EDITED BY MANSFIELD F. HOUSE (Continued)

"Old" Bill Books Are Quite Useful.

"Oh, yes, the 'small things' count, especially when you are in business in a small way," said J. C. Whitecarver of Galena Kan., with a twinkle in his eyes. "I remember when I first started a small retail store. I had but few customers—merely friends and acquaintances. Then I got to studying out little 'shams' and innocent subterfuges in order to draw more customers. I really had a good stock of varied merchandise and if I could only get people into my store I was confident that I would soon have the customers."

"The little 'sham' I practiced quite frequently brought me in many customers—patrons of mine until this day. I look several small bill books—old ones when possible, or if new I first crumpled and soiled them until they looked old—and had my name and business address on a printed card in each one. Then I wrote personally on the back of each card: 'In case of loss, return this book and contents to address on other side and receive a good cigar or sack of candy.'"

"When I took a drive out into the country I managed to drop three or four of these books on different roads, usually near some prosperous-looking farmhouse, with the owner of which I was not acquainted. In such cases I usually left some small change—fifteen or twenty cents—in the book."

"Why the money? Because I not only wished to gain a customer, but wanted to know if he was perfectly honest, and a man that is honest in such small things usually proves so in larger ones. It was just my little way of finding out in case the finder did become a customer, if it was good business to sell him on time."

"I kept track of all books and where left, and of just seventy-three books, each with a bit of change in it, left that way. I failed to get back three of them. Of the seventy brought back, not one of the finders but what bought from fifty cents to a dollar's worth of something, and about fifty of them became steady customers. Nearly all of them, except a few who have died or left the neighborhood, are still my customers."

"Another thing I practice has paid me well, too. Of course, I always paid top prices for farm produce for any that could use, but in the case of butter and eggs, if of the best grade, I made it a point, and do you yet to pay at least the regular retail price in cash and a bit more if taken in trade. That is, I pay the farmer or his wife as much for their butter and eggs as the consumer pays me or other retailers. The reason is obvious. The high price of his butter or eggs brings the farmer to me—and he trades with me. Likewise, the consumer of the butter and eggs finds they are the very best, so he trades with me, not only in butter and eggs, but in other goods."

"It pays!"

Russian Crown Jewel for Sale in Texas

Ordinarily there would be little connection between Petrograd and Dallas—so little as between the sister of the czar and the proprietor of a retail jewelry store on the main street of Dallas, Texas.

But the connecting link is a flashing, glittering bit of carbon which reposes in the window of the Samuel Jewelry Store, bearing a card with the inscription: "Russian crown jewel No. 2178."

This diamond is none other than the famous stone which belonged to the Grand Duchess Olga, sister of the murdered czar and one of the most powerful opponents of the spread of bolshevism in her native country.

When the imperial palace was taken and the majority of the royal family murdered, the Grand Duchess Olga escaped disguised as a peasant woman and wearing a pair of heavy men's shoes in the heels of which she had secreted the finest of her collection of magnificent jewels. After more than a month spent in hiding she made her way through the line of the Bolshevik army and finally reached Denmark, where she was aided by the American Red Cross. Her poverty-stricken condition made it necessary for her to dispose of her jewels and the finest of these—a diamond weighing forty-eight carats—was sold and finally made its way into the collection of the Samuel store.

This, however, is not the first time that the jewel has been surrounded with a tragic history. Originally it weighed 128 carats and was valued at $32,000. It had been torn from the head of an Indian idol and reached the Russian court only after being worn by several czarevichs. Through some whim of the Romanoffs the round stone was recut into what is known as the emerald shape, losing eighty carats in the cutting. It is now the largest emerald-cut diamond in the world and, in spite of its history and unique shape, it may be purchased for the comparatively paltry sum of $80,000 some 10,000 miles from its original royal home.

Offers $100 for Libel Information

When some one said to be a competitor, circulated a report in Bethlehem Pa., that M. E. Kriedler & Sons, local shoe men, had been arrested for profiting, the advertisement manager of the firm, turned the "snack" into a "boost" by playing it up for some space in which the canard was refuted and at the same time the attention of the public Clerks' Photos Add to Interest of Ads.

Steiger's Department Store in Fall River, Mass., has conceived a novel method of advertising. Stock, for the time being, is really second to advertising the men who have charge of the various departments. It is a campaign of polite, friendly introduction.

Steiger wants you to know personally the big men on his floors and in charge of its departments. And does the idea please the employees? Who doesn't like to see his picture in the newspapers? It's a human frailty.

The first of a series of full pages topped off with six large half-tone portraits traits from photographs of Messrs. Lipky, Belanger, Cyr, Finn, McHattie and Quigley. Beneath each is the department they represent—washing goods, domestics, kitchen furnishings, groceries, etc.

DETERMINED ROSIE CHASED HER LOVER

Her Sweetheart Got Seared at Approaching Wedding and Fled, but Was Caught.

New York, June 23—David Abrams, twenty-one, a salesman of 237 East Second street, and Rosie Horn, who is eighteen and lives at 323 East Third street, appeared before Magistrate Tobias in the Yorkville Court charged with disorderly conduct. This is the story they told.

For two years they have been sweethearts, rarely missing eating luncheon together and looking forward to the time when they could eat breakfast and dinner together as well. The other day, as usual, they went to luncheon at their favorite place, and then Rosie decided that never would there be a better time for them to get the marriage license, agreed. So, hand in hand, they boarded a car for the City Hall.

At Third avenue the car stopped, and David, who had been sitting pale and quiet while Rosie chatted gaily, leaped suddenly to his feet, jumped from the car and dashed in 14th street.

Just a flick of an eyelash was Rosie's hesitant, then the female of the species got busy, and she flew after her flying sweetheart. In a moment a crowd of several hundred gathered, trailing Rosie, who was swiftly overtaking David.

As that young man neared Second avenue she overtook him, just as in instant before Patrolman English of the East 22nd street station arrived with drawn revolver. He arrested them both and took them to the Yorkville Court, called in as an expert in affairs of the heart, Rosie said.

"We've been keeping company for two years and he's the best boy in this city and I know it. He loves me and I love him, so there's no reason why we shouldn't get married. He's afraid because he's not making much, but I told him I'd get busy and go to work and then we'd have plenty."

MAYOR RECEIVES REPLY

RE MILITARY QUESTION.

In a reply to Mayor Schofield last evening with regard to changing the Sussex train back on standard time, E. B. Bray, general manager of the C. N. R., said that the train would not be changed unless the traveling public was willing. During the time the train was delayed at a conference yesterday afternoon by the board of health to have milk delivered to infants and invalids by the Victorian Order of Nurses. This system was in force last evening.

FOOD SCARCE IN BALTIC RUSSIA

Starvation Feared Unless Supplies Are Sent—Bread Supply in Esthonia Exhausted.

Andrew Jackson of New York, who has just returned from Europe, said that Baltic Russia was threatened with wholesale starvation unless food supplies are sent there at once. Every scrap of food is hoarded like so much gold, and ant of President Jackson and who was decorated recently with the Croix de Guerre for distinguished service at Chateau Thierry, spent six months in the newly formed Russian republics of Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania as relief officer in charge of the distribution of food and supplies sent over to these countries by the American Central committee for Russian relief for the use of thousands of Russian refugees stranded and destitute in this region. In describing living conditions in the Baltic territory, he said:

"They don't sell meat by the pound there, they sell it by the wafer, each wafer being a few inches square and thin in proportion. Every scrap of food is hoarded like so much gold, and particularly in Esthonia, if you don't cook, you don't eat. There are no 'rich' in Esthonia, for there is no economic standard except just one—the 'food standard.'"

"Food is so scarce that it takes two days' pay based on the average Esthonian wage scale to buy one day's supply of meat. The bread supply of Esthonia is exhausted. As a relief measure the government subsidized the bakeries, but now there is no more flour to furnish them and the people are existing on potato flour."

What You Want When You Want it At Less Than You Expected to Pay.

I'm going to start right now—this very morning—before you have invested your money—and sell genuine Semi-ready Tailored Clothes at a general mark-down.

Not going to wait until every man has bought at high prices, but I am going to give every man his one big opportunity.

The man who knows cloth and good clothes wouldn't patronize an ordinary made clothing shop on a bet—not when he was giving clothes away. Quality is as important as price, and he must get the right quality at the right price. When the price is below its worth, then it's a bargain worth while. And price—in these days of the high cost of living—is important even to a rich man, concluded Mr. O'Creary, of the Semi-ready Store.

GROCERY REPORT FROM THREE CITIES OF DOMINION

The following comment on the market situation regards food stuffs appeared in Canadian Grocer last week: The conditions of all markets continue in a firm undertone. Deliveries of sugar are coming forward and regular shipments from now on are expected. The amendment to the budget has been ratified and prices on lines that are affected by the tax will be readjusted. Business on some lines is reported quiet, but generally business is normal for this season of the year.

The general tendency of the market this week is for higher prices with only a few exceptions. Butter is dearer and the cheese market continues strong. Eggs are unchanged in price. Halibut is dearer, while the lake fish has a tendency to be a little easier. Cooled meats are very strong on the market and the demand is steadily increasing. The sugar market is rather strange, since prices quoted are purely nominal and almost any price is being paid for supplies. The vegetable market is much stronger this week with higher prices as a feature. In the miscellaneous lines, condensed and evaporated milk is dearer. Spices are a little easier in price. There is no change in the fruit prices.

Toronto:—The condition of the markets generally are firm to higher. Supplies of granulated sugar have improved, a small shipment has been distributed amongst the wholesalers and further shipments are expected to arrive this week. The market for molasses is very strong, with a scarcity noted on Barbados even at the extremely high prices that are quoted. The situation in cereals is peculiar; manufacturers state that it is impossible to manufacture cereals at the prices quoted. The fact that business on this line is quiet and jobs are well stocked is a factor that is keeping down prices. Rolled oats in one quarter has advanced to $6.45 per bag, but there are some jobs quoted rolled oats at a dollar a bag below this figure. Corn flakes in the U. S. have advanced one dollar a case. This is an indication that higher prices can be expected here due to the fact that American corn is used in the manufacture of corn flakes. There is no change in the market for spices; prices are fairly steady with the exception of peppers. Peppers are unsettled with an easier undertone. Japan teas are very high in price and a scarcity noted. High-grade Ceylons and Indias are difficult to obtain, while low grades are cheaper. The market for tea showing any quality firm. Canned goods are in active demand and prices are holding firm. The market for nuts in the shell has recovered from the slump of a couple of weeks ago; quotations are now slightly in advance of those previous to the decline. There is an indication that Southern rice may be higher, especially on the better grades. The samples of southern rice being submitted to importers are of poor quality, mostly showing yellow spots caused by rain. Eastern ways tried to do what I could for my country, and have never consciously said a word to offend anybody, no matter what was his religion or politics. If I come to a sudden end, there will be no justification for those responsible.”

No indication of the source of the warning was given by the aged cardinal.

WINNIPEG.—The local market has been very quiet this week, due largely to the heavy pressure being brought to bear by the financial houses.

The budget during the week has been thoroughly discussed by both the wholesalers and retailers, and while these firms are greatly in favor of the proposed tax, in order to help pay off the deficit owed by Canada, there is a feeling that many adjustments will have to be made to make it all feasible. From the latest reports, sugar is due for an advance. The tea market is in a very erratic state. Good quality teas are firm, while the lower and medium grades have shown a decided decrease. Canned goods from the South showed an advance of 30 cents a case this week. The prune market is very quiet, due largely to the high prices which these goods are being offered to the trade. The primary rice market is lower. Flour is expected to advance. New fruits and vegetables are arriving daily. Strawberries are reported scarce.

A DANGEROUS WARNING — BLEEDING GUMS

Are your gums tender? Do they bleed when brushed? If so—watch out for Pyorrhoea.

This disease of the gums, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, not only destroys the teeth, but often wrecks the health.

In Pyorrhoea, the gums become spongy, then recede; the teeth decay, loosen, and fall out—or must be extracted to rid the system of the infecting Pyorrhoea germs which breed in the pockets about them. These germs lower the body's vitality and cause many diseases.

You can keep Pyorrhoea away. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums prevents Pyorrhoea—or checks its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean.

Start using it today. If your gums have receded, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

JAPAN AGREES TO RECOGNIZE THIS REPUBLIC

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
London, June 23.—A wireless despatch received from Moscow, says Japan has agreed to recognize the Far East Russian republic on condition that it shall have complete political and economic independence of the Russian Soviet government and that it guarantees to be a democratic form of government.

The despatch adds that the foreign minister of the republic has declared that these conditions are acceptable.

British Business Men in Montreal

Montreal, June 24.—A party representing 5,000 drapers of England, who are studying trade conditions in Canada and the United States, were received at the railway station here last night by Mayor Martin on behalf of the city. Fred Longley, who spoke for the party, said that they had found business conditions very good both in Canada and the United States and that he looked for a continuance of high prices in England, whatever might happen here.

The party is visiting this continent in a semi-official capacity, representing the Drapers' Board of Trade, an organization which is often called into consultation on commercial matters by the British government.

They have completed a trip through the United States as far as San Francisco and Los Angeles and through western Canada.

INDICTED FOR PROFITEERING IN CLOTHING

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
New York, June 23.—Gimbel Brothers, of New York, operators of a large department store here, and controlled by interests which own similar establishments in other cities in the United States, today were indicted on 207 counts for profiting in clothing.

Frederick Gimbel, vice-president of the corporation, Joseph J. Dowdell, a merchandise manager, and Charles D. S. Lawlor, clothing buyer, were indicted on the same charges.

THE WEST AND THE C. N. R.

A significant movement in relation to the Canadian National Railways is afoot in the west. It was urged at the recent convention of western boards of trade that the west should be represented on the C. N. R. directors, and that there should be a vice-president with headquarters in the west. Canadian Finance of Winnipeg says:

"It is understood that the Canadian National Railways will be managed by a board of eleven directors. A movement has been set on foot in western Canada to have at least five of these directors chosen from the west. There are very strong grounds for such a movement, and the Ottawa authorities can hardly refuse the request if they are anxious to further the best interests of the railroad. In the first instance practically one-half of the mileage which will be contained in the C. N. R. system is operated in the west and with the rapid development which is foreshadowed in the prairie provinces during the next few years, it is only a question of time as to when western Canada will have a greater mileage of national railroads than eastern Canada. The success of the C. N. R. depends upon its getting a full share of the business which the west will have to offer. To secure that business the directors must know how to get it."

Canadian Finance declares that the time is ripe for an aggressive campaign by the C. N. R. for western business, and that the ten thousand miles in the west "should be operated under the direct supervision of an executive of high standing with headquarters in western Canada." It calls upon the western people to press their demands, and dwells upon the fact that the west must have adequate transportation and is very much interested in the success and growth of the C. N. R. In conclusion, after referring to the success of the C. P. R. and its keynote of "service," the Winnipeg Journal says:

"The Canadian National Railway is handicapped by lack of equipment, among other things, and in consequence the successful operation of the road is affected. In the old days, when a part of it was the Canadian Northern it fought an uphill fight. The administration of the road is a real task and the government, which has the important railroad presents many problems which have not yet been successfully solved. In solving these problems it is imperative that men should be in charge who are conversant with the conditions, development, educational and present possibilities of the territories through which the road operates. Western Canada has nearly one-half of the Canadian National mileage within its confines, and there should be a full complement of western Canadians on the Canadian National directors. The people of the west should concentrate their efforts on this, and insist on their views being considered."

No one in the east will criticize the west for looking after its own interests in this matter. Its example should rather stimulate the extreme eastern provinces in their efforts to get a railway and port service adequate to their needs and the needs of the very western business whose growth Canadian Finance anticipates. The greater the volume of western trade the greater should be the pressure upon the ports of St. John and Halifax, especially in the winter season; and whatever is obviously necessary to the protection and welfare of the port should be provided. Already that traffic in winter has outgrown the facilities at St. John. The voice of the east must not be silent, therefore, whenever matters affecting the general policy and control of the C. N. R. are under discussion.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM.

The Montreal Catholic School Commission reports that about twenty-five thousand children, or about 24 per cent of all those between the ages of five and eighteen, did not attend any school within the year, and that after the age of thirteen the attendance drops very heavily. The Protestant School Commission of the city is also taking a census.

It is clear that steps must be taken to change the conditions revealed in the report already submitted. It is not material that children should attend school at the age of five years, and many cannot be expected to remain until eighteen, although it would be a wise move to adopt the English system and compel attendance at continuation schools until that age.

The condition revealed in Montreal is not, however, peculiar to that city. We know that in St. John, though attendance is compulsory, a very large proportion of the children leave school in the early grades, and there are no continuation classes. The Bangor Commercial, discussing this subject, says:

"According to an account of the administration of the Federal Child Labor Law soon to be published by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, in five states only 783 children out of 14,096, to whom certificates were issued, or less than 4 per cent, had attended or completed the eighth grade, though completion of the eighth grade is generally regarded as necessary to secure even the rudiments of an education."

Only one of these five states has a compulsory attendance law for children up to sixteen, and in that one there are many exceptions. "In a recent study of school attendance in Cleveland, it was found that 2,550 children were so irresponsible in their attendance at school as to interfere with their studies, and that the reasons for staying out of school were not trivial." It is added that in sixteen to go to work even if they cannot read and write, while two only require that the child shall have gone to school for a brief period in the preceding year. There are no continuation schools in any of these five states, and in only eighteen states in the union is such provision made. The publicity which is being given to such conditions must have a good effect, since emphasis is being placed as never before upon the necessity for education of all children. So long as ignorance prevails there will be a fruitful field for agitators, and a considerable portion of the population far from being one hundred per cent efficient.

An American exchange says:—"Emma Goldman, deported from this country to Russia, has become enlightened. She is now only disappointed in the beauties of government in soviet Russia that she so highly extolled when in the United States. She says that communism as practiced there has not taken away from her the liberty as the proletariat possessed under established bureaucratic rule. And so Emma sits at a desk decorated with the American flag and longs for the liberties that she had in this country and which she despised. The experience of Miss Goldman, as now depicted by her, is likely to have its influence on her former followers and associates in the United States and may tend to make them a bit more appreciative of the tenets of this government."

A Vancouver letter says:—"In order to make tax payments as easy as possible for the property owner the Vancouver city council recently passed a by-law which authorizes the receipt by the city treasurer of instalments on taxes, either current or arrears, of amounts not less than $5 at any one time. All instalments thus paid are to bear interest at 4 per cent until such time as they total one-third of the year's taxes when they will be applied. Any instalments so paid can be used to settle arrears of taxes and save property from a tax sale, if the instalments are sufficiently large. If the property goes to tax sale, it shall be sold for the balance only."

The delegates to the National Council of Women will take back to their local councils a list of important measures to be advocated in their several localities throughout Canada. Each year the National Council is able to take note of something gained, and since woman now has the franchise the attention given to what Mrs. Ralph Smith calls human legislation will be more marked than in the past. The women of Canada have been given a great weapon for the defence of the rights of womanhood and childhood, and they may be trusted to use it wisely and well.

The Trades and Labor Council of St. John, whose action deprived this city of a juvenile court, will be interested to learn that the Montreal labor unions last night strongly urged "juvenile courts presided over by judges sympathetic to children." A properly constituted juvenile court with probation officers is an agency for the protection and welfare of children. Mrs. Ralph Smith told the National Council of Women of three western cities in which women preside over the juvenile courts.

Conditions in Ireland are such that a state of war practically exists in more than one city. If the government in Ireland a conciliatory attitude would change the situation it must now revise its opinion, and either enforce order or abandon the field to the Sinn Fein. The latter, of course, it will not do, and there is every prospect of continued turbulence for months to come. The bitterness now engendered will not soon be overcome.

If the Kings county milk dealers are striving to bring to justice the persons who held up a milk-wagon at Nauyaswank, those who interfered with a milk dealer at Norton, and those who tampered with milk sent to the city, they are observing the strictest secrecy in their movements.

Negotiations being off, it is now up to the citizens of St. John to find a new source of milk supply. In the meantime the available supply should be placed where most needed.

How much of the milk that has been sold in St. John was one to two days old before it was delivered to the consumer? This is a fair question.

MONCTON INSURANCE MAN HAS A LEG BROKEN.
Moncton, June 24.—A. M. McCallan, an insurance man, had his right leg broken yesterday afternoon in jumping off a gasoline "speedy" on the Salisbury & Albert Railway near Hillsboro.

The Sugar Shortage.
Halifax Chronicle: The recurring cry about sugar shortage does not "jibe" with the American reports that the stock held in the United States is nearly 300,000,000 pounds greater than it was in 1919, the receipts at the three great sugar ports, Boston, New York and Philadelphia, is larger, and the quantity almost bound to those ports is also greater.

SOLVENCY.
Take this advice: Don't go in debt! Your solvency's your one best bet. Far better drive a heavy car, that breaks a sput at every jar, than back on you would have it pull, and know ten years, paid just when full, than a journey in a fine sedan that's bought on the installment plan. Far better wear a suit of duck on which you've paid the final buck, than go around in brave array while tailors clamor for their pay. For better be a cabin dweller, in some remote, secluded dell, than occupy a gilded hall where balliffs with their warrants call. There's naught contributes, you will find, more strongly to your peace of mind, than being in a place where all kinds of bills I used to owe, and lawyers chased me through town, of walking floors and leaving hair. But now I pay for bed and board, and buy no junk I can't afford, and life is like a pleasant dream, or like a shortcake soaked in cream.

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

THE REV. DR. FORRESTER.
The Rev. Dr. Forrester who left a very decided mark upon the early life of the last century of the maritime provinces, was born in Scotland in 1805. In Edinburgh he received his education and when thirty years of age was granted his license to preach. For eight years he was the minister at Wighton-shire—until he withdrew from the Established Church to become minister later of the Free Middle Church, Halifax during the visit. He laid the foundation, during this period, of the Free Church College which was opened late in 1848 and in which he lectured on natural science. Chalmers' church was then contemplated and when it was completed in 1888 he preached the initial sermon and became pastor.

This position he maintained until he was appointed superintendent of the education for Nova Scotia and principal of the Provincial Normal College. He was a wide traveler in the American States, Cape Breton, Bermuda, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. During his period in charge of the Nova Scotia schools he tried hard to improve the status of the educational institutions. He was in the United States in 1884 and five years afterwards he went to New York for medical treatment but death came to him in the American States. His memorial stone in Truro is an indication of the place he had in the hearts of the teachers of the province. He had not enjoyed unusually long life but he had been a strenuous worker and had done much to improve the art of teaching in the schools of Nova Scotia and to place educational matters in a better position than they had ever been in before.

A FURROWED FACE.

(By Joseph Anlander.)
Paint me the glory of a furrowed face
Where death's dim fingers have traced
The kind of virtue that Lord Morley
Once described as "an intractable and untractable" is not very highly rated among moralists, but in the less exacting field of economics it is a minor virtue. The new president of the National Chamber of Trade has been extolling it in his progress towards democratic body that one or two articles of food—with tinned fruit as the most distinguished example—has recently dropped in price simply because people have got tired of paying prices that are obviously beyond their means, and that like causes are about to produce the same excellent result in the case of other goods. The grain and the wool are the same. The camel's hair is plainly on the point of collapsing, and in genuine but self-interested panic, its proprietors are preparing to relieve the animal of a good deal more than the last straw. The news is at any rate, a hopeful reading of the immediate future, and as the problem of high prices is a complexity of causes proceeding from several directions, the necessity of "doing without" may quite conceivably prove to be a triumphant virtue in a minor way. The producer who produces more is the royal road to lower prices, but the consumer who ceases to consume is not without his effect. It is not a pleasant path for the consumer, but it has its own charm of embracing a stone and the sinking ship with at least the consolation of leaving the sea behind.

DOING WITHOUT.
(Manchester Guardian.)

Barnum Knew People.
A friend who used to be in the show business with P. T. Barnum told how he waited to get in at the time, when the crowd inside showed not the slightest inclination to move. Finally Barnum pointed to the exit of the tent. The sign read, "This way to the Egress." The crowd rushed for the opening and found themselves outside.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LOYD GEORGE'S "ELECTION SONG."
(Land and Liberty, London.)
On March 27, Lloyd George spoke at the National Liberal Club in continuation of his controversy with Mr. Asquith and the Independent Liberals. He had only just risen to speak when a coronet player immediately outside the club windows, playing the coronet, played through the door. Mr. Lloyd George was not at all disconcerted. He stood silently and smiling while the coronet player played through the door. When the interlude was over Mr. Lloyd George said very quietly: "A very fine old battle song of freedom and incidentally it was my election song."

SERVANT PROBLEM EXISTED IN 3000 B. C.
Philadelphia, June 24.—The oldest known written code of laws in the world, probably antedating that of Hammurabi by at least a thousand years, has been discovered in part among the hitherto untraced clay tablets from Nippur in the University of Pennsylvania Museum. The Hammurabi code was prepared about 2100 B. C. and was discovered about twenty years ago on a large diorite stone, some paragraphs being missing, by French explorers.

the harboring of slaves, rentals, the rights of slave women who have borne children to their masters, punishment for adultery, etc.

One statute provides that rentals must run for three years in case a man has taken over a house the owner does not know how to manage. This is somewhat obscure, and may mean that all rentals were for that term. In any event, property could not be idle or be improperly used if some one was willing to use it for public or private benefit.

In case a slave bore children to her master, she and the offspring were free, and if the master married the slave the children became legitimate. In general, the laws show a high state of civilization in 3000 B. C. and indicate millenniums of previous experience in settled communities. They deal with personal and property rights on a basis somewhat like that of the Deuteronomic code. It is possible that the tablets were textbooks used at the great University of Nippur.

The discoveries are considered of the highest importance, and search will be made for additional tablets containing other laws.

TEXTILE MILLS
LIKELY TO NET

Buyers Will Win in Spite of Great Scarcity — Prices for Spring, 1921, Will Be Index.

(Cor. Financial Post.)
Montreal.—With controversy raging along the line in regard to commodity prices, one of the most interesting tests of the time will be the prices for next spring, when they are declared by the cotton textile mills. Generally speaking, the textile mills give the jobbers some idea of the prices for the following spring in the month of July, but this year it is probable that the late development of the raw cotton crop, in addition to other uncertain quantities in the price situation, will postpone the opening of prices till about September.
At that time, however, the Financial Post understands, most of the mills are expecting to announce prices that will at least show no advance on the prices that are current for the fall of 1920.

This in itself will be a victory for a movement towards lower prices. Theoretically speaking, prices for next spring in textile lines should be higher than they are at present because the price of raw cotton is higher now than a year ago and the cost of labor is very much higher. This is due, not only to the increased wages that are being paid, but to the shorter hours. If the cotton textile mills are looking to announce prices that show no increase it will mean that a very definite step is being taken toward a lower level.
If such a step is taken it will have much more significance than in a number of other lines. For, as is well known, there is a great scarcity in cotton goods all over the world. Stocks are low with retailer, with jobber and with manufacturer. A buyer for a large wholesale house stated this week that one textile mill now owed him goods for the past three years. Another very significant fact is, as the same buyer stated, that he could not secure any goods for this fall from two of the largest textile mills in Canada. They were over-ordered to such an extent on goods for the spring and summer of 1920 that all he could possibly get were a few lines, but a general buying order will not be accepted. This he looks to mean that the textile mills have determined to clear up their arrears in delivery of goods so as to be back again for a fresh start in accepting orders and making delivery for the spring of 1921.
As far as the mills are concerned they are assured of business not only for this year but for a number of years to come, and it seems safe to declare that they established themselves more firmly with the Canadian trade during the war than they had ever hoped to do before the war, and that this will be a permanent

TENDERS FOR COUNTY BONDS ARE REJECTED

At a meeting of the finance committee of the municipal council, held in the county rooms, Prince William street, yesterday, with Mayor Schofield in the chair, it was decided to refuse the few tenders made for the $100,000 bond issue to be placed by the county in payment for the Nurses' Home in White street, and Mayor Schofield, Warden T. H. Bullock and J. King Kelley, K.C., the county secretary, were appointed a committee to place the bonds on the market.
A committee was also appointed to visit the East St. John County Hospital on Friday next, and investigate the need for improvements and additions to the building.
Among those present at the meeting were Mayor Schofield, Commissioners
Prink, Thornton and Jones, Councillors
George A. Anderson of Musquash, William Golding and J. T. O'Brien of Lancaster and J. M. Donovan of Simonds.

Why
Gladstone Valued his Razor

THE Grand Old Man of English politics might well have had in mind the present aspirations of small peoples under the League of Nations when he said: "I ask that we practise what we have so often preached, namely, that the concession of a local self government is not the way to sap or impair but it is the way to strengthen and consolidate a unity."

And the razor which Gladstone used was as sound in principle as his own views on the Rights of Man—dependable, keen and perfectly balanced, lacking only the safety and extra convenience of the guarded, two-edged

RECENT DEATHS

Many in the city will regret to hear of the death of J. Jocelyn, who was for some time United States immigration official in St. John and later was employed with the Corona Candy Company here. Mr. Jocelyn was compelled, through ill-health to give up his work and with his family went to live in West Charleston (Vt.), where Mrs. Jocelyn was appointed to her former position as principal of the high school. Word of Mr. Jocelyn's death, which occurred in West Charleston, June 16, was received in the city yesterday by Mrs. Edmund Flewelling. Besides his wife he is survived by a daughter, Eleanor, who was an active member of the young ladies' society of the Victoria Street Baptist church while in St. John and one younger son and daughter.

C. Rankine, St. John, Mrs. William Burnett, Montreal, Mrs. Harri and Mrs. William Taylor, both of Halifax.

LABOR PARTY WANTS SOVIET RECOGNIZED

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Scarborough, England, June 23—The twentieth annual conference of the Labour party this evening adopted a resolution demanding recognition of the Soviet government of Russia. An amendment proposed by Ernest Bevin, of the Dock Workers' Union, favored the creation of a permanent labor commission for an investigation of conditions on the continent. The resolution and the amendment were adopted after the conference had been addressed by Lieutenant Colonel L'Estrange Malone, member of parliament for Leyton.

Earlier in the day the conference broke up in disorder when the resolution had been submitted by the executive committee demanding recognition of the Soviet government in Russia.

FOX CAPTURED

A red fox, evidently a pet, for it wore a collar, was seen in Elliott row this forenoon and went down Westworth street. The little animal wandered about the streets for a short time and finally found its way to 19 Elliott row, where it decided to make its home. S. M. Wetmore of the S. P. C. and the police were notified and endeavored to capture it, but the old saying "cute as a fox" proved true and they were unable to reach it. However, a short time later it was reported to the police that the stranger had killed two hens belonging to a neighbor, and another effort was made to take it captive, which proved successful and the fox is now locked up in a shed near police headquarters awaiting its owner. While going home from work about four o'clock this morning two newspaper men noticed the animal in Charlotte street. It ran down the street and into Queen Square.

SPEEDY INDIAN

IS TO RUN HERE

Jimmy Muise Entered for the Mile and Marathon Races.

Jimmy Muise, sensational Indian runner from Truro, who won the three-mile race in Halifax this week, defeating Martin, Rodgers, Leslie and Lapierre, has entered for the mile race and the Marathon at St. John on next Saturday. Halifax Echo says of his Halifax performance:

"After he had once broken clear of the gathering of starters which occurred at a point near the completion of the opening lap, the redman was never headed nor pushed for pace."

"The first mile was finished in 4:56 2-5, the second in 10:24 4-5 and the full distance in 15:32, which is only eleven seconds slower than the track record set by Homer of 15:11."

"Those who watched the performance of the Truro entry are satisfied that it would have been a comparatively easy task for him to have clipped the mark of the famous Hans had he had anyone to make the going hot. As it was he finished with a splendid burst of speed, beginning at the last lap near the Wanderers clubhouse and continuing to the tape."

"We do not know much about this Indian boy who traveled three miles within eleven seconds of Hans Homer's time (and, remember, Homer made his mark when the track was a lot faster than it could be made now with ideal weather and considerable preparation) which still stands as a track record; but we will warrant that he did not develop his stride or his muscles by playing a maoonette to jazz orchestras."

EXTENSION OF THE PIPE LINE

Report Submitted by Commissioner Jones

Says New Conduit is Only Hope if There is to be Adequate Supply—Cost is Estimated at $837,400.

At this morning's committee meeting of the common council, Commissioner Jones presented a report regarding an extension of the twenty-four inch main with a thirty-six re-inforced concrete pipe from Manchester's corner on the Manawagonish road to the source of supply at Spruce Lake, a distance of about four miles. He emphasized the absolute need of the new main and said that the present supply was inadequate to meet the demands on the west side, especially people residing on the higher levels of Lancaster Heights. He said that many homes were entirely without a water supply for days and weeks at a time. This, he said, was due to the heavy draft of the pulp mill and the only hope for relief was a new pipe line.

For the last two years, he said, the pulp mill has been using an average of about 1,500,000 gallons, which quantity enables the company to operate only about 75 per cent capacity and therefore, in order that its output may be increased to the fullest extent the city has been asked to increase the supply to about double the quantity the mill now uses.

If it be the disposition of the common council to give an efficient water supply for the west side, in order to provide for future development of its industries and to furnish water for the winter port steamers as a sufficient service for the residents at Lancaster it will be absolutely necessary for the city, he says, to lay a new main in Spruce Lake at a cost estimated at $837,400. This means that the money will have to be obtained by bond issue for which interest, sinking fund and principal must be provided.

The council in 1917 decided to lay a twenty-four inch cast iron main from Barnhill's Corner to the South Bay road, a distance of about 5,000 feet. It will be from this point, if the council decides to go on with the work this year, the pipe line will be extended. With this main completed it is believed the supply can be increased to 12,000,000 gallons daily or about three times the present amount.

The commissioner then told of the revenue received from the pulp mill, which averaged $82,000 a year. The company, he said, desired to increase its consumption and has presented a proposal as follows:

It will pay a fixed sum of $2,500 a year for the first 1,000,000 gallons a day and one-half cent per 1,000 gallons for any quantity in excess of this. It wishes to have the privilege of using up to 4,000,000 gallons a day. This would mean a revenue from the pulp mill of $7,000 a year as compared with $220 it now pays. It would also have available for the purposes of the West Side 8,000,000 gallons or four times the amount the citizens now have when the pulp mill is running.

The commissioner then read a report, which was submitted by Engineer F. A. McInnes, who was in the service of the water and sewerage department in 1917 regarding the need of a new main.

Commissioner Jones and Engineer McInnes answered questions regarding the cost, the pressure, the need of a stand pipe to increase pressure, etc.

Commissioner Jones was asked to submit an abbreviated report, quoting figures regarding the proposed expenditure, etc., and submit it to the other commissioners so that they can give the matter careful consideration. The question of financing the large expenditure was discussed.

This action was taken in view of the fact, Mayor Schofield said, that the citizens are without milk and that local deliveries are being forced out of business.

Wife's Place Home, Says First Woman Magistrate

Judge Jean Norris Holds That Married Women With Salaried Jobs Are Prone to Neglect Home-Making, "The Country's Safeguard."

(Marion O'Connor in New York Evening Post.)

"You can't put anything over on a lady judge."

That is the conclusion, stated half in defiance, half in admiration and wholly in humorous appreciation of their own predicament by girl offenders who used to "pull a little sob stuff" for effect when all the magistrates were men. Today womanly insight and feminine intuition, their own time-honored weapons which they had learned to handle so dexterously, confronted them in court in the person of Judge Jean Norris.

When Mrs. Norris was appointed last October to fill a temporary vacancy caused by the illness of Judge Andrew P. Brennan and assigned to the Women's Court, Mayor Hylan justified the departure from precedent by saying that a woman judge would understand better than a man the psychology of women delinquents. Not a very original remark, but ever since then the women arraigned before Judge Norris have been finding that was well grounded.

The innovation was a trifle disconcerting at first for the seasoned offenders. Fancy finding one's appealing baby starkly abused! Yet the women appreciate a Judge they can't bluff, and Judge Norris is the first to deny that she knows the difference between the baby stare of genuine innocence and the other kind. Moreover, the new procedure saves time, though it may not be so satisfying to the morbid searchers after "real life" who used to crowd the "Person Market Court" in the days when it was the night court.

Judge Norris admits that at the outset of her career as a city magistrate she was a little afraid that the women whose cases she had to decide would resent her powers of discernment, but on a recent visit to Kingston Avenue Hospital in Brooklyn, an institution to which she is called occasionally for treatment, the very girls she had sent there crowded around her, to thank her for the wisdom of her decision.

Change of Work Her Recession.

The trip to the Brooklyn hospital was in the course of one of Judge Norris' rare "vacations" which she spent in visiting institutions for women. The rest of the time she divides between the Women's Court and the Court of Domestic Relations on East Fifty-seventh street, sitting Sundays and holidays. Her duties as president of the National Association of Women Lawyers and of the New York State Federation of Business and Professional Women fill in any odd moments.

This sounds like the proper combination to produce the third feminist, but Judge Norris is quite the opposite. She radiates energy and holds no brief for feminine independence when it comes to marriage. It was not until after her husband's death, when she was twenty-eight, that she began the study of law. "I believe that keeping the home intact is this country's safeguard," she says, "and that is our guiding principle in the Domestic Relations Court. For a woman to be earning a salary makes it too easy for her to break home ties, and unless it is a financial necessity, an aversion to a married woman having a job, brought up before me. I asked them why the man was so unfaithful. With much elaborate gesticulation the husband said his wife was too fond of the movies. I agreed with him that a movie once in a while was all right, but that Mary Pickford shouldn't occupy his wife's attention to the exclusion of her getting his supper. She couldn't see it that way. The fact that she could afford constant movie going on her own pay released her, in my opinion, from attending to her husband's wants."

All the same, Judge Norris is a thoroughly practical woman. She is a lawyer, she thinks women lawyers should practice for themselves instead of subserviently attending to the needs of men lawyers. Her own career is very much in point.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

HAVE YOU HEARD SUSAN TOMPKINS?

Former Soloist with Sousa's Band is Now Playing at the Opera House—Four Other Good Acts Round Out a Banner Programme—New Bill for Friday.

Tonight will be the last chance for music lovers to hear Susan Tompkins, classically trained in the Opera House. She has been making a big hit here for some time. Her act has, without doubt, been one of the features of the mid-week programme. In addition "The Dixie Four," a blackface comedy quartette, have been very popular attraction and their singing and dancing have been greatly enjoyed.

When Mrs. Tompkins was in the city, she was a soloist with Sousa's band and used to live in fields. And so, to end for one's own satisfaction this concert, she has arranged to give a series of recitals in this city. The first of these was the five-pound scale visiting dietitian from the new Mohr Street Community House, the last of which she carried, along with the little swinging hammock, seat in which she sat when she weighed.

There is a hook on one doorway for every tenement, for hanging up the scale of living.

West, and was attended by a large number of women. The meeting was very successful and resulted in the election of Mrs. Cole to the position of vice-president. The meeting also resulted in the adoption of a resolution recommending that the next meeting of the council be held in Calgary, Alberta, next year.

Mad Housing.

Mrs. L. A. Hamilton said that bad housing was at the root of much social evil. She said that planning should be done to decide what kind of housing should be built for a ground work health and beauty. She referred to the garden cities of Britain, the model that, in her opinion, should be followed in this country. She said that the government should be urged to inform themselves regarding the housing problem and to take steps to improve it.

The ladies went to the Manor House in automobiles and street cars provided by the New Brunswick Power Company. Mrs. J. H. Duddy was convener of the committee in charge of the arrangements. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and the colors of the national council. Each of the members received a souvenir box of candy with the compliments of the Corona Co. and an inscribed whisk from the Simms brush factory. A beautiful movement card from the hospitality committee was also given to each of the visitors. It contained several selections of poetry by Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond, the convener of the committee. The place cards bore the emblem of the national council and were completed this afternoon.

Still Fight To Keep Alive

Mulberry Bend Finds Higher Wages for Accustomed Toil Still Go For Food, Shelter and Clothing—No $1,000 Pianos.

(New York Evening Post.)

They say you can tell more about a person by the way he takes his leisure than by the way he spends his money than by how he earns it. So what about these new rich East Siders, these piece-workers, say, of Mulberry Bend and its continuations, and of the northernmost narrow canyon where they have come? What are these Italians buying and wearing and putting into their homes which will make their mis-colored environment seem gay and more exotic than it always has, and which will make their dark and melancholy eyes light up with lack of care for one? Are they using their newly acquired riches, since wages look a little better, to spread Italy more thickly over the narrow canyon, where they have come to live and which weave in and out like bright-colored threads among the gray of ordinary street scenes?

Now you can't go breaking into people's homes, no matter if they are the plump ones peaking but-tocks, any more, to see what they are doing with their money. You can't go breaking into people's homes, no matter if they are the plump ones peaking but-tocks, any more, to see what they are doing with their money. INDICTMENTS AND ROUND-UP IN OIL CASES

New York, June 24.—Four oil companies, ten brokerage houses and about fifty individuals have been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of using mail to defraud investors out of millions of dollars, it was learned today.

Federal agents in cities throughout the United States are now engaged in rounding up the men indicted.

SCHOOL MATTERS IN DOMINION

(Canadian Press.)

Winnipeg, June 24.—A plea for closer harmony among school trustees and teachers in French schools, and a strong recommendation that higher salaries be paid to teachers, were the main points of a report made by the French Canadian Educational Association convention held here today.

The association held only one aim and that was education. He hoped that with the close co-operation of trustees and teachers, which are teaching in French in the schools and the teaching of religion, Quebec, June 24.—Colonel W. J. Bay, former chairman of the Quebec Protestant school board yesterday deplored the fact that French was not taught in the English public schools here as it should be. He pointed out the advantages of French for young men and women possessing both languages and held that if French was as high as English in the English schools the exodus of English speaking Quebecers to other provinces would come to an end.

RAILROAD WAGES

Advanced in United States of More Than 80 Per Cent Since 1915.

New York, June 23.—The percentage wage increases granted the sixty or more classifications of employees of all Class I railroads during the last four years averaged about 80 per cent. The actual increase in gross amount expended for wages by the railroads during this period, however, was considerably larger. This is due to the employment of more men—1,891,000 in 1919 against 1,728,000 in 1917 and the reduction of the average working day.

The average yearly wage of all classes of employees was $850 in 1915, $1,060 in 1917, and $1,438 in 1919. This latter figure, however, does not take into account several important advances granted by the railroad administration since July, 1919, which would undoubtedly increase it by at least 845, making it $1,918. Increase over the 1915 average is thus at least 78 per cent. Lack of an accurate estimate of the advance granted in December to maintenance of way men has prevented its inclusion in the estimated total advance since July, but it is safe to assume that it would be sufficient to raise the increase in the last four years to at least 80 per cent.

FREDERICTON MAN RETURNS FROM IRELAND

Bright Outlook for Canadian Lumber in British Market, Says R. W. McLellan—The Troubled Situation.

(Fredericton Gleaner.)

"There will be no solution of the Irish situation until the British Government takes a firmer hold there," declared R. W. McLellan, who yesterday afternoon returned after an extended trip to Ireland in connection with the business of the Cherry Moore estate, which holds the controlling interest in the extensive Brookfield linen mills at Belfast.

Mr. McLellan said that he preferred not to discuss the Irish political question but said the present outlook in London was not surprising as that city was the centre of three counties of the Province of Ulster which are just as strong Sinn Féin as the South of Ireland. He added that in considering Irish affairs it should be borne in mind that there were two factions of the Sinn Féin, the moderates and the others, and said it was generally recognized that the lawless element were being financed from America.

"One thing that struck me most forcibly was the complete change in business and industrial conditions in Great Britain as compared with a year ago," said Mr. McLellan. "The turmoil which marked the whole situation a year ago during the demobilization period and the dust and unrest have disappeared and it can be truthfully said that England is already back upon a substantial business basis once more. This is even more true of Ireland, which had been almost untouched by the war, except so far as voluntary enlistment went."

Mr. McLellan expressed the opinion that the outlook for Canadian lumber in the British market was exceptionally bright for profitable business with a comparatively short time. "The lumber business with Great Britain," he said, "is naturally dependent upon two factors, tonnage and freight. Tonnage is rapidly becoming available in vastly larger quantities while freight has already advanced to a point where it is rapidly adjusting itself to something like normal conditions. These factors should therefore be very favorable to lumber shipping from Canada and Great Britain wants the lumber supplies as much as we do."

Speaking of the movement which has been going on for the reopening of trade relations between Britain and Russia, Mr. McLellan said the outcome of the negotiations was being watched with much interest by the lumber trade. "Seventy-five per cent of the world's supply of raw furs came from Russia."

While in London he met a number of New Brunswickers, including Lord Beaverbrook, whose health has greatly improved, and Charles E. Hill, general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, who on an important European mission and who Mr. McLellan said, recognized in London as one of the Empire's brightest financial minds.

PRIZES AWARDED AT ART CLUB

Judging of exhibits and the presentation of prizes marked the year's exhibition at the St. John Art Club yesterday afternoon. W. F. Hatheway, in presenting the prizes, spoke of the excellent work done and the gratifying progress made by the club. He also mentioned the art club and the art students on the good work.

In the advanced class Miss Helen Ryan won two first prizes and Miss Julia Crawford one. A piece of carving by John Hager and clay modelling by Mr. Howe won prizes. In the junior class first prizes were won by Gretchen Skinner, Gladys May, second, Lillian Clark, third, Alicia Lillian Patterson. The prizes of Misses Doris Macdonald, Gretchen Skinner, each second, P. N. Woodley was judge of this. W. F. Hatheway and D. C. Clinch presented the prizes, and M. V. Fiddock also gave an address.

Tea was served by the ladies' committee under the co-operation of Miss C. O. McGivern. Presiding at the table were: Mrs. W. F. Hatheway, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Miss Lillian Hazen and Miss McGivern. Others on the refreshment committee were: Mrs. J. W. V. Lawrence and Mrs. J. Dev. Chapman. Members of the art classes acted as waitresses.

PAULINE FREDERICK IS AT THE STAR

"Bonds of Love," featuring Pauline Frederick, is the mid-week attraction at the Star Theatre, and like all other Frederick features calls for extreme emotional acting, which Pauline Frederick alone can deliver. The story of this production is highly dramatic and deals with the same old problem—the eternal triangle, but is told in such a way as to make it appear entirely new.

For lovers of social dramas, "Bonds of Love" will be looked upon as a rare treat. Final showings tonight at 7 and 8.30.

MYSTERY IN THE DEATH OF RICH COLLEGE MAN

Dead in Bath Tub, Bullet Through Brain

Out All Previous Night and Returned Bearing Evidence of Fight — Two Hairpins Found in Touring Car.

Harrison, N. Y., June 23—Road houses between here and New York were visited by detectives seeking to untangle the mystery of the death of Henry Humphrey Parsons, graduate of Yale and Harvard Law, whose body was found in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Jefferson Hogan, at Purchase.

The body was lying in a bath tub cut on the body and a soiled, grass-stained suit, found in Parsons' room, pointed to a struggle or accident some hours before his death.

Mr. Parsons, who was thirty, and who had a distinguished record, had no motive for self-destruction that any of his friends or kindred are able to explain.

He had plenty of money. His grandfather, the late Charles Parsons, a distinguished railroad organizer and financier, left $8,000,000, of which Henry received a liberal share, his own parents having died in his early childhood.

Parsons had been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Hogan, at her fine residence in Purchase. On last Wednesday afternoon he drove away in his touring car, saying he was going to New York and would stop at the Yale Club, of which he was a popular member.

He did go to New York. He went to the club and had dinner with a friend, William Crocker. He was cheerful and even jovial, Mr. Crocker said, and gave no intimation of being in any trouble.

At 8:30 a. m. Arthur Hogan knocked on the door of his cousin's bedroom and asked, "Henry, are you going into town today?"

"No, I don't think I will," was the reply, voiced in a drowsy tone.

At 8:50, when luncheon was being served, one of the maids went upstairs and knocked at his door. There was no response. This maid became alarmed and called the others. When there was no response to repeated knocks they entered the bathroom adjoining and there found Mr. Parsons' body, entirely unclothed, lying on the floor.

Dr. Arthur S. Corwin was called, and said Mr. Parsons had been dead for several hours. He had been shot through

NORTH WHARF MERCHANT GETS SURPRISE

Business Falling Off — Only Half the Orders as Compared With Those Received Three Years Ago — Discouraging Outlook — Absolute Facts.

A certain North Wharf merchant, who had the contract for catering to the local jail population seems to have a strong reason for complaint. Notwithstanding the huge increase in the cost of food stuffs, he, among others, has in a direct manner had the knowledge forced upon him that the amount required to feed the jail inmates in 1919 under prohibition was less than half the sum required in 1915-16 under license.

While one has the opportunity of the press to learn that the same is true in thousands of instances throughout Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom, it is not so generally known that there is more drunkenness under prohibition than before.

The cast of characters was as follows: Sir Christopher Parese, C. Crologer, H. Frank Gillen, Rancklyn Parese, his first-born son, J. C. Crologer, H. Frank Gillen, Donald O'Sullivan Parese, his second son, S. Wilfrid Keohan, Brian O'Hara, known as Brine-egg, Joseph Floyd Skelton McCluthey, I.L.P.U. Solicitor, Paulden Deane, W. Oswald McDonald, Darby Darrell, useless, still useful, Paudsen Deane, William J. Crowley, Ralph Remington, detective, M. Alphonse Harris, Solomon Cheatham, usual 100 p. c.

It seems that the death of Mr. Parsons was a suicide, said the chief of police. "The gash under his right eye from which he was bleeding when he arrived home was inflicted by a sharp knife or a razor, and we are trying to find out exactly how he came by such an injury."

SOME IMPORTANT DETAILS ABOUT REGISTRATION

Women desirous of voting in the Prohibition Referendum July 10, and this should mean all women, must not overlook the fact that if they registered at the Union Election three years ago it does not entitle them to a vote in this Provincial Election.

The registration, which has been referred to continually means the Provincial Registration last fall, which was an endeavor to get all women, twenty-one years of age and over, who might be British subjects and residents of the place in which they registered at least six months, to register. These are the only qualifications, but today is emphatically the last opportunity.—(Adv't.)

Practically the only important business proposed during the afternoon was the decision to continue the cash prizes for the three New Brunswick students making the highest percentages at the Maritime School of Pharmacy, which is connected with Dalhousie University, Halifax.

Following the business session, a substantial dinner was served and the delegates to the meeting to the number of thirty-five or so, indulged in fishing, baseball and other pastimes, later returning by motor to the city.

At 8:30 a. m. Arthur Hogan knocked on the door of his cousin's bedroom and asked, "Henry, are you going into town today?"

"No, I don't think I will," was the reply, voiced in a drowsy tone.

Borden Makes Statement of His Position

Members Give Indication of Desire for Additional Remuneration-Discussion on Pensions in the Commons.

(Canadian Press.)

Ottawa, June 24-Yesterday in the House of Commons third reading was given bills amending the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act and the militia pension act. A bill to amend the Indian act was given second reading and put through committee. Amendments to the pension act passed third reading. A bill providing for state insurance to returned soldiers received a third reading.

A. R. McMaster carried his motion for production of all correspondence touching the issue of permits for the export of sugar, and Dr. A. W. Chisholm was granted an order for the production of public works during the last three years referring to improvements to the harbor of Grand Etang, N. S.

Hon. W. R. Rowell tabulated details of the inside civil service. In Ottawa, Hon. Hugh Guthrie announced that the unauthorized use of military badges has been prohibited by order-in-council under a penalty of a fine of $500 and imprisonment for six months. The penal clauses of this order-in-council had, however, lapsed with the war measures act. Amendments to the criminal code passed by the house at this session, providing for penalties which would be in force as soon as they were finally assented to.

On the matter of pensions C. G. Power of Quebec contended that the government should have given a widowed mother the same pension as a wife. He also gave a pension to a wife or mother despite any personal income. He moved an amendment to prevent the pension being subject to review.

C. D. Nicholson of Algoma East objected to inspectors going round and prying into those in the pension of widows if they had any independent income so as to reduce their pensions. He thought if a woman had lost her husband, she was entitled to her full pension.

Captain Power's motion was defeated. Opposition members objected to any reduction being made in the pension of parents who chose to reside outside of Canada. Sir Robert Borden asked the committee to adopt the resolution in its present form. Then, if it were found that the clause worked any injustice, it could be amended soon after the opening of the next session.

Hon. W. S. Fielding agreed to this but Captain Power moved an amendment providing that the clause which states that if a widow has a son living at home that he should contribute to her income, a reduction of $10 shall be taken from her pension, be struck from the bill. This was lost. Captain Power then asked that payments from life insurance should not be considered as income on what they intended to do in regard to the income of the members of this House.

A vigorous demand that the prime minister (Sir Robert Borden), together with the leader of Opposition (Hon. W. I. Mackenzie King) and the leader of the Progressive Party (Hon. T. A. Crerar) make a definite announcement on what they intended to do in regard to the income of the members of this House was launched by J. H. Burnham, member for Peterboro.

Sir Robert Borden said his views were, he thought, in justice to a large majority of the members of this House that the indemnity ought to be increased and that it was too low at the present time. On the other hand, there was in his mind a serious doubt whether it would be in the public interest, whether it would be in the interest of parliamentary institutions, or whether it would be in the interest of members themselves, against the enemy.

CLEAR BRITAIN

OUT OF IRELAND

Statement of Sinn Fein Chairman of County Council - Hostile on Taxation Matters.

London, June 24-The Dublin municipal offices, public libraries and technical schools have been closed as a result of a strike of the municipal employes for an increase in wages according to a despatch to the London Times. It says that the newly elected county council and boards of guardians in Ireland, which are overwhelmingly Sinn Fein, have now settled down to work and have taken a hostile attitude toward the local government board which hitherto has supervised the collection and distribution of money levied and distributed by these bodies. At the first meeting of the county council yesterday prayers were recited for the success of the Irish republic.

Chairman Clancy, a Sinn Fein M. P., said the work of the council would aim at clearing Great Britain of Ireland. One member of the council suggested that the children of policemen should not be allowed to compete for the council's scholarships. Another member remarked while all the council commended crime they did not object to guerrilla warfare against the enemy.

WAKE UP TO GET INDIES' TRADE

Japs Peddling Cheap Goods But Bazaars and Martins Would Take Our Products.
(Written for The Toronto Telegram by a Torontonian resident in India.)
In view of the increasing progress of Japanese and American trade in India the need for developing inter-imprial trade relations becomes more urgent, especially as the Canadian mercantile marine is about to open a direct line of shippers with the Orient. Canadians should realize at once that India affords a valuable field for expansion of Canadian trade and that the present time is particularly opportune for such expansion because of the strong feeling in India favoring trading with the Empire. Australia has made a beginning, for her imports from India in 1919 amounted to over $20,000,000, while India received no less than $7,500,000 in imports from Australia, and the writer is convinced that the British Empire in India would like to see these figures trebled instead of settling the balance of trade in its favor.

The demand of the Indian bazaars are increasing and Canada has as yet shown little enterprise in catering for these demands. The Americans, Japanese and a few Austrians are making big efforts to capture this trade, the Japanese being particularly aggressive, and seemingly determined to crush out competition. Their exports rarely come up to sample and are generally a cheap line of goods. It is the writer's opinion that the Japanese footing in India is temporary—only until the Empire can send a sound line of goods.

The writer would suggest that Canada and a commission of four or five expert business men to explore the Indian markets. He is sure it would receive the ready help of the government of India and would result in undoubtedly discovering a rich field for development. This is most important as the U. S. A., Japan and Australia are giving the matter the keenest attention.

Madras City is obviously the best port of call for Canadian steamers. The Madras Chamber of Commerce would willingly furnish information, and at Madras the resources of the whole of India could be viewed.

India abounds in jute, rice, tea, rubber and an endless variety of manufactured goods. In the textile country, carpets, rugs, brass and silver ornaments, besides all manner of Indian crafts, all at a very moderate price. India requires wheels, iron and steel bars, and all kinds of modern conveniences, fittings, etc.; also motor cars and machinery as manufactured in Canada.

On establishment of their trade relations Canadians would have little difficulty with the language. India has no multitude of dialects. English will carry one all over India, and is spoken fluently by all the educated classes. A little knowledge of Urdu (Hindustani) and Tamil which is the language of S. India and Ceylon, would be helpful. These can be picked up by anyone after a short residence in the country and from scores of books printed in the Roman characters. It is the writer's opinion that a working knowledge of the language would be required by the mercantile marine.

NO TORONTO STREET CARS ARE RUNNING

Toronto, June 24.—The second day of the Toronto street railway strike, found the city paralyzed to meet the lack of street cars in the downtown streets. The lack of the big stores and industries has resulted in a very busy day, and there were many jitters in the streets. A large percentage of the working population is out of business on time. It is said the railway company has no intention to attempt to run cars.

SOME HIGHER, SOME LOWER IN HARDWARE

(Hardware and Metal, June 19)
Great activity has taken place throughout the hardware markets this week. The market has been revised as a result. Bolts and nuts have been marked up about 10 per cent. Conductor screws have been marked up about 10 per cent. A new and higher list has been announced. Wrapping paper has been again revised and will now cost more. A new and higher list has been announced. Wrapping paper has been again revised and will now cost more. A new and higher list has been announced. Wrapping paper has been again revised and will now cost more.

LOW HIDE PRICES INDUCE NO BUYING

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)
The market on all kinds of beef hides remains inactive. In fact, there is no activity whatever, and from present indications no movement is looked for until leather buying becomes more prevalent, of which there are at present no indications. Prices, however, remain unchanged, covering all selections. The low prices now ruling do not appear to be any inducement for the tanner to buy, and present prices are close to those prevailing for similar hides in June and July of 1919.

There is nothing new to report respecting calfskins. The market is practically at a complete standstill. Present prices are above former ideas of value, with indications pointing to still lower prices; today's prices are considerably above past prices.

Horse leather remains dull and neglected. Horse leather banners are disintegrated and have practically ceased buying. Tanners' ideas of values are considerably below asking prices.

As regards sheepskins, owing to the heavy drop in the prices of wool and pickle, pelts have been taken on a decidedly lower value with a result that the bottom has not yet been reached.

YOUR CLOTHING REQUIREMENTS

We are in a very favorable position to supply your clothing requirements. Our Custom Tailored Department has a full stock of clothes advantageously purchased and in a wide variety of patterns.

The prices we ask are below present worth as both cloths and trimmings have advanced very materially since our orders were placed and are still advancing.

Every garment is cut and tailored by experts with skill and experience acquired by long practice and painstaking effort.

We are sole agents for 20th Century Brand ready tailored clothes—the clothing with a national reputation. In addition we carry several other makes of high standard. All are tailored in fashionable styles for men and young men. Prices are from $25 for Overcoat and $30 for Suits to $75.

Our Special Order Department affords additional facilities to meet your needs. Your measure is sent direct to the factory where the suit, overcoat, etc. and made with such exactitude as rarely to fail in fitting, any way we guarantee the fit. Prices start at $35.

The excise or luxury tax is finally settled at 15 per cent on the excess over $45 for suits, $50 for overcoat and $12 for trousers.

Notwithstanding, prices may be considered high now these are absolutely no prospect of their being lower for a long time. Cloths and hosiery being bought for fall are much higher and 1921 prices are higher still. The percentage of increase so far on clothing, however, is less than on most commodities.

Supply your wants now for some time to come—you can do it advantageously.

We solicit your business on the basis of mutual satisfaction.

First Defeat For Pirates.

In one of the hardest fought games of the season in the South End League, the Pirates, leaders of the league, were defeated by the All Stars last evening the score being 8 to 0. At all times the All Stars proved superior and it was a pitcher's battle between Kerr and King, the latter having the better of it. Both catchers were deadly in their throwing and caught several runners trying to steal. Kerr was wild at times, and poor fielding with men on helped the winners to victory.

This is the first defeat of the Pirates this year as they had won five straight games previous to last evening.

Sunday School League.

The West End Sunday school baseball league was opened last evening on the upper diamond of Queen square with a game between the St. Patrick's team, representing the Church of the Assumption, and the team from the Ludlow street Baptist church. The game was very interesting and was won by the Ludlow team by a score of 9 to 2. There was a very large crowd of spectators at the game, and the prospects indicated

"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"

A New Mark Twain-Paramount Artcraft Special
THROUGH ALL THE YEARS—THEY LIVE!

As fresh, as appealingly human today as when Mark Twain—his eyes a-twinkle—called them from his heart and wrote them down forever in the world's greatest romance of youth.

Freebie-faced Huck Finn, with his marvelous plans; "Pap" Finn and his jigg of "rums"; those scedy old rapsallions, the "King" and the "Duke"; Black Jim and sweet-faced Mary Jane.

Now, in this irrefragable photoplay, life before your very eyes—with all their charm, their escapades, their lovable, laughable ways.

A tale of other days on the Mississippi—Pulsing with a hundred immortal adventures—Mellowed with much laughter—Softened by a few tears.

This is a delightful companion picture to "Tom Sawyer," shown at the Imperial last season. It will finish out the week.

that the league will be a success. The league was officially opened by Commissioner Thornton, who pitched the first ball. Commissioner Thornton gave a short address to the boys, urging them to be clean sportsmen and to play the game fair. The address was also given by R. H. Parsons, the president of the league. The batteries for the game were: Ludlow street Baptist, George Waring and Wallace Waring; St. Patrick's, Goldie and Murphy.

Rothsley Defeats Fair Vale.

A good exhibition of baseball was witnessed last evening by many spectators when Rothsley and Fair Vale met on the consolidated school grounds at Rothsley, the leads from Rothsley winning by a close score of 10-8. The heavy hitting combination from Fair Vale did not repeat their two or three base drives last evening, but were kept within bounds by Rathburn, who occupied the mound for the home team and gave a good exhibition of twirling. Higgins Stafford and Higgins were the batteries for Fair Vale, while Rathburn and Gallagher formed the battery for Rothsley.

A Challenge.

The North End Aces wish to challenge the Young Rockwoods to a game on the home team and give a good exhibition of twirling. Higgins Stafford and Higgins were the batteries for Fair Vale, while Rathburn and Gallagher formed the battery for Rothsley.

GOLF.

Record Score. New Rule Re Stymies.

New York, June 24—The rule which the Royal and Ancient Golf Club committee had recommended on stymies, received here in a cable message, reads: "The Royal and Ancient Committee will recommend abolition of stymie modification for the United States, which is in the match play, when both balls are on the putting green, the player whose ball is nearer the hole may play first if he so elects. Failing to play, the player whose ball is farthest from the hole may lift his opponent's ball, thereby conceding his putt."

TURF.

Brooklyn Handicap. New York, June 24—The 37th running of the historic Brooklyn handicap on the Aqueduct course today brought out a fast field of seven horses. The race is for one mile and a furlong. Among the entrants was Willis Sharp Kilmer's Exterminator, a five year old gelding which won the Kentucky Derby two years ago. The only three year old named to start was Harry Payne Whitney's Wildair. Edward McLean's The Porter will carry top weight. He has been assigned 128 pounds.

Paul Jones is Better.

New York, June 23—The Times says Paul Jones, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Suburban, which pulled up lame and had to be withdrawn from the Latonia Derby, is in such good shape again that his trainer, William Garth, intends to put him into training again. The incident was not of a serious nature, and unless it re-appears Paul Jones will be seen in action here within the next two weeks. Captain Hal Parr and Garth are both anxious to run Paul Jones against some of the high class performers over a fast track, to show that the gelding can perform creditably on any kind of a track.

McTigue May Meet O'Dowd.

(Halifax Recorder). Mike McTigue and O'Dowd, Saturday from his Cape Breton tour. He looks the picture of health, but his hand is still somewhat swollen, he having dislocated a finger in one of his blows on Young Grady. As there has been some talk that somewhat easy opponents have been selected for McTigue, he wired the G. W. V. A. the other day that he would only meet Wilson O'Dowd, or some of the very best middle weights.

ACQUATIC.

The Shamrock. New York, June 24—Minor alterations to Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV and the 28 meter Shamrock have been recently completed. They included the stepping of a shorter topmast in the challenger. Eighteen sail alterations indicated a trial with a diminished sail area, so far as a club top sail is concerned.

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORT

The Large Entry List for the Sports to be held on the East End grounds on Saturday afternoon should warrant keen competition. Some of the best known athletes in the maritime provinces are to participate and it would not be surprising if new records were established. The fifteen mile Olympic trial race is one of the feature attractions and will mark a revival in marathoning running in these parts.

Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion of the world, will have his first real test since winning the crown from Mike O'Dowd when he meets Soldier Bartfield. The latter is a clever, aggressive fighter and should force the champion to extend himself to retain his title.

Halifax fans are assured of a great battle if the boxing promoters there are able to get Mike O'Dowd and Mike McTigue included for a fifteen round bout.

The former is an aggressive boxer with a hard punch, while the latter is a flat-footed boxer with a wicked left jab. The different styles should cause considerable speculation as to the outcome. McTigue is clever and is said to be in the pink of condition and his admirers are confident that he will at least outpoint the ex-champion, while others say that O'Dowd with his great experience will not be worried by the left jab and will make his namesake do some of the leading. If the bout materializes there is no doubt St. John fans will go on to see the two Mike's in action.

The manager of the Times and Telegraph baseball nine is worried, for there is a reason. On next Monday night his team is slated to meet the crack "red" team of the local firm exchanges and at this late moment he finds his pitcher is inclined to be erratic. The pitcher arrived in the city on Sunday night direct from Baywater and yesterday afternoon was taken to a yard—somewhere in St. John—for a workout. While warming up with the manager he displayed an assortment of shots which were of greater variety than ever Johnson, Alexander or Clotte possessed. However the only thing the manager could not understand was why they went so high and so wide. It was while in this dilemma that a catastrophe occurred. One of the "bladder truck" variety crashed into a woman's window and mid the crash of falling glass, the new importa-

BOSTON AND ITS SUGAR MYSTERY

State Authorities Trying to Solve Disposal of Large Quantities Which Have Poured in from Cuba.

(Boston Globe.)
State authorities are going to attempt to pry the lid off the mysterious sugar bowl into which for many weeks, Cuban cargoes have been pouring at the rate of scores of millions of pounds, with no appreciable results, either as to lower prices or freer movement of supply.
The Commission on the Necessaries of Life, of which Gen. John H. Sherburne is chairman, sent out this morning to all refiners of sugar in the state a circular letter, requesting information regarding the sugar situation.
Not only is the aim of the commission to find out how much sugar has been received at the port of Boston, and when, but also how much is refined weekly, costs of the raw product, the sale price of the refined product, the names of those to whom it is sold, and whether they are jobbers or candy men or supply grocers.
Hitherto, because of Attorney General Palmer's action in taking over all matters relative to the sugar stringency, the Commission on the Necessaries of Life has not singled out sugar for special attention any more than any other staple food commodity. The action this morning marks a step of unusual importance and may prove of advantage to the anxious housewives of the state.
Asked if the action had any connection with the sugar ration order, which goes into effect next Monday, by order of the Department of Justice, throughout the United States, it was stated that it had no connection with that movement.
"It is probable, inasmuch as the information sought will not be forthcoming until after the ration scheme has been placed in operation, that we will co-operate with the government officials in the matter, but the step has been taken merely on the initiative of the commission itself," declared Sec. Scammon.

One angle of the situation, the question of the amount of sugar which is being taken over by the candy manufacturers, will be thoroughly gone into, and any evidence which may be found will be turned over to the Department of Justice for its information and action if deemed proper.
Another hope for relief went by the board this morning when Washington announced that the recent purchase of Argentine sugar, some 14,000 tons, which it was declared a few days ago had been taken by the United States government in order to help out the domestic situation, has not been bought by the government at all, but by American sugar interests.
The fact that this purchase is said to have been made at sixteen cents a pound, may or may not mean that the sugar will be sold below the present market price here. A plan for the distribution of the entire quantity to "essential industries" is said to have been worked out by the authorities, acting in co-operation with the purchasers.
Huge Supplies.
The steamer Lake Savus, with more than 7,000,000 pounds of raw sugar for the American Sugar Refining Company, is expected to arrive today from Matanzas. Other shipments are on the way, so that there is an ample supply coming. Not only are the receipts from Cuba heavy, but some large consignments of sugar are on the way from the Philippines and Java.

Efforts are being made to keep secret the sugar sailings from Cuban ports, but the entry of the vessels cannot be concealed. Four steamers are on the way to Boston from the Far East that have sugar as part cargo.
It was learned today that 100,000 tons of sugar have been or will be shipped from the Philippines to Boston or New York, and 300,000 tons have been contracted for with sugar planters in Java.

A CIRCUS MAN'S TESTIMONY
Sackville Post—Here is a boost for prohibition. A circus man called at this office Saturday morning and after transacting his business entered into general conversation. In the course of his remarks he stated that while the circus was in Quebec province, the men connected with it were drunk a good deal of the time. However, after they had crossed over into New Brunswick there was no more trouble on that account.

outside the usual haing. There is no question that the complainant was rather harshly treated. But in view of the fact that all of you young men come from good families and there is no direct evidence of malicious assault, I dismiss the case.
West Orangettes are puzzled to know whether Dr. Applegate considers himself a member of Beta Sigma now that the incident is closed. Dr. having indicated him, whether Beta Sigma is ready to forgive and forget what the dentist tried to do.

TAR AND FEATHERS JUST LITTLE THING
Is Not Much Between Friends, Says Court
Dr. Applegate, Who Knows Suffering, Takes Different View of "Frat" Initiation—Case Dismissed.
A coat of tar and feathers may not be the most fashionable attire for evening wear, but it is not a thing to quarrel about among friends, in the opinion of Recorder John B. Lander of West Orange, N. J.
Recorder Lander is well past the age of high school fraternity initiations but he still believes a certain degree of good sportsmanship is necessary in all things. For which reason the recorder dismissed the case of Dr. Howard Applegate against the nine members of the Beta Sigma Society last week, after Dr. Applegate had told how they had inducted him into the order of the Tar and Feather in the course of a haing party out on Orange Mountain, New Jersey, the night before.
It takes nine tailors to make a man and it evidently takes the same number of Beta Sigmas to clothe a candidate in the correct dress for neophytes. The testimony showed, however, that instead of feathers—which are costly—dead leaves and sand were used. Dr. Applegate insisted that the effect was far from agreeable. He is a dentist and knows something about suffering.
Among other things the court was informed that Dr. Applegate was "ruefully assaulted" and that the nine youths did place upon his body a coat of tar, did dye his face and neck, and did beat him about the face and body.
"This, however, proved to be a slight mis-statement."
"He was beaten about the neck, not the face," explained George W. Perry, the dentist's counsel.
"My neck isn't my face," remarked Applegate.
"Strike out the face," ruled the court. Fortunately, none of the nine defendants took the order literally.
The Detarring Process.
Jacob Armm, a druggist to whom Dr. Applegate fled for first aid after the haing was over, gave a vivid picture of the dentist in the process of detarring. He said they had painted several letters—Greek letters, he thought, though may be they were Hebrew—on the dentist's back. There were other details too painful to mention.
Finally the court cleared its throat and announced:
"This case is clearly of a character
