Small Retailers Fear They May Be Squeezed by Powerful Groups.

Alarmed by the growing strength of chain stores, a group of Western Ontario wholesale grocers, including London firms is planning to launch century is predicted. a counter movement that will soon result in the absorption or affiliation of 40 London retailers under the name

"Red and White Groceries". London wholesalers were in session with promoters of the plan from yesterday morning until midnight, at a private conclave at the Tecumsen house and it is reported today that substantial progress was made.

Though no official reports have been given out it is said that the wholesale grocers have become quite as much alarmed at the progress of chain store operation as have the retailers. The reason lies in the fact that the chain groceries maintain their own warhouses and practically eliminate the middle man, thus garnering the bulk of both middle-

Outlines Stand of Catholics

Attitudes of various religious denominations on the evolution controversy have been more or less freely expressed as the Day-ton trial drew near. Speaking from a Roman Catholic viewpoint, Rev. John R. Ryan, D.D., of the Catholic University of America, wrote recently:
"The attitude that a Catholic might reasonably take toward the Tennessee statute and its fate in the courts would seem to be about as follows: To hope that the law would be declared unconstitutional, since it might easily become a precedent for grace and tyrannical interferences by legislative majorities with the curri culum of the public schools and, indeed, of private schools, and to remain undisturbed concerning the relation of the Bible to science; for Catholics know that here can be no real conflict this respect, and they realize that the meaning of any passage of the Bible is determined for them. not by a state legislature, or ourt of justice, or a legal advo-ate, but by the infallible voice of the church."

Mount Brydges, July 9.—Although signs of an Ontario election are nowhere discernable, West Middlesex Liberals are taking no chance of being caught napping. Classroom Schools Only Might Have Been Built in Two Districts.

School Trustee W. G. Murray, who seconded the motion of Trustee Mess at yesterday's meeting of the board of education, that a complete unit collegiate building be built in East London, including auditorium and symnasium, stated this morning that he believed that a so-called skeleton school, or a building containing classrooms only, would meet the need in that district very well for some time to come.

His only reason for seconding the motion for a complete unit was that he had been informed that residents of South London were insistent that complete unit with gymnasium and auditorium should be built in that part of the city. He was given to understand that they would not be part of the city. satisfied with anything else. East Williams Then and Now. The reunion idea as carried out by the people of East Williams shows what can be done when a township undertakes to gather together the old boys and girls of the community. East Williams, although not one hundred years old as lar as settlement is concerned, has a goodly amount of local history written in its chapters; there were settlers there some fifteen or twenty years before they started to take up land in the sister township of West Williams. A glance at the names of some of the pioneers of 1833 gives an indication of the nationality of the majority: Donald McIntosh, Donald Henderson, James Ross, James McPherson, James Bremner, Donald Fraser, Hugh McKenzie, Hugh Crawford, George Shipley

Mr. McLachlan possesses a memory that is clear and retentive to the last degree; the day before he went to the East Williams celebration he recounted the business activities that were carried on in Nairn sixty years ago. Speaking at the reunion, he took occasion to point back to the days when primitive methods were employed, when pioneers conveniences such as we enjoy today were not to swim. in existence. #### Speaking Well of London.

A resident of southern Ohio dropped in at The Advertiser office about three weeks ago to ask something about roads east and north of He was in here again yesterday on his way back. It would do Londoners no harm to hear what he said about this city. Reduced to

"I was never in your city until three weeks ago. We pulled up at a service station for gas different in Toronto, where the collectors have and oil; the young man who waited on me filled the radiator with water, wiped the windshield tree of dust, and asked us how long we were going to stay in London. I told him an hour or so, and his answer was 'You're making a big runs all that.'

"The result was that we stayed two days, became simply another special occasion? and I played a game on the civic links and it is a good sporty course. When I was at the golf Your parks are wonderful, your homes are settled here."

attractive and there is no place I've been with such a growth of shade trees."

This visitor went away a booster for London, all because the few people he came across here had a good word to say for their own city.

That sort of effort costs nothing more than a little courtesy and home pride, yet it is one of Morning and Evening Editions.

It would mean that there would be attention drawn to London in the most favorable way, and of a calibre that could not be bought even by a fairly lavish expenditure of money. Try it.

Celebrating Labor Day.

The Labor Day committee of the London trades and labor council has decided that the manner in which the day has been celebrated in recent years is not distinct enough; it takes on the shape of a celebration or a program of sports that might just as well be held on any other day, and the committee wants to turn back to the old idea of making Labor Day

In that view it is right. When Labor Day was an infant in years it was a dandy from the point of interest and the ingenious way in which the various trades used to tell the rest of the world that they were working at a particular was agent for the Canada Company, and also business and knew how to do it. An old-time Labor Day parade gave a very comprehensive review of all the activities of the city in which little center, serving well the wants of the tradesmen were occupied. If the London trades pioneers, but with the coming of the railways and labor council can revive the old idea it will it was handicapped. Today little remains to have performed a good service for the council indicate the importance of the place in early and for the citizens in general, for a parade and celebration of that type is quite out of the

OPPOSE ARBITRATION

Owners Claim Conditions Justify Decrease in Miners'

Associated Press Despatch. Atlantic City, July 9.-John L. Lewis, international miners' president, today presented to anthracite mine owners in joint conference demands of 158,000 miners for a 10 per cent wage increase, the check-off, a two-year contract and various improvements in working conditions upon expiration of the present contract, August 3.

Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the anthracite operators' conference. in reply, confessed to "wonder and mazement" at the terms. He said market conditions dictated a wage decrease rather than increase, pronounced the operators' historic hostility to the check-off as "unabated," but closed by urging arbitration in event of deadlock

If arbitration had not effected ome renewal of the contract by September 1. Mr. Warriner said the employers were willing to continue under the present scale until an award had been made. The miners' attitude was not disclosed.

The joint conference adjourned on motion to leave actual negotiations to a joint sub-committee comprising six members from each side. This body will hold its first session to-morrow afternoon.

morrow afternoon.

In putting his proposals before the meeting, Mr. Lewis said the opposition of the miners to the operators proffer of arbitration was unchanged. They opposed an arbitration committee because it is based on the principle that the worker surrendered virtually very right of self-determination in personal and family life. Such an agency even determined "what price a miner may die for," he said.

Arbitration was demanded only of the man "who works with his hands," according to Mr. Lewis. Neither the professions nor capitalists surrender to others the right, he said, to fix what fees or profits should be. The mine workers, he said, stood upon their assent to the form of arbitration expressed in the present board of conciliation, which dealt with the interpretation of contracts agreed upon already. Further than that, he indicated, the miners could not be asked to go. Arbitration was demanded only of asked to go.

Mr. Lewis dealt at length upon the question of the checkoff, by which mine auditors would be asked to "check off" union dues from pay enveloped union to the international union.

The checkoff, Mr. Lewis said. was already in effect in the industry on the various monthly items of expense which the operators charged to their employees accounts. He classed the operators large standing to their employees' accounts. He classed the operators' long standing opposition under the head of "sentimental objections" and appealed to them to withdraw from what he deemed their obduracy as what he deemed their obduracy as a means of keeping peace in the hard coal fields.

Mr. Warriner alluded to the operators' antipathy to the checkoff with as much emphasis as Mr. Lewis had used. Both apparently recorded to see this demand might seemed to see this demand might become the one most likely to be pressed and most likely to be resisted during the coming parleys of Radio Sending Apparatus In-effective When Generators Develop Trouble.

REPAIR PARTS SENT

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, July 10 .- The Canadian government exploration ship Arctic, in command of the veteran navigator Captain Bernier, has begun her trip to the north by running into a lot of trouble. To begin with, she narrowly escaped collision and grounding at Quebec when her power failed while she was casting off for the trip. Now, according to electrical experts here, her radio serding plant is out of order owing to failure of her motor generators.

Local amateurs have listened in vain for the vessel's signals during the last two or three days. The radio operator of the Arctic has been advised that he will receive instructions from the United States stations KDKA at Pittsburg and WBZ at Springfield, Meanwhile, repair parts of the vessel's power and electric light plant have been placed. it Quebec, and it is hoped that this which case the experiments in short wave radio sending and receiving which were to have been a part of vessel's work on the journey will be carried out.

TOWNSHIP BOARDS

Toronto, July 9 .- Premier Fergupartment of education, which was issued today, writes at some length about township boards and the plan of taking up first and second-year university work at high schools and collegiates.

The premier hopes that a year from this September the possibility of giving some of the junior unibe operative. He points out that the expenditure of the province on education is $35,858,355 a year. Statistical information, however, he states, cannot be held to answer all the questions that arise in education.

Mr. Ferguson points out that although municipalities have had the option of constituting township school boards there has been no response.

school boards in urban centres has given urban schools their supremacy.
The report continues:

"The measure which will be shortly distributed throughout the province anly tentative, indicates the central board without destroying the representation of school sections or leaving them without representation. The problem here outlined is th roblem of the ratepayers themselves. No desire exists to force upon the province a chance in its education which has not popular support, but I desire to point out that the present situation is too serious to be rmanent, and that some method of dealing with it must be found. "A narrative of the facts will be found in the report of the director of rural school organization. The rural school organization. The financial burden of maintaining the

herself into a loveless marriage-and his beautiful orphaned niece, MADELON, whose father's marriage he had opposed some twenty years before, and whose guardianship now devolves upon him. He breaks up her boy-and-girl affair with DUANE FARLEY, with the result that Farley turns to Barbara for sympathy and, all unknowingly, is loved by her, while Madelon is be-

A Strange Confession. Madelon was dismayed at Bartreasurer of that body, who has the skirts are almost bouffant. But at this particular time, while the outcome of her love affair with Julian Barton hung in the balance, it seemed almost impossible to grant

Barbara's request. "Barbara dear," she tossed a cushion on the floor beside the couch and ing better than to go with you, if it wasn't—well, I dare say you've guessed, that I've gone and fallen in ove with Julian Barton?" Barbara's purple-black eyes opened

Mothers Do This Summer, Take Two Weeks Off by Yourselves.

Employers have found out that it navs to give those who work for them vacations. They come back to their jobs rested and refreshed. with renewed energy and interest, Madelon dropped into a chair and and put more punch into their work.

> Of all laborers on earth, none need vacations so much as do wives and mothers. No other work is so monotonous as theirs. None 'calls for such long hours. None is so nervewearing.

By the time a woman has cooked a thousand ninety-five regular meals, and got up a few extra lunches of sandwiches, and bread and butter, and cookies. and sterilized milk, and made up a couple of thousand beds, and swept ten square miles of floor, and pushed the baby perambulator around the world a couple of times, and hung up a million garments, and picked up forty tons of newspapers off the floors and cleaned up a bushel of cigarette ashes and stubs, and answered to the call of "m-o-o-o-ther" a billion times, she is all in. She has a right to call it a year.

She is tired enough to lie down and die of sheer exhaustion. She is so worn out with cooking that she loathes the very sight of food. She is so played out with the calls made upon her by her family that she feels as if she acutally hates her husband and children, and envies every old maid who has nothing but a latchkey and a canary bird. And her overwrought body and mind voice their protest in peevishness and nagging that make her about as pleasant to live with as the fretful Aylmer, July 9.-That domestic porcupine. science was an important factor in

What the woman needs is a vacation. A real vacation. She needs to go away by herself for a couple of weeks and leave husband and children behind her. If she took this sort of a vacation she would come back made over. with the worry wrinkles in her face ironed out and her nerves quieted down. She would tackle her housekeeping job with fresh pep and enthusiasm. Her children would look like angels to her instead of tormenting little devils, and she would see her husband once more surrounded by a romantic halo.

Half of the irritability and temper, and unreason, and general cussedness of wives is due to their being worn out, going round and round, their deadly treadmill. It could be cured by a few days' rest and change. Any woman will tell you that her home never looks as good to her as when she has been away from it. Absence is equal to having it entirely refurnished and done over by an interior decorator.

Of course the theory is-and some drop the question for the present at women are even foolish enough to I can't very well promise to go away with you."

Barbara laid a slim hand on hers. "Of course. I understand. I hope you will be very, very happy. It is wonderful to love, isn't it? And to be loved," she added wistfully.

Madelon lifted a transfigured face. "Oh, isn't it? There's something divine about it. Something so wonderful that it makes me afraid."

She met Barbara's eyes, hesitated and then asked, a trifle shyly:

"Did you—love Uncle Stephen that way? Forgive me if I am impertinent, but I've often wondered."

"No." Parbara's check that hand on hers.

The convention opened by singing the institute ode, followed by the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. T. G. Winder of Lyon. She also gave a very satisfactory report of the work of the East Elgin women's institutes and the financial report showed a substantial balance on the right side. The reports from the different branch institutes were also received.

Mrs. Eugene Sweet gave the address of welcome on behalf of the work of the most of them for a while.

Mrs. Eugene Sweet gave the address of welcome on behalf of the Kingsmill and Mapleton institute, and of how she would like to be free of them for a while.

There come it themselves—that a wife and mother can never get enough of her husband and children, and cannot be happy if she is separated from them even for a day. This is rank nonsense. A woman is a human being as well as a wife and mother can never get enough of her husband and children, and cannot be happy if she is separated from them even for a day. This is rank nonsense. There is nothing the matter with her except that she needs a vacation, and she needs to take it by her lonesome. For the very essence of her cure consists in her getting away from her husband and children, so that she may get a new perspec-tive on them. She has had a close-up of them too long. MIKE BOOTS TWO

Special to The Advertiser. Hamilton, July 9.—London lost hard-fought game with the Clippers. it being a pitchers' battle, and hard luck was with Alten. London's splendid hurler. Two errors by the London team were of assistance to Hamilton in defeating the visitors, while the locals played errorless ball. The Clippers trimmed London 3—2. "Sad Sam" winning the game with a hit in the final frame, scoring Duckworth. He sent the ball safely over the first baseman's head, and Duckworth went the round to end a well-played game.

Froman made a homer in the second inning, which helped Hamilton to keep in front. The game from start to finish was exciting but with no special feature to star any player. They all starred and played an excellent game of ball. Only sensational fielding on the part of the locals held the Londoners back, for they were hitting Wernke's offerings hard and often, but always where Ham fielders could spear them. hurler. Kitchener, July 9.—Rose's ability to hold the locals down with men on the bases, and the knack of the Wolves of meeting the ball when they had the sacks populated, gave Bay City an easy 7 to 1 verdict here tonight, in the first game of the second series. Cozington had a big day with three doubles in four trips to the plate, and in addition he made a circus catch, in the sixth, of Keating's hard-hit ball that looked good for three bases.

HAVE HABIT STILL. Judging by yesterday's game the Hams haven't been notified yet Judging by yesteran, that the first series is over.

Bill Carroll, owner of the Hamilton club, refused an offer from the Reds for Ralph Judd from an apparently mistaken sense of what he owes Hamilton fans. Several big league scouts have advanced tentative offers for London players, and Owner Heard would be worse than foolish to refuse them if the deals reach any definite stage.

Class B clubs cannot afford to pass up any reasonable offers for players, even if the players are asked to report at once. It is their one chance to break even in the face of gate figures that insure nothing but certain deficite.

It puts the minor club owner in an awkward predicament to have this decision thrust upon him, but usually players are not wanted until the close of the season, and it therefore hasn't to be made very often.

THE TURNS OF FATE. There have been a good many instances in baseball where the old song could be parodied into "I've got my manager working for me now." Rabbit Maranville, once managed by George Gibson, is now virtually the former pilot of the Pirates' boss. Maranville's elevation to managership will come as a surprise to those who had always believed the Rabbit to be a devil-may-care sort of a fellow, for whom primroses had a fatal fascination. Maranville was a member of the Pirates when Gibson sent them on their woderfuln drive for the pennant only to have the team go to pieces whe they seemed to have the Giants whipped Gibson's resignation followed right on the heels of the team's apparent disorganization, and though the true account of the situation never came out, it was freely rumored that the local man quit because the team's showing was ascribed to lack of discipline. Mint league fans will take a still deeper interest in the Cubs because of the fact that Art Jahn has been shot into the line-up as a regular. This gives the Cubs a Mint league flavor, as Johnny Churry is still with them and Wheeler and Ditterent are from time to time members of them, and Wheeler and Pittenger are from time to time members

(1) In putting there are two things to keep in mind. On an approach putt of 20 feet or more you should think more of the distance you have to cover. The distance is really more important than direction on a long putt of this kind, so that playing safe is more important than hitting for the cup.

(2) In any putt under twenty feet you should hit boldly for the cup, as there is not much danger of overrunning the distance enough to miss the next shot.

Henley-on-Thames, England, July 9.

The race between Jack Beresford.

Jun., crack English oarsman, and Walter M. Hoover, of Philadelphia, for the Philadelphia gold challenge cup, which Beresford won at the Paris Olympics last year, will be rowed Monday afternoon over a mile and a half course on the Thames at Putney.

Beresford eliminated Hoover in the Diamond Sculls during this year's Henley regatta. Henley regatta.

Hoover went to England principally to challenge Beresford for the Philadelphia gold cup, which in the United States has been considered emblematic of the amateur singles scuilling championship of the world. It developed recently, however, that the British do not attach this significance to the cup, and Beresford declined to race Hoover for it. Yetserday, responding to an appeal from the Philadelphia cup committee, he said he would meet Hoover, but would return the cup to America whether he won or lost the race. Henley regatta.

NEW YORK CURB

Reported for The Advertiser by A. E. Moysey & Co. New York, July 10.

New York, July 10 .- Four and a half per cent call money and a rather larger decrease than general estimates in the United States Steel tonnage figures had a tendency to increase the supply of some stocks, but individual issues reponded to active buying. Bethlehem Steel was run up to above 41, and American-International to near 40, while Dodge Brothers common touched 29 and the preferred 82%. Phoenix Hosiery jumped five points to 35, the highest of

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 10.—The forenoon trading developed a series of puzzling cross-currents. The cautious attitude adopted by leading commission houses and a tendency to await publication of the United States Steel tonnage figures at noon curtailed ballish operations and made the market more susceptible to profit-taking, which reached extensive proportions in the motor shares. Short selling also broke out in the automobile group on reports of a falling off in sales and production. Oil ing off in sales and production. Oil stocks showed little response to the announcement of another advance in mid-continent crude prices. Some of the specialites, including General Electric, American Ice, May Department Stores and Underwood Typewriter developed independent strength. Little interest was manifested in the rail list, but the leading high grade issues and members of the southwestern group were steady. Call money renewed at 3% per cent.

SAFEGUARDS ARE REMOVED BY ACT

Nickle Again Points Out Ineffectiveness of Trying Bank Directors Under Present Law.

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, July 10.-Attorney-General Nickle made some further references today to the statement of the officials of the finance department at Ottawa as to the construction of the 1923 bank act. When asked today if he had anything more to say on this subject, the attorney-general remarked: "Since I saw you yesterday I have read in the Montreal Gazette the statement of the officials of the statement of the omciais of the finance department, from which it would appear that they had not read my statement regarding the Home Bank prosecutions, but had only had its general purport brought to "While it is quite true that my remarks were specifically directed to the Home Bank prosecutions which took place under the act of 1913, I am still satisfied that the application to the act of 1923 of the principles environment. ciples enunciated by the appellate division will deprive the act of 1923 substantially of the safeguards that the finance department officials thought had been provided by it."

Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, July 3.—Ideal weather conditions throughout the Western wheat belt, and lower Liverpool quotations, brought about a downturn in prices on the wheat market here today. July closed ½c lower at $1.39\foods, October, 1½c down at $1.33, and December declined 1c at $1.30\foods. Though trade volume was not large, there was considerable activity in the pit, and throughout the session the market was nervous and erratic.

this morning. Reaction set in after the general advance of the last few days, and almost without exception the list this morning turned downward. Brazilian eased off $8$ and almost without exception the list this morning turned downward. Brazilian eased off $8$ at $64$, Brazilian, $4$ at 50$4, and B. C. Fishing, $7$ at 48%, after selling as low as 47%. Smelters, after selling as low as 47%. Smelters, after pening ranged from 1c to 2c fairly heavy. ratic.

The chief feature of the market is the light offerings of both old nnd new crop wheat, and it takes very ordinary buying to hold prices firm. Some traders i predict further price recessions, and generally the market is following the trend of Chicago.

The opening ranged from 1c to 2c lower, but the market gradually gathered strength and advanced to a high for the day of $1.65% for July. The extreme bulges, however, were difficult to hold, as real buying power was lacking. There was a little export trade early today.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, July 10.—Down turns in wheat values took place today during the early dealings. Bearish aspects of the government wheat crop report, together with the fact that Liverpool quotations were lower, tended to weaken the market here, and so, likewise, did word of cool, fair weather northwest. The forecast, however, was for warmer temperatures, likely to increase danger of damage by black rust. Opening prices ranging from 1½c decline to ½c gain, were followed by something of a rally, but then by a setback all around.
Corn prices were responsive to bullish views taken of the government report about the new corn crop. After opening at ¾c lower to 1c higher, the market scored gains all around.
Oats sympathized with wheat rather than corn. Starting at ¼c to ¾c off, oats continued to sag.

Montreal, July 9.—The foreign demand for grain here continues quiet, but there was some demand from New York houses for Canadian Western oats, and sales of No. 3 were made at 8½c over the Winnipeg July option. They were also bidding 3%c per bushel under the July option for No. 4 wheat. The Liverpool future market for wheat closed weaker.

Prices for carlots oats on spot were reduced another cent a bushel in sympathy with weakness on the Winnipeg market. The demand was limited from local and country Juyers.

ROAD COMMI

County Councillors Angered As Provincial Body Fails To Appear.

The followers of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, premier of Ontario, at least those who compose the highway committee which has been endeavoring to placate county councils for the highways department interference in county road systems, have apparently no regard for punctuality.

The committee promised faithfully some time ago that it would meet members of the Middlesex county council in London at 10 o'clock this morning to discuss road matters. It was expected that even although their leader had no compunction about breaking faith that the highway committee would not keep busy men, such as compose the Middlescx council, waiting on their pleasure.

In addition to these two great natural gifts, sun and air, children need wholesome food. One quart of milk a day provides bone and building material and vitamins. Fruit and two vegetables, besides potatoes, furnish minerals and vitamins. An egg will give building material and iron. Whole cereals, bran muffins and bread keep the body regulated.

The Trend of Fashion Accessories or Millinery

Style changes this season are subtle. There is nothing radically different, but there are many little points that must be carefully watched if one is to be correctly gowned.

One of the interesting features proclaimed by Dame Fashion this summer is the harmony among accessories, including millinery.

The influence of modernism is strong. The tailored mode is still in evidence, though seasonal interest is perhaps centered on wash frocks of linen, broadcloth and voiles. There are innumerable interesting little things that enter into the selection of wardrobes for summer. How will you keep in touch with them all? Fortunately, the best way is also the easiest. The advertising columns are the authentic source of style information on all that takes place in the realm of fashion.

New arrivals in dresses and accessories, new style changes that take place as the season advances, price advantages that come from skilled buying, are chronicled first in the announcements of London's specialty shops and department stores. Read these advertisements daily in The Advertiser. They are the surest means to satisfied shop-

Prairie Dogs Are All Economists According to Digger the Badger

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS. Peter Rabbit was finding it hard to believe what Digger the Badger had just told him, but there was look in Digger's eyes that made him feel sure Digger wasn't trying to fool him. Digger had stated that he had seen a Prairie Dog town where there were so many houses that he couldn't see where they ended. It was this that Peter was having such hard work to believe.

"How, Mr. Badger, could so many of Johnny Chuck's cousins get enough to eat?" he ventured.

"Well, they don't waste food the way some folks do," replied Digger the Badger. "They don't take a bite here and a bite there and a bite somewhere else. They just eat the grass with the folks I saw Farmer Brown's right off close. I saw Farmer Brown's mowing machine at work down on the Green Meadows yesterday.
Peter blinked his eyes. "Yes," said he, "I saw it, but what has that to do with Yap Yap the Prairie Dog.

"Nothing, Peter. "Nothing at all," replied Digger. "I was merely going to add that if there was a Prairie Dog town down on the Green Meadows Farmer Brown wouldn't have any use for a mowing machine. Yap Yap and his friends would keep the grass cut y find the stems." Peter replied.

"Well, that's the way Yap Yap and his relatives eat off the grass out there," said Digger.

"Is his house like Johnny Chuck's?"
asked Peter. "You said he had a doorstep like Johnny Chuck's."

"No such thing. Peter" declared looks out for that. That is why he has his mound all the way around the Digger "I didn't say he has a door-step like Johnny Chuck's. He has a doorstep, but it is quite different from the doorstep on which Johnny Chuck likes to sit. "Isn't it made of sand?" Peter asked. Of course," replied Digger. "And isn't it right out in front of his doorway?" persisted Peter.

Digger grinned. "That depends," said he, "on what you consider being in front of his doors ay. You see, Yap Yap's doorway is right in Home."

Yap Yap's doorway is right in the middle of that mound of sand, and so his doorstep is all around it. the middle of that mound of sand and so his doorstep is all around it." Peter was puzzled and he showed it. "Excuse me, Mr. Badger," said he, "but I don't see how he could throw out the sand all around it. I should think it would all come out from the direction in which he is digging."

"It does," replied Digger. "You see, he digs almost straight down. He doesn't dig in on a long slant as Johnny Chuck does, or as Reddy Fox does, his friends would keep the grass the close. It wouldn't get even long enough to hide Danny Meadow Mouse. Did you ever see Johnny Chuck eat Farmer Brown's beans when they first Farmer Brown's beans when they first large of the company of the compa came up?"

Peter nodded. "I've seen him eat goes down deep. He goes down a long way before he digs his hallway off to them right off, so that you could hardone side and makes his bedroom. And he makes his bedroom a little above that hallway."

"I should think," said Peter, "that his mound all the way around the entrance. Water could stand quite deep on the surrounding earth and none of it could run down and drown little Yap Yap out. He's a clever chap, this Yap Yap, and, my, his babies are good eating! I'm getting hungrier every minute that we talk about Yap I'm getting homesick and hungrier every minute." ### ATMOSPHERE IS SO HEAVY OLD LAKE HURON SHRINKS

Water Near Sarnia Drops Two Feet Six Inches in Hour.

THEN IT RETURNS

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, July 9 .- At noon today the water in Lake Huron fell rapidly, lakeside residents reported. At various places 25 feet of additional beach was visible. The gauge at 'he Gratiot lighthouse showed the maximum drop to be 21/2 feet. The tide returned before evening.

The falling water is an incident that is liable to happen at any time. It is caused by atmospheric pressure. In the first place, it is commonly said that rapid variance in lake levels takes place because the wind which In the first place, it is commonly at first blew one way, becomes reversed and pushes the water rapidly away from the point where it had accumulated it before. The change today was caused by the rapidity with which the barometer fell. The air was fast becoming moist and heavy at noon, and the increased weight at this end of the lake bore down the water, which raised it correspondingly in some other part of the lake where the air is and does not weigh so much.
