"WE hope to win"? By God's help, "Yes"; Though of the "when" no man may guess, Since there must yet be weary strain, Alternate joy, alternate pain, Till Victory come, at end, to bless! There is the war with selfishness-A sluggish fiend that doubts distress With hearts that fail and lips that feign; With vice and drink and greed of gain -These are the wars in which, not less,

I have heard of cases in which men have exposed themselves with no military object, and perhaps only to gratify curiosity. We cannot lose good men like this. We shall want them all if the German advance.

The department, under the instructions of the Prime Minister, is preparing to investigate all cases where there is the slightest suspicion of wrong-doing; and following the Public Accounts Committee in reference to the purchase of war supplies left no other course open to the Premier; and no other course open to the Premier; and it is earnestly to be hoped that this pain- APPEAL COURT ORDERS ful and most disgraceful incident will have a salutary effect in purging the country of gross corruption in the handling of public money. The severess fighting, perhaps, has been in the Vosges Mountains, where the Prench, troops have made further gains of important heights, and are now well within German territors in upper Alsace. To the east of Ypres, in Belgium, the Allies have taken an important of the village of Zillibeke. This was accomplished by successful mining.

In the eastern theatre there seems to have been no fighting of consequence in Poland; but in and north of the Carpathians fierce fighting has continued, though at the close of the week with diminished force consequent on the spring weather prevailing. The Russians have maintained all their previous gains, and made further advances in this district; and they now seem to be likely soon to take the Uzsok pass, probably the most important pass in the Carpathians, for which they have been so long contending.

Serbia is again threatened with invasion, though she has not been disturbed in the past week.

There was some heavy fighting early in the week in Mesopotamia, not far from the head of the Persian Gulfs between Turkish regular troops to the estimated number of 15,000, and a British Indian force. The engagement resulted in a victory for the British troops, the enemy being forced to retire. The losses are stated to have been heavy on both sides.

Dear Mrs. Street:—
What a happy thought! I think it was splendid of you, and Mrs. Gifford to be able to collect sufficient to endow a bed, in the Duchess of Connaught's Canadian Hospital, for our men, and it gives me great pleasure, to add to my now complete list the name of "All Saints Church, St. Andrews." Next week it will be published. The hearty response to the call has been a delight to me during the last few weeks, and I know at headquarters (Toronto) they cannot but think New Brunswick has done well. The first of the week I intend sending the amount of the fully subscribed beds,

Yours sincerely

OBITUARY

MR, WILLIAM CARLETON

By the death, Tuesday morning, April 13. of Mr. William Carleton, at 239 City Road, St. John lost one of its oldest and most highly esteemed residents. In his younger days he carried on the blockmaking business with his brother Robert, near fhe ferry floats. On June 19, 1865, when the provincial administration had charge of the customs, he was appointed locker. After 39 years of faithful service he was superannuated in 1904. His asso ciates in the Custom House showed their appreciation of his many excellent qual ities by presenting him on his retiremen with a gold-headed cane. The presenta tion was made on behalf of the officials by Hon. A. T. Dunn, collector of the port, in the collector's room, in a graceful speech, to which the recipient made a suitable reply. The deceased was born in St. John on Nov. 20, 1831, and is sur vived by his wife, formerly Miss Bridge O'Connor, three sons and one daughter-

The quantity of field root and vegetable seeds that may be produced in Europe during the present year or the next is highly speculative. This work requires much skilled labor of which there must be a marked shortage for agricultural purposes. European Governmental direction of increased food production and rection of increased food production and rection of increased food production and rection of increased food production and relatively high prices for food crops will doubtless decrease the areas devoted to these seed crops and to stock seed roots which would normally be grown this year for transplanting in 1916.

Canadian farmers and gardeners should give this unstable situation their serious consideration. The soil and climatic conditions in different parts of Canada are equally favorable if not superior to those for Europe. The growing of these seeds in quantity for commerce has been limited in Canada by the higher price of labor and we private cuties on any matters of public interest, or from using his vote as a citizen like any other private man.
