The Store of Quality

Not many cities or towns in Canada can lay claim to a Dry Goods Store Established 54 years ago.

When you think of it, it is really something to boast of.

The only possible explanation of such a long continuous business under practically one name is the fact that we are what our motto expresses, "The Reliable Store."

We do not aim to sell you the cheapest goods on the market, nor do we aim to sell you the lowest priced goods, but we do aim to sell you RELIABLE goods at REASONABLE prices. That our aim has been successful is practically proven by our 54 years record.

Quality is our first consideration, price the second. Merchandise that we cannot recommend to our customers does not find shelf room in our store.

We buy in the very best markets in America and in Europe. We bring all our knowledge of 54 years' experience to bear, and we sell on as close a margin of profit as is consistent with legitimate business.

For every Dollar you spend in Our Store you get a good honest Dollar's worth. Try us.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Verdict Of The Jury In The Burning Of George
White

WHITE'S MODE OF LIVING

The inquest into the death of the late George White, who was found dead in his bed in his burning house on Friday evening, was held in the Police Court Saturday evening, Coroner J. L. Bray presiding. The coroner's jury was composed of the following: Capt. Boles, foreman, Wm. Gamble, Wm. Remo, Patrick Gorman, Geo. Pimmaridge, James McMan, Wm. Smith, A. T. Fleet, James Northwood, Joseph Northwood, James Hayden, Arthur Fennings and Robert Black.

There was nothing in the evidence brought up at the inquest to substantiate the rumors afloat Saturday to the effect that the deceased had met with foul play. Those persons who had something to say about White having met with foul play, and that he had a large sum of money hoarded up in his house, did not show up to give any such testimony under oath. The evidence, however, brought to light White's rather peculiar manner of living. It was quite obvious that no one seemed to know a great deal about him. No one seemed to know where he came from, or whether he had any relatives living or not.

The gist of the evidence went to show that White was a recluse, who lived alone in the little, one storey, frame dwelling on the corner of Seane and St. Patrick streets. His house was built and barricaded like a small fort. To begin with, it was surrounded by a high board fence, at the top of which the owner had strung barbed wire as a further precaution to keep trespassers from climbing over. The house had only one entrance, which was fitted out with heavy double doors, which were always kept securely locked with strong padlocks. The windows were small, and the wooden doors, locked from the inside, answered the purpose of shutters. These facts would seem to show that he lived in constant dread of intruders.

In his evidence, Officer Dodson of the police force said that he and Officer Desha had made a thorough search of the premises the afternoon after the fire. They raked the ashes over with a hoe and rake. They found three or four guns and a couple of ugly-looking knives. One of these knives was about five inches long and was sharpened like a razor. A large number of cartridges were also found. The deceased was apparently amply prepared for invaders. No trace of any money was found, and it is very probable if there was any in the house, it was destroyed in the flames.

White was unmarried, and some of the witnesses testified that he had made the statement on various occasions that he would never marry unless he could get a white woman. He seldom or never invited anyone to go inside his peculiar domicile.

One of the strangest facts which came to light at the inquest was the evidence given by Fire Chief Richard Pritchard. The Fire Chief testified that he found White reclining on his bed as though asleep. The bed clothes were not burned to any extent, but the remains were literally baked. White was not dressed in his night clothes, but was found with his over-shirt and his collar and tie on. This seems rather peculiar, as it was known that he did not indulge in strong drink, and anyone knows how uncomfortable it is to try to sleep while wearing a collar and tie.

Auctioneer Andrew Thomson testified to the fact that White had approached him on the day previous to the fatal fire, and asked him if he could sell him a stove board. The deceased had explained that the bottom of his stove got so hot at times that he was afraid it would set the house on fire sometimes. It is most likely that it was in this manner that the fire originated.

The balance of the evidence was much along the line of the facts previously outlined in The Planet. A witness called were Richard Jordan, night watchman at the Dowsley Works, Fire Chief Richard Pritchard, Officers Dodson and Darr, Fireman George Pritchard, Fireman Robert Potter, Andrew Thomson and Herman Schumler.

The jury brought in a verdict that White came to his death by burning through accidental causes.

RICHEST IN COUNTRY

"I consider the new oil discoveries in Kent County to be the richest in the country," said Senator Lew V. Ulrey, of Indiana, when seen by a London press representative Wednesday. Senator Ulrey has been in the western part of the peninsula for the last week looking after leases of large pieces of property in which he has every reason to believe there are located rich oil wells.

The Senator was very optimistic as to the future of the oil industry in Western Ontario, so much so that he has personally leased thousands of acres of valuable land in Kent County with a view to developing it at once. Many tests have been made, and invariably good signs of oil have been discovered.

SPRAYING IN THE FALL

Gordon Boles Claims This Will Exterminate San Jose Scale

VALUABLE INFORMATION

The following letter is self-explanatory:

To the Editor of The Planet:

Sir,—You will see by the enclosed clipping from the Detroit Free Press of yesterday's date—Nov. 23rd—that I am not by any means the only advocate of attacking the San Jose Scale, and other pests, in the late fall, winter and early spring.

The Park Commissioners in Detroit realize, the same as I do, that it is impossible to destroy any scale with a contact spray, except when vegetation is dormant, without injuring the tree or shrub, for if it is not applied of sufficient strength it is useless as a destructive remedy for scale, and this same strength will injure the tree if vegetation is not dormant.

I remain,
Yours truly,
GORDON BOLES,
Chatham, Nov. 24th, 1906.

INSECT PESTS.

The park commission is about to start a winter campaign against the insect destroyers of trees and shrubs in the parks and on the boulevards. The winter and early spring are propitious times for such campaigns, the destructive solutions that are sprayed over the trees doing no harm. But it is not a promising effort even so far as the shrubbery in the parks is concerned. Experience has taught that the results are far from satisfying when the work is not general. Trees infested with San Jose Scale, for instance—which is the worst pest in the most careless observer can be freed from infection, but it can be only temporary when the trees and shrubs in a very much larger area are unscathed for. The ravages of insect pests of various kinds, notably the San Jose Scale and the tussock moth, were apparent to the most careless observer last summer, and more than once attention was called to the fact that the finest shade trees of the city seemed doomed. The simple remedy is the enlarging of the authority of the commissioner of parks. There is a competent and industrious forester attached to the park commission. At a very small expense and one certainly very light when compared to the certain results, the city could be freed from the insects that have been working havoc for some time. Individual effort cannot be depended on. It must be a public undertaking and the sooner this fact is recognized the greater will be the chances of saving the trees.

Mr. And Mrs. Hoyt Bid Farewell To Their Many Chatham Friends

THE FAREWELL SERMON

Yesterday was Rev. J. W. Hoyt's last Sunday as pastor of the William street Baptist church in this city. On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt leave for St. Thomas, where Mr. Hoyt is to become the pastor of the Centre street Baptist church. Since coming here from Hamilton nearly three years ago, Rev. Mr. Hoyt has made many warm friends and his departure from this city means a decided loss to the church of which he was pastor, and also to the community at large. He is a man who has interested himself in the welfare of the general public and all moral questions for the betterment of mankind have found in him a staunch supporter. His ready wit, genial affability and devoted Christian spirit have won for him many warm friends both in his own congregation and from the ranks of the citizens in general, all of whom will be sorry to see him go. Large audiences gathered at the farewell services yesterday, which were very impressive, although one could note a touch of sadness throughout.

Mr. Hoyt took his text in the morning from John 15: 11, and vividly portrayed the march of Jesus and His disciples from the last supper to Gethsemane. The theme of the discourse was "the Christian's joy," and the preacher pointed out by the use of scripture that joy can be obtained by abiding in the truth, by obedience to God's commands, and by active service in the kingdom of Christ.

The real farewell sermon was preached in the evening, when Mr. Hoyt spoke to an audience that filled every available space in the church auditorium, on the first verse of the 33rd chapter of Isaiah, "Who hath believed our report?" After thanking the members of the church and friends, also the men in the factories, for their extreme kindness during his brief stay in the city, Mr. Hoyt proceeded to address himself particularly to the young converts who had united with the church during his pastorate. The instruction and advice given was very helpful to all classes of Christians and should have a tendency to produce a stronger Christian life in any membership of any church.

The choir reserved some of their best music for the farewell services and in the evening a splendid anthem was beautifully rendered. A male quartette was present, and a solo was rendered by Miss Helen Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt will be greatly missed in the Young Peoples Society and in the Sunday school, where both have been enthusiastic workers. Tonight a farewell reception is to be held in the church, when the members and friends will have the opportunity of meeting and saying goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt. The best wishes of a host of friends follow them to their new home in St. Thomas.

AN ANCIENT WEAPON

A rather ancient weapon of defence and offence will be put on exhibition in the window of E. J. MacIntyre's jewelry store this week. It is a Japanese dagger, over 200 years old, and is the property of Mr. Pellette.

The sheath for this curious side-arm is made of wood, encased in ivory and every about one-quarter inch thick. The carving depicts Japanese scenes. At the time the weapon was made, the Japs apparently were not science in the tempering of steel, as the blade is made of cast iron. The dagger was probably at one time the property of some very important Japanese personage.

A SINGER OF NOTE

Mr. Wm. Dyer, of London, favored with solos at both morning and evening services in Park street Methodist church Sunday. His renditions on both occasions were more than appreciated by the large congregations present. Mr. Dyer is possessed of a splendid presence, and his enunciation and expression all bear the hall-marks of a professional vocalist. He has a sweet tenor voice clear and strong, and he reaches the highest notes with apparent ease. At the morning service he rendered "The Babe of Bethlehem," a piece composed by his father. Mr. Dyer is an old Chatham boy, and while in the city yesterday he was the guest of Mrs. C. Fleming, Adelaide street.

Rev. J. W. Hodgins Deals With a Matter Which Has Annoyed Chathamites

THE WORK OF A FREAK

The following letter from Rev. J. W. Hodgins, rector of Holy Trinity Church, bears upon a subject to which previous reference has been made in this journal. The advice offered by Mr. Hodgins is well worthy of consideration:

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—Several parties in and around Chatham have been receiving a chain letter lately, containing a prayer which they are ordered to repeat every morning and to send copies of it to nine of their friends. They are threatened with dire misfortunes if they should fail to do this. The letter is signed "Bishop Lawrence," and some who have received it have accused members of the Church of England in this city as being the senders. Needless to say, church members have nothing to do with it, and many of them—myself included—have received one of these silly missives.

The letters have been circulated all over the United States and Canada, and many timid people have been very much affected by them. The only Bishop Lawrence in the Episcopal Church is the Bishop of Massachusetts, and he has repeatedly denied through the public press that he is the author, and has asked all who receive one to throw it in the waste basket. It is evidently the work of some crank, like the one who has been distributing prophetic literature from door to door during the past week in this city. It is a pity that the money thus wasted could not be spent in some good cause, and that those engaged in such work could not be better employed.

By at once burning such trash when you discover its nature you break the chain and certainly prevent it from working further harm.

Yours,
J. W. HODGINS,
Holy Trinity Rectory, Chatham,
Nov. 24th, 1906.

INQUESTS.

The jury impaneled to inquire into the causes which led up to the death of the late Geo. White, have returned a verdict of accidental death from burning. When the death was announced there were whisperings of suspected foul play, hence the inquest.

Nothing came out in the evidence adduced Saturday evening. Those who were so successful in turning the public mind towards foul play theories were not so ready to go before the coroner to make their stories good. The circulating of these stories is indeed regrettable. Rumors of this character are not tended to add to the good reputation of a city, and besides, people should remember that it costs money to hold inquests.

From the evidence in this case, it was shown that an inquest was entirely unnecessary, and the people who sent abroad these wild and unfounded rumors and suspicions, are entirely to blame for putting the country to the expense of holding this inquiry.

ENDLESS PRAYER CHAINS.

In another column of this issue will be found a letter from Rev. J. W. Hodgins, Rector of Holy Trinity Church, in which he deals with a freak movement which has been the source of considerable annoyance to many Chathamites during the past few weeks. A short time ago The Planet commented upon the fact that some evidently unbalanced religious crank had conceived the fantastic idea of an endless prayer chain. A sample prayer was drafted and sent out to nine different persons, with the request that each should repeat it for nine different nights, and send it to nine more friends, with the same request. The following is a copy of the "prayer":

"O Lord Jesus Christ, Eternal God, we implore Thee to have mercy on all mankind. Keep us from sin by Thy precious blood, and take us to be with Thee eternally. Amen."

The instructions which go with the above are:

"This prayer was sent by Bishop Lawrence, commanding it to be written to nine others. He who will not do it will be afflicted by some misfortune. He who will begin the day he receives this prayer and sends one each day following for nine days, will on the ninth day experience great joy. At Jerusalem it was said 'He who rewrites this prayer nine times shall be delivered from every calamity.'"

Bishop Lawrence denies all connection with this un-Christianlike business, and it will be clearly seen from the wording of the instructions that it is not the invention of a man with a perfectly sane mind.

The scheme has been a great success as far as the sending of the letters is concerned, many being conjured into the act of following out the instructions, no doubt fearing the result which would follow their obedience, as laid down in the letter.

Religious revival are not wrought in this matter, and the advice of Mr. Hodgins, that these missives should be burned and ignored, is timely and judicious. The only way that insincere and ill-conceived movement can be stopped is for each person who receives a letter to make himself or herself a "dead end."

THE CHILDREN'S AID.

A movement is on foot at present to form a Children's Aid Society in Stratford. It should be encouraged and helped in every way possible. The Children's Aid Societies in this Province are doing a remarkably effective and sadly needed work, and are among the most watchful and energetic philanthropic institutions found in any city to-day.

Chathamites have had convincing and gratifying examples of the work which can be accomplished, in the results of the unceasing labors of the local society. Our city is better in many ways, as a result of its establishment here several years ago.

It is the sincere trust that Stratford will be able to form a branch society, and it is also hoped that they will succeed, as has been done in Chatham, in getting an intelligent and earnest class of workers interested in the accomplishment of the aims of this noble society.

An epidemic of typhoid has developed at Langton, Walsingham township, Norfolk county, Ontario. Forty cases of the disease have been diagnosed and five deaths have occurred. This is the usual time for typhoid to reap its harvest and in the country as well as the city the danger lurks. The typhoid germ is commonly taken into the system with the water one drinks. Too great care cannot be exercised to ensure perfectly pure water, and in all cases where doubt exists recourse should be had to boiling the water for consumption.—Ottawa Citizen.

An enterprising representative of the New York Saturday Evening Post, recently asked Robert Barr, the author, if the Englishman of commerce was as rotten in his methods and his products as he of the United States. Mr. Barr said "No," and he explained that though the individual United States citizen was as honest as the average Englishman, yet the absolute ruthlessness of the law in England made them tread the narrow path of rectitude. Furthermore, Mr. Barr said that the Englishman had a deep and abiding respect for the law, which also contributed materially to its rigid enforcement.

Life is a burden; bear it.
Life is a duty; dare it.
Life is a thorn crown; wear it.

Though the burden crush you down,

CAMPBELL FOR CABINET.

Local Liberals are speculating upon the appointment of Hon. Charles S. Hyman, whose resignation was announced yesterday, to the Senate. There are now two Ontario vacancies in the Upper House, and it is generally believed that, in view of the unfortunate position into which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was obliged to force his Minister of Public Works, he will have the first call on one of the Senate berths.

If, as is generally anticipated, the withdrawal of Mr. Hyman from the Cabinet means withdrawal from the claims of Mr. Arch. Campbell, M. P., Toronto Junction, Mr. Campbell is understood to have been ambitious for Cabinet preferment for some time, and will make a strong bid for recognition.

In opposition, however, to Mr. Hyman's claims it is pointed out that within the past few years London has had a sensational appointment in Hon. Mr. Coffee.

It is taken for granted that Hon. Geo. W. Ross will succeed the late Senator Vidal.—Toronto News.

THE STAGE

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

At the Brisco Opera House—Painting the Town—Nov. 22.

MEETMENT AT THE GRAND.

"Painting the Town," as might be expected, is quite a stirring musical comedy. It began its engagement at the Grand last night with a bumpy house, and many will go there to laugh and laugh again before the week ends.

"Painting the Town" owes its plot to the supposition that when a man tells his wife he is going to New York City, or elsewhere, he sometimes stays just where he is, and goes out for what is called a time, instead. Hogan practices this deception, and is aided by his friend, Brogan. Mrs. Hogan meets her brother, the captain, Hogan has never met the gallant officer, and when he sees them together he imagines that retribution is on his heels. Hogan and Brogan visit the theatre, behind the scenes, and the audience is initiated into the secrets of preliminary in the greenroom. The making-up is in progress, and the musical director takes occasion to rehearse some of the numbers. Hogan and Brogan find their way to the stage during the performance. Mrs. Hogan denounces her festive spouse from a box, and then institutes a vigorous personal search for the erring one. A similar complication attends the little supper held later, and ultimately Hogan and Brogan, to escape, climb the chimney to the roof, where they spend the night, visited by cats with electric eyes, an able-bodied rainstorm, and a squad of police. Finally, they fill through the roof in a forlorn and torn state. Mrs. Hogan forgives, and Mrs. Brogan, who has joined the chase, does likewise.

"Painting the Town" carries fine costumes and spectacular properties. A manufactured horse and a dilapidated cab are rummy, and a giant mosquito that flies away with Hogan's coat, is an ingenious insect.

Vocally, "Painting the Town" is richly endowed. The Transatlantic Four sing so well individually and collectively that triple encores are their portion. Mazie King sings and dances, and Edith Lowe's voice is even more pleasing. The funny Irishmen are Leonard as Hogan and Haliday as Brogan. Toronto Star, Nov. 19.

Date for Chatham is Wednesday, Nov. 28th.

The play that has won all hearts, "The Bonnie Brier Bush," will be presented here on Saturday, December 1st, and Monday, December 3rd, at the Brisco Theatre. This delightful story of "Auld Scotland" is one that is familiar to and appeals to everybody in its simplicity and charming naturalness.

The story of the play, briefly told, is as follows:

Flora Campbell, daughter of a shepherd, is married to an Earl's son according to the Scottish rite, that is, the scion has declared her his wife and placed the ring upon her finger. The union is legal in the presence of a witness. Flora keeps her wedding secret and is east from her home by her father, Lockhart Campbell, because he believes she has brought shame upon his name. The couple are separated by hardened fathers and the wretched girl fears she has been deserted. Then her father's fears of the marriage, which was witnessed by the tippling "post-carrier" of Drumschoy, from behind a hayrick. The young lovers are brought together. Flora Campbell's name, which her father had blotted from the family Bible, is re-entered and all ends happily.

"The Bonnie Brier Bush" scenic arrangement is the same beautiful representation of Scotch glens and cottages seen here before, and were painted from photographs and sketches of the exact locality from which the stories were taken. The company is composed of players of prominence and will include the cast even identified with the cast even in the first production. Among them are David Davies, Chas. E. Bloomer, Camilla Reynolds, Georgia O'Meara, W. Leonard Howe, Helen Warren, Robert Ireland, late pipe major of the 48th Highlanders of Toronto, Kenneth McKenzie, Annie Davidson and many others of note. The entire original product on is carried and the company is fully up to the standard.

Scottish Bag Piper Robert Ireland appears at every performance of the play—a feature which adds color to this beautiful production.

A FALL WRAP.

side is the only trimming unless one includes a long automobile veil that goes with the hat.

A charming autumn frock is of bright brown velveteen made with a skeleton bodice over a full blouse of heavy brown net. The net in turn is made over white batiste, and there are touches of heavy white batiste embroidery and lace.

The wrap illustrated is designed for a girl of fifteen and is of hunter's green broadcloth, trimmed with bands of black cloth outlined with white soutache braid. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SMART STYLES.

Plaid Silk Petticoats—Avoid the Short Circular Skirt—Brocade Linings.

For wear with tailor made clothes plaid silk petticoats are very popular finished with self trimming.

Black lace gowns trimmed with white lace applied on the black net are sufficiently new in design to be attractive.

When selecting a fall walking skirt be sure to avoid the circular shape. No matter how well it is cut, it will need rehanging almost every time it is worn.

The correct length for a short skirt is two inches from the ground.

Brocade will line most of the smart fall and winter coats, and another old fashioned silk which is being largely used for belts is satin mervellous.

In millinery, colors are chiefly on the dark and somewhat somber order.

HURRY CALL TO MILITIA

To Quell Most Unparalleled Scenes of Great Disorder

TROOPS FOR HAMILTON

Hamilton, Nov. 24.—The street cars were run after nightfall for the first time last night amidst scenes of disorder unparalleled in the history of this city.

Three cars only were operated, and they were chased into the barns at 8.45 with every window broken. The riot was so bad that a call was sent in for the militia.

In addition to wrecking the cars, the mob broke the plate glass window in the company's office at the corner of Gore and James streets, smashed the big plate glass windows of the Stanley Mills store and diddled the windows at a house on Hunter street, which was supposed to shelter the strikebreakers.

The trouble started about 7.30. Three cars were run from the Stuart street station to the corner of King street and Sanford avenue. Each was packed with strikebreakers and detectives.

Hurled Stones Through Windows.
Just as soon as it began to grow dark the stone-throwing commenced. James street, from King to Gore, was packed with a big mob, but the most destructive gang was stationed at the corner of Rebecca street. Every time a car passed they hurled stones through the windows, until there was not a particle of glass left in the cars, and the James street pavement was covered with broken glass. The strikebreakers and detectives dropped down behind the seats, and only the motor-man on each car was visible the greater part of the time, although there were about sixteen men on each car.

King street, at 2 o'clock this morning. A portion of the building was wrecked. A number of strikebreakers have been quartered in the barns, but this hour it is not known whether any of them were hurt.

The special bearing the militia arrived at the Stuart street station at 12.30.

Toronto Troops For Hamilton.
Toronto, Nov. 24.—At 9.45 p.m. yesterday when Col. Septimus Denison, who is in command, received a brief telegram at his residence, on Spadina avenue, from Hamilton, asking that the troops, which have been under orders for two weeks to be ready for a summons call, be despatched.

At 10 minutes past 10 the detachment, consisting of 100 infantry and artillerymen, with the horses of the latter, were entrained at Strachan avenue, and on their way. Col. Denison accompanied them.

SCORE OF SHIPS WRECKED.

Most Disastrous Month in St. Lawrence Shipping in Years—Sixty Lives Were Lost.

Chatham, N.B., Nov. 24.—Sixty lives were lost, and a score of ships were wrecked, on the treacherous reefs and sand-bars of the Gulf and River St. Lawrence during the season of navigation now drawing to a close. Of those who perished, nearly fifty met death this month, the most disastrous of shipping in the St. Lawrence in a dozen years. The financial loss aggregated a quarter of a million dollars.

The most thrilling wreck this month was that of the Russian full-rigger "Siberia," bound from River du Loup, Quebec, for Buenos Ayres, was lost, with all on board—the captain, his pilot, and twelve men.

Another disastrous wreck was that of the Norwegian barque Adeon, at Richibucto. Capt. Johnson and crew of ten men perished.

Thursday another Norwegian barque, supposed to be the Magdal of Shien, bound from River du Loup, Quebec, for Buenos Ayres, was lost, with all on board—the captain, his pilot, and twelve men.

Every policeman and detective was on duty. About forty constables under Chief Smith and Sergt.-Major Prentice formed a line and tried to sweep the crowd off James street, but they were almost powerless.

Policeman Draws Revolver.
Coulter was struck behind the ear and dropped on his knee. The crowd commenced to pummel him and he drew his baton, and laid about him right and left. Even at that he could not hold his own, and he drew his revolver. It did not take the crowd long to get out of his way after that, and some of his friends gathered about him and got him to put away the weapon.

While the police were busy at the radial, the mob turned its attention to the stores of Stanley Mills & Co., Norman Ellis and the Bank of British North America, and broke the big plate glass windows in the front of these buildings.

After being chased away from the store the mob made for the house on Hunter street, where some strikebreakers were being quartered. The building was wrecked as far as the windows are concerned.

Constable Shoots Twice.
Constable Gibbs tried to arrest a man, and the crowd threw him down, released the prisoner, started to abuse the officer. He drew his gun and fired a couple of shots in the air, and he soon rid himself of his assailants. Constable Yaxley had a similar experience, and was also roughly handled.

Sheriff Middleton was in the city hall and saw the whole row, but made no attempt to read the Riot Act. Constable Sayers was the only officer able to effect an arrest, and did it so quickly that the crowd thought the youth had escaped. The prisoner is accused of throwing stones at the radial offices.

No Hope of Settlement.
The last vestige of hope of a speedy settlement of the strike disappeared yesterday. The men offered to let the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board act as arbitrators on condition that the men should all return to work at once. The company refused to listen to that proposition, though it was willing to let the board arbitrate if the men were not allowed to return to work until the board gave its award.

Though several of the strikebreakers were hurt, Harry McKrien, Montreal, was the only one who had to be taken to hospital. He received a nasty scalp wound. Another man named Halsworth was also injured. P. C. Yaxley was so badly injured that he had to be sent home. He was struck on the neck and shins.

The only prisoner taken is Andrew Walls, 251 Main street, a youth 17 years of age, who is accused of throwing stones at the radials.

Dynamited Car Barns.
A mob of strike sympathizers dynamited the east end car barns at the corner of Sanford avenue and King street.

INSURANCE COMMISSION

Actuary Grant Gives Views On Certain Subjects

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—M. D. Grant, actuary in the Insurance Department, gave his views regarding the actuarial position of friendly societies to the Insurance Commission yesterday morning. He expressed the opinion that friendly societies occupied a distinct place in the insurance field. Their true function was to furnish insurance at or near actual cost. The premium was the basis of their operations, and in his view the premium ought always to be sufficient to enable the society to carry out its obligations.

There was no difference between the friendly societies and the ordinary insurance companies in the fundamental of insurance, but the fraternal were able to conduct the business at a lower cost, and there were no surrender values, and in any legislation that might be introduced these considerations should be kept in view.

I.O.F. Reserve Should Be Higher.
Questioned as to the I.O.F. witness said he had made computations based on its mortality experiences and lapses. The bulk of the business in force in the Foresters was what they called ordinary benefit, which consisted of insurance payable by instalments after the age of 70. The obligation was, therefore, higher than the ordinary, and it was proper and legitimate that the reserve should be higher.

The amount of business by the order was $250,000,000.

At the afternoon session Sidney H. Pipe, who said he had been consulted in regard to the preparation of the Foresters' case for the commission was the first witness. He said the premiums paid by members of the society were not quite sufficient to maintain policies based on the table fixed by the National Fraternal Societies congress. Some method of keeping up an adequate reserve was advisable.

Select Mortality Tables Best.
Questioned on the matter of tables of mortality, Mr. Pipe said he considered the select tables better than aggregate tables. The table nearest to the Foresters' mortality experience was either the Canada Life aggregate or the National Fraternal congress table.

The question of mortality tables again coming up, Mr. Shepley, K.C., made the interesting statement that the commission wished to preserve fraternal societies insurance in its best form.

Mr. Pipe wound up his evidence by emphatically stating that he was against the raising of rates and adding in reply to Mr. Hunter, K.C., that the opinions he had expressed were personal thoughts, and not necessarily those of the Foresters' Society.

WILL ABROGATE IT.
Postal Convention Between Canada and the United States.

Washington, Nov. 21.—As the result of friction over publisher's privileges in the countries, the Canadian Government has notified the United States Government that the postal convention between the two countries will be abrogated on May 7, next.

The notice is accompanied by a statement that it is only in so far as it relates to second-class matter that this action is desired to extend, and that if by legislation or departmental action new regulations are framed for the guidance of the United States post-office department regarding second-class matter, Canada will be prepared to enter into negotiations for another convention relating to this class of matter.

Toronto Nov. 24.—Referring to the above despatch, Postmaster T. C. Patteson said last night that he had no doubt the action of the Government was prompted by the immense amount of second-class matter coming in from Canada from the United States—newspapers on which the United States Government received very little postage, and the Canadian Government absolutely nothing at all. What the Dominion desired was a revision of the regulations.

Cold Bath Kills.
Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 24.—After he had taken a cold bath, Brother Patrick Flaherty of Hamilton, Ont., died of apoplexy of the heart, Thursday afternoon at St. John's Rectory at West Seneca, a Buffalo suburb. He managed to step out of the tub and called for aid, but before anyone reached him he was dead. He was a son of John Flaherty, 128 Simcoe street, Hamilton, and was an exceptionally fine young man.

Caruso Found Guilty.
New York, Nov. 24.—Enrico Caruso, the famous Italian tenor, yesterday was found guilty of having annoyed women at the Zoological Garden in Central Park. He was fined $10. Caruso's counsel immediately announced that they would appeal. Caruso is billed to sing at the Metropolitan Opera House next Wednesday.

$1,000 Reward For Arrest.
Nelson, B.C., Nov. 24.—Superintendent of Provincial Police Hussey, who has been at Grand Forks investigating the murder of Louise King on Sunday last by dynamite, has proclaimed a reward of $1,000 by the British Columbia Government for the arrest and conviction of Frank Cedio, charged with the murder.

Killed By Trolley Car.
Ottawa, Nov. 24.—Joseph Ethier, a plasterer of Hull, was struck by an Aylmer electric car on the interprovincial bridge last night and died in an hour. He was walking on the track, and the light being poor the motor-man did not see him in time to pull up the car.

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increase in the Number of Operations Performed Each year—How women May Avoid them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow-white beds women and girls, either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country—they creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation.

But remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, 412 N. 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

KILLED AT WOODSTOCK

From Our Own Correspondent.

Blenheim, Nov. 26.—A very sad accident occurred at Woodstock on Saturday, in which Charles Reynolds, formerly of this place, lost his life.

The deceased left Blenheim a short time ago to reside in Stratford. In September he was stricken with typhoid fever, from which he had recovered. He had been at Blenheim since on a visit and was spending a few days with friends here. It was on his return that he met with the accident that cost him his life.

On receipt of a telephone message from Woodstock, he was brought here for interment, and the funeral will be in charge of the I. O. F. and the I. O. O. F.

WAS DROWNED IN THE RIVER

Herbert Pritchard Went For A Sail In A Canoe

THE BODY WAS FOUND

A distressing drowning accident occurred in the river this afternoon about half past two o'clock, near Roberts' boat house, as a result of which Herbert Pritchard, the eldest son of Fire Chief Richard Pritchard, lost his life.

The young lad, in company with two companions, Wylie Braddon and George Sommerville, decided to go for a sail in a canoe this afternoon. Braddon and Sommerville are used to a canoe, and both of them can swim. Pritchard, however, has seldom been sailing in a canoe, and, moreover, he could not swim.

The party started out from the boat house, with a stiff wind blowing. The wind was changeable and fitful. They made a tack towards the opposite bank, and when they were within a few yards from the opposite shore, a fresh breeze came along the canoe upset. Braddon and Sommerville were sent clear of the canoe, and the current being strong the skiff started swiftly down stream. All three went under water, and when they came up, Sommerville, who was the nearest to the bank, swam in and caught hold of a pile until someone came along and pulled him out.

Braddon and Pritchard came up almost together, and the former, knowing that Pritchard could not swim, did his best to get him to the canoe, where he could hang on until help came. The canoe, however, had drifted some distance away by this time, and Braddon's efforts were fruitless. Pritchard, with the instincts of a drowning man, clung desperately to Braddon, and carried him under the water several times. It looked as if both of them would drown.

The water was cold, and was beginning to have a effect, and Braddon realized that unless help soon came, or he got away from Pritchard, both would lose their lives. Seeing that it was useless to make any further attempt to get Pritchard to the bank, he freed himself with a mighty effort, and barely succeeded in reaching the bank, when he was assisted out. Pritchard went down almost immediately.

The firemen were soon on the scene, and at the time of going to the bank, he freed himself with a mighty effort, and barely succeeded in reaching the bank, when he was assisted out. Pritchard went down almost immediately. The firemen were soon on the scene, and at the time of going to the bank, he freed himself with a mighty effort, and barely succeeded in reaching the bank, when he was assisted out. Pritchard went down almost immediately.

"I did all I could to save him," he told the reporter, "but the water was too cold, for me to do more. I tried to get him to the canoe first, and then I tried to get him to the bank, but he caught hold of me and I couldn't do anything with him. They threw a rope to me, or I would never have been able to get up on the bank. The wind was stronger than we thought it was."

Herb. Pritchard was an employee of Barfoot & Braddon, electricians. He was a bright young man.

The body was found at 3.30, but all attempts at resuscitation were fruitless.

Young Pritchard was in the water forty minutes.

ADRIFT 20 HOURS

Duck Hunter's Adventure on Lake Erie—Travels 50 Miles.

Leamington, Nov. 26.—Orville Duke, who was carried out into the lake in a small boat by the heavy current which runs around Point Pelee and sent adrift, telephoned from Amherstburg early Saturday morning that he was safe.

He was adrift 20 hours in a high sea and had drifted 50 miles east when he was picked up by a large freighter, which carried him to Amherstburg.

Britain's Soap Trust Dead.

London, Nov. 26.—The British soap trust is dead. A combination of newspapers, which has opposed the new organization, together with the tradesmen and consumers, has accomplished the end. The trust was launched on Oct. 5 with a capital of $60,000,000. Since then an unrelenting war was waged against the soap-makers. The result of the brief but sharp fight has been the compulsory surrender of the makers, who met at Liverpool Saturday and decided to dissolve their combination.

Norway Safe From Attack.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 26.—An international compact guaranteeing the inviolability of Norway against territorial aggression by any power, and giving the new kingdom a status somewhat similar to that of Switzerland and Belgium, soon will be inscribed on the records of diplomacy. Germany already has signified her approval of the movement, of which Great Britain is the sponsor, and France will follow suit, as likely will Russia.

Woman Drinks Poison.

Prescott, Nov. 26.—Mrs. David McManus, wife of a section foreman of the Grand Trunk Railway, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid at Dunham's boarding-house. Cause unknown.

A BIG DEAL IS EFFECTED

W. E. & L. S. Electric Road Is Now Owned By Canadian Investors

FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT

A big deal has been effected in connection with the Windsor, Essex & Lake Shore Rapid Railway Company. It is well known that some wealthy Americans were interested in the financing of this road, investing several thousands of dollars. There were five Canadian men in the transaction—Messrs. Walter Piggott, John Piggott, W. E. McKough, W. R. Phillimore and W. C. Crawford. These five men have now purchased the American interests of the road, and will henceforth assume all control of this road. It is a big deal, entailing a considerable amount of money, but it has been successfully carried through.

The power-house at Kingsville is now almost completed, and the line will be finished as far as Leamington in a very short time. It is confidently expected that cars will be running between these two points by the first of May. The company intend to go on with the line between Chatham and Leamington. The decision of the railway commission in granting a level crossing at Essex is a great help to this new road, and the prospects could not look brighter for the managers of this worthy enterprise.

LEVEL CROSSING IS GRANTED

Windsor, Essex & Lake Shore Rapid Railway Receive complete Victory

MR WILSON'S GOOD WORK

Some time ago an application was made by the Windsor, Essex & Lake Shore Rapid Railway Company for a crossing over the M. C. R. at Essex. The M. C. R. opposed a level crossing, and insisted upon a bridge or a subway.

At the first hearing in Windsor, the Railway Commission after an examination of the locality, ordered the subway to be built at the expense of the Electric Railway Company. It was learned that this would cost over $100,000, and the electric railway instructed their solicitor to take proceedings to reverse the order for this purpose and a new hearing was granted by the Railway Commission last month at Essex, in which expert engineers from Montreal, Toronto, Detroit and Windsor were examined, and argument of the case was heard at Ottawa last week. Mr. Hellmuth, K. C., and Mr. Cattaneo appeared for the M. C. R., and Mr. Matthew Wilson, K. C., for the Electric Railway.

Judgment was reserved and is now delivered, reversing and rescinding the former order and allowing the level crossing with gates and derailling device on Talbot street, the crossing to be guarded night and day, and each railway pays one-half the cost of the men who will do the guarding.

This is a complete success for the Electric Railway Company, and gives them the crossing and the protection which they all along promised to put in.

A prominent lawyer from Windsor who heard the argument stated to a Chatham man that he never heard a more clear and lucid argument than that put up by Matthew Wilson for the Electric Railway Company.

BARN FLOOR COLLAPSES.

Remarkable Accident During Progress of a Sale—Five Men Sustain Severe Injuries.

Tillsonburg, Nov. 23.—Without warning the floor of Eli Barnum's barn collapsed yesterday during the progress of a sale, and from 25 to 50 men, together with a number of horses, were "pocketed" in a heap in the basement. Fully a score were painfully injured, at least five of them seriously; while one horse had to be killed.

There was a fall of fully 12 feet, and men and horses and farm equipment that happened to be on the floor, were flung together. It was the kicking of the horses that caused injuries to several of the men. The worst injured are:

James Gillies, leg broken. D. Hicks, three ribs broken and internal injuries; Henry Finn, ribs broken; Joseph Grandyden, ribs broken; Henry Bar-ham, injured about the body, face advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got two boxes and within two weeks I had improved wonderfully and after finishing the fourth box I was completely cured. They are the greatest pills I ever used and I can recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills act directly on the disordered heart and nerves, and restore them to healthy action.
They have no equal for reviving and strengthening the heart beat, invigorating

Four men, who were caught by Wed-

ed. They could not gain the shore because of the immense sea.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 23.—The steel steamer Chauncey Hurlbut is grounded off Long Island.

The Anchor Line package freight steamer Conemaugh went ashore on Point Pelee. The crew of 22 was rescued by the life-savers.

There now seems to be some doubt as to the safety of the barge D. K.
Clint, which was in tow of the Hurlbut. The barge carries a crew of seven men and a woman cook.

On the Rocks.

Kingston, Nov. 23.—The tug Emerson, with four grain barges, towed by the Montreal Transportation Co., for Montreal, got among the islands and the tug hit the rocks, and her barges anchored.

steamer Lurline was sunk in a collision with the towboat Cascade in the river off Ranier early yesterday. All your son ever come to marry that American girl?

He didn't, replied the dowager duchess, she came to marry him.

Just Miss June

By Virginia Leila Wentz

Summer after summer the same olderly quiet people had come to Mrs.
Austin's pretty country boarding house, and the same noisy, vehement children.
Of course there had been some additions to the latter class, some defections from the former, but the character of the company had remained much the same. This year, however, came a new boarder of a distinctly different element. He was Paul Campbell, a playwright of some reputation.

Being the only eligible man on the place, Miss Austin had managed to lay hold of Mr. Campbell as her especial property. At first he did not mind. Were not her eyes sufficiently blue? Was there not always about her the odor of orris and heliotrope?
But when he discovered that both mother and daughter were trying to work the matrimonial game upon him he balked.

One warm day they had been down to the lake boating, and now they had turned their faces homeward.

"If you find the path rough for fashionable heels or tear your gown with the brambles or scratch your face with the wild roses, on your head be the consequence." Paul Campbell was warning Miss Austin, who had capri-ciously chosen a path through the woods, while he had wisely indicated another.

"I don't care. It's too hot to breathe today, and I know this is the shorter way. It'll get us home more quickly than the other."

"Well, it must be single file," observed Campbell, with something like positive relief, remembering that the arrangement would do something to add to the difficulty of conversation.

"You'll have a good opportunity," threw back Miss Austin over her shoulder, "of determining whether my hair is all my own."

"Its glory," answered Campbell, quick always in saying the required thing, "must blind me to its defects, if there be any."

"So good of you to make the qualification!" retorted Miss Austin.

Here and there the briar roses bloomed in all their exquisite pinkness.
Campbell, absently, took a spray.
Absentmindedly, too, he pulled the leaves from the stalk. Then he chanced to look upon the pink bud.

With a whimsical, half tender gesture he thrust it into his buttonhole.
Oh, he was a fool, beyond doubt, to fancy such a connection. But those unostentatious little petals, showing their delicate veins as they tapered upward and unfolding so much wild sweetness, reminded him of Miss June.

June was Mrs. Austin's younger daughter. She had wide, dark eyes and teeth of pearl, but she was not so beautiful like her sister Jane. Their names, in fact, many of the boarders thought, ought to have been turned about, for June was just like her sister's name, while Jane was as flushed and jubilant as summer's first month.

"There's a pleasure as well as a credit in dressing her," June had once overheard her mother say when she'd slipped Jane into a thin white frock and brushed her glossy curls. That was twelve years ago. June was only six, but her fragile little hands had gone together in mute protest, and her eyes had grown larger with half understood pain.

June, whom her household and the summer boarders saw; June of the infrequent speech, the shy, fugitive smiles and proud, reticent air—that was not June of the woods whom Paul Campbell had grown to know. June of the woods had an elusive grace, shining eyes, laughter as silvery as the rippling streams, exquisite fancies, quick, dramatic gestures and withal a delicate, childish abandon of spirit.

"Well," asked Miss Austin as they came out from the woodland path on to the sunny road, "have you settled the affairs of the nation? I looked back at you once or twice, but you were in such a brown study you didn't notice me," she pouted.

"Miss Jane, how could that be possible?" mocked he courteously.
"Pshaw!" she said, twirling her sunshade indignantly. "I believe I'm nothing but a peg for you to hang compliments on!"

"You are the magnet which attracts them," he corrected. Suddenly Miss Austin lifted her eyes.

"That wild rose bud in your coat is very pretty. Will you give it to me for a remembrance of the day?"
Campbell's fingers closed upon the bud to detach it; then he remembered.

"No, Miss Austin," he laughed, thrusting his hands into his pockets;
"it would be inappropriate. When I go to the village tomorrow I'll get you some roses from the florist's."

One morning several days later they were in the woods together, June and he, under the silver column of a beech tree.

She sat beside him, with her slim, brown hands folded in her lap and the wild rose buds withering in her dark hair. The pink of them had somewhat stolen to her cheeks. She was happy today in spite of the fact that Campbell was chiding her.

"See here, young lady," he was saying half seriously, half playfully, "if you continue to evade me as you've been doing for the past few days I'm going to pack up my trunk and leave next week. What possible pleasure do you think I find in a lot of staid ladies who knit on the porches and children who squabble?"

"There's Jane," suggested the girl

demurely, watching the flash of a bird through a rift in the foliage. "She likes to be with you, Mr. Campbell.
I'm sure. And I'm sure"—here the pearly teeth caught the scarlet under-lip—"Jane's neither a staid knitting lady nor a squabbling child. And why should you miss me? I'm not beautiful like Jane. I'm just!"

"Just Miss June," finished Campbell simply. But there was a world of quiet pride in his voice.

June trembled beneath his words and knew not why she trembled. But there was sufficient dramatic force in her to go toward the making of a great actress. She spied a spray of scarlet columbine on a gray rock overhanging a dark pool. Unconsciously the contrast of colors struck her artistic eye, and she made use of it all to hide her sudden emotion.

"Will you fetch me those columbines that wave from the rock and throw colored patches on the pool, Mr. Campbell?" said she quietly.

But when he had gone her hand went for support to the column of the beech, her bosom rose and fell and her wide eyes dilated, then half closed.

"Oh, dear God," she prayed inwardly,
"I've never had any one in my whole life really to love me. And he is so big and so knightly. Don't let me imagine a vain thing that would break my heart. Let me remember that I am plain—and that he is just kind."

"Here," cried Campbell cheerfully, coming back with a bunch of the columbine and handing it to her. "The scarlet just matches your lips, little maid." It was not alone her lips that were scarlet now; a flame spread hotly over her cheeks.

In a few moments she jumped up, laughing, smoothing out her blue gingham frock. "If ever I come to regard myself as a bewitching fairy princess I'll hold you responsible, sir. But I must be going now. I'm still Cinderella," she added. "I promised mother to make the salad dressing for luncheon."

And so the fragrant summer month drifted irresponsibly on.

One warm evening when the air was filled with the gold of fireflies, a maze of sparkles, now darkening, now brightening, Mrs. Austin came out on her side porch, which, for a wonder, was vacant, and swung her portly weight none too gently into the hammock. The silver of the moon was beginning to tremble through the leaves of the trees and to show patches of the garden path that wound toward the front gate.

"Those locusts sound awfully shrill," thought Mrs. Austin, trying ineffectually to put the hammock in motion.
Then she lay there inert, yielding to the drowsiness of the air.

She must have dozed off a bit, for suddenly she started as if the way of one who tries to capture one's waking wits.

"And you know, dear, that I love you. I guess I've been loving you right from the first, but I didn't realize it till!"

Two figures had just passed the moonlit patch in the path and were emerging into the shadows that stretched toward the gate, so Mrs.
Austin couldn't exactly see who they were, but she recognized Campbell's rich, deep voice.

"At last!" she cried, smiling broadly.
"Well, Jane deserved it—and she'll have a good husband." She raised herself up in the hammock. Sleep had fled.

Now, just at that moment Sarah, the cook, who had been buying some ribbon and roching in one of the village shops, happened to enter the front gate. As she came abreast of the wide porch Mrs. Austin leaned over the railing.

"Sarah," she whispered, with maternal pride in her voice, "was that Miss Jane who went out of the gate then with Mr. Campbell?" It was a statement rather than a question.

"No'm," said Sarah, looking up quickly; "that wasn't Miss Jane, ma'am; it was just Miss June."

Catalogue of Misnomers.

"A silver shoehorn is a misnomer," said a philologist. "So is a wooden milestone. So is a steel pen."

A shoehorn is a piece of horn, according to its name. How can it be made of silver, then? In like manner a milestone can't be made of wood—though they have them, the same as nutmegs in Connecticut—nor can a pen, which strictly means a feather, be made of steel.

"Irish stew is a dish unknown in Ireland. Jerusalem artichokes were never heard of in Jerusalem. Prussian blue does not come from Prussia, but from the red prussiate of potash."

"Galvanized iron is not galvanized.
It is zinc coated. Catgut is not the gut of cats, but of sheep. Kid gloves do not come from kid skins, but from lamb skins."

"Sealing wax has no wax in it, nor is it a byproduct of the seal. Wormwood bears no relation either to wood or worms. Rice paper is never made from rice. Salt is not a salt.

A Lazy Feet.

Laziness does not always confer the long life claimed for it by Dr. Herbert Snow. Of proverbial laziness was Thomson, the poet, drowsing away the greater part of his life in his garden at Richmond, listening to nightingales, writing the interminable poems that everybody now admires and nobody reads. There he could often be seen standing eating the peaches off the trees, "with his hands in his pockets."
Such an instance of indolence would be hard to beat and should, one would think, have added at least ten years to his life. But Thomson died at forty-eight.—London Chronicle.

INTEND TO ANNEX CANADA.

Illinois Association Organized to Remove All Tariff Duties.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—The annexation of Canada, tentatively, and the establishment of reciprocal trade relations by a renewal of all tariff duties with the British Dominion, specifically, is the purpose of an organization to be known as the British Association of Illinois, which was perfected here last night.

The recent speech made in Chicago before the meeting of the Commercial Club by James J. Hill on "Reciprocal Relations With Canada," was responsible for the formation of the organization.

LIKE A THIEF IN THE NIGHT.

That's how pain comes. We sit near an open window, get stiff neck or sore back. Perhaps cool off too quickly after exertion—rheumatism develops.

Spend what you may, but money can't buy anything better than Polson's Nervine. It penetrates powerfully to reach deep tissues—that's why it cures aches that all else can't touch. For outward application we guarantee five times more strength than in any other liniment. Inwardly it's harmless and as sure as the herald of good news at once. Don't accept a substitute for Polson's Nervine, which is the one great household panacea of today.

C. P. R. Cancels Contract.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 24.—The C.P.R. has decided to cancel its working arrangement with the Alaska Steamship Co., by which the steamer Indianapolis has been left without any winter opposition on the Victoria-Seattle route, and replaces the Princess Beatrice on this run Dec. 1. This action was taken at the request of the local board of trade.

The Muir Fund.

Toronto, Nov. 24.—Six hundred and seventy-five dollars has been realized toward the Muir memorial fund by the city school children's contributions.

OR, FOR A CLEAR COMPLEXION.

A clear complexion is the outward evidence of inward cleanliness. In bad health the face becomes a sign-board, telling of disease within. If yellow, bile is not properly secreted; if pallid, the kidneys are faulty; if skin is murky and dark circles beneath the eyes, look for constipation. Whatever the cause, the face can be purified with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are mild, safe, purifying and vitalizing in their action. They give a marvelous rosy tint to the cheeks, brighten the eyes and establish health that defies age and disease. Sold everywhere in 25c. boxes.

College Endowments.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 24.—Chair-Gov. Dunsmuir has endowed a chair of chemistry and mining in the McGill University College of British Columbia, to the extent of $1,500 annually, to be replaced by a permanent endowment of $50,000. A. C. Flummerfelt, towards the endowment of a chair of civil engineering, has awarded $500 annually, to be replaced by a permanent endowment of $10,000, and Hon. F. L. Carter Cotton, $500 annually, to be replaced by a permanent endowment of $10,000.

THIS TONIC BUILDS UP.

Many medicines stimulate, break down, leave the system worse than ever. Ferrerozine is different—it's a blood-former, a nerve-strengthening, a body-builder. Pale anemic girls are given color and vigor. The tired and sleepless are strengthened and re-energized. "Better than all tonics," writes Mrs. Perrozzone, of Woodstock. "I was completely run down, cheeks were blanched, lips white and had every sign of anemia. Ferrerozine added to my weight, gave me strength, ambition and cheerfulness. Nothing better. Try Ferrerozine yourself, 50c. per box at all dealers."

How do you like the cheese, sir? asked the waiter.

"It's no half bad," replied the diner. "Very sorry, sir, but we were assured it was not quite ripe."

The worries of a weak and sick mother are only begun with the birth of her child. By day her work is constantly interrupted and at night her rest is broken by the wailing of the peevish, puny infant. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It lightens all the burdens of maternity, giving to mothers strength and vigor, which they impart to their children. In over thirty years of practice Dr. Pierce and his associate staff of nearly a score of physicians have treated and cured more than half a million suffering women. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence is strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

ODD COURTS MARTIAL.

Solema Farces That Have Been Enacted in the British Navy.

It is a rule in the British navy that when a ship is cast away or otherwise lost a court martial must sit in order to apportion the blame. Sometimes these courts really try and condemn those that are held to be responsible. At other times their duties are, from the very nature of the catastrophe, more or less nominal.

Thus, when the Serpent was lost off the Spanish coast, a court martial assembled and solemnly "tried" three ordinary bluejackets, the sole survivors, although they of course had no more to do with the error in navigation which led up to the catastrophe than the man in the moon.

A similar solemn farce was enacted after the loss of the Captain in the bay of Biscay, when 483 officers and men lost their lives. In this case a gunner named James May, one of the eighteen who escaped from the wreck, was the nominal "culprit." The verdict was that the loss of the ship was due to instability and faulty construction. This really amounted to a vote of censure on Mr. Cowper Coles, the designer, but as he went down with the ungainly monster he had created he was beyond the reach of either blame or praise.

On another occasion a small "mildy" of thirteen years of age was put upon his trial, and once, it is said, a court martial assembled on a cat, which chanced to be the sole living thing found aboard a derelict frigate.

LIVING SECOND HAND.

It is Quite a Common Thing in New York City.

Half the people of New York live second hand—that is, they dress second hand, furnish their houses second hand and wear secondhand jewelry.

There are stunning looking young women who wear nothing but Paris gowns all the year round. They cannot afford to go to Paris for such clothing, and they won't have anything that isn't "good style." They dress almost entirely out of the secondhand stores on Sixth and Seventh avenues, where anything from a hat to a pair of silk stockings is offered for sale at a third its original value. They would rather appear a trifle shabby and very effective than brand new and "shabby."

One woman noted for her "good style" and richness of apparel buys all her frocks at a secondhand establishment and then has them dyed black to make them look new. A little bride who hates that new look which the average bride suit possesses fitted out her entire apartment through advertisements of sales of secondhand furniture by private parties. Everything from her sideboard to her rugs looks like a family heirloom. There are many articles published in the papers and magazines on "How to Live Well on Nothing a Year," but the New Yorker could write a whole volume on "How to Live Well on Nothing a Year" if he chose to.

A Queer Fact About Vision.

In the eye itself nothing things may go in which give us wrong sensations, which, although not truly illusions, are very much like them. Thus, when we suddenly strike our heads or faces against something in the dark we see "stars," or bright sparks, which we know are not real lights, though they are quite as bright and sparkling as if they were. When we close one eye and look straight ahead at some word or letter in the middle of this page, for example, we seem to see not only the thing we are looking at, but everything else immediately about it and for a long way on each side. But the truth is there is a large round spot somewhere near the point at which we are looking in which we see nothing. Curiously enough, the existence of this blind spot was not discovered by accident, and nobody every suspected it until Mariotte reasoned from the construction of the eyeball that it must exist and proceeded to find it.

Man Against Horse.

A man (Shrub) has run ten miles in 50 minutes 40 seconds; another man (Hutchins) has run 300 yards in 30 seconds; another man (George) has run a mile in 4 minutes 12 seconds. Of all running records this last appears most unapproachable, and it seems likely to stand for a very long time. Men like Shrub, Bacon and "Deerfoot," who have covered very close on twelve miles in the hour, could certainly hold their own with most carriage horses over a good road. If the gait chosen were walking instead of running, the quadruped would be badly worsted.—Grand Magazine.

Not Quite a Tempest.

A young gentleman with an unusual voice insisted upon singing at a social gathering.

"What does he call that?" inquired a disgusted guest.

"The Tempest," I think," answered another.

"Don't be alarmed," said an old sea captain present. "That's no tempest. It is only a squall and will soon be over."

THOUGHT COLD WOULD TURN TO CONSUMPTION

HEAD HOW DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP CURED

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 26th, 1906. The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir: As I am one of the thousands that have been benefited by your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I thought it my duty to give you a description of my case. "I am 19 years of age and was always in the best of health until last spring when I caught a severe cold by going about with wet feet. It settled in my chest and all the remedies I tried would not stir it. My friends began to fear it had turned to consumption and were advising me to go east and see a specialist. One day my father brought home a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I laughed at the idea of its being any good and refused to take it, and only as a last resource would I. When I had finished one bottle I had only a slight cold left and before I had taken a quarter of the next I was as well as ever I was, if not better, so you can see a God-sent medicine was to me. I never fail to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to my friends and they all use it. To show my full appreciation of this remedy I will gladly answer any letters in reference to it. Believe me, Sincerely yours,

Miss Winnifred D. Smith.

Homesick Spencer.

When Herbert Spencer was a boy his father sent him away from home to school. The youngster became homesick and, with 2 shillings in his pocket, made his way home, over 120 miles, in three days, walking most of the way. He did forty-eight miles the first day and forty-seven on the second. On the third day a friendly coach driver took him most of the way for nothing.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

For a Slender Silver Ring

By M. MAUDE WRIGHT

"I never will marry a man who does not think enough of me to give me anything less than a diamond ring." These are the very words I used," said Amelia Jones as she flashed a diamond before Mrs. Berkley's astonished eyes.

"And Bob?"

"Oh, he first looked surprised, then angry; muttered something about the ring being set with my birthday stone and that it was the best he could afford. Then he walked off without another word."

"Of course he came back or you would not be wearing the ring."

"I must confess that I was a little bit frightened, for I do think a heap of Bob, and you never know what a man will do, but he came back the very next day and brought me this beautiful diamond ring. You see, he really cares for me," said Amelia.

"Well," said Mrs. Berkley, "I don't see how he could afford it, for he is not as well off as Joe was before we were married."

A sudden thought struck her, for she slyly concealed her left hand, but before Amelia had noticed the action.

"Oh, Mrs. Berkley," she said impulsively, "do let me see your wedding ring. I do not remember noticing it. I know it must be something fine, for they do say that Joe Berkley was heels over head in love with you before you were married."

A flush spread over Mrs. Berkley's face.

"It is not a diamond," she faltered. "I am sure, then, it is something equally nice. Now, Mrs. Berkley, please don't be so modest," said Amelia as she wickedly pulled the hand from its hiding place, revealing a very slender band of silver.

"Oh!" Perhaps Amelia put more meaning into this exclamation than she intended, but there certainly was scorn. "Is this the kind of a ring Mr. Berkley gave you? He should be ashamed of himself, and he could have afforded to give you a diamond ring better than Bob could afford to give me one. Of course he cared for you, but men have strange ways of showing their love sometimes."

The flush on Mrs. Berkley's face grew deeper as she pulled her hand away.

"It was made out of a dime," there was no further explanation. "I left some beans in the oven and must," said she and left.

When she reached her home she went up to her room and snatched the ring from her finger as if it burned and threw it into a bureau drawer out of sight.

"I never will wear it again—never!" She stamped her foot angrily on the carpet. "He didn't care for me or he never would have given me a ring that would hold me up to scorn. Oh, yes; he has been good to me, but then he is good to his clerks, his dog and every thing else." Her pride had been wounded.

She hoped her husband would miss the ring and thus give her a chance to say something, but if he did not miss the ring he missed something else—her usual cheery chat.

"Are you ill, Frances?" he asked, with real concern in his voice. "No," she answered curtly. "Has anything happened, then?"

"Oh, enough has happened," she said coldly.

Her tones caused him apprehension. "Amelia Jones and Bob Dalesford are engaged," she said finally, not knowing just how to begin.

"Is that all?" he laughed.

Mrs. Berkley did not smile. "Bob gave Amelia a beautiful diamond ring, which showed that he cared something for her."

Something in her tone made him look down at the finger that should have worn the wedding ring.

She noticed his glance and answered it. "I never will wear it again, for you did not care anything for me when you gave me such a ring as that—a paltry ten cent ring, a target for ridicule! You could have afforded to have given me a diamond ring better than Bob Dalesford could afford to give Amelia."

Several days had passed since the haggard look that had settled down on her husband's face, and when she looked into the glass she knew that her own face was getting pale.

Several days had passed since when another diamond was flashed before Mrs. Berkley's eyes; this time the ring was in the hand of her husband.

"I have brought you a diamond to show that I care for you—yes, I care very much indeed," he said earnestly. "Give me your hand, and we will see how it will fit." He tried to speak playfully.

"I don't want the diamond. How can I wear two wedding rings?"

Then he noticed the slender silver band on her finger. A happy light lit up his face.

"I want you to wear the diamond ring anyway. Give me the silver ring, and I will wear it next my heart out of sight."

"I am going to wear the silver ring always," said Mrs. Berkley determinedly. Then, suddenly and severely, "Joe Berkley, how much did you pay for that diamond?"

"Three hundred dollars."

"Where did you get the money? You told me when you bought that last lot of goods that you only had $50 left in the bank." A frightened look came into her face. "You didn't!"

"No, I did not borrow or steal it. I sold the store, and tomorrow I take my old place as clerk in it; just where I was when we were married."

"Joe Berkley, I had just come to the conclusion that I was a fool, but I never dreamed you were one too!"

"If I thought a diamond was necessary to show that I loved you."

"Well, if you care for me now you will take that ring back to the jeweler, and then you will march right down the street and buy back the store. Make whatever explanations you wish, but buy back the store."

The very next day Mrs. Berkley went to call on Amelia Jones.

"Oh, Mrs. Berkley, how glad I am to see you. I used you so horrid the other day. Can you ever forgive me?" exclaimed Amelia as she drew her into the room.

"Certainly. There was a little bit of romance in connection with the ring made out of a dime that I thought you would be interested in," began Mrs. Berkley without any preliminaries as soon as she was seated. "I first met Mr. Berkley on a street car. I pulled out a dime to pay the conductor when it slipped from my fingers and fell to the floor. Joe Berkley, who was sitting near, sprang up to search for it, but just then the car stopped at my destination, and I had no time to wait for the lost coin. Mr. Berkley slipped a nickel into my hand, saying he would pay my fare and keep the dime when he found it. I thanked him and left the car. The next day we met on the car again, and of course it was natural that I should ask him if he had found the dime. He had, and this opened the way for further conversation. We met often after this, and—well, you know the rest. Mr. Berkley had the dime made into a ring, and he asked me to wear it always."

"You see why I prize it above any diamond ring he could give me." Her voice was full of feeling as she finished.

"How fine!" Amelia's eyes were shining with a new light. "No, the kind of a ring does not matter, after all," she added softly as it to herself. "I believe I will tell Bob that I prefer the ring set with my birthday stone; he really could not afford the diamond anyway."

We Would All Like It.

A $75,000 automobile rolled through the $60,000 bronze gates and up the $35,000 winding avenue to the $20,000 marble steps. Descending from the machine, the billionaire paused a moment to view the smiling $500,000 landscape. Across the $800,000 lawn a $125,000 silver lake lay sleeping in the shades of early summer evening, and beyond it rose a lordly $80,000 hill, whose crest, cloaked with forest at an expense of $200,000, glowed in the last golden rays of the setting sun. The billionaire sank luxuriously into a $2,000 ivory porch chair and rested his feet on the rosewood railing of the $160,000 veranda. "It is pleasant," he observed, "to get back to nature once in awhile. After the cares and the worries of the business day I certainly love to run out to this quiet little $60,000 country club of ours and taste a bit of simple life. It is good to keep in touch with the soil, for what is man but dust after all?" Feeling restored, he passed in through the $400,000 doorway to his $1,500 dinner.—Newark News.

Many a reader of the fictitious adventures of the famous hero of the "Munchausen" (which was first published in English at Oxford during the lifetime of this prince of all liars) has no conception that the hero was a real person. Baron Hieronymus Karl Freidrich von Munchausen was a Hanoverian nobleman, a subject of the first three Georges. He was born in 1720 and died in 1797. He took service in a Russian cavalry regiment, but retired in old age to his ancestral estate at Bodenwerder, in Hanover, where he became notorious for the magnificent lies about his military adventures with which he used to entertain his neighbors at his hospitable board. A collection of these stories, entitled "Vademecum fur lustige Leute," was published at Berlin in 1781 without the baron's permission. The English work, "Baron Munchausen's Narrative of His Marvellous Travels and Campaigns in Russia," was an expansion and improvement of the Berlin collection.

Attending to the Ears.

It is specially needful to daily remove the wax at the entrance of the ear, or it will harden and become most unsightly. This wax must never be removed by a sharp instrument, or the delicate membrane inside the ears will be injured, and inflammation may ensue, which might eventually cause deafness. If the ears irritate, gently rub them with the fingers. Do not allow anything else to be used. Warm water is better to use to wash them with than cold, and unscented soap is preferable to scented. If the wax becomes very hard, it can be easily softened by pouring in a few drops of tepid olive oil at night. Then plug the ear with cotton wool and sleep with that ear uppermost. In the morning gently syringe it out with soap and warm water, using an ear syringe for the purpose. If you cannot get pure olive oil, warmed glycerine will answer the purpose equally well.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds up the strength of the Heart, and thus the cause of all this painful, debilitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds up the strength; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE.

Note From Walter Quigley of Propeller Osborne.

Goderich, Nov. 24.—What looks like a message from the deep was picked up in a bottle on the shore of Lake Huron at Port Albert yesterday by Mrs. James Hayden. The bottle contained this note:

"Look for me. The one that finds the bottle. Good-bye. Put this in the paper. Do it quick. (Signed) Walter Quigley, steamer Osborne."

The Osborne is a propeller of 4,300 tons and rated 41. She was reported at the Michigan Soo on Tuesday at 6 o'clock and has not yet reached Detroit.

Tried to Hang Himself.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 23.—Martin Kerwin, a cattle buyer of Waukegan, Ont., attempted to commit suicide early Thursday morning in the St. Clair County Jail at Port Huron by hanging himself to the bars of his cell with his suspenders. Sheriff Moore cut him down, saving his life. Kerwin was arrested Wednesday evening for being drunk, and felt his disgrace keenly.

Rushed Into Stores Shrieking and Fainting—Police Appeared to Go Wild With Lust For Revenge and

—Thirty-two Arrests Made.

Hamilton, Nov. 26.—As a result of the riots Saturday night there are probably two hundred men and women in Hamilton nursing broken heads and lame shoulders. There were no fatalities, but many were seriously hurt.

Col. Septimus Denison, who is in command of the soldiers, was assaulted with a whip and so stiff and sore from blows hurled at him that he can scarcely walk.

Arthur Bertrand, a strikebreaker, was hit on the spine and seriously hurt that it is said that he will die. Sheriff Middleton read the riot act from the city hall at 7.15. He was jeered and hooted until his voice was drowned. He had hardly finished when sixty policemen with batons in hand rushed down the steps and started to strike out right and left. Two score of men and women, some of them on their way to the stores and to the market, were knocked down.

Dragons Charged. The soldiers, although they were showered with bricks and subjected to all kinds of insults, kept their tempers. They struck a few of the obstreperous with the flat of their swords or poked them with the butt of their rifles, but anyone who tried to escape was allowed to do so.

It was different with the police. They had been pelted with stones and had been working for days with only snatches of sleep. When they were turned loose on the crowds some of them appeared to go wild with the lust for revenge. They ran after people who were doing their best to get out of the way, and they knocked everybody they could reach down with no reference to age or sex.

Women and Children Beaten. Women and children were beaten down as men. At one time there were a score of people lying on the pavement in front of the City Hall, who had been beaten over the heads.

Through the police and soldiers were rushing the people about the streets in the vicinity of the hall, the gang kept up a regular volley on the three cars that operated on the East King street run. The windows of the cars were covered with wire netting, and the strikebreakers and detectives stood inside and insulted the crowd. At the corner of Walnut and King streets a brick knocked the trolley off and the car was stopped. From the New Victoria Hotel opposite a shower of bricks came pouring down.

Strikebreakers All Hurt. Half a wagon load of brick bats and stone was picked upon the street after the car was moved on. The strikebreakers on the cars were stoned and not one of them escaped uninjured.

All the police and soldiers had to rush to the rescue. The soldiers and police raided several stores. The Arcade was cleaned out and another raid was made on McDonald's pool room.

Col. Denison said that he was struck by a stone that came from an alleyway near the building, and the police rushed in and used their batons on every one in the place, throwing them about by other officers on the outside.

It was about 10 o'clock that the cars were taken in. They were not operated after the fuss on the corner of King and Walnut streets.

Traveler Assaulted. As a sample of the way the police acted, J. Merrick, a Toronto traveler, stepped out of the Royal Hotel to get into a cab he had called to take him to the station. He had no sooner reached the pavement when he was struck down by a policeman.

Judson Ryerson, 297 North Wellington street, was arrested for assaulting Col. Denison. He, with Clarence Ryerson, was driving up James street.

Col. Denison told them to turn back. Judson Ryerson struck the colonel over the head with the whip, and then started off with his horse on the gallop. The colonel stopped him and both men were arrested.

Thirty-Two Arrests Made. The police and soldiers made thirty-two arrests, but only twenty of the prisoners are charged with riotous conduct.

Bail was refused for all the prisoners, and they spent the night in the jail.

Col. Denison's Regret. Col. Denison complimented the police on the way they acted, and said his only regret was that they had not used their batons more freely. He issued the following warning yesterday: "I assumed the position that after the Riot Act is read no respectable, law-abiding person will be found on the streets, and those that are will have to take their chances. If we Satisfaction with conditions make a firm foundation upon which to build contentment.

We're off!

We're now in the race for Fall and Winter business.

If we don't get our share, it will not be our fault.

If the world's best Clothing, Hats and Toggery at moderate prices is any inducement, there will be something doing here from now on.

If our Smart, Long Cut, French Back Suits at $10, $12 or $15 are as handsome and reasonable in price as our friends say they are, we won't have enough to go around.

We hope to win the race by virtue of our ability to give every patron the best of Clothes and Toggery his money can buy of anybody anywhere.

That's quite a shot, but we can back up the assertion.

We have the only Wardrobe System in town.

are called out to-morrow we will clear the streets at any cost, and people for their own safety had better be in their own homes. The antagonism shown by seemingly good citizens to the requests of myself and other officers surprised me more than I can say, and I fail to see where there is any justification for such conduct. The people do not realize the consequences of not observing the law after the Riot Act is read.

Mayor Reports Magistrate. Mayor Biggar called upon Police Magistrate Jells to accompany the soldiers, to give instructions when they were to fire, as they cannot fire except in self-defence unless they get instructions from a justice of the peace. The magistrate refused to act in that capacity, and told the mayor to do it himself. The mayor reported him to the Attorney-General's Department.

After the riots of Saturday night the city was comparatively quiet last night. The cars were taken in shortly after 8 o'clock, and while they were being moved there were no disorders or organized attacks upon them. The streets, in spite of all the warnings, were filled with the usual Sunday night crowds, but everybody kept on the move, and there were no disorders or hurled calls for the police from the car barns. The soldiers did not have to be called out yesterday.

Long List of Casualties. The list of Saturday night's casualties is very long. Constables Hallisey and Barrett were both laid out with stones and very seriously injured. Some of those who had their heads bound up were: Peter McRoberts, Florence street; Hans Hanson, John Mepham, J. Montgomery, Thomas Collins and a host of others. Constables Smith, May, Reynolds and Hill were all wounded.

Acid was thrown on the horses of the Dragons, and one of them became unmanageable and backed through a plate glass window at Treble's. Stopped the Armories. Late last night the armories, in which the soldiers are quartered, were stoned. A big gang gathered at the southeast corner of the Stuart street barns and shattered the windows. The police were called out, and they arrested the following on the charge of being disorderly:

Alfred Bailey, 136 Princess street.
Thomas Wilson, 187 East Simcoe street.
Robert Speers, 362 North Ferguson avenue.

Frank Fitzgerald, the man who was assaulted by a strikebreaker, was reported to be somewhat improved last night.

IT HAS A FUTURE

Great Things Predicted For Roy Brise's Mining Property In Wabigoon

The following is from a recent issue of the Wabigoon Star, a weekly paper published in the Manitou mining district:

For the past week Roy M. Brise has been inspecting the western part of H. W. 133, Aaron's Point, with a view to future development of the property. Several mineral-bearing veins have been inspected and considerable work done. A number of shots were put in, and the ore bodies thus exposed, sampled for testing. Pannings made on the property have shown free gold, and the ore has a very promising appearance. Assays from the previous development have given good values in gold, and some silver and other minerals.

A very important and interesting feature in this ore is the presence of platinum, which has been shown by careful analysis to exist in irregular bunches, some yielding the metal in the commercial quantities.

Should the future development of this property prove the platinum to exist throughout as in the quantities already secured, it will become one of the most important mines in Canada. Arrangements will be made for the working of the location at the earliest opportunity.

MEMORIAL FUND

An appeal is being made to the Public school children of the Province by a committee of the Toronto Board of Education, for subscriptions towards the fund for a monument to the late Alex. Muir, who taught for over 50 years in County York and city of Toronto.

The late Mr. Muir was the author of the stirring patriotic song, "The Maple Leaf Forever," so well known and loved by Canadian children. The object is a laudable one and should receive a cheerful response. Subscriptions to be sent to W. C. Wilkinson, Esq., Treasurer of the Fund, City Hall, Toronto.

One of the best ways to judge a man's character is to find out the kind of fun he likes best.
