is decidedly sensational. Briefly, it is to the effect that Britain will compel Turkey to treat the Armenian Christian popuproperly-to decidedly improve her ways in many respects-or she will be moved to do so by force. This reform, it seems, Britain is bound to bring about, with the support of the other Powers, if possible; if not, without

In some circles, this reported determination is interpreted as meaning war and finally a partition of Turkey in Europe; but much will depend upon whether the Turk has backing from any of the Powers.

It would be a blessing to civilization If the Turk could be sent bag and baggage out of Europe. He has often been menaced. It may prove a master political stroke for Lord Rosebery to finally carry out the long threatened withdrawal of power from a despot who has so often shamefully abused it.

WHO SHALL CHOOSE?

The difficulty with regard to the pastorate of Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, London, is an illustration of a change that has been taking place in the Methodist body in recent years. In the early days of Methodism the congregations did very little "calling," but as time has gone by there has been a growing tendency on the part of the people to choose the pastor whom they believe will best suit their circumstances, and in the main stationing committees have been inclined to respect this congregational privilege. The extension of the time limit during which a pastor may remain with a people from three to five years was another concession to this view. It is ilton Spectator admits that John Bull when the stationing committee and is rich. Coming at a time when high the congregation affected do not see eye to eye, and the practically unanimous desire of the board is disregarded, that troublesome friction ensues. Queen's Avenue official board selected their pastor, and the heads of the Church consented to his transference from one conference to another, in order that he might become their pastor, but the stationing committee, in its ships in order that they may compete wisdom, declined to consent to this arrangement, and offered the congregation first one man and then another 'n place of him. The representatives of the congregation, however, are ob-Aurate in their determination to have the man of their choice. They have not objected to either of the other two on the ground of their qualifications. They acknowledge that both are good men. But they stand up for the view that their wishes should be respected. The situation is a difficult one; but is it not possible to find a solution for the problem presented that will be satisfactory to the people of Queen's Avenue, while not hindering the welfare of others?

The Japanese have been following the customs of European nations in their remarkable national development. According to Dr. Winkler, a distinguished German scientist, there is nothing remarkable in this, as the Japs realbelong to the same race as the pure Hungarians, or Magyars. It has certainly been made evident that they have little in common with their Chinese neighbors

The British Liberals are getting as soundly thrashed in the bye-elections as have been the Canadian Conservatives ever since Sir John Abbott retired from the Premiership. Lord Roselast week

In New York there is lamentation because the young men of today no longer desire to dance. Why should they dance when they get far more enjoyment in wheeling?

The Dominion Government spent less than $300 on the funeral of D'Arcy Mc-Gee; it did not spend a cent on the funeral of the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie; but the memory of both statesmen is just as much honored today as it would have been if they had had expended on their funeral one hundred times $300 of public money.

The United States produced $540,000-000 worth of minerals last year. But it had to come to Canada for its nickel.

If the Dominion Government can ignore the lowest tenders on public condeals with favorites, what is the use of calling for contracts at all? The thing is an expensive farce.

How would it do for the London Street Railway Company to try the nevelty of a two-story car on new electric line to Springbank? Paris they have these double-deck cars and they are much patronized. The outside seats are roofed, and are protected at the ends by glass screens. They are not operated by trolley, but by a storage battery, which has many advantages, but which is ruled out as too expensive in its present stage of development for lines on this continent. Another innovation is the driver's horn, with which he toots, and toots, and toots, when he desires to off trespassers on the track. the gong. If brought into use on the Springbank trolley line the horn would be a formidable competitor with the weirdly-wailing whistle on the river

$10,000,000 less than the estimates. Germany has a Minister of Public Works that knows his business, and keeps boodlers at a distance.

Lightning struck the Parliament buildings the other day, but the men in power have not taken the hint yet.

Under improved business conditions it is estimated that this month the revenue of the United States will overlap the expenditure by a handsome margin, despite the repeal of the income tax. This will sorely disappoint the McKinleyites, who have been crying that increased duties were necessary to prevent a permanent deficit.

If the experience of the last fifteen years is repeated it will soon cost the Dominion Government more for the support of Indian officials than for In-

There is nothing new under the sun. Herodotus tells us that in Egypt, several thousand years since, medical specializing was general. The country, he said, swarmed with doctors. History today repeats itself.

Chicago's proposal to lower the level of the great lakes in order that she may float her sewage away is just like Chicago. She doesn't want the earth. The water will do.

Still another word invented. On the trolley cars in New Haven, Conn., the sign over the motorman says: "Please do not talk to the motorneer." Surely "motorneer" is not an improvement on "motorman."

THE FREE SILVER CAT.

The big gathering of public men favorable to the coinage of silver, which was held at Memphis, Tenn., last week, proves that the movement is not without strong supporters in the ranks of both political parties. The regulations bery lost Inverness in the contest of adopted contained no promise of future alliance, and no forecast of what is to happen if the great parties refuse to come out for free silver. They simply declare for the free coinage of the white metal at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting on the other nations. This stand leaves it open for either of the two historic parties to take up free silver coinage as a plank. If neither one of them does so, it is altogether likely that a free silver candidate will be placed in nomination. The Democrats have more to fear from this outlook than the Republican party. If three candidates run next year, and a majority in the electoral college is not polled by one of the number, then the election will be thrown into Congress, the majority of which will be Republican, at least up till March 4, 1897. In that case, the Republicans would capture the Presidency, even if in a minority in the

This makes the political outlook in the United Sates decidedly interesting. There will be many watchers, as the months go by, to see how the free silver cat keeps jumping. She will figure in the coming Presidential campaign to a greater extent than the tariff issue, and the fortunes of both parties will be affected by her.

REVOLUTIONS IN PROGRESS. A good deal has been said and written about the competition of the Australian and New Zealand butter with the Canadian product in the British market. It is probable that we are on the eve of a change which will cause the New Zealand dairymen to largely give up producing butter for export to Great Britain, and to turn their attention more to cheese-making, low though the price of that product is at the pres-

From the Danish consul in Auckland New Zealand, we learn that there has been depression in dairying there because of the low prices realized for butter exported. One large system of creameries paid farmers by contract an average of only 66 2-3 cents per 100 pounds of milk, but lost considerable money, and is now about to reduce the price to 60 cents; and the question is, will the farmers continue to produce milk at that price? The local price for the best butter is only 9 1-2 cents per pound. The freight to Europe is 1.6 cents per pound, and while they have refrigerator steamers from the principal ports, they are often handicapped Canadians will rub their eyes when by two or three days' transportation they read that the Kiel Canal cost in local steamers, where the butter is exposed to high temperatures and bad odors. For these reasons it is probable that large shipments of butter will not likely continue, much less increase. and that the New Zealand farmers will be inclined to adopt the advice Farmers tendered them by Mr. J. H. Monrad, the noted Illinois dairy expert, twelve years ago, and repeated in the Country Gentleman last week, to go in for cheese-making rather than butter. Mr. Monrad entertains the same view with regard to Australia, which, notwithstanding the hot-house governmental nursing which has recently caused large exportations, he holds has a climate that is still more against butter-making than that of New Zealand. This information by an expert will no doubt be duly noted by Canadian dairymen. If they have not the competition in the British market of their far-off Australian cousins in one prime farm commodity, they are bound to have it in another, for these great colonies are, like Canada, pre-eminently agricultural countries, and the British ecnsumer is their common customer. It is interesting to note that each of the colonies hope by the new trade agreement with Canada to supply us with products of the farm. They hope to send us by the Pacific steamers subsidized by the Dominion Government, mutton and butter and other farm products at phenomenally low prices. Will they add cheese?

ECONOMY WITH A VENGEANCE. Up till now Chief Justice Davie, or British Columbia, has been paid $5,000 a year in that capacity, and $600 as local judge of admiralty. In the last-named capacity, but one case has been tried in three years. Still, Sir Hibbert Tupper is pushing a bill through Parliament to hoist the salary of Judge Davie

Some of the members, notably Mr. Laurier and Mr. Mills, expressed the conviction that to pay a man $1,000 a year for practically a sinecure position, after paying him $5,000 a year for other work, was unwarranted, but the Government insists on paying the increased amount, and it will be voted by its supporters.

Though money grew on trees and could be had for the picking, it could not be more lavishly spent than it now is by the men in power. When Mr. Mackenzie was in office, the country was run on $23,000,000 a year; now over $39,000,000 is spent.

It will interest our readers to learn that Dr. A. S. Johnson, editor of Current History, the well-known quarterly review published at Buffalo, N.Y. is a Canadian by birth, a graduate of the Provincial University. After serving as fellow in University College under the late Prof. Young, and as instructor in Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., under Prof. (now president) Schurman, he became identified with the starting of the unique and valuable magazine which under his editorial management has come to be recognized in all parts of the world by scholars and public men as a standard authority of reference on all questions of present or recent interest.

BASEBALL. ALERTS DEFEAT THE CRESCENTS The Alerts won their first championship game on Saturday from the Crescents of Toronto by a score of 16 to 4. A good crowd witnessed the contest and thoroughly enjoyed the luck of the Alerts, who had the game easily in their grasp after the third innings. The nome team put up a clever batting and fielding game. It must not be understood that the batting was the cause of substituting Ward for Young in the box in the fourth. The latter was very wild, and was hit for five safe hits in the three innings, four successive hits being made in the second. The team did not support him at critical stages. The Crescents are good ball-players, as was seen in the fifth to the eighth innings, when through sharp fielding but thirteen Alerts went to bat. The team was placed according to the score card. Their catcher, little Holden, is the star of their team. His weight does not deter him from batting, running and catching like an old Leaguer. The Crescents are weak at the bat, as evidenced by the few hits secured off Carney and a total of nine strike-outs. Ward, their pitcher, has a terking delivery. He is quick in watching the bases, and caught Burton easily off first in the eighth inning. Their tallies were made in the first, second, sixth and seventh, and every run was scored with the assistance of errors. Carney's twirling was superb His speed was great, and never once did he slacken up in delivery. Only one Crescent took first on balls. He hit two batsmen and struck was magnificent. His five times at bat realized four hits, with a total of seven tases. He had two runs, two stolen bases, two put-outs and three assists, and assisted in a double play. His pickup of a hard ground hit in the ninth was the best play of the game. Jack Player, after the first inning, also played a beautiful game. His throwing to first was faultless. He should practice to touch the runner from the left side, instead of turning and touching him with the right hand. He lost a putout certainly in this way on Saturday. Hynd was the only Alert who did not secure a safe hit. He struck out twice. Thorpe caught splendidly and batted

BALMORALS VS. STARS.

The Balmorals won a game from the Stars on Saturday, knocking Cook out of the box in the seventh, and then hit the substitute pitcher, Wanless, for ten runs in the eighth. Barron's pitching for the Balmorals was especially fine, only four hits being secured off him. A good all-round game was put up by the Balmorals, and only one error was made. Score:

SYRACUSE VS. TORONTO. Toronto, June 15.—Hastings started in to pitch against the Stars this afternoon. He had little speed, but he managed to retire the side without scoring, although he gave Welch a base on balls, and otherwise did not figure in the score. Gray went in and could not get the ball over the rubber. The Stars' six runs in the fourth came from three bases on balls, three errors, Welch's single and Minnehan's homer. Day had the Indians well in hand and kept the hits well scattered, apart from the fourth, when two singles and a double earned two runs. Score:

FROM A MEDICAL STANDPOINT. In a most interesting article in the Revue Scientifique, a well known French physician, Dr. Chibret, breaks a lance for cycling from a medical point of view. He says that on a cycle the attitude of the body is that of a quadruped, and no longer of a biped, and is marvelously adapted to realize a maximum of motion with a minimum of fatigue. The doctor further contends that during cycling the whole body is working; the arms, which support and guide; the lower parts, which are in oscillation; the back, which keeps up the equilibrium, and the legs, which produce the action. There are many other points mentioned in the article. and we can only wish that many more medical men would bring into prominence the advantages of this sport, and thus remove the regretable ignorance which still exists on the subject in many quarters. At a recent funeral in Glasgow, Scotland, the chief mourner followed the hearse to the graveyard mounted on a bicycle heavily draped in crape. A French physician who has written approvingly and at some length on bi-cycling for women believes that the training it gives to hand and eye and muscles will make women walk better and carry themselves more gracefully and freely than they do. He has noticed that while a few women walk well and inform the condemned men of the de-preserve a satisfactory balan the ef- cision of the Cabinet not to interfere fect is ruined by their indecision and with their sentence was their legal ad-uncertainty of movement at street viser, Mr. Norman Macdonald, who has on the subjet uppermost in all mindscrossings. Other weaknesses that are very prevalent among women in middle life are obesity and shortness of breath, and these, he believes, are to be overcome by riding the wheel, HOW TO INFLATE THE TIRES. Don't have tires so habby as to make them seem like tubular pancakes, nor yet so hard that a rope would afford greater resistancy and life. Favor the front tire with less inflation than the rear one, which has all the weight of the rider to support. No tires should be inflated beyond a point where a certain amount of "give" results from thumb pressure. If you must commit an error in tire inflation let it be in the direction of too little, not too much, inflation. The heavier the rider the harder the tires must be inflated. On wet and slippery roads the harder the tire is pumped the less danger will there be. -The Wheel.

The Prisoner Welter Makes a Remarkable Statement.

Tries to Fasten the Crime On Another Man

And to Exonerate Hendershott and Himself - Evidently a Fake Story to Gain Time - Breaking the News to the Cendemned Men.

St. Thomas, June 17.—Another and ed to the history of the Welter-Hendershott case, the prisoner Welter making a statement reasserting his innocence, but acknowledging, what the defense has all along denied, that the tragedy was a murder, and not an accident.

Welter endeavors, in his statement, to fasten the crime on a well-known and highly respected resident of the township of Southwold. On its face, this part of his story bears every evidence of improbability, is supported by no circumstances adduced at the three investigations, and is evidently an eleventh hour attempt to save himself at all hazards from the terrible fate overhanging him.

EXCITEMENT RAN HIGH in St. Thomas last night, between 10 p.m. and 2 o'clock this morning, the statement that Welter had made a confession flying from mouth to mouth, and being the cause of many a citizen being aroused from his slumbers. About 10 o'clock last night Mr. D. J. Donohue was called to the jail, and there a statement was made to him by Welter, who was spending the night in the same ward with Hendershott. To other persons the statement was also made, among them being, it is understood, Judge Hughes and Rev. D. Spencer. It is said that the latter gentleman was the first in whom Welter confided, although he had been communicating along the same lines to Turnkey

THE STATEMENT.

Both prisoners bore marked evidence of the terrible strain upon them, and Welter, in particular, was suffering severely as he told his story. This story was to the effect that young Hendershott had been murdered by a neighbor with whom the family had had some difference of opinion. That the speaker, Welter, had afterwards come upon the scene and discovered the crime, and had concealed it because the perpetrator had threatened to kill him also if he told what he had seen and knew.

Asked if he had told this extraordinary story to anyone, he said, "No." "Did you not tell it to Hendershott?"

"Why did you not tell it at the inves-"Because the man who killed Hendershott had threatened to also kill

"Why did you not tell it to your coun-"Because he told me he would get me off in any case."
DO AS HE LIKED WITH IT.

Mr. Donohue cross-questioned Welter at considerable length regarding the details of this story, but could glean nothing which served to corroborate it or make it appear in any degree reasonable. Asked what was to be done with the statement, Welter said Mr. Dono-hue was to do with it as he saw fit communicate it to the Minister of Justice, to the press, or otherwise dispose of it as he thought best. HENDERSHOTT HAD NOTHING TO SAY. The prisoner Hendershott was asked what he thought of this story, and his answer was that he didn't know. "Did Welter ever tell it to you?"

"When did you first hear if it?" "I heard Welter telling Rev. Mr. Spencer." "Do you think it is true?"

"I don't know." THE MINISTER APPRISED. About 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Donohue left the jail, and was immediately besieged by the reporters. He was very reticent, but stated that he felt it to be his duty to convey the statement to the Minister of Justice.

He wired him early this morning. No doubt the Crown Attorney will at the same time acquaint the Minister with his opinion of the value of the statemen INFORMED OF THEIR FATE.

The Times says: "The first person to worked so faithfully in their behalf. "He first saw Hendershott, but after shaking hands with him and having a private word, passed on to Welter's cell. Welter did not seem unprepared for the interview, and as he anxiously peered into the face of his counsel as the two stood facing each other with clasped hands, he undoubtedly read therein that which was so hard for the lawyer to tell. Said Mr. Macdonald: "I have done all that any man could do. I feel it the most unpleasant duty of my life to be obliged to tell you that there is no longer any reason for hope You have now to do with your spiritual adviser and your God." For a moment the prisoner and his counsel stood with hands tightly clasped. A cold perspiration moistened his hands, while a short gasp, which escaped him in spite of his efforts to maintain a calm outward composure, for a moment convulsed his frame. He gave no further evidence of the terrible struggle which must at that moment have been going on within him. countenance remained unmoved, and at this, the supreme moment of his life, he strikingly bore out the remark of Chief Justice Meredith, that he had the most wonderful nerve of any man he had ever seen.

Welter's simple request was that the sheriff be seen and allow his sisters Mrs. Boughner and Mrs. La Monte, the latter of whom is a resident of Buffalo, to see him. Mr. Macdonald acceded to the request, and subsequently the relatives saw their brother for the last time Before he parted with the condemned man, Welter said that he had heard that Mary Hendershott and Charley Welter had been arrested in connection with the murder, and that Provincial Detective Murray was in the city. Mr. Macdonald said that such was not the case, and that if such a rumor was in circulation it could only have one meaning-that it had been given out with the object of extorting a confession from either him or Hendershott. "If that is the case," said Welter, "they are after the wrong nigger." This ended the interview, and as Mr. Macdonald prepared to leave the accused, he asked him to be brave, now that he had to face death, to die like a man. Welter said: "You can trust me for

Mr. Macdonald walked across the corridor to Hendershott's cell, and found him deeply absorbed in his Bible. Hen-dershott was not entirely unprepared for the interview, having in part heard the conversation which had passed between Welter and their counsel. He was much more depressed, however, than Welter, and gave way to his emotions.

"I suppose you have heard what we have been talking about?" said Mr. Macdonald, as he took the prisoner's extended hand.

"Yes," answered Hendershott. "What an awful position to be placed in."
"Yes," said the lawyer. "Death is always awful in any form, but after all it makes little material difference whether we die today or twenty years hence, and" (jocularly) "there are many people today who would gladly trade positions with you." Hendershott tried to return his friend's sally, while a ghastly smile for a moment lit up his features. He said: 'I would like you to produce some of them, and I would trade positions with them mighty quick." Mr. Macdonald consoled with the prisoner, and encouraged him to meet his fate as befitted a man. He promised to see him often, and counseled him to look to his spiritual welfare, in which he would find great solace during the trying hours that separated him from his last moments.

Hendershott was engaged to a most estimable young woman in St. Thomas, and asked if she had seen him during his confinement, he answered no, but expressed a desire to see her before he died. This request was not permitted by the jail authorities. Before Mr. Macdonald left Hendershott, he had regained his composure, and premised to bear up bravely THE RELATIVES PROSTRATED. Probably the most trying duty which

Mr. Macdonald has been called upon to perform was in imparting to the relatives the news he had received from Ottawa. After leaving the jail he drove at once to the home of Prisoner Welter's sister, Mrs. Boughner, where were assembled, besides Mrs. Boughner, Miss Hendershott, Mrs. Welter, mother of the prisoner, and Mrs. La Monte, of Buffalo. The news came to Mrs. Boughner with crushing force. When informed of the Ottawa report, she at once fell into a swoon, from which she was not revived until a physician had been summoned by Mr. Macdonald. The other relatives were also prostrated. THEIR SPIRITUAL ADVISER.

Rev. Mr. Spencer spent half an hour with the prisoners on Saturday, engaged in earnest prayer. The men took the greatest interest in his ministrations. Mr. Spencer also saw them on Saturday night, during which time the men had been made aware of the fact that the law must take its course. Mr. Spencer said to the reporter that, while the men showed signs of emotion, they had not given way completely, and conducted themselves in a most courageous manner, considering the strain on their THEIR LAWYER'S OPINION.

Lawyer Macdonald, when asked if the prisoners had confessed, said: "Both the prisoners up to the present moment have assured me of their innocence. I do not know, however, whether they are guilty or not, and I do not believe that another man lives who does. My professional duties debar me from making public any statement, but at the same time I do not desire the impression to go to the public that I consider them guilty." THE BRUTAL HANGMAN.

One of the shocking things in this whole case is the behavior of Hangman Radcliffe. He is the center of attraction about the hotel corridors, and poses as a man of mystery, at the same time putting himself in the way of the newspaper interviewer, to whom he talks in the most cold-blooded way. At Knox Church last evening, before a large congregation, Rev. J. A. Macdonald said the awful event which will mark this week. "It is to be regretted," he said, "that there are so many who are unwilling to give these condemned men the criminal's privilege of respectful silence. And it is to be regretted that our local press, of which at other times we have just reason to be proud, has to a degree persisted in pandering to this inordinate hunger for the horrible, publishing brutally exact interviews with a man whose name ought never to have been mentioned, and whose coarse and heartless sayings ought never to have been reported."

NO REPRIEVE. (Special to the "Advertiser.")

Ottawa, June 17.—As announced in the "Advertiser" some time ago, Hendershott and Welter must hang tomorrow at St. Thomas. The formal reply of the Minister of Justice, given on Saturday to this effect, will not be changed by any reported confessions of one or other of the prisoners. Such a confession, coming at the eleventh hour, is not allowed to interfere with the decision deliberately arrived at.

JAPAN DISSATISFIED.

The People Are Not Pleased by the Government's Concessions to the Powers.

Victoria, B. C., June 16.—Advices from the Orient by the steamer Empress of Japan indicate that popular discontent at the submission & Russian intimidation has far from subsided, and that further political complications may yet result from it. Rumor has it that Russia is preparing to take possession of Port Lazareff in Corea and great indignation is expressed that the Japanese Government has taken no active steps to prevent this fresh indignity. In the meantime Russia is pushing forward fortifications at Vladivostock with all possible vigor. Though the newspapers joining in the utterances of popular feeling are promptly suppressed, the Japanese Government is taking pains to keep posted as to the real attitude of the populace in various portions of the empire, and the Provisional Government has been ordered to report with great detail on this subject. The result has not been encouraging to the Administration, for these confidential reports, of necessity, give but the one story, that of condemnation. None but constitu-tional opposition is anticipated, however, and the Japanese forces are being rapidly disbanded, so that the soldiery may return to their peaceful avoca-tions. The Government of Corea seems to be utterly demoralized, and Russian gold is reported to be exercising a powerful influence there.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The experience of thousands of doctors, public institutions and mothers proves that Lactated Food is a perfect diet for young children during the hot summer months, when so many fall victims to cholera infantum. Many a mother, knowing of the danger lurking in cow's milk, has attempted to nurse her child in the hot summer, because she feared to feed it partially or wholly. It is now an established fact that Lactated Food takes the place of mother's milk, removes all dangers that lurk in stale cow's milk, and keeps the child well and strong, so that it can pass safely through all the prevailing dangers of a hot season.

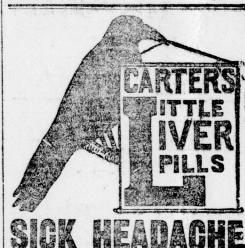

Every mother can keep her child safe from dysentery, diarrhea, and cholera infantum, if she uses Lactated Food. It "Saves Babies' Lives."

ACCIDENT TO YOUNG BOY.

Ran a Block With Three of His Toes

Cut Off. Port Huron, Mich., June 16 .- Johnnie Millar, a 10-year-old lad living at 127 Commercial street, while returning from the race track Friday afternoon fell off one of the motor cars, and had his foot terribly mangled. Three toes were cut off the left foot and the foot, from the toes to the ankle, flaved so that the flesh hung in shreds. The car did not stop at once, and the little fellow in his injured condition got up and ran for a block to overhaul the car and be taken to a surgeon's office. The parts of the little fellow's foot that were cut off were found lying on the track.

THE LONDON CAMP.

The Twenty-Ninth Battalion Resent the Postponement - They Are Up in Arms Against the Change, and Ask to Be Allowed to Drill at Home. The Berlin News has the following in recent issue:

"PRETTY HARD USAGE. "The 29th Battalion boys, including the band, are up in arms against the the action of the Militia Department. "They have been ordered to proceed to London for their annual drill, first to start on the 18th, but later advised that the date has been made a week later—that is the 25th. If the first date had remained, though put to considerable inconvenience, they would have made no serious objection, as it would have been just possible to get back by the 1st and participate in the great wheelmen's demonstration. But the later date-made, we are advised, at the instigation of London—will make it almost impossible for either band or men to go, as the former are engaged to take a part in the great wheelmen's demonstration on the 1st and following days and evenings, and no Berlin or Waterloo man will go away from home those days unless he is handcuffed and put in charge of a very high constable. "Now, what the officers and members—the band included—of the 29th Battalion ask is that they be allowed to have their battalion arill here in Berlin, the old town hall being splendidly adapted for that purpose. The best friends of the Government are doing what they can to effect that change, and we are not without hopes that when the matter is fairly placed before the new Minister of Militia he will see the wisdom and policy of agreeing to their wishes. We have good hopes that when the election comes on that North Waterloo will elect a supporter of the National Policy, but from the way this matter is managed it will make that exrectation much more difficult, if at all possible." The "Advertiser" is in receipt of numerous protests from members of other battalions. There is general discontent with the change.

"Whereas, the Dominion of Canada is a confederation of Provnices in which Federal and Provincial rights respectively are finally defined by her Majesty's Privy Council; "And, whereas, the Privy Council decided that the national school system established in 1890 by the Province of Manitoba was within its constitutional

"And, whereas, the Privy Council has since decided that the act of 1890, though constitutional, inflicted grievances on the Roman Catholic minority of the Province, and that the said minority has the right under the constitution to appeal to his Excellen y the Governor-General in Jouncil for a remedy, and that the darliament of Canada has the right in the event of failure on the part of the Province to pass remedial legislation;

"And, whereas, it is admitted on the one hand that remedial legislation by Parliament would interfere with Provincial autonomy in education and lead to deplorable friction butween the Dominion and Provincial Governments-and on the other hand that when the Slpreme Court of the empire has decided that when a minority in any Province is suffering a grievance, that Province should in the interest of righteousness and the general welfare give immediate atteintion to the matter and seek to remedy the grievance; Therefore, resolved: 1. That have been done. Dr. Thompson was the seconder. Another amendment was moved by President Forest and seconded by Dr.

General Assembly has seen with pleasure the earnest efforts that have recently been made by all the parties conto the minority without imperiling either the principle of national schoole or the principle that education shall be based on religious sanctions and inspired by Christian ideals.

Sedgwick, as follows:
"In regard to all the questions raised and dealt with in the motion of Principal Caven, the General Assembly, under present circumstances, regards it as sufficient to declare as follows: 1. The General Assembly profoundly deplores the serious difficulties which have arisen as regards education in the Province of Manitoba, and would greatly rejoice to see these removed in such a way as would at one and the same time restore peace and harmony to that Province and secure to all classes of its inhabitants an efficient and Christian education. "2. In regard, however, to the particular manner in which the aforesaid dif-ficulties should be removed, the General Assembly would express no opinion. inasmuch as the determination of this question depends mainly, if not entirely, on considerations of a constitutionally legal and political kind, into which the General Assembly, as an ecclesiastical court, feels it to be unwise and in-expedient that it should enter. "3. Finally, even were it wise or expedient for the General Assembly to express at the present time an opinion on this question, the General Assembly declines to give such an expression of opinion, as the motion of Principal Caven asks, for, inasmuch as, in its judgment, such a course would hinder rather than promote the satisfactory solution of the question, so eminently to be desired, not in the interests of Manitoba alone, but of the whole Dominion of Canada."

The Secret Out.

"'Mr. Gryce,' said she, 'I have a daughter.' 'Yes,' I returned, inwardly startled, Miss A, and dishonor seemed so wide

'She is our only child,' the mother went on. 'We love her, and have always cherished her, but though it is generally known in the houseand here the poor lady's eyes roamed about her as if she were afraid her words would be overheard, 'she has left us; gone away without acquainting us where-suddenly, in explicably, leaving only the most meager explanation hehind her, and—and—'
"'But, madam,' I interrupted, 'if she left any explanation-"Mrs. A took a small and crumpled note out of her pocket and handed it

'A letter,' she affirmed, 'sen't through the mail. And I was in the ouse when she left, and would have listened to any reasonable request she had to make.'

"I had already read the four or five lines which the letter contained. 'Dear Mother,-I must have rest. I have gone away for a few days, but will be back on the 27th. Don't worry. Your affectionate. "What is the matter? with this?" I asked. 'She says she will be back on the 27th, and today is only the 24th.' 'Sir,' was the answer, 'it is the only time in our experience when our daughter has left us without first gaining our permission. Beside, the time is especially inopportune. My daughter's wedding cards are out." Mr. Gryce stopped suddenly, for Dr. Cameron had given an anxious start. "Ah, that arouses your interest!" remarked the detective. "Your own wedding day being so near, I am not sur-

It was dryly said, and the doctor at once reseated himself. He had no wish to appear unduly moved, but he could not suppress every token of emotion, so he turned his head away from the light. Mr. Gryce let nis gaze travel to a new object before proceeding. "This avowal of Mrs. A put a new aspect on affairs," said he, "but yet I saw no reason for the exereme anxiety displayed, 'And on what day does she expect to be married?' I asked. 'On the 27th.' "'But she says she will be back."

"That does not comfort me." "'You think she will not come?" "'I have no hope that she will." "This acknowledgment was uttered with emphasis. There seemed to be but one conclusion to draw. "'Your daughter wishes to escape her engagement?'

"The answer was less doubtful. 'The answer was less emphatic than before. In fact, it expressed doubt. "I do not know, sir; my daughter is not herself; has not been for some time. My husband and myself have both noticed it; but we never anticipated her taking any such extreme action as this. Where has she gone? What will become of her? How can we face the world? How can we tell her lover?' "Then you think that-"That she is laboring under a temporary aberration of mind, caused perhaps by the excitement of the last few weeks, that she is not responsible for her acts; that she may be anywhere remote or mear; and that we may wait till the hour set for her marriage is past without seeing her.' To this I could make but one reply Then why not take her lover into your confidence, inform him of your fears, and gain the benefit of his experience in your search for her?' 'The answer will astonish you. "Because we are very proud, and he is very proud. To explain our fears, we should be obliged to say much that would be humiliating for us to utter and for him to hear. Besides, we may overrate the situation. She may come back, as she says she will, and should this be the case, you can see for yourself what endless regret would follow any such confidences as you suggest.' I began. "'It is this note which causes our dilemma,' she interposed. 'With this before me I cannot act as if there were no hope of her returning in proper time take part in the ceremony. Yet I do not trust these lines, nor the promise she has made. Why, I can hardly say; for she has always been a woman of her word. But she is not herself, of that I am convinced.' "This repetition of her former assertion made it easy for me to inquire what special change she had perceived in her daughter to lead to such a conclusion. She evidently found it difficult to reply.

"'I cannot put it into words,' she declared; 'I feel the change.' 'And how long have you felt it?'

'Not long, since we began active preparations for her wedding, I think.' 'And no one else has observed it?' "'I cannot say; I think her lover

" 'Because it has been in reference to him she has shown her peculiarities strongest. For weeks she has received him only on sufferance; and for the last few days has more than absolutely refused to see him.' " 'And what reason' did she assign

"'Follies. Fatigue, caprice, a letter to write, a dressmaker to see, anything that came into her head.' 'Yet she went on preparing for the

" 'Certainly; her cards were out.' "The tone in which this was said caused me to reflect. Though affable, kindly and even philanthropic in her dealings towards the world at large, Mrs. A is, as everyone knows, a woman who would find it very difficult to infringe upon any of the laws of society, Having seen her daughter pledge herself to a man of suitable pretensions, she would consider such a pledge final if only because she could not face the talk and scandal that would follow a rupture. Influenced by this idea, I

'You must be perfectly frank with me if you want me to help you at this crisis. Has your daughter, or has she not, expressed a wish to break her en-

" 'She asked me once if I thought it was too late for her to do so. Of course, there was but one reply to this, and she said no more. But,' the poor mother continued hastily, 'that was only a symptom of flightiness. She has railway train and fell off the pier. nothing against her tover, or does not pretend to have."

' 'Only against marriage?' "'Only against marriage."
"Only against marriage."
"Mrs. A,' I now boldly asked, 'do you think that she loves the man you expect her to marry?' "The answer came hesitatingly. 'She accepted his attentions with pleasure when they were first offered.' " 'Do you think she loves any other man? The mother shrank back in dismay. I am sure she does not. How could There is not another such genshe? tleman in our circle of acquaintance.' "This was flattering to the gentleman, but not exactly satisfactory to

"'You know girls sometimes take strange whims. " 'My daughter is not a girl, sir, she is a woman.' "This silenced me, as it would you, sir, I have no doubt; and seeing the mother was really sincere in believing that her daughter's mind was temporarily affected. I inquired again as to what she had done or failed to do of late, and found that she had shunned the society of the members of her familv. as well as that of her lover, finding her sole interest seemingly in the preparation of her wardrobe. that she did attend, said Mrs. A, and it was the only thing that she did help me in. No hour was too late for her to see her dressmaker; no engagement too pressing for her to receive and flt on any of the costumes that kept coming home. Indeed, she showed more than pher's liquor store at Ingersoll. A. Hena bride's usual interest in such matters; and it is the one reason I have for not disputing you utterly when you say she may come back. She will want to see her dresses.'

"'Then she did not take them with

" 'She took nothing.' "'What! not a trunk?"

"'Nothing; that is, nothing but a little hand satchel.'

'How do you know this?' "'We all saw her go out; she was in shopping costume.' "'But she had money?" " 'I cannot say. Some, no doubt; but we found a large roll of bills in her drawer, and her father says it contains nearly all he had lately given her. I do not think her pocketbook held more than $5.' "This was a point. Either the girl was going among friends, or she was really touched in her mind. To make sure that the first supposition was not true, I asked for a list of the houses which Miss A was in the habit of visiting. Mrs. A mentioned some half dozen, but added that her daughter's most intimate companion was in Europe, and for the others to go to them at this time.

"'And she positively carried no baggage with her?" "'None; I have looked over things carefully and find nothing missing. She did not even wear her diamonds.'
"'And her watch?"

"'Is left behind." "I felt troubled. I looked at the mother to ascertain what her real fears were. But they did not seem to be any worse than those she had expresed. Was she blind to the possibilities? I felt it my duty to repeat a former question.

"'Mrs. A,' said I, 'I will try and find your child. The fact that she had too little money to go far from home will facilitate matters. But first I must be sure that there is no third party mixed up in this case, and that party a gertleman. You are certain that she was not secretly interested in some unknown person?'

SAD SURPRISE.

After a Week's Absence a Husband Returns to Find His Wife a Corpse Bowmanville, Ont., June 16.—A sudden leath occurred here some time yesterday. Mr. Diggory Hayne, who had been away for the week returned home, and finding his house locked up. got in through a window and found his wife laying dead on a lounge. A doctor was summoned, who said she had evidently been dead some hours. Heart failure is supposed to have been the cause. Deceased was down town Friday afternoon. She was about 60 years of age.

POISONED BY A CAT SCRATCH. New York, June 16.-Jennie Roberts, a three-year old girl living at 530 Central avenue, Kearny, N. J., will probably die from blood poisoning caused by a scratch inflicted by a pet cat. The child was playing in the yard about three weeks ago, when the big yellow cat which belonged to neighbors named Sulzman paid its usual daily visit to play with the child. She picked it up as usual and them put it down. The cat raised its paw and brought it down on the child's leg, making a long, deep scratch. The child ran into the house, where her mother administered some remedies. A fever followed, and three days later blood poisoning set in. Dr. Reid attended the little one, but she grew worse, and her death has been expected. She has lost all power in her lower limbs and cannot stand. She suffers from chills and convulsions, and has fallen away almost to a skeleton.

Rubbed off in the wash, you see. But the wonder is that any buttons at all are left on when you grind them up so against a washboard. It isn't necessary, if you wash with Pearline. No washboard; no rubbing; no buttons worn off; no holes worn in Think of the different kinds of work that you save, with Pearline! And the money! Remember, too, that if you keep to things proved to be absolutely harmless, there's nothing you can use that is equal to Pearline, the original washing compound. 416 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osecop. Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ANCHER, M. D., 111 Se. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 16 .- About six years ago George Meredith Barker, a son of the late George Barker, the noted landscape photographer, becoming dissatisfied with his home on Buffalo avenue, left it. The boy was then but 13 years of age and knew nothing of the world. His father did all in his power to get some trace of him, but father died, and to settle up the estate the boy was advertised for in a number of papers. The remaining members of the family looked upon him as dead. On Wednesday afternoon came a letter addressed to George Barker. The daughter opened it and found it to be om her brother. On the receipt of the letter S. J. Devlin went at once to New York, and Friday morning the missing boy of whom so much had been said returned home. George gave the cause of his running away from home as domestic unpleasantness. He went directly to New York and began the struggle for a livelihood. The first two or three years were hard ones to the boy. Inheriting his father's love of art, he studied hard as a sketch artist, and for the past two or three years has been very successful. He made friends with several artists and orders from various publications, all of
