His Majesty and Suite Arrive at Cronberg and Is Cordially Welcomed by Emperor —Teutonic Press Sees End to Misunderstandings.

Cronberg, Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, Aug. 15.-King Edward arrived here on a special train from Frankfort at 8:45 today. Emperor William and Prince and Princess Frederick Charles. of Hesse-Nassau, met him at the railroad station. The Emperor assisted the King in alighting and they kissed each other on both cheeks. The meeting was very cordial. The King wore a black Prince Albert coat, and a silk hat. The Emperor had on the uniform of the Posen Jaeger regiment, with a steel helmet. King Edward was accompanied by Sir Charles Hardinge, per manent under secretary of the foreign office, Major General Sir Stanley Clarke, chief equerry, and Major Frederick E. G. Ponsonby, equerry to his majesty.

Sir Frank Lascelles, the British ambassador to Germany, and the British consul general. Francis Oppenheimer joined the royal party at Frankfort.

After introductions had been exchanged the royal party and their following proceeded to Friedrichshof in automobiles. The streets were profusely decorated with evergreens, flags and fly cheered by the crowds and school children, who were lined up all along the route. Many Englishmen from surrounding watering places were also

The press of all sections treats King Edward's visit to Emperor William from the standpoint of being a sign of improved relations between him and the Emperor, and the belief and hope are generally expressed that the visit will have a beneficial effect on the peoples of both countries, besides putting their political relations on a better footing. The papers, however, avoid all extravtrying to keep within the safe minimum the rulers to discuss all political ques- revealed the fact that she was tions co serning Germany and Great Britain, and also the general position of maintains a close connection with the foreign office, cherishes the "glad expectation that much of the ill-feeling and many of the misunderstandings may be removed by a frank face to face

A tone of sincere admiration for the King pervades all the leading articles. The Cologne Gazette greets his malesty with feelings of reverence, the National Zeitung calls him a practical statesman of the first rank, and the Neuste Nachrichten, while complaining solate Germany, pronounces him a "po-

The train struck the abutments on the west side of the bridge and stopped in time. The force of the impact threw stones weighing several tons into the creek. The track was torn up and the engine truck damaged, as were some freight cars between the truck and the passengers. A temporary track was constructed and the passengers went east, several hours late. What Will They Discuss?

London, Aug. 15.-The strictest silence is maintained in official circles as to the subjects to be discussed by King Edward and Emperor William at their meeting at Freidrichshof. Up to the last moment it was not admitted at the foreign office here that Sir Charles Hardinge, permanent under secretary of the foreign office, would accompany the King. He had been away on a holiday and broke it up to join the royal party on the continent. His presence adds significance to the meeting, for as the permanent under secretary of the foreign office he is really the man who carries on the foreign affairs of the country, and the fact that he is attending King Edward leads to the belief here that the discussion between their majesties will be of the widest range, taking in all questions outstanding between the two countries, and those likely to come up in the future.

SCHEME FOR LONDON

Mayor Judd intends to bring in a motion in the council shortly to have the people vote on the purchase of the London Street Railway Company and the London Electric Company, in January

Around the city hall, however, the dea is not seriously entertained. It is hardly likely that Mayor Judd will bring in a motion to ask the ratepayers sonally interested, as he is in the London Electric Company.

The London Street Railway is now capitalized at about $1,000,000, $500,000 this being in stock and $500,000 in bonds. The franchise has only nineteen years to run, and it is not reasonable to suppose that the people are so anxious for the line that they are ready today to buy it at the amount of its capitalization, a large proportion of which no doubt represents the value of the franchise, which reverts to the city

The statement is solemnly made in the Free Press that if London ran its own street railway and electric lighting system it would be able to bring Niagara power here on its own account, without reference to other municipalities

It has been estimated by experts that London could use about 5,000-horsepower, if Niagara power was being sold

The street railway would use about power purposes to manufacturers. To say that the city of London could afford to build a transmisison line 120 miles long to bring Niagara power here, with only 5,000-horsepower to be used, is, of course, nonsensical. The transmisison line alone would cost over $1,000,000, experts say, and the acquiring of the street railway and lighting plant would mean fully $1,500,000

Doesn't Cure Cancer.

New York, Aug. 14.-A correspondent of the Times, cabling from London says: The discussion that has arisen in New York touching the value of the trypsin treatment for cancer prompted me to make inquiries at the London hospitals as to the results that had attended that treatment in this city. The replies to my inquiries may be summed up in the statement that the experiments with trypsin here have not demonstrated that it is a cure for cancer or useful in the treatment for the relief of cancer patients.

The London cancer hospital has discontinued the use of trypsin, its experts having failed to obtain any beneficial results from it, and having heard nothing from the experts of other institutions that runs counter to their experience and conclusions. In some hospitals the experiments are still proceeding but apparently without expectation that they will result otherwise than have the tests at the cancer hospital.

Parasols More New Tweeds to Show You

Plain cloths, as you might have expected from earlier fashion hints from magazines and various sources, will not be favored to the exclusion of everything else this fall. Granted, they will have a tremendous vogue-Broadcloths, Venetians and Vicunas particularly popular.

But TWEEDS also are not to be denied a foremost place in fall fashion calculations. They will be one of the strong features of the autumn season. You have only to go through the Dress Goods Departments of the leading stores in New York-the fashion center of America-to see how largely they are featured. And a visit to our Dress Goods Section will show how confident we are of a big demand, too.

GRAYS are still favorites in Tweeds-any shade of gray from light to dark is correct for fall wear. We can't begin to enumerate the patterns in detail, but these hints for today ought to prove to you we've some very excellent values to show you.

50c Yard for These Tweeds

Very stylish patterns in light, medium and dark gray. 15 different pieces to choose from. Overcheckssome scarcely definable-are employed to give them a decidedly smart appearance. Come prepared for surprisingly good values, and you'll not be disappointed.

Nobby Tweeds at 65c Yard

11 pieces of handsome Tweeds at this price. Every piece different. Gray mixtures, shading from light to dark. All are nattily checked with single or double threads to form neat squares or blocks, Some patterns more pronounced than others-but all very nobby and effective. Sure to win your approval at the price asked.

WOMEN SWIM

Thousands Line River's Banks to View the Exciting Contest.

Paris, Aug. 15.—Thousands of people lined the banks of the Seine to see the great seven-mile swimming race in which the little English art sturent, Miss Herxheimer; the Australian, Miss Kellerman, and the Austrian, Miss Frauendorfer, were competitors. Thirteen men also took part, but they were mere incidentals in the eyes of the spectators.

The immense crowd cheered itself hoarse as the three ladies lined up on the pontoon at Brecy and threw off their white robes. Miss Kellerman was in black, her long hair streaming loose over her shoulders. She was eating the wing of a chicken. She ate three birds, by the way, during the course of the swim. Miss Frauendorfer who was in black also, had hidden her fair hair under a

Her curly black hair was tied up with a ribbon, but that disappeared with the first dive, and was carried off as a trophy by an enthusiast. The three took the plunge together, and after Miss Kellerman had received another piece of chicken from her father, who rowed in a boat alongside, she took the lead. She and Miss Frauendorfer soon left Miss Herxheimer far behind. Indeed, it was apparent from the start that the child had no chance against the two expert women. But she pluckily swam the seven miles, and received a great ovation when she finished at Auteuil. Miss Kellerman and Miss Frauendorfer swam neck and neck all the way, Miss Kellerman finally beating her rival by six inches. They did the seven miles in a minute under the four hours, and were cheered to the echo when they came out of the water. Miss Kellerman got an extra round of applause for insisting on removing Miss Frauendorfer's red cap, arranging her hair "I suppose I'll have to put a good and kissing her before they climbed

Thousands Line River's Banks to View the Exciting Contest.

Paris, Aug. 15.—Thousands of people lined the banks of the Seine to see the great seven-mile swimming race in which the little English art sturent, Miss Herxheimer; the Australian, Miss Kellerman, and the Austrian, Miss Frauendorfer, were competitors. Thirteen men also took part, but they were mere incidentals in the eyes of the spectators. The immense crowd cheered itself hoarse as the three ladies lined up on the pontoon at Brecy and threw off their white robes. Miss Kellerman was in black, her long hair streaming loose over her shoulders. She was eating the wing of a chicken. She ate three birds, by the way, during the ourse of the swim, Miss Frauendorfer who was in black also, had hidden her fair hair under a red rubber cap. Little Miss Herzheimer's plump pink face beamed at the crowd over a costume of dark blue. She is only18, and she looked a mere child beside the other two magnificently proportioned women. Her curly black hair was tied up with a ribbon, but that disappeare with the first dive, and was carried off as a trophy by an enthusiast.

The three took the plunge together, and after Miss Kellerman had received another piece of chicken from her father, who rowed in a boat alongside, she took the lead. She and Miss Frauendorfer soon left Miss Herxheimer far behind. Indeed, it was apparent from the start that the child had no chance a rate of ten per cent tips. But what against the two expert women, But she pluckily swam the seven miles, and received a great ovation when she finished at Auteuill.

Miss Kellerman and Miss Frauendorfer swam neck and neck all the way, Miss Kellerman finally beating her rival by six inches. AUTO-MOTOR MANIA Hostility and Rules of Swiss React on Hotelkeepers.

Geneva, Aug. 14.—The hotelkeepers of Switzerland are complaining bitterly of the absence of motorists, who appear to be giving the country a wide berth. So ridiculously strict have the motor car regulations been made by the authorities that the owners of cars, who are among the best paying class PRIESTESS of visitors, do not care to enter the country. The prejudice of the peasantry against motorists is also another reason for their absence. Last year Queen Margherita was stoned; Mr. Rockefeller, jun., was arrested and heavily fined; Mrs. Jay Gould was lashed across the face by a stupid and infuriated peasant near Lucerne, and hundreds of motorists were arrested and heavily fined for exever been seen a more unique example ceeding the absurd speed limit of six the destructive work of lightning kilometers (three miles, 1,384 yards) an than was exhibited last Saturday at the hour, which is the regulation rate al-

A HAMILTON FIREBUG.

Hamilton, Aug. 15.—There has been a suspicion for some time past that the fires which have occurred from time to time at the Hamilton Brass Company's works on North James street were the work of an incendiary. That suspicion has been confirmed in the minds of some. It is believed that a discharged employe has been doing the firebug act. It is also thought he is demented, and believes he has a grievance against the company. The man is known, and is being watched by the authorities. Ernest Carroll, of the company, was asked if he knew about the matter, and said he had heard nothing about it.

THE TEMISKAMING MINING DEAL. To the Editor of The Advertiser: ed through the Golden Gate a few days ago the rebuilders of the devastated city rejoiced. This monster raft was 735 feet long, chained into a cigar-shaped cradle, 55 feet in beam, and 22 feet deep.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The statement of Mr. John P. Dickson, one of the syndicate applying for the mining lease on the right-of-way of the Temiskaming and Northern Rallway, throws a light on this transaction which the public is fortunate to obtain. It is evident that the Ontario Government was deep. One vessel, the steamer Francis H. Leggett, had the veritable floating island in tow, completing the journey his conference with the ministers Mr. withdraw their present offer and allow the commission to readvertise the concesson for sale, they would be protected to the extent of $10,000 against any offer by a competing syndicate. It was Mr. Smith who then introduced the syndicate to the ministers, and concerning the conference that followed conflicting statements were made but we have to take derelict piling.
