MARY ON DETECTIVE DUTY.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Tom went down to the barber's on Saturday night to get a shave, and as business was rushing there he had quite a long wait. While Paul was shaving him, a gentleman came in who was very much annoyed with our chief of police here. Head Constable Sheppard. It seemed from what my man could gather, that the Head Constable has been doing some smart duty lately, that is not receiving the approval of everybody. Well, the man I refer to was very much vexed and is determined to have Joseph removed at once. Tom says he is a strong People's Party man, and he told the people in the school that he had just posted a letter to Mr. Piccott, requesting him to have the Head Constable removed at once, or the party would lose over 100 votes here. If this be so your readers will see to what degree some people would go to have a party kept in power. How dare Mr. Piccott or even the Executive, interfere with a police officer in the discharge of his duty. If a police officer, human beings that they are, do anything wrong, the Inspector General will make things straight, but to have them removed is not and should not be in the power of the common herd.

Let us see if anything will come of the letter referred to above. Our policemen must be protected, or we cannot expect them to do their duty fearlessly.

Yours etc.,
M. R. Grace, Sept. 8, 1913.

Your Duty.

Nothing to do with the Custom House, good friend. Its only reference just now is to yourself. Let us suppose that you are a man of family with sufficient of the world's goods to keep them in comfort. Very well, you did not reach this satisfactory state of affairs without care and labour—few men do. Suppose you are awakened some night with shouts of alarm ringing in your ears. Too late then to talk of prudence; too late then to say: "If I had only, etc." That "if" means too much to many forgetful people. Is it not always the duty of a self-respecting citizen to protect his home and thus provide for those within it. Is it any more then his duty to those depending on him to protect them as far as possible? Can you call your property your own when it is not insured? The answer to this argument is to carry insurance with Percie Johnson's agency, the most popular office in Newfoundland and the least expensive.

If something you are cooking happens to scorch, set the kettle in cold water immediately, and there will be absolutely no scorched taste. This is worth trying.

Bread Made From Potato Yeast.

If two quarts of liquid is desired (two quarts will make five medium-sized loaves and a large pan of biscuit), simply add to the potato yeast enough warm water, not hot, to make up the two quarts. A little shortening may be melted and added, but excellent bread is made without. Warm the potato yeast to lukewarm by setting the dish in warm water. In cold weather the flour should be warmed. When lukewarm add enough flour to the yeast so as to form a sponge-like mass and set in a warm place to rise. When frothy and bubbling add enough more flour to make a stiff dough, and knead until smooth and small blisters appear on the surface of the dough. Set in a warm place. When it has doubled its bulk mould into loaves. The portion desired for biscuit should be cut off and mixed with shortening. Butter makes a darker colored biscuit, but the flavor is delicious. Any shortening may be used, avoiding, of course, anything from smoked meats or fish which would give an unpleasant flavor. Use one-half cup of shortening to a large pan of biscuit.

This recipe has been used for years and given satisfaction. It is especially desirable for use in country places, where fresh compressed yeast cakes cannot be had.—Woman's World for September.

Nickel's Big Show.

Immense audiences attended the Nickel Theatre yesterday afternoon and last night, and all were delighted with the performance. The pictures were highly interesting and most impressive. Arthur Priestman Cameron, "The man from Yorkshire" made his first appearance and was favorably received. He sang two comics "I'd like to go halves in that" and "Love, Marriage and Divorce." Mr. Myers sang "The Heart Bowed Down" and "The Sands of the Desert." To-night he will sing "The Bridge" and at to-morrow's big holiday show he will give "Twickenham Ferry."

Cable News.

Special to The Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Sept. 8.
The Standard prints a despatch from Constantinople to the effect that the Porte through the Turkish Ambassador at Washington, has negotiated a loan of ten millions with an American syndicate.

LONDON, Sept. 8.
The post office at Lewisham, a southern suburb, was set on fire Sunday night, by an explosion in a letter box, and considerable damage was caused before the blaze was extinguished by the police. The trouble is attributed to militant suffragettes.

LONDON, Sept. 8.
According to the Liverpool Post, it is now certain the Duke of Connaught, the present Governor General of Canada, will be the first Viceroy of Ireland under Home Rule. Prince Arthur, the story holds, will succeed his father in Canada, and will receive the title of Duke of Kent. The Post further says that in the event of the Duke of Connaught being prevented from accepting the new office, it will be offered the Duke of Norfolk, the leading Catholic layman of England.

BERLIN, Sept. 8.
German strategy and tactics with the bravery of the Greek soldiers, were responsible for the Greek victories in the Balkan war, according to King Constantine of Greece whose speech on the 6th inst., when he accepted a Field Marshal's baton from Emperor William, was published to-day. The Emperor when he presented the baton in the presence of a company of German generals said it was well earned on the battlefield. His Army, he continued, was proud of King Constantine's victory which was proof that German principles, if rightly applied, always ensured victory.

TOKIO, Sept. 8.

The police arrested the ring-leaders of mobs which were assembling here to-day, and their proposed meeting was not held. The Premier received the organizers at yesterday's meeting, and informed them there was no necessity to send armed forces into China at present. According to another version, the Premier said the sending of troops into China might bring about the partition of that country by the Powers. The city is filled with rumors that the occupation of Chinese territory is impending. The Chinese Government has apologized to Japan for the murder of several Japanese at Nanking, and has ordered an investigation. The Chinese note voiced the desire that a peaceful solution of the affair be reached through diplomatic channels.

Cured Diseases of the Kidneys

Once Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are introduced into the family and their efficiency becomes known, they are usually found too valuable to do without. For everyday ailments arising from liver and bowel disorders they bring relief promptly, and when complicated diseases of the kidneys and liver develop they often prove a successful cure after doctors have failed. As an illustration, you may read the following, which was received a few days ago:

Mrs. John Wright, 53 McGee street, Toronto, Ont., states: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for ten years, and would not be without them. My husband suffered from kidney trouble, and after taking treatment from several doctors without receiving any benefit, tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which worked a complete cure. Since that time we have used them for all stomach and liver disorders."

Dunville Rejoices.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—In the Daily News of the 6th inst., appears a letter signed "Dunville," purporting to be written there, which says in referring to a message which appeared in the Telegram headed "Dunville Rejoices," that the message referred to did not originate at that place but was concocted by a well known gang of many sided heeled in the town of Piacentia.

Now I can prove beyond any possibility of doubt that the message in question did originate from "Dunville." At the same time I unhesitatingly assert that the letter signed "Dunville" did not originate from there but was written by a well known individual who does not live at "Dunville" but, who it is said, assured his P. P's. patrons that he would secure the votes of the people of that settlement for them. Consequently when that message appeared, it was like a bolt from the blue, upsetting his apple cart and shattering his nerves so that he did not know which end of him was uppermost and in desperation at finding himself outwitted, he communicated with his chum of the Daily News telling him that the message was only a fable and was not sent from "Dunville," but was concocted by a gang of political heeled in the town of Piacentia.

Now this gang, as he calls them, are willing to take the responsibility for what they do, but will not allow themselves to be made the medium whereby another can crawl out of any dilemma in which he finds himself, hence these few lines.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space.
I remain,
Yours truly,
ONE WHO KNOWS.
Piacentia, Sept. 8, 1913.

Cooking.

Cooking is an attachment to the marriage ceremony which sometimes makes the bridegroom wish he had had his eyes tested before giving in. If all prospective brides were obliged to take out a sample of their cooking in the front parlor, just prior to wedding march, there would be less indiscriminate wedding and more self-satisfied bachelors in this world.

Cooking is taught in the school of experience, at the expense of mourning husbands. It usually begins with a vigorous assault upon the baking powder biscuit, which the husband is unable to prevent. The man who would criticize his wife's first wrestling match with the baking powder biscuit and refuse to try out half a dozen simply because his mother was a good plain cook who had worked at the trade for fifty years, is a wretched wretch, yet this does not alter the fact that some of the biscuit which are sprung immediately after the honeymoon could be considerably lighter on their feet than they are.

Cooking begins about half past six in the morning and pursues a woman throughout the rest of her natural life. Just about the time a housewife gets the breakfast finished, put away and begins to figure on erecting a shirt waist, she will remember that she hasn't anything cooked for lunch except sliced oranges, so she takes down a lot of dishes that she just washed and proceeds to muddle them up. If she goes down town in the afternoon, the thought of cooking will strike her in the conscience and give her no peace until she has returned home and stirred up a sponge cake.

Cooking is a grater tyrant than a mother-in-law who was opposed to the marriage and has never seen any occasion to change her mind. Cooking is used to good advantage by shrewd wives who employ it to put their husbands in a frame of mind where they can be tapped for an opera cake. There is nothing that will loosen a man's purse strings quicker than the brand of home cooking which doesn't have to be backed away from in order to give preference to a pre-digested cereal.

With Wooden Leg.

Old Soldier Unhooks Limb in Battle; Foo Goes to Hospital When Fight is Over.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Don't fight a man with a wooden leg. That's the advice of Michael Brophy, of South Broadway, who now lies in the Tarrytown Hospital with three ribs broken and a punctured lung.

Brophy had a fight last evening with James McStay, who arrived here from Ireland, bringing a wooden leg with him. When hostilities started, McStay unhooked his wooden leg and used it with as good effect as if he had a shillch and Brophy was carried

The Blushing Tree.

Among the many wonders of the vast Florida swamps there is nothing more surprising than the blushing tree. It actually blushes when the rain falls upon it. The mysterious and beautiful glow of color which it assumes in a rainstorm baffles description. As the rain drenches a tree, gradually, yet unmistakably, the tree gives way to pink. In a few minutes the green fades from sight. Only in a few half-hidden spots, beneath broad branches and on the trunk is there a tinge of green to be seen. The tree is so pink as the cheeks of the healthy girl. After an hour or more, when the shower is over, the tree assumes its familiar green once more. As it is changing back the spectator suddenly realizes the secret of the phenomenon. Certain tiny insects and not the tree itself changes color. These peculiar parasites are possessed of the power of chameleon. In the bright warm sunshine they are green, but when the tree on which they live, but which contract their tiny backs and become the chilly rain falls upon them they are a pretty pink in tint. Millions of these change the color of the tree and make it appear to be blushing—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

CHAPTER X.

Vane took this as an intimation that he was to proceed to business; and lighting his pipe—the squire had filled a long clay—began.

"I'm afraid I've got rather an unpleasant task before me, sir."

The old man eyed him grimly, but made no remark by way of encouragement.

"It isn't easy for a fellow to admit that he has been a confounded idiot," Vane went on; "but that's what I've got to do."

"Is it necessary?" queried the old man, with sardonic sarcasm.

Vane laughed rather ruefully at this retort.

"I wish it wasn't," he said. "The fact is, sir, I have exceeded the allowance you have been good enough to allow me—and am in a regular mess."

The squire fixed his piercing eyes upon him.

"Should you call a thousand a year a fair allowance?" he asked. "Well, I ask because I want the information. I don't know anything about the life you, and such as you, live. When I was your age, I worked on the land. I owned part of it, it's true, but I worked—ay, as hard as any of the laborers, and harder. A hundred a year, two pounds a week, would have seemed wealth to me then. I did not spend eighteen pence a week on pleasure; you, I suppose, spend as much as half a crown?" with a grave smile.

Vane laughed ruefully and stared at his long legs.

"I worked like a laborer," continued the squire, "and your mother worked, too—she was my sister. There was no better girl at butter— He stopped. "She was to have married my best and closest friend; but your father came along, and with his good looks, and fine feathers, and high birth—the son of an earl, a great lord—he won her heart away, and— his voice grew thick and harsh— "and she left the man she was to have married, and left me. I never saw her afterward."

He was silent for a moment or two, puffing at his pipe, and frowning with his shaggy brows. Then he went on:

"People said she was very lucky; that it was a grand match for her—that the Vales had got a lift in the world. But I didn't think so. The Vales were here a century before the Tempests were ever heard of."

"Vane nodded. He had very little pride of birth about him.

"So I've heard," he said.

The squire frowned at the fire.

"I didn't think she was lucky, or she'd be happy, and I'm of the same opinion still. Why did she die so early if she was so happy? The Vales live into the seventies!"

He glared angrily at Vane.

"She died, and I—never saw her again," he went on, in a lower voice. "Your father died, too, and left you behind. I didn't suppose you'd ever heard of me?"

"I beg your pardon, sir," said Vane, quietly. "I can remember my mother"—his voice softened—"as I sat in her lap, telling me about her brother—that was you—and how much she wished she could see him and that he could see me. I don't think—I am sure she never forgave you."

The old man peered at him half suspiciously, then gazed at the fire again.

"You were left, but I made no offer to help you. Your grandfather, the earl, came forward and educated you, and took care of you. And I expect if I—plain Reuben Vale—had offered any assistance, I should have met with a snubbing that would have lasted me my life."

Vane shook his head. He never could sit still and hear a man misjudged, especially when that man happened to be dead.

"You do my grandfather an injustice," he said. "I never knew a man put on less side than he did."

"Less side?" repeated the squire. "What do you mean?"

Vane laughed apologetically.

"That's a slang way of saying that he wasn't a proud man," he explained.

"There wasn't an ounce of it in him. He was a perfect gentleman. I have reason to speak well of him, for he was very good to me. Of course, when he died, my cousin—the present earl—didn't feel that it was his duty to find me in coin, and—"

"In short," said the old man, "your great connections cast you off, and if it hadn't been for me, plain Reuben Vale—"

I have been using the article in my home for the last seven or eight years, and know of nothing better to use when one is subject to cough or cold. In fact, we would not be without it for twice its value. I have very much pleasure in recommending this article, and in selling it over the Island I have the same report from our customers.

I am ordering one gross from your traveler to day, as I sold the last bottle in stock yesterday.

"I thought you were generally called the squire?" Vane could not help putting in.

The old man reddened and frowned.

"The foolish people give me a title I'm not authorized to bear," he said, with a grunt. "I am just plain Reuben Vale. If it had not pleased God to put tons and tons of metal under my acres, I should still be a working farmer and unable to make an allowance for the grandson of an earl."

Vane flushed.

"Have you finished, sir?" he asked.

"No!" snapped the old man. "What I was driving at is this: As I said, when I was a young man, a hundred a year would have been ample income for me; but I was only a young farmer. You are—what is it they call it?—a 'gwell,' an aristocrat. I can't even imagine your way of living. I was only in London once, and then only in the city. I suppose you live in a big house, with plenty of servants?"

Vane laughed.

"I have just four rooms: a living room, a couple of bedrooms, and a bath room in St. James's Street," he said.

The squire gazed at him thoughtfully.

"Four rooms! Then how do you spend a thousand a year—twenty pounds a week?"

Vane knit his brows and stroked his mustache.

"Upon my word, sir, I don't know," he said; "and yet I can pretty well guess. There's the horses—I've got a couple—one for the dog-cart, and another for riding; and—and there are gloves and cigars, and—"

The old man eyed him keenly.

"And the play at your club—oh, I know; and your supper parties, and the money you lend your friends, and the women—"

Vane's face reddened.

"You can strike out the last item," he said, with quiet dignity.

The squire took his pipe from his mouth and looked at him searchingly, then nodded.

"In all but one way, then," he said, "you fling your money about; you waste it, as if it were water. Is that right?"

"No; not quite," replied Vane, meeting the piercing eye frankly. "I can't admit that I fling it about, or that I spend it like water. I just live as the other fellows do, as I am obliged to do if I live with them at all. And that brings me to my purpose in coming down to you, sir."

"Ay," said the old man, curtly. "Let's have it." And he leaned back in his chair and puffed his pipe.

"You want money, of course?"

"I'm afraid I do," said Vane gravely. "But I want it for the last time. I mean, I'm asking for it for the last time. I expect I shall want it often enough." He paused a moment and drank some of his claret.

"I am very much in debt. I came down to ask you to pay my debts, and to give me enough to leave the country. While I stay here in England, London, I must keep spending money, and getting stone-broke every now and then. There is nothing I can do here. I'm too old for the army, and if I wasn't, I couldn't pass the exam. And I don't know any other trade—the law, or anything of that sort. But I have a notion I could do something in the Colonies. I might get into the Cape mounted police. I can ride a bit. I win a steeplechase now and then. Anyway, I sha'n't be surrounded by such temptations as I am in London. There must be something to be got by a fellow who has strong arms and is willing to use 'em."

"Yes; there is always some stone-breaking and road-mending to be got in the Colonies, I'm told," said the squire, grimly.

Vane laughed.

"Pon my word, sir," he said, "I think I'd rather go in for that than hang about town, dodging writs."

The old man looked at him for a moment in silence; then he said:

"What is the extent of your debts?" Vane considered for a while.

"A couple of thousand pounds, sir," he said.

The squire smiled gravely.

"That is a nice sum," he said, but not angrily. "And you expect me to pay it? You think that I'm so rich that two thousand pounds will only be a flea-bite?"

A Beautiful Virol Child.

29, Elphinstone Road, Walthamstow, July 18th, 1912.

VIROL, Ltd., 152-156, Old Street, London, E.C.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in sending you a photograph of my daughter Doris, who is absolutely Virol fed. I was unable to feed her myself, and the doctor was to get a suitable food. We tried many of the advertised babies' foods but without exception they all caused gastric trouble.

At last we were advised to try Virol, and ever since Doris has steadily progressed. I don't think you could find a finer child anywhere. The photograph is good but it cannot convey her perfect bodily condition. Her age is two years and she weighs two stone eight pounds.

You may see this photo if you care to as it clearly shows what Virol can do for a child.

Yours faithfully,
D. MISELDINE.

One Way to Conserve Energy.

BY RUTH CARBON.

It is not always physical effort that makes us physically tired. When night-time finds us utterly spent and weary in mind and body, we are apt to blame our condition upon the physical effort we have made, the actual work we have accomplished. I think we make a great mistake in this. Quite as often the weariness is the result of mental effort or mental discomfort reacting upon the body.

For instance, to have the burden of some difficult decision weighing upon one's mind often takes more out of one than a great deal of work.

We had a notable example of this the other evening. A friend of mine climbed wearily up our veranda steps, with the air of being utterly exhausted. We asked if she had had an especially hard day. "No," she said, "not as far as work goes. In fact, I haven't done as much as usual. I'm afraid you'll laugh if I tell you why I'm so tired. I got a letter this morning telling me about another possibility I might be able to get. It's a good opportunity, but it means making quite a change. I'm not sure whether it would be the best thing in the end or not and I can't decide what to do, so I keep trying it over and over in my mind, like a squirrel in a cage. That's why I'm tired out to-night. And the worst of it is I haven't got to decide for a month and I know I'll wear myself out vacillating back and forth before I make up my mind."

You may be sure I didn't laugh. I knew too well what the poor girl was going through.

Each human being has a certain amount of energy. A few lucky individuals seem to have an ample supply, but the most of us haven't an iota to waste. Why waste any then in miserable decision?

How can one help it when decisions must be made? Why, simply by making them. This girl did not expect any new factors to enter into the case in the next month. She was simply deferring the decision because she dreaded to make it—even as you and

Now it's absolutely folly to prolong one's suffering and waste one's energy in that way. When you have a decision to make don't worry yourself trying to make it and until you have all possible information in hand. When you have that set aside an hour or two to commune with yourself and look the ground over and at the end of that time make your decision.

One word more, don't leave the way open for you to change your mind. Cross your bridge and then burn it. That is, do something to make the decision irrevocable. To a vacillating temperament that is the hardest thing in the world, but it is also the safest. And believe me, the ineffable peace that will come to you when an irrevocable decision is made will more than reward you for the effort it cost to make it.

Ruth Carbon

Household Notes.

Never buy wilted vegetables if it can be avoided.

The best kindergarten lunches are chiefly of fruit.

Toasted bread or croutons give a rich flavor to soup.

Heavy soups should be kept for the main dish at luncheon.

Little fabric dusters are far more hygienic than feather dusters.

Firm, close fitting is an important matter in selecting gloves.

Pears may be used instead of apples to make delicious fritters.

Marshmallow sauce is a good accompaniment to coffee ice cream.

Bread and butter sandwiches filled with brown sugar are excellent.

Put a teaspoonful of peanut butter in fridge when nearly done. It is delicious.

Wood ashes are splendid for removing flower-pot stains from window sills.

To clean willow furniture, apply salt and water with a brush and rub thoroughly until dry.

Grease the bottom of granite or tin pots before placing over the fire and the black will wash off easily.

It is a good plan to keep a piece of sandpaper above the sink. It is very good to clean pots and pans with.

Apply kerosene liberally to any copper vessel which has become discolored; then wash with hot water and soap.

When washing windows, try putting a little turpentine in the water. It will do wonders in brightening the glass.

The right way to peel onions: Begin at the root of the onion, peeling upward, and the juices will not fly into your eyes.

If you get ink on your fingers, wet the head of a match and rub it on the ink spots. It is much quicker than to let it wear off.

When you buy new tinware, rub it well with lard and heat it thoroughly in the oven. Tinware treated thus will never rust.

Laying Foundation Stone of Church at Whiteway.

The Church people of Whiteway are only few in number and have been these many years without a place of worship worthy the name. They have now determined that this state of things shall end in the course of a year or more. The old building which did duty as school-chapel so many years, and which was never very suitable for the purpose, will give place to a decent little Church designed to meet the requirements of the settlement. The concrete foundation is to be laid at once and the work of erecting the building will be begun as soon as convenient. On Monday morning at 11.30, the ceremony of laying the Foundation Stone was performed. The incumbent of the mission, Rev. T. W. Upward, conducted the service. The congregation, augmented by some of the other denominations, met in the School-chapel where the first part of the service was held, then singing a Processional "The Church's One Foundation," they went to the site of the new Church. After the psalm "O, how amiable are Thy dwellings Thou Lord of Hosts," the stone was solemnly blessed and prayers offered for the success of the undertaking. After the hymn "Christ is made the sure Foundation," Mrs. Leander Dwyer placed the stone in position "In the Faith of Jesus Christ: In the name of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost." During the singing of "We love the place O God," a collection for the building fund was taken up, and the blessing of the assembled people brought to a close a service which will be ever memorable to the church people of Whiteway.

A Reason Why Food is So Dear.

New York, Aug. 27.—Thirty-nine lobsters at one meal is the latest gastronomic achievement of Christopher Ganger, of No. 724 Third avenue, Brooklyn. His full course at the meal, which was eaten Saturday night at John Edward's, Twenty-third street and Third avenue, that borough in competition with Arnold A. Hartman, of Orchard Turnover, Ohioville, Ulster County, N.Y., was: Thirty-nine lobsters, weighing one to one and one-quarter pounds apiece.

Six green peppers.

Nine potatoes.

Two loaves of bread.

Ten bottles of beer.

Time required—One hour and forty two minutes.

There were two hundred spectators of the match. Hartman ate only thirty-one lobsters and lost the $10 bet.

Ganger weighs 239 pounds, is 34 and stands five feet ten inches. Hartman is middle-aged, tall and weighs 180 pounds.

Ganger's best previous record at a meal was 220 clams. Two months ago he ate fifteen pounds of blue-fish at a sitting.

Gustav Alexander, of No. 931 Third avenue Brooklyn, ate at one meal two weeks ago an eleven-pound turkey, five green peppers, nine potatoes, two loaves of bread and one-half pound of butter and drank ten bottles of beer.

Vicious Attacks

On Sir Robert Bond and the Savings Bank.

The most absurd and vicious attacks that have ever disgraced Election campaigns in Newfoundland are those associated with McGrath. The worst of all are those he is engaging in now, for he not only makes a vile attack on the honour and integrity of Sir Robert Bond but he is trying to raise a scare against the Government Savings Bank, which is calculated to embarrass an institution which it is the manifest duty of every one to safeguard, but more particularly is it the duty of the Government who are responsible for the safety of the institution. What are the Hon. Sir E. P. Morris, John R. Bennett, R. A. Squires and M. J. Kennedy, who are among the Governors of the Savings Bank doing to protect it against the malicious attacks of Mr. P. T. McGrath? Are these men content to stand for these attacks of McGrath and to stand as Governors of the Savings Bank at one and the same time? McGrath boasts that he fooled the people in 1909 on a Confederation scare to vote for the People's Party. McGrath tried to raise a scare on Non-Sectarian education and failed. McGrath compared Coaker to Dowie, and tried to ruin the commercial enterprises which are associated with the Fishermen's Protective Union movement, and failed miserably. Driven to despair, he is now trying to instil fear into the breasts of the fishermen that their money will not be safe in the Government Savings Bank, and he does not stop at this bank, for he includes other banks. Of all persons in the whole of Newfoundland with whom he could have associated such a scare, Sir Robert Bond is the least vulnerable, for with no other person's name is the safety of that bank more indissolubly bound than that of Robert Bond. The security of the Savings Bank ultimately rests on the solvency of the Colony. Sir Robert Bond saved the Colony from insolvency in 1895, and in that way indirectly saved the Savings Bank. But he did more. He saved the Savings Bank directly, and the Governors of the Savings Bank passed a resolution telling what he did and thanking him for doing it. When the Savings Bank was in need of a loan after the Crash in May 1895 he raised a loan in Canada for $150,000 at 5 per cent. per annum. $100,000 of this he could obtain only by rendering himself personally responsible to the all that valuable piece of land, situated in the North Atlantic, and known as Newfoundland, the oldest British Colony; Going, Going.

On the same date, too, McGrath in the Evening Herald, attacked the Savings Bank, in these words: "It is better for people to have their money in a world-renowned institution like the Bank of Montreal than in a Savings Bank, the deposits in which a Government guarantees and then mortgages over our revenue to outsiders." In 1895, McGrath attacked the Savings Bank and Bond's efforts to save it and the Colony. To-day he is attacking, as he did then, the same person, and the same bank in the interest of the Grubbers. Now who will voters trust? The man who saved the Savings Bank in 1895, or McGrath's leader? Who will the voter trust the man who saved the credit of the Colony in 1895 or the man who has been spending public money recklessly since 1909? Shall it be Bond, who risked everything he possessed for his country, or the man who has been grabbing all they could the past four years?

Stafford's Liniment.

Question No. 1.—Why is it that Stafford's Liniment has obtained such a large sale?
 Answer No. 1.—Because every person who has used it says it is one of the best Liniments that they ever used, and they tell their friends about it, and the consequence is that the demand is obtained.
 Question No. 2.—Why is it that Stafford's Liniment is recommended and guaranteed by the people who handle it?
 Answer No. 2.—Because the people who handle it know by facts and statements that they can thoroughly recommend and guarantee it to the utmost. Several persons have such confidence in it that they tell their customers, that after using it, they didn't find it as good or even better than some other kind they used, they would give them their money back. If this isn't confidence enough what is it?

Question No. 3.—Why is it that Stafford's Liniment cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and all kinds of Aches and Pains?
 Answer No. 3.—Because when you are suffering from Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia, or any kind of an ache or pain, you bathe affected parts in very warm water (nearly hot) for about five minutes. Dry well and apply Stafford's Liniment freely, you will find instant relief. Now there is no doubt about it but Stafford's Liniment has obtained a large sale, and the orders being received nearly every day would convince you. You can see them if you wish by calling at our Drug Store, Theatre Hill, St. John's.

Nothing to do with the Custom House, good friend. Its only reference just now is to yourself. Let us suppose that you are a man of family with sufficient of the world's goods to keep them in comfort. Very well, you did not reach this satisfactory state of affairs without care and labour—few men do. Suppose you are awakened some night with shouts of alarm ringing in your ears. Too late then to talk of prudence; too late then to say: "If I had only, etc., etc." That "If" means too much to many forgetful people. In it not always the duty of a self-respecting citizen to protect his home and thus provide for those within it. Is it any more then his duty to those depending on him to protect them as far as possible? Can you call your property your own when it is not insured? The answer to this argument is to carry insurance with Percie Johnson's agency, the most popular office in Newfoundland and the least expensive.

Naval Wedding.

Miss Helen Withers Marries Lieut. Colville of H.M.S. Cornwall.

This afternoon a fashionable wedding took place in the Church of England Cathedral when Miss Helen Marion Withers, daughter of John Withers, Esq., King's Printer, was married to Lieut. Nansell F. Colville, of H. M. S. Cornwall. The bride was charmingly attired and given away by her father, His Lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland, assisted by Rev. Mr. Goudge, the chaplain of the Cornwall, performed the ceremony, which took place at 3 p.m. The Cathedral was filled by the many friends of the bride and groom, the officers and the cadets of the Cornwall. After the ceremony the sailors attached ropes to the carriage of Mrs. Augustus Harvey, which had been lent for the occasion, and drew the Lieutenant and his charming bride home, in the grounds in front of the house a large marquee has been erected and was utilized for the reception of guests. The presents were most numerous and valuable and came from Newfoundland, Canada, England and the States. We extend to Lieut. and Mrs. Colville, felicitations and wish them many years of happiness.

Bond Can't Lose

There's a downward droop to Edward's mouth, and Donald's brow is sad. And their hearts and their desires call them mad and sad and mad. For the traitor Tory Turncoats are shivering in their shoes. When they hear the joyful chorus of "Bond Can't Lose."
 There's a feeling round our island, from Cape Norman to Cape Spear. That the picnic days are over, that have cost our land so dear. And not Donald's frantic war-whoops, not Patsy's vile abuse, can drown the joyful chorus, men, of "Bond Can't Lose."
 Oh! your day is nearly done E. P. the Tory sun has set. And your faithful umbrella will not shield you from the wet. For the steady, steady downpour from Channel to Renewels. Of Liberal votes on Polling Day, for "Bond Can't Lose."
 'Tis heard in all the Club rooms, by the fireside, on the street. 'Tis the rally cry of Liberals with friend with friend doth meet. Our boys who'll face the front sans anybody. We must be taken charge of by England's Commissioners in June next.
 On June 24th, 1895, McGrath published the following insulting and unpatriotic gibe at his native land, and this was the very date on which the Halifax Chronicle announced from London
 "Bond's Loan Successful."

On Monday, we referred to the tardy attempt of Morris and Me to wreck the Fishermen's Union subject will bear further con- sideration so as to drive home to the members and to all Union workers sympathizers the peculiarly character of the attack. Morris' losses at all times to have sympathy for the workingman laborer, the mechanic and all work for a living. A special graph in his Manifesto was a vague promise, unfulfilled need not say, to improve the condition of the working classes. It was not one of the promises concerning the Reid Company and way building, as it was not put millions into the pockets of railway contractors, it was staidly and faithfully evaded.

The benefit union became so apparent to the port resident, from his frequent visits to St. John's, that when Coaker started to organize the men into a Union he found them and ready. In an incredibly time the idea took root and spread over the northern districts. In addition to the customary object which the idea stands in St. J. Investment News

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 11th, 1913.

Within Reach of Everybody!

There are many people with a small "nest egg" who think vaguely that investing is solely for the wealthy. Hence they allow their savings to remain idle—or practically so.

If they have ever seriously considered an investment the obstacle has frequently been the need of a considerable sum before making a start.

No longer need this be so. Our new Partial Payment Plan places before EVERY man and woman of limited means an opportunity to purchase the same securities (yielding as high as 7 per cent) that are carried by our wealthy clients. And the method of payment is so easy to commence and so easy to continue that it leaves no room for criticism as to its convenience.

We have a booklet describing the plan ready to be addressed to you. Shall we send it?

Obituary.

JAMES A. CHAPLIN.

Yesterday there passed over to the Great Beyond a well known citizen in the person of Mr. James Chaplin, brother of Mr. Mark Chaplin. Mr. Chaplin has been an invalid for 18 months past and had been a patient at the Signal Hill Hospital for some time. Mr. Chaplin married Miss Minnie Kean, daughter of the late Maurice Kean, a well known and respected fisherman. Messrs. Samuel and Ted Chaplin are also brothers, and the deceased leaves a large family. Mr. Mark Chaplin was about to leave yesterday on a business trip abroad but had to defer it owing to the death of James. To the bereaved widow and family the Telegram extends its most sincere sympathy.

JOHN BYRNE.

Another well known and estimable citizen passed away yesterday in the person of Mr. John Byrne, an aged and respected cooper. Mr. Byrne had been ill only a short time and was in his 76th year. Mr. Byrne was a well known figure on our streets and was a man of sterling worth. He was especially known to the commercial community, as for years he ran a large cooperage, and in his earlier days took an active part in our regattas, and was generally a sportsman. John Byrne was genial and gentlemanly and in St. John's many people will read of his death with sincere sorrow. He was an exemplary member of his church and before death was fortified with the rites of that Church. Mr. Tpos. Byrne, the well known cooper, is a son of the deceased, and several relatives survive him. Mr. Byrne was a life long member of the Mechanics Society. To the bereaved relatives the Telegram extends sincere condolence.

Baseball.

The attendance at the game of the league baseball series yesterday was probably the largest for the season, and almost 1,200 fans saw the Shamrocks defeat the B. I. S. by an innings and twelve runs in what might be termed one of the best exhibitions of the games yet seen on Stancombe's field. By reason of this defeat the B. I. S. team occupy the collar position of the league for the first year of baseball history, and the Shamrocks are to be congratulated upon their splendid showing of the scores. The B. I. S. without defeated, gave a snappy exhibition, but were outclassed at all points. Play ball was called at 11 p.m. Mr. Byrne was a life long member of the Mechanics Society. To the bereaved relatives the Telegram extends sincere condolence.

Rings	1st base	Waterfield
Grace	2nd base	Harsant

The B. I. S. players totalled 10 runs in seven innings and the Shamrocks 22 runs in six innings. The victors record for the first year has been one that might well feel proud of. Besides making the only triple play for the series they succeeded in winning the silk vest and other prizes donated for the first home run which was secured by their second base player Harsant. In yesterday's game Messrs. McManus and Deuch umpired and Mr. T. Hartnett scored. The following is the standing of the teams:

The presentation of cups and prizes will take place shortly after the next meeting of the League.

Protest Against the Public Message.

Special to Evening Telegram.

FOGO, Sept. 10, 1913. Monday's Public News states Coaker wired Fogo Council: "Send protest to Advocate against Zare as Bond nominee." This statement is absolutely false. No such message was received by us and we warn all fishermen against believing anything coming through the public despatch in reference to political matters. Mr. Grath will stop at nothing the next six weeks to make trouble amongst the Union men. We intend to give no heed to any statements against the Union or about Coaker.

The Union will give no quarters to gratulism, and our confidence in Coaker was never greater than it is at present and busy-bodies like Mr. Grath and his henchmen will not be tolerated. Their days are done. "We can't lose" is our slogan.

Four Persons Astray.

Men in Freshwater Bay this morning had a hard time of it looking for two young women. When the men heard the crying they donned their oil clothes and to the credit of Samuel Baird he found them and took them to his brother's wife's residence where they got a change of clothing. Mrs. Baird kindly taking all their clothing off and replacing it with dry and warm apparel. Messrs. Sam Martin and William in their motor boat handled the frightened females at the King's Wharf at 6:30 this morning. Inspector Collins spent a most anxious night. He had men patrolling everywhere in the suburbs. Two people were missing up to 1 p.m. Mrs. Rendell, of King's Road, and Mrs. Billie, of Leslie Street. A sensational affair was the loss of the little lad Power, son of Mr. M. Power, of the James Baird Co., out on the Freshwater Road. He became detached from the party, when Messrs. E. Spurrell, M. Duffy and M. Doran made a search with lanterns they heard the child crying after a long search, and 1:30 this morning or thereabouts found him. It was reported to-day that another woman was astray out in Freshwater Bay and that two others were caught out on the Three Pond Barrens. The police are investigating.

Morris's Dastardly Attempt to Wreck Fishermen's Union.

To Lower the Price of Fish and to increase the cost of living by wiping out Union Trading Company and Co-Operative Stores.

On Monday, we referred to the dastardly attempt of Morris and McGrath to wreck the Fishermen's Union. The subject will bear further consideration so as to drive home to the fishermen and to all Union workers and sympathizers the peculiarly heinous character of the attack. Morris professes at all times to have great sympathy for the workingman, the laborer, the mechanic and all who work for a living. A special paragraph in his Manifesto was devoted to vague promises, unfulfilled we need not say, to improve the conditions of the working classes. As this was not one of the promises concerning the Reid Company and railway building, as it was not one to put millions into the pockets of the railway contractors, it was studiously and faithfully evaded.

The mechanics of St. John's, the tradesmen and the laborers have been organized into Unions for several years and great have been the benefits to employer and employed. The employee has been in a position to demand a living wage and to make his income meet the increased cost of living and the employer has had a settled condition of things to calculate on when estimating the cost of his manufactures. The benefits of union became so apparent to the out-port resident, from his frequent visits to St. John's, that when Mr. Coaker started organizing the fishermen into a Union he found them willing and ready. In an incredibly short time the idea took root and spread over the northern districts. But in addition to the customary objects for which the idea stands in St. John's, the country. The trading company known as the Union Trading Company and co-operative stores are the points which the fishermen resent most strongly. McGrath's inspired attack, for it was into these ventures that their hard earned savings, the fruits of many years of toil were placed. These were placed in jeopardy by the malicious attack of McGrath. But they were not alone the subject of his vitriolic diatribes. The organ of the fishermen, the "Advocate" and the President of the Union came in for an equally strong share. The object of the attack was most apparent. Morris made up his mind when he found the "Advocate" and F.P.U. would have none of his corrupt politics, to kill the Union and all connected with it. Little cared he voice of the united fishermen heard. Under Morris, capitalists and wealth will seek and obtain favors and privileges, land grabbing, and extravagance will take place; under BOND a fair, just and economic administration with equal rights to all classes, special favors to none, will obtain. To all union and non-union men we appeal to punish this dastardly trick of Morris and McGrath, when Polling Day comes round tell Morris candidates that they must go for BOND.

History Being Repeated.

A GENERAL SWEEP OUT.
Thoroughly reliable information gathered from persons who have recently travelled through all the districts, declare that the coming sweep out of the present Tory Government will be equal to the sweep out of the Tories only won four seats. What else could be expected. "Who would be free themselves must strike the blow." Patsy will use his vile pen in vain this time without any doubt whatever. The districts everywhere are falling into line for the greatest Liberal Victory ever yet known in the island. The people have made up their minds and will stand true against the allurements of bribery and corruption. Poor Morris & Co. are approaching the "bitter end" sure—Com.

Preparing for the Contest.

The young Liberal voters in the West End are now preparing for the contest in November, and are determined to uphold the Liberal prestige and do honor to the Union. The Sires who bequeathed to them the grand privilege of standing by the old Liberal Banner and tress with disdain the old Tory rag—the emblem of the worst days this island ever saw. The figures in Tuesday's Telegram pointing out the decrease in the Tory flag with P. McGrath at his back. What could he expect better? Traitors can expect no better fate—Com.

Shamrock's Excursion

In Conjunction With Tor's Core Garden Party.
The 10th annual excursion of the "Shamrock" was held yesterday and was the biggest success of the season. Precisely at 10 o'clock the train pulled out of the station with a happy and joyous party numbering over six hundred persons, including the C. C. C. Band. Arriving at Tor's Cove on time, a pleasing incident took place. On the members of the Club landing from the train they were each presented with a bunch of shamrocks, the thoughtful action of Mrs. Margaret O'Driscoll, as an appreciation of their first visit to Tor's Cove. The Club, through its chairman, Mr. Murphy, sincerely thanked the kind and venerable lady for her appropriate present and hearty cheers given for her and family. The party then headed by the band proceeded to the grounds which were beautifully landscaped and the table holders and assistants were busily engaged for upwards of two hours tending to the inner man which was done in a first class manner by the ladies who deserve the congratulations of each and every excursionist. After ample justice had been done at the festive board, Rev. Parish Priest (P. J. O'Brien) announced the program of sports which were run off without a hitch except that the race course became clouded with fog, nevertheless the contestants entered each event with a vim.

During the interval Chairman Murphy presented the prizes to the victors including the cup, gold and silver medals, oil clothes and box of tobacco. Presentation to the victors was made by the Hon. Mr. L. S. P. U. handed back the honorarium won by his men to Rev. Fr. O'Brien to be contested for next year.

Bovina Center, N. Y.—"For six years I have not had as good health as I have now. I was very young when my first baby was born and my health was very bad after that. I was not regular and I had pains in my back and was so poorly that I could hardly take care of my two children. I doctored with several doctors but got no better. They told me there was no help without an operation. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me wonderfully. I do most of my own work now and take care of my children. THE IMPERIAL OIL CO., LTD.
Gentlemen—With reference to POLARINE OIL, we desire to say that we operated six Winton Six-Cylinder Cars on the Cariboo Road in 1912, and these Cars travelled 82,430 miles during the season. We used POLARINE exclusively, and found it superior to any other oil which we had previously tested, and while the cars were operated under all sorts of climatic conditions, we were so well pleased with the results obtainable from the use of POLARINE OIL that we propose to use nothing else on the eight Winton Cars which we will operate this year.
Yours very truly,

because his bodily health failed to meet the company's rules. Mr. James Connors says Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey built him up so that he successfully passed three different physical examinations by the same Life Insurance Co. which formerly rejected his application. No wonder he will not accept substitutes for Duffy's. "I have great faith in your wonderful remedy which I have taken regularly for the past twenty-five years. Before I took Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey I was subject to chills and heavy colds in the winter and had a very poor appetite. My family physician advised me to take a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey before meals. I followed his directions and found it created an appetite, and while taking it I was not subject to the cold chills that I formerly suffered with. Twenty years ago I was rejected by a Life Insurance Company and since taking your whiskey I have built myself up and have passed three times since in the same company.—James Connors, 337 Baltic Street, Brooklyn, N.Y."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.

The Tariff Bill passed the Senate by 44 to 17, amid a burst of applause from the crowded galleries and from the floor. Senator La Follette voted with the Democrats and was joined a few minutes later by Senators Underwood, Kitchin, Rainey, democrats, and Payne, republican. President Wilson expresses great satisfaction. Chairman Simmons predicts an immediate stimulus to business. As passed, the Bill represents an average reduction of more than 4 per cent, from the rates of the original bill, and 28 per cent from the existing tariff. The Senate has introduced many important amendments. Their differences will be forthwith adjusted by a joint committee of both Houses. Leaders predict the Committee will not tarry more than a fortnight.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.

The German marine airship D.L. was destroyed last night in a hurricane, 18 miles north of Heligoland. Torpedo boats were immediately despatched and rescued seven of the crew. Fifteen are missing, amongst them Capt. Nitzke, commander of the Marine airship D.L. and Baron von Haltzohn. Thirteen corpses are undoubtedly confined in the cabin of the airship, now at the bottom of the North Sea. The fourteenth body was picked up dead. The airship was equipped for a thirty-hour cruise and was observing aerial warfare conditions. The balloon had met a heavy loss of gas, due to the cold atmosphere, and was already unmanageable, when caught by the storm.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.

A story from two sources, differing only in minor details, has reached here, announcing the death, at the hands of an Eskimo hand in the far north of Canada, last summer, of two explorers, George Street of Ottawa, and H. V. Radford an American, with whom Street left for a journey into the Arctic two years ago. The tale comes by mail steamer via the Hudson Bay route. The men left Chesterfield Inlet with a party of Eskimo traders, joining another Eskimo party at Schultz Lake to proceed to Bahurst Inlet. An altercation occurred between Radford and a tribesman, who drove his spear through Street went to the rescue, but was also killed. The story was kept secret by the Eskimos for several months, but reached the ears of the mounted police at Chesterfield, two months ago. A party has been sent to investigate.

LONDON, Sept. 9.

Chancellor Lloyd George will inaugurate his Land campaign at Bedford on October 11th. The committee appointed by him to study the question has concluded its labors, and the report will be issued soon after the meeting. The adoption of small holdings, cultivated by tenant occupiers, will be recommended, the tenancy to be safeguarded by land courts. Reforms for agricultural laborers will include fewer hours, wages boards, holidays. The Government is basing all its plans on the Parliament meeting till 1915, and it is thought a dissolution will occur in June or July of that year, which would be before the new Irish Parliament actually sits, as a delay of fifteen months between the House of Commons and the actual constitution of the Irish Parliament is expected.

LONDON, Sept. 9.

Entertained by the British Press, Sir George Reid, High Commissioner of Australia, said Australia loves peace, but is busily equipping a fleet, preparing her manhood and boyhood for the fighting line, resolved to make ready to help in the defence of the flag that has always protected her. She does not wait for a larger share in Imperial politics, or turn aside to enjoy the old pastime of party combat. The British fleet is the first line of the World's defence against lawless dreams of conquest.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.

Members of Thaw's family and his lawyers were dumbfounded when they heard of his deportation. J. M. Greenfield, K.C., confessed himself "simply paralyzed," and criticized the action as contrary to law and a disgrace to the country. All that could be done was to bring Mr. Robertson, Assistant Superintendent of the Immigration Department, before the court of King's Bench, but that would do no good in Thaw's case, of which he had been in charge.

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, acting Minister of the Interior, says that he rejected Thaw's appeal from the decision of the Immigration authorities, and his department was therefore carried out. That the writ of habeas corpus, or the writ of prohibition, issued at Montreal, did not enjoin the Immigration authorities from taking this step, is the view held by the Minister.

COLEBROOKE, Sept. 10.

Thaw was arrested by Sheriff Drew, five miles from Colebrooke, and before noon today, and brought here. The Sheriff had no warrant, but held him as a fugitive from justice.

Political Plums.

No Compliment. Did you see Morris's Picture in the Daily News. A mighty poor compliment though to Geoffrey Healey!

Morris is Bragging. Morris, himself, is bragging about himself in Tuesday morning's Daily News. No cricketer who bragged about the score he was going to make ever made anything better than a duck's egg.

On the Beat. Morris beats the track. Patsy is beating the air. But it was left to Morrison to "beat" Governor Williams. After the election the Pie-Mickers will beat a hasty retreat to the tent to get under cover.

His Month. E. P.—Well, what are you looking at me like that for?

Suffragette.—I was only thinking how pretty you would look with your mouth—shut.

His Reason. Morris met a foreign pedlar one day when he was out looking for votes, and addressed him thus:—

"Say, pard, didn't you flee from some oppressive country, and come here to live because it is a land of freedom?"

The pedlar replied in a gruff voice: "No sir. I come to this country to sell sheep, ready made clo'es."

Even the pedlars are on to him.

His Boots. Patsy is investing in a pair of knee boots to wear in slaughter to a throne."

"Then he is going to lend them to Morrison. They are grand things to scale timber with. E. P. sent his to the laundry the other day to have the wrinkles ironed out."

Is Morris Soft? Morris (to himself).—I'm sure I don't know how many people thought that I was going to work for nothing when I said I wanted no salary!

I guess there weren't many who thought me so soft! I don't see much to object to in them line about the Hagur, either.

But when he to the Hague did go, And took ten thousand dollars or so, The people held their breath, for lo! Morris was making good!

His Old Clothes Again! E. P. (getting ready to go canvassing).—Where's that old coat with the buttons off?

Chinaman Lacey.—Does ye mean the Rusky one, 3s. Hedward?

E. P.—No. I mean the one I had on when I said the people never elects Tories twice rannin'."

Black Monday. When the Commercial Bank had closed its doors

On a bright, dark black Monday, Morris was itching to do some chores in law, and other things sundry.

A cool nine thousand dollars he got. And he blessed that dark, black Monday.

And he watches Patsy with holy glee "Breakin' the Banks at noonday."

A Sweet Captain. Patsy's tongue running away with his head!

Sheep. Morris promised to whitewash the hills with sheep! They are a long time coming! Why not start in with those promising lambs, Wolfson, Crossie, Piccott? Patsy would make a sweet shepherd!

Very Chaste! Although Patsy's language is so chaste, no one thinks of chasing it now, not since he showed that bottle of Bug-Juice in his paper. We know now where he gets his inspirations! Did Morrison swallow any of it?

His Old Clothes. If you let Morris finish his work, For he'll then be rising in Broad-Cloth, And you'll be wearing your old clothes!

Twice! Let Morris finish his work? Not likely! The people never elects Tories twice!

What is His Ambition? Sir Edward Morris had his chance to better his condition. He took ten thousands for himself. Now what is his ambition?

To give more contracts to the Reids? To work Confederation? Or give your money to his pets Like Crossie, Piccott, Morrison!

To give long Donald timber lands, And let him forget tectotal, How he outraged law and Justice, In that staggerin' taste!

To let John Crossie sell more spurs And bag two thousand in profit? Or pay a man like Rats McGraib, Who's but a spent-out racket!

AY, Patsy is falling to his doom! And Morris is wearing his cap! A fitting end for such a bloom. In Morris's unctuous lap!

Don't let Morris finish his work! He'll finish you and all of us,

MOTHERS

REMEMBER! The ointment you put on your child's skin gets into the system just as surely as food. Don't let food, the child's care. Don't let impure fats and mineral coloring matter (such as many of the cheap ointments contain) get into your child's blood! ZAM-BUK is purely herbal. No poisonous coloring. Use it always. 50c. If you elect the Tories twice, And Morris gets 'em over us!

When power and cupidity go together, God help our country!

When power is reposed in Morris, and he is supported by Patsy McGraib, the lowest and basest in public life, as the Plaindealer said, then cupidity will run a close second to putridity.

Corruption.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Cases of the most flagrant attempts at corruption are on record and extant and strong supporters of Sir Robert Bond have been tampered with, but thank God they were too loyal to accept bribes. Perhaps in a short while instances of these cases will be given which will surprise the whole electorate. Go on Mr. Editor, keep up the good work. Continue your flagellation of the McGraibs and Morris. You have the country behind you and they know it. The cry to-day all over the island is that BOND WILL WIN. Your slogan is the popular one THEY CAN'T LOSE!

With thanks for your VINDICATOR.

Savings' Bank Governors Thanked Hon. Robert Bond for Saving the Bank.

In view of the vicious attacks made by McGrath in the Evening Herald on Sir Robert Bond, and trying to raise a scare about the safety of the money of the people deposited in the Government Savings Bank after next November, when McGrath fears the Government which is subsidizing him heavily will be driven out. The absurdity of the McGrath attacks against the man who saved the Savings Bank, is manifested by the fact that the Governors of the Savings Bank thanked Sir Robert on his success in obtaining a loan for them. It has been published previously in The Evening Telegram and we re-publish it again to-day:—

Nfld. Savings Bank,
Sept. 5th, 1895.
Dear Sir,—
I have pleasure in enclosing to you copy of a Resolution of Thanks passed by our Governors yesterday.
Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) E. D. SHEA, Cashier.
Hon. Robert Bond,
Colonial Secretary.

Nfld. Savings Bank,
Sept. 4th, 1895.
At a meeting of Governors held to-day (present Hon. D. J. Greene, Speaker Furlong, Hon. John Harris, Hon. James Angel, Hon. Dr. Skelton, and H. Gear, Esq.), the following Resolutions, proposed by Mr. Greene and seconded by Mr. Speaker, was unanimously passed:—
Whereas, in May last, when the Savings Bank was inconvenient for want of a loan, the Hon. Robert Bond, Colonial Secretary, at its request negotiated in Canada a three months loan for $150,000 at 5 per cent per annum, two-thirds of which HE COULD OBTAIN ONLY BY RENDERING HIMSELF PERSONALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR TO THE LENDERS;

And when in London in July last, Mr. Bond again, at the request of this Bank, effected for it another loan of £170,000 stg., at 3½ per cent per annum interest for 12 months, thus enabling this Bank to pay off all the amount it had borrowed at 5 and 6 per cent, and rearrange for twelve months at 3½ per cent interest;

And this Bank is aware that these services of Mr. Bond cost him much continued trouble and anxiety, influences adverse to the interest of the colony having worked with very prejudicial effect against his endeavors:—

Resolved,—That the successful completion of these loans on favorable terms, amid the difficulties with which Mr. Bond had to deal, reflects high credit on his zeal and ability. He had conferred a very valuable service to this Bank and well deserves the grateful acknowledgment of its Governors hereby conveyed to him.
E. D. SHEA,
Cashier Savings Bank.

Out in the Fog.

Yesterday men of experience suggested that people who would go out in the country would do so at great risk. Fog alters the landscape so that one does not know where his position is. Yesterday evening a thick fog set in and parties up on the Blackhead Road and out down the eastern settlements lost each other and spent anxious hours. Late last night when "excursionists" were not turning up at their homes there were scared people in this city. As the night advanced the fog became more dense and when it became late search parties set out. The police were appealed to and Inspector Collins despatched Consts. Symonds and Stamp, possibly two of the most capable men in the force, to look for the missing ones. They found several missing people and by midnight all had reached their homes. One woman, a resident of McNeil Street, was missing this morning but it is thought she reached some house and spent the night there. Mr. Andrew Cochrane, of Mr. Michael Duffy's store, had quite an exciting experience. He with some other friends saw the danger and hearing that a neighbour's boy was missing they ranged the hills this morning. They knew the direction he with others took and they kept there until they heard him cry. The poor child was frightened almost to death but despite the fog they soon got to town and restored him to his parents. The lad had become detached from a party of berry pickers he was with. There is a moral in all this. People should refrain from going in the country in foggy weather. Yet people would go yesterday it being a holiday. We have sad experiences of this proclivity amongst our people in the past. Fatalities have occurred. We hope none have occurred on this occasion. Up to 12.30 this morning most people were accounted for who were out in the country.

Skillful Treatment.

Editor The Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I wish to thank Dr. Keegan and staff of the General Hospital, St. John's, Nfld., for the prompt, kindly and skillful manner in which they treated my boy for dislocation of the elbow, caused by falling from a pony's back while riding. He was taken to Grand Falls Hospital and after 26 hours he was placed on the table and an unsuccessful operation was performed. We were then asked to take my poor suffering child to St. John's as I was an outsider. This young Barry was only 11 years old.

The Rifle Club.

A very interesting "shoot" took place at the Rifle Range yesterday morning for the Donegal Badge of the National Rifle Association. This is a bronze medal presented each year to be shot for at the end of the shooting season, and is highly prized by riflemen throughout the Empire. It was won yesterday by Mr. George Langmead, Jr., with the fine score of 89, made under difficult conditions. The shoot was also a try out for the match against the Cornwall which takes place on Friday afternoon next, and the result placed Mr. Langmead on the home team. The Club Prize was won by Mr. E. McNab with a score of 88.
The team for Friday's competition will be:—J. W. Morris, Capt.; W. H. Hennie, L. C. Mews, E. McNab, W. J. Higgins, George Carty, George Langmead, Jr., Eric Ayre.

COLERIDGE, N.H., To-day.
Harry K. Thaw slept on American soil last night, barricaded in a hotel room here, after one of the most exciting days of his career. He was for three hours a free man, and during that time drove madly in an automobile for fifty miles through the hills of Vermont, New Hampshire. Noon he ran into the arms of the New Hampshire Sheriff, and was brought to Colchester, where he retained Counsel to resist extradition. William Travers Jerome rushed hither on a special train and will take charge of the case for New York State to-day, seeking to have Thaw as a ward of the State, returned to Massachusetts. Thaw, fearing being kidnapped at the hands of the officers from New York, asked for special guard from the chief of police Kelly. Twelve special constables all armed, were patrolling the street about Thaw's hotel last night. This morning Judge Chamberlain, of the Superior Court, will hear the applications of Thaw's lawyers, for a writ of habeas corpus. The fugitive telegraphed lawyers far and near for the purpose of fighting his return to the bitter end.

OTTAWA, To-day.
It is stated here that the Duchess of Connaught, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, will accompany the Governor General to Canada, on his return next month after the marriage of Prince Arthur. Cheering reports have been received here of the health of Her Royal Highness, but it is understood she will not take an active part in the social life of the capital as formerly. Great care will have to be taken, guarding against over-exertion on the part of the Duchess, whose continued good health depends upon rest, and freedom from strain. It is understood Princess Patricia will necessarily take a more prominent part in the social side of vice-regal functions. The correspondent is authorized officially to deny the report that the title Duke of Canada will be assumed by Prince Arthur of Connaught. It is stated that in responsible quarters the idea was never entertained. No decision has as yet been made as to the successor of H. R.H., but the name of Lord Methuen is mentioned. Colonel Lovell, Military Secretary of the Duke of Connaught, will leave Canada early next month and will immediately take command of the first battalion of Scots Guards at Aldershot. His successor Major Parquar, Coldstream Guards, will arrive here early next week.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer. Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 20 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops. The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated. We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application. The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating.

His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to recognize provisionally M. Paul-Marie Suzor, as Vice-Consul for France in this Colony. Under the provisions of Chapter 133 of the Consolidated Statutes of Newfoundland (Second Series), entitled "Of the Solemnization of Marriage," His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to issue a License to Celebrate Marriage in the Methodist District of Twillingate, to Alfred J. Penney, Methodist Probationer stationed at Engle.

His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to appoint Mr. Francis Kelly, (Tickle Cove, B.B.), to be a Surrever of Lumber; Rev. William R. J. Some Advertising

It doesn't pay to advertise unless you fully realize that a truth is a - delay; prevarications will not pay, though you should print them day by day till you are - crazy. You may bring people to your store but if they come there never more, where is the profit? You should be stable as a church; and if you're on a crooked perch you'd best come off it. The baker advertises bread; he prints his screams in blue and red, and green and crimson; you buy a loaf and find it stale; "It is the worst I ever," you wail, "have set my glims on." And will you to that baker treat by buy some more denatured bread, for next day's dinner? Not on your whiskers! You will say: "I'll fry some other joint to-day, as I'm a sinner!" Old Bilks, the baker man, should see that every loaf is up in G. a perfect product; or customers will fiercely wail: "He should be ridden on a rail, or in the draw ducked." And if his bread is on he think he shouldn't scind, through printer's ink, his good kyoode; but if his bread is smooth as grease, that ink will bring him joy and peace, and gobs of boodle.
