Just what I've been looking for

"BEAVER FLOUR"

makes ideal bread and pastry, because it is a perfect blend of Manitoba Spring wheat and Ontario Fall wheat. You don't need to keep two kinds of flour for bread and pastry. Beaver Flour makes both—a pure, white, nourishing, light loaf that "stands up" in the oven, and pastry that is crisp and appetizing. It is more economical than other flours, and appeals to all thinking women. Order it to-day from your grocer.

CHAPTER IV.
An Early Scholar.

"Mr. Diggins told us, miss. He wasn't over pleased."

"I hope he didn't let the sun go down upon his wrath! That's wrong. I don't know whether to take Trick with me or not. Better not, perhaps, this morning! I'm going to see the Kanakas."

"Are you, miss?" asked Mrs. Homes, who never acknowledged ignorance.

"Yes, good-bye. It's down the avenue and turn to the left, isn't it?"

"That's the village, miss, a mile from here or more. Mr. Hales is a nice gentleman. He's our clergyman, quite a young gentleman."

"I'll go and see. Thank you and good-bye." Here Toney shook hands with the cook. "I should like to breakfast with you here some day. In Australia we all chummed together, because it was more convenient to my papa."

Mrs. Homes was too much surprised to answer, and it was only when Toney had disappeared through a side door that she exclaimed.

"Good gracious, Rose! She's the queerest young lady I've seen, and yet one can see she is a lady with all her odd ways."

"She's eat up all the butter," said Rose a little sorrowfully.

Toney was not yet out of the house however. The morning was so lovely that she could not go without Trick, and finding some back stairs, she managed to get back to her room without meeting any one. Earnestly begging Trick to behave himself, she ran down again, and Trick, barking for joy, ran by her side all along the great avenue. For the time being they were as happy as possible, and for a little while Toney forgot there was an Aunt Dove living in the same world as herself.

"If only Pups were here," said Toney, stopping short for want of breath; "but there is very little time, I guess, and I must find out

When You Feel Cross

And are worried and irritated you can get the liver right by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Life is too short to be cross and grouchy. You not only make yourself miserable, but also those about you. Don't blame others. Blame yourself for not keeping the liver right. There is nothing in the world which will more promptly afford you relief than Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. This statement is true. A trial will convince you.

Mr. Theo. Bedard, Lac aux Sables, Portneuf County, Que., writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the best treatment obtainable for indigestion and impure blood. They cured me of indigestion, from which I suffered for four years."

"This certificate is given without solicitation, so that others may not waste their money buying medicines of no value when they can get Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I am convinced are the best."

at Aldersfield House."

Mr. Hales at once jumped to a right conclusion as to the identity of the speaker, for there had already been a family consultation over Lady Dove's note.

"Miss Antonia Whitburn," he repeated.

"No, 'Toney,' that's what I answer to. I picked up this little one; but she is hungry, I'm sure. Does crying make you hungry, Mr. Hales? It does me. When I cried the cook at home had to bake two loaves extra."

"Oh!" said the Vicar. "Have you come for the answer to Lady Dove's note? I sent it by the groom."

"What note? Was it a note of surprise?" Toney laughed happily.

"A note about you—But perhaps if Lady Dove—"

"Oh, I know," exclaimed Toney, "she said last night you were to strengthen my principles. Are you good at that sort of thing?"

Mr. Hales was quite unable to keep his countenance.

"Anyhow, your principle of kindness won't want strengthening, I'm sure. You have been very kind to little Minnie. Come in, if you don't mind, and my sister will give the child some breakfast, and you too if you will."

"I've had mine, thanks, in the kitchen; but Minnie will be delighted. I didn't expect to pick up a little wandering Kanaka; but I'm glad I did."

"Kanaka! Ah!" Mr. Hales remembered just in time. "Australia of course," he added.

"They are so odd, and just like a sort of dumb animal that can talk. Is your sister at breakfast?"

"We breakfast early."

He was leading the way up a laurel-bordered path, all the while wondering what his mother and sister would say to this strange specimen, which to him, however, appeared delightfully original. Moreover, the girl's evident love of children had won his heart. Suddenly the Vicar came into view. It was an extremely pretty house, with gables and bow windows, and the garden was made beautiful by the care of loving hands, and not only by those of a hired gardener.

Spring flowers made the border gay; there were hyacinths, primroses, a few crocuses still lingering. Jonquils, anemones, winter heath in full flower, apricots and peaches in bloom against a distant wall. Close by one could see a patch of large, deep blue gentians, also some grape hyacinths trying to look proud, and squills slightly nodding in the tiny breeze and in all the nooks and corners were violets filling the air with their sweet scent.

"Oh!" said Toney. "Gracious stars! how pretty!"

The Vicar fairly laughed.

"So you don't know Lady Dove's proposal, Miss Whitburn?"

"Something Trick and I shall grow at, I expect. To heel, Trick. He is looking at your heels, Mr. Hales; I goes at them don't mind. It's a sign of respect. He took all the blackening off Mr. Diggins' shoes, Aunt Dove's butler, you know."

Trick, hearing the word heel, resisted no longer, and the Vicar felt his sign of respect in all its fullness. "I'll Toney again had recourse to reproaches, and was forced to drag him bodily away."

"He's very intelligent," said Mr. Hales, still laughing. "Come this way, please." He passed through an open French window and shouted "Mother!"

A grey-haired lady, who was still very pretty, came hastening in.

"Mother, I must introduce Miss Whitburn to you. You know little Minnie Thomas. She mistook the school hour and wants some breakfast. Miss Whitburn kindly carried her down the village street."

"How very kind of you, Silvia! Silvia! Here, my dear!"

Toney stood almost mute, looking round at the pretty room and at the sweet-faced lady. Beauty in any shape always silenced Toney—for a minute. Silvia Hales soon entered. She was a fragile-looking girl of seventeen, much too grave and silent for her years. A constitutional delicacy had made her languid and quiet. It was often difficult to make her take an interest in any one besides her mother, whom she idolized.

"Silvia, this is Miss Whitburn, whom we have been talking about, and here is little Minnie Thomas wanting some breakfast. Cook will give her something nice to eat if you take her to the kitchen."

Silvia held out a thin white hand to Toney, who looked at it before shaking it. It seemed so fragile that Toney felt as if she were touching china that might break.

"Whatever did Aunt Dove write to you about?" she asked.

The three looked at each other, and then Silvia answered:

The New Barclay Book

Through the Postern Gate.

This romance is in every way worthy of the author of the Rosary; wholesome, sweet, instinct with nobility, throbbing with life and with love. The confident wooing of the hero has in it so much of unspooled human nature, and the hesitation of the heroine so much of tender foresight and solicitude, that one cannot but wish that life might often bring one in contact with characters of such rare naturalness and beauty.

Other books by this charming writer are: The Rosary (500th thousand), The Mistress of Shenstone and The following of the Star, each uniformly bound in purple leather, gilt titles, British and U. S. price, $1.50; our special price, 75c. each post paid, remittance with order.

INSTEAD OF GOING TO THE HOSPITAL

I TOOK GIN PILLS

"I suffered untold misery even when under treatment by the best doctors for over ten months, and nothing seemed to do me any good or relieve my painful condition. My trouble was inflammation of the Kidneys and Bladder. I finally determined to go to the Victoria Hospital, Halifax, for treatment. Two days, however, before my intended departure a neighbor called and, happening to have a GIN PILL in his pocket, insisted on my taking it. I did so and six hours after taking it, the results and benefits I derived were simply nothing more or less than miraculous. Instead of going to the hospital, I sent for a box of GIN PILLS with the result that I am a cured man."

Chinese Actress Beheaded.

Just a year ago, on a cold day in March, a tragedy was enacted outside the Cheng-yang gate of Peking which is likely to furnish material for many a recital in the future. It was the decapitation of the loveliest of all the Chinese women reformers, the young actress known as Chin

Chilan. This girl in her childhood had been sold off a farm in the interior to a travelling slave dealer; she developed into the leader of a company of comedians, with whom she traversed the south visiting Hongkong and wandering into French Annam.

China does not favor female actresses, but looks to men to assume female parts. Chin Chilan, however, introduced a new era. Her beauty secured for her the widest fame ever won on the Chinese stage. She played tragedy as well as comedy, and at length was so successful and splendidly patronized that her company numbered fully a hundred members. Everybody was enamored of this wonderful woman.

But a crisis came in 1910 when she arrived at Tientsin and inaugurated a season in the famous T'ieh Hsien Tea Gardens. Crowds poured in from all parts of the district for many miles around. Amid the furor thus created a very wealthy Pooting merchant, madly in love with Chin Chilan, spent three taels (a sum equaling six hundred pounds) on a banquet in her honor. But complications occurred, which led to fatal disclosures. Nobody suspected the enchanting Chin Chilan of complicity with the revolutionaries.

Shortly after that banquet the merchant was mysteriously assassinated, and the authorities not knowing whom to accuse indicted the actress. Not an atom of proof against her was forthcoming; but to the astonishment of the investigators it was found that much of the fortune that she had been making by her success had been passed over to her secret friends in America, who were engineering the revolutionary programme, and that other large sums had been expended in the purchase of arms and ammunition. Her doom was quickly sealed and the beautiful head fell by the Chengyang gate.---New York Sun.

Girl Swimmer Rescues Man Pace Maker.

Detroit, May 18.---Swimming one mile in the Detroit river in the record breaking time of 23 minutes, 45 seconds, and saving her pace maker after he had succumbed to cramps, was the notable feat to-day, of Miss Rose Pitnof, the Boston 17-year-old girl, who is giving exhibitions here.

The American amateur record for a one-mile swim in open water is given as 25m, 40 2-5s, held by J. H. Reilly, and the professional record is given as over 26 minutes.

She rescued C. A. Woodward, a Detroit man, who attempted to make the distance with her, when he was overcome by cramps a half mile from the starting point. Miss Pitnof held him up until a boat reached him.

Owing to the fact that the distance was not accurately measured and that Miss Pitnof had the current with her, it is doubtful if the record will be recognized.

When she completed her swim, the big crowd along the shores greeted her with cheers.

The temperature of the water was about 50 degrees, and the surface quiet rough, making going bad.

The time taken from the dive to the shot of the pistol at the finish was 23m 30s, but 45 seconds was allowed for the time used in helping Woodward.

On Keeping a Scrap-Book.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Do you keep a scrap-book? "Y o u," this time, means everybody in general, but housewives in particular.

The lady across the street, read, approve, forget and regret.

A small scrap-book need not cost over a quarter; scissors you have; and paste you can make out of a tablespoonful of flour. And if you will only expend that quarter, Mrs. Housewife, I guarantee you that within a year your investment will have paid back the principal twice over in the assistance your scrap-book will have given you.

I said that the "you" of my opening question meant housewives in particular, but every body in general. Perhaps someone is wondering how all this applies to other people. In this way, my friend, I spoke to housewives in particular because the little anecdote which I related had impressed upon my mind how many opportunities they were losing, but they are, by no means the only class who ought to keep a scrap-book. Indeed, I think I might say without exaggeration that everyone could, with advantage to himself, keep a scrap-book of items relating to their particular trades or professions in the case of those who are not, of items relating to whatever in life interests them the most.

A scrap-book of this sort once started is both a valuable reference book and a new interest in life.

Why not invest that quarter to-morrow? I would say TO-DAY.

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles---capable of warding off these disease germs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alterative made alcohol without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence---the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood---the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

"About forty years ago while in Newark, New Jersey, I had chills and fever," writes Mr. McGuire, of National Military Home, Kans. "I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and everything I tried failed to do me good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterward I felt them coming back, so I got another bottle and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take Golden Medical Discovery."

M. McGuire, Esq. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for liver ills.

Household Notes.

Never wring linen with a clothes wringer. It makes wrinkles that are hard to iron out.

Starched clothes are easier to iron if sprinkled with hot water half an hour before ironing.

Black silk sponged with strong black tea and a few drops of ammonia comes out wonderfully well.

To bake potatoes quickly, clean and pour boiling water over them, then let them stand on the stove five or ten minutes before putting in the oven to bake.

Line all lunched boxes with oiled paper and the food will not only retain its freshness, but not taste of the box in which it is placed.

Hot lemonade is one of the best remedies in the world for a cold. It acts promptly and effectively and has no unpleasant after-effects.

To remove a fishbone from the throat, cut a lemon in half and suck the juice slowly. This will dissolve the fish bone and give instant relief.

When punching eyelets, place the material over a cake of white soap. This makes a firm edge, which is

HEALTH RESTORED TO THIS FAMILY

Wife's experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food led to husband's cure.

"Since childhood, I was afflicted with biliousness and sick headache," writes Mr. A. K. Van Wyck, Park Hill, Ont., "and as all the doctors' medicines and prescriptions failed to do me any permanent good, I had lost faith in all medicines. It was by accident that I came to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for it had been recommended for Mrs. Van Wyck and did her so much good that she wished me to try it."

"I did so, and was surprised at the results. It is now three years since I discontinued the medicine and I have not had an attack of the old trouble. I hope that others may benefit by my experience."

The cures effected by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are lasting because it builds up the system and removes the cause of trouble. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50; at all dealers, or Edmansons, Bawa & Co., Toronto.

easily worked over. It also prevents the material from raveling.

When you desire to learn a new pattern in crocheting, first try it with a heavy yarn. After you are familiar with the pattern it may be easily duplicated in finer thread.

Cheese may be kept from going moldy by wrapping it in a cloth dipped in vinegar and wrung nearly dry. Cover the cloth with a wrapper of paper and keep in a cool place.

The habit of biting the nails may be conquered by will power in an older person, but with children cut the nails very close and dip the ends of the fingers in quinine or a little extract of quassia.

It is best to have the wall decoration meet the ceiling without interruption. The wooden picture molding is a beautifier of the room and is no longer considered a help in hanging pictures.

Old stains may be removed from leather by applying powdered pipe clay mixture with water to a paste; apply and allow the paste to remain on the leather for several hours. Repeat if necessary.

To lubricate a door lock, or any that does not work well, use lead scraped from a lead pencil. Put the scrapings on a piece of writing paper and blow them into the lock through the keyhole.

Place a piece of white blotting paper under a vase containing flowers. It will absorb any moisture which may run down the vase. This prevents stains from appearing upon the polished surface of the table.

A good way to bleach handkerchiefs when it is not convenient to hang them out of doors, is to wash them and let them soak overnight in the water in which a little cream of tartar has been dissolved.

Cover your bedsprings with a slip of unbleached muslin or ticking, sewing tapes to each corner to keep it tied on firmly. This will protect your mattress from iron rust, wear and tear, can be taken off and shaken every week and washed clean when soiled.

Dampen the hair with cologne water before winding it on the curlers and it will help to keep the curl in. Hair should be left on the curlers until dry. Anything containing gum arabic leaves an ugly white

An excellent floor mop may be made from old stockings. Slash them in strips an inch wide, forming a fringe. Stitch several thicknesses of this to a stripe of cloth three inches wide and ten inches long. Saturate this with a good furniture polish and fasten in a mopstick.

When olive oil dressing will not thicken after the necessary amount of oil has been used, beat in a small quantity of dry cornstarch. This prevents the curdled or oily appearance. After standing a short time, the dressing will be stiff and will not taste of cornstarch.

Many people melt the butter and then mix it with the sugar. This makes the cake heavy and is always prohibited in good cake baking. Instead of this put the sugar in a double boiler and let it get warm. In this way it creams the butter nicely and does not melt it.

A wise precaution before administering or taking medicine is to look twice at the label and the dose once before pouring it out and once afterward. This is a sort of double security against mistakes. Solutions should always be thoroughly shaken before being uncorked.

When putting down new linoleum place a strip of pastebord, covered with glue, under every seam, pushing the edges of the linoleum close together and pressing down firmly under heavy weights overnight. The seam hardly shows and the edges will not break.

The Plaindealer's Gibberish.

We observe that the dark contributors to the Plaindealer have been allowing their imagination to run riot. In the last issue there is a long contribution that savours of the Morris writer, whose vanity caused him to boast that he was "it" at the elections of 1908 and 1909, and that the whole of the political articles in the Daily News and Chronicle had not a tittle of the influence on the minds of the electors compared to that exerted by his own contributions to the Plaindealer.

Now he is pitifully distressed at the future. Despair at the anticipated loss of the leaves and fishes in the near future has seized his soul, and he relieves his anguish by picturing Coaker in the future, attacking the Hon. W. C. Job, and Messrs. Lloyd, Summers and others. He lets loose his diseased imagination in the ravings we cite in part. There are a number of paragraphs headed "Jobs at Job," "Licks at Lloyd," "Suds for Summers," "Grunts for Grenfell." Here is what the seer of the Morris party sets forth as what Coaker will one day say of us, as if we cared a button whether it was or will be said now or in the future. Here it is for what it is worth:—

"That's somewhat like he would open on Job. We now take the case of Lloyd and see how he would treat him:

Licks for Lloyd.
That arch villain Lloyd is out in his scurrilous sheet yesterday attempting to belittle the President of the F. P. U. We know more about Lloyd than he thinks we know, for we have a history of his career from the time he came to St. John's, carrying all his belongings in a carpet bag, until the very day he turned on us and betrayed the cause for which we are fighting. His stuns and dirty falsehoods are not going to drive us from our duty, and we fling his insults back in his face. What a villain this parasite is, and what a disregard he has for decency, but nothing else can be expected from a dirty clown, and he is generally described as being the basest parasite in St. John's today. If we were sitting side by side with him in hell, we would slay away from him for we could never be certain but that he was the false teeth of the internal region's President himself."

Another contributor to the Plaindealer who has been harping on the same string in the Western Star as well as in earlier issues of the Plaindealer is obsessed with a hallucination about a compact between Coaker and the Liberal Party. He sets forth what he calls "some of the particulars" with all the particularity of one possessed of a suspicion which dominates his sense and fires an imagination he cannot control. This kind of arrangement has been in our possession nearly two months."

We invite him to disclose in full everything he says he has. We are prepared to meet fiction with fact.

To-morrow we shall deal with the hallucination of the Plaindealer scribbler fully.

CONCERNING BREAD

And of Special Interest to the Millions Who Eat It.

The housewife together with every lover of good, pure bread, will welcome the announcement that: It is possible to obtain Flour from which can be made Bread possessing all the wholesome nutritive and digestive properties contained in the Best and Purest Spring Wheat. Bread made from "ARUNDELL" flour in addition to these merits has that distinctly sweet and wheaty taste obtainable only from the best spring wheat.

"ARUNDELL" goes largely into competition in London and throughout the U. K. with these flours milled by special process and which have become so deservedly popular by reason of their retaining all the best properties of the pure spring wheat none of the merits of which are sacrificed to obtain the maximum of whiteness.

Try a barrel of "ARUNDELL" and be convinced of all that is claimed for it; also that by reason of its strength and absorbent qualities it is the most economical flour for family use.—may27,61.eed.

British Force in Action.

Ambush in High Grass—41 Killed.

Details have reached London of the fighting against the Anuak tribe in the remote south of the Sudan, in which two British officers, five Egyptian officers, and thirty-seven non-commissioned officers and men were killed. Although the enemy were put to flight, the position of the British force was at one time critical.

The column reached the River Oth (according to a Reiter message from Khartoum) on March 14, and on the morning of March 15th marched south-east at daybreak along the north river bank. Shortly after the start smoke from the enemy's villages on the river bank was seen ahead, and it was observed that there was a thick belt of forest extending from the villages at right angles to the river for about a mile inland.

The mounted infantry, who formed the advance guard, sent back information that the enemy were holding this line of forest. They then moved off half left, with the intention of turning the enemy's right flank. When about one and a half miles distant from the main body the grass became very thick and high, and Bimbashi (Major) Lichtenberg, M. L., found himself at close quarters with the enemy.

He gave the order to dismount and sent the horses back, but the Anuaks, who were in greatly superior numbers, at once opened fire from all sides at point-blank range, and after a most gallant resistance, in which many of the enemy were killed, Bimbashi Lichtenberg, Yuzbashi Ahmed Kamel, Mulazem Awal, Abd-el-Megid Ismail, Mulazim Tani Sayed, Ibrahim Barakat, and thirty-seven non-commissioned officers and men were killed and three men wounded.

Simultaneously with this attack on the mounted infantry firing broke out all along the enemy's line, and our main body became hotly engaged with a force vastly superior in numbers, a large percentage of whom were armed with good rifles, which they knew well how to use. Casualties occurred, and Bimbashi (Major) Kinahan, 13th Sudanese, was killed. All troops without exception behaved with greatest coolness and bravery, the firing being steady and well aimed, and the gun (75cm. Krupp) in particular making excellent practice.

After the fight had been in progress about an hour and a half the 13th Sudanese charged, bayoneting some of the enemy in front of them, while the remainder fled back to the forest and disappeared, leaving many rifles and much ammunition behind.

The wounded were then brought in and the column advanced to the village on the bank, where it "zaribaed" and parties were sent out to bury our dead. The number of dead bodies were nearly 100; but many more must have perished in the thick grass and bush.

21 Miralal Leveson Bay marched slowly back via Bonjak to Abobo Post, which place the column reached on March 22. Nothing further was seen of the enemy.

Hotel Question.

The committee of the Board of Trade on the hotel proposition had another meeting last night. There were present: Hon. John Harris, William C. Job, John Anderson, Mayor Ellis and Messrs. G. Shea and J. S. Munn. Nothing of a definite nature can be done until the return of the Prime Minister, with whom it is wished to discuss the feasibility of obtaining a charter from the Legislature and until the return of Mr. W. D. Reid with whom the committee wish to discuss financial matters.

Detective Back.

Detective Sergeant Noseworthy arrived by last evening's express from Alexander Bay. As exclusively stated by us on Wednesday he had been "rounding up" parties who violated the Game Preservation Act and succeeded in obtaining twenty-one convictions. All the cases were tried before Magistrate Miffien, of Greenspond, who came to Alexander Bay.

Skull Fractured.

The ambulance called at No. 4 Pleasant Street yesterday afternoon and conveyed a man named Byrne to the General Hospital, where he will undergo an operation. A few days ago Byrne fell over the stairs at his home, striking his head violently and fracturing his skull. Concession of the brain set in and his medical attendant advised him to go to Hospital.

About forty sail of craft, mostly belonging to the southern part of the island, left port this morning, having been supplied for the season's fishery. Schooners are being outfitted at the different waterfront premises with greater despatch than ever before. Only a few craft are now left in the harbor awaiting supplies, and these will be gone by next week.

Out of Hospital.

Mr. James Chaplin, of the General Store of the Reid Company, was discharged from the Signal Hill Consumption Hospital last evening. He had been confined in the institution for over three months and is now feeling in good health. Mr. Chaplin's friends will be glad to learn of his recovery.

Arrested Here.

Constable Tobin last night arrested on Water St. John McCarthy, aged 42, a seaman of Harbor Grace, under a warrant issued at the Bay Metropolis, charging the prisoner with obtaining goods under false pretences. The accused will be taken to-night to Harbor Grace by a constable who came by the morning's train for him, where he will be tried by Judge Oke.

Mrs. Astor Will Wear White

New York, May 25.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor, who at nineteen, was widowed by the Titanic disaster, will wear white—hot black—as mourning for her husband.

Mrs. Astor wished—indeed, felt it obligatory on her—to wear the deepest mourning. But Mrs. Force, her mother, believes she is too young to drape herself with black cloth and black crepe. Such funeral trappings might depress her spirits, even affect her health at this most important time of her life.

So Mrs. Force has overruled her daughter's wish and has ordered windows weeds of white for her.

Coats' Millions.

Death of the Head of the Firm.

Mr. Archibald Coats, for the last twenty years head of the great thread business of J. and P. Coats, Ltd., died on Saturday night at his residence, Woodside, Paisley, aged seventy-six.

The great international combination whose annual profits now exceed £3,000,000, had its origin in a small thread manufactory started by a soldier of the Paisley Fencibles almost sixty years ago. The prodigious development of Coats during the last two decades is one of the industrial romances of modern times. It has consolidated almost the whole of the sewed-up cotton business in Great Britain, and linked itself with the leading manufacturers on the Continent.

£3,000,000 PROFITS YEARLY.

The real beginning of the combination was in 1890, when the present company was started with a capital of £5,700,000. During the previous seven years the profits had averaged £426,000 a year. For the next four years the dividend was 8 per cent. Then it mounted to 10 per cent. The following year, 1896, it was 20 per cent.; and two years later 30 per cent.; when, for the first time, the profits exceeded seven figures. In 1900 the profits were £2,511,945, and a 30 per cent. dividend was accompanied by a 30 per cent. bonus. In 1907 the profits exceeded £2,000,000. For the last three years the dividends have been 35 per cent. and the profits regularly over £3,000,000.

Meanwhile the paid-up capital has reached 10½ millions, and the reserves 8¼ millions. Kaiser Forbids Any German Prince to Attend Prince George of Cumberland's Funeral.

Berlin, May 24.—The Kaiser has ordered that no Hohenzollern Prince shall attend the funeral of Prince George of Cumberland, either on his own account or as his representative.

This action is the result of a long-standing feud between the houses of Prussia and Cumberland over the Prussian absorption of Hanover in 1866. The Duke of Cumberland had never given up his claim to the throne of Hanover, and had rejected all efforts at reconciliation with the Hohenzollerns.

Government Will Establish Arbitration Board.

special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.

Lloyd-George presided at the conference, other ministers present being Buxton, Burns, McKenna, and Isaacs, the Attorney General. Another meeting is being arranged for June 3rd. Meanwhile the wholesale markets continue to obtain abundant supplies of meat transported from ships under police protection, the strikers refraining from violence, and the leaders contenting themselves with threatening a national tie-up, unless their demands are soon conceded. It is regarded not unlikely that the strike may come to a speedy end. In the first place considerable volunteer labor is available, although the disruption of shipping is a serious factor. London is amply supplied with provisions. Prices are becoming normal; in the second place the strikers are receiving no strike pay and the men are far from unanimous; thirdly, the Government is using great pressure to bring about a resumption of work. Ministers propose to establish a joint Board of Arbitration with powers over all parties working in the port. If shipowners refuse to recognize the Board, they will get parliamentary powers to compel them to recognize it.

Acquired Immunity from Disease

An idea firmly fixed in the minds of many persons, scientific and other, is that the races of men acquire immunity from the diseases in proportion as they are brought in contact with them. Dr. A. M. Gossage in the new scientific quarterly, "Bedrock," adduces several cogent examples to give us pause in the acceptance of this plausible idea. The instances most often put forward in its favor are, for example, those of a disease like measles, which is comparatively innocuous in England but which decimates the Eskimo and the Flings when it was imported among them; or again, a disease such as malaria, from which it is declared the black man is immune but to which the white man dwelling as a visitor in the tropics is peculiarly susceptible. But Dr. Gossage points out that in the case of measles the comparative immunity which a European child enjoys results from the direct transference from mother to child of immunity anti-toxins which the mother possesses. If the mother had never had measles she would not be able to transfer any degree of immunity to her child. The immunity, in short, is individual, not racial. Again, in the case of malaria, which is really a disease of several kinds, some kinds much more severe than others, extended observations have certainly shown that the adult native of India or West Africa suffers less severely from these malarial diseases than do the visiting Europeans, and it is tempting to conclude that the white race is naturally more susceptible to infection than the black. But it is also possible that the individual black adult may have acquired insusceptibility by previous attacks or residence in the district, and that at birth there would be no difference between the two races—they would start with the same handicap. This hypothesis is supported by the fact that white settlers who do not die become "salted" by prolonged residence in malarial climates and that the black children suffer very severely and many of them die. Leonard Rogers says that in comparison between Hindu and English children in a district in India the Hindu children suffer most, and the same fact has been noted by Deaderick in the Southern American States.

Disastrous Fire at Change Islands

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE WROUGHT.

On Sunday morning at 8 o'clock a disastrous fire occurred at Change Islands when the mercantile premises of Mr. John W. Hodge, of North End, Change Islands, with the exception of the shop, were totally destroyed by fire. The first seen of the conflagration was in the store nearest the waterfront, and the wind was blowing directly on the other buildings. They also caught, and in a few minutes the whole place was in a blaze. The fire reached such serious dimensions that the entire settlement was threatened with destruction. Numbers of men and women fought and conquered the flames, and by their exertions saved Mr. Hodge's shop from ruin, although the rest of his premises, consisting of several stores, were completely wiped out. Some cod traps and other goods were saved by being thrown into the water, but most of the goods was lost. The dwelling houses in the neighborhood were in imminent danger. Some of them caught fire but were fortunately saved. Mr. Hodge's loss is partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown and an enquiry is now being held by Magistrate Cook of Fogo.

Rain Quenches Forest Fires.

According to passengers and train hands by last evening's express the forest fires at Jumper's Brook and elsewhere are at an end. Yesterday it was raining heavily north, which no doubt quenched the fire, and the conflagration at Jumper's Brook was evidently fought to a finish by the lumber company's men.

Mr. H. E. Cowan's Messages.

Yesterday Mr. Cowan received these messages:

From Glenwood yesterday morning: Reported Jumper's Brook. Badger, Scissor's Cove wiped out; telegraph line to Botwood destroyed. Norris' Arm, Glenwood, Lewisporte, escaped. The day is damp, the clouds are subdued. From Botwood yesterday afternoon: Storm of wind. A large crowd fighting fire above upper houses. No damage to settlement yet. Prospects hopeful. Later—Raining and the wind has changed.

From Glenwood, last night—Mason's Cove, Brown's Arm, Salt Pond, directly north of Lewisporte, wiped out. People destitute.

Dr. McDonald's Message.

Dr. McDonald, of Salvage, also sent the following despatch to Hon. S. D. Blandford: "Shocking destruction of property by forest fires yesterday; the settlement of Squid Tickle, St. Chadd's, burnt to the water's edge; no lives lost; provisions and fishery supplies burnt; immediate assistance wanted." A reply was at once sent to engage all the men possible to check the fire.

Mr. Drover's Message.

At 5.30 p.m. Mr. M. Drover received the following message from his son, William, at Brown's Arm: "Forest fire here yesterday; saved mill, all lumber and new store; everything else swept including the old store, our house and entire contents; Mienie (his wife) and child found refuge at Porter's; fire extinguished; no further damage; raining now; will be at St. John's on Saturday; half the houses in Scissor's Cove burnt; we had terrible experience."

Messages to the Inspector General.

The substance of the messages received from the fire zone by the Inspector General is to the effect that no property was destroyed at Lewisporte; twelve houses were burnt at Scissor's Cove, where fifty-seven people are homeless and destitute; eight houses were burnt at Salt Pond and Mason's Cove, where families are also destitute. Brown's Arm is destroyed, only the mill and shops standing.

Larceny at Horwood's.

"Jobby" Dwyer, a ne'er-do-well, a "lover" of work, and who frequently pays a visit to the Lakeside Inn, was arrested to-day for larceny by Constable Blunden. He is charged with the theft of a wrench which was found in his possession when taken into custody. He will appear in court to-morrow and will likely have to answer for other material that has been "lifted" belonging to the Horwood Lumber Co.

Good Trouting.

The Reid Company have received word that exceptionally good trouting is being done at present at Brigus Junction, Port Blandford and Alexander, and some fine catches are taken daily at all these places.

A number of sportsmen are also enquiring for good places to fish. They would do well by visiting the above mentioned spots.

It is evident that the joint force to-morrow, which the Government hoped to arrange for the defence of the dock strike, is forced to danger. The master and his lightermen, public wharf and the "large owners" have with the other associations, players in declining to send representatives to the Conference. In case they hold the abstentionist line on the ground that they must retain the right to employ their union or non-union labour or choose. So long as the men insist that no settlement can be accepted, which will not restrict employers to union labor, negotiations must be futile. That the Government is still planning to bring about a settlement is shown by the fact of its invitations to a private meeting this afternoon, and the situation.

Placentia Pencillings.

There was a small quantity of caplin taken at Point Verde on Wednesday last and two or three barrels yesterday, and those who procured them did well on the fishing grounds. Tecs Byrne and Cox have been here for the past few days principally for the purpose of obtaining some information regarding the letters stolen from on board the S. S. Glencoe. There is a rumour afloat that some underhand dealings are being resorted to in different directions for the purpose of forcing the Colony into Confederation at the next sitting of the Legislature. Some are bold enough to think that the Premier, who is now in London, may have this object in view and may try and obtain the consent of the British Government for this purpose. It is also thought that the pulse of Canada is being felt on the matter.

Collections for Cemeteries.

The appointment of a number of gentlemen some sixteen years ago by His Grace Archbishop Howley, then Bishop, to take charge of Belvedere and Mount Carmel Cemeteries was a judicious movement. To us who can remember the backward condition of the above respective grounds fully appreciate His Grace's foresight. The wonderful change that has taken place in both places, especially at Mount Carmel, is more than the most interested ones ever thought of, with the exception of His Grace, who saw that both cemeteries would be much better managed by energetic laymen. He is not disappointed in his expectations, for both places are a credit to all interested. During these years the committees were always supported generously by those who contributed voluntarily to the annual collection. Without such support the old backward condition of affairs would come about again. It is noteworthy that at every annual collection the amount collected shows an increase, which means that the work inaugurated by His Grace and faithfully performed by his committees are appreciated. Hence it is scarcely necessary to remind the ever generous ones of Sunday's annual collection. We are certain that His Grace on his arrival home would be pleased to learn that this year's contributions from his devoted people in the interest of Belvedere and Mount Carmel cemeteries had far exceeded similar collections. -Com.

At the Casino.

To-night at the Casino Theatre Mr. Joseph Selman and his company will present one of the finest one act plays which they have produced since coming to the city. It bears the striking name of "The Night Riders"—a title that implies love, romance and mystery. It is a melo drama of the Kentucky Hills, and bears with it all the passion and hatred of a long outstanding feud between two families. At last the son of one section and daughter of the other fall in love. Then there is danger and romance, terminating in a satisfactory denouement after a series of exciting escapades, through which villainy freely dominates until virtue comes into its own. All who admire a really gripping play should attend "The Night Riders." It is a show which gives excellent scope to the Company as Joseph Selman, Alton Thomas, Gertrude Arden and Miss Irving, all have appropriate roles. There promises to be a big house at the Casino to-night.

MOST EARNING CAPACITIES ARE REDUCED TO ZERO BY YOUR SPENDING CAPACITY.

The greater the income of the man who is broke, the bigger fool he is. There is no factory in the world, except your own brain factory, that doesn't lay aside a certain amount of money for the wear and tear of its machinery.

Your income has nothing to do with your prosperity; it's your outgo that counts.

You men of Newfoundland will probably spend several thousand dollars on your own personal necessities within the next twenty-four hours. That is what it amounts to in the aggregate, and if you spend it carelessly the Country is going to have a National headache the next morning.

Now there is such a tremendous difference in the values and the quality of all kinds of merchandise in this present day, that you simply cannot afford to buy in a haphazard way.

It makes a lot of difference, for example, in buying a suit of clothes whether you get a suit that will leave you well dressed for six months, or shabby for the latter three months. And the same thing applies to everything you wear from your shoes to your hat.

It also makes a lot of difference whether the man you buy from is really behind his merchandise, or merely behind his counter. And, whether you are buying for quality or buying for price, the man behind his merchandise is the only man to trust.

But what you want to know is how to tell them apart. And the only sure way is to trust the men who go on record and ignore the others.

The man who advertises gives you his bond of good faith. He signs his name to what he says. If he doesn't live up to his claims, you've got something to come back at. You can put your finger on him. You know where he's at. The man who doesn't advertise has nothing to lose and therefore he is liable to be less careful of what he does.

This paper to-day is filled with the advertisements of men who have the courage to stand back of their merchandise. So it is foolish to take chances when there is nothing to gain.

It is far safer to go through this paper now; look over the advertising news; read what these men have to say and make your choice of all you are going to buy from their columns.

They are the leaders anyway in every line of trade. It is fair to assume that the things they offer will be best.

The General Council of International Transport Workers' Federation, whose headquarters are in this city, are preparing to back up the appeal of the British strikers and to proclaim a world-wide boycott of British shipping. Joseph, President of the International Union, announced that a cable vote of the heads of the organizations in nineteen countries, including the States, as to whether an international boycott should be called, could begin as soon as a full report had been received from London. He declined to discuss the probable result of the vote, saying there had been altogether too much chattering before hand in British labour circles. The General Council, he declared, would avoid this mistake, and the boycott would be declared without warning.

The General Council of the International Transport Workers' Federation at present consists of five Germans, as the result of an arrangement for a system of rotary executive authority and the establishment of the headquarters of the Federation in turn among the various nations affiliated to it.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, May 30.
Labour leaders threaten to call an immediate national strike of transport workers and riverside labourers, to be followed by an international strike, unless the result favourable to them be reached at a Conference to be held with the Board of Trade. To this Conference the Trades Unions will send delegates, although the employers have refused to take any part in it.

The organizing secretary of the Dockers' Union said this morning that the question of a national strike depended upon the Conference. If the result proved unsatisfactory, nothing could prevent it, and it would be followed by an international strike. Continental workers, he said, have already decided to strike, and it is only a question now of the confirmation of their decision by the international executive.

Employers do not take much notice of this threat. Previous experience has shown that continental workers, far from supporting British dockers, have been rather pleased to get the additional work coming to them as the result of such strikes.

Later in the day, despite the militant spirit displayed by the organizing secretary, the national strike movement received a serious set back, when the executive committee of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union, which is the strongest body of national transport workers' federation, decided against it. Notices were sent out by this body that there would be no stoppage outside London, unless the order was signed by the secretary of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union. This appears to indicate a split in the ranks of the Transport Federation, of which the Firemen's Union is the strongest body.

Many more non-unionists went to work this morning, which is likely to lead to some trouble, as nothing is more calculated to arouse the anger of the strikers than their appearance on the scene.

The transport workers' strike committee has decided to ascertain how far it can depend for support on transport workers outside London. At a meeting this afternoon a resolution was adopted asking the National Executive Council of the Transport Workers' Federation to meet at once for the purpose of calling for national support for the fight for the principles of trades unionism.

The Clairvoyant.

BY H. L. RANN.

The clairvoyant is a person who informs inquiring citizens what they are about to get and where they are going to get it. Our most successful clairvoyants are ladies whose ancestors foretold every great event in human history, from the fall of man to the Johnstown flood, and their mission is to let people in on the ground floor. There is intense and animated rivalry among clairvoyants. It is getting so that no greater disaster or failure in the corn crop can occur without having four or five clairvoyants rise up in 48-point Cheltenham and claim they saw it first. Every once in a while some cock-sure prognosticator will fail to prognosticate and beat a trustful patron out of his wheat margins, and this operates to reduce the attendance. The clairvoyant who is not a graduate of some correspondence school can tell at a glance whether a patron expects to pry into the future with a $2 bill or is willing to pay a fair price for a diagram of the stock market one week from Tuesday. Whenever a clairvoyant looks into somebody's hand and foretells a boiler explosion or an attack of smallpox, the price of admission goes up. Some clairvoyants are quite matter of fact in their operations and get down to business as soon as the offering has been taken, while others lurk behind a Japanese screen in a sable kimono and get into a sulphurous trance before projecting themselves into the week after next. The highest-priced clairvoyant in the market is the seventh son of a seventh son, who wears a Turkish trowsers and a far-away look and will contract to forecast anything from falling hair to the outcome of the presidential election. No clairvoyant will read more than three or four days in the future for anybody who is of a sordid and grasping nature and comes to the studio with small change and a skeptical mind. If you want action, take along a large, yellow bill and expose it carefully to the light of day.

Gentlemen.—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

The Dark Future.

By WALT MASON.

Dark trouble lines the brows of men who futureward are looking; how will the husband manage then? And who will do the cooking? The girls forsake the kitchen stove and granite-ware possessions, and struggle forward in a drove to join the learned professions. Some dancels aim to practice law with mannish weal and fury, and exercise the nimble law before a judge and jury. Another girl will deal in hope and heal the ailing sinner, and for her victory we hope—but who will get the dime? Lucretia writes a red romance with characters gadzooking; we hope to see her fame advance—but who will do the cooking? Our Mary has a call to preach; the cookstove she's forsaken; her latest sermon was a peach—but who will fry the bacon? Jemima plays the violin until your heart-strings quiver; we hope she may fresh laurels win—but who will stew the liver? The girls ambitious are indeed, each seeks a lofty billet, and where will sons and husbands feed when no one yields the skillet? No tempting grub, no vinds warm your grandson will make merry; he'll buy his food in capsule form from the apothecary.

What About the Second Keeper?

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Please give me space in your widely circulated paper to say some words about Cape St. Mary's. From time to time, since the 1st of May, I have been fishing at Cape St. Mary's, and for that matter I may say for the last forty years. I often have that fine light riding to one anchor—with an old man in charge and a boy—and so many lives depending on them at all times of the season. There was a lot of talk about having plenty of rope and lifeboats at all lighthouses this year, but we see none yet. What was the second assistant discharged for? Was it to give the one keeper more pay and save sixty dollars and deprive another family of a living. I do not grudge the keeper his regular salary, but we do not like to see a man's salary from the District of Placentia and St. Mary's going to him. If Mr. Thomas English was not a friend to the party, why not appoint another man from the district? Why did not Morris, Howley and Devereaux appoint their friend out in St. Bride's second Keeper of Cape St. Mary's light? What did they fool that man for, who fought fearlessly for them?

Yours sincerely,
PLACENTIA BAY FISHERMAN.

No. 124 and 126 Water Street, West, nearly opposite the Railway Station, with land in the rear running back to Plans Road. The Houses, having all modern improvements, are most desirable residences. Being in such close proximity to the Railway Station it is an ideal location for the hotel business, and with little alteration the houses could be converted into a first-class up to date hotel. As this property will be on the market for only a short time parties desirous of purchasing would do well to investigate early. For further particulars apply to
