RUM RUNNER'S CREW MISSING

Schooner Adrift with Boats, Sails and Rigging Gone.

Supposed Result of Rum Pirates' Work—Table in Cabin All Set for Meal.

(By Canadian Press.) New York, March 5.—A rum ship's crew "walking the plank" to meet death in the icy waters of the Atlantic, with leering rum pirates forcing the men, one by one, to the fatal leap, was the picture jokingly drawn by customs officials to explain the absence of life aboard the bootlegging schooner victor, which was reported found Saturday.

However, the customs officials declared while this might overdraw the picture, they felt certain that rum pirates probably were the cause of the vessel being abandoned.

The schooner, a 77-ton vessel, was found adrift southeast of Ambrose Lightship, Barren Island, police reported yesterday. All lifeboats were gone and sails and rigging missing.

There was no trace of the crew, believed to have numbered nine men. They were compelled to leave the ship suddenly, it would seem, as the table in the cabin was laden with fresh food and all set for a meal.

The victor has figured in several liquor running battles with prohibition officers of the coast of New Jersey, near where a rum fleet has been riding at anchor most of the last two months.

THE MONTCALM IN AFTER ROUGH TRIP

C. P. R. Liner Brings 1069 Passengers—During Trip Received Distress Signals from Schooner.

The C. P. R. liner Montcalm from Liverpool, which arrived off Partridge Island during the night docked at berths Nos. 2 and 3, West St. John today at noon. She brought 201 cabin and 868 third class passengers besides 2,100 tons of cargo as well as 2,100 bags of mail and parcel post.

Included among the passengers were sixty-three boys en route to the Y. Sheltering Home, Belleville, Ontario. Sixty-one Salvation Army workers also arrived. Twenty-three were destined for western Canada; thirty-two for points in Ontario and six for the United States.

The steamer encountered very heavy weather for two days having met snow storms. While off the Newfoundland coast the steamer received distress signals from the three masted schooner General Albany. The schooner had run into continuous heavy storms and the main mast was swept away. The crew had run short of fuel and food.

Passengers from the Montcalm will get away this afternoon on three special trains the first leaving at 4.30 o'clock, the second at 6.30 and the last at 7.30 this evening.

HON. N. W. ROWELL SAYS CANADA SHOULD OPPOSE FORCE POLICY IN RUHR

(By Canadian Press.) Toronto, March 5.—"You cannot settle economic problems by force and Canada should heartily co-operate with Great Britain and put herself on record as opposing a policy of force in the Ruhr," said Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., in an address at Upper Canada College last night on "Canada and the Present International Situation."

SUICIDE EFFORTS OF MRS. SALUDES TOLD IN COURT

Tried Twice to Hurl Self Under Street Car, Says Detective

Drew Pistol, Avers Clerk—Law Office Employee Tells of Knocking It to Floor; Believes She was Insane.

(Canadian Press Cable.) London, Mar. 5.—Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, Minister of Health in the Bonar Law cabinet, has been defeated in the by-election for the Mitcham division of Surrey, by J. Chuter, Ede, the Labor candidate.

Following closely after the announced result of the by-election in Willenden on Saturday, when Lt. Col. G. F. Stanley, under secretary of home affairs, was defeated by Harcourt Johnstone, the Liberal candidate the defeat of another member of the Bonar Law Government, Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, minister of health, in the Mitcham by-election today, is a serious reverse for the government.

The Mitcham campaign was one of the most aggressively contested by-elections for many years. The government candidate was opposed not only by the Labor candidate, J. Chuter Ede, who was successful at the polls, but also by an Independent Unionist, J. T. Catterall, whose nomination was a surprise to the government. Catterall said that his chief reason for being a candidate was because he objected to the manner in which the candidature of the Minister of Health had been brought about.

With the splitting of the Unionist vote in Mitcham the Labor candidate was elected.

Both the Minister of Health and the Under-Secretary for home affairs were defeated in the general elections. The by-elections were efforts to find seats for them.

Liberal Re-union Talked. London, March 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Discussion of the subject of the re-union of the two wings of the Liberal party, which has been revived by Lloyd George, turns for the moment largely upon the question of Lloyd George's capabilities as leader in view of all that has happened recently. The dramatic defeat of the Government candidate, Col. George Stanley, by Harcourt Johnstone, the Liberal candidate, is regarded as a big surprise even to optimistic Liberals, although there is little doubt that the chief reason for the conservative majority of about 1,300 in the general election being converted into a Liberal majority in the by-election of Saturday was the uncertain policy of the Government regarding the housing and rent control problems which affected the nerves of the middle and working classes.

Whatever may be the explanation of the turn over in the East Willesden vote, it has put heart into the Liberals, who now believe they are capable of becoming a really viable centre party in the House of Commons.

E. H. FAIRWEATHER DEAD IN HAMPTON

Many friends of Edgar H. Fairweather, a member of the firm of Rainnie, Keator and Fairweather, will regret to learn of his death, which occurred this morning at his home, The Gables, Hampton Village, following an illness of about six months. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fairweather, of St. John, and was associated for years with his father in the insurance business at Hampton, and the Central Georgia Railroad, bound from Macon to Birmingham, Ala., at Milledgeville, about forty miles from here.

It was stated at the local offices of the Central Georgia Railroad that the injured have been brought to Columbia, where their injuries are being treated.

LOSSES HER TOW BUT STANLEY PICKS UP PRO PATRIA AGAIN

Proceeding Now to St Pierre in Blinding Snowstorm—Hawser Parted Late Last Night.

(By Canadian Press.) Halifax, N. S., March 5.—After losing her charge in a blinding snowstorm last night, the Canadian Government ice breaker, Stanley, Captain Isaiah Rhude stood by in heavily packed ice and succeeding in getting another hawser aboard the disabled Pro Patria bound for St. Pierre, Miquelon, resumed the tow for the French port, according to advices reaching the marine and fisheries agent here this morning. The text of the message received from the master of the Stanley was as follows:

"Eight a. m., latitude 45.58 north, longitude 55.31 west. Parted hawser last night. Waited until morning. At 5.55 a. m. put hawser on Pro Patria and proceeded. Blinding snowstorm. South-east wind. Heavy ice, some lead. Rhude."

Halifax, N. S., March 5.—The Canadian Government steamer Stanley is making fair progress with her charge, the disabled Pro Patria, which she is towing to St. Pierre, according to a message received this morning by C. H. Harvey, agent for the Marine and Fisheries department, from Captain Rhude. The message was timed four p. m., yesterday. It is estimated that the position of the Stanley at that time was eighty miles south of St. Pierre.

Grant broadcasting station, Calgary, burning out, the scheduled long distance radio test was not made on Saturday night. LOOKS FOR UNION OF GERMAN AND RUSSIAN WORKERS

Soviet Chief Tells How President Wilson Avoided Germany's Acceptance of Russian Food After War.

(Canadian Pacific Cable.) Moscow, March 5.—How former President Wilson after the armistice perhaps avoided Germany's acceptance of Russian food is revealed by Kat Radek, Soviet chief of publicity, in an article in Pravda.

Mr. Radek expresses the opinion now as then, the German proletariat has a chance to unite with Russia in beginning a new era in history and changing the world.

The article relates how, after vainly trying for a week to make connections with Berlin, Foreign Minister Tchitcherin and Radek finally got into communication with Herr Von Haase, then director of food in the German Government. The Russian officials, the article states, offered to start a train of grain to Germany, but Von Haase replied, thanking them for their offer, and saying:

"But we have received from President Wilson a promise that America would supply Germany with food-stuffs in sufficient quantity. We therefore ask you to use the bread for the hungry of Russia."

Radek, appealing to the German workers to unite with those in Russia, urges the German proletariat to save itself from the foreign yoke and declares that a union of the Russo-German working classes is bound to come.

DISMISSAL OF TRUST CO. CLAIM IS SUPPORTED

(By Canadian Press.) Toronto, March 5.—Mr. Justice Ross has upheld J. A. C. Cameron in the latter's dismissal, as official referee, of the $46,000 claim made by the Equitable Trust Co., New York, in the liquidation of the Dominion Shipbuilding and Repair Company, Limited, Toronto.

In order to obtain goods from the U. S. Products Company, the Dominion Shipbuilding and Repair Company, Ltd., obtained a letter of credit from the Equitable Trust Company, thereby incurring the liability.

HECKLERS BREAK UP MEETING CALLED TO PROTECT RUHR OCCUPATION

(By Canadian Press.) New York, March 5.—Neither President Harding nor Senator Borah will know officially the feeling of a crowd of men and women who filled the Community church forum last night at a meeting called to protest the occupation of the Ruhr by the French.

The meeting broke up with a resolution being considered, but it was not put to a vote, for hecklers in the audience caused the chairman to dismiss the crowd before the night's business was completed.

Oswald G. Villard, editor of the Nation, and J. G. McDonald, secretary of the Foreign Policy Association were the speakers. Mr. Villard characterized the Ruhr invasion as the saddest incident in history and declared that if the Germans succeed "in showing that spiritual methods may overcome force, it will be the greatest happening since the crucifixion."

Mr. McDonald frowned upon a resolution offered from the floor, which proposed a protest to the president, and suggested that a message be sent to Senator Borah, urging him to continue working for a general economic conference.

There were cries for and against from the entire audience. When an attempt was made to put the matter to a vote hecklers persisted in shouting at the chairman until that official promptly dismissed the meeting.

RENO'S DIVORCE COLONY FOOLED BY DRY AGENTS

Officers Who Recently Became Prominent in the Gayer Set Cause 13 Arrests and the Closing of Several Places.

(By Canadian Press.) Reno, Nev., March 5.—Reno's divorce colony is gaping at the discovery that two of its most recent additions, who had become quite prominent among the gayer set, were dry enforcement officers whose activities had brought about thirteen arrests and the closing of several places.

One of the agents posed as a film company director and the other appeared in the role of "representative of the steel trust." They gained admittance to the select coterie by convincing attorneys that they sought divorces from fictitious wives in order to wed equally fictitious women whose purported photographs and letters they displayed.

Both officers, it is said, became highly popular with the feminine contingent of the colony. There is considerable apprehension in the colony regarding subpoenas to testify.

Reno, because of this was said to be the driest spot in the United States.

WINDSTORMS DO SERIOUS DAMAGE

Two Killed, Many Injured, in Pittsburg Blow—Much Damage in Missouri Tornado.

(By Canadian Press.) Pittsburg, Pa., March 5.—A windstorm which reached a velocity of seventy-two miles an hour swept the Pittsburg district yesterday, causing two deaths, heavy property damage and delaying rail traffic.

Many persons were injured by flying glass from large plate glass windows which crashed in the downtown district.

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—At least eight persons were injured, two probably fatally, and property damage estimated at from $250,000 to $750,000 was caused by a tornado which struck St. Joseph, early Saturday night. The tornado tore a path two blocks wide for two miles across the city, unroofing houses, uprooting trees, tearing down telegraph and telephone poles.

About twenty business buildings and fifty dwelling were damaged to a considerable extent.

DEATH OF CHILD.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoggins will sympathize with them in the death of their infant daughter, Violet Gertrude, which occurred this morning.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram" said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "a wave of sadness swept over me yesterday."

"You're likely to hear spells like that in March," said Hiram. "March had nothing to do with this," said the reporter. "I was reading some answers to enquiries in the financial column of a newspaper. This is what I read:—'Your lots in Deer Lodge Park, Calgary, on condition that you pay the taxes of $70 per annum played a cruel joke on you. They are not worth one year's taxes.'"

"Did you lose some lots out there?" "Also I read this:—'The party who gave you the lots in Deer Lodge Park, Calgary, on condition that you pay the taxes of $70 per annum played a cruel joke on you. They are not worth one year's taxes.'"

"Not in those towns," said the reporter. "My gold mine was in another one—or, rather, somewhere within a day's march of it. As I remember it, the property could not be sold by the town for taxes. Nobody wanted it but me and some other ardent souls who never saw it. Excuse these tears."

"Yes," said Hiram, "an if I lost you to put a little money in land out to the Settlement or help out some little fellow or something like that you'd grab your hat. I ain't a bit sorry fer birds like you—no, sir. You ain't got no more sense than an egg!—By Hen!"

Street Lighting Matter Passes Council; Thornton's The Only Vote Against It

IF HE RETAINS PRESENT ATTITUDE BOND ISSUE WILL BE BLOCKED

Much Conversation But Not Much Action—Beaconsfield Asks City for Fire Protection—Charlie Gorman Matter Up Again.

Hydro matters were again before the Common Council this morning, the chief topic being the ornamental street lighting system. Besides the Mayor and commissioners, there were present Ronald A. McAvity, chairman of the Civic Hydro Commission; Roy A. Willet, secretary-accountant of the commission, and Barry Wilson, electrical engineer in commission. Discussion at times waxed rather warm. An amendment proposed by the Mayor giving the commission authority to proceed with the construction of a street lighting system and also with an ornamental system was lost. A motion that the recommendation of the commission that they be empowered to proceed with the construction of a system, using double purpose poles with an increased area for ornamental lighting, was carried, Commissioner Thornton voting against it. If the commission persists in this attitude tomorrow when the matter comes before the council the passage of the motion this morning in committee will be of no effect, as a unanimous vote is necessary to fire matters before the commission of Public Safety before reporting back to the ratepayers.

(By Canadian Press.) Gretna, Pa., March 5.—Lighting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hastings here yesterday, wrecked a "kiddie koo" in which their three year old child was sleeping, burned a hole in the floor near the "koo" but never roused the child from slumber. The parents were severely shocked and were surprised to find their child alive.

SHOTS FLY IN A BATTLE IN CROWDED DEPOT

Fighting Off Bandits, Man Wounds One and Hits a Woman in the Arm—Many Rush from Station in a Panic.

New York, March 5.—Shots, screams, beaten to his knees with a blackjack and kicked by his assailants, fought his way to his feet, whipped out an automatic pistol and emptied it in a wild fury, one bullet striking a woman, another striking one of the alleged hold-up men, a third shattering a big looking-glass, and the two others splatteringly harmlessly against the walls.

According to the Hoboken police, the man who successfully resisted attack, Robert American, of 55 River street, Hoboken, had $1,897 in his pockets when he searched him. American was charged with atrocious assault and battery and having a pistol. Victor Rush, after an ambulance surgeon had dressed a bullet wound in his elbow, went to a cell on a charge of atrocious assault and battery, as did Eugene Curry, whom the police alleged, was Rubish's companion.

A Jersey City policeman and a New Jersey State trooper who chanced to be in the station aided Hoboken policemen and railroad attaches in capturing the combatants and quieting the excited crowd.

The policeman and trooper leaped at American just as he started blaring away, but by the time they could close in his pistol was empty. Mrs. Isabella Barolow, 1,408 North Sixteenth street, Philadelphia, had fallen with a bullet in her forearm, and Rubish, alleged wielder of the blackjack, was clutching a shattered elbow and dancing with pain.

When the three men in the fracas had been captured they were rushed to Police Headquarters, whither Mrs. Barolow also was taken that she might receive the attention of an ambulance surgeon. Her wound was found not to be serious.

Hoboken detectives who began an investigation believed that word that American was arriving with the money for New York had been spread among the underworld in Hoboken. They said that Rubish and Curry rushed in to the station in an automobile to meet American. When he appeared Rubish pulled a blackjack and started the trouble. The detectives added that they thought they knew the driver of the car that carried two men to the station and that they expected to arrest him soon.

He struck it rich in the gold rush to the Yukon and has lived in retirement in Vancouver since 1902.

MISS CANADA MAY GO TO LONDON

Halifax Hears of Maritime Proposal—A Royal Send-off This Morning—Some Expressions of Delight.

(By Canadian Press) Halifax, N. S., March 5.—It is announced that out of the visit to Halifax of "Miss Canada" (Miss Winifred Blair, of St. John) has arisen a proposal that the Maritime Provinces combine to send the Carnival Queen to London, providing some suitable functions could be arranged thereat.

Miss Canada occupied a drawing room on the Ocean Limited when it left Halifax this morning, and is en route to her home city. She was given a royal send-off, many people gathering at the station regardless of the early hour and unpleasant weather. The Miss Canada was apparently delighted with this fresh demonstration of the loyalty of her Halifax subjects.

She was given a large bouquet of carnations as a parting gift and was loudly cheered when the train left the station. Arrangements are said to be under way to have Miss Canada visit every city in the Dominion.

(Halifax Echo) "Isn't she a darling? I didn't dream she would be such an attractive girl," were among the feminine comments. There was something about Miss Canada's rather shy smile and very feminine features and manner that instantly won the hearts of the onlookers, and there was entire absence of the criticism which even the most dazzling beauty, looking Miss Blair's sweetness of personality, would have called forth.

She was quietly dressed, wearing a black seal coat and small, close-fitting traveling hat with soft brown veil, and in her arms she carried a luxurious bouquet of red roses, which were added to by a handsome bouquet presented by the Gyro Club. She was accompanied by Miss Moncton, and Miss Halifax, looking very handsome, walked a little behind her. Miss Canada was assisted into a car awaiting her, and Miss Moncton into one where she was seated beside Mayor Murphy.

The party proceeded to the Halifax Hotel, where they were cordially welcomed by Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Grant and Premier and Mrs. Armstrong.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

MISS LILLIAN FOSTER in "East Is West" at Opera House this week.

THE F. JAMES CARROLL PLAYERS ALL THIS WEEK AT THE OPERA HOUSE IN "EAST IS WEST"

"East Is West" is essentially a comedy. But there runs through it a wistful sob that adds to its wonderful attractiveness. It combines romance in one of the most fascinating love stories ever written, with touches of drama that bring audiences out of their seats. It is not a speculation, but a play that stands among those that have the longest runs in the American theatre to their credit.

The story deals with a little Chinese girl who is about to be sold from a love boat in China. She is brought to San Francisco by a Chinese merchant. It becomes impossible for him to keep her there, and he, in turn, is about to sell her to Charlie Yang, another Chinese, when the American boy who loves her, and with whom she has fallen in love, appears on the scene. To the surprise of the merchant, the American boy is a delightful entertainment.

Because of the fame of "East Is West" the demand for tickets at the Opera House has been an unusually heavy one, and Manager Carroll suggests that all who have not already made their arrangements do so at once in order that there may be no delay in getting them and in order that favorite seats may be secured.

Matinee Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 2:30; evenings at 8:15.

British Major Tells How He Halted War Staged in Causasus

London, Feb. 10.—(By Mail)—Major A. R. McDonnell, C. B. E., writing in "The London Daily Express," tells a thrilling story of how he stopped a war in the Caucasus.

"According to the terms of the armistice with Turkey, British troops occupied the Caucasus and a small district of Georgia, the capital of Georgia, one of the three Caucasian republics which had broken off from Russia after the revolution."

"I left Tiflis with the quartermaster of the 7th Gloucesters and a guard of ten men. About 7 o'clock in the morning we passed by my wagon and saw a rabble of uncouth soldiers being hurried into formation by Georgian officers. In about an hour's time the Georgian commander arrived with a retinue of fourteen officials, all generals, each representing some department of state."

"On explaining my mission I was informed that the Armenian commander, Mr. Dro, was prepared to meet us half-way. We came to a halt round a British force accompanying me was left behind. It was evident that Mr. Dro was taking no chances."

"The men's words were accordingly uncoupled and with the fourteen generals I proceeded into 'No Man's Land.' We came to a halt round a British force accompanying me was left behind. It was evident that Mr. Dro was taking no chances."

"A little man with a black beard, dressed in top hat and Norfolk jacket, was disconsolately viewing the world. One of its wooden makeshift wheels had come off and some of the ropes lashings had given way. This rope lashings loved to be General, or Mr. Dro, the leader of the Armenians and head of the party of terrorists."

"After a general everything, stating that he only did so because he was a friend of the British workman."

STOPS OFFICIALS' TRIP TO FLORIDA

U. S. Attorney General, Shipping Board Chairman and Former Chairman Get Subpoenas in the Morse Case.

(Canadian Press.)
Washington, March 5.—Subpoenas requiring the appearance in court here on Wednesday of Attorney-General Daugherty, Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board and John Barton Payne, a former chief chairman, all of whom had planned to leave Washington today with President Harding for Florida, were issued by the U. S. marshal this morning at the request of Charles W. Morse, shipbuilder.

The subpoenas were issued in connection with the government's case against Mr. Morse and his former associates, charging fraud in connection with war-time shipping contracts. Trial of the case is set for Wednesday, and Mr. Morse's lawyer asked that the three men named, among others, be brought into court as witnesses for the defence.

Commissioner Wigmore said in view of the propaganda going on in some newspapers there was little chance of co-operation between the Council and the Bureau Commission. He would like to know who was responsible.

He thought the commission should not be held responsible for the power cost per k. w. h. to the household. The people were getting nervous.

The Mayor thought anything in the city could be explained. He did not think it wise to be negatively in the matter of street lighting. There would be no line of demarcation between street lighting by white way lighting and those served by ordinary lighting.

Commissioner Bullock said a delegation from Germania street had urged upon him that it should be included in any plan for ornamental lighting.

Douglas Avenue Request.
The common council read a letter from J. Fraser Gregory asking that Douglas avenue be considered in the matter of increased lighting. Also one from George Caldwell respecting better lighting for Waterloo street.

Mr. McAvity said Douglas avenue would be much better lighted under the proposed scheme. On motion the letters were ordered received and filed.

Commissioner Frink stated that the Commission would be requested to further reconsider the plans for ornamental lighting by placing a light on the corner of Prince Edward and Haymarket square, and on the corner of Prince Edward and Waterloo street.

The Mayor ruled Commissioner Frink's motion out of order.

Commissioner Frink said he was willing to accept the original recommendation of the commission. Commissioner Bullock said he also was willing.

The proposed ornamental lighting would cost $19,851.20.

Commissioner Wigmore said there was a rumor that the N. B. Power Co. would supply power at less than 1.2 cents.

Commissioner Bullock advocated getting the street lighting program. He moved that the recommendation of the commission be adopted.

Mr. McAvity moved in amendment that the commission be authorized to construct a street lighting system using poles and wires owned by the city and to proceed with an ornamental lighting system with a limited expenditure of $—, which amount he estimated at somewhat less than $40,000, interest and sinking fund charges on capital account included.

Mr. McAvity said the commission wanted to know if the council wanted an ornamental system. He answered the arguments of the commissioners one by one.

Barry Wilson said 1,230 units of 230 candlepower could be supplied at about $20 each.

Mr. McAvity suggested that the commission be authorized to construct a street lighting system using poles and wires owned by the city and to proceed with an ornamental lighting system with a limited expenditure of $—, which amount he estimated at somewhat less than $40,000, interest and sinking fund charges on capital account included.

Mr. McAvity said the commission wanted to know if the council wanted an ornamental system. He answered the arguments of the commissioners one by one.

The amendment was lost. The motion voting was.

Commissioner Bullock presented the following requisition from the city engineer for materials for the harbor department:

215,000 feet Douglas fir; 45,000 feet hemlock; 25,000 feet birch; 420,000 feet 3 inch spruce deals; 800 spruce poles; 42,500 spruce lengths; 15,000 spruce lengths; 60,000 spruce lengths; 250 kegs spikes; 34 kegs boat spikes; 20,000 pounds bolts and washers.

BANDIT A JEKYL AND HYDE
Philadelphia, March 5.—"Big Frank" Watkins, escaped convict and bank robber, slain recently in a pistol battle with police, had lived a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde role for years, it was revealed when his real name was learned.

The dead gunman's father, who is seventy-three years old, came here from Worcester, Mass., and viewed the bullet-ridden body in the morgue. He identified it as that of his son, Peter Peinoquin, who had a wife and four children in Chicago.

According to the elder Peinoquin, the slain man's family for years had believed he was a traveling salesman. He made occasional "flying visits" to his wife and children in Chicago, and when leaving would pretend to be going on long business trips.

THE LEGISLATURE

More than ordinary interest attaches to the session of the Provincial Legislature which will begin on Thursday of the present week. A new Lieutenant Governor, a new Premier, and several new members of the House are personal features of interest, as will be the fact that Hon. W. E. Foster will sit as a private member instead of as the leader of the Government.

Personal interest will undoubtedly centre chiefly around the new Premier. Hon. Mr. Veniot will be cordially greeted as the first Acadian Premier of New Brunswick, and as a man who has risen to leadership on his merits not only as an administrator but as an advocate of progressive policies. There has come to him the larger opportunity of service to his Province. This of course is not without its dangers, for the reason that those interests and influences which have selfish aims to promote are always camping in the vicinity of the man they hope to bend to their will, and by flattery and every artful device seek to gain favor and accomplish their ends. This Province has its share of them, but they are not hard to locate.

Referring to the report that Hon. Dr. Pugsley may be appointed a Royal Commissioner to pass upon claims made by Canadians against Germany for loss and damage through illegal methods of warfare, an Ottawa despatch says: "It does not follow from the appointment of a Royal Commissioner that there is a prospect of an early payment of claims or a certainty that sums claimed, if paid by Germany, will be paid to individual claimants. Indeed, it was indicated in the British House of Commons some time ago that the consideration of individual claims was rather for the purpose of determining the amount to which the State was entitled. However, it is thought desirable that steps should be taken to establish the validity of claims. Such a course is being taken in the United States, where a commission on claims against Germany has been constituted. In the United States, a representative of Germany may be heard with respect to claims."

ers along the lines of the policy adopted by the Foster Government. The Veniot Government is fortunate in a political sense that it is confronted by a disorganized Opposition. The Conservative party is without a leader. Mr. Richards will doubtless be the House leader, but he will be handicapped by the consciousness that his party does not regard him as a big enough man to be the provincial leader. He is a man of ability, and thus far has shown a disposition to be fair in his criticisms, within the limits of party requirements, but he lacks strong support and can hardly be expected to have much heart in his task. On the whole, therefore, the Veniot Government has a fair field and a great opportunity to carry forward a programme of constructive legislation.

WHY LOSE MORE MONEY?

The members of the City Council ought to realize as the people do that the most important matter before it at the present time is the distribution of cheap light and power. There is no other question before the Council, whether relating to streets, water supply, the harbor or public safety that means so much to all the people as cheap light and power in accordance with the plan the people have endorsed. When the mayoralty election took place the people knew that a distribution system was estimated to cost $600,000 or more, and they voted for it. They would have emptied every seat in the Council Chamber if they had entertained any suspicion that the policy they endorsed would not be carried out in good faith. That which the Civic Power Commission seeks to do should be even more the desire of the elected representatives of the people. There should be no jarring note, but harmony between the Council and the Commission. There has already been measurable delay and heavy loss to the city because the Commission was not at the outset given authority to ask for tenders for supplies and get on with its work. Let no member of the Council decide himself with a belief that unresponsive obstinacy in the Council Chamber is interpreted as a deep regard for the public interest in this matter. Every day's delay now means heavier loss to the city. The people voted for light and power at cost. The City Council set out to give effect to the popular will, and should not take back with one hand what they give with the other. Either the Civic Power Commission is competent or it is not. If it is not, the remedy is obvious. If it is, the Council should facilitate and not obstruct its work.

Referring to the report that Hon. Dr. Pugsley may be appointed a Royal Commissioner to pass upon claims made by Canadians against Germany for loss and damage through illegal methods of warfare, an Ottawa despatch says: "It does not follow from the appointment of a Royal Commissioner that there is a prospect of an early payment of claims or a certainty that sums claimed, if paid by Germany, will be paid to individual claimants. Indeed, it was indicated in the British House of Commons some time ago that the consideration of individual claims was rather for the purpose of determining the amount to which the State was entitled. However, it is thought desirable that steps should be taken to establish the validity of claims. Such a course is being taken in the United States, where a commission on claims against Germany has been constituted. In the United States, a representative of Germany may be heard with respect to claims."

"Candide," in a Saturday Night, indulges in this bit of gentle satire at the expense of the society column—"On Monday last luncheon was served to the Financial Editor and Candide in a well-known Travants restaurant by a brown-eyed waitress prettily attired in the regulation uniform. Entertainment was provided by a fat lady at an adjacent table who fell off her chair. Refreshments consisted of macaroni and cheese and a cup of coffee. Candide was becomingly gowned in pearl gray spats and a clean collar while the Financial Editor presented the charming ensemble made up of brown spats, a gray felt hat and a silk scarf. This happy event was brought to a close by an informal reception at the Cashier's window."

The St. John diarist will no doubt enter in his or her diary an item to the effect that on March 5, 1923, citizens of St. John, going along the sidewalks, passed heaps of snow in many places higher than their heads, as they had been doing since January.

A PUZZLER. (Kingston Standard.) Correct this sentence: "The man lay in bed two weeks with the flu and did not once speak crossly to his wife."

WHAT'S WHAT

In the sketch today are illustrated two wrong ways of holding a tea cup or coffee cup. The girl who is using the forefinger and thumb to inclose the handle has three remaining fingers spread fanwise. Sometimes this is a deliberate pose, but more often it is only an unconscious habit. One sees children holding cup handles in the same silly way. If they are not corrected the habit becomes fixed into a mannerism which looks like vulgar affectation.

HOME

(Alexander Louis Fraser.) Dear, plain old Home, I bare my head to you, And thank the Lord for what I took away From your kind hand that forgotten day I sought the world. I took no wealth, 'tis true, For Luxury your children never knew— Glad, curfew heads that rose around your board, But there the noblest virtues were adored, Whose influence fell on our young hearts like dew.

The judge looked sternly at the prisoner. "It is very evident that you are a plain, no-account and shiftless person, Kaspar, and for this I am going to send you away for a year at hard labor."

WOMEN DRY ENFORCEMENT

White House Comments on Work in Connection With Mrs. Pinchot's Plan. Washington, March 3.—Women are being used effectively by the Federal Government in the enforcement of prohibition, the White House disclosed this week in referring to the unusual proposal laid before the President last week by Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Governor of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Pinchot suggested that an entire district be turned over to women to test their ability to reduce violations. The President was interested in the proposal and transmitted it to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes with instructions to give the plan careful consideration.

U. N. B. DEBATING TEAM.

A. E. Leslie Booth, Arthur A. Wishart and G. Miles Burpee have been selected to represent U. N. B. in the intercollegiate debate with St. Francis Xavier on March 22 in Antigonish. J. McKay Anderson is manager of the team. The resolution is "Resolved, that the Province of New Brunswick should adopt a form of government sale and dispensation of liquor similar to that in Quebec or British Columbia." U. N. B. will support the affirmative. Arthur Chaisson of St. John is a member of the St. P. X. team.

CHINESE REVENUE INCOME.

Maritime Customs and Salt Ass Principal Producing Agencies. The principal revenue-producing agencies of the Chinese Government are the maritime customs and the salt gabelle, as the salt revenue administration is particularly designated. These services are wholly or largely supervised by foreign officers employed by the Chinese Government. In cases of valuable national assets have been either created or improved with the assistance of experts from abroad.

Since 1920 the customs have been reorganized, and the reorganized salt revenue administration accounted for a net collection of $79,064,108, states a recent report issued by the United States Department of Commerce. Although the Chinese Postal Department was not designed as a revenue producing agency, it has nevertheless, under the direction of a foreign expert and a staff of Chinese and American assistants, developed into an organization of remarkable efficiency, and is producing annually a surplus of $24,000,000.

The lighting of the coast and inland waterways; river and harbor conservancy at Shanghai, Tientsin, Nanking and elsewhere, and the customs colleges are also under the management of the customs officers. The Chinese Postal Department has assumed the service of all China's foreign indebtedness, including the payment of interest and amortization of principal of the Boxer indemnities. The Inspector General of Customs has guaranteed the payment of certain internal or domestic loan issues, particularly those of 1918 and 1919, from surplus of customs receipts not specially set aside for other purposes. As the deposits of the Postal Savings Bank have maintained in those issues, it has been of the highest importance to maintain in this manner their service and security.

The distinctly foreign character of the Customs Service could be adjusted only by the nature of the services performed on behalf of the Chinese Government, that is, services largely involving foreign interests. The direct import and export trade of China is almost entirely in the hands of non-Chinese merchants; ships trading to China ports are largely of foreign registry, and lighthouses, harbors and waterways principally are of foreign ownership. Upon the formation of the first international banking consortium in 1919 a loan of $28,000,000 was made to the Chinese Government to reorganize and finance the newly established republic. As security, the annual receipts from the tax on salt was ceded to the consortium. The consortium, consisting of British, French, German, Russian and Japanese banks, provided the loan, and the consortium's share on salt should be modernized with the assistance of foreign advisers. Beginning with May, 1919, arrangements were made for the collection of the salt tax at certain specified places, or districts incorporated in the provinces for deposit in the banks representative of the consortium.

Production, transportation and sale of salt in China is strictly limited, by treaty with the foreign powers, to no more than 2,000,000 tons annually. The net collection of the salt tax, after defrayment of administrative charges, increased from $23,000,000, Mexican, in 1917, $29,277,536 in 1918 and $72,440,560 in 1919. This increase has been gradually maintained since despite disturbed political conditions.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

(Bank of Commerce Circular.) Maintenance of the volume of Canadian exports, principally to the United States, unusual activity in the lumber business, and substantial improvement in the iron and metal trades are among the favorable indications for the present. Although much is being said regarding agricultural depression there are signs of improvement. Payments in account of indebtedness continue to be slightly better than anticipated. The reports issued during February by mortgage loan companies indicate that the present conditions under consideration, payments up to December 31st last were not altogether unsatisfactory. It may be of interest to note, in connection with the collections made by the Soldier Settlement Board, which in the Regina district were 69.3 per cent. of the total amount due, in Saskatchewan 41 per cent., and in Prince Albert 64.2 per cent. Seeing that the soldier settlers were placed on their farms at a time when stock and land commanded higher prices than at present, the results cannot but be regarded as encouraging.

The margin between the savings deposits and the commercial loans of the chartered banks is widening steadily. The volume of railway traffic, of exports and of domestic trade is not slackening, and there are no complaints of abnormal unemployment in any section of the Dominion. In addition the activity in building, mining, lumbering and manufacturing shows no signs of slackening. These are factors of a hopeful character.

A DIFFERENCE.

(Montreal Gazette.) The edict will likely go forth shortly that no lady can be allowed to occupy more than sixteen inches of the precincts of a church. The Duke of York's wedding, although this will scarce entail as much self-sacrifice as in former days, when criminals were executed by guillotine, is being celebrated in the case of the second rendering of "The Messiah" in Dublin, the Irish beauties of Handel's day volunteered to leave their "bosoms" at home. By thus diminishing their lovely forms it was possible to seat two hundred extra people. This was a signal triumph, not for Handel but for his masterpiece of oratorio. Today the smart set willingly alienate their draperies for such an occasion as a royal wedding, but it is to be feared that they would not alter one stitch at the bidding of the greatest artists of the world ever produced.

RACE-TRACK GAMBLING.

(Presbyterian Witness.) The results of another racing season on the race tracks of Ontario have been published by the Government of that Province, showing the total money wagered in 1922 to be $44,244,402 some two million dollars more than the stakes of 1920, but more than twelve million less than in 1921. It is estimated that the total amount wagered in all Canada during the past year was about $65,000,000. Apart from any moral considerations, this constitutes a serious handicap on legitimate business. In addition to this, however, there is the money wagered illegally with handbooks men in shops, stores, poolrooms, hotels, factories, etc., which no one can know.

CAME TO BE A BRIDE, IS SENT BACK TO EUROPE

Barentzen, Who was to Marry Foster Mother of His Three Children, Cannot be Found.

New York, March 5.—Ellis Island officials reluctantly ordered the deportation of Marie Svendsen and the three small children of Frederick Barentzen of 288 Dean street, Brooklyn, because the father had failed to appear for them after he had brought them and Miss Svendsen to this country from Copenhagen. Arriving here on Jan. 20, Miss Svendsen told her story, verified by documents, that three years ago when Mrs. Barentzen died, she left her position as cashier in Barentzen's leather goods business in Copenhagen to rear the motherless youngsters, two boys and a girl.

She said that last September Barentzen sold his business and came to the United States. In December he proposed marriage to her by letter and sent an affidavit announcing his intention, upon which she obtained her passport. Barentzen met the group at Hoboken and then disappeared. When he failed to return Miss Svendsen and the children were taken to Ellis Island where a special board of inquiry considered the case. As no one legally empowered appeared for the children, they were ordered deported.

It was said that an inquiry was underway to determine if Barentzen could not also be deported on the ground that a man who did not want his children was an undesirable. Miss Svendsen and the children were put on board the Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII.

WOMEN GET 3 YEARS IN $3,000 SPIRIT FRAUD

Aids of Mrs. Santoro, Serving 10 Years, Sentenced—Daughters of One Attack Complainant.

New York, March 5.—Clementino Carbo, forty-three, and Maril Aquaro, forty-two, two of the three women convicted of defrauding a young man and his fiancé of $3,000 on the promise of driving away "evil spirits," were sentenced three years each in the penitentiary by Judge Collins in General Sessions. Mrs. Rosa Santoro, leader in the conspiracy, was sentenced several weeks ago to from ten to twenty years in Auburn.

As Katherine Diodatti and Edward Stoppello, the complainants, were leaving the court room after the sentences had been imposed, Josephine Carbo, sixteen, and her sister, Julia, twenty-three, daughters of one of the prisoners, attacked Katherine. Julia struck at Katherine, shouting, "Now, are you satisfied?" Her sister screamed several curses at Katherine.

Katherine sought protection behind Stoppello and other men in the corridor until the arrival of William Collins, a court attendant, and several policemen. They dragged the Carbo girls to an upper floor, where they fainted. In the meantime the complainants gained the street.

Testimony at the trials of the women showed that Mrs. Santoro and the other defendants warned the girl and her fiancé that they would be missed by the "evil spirits" in their married life if they didn't bribe the spirits with the $3,000 through Mrs. Santoro.

The Dawning--Roll Collar Coats and Blouse Draped

HERE ahead of time, but no one complains! One after another come Coats, with draped collars that may be worn high, with set-in sleeves, Russian blouse backs and profuse braiding or embroidery above a low waist. English Knotted Tweeds, Indistinct Plaids and Utilus all-weather Wool Twills.

The first catchy point about the Suits is the Blouse Waist, and here is where row on row of broad to narrow braid along with tuckings, creates individual character. Even as low as $24.75.

A wrappy Coat of Reindeer Rimona has the high soft collar, blousy fullness and a straight skirt on narrow lines, but lacking the all-over embroidery in self tone. Tucking trim and twin golden clasps add the last touches, $64.75.

Another before we go on—a Midnight Blue Velour, embroidered in self-tone and Cedar, again the Russian Blouse back and crushy collar, but with independent side panels, pointed silk lined, and $39.75.

Utility Coats, Cloths and Colors

Lowat Polo brings suggestions of later color symphonies. Pebbled Tweeds are something people look at twice for their natty knottiness in up-and-coming Herringbones, Greys and Blues. The softness of fine fabric and color tone strikes home to you in the Indistinct Plaid Worsteds in lighter Greys and Blues. The heavier Coats often have wide collars. Many of these English Worsteds models, like the Utilus Blues and Tans, never fret when it's wet. Trenchy backs, inverted pleats, belts and raglan sleeves describe them. Prices from $19.75.

The Mandarin Suit Coat, Too

In Suits the Blouse Coat has a rival in the box styles, especially where it is after the Mandarin order. One will button all the way down, another will flare from one or two top buttons, lengths vary and skirts are plain. The trimmings are as many as the models, and materials feature first Picotines and Tricotines in new Tans, and in Navy and Black. MISS CANADA AT HALIFAX.
Miss Canada, Miss Halifax and Miss Moncton were the guests Saturday night at Halifax of the Gyro Club at a formal ball given at the Auditorium. A large throne was provided for the trio. At their right was seated Premier E. H. Armstrong, and on the left Mayor John Murphy. The ball room was brilliantly decorated. Miss Canada attended services at the Grafton street Methodist church yesterday morning, occupying Premier Armstrong's pew.

Fire on Saturday night about 12.25 did considerable damage to the Perry Fruit and Confectionery store at the head of the West Side ferry floats. The fire got in between the walls and gave the firemen a stubborn battle. About two hours elapsed before the all out was sounded. The damage was partially covered by insurance. The store is owned by George Chaggaria.

THE RIDDLE OF THE SPINNING WHEEL

Being An Exploit in the Career of Hamilton Cleek, Detective By MARY E. AND THOMAS W. HANSHEW

The Castle O' Dreams To say that Cragorth—that little unknown village of the Highlands which lies like an eagle's acie upon the crest of the hills, scattering its few dwelling-places like seed over the hill-side and down into the valley below—stood half-an-hour's distance from the station was to underestimate the fact. For it took Cleek and Dollops and Miss Duggan two mortal hours of driving in the station back before they came in sight of it.

And it was just as they reached a bend in the hill-road and came out upon a deep ravine, moss-covered and still wreathed with the mists of the morning, that Cleek saw Aygon Castle for the first time, and felt the whole true meaning of what it meant to these lairds of the Highlands to live here, generation after generation, giving to their children the right of ownership in the ancestral homes; it was just then that

Miss Duggan turned in her seat and pointed with one arm out-thrown toward it. "That's the Castle. Isn't it too magnificently beautiful for words, Mr. Deland?" she said, with a suggestion of a catch in her voice at sight of it. "With those mists wreathing it about, and all its dear, gaunt, worn turrets peering the top of the world like that! Now you can imagine how I felt toward the woman who would wrest all this from Ross, take what is his rightful inheritance from him and give it to a boy who is only half a Scotoman, and with the blood of another country running in his veins! Now you can understand why I came all the way to London to see Mr. Narkom. Look on it, Mr. Deland, and drink in its beauty. The sight of it is like heaven itself to me."

Cleek did look on it to his heart's fill, and drank so deep of its majestic beauty as to be well-nigh intoxicated with it. The artist's soul of the man was afire with the chill grandeur of the place. From turreted towers rising through the gray mists, like the towers and the turrets of the Holy City itself, Aygon Castle was like some enchanted palace, like some figment of the mind's weaving in those hours of day-dreams which lie between the dark and the day.

To the left of it a huge watch-tower reared its monstrous head to the blue-flecked Highland sky, set atop of which stood the figure of a man, gigantic and wrought in bronze, with the plaid of the Duggans sweeping across his shoulder and edging out into a marvellous real billow behind him, one huge forearm raised in the hand of which was a battle-axe, standing out black and menacing against the early morning sky.

Cleek swept a hand out to it, while Dollops, silent up to the present, gave forth the feeling of his Cockney soul in one long-drawn "Swelp me!" of utter enthusiasm.

"Who is the gentleman of the axe, Miss Duggan?" said Cleek, turning toward her, his face alight with interest. "What a magnificent thing it is! And how he stands out against this Highland sky of yours—menacing, victorious, utterly sublime! Some ancestor, no doubt?"

"The ancestor. The greatest of all that great line of Duggans, or Macduggans, as it was then," she responded in a hushed, exultant voice. "Chief of the greatest and most powerful clan of all Scotland, in those days when Scotland was a country apart, and the Scottish chiefs were little kings in their own dominion, ruling in absolute monarchy over their subjects. Rhesa de Macduggan. That was his name, Mr. Deland. A great and powerful and just man. And when this Castle was built over the spot where his camp had been in those bygone glorious days, the Magduggan who had it built caused that statue to be erected, and had it wrought in finest bronze, to endure throughout the centuries. You can see for yourself how well Rhesa has withstood the buldgeoning of time. And, too, you may understand a little, at sight of him, what this place means to my brother and me, and how loath we are even to entertain the thought of letting it get out of the family."

"And is the estate not entailed?"

"Unfortunately not this portion of it. That part which follows the entail comprises a couple of the adjacent vil-

Gibbard Solid Mahogany Dick Conley Surprises His Wife

There was something mysterious about Dick Conley that night. Somehow his eyes shone a little brighter than usual and he was exceedingly careful to keep a thin, flat package behind his back when Mrs. Conley came into the hall to welcome him. The Mystery The mystery came out after dinner when, as usual, Mrs. Dick came over, sat on the arm of his big chair and tried to read the women's page while he digested the sporting news. This time, though, when she got settled down, he pulled a narrow yellow strip from his breast pocket and held it up for her to read. "See that, kitten," he said exultantly. "That check is the reward for all that night work I did for the last two months. And this," pulling the flat, thin package from behind his back, "is where you pick out that bedroom suite you've been hankering for." You know what followed immediately. Just What She Wanted Mrs. Dick became enthusiastic as soon as the package containing the Gibbard Catalogue was opened. "There's what I'd like," she said, pointing, after a few pages had been turned. "That lovely Colonial suite. I've always wanted a four-poster bed. My, wouldn't it make the guest room a picture? But I'm afraid it is out of the question. I priced a suite like it at Ranney's, the antique dealer's, the other day, and it was twice what I'd care to pay even if we had fifty thousand. Of course, it was solid mahogany and was bought in from some old family, but—"

lages and a lot of farmsteads out there across the valley. But the Castle—no. In olden days each son of the family fought for it against the surviving hold-ers of it, fought a personal battle of strength to prove himself worthy of it, and then, upon victory—or proved worth-iness—he was still made the line has never been broken, Mr. Deland. And today my brother and I are as willing to fight for it as were our an-cestors. "And I don't blame you, either," said Cleek with alacrity, sighing a little, as though some thought of all this time against the hand of an enemy, and die fighting rather than that it should slip out of my reach. . . . And you mean to tell me that your brother Ross has installed electric lighting here?" She smiled a little, and nodded her head as one might smile at thought of some child's deliciously childish and foolish action. One could see that she worshipped her brother. "Yes, Mr. Deland. A complete installation, which is better than the envy and the desire of every other land-owner for miles around."

"And why the envy, may I ask?" "Because the fortunes of many are lower than ours. The Duggans were always the wealthiest clan in this part of the country. The other clans were poor. They are still poor. And we, too, are poorer than we were. The land takes nearly all our income to wrest something from its wildness and then the heather and the stretches of gorse-covered moor. We herd the flocks on those parts, Mr. Deland, but cultivation of the rest is very difficult. It is so wild, too barren. And the other big houses are indeed envious of our wonderful lighting arrangements. It has been the root of much friendly quar-relling among us. But the villagers are terrified!" "I can well understand that—in this uncivilized quarter," put in Cleek with a smile. "Many, I have no doubt, still use the old rushlight of former days. Ah, here is the village." My man and I had better put up at the local hotel, Miss Duggan, as a couple of fishermen—I'll be bound your salmon is wonderful in these parts, and I for one love the sport—and then we can effect an introduction by the aid of our mutual friend, Miss Lorne, and perhaps tomorrow I might be permitted to call upon you. How does that satisfy your mind?" She put but a hand to him with an impetuosity that was foreign to her. "It satisfies me splendidly. You are more than kind to take such an interest. Put up at the Three Fishers, by all means, Mr. Deland. The landlady is a kindly soul, and will give you every attention, I know. And then, if you will be good enough, call tomorrow morning—unless I have to send for you before then. And if so, how shall I do that?" The hack drew up in front of the Inn of the Three Fishers and Cleek and Dollops dismounted, the latter entering the inn with their baggage, while Cleek stood at the side of the carriage, leaning over the edge of it to speak to its sole occupant. Beyond him, directly opposite to them, the village street broke off into a slope that led down into the valley, rock-bound and lichen-covered with heather-bells and the outstretched arms of prickly gorse-bushes. While on an adjacent hill directly in front and rising out of the valley itself up a steep mountainside stood Ay-gon Castle, its many windows commanding a distant view of the village, and practically upon a level with it, so that some of those same windows faced upon those of the inn, with the street and then the valley and the hillside on which it stood between.

Cleek waved a hand toward it now. "Which is your own window?" he asked softly.

She pointed. "Fourth from the left. That tall, narrow slit-like one. It has mullioned panes—see? There are only three others like that on this side. The fourth from the left is mine.

"Why?" "Because," said Cleek meaningly, "if you want me, put a light in that window—a red light, for preference, as at this distance it would be easier to see. And light and re-light it three times. I shall be on the watch. And if not I, my man Dollops. Until tomorrow morning, when I shall call. Remember—three times, if you want me, and I shall come immediately—in my professional guise or not, as you like. And keep up your heart, Miss Duggan. Things may not be as black as you think. Fourth from the left, isn't it?"

"Fourth from the left. How kind you are! I shall never be able to thank you for all your interest. And I have a little disused bicycle lamp in my hill road it went creeping along, at an incredibly slow pace it seemed from position above it, on and on into the valley, and then up, up, the opposite hillside, through bushes and shrubs that screened it now and again from view, and betwixt immense boulders, until eventually it came abreast of the huge wrought-iron gates of the place and passed between them out of sight. (To Be Continued.)"

For Coffee and Tea YOUR family or your guests will call your coffee or tea "the best I ever tasted" if you cream it with Carnation Milk. This creamy milk adds a new flavor and richness at less cost than cream. For Carnation is fresh, pure, whole milk with about 60% of the water removed by evaporation till it is like cream, and then made safe by sterilization. For ordinary milk uses you simply add a little more than an equal part of water to take the place of that removed. For use in tea, add three parts water to one part Carnation. What milk could be more convenient and economical. Order from your grocer several tall (16-oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans.

DOCTOR UPHOLDS HIGH TRADITIONS OF HIS CALLING

Miles by Auto and on Foot Through a Blizzard to Patient

Loses His Way in Wilds—Returns Home to Receive and Respond to Another Call Several Miles Distant.

North Adams, Mass., March 5.—In this winter of heavy snows in New England the country doctor has been subjected to unusual hardships. With hill roads blocked by drifts for days, and sometimes at a time, he has had to resort to many expedients to reach patients in isolated farmhouses. The use of snowshoes has been common, and one physician has built a special ski-runner equipment for his motor car. One of the outstanding feats of perseverance in the face of difficulty and danger was that of Dr. John H. Riley, the oldest physician in this city. The January snowfall in North Adams was 39 inches and in the outlying towns among the Berkshire mountains the wind swept the snow into huge drifts. Early one evening when the blizzard was raging Dr. Riley was notified that a little girl was apparently dying from pneumonia in a farmhouse on the side of Florida Mountain. A boy who had managed to work his way down over the half broken out roads in an automobile brought the word. Dr. Riley immediately started out with the boy in the car. A high wind was blowing and when they reached an exposed point on the main highway, the snow had drifted so badly that the car stalled. The physician, wearing a heavy fur overcoat and carrying his medicine case, started on foot up the mountain towards the farmhouse, several miles distant. On his way he met two men walking down. They urged him to turn back, declaring that he could not get through the storm alive. He refused. Never Despaired. After he had gone some distance the boy, who had succeeded in getting the car started again, overtook him. They were able to drive to a schoolhouse a mile and a half from the farm where the girl was lying ill. There they ran into drifts that stopped all further progress. The highway to the farmhouse from this point was hidden under snow many feet deep and Dr. Riley familiar with the region, struck into a wood road where the forest provided some protection from the gale. Plodding along slowly he suddenly found that he had missed the trail, and was brought up against a barbed wire

He followed the line of the fence for some distance, but could not again locate the wood road. He was almost exhausted and was on the point of discarding his overcoat to lighten his burden, when he saw the light of a swinging lantern. He shouted, but by the sound of his voice was drowned by the wind. He stumbled toward the light and finally came up with the bearer of the lantern, a young woman of the sick child's family. She had ventured out in the hope of meeting him. After Dr. Riley had done all he could for the sick girl he borrowed dry clothing, walked down the trail to the schoolhouse, and came back to North Adams with the boy in the automobile. He had been at home but a few minutes when another call came for him. A woman was dying at Clarksburg, several miles distant. He started out back long after midnight he was nearly without hesitation and was able to make this trip in his car. When he got worn out from his experiences, but the next day he was attending to his calls as usual.

FINLAND DRY, PAYS HIGH FOR LIQUOR

Rum-runners Have a Good Market for "Wet" Goods from Germany.

Copenhagen, Feb. 15.—(By Mail).—Rum, not specifically the sugar cane product of Jamaica and Cuba, but rather any kind of alcoholic beverage stronger than claret and beer, is the basis of a smuggling trade in the Scandinavian countries and Finland that rapidly is assuming national proportions. Most of it comes from Germany. There it costs one crown a litre, and it finds a ready sale elsewhere at six crowns; hence there is a fine margin of profit for the rum-runner. Finland is a dry country, so there is no question of the market. Norway also is dry, but with certain limitations. Spain and Portugal compel her to accept a certain amount every year of wine like port and sherry, else they would not buy her fish, and Sweden has in operation a system of rationing which permits limited consumption, while in Denmark there is no limit whatever, every man can drink as much as he can afford to buy. But here the duty is fantastically high, and cost is the only prohibitive agent. Occasionally the runners lose a cargo, but this happens so very much for the profits easily take care of any such incident. The customs police on shore have been strengthened, and the authorities are watchful, but nevertheless the

RUBBER MEN SEEK TO LOOSE GRIP OF BRITISH MONOPOLY

U. S. Manufacturers Plan a $50,000,000 Corporation to Produce Raw Material for Themselves.

Washington, March 5.—More than 200 tire and rubber manufacturers, meeting in session here Tuesday, adopted measures paving the way for American independence of the British East India rubber growers, said to be seeking to control the world market by restricting production.

The interested American rubber men contemplate having the necessary machinery ready to take immediate advantage of the results of the survey of potential producing regions, which is authorized through the $500,000 appropriation carried in the deficiency bill passed by the House.

Two resolutions adopted at the meeting today protested against the British production restriction and authorized a committee of five members to cooperate with Secretary of Commerce Hoover and the government in the proposed world investigation, which has the object of fostering a new American capitalized rubber production industry.

Among the prominent speakers before the two sessions today were Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois; Major General Francis McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. Secretary Wallace offered the manufacturers the services in his department.

Philippine Rubber Urged

General McIntyre declared the Philippines can be made to produce more than enough rubber to supply the needs of the United States and that Governor General Woods has adopted a far-sighted policy, which is doing much to remove any discounting which might be encountered.

Mr. Firestone stated that the crisis facing the rubber industry of the United States is aggravated by the recent English legislation effective November 1 restricting the exportation of crude rubber from the Far East.

THE MONEY MARKET.

(Toronto Globe.) Canadian banks, among other financial institutions, have been heavy purchasers of gilt-edged securities during recent weeks and their support has been largely responsible for the rapid advance of the market. The fact that banks are able to accumulate funds in such quantity as to necessitate their employment in other channels than those of trade and commerce indicates that general business is still being conducted on a restricted scale.

The contents of Morrell's garage, consisting of office equipment, garage fixtures and tools, were sold at ball's sale on Saturday afternoon. About $418 was realized, and the costs amounted to about $40. The sum of $40 was due for rent. Cars had been belonging to Mr. Morrell, which had not been seized, were released on Friday.

Made Business Grow $1 A Minute In Two Years

Despite Side Street Location Detroit Clothier Establishes New Record for Sales—Expanded Five Times—Handles Only Men's Suits, in Order that Salesmen May be Able to Specialize.

From an even start as a business of more than a million a year, in a side street location, and handling nothing but men's suits, is the record of Harry Sufin, Detroit retail clothier.

More business per square foot than any other clothing store in the world is another distinction claimed by this enterprising clothier.

Another probable record, though there are no figures to substantiate it, is the number of expansions—five—in two and one-half years.

Sufin opened what is said to be the first exclusive "two-pants suit store" in Detroit, in March, 1920, in a forty-by-sixty foot room on a high corner lot, near the main shopping district.

Two months later he added on a selling balcony all the way around the store.

The next expansion, made two months after taking over the second floor space, was the addition of an "economy basement," measuring twenty-five by forty feet, said to be the first department of its kind in the men's clothing trade.

On August 1 of last year he took over the entire building, which meant the addition of two more floors, each forty by sixty feet.

These expansions have been made only as the volume of trade demanded.

Advances of 3 to 7 points had been registered before noon by United Railways, Investment preferred, Stewart-Warner, Stromberg, Soo preferred, American Locomotive, Associated Oil, and Reynolds Spring.

There were a few heavy spots, notably Royal Dutch, California Petroleum, American Smelting and American Woolen, off 1 to 1/2 points.

Call money opened at 5 per cent.

OPPORTUNITY FOR BUYERS AND SELLERS

The British Empire Exhibition Next Year as a Remedy for Poor Trade.

London, March 5.—Once we were called—and rightly—a nation of shoppers. But in the years that have passed since Voltaire, more in envy than in contempt, first flung the description, it has grown too narrow for our world-wide markets.

There have been sudden expansions in certain directions, but in others the result is that a little confusion has arisen. Not all the departments work in harmony, not all are equally well managed and some are hidden away that customers have difficulty in finding them.

The time has come for a thorough overhauling. We must take stock of everything we possess, re-arrange our departments and re-dress our windows. Some of our customers have died many a bank-rupt. We have had debts, and special efforts must be made to get new customers and do more business than ever before. We have goods to sell that no one knows about; these must be brought forward. We have lines that are old-fashioned; these must be replaced by the latest styles. We have goods that need scrutiny and some of our prices may call for revision. All this, and more, must be done, or some of our younger rivals will get ahead of us.

SENATE RATIFIES FISHERIES PACT

Closed Season For Halibut From November 16 to February 15 in Pacific.

(Canadian Press Dispatch.)

Washington, March 4.—The treaty between the United States and the United States Senate today, just before adjournment, it had been blocked temporarily last night by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, but was approved today with an amendment by Mr. Jones providing that its restrictions should apply to all other British nationalities.

The treaty establishes a closed halibut season from Nov. 16 to Feb. 15, and creates a joint commission to regulate North Pacific halibut fishing.

Brokers' Opinions

New York, March 5.—Houseman & Co.—"Profit-taking has been taking place in the list this last few days."

Bache—"We have not changed our belief that prices will be much higher in April and May, but we are fearful that during March we will run into a reactionary period which may bring about some sharp shake-outs."

Clark & Co.—"The value of this market consists in the large number of bears one meets about the Wall Street district."

Phonon & McKinnon—"There is no mistaking the underlying business situation, it is bullish and daily becoming more pronounced."

Wells & Co.—"Our opinion is that the long trend of prices is still decidedly upward."

Evans—"The bull market is in full swing and gives every indication of continuing with only ordinary reactions."

PULP AND PAPER.

(Bank of Commerce Circular.)

Recent advances in price and the continued increase in the production of paper in Canada indicate that the output for the current year will again show an increase in value, such as has come to be regarded as normal.

In 1912 the output of newsprint in Canada was 256,000 tons, as compared with an output of 1,082,000 tons in 1922. During the calendar year 1922, 19,100,000 cwt. of newsprint were exported, as compared with 14,184,812 cwt. in 1921, valued respectively at $68,303,817 and $68,786,217. Exports of other products, however, such as paper, board and wrapping papers, have declined slightly in volume.

It would appear that while the production of newsprint in Canada has been steadily expanding, in the United States it has been practically stationary since 1912. The latter country has therefore become more and more dependent upon Canada for its supplies.

Last year, for the first time, Canadian production exceeded 1,000,000 tons, while that of the United States was 1,448,000 tons, the latter being to a considerable extent dependent upon Canadian pulp and pulvwood. In 1922, 17,000,000 cwt. of pulp and 1,011,332 cords of pulvwood were exported, as compared with 10,500,000 cwt. of pulp and 1,092,433 cords of pulvwood in 1921.

Work at Courtney Bay will start again in about April 1. The repair men will be back on the job today and it is expected that by April some 600 men will be at work. There are about 200 men at work at the present time.

LIFE WAS BURDEN SAYS THIS MAN

John McNeen's Condition was such that his arms and legs felt as if they were cracking every time he moved—Stomach trouble, Constipation and Indigestion cured by Dr. Co.

John B. McNeen, of Fredericton, N. B., is a farmer and like the average farmer his life has meant hard work, exposure, and a certain amount of worry. At the age of 62 he found this had told on him and the penalty was a stomach that did not function properly; constipation and rheumatism.

LIFE WAS BURDEN SAYS THIS MAN

John McNeen's Condition was such that his arms and legs felt as if they were cracking every time he moved—Stomach trouble, Constipation and Indigestion cured by Dr. Co.

"I was troubled so with rheumatism," says Mr. McNeen, "that at times I thought every bone in my arms and legs was cracking, the pain was so severe. My kidneys were also very weak and I had a poor appetite. He has taken three bottles of Dr. Co. and in three weeks he has gained six pounds in weight and his general condition is wonderfully improved."

LIFE WAS BURDEN SAYS THIS MAN

"I thank the day I started taking Dr. Co. as it has made a new man of me. I can enjoy my meals now. The gas and the pains in my stomach are gone. My kidneys are in a fine condition, better than ever. The rheumatism in my joints is practically gone and my bowels are regular. I sleep all night like a baby of 10. I am continuing the treatment and am sure I will get the best of results."

LIFE WAS BURDEN SAYS THIS MAN

There are many farmers and city people who suffer just as Mr. McNeen did. Such conditions are unnecessary when one or two bottles of Dr. Co. are taken. Dr. Co. is a safe, reliable, and effective remedy for all stomach and bowels troubles. It is sold in St. John by Messrs. Gilbert, 100 King street, and by F. W. Munro, 373 Main street. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson and in West St. John by Watson & Dunslop.

Our Portrait is of Mr. E. F. WHEELER, of 22 Regent Street, Bath, Dorset, England, who writes: "About two years ago I had a nasty cold which broke out in my big toe. I had it attended to for about three months, but during that time it had spread to all the toes, with the result that I had to undergo an operation, but with no avail. Then, after another operation, as it did not get any better, I thought I would give your 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' a trial. After taking the first three bottles I could walk better, and now after having nine bottles the wound has quite healed, and I am pleased to say I have not seen any sign of it breaking out since."

Sloans

Sufferers from Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, etc., should take this medicine. It is a powerful blood purifier and will give temporary relief. It is sold in St. John by Messrs. Gilbert, 100 King street, and by F. W. Munro, 373 Main street. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson and in West St. John by Watson & Dunslop.

SUPPORTS CAUSE OF CHURCH UNION

Principal of Congregationalist College Argues That Church Government is Only Means to End.

(Canadian Press.)
Montreal, March 5.—Supporting the cause of church union so far as Congregationalists are concerned, Rev. Dr. D. L. Ritchie, principal of the Theological College of that denomination, uttered a pronouncement in Emmanuel Church here yesterday. He urged that the form of church government was a matter of temporal expediency in any given time and circumstance, an end to a means and not an end in itself. He read out a notice that on March 21 next there would be a public meeting of the congregation, at which the issue of union with the other negotiating churches, Presbyterian and Methodist, would be discussed.

HYDRO DELAY HAS COST CITY $80,000 IN ONE ITEM ONLY

In answer to a remark by Commissioner Wigmore this morning that there was a great deal of propaganda concerning the Common Council causing unnecessary delay to the Hydro Commission, R. A. McAvity this morning denied emphatically that any of this had emanated from the commission or that the members were responsible in any way. He spoke of the rise in the copper market and said that it had increased twenty-five per cent, entailing a loss of $80,000.

Married 24 Hours And Deserted

Denver Woman Traces Husband to New York and Set Trap For His Arrest.

New York, March 5.—Less than twenty-four hours after he was married last Dec. 18 in Denver to Ruth Silver, Edward Altman, a salesman, deserted her, according to the complaint upon which he was arrested at Forty-second street and Broadway by Detectives Joseph Appel and Patrick Flood. In the West Side Court, Mrs. Altman told Magistrate Max S. Levine how Altman proposed to her in the morning and married her in the afternoon, disappearing soon afterward. She said Altman told wonderful stories of his wealth, and said her mother cashed two checks for him, one for $800 and the other on the morning of her marriage for $200.

Mrs. Altman came here and traced her husband to 1468 Forty-fourth street, Brooklyn. She enlisted the aid of the police through her attorney, Bernard H. Sandler of 261 Broadway, and telephoned to Altman that she was ready to forgive him and that she had brought a large sum of money. Altman agreed to meet her, and the two detectives, who were waiting with her, arrested him.

OPIMUM CASE IN POLICE COURT

Three Chinese Allowed Out on $50 Bail—Believed That Others Escaped—$200 Fine in Liquor Case.

Seven men charged with drunkenness appeared before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning. They were fined $8 or two months in jail and told they were liable to a fine of $200 "for taking the stuff from a stranger."

Hugh McDonald pleaded guilty to having liquor in his possession other than his private dwelling. He was remanded to jail as he was unable to pay the $200 fine imposed by the court.

A deposit of $50 each was fixed by the magistrate against Frank Hum, Hum Wing Que and Hum Ong, three Chinese, charged with being inmates of an alleged opium joint at 5 George street. William M. Ryan, who appeared on behalf of the prisoners, asked that the case be postponed until Wednesday afternoon. This the court granted.

The premises were raided early yesterday morning by Detective Squanders, Sergeant McLesse, Policemen Coughlan and Melnis and Plainclothesman Kilpatrick. The entry of the police caused a hurried scurry on the part of the inmates for safety and it was said that three or four made good their escape. The place was in darkness and the police were hampered in their search. The authorities have been suspicious of the place for some time. A search by the police revealed a small quantity of opium, an opium lamp, a tin of partly burned opium, an opium pipe in full working order and other paraphernalia.

ABSENT 30 YEARS; MAN DIES WEEK AFTER RETURN

Disappeared Day After Wife was Murdered in 1893—Brought Back and Left on Sister's Doorstep.

(By Canadian Press.)
Elyria, Ohio, March 5.—With advice to "take care of him, he's got to live," a man appeared at the door of his home on West Broad street eight days ago with a sick, helpless, cripple, whom he deposited in the door and left.

Coroner Perry was notified of his death today.

It was from this home that John Hulf, a college graduate, disappeared in December, 1893, on the day following the murder of his wife in Cleveland.

Of late years the old homestead has been occupied by his sister, Miss Julia Hulf, who lives there alone.

Eight days ago a stranger rang the door bell and asked Miss Hulf if she had a brother.

DESCRIBES JOHN D. AS ABJECT PAUPER

Debs Tells Socialists That Rockefeller Lives in Constant Dread of Assassins—A Veritable Prisoner.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Chicago, Mar. 5.—John D. Rockefeller, is "an abject pauper serving a life sentence in a castle at Tarrytown," Eugene V. Debs told Socialists here yesterday in the opening speech of his campaign for William Cunnea, lawyer and Socialist candidate for mayor.

He pictured socialism as an association of men working for each other's good and compared their life to what he said was Mr. Rockefeller's.

"John D. Rockefeller, who has the most dollars of any man in the world, to my way of thinking is an abject pauper," Mr. Debs said. "He is not a prisoner in Atlanta, but is serving a life sentence in a castle at Tarrytown, N. Y."
