TEUTONS RETREAT IN GALICIA---LOSE 7,000 MEN

GREAT POLITICAL CRISIS AT THE GERMAN CAPITAL

AMERICAN EMBARGO AND HOME TROUBLES TWO NEW MILLSTONES FOR ENEMY'S NECK

Heavy Blow Struck At Teutons By President Wilson's Embargo on Foodstuffs and Munitions That Have Been Reaching Teutons Through Neutral Countries.

(By Carl D. Groat, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
(Special to The Advertiser.)

Washington, July 9.—America's embargoes plus internal German troubles promise soon to hang two new millstones about Germany's neck. The embargo, curtailing supplies to neutrals, lest they be re-exported to Germany, will be effective July 15. Thereafter no vital foodstuffs, munitions, fertilizers or metals can be sent abroad without licenses from the department of commerce.

Certain congressmen strongly favor having the president so screw down these limitations that the neutrals will have to align themselves with the United States unless they wish to starve.

Troubles From Within.

Meanwhile, according to press reports, Germany is confronted with troubles from within—a demand for parliamentary reform and a general political situation, wherein new peace terms are apparently forthcoming. The pressure from without and within seems likely to be such as to give the Teuton authorities difficult months ahead.

Neutrals will suffer more unless they divert their tied-up shipping to Allies' uses and likewise permit an Allied patrol of the Scandinavian coasts to bag submarines now using territorial waters as a safe outlet to the sea.

Neutrals Hard Hit.

In issuing regulations on the embargo, President Wilson pointed out that the United States wants to heed neutral needs, but he just as emphatically showed the prime need of feeding the United States and its allies first and of shutting off any re-export of supplies to Germany through neutral nations.

The Scandinavian countries and Holland and Switzerland will be hard hit by the embargo.

U. S. POWDER HOUSE RAZED; MANY HURT

San Francisco, Cal., July 9.—Two storehouses at the Mare Island navy yard, on San Francisco bay, were destroyed by an explosion this morning. The shock broke thousands of windows in Vallejo, half a mile away. Fire started in the wrecked buildings and desperate efforts were made to prevent its spread to other buildings where explosives are stored. Whether any lives were lost has not been determined.

Vallejo, Cal., July 9.—A report that eight men had been killed in the black powder storehouse explosion at Mare Island navy yard this morning was received in Vallejo. Naval officials admitted that "great numbers" of men had been injured.

INSPECTOR SAYS PUBLIC CHEATED

Mr. Connors Finds Nearly All Berry Boxes Are Short.

ONLY TWO-THIRDS FULL

Issues Warning to Strawberry Growers of District After Discovery.

George Connors of Parkhill, Dominion fruit inspector, was a visitor in London today on his way to Leamington.

"The strawberry growers are not filling their boxes as they should," said Mr. Connors to The Advertiser. "I find that practically all the berry boxes that I have examined through the district have been but two-thirds full. I have warned a number of men, some on your own market, and they have got to live up to the law.

Given Them Warning.

"When the public are paying for a full box, they should get a box with the berries even with the top. There were few berries in the stores today, but I could not find a crate that had every box filled properly. However, as I said before the growers have received their warning, and it is up to them from now on. I will be back later in the week to look over the market again."

Much Acid in Berries.

Mr. Connors stated that this time last year the strawberry season was all over. The best berries that he has seen this year were grown at Tecumseh. He also said that there was an unusual amount of acid in this year's crop, due to the heavy rains while the fruit was ripening.

IMPERIAL ARMY IS RETREATING TO PEKING CITY

Chinese Republicans Have the Better of a Short Engagement.

READY FOR LAST STAND

Emperor's Chief Is Provisioning Forbidden City, Fearing a Siege.

Tien Tsin, July 7.—Delayed.—After a short engagement with the republican forces at Lang Fang today, imperial troops are reported to have retreated toward Peking. The casualties in the fighting at Lang Fang are said to have been slight, and the extent of the republican advance is not known. Latest reports from Peking, from which it is most difficult to obtain reliable news, are to the effect that all is quiet in the capital, but that a feeling of apprehension prevails.

According to reports received by Chinese here Liang Tunye, minister of foreign affairs in the new imperial cabinet, and other imperialists have sent a telegram to Hsu Shih Chang, confessing that the coup to replace the emperor on the throne was premature and asking Hsu to mediate.

Tuan Chi Jui, leader of the republican forces, now occupies the vice-regal Yamen here.

PREPARING FOR LAST STAND.

Peking, July 9.—General Chang Hsun, head of the imperialist forces, is provisioning the Forbidden City and strengthening its defences. This indicates that in the event his troops are defeated near Peking, the last stand will be made there. The thirteenth division accompanied by artillery is leaving Peking for Feng Tai.

Mercury Goes Up 22.5 Degrees In Six-Hour Period

Warmest Day of Summer After Old Sol Dries Face and Fixes Smile.

The weather, the real ice cream, ginger ale and pop, straw-hat weather, has arrived to stay, according to the South London weather bureau report today. At 8 o'clock this morning the temperature was but 64, but shortly after Old Sol put on a fixed smile, with the result that this afternoon at 2 o'clock the thermometer had pumped itself up to 86.5 degrees, a hop of 22.5 degrees in six hours.

Today is the hottest experienced this year and has brought a smile to the face of the haberdashers, who are loaded up with straw hats. It looks as if summer, long delayed, has at last arrived with a vengeance.

NEW RUSSIA WILL HELP DEVELOP AGRICULTURE WITH LATEST METHODS

Petrograd, July 8.—The provisional government has decided to suspend operation of the agrarian law passed in 1896. Without the Duma's consent, M. Stolypin, the premier at the time, provided for the abolition of communal ownership of peasant land and the substitution of individual ownership. The sponsor for the repeal is the new Socialist minister of agriculture, M. Tchernoff.

The minister has submitted to the council of ministers ten other bills on land reform in towns as well as country. One provides for the better application of science in the work of the ministry of agriculture; another establishes a department of agricultural economy and policy; another regulates the exploitation of forests. In principle the council approved these bills. It is intended to promulgate them speedily, leaving for the constituent assembly's decision the basic question of the transfer of the lands of the nobility to the peasantry.

GERMANS REPORT A WIN.

Berlin, July 9—Via London.—French trenches on a front of 3½ kilometers (about two miles) on the Aisne front have been captured by the Germans, who took 800 prisoners, the war office announced today.

HOLLWEG TO QUIT OFFICE; VON BUELOW MAY SUCCEED

Amsterdam Has Rumor of a Change in the German Chancellorship.

Amsterdam, July 9.—The Tageblatt of Berlin says it is rumored that a change in the German chancellorship may be expected. Among those mentioned as the possible successor of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg it names Prince von Buelow, former chancellor; Count von Hertling, Bavarian prime minister, and Count von Roeder, secretary of the imperial treasury.

RADICAL PROGRAM OF MINORITY SOCIALISTS OF GERMAN NATION

Want Immediate Peace and General Disarmament.

SERBIA MUST BE FREED

Restoration and Reparation for Belgium—Abolish All Secret Pacts.

Stockholm, July 9.—Immediate conclusion of peace conditions which shall include the establishment of an international convention to bring about general disarmament, is the demand of the International proletariat, according to German minority Socialists, who have just issued a lengthy memorandum. Economic isolation of states are condemned, the memorandum continues, and obligatory international arbitration should be instituted.

Equal rights of all inhabitants of any country, regardless of nationality, race or religion, is an imperative necessary. Other recommendations are:

"Secret treaties must be abolished."

Re-Establish Serbia.

"Modifications of frontier must depend on the consent of the populations concerned and must not be effected by violence. Annexations and indemnities shall be fixed on the basis of the right of nations to decide their own destinies. Re-establishment of Serbia as an independent autonomous state is necessary. The aspirations of the Polish people toward national unity is understood, but to concede the right of autonomy to Russian Poland and refuse it to Prussian and Austrian Poland is irreconcilable with the right of nations to decide their own destinies.

"Continuation of the war to establish this right as well as to solve the question of Alsace-Lorraine is condemned. An opportunity ought to be given Lorraine to decide by referendum to which country it wishes to belong.

Must Free Belgium.

"It is impossible to refuse Belgium complete political independence and complete economic autonomy. The Belgian people should receive reparation and damages due to war, particularly the restitution of economic losses, this having nothing in common with war indemnities which is condemned.

"The policy of colonial conquest is condemned.

"The essential preliminary of a lasting peace is the independence of the Socialist parties in their relation with imperialistic government.

"A peace program would be idle talk unless supported by energetic international efforts of the masses."

NEW GIANT AEROPLANES USED BY THE GERMANS IN RAID OVER LONDON

London, July 9.—In official circles it has been definitely concluded that 22 German airplanes participated in the raid on London last Saturday. The raiders were of the Gotha type of machines. These are three times the size of the single-seaters and would, therefore, appear to be flying at a third of the height that smaller machines would seem to be. The immense size of the new type also would give the impression that the airplanes were flying slow as they traveled between 70 and 80 miles an hour. When over London the craft were always within range of anti-aircraft guns, which the authorities say registered many hits, though none of the Germans was brought down.

ENTENTE ALLIES WILL HOLD CONFERENCE OVER THE BALKAN SITUATION

London, July 9.—The Entente Allies have decided to hold a conference in Paris for the consideration of questions of military and political interests in connection with the Balkans.

BOTH SONS OF DR. WOOD ARE ILL IN ENGLAND

Word has been received by Dr. Fred Wood of King street that his son, Capt. John Wood, who went overseas with the Mobile Veterinary Service, has been operated upon for appendicitis at Bramshott, England, and is making a slower recovery than was anticipated.

Sergt. Wesley Wood, younger son of Dr. Wood, has also been seriously ill at the same place. His case has caused a great deal of apprehension among his friends living in the city. Capt. Wood has been overseas for over two years, and Wesley left the city as a sergeant in No. 3 Stationary Hospital three years ago. He was through the Gallipoli campaign, and transferred lately to the veterinary corps.

SOME SAGE ADVICE

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Montreal, July 9.—Le Messager, of Lewiston, Maine, one of the numerous French papers published in the Eastern States, has some sage advice for its compatriots in Quebec. It says: "To have a successful revolution like the one predicted in the province of Quebec, there must be armed force, and armed force is on the side of the Government.

"A few hundred disciplined soldiers would soon make short work of the rebels, as was done fortunately in 1837, and more recently at the time of the Riel rebellion. While sympathizing with our compatriots of the province of Quebec, we think they are on the wrong path, and that their disloyal attitude will for a long time cast a shadow over their national honor."

POLITICAL FREEDOM FOR GERMANY; ALL PARTIES IN THE HOUSE LINED UP AGAINST PRUSSIAN DOMINANCE

Kaiser and War Lords Forced To Give Sweeping Electoral Reforms To Nation.

BY JOHN GRANDENS
(United Press Staff Correspondent).
[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

Berlin, Via London, July 9.—Signs multiply that the political liberalization of Germany is impending.

A week's important conferences, preceding the Reichstag session, brought the situation to a head today. Tomorrow Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg is expected to make a formal statement and there is tense interest in political circles as to the attitude he may show on electoral reforms.

Insist Upon Reform.

From the central wing to the Socialists all opinion in the Reichstag is united that a reformed electoral system must be applied in Prussia, if Prussia fails to adopt such a plan of its own accord.

The Government's promise of vast changes in electoral districts is considered only a small installment in payment for the large debt owing to the people by the German Government. There was a disposition indicated in all parties today to demand Prussian reform this fall.

According to Grandens' dispatch, the main objection now held by the German reformers to the present electoral system is the preponderance of Prussian representation in the Government. In the Reichstag the Kingdom of Prussia has 236 deputies, six or eight times as many members as any other kingdom or principality. In the Bundesrat Prussio has 17 members, nearly 3 times as many as any other section of Germany.

PRESS OUTSPOKEN.

Berlin, July 9.—Exceptional freedom of expression marks the bulk of the editorial comment on the political situation.

"Affairs in the empire are facing a decision," says the Vorwaerts. "It is to be feared, however, that they will come to a standstill awaiting a decision and that this was the worst thing that could happen. It is time to resume governing either this way or that. This feeling is general.

"It is possible to conceive of a government which withdraws all previous peace proposals, postpones until after the war all internal reforms and suppresses with iron rule all efforts to achieve such reform or secure peace. It is equally possible to imagine a government which was supported by the mass of the people, undertakes immediately the democratization of public institutions and reaffirms the standpoint of August 4, that this is a war of defence which is to be ended as early as possible without annexations or indemnities.

A Government on the Fence.

"A Government, howeverfl which is neither one thing or the other is inconceivable. Yet this unthinkable thing is a reality. We have a government which is striving to satisfy all factions. The same old trot will no longer do nor will a change of course to the right. There is danger in delay. Quo Vadis, Germany?"

The Vossische Zeitung administers a veiled rebuke to the imperial chancellor for his failure to appear at the sessions of the main committee of the Reichstag where confidential discussions were going on. Its editorial then proceeds to assert "that the conviction is gaining ground in parliamentary circles that a continuation of this war demands strong political leadership and effective support of the deeds of our brave boys at the front. It is time to examine to what extent measures adopted by our responsible statesmen are calculated to serve this purpose.

"The Reichstag must above all things make up its mind that the only possible act politically is to be found in demanding a change in the political system from that which has obtained heretofore. It will not do to persuade one's self that the sacrifice of the individual secretaries of state will mend things. If the system is wrong it must go."

BRILLIANT FRENCH COUNTER-OFFENSIVE REGAINS LOST AREA

Petain Scores Over the Crown Prince in Aisne Argument.

Paris, July 9.—Another attack in strong force was made by the Germans last night on the Aisne front, in the region of the Chemin-des Dames, between Dovetts and Chevregny Ridge. The war office announces that the attack was without success. In a brilliant counter-offensive the French recaptured a major part of the trenches occupied by the Germans yesterday between Pantheon and Froidmant Farm.

SPAIN'S GOVT. REFUSES TO SUMMON PARLIAMENT

Madrid, July 9.—The Government yesterday decided that the present time was inopportune to summon Parliament. The question was considered at a Cabinet meeting after a request had been received from a number of Catalonian senators and deputies, asking that the Legislative Assembly be convoked. They declared that if the Government did not immediately summon Parliament they would call upon the members thereof to meet in Barcelona July 19. The Government decided yesterday that if the deputies and senators held the proposed extraordinary meeting at Barcelona it would be considered a seditious act liable to punishment under the Spanish penal code.

7,000 MEN, FORTY-EIGHT GUNS LATEST CAPTURE BY RUSSIANS; AUSTRIANS ARE IN RETREAT

ALERT CANUCKS TIGHTEN GRIPS AROUND LENS

End-of-June Operations Were Fruitful in Results.

PUSHING ENEMY BACK

Rush Which Carried Outskirts of Avion Was Complete Surprise.

London, July 9.—The following communique covering Canadian operations around Lens for the last week of June is issued by the Canadian War Records Office:

The week ending June 20 was full of incidents and distinctly fruitful in results. On the afternoon of June 20 a report was received that the enemy had retired from Hill 65, and that patrols had been pushed forward. On receipt of this news, Canadians sent out patrols to gain touch with the enemy, who was believed to be retiring. Acting on the information received from these patrols Canada and Toronto trenches were occupied and posts were established in various communication trenches in advance of this.

Pushed Forward.

Early on the following day the advance was resumed and further trenches were taken, and new posts pushed forward. In this attack a machine gun was captured and a considerable number of the enemy were killed. The hostile opposition was not strong and their artillery fire was somewhat wild. Meanwhile troops in the flanks had pushed forward patrols, followed by supports, and by 1 p.m. were reported on their final objectives. The enemy were reported to be holding Avion trench and also Eleu Dit Leauvette lightly. At the same time there was a good deal of sniping.

Forced To Retire.

Early on the morning of the 27th a strong patrol which had got to within 150 yards of Avion trench came under heavy machine gun fire and being unable to make further headway was forced to retire. During the night of the 27th and 28th, the Canadians again pushed forward and were successful in establishing posts in portions of Avion trench and a patrol worked its way through Eleu Dit Leauvette.

Took Sunken Road.

At 7 a.m. on the morning of June 28, after heavy fighting, they succeeded in capturing a sunken road, where a number of the enemy were killed and some machine guns taken, and during the day patrols entered the outskirts of Avion. Shortly after 9 p.m. on June 28 the Canadian troops in conjunction with the British on their flanks continued their advance. This operation covered by an accurate barrage came as a complete surprise and was entirely successful. As a result they took up a position through the houses south of Fosse V. Dellievin, through Avion, round the east and north side of Eleu Dit Leauvette to the canal. At the same time the troops on the left captured two important trenches, while those on our right seized the enemy's front line between Gavrelle and Oppy, taking about 200 prisoners. Our casualties throughout were slight in spite of German statements to the contrary. The line was again advanced slightly on the night of 29th and 30th. The total number of prisoners taken up to the 29th were 2 officers and 68 other ranks.

Implacable Offensive.

In reviewing operations the past week it is evident that the causes which led to the German retirement in the first place were due to the ceaseless and implacable offensive which has been maintained during the past six weeks, ably seconded by the troops on either flank. The Canadian troops have exploited to the fullest extent the natural advantages of their position and attacked again and again with the greatest persistence and gallantry, coupled with adequate artillery support and ample ammunition.

These efforts have had the inevitable result of forcing the Germans to acknowledge defeat and their inability to hold on any longer to their carefully-chosen and prepared positions. In fact, these operations have reproduced on a small scale the results achieved on the Aisne and the Somme, where the Germans had to quit the field for the simple reason that he was outfought and could no longer face the music.

TURK PRESSURE CAUSES WITHDRAWAL OF RUSSIANS ALONG PERSIAN FRONTIER

Petrograd, July 9.—A withdrawal of Russian forces on the front, near the border between Persia and Mesopotamia, is announced by the war office today. Under pressure from the Turks, the Russians evacuated Panjwin, Khanikin and Kasr-I-Shirin.

SECRET SESSION WILL DISCUSS AIR DEFENCES

London, July 9.—In the House of Commons today Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, announced that a secret session of the House would be held this evening to discuss the air defences of the country.

CUTTING DOWN IMPORTS.

Paris, July 9.—Excess of imports over exports is growing greater daily and threatens seriously to affect exchange. Consequently M. Thierry, minister of finance, has promulgated an order prohibiting the importation of goods pending the issue by authorization which is permitted by a decree of March 22. Henceforth any goods arriving before permission is issued must be re-exported at the cost of the exporters.

BACK TO HEADQUARTERS.

Berlin, July 9.—Via London.—Official announcement is made that Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorf, who came to Berlin on Saturday to make a report to Emperor William on the military situation, have returned to headquarters.

MUNITION MAKING IS KEEPING PACE WITH EXPENDITURE

London, July 9.—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—F. G. Kellaway of Bedford, parliamentary secretary of the department of munitions, speaking at Luton, said that despite the gunners' enormous expenditure of shells the production was more than keeping pace. The total output at present was twenty times that of the first year of the war. This was eloquent justification of the dilution of labor.

The Government's proposals were to allow the dilution of labor on private work in order to bring a proportion of skilled men now engaged on private work to war work in shipyards, agricultural implement work and aeroplane production. The interests of labor would be fully safeguarded in the scheme.

Neutral Ministers Invited To Confer With German Emperor.

London, July 9.—According to reports reaching Rotterdam from Berlin and forwarded by the Exchange Telegraph, Emperor William invited the neutral ambassadors and ministers to a conference on Saturday.

HIGH MEMBER OF SWEDISH STAFF FOUND MURDERED

Attempt Made To Secure the Nation's Military Plans.

Stockholm, July 8.—The newspaper Dagens Hyheter says that Col. Hjalmar Smitt, a prominent member of the Swedish general staff, was found murdered in his flat on Saturday. The circumstances suggest an attempt by the murderer to get possession of important military plans.

VATICAN IS SHAKEN BY AN EARTHQUAKE

Italian Capital Rocked by Seismic Shocks, but Nobody Was Hurt.

Rome, July 9.—Pope Benedict was awakened by an earth shock, which shook the whole of Rome early Sunday morning. Many people dressed, others left their homes fearing a second shock. The pope inquired as to the extent of the earthquake, and learned there was no damage nor victims. The shock was especially felt at Avezzano, which was practically destroyed in the earthquake of January, 1915.

U. S. STEAMER TORPEDOED OFF THE FRENCH COAST

London, July 9.—The United States steamer Massapequa was sunk on Saturday by a German submarine. The crew was landed at the small island of Sein, off the French coast, 280 miles southwest of Brest.

The Massapequa 3,198 tons, was armed with guns manned by naval gunners. She was built in 1893 at Sunderland, England, and owned by the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company. She sailed on June 18 from the United States for France with a general cargo. She was commanded by Captain A. H. Strumm, and had a crew of 31 men.

TURKISH ARMY NOW IN SERIOUS PLIGHT

Enver Pasha Himself Rushing to Mesopotamia.

Saloniki, July 8.—According to reliable advices from Asia Minor, the Turkish army is in the most serious plight of any period of the war on account of the depletion of man power from the ravages of epidemics and from actual starvation as a result of the failure of the commissariat. All classes of the gendarmerie are being mobilized to fill the gaps.

It is said the spread of mutinies among Arab and Kurd troops has become so aarming that Enver Pasha, the Turkish war minister, is rushing to Mesopotamia in an effort to cope with them.

REGINA TYPOS FOR COMPULSION.

Regina, July 8.—At a meeting of the Regina Typographical Union on Saturday night delegates to the trades and labor meeting to be held tomorrow evening were instructed by unanimous resolution to go on record as favoring conscription. The resolution added that nationalization of all industries of Canada should be strongly urged upon the Federal Government.

Brussilloff Continues His Victorious Sweep Across Galicia.

Petrograd, July 9.—Several villages and more than 7,000 men have been captured by the Russians west of Stanislau, in Galicia, the war office announces.

Forty-eight guns, including twelve of large size, and many machine guns also were captured by the Russians.

Russian cavalry is pursuing the retreating enemy and has reached the Lukva River.

THE RUSS STATEMENT.

The text of the Russian statement reads:

"Western (Russian) Front: In the direction of Zlochoff, southeast of Brzezany, there has been artillery firing on both sides.

"In the direction of Dolina (35 miles west of Stanislau), troops of Gen. Korniloff's army, about midday on Sunday, attacked after artillery preparation, the fortified positions of the enemy west of Stanislau, on the Lomnica front.

"Having pierced the foremost and most important positions of the enemy, our troops advanced and captured in battle the small town of Jezupol and the villages of Ciezov, Pavelche, Ribno and Starylysiec.

"Our cavalry, giving immediate pursuit to the retreating enemy, reached the River Lukva.

"During the day 131 officers and 7,000 men and 48 guns, including 12 of heavy calibre and numerous machine guns, were captured.

"Aviation: Our airmen dropped bombs on the railway station and town of Pinsk, causing conflagrations. A squadron of German airplanes made a nocturnal flight over Dvinsk and dropped several tons of bombs.

"Rumanian Front: There were no changes in the situation."

STOPPED, SAY GERMANS.

Berlin, July 9—Via London—The official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff says the Russians who attacked yesterday in Eastern Galicia were brought to a standstill by German reserves after the Russians had pressed back the defenders in the direction of the wooded heights of Czarnylas.

HAIG'S NIGHT RAID NETS 35 GERMANS

London, July 9—"In a successful raid by us last night southeast of Hargicourt we captured 35 prisoners, including one officer," says today's official announcement. "A hostile raiding party was repulsed early this morning southeast of Loos."

MANY VIOLENT DEATHS DURING THE WEEK-END AT CANADA'S METROPOLIS

Montreal, July 9.—Seven cases of violent deaths were reported over the week-end. The dead are:

Florence Woods, 42, drowned in the Back River.

Saka Hatto, Japanese, died suddenly at the Glen yards of the C. P. R.

Simson Legault, 54, fell dead on the sidewalk on Ontario street.

Annie Servant, 32, died in the general hospital from poison.

Mrs. Regina Prenovost, 27, fell from the fourth story of her home, Montcalm street, and suffered mortal injuries, dying yesterday.

Unidentified woman whose body was found in a bed in a Clark street house.

Unidentified man fell from a Grand Trunk freight train. A letter in his pocket testified that he had been robbed and needed money to get to Toronto.

"SPIRITUALISM IS OF THE DEVIL," SAYS REV. H. D. MOYER

"If Police Got Busy, They Might Get Some Business."

SPOOKOLOGY DISCUSSED

Alleged Mediums Flocking to Canada From States for Easy Money.

"I believe emphatically that spiritualism is altogether of the devil, and it is my conviction that what is known as the 'control' of every spiritualistic medium is demon control, is of the devil," was the strong statement made last evening by Rev. H. D. Moyer, pastor of the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, at the conclusion of a sermon on "Spiritualism, the Modern Spookology."

"Spiritualism isn't a new thing. It was known a thousand years before Christ," said the preacher, continuing; "The so-called modern spiritualism has its beginning in Wayne County, New York, back in 1847. A man named Michael Wigman, while seated in his house one day, heard two distinct knocks on the door. He went to the door, but there was no one there. It was repeated three times, two knocks each time. The rest of the family heard the knocks, and not knowing what it was, turned pale and whispered, 'Spooks!' And so they moved out of the house.

Moved Out, Too.

Another family moved in. One of the girls complained that she felt cold hands passing over her face and that was sufficient reason for that family to move out, and so the house was to rent again. A man named Fox was the next to move in. He heard two knocks, so he made up his mind to find out what it was. He said, "Are you a spirit?" The answer came in two knocks. In some mysterious way, Fox knew that two knocks meant 'Yes.' Then he said, "Are you an injured spirit?" and the answer again 'Yes' in two knocks. Then Fox and his family inquired and found that a peddler had once come to that house and been murdered for $500 that was on him, so they concluded it was 'he spirit of the peddler. But nobody ever knew whether the spirit came back for his bones or the $500 when he kept on the racket around the house. Then somebody said, 'Here's a new religion.' And that was the beginning of modern spiritualism."

Recent Revival.

Turning attention to the recent revival of spiritualism, Mr. Moyer referred to the fact that many people hold the view that this is the fulfilling of prophecy in regard to the latter days preceding the second coming of Christ, the teaching of "strange doctrines" of which Paul warned Timothy.

"'I am not disposed to think these are the' later days,'" said Mr. Moyer, "but I am not worrying about it. It is sufficient for me to know that Jesus is here according to his promise to His disciples when He left the earth. Yet it must be admitted that strange things are being manifested in a wonderful way."

Are Investigating.

Prominent among these manifestations was the fact that men of science, men holding a prominent place in the world, men considered of real good judgment, are investigating what is termed the phenomena of spiritualism. This, however, is by no means the first time men of science have investigated. In the early eighties a man named Seibert who was interested in the subject had left a large sum of money to be used by men approved by the college board of the University of Pennsylvania for the purpose of investigation. The commission appointed on investigation discovered that a large part of the so-called spiritualistic phenomena was slight-of-hand and mesmerism. The unanimous verdict was that there was nothing in it to justify following up the investigations or holding a second meeting.

Result of War.

With regard to the revival of interest in spiritualism in this city and throughout the country, and the favorable consideration being given to it by people who have been considered as having good judgment, the preacher saw a reason for the interest manifested in the anxiety and sorrow which is the lot of a number of people as a result of war conditions. A news item of a few days ago concerning the arrest in Stratford of a spiritualist who had recently gone there from Battle Creek and been discovered perpetrating fraud in a seance, was read and commented upon as follows:

Flocking to Canada.

"Now is the time that all these spiritualists are coming into Canada. They are literally flocking in from the States. What's the matter? There are widows over here, and fathers and mothers sorrowing for their boys who have given their lives in the war. Now is the time to fly to these people and give them messages from deceased relatives. That is why the spiritualists from the States are flooding Canada. When the American army meets the Germans, and there are sorrowing widows, fathers, mothers, sisters and sweethearts in the United States, the spiritualist will fly back where there is more money. This is why I stand up and say, 'Curses on the abominable thing.'

The man who came over from Battle Creek and was arrested in Stratford was caught in deliberate fraud. I hear that another spiritualist recently has come from Detroit to London. If the police would get on their job they might get some business.

Was in Trouble.

Why did Saul consult the witch of Endor? Because he was in trouble Saul came to his death as a result of this. King after king went down when he turned his back on God and sought counsel of mouthing, jibbering spirits.

Among charges made by the preacher against spiritualism were that it leads away from God, denies the inspiration of the Bible and the work of the holy spirit, the atonement of Jesus Christ and the Biblical doctrine of the hereafter.

"It is one of the bitterest opponents to Jesus and his religion that the world knows today," declared the speakers.

In addition to this, Mr. Moyer threw out the challenge, "Have you ever heard a message given through a medium that has amounted to anything or contained in it anything of wisdom, inspiration or uplift? The mediums have not brought one message to save a soul or help a soul in a vital way."

Seeks Consolation.

With regard to the plea made as a reason for seeking counsel and consolation in spiritualism, "We want to know," Mr. Moyer's answer was: "If you want to find out, you can find out all you want to know through God's blessed word. David, who lived in the days of the witch of Endor, wrote of God's word, 'Thy word is a light unto my feet and a lamp unto my path.' Keep you heart open to the Lord Jesus, and He will reveal to you all you need to know, and that is essential to your salvation.

"If you want to see spooks and uncanny things happen, go to Indian. I have on my pulpit before me a pamphlet telling about Madame Blavatsky. She is canonized by some people. She went atsky by a society of psychic re- cheated them at their own game. This pamphlet only refers briefly to cruel treatment received by Madame Blavatchsky by a society of psychic research. The fact is, the society investigated her and exposed her fraud. Do you think any spirit of a deceased relative of yours would come back from the house of many mansions, the home of glory in the presence of the Lord to give you a message through an old woman in the attic of an old barn on Rectory street? I don't know what kind of relatives you have. I'm sure none of mine would."

Sounds of Warning.

In conclusion a warning was sounded against the fascinations and insidiousness of spiritualism and the advice given, "Let it alone." One might go with a view to being amused or to investigate, said the preacher, but the danger existed of getting captivated by it. "The whole thing is humbug and fraud," said Mr. Moyer, and the appalling part of it is that alienists are stating that insanity is on the increase as a result of spiritualism. Not twelve miles from here is a house where they have been investigating spiritualistic phenomena. When the rugs rolled up at the corners, when a book fell down or was not where they thought they had left it, they attributed it to spirits. The woman of the house is out in the asylum as a result of the investigation of spiritualistic phenomena. When anybody gets down and out and goes for comfort to the place where the seances are being held, it is a step towards Pottersburg. This is what it means.

In his prayer which followed the sermon the preacher made the fervent petition that those in the congregation might be solved from degrading Christ, and those near and dear to them in the spirit world, through seeking to converse with them through mediums.

MOUNT BRYDGES BOY WHO HAS BEEN WOUNDED

Pte. Alfred Winterbotton, Mount Brydges, son of Mrs. Ellen Fike, who was last week reported to have been wounded on June 27. He was well known in the district, and a popular young man of the village before his enlistment.

MESSAGE OF LOYALTY TO PRESIDENT WILSON AND PREMIER BORDEN

B. Y. P. U. Passes a Strong Resolution at Big Meeting in Detroit.

The following is a copy of a resolution passed by the Baptist Young People's Union of America, in session in Detroit on Friday, and forwarded to the respective governments of the United States and Canada:

"The Baptist Young People's Union of America, gathered in their 26th international convention at Detroit, Mich., send greetings, and their assurance of their loyal and undivided allegiance to their respective governments and to the ideals for which we are fighting. Many of the young men of our societies in Canada have already laid down their lives in this great war, and many more from both sides of the line will offer their services on the field of honor. We unite in prayer for Gor's guidance on you and the counsellors who surround you.—The Baptist Young People's Union of America.—H. B. Osgood, president."

Londoner There.

Among delegates from this city who are attending the convention is Rev. H. H. Bingham, of Talbot Street Baptist Church, who spoke on Saturday morning on "Education and Giving."

Mr. Bingham has written The Advertiser as follows:

"The whole convention sings every session 'Keep the Home Fires Burning,' as a result of the Canadian delegation singing it. The Americans love the song and have had copies printed."

The Canadian delegation held a banquet at noon on Friday, when Chancellor McCrimmon, of McMaster University, acted as master of ceremonies. Among subjects on the toast list were: "Our Guests," "The Ladies," "Liberty," "Our Boys at the Front" and "The Conference Motto." Rev. H. H. Bingham and Rev. A. C. Bingham of this city were among the speakers.

THRESHERMEN WANT BRIDGE LAW AMENDED BY PROVINCIAL GOVT.

All County Organizations Plan to Make Joint Appeal.

At the annual meeting of the Middlesex Threshermen's Association at the Fraser House on Saturday afternoon it was decided by the members to urge other county organizations to join in the combined appeal to the Provincial Government to amend the bridge laws as it affects them.

Under the present laws the thresherman must carry plank, which he is obliged to lay on every bridge, before attempting to cross with his traction engine. The Government will be requested to alter the law so that the bridges must be built strong enough to carry the weight, and the flooring of such to be of material that the traction wheels would not damage.

A committee of five were appointed to interview other county associations with the object in view of sending a delegation at an early date.

The only other matter of importance discussed was the proposed organization of a Threshermen's Mutual Fire Insurance Company. At present insurance companies will only insure the outfits, so long as they remain on the owner's premises. When out during the threshing season the risk is great, and in case machinery is lost by fire the owner cannot recover a cent. In order to be of greater protection the mutual company may be organized in the near future.

HEARS BLENHEIM APPEALS

BLENHEIM, July 8.—Judge Stanworth of Chatham came here and heard the appeals of the Western Peat Fuel Company, Henry Burk and J. M. Thompson, against their land assessments in Harwich. They claimed them to be too high compared with other land assessments. O. L. Lewis appeared for the appellants and J. M. Pike for the township. Considerable evidence was put in, the judge reserving his decision.

An appeal on the Johnson drain assessment on Jas. Liddy's lands, was also heard, R. L. Brackin acting for Liddy and J. M. Pike for the Township. The judge dismissed the appeal without costs.

EXCHANGED PULPITS.

Rev. E. G. Warner, of Embro, exchanged pulpits with Dr. Silcox Sunday in the First Congregational Church. He gave two addresses. In the evening his sermon was "Glorying in the Cross of Christ." Rev. Mr. Warner illustrated the various courses for glorying in the physical and temporal, but above all, he said, we must place Christ and His cross. W. A. Bleuthner will have charge of the organ for the summer months.

THE "BOOSTER DAYS" EXTRA VOTE OFFER TO CLOSE SATURDAY

Special Opportunity Is Given Candidates.

EARLY HUSTLING COUNTS

50,000 Extra Votes for Each $15 Worth of New Subscriptions.

It is highly probable that when the judges announce the prize winners of The Advertiser's $16,000 prize contest, the last of August, the leading candidates will prove to be those who laid the foundation for their success during the "Booster Days'" EXTRA vote offer, which is in vogue this week. It has been so arranged that those who get the early start in the contest and work faithfully throughout will have a far better opportunity of winning the bigger prizes, or any of the other prizes for that matter, than those who want to begin their campaign when the contest is half over, or nearing the end.

The contest manager was busy all day Saturday answering long distance phone calls and inquiries from local candidates about the 50,000 extra vote offer. All candidates are well pleased with the offer, as they feel they have a better opportunity of working, and it has come at a time when candidates can gather in all promises of new subscriptions, and thus save a lot of valuable time. This is one point candidates should bear in mind when canvassing for subscriptions.

The Extra Vote Offer.

As a special inducement to encourage candidates to do their utmost during the early days of the contest a special bargain week in votes has been given. This special offer, which is known as the "Booster Days' EXTRA Vote," is as follows:

Up to 8:30 p.m. Saturday, July 14, 50,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given for each and every $15 worth of new subscriptions turned in. There is no limit to the number of $15 clubs that a candidate may send in. For instance, 50,000 EXTRA VOTES will be given for $15, 100,000 extra votes for $30, and so on.

These extra 50,000 votes are given in addition to the regular vote schedule.

Then there will be 25,000 extra votes given for every $15 worth of old subscriptions turned in. This means back subscriptions as well as renewals.

Out-of-town candidates may work to the last minute, equal with city candidates, and then mail in their results, and even though their letters containing subscriptions and remittances do not reach us until the following week, they will be given the EXTRA votes—provided the letters bear the postmark of July 14.

Make Nominations Now.

Prospective candidates who are contemplating entering the contest for one of the many big prizes should hurry in their nominations and get their supplies at once. You will never cease regretting if you let this special vote offer go by unheeded.

Candidates who send in large returns would do well to register their letters. We have had a number of letters lost in the mails during the present contest, and therefore feel that this precaution would be a wise one. Candidates who do not receive acknowledgments for their remittances by a least a week from the time they send them in should write to the contest manager about the matter, giving the date the letter was mailed, what it contained and receipt number of money order, express order, etc.

Candidates have full authority from The Advertiser to collect subscriptions and give an interim receipt for same. Subscribers should see that they get a receipt for all moneys paid on subscriptions to candidates.

Notes of the Contest.

"Miss Ena McBride has been nominated as a candidate to represent Amherstburg in the big popularity contest being put on by The London Advertiser."—Amherstburg Echo.

"I wish to state that the report that I have withdrawn from The London Advertiser auto contest is not true. I am still in it, and respectfully solicit your votes. MISS GLADYS BEACH."—Leamington Post and News.

The Clinton New Era says: "Help the Clinton Young Women's Auxiliary to win the grand cash prize of $1,000 by saving the vote coupons. Free tickets to Princess Theatre for coupons, renewals and new subscriptions. Bring coupons to theatre any day. Write your friends out of town to send you their subscriptions and coupons. Don't put off until next week what you can do this week; get the added advantage of coupons by subscribing now. NOW. This is a worthy cause and needs your support."

CLAN McDONALD HAS ITS ANNUAL PICNIC

More Than 100 Members Gather at Lakeside for Unusual Outing.

On July 4, the annual McDonald reunion was held at Lakeside, Oxford County, when more than one hundred of the clan gathered from far and near to enjoy the day.

From east and west they came; from north and south the autos appeared laden with adults, children and provisions. Those from a distance came by train the day before, several of them from the Porcupine district.

After a bountiful dinner provided by the ladies, the afternoon was spent in games of various kinds, boating on the lake and baseball.

At tea time the ladies once more excelled themselves in an abundance, variety and quality of good things.

Reeve Calder then called all to order, and a committee was appointed to have charge of the 1918 picnic, to be held at Lakeside on the first Wednesday of July, when all members of the clan are expected to be present.

NEIGHBORS WILL HELP MISS THOMPSON

Neighbors of Miss Thompson, who was placed in jail for refusing to reveal the whereabouts of her sister's child, plan to come to her rescue and help her save her fine garden. Miss Thompson was busy gardening when placed under arrest, and since she left the weeds have been making rapid growth. The garden was one of the best in the vicinity, and the neighbors rather than see it spoiled and Miss Thompson suffer loss, intend to care for it. Miss Thompson is well thought of in the neighborhood where she lives, and it is stated that everybody is signing the petitions for her release.

REV. DR. FARMER AT TALBOT STREET CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Farmer, of McMaster University, Toronto, preached to a large congregation at the Talbot Street Baptist Church last evening on "Obedience to Faith." People, he said, talked of a new Christianity after the war. What is needed, he declared, is not new Christianity, the original being perfect, but a right application of the principles laid down by Jesus. If the world had obeyed God's commandments he did not think there would have been any war.

SUNDAY CONCERT NETTED $185

Favored by ideal weather conditions the band concert held Sunday evening in Victoria Park, under the auspices of Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E., attracted one of the largest crowds of the season.

The proceeds amounted to $185. This will be devoted to purchasing comforts for the soldiers. The musical program was furnished by the 7th Regiment Band under Lieut. Slatter. The program provided was one of exceptional merit, the rendition of each selection being followed by applause.

Photoplay News

MAJESTIC

Theodore Roberts, the most prominent character on the stage or screen, will be seen at the Majestic today and Tuesday, supported by Anita King, in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "Anton, the Terrible," a thrilling drama of Russian political intrigue. Mr. Roberts is always noted for the care and detail of his make-up and rarely resorts to grease, paint or false hair.

PATRICIA.

"The Twinkler," Henry Leverage's remarkable story of love and light fingers, in which a woman is sentenced to the electric chair, and narrowly escapes it in the finale, is a real life story.

"If the motion picture scenario writers of this country are looking for material to build plays on," remarked Leverage, "they ought to invade the penitentiaries. I have talked to men in this prison whose lives are continuous dramas. Nor need it be supposed that the dramas within prison walls are necessarily crime dramas."

"The Twinkler" will be seen at the Patricia Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, featuring William Russell in the principal role.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Cure" at the Patricia.

Probably no other comedian in the world can get as much fun out of what to others would be a trifling situation as can Charles Chaplin, the $670,000 Mutual star, in "The Cure," his latest offering, as a cure for everything and especially the blues. Chaplin keeps the spectators in an uproar all of the time.

The person who finds much to disgust in an intoxicated man will be cured if he watches Chaplin in "The Cure." And all because he uses an ordinary and much employed situation in a new way to put it across. Liquor in the ice cooler or the pitcher or the well are not new comedy schemes, but with Chaplin working them they become decidedly different.

At the Patricia Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

TOMMY McDOUGALL IS CRITICALLY ILL

Tommy McDougall, one of the best half-backs that ever played on a collegiate rugby team, and son of James McDougall, star bowler of the London Rowing Club, is critically ill in St. Joseph's Hospital, following an operation of a week ago for appendicitis. His condition last night was considered as serious.

Tommy captained the collegiate rugby team last fall, and played a great game throughout the season.

SUCCESSFUL SOCIALS.

FOREST, July 8.—The Jericho Red Cross Workers held an enjoyable garden party at the home of Arch Donald, Ridge road, Bosanquet. Owing to a Red Cross social the same evening in Arkona the crowd was not as large as it otherwise would have been. A program was given, with H. J. Pettypiece in the chair. Sixty dollars was realized.

On Thursday evening the North Plympton Red Cross Circle held a successful garden party at the home of Duncan Smith, 12th line, John Farrel acting as chairman. During the program a hand-painted patriotic pillow was won by A. E. Jamieson, and realized $72. The total receipts amounted to $275. Delicious strawberries were in abundance both evenings.

MANITOBA OFFICIALS DO NOT SUPPORT NEW PROBE

Refuse to Co-operate With Quebec Judges in Rogers' Case.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 8.—It is reported in Ottawa that the Government of Manitoba has declined to co-operate with the judges that are sitting in Montreal investigating the finding of Judge Gault against the Hon. Robert Rogers. The intimation is that the investigation has not been undertaken in good faith, and, therefore, Hon. A. B. Hudson, the attorney-general of Manitoba, has declined to assist with the proceedings, and he and officials of the province have disregarded the request of Judges Tellier and McLord to attend and give evidence at Montreal, it is stated.

OLDEST ORANGEMAN IN CANADA, JAS. GRIER, DEAD

First Settled at Grier's Corners Near Owen Sound.

WINNIPEG, July 8.—The oldest resident of MacLeod, Alta., James Grier, is dead. He went to the district in 1882 and resided there ever since. Mr. Grier was the oldest Orangeman in Canada, being 70 years a member of the order.

He first settled at Grier's Corners, near Owen Sound, Ont., and died at 95 years and six months. He leaves two sons, D. J. Grier, mayor of MacLeod, and Curran Grier, farmer, residing five miles north of MacLeod, and three daughters.

SOUTH SASKATCHEWAN COAL MINERS ON STRIKE

WINNIPEG, July 8.—All the miners in the coal mines in Southeastern Saskatchewan have gone on strike. The principal centre is Estevan. They want 20 per cent wage increase, but prefer Government operation as in Alberta. A thousand miners are idle.

ENTERTAIN RETURNED SOLDIERS.

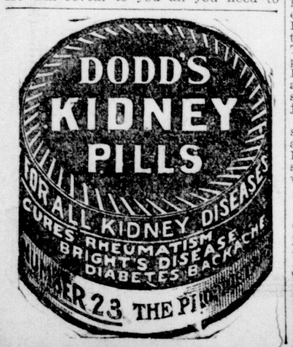
GODERICH, July 8.—The Gen. Brough Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, held an entertainment on Thursday evening for the returned soldiers in Goderich. The affair was held in the rooms where the chapter has been holding teas every Saturday for some time. An enjoyable time was spent in cards and music. Mrs. MacDonell, Mrs. Fraser and Miss Fraser, Miss Elliott and Miss Grace Seager and others rendered instrumental music during the evening.

NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeton, N. J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains, so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in a good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with such good results."—Mrs. Milford Cummings, 322 Harmony street, Penn Grove, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ills of women such as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, backache, painful periods, nervousness and kindred ailments.



ANGRY AT WIFE AS HOLY ROLLER

Husband Drags Her From Pentecostal Mission and Knocks Her Down.

BUT SHE GOES BACK

Large Crowd Attracted by the Excitement, and Police Are Notified.

The new Hamilton Road Pentecostal Mission, a five weeks' old branch of the sect known as Holy Rollers, was the scene of a lively session last night when an enraged unbeliever of the church's doctrines entered the building, seized his wife, who was in the act of singing praises, and according to spectators, dragged her outside on the grass and knocked her down. A police court information charging the husband with disturbing a religious service has been issued against Peter Robins, 159 Van street, by James W. Park.

The large crowd lingering outside the mission witnessed the disturbance, and from information gleaned from them it appears that the excitement of last night was of a more or less common occurrence.

According to the neighbors the services of the mission were being conducted with an unusual amount of noise at 11:30 Sunday evening, when a man recognizing the voice of his wife through the clamor of tongues, rushed into the building.

Pulls His Wife Out.

A noise, louder than any other, ensued that threatened to awake the whole neighborhood. A large through gathered and their curiosity was satisfied by the exodus of the man concerned pulling his wife after him, and followed by the beseechings of the congregation to leave her alone and get out.

Apparently he paid little heed to their cries, but dragged out his wife, who was yelling and struggling hysterically, upon the lawn of the holy church, knocking her down with his fist. "I'll teach you to holy roll," he is said to have remarked.

The tumult became so terrific at this stage that someone phoned for the police.

No one was arrested, however, and the mission was allowed to continue the services, but the crowd still lingered in the hope of more excitement.

Returns to Church.

None was forthcoming and the woman who was indirectly responsible for the uproar regained her place in the mission, continuing her chanting.

The neighbors of the mission are complaining that they are unable to sleep for the noise and howling which takes place three times a week.

The woman who was knocked down denied this, however, when interviewed by an Advertiser reporter.

The Spirit Speaking.

"The little noise which they sometimes hear is nothing but the outward manifestation of the holy spirit's power of speaking through the tongues of men," she explained. "The more spirit one has in him the louder he will yell, and last night happened to be a particularly good time for being possessed with the spirit.

"I refuse to say anything about my husband in regard to the disturbance," she continued. "He does not share my belief, but thinks I am neglecting my children, when I go to the church three times a week.

Roll on the Floor.

"The service of the mission is very simple. We believe that the spirit of God is with us as it was in Biblical times, and when we are full of the spirit we become incapable of action, and roll over the floor and yell. That is why we are spoken of as the 'Holy Rollers' by unbelievers," she added.

The several narrators of the disturbance told conflicting stories.

"She was knocked down inside the church," declared one woman, "while saying some prayers."

Can't Knock a Roller Down.

"She couldn't have been knocked down inside the mission," another "because she was rolling on the floor when her husband came in, so it would be impossible for him to knock her down, you see."

The inmates of neighboring houses were all strong in denouncing the unSundaylike clamor which takes place in the mission not only on the Sabbath day but every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the week.

The evidence in the matter is likely to be heard this week in police court.

THIEVES STEAL WIRE AT ELECTRICAL STORE

Thieves broke into the place of business of Winegarten & Gray, the People's Electric Company, 677 Dundas street, on Saturday or Sunday night, and stole about $90 worth of wire. It consisted of several coils of standard wire, a coil of No. 4 wire, and 8 to 10 coils of rubber-covered wire. The police have been notified, and are following clues of the thieves.

ONLY ONE RECRUIT SECURED SATURDAY

One lone recruit offered himself for service at the armories Saturday, and although Saturday is usually a quiet day for recruiting last Saturday was more than quiet, and approached the record established some days ago, when no recruits came up at all.

C. C. Crosby was the man who presented himself, and he was sent to the 7th Regiment Guard Details. Today two arrived from across the border, Francis T. Keddy from Manitou Springs Colorado, and Leon S. Durant, from Cleveland, Ohio.

CITY BREVITIES

CAPT. YOUNG RETURNS.—Captain R. A. Young who went overseas with the 7th C. M. R., afterwards transferred to the 9th C. M. R., returned home on Saturday, after spending two years in England and France.

PICNIC ON THURSDAY.—The annual picnic of the Methodist Women's Auxiliary will be held on Thursday, July 12, at Springbank. Mrs. Heritage will give a report on the convention which she attended recently at Petrolea.

AUTOED HOME.—Sam Allen, together with his wife, mother and brother-in-law and niece, Bernice Allen, motored back to Flint Sunday, after spending two days in London with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Gibson, 190 Bathurst street.

THE GREATER PRODUCTION TWINS.—Among the high school students who are aiding the farmers in the campaign for greater production are the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis. Master Harold, who is down in the Niagara district, and Master Ernest, at Port Stanley.

MEET ON WEDNESDAY. — The Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday instead of Friday. The monthly business will be transacted, and arrangements made for the French flag day, in which the members will take an active part.

TO ENTERTAIN CHAPTER.—Mrs. Cummings, secretary of the Isobel Hampton Chapter, I. O. D. E., will entertain the members of the chapter at her residence on Hyatt avenue Tuesday, July 10. The afternoon will be spent in doing Red Cross work and social enjoyment.

JURORS SELECTED.—The selection of jurors for the fall assizes of the supreme court and the December sittings of the county court was made at the courthouse today. The board of selectors consisted of Judge Judd, Crown Attorney McKillop, Deputy Sheriff Watterworth and Squire Chittick.

EXPECT PAPERS SATURDAY.—The department of education at Toronto today started the work of scrutinizing the reports of the entrance examination board. It is expected that London's papers will be reached some time this week. City hall officials are looking for the return of the papers by Saturday at the latest.

EPWORTH RALLY AT ST. THOMAS.—The young people of the Epworth leagues of the Metnodist churches of this city and of St. Thomas are holding a rally this evening in connection with the summer school at Alma College. The members of the local union of Epworth leagues will go over to St. Thomas at 7:20 o'clock to be in time for the meeting at 8 o'clock.

I. B. S. MEETS TONIGHT.—A general meeting of the Irish Benevolent Society has been called for this evening at the Tecumseh House, when final arrangements will be made for holding the annual picnic. Committees will be formed, and other details arranged. It will then be decided where to hold it. Springbank Park is offering inducements, and Port Stanley is also after the big event.

P. O. INSPECTOR COMING.—Word was received at the city hall this morning that Inspector Fowler, Ottawa, who is coming to London to go into the matter of a postoffice for East London, would not be in the city today, but would arrive here about noon Tuesday. Several locations will be looked over, and it is expected that a branch will be established shortly after. It will be under the direction of the central postoffice.

A DOMESTIC DANGER.—A general alarm of fire was turned in from the office of Dr. Hutchinson, dentist, 300 Queen's avenue, at 9:29 o'clock today. A servant girl, cleaning the hardwood floor with a gasoline mixture, had come in too close contact with a small gas burner. The fumes arising caused the room to fill with flames when the gasoline-soaked rag used by the girl came near the burner. The blaze was extinguished by pails of water before the firemen had arrived. The loss was negligible.

OPEN AIR SERVICE.—An open air service, conducted by J. Cruickshanks of Hamilton, attracted a large gathering to the corner of Adelaide street and the Hamilton road on Sunday evening. This was one of the regular series held by the congregation of the Gospel Hall on the Hamilton road each Sunday evening when weather permits during the summer months. Last evening's was the fourth that has taken place this year and great interest was manifested by the crowds of people, old and young.

ORGANISTS AT PICNIC.—The London Organists Club is holding a picnic at Springbank this afternoon, going down on the 3:30 car. J. Parnell Morris, organist of the Dundas Centre Methodist Church, has charge of the sports program, which contains a number of novel features, while Mesdames Weir, Charles E. Wheeler, Mitcheltree and Morris have charge of the commissariat department. Charles E. Wheeler is honorary president of the club and E. W. G. Quantz its second president.

WILL LOOK OVER PLANS.—There will be a special meeting of the board of control some day this week to look over the plans for the new hydro shop. The controllers not so long since requested the commission to submit the plans, and they are now ready for consideration. The work of construction is proceeding rapidly. It is expected that the cement foundation work will be commenced this week, as the excavation will be done in a few days. John Putherbough will put in the cement work, and Sam Willis will look after the carpentering. They will supervise it on the percentage basis.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. (REV.) BOYD.—A pleasant evening was spent by the members of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church Ladies' Bible Class at the home of the president, Mrs. William Kidner, Adelaide street, on Friday evening last. The evening was one of more than ordinary interest and pleasure for the members of the class, who took the occasion for presenting to Mrs. Boyd a handsome cut glass vase, Mrs. Kidner, on behalf of the class, making the presentation. Mrs. Boyd, who is the teacher of the class, was taken by surprise, but made a feeling reply, thanking them all for such a kind expression of their love. During the evening refreshments were served and a program of music and readings was given, all going away feeling that they had spent a most enjoyable evening. About thirty members of the class were present.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. JOHN DINSLEY DEAD.

Wingham, July 9.—Mrs. John Dinsley died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. J. A. McLean, on Saturday afternoon after an illness of over two years. Deceased was one of the first settlers of the town, coming from Clinton about 45 years ago, and well known to many people traveling throughout Western Ontario. With her husband she at one time conducted the Dinsley House. Surviving are a family of four sons and one daughter: William of Boise, Idaho; Frank and Dave of Rochester; R. A. of Wingham, and Miss Dinsley of Detroit. Mrs. Ceveen of Detroit, Mrs. Ruggles of Denver and Mrs. J. A. McLean of Wingham are sisters of the deceased.

PERSONAL MENTION

Thomas Olmstead of Toronto spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. E. Olmstead, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital recovering from an auto accident here three weeks ago.

Chas. G. Harper, of 472 Princess avenue, inspector at the Merchants' Bank, is seriously ill in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Miss Kitty Butchart has left to spend a couple of months at Marblehead, Mass., in the summer home of her sister.

Mrs. Charles Saunders of Ottawa, who has been visiting relatives in the city for the past few weeks, leaves tomorrow for Muskoka. Her husband, Dr. Charles Saunders, of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, is at present on his annual trip through the northwest.

DENIES HE AGREED WITH DYING WIFE TO GIVE UP GIRL

William Link Makes Statement of Case to Advertiser.

HEARD BY FOUR JUDGES

1,500 Have Signed Petitions at Advertiser Asking For Release.

In justice to William Link, 89 Mameloh street, father of Grace Jean Link, for whose possession several actions were tried in the high courts, finally resulting in a court order which Miss Margaret Thompson refused to obey and is now in jail as a consequence, The Advertiser sent a reporter to interview Mr. Link today and state his side of the story.

"In the first place, all that I ask is that she give up possession of my giarl as ordered to do by the judge, and she could easily get out of jail," said Mr. Link, who related his story in a calm way.

Heard by Four Judges.

"The case was fought out fairly and squarely in the courts and was heard in part by four different judges. I am not to blame for her being in jail, and I would only be too glad if she would obey the court order so she could be released."

"Did you agree with your first wife, while she was on her deathbed to give the girl to her aunt, Miss Thompson?" was asked.

"I certainly did not do such a thing. My wife was unconscious for 36 hours before her death, and nothing was mentioned to her before that time about Grace," he replied.

Continuing the story Link stated that he had always allowed the child to visit with the aunt, and had tried in every way to make things agreeable.

Says He Tried for Years.

"I had three different housekeepers after my first wife's death, and could have at all times provided my child with a good home and an education. I tried for years to induce Miss Thompson to tell where my child was, but she has refused, and I will continue to think that she is dead until it is proved to me that she is not, by producing her alive.

"The courts awarded me the child, I am her father. I am entitled to her, and I can provide her with just as good a home as she can get anywhere.

"A great many persons who have signed the petitions seemed to think I have no feeling in the matter. Let them put themselves in my position and then asked who is most entitled to the girl, the father or the aunt.

"Unless she obeys the court order she must take the consequences," said Mr. Link in conclusion.

The petitions in The Advertiser office asking for the release of Miss Thompson have been signed by over 1,500 persons.

Writes History of Case.

W. A. Mason of 12 Hyatt avenue, who has been a friend of Miss Thompson for years, and who knows the history of the case as well as anyone in he city, stated to The Advertiser today that he was circulating petitions in her behalf and was having very few refusals. The community seemed to be in sympathy with the movement for her release.

"Much has been said for the sorry plight of Miss Thompson," said Mr. Mason, "but in my opinion my duty is to express a few words on her behalf and I believe the least we can do as citizens of London is to sign the petitions at once.

"My family and myself have known Miss Thompson for many years. She is a good, true friend and kind to everyone whom she may come in contact with. Knowing that she was in poor health and that her memory was not of the best, she asked me to write the story of the child from the time her mother died up to the present. I set about the task and wrote the story as she sat beside me and gave the facts. After many delays I finally finished the history.

Sure Child Is Alive.

"Miss Thompson now has the document in her possession, and this is the only means she has of defending herself. She does not fully understand the law, and her fear of losing the child led her to refuse to answer. I firmly believe that she will never divulge the child's whereabouts until it is of age, but all this talk of the child being dead is without foundation. The child is being well cared for and educated, and there is no cause for alarm. I have sympahy for the father, but Mr. Link made a mistake when he allowed the child to leave his home, and he could do nothing better now than to sign the petition himself and help restore Miss Thompson to health and liberty."

Mr. Mason said he had written to the child for Miss Thompson, but had never seen the address to which the letters were sent, Miss Thompson addressing the envelope.

WEDDING BELLS

REED—STEER.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Centennial Methodist Church parsonage on Saturday evening, June 30, by Rev. H. T. Ferguson, when Alice E. Steer was married to Edgar A. Reed, both of this city.

The bride looked charming in a traveling suit of brown broadcloth, with shoes and hat to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of bridal roses and pink sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Bertha Drew, who was daintily gowned in French grey georgette crepe and black taffeta, with white picture hat. She wore a bouquet of pink sweet peas, and white carnations. James Walsh supported the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, 763 Queen's avenue.

George Steer, brother of the bride, rendered "The Perfect Day" in pleasing voice.

They left on a short honeymoon trip to Brantford and Hamilton.

LARKIN—ANDREWS.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Cronyn Memorial Church on Wednesday last by the Rev. R. W. Norwood, when Miss Elsie Andrews became the bride of W. J. Larkin. The bride was dressed in white silk crepe with customary veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Lucy and Annie Andrews, sisters of the bride, and wore pink silk marquisette, and carried bouquets of pink carnations. The groom was attended by Pte. E. A. Jones, a returned soldier. After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie, 41 Grey street. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. Larkin served with No. 3 Stationary Hospital on Lemnos Island.

STONE—OSIER.

A pretty wedding took place in Adelaide Street Baptist Church at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, when Pte. Joseph Stone of the local munitions department and Miss Beatrice Pearl Osier of this city were united in marriage by the Rev. James H. Boyd, pastor of the church. The young couple were attended by Pte. G. Chivers and Mrs. A. Tattersall. Mr. and Mrs. Stone will reside at 988 Lorne avenue, this city.

MUST HAVE COMPLAINT TO ARREST MEDIUMS

Although Rev. H. D. Moyer in his sermon last evening characterized spiritualism as a humbug and a fraud, and said the police might discover some things if they got busy, Chief Williams, in discussing the matter today, said nothing could be done unless someone entered a complaint.

The last spirit medium to be arrested in the city was a woman, who was taken into custody 20 years ago following a complaint of one of the converts who testified she had been relieved of some money. She was allowed to leave the city and since then no complaints regarding any of the profession have been brought to the attention of the police.

COPIES COLORS OF CANADIAN UNITS FOR WAR RECORDS

Sergt. F. N. Mann, Unable To Get To Front, Is Performing Useful Service as an Artist —Works On Flags in Great Cathedrals.

The work of one London boy in connection with the war which is destined to enjoy permanency is that of Sergt. Frank Nellis Mann, second son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Mann of 291 Princess avenue. This is no less than painting for the Canadian historical records of the war the colors of the Canadian battalions which are deposited in cathedrals of Great Britain, Ireland, and in some cases in France.

When the recruiting depot for No. 2 Military Division was opened in Toronto with Lieut.-Col. Le Grand Reed as O. C. and Capt. Harold (Mike) Wood, son of Dr. J. N. Wood and Mrs. Wood, formerly of this city, as paymaster, Nellis Mann was appointed pay sergeant. After the closing of the recruiting depot and the appointment of Lieut.-Col. Le Grand Reed to raise the 170th Battalion, Sergt. Mann was attached to this unit, with the rank of pay sergeant, under his former O. C. Going overseas with the 170th in September, Sergt. Mann for a time acted as pay sergeant at the divisional recruiting quarters at Liphook, the village of the famous spreading chestnut tree under which the village smithy of poetic fame once stood.

SERGT. F. N. MANN.

Has a Broken Arch.

From there he was sent to the pay and records office in London. His desire was to get to the front, but, owing to a broken arch in his foot, this was denied him.

After a time in the Canadian pay and records office, he managed to obtain his discharge from there with the renewed hope of getting into active service.

He was sent to Shorncliffe, but disappointment again awaited him.

Previous to donning khaki, Nellis Mann was with the Grip Company of Toronto, taking up the work of designing. He had always shown marked talent in an artistic direction and, knowing that he had done illustrating work for the O. C. of his unit sent in his name on learning that there was a temporary art job in connection with the Canadian pay and records office in London. To the surprise of the young artist, he was granted him, and it was evident that he gave satisfaction from the fact that he was given nine days' further "pass," when the first work was completed. Before that time was up, he received the appointment to copy in water colors the colors of the various Canadian units for the historical department of the Canadian pay and records office.

Works in the Abbey.

His first work took him to Westminster Abbey, where the colors of no less than 25 Canadian battalions have been deposited and are draped on Wolfe's monument. At first, he was able to take these down for the work of copying, but since then, the colors have been wired to hold them in place, and latterly he has been obliged to paint from the top of a stepladder.

His work has also taken him to a church at Bramshott and at the time his last letter was written, he was busily engaged in Canterbury Cathedral. This had special interest for him, for the reason that the colors of the 33rd Battalion, the unit with which his elder brother, Billy Mann, went overseas, are deposited there. Billy Mann was wounded at Vimy Ridge, and is making a good recovery in England.

CALLS ON ROTARIANS FOR BETTER SERVICE IN RELIGIOUS EFFORT

Delegate Martin Believes in Broad Service to Community.

Rotarians W. A. Martin and C. R. May, delegates to the Rotary convention at Atlanta, gave a report of the convention at the regular luncheon of the club at noon today. Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore presided in the absence of President A. E. Silverwood. Col. Gartshore told about his recent trip to the West, where he attended the lunches of the Winnipeg and Vancouver clubs. He found them live organizations, and much gratified at the election of Rev. E. Leslie Pidgeon as international president of Rotary.

Rotarian May described the trip to Atlanta, mentioning the stopover at Chattanooga, where the famous battlefields were visited. He mentioned an interesting story about the visit to Fort Oglethorpe, where German sailors from interned liners are kept prisoners. Past President Albert yelled "Wie geht's" to the prisoners in the inclosure, and he was immediately arrested and grilled. He was told that his country was at war, and that such conversation might be misinterpreted.

Beet Ever Held.

W. A. Martin stated that 266 clubs were represented at the gathering. Of these, thirteen clubs from Canada had representatives, four from Great Britain and one from Cuba. The convention was the best that had yet been held. It was decided not to ask the British clubs to send delegates, but one delegate did come, and the convention voted him $1,00 for his expenses, a graceful thing.

"This organization should not be a lunch club only," said Mr. Martin. "If that is all it is, we had better dissolve. There are great opportunities for service, and we should not overlook them. When we consider what other clubs are doing, we must admit that we are much behind them. Our motto is service, and we can do much for this community if we set our hearts to it.

The Religious Aspect.

The religious aspect of things should be considered more and more. We do not look at that side of the thing sufficiently. We have great opportunities for work along these lines, and we should not overlook them. I do not mean that we should look on things in a denominational way, but in a broad religious way."

He related how President Wilson three days after war had been declared against Germany, called President Klumph of the International Rotary to meet him, and he asked what he could expect of the Rotary Clubs. Mr. Klumph promised the support of every club in the jurisdiction of international rotary. And he was glad to report that every club was living up to that ideal. Canadians were given a great reception all during the week, and they were entertained most royally.

Rotarian C. O. Bowker presented some exceptionally fine flowers for the table decorations.

TILLSONBURG PLANS BIG GARDEN PARTY

TILLSONBURG, July 8.—At a largely attended meeting of the Red Cross Society, it was decided to repeat the plans of last year by holding an immense garden party on the beautiful public school grounds on July 18. Music will be furnished by the London harpers, augmented by a good program.

Among the many attractions will be a Japanese tearoom, a gipsy camp, a fish-pond, a Temple of Terpischore, an overseas shower booth, and also booths for the sale of refreshments.

Extensive plans are being made for decoration, and the committees hope to repeat the success of last year.

The committees appointed are as follows: V. A. Sinclair, chairman; Mrs. Edwin Smith, vice-chairman; Mrs. John Law, secretary; Mrs. V. A. Sinclair, Mrs. E. I. Torrens, Mrs. (Dr.) Bennett, Mrs. W. C. Brown.

RESIDENT OF ST. MARYS FOR PAST 40 YEARS DIES

ST. MARYS, July 8.—One of the early settlers of the Stratford-St. Marys district, Mrs. Grace Chowen Crozier, widow of James Crozier, died after a short illness at the home of her son, George Crozier of Queen street east. Mrs. Crozier, who was in her 94th year, was born in Devonshire, England, in 1824, and came to Canada when eleven years of age with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Chowen. They located for a short time in Stratford and then moved to the township of Downie, where they took up farm land.

In 1850 she married the late James Crozier. After a residence of many years in Downie, Mr. Crozier retired and moved to St. Marys in the '70s, and for more than 40 years Mrs. Crozier has been a resident of the town, her husband having died several years ago.

There survive three sons and five daughters, William Henry of Chicago, George Frederick and Thomas A. of St. Marys; Mrs. James Baxter, St. Marys; Mrs. T. W. Allen, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. William H. Coleman, Pontiac, Mich.; Mrs. (Rev.) C. O'Meara, Munroe, Mich., and Mrs. (Rev.) F. C. O'Meara, Detroit.

FRENCH SHIPPING LOSS IS SLIGHTLY INCREASED

PARIS, July 7.—The losses among French merchant vessels due to submarines or mines during the week ending July 1, included four vessels of more than 1,600 tons, according to the official statement issued today. The list of ships under 1,600 tons is given likewise as four, with one rightfully belonging to the preceding week's report.

Submarines unsuccessfully attacked three merchantmen, it is reported, and no fishing boats were sunk.

Last week's report announced the loss of two vessels of more than 1,600 tons, and three of a less tonnage.

REOPEN COTTON EXCHANGE.

Paris, July 9.—Reopening of the cotton exchange at Havre has been authorized by a decree of the minister of commerce whose duty it will be generally to control operations in the trade and to apportion raw material to be supplied each manufacturer. The committee will sit in Paris, but it has delegated powers to an executive committee, which will fix daily prices on a basis supplied from Paris.

WALL STREET.

New York, July 9.—Wall Street, 1:30 p.m.—Industrials, especially equipments, gave way again in the nominal operations of the mid-session. Pressure upon Bethlehem Steel was most persistent at an extreme recession of 3½ points. Rails and other representative shares were listless.

ALL THE WAY FROM LOS ANGELES TO ENLIST IN CANADA

Winnett Brothers Visit Relatives Here On Way to Toronto.

UNDER THE OLD FLAG

Young Lawyer and Another Son of Londoner Wish To Serve Empire.

Prefering to fight under the British colors, rather than those of the United States, Earle and Wilfred Winnett of Los Angeles, California, are in the city today on their way to Toronto to enlist in the Canadian overseas forces.

The two young men, with their father Thomas B. Winnett, are the guests of J. H. Moran, 626 Wellington street, and although both are Canadians by birth, they have been residents of Los Angeles for a number of years.

Under the Maple Leaf.

"The boys did not wish to join the American army," Mr. Winnett, sen., explained, "but they thought they would rather fight under their own flag. They have not decided yet what branch of the service they will join, and they may go into the flying corps.

"Earle, the older son, wrote to Ottawa as soon as war broke out, applying for enlistment, but the reply came back that the Government had all the men required at that time. Ever since then both boys have been anxious to go, and I thought it would be better for them to enlist, where they would be among friends," said Mr. Winnett.

In Good Positions.

Both young men gave up good positions to come to Canada. Earle Winnett being a lawyer, and one of the youngest men ever admitted to the bar of the United States.

Mr. Winnett, sen., is a former Londoner, son of the late Henry Winnett, of Winnett & Sons' Boiler Works on the Hamilton road, and his brother, Henry Winnett, jun., is the owner of the Tecumseh House at the present time. Dr. Winnett of Toronto, is another brother.

Mr. Winnett, sen., states that there are many British and Canadians in Los Angeles, and that an average of 75 or 100 men leave every week for Vancouver to join the Canadian and British forces.

He noticed many improvements in London since he was here at the time of his father's death, fourteen years ago. The business portion of the city appeared much the same, he said, but the more outlying sections showed much improvement.

Mr. Winnett and his two sons will attend a gathering of the Winnett family at Springbank Park this afternoon, when it is expected that about forty people will be present.

FORMER LONDON PRIEST DIES AT BUFFALO, N. Y.; WAS CLEVER INVENTOR

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Buffalo, N. Y., July 9.—Rev. Phillip Majorana, aged 35, assistant to Rev. Charles A. Maxwell, pastor of St. Lucas Catholic Church, and who for two years was stationed in London, Ont., died early Sunday, after a brief illness of typhoid fever at this home here. Father Majorana was born in Caccamao, Italy, the son of Bitale and Maria Palepinto Majorana, who with his four sisters, survive. He was graduated from Royal University and Theological Seminary at Palermo, Italy, twelve years ago, and was ordained seven years ago. He came to America and for the first two years was stationed in London, from which city he went to Louisville, Ky., where he stayed for four years and seven months ago he came to Buffalo. Five years after he was ordained he taught at his alma mater in Palermo.

Deceased was highly trained in technical lines, and was inventor of no mean ability, having only last winter secured from Washington a patent on a phonograph.

ROGERS TO BE WITNESS BEFORE THE GALT PROBE AT TOMORROW'S SESSION

Montreal, July 9.—The McLeod-Tellier commission, appointed to consider the evidence submitted before Mr. Justice Galt in regard to the Manitoba Agricultural College scandal, will begin the taking of evidence in the court house here tomorrow. The first witness will likely be Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, who was criticized by Judge Galt in his report. The hearing will be public. Sir Ezekiel McLeod this morning denied a report from Ottawa to the effect that the Manitoba Government had refused to co-operate with the commission in the production of documents, because, it was stated in the report, "the commission was not acting in good faith."

"The Manitoba Government," said Sir Ezekiel, "has shown every desire to assist us in our work."

To Every Motorist In This Locality

What a Gallon of Gasoline and a Franklin Car Will Demonstrate on July 13

RIGHT NOW, there are two terms in the automobile business that are very conspicuous in advertising and sales talks. As a motorist, you probably know them—they are "efficiency" and "thrift".

Conditions of today permit no misunderstanding of these terms. A car is either efficient and thrifty—or it isn't.

For an automobile to be efficient, it must be right in design, construction and materials.

Then, and then only, does thrift follow. It tells its story in gasoline economy, which means efficiency throughout the car.

The first question of the experienced motorist considering an "economical" car is, "How far will it go on a gallon of gasoline?"

On Friday, July 13,, we and 200 other Franklin dealers throughout the United States, will answer that question with a Franklin stock car.

On that day we (and all other Franklin dealers) will put one gallon of commercial gasoline into a glass bottle, connect the bottle to the carburetor, start the car and see how far it will run.

It will not be a test of any one part of the car, but a convincing demonstration of the efficiency and thrift of the Franklin as a whole.

Regardless of weather and road conditions, we will make this run, under the supervision of two official observers—men well known locally—who will make affidavits as to the results.

Not only are we going to carry on this demonstration, but every Franklin dearer will likewise prove, on July 13, that the Franklin Car is scientifically right in design, construction and material—the fundamentals necessary in motor car construction to produce utmost efficiency and rock-bottom thrift.

This will be invaluable information for the motorist anxious to arrive at a tested-out standard by which to judge the efficiency and thrift of any motor car "claiming" these advantages.

The result we get, together with results of Franklin demonstrations throughout the United States, will be published July 14 and 15. It is an obligation you owe yourself and your purse to study these results and understand their true significance.

In the meanwhile, we suggest your looking over the Franklin at our showrooms, and have explained to you why the construction of the Franklin is fundamentally right—and has been for fifteen years.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER COMPANY, LIMITED.

London, Ont., Monday, July 9.

ADVERTISING CANADA.

CANADA is getting a tremendous amount of the best class of advertising in the United States, and this is being paid for by some 26 metropolitan newspapers of the Dominion, of which The London Advertiser is one. Every week whole pages of a magazine which is circulated from coast to coast are devoted to telling the manufacturers of the United States of the opportunities for extension of their business if they locate branches in this country, and advertise their wares thoroughly in the daily newspapers, which are, in this nation of newspaper readers, acknowledged to be, by all odds, the best advertising medium.

The copy supplied to the magazine for insertion is an example of what advertising ought to be. Each week it is replete with facts and figures which commend themselves to businessmen, being capable of proof on investigation. The population of Canada is not exaggerated; there is no temptation to that in telling of the opportunities on this side of the line, because the facts are so impressive. It is pointed out that the 8,000,000 people have much greater actual and potential buying power than their numbers indicate, because everyone is working and spending, and everyone reads a daily paper and makes his or her purchases largely on the advertisements read.

No scheme of advertising this country promises better than this one planned by the papers. It brings Canada's advantages before the people whom, above all others, it is desired to reach, and the co-operation of the papers shows teamwork, the spirit of which appeals to the man of big business. Already good results have been obtained, more than one flourishing industry having located here because of the facts presented to and read by its directors in the magazine pages. The Advertiser realized when it agreed to share the expense of the campaign that it would reap no direct financial benefit, but believed that Canada would gain, and that in time all would share in the prosperity. That was enough to persuade it, and it has no reason to regret its decision. If others can be led to share the faith this paper has in this magnificent land, there will be no limit to its progress.

PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM.

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that it cannot meet the demands for its goods, a Toronto manufacturing firm is using large space in the newspapers to impress upon the public the utility and quality of its product. It is a nationally-used article, made so by advertising, and so increased in popularity during the past two years that it became necessary to enlarge the plant. Again the capacity of the factory is overtaxed, and the company is doing more advertising than ever.

The manager of the company was asked the reason. His reply was simply that his firm was preparing for the future, wishing to make certain that the demand would continue after the war, when there would be greater competition from imported goods.

This is the kind of business organization upon which the future prosperity of Canada depends; it is the kind of organization which is going to help pay the country's war debts by keeping the wheels of industry going, and providing employment, when other institutions will be obliged to slacken down for lack of orders. It is exhibiting a practical patriotism which every business institution in the country should aim to copy. True, its employees are chiefly women, and therefore it is not handicapped by labor, but could, with abundant excuse, do as many other industries are doing, overlook the future in the prosperity of the present. It could plead lack of capacity for lack of vision, gather in the profits of today, and close down its plant when the dull day comes.

The question as to whether good times or dull times are to follow the war is puzzling hundreds of businessmen. The answer depends upon the effort now being made to create a demand for Canada's products.

CONSERVATION NOW.

THE CRY for greater production this year must now give place to something new and more applicable to the season, since almost all that can be done to increase production has been done, and the results are largely in the hands of the weatherman. Greater conservation perhaps would suit the occasion, and it is just as essential as more extensive growing.

Canada's food controller, Hon. W. J. Hanna, speaking in Toronto, laid special emphasis on the necessity of cutting down wheat consumption here and in the United States, in order that enough may be exported to Europe to supply the Allies. Wheat is most important, of course, being the main and almost sole ingredient of the staff of life, bread. We have been wont to look on white bread as a necessity, and not as a luxury; it will do us no harm to find it looming up as a luxury for a while, and will lead to greater appreciation of this article of food in future. There are alternatives to wheat, such as oats and corn, and corn bread may increase tremendously in popularity before the next twelve months have passed.

But there is one waste in Canada which increases year after year, and which strikes the immigrant as sinful—that is, the waste of apples. View the apple orchard on the average farm, when the crop is ripe, and you will see the grass beneath the trees thickly carpeted with the fruit in various stages of over-ripeness. The children use the apples as missiles to throw about; they take a bite and hurl the remainder away with as little thought as a European child would give to a stone. Surely in this year of need something will be done to save this valuable fruit and use it for food.

Domestic science experts are to be asked to help the food controller. They can do valuable service by teaching the growers how to preserve apples to keep over winter and to ship abroad, and the controller can assist by devising some plan for having all the fruit gathered.

It would be too much to say that there is enough food wasted in Canada to feed the nation, but it would be almost a pardonable exaggeration.

PUTS COUNTRY FIRST.

IT REMAINED for Sir Wilfrid Laurier to hasten the discussion of the conscription bill and chide, gently but firmly, two of the Government representatives, who have expressed so great a desire to have the measure rushed through quickly, for the delay and hindrance they were causing by personal disputes. The two who were rebuked were Premier Borden and his ex-minister of militia, Sir Sam Hughes.

Sir Sam accuses the premier of having ordered him to "slow up on recruiting," and the latter raises objections to the accusation, and explains his side of the story. While they are both anxious to speak, with increasing warmth, Sir Wilfrid arises to inform them that it is of no advantage to the House to witness a dispute of this kind, the only question of interest being the bill before the committee. The reproof was effective, and business was resumed.

Had Sir Wilfrid placed party advantage before patriotic duty, as his opponents are so fond of declaring he does, would he have placed any obstacle in the way of a continuance of this general quarrel between two leading Conservative members? Or would he have kept still and enjoyed this exhibition of the boasted unity of the Government forces? Party advantage all lay in the latter course.

If the leader of the Opposition had wished to gain personal prestige from the encounter, he would have waited until the two concerned had talked themselves hoarse, and would then have taken advantage of an opportunity to criticize them. He did not do this, his reason being that he cared more for getting on with the country's business and saving time than he did for party politics or personal glory. The nation should be grateful that there is a statesman of this type to exercise influence where it is so much needed.

A COMING INFLUENCE

HAVE THE laws of the country had a bias toward the male sex in the years that have gone? Has woman been "given the worst of it" when statutes framed to meet a conflict of the sexes were brought down by the makers of the laws? One knows that the father of a family has the prior claim to his children, and that in a contest in the courts the father usually gets the decision. How much of real justice there may be in such a law is a question. Primarily, it may be argued, such a law was put into force because the burden of support falls upon a father. But the absolute enforcement of the rule often takes the appearance of a law against women.

Oftentimes the father of a family may be incapable of support, yet may be given the prior claim to his children. Quite as frequently the other parent may be proven incapable, and it will happen in some cases that neither is fitted to be given the children, so that another person or institution may be the proper one to be awarded the custody of the children

Women are said to be the greatest sufferers in cases where men and women are involved, so far as morality is concerned. Time and again the female inmates of notorious houses are sent to jail, while the male frequenters are let off lightly.

Whether men have legislated for men or not would cause many a debate, but the fact remains that when women come to realize the power they possess in the ballot many a demand will be made for a change in the laws, and many a change will be made in the houses of parliament. The relation of the sexes so far as inheritance, child custody, and many other matters, will be vital matters for consideration, and women or candidates in sympathy with them will have a voice over the whole of Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

That report of a submarine off the Atlantic coast of Virginia is likely to be a fish story.

It is to be hoped Russia will be favored with warm weather for the "naked parade" near Odessa.

Better get into training by sampling coarser breadstuffs. White bread is soon going to be a luxury in Canada.

W. J. Hanna must not poke fun at the slowness of the Senate. It is a Tory body now, and therefore immune.

It will require more than official dispatches to the Spanish ambassador in Washington to persuade the world that the situation in Spain is normal.

The premier of New South Wales must have been nearer the front than some who have visited France, otherwise he would not have been bruised by a German shell.

Writing of his experiences in Germany, one man says: The law allows you to buy all the fish you want. The only real trouble about it is that there is none to be bought.

What would have happened to the French colonel who took it upon himself to give orders to the general's artillery if it had been a mistake? It's the result that counts.

I have cultivated the wor ld from Berlin to Bagdad.

THE FOG.

[By Elene Loeb.]

It was Elsa's first visit to her brother since the death of his wife and his subsequent removal to a distant city. Slowly she walked up and down the length of the railway station waiting-room, scrutinizing the face of each newcomer. Surely he had received the telegram advising him of her intended arrival, but for the twentieth times she glanced at the clock, which now audibly bore witness to the fact that she had waited exactly half an hour, and still there was no sign of Robert. The day had been dreary and misty, and night was now adding its black shroud to the gloom. Growing uneasy, the girl hastened to the nearest telephone booth, but after an interminable clicking of the hook, she finally elicited the information that the line was out of order. Hailing a taxi, Elsa ordered the driver to take her to her brother's address.

The fog was momentarily becoming heavier and was hanging like a pall over the entire city. Vague, shadowy forms moved on the sidewalks to dissolve, upon near approach, into men and women. The gongs of the trolley cars clanged incessantly, and every now and then the misty air was rent with the racous voice of a foghorn and the shrill shriek of an automoolle siren. Phantom lights gleamed diffully on the street corners, like glowing eyes striving to pierce the wall of fog. The taxi was creeping along at a snail's pace. Once or twice the chauffeur, with a muttered imprecation, got off to see the name of the street. At last he halted before a house, made sure of the number, and held the taxi door open.

"Here you are, lady—number 459," and a moment later he was sirening his way through the enveloping fog, while Elsa mounted the steps and pressed a firm finger on the bell. A middle-aged woman, evidently the housekeeper, answered the summons.

"Is Mr. Wilson in?" Elsa inquired.

"Mr. Wilson?" the woman echoed, and then after a slight pause, hardly perceptible to the waiting girl, "No, ma'am, he is out of town."

"Out of town? When did he go? Didn't he get my telegram? I'm his sister."

"I don't know anything about a telegram, ma'am. He went last night and won't be home before tomorrow evening. I think he said he would be home in time for dinner. But come right in, ma'am. The master often speaks of his sister."

Elsa was made comfortable for the night, and the next morning a peep out of the window showed the heavy fog being dissipated in a rosy mist as a big, red sun clambered above the horizon.

"Now, Mrs. Clark, I want flowers; lots of them. Red carnations, please; they are my brother's favorites. Then we'll plan tonight's dinner. I want you to have all my brother's favorite dishes, Mrs. Clark. And oh, Mrs. Clark, I have an idea! As long as my brother doesn't know I'm here, let us make a surprise out of it. Yes? Don't say a word about me when he comes in, but the minute he sits down to the table extinguish the lights and relight them the minute you hear my voice."

Late that afternoon Elsa turned her attention to her brother's room. A little grimace greeted the opening of the bureau drawers, and she immediately pulled them out, sat down on the floor with the drawers before her, and soon order reigned in place of chaos.

Dressing herself carefully, she came downstairs just in time to hide behind the draperies, as a key turned in the lock. Firm steps paused for a moment, then were heard going upstairs. When they came down again, Mrs. Clark hurried forward to greet her master.

"Don't forget the lights," a voice whispered to her as she passed.

As the man sat down, the dining-room was suddenly plunged into darkness, but before he could utter an exclamation there was the light swishing of feminine wear and a whiff of carnation scent greeted his nostrils just as a little soft hand was pressed firmly over his eyes and a pair of exquisite lips met his in a hearty kiss. Then a disguised voice called out, "Now, sir, guess who I am!"

At that moment the lights were switched on and fell full on the decidedly blonde head of the man. Instantly the girl's hand dropped to her side and she started back in astonishment. This man wasn't her brother—her brother had black hair!

"I thought you were my brother," Elsa stammered, as soon as she found her voice. The man had risen to his feet and tried to hide his amazement as he gazed at the fair vision confronting him.

"I am Wilson Fairbanks. I am afraid there is some mistake. Won't you sit down, please, and we'll surely straighten it out."

The girl's face blanched, and she interlocked her hands until the knuckles showed white. "I am Elsa Wilson. I came here last night from Detroit. I expected my brother, Robert Wilson, to meet me at the station, but evidently the telegram was miscarried and nobody was there. I called a taxi and the man brought me here. This is 459 Waterloo street, isn't it?"

The man's face cleared. "Waterloo street! That accounts for it. This is Cambridge street. Waterloo is the next street below. If you will allow me I'll take you there after dinner."

"Oh, no, thank you. I couldn't think of staying another minute. I really don't know how to apologize. It was a stupid blunder on account of the fog, I suppose, and——"

The man stopped her protestations. "The only apology I'll accept is that we go over for your brother and you both have dinner with me tonight."

In a few minutes they reached the brother's house. Upon investigation it developed that the servant had forgotten to deliver the message and it was even then lying on the mantel under the clock.

Robert Wilson thoroughly enjoyed his favorite dishes, but Elsa ate sparingly and with downcast eyes. Coffee was served in the library, and Mr. Fairbanks couldn't repress a low whistle as he viewed the change in that room. In the fireplace, which had heretofore been black and yawning, dancing flames leaped and sang as if for the sheer joy of existing. Masses of vivid carnations lent the required bit of color and scented the room with their spicy fragrance.

"I never knew this room could be so cheerful and homey," Mr. Fairbanks whispered to Elsa as he handed her coffee to her, "and almost gave the housekeeper credit for my orderly bureau drawers!"

The evening passed all too soon, for one at least. "Come to see us," Mr. Wilson invited as they were making their adieus.

Mr. Fairbanks looked at Elsa. "May I?" his eyes asked, and before the girl could withdraw her glance her eyes had flashed back the answer. The man lingered long over his final cigar that night, and the pictures he visualized must have been very pleasant ones judging by the smile that hovered around the corners of his mouth. Once he pressed his hand over his eyes in a manner strangely reminiscent of the way Elsa had done, and he said softly, "Blessed fog!"

At that very moment Elsa was smiling sleepily to herself and her lips formed the words, "Thank you, dear God, for the fog!"

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH CANADA?

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

A great big placard on G. Street, Washington, says: "Go to the Resorts of Canada, Our Nearest Ally." Someone has added underneath: "What Is the Matter With Canada?"

Just now it would appear that this is a most pertinent question. I have talked with many prominent public men, and many who visit Canada, and some who know the leaders of both political parties at Ottawa. They ask: "What will Canada do? Will she help, as she has up to now, with all her resources, to finish the war? Or will she flunk?" Lose what she has gained already by blood and treasure, and her high standing with the world's great nations.

Businessmen of high standing, newspapers, legislators and others are confused and speechless. They will not venture a guess at Canada's legislative attitude and its future effect toward the great war. One man last night asked: "Is Bourassa running Canada? Or is Canada in the grasp of any man or men, or influence, who have the power to dictate a legislative policy on conscription procedure which is likely to rent the Dominion in twain?

The eyes of the American people are upon Canada. They have read the threats and prophecies of some very prominent and advanced legislators. They ask, will Canada dare to repeat the awful mistake made by the United States from 1861 to 1865, plunged into the greatest civil war that ever deluged the earth. They say in the lights of events, we do not believe Canada will take a backward step, by defeating consistent conscriptive legislation. No, no! The eyes of all able-bodied, loyal Canadians must be forward, march! Canada is too great. Her future has too much at stake. Like the gladiators of old with sabre and helmet in hand, Canada must hold her position in the arena. Every man must stand shoulder to shoulder with the brave patriotic men now in France, and with all who have agreed to go.

Champ Clark, the speaker of the House of Congress, said in his 4th of July speech:

"From time immemorial orators, philosophers, statesmen and poets have exalted patriotism as the sublimest virtue. Centuries ago Horace sang: 'Dulce et decorum est pro patria mort.' (It is sweet and glorious to die for one's country). However that may be, it is sweet and glorious to live and work for one's country, and we can all do that much, and we ought to do nothing less."

A united, harmonious Canada must send her foremost statesmen regardless of political cast or affiliation, to the world's conference table, when the enemy is defeated, and that day will come as surely as Canada exists today as a nation. At that table will be determined the future fates of many nations. At that table will be decided the future course of the parliaments of the world.

At that table the dies will be cast to protect the lives and property rights of free-born men and women, no matter whether they are now ruled by republics, kings, emperors or tyrants.

Canada must be there by right of action and not by apology. Canada must put her signature to the world's new declamation of independence. Then the new empire, with all its boundless resources and its limitless territory, Canada with all other great nations, can unfurl her new banner and cast it to the breezes of all nations with the strong words, "Join us." Help make new homes for the millions of homeless. Help us garner the sheaves that will feed our own and those who need help in other lands. May Canada be well able to proclaim: We invite the desirable of all nations, kindreds and tongues to choose their future habitations with us. And by the sweat of your brows (for nothing is worth having that is not worth working for), you and your children will enjoy the fruits of your labor, under your own vines and fruit trees, none daring to molest or make you afraid.

Respectfully submitted,
W. H. MOORE,
Lambeth, Ont.

AS TO THE CONSCRIPTION BILL.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

After a stormy session the military service act has passed its second reading. The bill is now launched on its career, and after a month or two of parliamentary wrangle may actually find itself on the statute books. So much for the might is right policy of Sir Robert Borden. However, his Parliament is at its last gasp. Its death-rattle is now sweetly audible, and a general election cannot be delayed more than three months.

Then the issue will be clear-cut and decided. Will conscription be enforced or not? If Sir Wilfrid Laurier is elected premier there will be no conscription. The stillborn act will remain unexhumed on the statute books.

That this happy coincidence will be brought about, no one now doubts. Everywhere conscription is detested and denounced, except perhaps among a few survivors of a moribund Parliament.

Eyes are not needed to see that the compulsory service act cannot be enforced in Quebec. Judges and law courts, senators, knights and people are against it to a man. The question now arises, Will the rest of Canada accept it, and exempt Quebec? At present there are no indications of such a calamity. Parliament does not speak for Canada, and the oncoming election will decide the issue.

The favorite argument of conscriptionists is that Canada must not desert her sons at the front, but send immediate conscript reinforcements. Now, if no reinforcements were sent at all, Canada would not be deserting her sons at the front. All countries in the war from the start (except, possibly, England) have exhausted their reserve strength, and yet no one talks of Germany or France deserting their troops at the front. But in the colonies it has not come to that yet. Australia sends her gallant soldiers to the firing line, and finds able and copious reinforcements.

We could do just as well as Australia. Between the Nationalists in Quebec and their arch-enemies, the junkers of other provinces, Sir Robert Borden has muddled everything, and a friendly word in his ear would be that his only honorable course is to offer his resignation to the governor-general, with the entreaty that leadership should be placed in more capable hands.

Australia has decent government, and so can we. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is ready at hand. Since his noble stand on conscription, his star is once more ascendant in Quebec, and with his knife in Bourassa's heart he can voluntarily enroll from Quebec the army that not even he could conscript. C. C.

PROSPERITY.

It's easy to haul on the level,
A skid-road that's smooth as a floor;
You may have to work like the devil,
And pull till your shoulder is sore;
An' even a hill may not beat you,
A little upgrade now and then—
But there is a road that will test you,
The test of both horses and men.

An' that is the downgrade, my brother,
The place where you don't have to pull;
The easy road, somehow or other,
Is one that of trouble is full.
The road up the hill you can master,
The long haul that's level may beat,
But when things are pushin' you faster—
That's when you must keep on your feet.

Hard luck seldom conquers a feller,
A feller the regular kind;
But when you will quit, if you're yellah,
Is when things are shovin' behind.
Right then is the danger of ditchin',
Is when you are wantin' to run—
So brace yourself in the britchin'
An' keep in the middle, my son!
—Douglas Malloch, in the American Lumberman.

AN OLD PROPHESY

The kaiser is the man who started the war; Serbia is the country where the war started. There are six letters in each of these words, and if written together and divided evenly will also spell kaiser and Servia:

KAI | SER
SER | VIA

The greatest man in France is Joffre, the commander of the French, and the same rule applies as above:

JOF | FRE
FRE | NCH

Germany claims to be the most cultured nation in the world, and this super-culture is termed "kulture." Turkey has the least culture. Apply the same rule and we have:

KUL | TUR
TUR | KEY

If the word "kaiser" is written, each letter by the number of its place in the alphabet, and after these numbers is placed the significant number "six" (6), we have:

K—11—6—116
A— 1—6— 16
I — 9—6— 96
S —19—6—196
E— 5—6— 56
R—18—6—186

666, the kaiser's number.

When the kaiser started the war he was 55 years and 6 months old—666 months—which again fixes the kaiser's number. Having established this fact, it is interesting in reading Revelations 13: 4, 5 and 18. The forty and two months referred to in verse five equals 3½ years, and if prophecy comes true the kaiser's final fall in February, 1918, may be expected, as the war will then have lasted 3½ years.

THE HISTORY OF A LIFE.

Day dawned—within a curtained room,
Filled to faintness with perfume,
A lady lay at point of doom.

Day closed—a child had seen the light;
But for the lady, fair and bright,
She rested in undreaming night.

Spring rose—the lady's grave was green;
And near it oftentimes was seen
A gentle boy, with thoughtful mein.

Years fled—he wore a manly face,
And struggled in the world's rough race,
And won, at last, a lofty place.

And then—he died! Behold, before ye,
Humanity's poor sum and story;
Life—death—and all that is of glory.
—Proctor.

TWO NORSE SHIPS SUNK.

London, July 7.—The Norwegian steamers Havbris, of 987 tons, and Bjerko, of 1,872 tons, have been sunk, a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen reports. Fourteen members of the Bjerko's crew are missing.

Good Tubes Increase the Mileage of Tires

You have read of extra long mileages that other motorists have got from tires. You may be amongst the thousands of motorists who wonder why the same brand of tires goes farther for other men.

Allow us to give you a pointer.

Look to your tubes.

Good tubes—Goodyear Tubes—will get many extra miles from tires.

Because a poor tube, through slow leaks, causes under-inflation, the commonest enemy of tires.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes overcome this. Their exclusive method of manufacture insures air-tightness to the greatest possible degree.

For we take the highest quality rubber and roll it thin to transparency—so we can detect all flaws, sand holes, air bubbles. The inspected, perfect sheets are then built up, layer on layer, into a perfect, inseparable whole. This is the only right way to make tubes.

And we even vulcanize the valve patch, instead of merely sticking it on.

It is very much worth while, for the sake of your casings, and for longer tube service, to say "Goodyears" when you buy tubes.

A PAGE OF GENERAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

Attention, "Echo," Please.

Dear Miss Grey,—Some time ago one of your correspondents, "Echo" by name, offered to give a cure for indigestion to anyone who asked for it, and as I had a very dear friend a severe sufferer I at once applied for it, and I certainly was not sorry for doing so. But now is when my troubles have commenced. I was told yesterday in a very confidential way that "Echo" is going to publish the names of the ones who applied, in an advertisement before very long. Now, "Echo," if this is true I will ask you if you'll be kind enough to leave me out, and so's you will know who I am I will sign my initials. I don't know if he is going to print it in The Advertiser or not, but I earnestly hope not. However, I will not try to dictate to anyone unless it concerns me. Now, Miss Grey, I hope I have not bothered you too much, and try and print it as soon as you can, please. Yours sincerely,

MRS. R. M. K.

Ans.—Another Pageite whose name was sent to "Echo" re the cure, has written me in much the same strain as the above. I hope "Mrs. R. M. K.'s" letter is noted by "Echo," and acted upon accordingly. It would be ungentlemanly—to say the least—to publish names sent in confidence in such a way, without permission of the people concerned, and if the matter were pressed, "Echo" might have some damage suits on his hands. We will hope, however, to hear from "Echo" with the assurance that he contemplates no such move.

More Overseas Letters?

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again. Hope you are enjoying the best of health and all the readers the same. I like to read the letters on bringing up children.

Say, girls, aren't you getting letters from your soldier boys? Seems to me, there are very few soldiers' letters in print, considering the number of boys that have been adopted through our page. Send the letters along, girls. I am sure everyone is anxious to read them. For myself, I can't get the letter opened soon enough.

Do the readers know that old blankets (wool) when worn at both ends and properly patched with some material, half wool, and dyed, makes lovely quilts? I dyed one last week (a cardinal color). I am going to line it with dark flannelette and put an old sheet in between, and tie with purple yarn.

How are your gardens, folks? My potatoes are out in bloom. I have all the garden to attend myself this year. My husband is in Windsor. He gets two weeks' holidays the last of July, and he is coming home to help me pack up. We're going to move down there. It will be different than Lake Huron, I know, and I suppose I'll be a little lonely. We have lived here the eight years we've been married and in the same house all the time. Any way, we'll still take The Advertiser, and that will cheer me up if I get the blues. I had a nice card from "Aunt Nannie," saying she received the flower root I sent her.

Miss Grey, can you tell me what the inclosed it? My neighbor, a Scotch lady, told me to ask you. She said that in Scotland they picked stuff like that off the rocks, only it was a wine color. Do you suppose it fades? It gets twice the size by leaving in water for a few minutes.

Would you like a snapshot of my kiddies, Miss Grey? I sent some to my soldier boys.

"Engineer's Wife," where are you these days? Haven't seen a letter in print from you for a long time. I had a letter last week from Pte. J. S., in France, but sent it to my husband. I'll send it along some other time. Miss Grey, I know I am a lot of bother. Love to all.

S. E. B.

Ans.—It is nice to know that the "old family journal" will accompany you in your flitting from the Lake Huron home. And while you will likely feel lonely in a sense, yet with one's loved ones around, even a "strange garret" soon feels like home.

I do not know the name of the substance inclosed, but fancy it to be some sort of lichen or perhaps a water moss. It is very similar to the pretty growth used by dealers in the bowls of goldfish.

Now, would I like that picture? Of course, if you have an extra one handy.

Ideas Are Welcome.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am inclosing stamped envelope and notepaper, so would you please send me address of "Lonely One," and the address of "For the Allies." I think "Lonely One" was the western soldier who wrote to you, and in his letter mentioned his little home in the West. I would also send silk patches to "For the Allies."

May I visit you again? If so, I would send a few ideas about cooling, which I find very useful these days when we must practice economy.

Yours sincerely, MELBA.

Ans.—We will welcome all the ideas re cooking and economy that you can send along. So please don't hesitate! The addresses you ask for will be sent in your envelope.

Safety First.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you please send me the names of two lonely soldiers who have few friends to send them parcels; also the name of "Little Charley," sent in by "Mother of Six"?

2. What day did April 1, 1902, come on?

3. Someone sent in comic recitations for reciters. Could I have one, please?

Hoping you can make out my scrawl, I won't ask for your opinion of it since I believe in SAFETY FIRST.

P. S.—Please may I come again if I promise to bring help?

Ans.—Names have been sent you with pleasure.

2. A Tuesday.

3. Any recitations sent in are usually designated to some particular reader, but shall try to find one for you.

4. Yes, or if you need it!

Battery and Battalion.

Dear Miss Grey, I see where "All For the Allies" asked for information regarding the 149th Lambton's Own Battalion. They were in camp at Bramshott, Hants, England. Now they are in different regiments. Some of the boys have gone to France, others are in the 161st Canadian Infantry Battalion, Witley Camp, Surrey, England, and the rest of the boys are still at Bramshott in the 25th Canadian Reserve Battalion. The boys do not like to divide, but such is war. I am sending you the names of three boys in the 149th who do not receive many parcels, and who will be glad to receive some of Canada's good things, especially the tobacco. When sending parcels to England be sure and write battalion in full, as sometimes the parcels are sent to batteries when they are addressed "batt."

A NEW ONE.

Ans.—Thank you for information re 149th, and also the warning re battalion and battery. It is certainly an important part of the address and should be made plain. The addresses you send in will be supplied to some of our many inquirers at once.

The Lucky Months.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please give me the lucky and unlucky months to be married? I lost the paper they were in. I am a busy Red Cross worker. Hoping a prompt reply, as this is my first letter to your Mail-Box.

A NEW SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Two separate "versions" were given in the article to which you refer. They are reproduced herewith:

Married when the year is new,
He'll be loving, kind and true.

When February birds do mate,
You may wed, nor dread your fate.

If you wed when March winds blow,
Joy and sorrow both you'll show.

Marry in April when you can,
Joy for maiden and for man.

Marry in the month of May,
And you'll surely rue the day.

Marry when June roses blow,
Over land and sea you'll go.

They who in July do wed,
Must always labor for their bread.

Whoever wed in August be
Many a change is sure to see.

Marry in September's shine,
Your living will be rich and fine.

If in October you do marry,
Love will come, but riches tarry.

If you wed in bleak November,
Only joy will come, remember.

When December's snows fall fast,
Marry, and true love will last.

The second one is:

Married in January's hoar and rime,
Widowed you'll be before your prime.

Married in February's sleety weather,
Life you'll tread in tune together.

Married when March winds chill and roar,
Your home will be on a foreign shore.

Married 'neath April's changeful skies,
A checkered life before you lies.

Married when bees o'er May blossoms flit,
Strangers around your board will sit.

Married in month of roses—June—
Life will be one long honeymoon.

Married in July with flowers ablaze,
Bitter-sweet memories in after days.

Married in August's heat and drowse,
Lover and friend in your chosen spouse.

Married in golden September's glow,
Smooth and serene your life will flow.

Married when leaves in October thin,
Toil and hardship for you begin.

Married in veils of November mist,
Dame Fortune your wedding ring has kissed.

Married in days of December's cheer,
Love's star burns brighter from year to year.

Glad of Peace.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am so glad "Sweetheart Girl" got her wedding outfit so cheap. So dad gave her a little more money. It is an awful year for rain and sickness. I am so glad there is peace in the cosy Mail-Box at present. I can just picture the Mail-Box standing at the corner of a street, with a crowd of people in it. Will you please answer a few questions for me?

1. Will anyone be kind enough to lend me the words and music of "Keep the Home Fires Burning"? I can lend them the words of any other song.

2. What do you think of my writing, as I am twelve years old and in the Junior Fourth Class? Am I far enough advanced?

Well I will close with love and luck.

MRS. HOMEBIRD'S BIRDIE.

Ans.—Your request for song is referred. You write fairly well, and I should say you were progressing very nicely at school. Wonder if you really know "Mrs. Homebird," or are you just a "paper" admirer—like me?

Wants To Help.

Dear Miss Grey,—I find much pleasure in reading your page in The Advertiser. I read in the paper that "Scottie Frae Dundee" would like someone to write to him. Will you please send me his address, and another lonely one, too? I would like very much to cheer them up. I have no brothers to send over to help them do their bit, so this is a way I can do mine. Hope to hear from you soon. I am, yours sincerely, GERRY.

P. S.—This is my first appearance in your Page. Hope I may come again.

Ans.—Yes, indeed, "Gerry," for your heart appears to be in the right place. The names have been sent to you.

Wants "H. G.'s" Pieces.

Dear Miss Grey,—I noticed that "134th Highland Girl" will send anyone who recites two or three humorous poems and some pathetic ones, also "How Ruby Played." I would like very much to get these and am inclosing stamped envelope. Will you please let me know what I should do?

Thanking you, I remain ELSIE.

Ans.—Suppose we ask "Highland Girl" to send me copies of these pieces for you? I have "Elsie's" envelope all ready for them, "H. G."

SOME HINTS FOR SUMMER EATING

With the warm weather coming, meat becomes distasteful to most of us, and even though we may not desire to eliminate it from our dietary altogether, we are content to banish it at least in part. But, of course, while the system does not require as heavy food in the summer as in winter, a certain amount of nourishment is necessary to keep the body in good condition, and this duty falls to the housekeeper to plan the daily meals, without them becoming monotonous to the family. Housekeepers have long regarded these as an accessory to the diet only, and that it is indigestible and harmful. In many homes where cheese has been served as a substitute for meat, it has been done successfully. Housekeepers should regulate the menu, the same as though they were having meat, instead of vegetables. They should select fresh lettuce, celery or watercress. For dessert, fruits plain or in salad form are good. Just to read a menu of this kind seems healthy. It is not generally known that cheese has twice as much good value as beef, and that it contains 25 per cent more protein than a piece of beefsteak the same weight as itself.

Receipts quoted from the Pictorial Review:

Curried Cauliflower—1 cauliflower, 2 tablespoonfuls butter, 1 tablespoonful chopped onion, 2 teaspoonfuls flour, 1 teaspoonful chopped apple, ½ cupful milk, ½ cupful water, 1 teaspoonful curry-powder, salt. Boil the cauliflower in salted water, and when tender drain it thoroughly. For the curry sauce, melt the butter, cook in it the onion and apple, and stir in the curry-powder and flour. Add the milk and water, stir until boiling, season and pour over the cauliflower in the serving-dish.

Eggplant Croquettes—1 good-sized eggplant, 2 tablespoonfuls butter, 3 tablespoonfuls bread-crumbs, salt, pepper, grated nutmeg, 1 egg and bread-crumbs, for coating, frying fat. Let the eggplant cook until tender in boiling salted water, then drain, peel, and mash it finely, add the bread-crumbs, egg, butter and seasoning. Cool, form into croquettes, roll in beaten egg, then in stale bread-crumbs, and fry golden brown in smoking-hot fat. Serve with brown sauce or tomato sauce.

MARIAN KEITH,
Press Secretary.

"France's Day" is fast approaching. It will really be a very long day, much longer than the allotted eight working hours. For we remember that the sun never sets on the British Empire, and that all over that empire July 14 has been set apart for the assistance of our splendid ally. So when our fellow-Britons on the other side of the world are heaving a great sigh of relief and sitting down to count their spoils at the end of their July 14 campaign, we Ontario folk will just be rolling up our sleeves and starting out to gather in our "France's Day" harvest.

And we will be congratulating each other on the glorious sums we have collected just about the time when Australia will be rubbing her eys and starting in to work.

And so, on and on, "France's Day" will dawn round the Empire, and the great tide of love and generosity set going in England will roll round the world, and when it reaches France it will surely sweep away the terrible need that has been harassing her brave nurses and doctors and bring warmth and food and healing to her sick and wounded soldiers.

Let us all be ready to do our bit.

Nearly every woman is gathering up her sewing under one arm and a bundle of yarn under the other preparatory to starting off for her summer vacation. Let us remember that the lads in the trenches don't take holidays. And there is no heat comparable to the heat that beats down into the stifling, narrow pits where they are spending their summer. So there must be no idle hands this season, even though we should leave our homes for a little change. We must come back with such bundles of work as will lift the roof off Hyman Hall when it is all sent in. So, holidays or no holidays, we are all going to sew and knit all summer long.

On June 19 the London branch of the Red Cross shipped from Hyman Hall 7 boxes shirts (315), 7 boxes pyjamas (257), 1 box helpless shirts (59), 1 box dressing gowns (9), 1 box bed jackets (21), 4 boxes sheets (216), 3 boxes towels (900), 1 box mattress covers (15), 1 box small kit bags (48), 1 box day socks (144), 1 box comfort bags (36), 1 box kit bags (20), 1 box operating gowns (60), 1 box surgical towels (230), 1 box handkerchiefs (1,828), 2 boxes old linen.

On June 26 the Red Cross shipped from Hyman Hall as follows: 15 boxes shirts (675), 592 pyjamas, 10 dressing gowns, 260 sheets, 900 pillow slips, 1,863 towels, 30 mattress covers, 46 small kit bags, 26 comfort bags, 432 socks, 430 surgical pads, 96 surgical kits.

On the same date, from the same place, the C. W. C. A. shipped 294 day shirts, 1,507 towels, 2,157 pairs of socks, as well as candy, loaf sugar, coffee, cocoa, evaporated milk, soap, canned goods, gum, vaseline, scrapbooks—26 boxes in all.

RECIPES

CINNAMON APPLES.

Purchase 10 cents' worth small red cinnamon drops. To one cup candies add two cups water and boil. Peel and core four or five round apples and boil in the syrup until soft. Serve with whipped cream. This is a delicious and attractive dessert easily prepared.

RASPBERRY RICE PUDDING.

Put 1 cup rice in a double boiler with 1 quart fresh milk, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1 tablespoon butter. Cook until three-quarters cooked; then gently stir in two cups of raspberries. Put in tin and bake until done. Garnish the top with uncooked berries. Serve hot. This is inexpensive, and will serve six or eight persons.

SPAGHETTI WITH BREAD CRUMBS.

Prepare spaghetti the usual way. Boil in salted water 20 minutes; drain. Take 1 cup bread (grated) crumbs, fry until browned in bacon drippings; stir spaghetti gradually into this. Season with pepper, salt and serve hot.

PIGS IN BLANKET.

Take two pounds round steak, ½ pound salt pork or bacon, sliced, 1 large onion. Put into a saucepan about one-half cup bacon fat or other drippings; when hot, dice onion in. Have ready steak cut into squares with a piece of salt pork laid on top of each square, then roll together and hold in place with a toothpick. Put rolls into the hot fat and brown well on both sides; cover well with water and simmer slowly until tender. Thicken gravy with flour and serve hot.

BERKSHIRE SOUP.

Cook 1 onion in 2 tablespoons butter 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add ½ bay leaf, 12 pepper corns, and 2 tablespoons flour, and cook 2 minutes, then add 1 can tomatoes, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, and 2 cups boiling water and simmer 20 minutes. Add 1 can corn, cook 10 minutes and force through a puree strainer. Just before serving add 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten, and dilute with ¼ cup cream.

NEW YORK SHORT CAKE.

Mix whole berries with whites of two beaten eggs; serve on baked soda biscuits. This is easily prepared and attractive as the strawberries and egg mixture is a delicate shade of rose. Garnish with whole berries.

DELIGHT PUDDING.

Into a glass dish put a layer of grated pineapple, a layer of marshmallows cut fine, then a layer of sweetened strawberries; top with half a pint fresh cream whipped and sweetened. Garnish with ripe cherries or strawberries.

PEA SOUP.

When opening a can of peas drain off the juice, add one quart milk, a little piece of butter, season with salt and pepper, and heat.

STALE BREAD GRIDDLE CAKES.

Put 4 slices bread in a pan, cover with cold water, when soft drain and mash. Add 1 cup milk, 1 cake compressed yeast, 1 cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, and 1 egg. Let stand over night. Fry on hot griddle. Serve with butter and maple syrup.

"4th Battalion Soldier's Wife."

War Cake—Two cups raisins, 1 cup cold water, 1 cup lard, 2 cups brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg, pinch of salt. Put these on fire to boil ten minutes. Let cool and add 1 cup molasses, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in a teaspoon warm water, and 4 cups flour. Bake in medium heated oven. This makes a very nice cake and keeps moist.

Date Cake.—½ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 2½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup chopped dates, flavoring and dash of nutmeg.

Fudge Cake—1 egg, 1 cup brown sugar, ¼ cup butter, 1-3 cup sour milk, 1 large cup flour, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 1 small spoon baking soda; sift flour, cocoa and soda together.

Suffrage Cake.—2 eggs, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons baking powder, ½ cup milk, 1 tablespoon orange juice, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon grated rind. Beat eggs well, add sugar, melted butter, orange juice, grated rind, flour and baking powder. When baked, fill with orange cream.

Emma's Wedding Cake.—1 lb. flour, 1 lb. butter, 2 lbs. currants, 6 lbs. raisins, 1¼ lbs. dark brown sugar, ½ orange peel, 3 tablespoons cinnamon, 2 lb. lemon peel, 1 lb. citron peel, ½ lb. of nutmeg and 1 of allspice, 1 cup molasses, 12 eggs, 2 tablespoons mace, 1 tablespoon ginger, 1 dessertspoon cloves, 1 pint juice from preserved fruit. Bake slowly until a straw will come out clean. This cake will keep indefinitely.

IMPERIALS VS. TIGERS TONIGHT AT SARNIA

SARNIA, July 7.—The Imperials and Tigers are scheduled to furnish the thrills for Monday night's city league ball game in this city, and judging from the dope emanating from the camps of the contenders, one of the best contests of the season should result.

Stirred to a new determination by recent defeats, the Tigers have indulged in several strenuous workouts, and are in condition to take a fall out of the leaders, while on the other hand the Refinery nine are anxious to atone for their defeat at the hands of the Muellers on Thursday night last, and pick the Tiger outfit as suitable to work out their revenge. Moorehouse and Birmingham will take up the heavy end of the work for the Tigers, and Allan and Dore for the Oilmakers.

Says Dr. Cassell's Tablets Have Kept Him Fit Through Two Wars.

Sapper A. Hartley of the A Company, Canadian Engineers, whose home address is 906 Trafalgar street, London, Ontario, is one of many who have written in praise of Dr. Cassell's Tablets. He says: "As a constant user of Dr. Cassell's Tablets, I would like to add my testimony to their value. I used them when I was in the South African War, and, finding the benefit of them there, have taken them since whenever I felt rundown. I always recommend them, for I know that they do all that is claimed for them. In my opinion they are the best tonic anyone can take for loss of appetite, poorness of the blood, or general weakness of the system."

A free sample of Dr. Cassell's Tablets will be sent to you on receipt of 5 cents for mailing and packing. Address: Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Limited, 10 McCaul street, Toronto.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets are the surest home remedy for Dyspepsia, Kidney Trouble, Sleeplessness, Anaemia, Nervous Ailments, Nerve Paralysis, Palpitation, and Weakness in Children. Specially valuable for nursing mothers and during the critical periods of life. Sold by druggists and storekeepers throughout Canada. Prices: One tube, 50 cents; six tubes for the price of five. WELSH USES RING CRAFT UNTIL END

Props Self Against Rope to Avoid K.O.

A study of the conditions surrounding the dethronement of Freddie Welsh as lightweight champion convinces one that the Englishman was one of the greatest ring generals in the history of pugilism.

You no doubt have heard of other fighters who studied methods of blocking an opponent's best blow and countering in an unexpected manner, but did you ever hear of a fighter who had devised a means of preventing himself from being knocked to the floor, where a referee's count would mean his defeat?

That is what Freddie did, and he applied it against Benny Leonard. But Kid McPartland, the referee, did not wait for the champion to fall. He saw that Welsh was helplessly out on his feet, and stopped it.

It was the position Freddie took in Benny's corner that prevented the new champion from knocking him out. Although dazed and no doubt sensing that the end was near, he worked his way into a corner, which in this case was Benny's. There he braced himself against the post. The side ropes were directly under his arms, hence if he was hit on either side he wouldn't go down. Benny's punches were falling in front of him to keep him from falling forward, and the post was behind him to stop a backward tumble.

This is not to say that Welsh was robbed, for if ever a man was knocked out Welsh was. But it is chronicled to show just how the Englishman's wits were working even while in great distress.

Had Welsh been in the centre of the ring, or beyond reaching distance of the ropes, he would surely have gone to the floor. When McPartland stopped the bout Welsh was even further gone than ringsiders suspected. The referee lifted him off the ropes and started him toward his corner. The minute the champion's support was taken away he slipped forward on his face, completely spent. After giving the incident careful consideration, those who witnessed the knockout are convinced that Freddie was done for fully three-quarters of the time he was hanging helplessly on the ropes.

The new champion no doubt will hold his honors for a long time. At the present moment there is but one contender of any consequence, and he is Charles White of Chicago. When one considers how White threw away his chances at the title last summer in Colorado Springs, Benny Leonard stands head and shoulders above his division.

NEW YORK FANS CHEER McGRAW

Evidently the Giants' followers are still loyal to McGraw, in spite of his mix-up with the National League and the Baseball Writers' Association.

Before his first game, after reinstatement, McGraw was kept busy shaking hands with many of his friends. When he walked out to the coaching lines in the first inning the crowds jumped up, cheering and applauding. McGraw raised his cap and waved his hands in recognition of this remarkable display of friendship. When the game was over he had to endure more hand-shaking and back slapping.

PITCHER BAGBY HOLDS CHAMPIONS HELPLESS

CLEVELAND, July 8.—Cleveland defeated Boston today 1 to 0, making it two straight. Bagby allowed but four hits and issued no passes, only 30 batters facing him. Three of the hits off him were for extra bases, with only one out, but he steadied in each instance and prevented a score.

Cleveland scored its only run on Wambsganss' double, Chapman's sacrifice and Roth's single. It was Bagby's sixth shutout of the season.

NEW CLUB'S FIRST OPEN TOURNAMENT ON JULY 18

St. George's Bowlers of Brantford Have Interesting Card Arranged.

BRANTFORD, July 8.—One of the younger bowling clubs of Brant County, the St. George Club, will on July 18 hold its first open competition. At this tourney there will be 32 entries and four prizes will be awarded. Preston, Galt, Ayr, Brantford, Paris, Plattsville, Dundas, Copetown, Echo Place, Mount Pleasant, Sydenham and St. George will compete. The St. George Club carried off the Telephone City Trophy in the recent county tournament here. At Ayr this season it also carried off the first and second honors.

Ball Players Do Anything To Get Out of Bad Slumps

"Take a look at Steve O'Neill over there—he's smoking a cigarette."

"Wonder what's the matter with him?" inquired one of Lee Fohl's young ball players in Chicago recently.

"I'll find out," volunteered Ivan Howard, who returned in a few minutes with a smile on his face and said: "Steve's in a batting slump. He says he never smoked a cigarette in his life before, but when he's in a slump he'll try anything."

Batting slump—O, how the players dread to get into one! How they fight to overcome one! A batting slump is the one big bugaboo, the jinx that will get a man's goat, and some of the methods employed to regain the lost batting eye are as original as they are foolish, but most ball players have a certain amount of superstition in their make-up. A batting slump over, and in order to get rid of the jinx takes them in a mysterious manner, mysterious tactics are ofttimes employed.

Steve O'Neill isn't hitting. He felt that he must do something to change his luck, so instead of smoking a cigar after dinner he bums a cigarette. "I'll bet I get a hit tomorrow," Steve says between puffs.

Bobby Roth found the old jinx astride his back when the season opened. He simply could not get a safe hit, missing balls sometimes by a foot. He did everything he could think of in a frantic effort to shake off the jinx. Finally he decided he was trying too hard to work the opposing pitchers that it would be better to let the pitcher work on him. Bobby started hitting in his home town, Chicago, and is apparently his own self again.

There is really no cure for a batting slump. It overtakes a ball player just as hard luck hits a businessman. A slump usually departs just as mysteriously as it appears.

They Don't Have To Be in a Ball Game To Get Sore

Fred Mitchell, now manager of the Chicago Cubs, and Cy Seymour, former centre fielder of the Giants, were walking down the main street in Boston some years ago. Approaching them was a large, husky, determined looking man.

"I know that fellow; it's Yank Kenney, the prize fighter."

Seymour stuck out his hand, when they met. "How are you, Mr. Kenney?" he beamed. "Let me introduce Mr. Mitchell. I met you once, you may remember. It was at Doyle's place on Broadway."

Yank paused in reflection. "Seems as if I place your face all right, but can't recall your name," he replied. "I was at Doyle's once, but the only guy I met there was a ball player with the Giants. He is in the insane asylum now"

"What was his name, do you remember?" asked Mitchell.

Kenney shook his head.

"Was it Donlin? Bresnahan? McGinnity? Bridwell? Gilbert? Wiltse?"

Kenney kept shaking his head.

"Ah, I know—Smith? No? Was it Strang? No? Seymour?"

"That's it!" almost shouted Yank. "It was a bird named Seymour."

Cy's eyes flashed. "Oh, is that so?" he snapped. "Well, who told you that you could box? I think you're the worst fighter I ever saw in a ring?"

The next moment citizens of Boston were amazed to see a tall, slender, athletic-looking party sprinting down the street with a large husky, determined-looking man in pursuit.

Fred Mitchell tells one on Seymour when they were traveling together on the same ball club. The team had one sleeper and a part of another. Mitchell and Cy had lowers in the latter car. Just before the train left the station a handsome woman came in and showed her ticket to the porter. It was Upper 2.

Seymour had Lower 2 and Mitchell Lower 1.

Cy gallantly offered to exchange with the woman. "Oh, I don't mind a bit," he insisted, when the woman tried to refuse. "It would be a shame to have you take an upper when a strong, healthy fellow like you can humble servant took a lower.

The woman finally accepted, with thanks.

Three hours later Seymour's voice could be heard calling out to Mitchell. Everybody in the car was startled. "Hey, Mitch, do you hear that ticking? Somebody's got a clock that sounds like a gong."

Silence for a few minutes. Then: "Mitch, they've ducked the ticks."

Another short pause. "I say, Mitch, the ticks have stopped all right."

Next morning, when the dining car porter came through the car shouting last call for breakfast, the woman asked Mitchell if he had the correct time. Then it was learned that she had a habit of placing a large clock on the window-sill every night she traveled, so she could see the time instantly.

When Seymour had started calling in the night, she had shoved the clock under the mattress, and it had stopped. For nearly a month Cy heard a much about clocks that he couldn't pass a jewelry store without shuddering.

Johnny Evers has always been noted for his gameness and nerve. He has had more than his share of sorrow, sickness and trouble. Even now he is battling hard on the ball field, giving all he has when the exertion is painful to him.

His left arm has wasted away, after a long attack of neuritis, and only on hot days does it cease giving him trouble. When the Bostons were in Chicago, the mercury hovered around 60, and it was cold and bitter on the field.

Evers kept playing, smiling and kidding his mates and rivals, as though he hadn't a worry in the world. A game fellow is Evers.

RAIN PUTS A STOP TO SATURDAY SPORT

Thursday used to be considered Jonah Day by the sport-loving public of London, but it has been changed to Saturday, as the result of the weepy days that have been handed out by the weatherman on the last day of the week.

Bowling and baseball scheduled for Saturday had to be called off. It was the second time that the Woodstock team billed to appear had to stay home on account of the weather.

Manager Dinsmore will endeavor to bring Rube Deneau's Windsor team here this Saturday. Rube needs no introduction to London fans, nor does old Cy Reidy, who also wore a London uniform in the days of the Canadian League, and who is playing ball this year for the Rube.

BRILLIANT RECORD MADE BY SCHUPP

Ferdie Schupp, the brilliant left-handed pitcher of the New York Giants, must start a new string of victories.

After winning eight straight games this year, and thirteen out of the last fifteen pitched, he came a cropper in Philadelphia. Following is his record:

1916—	Team	ER	H	IP	SO	SB

Games, 17; won 13, lost 2, tie 1.

(*) Lost to Jack Coombs at Ebbets Field by a score of 2 to 0. Schupp pitched the first seven innings, the Robins scoring a run in the fourth on Fletcher's error. Anderson replaced him, and the Robins scored the other run in the eighth.

(†) Pitched a 14-inning tie game against Larry Cheney of the Robins at the Polo Grounds.

Lost to Philadelphia on June 23.

LONDONS AND THISTLES WILL BOWL TONIGHT

The Thistle and London Rowing Clubs will stage their usual Monday night program tonight. Members are advised to phone their entries in early. Bowling will start at 7:15.

LEAF AVERAGES

TORONTO, July 8.—The Leafs have played ten games since the averages were published one week ago. This week's table shows that Manager Lajoie and George Whiteman are keeping up to their high standard. Manager Larry added two points to his mark of a week ago, and Whiteman tacked on six points. Whiteman is the leading run-scorer on the club with 57. Jacobson holds second place in this respect with 49.

Lena Blackburne did some healthy clouting during the week and boosted his average by 58 points. He was the biggest climber in the ten games. Lalonge was only in three games, so his climb is not so noteworthy. Altenberg and Schultz slipped back a trifle, but are both hitting in timely fashion. Jacobson continues to steadily improve, and is now one of the most reliable clouters on the club.

The averages, including Friday's game, are as follows:

Player.	G.	A.	B.	R.	H.	Av.	Last Wk.
Wagihop	11	36	8	14	.386	.409

RAIN POSTPONES GAMES.

KITCHENER, July 8.—A heavy downpour of rain prevented the playing of the regular scheduled games in the city baseball league. A big picnic arranged for by the Commercial Travelers' Association had also to be postponed.

JUNE 30 HEAVY RUN-MAKING DAY

Wholesale scoring took place in the two big leagues June 30. The Athletics excelled all others in multitudinous trips to the plate. They made 22 runs in their double-header with Washington.

American League teams tallied 74 runs and National League teams 50 runs, making the enormous total of 124 markers for a single day. The St. Louis team of the National League was the only team not to score at least one run.

WILLARD EAGER TO LEAVE RING

Circus Demands Champion's Attention and Game Loses Glamor.

NEW YORK, July 8. — Apparently a full-grown riot has been started in the firm of Jess Willard, Tom Jones and Jack Curley, engaged in the lucrative business of commercializing the heavyweight championship of the world. Before the end is reached it seems as if both sides will have brought into action legal guns. It's been some time since Willard has had a fight—fifteen months to be exact—but it looks as if he has a heated squabble on his hands now.

It is reported that Willard has been dissatisfied with the way Jones and Curley have been handling his affairs. He is quoted as having said that they didn't get enough work for him to do. When he purchased a circus several weeks ago, he decided that he didn't have any more use for a couple of managers, and evidently determined to join the now popular sport of repudiation and repudiate his contract with Jones and Curley.

It seems that just as soon as Jones found out how the wind was blowing he immediately opened negotiations with Willard to box Fred Fulton and consummated some motion picture contracts for the champion. Curley has stated that he and Jones are determined to make Willard live up to these arrangements, and that as their contract with the champion does not expire until September 15th of this year, and they will bring action against him for heavy damages in case he proves obdurate and refuses to sanction the arrangements made for him. All of which has given rise to the rumor that Willard has definitely decided to retire from the ring; that he reached this decision at the same time that he decided to buy the circus.

It seems now that Jess has saddled himself with a business that will demand much personal attention at all times during the season, and it will be impossible for him to devote any time or serious consideration to a prospective fight, even though it be but a ten-round exhibition bout.

May Come Jess Back.

There is a remote possibility that once the circus season ends Jess may be coaxed into the ring by a big purse, but certain it is that it will have to be big bait to get him. From now on his demands will probably be more unreasonable than ever. It is hardly likely that he will consider anything less than $50,000, win, lose or draw, for his end, and there is no opponent within immediate range who looms up a strong enough contender for the heavyweight championship to warrant promoters entering the bidding for a bout when the champion's demands amount to more than the prospective receipts.

With a circus on his hands it stands to reason that Jess will have very little time to devote to other matters. All of his efforts will undoubtedly be concentrated in the circus business. It is understood that he has invested quite a sum of money in the venture and he is enough of a businessman to appreciate the fact that he must apply himself to make a go of a circus. Even though he has experienced men to assist him, it is nevertheless true that when a man invests big money in a venture he likes to be on the job to see how things are being conducted.

If he finds that his drawing powers are being affected by his inactivity in the ring, he may decide to engage in a short bout in an effort to build up his waning prestige. However, it has been known for some time that Willard has been anxious to get away from the fighting game. He has lost its glamor so far as he is concerned, and as long as the circus is doing good business the chances are that he will content himself with looking after his newly-acquired business.

McGRAW'S WALLOP COSTS HIM MONEY

Because of a National League rule which prohibits club owners from paying the salary of a player under suspension, the wallop John McGraw took at Bill Bryan in Cincinnati recently was a mighty costly one for the Giant leader.

A scribe has it figured that with his fine of $500, McGraw is out just $3,166.56 as a result of letting his temper get away with his better judgment. This amount, with the fine included, represents the pro rata salary for the period of suspension.

ORIENTS WHITEWASH MANHATTANS SATURDAY

The Orients blanked the Manhattans Saturday afternoon at Springbank, the score being 9—0. Hank Downs held the "Hats" helpless, the champions of the first series of the Inter-Club League getting but three hits off his delivery.

Harris, Churchill, Templeman and Wright all did good stick work for the winners. The score:

AGE LIMIT MAY BE THIRTY-FIVE FOR MILITARY SERVICE

Also Minimum May Be Raised to Twenty-one.

SUGGESTION OF LIBERALS

Laurier, Pardee and Ross Urge Changes in Conscription Measure.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 8.—There are likely to be changes in the conscription bill. Suggestions from the Opposition were made on Saturday when the bill was in committee, that the age limit for taking men should be reduced from 45 to 35 years, that unmarried men and widowers without dependents should be the first called and that the minimum age shall be raised from 20 to 21 years.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier suggested the 35-year maximum; Chief Liberal Whip Pardee that the unmarried and widowers should be first called, and Duncan C. Ross that the conscript must have attained his majority before being called.

There was a good representation of members for the first Saturday sitting, and the bill was given close attention.

Sir Tom Vs. Sir Sam.

Sir Thomas White was not in Parliament on Friday when Gen. Hughes charged that the finance minister had interfered to slow down recruiting. Saturday Sir Thomas read the Hansard statements of the former minister of militia, and characterized them as "fiction, pure and simple. It is wholly and absolutely untrue in every particular, it has not the slightest foundation in substance or fact. No such conversation ever did take place or ever could take place, for it is entirely at variance with my views and official conduct."

Gen. Hughes was not in the chamber so there was no come-back. The finance minister read a letter he wrote in February, 1916, to the Sawyer-Massey Company of Hamilton, which declared that there was paramount need for men. Though there was need for skilled workmen in steel, coal, munitions and agriculture, he had always favored the country putting forth the utmost effort to stimulate recruiting. However, he held that some skilled men could give as good or better service in Canada as at the front and, therefore, favored the present bill.

May Purchase Discharge.

On the consideration of the preamble of the bill Sir Wilfrid said that in the compulsory provisions of the militia act a man was allowed to purchase his discharge for $15, and that the Government had increased the discharge price since war began to $50. He asked if this was not a discrimination against the poor. Premier Borden and Hon. M. Meighen said that the Government had been actuated by no such intention. The solicitor-general declared that there were certain conditions under which it seemed proper that a man should be allowed to purchase discharge, but this was not a matter of right.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier held that the bill should clearly show that the rich should not be allowed exemption from service, and the prime minister promised to consider some form of amendment to this effect.

Unfair to British-Born.

It was explained that the words in the bill "every male British subject," meant both those born British or naturalized. Hon. Mr. Lemieux said that this placed the naturalized Britishers in an unfair position, as Sir Thomas White and R. B. Bennett, director of national service, stated that naturalized British subjects were to be denied the right of voting under the proposed franchise act. "They are to be forced to fight, but not permitted to vote," Mr. Lemieux said.

"The subject of a franchise bill has not been under the consideration of the Government," said the prime minister.

"Will not be?" asked Sir Wilfrid.

"Has not been," answered the prime minister.

Kitchener on Age Limit.

In contending that the maximum age for conscripts should not be beyond 35, Sir Wilfrid quoted the opinion of Lord Kitchener that in present day fighting conditions are so severe that in only exceptional cases were men above 35 able to endure them.

"It is an open question whether we should go as high as 45," answered the prime minister. "It was thought best to leave it in its present form, but at one time during the preparation and drafting of the bill I myself made the very suggestion my right honorable friend now takes. The answer given me was that there was little possibility of reaching men of 45 years.

Get After Fleeing Ones.

Hon. Charles Murphy asked if there could not be some arrangement, in fairness to young men that remained, to reach those that had left or were leaving the country to avoid conscription.

"An order-in-council has been passed to regulate any departures from the country from the time of the introduction of this bill," said the premier. "As to those who left for the United States previously I may say that we are in touch with the United States Government and the subject has been discussed. There will be no announcement pending the passing of this bill."

To Hon. Mr. Lemieux, the premier stated that there had already been preliminary steps in preparation for demobilization after the war.

Consider New Suggestions.

The premier agreed to stand over clause three of the bill to consider the contention of Duncan Ross that a man should not be conscripted to fight until they had reached the age of 21, when they were entitled to vote, and held that all the responsibilities of citizenship; also the suggestion of Mr. Pardee that single men should be first taken.

Hon. Mr. Marcil wanted to know if under conscription men could choose the arm of service in which they would go. The solicitor-general said that each man would have to go where he was placed. He told Mr. Sinclair that regulations would provide for the rounding up of the men who failed to respond to the call of the conscription act.

TORONTO MAY HAVE TO WALK.

Toronto, July 8.—It was decided at a mass meeting of the Toronto street railway employees that an ultimatum be served tomorrow morning on the company that a walkout will take place at midnight Tuesday unless the demands of the men are met, in spite of the provisions of the act, but it is expected that further negotiations will take place, and that an amicable settlement will be arrived at.

LVOFF OPTIMISTIC.

Petrograd, July 7—(Delayed).—A staff correspondent of the Associated Press was received this morning by Prince Lvoff, premier and minister of the interior, who made a statement on Russia's part in the war; internal and diplomatic problems and the influence of the revolution and the war on world problems.

Prince Lvoff declared his unshaken optimism that, despite grave difficulties to be faced, Russia is marching towards reconstruction and stability, and that the war is developing towards victory.

WILSON PUTS LID ON FOOD EXPORTS FROM JULY FIRST

Lends Color to Rumored Sixty-Day Embargo.

PUTS SCREW ON ENEMY

Will See to Home Needs First, Then Actual Needs of Allies and Neutrals.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Government control of American exports, authorized in a provision of the espionage act, was put into operation "July 15" by President Wilson tonight by the issuance of a proclamation requiring the licensing of all shipments to foreign countries of the most important commodities.

The commodities named in the list put under Government control are coal, coke, fuel, oils, kerosene and gasoline, including bunkers, food grains, meal, fodder and feeds, meats and fats, pig iron, steel billets, ship plates and structural shapes, scrap iron, and scrap steel; ferro manganese, fertilizers, arms, ammunition and explosives.

The inclusion of foodstuffs in the proclamation lends color to statements that the administration is considering the advisability of a complete embargo for sixty days on all food shipments to give the country time to ascertain the amount of its supplies and to give Allied and neutral countries an opportunity to present a full program of their requirements.

Officials Are Alarmed.

The president, in his statement, said the Government was trying first to ameliorate present food conditions and conditions that are expected to arise between now and the next harvest. Many officials, alarmed at the wheat shortage and the heavy drain the Allies and neutrals are making on every kind of American food supplies, are urging an immediate embargo on food shipments.

Through control of coal and fuels the Government intends to take a firm grasp on shipping. An arrangement under negotiation will give the American and British Governments control of not only all Allied tonnage, but of neutral vessels as well. Ships now on runs not regarded as necessary to a successful conduct of the war, will be forced into trades considered more essential and vessels now held in port through fear of submarine attack will be required to go into service.

Steel Shortage Threatened.

Control of iron and steel was made necessary by war demands on the iron and steel industries. A shortage of steel in this country is threatened because of the large amount that is being diverted to munitions manufacture and the consolidation of the country's merchant fleet.

Specific regulations governing food exports and shipment of other commodities named in today's list are expected to be issued by the president within a few days. Even if a complete embargo is not placed on food exports for a time it is known many restrictions will be made. The exports council, comprising three cabinet members and the food administrator, are drawing up a program to be submitted to the president immediately.

ORANGEMEN OF PERTH PLAN BIG PARADE AT STRATFORD THURSDAY

78 Lodges Will Gather on the Glorious Twelfth.

STRATFORD, July 8.—Avon River was the scene of an unusual sight this afternoon when local Pentecostalists, a religious sect, conducted a public baptism. Seven women and four men were immersed.

The service took place at the bathing beach and was witnessed by hundreds of people.

Orangemen from Stratford district will gather in large numbers here for the annual walk on Thursday next. Elaborate preparations are under way for the celebration of the Glorious Twelfth. In the territory which has signified its intention of joining in the celebration, North and South Perth and South Huron, there are upwards of 78 lodges. The greater number of these are expected, together with a large number of bands.

Local speakers are being secured, and if the sessional duties at Ottawa will permit, H. B. Morphy, M.P., deputy grand master of British North America, has given his promise to be present.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

STRATFORD, July 8.—On Sunday members of Avon and Romeo Oddfellows Lodges united in their annual decoration services.

At the cemetery the service took place in front of the beautiful Odd fellows monument. Rev. Finlay Mathieson of St. Andrew's Church spoke.

Rev. Frank Malinsky today preached his farewell sermons at St. Peter's Lutheran church. He leaves shortly for his new pastorate in Bruce county.

Rev. Dr. Martin of Knox church conducted anniversary services at Motherwell, and his pulpit was taken by Rev. G. F. Atkinson.

Members of the local Orange lodges attended divine service at St. James' and St. Paul's churches. The lodges had a joint service at St. James' in the morning and the juniors went to St. Paul's in the evening.

WONDERFUL RUN MADE BY A FRANKLIN CAR

Ran Thirty-Three and Six-Tenth Miles On Gallon of Gasoline.

The high cost of gasoline is the worry of practically every automobile owner during these strenuous days. It has been steadily climbing and promises to go even higher. One factor that is doing a great deal to solve this problem is the Franklin automobile and its wonderful performance on less gasoline than any other car.

The great body of motorists is alive to the fact that there should be no reason why automobiles should not "do their bit" in conserving national resources, as well as the men and women of America. As an economic factor in this country's life, the automobile holds a position comparable to the railroads; in fact, statistics show that automobiles carry more people than the railroads. It is only natural, then, that the striving for efficiency should extend to such an important cog in everyday life.

Last Friday, July 6, Mr. Fred Mitchell of the London Engine Supplies Company, local Franklin dealer, held a practical demonstration in this territory over all kinds of roads. The results were wonderful. A Franklin car, driven by Mr. F. B. Mitchell and carrying Messrs. C. Walters and A. Sims, made the trial run. Gasoline showing a sixty-two test was used. One gallon of this gasoline was put in a glass jar on the side of the car, and fed into the engine. On this one gallon the car ran thirty-three and six-tenths of a mile. This was only a trial test and demonstration for London and vicinity. Next Friday, July 13, over 200 Franklin cars will make an official test all over the United States and Canada, and Mr. Mitchell is quite confident that these tests will prove the wonderful efficiency of the Franklin car in saving gasoline, even more than the trial test of last week. Announcements will be made in the papers next week of the results obtained in the tests. b

TENNESSEE RUBY, WEDDED 5 TIMES, BACK TO THE U.S.A.

Fifth Husband Advises Her To Secure a Divorce.

HE IS KEPT IN JAIL

Star-Gazing Party at Carling Heights Is Broken Up by Police.

Mac Harbin and his wife, Ruby, appeared in police court today for sentence, each having pleaded at their trials ten days ago to having violated the Canadian immigration laws by entering the Dominion by stealth after having been deported.

Ruby, whose childhood home is in Tennessee, married Mac Harbin, a former member of the Cyclist Corps, he being her fifth venture in the matrimonial field. She was remanded to jail for 15 days to permit the immigration authorities to make arrangements for her deportation.

Tells Her To Get Divorce.

At the expiration of that time, Ruby will return to the land of the Stars and Stripes, with a warning never to return. According to letters in the hands of Immigration Inspector Reynolds, Ruby's fifth love has not been as free from thorns and brambles as it might have been. One of the letters from husband No. 5 requests her to sue for divorce, but she has not yet decided what she will do on that score.

Mac, her soldier-husband, was remanded to jail for two months in order to allow information to be gathered concerning a prison record he is alleged to possess in the States.

Cannot Be Soldier.

It is claimed that he was sentenced to Louisville Prison for from 10 to 20 years when convicted of grand larceny. Information recently received by the immigration authorities is to the effect that he was paroled and then came to Canada and enlisted. Major Osborne, on behalf of the military authorities, stated that Harbin would under no consideration be taken on the strength again.

He will be deported and likely sent back to the prison to complete his term.

A girl, who pleaded guilty to vagrancy a week ago, will also get a ride across the Detroit River at the end of 21 days. Her parents, who reside in Pontiac, Mich., wrote Chief Williams that they would try and direct her course in the straight and narrow path if arrangements could be made to get her home again.

Star Gazing on the Heights.

Two Indian women, one married, and the other a maiden of less than 18 summers, confessed that they had visited with two soldier companions up at Carling Heights until 3:30 o'clock this morning, when an unfeeling patrolman broke up the party and had all brought to the police station. The soldiers were handed over for the military authorities to deal with. The young women were allowed to go on suspended sentence after both were found guilty of vagrancy. Their counsel argued that the whole affair was an innocent star-gazing contest. The girl from Moraviantown will be sent back to the parental wigwam there, although she objected, claiming that things were "too slow at Moraviantown."

R. Ward, a traveling representative of a New York firm, pleaded guilty to a breach of section 41 of the Ontario temperance act and paid $200 and costs. He was staying at a local hotel, and while out walking with one of the waitresses on Sunday evening produced a small flask, from which the two had fair-sized nips. The unfortunate part of the affair was a patrolman, standing in a doorway a few feet away. He seized the bottle and brought both to the station.

ONLY ONE ENTITLED TO WORLD POWER

All Power Given Unto Christ and No Other, Says Minister.

"This is probably the most sweeping and far-reaching post-resurrection claim made by Christ," said the Rev. Jas. H. Boyd in Adelaide Street Baptist Church last night in opening his discourse upon "After the War Problems." The sermon was based upon the words, "All power is given unto me in heaven and on earth."

"During his ministry Christ claimed and made good his claim to have power over disease and sin, the forces of evil, and even death itself, but this claim transcends them all in that it claims absolute power over the whole universe of God. It is a tremendous claim and one that he only, conscious of who he was, would dare to make. Others have aspired to absolute power and rule on earth, and have deluged it again and again with blood and impoverished the nations to obtain it, only to find when the prize seemed to be within their grasp that another had arisen to prevent them securing it. On the plain of Waterloo the power of Napoleon was forever broken, and Europe got rid of its great dictator. Three years ago a new power arose and challenged the nations, claiming not only a right to a place in the sun, but world-wide dominion. That claim is being disputed, and will be defeated, for there is only One entitled to world-wide dominion, and that is Christ."

Referring to an article which appeared during the past week in one of our provincial papers, entitled "Great Achievements," the preacher said: "Of a truth great economical, social, industrial, political, moral, spiritual problems will confront us when the war is over, the two latter being the chief. The question for us is, will Christ be able to meet and solve these problems? Do you know the moral and spiritual conditions that existed when Christ began his ministry in Palestine?" asked the preacher. "Do you know the condition of the world when Christ said, 'All power is given unto me?' Do you know the history of the world and the church during the last nineteen centuries? Then you must know that every problem of a moral and spiritual character has been solved when the principles laid down by Christ have been obeyed. If those principles had been obeyed there would be no war today. To those principles we owe our factory acts, which protect our women and children. To those principles we owe the abolition of the slave traffic, the liquor traffic and other evils, and I am persuaded that as in the past, so in the future, no problem can, or will, arise that Christ shall not be able to solve." Quoting again from the article, the preacher concluded: "Christ is first of all a great redeemer, and when he redeems he regenerates, renovates and reconstructs. Then comes transformation, first of the individual, and then of the community. Truly, 'there is nothing too hard for the Lord.'"

Gen. Turner Prays Conscription Will Come; Men Needed

OTTAWA, July 8.—The Government has given out for publication the following extract from a letter written by General Turner to Sir Robert Borden:

"For the sake of the men at the front I hope the conscription bill will succeed. Reinforcements will be required by the autumn."

PASSES AERIAL EXAMS.

KINGSVILLE, July 8.—Russell Jenner, son of Dr. Jenner, who recently enlisted with the Aviation Corps at Toronto, has been successful in passing his examination.

Financial, Market and Commercial Section

THE LOCAL MARKET

Strawberries were in considerable abundance on the market today, but remained stationary in price, selling at 13c to 15c retail. They are not of the very best flavor as yet on account of the rainy weather, but are large, and with a few sunny days are expected to become of a first-rate, all-round quality.

Tomorrow will probably see the strawberry in perfection, but it is doubtful whether the price will come down lower than 12c per box during the whole berry season.

No home-grown potatoes are on the local market yet. The imported variety sell readily at $2.50 per bag, but are of poor quality, some of the more expensive spuds are very good, however.

A few gooseberries were offered at 13c per quart, but fruit, on the whole, is very backward this season, being about a month behind the usual market period.

Oats were scarce and firm. Hay advanced 50c in price, selling now at $10 to $11.50 per ton. The majority of the farmers will sell their hay the latter part of the week, when it is in a condition to be of the best value.

Dairy produce was stationary, eggs calling for 35c per dozen, and butter being on demand at 42c per pound.

Vegetables sold practically at unchanged prices. New cabbages bring 10c per head; green onions 5c per bunch; radishes two bunches for 5c; asparagus 10c per bunch; cucumbers 10c to 15c each, and lettuce 5c to 7c per head.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, July 9.—During the early hours on the stock exchange dealers were occupied with discussing the air raids. Business later was chiefly in oil and explosive shares, and gilt-edged securities at steady prices, with the tone generally good. Rubbers and Mexican shares improved in the afternoon, but provincial dealing was affected by interruptions to communications. American securities were dull.

WALL STREET.

New York, July 9—Wall Street, noon. —No definite tendencies developed in the apethetic first hour, the market evidently lacking impulse from any quarter. In some instances losses were extended, while here and there early gains were slightly increased. The short interest occasionally sought out soft spots, but covered at the first signs of support. This influence became more effective later, the entire list, except motors and Industrial Alcohol, on buying of the leaders, some of which rose materially over last week's final quotation. Rails shared in the movement, but prices reacted again at noon. Bonds were steady.

CASH DEMAND FOR LOWER GRADES GOOD

October Futures, However, Neglected at Winnipeg on Saturday.

Winnipeg, July 8.—Transactions in the local grain market resulted in a fair demand for Nos. 3, 4 and 5 wheat, and low grades for a cash period. The October future was neglected. There was a good demand for oats, No. 3 and extra No. 1 feed, and Nos. 1 and 2 feed. The Government agent, it is said, was the chief buyer, but some of the leading private exporters were in the market, and considerable business was done. Prices remained steady. Buyers were also in the market for No. 4 barley, but there was little offering.

Flax again showed strength, and opened 2c higher than yesterday's close for July, and 6½c higher for October. There has been liquidation in flax since July came, and it looks as if it was pretty well over. American crushers have been liberal buyers for the last ten days.

October wheat closed ½c higher; July oats closed ⅝c higher, October 1¼c, and December ½c higher. July barley closed ½c higher. Flax closed with July 2½c, and October 4¾c higher.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $2.30; No. 2 northern, $2.27; No. 3 northern, $2.22; No. 4, $2.10; No. 5, $1.85; No. 6, $1.70; feed, $1.27. Basis contract: July, $2.30; August, $2.25 (first half).

FLOWER SUNDAY WAS FITTINGLY OBSERVED AT WELLINGTON ST.

Pastor Says Every Bloom Has Message for People.

"There are, it is said, 100,000 different kinds of flowers, and each one has a message for us," declared Rev. W. J. Ashton, B.D., at the Wellington Street Methodist Church Sunday morning, the occasion being the annual celebration of flower day in that church. Flowers of many varieties were arranged around the pulpit, and the boys and girls of the congregation, to whom a special invitation had been extended, occupied the front pews of the church.

Continuing, he said that just as there were thousands of varieties of flowers, there were thousands of varieties of boys and girls, and that people foolishly expected that they should all act exactly the same. Every boy and girl was different in looks, and in disposition, from the others, and should be regarded as such.

Wonderful Superiority.

The stronger the magnifying glass through which a beautiful garment was examined, the coarser the cloth appeared, but the stronger the glass through which a flower was seen the more beautiful it became, which indicated the wonderful superiority of God's work over man's work.

All the beautiful flowers in the gardens were the result of cultivation, as once all were wild flowers. The chrysanthemum was developed from a wild Japanese shrub. It required time, patience and love to develop them from their wild state. "Where do we get the beautiful characters that we find among the men and women of today?" asked the speaker. "They are the result of the time, patience and love of parents and teachers that watched over and took care of you. Somebody saw something in you when you were young and willful, and coaxed and cultivated the good in you, and developed you. Let us thank God for the work of the Sunday school teachers and parents in bringing the children along to what we would like them to be," he added.

Have a Mission.

"Why did God create flowers? Have they a mission? Why do we hang beautiful pictures on the walls of our homes? Because we wouldn't be the kind of people we are if we were brought up in rough houses without pictures. Flowers, like pictures in the home, make us more refined and noble, and the children would be better if we had more flowers in the home, on account of their refining influence. The world is a nicer place to live in, because of flowers. God is everywhere, and He shows himself in the grass and in the flowers. There is no monopoly of them, they are in the garden and along the wayside. God is speaking to us everywhere, by His flowers.

"Jesus was likened to the lily of the valley and to the rose," he said, "and just like the flower, He refines, ennobles, encourages and cheers us. What the flower is to the eye, Jesus is to the heart. Much time, care and money is spent in cultivating and developing plants, and should you and I complain of the time, patience, love and money that we spend on a boy or girl? Love and watch over your children, for you are raising a human plant, that will blossom in the vineyard of God," he declared in conclusion.

Miss Hicks rendered a solo and the choir an anthem which were much appreciated.

George Dicks, florist, furnished many palms and other plants for the occasion, for which those in charge were grateful.

PASTOR URGES PEOPLE TO SIGN PETITION IN MISS THOMPSON'S CASE

The wisdom of combining the services of St. Andrew's and the First Presbyterian Church for the summer months was demonstrated yesterday when, instead of the usual small holiday congregation in each the First Church was filled to its capacity in the morning and St. Andrew's in the evening. The organist and choir of the First Church had a holiday, the music being led by the choir and soloists of St. Andrew's, under the direction of Charles E. Wheele.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor, minister of St. Andrew's, preached, and at both services made urgent announcement of the flag day next Saturday, "France's Day" for the French Red Cross.

"France has suffered since the very beginning of the war in a way that it is impossible for us to understand," he said, adding: "She has been in the heart and forefront of the struggle for nearly three years, and her sufferings have only been equalled by those of Belgium and some of the smaller nations.

"Each man, woman and child in France has made the war his and her own war, and is doing a bit in a way we cannot realize. France has been almost bled white. She has given even unto blood. Conditions are such in hospitals that reports come to us of paper being used instead of the necessary dressings to staunch the wounds of the men of France who are fighting our war as truly as our own soldiers. No sacrifice we could make for the French Red Cross would be too much to show our gratitude to these people. We have given liberally. But as yet in this country we have scarcely known what it is to sacrifice as compared with France."

In the evening, Mr. MacGregor also made announcement in regard to the petition for the release of Miss Thompson, urging upon the congregation the importance of signing it at once, and stating that there were copies in the vestibule. A large number placed their names on the petition before leaving the church.

FATHER AND SON BOTH VICTIMS OF APPENDICITIS

Lemuel Welland Smith, aged 63, died suddenly at Victoria Hospital on Sunday. Mr. Smith was taken sick with appendicitis on Friday and was brought to Victoria Hospital on Saturday. He was born in Canada and has been a resident of London Township for many years. He is survived by his wife, who was a daughter of the late Rev. J. P. Morden of London Township, two sons and two daughters, Arthur of this city, Lewis of Clivale, Alta.; Mrs. Henry Weslake, Gleenwood, N.Y.; Mrs. Gordon Needham, London Township; one brother, Howard Smith of Manitowaning Island; one sister, Mrs. Sarah Loucks of Walsingham Centre, Ont. The funeral will be held from his late residence, lot 22, concession 7, London Township. The services will be conducted by Rev. G. N. Hazen of Sarnia; Rev. J. Hawkins of Thamesford, formerly of St. John's Methodist Church; and Rev. Mr. Bartlett, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church. Interment will be made in St. John's Cemetery.

Rev. Roy Smith, a Presbyterian pastor in the West, died from appendicitis just about a year ago.

BELIEVE BONES ARE THOSE OF GIRL WHO WAS LOST IN FLOOD

Lacey Child Swept Over Dam in Disaster of 1883.

REMAINS NEVER FOUND

Last Seen Clinging To Chicken Coop Near Scene of Discovery.

Residents of West London are convinced that the skeleton unearthed by plowmen at the Byron Sanatorium is that of Miss Lacey, a young girl who was lost in the big flood in 1883. There is no way of proving this at the present time, but this is the surmise.

When the dam broke, the Lacey family resided on Albion street. Their house was flooded, and the children driven into the yard. James Lacey, the father, a brother of the late Squire Lacey, tried to gather his children together, but two boys, one of them but a mere baby, were carried away. Their bodies were afterwards found in the flats, where the old rifle ranges were formerly located.

Swept Away on Coop.

Miss Lacey, who was then about 15 or 16 years of age, was swept out into the yard and managed to scramble on top of a chicken coop. It was impossible to reach her, owing to the great force of the current, and the coop floated down the stream.

Many citizens saw the girl on top of the coop float under the Cove bridge. She was frantically calling for help, but it was not humanly possible to get to her.

The building was carried down the river, and R. M. Simmie and others at the pump house threw ropes to the poor girl and made other efforts to locate her.

They failed, and Miss Lacey was swept over the dam. That was the last seen of her.

Search Unsuccessful.

For weeks the river banks were searched for the body, some of the searchers going as far as Delaware. However, no trace was ever found of her. It is supposed that she was carried down to the Byron side and buried there.

The father so brooded over the calamity that he lost his mind, and he died recently a mental wreck from the torture occasioned by his terrible loss.

Thos. Jeffries, who resided near the family at the time, is confident that the body is that of Miss Lacey.

DRINKING FOUNTAINS AT LAST TURNED ON

The drinking fountains at the Hamilton road and Rectory street, and Dundas and Rectory streets have been turned on.

For some weeks they have been idle, much complaining resulting. The cause seems to be lack of co-operation between departments at the city hall, with the result that the citizens get the worst of it.

General Manager Buchanan announced today that they have been put in operation.

67 SOLDIERS TO PORT AS GUESTS OF CITY

Sixty-seven invalided soldiers went to Port Stanley this morning, as guests of the London Railway Commission. Of these 52 were from Byron Sanatorium, and the balance from the convalescent home. These trips will be made weekly on Monday mornings during the summer.

The commission will have band concerts at the Port three days a week hereafter. On Tuesday and Thursday evenings a city band will give a concert there, and on Sunday afternoon another concert will be given on Fraser Heights.

Arrangements for these entertainments were completed this morning.

LONDON ORANGEMEN ATTEND SERVICE WITH ST. THOMAS BRETHREN

Go to Railway City to Participate in Annual Church Parade.

ST. THOMAS, July 8.—London Orangemen accompanied their brethren of St. Thomas in attending divine service in Trinity Church this afternoon, where special 12th of July sermons were preached by the rector, Rev. Mr. Andrews.

Several hundred were in line and the parade was headed by the lodges' fife and drum band.

JUDGMENT ONCE MORE RESERVED IN FAMOUS CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Chatham Magistrate Not Yet Prepared to Render Decision.

CHATHAM, July 8.—Magistrate Arnold has again reserved his judgment on the conspiracy charges against the three Chatham aldermen, which were preferred at the preliminary hearing held on June 18.

"TOURISTS" PAY $46.

CHATHAM, July 8.—The sum of $46 was extracted from a band of 30 Italians in the county police court Saturday. They were captured in Dover Township by a cordon of city and county police officials Friday night on a complaint of an Eberts grocer, who claimed that his delivery wagon had been robbed, and he believed the gang responsible.

The Italians are touring the province in five Ford automobiles, and they carried with them tents. The party numbered five men, five women and twenty children. They were clad in gaudy colors, and the children had the appearance of having passed through a land where water is a luxury.

The spokesman of the tribe denied that any members of the party had been making money by telling fortunes, and in fact they were not out for making money. The tourists were escorted to the county border by police.

BRANTFORD CAMPAIGNS TO BUY HOME FOR ALL ITS RETURNED SOLDIERS

"Maple Leaf Day" Meets Good Response for Permanent Quatrers.

BRANTFORD, July 8.—An appeal was made in Brantford yesterday by means of a tag day for funds to build or buy a permanent headquarters and home for the returned soldiers, of whom there are about two hundred in the city. The day was known as "Maple Leaf Day," and the street sale met with a goodly response despite the rain in the afternoon. More than two hundred young women handled the sale under the direction of the Women's Patriotic League. The Galt kilitie band was in the city for the day, and assisted at a big concert which was the culminating effort in the evening. The program was all provided by returned men, some being present from Toronto and Hamilton.

While the results will not be known for a day, it is expected a goodly sum was realized.

HOTEL OWNER ASSIGNS.

WEST LORNE, July 8.—Richard Charles Cox, painter and paperhanger, who since the advent of local option has been owner of the Argyle House here, has made an assignment to Malcolm McKillop. Mr. Cox recently sold the Argyle House to J. Taylor.

Rev. Mr. Penrose, the new pastor of the Methodist Church, has arrived here with his family and will take up his duties at once.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A FUSS FOR NOTHING?

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

As a rule men and editors hate being set right; they would rather go on their wrong way till they fall in the pit, and then grumble because no man set their feet in the right road; yet here goes an effort to put you in a better way.

The minister of justice has no more to do with a person imprisoned in civil proceedings than you have; you are wasting time and paper on your petitions to him; he and the Ottawa authorities have power only in criminal cases; the judges of Osgoode Hall and the attorney general and other provincial authorities at Toronto alone have power in the case of the woman you may desire to help, but are really only hindering.

Get the advice of some lawyer, and save your time and paper—which is valuable; there are plenty of lawyers who will be glad to put you in the right way without money and without price—for charity's sake.

And you will probably learn that your fuss is all about nothing. I know nothing about this particular case, but I do know that the law has far more horse sense in its coat tails than a host of tinkers and tailors and advertisers have in their whole anatomy; that the law will not take a child out of the custody of one person and give that custody to another until it has thoroughly investigated the case and reached the conclusion that the child's welfare requires the change; and for the purpose of reaching a true conclusion it requires the production of the child so that the judge may find out from the child the child's wishes, given apart from everyone concerned in the case. If this woman is keeping the child away from such an investigation she is acting at least foolishly, and in the end must submit; a little common sense should tell her, and all who concern themselves in her case, that it is impossible to conceal the child always; that indeed there is no difficulty in discovering the hiding place; that means only a little trouble and expense. And why fear the law if the woman is in the right?

Nor do you, nor does anyone else, do well in aiding and abetting a breach of the law. If this woman need not heed the law why need anyone else? You will do much better in advising her and all others to be law abiding, and law trusting, at all events until you know something about it and about the case in hand; about which I venture to bet my hat—and I have one only—that you know really nothing. For what purpose was the woman asked the question she refused to answer? Has the case got any more than started before the witness kicked up her heels? Was the child ever produced before the judge to be spoken to by him? Why think that he will not do right?

Now a word about the silly talk of the father having given away his child? No father can sell or give away his child; that can be done only where slavery in its worst form exists. The law makes every father answerable for the support and education of all his children; he cannot shuffle off that responsibility to the state; it would be disastrous if he could.

But though that liability exists the judges must take the greatest pains possible to make sure that the child is in that custody which is in the interests of the child, and of the state, is best; and the utmost regard is always had for the rights and feeling of those in whose charge the child is.

Better trust the law; and whether you do or not the result in the end will be the same—justice will be done.

LEX, JUNIOR.

Ed. Note.—The petitions being signed for Miss Thompson are addressed to the Attorney-General of Ontario, as well as the minister of justice. A technical error was set right the day after the petitions were circulated.

The above anonymous communication, which is dated Toronto and postmarked London, deals with the legal phases of the case, and is not at all concerned with the "quality of mercy." The people of London have a legal as well as a moral right to send petitions praying for her release, and it is the "quality of mercy" they invoke, for they are not quite as ignorant as the facts of the case as "our learned friend" would have it appear. Surely in these days when petitions are circulated and freely signed for murderers and brutal boys, it is not such a horrible thing to ask for the removal of Miss Thompson from the county jail on the grounds of mercy. It is surely up to the lawyer who offers so much advice gratuitously to editors and others to visit Miss Thompson and bestow his services in her behalf. Having neither money nor many friends she could do well with his wise counsel, and at least could be told to produce the child to which she gave a mother's care for eight years or stay in jail for life. Meanwhile those who have sympathy with her will probably go on with the petitions even if all their "fuss is for nothing."

SOME LONDON NAMES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

An inquiry appeared in your paper the other day under the above heading which I would like to answer as far as I am able. It must be remembered that nearly all surnames are a survival of nicknames, many of which have in the course of time been changed and softened from their original suggestive objections. Others were changed by process of law, and it is thus that "Bugg" became "Norfolk Howard," a transformation inspired by a natural instinct to "avoid the opinion of baseness," as Camden puts it. Knapp is Dutch and means food; "ton" is a suffix with various meanings, but is generally applied to "town." The meaning of Brook is evident, but Lashbrook may be more difficult to most readers. A "lasher" is a weir in a river. The name King is one of those which were originally practically nicknames, and Kingston might have been given in derision to the "boss" of the village. Legg and Leggitt are the same as Leggatt, a variant of "lidgate," a swing gate, and of Legate. A Walker walked, but within a circumscribed space. He was also called a Fuller (French fouler), to trample, or a Tucker (Old French, touquer), to beat. The Fuller is still called Walker in Germany. Footitt is not of the same origin; still, the derivation should not be difficult. Let me quote Dryden: "If you are for a merry jaunt, I'll try for once who can 'foot it' farthest." Miller and Peterson are too evident to need explanation, as also Rich and Richter. Snell is a Teutonic name, meaning active, brisk, nimble, but Snelgrove could scarcely be an active or nimble wood, but would rather mean a small wood, using another meaning for Snell, a short fishing line. Port and Allport are possibly derived from the wine of that name. Now we come to the color names, among which we have Black, Brown, White, Grey, Green, etc., but we seem to have missed Red. The explanation is that we have adopted the northern English forms of Reid, Read, or such French names as Rudge (rouge), Rouse (roux), Russell (Rousseau). Jones is a Keltic name, and is very old; its derivation is obscure. Shore has a very evident meaning, though it might vary from the seashore to the props used to support ships on the stocks. Gart is the same as Garth, an inclosure, a garden. The Smiths come under the heading of occupational names, and needs no explanation.

Now, Sir, I do not wish to get into a controversy on this subject, because so many names bore originally varied meanings, depending on the district in which they were first used, that they might well be said to have many meanings. One which I have used is an example—Gartshore. Garth in the north of England means a greensward in the forest; in the Midlands a garden, and in the south a river weir for catching fish, so I gave the word inclosure as the most appropriate; but my own opinion is that the full name means the "greensward by the sea." I trust this will interest your correspondent.

HIGH STREET PEOPLE GOT "SCRAP OF PAPER"

The residents of High street are anxious for street railway extension along that thoroughfare to Emery street. "We were promised this extension 7 or 8 years ago," said a resident of that street to The Advertiser. "That was a solemn promise made to us, and the council has not considered our wishes since that time. We want better railway accommodation, and we think we should get it."

COSTLY REPULSES FOR HINDENBURG AT AISNE AND VERDUN

Crown Prince Strikes Violently In Four Sectors.

PARIS, July 8.—The Germans have sustained another defeat, with severe losses, on the Aisne front, the war office announces.

The attacks, which were of great violence in four sectors, were repulsed by the French. On the Verdun front west of the Meuse the French scored a brilliant success, capturing three strongly organized salients and held them against German counter-attacks.

The Germans launched another violent attack on the Aisne front last night and as in the case of their recent attempt to recapture important positions along the Chemen-des-Dames, met with determined resistance from the French and suffered very heavy losses.

REPUBLICAN FORCES DEFEAT ROYALISTS; EMPEROR ABDICATES

Manchu Ruler Compelled Once More To Quit the Throne.

LONDON, July 8.—The abdication of Hsuan Tung, the youthful emperor who was placed on the throne of China only a week ago by Gen. Chang Hsun, it is indicated by press dispatches received here from Pekin, followed upon the defeat of the imperialistic forces by republican troops at Lang Fang, south of Pekin, and the desertion of many of Chang Hsun's soldiers. The Forbidden iCty virtually is hemmed in on all sides, and the Pekin-Kalgan railway, Chang Hsun's only means of escape northward, is in the hands of the republicans, who are holding Nankow Pass

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED WHILE BATHING SUNDAY IN CUT NEAR CHATHAM

CHATHAM, July 8.—James and Walter Brown, brothers, aged 19 and 17, respectively, were drowned this afternoon while bathing in a dredge cut on the fifth concession of Raleigh Township. No one saw the fatality, no one heard their cries for help, if any were ever uttered. The supposition is that one boy was seized with cramps, and that both perished when they attempted to reach shore after the other had gone to his assistance. The bodies were recovered late this afternoon within two feet of each other.

OFFICIAL TURNING ON

Hydro Juice for Village Signalled by Garden Party.

SPRINGFIELD, July 8.—Sir Adam Beck was present for the official turning on of the hydro power in the village. A garden party was held on the Presbyterian Church lawn. Major O. V. Jewett, recently returned from the front, addressed the large crowd in attendance.

Rev. L. A. Muttit of the Presbyterian Church has left for a four-weeks' vacation. Capt. J. M. McGillivray will supply in his absence.

I. O. D. E. FOR WHEATLEY

WHEATLEY, July 8.—Mrs. R. O. Bray, regent of the 24th Regiment Chapter, I. O. D. E., motored over from Chatham Friday, and formed a chapter of the order here. The new chapter is to be called the J. I. Harvey Chapter, in honor of Lieut. Harvey, who was killed in action.

The rose garden of R. W. Leader is attracting a great deal of attention now. The garden contains more than fifty varieties of roses, and many people from outside points declare that they never saw such roses.

SWEDEN HAS BEEN DOUBLE-CROSSING ENTENTE ALLIES

Central Powers Receive Enormous Ore Supplies.

AND EXPLOSIVE PRODUCTS

Allies Discriminated Against in Many Ways, U. S. Is Informed.

Washington, July 8.—An official report just made to the American Government showing the extent to which Sweden is furnishing supplies to Germany reveals that the central powers are receiving enormous quantities of materials that go directly into the manufacture of munitions.

In exporting iron ore to Germany, Sweden, it is shown, has supplanted shipments with imports for the United States.

What this Government will do to end this trade through operation of the export control act has not been announced, but some of the allies, it is known are urging the United States to license no food exports to Sweden until a definite understanding has been reached with the Swedish Government concerning her exports to Germany.

9,000,000 Tons Iron.

Iron ore shipments from Sweden to Germany, the report made to this Government declares, have reached a total of 9,000,000 tons in the last two years, an amount equal to Sweden's entire pre-war export.

In the first quarter of the present year, it is set forth, Sweden imported from the United States 16,000 tons of pig iron, while selling a great quantity of her own product to Germany. Her pig iron sales to Germany in two years, it is declared, have amounted to 250,000 tons. In addition to this, it is asserted, she has shipped to Germany 15,000 tons of ferro-silicon and ferro-manganese for hardening shells, together with large quantities of copper, zinc, manganese, sulphur and other ores.

Also Cotton Substitute.

Germany, the report declares, has obtained from Sweden in two years fully two hundred thousand tons of wood pulp for use as a basis for cellulos used in place of cotton for the manufacture of high explosives. It is claimed Germany has also obtained from Sweden large quantities of ball bearings for use in the manufacture of war vehicles and submarines. The value of these shipments, the report declares, is at least $75,000,000.

Another charge against Sweden made in the report is that she has discriminated against the Allies in the use of her railrods. Overland trade through Sweden, between Norway and Germany has been encouraged, it is declared, while the Allies have been subjected to every inconvenience and have been charged exorbitant rail rates. Agricultural machinery destined for Russia, the report declares, has been held up for months, Sweden exacting from Russia extraordinary bargains before delivery was permitted.

Holding Her Tonnage.

Sweden's action in holding within her ports a large amount of merchant tonnage is dealt with in the report, which declares 600,000 tons is lying idle. Sweden's total tonnage is about 1,000,000 tons dead weight, of which she requires about 400,000 tons for her own export and import trade.

The Allies, unable to force Swedish tonnage into the world's trade routes, now look to the United States for help and, it is said, believe her shipping will be put into service if the United States and Great Britain come to an arrangement as regards bunkering. Coal, under this arrangement would be refused to ships of any nation refusing to put ships into services the Allies demanded should be kept open by neutral ships.

WIRES SHOT GUN TO HAY SPREADER TO END HIS LIFE

Raleigh Township Man Shoots Self Through Heart.

CHATHAM, July 8.—Determined to end his life, William Leggatt, aged 70 years, wired a double-barrelled gun to a hay spreader and, standing a few feet in front of the muzzle, pulled a string which he had attached to the trigger, and shot himself through the heart. Death was instantaneous.

The fatality occurred Saturday afternoon at the farm of his son, Joseph Leggatt, River road, Raleigh Township. Although the dead man had been ill for some time, he appeared to be well when his son and wife left for the Chatham market Saturday morning. His motive is a mystery.

Shortly after his return home, Joseph Leggatt was attracted by smoke in a field near his home. Hurrying to the spot he found his father lying on the ground and his clothes in flames, which he quickly smothered. On removing his father's clothing he noticed the wound through the heart. Not until this time was the son aware of the deliberate way in which his father had ended his life.

The old man had apparently stood so close to the gun that his clothing was ignited by the discharge. Blood was found on the barrel of the gun.

Dr. Glenn was immediately summoned, and on his arrival pronounced death instantaneous. The body was badly burned. Coroner R. V. Bray decided an inquest unnecessary.

The deceased was a landscape gardener, and lived for some years in this city until taking up his residence with his son a few months ago.

HURON COUNTY WANTS AGRICULTURAL OFFICE

South Riding Board Recommends Representative's Appointment at Once.

CLINTON, July 8.—At the annual meeting of the board of agriculture for South Huron, which met in Hensall recently, a unanimous resolution was passed recommending the County of Huron to appoint a district representative of agriculture. The members believe that it will be one of the best investments the county has ever made.

President Parnell and Secretary Doupe were re-elected, also the following directors: J. T. Keys, D. McNaughton and Reeve Elliott.

The Varna branch has arranged to hold a stock exhibit consisting of beef cattle and heavy horses.

Railroad Engineers Out With Statement

Men in the Cabs From Many States Declare Tanlac Conserves Health of Railroadmen and Makes Them Fit for Responsible Duties in Most Nerve-Racking Service.

NO calling demands a clearer brain, steadier nerves, a more perfect state of health than that of a railroad engineer. The safety of thousands depends on guarding his health, which is as important to the public as the effeciency of his engine. Every engineer realizes this enormous responsibility, he dares not take chances with so important a matter. That is why so many of them are using Tanlac—it steadies the nerves, clears the brain, corrects indigestion, strengthens the arm, insures the safety of the traveler and keeps him on his job.

Railroad engineers everywhere indorse Tanlac, because they have tried it and know. Read what they say:

W. L. Nabers, Atlanta, Ga., engineer Southern Railway, says: "I had lost appetite—liver and kidneys deranged—since taking Tanlac haven't had a pain—gained 14 pounds."

L. C. Bowers, 910 First avenue south, Nashville, Tenn., engineer Tennessee Central, says: "Stomach trouble and nervousness overcome—nothing too good I can say about Tanlac—gained 8 pounds."

D. A. Middleton, 1717 Chenovert street, Houston, Texas, engineer Southern Pacific, says: "Was in bad shape—couldn't walk—Tanlac built me up like new man—gained 11 pounds."

T. G. Ayers, 107 Raines avenue, Nashville, Tenn., engineer Louisville and Nashville, says: "Kidney trouble, nervousness, poor appetite—Tanlac put me in good shape—gained 7 pounds."

J. T. Roy, Atlanta, Ga., former engineer Seaboard, says: "Nervous indigestion—kidneys in bad shape—pains in back—am satisfied with what Tanlac has done for me."

R. H. Owens, 2700 Avenue G., Birmingham, Ala., engineer, says: "Run-down—indigestion—palpitation of heart—had to give up job—since taking Tanlac eat anything—have gone back to work."

T. G. Burrows, 3915 McKinney avenue, Houston, Texas, engineer, St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico, says: "Catarrh of head and stomach—headaches—nervous—Tanlac is railroadman's friend—feel like new man."

Lynn Sills, 440 North Bellevue avenue, Memphis, Tenn., engineer Louisville and Nashville, says: "Headaches—pains in back and kidneys—strained every nerve to keep up—Tanlac relieved me entirely."

S. T. Watkins, Birmingham, Ala., engineer Southern, says: "Suffered 27 years—stomach troubles—Tanlac has ended my troubles."

G. G. Geiger, 133 East Linden street, Atlanta, Ga., engineer Georgia Railroad, says: "Tanlac relieved my wife of rheumatism—she gained 25 pounds from using it."

C. J. Weeks, 2139 Lydia street, Jacksonville, Fla., engineer Seaboard, says: "Suffered 20 years from nervous indigestion—Tanlac entirely relieved me—gained 20 pounds."

Jeff D. Riggs, 2020 Pearl stret, Vicksburg, Miss., engineer Yazoo and Mississippi Valley, says: "Was nervous and physical wreck—since taking Tanlac am strong and active as ever—gained 25 pounds."

B. F. House, R.F.D., No. 5, Box 61, Atlanta, Ga., engineer Seaboard, says: "Lost weight and strength—was badly under the weather—Tanlac set me up—gained 22 pounds."

Jack Petrie, 54 Lindsley avenue, Nashville, Tenn., engineer, says: "Was pulled down till I had to give up my engine—Tanlac put me back in the cab—it's the best medicine I ever tried."

P. F. Hammill, 1192 Dunnavant street, Memphis, Tenn., engineer, says: "Rheumatism—tried everything, including trip to Hot Springs—Tanlac did more good than everything else combined."

P. C. Hooks, Rome, Ga., engineer Southern, says: "My wife was almost complete nervous and physical wreck—Tanlac set her crutches aside—she gained 16 pounds."

J. B. Watson, Mobile, Ala., engineer Southern Railway between Selma and Mobile, says: "Was completely broken down—couldn't work—since taking Tanlac am working regularly—gained 38 pounds."

O. B. Hanes, Nashville, Tenn., engineer Louisville and Nashville, says: "Gave up engine account accident, bad health—Tanlac is fine—gained 8 pounds—sleep and eat fine."

G. T. Newman, Dalton, Ga., engineer Western and Atlantic, says: "Was tired and worn out—nervous—Tanlac only thing that gave me relief."

H. M. Telford, 617 Third avenue, Birmingham, Ala., engineer Louisville and Nashville, says: "Wife had nervous indigestion—splitting headaches—gave up all housework—Tanlac gave her new life and energy—she gained 7 pounds."

Evidence from such sources as these is unassailable. These men are exposed to all conditions of weather the same as others are. Their runs take them from mountain to seashore, from swamp to highland, through rain and storm, cold and sleet, and they never falter in their duty. They must always guard against disease. These men speak from personal experience; no wonder they pin their faith to Tanlac, for it has served them well.

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the personal direction of a special representative.—Advt.

Mrs. Nicholson, of Toledo, Buried at Goderich, Was Daughter of First Merchant.

GODERICH, July 8.—The death occurred Friday of Mrs. Philip Rundle, Huron road, Goderich Township. Mrs. Rundle was formerly Miss Elizabeth Lucretia Lewis. The funeral will be held on Tuesday.

Another death Friday was that of Dorothy, the eldest daughter of Mrs. J. J. Kelly, at the age of 19. The funeral takes place on Monday to the Roman Catholic Cemetery in Hullett.

The funeral was held on Thursday, on the arrival of the G. T. R. train, of Mrs. Dr. Nicholson, wife of a former well-known Goderich dentist, who moved recently to Toledo. She was the youngest child of the late Jasper Kimball Gooding, who was born in Bristol, N.Y., coming to Goderich in 1826, and being one of the first settlers here, and the first merchant in Goderich. She is survived by her husband, the Misses Mary and Kate, and Jasper of Toledo, and Malcolm G., of Buffalo.

If you will tell me why the modern safety bicycle has taken the place of the old style high bicycle which is now a great curiosity, I will tell you why the Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph is fast taking the place of the old style steel needle machines, which will soon be another great curiosity. Come in and listen. W. McPhillips, 189 Dundas street, London.
