SLAYER OF KETCHEL IS CAPTURED

THE LATE STANLEY KETCHEL.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 16.—Walter A. Hertz, who shot and killed Stanley Ketchel, world's middleweight champion yesterday, was captured today at the home of Thomas Haggard, one mile from Niagara, Mo. Hertz was taken to the Webster county jail at Marshfield where he is being closely guarded.

Over a Woman. Hertz in describing the killing asserts Ketchel made insulting remarks to Goldie Smith, a cook employed at the farm. He says words passed between him and Ketchel and he ordered the prize fighter to throw up his hands. When the champion refused to do this he said he was so frightened knowing Ketchel carried a revolver, that he fired and without hardly realizing what he had done, fled.

WELLMAN SAYS GOOD-BYE TO THE ATLANTIC COAST

Last Message from Daring Aeronaut Received Off Nantucket at Noon Yesterday After He Had Journeyed 300 Miles in 29 Hours—Expected at Sable Island Tuesday.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—Cleaving its way through an ambient fog shroud, at a speed declared in wireless messages to be 25 miles an hour, without the aid of its engines which had been stopped, the great dirigible balloon America, in which Walter Wellman yesterday started for Europe from Atlantic City, passed beyond the zone of direct wireless communication with shore shortly after noon today.

Meantime communication with shore is possible at nearly all times, through the medium of passing vessels, equipped with wireless. The messages from the America which filtered to shore through the fog before the dirigible passed beyond the limit of direct communication with shore, were assuring as to the present conditions aboard the airship, but one message signed by Mr. Wellman indicated doubt as to the success of the venture. He declared: "The outlook is not so favorable, but we are keeping up the fight."

An earlier message, also signed by him, said: "Have shut down motors, and am heading east, northeast. Making 25 knots an hour without engines. Saving juice for wireless; dynamo not working. Thick fog; no observation obtainable." To a query flashed about 12:45 p.m. from the wireless station at Siasconnet, on Nantucket Island, inquiring: "Is everything still ok?" wireless operator J. K. Irwin, aboard the America, returned the brief answer: "Yes." The faintness with which the short reply was received was judged by the wireless experts at Siasconnet familiar with local atmospheric conditions, and the effect on wireless messages, to indicate that the America was heading to the eastward probably a little northeast of the wireless.

As the radius of the America's wireless transmitting power is understood to be only 100 miles, it appears that the balloon was about that distance east, northeast of the station at the time. The lack of any reference in today's message to any atmospheric disturbance last night, is taken to indicate that the America was not affected by the storm which passed over New England. Siasconnet, Mass., Oct. 16.—Some where east of Sable Island, off the coast of Massachusetts, and approximately 300 miles from Atlantic City, its starting point, Walter Wellman's air ship America signalled a wireless "A" and a good bye at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon, and swung on up the coast through the fog.

CHARGES MADE AT MONTREAL

Secretary Of Dominion Alliance Claims There Are 500 Unlicensed Saloons In City—Fearful Orgies Practiced.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, Oct. 15.—Rev. J. H. Roberts, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, in a sermon preached at the First Baptist church tonight strongly denounced the administration of the liquor laws in Montreal. Some of Secretary Roberts' statements were of a sensational character, but he maintained that he could prove them. He declared that there were over 500 unlicensed liquor dealers in Montreal, and that the Red Light district was flourishing as much as ever. On Sunday night he declared that orgies were taking place in saloons and hotels that were making a strong demand and clamor out of Montreal. Sunday the places were frequented by men and women of the lowest, while the police stood outside and did nothing, though they knew what was going on.

APPEAL BOOK WILL BE HUGE AFFAIR

Special to The Standard. Toronto, Oct. 15.—The appeal book in the appeal for George East Lasater, M.P., from the decision in favor of editor J. A. MacDonald, in the historic libel action, will be a huge affair. Its cost it is estimated will be about $1,800. This morning N. W. Rowell, K.C., applied to Chief Justice Moss for an order directing appellant to print his objections to the judges charge in detail. If this is done, it is said that reasons for appeal alone will cover 150 pages.

SEN. DOLLIVER PASSED AWAY ON SATURDAY

THE LATE J. P. DOLLIVER.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, Oct. 15.—Senator J. P. Dolliver died suddenly today. An ability to talk — an oratorical gift that stamped him a leader wherever men congregated — made Senator J. P. Dolliver a public figure, and brought him out of the seclusion of Fort Dodge, Ia., where he was practicing law in 1889.

Blaine heard of Dolliver when the former was running for president back in 1884 against Cleveland. Dolliver was then a young fellow but 28 years old. Blaine made up his mind to secure the oratorical services of the young Iowa, sent for him, and Dolliver stumped the east. Shortly after that memorable campaign and Dolliver had gone back to his splendid law practice at Fort Dodge, the "boys" began to run him for congress. He did not take this running business seriously until 1890, when he got out and hustled, and carried his district. From that time he grew in importance and power, and his oratorical powers carried him to leadership.

In 1899 a vacancy occurred in the senate and the governor of Iowa sent Dolliver on to represent his state in the upper house, and the legislature confirmed the appointment. He remained in the senate from that time on.

SHELDON MAY BE IN MEXICO

Special to The Standard. Montreal, Oct. 16.—No further news has been heard of Sheldon, the financial wizard whose absence from the city many people are mourning, but it is generally believed that he is in Mexico by this time. It is estimated that it will take at least three weeks to prepare a statement for Sheldon's creditors. There are between 480 and 500 names on the leaves of the nine ledgers which have to be gone over and in such bad shape is the estate that work will be extremely slow.

CENTENARY OF AMHERST CHURCH

Special to The Standard. Amherst, Oct. 16.—Overflowing attendance marked all the centenary services in the first Baptist church, today. In the morning Rev. J. H. McDonald, of Fredericton, was the chief speaker who took for his subject, The Work of a Century of Church Work. In the afternoon Rev. G. A. Lawson, of Halifax, spoke on Some Sunday School Values. His address was an able effort and was followed with marked attention.

President Cutler, of Acadia, an old Amherst boy, was the speaker in the evening and delivered an eloquent and practical address on economic problems in connection with church work. One of the features of the morning and evening services was the appeals to wipe out the debt of the church. Pledges aggregating $12,000 were given covering a period of five years. Among the contributors was E. S. Rhodes, M. P., $200 a year for five years; N. Curvey, C. B. Smith and anonymous contributors gave a like amount. There were in all about 100 pledges procured. The services will be continued until Thursday. The fine schoolhouse at Chignecto Mines about five miles from Amherst, was destroyed by fire on Saturday. It was in two departments and the loss to this section will be about $1500. It is not known how the fire originated. A meeting of the ratepayers of the Organizing Committee of Daughters of Empire Have Travelled 10,000 Miles.

Public Meeting Will be Held on Tuesday for Purpose of Organization.

After a tour of over 10,000 miles, the organizing committee of the Order of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire arrived in the Loyalist City of St. John Saturday for the purpose of forming one or more local chapters of the organization which now covers practically every portion of the British Empire. The committee consists of Miss Catherine Welland Merritt, honorary organizing secretary, of St. Catharines, Ont.; Mrs. Douglas Young, of Kingston; Mrs. Auden, wife of the principal of the upper Canadian college, Toronto, and Miss Nanna Hughes, of Toronto, secretary of the national education committee. The missionaries of this order which now has over 1000 chapters and more than 10,000 members in Canada, left Toronto on Sept. 28 on an organizing tour. They stopped at Quebec, where they were entertained at luncheon by His Excellency the Governor general and then proceeded to St. John's, Newfoundland. There they met with an enthusiastic reception and formed a national chapter of which Lady Hoswood, wife of the chief justice of the Ancient Colony, was elected president. Visited Cape Breton.

The party then went over to Sydney, Cape Breton, where they organized a local chapter, one of the arrangements of which will be to make arrangements to preserve the ruins of the historic fort at Louisbourg from irreverent vandalism and the further ravages of time. From Sydney they proceeded to Charlottetown, P. E. I., and organized two chapters. Returning to Nova Scotia they expounded the aims and objects of the order to the fair ladies of Halifax and organized two chapters—one of matrons and the other of maidens. On their way here they organized chapters at Amherst and Moncton. Continued on page 2.

ADVENTURES OF GIRLS ON TRIP

Special to The Standard. Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—The Standard's winning girls were only slightly affected by seasickness on the trip from St. John. They arrived here at 3.30 p. m. on Saturday and registered at the Crawford House. Sightseeing during the afternoon and the theatre in the evening took up the time. There was much excitement at midnight caused by a fire on Hanover street some distance away. All got up and hurriedly packed their clothes, but finally reached the conclusion that there was no immediate danger. This meant a late breakfast Sunday, and the young ladies spent the forenoon in car rides and strolling through the gardens and Common. In the afternoon the Boston Museum and Library were visited. All are having a glorious time, and it is a very jolly party. They left for New York at six o'clock via the Fall River Line.

LEGAL SQUABBLE OVER SPRINGHILL SCHOOLS

Children Of Strike Breakers Who Were Asked Not To Attend School Sue Police-Chairman For Damages.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, Oct. 16.—The town of Springhill is now threatened with more litigation issuing out of the recent school children's strike. To restore peace at that time, D. Matteson, chairman of police commission, and other town officials, used their persuasive powers to prevent the children of strikebreakers from attending schools. Now two of these children are entering action in the name of their fathers as next friends, for damage for being prevented from attending the schools. Mellish and McInnes, of Halifax have issued writs against Matteson and two officials. This is an extraordinary case and the outcome will be looked forward to with interest.

(By Stanley K. Smith, in Canadian Courier.)

There are pioneers in every province—wonderfully strong men and women who have laid deep the foundations of the nation.

Down in New Brunswick, the other day, one of these wonderful pioneers held a celebration to commemorate the fact that he and his wife had lived together "for richer and for poorer" for fifty-five years, had raised eleven children, had been blessed with thirty-five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Recently he was a visitor to the Dominion Exhibition at St. John, and the writer met him there. A descendant of the L. E. Loyalists, he seems to have fallen heir to some of the indomitable spirit which characterized that heroic people.

His own achievements he did not consider of any great moment. "Yes," he said when questioned, "there was plenty of work to do in those days. We cleared our own farms and had very little to work with. Our ploughs were made of wood with a straight piece for a handle and a pin stuck through it to hold on by."

"Flax was a very important crop for us, and it was the work of the women to prepare it. My wife made her own tablecloths and sheets, besides turning the wool taken from our dozen sheep into clothes for our own backs. Wood boating was our means of travel. We carried not only our own goods to market, but did quite a business for the neighbors and carrying passengers. All depended on the wind. To St. John it was a six hours' trip if we had favorable winds, but sometimes it took two or three days to return."

"We sold very little but cordwood, which brought high prices excepting flour. All these years I was never laid up, and we only had a doctor once since we were married."

To Mrs. Wilson the aged pioneer attributes the successful bringing-up of the children. "The candle was blown out at night," he said, "and not by a train until morning. After the third child was born we never took the older ones out with us, but left them to keep house. I can remember only coming back in the evening and peering in the window to see the little things sitting by the light of the candle with their arms about each other, waiting for our return. Yes, they were good children," concluded Mr. Wilson, with a huskiness in his voice which was not altogether due to his eighty-four years.

RESULTS IN CANADIAN RUGBY GAMES

Montreal, Oct. 16.—The Canadian rugby season opened with a whirl Saturday, but did not furnish many surprises to those who had been following the preliminary work of the teams. Montreal had a close call at Ottawa, and it was only by a fortunate play in the third quarter that started off defeat, finally winning a hard fought game by 12 to 10.

At Hamilton the Toronto Argonauts dispirited by their defeat last week in an exhibition game here went down to defeat, the Tigers easily winning by 19 to 4. The Argos appear to be hopelessly out of the game, and a very small crowd gathered to see them beaten.

Toronto, varsity, however, turned out a strong team and fairly snowed Ottawa college under by 36 to 1. The other college game between McGill and Queens of Kingston was played here and furnished a splendid match which was in doubt all the way. McGill finally won by 6 to 2.

ARRESTED AT MONCTON.

Special to The Standard. Moncton, Oct. 16.—Two Italians named Mick and Aliso are under arrest here charged with stealing an I. C. R. hand car at Berry's Mills. They brought the car to Moncton. The prisoners will be arraigned in the police court tomorrow.

Capt. C. W. Weldon McLean, Royal Field Artillery, arrived in St. John on Saturday from England on a visit to his father, Col. H. H. McLean. He will remain in Canada about a month.

The Spanish Bastille—The famous Prison at Barcelona where Ferrer was imprisoned prior to his execution. Madrid, Oct. 15.—Yesterday was the first anniversary of the execution of Prof. Francisco Ferrer, founder of the modern school at Barcelona, who was convicted of having conspired against the government and brought about a rebellion in the summer of 1909. The day had been dreaded by the authorities, as the Free Thinkers, Socialists and Republicans had planned Ferrer demonstrations that might easily lead to bloodshed. That no untoward incident occurred was due probably to the firm attitude taken by Premier Canalejas, and the ministry and the orders issued to General Weyler captain general of Catalonia, to put down mercilessly any revolt. The government was plainly anxious. Throughout Spain troops were held at their barracks ready for instant service. Every officer and soldier on leave had rejoined his command at daylight. The danger of rioting appeared greatest at Barcelona, where the gov-

WELLMAN ON WAY ACROSS ATLANTIC

Continued from page 1. From that time on the signals from the airship grew steadily weaker until finally at 12:45 a message was flashed from here asking if everything aboard was O. K. Faintly came the reply "Yes." Then fainter still, two letters "GB" (Good bye.) Being unable to take observations in the fog the America's exact position remained unknown through the day as the assumption is that Mr. Wellman with 50 days' fuel and 30 days' provisions aboard, is adhering to his plan of crossing the Atlantic and landing on the British Isles.

It is likely that no further wireless word from the airship will be received here, but a dozen or more liners fitted with wireless were in her zone tonight. When last heard from during the day, 12:45 p. m., the America had been in the air just 18 minutes less than 29 hours and having covered approximately 500 miles, must have averaged in passing between 10 and 11 miles an hour. At this rate the craft will not pass Sable Island, 450 miles distant from Nantucket until 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and Cape Race, 350 miles further until 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Brisk westerly winds aided the passage today and with engines idle while off Nantucket, the wireless must have been operated by storage batteries. This probably accounts for the brevity of Irwin's message for he was doubtless hoarding his limited supply of energy for an emergency. With the motors in operation a dynamo can be pressed into service, but the sparking interferes with the receiving and better results are obtained when they are silent.

Facts to Commemorate. Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 16.—An unsuccessful attempt was made today to obtain the exact position of the America when the last message was sent to Siasconnet, according to "Bob" Miller, wireless operator here. It is supposed the balloon was at least 500 miles off the coast of the United States. Miller was unable to make out a message which he understood bore the news that the America, in a gentle northwest wind, which did not materially impede her progress, had turned north with the intention of driving directly into the trans-Atlantic steamship track. Every effort is being made to get to wireless communication with Cape Cod, Cape Canis, Yarmouth and Cape Race, all of which have wireless stations, and have been asked to get later news if possible from the big dirigible.

WELLMAN ON WAY ACROSS ATLANTIC

Continued from page 1. Yesterday the committee had a conference with Lady Tilley, the local representative of the order and arranged to address a meeting at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The party will leave here Wednesday and proceed to Fredericton where they will be the guests of the lieutenant governor. After addressing the chapter there, they will return to Toronto by way of Quebec, Sherbrooke and Montreal, en route to a journey of over 5000 miles in eastern Canada and Newfoundland.

Last year the committee made a journey to the Pacific coast and organized 18 chapters in the principal cities of the west. They covered 6000 miles on this tour.

Next year's general convention of the order will be held in London, England, at the time of the Imperial Congress called by the Imperial government. Representatives of the order from all parts of the Empire will be present, and the national Chapter of Canada hopes that the delegation of ladies from this country will be large enough to fully justify its boast that it is the premier daughter state of the Empire.

"Our organizing tour through the East has been a splendid success," said Miss Merril, in the course of an interview last evening. "And in a way it has been something of a revelation to us. Up in Ontario, you know, we have an idea that the East is a trifle slow and well, rather too dignified to be enthusiastic. But we have been greatly surprised at the warmth of our reception, and the enthusiastic interest displayed by the ladies, and the men, too, in our mission. Nowhere have we met with greater appreciation of our aims and objects, or more ready sympathy and support. The movement we find, has a special appeal for the people of the East—no doubt because the East with its historic associations is the home of patriotism and loyal devotion to the Empire."

"Our order was organized during the Boer war, and has spread rapidly over the whole Empire. It has branches in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, the West Indies, and other places. It also flourishes among the British-born women now residing in the United States. The wife of the British Ambassador is head of the order in the United States.

KINGS COUNTY FAIR LARGELY ATTENDED

Much Interest Taken in Annual Exhibition of Hampton and Norton Agricultural Society--Field Crops Good.

Hampton, Oct. 12.—The Hampton and Norton agricultural society held a fair and exhibition in their hall and on the grounds adjoining yesterday and today. The first day was devoted to the receiving and placing of products and foods and in judging and making awards and today the grounds and hall have been crowded with sightseers. The show of cattle was not as extensive as at some former fairs, but the quality was well up to the best to be seen anywhere.

The sheep made a fine showing, but the swine, like the live stock were small but excellent. The poultry exhibit was good and some of the geese shown could hardly be surpassed. The field crops all but potatoes, were above the average, the grain fine in every class, and the fruits especially apples, as good as produced in the most notable producing countries. Butter, honey and bread exhibits were well up to the best standards and the woolen, art and fancy goods departments were of the finest quality, especially was this the case with the squash and pumpkin entries.

The cattle, sheep and swine awards at the Hampton and Norton fair were as follows:

- Cattle—Jerseys. Bull, 2 years—James Gilchrist; yearling, 1st, S. T. Fairweather; 2nd, J. K. Hayes. Cow, 4 years and over—Jas. Gilchrist; 3 years and over, 1st, Wm. Drew; 2nd, Jas. Gilchrist. Nothing had been heard from the America since early last evening, until she was spoken of Nantucket this morning. So far as can be learned the final messages sent from the America through the Siasconnet station were the last that can be forwarded direct to shore stations, if the America puts straight out to sea.

SENATOR DOLLIVER DIED ON SATURDAY

Continued from page 1. He was a conspicuous figure in that body. He was of the La Follette stamp both men were recognized insurgents and Dolliver was proud of it. He steadfastly opposed the Aldrich tariff of 1909-1910, was steadfastly honest in his trust, and was "read the party."

Senator Dolliver, the son of the village preacher of Ringwood, Va., was born there in 1858. His early life was similar to that of other boys, but he once secured a copy of the congressional record and read it through from cover to cover. This was when he was 12 years old and seemed to inspire him with the ambition to become a law maker.

He went to the state university at Morgantown and graduated when he was 17 years old. Then he went out west, and taught school at Victor Centre, Ill. He next bobbed up as a lawyer at Fort Dodge, Ia., where he remained for some time. Unlike many senators he was not rich. He owned a modest home and a farm or two, but outside of that he welcomed the salary he received as a legislator. He spent his summers with his wife and three children on his Iowa farm, which he said "was touched by two rivers. Out there we live in tents during the hot months, but I am going to build a house if I ever get enough money ahead."

Fort Dodge, Ia., Oct. 16.—Funeral services for Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver will be held on Thursday at 2 o'clock. It was announced today.

Everybody in Fort Dodge is in mourning for the loss of the town's most noted citizen. The suddenness of the senator's death caused a shock from which the people have not yet recovered. Last evening a little more than an hour before death came Senator Dolliver chatted cheerfully with Mayor S. J. Bennett, a life-long friend. Only an hour before his demise, Mr. Dolliver spoke hopefully of his recovery to district judge R. M. Wright, who called to ask after the Senator's health. During the afternoon Senator Dolliver took a walk in his garden which had been one of his pleasures, he seemed to be well and talked to several people.

Hundreds of telegrams of sympathy poured in on Mrs. Dolliver today from all parts of the country. Nearly every member of both houses of congress sent condolences. Messages also came from most of the governors and from the President, cabinet officers and other public men.

President's Sympathy. Beverly, Mass., Oct. 16.—President Taft today sent the following telegram: "Mrs. J. P. Dolliver, Fort Dodge, Mass. I extend to you my heartfelt sympathy in your great sorrow. The senate has lost one of its ablest debaters and most brilliant statesmen. The country has lost a faithful public servant."

REAL SULTAN OF SULU A-VISITING

New York, Oct. 16.—Mr. Hadji Mohammed Jumral Kiram has been visiting his Uncle Sam. Oh, let's be plain about it. The Sultan of Sulu was in our midst. He called on President Taft—and Geo. Ade—after which he did the United States. In more ways than one, for when he tripped down the gangplank of the liner St. Louis he toted a couple of trunks filled with pearls, which the sult intends to peddle abroad. They are real pearls. The sult's prime minister says so. This is the first time a sultan of Sulu has been west of Mecca. Jamalu Kiram II—that's the way Hadji Butu, the prime minister, speaks of him—hadn't seen a railroad train before he started out on this trip. A two-story building was his highest. He's afraid to go near the Singer building for fear it will fall on him. He was never in a theatre in his life and never saw a play. The sult is a little fellow, just about five feet five inches in his stocking feet. Yes, he wears 'em when visiting. At home he goes barefooted. He also wears a mustach and a rather doleful appearance. The latter may be accounted for by chronic dyspepsia, or the fact that he's only drawing $30 a week now from Uncle Sam, when he used to have money to throw at the birds. His small wages—stipend is what the Butu fellow calls the sult's salary—made it necessary for his highness (it tickles the sult when you call him that) to wear his last year's suit on this trip. But it's a good suit at that. The sult was soaked $1800 for it, which isn't saying that the sult isn't some piece of a garment, for it is. Every hue of the rainbow was garnered and placed in the sult's uniform, not to say anything about the pretty beads, gold lace, and the furbelows scattered hither and thither over his five foot five. The sultan carries a sword upon all formal occasions. Sometimes it looks like the sword was carrying the sultan, but that is clearly an optical delusion. The sultan used to whack off heads right and left with his sword. His subjects were headhunters then, and thought it capital sport to creep unawares upon neighbor tribesmen and do a little wholesale slaughtering. Those little pranks were discontinued by Uncle Sam when he began walking the Sulu beat. It was to keep him good that the United States pays Hadji $30 per.

Also Uncle Sam told the sult and his dainties that one wife was enough for any man. The sult did not take the news promptly until his salary was cut. Then he distributed his better halves among the bachelor Moros, keeping but one for his own heart's content. A word about the sult's womenfolk. They are conspicuous by their absence from the royal party. They are at home picking corals for the babies to teeth on. Some are gathering the fall crop of pearls from the garden. They are all ugly, so fascinatingly ugly that the sult's male subjects go plumb batty over them. Maybe that is why the sult wanted to make Alice Roosevelt, Mrs. Longworth now, his suitana. He held peculiar views of his own about female loveliness. No dumpy, fat-nosed beauty for him if there was a chance to get an American princess. The sult denies that he received the "mitten" upon that occasion. He says he didn't propose at all. So there you are. An eyewitness of the event reports that at the Taft-Alice Roosevelt-Philippine reception the sult's rival and enemy, Datto Jokonan, when being presented to the fair Alice gave her a beautiful pearl. That stumped the sultan. He had forgotten his present. But he was merely nonplussed, so to speak. He noticed the huge pearl set in a ring on his finger. He couldn't help noticing it, for it spread out over his hand like a heavyweight oyster. Quickly seizing the opportunity and the ring he handed the latter to the American princess. So much for the engagement.

SAINT JOHN, MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 17, 1910

MR. PUGLEY'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Times and the Telegraph since the sudden ending of the case of Mayes vs. the King, have strenuously endeavored to make it appear that the leading feature of the settlement was the reduction of the plaintiff's claim. This is, like the discussion of a clerical error in an affidavit which the Minister of Public Works well remembers, a mere attempt to draw the proverbial red herring across the trail. All the criticism of the government press will fall to convince a thinking public that Mr. Pugley has not lost a great opportunity to vindicate his character, if he could do so.

The Standard on Saturday made it clear by printing the pleadings in the case that Mr. Pugley denied that his department owed Mr. Mayes anything. This is what was expected. During the campaign of 1908, after the publication of Mr. Mayes' affidavits, the Minister repeatedly declared from the public platform that Mr. Mayes was not entitled to one cent. Even so late as the day on which the Exchequer Court opened, not yet one week ago, an elaborate amendment was made to the pleadings for the express purpose of showing that Mr. Mayes had succeeded in getting a larger amount allowed to him than he had really earned, and the Court was asked to have an account taken of this excess with a view to compelling Mr. Mayes to repay it.

Only two days after the amendment was made the Minister of Public Works was seen to leave his seat at one side of the court room, walk over to his counsel, Mr. Wallace, and stand by him while he spoke, evidently fearing that even that astute lawyer might precipitate a crisis. The advocate of Hon. Mr. Emmerson knew the perils to which litigation may expose a minister of the Crown far too well to loosen his grip for an instant upon the conduct of a case fraught with dangerous possibilities to himself. He even personally addressed the Court.

The defence was abandoned. "We stand by the certificate of the engineer," said Mr. Wallace at the dictation of Mr. Pugley. What did that mean? A plain admission that Mr. Mayes' claim of $5,090 was valid. But Mr. Pugley knew well that Mr. Mayes had not in his possession the actual certificate and final estimate of Chief Engineer Lafleur of the department. He knew, for the pleadings so stated, that Mr. Mayes relied upon a statement of account given to him in August, 1908, by the minister himself, showing $50,591.63 to be due. He knew that on October 14 of that year Mr. Mayes had made and published an affidavit in which he solemnly declared that the minister had said to him when he gave him that account, "Will you pay McAvity if I give you $50,000 on account?"

All that Mr. Pugley had to do last week was to continue his denial, so often and so strenuously made during the last campaign, that his department was indebted to Mr. Mayes and that gentleman would have been compelled to produce evidence of the indebtedness. Mr. Mayes had not the engineer's certificate stamped with the approval of the minister as required by the contract, and he had not even called on the government to produce it. He must, if the indebtedness were denied, have gone upon the stand and sworn to the conversation above mentioned which was set forth in the affidavit. That he intended to do so was apparent, for Mr. George McAvity had been subpoenaed by him and was present at the Court.

Here was Mr. Pugley's opportunity. If the affidavit were untrue, or if the facts alleged in this article were untrue, a cross-examination of Mr. Mayes by any of the able counsel employed would have demonstrated the facts. Or Mr. Pugley himself could have gone into the witness box and denied the statements under oath. But the minister who, during the campaign of 1908 never dared to make an affidavit himself, did not venture into the witness box. Instead he went into the consultation room, turned out his own counsel and made a settlement of the claims which he had solemnly declared were without foundation. Mr. Pugley has missed his opportunity to vindicate himself, or else, he has realized that he was unable to do it.

MR. FOSTER ON RECIPROCITY.

An instructive and forceful article from the pen of Hon. George E. Foster, on the question of reciprocity with the United States, appears in the current number of the Canadian Century. Mr. Foster makes out a strong argument that the present time is not opportune for Canada to enter into negotiations. Why, he asks, are our neighbors offering inducements with a view to getting reciprocity? The answer he finds in conditions in the States. President Taft and his friends are seeking something with which to commend themselves to their own people. He sees danger in the belated repentance of the Republican party. It does not wipe away the recollection of the party's long continued opposition to fair trade agreements.

The unfairness of the discrimination against Canada under the Payne-Aldrich tariff act, is well illustrated by Mr. Foster. Canada, he points out, gives the United States a free list of $90,000,000, or one-half the total imports from that country. The United States gives Canada a free list of $23,000,000, $67,000,000 less than we give the Republic. Canada's tariff is on the average about one-half the tariff of the United States. Canada bought in the last recorded year $193,000,000 worth of goods from the United States. The United States bought $99,000,000 worth from Canada. We entered into a little treaty with France, and because there were a few articles upon which the duties were special to that country, the United States, which already has so large an advantage here, threatened under the Payne-Aldrich Bill to penalize Canada by imposing a further duty upon every dollar's worth of goods sold by us to that country.

Mr. Foster does not believe that under the circumstances President Taft would have dared to allow the penal clause to go into effect. The injustice and unfairness of it would have been too obvious and too glaring, and would have been condemned by every fair-minded man in the Republic. Public sentiment would not have stood for it.

"But," he continues, "if President Taft was up against it in this respect he found himself in another and still worse predicament. What was the penalty? To impose straightaway on every dollar's worth of the dutiable imports from Canada one-quarter of a dollar in addition to the already high rates of the tariff. That is to say the Republican Party would have to take the onus of raising a tariff already averaging 42 per cent, by 25 per cent, ad valorem, or to the dizzy height of 67 per cent. They would have to do this in the case of one of their best customers and in respect to a trade mutually aggregating $300,000,000. In the face of insurrection widespread in their own party, because they had not revised the old tariff downwards, would they have dared to raise it by a horizontal 25 per cent? It would have been quick suicide."

To imagine that President Taft and his party would have forced and faced such a situation, Mr. Foster says, is to under-rate party sense to say nothing of common sense. In addition had the penalty been imposed, Canada could have responded with a heavy surtax upon all imports from the United States. Upon the Republican Party would have rested the onus of unmerited provocation, and the great disorganization of a trade already reactionary and spotty.

But the difficulty which President Taft found himself was overcome by Mr. Fielding, who, as Mr. Foster puts it, appeared as a guardian angel with his good tidings of great joy and led the president and his party up the hill of victory. It is plain to see, he adds, who at that time wanted and got the measure of unrequited reciprocity.

"Once more," continues Mr. Foster, "the administration party of the United States is in trouble, and the trouble is becoming acute. The insurrection has enlarged its area, strengthened its stakes, won some notable victories, and is steadily marching on, to the dismay and consternation of the old party leaders. The Democrats call for a lowering of the tariff, and in the Eastern States have been talking reciprocity with Canada as a means to effect that end. The insurgents call for a revision of the tariff downwards and are pressing the old guard to the wall in state after state.

"From this situation the administration see a way out if they can persuade the government of Canada to a measure of reciprocity which will lower the high duties of the United States somewhat and enable them to exhibit enlarged market prospects in Canada for United States products. Again, President Taft is looking for deliverance. He and the Old Guard want it and want it badly. If only now the angel from Canada will a second time appear for his deliverance salvation might be complete, and the insurrectionists and Democrats alike be buried fathoms deep.

"I trust the government of Canada will not a second time play the opportune catspaw and rescue the chestnuts from the threatening fire. Of all times this is the most inopportune for Canada to negotiate. Negotiations should proceed upon equal conditions, and today the tariff conditions are grossly unfair. Let the leaves work in the United States; let them pare down their exorbitant duties and give us fair reciprocity in tariffs. Then if it is to our advantage we can determine whether or not negotiations for further mutual reductions are advisable.

"Today it is safe to say that no important Canadian interests are calling for further treaty entanglements with the United States in trade matters. A belated repentance, hastened by internal difficulties, does not at once wipe away the old time and long-continued opposition of the Republican Party in the United States to fair trade arrangements. This late repentance may be flattering to Canadian pride, but should not lead us to rashness. Let us rather beware and let us for the present 'stand pat.' I fear the Greeks most when they bring gifts."

DELIBERATE MISREPRESENTATION.

Some rather striking testimony to the excellence of the roads in this province as compared with many other parts of Canada was given in Saturday's issue by Mr. F. M. Dean, sales manager of the Reo Motor Car Company of Canada, who, with Mr. Paul R. Hansen of this city made the trip to Halifax and back by automobile. Mr. Hansen endorsed Mr. Dean's opinion with regard to the condition of the roads in New Brunswick and took the opportunity to contradict a statement attributed to him in the Telegraph that they found some very dangerous holes in the bridges.

It appears that Mr. Hansen encountered a reporter on the Telegraph, and, speaking of the trip, said that with the exception of two holes in the road they found the New Brunswick highways 50 per cent better than those of Nova Scotia. With characteristic dishonesty the Telegraph ignored Mr. Hansen's reference to the good condition of the roads and announced that "the party found some very dangerous holes in bridges in the road between Moncton and Salisbury." Mr. Hansen says he is surprised at the article in the Telegraph, but to those who are familiar with the methods of the organ of the local opposition, and its campaign with regard to the roads of the province, this suppression of material facts will be considered quite in keeping with its reputation.

There is no trick to which the Telegraph will not stoop, no lie that it will not father in an effort to discredit the Hazen government. A journal politically opposed to a government may be expected to indulge in honest criticism. No one will seek to deny it that right. But systematic and deliberate misrepresentation, which is now the recognized stock in trade of the Telegraph, carries no weight and serves only to emphasize the weakness of the cause it is endeavoring to support.

Current Comment

(Montreal Gazette.)

The Mayes dredging case has been before the courts at St. John, and the plaintiff has obtained judgment against the government for $9,000 odd and costs. To an extent this sustains Mr. Mayes' assertions in the famous affidavit. The Laurier Government and its members have not been fortunate in their New Brunswick law suits lately.

FIRE IN THE WOODLOT.

It started in the sumachs and it ran along the fence. Till flames leaped to the sweet gums where the trumpet flowers were dense. The maple leaves soon caught fire, and the oaks were next to go. Then all around the country fell the forest row by row. Until the purple glory of the conflagration grand. Lit all the vales of beauty in the heart of autumnland.

The fire alarm was sounded by the bull-frogs in the pond. Where burst the flaming mallows and the asters raised their frond; But all the world of water could not quench a fire like that. As was most plainly proven when the rain came pit-a-pat; For when the shower was ended not a tree had been put out. Though some felt rather faded by the wear and tear, no doubt.

It burns a night and morning and through noon of fall the sun. The whole woodlot a splendor of the gold and crimson flame; Tall poplar and green arundel, and the chestnut, oak and gum. The sumach and the sassafras and maple, till they come Unto the piney outposts, where the green still holds its own. Though the dreaming soul of summer on the wings of light hath flown. —Baltimore Sun.

THAT EXCHEQUER COURT CASE

(St. John Globe Editorial.) There is quite a lot of discussion in some of the papers and outside of them in respect of the settlement made in the Mayes case—lately tried here—against the Crown. A notable thing is that apparently opinions upon the matter are affected by the political views of the newspapers and people that discuss the subject; but in the meantime Mr. Mayes is declared by his friends to be delighted with the ten thousand dollars awarded him in the settlement, with the securing of costs, and with some other little concessions made him, but which do not appear in the settlement. Those persons who took the side of the Crown are also delighted because Mr. Mayes did not get the full amount of his demands. In a case where both sides are satisfied and happy there is little left to argue about. Mr. Mayes has been for many years a staunch friend and supporter of Hon. Mr. Pugley, and when the latter was practising law there was not only political friendship, but close business relations between them. Those relations were finally disturbed. There was a quarrel, which resulted in a severance of their friendship and much subsequent unhappiness, which culminated in the law suit brought against the Crown. The settlement of that the other day indicates a considerable advance towards the wiping out of all recollections of the old scores and the renewal of better relations between the two parties. There is a view of the whole matter which is much broader than that largely taken so far in the discussion which has been going on. Hon. Mr. Pugley has been subject to some criticism because he, as the minister of the department against which Mr. Mayes took action went into the Exchequer court himself, set his lawyers aside and personally effected a settlement of the whole matter, a most excellent settlement, say Mr. Mayes' friends; a most excellent settlement say Mr. Mayes' enemies. Besides, the settlement saved time, court costs, and possible unpleasant examination of witnesses who might be compelled to unravel the alleged mysteries of the alleged mysterious business of dredging. This was surely wise on the part of the minister, and may furnish an example well worth following by the different departments of the government which are always more or less involved in suits against the Crown. Let the minister take his own coat off and go to work to secure a settlement, let him not trust to officials who are often more concerned in having their views upheld than in saving expense to the country or even in the justice of a case and as in this public works case the result will be satisfactory to everybody and the country will save money. This case in Mr. Pugley's department as handled by the minister himself is a most excellent precedent, striking in its originality, notable in its simplicity and wonderful in its results.

GLASS STOPPERS.

Glass stoppers often stick in bottles and are very hard to remove. They can be withdrawn easily by winding a string several times around the neck of the bottle, then by taking hold of the loose ends, and drawing the string rapidly back and forth. The friction caused by the string will heat the glass and cause it to expand, thus releasing the grip on the stopper.

A BIBLE STUDENT LOOKING FOR TRUTH

Letter No. 3. In reviewing the Garden of Eden story a very prominent feature must come to the front. It is this: How long a time has passed since Adam was created.

If he was the first created human being, and a perfect immortal one, from whom all others were to proceed to people the whole earth, it must have been hundreds of thousands of years ago.

The facts of the degeneracy are certainly beyond dispute, and if all mankind proceeded from Adam, surely there must be some better explanation than orthodox theology gives of such a terrible fallure of what they call a divine plan.

What would be said of a human being doing such a thing. For example, suppose a person has full absolute power in every respect, should place another person in a position and give him a command to obey the obedience or disobedience he has given him.

Another point might be briefly alluded to. If Adam was created and committed the original sin, he was with hundreds of thousands of years ago, what was the position of myriads of human beings who lived and died during that centuries ages before the sacrificial victim made his appearance to redeem them?

It appears to me that if we go into it, the whole thing seems to be confusion worse confounded. But if the premises laid down by theologians are correct, the conclusions must follow.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT EXMOUTH ST. CHURCH

Sunday was rally day in Exmouth street church Sunday school, Rev. W. W. Brewer, Mrs. W. C. Matthews addressed the school, over 300 scholars were present.

Dr. L. M. Curren addressed a men's meeting in the body of the church in the afternoon on personal habits and their relation to health. He said the business of the physician of the future would be to assist in the prevention of disease and a doctor with a list of sick patients would be classed as a failure.

The kidneys were the sewers of the body and if they refused to perform their functions death would follow in 24 hours. A clean, healthy skin assists in the removal of poisons from the body.

The windows in sleeping rooms should be open except in extreme weather. Bad air was more productive of colds than good air helps in the contracting of colds.

Canadians should be careful to inculcate sound thoughts on the general supervision of public health. Nothing could be more regrettable than a nation growing weaker and passing into decay.

Short addresses were delivered by Rev. W. W. Brewer and J. King Kelly, the chairman of the meeting.

Mr. McNeill in the song service took the society song, "Where is my wandering boy tonight."

NO PARADISE FOR LABOR IN CANADA

"Canada, the workingman's paradise," was the subject of the address by E. Hyatt, delivered before the meeting of the socialists last evening.

"Canada," he asserted, "is like all other countries under the domination of capitalism, which required a large surplus of laborers in order to carry on its processes of exploitation."

"Under capital," he said, "existence is a struggle, a struggle for the lucky or unscrupulous. Rev. Mr. Robinson and the Moral and Social Reform Council would do well to expose the gambling in the means of existence because the result is more brutal and demoralizing than the fight pictures."

HERBERT BOOTH OPENS MISSION SUCCESSFULLY

Mr. Herbert Booth was a public reception in Main Street Baptist Church on Saturday evening. The attendance was large. After the singing of a few of the new hymns, under the leadership of Howard Holder, Rev. D. Hutchinson in a brief address introduced Mr. Booth.

Mr. Booth's address was full of inspiration and stirred the hearts of all present to attempt greater things. Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock Mr. Booth preached his first sermon before a large audience.

Many doubts had come to see and hear him because he was the youngest son of General Booth. All who heard him soon felt that Herbert Booth like his honored father, is a great man.

The subject of his sermon was "Samson." All who heard it will not soon forget it. Under his treatment, Samson became a living up-to-date person. In his introduction he said he hoped to bring his characters with him into the pulpit.

When the Philistines met Samson they were not his enemies, but his friends. He was not a man who would kill them, but he would kill them if it is today.

At 3:45 o'clock Mr. Booth delivered his object lecture on Toys and Their "Fading," before an audience that filled the building.

Mr. Booth is also a master in getting a congregation to sing. It is seldom one hears such congregational singing as was heard in the Main Street church last night.

Mr. Booth preached from the words "Beloved, I Stand at the Door and Knock." He explained that these words were originally addressed to Christians, but as we are not Christians we closed against Christ.

There is much local discussion over the settlement of the G. S. Mayes' case against the government. A large body of people seem to think that the settlement, as told to the public, does not absolutely dispose of the matter.

REPORTS CURRENT ON DREDGING SETTLEMENT

Evening Paper Report That the Beaver Will Again be Put in Commission Following Exchequer Court Result

There is much local discussion over the settlement of the G. S. Mayes' case against the government. A large body of people seem to think that the settlement, as told to the public, does not absolutely dispose of the matter.

Since Mr. Mayes finished his contract this dredge has been laid up in Carleton. There were rumors on different occasions that the dredge had been sold and was to be put to work, but nothing ever came of these, and of late the public has been led to believe that some mysterious power operated to prevent the sale of this dredge, prospective buyers fearing that they might not be successful in their undertakings.

At the close of the sermon the choir sang "Blessed be the tie that binds," and after the pastor had replied to the address of presentation, the choir and congregation united in singing "God be with you till we meet again."

CONGRATULATIONS FOR MR. MAYES ON RESULT

Many Prominent Liberals Have Expressed Their Pleasure That Justice Was Done West Side Man—Great Victory.

The settlement of the Mayes case is the chief topic of conversation on the streets and in spite of the wild statements of the Telegraph and Times it is generally regarded as a distinct victory for Mr. Mayes.

Mr. Mayes himself has been receiving congratulations on all sides, many of them coming by mail and telegrams from other sections of the Dominion. It is a notable fact that among the persons who have congratulated the West Side man on the victory are many Liberals who, believing his claims were just, were pleased to see him victorious.

Prominent members of the Liberal party have added their hearty congratulations to those of Mr. Mayes and other friends on this occasion. Hon. J. D. Hazen and Recorder Baxter, the lawyers representing Mr. Mayes in the action, have also been congratulated on the outcome of the case.

CHOOSE DELEGATES TO GO TO BUFFALO

Rev. G. A. Kuhring and Rev. Dr. C. R. Flanders were selected as the city's representatives at the convention. This conference, which will be attended by the representatives of ninety of the chief cities in America and will inaugurate an interdenominational movement to interest, bring to the churches and win for Christ the three million men of Canada and the United States, who, according to statistics are apparently standing outside. At the conference the movement, if undertaken, will probably be given a name.

The local delegates will report to a public meeting to be held on their return, and it will be then decided whether St. John will be one of the ninety centres which it is proposed to establish to carry on the work.

ALD. VANWART MAKES NEW HUNTING RECORD

Party Led by Genial Safety Board Chairman Bagged Two Moose, One Deer and Some Small Game.

J. R. Vanwart and Geo. Clocom who returned Saturday evening from a hunting trip near Hillsdale, Kings County, established a big game record for hunting parties from this city during the present season.

Each of the hunters bagged a fine bull moose, and Mr. Vanwart also brought down a deer. They also shot several brace of partridge, and other small game.

They were away only four days, and half the time the weather was too bad for hunting.

"Our guide was Frank Howe," said Mr. Vanwart, "and he knows his business down to the ground. On Friday morning he called up a moose for us, and again on Saturday morning he lured another within rifle shot. We potted both. He also knows where to find the deer. We did not see any moose except those we shot, but I should judge they are fairly plentiful in the district where we were. If the weather had not been so bad, we could have bagged a lot of small game. As it is I think we have established a record for hunting parties from St. John."

Sunday's lecture is under the auspices of the local Christian Science church, and is free to the public—no admission charge will be made, and no collection to be taken.

Dr. Torrey at Kentucky. The Torrey mission at Paducah, Kentucky, opened on the 3rd inst. with an attendance of nearly 3,000 people. The Auditorium Rink, in which the mission is being held, had not sufficient accommodation for the large crowd and at the conclusion of the meeting arrangements were made to increase the seating capacity. The daily papers in their reports speak very highly of the music and the scholarly address delivered by Dr. Torrey. His enunciation is distinct and his voice youthful and resonant, so that the people on the rear seats heard with ease every word he uttered. Deep scholarship, a wide range of scientific investigation, remarkable Biblical knowledge, a never failing vocabulary, precision of expression and earnest conviction, stamp Dr. Torrey as a distinguished figure in the pulpit.

WILLIAM LAWRENCE FOUND DROWNED

Word Received Saturday That Body of Englishman Well Known in St. John Had Been Recovered.

In a recent issue of the Montreal Gazette there was an article stating that Mrs. William Lawrence, of 338 1/2 St. James street, was desirous of receiving information as to the whereabouts of her husband, who had not been seen from 8.30 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 1st, when he left his work. He had been formerly head checker with the C. P. R. Liverpool line but this year was employed as a checker with the Elder-Dempster line.

He was very well known in this city, having worked here for several winters. When it was learned here that he was missing his many friends were greatly concerned. Word reached the city on Saturday to the effect that the body of Mr. Lawrence was found floating in Montreal harbor on Thursday night last. It is supposed that while leaving the ship and walking along the dock he has slipped and fallen overboard.

The deceased is a native of England and has been in Canada for the past 15 years. He was 48 years of age.

CAMPBELLTON IS PUSHING AHEAD

"The fortitude of the people of Campbellton under the stress of their present difficulties, is as surprising as their confidence in the future of the town," said A. E. Hamilton, who returned to the city on Saturday after a sojourn of some weeks in the afflicted town. "I have not heard any of them complaining. Men just over the fact that rain pours through their tents, and soaks their bed clothes."

"Two weeks ago I counted 110 tents. At present this number has been reduced to 60 or 70. Not all those living in tents are of the poorest class. One man living in a tent has a huge brick building in course of construction."

A. E. Hamilton Ltd. has contracts for the erection of 14 buildings in Campbellton. On Saturday the company shipped to the town a quantity of material for Campbellton from its factory in St. John.

"We have 69 men in our camp at Campbellton," said Mr. Hamilton. "Besides we have 14 or 15 other men working for us."

"Everybody is busy there. The I. C. R. is putting up a round house on the site of one of the mills destroyed by fire. The Bank of New Brunswick as well as the Bank of Nova Scotia are putting up fine buildings. MacKenzie Bros. are putting up a big store, and Jones and Scovill, a warehouse. Dr. Penault is erecting a brick residence. Gray Brothers a bakery, and Leo C. Eaton and Ed. Sullivan are also putting up brick buildings."

BEGIN INQUEST ON DEATH OF A. WATTERS

Dr. D. E. Berryman, the coroner, on Saturday evening commenced an inquiry into the cause of death of Abraham Watters, who was killed on board the Manchester Line steamer Manchester Commerce at the I. C. R. wharf on Friday afternoon.

A stenographer was engaged to take the evidence and there were present J. B. M. Baxter and J. R. Armstrong, representing the steamship company, and A. A. Wilson representing the family of the deceased.

E. Davies, the chief officer of the steamer, was the first to give evidence. He produced a certificate, showing that the shackle, the block and the shackle pin had been examined in London on August 5th, and that they were according to regulations.

The witness gave as his version of the accident that the pin came out of the shackle while the sling of lumber was being lowered and the block flew, striking the man on the head.

He said that there were twelve deals and 25 boards in the sling at the time of the accident, and that the load would weigh about 1,500 pounds, while the gear was guaranteed to stand five tons. The shackle pin was bent and part of the thread that arrests into the shackle was flattened. The carpenter of the ship gave evidence that the gear was made ready when the ship was entering port and that he had placed the tackle in position.

He had placed the lead block onto the shackle and had secured the pin tightly into the shackle and thought it was alright.

The boatswain of the ship was called and explained how the gear was rigged, but stated that he had nothing to do with placing it in position, and, in fact, knew very little about the matter.

The case was only commenced Saturday night so that the evidence of these witnesses could be taken as the ship sailed for Manchester that night. The inquest was adjourned until Tuesday the 25th.

A Card of Thanks from J. N. Harvey. St. John, N. B., Oct. 13th, 1910. TO THE PEOPLE OF ST. JOHN: I consider it fitting before leaving St. John to take up important mercantile interests in the West, to extend a full measure of gratitude to the people who favored me with their patronage during the nine years I have resided here. In opening my establishment March, 1901, I anticipated a most satisfactory trade, an expectation that was realized beyond my fondest hopes, terminating in a year of record breaking sales. From one store my business grew quickly to two and then three stores, eventually occupying the whole block. Each department progressed satisfactorily upon a cash sale basis, tendering honest goods at honest prices invariably. This system was of great mutual benefit and the public was not long in giving tangible evidence of its appreciation of it. I desire to thank most cordially those very many citizens of both sexes who helped me build so big a business in Union St. It was particularly pleasing to have many steady patrons tell myself and staff during the big clearance sale just ended how happy their dealings had always been with our house, making the personal phase of my departure for Vancouver still more in the nature of breaking home ties. To my successors (whoever they may be) in Opera House block, I bespeak a share of that good-will and trade with which you favored me, and being especially desirous of keeping bright the lamp of friendship and acquaintanceship I extend to St. John friends who may be visiting Vancouver an invitation to call upon me either at home or business, when I will esteem it a pleasure to assist in making it pleasant for the sojourner from dear old St. John. Yours thankfully, J. N. HARVEY.
