

AL BARTLETT IN PRISON

At Rampart Charged With Theft

Alleged to Have Stolen Lumber From the U. S. Government.

Al Bartlett is in jail at Rampart awaiting trial before the United States district court on the charge of theft.

Some weeks ago Bartlett was arrested on the charge of stealing lumber from the government, the lumber having been shipped to Rampart last year for use in constructing government buildings. He was given a preliminary hearing before a U. S. commissioner and bound over in the sum of $800 to appear before the district court. Not being able to give the required bail he was committed to jail. It is said Judge Webershan will arrive at Rampart some time during the present month for the purpose of hearing the Bartlett and other cases.

Al Bartlett came to Dawson from Rampart last March on his way to Seattle to attend the trial of his brother Mike charged with murdering his wife. On reaching Dawson he learned that the trial which originally had been set for hearing in April would not come up until July, therefore, instead of going on to Seattle he remained a few days in Dawson and returned down the river to Rampart, expecting to go to the outside after the opening of navigation to attend the trial of his brother. Now, however, he has troubles of his own. He narrowly escaped being frozen to death on his way up last spring. He came by way of the Tanana.

SUICIDE OCCURS THIS MORNING

That grim spectre suicide who has visited Dawson so many times during the past five years has again made its appearance and claimed a victim in the person of George Weeks an elderly man probably between 50 and 60 years of age.

The tragedy occurred at the S. Y. T. lodging house on Second avenue at 7:50 this morning.

Mr. Matthew O. Carlson, the night clerk of the lodging house, was sitting at the table in the large hall at the top of the stairs, which is used as the office, when he was startled by the report of a revolver and the falling of a body accompanied by groans. He immediately rushed to the room where he found the deceased lying on the floor near the bed, the revolver under the bed and a bullet wound in the chest on the left side. After Carlson entered the room the deceased moved his head a couple of times and then expired, it being but a few moments after the shot was fired until the spark of life was entirely extinguished.

That the deed was premeditated is evident from the circumstances surrounding the case although it seems that it took him some time to make up his mind to it.

On Monday morning at 11 a. m. deceased entered the lodging house and engaged a room. At first he asked for a cheap lodging and then he said that a single room would suit him better and he was given the key to room No. 3. He entered the room and did not appear again for over 24 hours or until between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he went across the street to one of the Japanese restaurants and got 15 minutes and as he came back he was heard to say to a group of men, "Boys, pretty bad grub here." That was the last word he was heard to speak. He re-registered and again entered his room. He was seen only once after that when some time later he brought a small sized empty whiskey flask from his room and put it on the shelf in the office. Without speaking to anyone he re-entered his room and the next, heard from him was when the night clerk heard the shot and entered the room.

THE POPE STILL LINGERS

Special to the Daily Nugget.
Rome, July 8.—This morning's bulletin regarding the Pope says the night passed tranquilly enough although he had no restorative sleep. His breathing was not as free as during the previous night. The general condition of the patient is not tranquilizing because of the state of depression.

Last night's operation gave the Pope some really peaceful sleep for the first time since his illness began, but Pontiff pathetically said to the doctors: "There is one thing your skill cannot accomplish, namely, diminish my ninety-four years." The Pope continues irritable. At time he tries to kick off the bedclothes at the imminent risk of taking a fresh cold which would be absolutely fatal.

Paris reports declare that Cardinal Oreglia ordered the apartments of the Vatican, which are occupied by Camerlingo during interregnum, after Pope's death and election of new Pope, to be prepared. As Oreglia holds the post himself the action has caused much comment. Cardinal Rampollo declares the action indecent while the Pope is still alive and ordered work to cease.

Quiet in Court.

There was little or nothing doing today in the territorial courts. Before Mr. Justice Dugas a small case was heard in which judgment was speedily given. It concerned a sleigh in the possession of Rev. McRae, the suit being brought by the N. A. T. & T. Co. His lordship held that the sleigh must be returned within a certain date or the defendant would be required to pay for it in cash at a price that was fixed. There was nothing doing before Mr. Justice Craig, there being nothing ready for trial.

SUIT FOR FIVE PLUNKS

Heard in Police Court This Morning

In Which Accordions Figured and Parties Talked About Individual Veracity.

In Mr. Justice Macaulay's court this morning Joseph Golliman was given judgment against Nathan Jaffe for $5, the amount claimed to be due for services rendered and labor performed, being an accrued balance after services continuing through a period of fourteen months.

Both men are Hebrews and both took the oath with their hats on, kissing that portion of the Bible which starts with the books of Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers. Jaffe acknowledged owing Golliman the amount claimed but wished to offset it with two accordions—instruments of music or instruments of torture "accordeon" to the ear. (The writer thought of that himself.)

Jaffe asserted that Golliman had been entrusted with the instruments to sell for $5 each and that he had failed to either return the wind jammers or the money for them and that he was holding back the $5 in consequence.

Golliman asserted that he returned the accordions to the warehouse in April, that his honor and integrity had withstood the test of years—that, in fact, he had been in Winnipeg for 16 years and during all that period had never been arrested for stealing, neither had such an accusation been brought against him during his three years residence in Dawson.

Jaffe then wanted the case enlarged until he could bring witnesses to testify to his own veracity and to his contention that he, like Caesar's wife is beyond reproach.

His lordship said life was too short to waste so much of it over a claim for $5; that Jaffe had admitted the debt and if he desired to bring suit against Golliman for the accordion transaction he could do so. Judgment was accordingly given for the amount claimed.

Jaffe persisted in talking after judgment was given. Golliman retorted and not until his honor threatened to fine them each $50 for contempt of court did they enunciate the licious bivalve called the clam and shut up.

Jaffe is a restauranter and Golliman had been employed by him about the kitchens.

SITUATION REVIEWED.

It will avail the Sun nothing to make light of the manifest failure of Yukon's member of parliament to redeem his pledges to his constituency. The people have watched and waited and waited and watched and as yet have seen little or nothing to indicate any earnest endeavor to carry out the provisions of the platform upon which Mr. Ross was nominated and elected.

It is purely idle for the Sun to talk of betrayal and inconsistencies, other than as applied to Mr. Ross, for it was his own failure to meet the expectations of the voters that has led to such widespread defection in the ranks of those who supported him.

It needs only a brief review of the circumstances leading up to the present situation, to convince any unbiased observer that all the bad faith and insincerity involved lies with the Sun and those it professes to represent. The people rallied to the support of Mr. Ross last fall because he stood out prominently as the champion of the people against the Treadgold concession and other equally objectionable federal enactments.

The present commissioner, chief spokesman for Mr. Ross, took an advanced position against the concessions and his platform utterances in condemnation of Treadgold, were far more radical than have been any criticisms in this paper.

The Sun, taking its cue from Mr. Congdon, literally flayed Treadgold alive and lost no opportunity to express its equity to the concession octopus.

Mr. Ross himself was equally strong in his attitude and it was the faith thus engendered in the people that brought about his election—not as a party candidate but as a representative of the common interests of the people. Now, let us examine the sequel.

The day after Mr. Ross' election the Sun declared that the Liberal party had won the day—a breach of faith so utterly contemptible as to call for immediate repudiation on the part of Mr. Congdon.

This was passed over as being only one of innumerable "bad breaks" on the part of the Sun and caused little attention.

Later on came the matter of addressing parliament in connection with the concession evil. An attempt, which happily failed, was made to discourage the movement, it being alleged that Mr. Ross would be in parliament to attend to such matters. In due course of time parliament assembled, but the only attack made on Treadgold, and the only information bearing upon the subject, came from the Board of Trade of Dawson and other local organizations.

Then came the announcement that there are two sides to the Treadgold case—followed closely by the usal of the Yukon commissioner to vote for an anti-Treadgold memorial. The next step was the complete repudiation by the Sun of all it had previously said on the subject, and the publication of a column after column of matter designed to show that the Treadgold concession will confer vast benefits on the country.

Finally the public was informed that Mr. Ross had been absent from the house during the whole of the Treadgold debate, that he had retired to the Pacific coast and would not again take his seat during the present session,—and all this after repeated assurances that his health was in splendid condition.

Perhaps none of the foregoing incidents alone would have caused the people to lose faith, but taken as a whole they furnish a chain of circumstances which, indicates a clear intention to avoid the responsibilities assumed by Mr. Ross and other representatives of the government during the campaign.

Anyone who will take the facts as they have occurred, and consider them carefully and without bias or prejudice of any nature, must reach the conclusion that the general distrust that has been awakened is founded upon the strongest reasons possible.

POWER OF ATTORNEY EVIL IN ALASKA.

A party of American Senators will arrive in Dawson today en route down the river to examine into conditions as they are found to exist in the lower country. There are a number of Alaskans in the city and others who are familiar with affairs in our sister territory, and the benefit of their information should be given to the incoming party of statesmen. Probably the greatest evil from which Alaska suffers at the present time is the widespread abuse of the right to stake by power of attorney. It is undoubtedly a fact that entire districts have been tied up and their development hindered for years through the working of the power of attorney nuisance. In the Tanana country at the present time scores of claims are held by single individuals who have no intention of operating them and who hold them purely for speculative purposes.

Any law under which such abuses are possible is calculated to hinder development and restrain legitimate interests from investing a dollar. The power of attorney privilege should be abolished altogether or at least limited to such an extent that single individual may stake for no more than one person.

The laws in Alaska run to an extreme of laxity of which the foregoing furnishes probably the most striking example.

TANANA IS NOT SO BAD

A. C. Fasel Writes His Nephew, Rudy

High Grade Gold Being Taken Out—N.A.T. & T. Co.'s Auditor Has Faith.

Mr. Frank Bishopric who arrived on the steamer Power yesterday from the Tanana brought to Rudy Kalemborn a letter from his uncle Mr. A. C. Fasel who with his wife left Dawson for Fairbanks on the first trip of the Rock Island. Mr. Fasel is an observing, conservative man whose judgment may be relied upon.

The letter begins by stating that since his arrival at Fairbanks and within two or three weeks previous to the date of writing nearly all of the undesirable class had gotten away from the Tanana and gone down the river, leaving only a legitimate population that is going steadily ahead in the development of the camp. Among other things the letter says:

"Prospectors are coming in and going out every day and they bring most encouraging reports of the surrounding country. The trouble is they are nearly all broke. There are great opportunities here for getting interests in claims for grubstakes as the men must have the means of subsistence. With a ton or two of grub or the money to buy it a person could now obtain valuable interests. There is no doubt as to the richness of Pedro, Gold Stream, Fairbanks and Cleary creeks and there will be lots of gold taken from each of them by this fall. Grub here is very high and I advise that people coming in ship from the outside and by way of St. Michael. The gold taken out here is of very high grade, being worth from $18.50 to $19 per ounce. However, it goes in trade at $16. I propose to stay with the camp because it is bound to be a winner. As yet grub is scarce here but there will no doubt be more later on. Things needed here are flour, bacon, oatmeal, tea, coffee, smoking and chewing tobacco, overalls, Nos. 9 and 10 heavy shoes, baking powder, canned meats and vegetables."

The letter closes with an appeal for "any kind of reading matter." Another report of the Tanana was brought to Dawson by the officers of the N. A. T. & T. Co.'s steamer Power to the effect that the traveling auditor of that company which has opened a store at Fairbanks visited the camp three weeks and, after carefully looking over the field, instructed the manager of the store to allow the claim owners to have such goods as they may require on credit.

The action of the N. A. T. & T. Co. official would indicate that the new camp is not so bad as pictured by the arrivals on the Rock Island.

CANADA AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

The Forestry and Fisheries of That Country to Have Large Representation.

By LOUIS LARIVE.

St. Louis, Mo., June 20.—"Canada will take part in the Louisiana Purchase Exposition as a nation." Such was the answer given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, from his seat in the house of commons, to an inquiry made to the government by one of the Canadian members of parliament.

The great "silver-tongued" man of Canada meant what he said. The news just received from Ottawa, the seat of the Canadian government is to the effect that extensive preparations are being made to show to the world the immense resources possessed by the neighbors to the north.

Canada has grown and prospered wonderfully during the last decade. Its trade has increased to enormous proportions. Its crops have been such as to merit for Canada abroad the title of "granary of the world." Its mines and ore fields, particularly those of Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, have been developed in such a way as to set dreaming the most pessimistic and it is now generally conceded that the finest jewel of Great Britain's crown can more than supply its home market for minerals while it exports annually millions of dollars' worth of grain, fish, lumber and timber.

Of the industries based upon natural resources the fisheries rank second in Canada. This country has over 5600 miles of sea coast, in addition to inland seas, innumerable lakes, and a great number of rivers. The exports of the fishery products in 1897 amounted to $22,783,546. The home consumption is estimated at a value of $15,000,000, giving a total yield from the fisheries of nearly $38,000,000 annually, exclusive of the catch by foreign fishermen.

The sea, inshore and inland fisheries of Canada furnish cod, mackerel, haddock, halibut, herring, hake, salmon, shad, alewives, striped bass, smelt, lake trout, muskellunge, white fish, sturgeon, perch, black bass, brook trout, eels and gold-eye, besides oysters, lobsters, seals, whales and walrus.

The richest whaling regions in the world are said to exist in the Hudson bay and Arctic regions of Canada.

The Pacific coast fisheries furnish halibut, black cod, oyalachan, anchovy, herring, smelt, and many species of salmon and trout. The salmon of British Columbia are worth over $5,000,000 annually, and the total yield of the fisheries of that province exceeds $6,000,000.

Lumbering ranks third among the extractive industries of Canada and the forest wealth is very great. It is stated that 123 species of trees grow in that country, 94 occurring east of the Rocky mountains, and 29 on the Pacific coast. The forest belt extends a distance of about 4,000 miles east and west, with a breadth of some 700 miles. The trees consist principally of the following species: Black and white spruce, balsam pine, white pine, red pine, larch, balsam fir, balsam poplar, aspen, canyon birch, bird cherry, white cedar, Black ash and mountain ash occur sparingly in the southern part of this belt.

British Columbia is thought to possess the greatest compact reserve of timber in the world. The wooded area is estimated at 585,000 square miles and includes many kinds of timber. The Douglas spruce is the show tree of British Columbia and indeed of Canada.

The forests of Canada contain pine, spruce, hemlock, oak, elm, maple, beech, birch, butternut, hickory, bass wood, etc. Nearly 38 per cent of its whole area is forested.

In 1899 the capital invested in the pulp mills of Canada alone was about $15,000,000. The capacity of the mills was over 1200 tons per day. The value of the forest products exported in 1901 was nearly $33,000,000, and their total must have been at least three times that amount.

It will readily be seen that indeed Canada has something to show and she intends to spring a universal surprise next year. Mr. William Hutchison, Canadian exposition commissioner, is just back in Ottawa from Japan, where he represented his country at the Osaka exposition. Mr. Hutchison's trip to Japan is certain to be of considerable future benefit to Canada and already trial shipments of wheat and flour have been made to the far east country just visited by him.

The Canadian commissioner is now actively engaged in making preparations for the World's Fair at St. Louis. On his way home from Vancouver to Ottawa he made preliminary arrangements for a thoroughly representative exhibit of the timber, fisheries and mining industries of Canada. British Columbia will furnish the forest monster and an effort will be made to obtain the largest and longest piece of Douglas fir ever shown. The salmon canning industry of the Pacific coast and the numerous kinds of fish from the maritime provinces will be well represented at the exposition in St. Louis. Canada is second to none in her natural resources and her showing of next year will well prove it.

Baseball Pennant Now Being Made by Spalding & Co.

Jack Ellbeck is in receipt of a letter from the representative of the house of A. G. Spalding & Co., Chicago, the oldest and best known makers of the great national game. Acknowledgment is made of a previous letter and the statement is made that it will afford the house a great pleasure to contribute the pennant to be played for by the league this year. It is now in course of construction and the delay of its arrival will be but a short time. Old times are renewed by reference to the time when the sheriff played ball against A. G. Spalding, the head of the firm, way back in the seventies. The request is made that at the conclusion of the series the president or secretary forward to the house data concerning the play during the season, number of teams, names of players, results and the photograph of the winning aggregation. Such will be published in the base ball guide for next year.

Dawson newspapers containing accounts of the games and mention of the fact that the pennant was contributed by the Spalding house, which had been forwarded by Mr. Ellbeck, were gratefully acknowledged and a request was made that they be favored with others whenever convenient.

CLAIM WAS FORFEITED

Barrister Gwillim Loses a Hillside

Not Enough Work Done to Represent and Failed to Take Out Renewal in Time.

Gold Commissioner Senkler recently gave a decision in the case of Frank L. Gwillim vs J. B. Tyrrell et al in which the title to what is known as the Foss hillside opposite 44 below on Hunker on the left limit was involved. One of the questions at issue was as to whether or not the representation work required by the regulations had been performed for the previous year, the claim having been rejected by the defendant after the date of the renewal had expired. The decision, which is against the plaintiff, is as follows:

"The plaintiff was formerly the owner of what is known as the Foss hillside adjoining lower half, left limit No. 44 below discovery on Hunker creek, having obtained a certificate of assignment for said claim as partial security for $3375.00 owed him by Eugene W. Parks, one of the former owners of the claim.

"On the 2nd of August, 1901, the plaintiff had filed the usual affidavits as to representation work and received a certificate of work. The grant under which the plaintiff held the claim expired on August 2nd, 1902, and on November 3rd the defendant, Tyrrell, relocated said claim and received a grant therefor, the plaintiff having neglected to renew the property on or before the 2nd day of November, as required under the regulations.

"After reading the evidence of Sperling and Boyce, and hearing the other witnesses, I have come to the conclusion that the work done on the claim by the plaintiff, during the year that ended August 2nd, 1902, was not sufficient to represent the claim. Mr. Gwillim states that he paid more than $200 for what was done, but I am of the opinion this is not sufficient. It is his duty to see that it is done before the affidavits of representation are filed, and the fact of the certificate of work being issued does not prevent the defendant from going into the question of whether the representation work is done or not. In addition to this the renewal grant was not taken out within three months after the expiration of the former grant. From the condition of the ground on November 3rd I think the defendant was justified in considering the ground abandoned, and was entitled to stake.

"I think the plaintiff has no right to go into the question of what irregularities there were in the defendant's staking as he had forfeited his right to the ground owing to lack of work and failure to renew within the proper time. The protest is dismissed with costs."

Vessel Missing

San Francisco, June 27. — There was no sign of the steamship Minnetonka off the port up to noon today, and as the hours go by without news of the vessel the anxiety for her increases.

The vessel is on the way here from New York with a big cargo of general merchandise, and if she had made the speed that she is accredited with being able to make, she should have been in the harbor a week ago.

She would not have been far from the latitude of Valparaiso on June 3, when that port was swept by a storm that caused much damage to shipping there. It is thought by some that the overdue vessel might have been caught in that storm and suffered from it.

The steamship Peru arrived from a voyage from Panama yesterday along the route that would be taken by the Minnetonka, but her officers saw nothing of the vessel. When the Peru brought no news of the steamer insurance men interested in her covered their interests for reinsurance.

The rate opened at 10 per cent but the play on her was so heavy not to arrive that it was quickly advanced to 12 per cent and this morning it was further advanced to 18 per cent. This morning the Ching Wo came in the port from Manzanilla, but she saw nothing of the overdue ship and this report further increased the fears of the anxious ones.

The Minnetonka is a lake-built steamship, having been launched at Cleveland in 1901. She has a registered tonnage of 3,860 tons, and is owned by the American Navigation Company. She is bringing a load of freight under charter to the American Hawaiian Steamship Company of this port. She is in command of Capt. Evans, who formerly commanded the steamer Ascension on this coast.

Skagway Millionaires

Mark Twain was a millionaire for ten days once in his lifetime. He had a little more than nine days the best of several leading citizens of Skagway, who were millionaires for a little less than one day. The Skagway leading citizens, like unto the great humorist, were the owners of some very rich mines for a short time. It all happened this way:

In the pit from which the steam shovel is digging out gravel in the banks of a small stream near McDonald creek, at Watson, is a stratum of gravel that attracted the keen eye of J. P. Rogers, superintendent of the W. P. & Y. R. He mentioned this fact to Tom Howell, conductor of the gravel train, suggesting that he sample the dirt. Howell mentioned Rogers' suspicions to some of his train crew. A brakeman, Jack Urban, had a pocket full of spelter nuggets which he had picked up at the machine shops in this city, and he saw an opportunity to have some innocent amusement with Howell. One day the latter, acting on the suggestion of the superintendent, took a pan of dirt down to the creek to wash it out. Before he had completed the task, Urban succeeded in getting a pair of his nuggets into the pan. Howell found the nuggets and kept still until he found the superintendent again, when he handed him the nuggets. In the meantime Urban had salted the dirt in the bottom of the pit. J. P. Rogers went to Whitehorse at once looking for an expert. Among the first men he met was Dr. Scharschmidt, superintendent of the B. Y. N. The latter confessed that his chief business for 25 years had been experting placer mines, and without hesitation he pronounced the nuggets to be pure gold.

Now N. W. Watson, C. W. Hoekett, A. B. Nowell and others were taken into the scheme. About $190 was invested in miners' licenses, and the expedition moved on to the new strike. When they arrived on the ground, one of the party took a shovel full of dirt from the creek and washed it out, finding a $5 gold nugget therein. It was at this stage that plans were formulated. They would work the property for two years, and then sell out, etc., etc.

J. P. Rogers extended an invitation to N. W. Watson to spend the winter after next at his New York residence.

In the meantime Urban discovered that he had caught more game in his little trap than he had counted on, and gave the snap away.

That's all—Skagway Alaskan.

Dictator or Umpire

Would you rather be The Dictator of Venezuela, Or the Emperor of Germany, Or the Czar of all the Russias, Or the Umpire?

Pause and reflect.

The Dictator of Venezuela Every day, and then Has his mind upset— And his pleasure interrupted— By a revolution. Or perhaps a Power of Europe, Or two Powers, May be three. Or even the whole push, Come along and demand The cash he has put aside For a peaceful finish In Paris.

And the Emperor of Germany Is often disturbed While he is busy— Telling poets how to write Or musicians how to compose. Or lawmakers how to legislate, Or sailors how to sail, Or anything of that sort— With the agonizing thought That after all he owns Just a small slice Of the world! And some of the fellows Who have got the rest, Don't accept him At his own valuation.

While the Czar of Russia, Even when engaged In the pleasant task Of carrying up Turkey Or China, or Persia, Or any other old place, Can't sleep of nights For fear that some one Who wants to elevate the world Will take a whack at him And place a bomb under the bed That will do the job so well That he will never come down.

But the Umpire! In this great Republic! Where all men

Are born free and equal, He alone can defy The will of the people, While Governors, Senators, Presidents And even coal barons, Tremble before their voice He may stand serene And bid the frenzied crowd scream out While his decrees, At his sweet will, Bring sorrow or joy Unto vast multitudes; And great heroes, Men tried in a thousand battles, Quail before him And meekly retire into obscurity At his behest,— Ah, mighty umpire! To thee alone Has all power been given. —New York Times.

Cattle for Africa

Ottawa, June 25.—R. L. Borden in the house today read a newspaper dispatch which said that large shipments of American cattle were being made from Galveston, Texas, to South Africa. It was said that the shipments were dairy cattle purchased by the British government to restock the Boer farms in the Transvaal and Orange River colonies. Mr. Borden thought the cattle should be purchased in Canada, and the government should make representations to this effect to the Imperial authorities. He asked if the government had taken any steps in the matter. Hon. S. A. Fisher said he had no knowledge of the consignment of cattle referred to, but he assured the house that he had done all in his power to secure this trade for Canada. As soon as it was known that the Boer farms were to be restocked by the Imperial government the Canadian government had pointed out to the home authorities that cattle could be purchased in Canada to advantage. The reply was received that this would receive consideration. Later on the Canadian cabinet called the attention of the colonial office to the fact that purchases were being made in the United States, but no attention was paid to it.

Many Worms

Walla Walla, June 27.—A mighty host of army worms in a solid column 150 yards wide and nearly three miles long is marching through Walla Walla county. Tonight the array is within three miles of this city, Frank Smith, a rancher, having telephoned to town this evening that the vanguard was passing through his garden. Mill Creek has diverted them and late tonight they were going eastward along its north bank toward the mountains. The origin of the phenomenon, which was never seen here before, is inexplicable. The fact that the past few days have been damp and showery, following a long dry spell, may have had something to do with it. This morning Oliver Devitt, a Dry Creek rancher, met the army emerging from Joe Harbert's wheat field about five miles out. He tried to turn some of the leaders back with a stick, but failed. His horses and team crushed dozens of them, but it had no effect on the remainder. Those crushed presented a green mess showing that growing crops and vegetation were being denuded. The worms are from one and a half to two inches long, are brown and fuzzy, with green stripes in some cases, and are like caterpillars. Ranchers are alarmed for garden truck and wheat.

GENERAL FUNSTON

Will Arrive on or About Friday the 10th

Dispatch Boat Jeff Davis Ordered Here From Lower River to Meet Him.

Among the passengers arriving from the lower river on the Power today was Dr. Gregory, regimental surgeon of the 8th Infantry stationed at Fort Gibbon at the mouth of the Tanana. The doctor after a year's residence at the last named post has been transferred to Vancouver barracks at Vancouver, Washington, and is on his way thither at present. Regarding possible changes in military circles of this portion of Alaska, the doctor says nothing will be known until the arrival of General Fred Funston, commander of the department of Alaska, who is now en route to the north and is expected in Dawson by Friday, the 10th.

Things about Fort Gibbon this winter have been very quiet and there has been but little work for a physician other than thawing out frost bites. It was Dr. Gregory who amputated the feet of the unfortunate young man who has been in the city for several days and who hobbles around on his knees. It was the intention of the government to send the young man to his home and tender him transportation to San Francisco via St. Michael, but he would not accept it preferring to come out this way, saying he had a friend in Dawson he desired to see. A subscription was taken up at the fort and his fare was paid to this point. Artificial feet for which a subscription has been passed around here since his arrival were also purchased for him by the people of the fort, the money for the payment of which being sent to San Francisco.

and is now there on deposit in the office of the N. C. Co. Following immediately behind the Power is the United States dispatch boat Jeff Davis under command of Lieut. Calday which has been ordered here to meet General Funston and escort him to St. Michael. On his way down the river he will stop at and inspect all the posts along the Yukon.

The wire from St. Michael up the river has been in working order more or less all winter from the mouth of the river to Fort Gibbon and it is now extended to Rampart. The greatest difficulty that has been experienced since its erection occurred this spring when the ice of the Koyukuk took out the cable that was laid from bank to bank. There is as present an office on each side of the Koyukuk at the point of crossing and messages have to be transferred in a canoe. Another cable will be laid as soon as it arrives from the outside. The wire leaves the Yukon at Rampart and it may be some time before a connection is made at Eagle as it is said to be the intention to first connect with the Valdez line via the Tanana.

Dr. Gregory will leave for the outside this evening.

A Scotch gardener, born blind, who at the age of thirty years has gained sight by a successful operation for cataract, finds his enjoyment of smoking doubled by the change. This agrees with the observation of most smokers that there is but little pleasure derived from it in the dark. It suggests what no one as yet appears to have advised—that the man who smokes to excess can use no better means to counteract the habit than to retreat to a dark room for its indulgence. He will hardly saturate his system with nicotine under such conditions.—Rochester Post-Express.

Four HundredIn America

What astonishes the foreigner upon entering into American society is to find it like that of the Old World. In Paris we have the Faubourg St. Germain, or, as we usually call it, le Faubourg. It is a coterie formed mostly of titled families who keep to themselves and allow no "bourgeois" intrusion. Yet it is possible to enter the Faubourg without belonging to it. A foreigner, a politician, a prominent man of any kind, may be received if he champions the Faubourg's views and ideals. As these adoptions, which have always been rare, are becoming still rarer, one may say the world at large does not count for the Faubourg. If, through some peculiar circumstances, a few atoms of the outside world are admitted into the noble institution, they are accepted as curiosities, as phenomena or distractions.

In New York the Faubourg is represented by a group of American families constituting the aristocracy and called the Four Hundred. The Four Hundred are very exclusive. One belongs to the Four Hundred as one belongs to the Stock Exchange, except that one neither needs to buy his entrance nor wait for some one to step out in order to take his place. Some are born Four Hundred, some achieve Four Hundred, some (those are many) have Four Hundred thrust upon them. The number of members is not limited.

It is a pity that events have prevented the ancestors of the Four Hundred from making a glorious name for their descendants, but ancestors have not all had sufficient leisure to protect their grandsons against physical degeneration and mediocrity. It is precisely because there is a new-born nobility that the Four Hundred are obliged to keep it alive by culture and fortune. Most of the Four Hundred are well qualified to play an ancestral part, with the exception that they are exclusive enough to be their own great-grandchildren. They have not yet the vices of the old and worn aristocracies, and if they succeed in avoiding them there is no reason why they should not succeed in creating a corps d'elite. It is the privilege of those who are sincerely attached to American people to warn them against the regrettable tendencies which will draw them toward the older races, although we well know that their fondness for ancient tradition will never predominate over their practical sense. I will never be the one to reproach them for marrying into nobility, especially now when expediency is teaching them to be more circumspect. But they sometimes go too far in their enthusiasm over a famous name.

I well remember the excitement caused by the arrival of Prince Henry, the brother of Emperor William. Most of the Four Hundred looked upon his coming more as a social event than as a matter of international politics. I have not forgotten, either, the exclamation of a very plump, middle-aged lady seated next to me at dinner: "Oh, my dear sir, I cannot tell you how fond I am of nobility!" I smiled at the candor of this remark, which, after all, expresses the public feeling of a country where the opinion of women, even though they are very plump and middle-aged, is always taken into consideration. To be just it is necessary to say that Prince Henry's simplicity of manners astonished Americans and also surprised those who chanced to cross the ocean with him. He told me himself we were together on board the Deutschland, that before going to the States he made up his mind to forego all etiquette and accordingly he welcomed most graciously the numerous "handshakes" and "very glad to meet you" by which he was assailed during the course of his visit.—Harper's Weekly.

Was Clever Thief

Paris, June 27.—The arrest of Canon Rosenberg by mistake at Beyrouth ends, at least temporarily, a career in which was exhibited a genius for crime. The attempted fraud on J. Pierpont Morgan by Count Bosardi had aroused the police all over the globe. Rosenberg bears an astonishing resemblance to Bosardi, and his actions had so attracted attention that he was seized under the impression that he was Bosardi. The mistake was discovered and his real identity became known. In 1885 Rosenberg was a full-fledged canon, with the living of the Tours Cathedral, worth $12,000 a year, obtained through the influence of the Duchess d'Albatera. His "stay with the ladies" in fact, seems to have been his short cut to riches. His first business venture was in advising titled women how to invest their money. When they became penniless and he was bankrupt with liabilities amounting to $625,000 he was suspended by his superior.

Then he began granting divorces to pious women for a consideration. He represented himself as the Bishop of Cyprus with power to annul marriages without appeal to the pope. He had got in fees many thousands of dollars when Mme. Civet's case attracted the attention of the police. Mme. Civet had a civil divorce, but wanted to annul the religious ceremony. With the aid of Abbe Guillaumin and a banker named Mallevall, Rosenberg obtained $84,000 from her. After a time she became convinced of his double dealing, and yet she loaned him $1,000 to go to America to "negotiate a loan for the Turkish government." He had just helped a girl and her lover to elope and received a snug sum from the bride's dot on her reconciliation with her parents, when Mme. Civet's inquiries made it imperative for him to move.

Rosenberg contracted in Paris to send the son of a rich woman to America, for which he was to get a large sum. The boy had been spirited out of the country but the money had not yet changed hands, when again the Civet-improvements forced him to move.

He used to send young women to gamble for him at Monte Carlo and has a record of covering many cities for obtaining everything on credit and leaving without paying.

His disappearances when the detectives seemed on the very point of seizing him were little short of audacious. At one time he was discovered domiciled with two pretty girls in a delightful cottage near Paris. The precautions to secure him were elaborate, but he vanished.

His quarters in the prison de la Santein, Paris, will not be far from those occupied by the banker, Boulayne, whose bogus companies were floated with so much ingenuity. Despite Boulayne's cleverness, however, Rosenberg once succeeded in relieving him of $40,000.

Breaks Loose
Paris, June 27.—President Loubet has tossed a bombshell into the ranks of the ministry. He has broken loose from the tyranny of the protocol which requires the president's speeches to be written and revised by the ministry before delivery. Loubet's enemies denounce his shattering of official etiquette. His friends declare he only spoke from his heart when at a meeting of the Society for the Encouragement of Well-Doing, Loubet, referring to the wreck of Sisters of Charity, said:

"In the race of your admirable society we need have no uneasiness. France won't perish through you. Your work is splendid. It is the work of the people who must honor France. The honors you have won have made a golden book which all should read. I would like to see the list of your laurels, posted in every commune in France. Your self-sacrificed labor is the most beautiful example which can be given the children of France."

Loubet's speech, considering the recent attitude of the ministry toward all religious orders, is the subject of wide comment.

Court Matters

Both departments of the territorial court were occupied yesterday. Before Mr. Justice Dugas the case of the Ames Mercantile Company against J. Rosenthal, an actor to enforce a vendor's lien, was being heard. In the department of Mr. Justice Craig the libel case of De Miracle against Henri Plancher was on.

Got Thirty Days

Paris, June 27.—The Paris courts evidently do not think a woman's life is worth more than a month's imprisonment. Mrs. Lobel, a music teacher, was knocked down last month by an automobile going at full speed in the Bois de Boulogne, and died an hour later. Jules Pardine, the chauffeur, was arraigned yesterday, charged with manslaughter, but to the great surprise of every one the judge only sent him to prison for thirty days.

DREADFUL FRIGHT

Awful Game of Base Last Night

Teams Play Like a Lot of gartens—Costly Errors Both Sides.

The game last night was so bad that the grandstand was almost empty. The game was a bad one. Even the umpire was a bit to the bad. One of his first strikes with Forrester's error. Winters did not drop as could be plainly seen. Grand stand and Forrester's error made in the decision of heart and not done intention. Better or fairer umpire than tieman officiating in it could not be found.

The Amaranths speaking played like a lot of farmers had a glass arm, gave five on balls and allowed seven to be made. The only count he had was that he made runs. It may also be counted him to know that though he hits were made off him, it twelve made off Brazier. De Doyle, both clever players a by safe, made several cost and Hickey was there with the same character ever "Kats" made his second season, but it was excusable long run was necessary to ball. The last half of the game was a veritable chaos with respect to the errors, purple chaps and the running the Service follows. Say if there were nine scores piled in the beginning of the batting was unusually heavy. He hit and four runs he off Brazier. The same thing in the first half of the ninth Amaranths added four runs their score, though they were the result of errors in the pounding of the leather. Up to the ninth were charged but one error, but in the they made three more than three runs. The only safe by the Amaranths in the the home run of Fouchat. Evagation of errors in amounted to no less than record that would make up.

Both teams took eighth inning, only three runs were hal for the Am in the Walegit went on at first and Duncan on a double homer at first and the last by Deitel to Winters. He had the bags for when man expired. Deitel went out to catch and Bence and Heath were on the Harrison duplicated Deitel's size. Culligan hit a line and gave up the ghost at the assist of Doyle.

In the second the Agate first blood. Fouchat was party and he drove the wild by making a clean Doupe hit safe but went on on the assist of pitch few out to Deitel, the job a sensational catch, and lived at first on a single. These men only went up to rler, McAuliff taking balls and dying at the the effort to steal it. Devel both fanned.

In the third the Amaranth first. Henshanky left on the assist of the few out to pitcher to drive a fly to some collecting ting of, which threw and outlived the former holder. It was in the latter Amaranths went all to let for two bags and with three of Hickey, Deitel and was advanced another wild throw. Winters bagger and brought Heath singled to third on the error of Henshanky fanned out a three brought both Winters down, he himself scoring at McAuliff who made the foul of Doupe. An throw allowed McAuliff Doupe carried the job. He, added his second run. Deitel did the walk. Winters to show he was made a three bagger. Winters' victory in the game has been content with two.

DREADFUL FRIGHTFUL

Awful Game of Baseball Last Night

Teams Play Like a Lot of Kindergartens—Costly Errors on Both Sides.

The game last night was putrid. It was so bad that the grand stand ceased to root for either one side or the other. It was a bad evening all around. Even the umpire was quite a bit to the bad, one of his decisions at first with Forrest running being correct. Winters did not drop the ball as could be plainly seen from the grand stand and Forrest was out if ever a man was in the world. The error made in the decision was of the heart and not done intentionally. A better or fairer umpire than the gentleman officiating in that capacity would not be found.

The Amaranth speaking generally played like a lot of farmers. Foichat had a glass arm, gave five men bases on balls and allowed seven safe hits to be made. The only consolation to be had was that he made two home runs. It may also be consoling to him to know that though seven safe hits were made off him, there were twelve made off Brazier. Duncan and Doyle, both clever players and usually safe, made several costly errors and Hickey was with good goods of the same character every time. "Katz" made his second miff of the season, but it was excusable as a long run was necessary to reach the ball. The last half of the third inning was a veritable charnal house with respect to the errors of the purple chaps and the runs made by the Service fellows. Say it gently, there were nine scores piled up.

In the beginning of the sixth the batting was unusually heavy, three safe hits and four runs being made off Brazier. The same thing occurred in the first half of the ninth when the Amaranths added four runs more to their score, though they were more the result of errors than heavy pounding of the leather. The Service went to the ninth were charged with but one error, but in the last inning they made three more that cost them three runs. The only safe hit made by the Amaranth in the ninth was the home run of Foichat. Their aggregation of errors in the game amounted to no less than fifteen, a record that would make angels weep. Both teams took ciphers in the first inning, only three men going to the bat for the Ams in the first half. Walcott went out at first and Doyle and Duncan on a double play, the former at first and the latter on a fly to Delfel to Winters. The Service had the bags full when their last man expired. Delfel went out on a fly to catcher and Bennett, Winters and Heath were on the bases when Harrison duplicated Delfel's performance. Culligan hit a liner to second and gave up the ghost at first on the assist of Doyle.

In the second the Amaranth scored first blood. Foichat was the guilty party and he drove the grand stand wild by making a clean home run. Douse hit safe but went out at second on the assist of pitcher. Forrest flew out to Delfel, the latter making a sensational catch, and Hobson retired at first on a single to short. Three men only went up for the Service. McAluff taking his base on balls and dying at the next bag in the effort to steal it. Brazier and Dowd both fanned.

Brazier and Heath made the outs and the slaughter was over.

The Ams again failed to break the charm in the fourth, receiving but a goose egg for their efforts. The Service added another run in their half. Steinkamp made his first error in missing a long fly by Harrison. He had a hard run and it was impossible to reach it, though his fingers touched the ball and the error scores against him. Culligan made the run. In the fifth each took a single. Forrest hit safe, stole second and made a rattling theft of third scoring on the hit of Hickey who was left at first. Hobson and Steinkamp fanned and Walcott went out on a fly to Dowd. Delfel made the run for the Service.

The beginning of the sixth gave the Ams new hope for they succeeded in piling up four runs before they could be headed off. Doyle and Duncan were both credited with safe hits and both scored. Foichat singled to second and went out at first. Douse hit safe and made the home plate on an overthrow of Winters. Forrest followed, fanned and as the last strike was muffed he ran to first. Heath threw to Winters and the latter had to lean in order to reach it falling to his knees and elbows. He emphatically did not drop the ball as could be plainly seen from the grand stand, though the runner was called safe. Forrest scored on Steinkamp's safe hit to center. Hobson flew out, Hickey pounded air and "Katz" was left at first. The Service failed to make good in their half.

The same thing happened the Ams at the beginning of the seventh. Walcott and Doyle had cashed in when Duncan lammed out a beaut of a three bagger. But it did him no good as Foichat drove a fly to center which Harrison nailed to the cross. In the latter half of the seventh as if to add insult to injury the Service piled up another trio, making their score 14 to 6 for the Ams. Dowd made good on a little single, Bennett on a two bagger and Winters on a combination of errors in which a half dozen had a hand.

In the eighth Douse hit for two bags and scored on Hobson's single. The latter stole second and made a crackerjack slide to third which was as far as he could get. Forrest and Steinkamp fanned and Hickey went out on the assist of short. A cipher was the best the Service could do in the latter half, and had it not been for the error of short but three balls would have been required to retire the three men. McAluff hit the first ball to cross the plate and flew out to Doyle. Brazier lambasted the next and dropped a fly to Forrest. Dowd hit the third ball pitched, putting a single to Doyle which had he not fumbled it would have retired the batter at first. Delfel singled to third and went out at first, leaving Dowd on third.

To the beginning of the ninth the Civil Service had but one error scored against them, then they went up in the air, made three more very grievous bulls as the result of which Doyle, Duncan, Foichat and Douse made the circle of the bases. Foichat making his second home run in the same, a very rare occurrence. The latter half of the ninth was not played.

The following is the lineup and score by innings:

Amaranth—Walcott, right field; Doyle, short; Duncan, first base; Foichat, pitcher; Douse, catcher; Forrest, center field; Hobson, third base; Steinkamp, left field; Hickey, second base.

SERGEANT'S LAUNDRY

Caused Surprise In the Police Court

The Ebony-Hued Gentleman Was Sorry, 'Deed He Was, and Begged Pardon.

There is not in the entire Dominion ordinarily a more dignified tribunal than the Dawson police court, and especially is this the case when it is presided over by Mr. Justice Macaulay who, while he has an acute sense of humor, is very slow to give it recognition in his own court. It was not humor or wit but the ridiculous that appealed to risibilities in the police court this morning. The patience of his lordship had been sorely tried in hearing a petty case in which venom and spite were the predominant characteristics on both sides and which spirit was only subdued by threats to impose heavy fines for contempt of court. All was still save for the scratching of his honor's pen as he jotted his finding in the court docket. It was a dark cloudy morning but suddenly a wave of more than usual darkness swept over the room. The cause was apparent. Through the open door it stepped a man sufficiently black to make a dark night ashamed of itself. The intruder carried a large bundle around which both his arms were affectionately entwined. Without removing his hat he stepped within the outer rail and toward the bench where he stopped and in a voice that was pregnant with sweetness, melody and rhythm, a voice that is out of place when not borne to the ear on zephyrs laden with the perfume of the magnolia, breath of the orange blossom and resonant with the joyful snort of the alligator, said:

"Ah done has er bundle ob laundry heah fo' Sargeant Smiff."

"What is that you say?" asked his lordship who, having his eyes on the court ledger, had not noticed the intruder's entrance nor been aware of his presence until he spoke.

"I say, sah, dat I done has er bundle ob laundry fo' Sargeant Smiff."

"Do you know, sir," sternly demanded his lordship, "that you are disturbing the court which is in session?"

"Scuse me, judge! Beg pardon, 'deed I does, but de laundry an' fo' Sargeant Smiff so I done fetched 'em heah 'spection' dat—"

The last word was hest to those in the room as the ebony-hued gentleman had been backing toward the door while speaking. He disappeared and a ray of light fell althwart the room.

Forced to Return

Port Townsend, Wash., June 27.—The government's scientific expedition which recently started north on the fish commission steamer Albatross, under the leadership of Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford university, was forced to return to this port today, after the vessel had reached Fort Rupert on her way to Arctic waters, where conditions of fish and seal life were to have been investigated.

The return of the expedition was occasioned by the discovery of small-pox aboard, the disease having afflicted one of the crew. The vessel reported to United States quarantine officers here, who immediately ordered her into quarantine. The patient was landed for treatment.

The vessel will be thoroughly cleaned and fumigated, and the entire party aboard, including Dr. Jordan, held for observation the necessary nine days. The predicament is most embarrassing at this time, as the delay will greatly interfere with the prosecution of plans drawn for the summer's work in the north. Should further cases develop, which is likely, as the man was in the forecastle when the disease was discovered, the detention of the vessel and her crew will be indefinite.

One of the precious few gifts whose givers will forever remain unknown is the $250,000 which a gentleman handed to the late Mr. Hewitt up day, telling him to give it to the Cooper Union and never reveal the name of the giver. Mr. Hewitt accepted the gift with the conditions attached, and he died without revealing the secret. At the annual meeting of the union the other day it came out that none of the present trustees knows or suspects the name of the donor. And they will not try to find out.

PRELIMINARY MEETING

Another to be Held on Saturday Evening

Horticulture Society and Floriculture Society Will be Organized

An informal meeting was held yesterday evening in the office of Mr. N. F. Hagel, K.C., by a number of gentlemen interested in floriculture and horticulture which may ere long be far reaching in its effect. The purpose of the assemblage, among whom were Mr. Hagel, Mr. P. R. Ritchie, Mr. C. C. Chattaway, Mr. H. A. Stewart, Mr. Lee, Mr. Jas. Gibbon, Mr. McCurdy, Mr. Haddock, Mr. C. M. Woodworth, Mr. Horahan, Mr. Edwin Schoff and several others, was to discuss the advisability of organizing a society which shall have for its object the awakening of an interest in matters pertaining to botany, floriculture and horticulture, a society similar to those which will be found in almost every city of consequence in eastern Canada. As was aptly pointed out by one of the speakers the flora of the Yukon is but little understood here and practically not at all on the outside and it would be an interesting matter to begin the collection and classification of the plant life of the territory which in time would be complete. Aside from the technical knowledge that would be obtained such a society would be of vast interest not to say importance to those who are interested in the products of the territory from a pecuniary standpoint. There are now many gardeners here to say nothing of the bunches that are being established on a more pretentious scale and all would benefit from the monthly or bi-monthly meetings that would take place at which matters of interest could be brought up and discussed. It is also proposed, though reference to the idea may seem somewhat premature at this time, to have a horticultural exhibition this fall at which products would be exhibited and prizes awarded for excellence and upon other points.

It is said that Commissioner Congdon is deeply interested in the scheme and is more than anxious to do anything that will help toward bringing the resources of the territory more prominently to the front. It is not at all improbable that the success of the society might result in the establishment here at some time in the near future of a government experimental station which would be of immense benefit to the country at large. With the possibility clearly demonstrated that the territory can grow its own vegetables, hay and grain and possibly the harder fruits and berries, the importation of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of such articles every year could be saved.

At the meeting held the matter was discussed in all its phases and from every standpoint and at the conclusion it was the consensus of opinion that it would be well to call a public meeting for the purpose of talking the proposition over more in detail and effect the formation of a society. To that end a meeting will be held Saturday evening next at 8.30 in the public school building where the preliminary steps will be taken. Ladies are specially invited and it is hoped they will take an active part in the organization and the maintenance of the interest in the affair; afterward.

Lost a Brother

Editor Nugget: Dear Sir,—Last fall my brother left his home and went up into Alaska and his family have heard nothing from him. Would you be so kind as to put this notice in your paper. Any one knowing the whereabouts of George Robertson of Allegheny, Pa., notify him that his sister, Belle Minard is in Seattle and wishes to hear from him. She wishes to come forth.

MRS. BELLE MINARD. Seattle, June 29, 1903.

Boyle Cockran, evidently reader of tongue than nimble of wit, declares that only one thing is necessary to make Grover Cleveland again president of the United States. This is to give him the nomination, for election is inevitable. Mr. Cockran should have reversed his proposition and made it logically invincible. The only thing that can save Cleveland, or any other Democrat, from disastrous defeat at the polls is to repute him the nomination.

SMART TRAVELING

Olds Mobile Ran to Forks in One Hour.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock G. P. Wells and F. H. Medart of the N. C. Company left Dawson for Grand Forks in Frimond d'Journe's automobile in which they were riding around town during the day. In one hour and six minutes they were at Grand Forks and 18 minutes later they were at Bonanza. Their running time from Dawson to the Forks was considerably less than an hour as they would sidetrack and stand still every time they met a team. The result was that not a horse was frightened at either the machine or at Medart. The auto is called the Olds Mobile and is manufactured at Detroit. Mich. Mr. Wells owned one like it on the outside and is an expert driver. He made curves so lively coming back from the Forks that the back of the seat is all clawed up through the frantic efforts of Medart to keep from being spilled. With an open course Mr. Wells thinks he can run the machine from Dawson to the Forks in 30 minutes or less.

Mining Resumed

Hallfax, June 18.—All places temporarily vacated in reserve pit at Glace Bay on account of fear of water in Dominion No. 1 breaking the barrier are now being worked. The water has now receded over 350 feet down the slope in Dominion No. 1 pit. Twelve pumps are working and water is coming out of the pit at the rate of five thousand gallons per minute. Everything is proceeding even better than first expected.

Returned From Inspection

Washington, June 22.—Rear Admiral Bradford, chief of the bureau of equipment, has returned from an extended inspection tour to the Pacific coast, and reports conditions at Mare Island and Bremerton as most satisfactory. While in San Francisco Admiral Bradford arranged for the purchase of about 500 acres of land adjoining the government's naval station at Honolulu.

SHOT OFF HIS HAND

End of Sad Accident on the Rock Island

Man Dies While Trying to Reach Medical Aid—Leaves a Wife and Eight Children

A passenger for St. Michael on the trip of the Rock Island, the first boat to get away for the lower river this season, has written friends here of the experience had on the way down and the final scene of a sad tragedy which was enacted aboard the steamer. Some distance above Andreaski a man was taken aboard who had accidentally shot off one of his hands. The accident had occurred at a point where medical attendance could not be had and the unfortunate man had suffered the agonies of the lost in reaching the river so he could be taken to St. Michael for treatment. The mangled and bleeding stump had been tied up in a crude manner by his companions as best they could, the arteries being bound by ligatures so he would not bleed to death. He was made as comfortable as possible and as there was no doctor on board a stop was made at every missionary station where there was a physician and in every instance they pronounced the patient well enough to proceed to St. Michael. It so happened that the boat encountered ice at the mouth of the river and could not proceed, being delayed there several days.

The ice was encountered on the 5th and two days later the sufferer took a sudden change for the worse and died on the boat. Captain LeBallister still wished to take the body to St. Michael but after waiting three days for the ice to clear the body could be kept no longer. It was decently and reverently attended to, a coffin was made by the ship's carpenter and the Rock Island steamed ashore at the mouth of the river where the interment took place, Captain LeBallister reading the burial service and the funeral being attended by all the passengers on the ship. The person writing did not give the man's name but said he left a wife and eight children who are somewhere on the outside. A collection was taken up for the widow which will be forwarded with the notification of her husband's death. The trip down was very enjoyable until the injured man was taken aboard. His death caused a depression that could not be shaken off.

The letter was written under date of the 10th at which time the writer stated they had been at the mouth of the river then for two days and were 75 miles from St. Michael. A postscript was added on the 15th after six days of a stand still. Another postscript was enclosed at St. Michael under date of the 19th saying they had just arrived, which would mean a delay of nearly ten days at the mouth of the river. The ocean steamer Ohio arrived on the same day and all the passengers for outside points took that steamer. The harbor was rather clear of ice at the time though the sea was still full. They expected to leave the following day unless the floes drifted and prevented it.

MODERN DEVICE

For Unloading and Handling Heavy Freight Installed

Mr. G. H. Sprout, chief engineer of the mechanical department of the White Pass Company, is now in Dawson supervising the installation of a plant which will greatly facilitate the work of unloading freight from steamers, storing it in the warehouse and later loading it on wagons for final removal.

The floor of the main warehouse is being leveled up and on it will be installed a powerful electric dynamo which will operate a double drum which in turn will, by means of wire cables, operate two very strong tractors of cars which will be on iron wheels, only 8 inches in diameter and in which heavy machinery will be drawn from the steamers into the warehouse. In addition to the cars for hauling freight, a derrick 30 feet high is being erected for the purpose of hoisting heavy pieces onto wagons.

While the new devices will lessen the demand for longshoremen it will greatly aid in the work of handling business and will materially assist the teamsters in the work of getting the freight from the warehouse.

VERDICT FOR $500

Jury Finds Against Henri Planchat in the Libel Suit

In the libel suit of Miracle against Planchat, which was heard yesterday by a jury before Mr. Justice Craig the jury was given the case at 10:45 minutes later. The gist of their findings was that the defendant had committed a libel by causing the defendant matter complained of to be published and the damages which the plaintiff had suffered thereby were assessed at $500 together with the costs of the action. The defense did not seek to deny the publicity of the article, but endeavored to show his actions were not unreasonable, pleading justification and truth.

SATISFY EXECUTION

Valuable Bonanza Property Is Sold

Number of Interests in the Thirties Below Bring $13,540 at a Forced Sale.

Another sale of valuable mining property was made by Sheriff Ellbeck yesterday, the claims having been seized under a writ of execution in satisfaction of the costs incurred in the case of Lowe, Stafford and Williams against Hartman and Gilmore, judgment in the case having gone against the plaintiffs, the costs amounting to $1783. The action was one of great importance as it established to a certain extent the rights of the hillside miner in connection with the creek man adjoining. Lowe and his co-plaintiffs brought an action against the defendants for heavy damages on account of tailings from the latter's workings, as was alleged, having broken through a bulkhead built to stop them, ran on down the hill and forced Bonanza creek to find a new channel which it had done by flooding an open cut made by the plaintiffs through which they expected to operate their claims this summer.

The case was bitterly fought, the jury, court and counsel going so far as to make a trip to the claim to see for themselves the extent of the damage, if any. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants and assessed the costs to the plaintiffs. As they were dilatory in paying the same into court an execution was issued, the property was seized and has now been sold. The claims, or rather the interests in such as were disposed of consisted of a seven-twenty-eighths interest in creek claim No. 30; one-third in 30A; two-thirds in 31; one-half interest in the bench, third tier, opposite the lower half, left limit, of 30; one-third interest in the bench, second tier, opposite the lower half, left limit, of 30; one-third interest in the hillside adjoining the lower half, left limit, of 30; one-third interest in the hillside of which 122 feet adjoin No. 30, left limit, and 118 feet adjoin No. 30A, left limit, all being below discovery on Bonanza creek.

The price realized by the sale was $4100 subject to a mortgage of $2410 making $13,540 in the aggregate. The surplus over and above the costs will be turned over to the plaintiffs. The hill property is considered among the best on the famous King Solomon hill while the creek claims were of known richness.

RETURN GAME

Soldiers Can't Come Unless General Gives Permission

Regarding the possibility of a return game of baseball between a nine of Dawson and the soldiers of Eagle to be played in this city, a gentleman interested in the sport had a conversation while at Eagle on the 4th with Captain Perkins, officer commanding about the matter. The captain would like to see another game played by his men, but he did not feel at liberty to allow the soldiers to go off on a week's junketing tour to a foreign country, without the authority of some one above him. It was mentioned incidentally that General Funston would be here in a few days and that it would be a good idea for a committee interested in the matter to interview the department commander upon his arrival in the city and see if a promise could not be had from him which would allow the return game to be played here. As far as known the matter has not been taken up by the league managers, though it should be attended to at once as the general is expected either tomorrow or Friday. The soldiers play good ball and a game between them and a picked team from the league would prove a splendid giving card.

Will Arrive Tomorrow

Adjutant Kenway of the Salvation Army has had word from Miss Booth again. The eminent leader with her staff are on the Selkirk and will arrive tomorrow morning. Arrangements have been completed for a public reception at the dock at which a brief address of welcome will be made by Commissioner Congdon and other notables of the city. Miss Booth will reply briefly. It is yet unknown how long the officers will remain in the city, though it is assumed it will be for not over a week.

SUICIDE OCCURS THIS MORNING.

found only a few drops of the poison was found on the stand near the head of the bed which adds to the belief that the deed was premeditated. It is possible that the laudanum was tried first and not proving successful the other means was used.

A silver watch attached to a gold chain, a pair of eyeglasses in a case, and a copy of "Peck's Boss Book" was found on the stand and in his coat which was on the bed were a brown pocket book and a red note book containing papers and memorandum. He merely mentioned to the proprietor of the house when he registered that he had a son working on Bonanza; at what location he did not state.

No motive was apparent for the deed as the deceased had the appearance of being prosperous. He was dressed in a suit of blue serge with a dark flannel shirt. From the little conversation held with him the proprietor of the lodging house took him to be in possession of his mental faculties and by no means inclined to be despondent. The only reference he made to his affairs was to mention to the proprietor of the lodging house that he had a son working on Bonanza.

After telephoning to several places on lower Bonanza the Nugget learned from the Thistle roadhouse at 79 below that Mr. Weeks' two sons worked in that vicinity, one on Trail creek, a tributary of Bonanza, and the other on Bonanza. Upon being told the circumstances word was sent to the claim and the boys started for Dawson immediately to attend the inquest which was held this afternoon at 2:30.

The sons of the dead man, George and Wilfred Weeks, arrived in town about noon. George the elder is employed on 80 below on Bonanza and Wilfred is employed on Trail creek which comes into Bonanza at 79 below. George Weeks is perhaps 30 years of age and his brother about 28. The family home is in Vancouver, B.C., where three other children reside, their mother being dead.

In conversation with a Nugget representative today after the sons reached Dawson George Weeks said there was no apparent cause, either family or financial, for his father's rash act. The old gentleman first came to Dawson three years ago but returned to the outside later, remaining with his younger children

CONGESTION RELIEVED

Docks at Whitehorse Cleared of Much Freight

Every White Pass steamer arriving in Dawson comes loaded to the guards with freight, the Dawson arriving yesterday evening bringing 271 tons. As a result of these almost daily heavy shipments from Whitehorse the docks at that place have been relieved of the congestion which has existed for the past few weeks although the business will continue heavy throughout the balance of the season from present indications.

Among the passengers leaving on the Power today were Bishop and Mrs. Rowe, their son Leo and Mr. Chilson who is also of the party. Rev. Mr. Warren and many other warm friends were at the dock to wish them a farewell. During their stay of a week in the city they have been the recipients of much attention and everyone who has been so fortunate as to form their acquaintance sincerely regret their departure. The bishop is presumed to make a tour of the Alaska coast this year and he will probably be here again next summer, though it is doubtful if he is accompanied by his charming family.
