F. B. Carvell Was Sworn In Today As Minister Of Works

Nova Scotia Representative to be Mr. Murray — Political Bits From Several Canadian Cities

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—It is practically certain that F. B. Carvell will be sworn in as a member of the government today.

A private wire received in the city this morning indicated that Mr. Carvell would today be sworn in as minister of public works, and that either Premier Murray or A. K. MacLean, of Nova Scotia, probably Mr. Murray, would also join the cabinet.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—At 12.30 p.m., F. B. Carvell took the oath of office as minister of public works. Premier Murray, of Nova Scotia, will probably become Secretary of State next week.

COLD IN CHICAGO FOR GAME TODAY

Experts Expect Sallee or Pettit for Giants and Cicotte or Russell for Sox to Pitch

Chicago, Oct. 13.—The weather today was less suggestive of a ball game than of starting the Christmas shopping early.

The probable batting order follows: New York—Burns, H.; Herzog, 2b; Kuff, cf; Zimmerman, 3b; Fletcher, ss; Robertson, rf; Holke, 1b; Raldeen, c.

Experts figure on Sallee or Pettit for the visitors and Cicotte or Russell for the locals in the pitching box.

The Betting New York, Oct. 13.—The fact that today is the thirteenth had no effect on the usually superstitious baseball fans in New York, and they were offering odds of five to four this morning that the Giants would win this afternoon.

Germany Getting Material From Holland For War

SAND, GRAVEL AND METALS

Large Quantities of Requisites For Concrete "Pill Boxes" Going to Germany via Belgium—No Cable Business Till This Stops

London, Oct. 13.—The prohibition of all commercial cable communication with Holland until such times as the Netherlands government places an absolute restriction on the transit of sand, gravel and scrap metals to Holland from Germany to Belgium, was explained to the Associated Press today by Lord Robert Cecil, the minister of blockade.

"The Dutch in recent months," he said, "have been allowing the Germans to transport Dutch waters from Germany to Belgium vast quantities of gravel and sand. The total was out of all proportion to that transported in peace times and there is not the slightest doubt that the Germans are making direct use of this to their detriment.

"The Dutch do not claim that the Germans should be permitted to transport material for their concrete through Dutch territory, but they say the Germans have given their assurances that all material is being carried in strictly civil purposes.

MANY GERMANS KILLED WITH BAYONET YESTERDAY

Dogged British Advance in Face of Terrible Conditions in Addition To Enemy Resistance

British Front in France and Belgium, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press). All day the British have been fighting their way forward doggedly, foot by foot, over the mud-caked battle field northeast of Ypres. They were still clinging with grim determination to the task at the last reports, and had made appreciable gains in the face of almost inconceivable difficulties along a six mile front.

The greatest advance appears to have been along the crest of the Passchendaele Ridge, where the attacking troops had pushed forward to an extreme depth of perhaps 1,800 yards from the starting point.

It was reported several hours ago that observers had seen a small body of Haig's men at the crest which lies almost on the outskirts of the village of Passchendaele.

German Admission Of Very Great Losses

Particularly Heavy in Recent Fighting—Deluge of Rain All Last Night on British Front

Copenhagen, Oct. 13.—An unmistakable intimation of great losses sustained by the Germans in their attempts to stem the British attack is ascertained in the latest comment of Lieut. General Von Ardenne, military critic of the Tageblatt, of Berlin, on the Flanders campaign.

The general then says these losses often are far exceeded in the present war, and that in the third Flanders battle they have been so great as to induce the military authorities to abandon the usual rule of not referring to them, feeling that the sacrifices of Prince Rupprecht's troops have been such as to entitle them to extraordinary thanks of the Kaiser.

General Ardenne pays a grudging and belated tribute to the achievements of the British tanks which, according to his verdict, though quick victims to the German field artillery under good visibility, are able to deliver a most effective enfilading fire from their machine guns whenever they are able to approach the infantry lines under cover of a curtain of smoke or gas waves, and are not to be taken lightly.

London, Oct. 13.—"There was a heavy rain throughout the night, which is still continuing," says today's war office statement.

"No counter-attacks by the enemy have developed thus far on the battle front. On the rest of the British front there is nothing to report."

GENERAL ALEXIEFF ON RUSSIAN SITUATION

Petrograd, Oct. 13.—General Alexieff, former commander-in-chief of the Russian army, on his arrival at headquarters to obtain from the government instructions as to his mission to an inter-allied conference to be held in Paris, said to a representative of a Moscow newspaper that the conference would ascertain the exact strength of Russia, her comparative power and her attitude toward the other nations of the Entente.

General Alexieff concluded by saying that Russia's complete weakness would be recognized at the conference. He expressed the view that Japan would make her entry into the European theatre, but that she certainly would demand compensation at the expense of the weakest nation—Russia.

Already Many Orders for Ships—British Government to Extend Control Time

London, Oct. 13.—According to the Central News, the government intends to retain control of shipping, shipbuilding and kindred industries until one or two years after the war, instead of six months. It is understood, says the news agency, that one of the reasons is to prevent Germany from obtaining ships from British shipyards through neutral countries until the requirements of Great Britain and her allies are fully met.

ONE GOT EGGS; THE OTHER POTATOES

The Fate of Two People Who Were Bringing in Produce in Suit Cases

An annoying loss was suffered by a lady who arrived on this morning's train from Model Farm. She had a suit case which contained seven dozen eggs, among other products of the farm. She placed this beside another suit case, the mate of hers. On the arrival of the train in the depot the owner of the other valise walked with her, very mysteriously. On opening this he found a quantity of potatoes, which, though valuable, are not nearly so much so as eggs.

LANDINGS EFFECTED BY GERMAN NEAR RIGA COAST

London, Oct. 12.—The Germans have landed troops on the islands of Oesel and Dago, in the Gulf of Riga, according to a Reuter despatch from Petrograd.

Oesel and Dago islands are at the entrance of the Gulf of Riga, and provide easy access to the mainland over small intermediate islands. They are off the Russian province of Esthonia. Dago Island is about 200 miles from Petrograd. Its position derives additional importance from the fact that it is almost at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, at the head of which is Kronstadt, which defends Petrograd.

Oesel Island is nearly 100 miles north of Riga, while the Germans captured recently. The landing of German troops in Esthonia would threaten the outflanking of the Russian line and probably compel a retreat on a wide section of the front, if, indeed, it did not open the way to Petrograd itself. A railway line follows the coast all the way from Hapsal, opposite Dago Island, to Petrograd.

Oesel Island, the larger of the two, is forty-five miles long and has an area of 1,010 square miles, and a population of about 60,000. It has a difficult coast line in the form of precipitous limestone cliffs.

WINTER GRIPS THE ITALIAN FRONT

Udine, Italy, Oct. 12.—Winter has prematurely but definitely set in throughout the battle field, preventing operations on a grand scale. Well-Expanded Lungs Not Enough

Pure blood is indispensable to the health and strength of the lungs. The delicate structure of these organs makes it necessary when the blood is impure the lungs lose their tone, and even if they are permitted to expand freely, they have not the power fully to perform their important work. The fact is, there is nothing more necessary in a physical economy than pure blood—the kind of blood that Hood's Sarsaparilla makes. This medicine is the good old reliable family remedy for diseases of the blood, scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh and low or run-down conditions of the system. At this time, when coughs and colds are so prevalent, Hood's Sarsaparilla is an invaluable tonic. Get it today, and begin to take it at once. Accept no substitute.

SOME SILLY TALK

BY VON TIRPITZ

Speaks of England Worried Over S. pplies and Time For German Success

Amsterdam, Oct. 12.—Admiral Von Tirpitz, former minister of the German Imperial navy, is quoted in an interview as saying: "We can continue confidently to expect a final triumph over England so long as we continue to sink vessels faster than she constructs them. A submarine war was never to be expected immediately, however, but if we pursue our aim firmly, we shall find after some months that our position for negotiation will stand with the English as a fait accompli. England desires negotiation now when her position is comparatively favorable. The decisive factors are the shipping losses suffered by the Entente and by neutrals who expose themselves to our U-boat war."

"No definite time can be fixed for our success. Economically, regarding raw materials, our position today is stronger than that of France or Italy. How far England will be able to make her supplies last cannot be predicted. We are now at the fateful hour of our existence. Germany cannot maintain her position as a world power against England until her position is founded on might."

MANY GERMANS KILLED WITH BAYONET YESTERDAY

(Continued from page 1.) Three years of war have produced few such days of hardship. Not since the world conflict began, however, has there been a more wonderful display of courage by the British. From the start it has been a merciless struggle against odds presented by the hideous morasses for which Flanders is famous.

Cold Steel Effective

There has been more rifle and bayonet work today than in the last battle or two in Flanders. The machine guns, however, played an important part in the great success. The enemy fought better than usual in some places, but in others he has shown a lack of fighting spirit.

The Germans evidently guessed in advance that the attack was to be launched at daybreak. During the night they shelled the communicating roads and front lines heavily, and as early as two o'clock this morning they threw a large number of gas shells along the British forward positions. As the attack began the enemy maintained a heavy machine gun barrage over large sections of the front.

On the right of the advance, which was in the direction of Passchendaele, the British were faced with the greatest difficulty. About the Ravesbeek River, the ground was awfully boggy and there were many German positions along the slopes of the Passchendaele Ridge which demonstrated the advance and made it possible for the enemy to pour a heavy machine gun fire into the approaching troops.

Enemy Prepared for it

The Germans, knowing that the attack was coming, were ready with a merciless fire when the British pushed forward. In the west and southwest of Passchendaele there were a concrete pill box and many machine gun forts, improvised out of debris. The British charged this morning and the bayonet and hand-to-hand fighting followed, but the enemy holders of the position were finally killed or captured or forced to flee. Here and at other points along the battle front many Germans were killed with cold steel.

Believe, 1,600 yards west of Passchendaele, was another point that held up the British advance with machine gun fire. Believe is located on a spur which rises above the surrounding ground and there were many German pill boxes packed on this elevation. The fire from these strongholds was incessant. There was also hard fighting along the Cassinette spur to the northwest of Bellevue, North of Wallenollen, the depth of the attack gradually tapered off as it swung northwestward toward the Houthout river. Here grave difficulties were encountered along the Lekebekebeek and Broeckbeek Rivers, where the ground was a horrible mass of mud and water.

The latest reports received were to the effect that the British had driven the Germans from their brewery strongholds and had pushed on beyond. Just how they continued to advance it is impossible to say at this hour.

SAY MICHAELIS MUST GO

London, Oct. 12.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Amsterdam says the Rhenish Westfaleische Zeitung declares it understands that the German Socialists have informed Chancellor Michaelis that they will not vote for the desired credits unless he resigns.

Many German newspapers say that the future of Michaelis will not be decided until Emperor William returns to Berlin at the end of October.

The Reichstag adjourned leaving behind it a latent crisis which political observers believe will lead, sooner or later, to the retirement of Dr. Michaelis, the chancellor, without a following. Although other parties are less actively in opposition to Michaelis than the Socialists, not a voice has been raised against the Vorwarts slogan "Michaelis must go."

Recent arrivals from Berlin report that current gossip were is that Michaelis can scarcely last a month. The chancellor's blunder in springing the disclosure of the alleged naval plot, against which according to the National Zeitung, he was strongly advised, and his failure to make headway against the Reichstag majority, are said to have lost him the Conservative and pan-German support. Other parties, including even the Nationalists, are united in open condemnation of his actions concerning the naval plot.

Prince Von Buelow is spoken of as the next chancellor.

NO DIVIDEND THIS YEAR ON LARGE PART OF GRAND TRUNK STOCK

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—There will be no dividend declared on a large proportion of the stock of the Grand Trunk Railway this year, according to Alfred W. Southers, chairman of the system, in an interview when passing through this city on his way east, following a trip of inspection, with other directors and officials over the road to the Pacific coast.

Next Year Calendar. Perhaps I'll take out a policy next year. Your life is just as uncertain during this year as it will be later. Don't leave your family's future in doubt for another day. Twice recently we've seen instances of men who have died within a year of their having been solicited for life assurance. In one case the man put the matter off—to-day his widow is almost penniless. The other man purchased a policy—paid only one premium—and his widow received three thousand dollars. Comment is unnecessary. WAKELIN FOUND GUILTY AND HIS WIFE ACQUITTED. Melrose Pair Were Accused of Killing Their Seven Year Old Daughter.

Joseph Wakelin was on last Thursday night found guilty of manslaughter on account of the death of his daughter, Loretta, seven years of age. His wife, Sarah, who has been on trial on the same charge with him, was acquitted. The jury deliberated nearly eight hours.

The state contended that when Loretta was sent home from school on the morning of June 1, 1916, for a book she had forgotten, she objected to returning to school, and that in a fit of anger Wakelin seized her more forcibly than rather previous. It is said that the fifteenth Lord Derby, son of a great orator, not having inherited his father's eloquence, used to write his speeches word for word and hand them to the press. Not only did he punctuate them freely with "Hear, hear," and "laughter," but he also added voices of encouragement, thus—"But I am detaining you too long." (Cries of "No, no," and "Go on.")

How Uncle Sam Will Dig Into Every Pocketbook

From the cradle to the grave most of man's activities will be taxed under the new U. S. Revenue Bill, points out an Associated Press correspondent, since "baby's first dash of talcum powder under the 2 per cent. tax on cosmetics will help the Government carry on the war, and after death, the Federal Collectors will be on hand to get the Inheritance Tax at advances on the present rate of from 1 per cent. on $50,000.00 to 10 per cent. on $1,000,000.00."

While Congressman Kitchen and Senator Simmons, respectively responsible for the Tax Revenue legislation in the House and Senate, express much satisfaction with it, the newspaper press in various sections of the country is commenting upon what it deems, to use the words of the New York Evening Sun, the law's serious "inequities," "obscurities," "incomprehensibilities," and "unworkabilities."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for October 13th, a clear exposition of what the new taxation will cost individuals and corporations is given and the drift of public opinion upon it is shown. Other striking phases of the world's news are presented under these headings:

UNION GOVERNMENT.

The political leaders of both parties at Ottawa, omitting the Liberal leaders from Quebec province, have deemed it expedient to form a union government.

PANIC AND PRICES.

The people are themselves a good deal to blame at times for inflated prices. Just now they are anxiously trying to make their sugar cost them more.

How will the people take the new order of things? Will they consent to return a parliament that will uphold the new administration? Much will depend on what influence the new blood in the cabinet may be able to exert in relation to conscription of wealth, the high cost of living, the tariff, the patronage evil, the elimination of graft, and the restoration of public confidence in the good intentions of the administration.

The people of New Brunswick will feel that they are ably and well represented in the union government. The record of Mr. F. B. Carvell leaves no doubt on that point. He is straightforward, courageous and honest.

CONSERVATION OF HEALTH

Rev. A. J. Torseff, of Bangor, secretary of the Maine Anti-Tuberculosis Association, told the Federation of Women's Clubs this week that towns and cities should spend thousands of dollars in improving sanitary conditions in schoolhouses; and that women's clubs, men's clubs, boards of trade, lodges, churches, and Sunday schools must make health education a part of their programme.

THE BIRCH TREE.

(By Douglas Malloch.) I come to a tree in the twilight, a birch by the side of the road, Affame in the mystical highlight, the golden goodnight of the sun—

You know how I come, and the reason, you know both the trail and the tree; They once were our own for a season, our holy of holies apart.

I feel the old birch with my fingers. Ah, here is the sign in the dark; The symbol of love ever lingering, the promise of faith and of truth.

It brings me the thought of another, it brings me the face of a friend. My comrade below and a brother, the birch-tree your constancy shames.

I know how your conscience acquits you; you say it was seasons ago; I know how your conscience permits you to laugh at the love of a lad; And why need a maiden remember? In August do May blossoms blow?

But still stands the birch in its splendor, the tree that our promise beheld; The shade that it throws is as tender as sheltered our dream in the past. It stands as the sign and the token, as saintly and sure as of old;

Naught changes; still wanders the river, still whisper the zephyrs of night; The sun comes returning forever, the even, the moonlight, the dew.

Old ways of old days, the old lover will leave you tonight for the trail; The woods of the west have a rover, the world shall not see him again.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Approaching It Gently. "I trust you will not think me unpatriotic."

Two girlhood friends were exchanging confidences over their afternoon tea. "I saw you in church, yesterday," murmured the younger one.

No Choice of His. "Ma, can I sail my boat in the bathtub?"

Naming the Day. Rastus—"I doah you, Miss Phoebe. Won't you name de day?"

Why is a question? Why do you take one? "Because I have to."

RUSSIAN POLAND TO FORT KENT, ME.
Woman and Children Have Travelled 20,000 Miles
HAD MANY ADVENTURES

Wanted to Escape Germany, Facing Sudden Death or Starvation—In Wreck off Japanese Coast

Bangor, Oct. 11.—After four years' preparation of a home to which he could bring his family from Russian Poland, a Fort Kent man at last will welcome his wife and four young sons who are now in Boston, having completed a journey covering 20,000 miles and enduring many hardships, including shipwreck. The story of their trials and sufferings, as told in a Boston paper Wednesday follows:

A weary young mother and her four small sons rode into the North station Tuesday, nearly at the end of a terrible 20,000 mile, two-year-long flight from war-ravaged Russian Poland to reach the husband and father in Maine. The woman and her children fled from their home village before the German troops nearly two years ago and then month after month, struggled across Poland and Russia, facing starvation and death between the battle lines, to an east coast port. There they received aid and started on their way to Japan, only to be wrecked off the coast.

Will See Husband Soon.
They were rescued, and waited in Japan until money could reach them from the United States. Then they sailed for San Francisco, and crossed the continent to Boston.

The woman is Mrs. Fannie Klein and her husband is at Fort Kent, Me. When interviewed through an interpreter in the North station by a reporter Tuesday night, the sad-hearted and trouble-worn little woman's face lit up with a smile of real joy as she told how she would soon be with her husband again and the long nightmare would be at an end, after months and months of starvation and misery such as only the lot of those women who are thrown in the pathway of war.

A little over four years ago her husband fled from the persecution of the old Russian regime, and came to America to prepare a home for his little family in what he called "free America." He went direct to Fort Kent, where he worked and saved until he had enough to start a butcher business all his own.

Driven Out by Germans.
When the war broke out he sent tickets for his wife and boys to join him. But the government would not grant them passports, and so the broken-hearted woman sent back the tickets. One day the cry "The Germans are coming" resounded through the town of Truk, Poland, where she lived, and the citizens were ordered to depart.

Gathering up what few things she could carry, she fled with her four children, the oldest seven, the youngest a little over one year old, born after the father had left for America. Along with countless refugees she and her little group were swept through Poland, where they did not know. All she cared then was for the safety of her loved ones. One day she discovered that she could escape by the way of Japan. She started with her brood on the long journey. With little or no money she struggled on, now on a troop train or crowded into cattle cars with thousands of refugees, then toiling painfully on foot.

Between Battle Lines.
"At times," said the little woman through the interpreter, "we were nearly starved. We had little money and often could not even buy food. When we would come to a soldier's camp the children would rush down like birds and gather up the crumbs they had thrown away. One day a soldier gave little Berow a whole loaf of bread and we were happy, for we had food for a couple of days."

And then tragedy came near the little group. One day while passing through a heavy wood held by the Russian soldiers, the Germans came unexpectedly, and she found herself and the children between the fire of the troops. Suddenly little Henry, the oldest boy, gave a cry and fell with a bullet through his neck. He was carried to a military hospital and for three weeks the anxious mother waited until he was well again.

Wrecked Off Japan.
Then she bravely pushed on and after months of travel arrived at Karbin, a seaport on the east coast. There the Jewish relief committee took her in charge and put her aboard a boat for Japan. The boat was nearly in sight of the Japanese coast when it was wrecked in a storm. But she and her children were all saved and at last arrived safely in Yokohama.

From there she cabled her husband in Maine and he sent her money to come on. She took ship and sailed for America and arrived in San Francisco. And then began her long trip across continent. At 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning she reached Boston and telegraphed her husband that she would soon be home. "It is all like a big, bad dream to me," she said, as she smiled through her tears of joy. "I don't know what I would have done if the Jewish relief company had not taken care of us at Karbin. They took care of everybody, Jews and Gentiles alike, and I am going to ask my man to give them some money to help other mothers, who are now suffering as much as I suffered here. She is only 30 years old, but she looks 50; her face is drawn with care and lines of trouble have stamped themselves deeply into her young brow. But she is at last happy and no one could doubt it if they had been there and heard her say as she was leaving: "I

The United States and The War

(Bangor Commercial.)
Speaking to the leaders of the League for National Unity, President Wilson on Monday again pointed out in clear and logical speech that the war can end only when Germany is beaten and its rule of autocracy and might superseded by the ideals of democracy. The league, initiated by many prominent men and leaders of thought, is formed to create a medium through which public expression may be given of the purpose to carry the war through to a successful conclusion. To some it might appear, as they view the determined attitude of our government and people, that there is no need of constant reiteration of our determination not to permit the war to end until German autocracy is vanquished, but there is vital need of such. Today Germany and Austria are more than anxious for peace and they wish it to come at the earliest moment. As time goes on they will make stronger and stronger efforts, gradually conceding this and that point. Their great effort today is to work upon public sentiment in Russia, France, England and the United States to bring about peace.

We have very recently seen a prominent educator in this country suggest a commission for an informal discussion of peace possibilities but it is too early for such a move. Germany today is beaten in the field, beaten economically and in the knowledge of her people. But the fruits of victory have not been reaped. The war still continues to be fought on the soil of the Allies, it is directed on the part of the Allies, it is initiated by them. There can be no lasting peace while the Kaiser, Hindenburg and Michaelis are the ruling factors in Germany. President Wilson has taken the position that when peace comes it must be made between the German people not with the German rulers. There would be no surety that any other form of peace would be anything but an interregnum while the Kaiser made his plans and gathered his strength for a new assault on the peace of the world. As America commences to feel the pinch of the war and as American lives are sacrificed abroad we shall hear more and more talk of peace but it will not be the talk of the true, patriotic Americans. War is what Sherman called it, but now that the Kaiser has invoked it, it must go through until German autocracy ceases to be.

When the time comes for peace we shall have peace. No man is more anxious for it than our great president and he may be relied upon to initiate the peace movement at the earliest proper moment. But peace will not come through the movements of civilians. It will come when German despotism is beaten to its knees and when the administration at Washington believes that the moment has arrived when peace will be a lasting peace and when the Hohenzollern dream of domination of the world through conquest has passed and the negotiations for peace may be conducted with the German people.

As we write this the cables bring an announcement from a Berlin newspaper that Germany and Austria are soon to make another proposal for peace on the basis of the relinquishment of Belgium and French territory and no indemnities or annexations. Coming as this does it may be an inspired announcement although a similar report has recently been denied in Berlin.

This proposal may not come now, but it, or one similar to it, may be expected at any time, for our great president is to obtain terms before her troops are driven from Belgium. President Wilson may be counted upon to remain as firm against premature peace terms as was President Lincoln against the similar suggestions from the Southern Confederacy a half century ago.

son see my man." The reporter could not understand her words, but he could read it in her face and smile even before the interpreter repeated it to him.

SUFFERING CATS! GIVE THIS MAN THE GOLD MEDAL

Let folks step on your feet hereafter, wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for cats will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority. He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out. This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.

Won Military Medal.
The London Gazette of Sept. 11 contained a further long list of awards for gallantry. Among those awarded the Military Cross, an account of which appeared in the Times some months ago, was Lieut. Alfred Lucien Bourque, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Bourque, of Moncton. The London Gazette has the following concerning the young Moncton officer:

Lieut. Alfred Lucien Bourque, M. G. Corps—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of brigade machine guns. When enemy parties broke through our attacking lines he took charge of a platoon which had lost their leaders, and with exceptional gallantry and initiative, led them to an attack which cleared the area of the enemy. This was his first experience in the trenches.

Public Welfare Association.
James Gilchrist has received a letter from the general secretary of the Public Welfare Association of Toronto asking him to act as provincial secretary for the association in New Brunswick. He will accept the position. This is the organization which was formerly known as the Charities and Corrections Association and which changed its name at a recent convention held in Ottawa. The position accepted by Mr. Gilchrist is an entirely honorary one and the duties consist in notifying members of meetings and other routine matters connected with the organization.

All Are Anxious To Get Into Sheep Business

Many Farms for Sale, But Few Buyers—Fall Work Behind

(Toronto Globe)

"The most notable development along agricultural lines in our section is in the remarkable increase of interest in the sheep industry," said E. C. Drury of North Simcoe. "Everybody appears anxious to get into wool and mutton; I have never known such a demand for rams as there has been this fall. With the increase in sheep holdings, there will be at least some decrease in dairying. The existing high price of wool and the extraordinary shortage in labor are the determining factors in the change that is going on. Dairying calls for a great deal of labor, and skilled labor at that, while comparatively little hand work is called for in sheep. There is no appearance of reduction in beef-raising, but the dairy output in our section certainly will be reduced."

"The second most notable feature in the local agricultural situation," Mr. Drury continued, "is in the number of farms for sale. There are a lot of these on the market. Some of them have been on offer for three or four years, but there is no demand. Our section is, too, the most desirable one from a farm standpoint. Land, fences and buildings are all good, most of the houses being brick, and the commodious barns nearly all have basement stabling. Schools and churches are within easy call. We have rural telephone and rural mail, and an excellent highway leading into Barrie, five miles distant. Still, farms are for sale at $75 to $80 an acre, with no takers. That does not look as if agriculture is unduly prosperous."

"We had excellent crops this last year, so far as fall wheat is concerned, at least, are none too good. Ours is a fall wheat section, but very little has been sown this year, and what was sown went in late. All fall work is a month behind."

Rain and Mud Delay Advance

London, Oct. 12.—Progress was made along the entire front in Flanders, where Field Marshal Haig began another offensive Friday morning. Rain intervened, however, and it was decided not to make further efforts to reach the final objective which it had been planned to take. The statements are contained in the official communication issued tonight.

The communication adds that the prisoners taken during the day approximate five hundred.

For the first time since he started his series of attacks against the German positions in Flanders, Field Marshal Haig has had to cease an operation before all the objectives set out for were attained. It was not the German guns, however, that stopped the British. It was a more than usually heavy rainfall which started during the battle and turned the already swampy region over which the men were supposed to pass into a veritable quagmire from which they could not untrack themselves for a forward move.

The drive, as has been customary in Haig's strategy, was started in the early hours of Friday morning and extended for several miles along the Ypres-Menin road. At several points the British troops succeeded in gaining ground over fronts ranging up to a thousand yards, but here the rain intervened and the fighting ceased for the day. During the forward movement over the six mile front, British captured in the aggregate about six hundred prisoners.

The struggle was particularly bitter to the north of Poelcappelle and around Paschendaele.

The final capture in the Atlantic was a French bark on which 300 of the See Adler's prisoners were put and sent to Rio De Janeiro. The See Adler escaped pursuers and rounded Cape Horn, immediately beginning a campaign of destruction in the South Pacific. Departures of the See Adler, a converted American vessel, were announced by the navy department Oct. 4.

BISTANY'S SHOWS AT SHAMROCK GROUNDS DELIGHT MANY PATRONS

Numerous Attractions Draw Young and Old and Entertain and Please Them Well

All roads seemed to lead to the Shamrock grounds last evening, where the big attraction was Bistany's Wonderland Shows. The grounds, illuminated by hundreds of electric lights, the strains of popular music and the usual signs of activity, seemed to allure hundreds of people and as a result the first night of the shows here was a marked success.

There are numerous attractions which will please both young and old. The first thing to strike the eye is the large Ferris wheel, which carries its occupants into the surrounding country. This was largely patronized and even mothers with infants in their arms went to enjoy the novel sensation of passing through the air at such a height. Then comes the whip where one can in truth have a "joy ride." Many purchased tickets for this and from their exhilaration certainly got their money's worth. The money speedway was a novel offering. In the inside of a spacious tent a circle is constructed and on this elevation are four tracks and four small automobiles. These are operated by electricity, but are handled by monkeys. When they get under way there is considerable excitement and many are the speculations as to the winner.

The diving girls drew many hundreds and their feats in the water were well worth seeing. The dancing girls also attracted many and were closely rivaled by the Ukrainian maids. Wrestling bouts were conducted in a good sized tent and many went in to witness the exhibitions. In addition there were such attractions as the Cave Man, Wild Horse, the snake charmer, the Man Eating Sharks, the Largest Mother, the Elephant Children, a mechanical city and a mechanical clock.

The two last mentioned were well worth seeing and are certainly wonderful contrivances. The mechanical city took the eye of many women and children who watched with awe a trolley car making its runs about the circle, its frequent stops and the conductor ringing the bell for it to start again. The mechanical clock mine was also gazed upon by many. It is a unique structure and shows the shaft, with its elevator, the men and donkeys at work in the pit below and the different conveyances taking the coal from one pocket to places where it was disposed of.

There are a number of refreshment booths about the grounds and they did a thriving business. On the whole the show is well worth a visit and will undoubtedly be a centre of attraction until the expiration of the ten days.

See Adler's Exploits

Honolulu, Oct. 12.—Details of how the famous German commerce raider See Adler, which preyed on Allied commerce seven months in the South Pacific before meeting her fate on the reefs of Mopeha Island, passed inspection of a British cruiser by assuming the disguise of a lumber carrier, were revealed here today by Captain Hador-Smith, master of the American schooner R. C. Slade, one of the known victims of the German craft.

After capture by the British and subsequent escape the See Adler put into Breuchaven, a German port, and in December, 1916, fitted out as a motor schooner under command of Lieut. Von Luckner and a crew of sixty-eight, half of whom, according to Captain Smith, spoke Norwegian. With forged Norwegian clearance papers and two four-inch guns concealed by a deckload of lumber, the vessel put to sea, encountered a British cruiser, passed inspection, mounted her guns and proceeded to sink thirteen vessels in the Atlantic, two of them Britishers, Captain Smith said.

The final capture in the Atlantic was a French bark on which 300 of the See Adler's prisoners were put and sent to Rio De Janeiro. The See Adler escaped pursuers and rounded Cape Horn, immediately beginning a campaign of destruction in the South Pacific. Departures of the See Adler, a converted American vessel, were announced by the navy department Oct. 4.

POOREST CROP OF FRUIT ON RECORD

Ontario Apple Yields of Ten To Less Than Forty Per Cent

The September report of Dominion Fruit Commissioner Johnson shows that this year's apple crop in Ontario is the smallest on record since the province really began to grow apples in a commercial way.

In no one district will there be a 40 per cent. crop, and the one section in which this figure is even approachable is in the valleys of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa, where fruit-growing is, at best, a very minor line of activity. In Prince Edward county, one of the heaviest producing districts, a 30 per cent. crop is counted on; in the Georgian Bay district and along the front of Huron county, also important apple-growing areas, 20 per cent. is looked for, while in Ontario and Norfolk districts, two of the most important apple sections of the province, the yield is not expected to exceed 10 per cent. September sunshine has given a fine color to the fruit, but worn holes and fungus will force the bulk of the crop below No. 1 grade. Reliance for domestic needs must be largely placed on Nova Scotia, which has a moderate crop of well-colored and generally clean apples, according to Commissioner Johnson's report.

The situation is all the more unfortunate by reason of the fact that other fruits as well as apples are short. Peaches in the Niagara district are only a 50 per cent. crop, and the crop is still lighter in western Ontario. Pears in the Niagara district are only half a crop, and the best report outside of Niagara points to a 25 per cent. yield. Plums have given equally light yields, and the supply of grapes will be greatly shortened, owing to failure to mature early in the season, and conditions in spring and early summer. Tomatoes, which may also be considered as a fruit crop, were held back by cold, wet weather early in the season, and yields have been shortened by early autumn frosts.

Taking everything together, 1917 will rank as the poorest year to date in the history of Ontario fruit growing. Prices have been high, but not nearly high enough to offset reduction in production.

Canada and The Military Service Act

(Manchester, England, Guardian.)
 Conscription has faced Canada with a political problem of the first magnitude. The French-Canadian loathes it, and, unfortunately, he has the profoundest distrust for those who are imposing it upon him. Canadian statesmanship ever since confederation has been lacking in wisdom in its handling of French-Canadian nationality. The French-Canadian is determined to preserve his language and the schools which are the instrument of French culture. The British majority in the provinces outside Quebec have used their voting power to qualify or deny him this moral right; they have not understood the sanctity of culture autonomy. The French-Canadian, therefore, has the double grievance that conscription should be forced upon him against his will, and that it should be forced upon him by political groups who have harassed French-Canadian nationality. Under such circumstances two tests may be applied to the wisdom of introducing conscription:—Does the military gain outweigh the political loss; and if so, is the particular mode adopted the best that might have been chosen? It is difficult to understand why Sir Robert Borden should reject the proposal for a referendum and yet concede an "ex-post-facto" dissolution and election. If it is right that the people of Canada should be allowed to pronounce after the event in the confused fashion permitted by a general election, their right is infinitely stronger to pronounce before the event in the clear, definite fashion of a referendum. During the debates in the Canadian parliament the argument against a referendum was that it would mean delay in sending reinforcements to France. But the reinforcements under the conscription law are not likely to reach France before the next spring campaign, so that argument lacks reality. Besides, it would tell equally well against a general election. Sir Robert Borden committed an error in rejecting Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal, and the error is not one simply of tactics. Nothing could lend so strong a moral sanction to conscription as a decisive popular vote in its favor. On the other hand, nothing could so manifestly justify the government in abandoning conscription as a popular pronouncement against it. But is conscription worth, on balance, what it is going to cost? The conscription law aims at enrolling 100,000 recruits. Doubtless that is a figure of significance to Canada, but nobody would suggest that it is of decisive importance in a war which has put into the field some fifty million men. Now that the United States is offering millions of men for the common cause it can hardly be said that Canada's additional 100,000 would make the difference to the Allies between victory and defeat. Besides, conscription will not give a net 100,000 men. Voluntary recruiting would still have provided a goodly number if managed with skill; and it has yet to be proved that the draft can be brought into operation in French Canada, or that it will not take more men to enforce the law than it will provide. The military case, therefore, for conscription could not be called decisive; it was not one of those instances in which the safety of the state is in issue. . . . However, considerable, may be sacrificed for it. The political loss, on the contrary, does threaten to be of the first order—immediate unrest and disturbance, possibly of a grave character; an abiding sense of grievance, possibly an enduring cleavage between French Canada and British Canada. The question is not whether the French-Canadian in his resistance to conscription has abstract right or wrong on his side. The question is the strictly practical one whether the conscription of the French-Canadian is under existing conditions expedient. For our part we have no hesitation in saying that from the Imperial point of view it is not worth while, that it would represent net loss rather than gain to the British Commonwealth. That being so, we hope that the wisdom of Canadian public men will be applied before it is too late to avert a disaster. If the whole scheme cannot be abandoned, practical if not very beautiful compromises suggest themselves.

Union government negotiations still bear a marked resemblance to that old game of "button, button, who's got the button?"

But in the shuffle several members of the cabinet are getting something more substantial than the button.

The "sacrifice" of a cabinet position for a chief justiceship is one which many a patriot would willingly make.

The seven column headline "Union Government Is Sure," in the morning Standard makes a noise like a loud sigh of relief. The prospect of defeat for the Conservative government made a gloomy outlook for that journal.

There was a notable gathering of titles in St. John this week. Kings and queens, Princes and Princesses, Dukes and Duchesses met under one roof, and, with disdainful airs, received the common folk who went to pay their respects. But when it comes to spelling the names of some of the other exhibits, we feel like calling for the assistance of the man who invents the names for Pullman cars.

Several new street lights have been installed in the parish of Lancaster recently and it has been suggested that the approach of the municipal elections, with opposition offering to the present councillors, has had something to do with this display of civility and also with the selection of the locations for the new lights. The work will be done by the members of thirteen women's societies, the regent or president of each being responsible for one of the city wards. It is the intention to cover the entire city in one day, but a certain amount of follow-up work may be necessary to interview those who may be absent from home on that day. Duplicates of the signatures will be taken by the collectors. The lady in charge of each ward assumes the responsibility of having her ward complete. When the cards are all in they will be handed over to R. E. Armstrong, provincial representative of the food controller.

STREET PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

With one season not yet entirely completed, the civic department of public works is already busy with plans for the work to be carried on next year.

One of the chief features of the department's activities probably will be the construction of two much needed stretches of permanent pavement, provided bond issues are authorized. The sections for which plans are being prepared are in Union street, from the head of Brussels to the western end of the street, exclusive of the block between Sydney and Charlotte (already paved) and in Main street from Adelaide to the foot of Indiantown. The surveys for this work are already practically complete.

Other streets also are greatly in need of permanent pavements and may receive consideration. Prince William street, which was torn up this year to permit of the laying of a new water main will have to receive a new surface also.

Brussels street, one of the thoroughfares carrying the heaviest traffic is in bad condition and the cost of the job has stood in its way. As an alternative the laying of a reasonably good but less expensive pavement from the head of Brussels to Haymarket square by way of Union, St. Patrick and Erin has been suggested. This might divert considerable traffic and would have the advantage of avoiding the street car tracks.

Corn Meal or Cannon Balls, Which?

By Dr. Merrill, Food Administrator for Maine

"Wednesday and Thursday of every week white bread shall not be served," is the first slogan in the Maine food conservation campaign which is being conducted under the management of Dr. Merrill, food administrator for Maine. The object of the campaign is to save white flour to send to our allies by the substitution of corn meal, rye meal, or oat meal in Maine homes. The people of the allies cannot substitute corn alone for bread as we can, they have no mills in which to grind corn. Neither corn meal nor the other grains are durable enough to be shipped in large quantities. The allied peoples do not make their bread at home, they buy from bakeries and corn bread is not readily distributed from bakeries. The women are not now at leisure to knead at home—they are taking the men's places in the harvest fields, the factories, the railroads, and street cars. White-breadless days mean extra work for the women of Maine; they mean light self-denial for the men and children of Maine. But they mean also greater comfort, and health abroad, fewer deaths of French and English soldiers whose places must be filled by American—possibly Maine—boys. There are Maine boys in the trenches now. Will Maine men and women remaining in comparative comfort at home eat these boys who hungry because they are too selfish to suffer a slight inconvenience?

Food Will Win the War.

If you want America to be the country whose food wins the war, eat your bread made entirely or partly of corn meal, oat meal, or rye meal on Wednesday and Thursday.
A few recipes follow which have been approved by Herbert Hoover. Additional recipes will be published later. Watch the newspaper columns for further news of the Maine food conservation campaign.

Will England Choose Between Bread and Beer?

How "The Strength of Britain Movement" Is Voicing Its Plea For Prohibition

BY MARGARET WINTRINGER, Secretary of the National Good Citizenship Movement

"The keystone of English liberty"—so Hallam described England's Great Charter. Is not the book referred to in this article, "Defeat or Victory?" which has stirred British hearts, like a new Magna Carta, and the remarkable mass meeting which endorsed it like a twentieth century Runnymede? This is the heart of its message: "The day will come when it shall be known to all men in this land that Prohibition of the Drink Trade during the war would have saved, in drink expenditure and its results, 1,000,000,000 added a hundred days to our war work; saved over 200,000,000 tons; enormously relieved the strain on the Red Cross; released thousands of doctors and nurses; saved food to feed the nation three months; or saved enough food to feed the army and navy all the time.

The recent great gathering at Queen's Hall of the Strength of Britain Movement, which filled every seat—even those uncomfortable cubby places near the roof—and overcrowded an overflow meeting in the summer hall, attracted thousands away for lack of space, was not the ordinary temperance meeting. In fact, its chairman, Sir Alfred Booth, the war-time Controller of the Home Office, was a temperance meeting. "We are here," said the great ship-builder, "to discuss this question, not from the point of view of the nation, but from the point of view of the war." The great Cunard manager became a total abstainer only after the war started.

The Strength of Britain Movement is primarily a business movement, founded by business men and conducted on business lines, to turn the searchlight of publicity upon the dark places of the drink traffic. The supporters of the meeting included representatives of twenty British universities; two hundred and twenty-three head masters of schools, who demanded prohibition as an educational protective measure for British youth; one hundred admirals and generals, who supported prohibition as a defense measure; two hundred and fifty directors of munitions, out for prohibition as a means of increasing the efficiency of munitions workers; one hundred members of parliament and privy council, supporting the measure as an act of statesmanship; two hundred and twenty knights and nobles, for prohibition as a measure that would increase the patriotism of the aristocracy; one hundred members of the scientific world, who asserted that stopping drink is one of the most effective means of stopping the war, continued to permit the waste of tonnage on drink materials while ships are daily sunk by submarines. The resolution met the government's appeal for war economy with a protest against the unparalleled expenditure on drink in times of unparalleled financial stress, and since the concentration of their utmost resources is essential to the winning of the war, demand immediate prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic liquors during the period of war and demobilization.

Dr. Saleeby's knowledge of the situation of unparalleled financial stress, and since the concentration of their utmost resources is essential to the winning of the war, demand immediate prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic liquors during the period of war and demobilization. The greatest speech ever made was that of one word, made by the younger Pitt. During the darkest hour of the great war with France, a radical pacifist in the house of commons asked Pitt: "Will the prime minister tell us what is the real object of the war, which he persists in waging?" Pitt sprang to his feet and replied in one word "Security." Great Britain will never win the war until she makes provision for the security of her people from famine. The U-boat campaign has made London a beleaguered city, and yet the brewers still have the preference over the people for food.

His audience gave many manifestations of outraged feeling when he told how the government had withheld a mountain of concentrated foodstuff from the people in favor of the brewers. He charged that certain London dealers who had bought 10,000 tons of Manila sugar were not allowed possession until they had promised that the sugar should not be used for the food of the people, but only for brewing purposes. He confessed that this admission by a member of the government had alarmed him more than anything since the war. Sugar Only for the Brewers!

No one save Arthur Mees of the London Daily Chronicle, author of "Defeat," could have followed that warning speech by the editor of The Spectator. Said Mr. Mees: "All over England you hear this cry for prohibition. It comes from the heart of a nation fighting for its life, with the wolf almost knocking at the door. We have lived through three red years of matchless courage and sacrifice, to see our government, still as of old, worshipping our beer gods, crowning our beer barons, rolling 26,000,000 barrels of beer through the streets of England while our people sit by their fires and wonder where their food is coming from. Mr. Mees exhortated Lord Devonport, the then food controller, who had just been appointed, to see that no more of this kind of thing should happen. "We must eat a little less," he declared, "that other people may drink more." It was a tragic moment when Mr. Mees told the story of a contractor who, feeling 40,000 working people every day, ordered sugar for them and sending to the dock for a delivery order for the sugar, received instead a letter from the Port of London Authority which said: "Delivery of sugar stopped by food controller unless for brewers!" There was incredulous cries of "No!" from his hearers when the news-

FRENCH GUNS FOR YANKEE GUNNERS

American "Heavies" Follow Field Artillery to Training Ground Abroad and Prepare to Mow Down Germans

American Training Camp in France, Oct. 10—(The Associated Press)—Not far behind the American field artillery, which has been in training in a rugged section of France for the last two months, have come the men of the "Heavies." They are veteran gunners, many of whom are familiar with the big guns at home, and they greeted almost as comrades the monster French weapons which they are now grooming for use against the Germans.

Some of the guns with which the American artillerymen are training are wonderful and ponderous examples of the French gun makers' skill and daring.

They range from the modest but marvellously effective "155" up to the staggering "400" that hurls a high explosive missile weighing just short of a ton. The 400's are more potent than the big Berthas ever were in their days of great destructiveness.

The guns range from the short, squat like giant frogs, up through the various members of the Howitzer family to the truly sinister naval rifles with their long tapering barrels.

The Americans are delighted with their French weapons and are busy studying every detail and adapting themselves to the use of French material.

The wireless branch of the heavy artillery service is one of great importance. At the schools already established radio pupils are being instructed in communication with airplanes and observation balloons.

At the schools already established radio pupils are being instructed in communication with airplanes and observation balloons. Scores of research officers from Plattsburgh and other training camps are completing their technical education in the artillery schools here.

Some of these officers are being individually selected for the artillery service because of their education in higher mathematics and engineering, are proving a boon to their commanders and instructors. It is predicted that all will make splendid officers in active service.

The American gunners have been interested in the big 240's which are hauled by caterpillar tractors, but their real pets are those aristocrats among the heavies which command special railroad cars.

Some of these rulers of the cannon world are so important and so valuable that an entire artillery train is devoted to them. These trains are strange looking affairs in their fantastic war paint, resembling at a distance a mammoth rattlesnake.

Even the engines are included in the camouflage and many resemble anything from a brick house to a giant hedgehog.

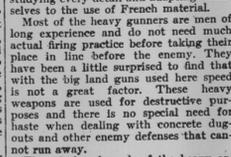

The French sense of humor cannot be suppressed by three years and more of war. French officers have named one of the largest guns turned over to the Americans "Moustique," which means Mosquito.

It is a compliment to any of your artillerymen who may have come from New Jersey," said the French commandant, who said he had spent ten years on the eastern coast of the United States.

The French guns, although large and apparently unwieldy, are balanced easily, one man being able to operate and deflect a weapon weighing fifty tons or more.

RHEUMATISM WAS MOST SEVERE

Dreadful Pains All The Time Until He Took "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

MR. LAMPSON.

Verona, Ont., Nov. 11th, 1915. "I suffered for a number of years with Rheumatism and severe Pains in Side and Back, from strains and heavy lifting.

When I had given up hope of ever being well again, a friend recommended "Fruit-a-lives" to me and after using the first box I felt so much better that I continued to take them, and now I am enjoying the best of health, thanks to your remedy."

W. M. LAMPSON. If you—who are reading this—have any Kidney or Bladder Trouble, or suffer with Rheumatism or Pain In The Back or Stomach Trouble—give "Fruit-a-lives" a fair trial. This wonderful fruit medicine will do you a world of good, as it cures when everything else fails.

PLEA FROM HOLLAND

The Hague, Oct. 12.—The foreign office announces that, according to a despatch received from the Netherlands minister at Washington, the American government has decided to refuse coal bunkering facilities to vessels bound for countries bordering on Germany.

The communication added that unless the Washington government especially sanctioned shipments to Holland, sea traffic between Holland and her colonies will become impossible, in as much as a bunker coal is obtainable from South Africa.

JOHN MCBRIDE, LABOR LEADER, IS KILLED

Federal Mediator and Ex-president of American Federation Struck by Runaway Horse

Globe, Ariz., Oct. 8.—John McBride, Federal mediator and widely known labor leader, died here this afternoon from injuries received today when he was struck by a runaway horse. He was standing on a street corner when he was hit by the horse and knocked through a plate-glass window.

He received severe lacerations in the leg and suffered great loss of blood, an artery having been severed. He was sixty-one years old. McBride, who was once president of the American Federation of Labor, accompanied the commission headed by Secretary Wilson from Phoenix to Globe.

When the first strike of miners occurred last spring at Jerome, McBride was named as conciliator and went to Globe. He had been closely identified with every movement for the unification of mine workers of the United States which has occurred since 1875.

He alone had survived the often hasty and unjust judgments of the miners, and possessed qualities which are not common among men who had organized labor. A miner himself, with only the education which he had been able to gather through a varied experience, he possessed tact to an unusual degree.

He was born near a little mining village along the Ohio Canal not far from Massillon, Ohio, the son of a miner. John McBride went into the mines as a water carrier at the age of eight, and at twelve he was a full-fledged miner. His father was a delegate in the Tuscarawas Valley strike in 1872, representing one end of the valley, while John represented the other. He was elected president of the Miners' Protective Association in 1877, at the age of twenty-four, and in 1882 he organized the Ohio Miners' Association. He was elected president of the Hooking Valley coal strike in 1884.

McBride was elected president of the American Federation in 1894 and served one term. He was the only person who had defeated Samuel Gompers.

WHY DRAW A SALARY? (Chatham World)

Food Controller Hanna, when asked why he doesn't do some food price controlling, virtually says he can't. Then why continue to draw a big salary and play at controlling? His only achievement, so far, is to set into active production still another circular live stock commissioner's, the fruit commissioner's, and half a dozen others—all of them expensive and more or less useless.

NOVA SCOTIA WHEAT

(Halifax Chronicle). The government of Nova Scotia during the first year of the war, anticipating a scarcity and high prices of flour, began a policy of encouraging small flour mills in sections of the country where none had been established. In carrying out this policy some bonuses were given, and on the Island of Cape Breton a model cereal mill was erected and operated by the government at Baddeck. During the present year arrangements have been made for the erection of mills to serve other centres in the more outlying counties of the province, as a result of which at the present time mills are nearing completion at Inverness and Guysboro, and a good beginning has been made on a mill at Bridgewater in Lunenburg County. As an instance of the results to be expected from these mills it is interesting to note that, whereas last year 8,000 bushels of wheat were milled at Baddeck, it is estimated that 15,000 bushels will be milled this year, and that a great many families in the Island of Cape Breton will consequently have all the flour from grain grown on their own farms which they will use in their own homes. It is estimated that in the whole Island of Cape Breton the acreage of wheat for the current year is from four to ten times as great as the acreage three years ago. This policy of the Nova Scotia government has attracted the attention of other provinces. Recently the chief of the Food Controller's office, Ottawa, having heard of the policy of Nova Scotia, applied for particulars, recognizing that the flour mill policy is a very desirable one if efforts are to be made to increase the production of wheat and so set free more wheat for shipment across the ocean. The secretary for agriculture has also received a communication from the department of agriculture for Ontario stating that the Ontario government is considering the advisability of establishing similar mills in New Ontario and is seeking information from the government of Nova Scotia as to the methods adopted and the results in this province.

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come, or whom the same may in anywise concern—GREETING:

A Proclamation calling out the men comprised in Class 1 as described by the Military Service Act, 1917

The Deputy Minister of Justice, Canada

WHEREAS it is provided by our Militia Act of Canada, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, chapter 41, Section 69, that our Governor-General of Canada in Council may place our militia of Canada or any part thereof on active service anywhere in Canada, and also beyond for the defence thereof, at any time when it appears advisable so to do by reason of emergency;

And Whereas that part of our militia of Canada known as the Canadian Expeditionary Force is now engaged in active service overseas for the defence and security of Canada, the preservation of our Empire and of human liberty; and it is necessary owing to the emergencies of the war to provide reinforcements for our said Expeditionary Force in addition to those whose inclination or circumstances have permitted them to volunteer;

And Whereas by reason of the large number of men who have already left agricultural and industrial pursuits in our Dominion of Canada in order to join our Expeditionary Force as volunteers, and by reason of the necessity of maintaining under these conditions the productiveness or output of agriculture and industry in our said Dominion, we have determined by and with the advice and consent of our Senate and House of Commons of Canada that it is expedient to secure the men so required, not by ballot as provided by our said Militia Act, but by selective draft; such re-enforcement, under the provisions of the Military Service Act, 1917, hereinafter referred to, not to exceed one hundred thousand men;

And Whereas it is accordingly enacted in and by the provisions of an Act of our Parliament of Canada, holden in the 7th and 8th years of our reign, and known as the Military Service Act, 1917, that every one of our male subjects who comes within one of the classes described and intended by the said Act shall be liable to be called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada, either within or beyond Canada; and that his service shall be for the duration of the present war and demobilization after the conclusion of the war;

And Whereas the men who are under the provisions of the said last mentioned Act, liable to be called out, are comprised in six classes of which Class 1 is, by the provisions of the said Act, defined to consist of all our male subjects, ordinarily, or at any time since the 4th day of August, 1914, resident in Canada, who have attained the age of twenty years, who were born not earlier than the year 1883, and were on the 6th day of July, 1917, unmarried, or are widowers but have no child, and who are not within any of the following enumerated

EXCEPTIONS:—

- 1. Members of our regular, or reserve, or auxiliary forces, as defined by our Army Act.
2. Members of our military forces raised by the Governments of any of our other dominions or by our Government of India.
3. Men serving in our Royal Navy, or in our Royal Marines, or in our Naval Service of Canada, and members of our Canadian Expeditionary Force.
4. Men who have since August 4th, 1914, served in our Military or Naval Forces, or in those of our allies, in any theatre of actual war, and have been honourably discharged therefrom.
5. Clergy, including members of any recognized order of an exclusively religious character, and ministers of all religious denominations existing in Canada at the date of the passing of our said Military Service Act.
6. Those persons exempted from military service by Order in Council of August 13th, 1873, and by Order in Council of December 6th, 1898;

And Whereas it is moreover provided by our said Military Service Act that our Governor-General of Canada in Council may from time to time by proclamation call out on active service as aforesaid any class of men in the said Act described, and that all men within the class so called out shall, from the date of such proclamation, be deemed to be soldiers enlisted in the military service of Canada and subject to military law, save as in the said Act otherwise provided; and that the men so called out shall report and shall be placed on active service in the Canadian Expeditionary Force as may be set out in such proclamation or in regulations; but that they shall, until so placed on active service, be deemed to be on leave of absence without pay;

And Whereas it is also provided by the said Act that at any time before a date to be fixed by proclamation an application may be made, by or in respect of any man in the class to be called out, to one of our local tribunals, established in the manner provided by the said Act in the province in which such man ordinarily resides, for a certificate of exemption from service upon any of the following

GROUND'S OF EXEMPTION:—

- (a) That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should, instead of being employed in military service, be engaged in other work in which he is habitually engaged;
(b) That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should, instead of being employed in military service, be engaged in other work in which he wishes to be engaged and for which he has special qualifications;
(c) That it is expedient in the national interest that, instead of being employed in military service, he should continue to be educated or trained for any work for which he is then being educated or trained;
(d) That serious hardship would ensue, if the man were placed on active service, owing to his exceptional financial or business obligations or domestic position;
(e) Ill health or infirmity;
(f) That he conscientiously objects to the undertaking of combatant service and is prohibited from so doing by the tenets and articles of faith, in effect on the sixth day of July, 1917, of any organized religious denomination existing and well recognized in Canada at such date, and to which he in good faith belongs;
And that if any of the ground's of such application be established, a certificate of exemption shall be granted to such man.

And Whereas moreover it is enacted in and by the provisions of an Act of our Parliament of Canada holden in the 7th and 8th years of our reign, and known as the War Time Elections Act, that certain persons thereby disqualified from voting, with such of their sons as on polling day are not of legal age, shall be exempt from combatant military and naval service;

And Whereas it is further provided by our said Military Service Act that applications for exemption from service shall be determined by our said local tribunals, subject to appeal as in the said Act provided, and that any man, by or in respect of whom an application for exemption from service is made, shall, so long as such application or any appeal in connection therewith is pending, and during the currency of any exemption granted him, be deemed to be on leave of absence without pay;

And Whereas our Governor-General of Canada in Council has determined to call out upon active service as aforesaid the men included in Class 1 as in the said Act and hereinbefore defined or described;

Now Therefore Know Ye that we do hereby call out the said Class 1, comprising the men in our said Military Service Act, 1917, and hereinbefore defined or described as to the said class belonging, on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada, either within or beyond Canada, as we may, in the command or direction of our Military Forces, hereafter order or direct.

And we do hereby strictly command, require and enjoin that each man who is a member of the said class shall, on or before the 10th day of November, 1917, in the prescribed form and manner, report himself for military service, unless application for his exemption shall then have been made by him or by another person entitled to apply on his behalf; wherein our loving subjects, members of the said class, are especially charged not to fail, since not only do their loyalty and allegiance require and impose the obligation of careful and implicit obedience to these our strict commands and injunctions, but moreover, lest our loving subjects should be ignorant of the consequences which will ensue if they fail to report within the time limited as aforesaid, we do hereby forewarn and admonish them that any one who is hereby called out, and who without reasonable excuse fails to report as aforesaid, shall thereby commit an offence, for which he shall be liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for any term not exceeding five years with hard labour, and he shall nevertheless, if we so require, be compelled to serve immediately in our said Expeditionary Force.

And we do hereby proclaim and announce that for the greater convenience of our subjects, we have directed that prescribed forms, for reporting for service, and for application for exemption from service, may, at any time on or before the said 10th day of November, 1917, be obtained at any post office in our Dominion of Canada; and that reports for service and applications for exemption from service, if obtained at any of our said post offices and properly executed, shall be forwarded by our postmaster at the post office from which the same are obtained to their proper destination as by our regulations prescribed, free of postage or any other charge.

And we do further inform and notify our loving subjects that local tribunals have been established in convenient localities throughout our Dominion of Canada for the hearing of applications for exemption from service upon any of the statutory grounds, as hereinbefore set out; that these our local tribunals so established will begin to sit in the discharge of their duties on the 8th day of November, 1917, and that they will continue to sit from day to day thereafter, as may be necessary or convenient, at such times and places as shall be duly notified, until all applications for exemption from service shall have been heard and disposed of; also that men belonging to the class hereby called out who have not previously to the said 8th day of November, 1917, reported for service, or forwarded applications for exemption through any of our post offices as aforesaid, may make applications in person for exemption from service to any of our said tribunals, on the 8th, 9th or 10th day of November, 1917.

And we do hereby moreover notify and inform our loving subjects who are within the class hereby called out, that if, on or before the 10th day of November, 1917, they report themselves for military service, or if, on or before that day, application for exemption from service be made by them or on their behalf, they will not be required to report for duty, or be placed upon active service as aforesaid, until a day, not earlier than the 10th day of December, 1917, which will, by our registrar for the province in which they reported or applied, be notified to them in writing by registered post at their respective addresses as given in their reports for service, or applications for exemption from service, or at such substituted addresses as they may have respectively signified to our said registrar; and we do hereby inform, forewarn and admonish the men belonging to the class hereby called out that if any of them shall, without just and sufficient cause, fail to report for duty at the time and place required by notice in writing so posted, or shall fail to report for duty as otherwise by law required, he shall be subject to the procedure, pains and penalties by law prescribed as against military deserters.

Of all of which our loving subjects, and all others whom these presents may concern, are hereby required to take notice, rendering strict obedience to and compliance with all these our commands, directions and requirements, and governing themselves accordingly.

In Testimony Whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter; One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

Western Medical Officers in H.M.C. Conference Urge Examination of Conscripts

A special conference of the medical officers of the Military Hospitals Commission, in charge of tuberculosis soldiers in the west, brought many prominent western men into consultation at the I. H. C. headquarters in Ottawa, Sept. 7, and important questions relative to the care of the tuberculosis cases were discussed. Prominent among these men were:

Captain Olson, Balfour Sanatorium, British Columbia.
Captain J. B. Ritchie, Frank Sanatorium, Alberta.
Dr. L. G. Houle, Earl Grey Sanatorium, Moose Jaw.
Dr. D. A. Stewart, Ninette Sanatorium, Manitoba.
Dr. C. H. Vrooman, Tranquille Sanatorium, Kamloops.
Major John L. Todd, of the Pensions Board.

A resolution was passed urging the most careful examination of recruits for tuberculosis, that no men with tendencies toward tuberculosis should be taken to become a burden to the country. It was pointed out that the care of tuberculosis men was a great expense to the nation, and that the cost of an examination for T. B. which would eliminate all this expense, would be infinitesimal in comparison.

Christmas at Sanatorium.

It was decided to allow the men in the military sanatoria to have a vacation in which to return to their homes either before or after the holiday season, and to keep them at the sanatorium during Christmas week. While this may seem a hardship to the men who would naturally like to be with their families on Christmas, it is regarded as wise by the physicians. Parties and entertainments for the soldiers will undoubtedly be a big part of the festivities in every community, and the temptation of the men to overdo must be guarded against. A few days of such good times may so overtax a man as to set his recovery back many weeks.

Every effort will be made to make Christmas a happy season at the sanatoria. There will be decorations, visitors, parties in proportion to their strength, and all the Christmas menu trimmings. The move is in the best interest of the men, and it is felt that they will see it that way.

Keeping Tab on Ex-patients.

In the June conference of the eastern and central medical officers of the commission treating tuberculosis cases, it was recommended that specialists in T. B. be appointed in connection with every medical board for the examination of men suffering from tuberculosis, for the purpose of regulating pensions, etc. This has been found impossible since there are not a sufficient number of specialists, except in the large centres, to carry on such a work. In view of this fact, Col. Alfred Thompson, medical superintendent of the commission suggested that some social service, the St. John Ambulance Association, the O. D. E., or the Victorian Order of Nurses be asked to take over the work of keeping in touch with the men for the first six months following their discharge. Such an order could do a great work in watching a man's progress and condition and directing him to the dispensary where the proper treatment would be given him in case he should need attention. It would be the visitor's duty to see that the men live under the proper conditions, that they know where to go, and go, in case they need medical attention.

Captain J. R. Byers reported upon suggestions made by Major R. Tait MacKenzie on exercise for T. B. patients; fumigating plants for the sanatoria were discussed, and many other points of management arranged.

Dr. F. J. Shepherd of Montreal, president of the Association of Medical Officers Caring for T. B. Soldiers, presided.

INDEPENDENT LABOR PARTY AT CAPITAL

Committee Named to Draw Up Constitution

Voice of Labor a Whisper

Must Speak in Louder Tones—Reforms Gained in Australia and England Held up as Examples

Ottawa, Oct. 10—A Labor party—as yet without name and without constitution—was organized when sixty-five representatives of the workers of the capital met, and decided that it was advisable to have a candidate in the field at the coming election.

After lengthy discussion of various points brought forward by the several speakers, the following were appointed members of a provisional committee to study the constitution of other similar bodies and decide upon a platform for the newly-launched organization: W. T. McDowell, chairman; T. Carroll, secretary; J. D. Robertson, treasurer; Peter Leskie, P. M. Draper, Fred Bliss and John Cameron.

The meeting was called by the labor representative committee, of which W. T. McDowell is chairman. This gentleman presided over the gathering. He said the Allied Trades and Labor Association had made a move in the direction in question two years ago, when a candidate was chosen to stand in the municipal election. His defeat resulted in the agitation dying down, and no further action was taken until six months ago, at which time it was decided to endeavor to revive it.

Too Long Silent.

Mr. McDowell cited the reforms the British and Australian Labor parties have been able to accomplish as an incentive to similar action in Canada, and said he thought Ottawa should take the lead in this respect, as the eyes of the entire dominion were turned upon the capital. The platform of the party, he thought, should be broad enough to take in all workers who believed in the emancipation of the class to which they belonged.

"The voice of labor has too long been silent," said the speaker. "We have asked, instead of demanding. We have been the recipients, instead of the donors."

He concluded by stating that it was proposed to call the organization the Independent Labor Party of Ottawa, on the understanding that "independent" was to mean independent of either of the existing political parties.

Forget All "isms."

President J. C. Waters of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, was called to the platform, and spoke in favor of the proposal. Saying that he was prepared to forget all the mistakes of labor in the past, he urged that all "isms" should be forgotten, in order that the workers of the country gain representation in the dominion as well as the provincial legislatures. There was only one remedy for the present state of affairs, he asserted. That was to elect men, not politicians.

The speaker went on to say that each politician prided himself on the fact that he was either the supporter or opponent of a business administration.

"And that's the whole trouble," he said. "Business receives their first attention. What we want is men who will give human welfare their first attention. The successful man in business—the one who gets rich—is the one who gets more than he gives. This is nothing more nor less than robbery, and the government stands for it. A sneak thief is a gentleman as compared with some of our business men. The government

Keep Away from Socialism.

Mr. McLaughlin, a representative of the telegraphers, said he thought he could get a hundred recruits for the movement, and that he thought the movement should include all workers, rather than trades unionists alone. He moved that the proposal to form an independent labor party be adopted, and was seconded by Mr. Caffrey.

Here arose a point which provoked much discussion. One present brought attention to the fact that the term "Independent Labor Party" was associated in the minds of all old countrymen with an organization which was out-and-out socialist, and he thought such an impression should not get abroad in Ottawa, as he understood that a license of the party was not of such a nature.

Finally it was moved by Mr. Bliss, seconded by J. D. Robertson, that a labor party be formed, and that a provisional committee be appointed to choose a name and to draft a constitution, to be submitted at the next meeting. The motion was adopted, and the new labor party had its birth.

Among those present at the meeting was noticeable D. Marci, who is expected to be a Liberal candidate in Ottawa at the coming election.

 CONSCRIPT WEALTH

British Government Has Practically Decided to Levy Directly on Capital

London, Oct. 12.—England has another shock in store for that section of America which hates to see wealth do its bit. England is preparing to conscript capital literally. There has been a great deal of talk about conscription of wealth in connection with the war, but it has meant only high income taxes, excess profits taxes and levies of that sort.

The British government today has practically decided to take the next step and levy directly on capital. Barring a change of opinion in the meantime on the part of those responsible for the British financial policy, such a levy will be made soon after the war ends. This, possibly the most radical financial innovation that has resulted from the war, is due to the conviction that it is, if not the only way out, at least the best way, out from under the terrific financial burden the war will leave the empire. At the end of the war Great Britain will face the necessity of providing two and one half million dollars or more annual revenue. It will cost half that to meet the running expenses of the government and the greater part of the other half to meet the interest on war loans.

CAPTURED MISSIONARIES TREATED WITH BRUTALITY

Further Tales of Hun Barbarism in Carrying on of War—Report from German East Africa

London Chronicle.
 For the slightest breach of discipline the native soldiers in German East Africa were given twenty-five lashes with a thick long whip usually made of hippopotamus hide.

German native servants not unusually received two punishments of twenty-five lashes each within fourteen days. The boys were laid out in the central yard of the prison camps, each limb being held down, a fifth holding down the head while a sergeant applied the lashes with full force. Blood was invariably drawn by the severity of the punishment.

These scenes of barbarism and deliberate cruelty to the natives of German East Africa, after the outbreak of the war, are described in a series of signed reports on the conduct of the German authorities issued yesterday in the form of a White Paper.

The Rev. Ernest P. Spanton, Principal of St. Andrew's College, Zanzibar, tells how the natives were "pressed" into service. Parties of soldiers were sent into the villages at night, and seized all the young men asleep in their beds. They were fastened together in the fashion of the old Arab slave raiders and driven to the nearest fort. Men engaged in transport work were treated with the greatest brutality. "When a man fell exhausted under the weight of his load he was flogged until he staggered to his feet and stumbled on again. Those who were too weak to do this were shot as they lay. For example, one of the German officers with the column retreating from the Ruanda country before the advancing Belgians wrote in a private letter: "Our road is paved with the corpses of the natives we have been obliged to kill."

Civilian prisoners suffered the same inhuman treatment. Teachers of the Universities Mission to Central Africa were arrested. Those from the north were compelled to march hundreds of miles, many of them in chains and carrying burdens, though weak and ill. Most of them were German subjects, but they were regarded as prisoners because they were adherents to the English mission. About twenty of them succumbed to the terrible treatment they received.

A British war prisoner, Major Howard, D. S. O., escaped in February, 1915, but was recaptured. He was brought back with a broken rib, a pierced kidney, and a black eye. For five months he was confined in a vermin infested cell 4 ft by 8 ft.

The death rate among Indian soldiers was abnormal, says James Scott-Brown. "Out of 400 captured in the neighborhood of Jeddah and brought into the heart of the colony there were fewer than 100 alive when the Belgian army entered Jahoro."

 OF LIVE STOCK

In view of the fact that it is impossible to hold the regular winter fair at Amherst, the New Brunswick department of agriculture will duplicate any prizes won by exhibitors of horses, cattle, sheep, swine or poultry at the Guelph or Ottawa fairs to be held this coming winter.

Exhibitors must secure a statement from the secretary of the fair, showing the number of prizes won, the amount of each prize and in what class or classes the stock competed; upon presentation of these statements the necessary checks will be issued.

Further information can be had from the Secretary for Agriculture, Fredericton (N. B.).

KAISER WILHELM TO

London, Oct. 11.—Extensive preparations are being made in Sofia, Bulgaria, to entertain the German emperor during his forthcoming visit here. This will be the emperor's first visit to Sofia, and the government has issued a proclamation inviting the populace to participate in the welcome.

A despatch from Rotterdam on Wednesday said that the German foreign minister would proceed at an early date on a visit to Vienna, Sofia and Constantinople. It was said that his mission has important political and peace significance. There have been no reports within the past few days that the German emperor was to go to Sofia, having returned from Roumania only ten days ago.

 BURNING SCHOONER IN HEAVY SEA

Rockland, Me., Oct. 11.—Capt. William Graham and crew of five men of the coasting schooner C. T. W., owned at Plimpton, N. S., which struck on a ledge near Isle Au Haut on Tuesday night and was burned to the water's edge, were brought here on Thursday by a tug.

The schooner was bound from a Nova Scotia port for Camden, Me., with thirty-six tons of ship timber, fourteen spars and two sets of ship's models for Bean's shipyard.

When the vessel struck the ledge the binnacle lamp was overturned into the captain's berth. The crew were powerless to subdue the flames and had great difficulty in getting away in their small boat in the heavy sea. They reached Oak Island Harbor after rowing six miles. A portion of the cargo may be saved.

HALIFAX PROSPERITY

(Halifax Echo)
 Halifax is today considered the most prosperous city of its size in the Dominion. Despite the war the city has, during the past few years, been prosperous, and probably there was more money in circulation within its limits during that period than in any similar three years period since the city was established. True, everybody has not benefited scientifically by the increased amount of money in circulation in proportion with the advanced cost of living, but many have and are not only able to keep up their tables as of yore, but are better able to respond to the many calls for funds for the many good objects as a result of the war, that is being carried on.

The large amount of wages paid monthly to the military and navy go to increase the money in circulation and wages paid on new building construction work, including the railway terminals, oil-refining plant at Dartmouth and other buildings, as well as stevedores, further increase it. The demand for skilled labor, which has taxed the supply, night and day shifts being engaged, and the total amount paid in all these connections has been estimated at about $1,000,000 per month. Beside these avenues of contribution to the amount in circulation, there have been the large quantities of shipping supplies handled and the expenditure that comes from shipping in port.

Activity on the water front has been great since the war opened. In 1914, the year Great Britain entered the war, the shipping tonnage of the port totalled 4,289,228 tons, whereas in 1916 it had jumped to 6,463,186 tons, and for the present year up to the close of September—nine months—the actual tonnage of the port was 12,482,692, thus placing Halifax the third port in tonnage on the Atlantic seaboard.

Halifax bank clearings in 1914 totalled $100,280,007, and increased in 1916 to $125,597,661, while for the nine months past of the present year to $110,886,547, compared with $90,800,173, for the same nine months of 1916.

The western slope of the city is being rapidly covered by new dwellings of a superior class, which, as a rule, are occupied by their owners—in fact, building operations are active at all points of the city. Real estate, up to several years ago, sold greatly below its actual worth, and it is feasible to believe that within a few years, real property in all sections of the city, will increase considerably in value, owing to the fact that each year sees considerably less vacant land.

I wonder what's wrong with my Tea?

My! This certainly IS good Tea

The woman on the left bought some "cheap" tea. You can see she's not pleased. She's sorry now she tried to save a few cents by buying the "cheap" tea.

How different with the woman on the right. The fragrance of her tea tells her how good it is. She paid a few cents more for Red Rose Tea than the other woman paid for her "cheap" tea—and besides Red Rose will prove more economical in the end!

Because of the rich flavor and vigorous strength of the Assam teas of which Red Rose chiefly consists, it will make 250 cups to the pound, or about a fifth of a cent a cup. So cheap that the very poorest can afford it, so good that the rich can find nothing better.

You have marveled at this absolute perfection of tone control in every great organ you have heard.

While volume of sound is determined by the number and character of pipes employed yet the secret of the delicate gradations of tone lies in the swell-box—in shutters that open and close at the player's will.

Only the Columbia Grafonola is equipped with this same device for tone control. Shutters that open and close and make it possible for you to play the world's great music with the depth of expression that it deserves.

TERRIBLE TIMES IN POOR SERBIA

Grim Tale of Lieutenant Who Was a Prisoner

Wanton Slaying of People

Prisoners Died in Camp at Rate of 25 to 30 a Day—Starvation, Disease, and Hard Labor in Mines

Vidak Koprivitsa, lieutenant in the Second Regiment of the Serbian Combine Division, who, as an invalid prisoner, was recently exchanged by the Austro-Hungarian authorities and who is now in a hospital in France, has written to some Serbian friends in England describing some of his experiences and the conditions prevailing in occupied Serbia, and also in the internment camps in Austria-Hungary.

I was taken prisoner along with other seriously wounded Serbian officers in the advance of the Austrians on Vratis, where there had been for some time British medical missions. The enemy immediately conducted a search of all houses in all the villages and towns of this district, and requisitioned all available food, leaving only half a pound of flour per head. The copper bells from the churches, and all leather things the authorities quickly seized.

Some days afterwards the wounded officers who had been left on the road between Kratyvo and Raska were brought into our hospital; they told us terrible stories of what they had seen on the journey: the road was strewn with corpses of fugitives who had been killed by the Germans by the sides of their carts and wagons.

German Love for the Gallows

The German general who visited our town asked Prince Lopkovitch why he had not yet erected the gallows. The Austrian quickly took the hint, and put up gallows in all the larger towns and villages, and pictures showing people hanging on them were soon circulated and distributed amongst the population. Before a week was out the population began to feel the lack of bread; in our town there was only one baker to work, and nobody could get more than half a pound of bread per day.

From Vratis we were removed to Kreskenet. The hospital where I was put had formerly been an old elementary school, in which many Serbian from Srom and the Banat, interned before we came here, had ended their martyr lives. Some months later we were removed through Budapest, to Vienna to the north of Bohemia, to a town called Brki. After five days we were removed to Heinrichsgrun, where in the earlier days of 1916 there had been 30,000 Serbian soldiers and 200 Serbian officers.

Prisoners Die Like Flies

In this camp the misery was appalling. When we arrived from 25 to 30 were dying daily, and the number grew rapidly. Many of our unhappy soldiers found their graves here through starvation, disease and hard labor in the mines. It was heartbreaking to see officers as well as soldiers, barefooted, in their rags—mere ghosts of men.

The huts were deadly places, and the nights were bitterly cold, not only because of the wretched shelter, but owing to the lack of covering. Soldiers and officers fell ill suddenly and developed tuberculosis—there were 3,000 men affected by tuberculosis and absolutely without care or attention. Seriously wounded officers in this camp were given no vestige of attention or respect. This place, Heinrichsgrun, was just a Serbian cemetery, rows of graves being continually added with due regularity as fresh batches of prisoners came in. Here died more than 20,000.

In August, 1916, Bulgarian officers visited this camp and began to pick out as "recruits" those men who hailed from the territories in Serbia occupied by the armies of King Ferdinand. At the beginning of September, 1916, I was removed to Aschach, where 150 officers, and 25,000 soldiers were crowded together. Here also there reigned the same grim horror.

From this camp, as well as from others, the Austrians carried away Serbian soldiers to the Italian front in order that they might work on the construction of fortifications and in trench digging. These martyrs of ours suffered terribly under the fire of the Italian artillery, and I saw several of them captured and wounded.

In these camps are placed along with the prisoners of war also interned civilians—women, old men, and children—a great many children between 10 and 12 years of age. I saw with my own eyes these wretched boys and girls picking up scraps of food from the drain-courses. The epidemics which visited these camps can be imagined.

To Remove First Signs of Old Age

The infallible first sign of age is the sagging cheek muscles, says Mrs. Cavallieri, whose fame as a beauty culturist is scarcely less than that of a songstress. "These are more difficult and serious to treat than wrinkles," she continues. "The sagging muscles indicate they have grown too weak to remain in place; they must be assisted, strengthened."

The best way to strengthen them is by bathing the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This creates a freer circulation to the parts, besides causing muscles and skin to contract. Saxolite, procurable at every drug store, has long been known by complexion specialists to possess remarkable tonic and astringent properties, valuable in treating flabby tissue and wrinkles.

The Country of The Dead

(G. E. Slocombe in London Chronicle.) To them it is for ever sacred, a place apart, a hallowed ground. A strange, grim country, this abiding place of our dead.

It runs in a long, devastated strip, desolation after desolation from the great rolling downs about Peronne to the dunes, where the birds cry by day and by night, of the North Sea.

Lonelier than the loneliest of the lost lands of the world is it, for all the great highways of war that wind through it, hot and white with dust in summer, rain-lashed and sodden in winter. For the convoys that pass occasionally, the living, jesting, miscellaneous traffic of the war—even the wounded jest—they pass but do not profane; they cross but do not enter, this inviolable region. Stark and pitiless, its illimitable horizon, minutely broken—by torn trees, by gun-wheels rusting, and, above all, by those crosses that rise countless, for ever a symbol and a perpetuation—this land, like its grim population, is no more of the living.

Here they lived, those happy warriors, in their strange, rude shelters, hollowed-out of the hospitable earth, their interminable trenches. Here they made war, joyous children, as in happier times some warfare of the nursery. Here they died, those countless young men we knew, those gay, gallant lovers, those loyal comrades—flowers that never grew to fruit—they passed from us here in the singing season. Singing—those queer, incomprehensible soldier songs that are never of war and seldom of love—singing, they died.

We knew them as they were; little cheery companions resting for a space on the roadside after crowded truckfuls, curious or careless, looking out of the long French trains as they lumbered along, trudging after crowded truckfuls, gay companions who shared their water, their biscuit, their blanket with us; the careless lad, the grown man more grave, at times silent and preoccupied with thoughts of home; the campaigner of many wars, unexpectedly considerate to the new soldier of this war; English, Welsh, Irish, Scotch, reckless, hardy men from the Dominions, all clear-eyed, self-reliant, courageous—we know them all. And here, under the cold stars that looked down upon them then the changing sky that was their roof for two summers and three winters, in the torn earth that was their shelter then as it is their shelter now—here they lie, the named and the nameless, silent, unapproached, eternally at peace. The poet's head rests as they found it, pillowed on the knees of the pitman. Peer sleeps side by side with the peasant. In the familiar haunts of their lives there sorrow and mourning, but not here. Here is another memorial. Nature's own. Here spring trees—here spring triumph. For Nature herself, tender and triumphant as hastening to make beautiful the resting-place of these her children. The seeds of her most beautiful blooms, borne on her healing winds she scatters over this desolation. Her gentle rains water them, her suns caress them to life and grace and color. Today there is a great riot of poppies over all these fields of death. The yellow gold of the garlic-blossom gives back sunshine to the sun. The blue corn-flower, countless among the long grass, sways gently to the wind. Old battlefields that but this last winter were an aching devastation—how they are now beyond words redeemed. She maketh the wilderness to blossom as the rose.

One passes reverently, marvelling at such graciousness. One rejoices that among that multitude of graves, that forest of rude crosses, none of them has Nature left untouched; that a brother among the dead lies amid the blossoms that as a boy he cherished and loved to gather; that over him the bees and butterflies hover and flutter, from death distilling sweetness, as they hovered and fluttered in a happy childhood; that he is of a glorious and blessed company, among brothers in arms as loyal and light-hearted, whose names and deeds and deaths will be remembered while memory lasts in this Country of the Dead.

U-Boat's Escape May Involve Spain In War

Madrid Government Expected to Demand German Submarine's Return for Internment

Washington, Oct. 11.—A serious international incident is involved in the escape of an interned German submarine from the Spanish port of Cadiz. Unless the German government returns the vessel for internment for the remainder of the war, Spain will be placed in the position of having been insulted. In the opinion of those best qualified to judge of the matter, Spanish pride will be bound to assert itself unless the German government makes amends for this gross disregard for international law and usage.

Should the escaped U-boat sink any national or merchant vessels the Spanish government would be obliged to hold Germany to a strict accountability. As the matter stands, the chances of involving Spain in the world war are very great. So far as the Entente nations, Japan and the United States are concerned, offensive action by the escaped submarine would probably force a grave international crisis.

Doubt is expressed in official circles as to the willingness of Germany to pursue a correct course. The contempt at Berlin for the rights of governments not accounted as among the great powers is well understood in the diplomatic world. Confidence is felt here that Spain will meet the issue with a courageous recognition of her own obligations and demand of Germany an adequate explanation of the action of the U-boat in leaving Spanish waters without permission and, if the explanation is not satisfactory, take a course that will show that Spanish pride is still thoroughly alive.

The sinking of a merchant steamer or national vessel would leave Spain primarily responsible, and the Allies would be obliged to call for an explanation from her. It is therefore incumbent on the Madrid government to take action at once to show that it repudiates the submarine's action. No doubt is felt here that the incident will assume major proportions unless quick action is taken to remedy the situation.

German Minister of Marine Resigns

Amsterdam, Oct. 12.—Vice-Admiral Voo Capelle, the German minister of marine, has resigned, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung.

Vice-Admiral Eduard Von Capelle was administrative director of the ministry of marine before the war and served as a captain at sea. In March, 1916, he succeeded Admiral von Tirpitz as imperial minister of the navy. Several times since then Von Capelle has appeared before the Reichstag with optimistic statements regarding the progress of the unrestricted submarine campaign, as late as Aug. 16, 1917, defending the U-boat policy of his predecessor and himself at a meeting of the Reichstag main committee.

Vice-Admiral Von Capelle announced in the Reichstag last Wednesday that a plot had been discovered in the navy to force the government to make peace. He said that the guilty parties had received their just deserts and attempted to link Socialists with the plot. The proclama- German chancellor, Dr. Michaelis, also spoke of the existence of a conspiracy in the navy and asserted that certain deputies were involved in the revolt. The Socialists and their newspapers have attacked both the chancellor and the vice-admiral for their statements.

FIRST CLASS MUST REPORT BY NOV. TENTH

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The proclamation calling on the first class of men under the military service act to report for military service will be issued tomorrow. The proclamation, which is signed by Thomas Mulvey, under secretary of state, contains previous announcements made by the militia service board and contained in the act as to exemptions, ground for exemptions, etc. The proclama- tion calls upon the men comprised in Class I to report themselves for military service on or before November 10, unless application for exemption has been made.

The proclamation further states that those called out will not be required to report for duty earlier than December 10.

A change in the personnel of one or two of the travelling boards was announced at military headquarters yesterday. Orders received from Ottawa were to the effect that no acting member of either the local or Dominion parliament or ex-member of either house, or member or ex-member of the senate could act on medical boards.

One hundred and twenty-one prospective conscripts appeared before the local medical examination board yesterday and out of this number fifty-nine were found to be fit for category "A" of the medical boards and twenty-two were rejected. There were nine physicians busily engaged all day yesterday and the board worked until 10 o'clock last evening. The number of applicants is daily increasing and in view of the proclamation being issued today, calling the men of the first class to report to the medical boards all over New Brunswick look for a coming busy session.

Eighteen recruits were secured in the city yesterday, sixteen men signing on with No. 9 Signal Battery and two with No. 8 Field Ambulance, the latter two going through the recruiting stand in the Pugsley building.

Those who were taken on with No. 9 were: Walter McEann, Newcastle Creek (N. B.); James B. Sullivan, Newcastle (N. B.); John Belmont King, St. John; James Leonard Tingley, Beaver Brook (N. B.); William Keble Polley, Petersburg, Queens county; James Joseph Keating, Pennsylvania (U. S.); John Leo Smith, Hamersley; Donald McAdam, Fredericton; William E. Jones, St. John; Harold William Falconer, Newcastle; Ernest Gilbert St. John; Charles Matthews, and John F. Sinclair, both of Elmisdale (P. E. I.); and Abraham Casswell Thomson, Hampton.

J. J. English, of Pottsville, and Ralph Prescott, both enlisted with No. 8 Field Ambulance.

BREAK A CHILD'S GOLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Cleanses the Little Liver and Bowels and They Get Well Quick

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs," to evacuate the bowels; no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "Fruit Laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Airedale Was Best Dog In Show

Final Awards at Cat and Dog Show—W. W. Laskey Take Lieutenant-Governor's Cup—Successful Show Closes

There were twenty-three entries in all for the Cat Show, and the judging was done yesterday by William Evans, of Riverside. Mr. Evans remarked yesterday afternoon, while judging, that many of the cats that were on exhibition were extremely fine specimens of their respective kinds. This is the first cat show that has been held in the city, and from the enthusiasm that was exhibited by the public, it is confidently felt that it will be by no means the last.

The judging of the dogs was completed early last night, and the rest of the evening was occupied by Commissioner McLellan in distributing the cups and prizes. The Lieutenant-Governor's cup was won by Pickled Peaches, owned by W. W. Laskey, of this city. The honor of being the best dog in the show was awarded to King Nobbler's Double, owned by J. Norman McKenna. This dog is said to be worth $1,000. At the conclusion of the presentation, Commissioner McLellan said a few words in praise of A. F. Delmont, who so ably presided over the show, and successfully acted as judge at the show.

Commissioner McLellan said that never before has such general satisfaction been felt by the members of the club in the judgment as there has been this year. As a small token of the esteem in which Mr. Delmont is held a beautiful certificate case was presented him by Mr. McLellan on behalf of the members of the New Brunswick Kennel Club.

HOME FROM THE WAR
That the Germans are beaten to a point where it is impossible for them to come back and that the war will be ended within a year was the message that Lieutenant Roland J. H. Smith, M. C., brought home with him to the people of this province upon his arrival in the city last evening, following debarcation from an ocean liner at Quebec this week.

Speaking of the circumstances under which he won his Military Cross, Lieut. Smith said that at the time he thought that there was nothing extraordinary in what he had done but he was recommended for the mark of distinction and was gazetted October 2.

It was at Hill 70 at Lens. The 26th had been ordered to clear a difficult military position which meant much importance to the holder. The Germans were in possession and the 26th were to get it. Lieutenant Smith was with "D" company.

Among the returned men to arrive in Quebec on Thursday night were several maritime provincials. They were—M. F. Malcom, Halifax; R. S. Ross, New Glasgow; J. D. Areabury, M. F. Egan, Donald, N. Harris, H. Poulson, R. C. E. Marks, J. P. Mihan, J. D. McDonald, N. Harris, H. Poulson, R. Redinger, Halifax; A. Babin, Arichat; C. M. Kelly, St. John; A. Gallant, Moncton.

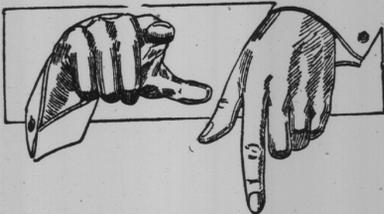

Private Frank F. Niles, of the 26th Battalion, arrived in the city last evening from his home in Great Shenogue, N. B., for the purpose of receiving treatment for wounds he received in France on April 1st, 1916.

Friends of Signaller Thomas Edward Mantle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mantle, 117 King street east, who was recently wounded, have received a letter from him. He says that his injuries are not serious and that he expects to be around again in a few days.

A letter received in the city recently from Lieutenant L. P. Cathels, gives an interesting account of how the soldiers are doing in the Far East. He says that during their hours of leisure they play dominoes and bridge, swim, eat, read and sleep.

Bacon Matter Is Up Again

E. C. Fox on Stand—Some Retailers Say Price Should be Sixty Cents to Give Reasonable Profit

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Recalled to the stand at the resumed investigation into the profits made by the William Davies Company, Limited, by the sale of bacon, E. C. Fox, the general manager, said that practically all the profits had been made out of war-time export trade and not of the pockets of individual householders.

It was shown that since the war began the retail price of the best bacon has risen rapidly from twenty-seven to fifty cents a pound. At the latter price, witnesses in the provision business maintained, the yield to retailers was only seven per cent. They said that in order to make a reasonable profit of sixty cents should be the selling price. It was also brought out that during the last two years there has been a great decrease in the sale of what are termed by retailers, luxuries.

J. T. Wardle, formerly chief clerk of the export department, declared that an auditor had told him to take care of the pickle that pork is cured in, as it was worth 25 cents to 28 cents a pound. He maintained that the man had said: "The British government should know better than to pay that for salt water."

J. W. Cringan, the auditor, denied that he had made any such statement. Mr. Wardle reiterated his statement and later made another imputation. He declared that James Teifer, in charge of the Montreal cellars, had said that there was a loss of nearly $200 because certain sides had been taken out of the

WILL NOT FIX POTATO PRICE

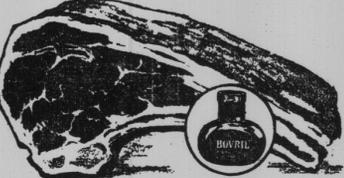

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—The food controller has decided not to fix an arbitrary price for potatoes. This decision has been arrived at as the result of a meeting of representatives of the eastern provinces, acting as a special sub-committee of the fruit and vegetable committee of the food controller's office.

Registration of wholesale handlers of potatoes has already been ordered, and it will be unlawful for any person to engage in the wholesale potato business without a license. A resolution is now under consideration which will require such dealers to take out a license to do business and to file regular reports of all their transactions covering the purchase and sale of potatoes. The sub-committee decided not to fix the price at $1.25 a bag to the consumer, after ascertaining that the cost of producing a 90-pound bag in each of the five eastern provinces was as follows: Ontario, $1.07; Quebec, $1.50; New Brunswick, $1.35 to $1.50; Nova Scotia, $1.06; Prince Edward Island, ninety cents. To these costs must be added a fair profit to the grower, freight and the profits necessary to the wholesaler and retailer.

Rio Janeiro, Oct. 12.—The Brazilian government purposes to utilize seized German steamers for the organization of international steamship lines. The vessels will fly the Brazilian flag and will be used in the interest of Brazil and the Allies.

The realization of this project now depends solely on an understanding between Brazil and the Allies, which Brazil considers essential.

It takes a joint of Beef to make a bottle of Bovril

Bovril contains the goodness of the Beef.

The vital elements that give beef its special place and value as a food are concentrated and stored in Bovril.

In theory many non-meat foods have a high nourishing value, but they do not yield up nearly all their nourishment to the body. They are like German money, not worth its face value when you try to turn it into gold. But Bovril enables you to extract that nourishment which otherwise you would never get. In other words, it enormously increases the feeding value of other foods.

Body-building powers of BOVRIL proved equal to 10 to 20 times the amount taken.

In spite of the increase in the cost of beef (the raw material of Bovril) the price of Bovril has not been increased since the outbreak of the war.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The following official statement bearing on union government was issued at 4:15 this afternoon:

"The following ministers have retired from the positions which they have hitherto held in the government: The Hon. Frank Cochrane, Hon. Sir George Perley, Hon. J. D. Hazen, the Hon. W. J. Roche and the Hon. T. W. Crothers. "Mr. Cochrane will remain a member of the government without portfolio and it is anticipated that at an early date he will take up very important duties in connection with the Canadian Northern Railway.

"It is pretty generally considered on all sides that Mr. Cochrane's administration of Canadian Government Railways has been sound and business-like; that he has honestly and diligently sought to serve the public interest and that he has successfully handled some of the most difficult problems during the six years he has had charge of the important development of railways and canals in connection with the Canadian government railway system as a whole. Mr. Cochrane is also not without experience in the handling of problems of settlement and incidental development which are so closely allied to the general railway problem of today, having been for six years minister of lands, forests and mines in the province of Ontario. There is no doubt that the officials and employees of the Intercolonial and Transcontinental will be most sorry to lose Mr. Cochrane for whom they entertain the greatest respect and regard.

New Minister of Agriculture.

"The Hon. T. A. Creer, of Winnipeg, is a native of the province of Ontario. Some years ago he moved with his father to Manitoba and engaged in extensive farming operations. On the formation of the Grain Growers' Association, Mr. Creer became actively associated with the movement. He has been from the commencement one of its leaders and during recent years he has been its chief organizer and manager. Mr. Creer has been manager of this enterprise and under his direction it has become one of the most pronounced outstanding successes of the Canadian business world. As minister of agriculture he will command from the beginning a confidence born of his long and varied experience with the large farming interests of Canada.

Hon. J. A. Calder. "The Hon. J. A. Calder has had considerable experience in public life. He has been provincial treasurer and minister of education in the government of Saskatchewan during the past twelve years.

"He is a man of fine organizing capacity and of wide vision and is intensely interested in all questions touching the development of the great western country to which he has given so much of his time and energy. In the problems of immigration and colonization he takes a deep and a very special interest. It may be anticipated that the energy and capacity which he will bring to the discharge of his duties will enable him to render conspicuous public service.

"The Hon. A. L. Sifton has had a long career in public life. He was a member of the government of the northwest territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were established. After the establishment of these provinces he was appointed to the chief justiceship of Alberta and discharged his judicial duties with great acceptance. Returning to the political arena a few years ago, he has had to deal with intricate and difficult questions touching the development of his province. His distinguished ability and his wide knowledge of western conditions will make him a source of strength in the councils of the nation.

portfolio of militia and defence, has given fine service to the country during the past three years, having been originally selected by General Sir Sam Hughes to fill a very important position in the training of troops. He was afterwards asked by Sir Edward Kemp to enter the department of militia and defence where his services to the country have been very notable. He has been connected with the militia of Canada from his early youth and he has a fine grasp and thorough appreciation of the needs of the service. It is beyond question that his wide experience, together with his distinguished ability and his well known energy and strength of character will render him a most efficient war minister.

"In undertaking the duties of minister of overseas forces, Sir Edward Kemp will have the great advantage of a practical experience of nearly a year in the administration of the department of militia and defence in Canada. As chairman of the war purchasing commission he had naturally acquired considerable knowledge of the requirements of the military service and during the past year he has devoted himself with distinguished ability, great zeal and indefatigable knowledge to the performance of his duties. His administration has been successful and will bring to the discharge of his new duties all the fine qualities which he has displayed in the service of the country during the past twelve months. The knowledge which he has maintained through his experience during that period will be of inestimable advantage to serving to co-ordinate the work of two departments to the advantage of the public interest.

Hon. N. W. Rowell.

"Hon. N. W. Rowell has not been many years in active public life, but has already attained the high position of leadership of the Liberal party in the legislature of Ontario. He commands a remarkable degree of the confidence of his supporters in the Ontario legislature and his leadership has been characterized by ability, firmness and moderation. In all public endeavors touching the prosecution of the war he has manifested a deep interest. Convinced that his duty lay in the support of the government which he regards as essential for the successful maintenance of Canada's effort in the war, he brings to the fulfillment of his duties strong purpose, keen devotion to British institutions and a high sense of the responsibility which he is assuming.

"Sir George Perley undertook with some reluctance the duties of minister of overseas military forces to which he has since devoted himself with great ability, assiduity and thoroughness. His long and wide experience in business affairs has given him a thorough grasp of organization which had proved of immense advantage introducing to a systematic basis the arrangements relating to the overseas forces in Great Britain and in France. In addition to this he has discharged for three years without salary the duties of high commissioner for Canada, to which he will now devote his entire energies, an order-in-council having been passed appointing him to that important position.

"When the Hon. Dr. Roche retired from the important position of minister of the interior and superintendent general of Indian affairs, he was in a position to reflect with much satisfaction that, during his incumbency, no motion in the house of commons had ever been directed against the administration of the department. His strong sense of duty, his thoroughness and his careful administration of a department in which there were many dangers for unwary administrators, bear striking testimony to the service which he has rendered to the country.

A Co-Operative Creamer.

W. R. Reek, secretary for agriculture, will be in Moncton next week in connection with the plan to establish a central creamery there, to be operated by a co-operative company of farmers from adjoining districts in Westmorland, Albert and Kent. The department is lending valuable assistance to this project. A series of meetings will be held to discuss its merits with the farmers of each district.

DOES IT PAY

to carry Life Insurance? There is only one answer, either from a financial or peace of mind point of view. The ever-increasing amount of life insurance written, not only by our Company but other representative institutions, is an evidence of its merit.

If it is good business to carry Fire Insurance—and every sane business man believes it is—then it should be equally good business to carry Life Insurance. A Fire Policy may become a claim, while a Life Insurance Policy must, either by death or maturity.

Write us to-day, stating your age, whether married or single, and we shall be pleased to forward you particulars of a policy best suited to your needs.

FOR INCREASE IN THE OUTPUT OF ANTHRACITE COAL

Washington, Oct. 13.—Anthracite coal operators and dealers representing most of the country's production and distribution of hard coal will confer with the fuel administration here on Tuesday on the subject of increasing the output to meet this winter's demands.

Although anthracite shipments in the first eight months of the year reached a total of 5,456,000 tons against 5,790,000 for the same period in 1916, experts say that the supply will not meet the demands.
