FIGHT IN WHICH CANADIANS PLAYED SUCH GLORIOUS PART BLOODIEST ON BRITISH FRONT SINCE LOOS

MANY OF NEW BRUNSWICK'S GALLANT SONS FELL AT SANCTUARY WOOD; ST. JOHN MEN IN CASUALTIES

Casualty Lists of Rank and File Begin to Arrive — Story of the Great Defence Canadians Offered Overwhelming Numbers of the Enemy Will Make a Bright Page in History of The War.

Trenches Levelled to Ground by Five Hours of Artillery Pounding Men from Canada Stubbornly Held their Ground—Gallant Little Band Surrounded, Fight Hand to Hand, and Refuse to Surrender—Several Americans Among Canadian.

The casualty lists for the rank and file of the Canadian units which took part in the recent fighting at Sanctuary Wood have begun to arrive and the record office at Ottawa is busy notifying nearest of kin of the men who have fallen.

Yesterday and last night long lists were issued and the name of New Brunswick appears many times, evidencing the fact that New Brunswick's gallant sons are playing their part well and nobly making the supreme sacrifice in defence of liberty and for the honor of the Empire.

The lists issued yesterday are as follows:

- INFANTRY: Pte. Jack C. Lenihan, St. John, N. B. Seriously ill. Sgt. Leslie Stewart MacDonald, Peter's Road, P. E. I. Corp. George Albert North, Halifax. Pte. Thomas Perry, Sheet Harbor, N. S. Pte. and everywhere encountered desperate resistance. At various points there was fierce hand-to-hand fighting. Officers and men rivalled each other in heroism. Our losses were heavy, but the Germans paid a high price for every captured trench. Local counterattacks were quickly organized. As a result some of the lost ground was recovered and a new line established. The following morning an organized counter attack still further improved our position. In order to take part in this preparation some of our battalions were obliged to move across the open, under intense shell fire and through heavy barbed wire. Nowhere did the line wa-

ver. Each battalion advanced and carried through its appointed task with splendid dash and unflinching determination. Since then sections of our defences have been subjected, at intervals, to heavy bombardments. At one or two points the enemy has attempted to attack, but in each case has been repulsed with loss. The following awards have been made to officers and men for gallantry on the occasion of a German raid on our trenches during the month of May: Distinguished service order, Lieut. Col. W. A. Greidach, 4th Battalion; distinguished conduct medal, Col. Sgt. Major C. Miles. Military medal, Sgt. J. Wallis, Corp. F. Boner, Private A. J. McKinnon, Private G. W. Tomkinson.

BLOODIEST FIGHT SINCE LOOS BATTLE

British Headquarters in France, Thursday, June 8, via London, June 11—Talks with officers who have been relieved of duty in the front line trenches show that the battling in which the Canadians were engaged on June 2 and 3, was the bloodiest on both sides that has been fought on the British front since the battle of Loos.

"The Germans attacked in larger force than was at first supposed, evidently having decided to use their Verdun tactics to push in the Ypres salient. Five hours of artillery fire from guns of every calibre and from trench mortars—cross-fire as well as frontal fire being directed at the salient angle where a watery subsoil makes dugouts impossible—utterly levelled the trenches at some points. Against the German curtains of fire the British guns sent their fire curtains.

The German infantry, which survived the British fire, rushed into the breaches after the bombardment had ceased. They had full packs with blankets; each carried a flask of rum and one of coffee, a pocket electric flash light and full rations, evidently having prepared for a big advance. When they pressed on, still confident that their guns had blazed a way, they were checked by the fire of the Canadians, who unflinchingly stuck to the support trenches under a shower of shells that lasted from 8.30 o'clock in the morning until eleven o'clock at night when reinforcements came and a counter-attack was begun.

TALES OF HEROISM ABOUND.

Tales abound of the heroism of small units at points where the battle was most violent. At one place on the front line, where the trenches had been smashed to the level of the ground, the surviving Canadians rushed out to face the overwhelming German charge and die. At another place, a square pit in the earth, Colonel Shaw and 70 or 80 men who were surrounded fought the Germans hand-to-hand without offering to capitulate. Col. Shaw was killed and the major, who came to the command, told the men remaining to escape, if they could. Two succeeded in doing so. The last they saw of the major he had fired his revolver and then threw it in the face of a German, grappling with him before they went down.

A number of Americans were among the Canadians. "A" company that held a vital position of support, with aid unable to reach it because of the curtain of shell fire, stuck gamely to its post all day, under the command of a captain formerly of the Seventh Regiment of New York, who was killed. The attack finally broke under the rifles of a battalion in a maple copse which held its fire until a charge developed a good target. Vailing some of the units which had borne the brunt of the shock and were quartered on farms to the rear, the correspondent found them playing baseball after a good night's sleep.

Troops From Balkans to Help Germans in Their Drive Around Ypres

Six Divisions Used by Enemy — Three Furious Thrusts Against Hill 304 Completely Checked and Germans are Thrown Back with Considerable Losses.

Paris, June 11.—Three German infantry attacks against the French trenches on Hill 304 and the positions east of that elevation, in the Verdun sector, were completely checked last night by the French troops, says the official statement, issued at the war office here this afternoon. Two German detachments penetrated the French advanced trenches in the forest of Apremont, southeast of St. Mihiel, the statement adds, but were later ejected. The official communication, issued by the war office tonight reads: "On the front north of Verdun no infantry action was reported during the course of the day. Our artillery activity was more violent. The day was calm on the rest of the front, except in Champagne, where the artillery action took on a character of great intensity in the sector of Tahure. The Belgian communication reads: "The day was calm, but there were a few actions with artillery and bomb throwers on the southern part of our front. "Situation from June 4 to June 10: The action commenced June 1 on a front of five kilometers, from Thiaumont Farm to the village of Damoups. It was especially in the day of the 9th on which the enemy made several attempts with the employment of bomb throwers."

GERMANY'S LOSSES IN MEN UP TO END OF LAST MONTH ALMOST 3 MILLIONS

London, June 11.—Germany, up to the end of May, had lost 2,924,586 soldiers, of whom 734,412 were killed, according to a British official tabulation of the German casualties given out here today. The compilation did not include German losses in naval engagements or in the fighting in the German colonies.

The British official statement quotes the German official casualty lists for the month of May as placing the total German losses in killed, prisoners and wounded at 102,507. This number, it is pointed out, brings the German losses, exclusive of naval and colonial casualties, to 2,924,586.

The German figures in the May list, as enumerated in the British account, are as follows: Dead, 22,471; wounded, 72,975; prisoners and missing, 7,061. Total 102,507.

The German official list of casualties, up to the end of May, give these totals: Dead, 734,412; wounded, 1,851,652; prisoners and missing, 338,522. Total 2,924,586.

Caught Between Enemy and Own Fleet Escape of Warspite Miraculous

London, June 10, 4.30 p. m.—In proof of the statement of the British Admiralty that the dreadnought Warspite arrived safely in port after the North Sea battle, the commander of the Warspite himself received an Associated Press correspondent today, and described his vessel's "miraculous escape" from the concentrated German fleet.

"However, I saw that we registered hit after hit, enough to convince me that the Germans got a hiding which they gear went for many months to come. After two hours of battleships engaged the whole German battle fleet, in an effort to protect our battle cruisers until Admiral Jellicoe came up, and she ran aground among the enemy. It must have annoyed the German gun point exceedingly to attempt to gang up our erratic movements. As soon as our man battleships, and well between them and our own battle line. I know of six German battleships which concentrated their fire on the Warspite, and there may have been others which I could not see.

"Under a worse pounding than the Lion received in the Dogger Bank fight, we remained in action without a single hit, our chief difficulty being from the mishap to the steering gear. Enemy Lost Ships He Can't Afford. "During our difficulties we received considerable credit for protecting the cruiser Warrior, which was practically helpless, but I must admit that sheer good fortune, rather than intention, was responsible for this, for the Warspite came across her bow while drifting and almost helpless. "As I said before, the fact that we got out was an absolute miracle. Once repairs were made we wanted to return, but found we were not popular. Sufficient battleships were present to fill the line, and the possibility of our running amuck among our own friends was not welcomed. We steamed home.

"The Warspite will be sailing the seas months before the German fleet comes out again. "My men were splendid. Their behavior was all I expected, but their baptism of fire has given them a feeling of confidence which will be a valuable asset to them when we go into action again. "As for the general result of the action, the Germans were defeated and driven into their own ports with losses they can ill-afford. "I am still commander of the great battleship in the world, and my men are as fine as Nelson's bluejackets," said the officer, Captain E. M. Phillipps. The captain granted the interview on his return from Buckingham Palace, where he told King George the story of his part in the great naval battle. Captain Phillipps was very modest, and minimized his own part in the battle, but he was full of praise for his men, and what he termed the amazing powers of resistance of his ship. "I am not surprised that there have been reports that the Warspite was sunk," he said, "as from our position between our fleet and the German battleship our escape from such a fate was simply miraculous. Several times we disappeared from sight in the smoke and spray. Even some of our own officers on other ships believed the gallant battleship had sunk. Swallowed up in Veil of Spray. "As we left the fighting line we disappeared in a complete veil of spray. The division of battleships, of which the Warspite was one, was with the battle cruisers. We were practically engaged as soon as they were, but the Warspite did not fire until a few minutes after the others had been in action, as I was not satisfied with the range at first. "We soon knew we were up against the whole German battle fleet, but it was our business to engage them as fully as possible until Admiral Jellicoe could come up. "You ask me what results I saw that our fire had on the Germans, but it is quite impossible to give a definite reply, as the captain of one of a row of battleships about 500 yards apart, steaming in battle line, must keep an eye on the ship to make necessary swerves. The flag captain has some chance to see, with some degree of accuracy, what damage has been done to the enemy, but the others are too busy keeping their places in line and doing the damage to keep a glass to the eye to see what he is suffering.

WILL LIKELY COME OUT AS HUGHES' SUPPORTER

Hughes Chosen on First Ballot Saturday — Fairbanks the Choice for Vice-President on the Republican Ticket.

Chicago, June 10.—Charles Evans Hughes of New York was today nominated for President of the United States by the Republican National Convention, and Charles Warren Fairbanks of Indiana was named for vice-president. Justice Hughes' nomination came on the third ballot and but one ballot was needed to select Fairbanks for vice-president. There was an enthusiastic demonstration after the candidates were named. On the third ballot Justice Hughes received 949 1/2, Col. Roosevelt, received 18 1/2; Dupont, 5; Weeks, 3; and Lodge, 7. One was absent. Before the call had covered half the states, Hughes had the necessary 494. New Jersey's vote touched the mark. The unofficial vote for vice-president follows: Fairbanks, 963; Burket, 108; Johnson, 1; Borah, 8; Webster, 2; Burton, 1; not voting, 3; absent, 1. Total, 987. The nomination was made unanimously.

Auditorium, Chicago, June 10.—At the very moment when it was flashed to the Progressive convention that Hughes had been nominated at the coliseum as the standard bearer of the Republican party, Chairman Robins, of the Progressive convention, was announcing that Col. Roosevelt had been unanimously nominated as the Progressive's leader. The convention went wild. For several minutes Chairman Robins vainly rapped for order. John M. Parker, of Louisiana, was nominated by acclamation for vice-president of the United States by the Progressive party. (Continued on page 2)

SAYS CRUISER DERFFLINGER WAS SUNK

Amsterdam Despatch Confirms British Admiralty's Report About Sinking of German Warship.

London, June 10.—The report that the German battle cruiser "Derfflinger" has been sunk is reiterated in an Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. It says that travellers arriving from Berlin say they were told in Germany that the "Derfflinger" sank after the North Sea battle, while being towed to Wilhelmshaven. The British admiralty announced the "Derfflinger" was believed to have been sunk, but the loss of this warship was denied by the German admiralty.

YARMOUTH LOSES
A GOOD FRIEND

Yarmouth, N. S., June 11.—The funeral is taking place this afternoon of Sophia, widow of Robert Cale, a former Richibucto man. Her death took place about midnight Friday. She was the eldest daughter of the late Samuel Kilam, and was born in Yarmouth. She had reached an advanced age. Mrs. Cale was one of those whose good deeds will live after her. Largely through her efforts the Yarmouth Hospital became the useful institution it is. "Coronation Park," the children's playground at Yarmouth North, is another of her good works, and the Boys' Club at that portion of the town, which does such good work among the boys, was made possible through her donation of the Milton Library building for the purpose. She took a deep interest in everything that appertained to the upbuilding of the town, and her purpose was ever ready in any good cause which appealed to her. She leaves one daughter, Miss Clara, who has the sympathy of the community.

DAVIDSON COMMISSION
RESUMES INQUIRY TODAY

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, Ont., June 11.—The Davidson Commission tomorrow afternoon will resume the inquiry into the sale of condemned small arms ammunition to the Admiralty through Col. J.
W. Allison. Mr. A. G. Parker, local manager of the Bank of Montreal, will appear and present the accounts of the bank in New York in connection with these sales. A trust account had been placed by the Admirality with the Bank of Commerce of New York for such purposes. The inquiry will not be able to conclude until the Admiralty has been asked for the price which they paid for this ammunition. This will probably be secured by cable.

YPRES SCENE OF DUEL BETWEEN THE BIG GUNS

British Line Heavily Bomarded for Two Hours—Enemy
Losses Heavy in Raid Made by Gloucester Regiment—French Artillery Plays Havoc With Enemy's Positions in Belgium.

London, June 11.—The British official statement issued at midnight says:
"The chief centre of activity has been about Ypres, where there has been a heavy artillery bombardment. Our tranches north of the Ypres-Communes railway were heavily shelled, from one to three o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon, and hostile artillery has been active throughout the day against our positions west of Hooge.
There have been no infantry actions in this region.

"Our artillery bombarded enemy positions about La Boisselle, Arras and Loos. In the region of Souchez and Angres our trenches have been shelled heavily by artillery and trench mortars. There has been some mining activity on both sides at the Hohenz-ollern redoubt and the quarters west.
"We exploded a mine at Cunchy, considerably damaging the enemy trenches. We sprang two mines south of the Vreestraat-Wytschate road, causing slight damage to our trenches, but damaging their trenches also. Following these exploding hostile aeroplanes dropped bombs ineffectively on our trenches.

"Further reports regarding the raid by the Gloucester Regiment south of Neuve Chapelle indicate that considerable loss was inflicted on the enemy, and that much damage was done to his trenches by a detachment of Royal Engineers, who accompanied the raiders."

Western Front: On the west bank of the Meuse we continued effectively to shell enemy batteries and trenches.
"East of the river we are continuing to attack." In stubborn fighting the enemy was driven out of several positions on a high ridge southwest of Fort Douaumont, in Chapelle Wood and on Fumin ridge.

"West of Fort Vaux Bavarian troops and East Prussian infantry stormed a strong enemy field work which fell into our hands with more than 500 men and 2 machine guns.
"The total number of prisoners taken since May 8 is 28 officers and more than 1,600 men.
"On Hartmannsweilerkopf (Upper Alsace) a German patrol took several French prisoners from enemy trenches.
"Eastern and Balkan fronts: There is nothing to report from the German fronts."

French Guns Hammer Enemy's Trenches.

Paris, June 10.—The official statement issued by the war office tonight reads:
"In Belgium the destructive shelling by our artillery of the German organizations in the sector of the Dunes caused two fires, followed by explosions.
"On the front north of Verdun the artillery action was maintained very actively on both sides of the Meuse, but there was no infantry action during the course of the day. Our batteries took under their fire enemy column north of the village of Douaumont.
"In the Vosges, south of the Col De St. Marie, German groups which attempted to approach our lines after a violent bombardment, were driven back into their trenches by our machine gun fire."
Belgian communication:
"There is nothing in particular to report, with the exception of the usual artillery action."

England Has Enough
Ammunition To Last

American Firms Will Get
No More Contracts.

New York, June 10.—American manufacturers will receive no more ammunition contracts from England, according to T. H. Curtis, a director in the firm of Curtis & Hardy, English manufacturers of explosives, who came here yesterday from the Finland.
Mr. Curtis said his firm with twelve factories in England and 1 in Montreal was turning out 200 tons of ammunition daily. About 10,000 women are employed in the plants.
"England is making all her own ammunition now," continued the powder manufacturer, "and has enough to carry her to the end of the war. She will award no more contracts in the United States. Among other reasons, the prices here are extremely high and delivery uncertain. The military authorities are preparing for another winter campaign."

Twelve Ships Are Held Up In Great Britain and Seventeen in France.

London, June 9.—Following the announcement of the closing of the Greek ports by the Allies the Greek consul general here stated that there is food for only ten days in Greece.
He said he is unable to understand the blockade as precautions have prevented goods from reaching the enemy through Greece for some time.
Twelve Greek ships have been held up in Great Britain and seventeen in France.
The decree signed by King Constantine, disbanding the twelve senior military classes, about 150,000 men, will be submitted to parliament before taking effect. Throughout Greece the decision to disband part of the army which has been mobilized since last October is joyously received. It is thought in Athens that the demobiliza-tion of the army will mean the downfall of the Skoufoudis government.

censes which open here on Tuesday morning in Assembly Hall of Provincial Normal School. Of this number twenty-five will write grammar school examinations, one hundred and twenty-eight class 1, and one hundred and seventy-eight class 2 examinations. These examinations will also be written at St. John and Chatham.
At St. John eleven candidates will write grammar school examinations, one superior, five class 1, and four class 2, and at Chatham two will write grammar school, two superior, one class 1, and four class 2.

Tobacco Heart
CURED BY MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills.

Tobacco does not seem to affect all alike. Many men enjoy their smoke, live to a good old age, and apparently suffer no ill effects from the use of the weed.
There are others, though, on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results.
It causes palpitation, pain in the heart and irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, and the breath becomes short.
To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy that equals Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.
They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.
Mr. Nelson Young, Brampton, Ont., writes: "I have had, up to about a month ago, a very weak heart, which I suppose came from smoking cigarettes.
When I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as a cure, I immediately gave up smoking, and started using them.
I feel now that I am the founder of such a great remedy. They made me feel like a new man."
Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

POSTCARDS TELL FATE OF
GEN. WILLIAMS

War Prisoner in Germany
— Gen. Mercer Rendered
Stone Deaf and Slightly Wounded.

London, June 11.—(Montreal Gas-ette cable)—Definite news has reached the military authorities here that Gen.
Victor Williams, who commanded a brigade of the fourth division, was taken prisoner during the recent heavy fighting near Zellebeke. The British minister at The Hague has forwarded a number of postcards which General Williams and other Canadian officers who were taken prisoner have been allowed to send.
Gen. Mercer, who was reported missing with Gen. Williams, according to a correspondent of The Weekly Dispatch was slightly wounded and rendered stone deaf during the heavy five-hour bombardment on the Canadian lines. Beyond this, adds the correspondent, no one seems to have seen Gen. Mercer.

THE KYTE CHARGES.

At the closing session of the Meredith-Duff enquiry on Friday last F. H. Markey, K. C., of Montreal, associate counsel for Mr. Kyte, was very careful to tell the commission that Mr. Kyte made no charge of dishonesty or corruption either against Sir Sam Hughes or the Shell Committee. After the very plain statement by Mr. Justice Duff, a statement by the way, which the Telegraph and Times have not yet dared to give to their readers, it was evident that the counsel for the promoters of the charges would endeavor to find some way of saving the faces of their clients.

It must be remembered that Mr. Kyte was not alone in casting reflections upon Sir Sam Hughes or the Committee which handled Canada's munition business. Mr. Carvell was equally guilty, and his words in the House of Commons and before the commission show that he is prepared to stand behind Kyte in every charge made. Consequently, if the report of the commission should vindicate Sir Sam Hughes and the shell committee the punishment due to slanderers should be visited as heavily upon the shoulders of the member for Carleton as upon his more outspoken colleague from Richmond.

The Associated Press report of the proceedings before the Meredith-Duff enquiry a few days ago quoted Mr. Hellmuth, prosecuting counsel for the Government as saying: "It is impossible to conceive a more utter failure of anything approaching evidence in regard to impropriety on the part of any in this matter." And in reply to this Mr. Justice Duff, the Laurier nominee to the Commission, said: "I quite concur in what you say as to corruption or personal honesty." In other words, Judge Duff agrees with Mr. Hellmuth that there has been an "utter failure" upon the part of Messrs. Laurier, Carvell, Kyte and Co., to bring into question the name of a single member of the Government, or official of the Government or member of the Shell Committee.

With the matter of dishonesty eliminated the whole enquiry simmers down to whether contractors for munitions made profits larger than they should have. Whether the profits were large or not it must be remembered that in most cases the munitions were supplied to Canada cheaper than to Britain and at prices lower than the British agents were prepared to pay. Thus when the customers were satisfied with the quality of the article purchased and the price paid for it the only legitimate excuse for the enquiry falls to the ground.

But the Meredith-Duff enquiry was not held to determine whether shells supplied to British agents were sold at a higher price than was reasonable. Mr. Carvell, all his blustering to the contrary, will not confine himself to that, or if he does will place himself in a particularly foolish and petty light. It was the Carvell hope, and the Kyte belief, fostered of course by the alleged evidence he was able to secure from and through Carvell, that something could be brought home to Sir Sam Hughes or to the members of the Shell Committee for which Sir Sam manfully admitted the responsibility. It was more than an investigation into prices, it was, rather, a probing into the personal integrity and honor of the man who more than any other member of the Borden Government has had to face the difficult problems in this war, Sir Sam Hughes, the gentleman whose scalp it was fondly hoped would decorate the wigwam of the Grit muckrakers and now that all charges against the Minister of Militia have been shown without foundation it is time to consider whether the matter should be permitted to end just here.

Personal reputations and the fortunes of political parties were not the only things which the Carvell-Kyte muckraking brigade attacked. Canada's good name was besmirched at a time when her hands were already full with the defense of her shores against a foreign foe, and the men who so maligned and slandered the nation are the same men who had so little evidence in support of their calumnies that their best effort is called "utter failure." From one end of the country to the other the Grit press has teemed with denunciations of Sir Sam Hughes and the Shell Committee. Such terms as "traffic in blood," "fattening on the need of our soldiers," were used to describe the presumed exposure of men who in high places were betraying their trust. But the exposure was not made. Instead of finding that the Minister of Militia had been dishonest or corrupt one of the Commissioners declares that there has been no evidence to warrant such a decision. What then shall be the fate of Sir Sam's traducers? If it is possible for the Canadian Government to call Messrs. Carvell and Kyte to account for their crime against Canada it should be done. If, on the other hand, these gentlemen have so surrounded themselves with technicalities and "privileges" that they are immune from prosecution then the people in their respective constituencies should see to it that the air of the Dominion Commons is no longer fouled by their presence. The Meredith-Duff enquiry should sound the political death knell of Frank B. Carvell of Carleton and George W. Kyte of Richmond.

A THREE CORNERED FIGHT.

There is no doubt that President Woodrow Wilson and his friends of the Democratic party received with keen satisfaction and approval the news that the breach between the Republican and Progressive parties had not yet been closed, but that both organizations on Saturday placed presidential candidates in the field. Hon. Charles E. Hughes of the United States Supreme Court received the nomination of the Republican party and thus dashed to the ground the hope of the followers of Col. Theodore Roosevelt who felt with their champion as the regular Republican nominee the chances of success would have been bright. Not to be outdone, the Rooseveltians, Progressives or "Bull Moose" party, to give them all the names by which they have been known, sat in convention in the same city as the Republicans and, about the same time the decision of the larger convention was being communicated to Justice Hughes, named Col. Roosevelt as the man to carry the Progressive banner in the political battle of next November.

The net result of the action of Saturday has been to make the re-election of Woodrow Wilson practically a certainty for it is expected that in the three cornered fight which will result he will have all the advantage.

From now to polling day the political pot will be kept merrily boiling across the border. Roosevelt's strenuous campaign methods are well known but it is not believed he can command sufficient strength to turn much of the machine Republican vote away from Justice Hughes while, on the other hand, he is sure to get a large share of popular support not strongly committed to either party. The nomination of Roosevelt and Hughes is, however, a distinct stroke of good fortune for the Democrats, for, by it they have the task of placing Woodrow Wilson in the White House for another term made considerably easier for them.

THE KAISER TO HIS SAILORS.

(London Free Press.) The German Kaiser, addressing his sailors on their return from the North Sea fighting, told them "the world was prepared for everything, but not for the victory of the German fleet over the English." He added: "The start which you have made will cause fear to creep into the bones of the enemy." There is evidence here of a desire to modify any claims to a German victory. The Emperor is aware, from the remark, that the victory had distinct limitations. It was not a complete victory. It was only "a start." It was such a start as would "cause fear to creep into the bones of the enemy." This fear would be a gradual process. It was not something which had instantly been placed there by the North Sea battle, but would be a "creeping" affair.

When we remember that the Kaiser was speaking to his war-scarred veterans who had just escaped with their lives, and that there was great need upon his part to give them words of good cheer and encouragement, it seems to us that he was obsessed with "the blues" if he could do no better than this. It is not such a consolation, when you are yourself covered with wounds, to be told that you have made your enemy lose some of his courage.

Moreover, if the German sailor pondered the Emperor's words, he might reasonably arrive at the conclusion that perhaps this "creeping fear" which had been established in the enemy's bones would be a good thing for the enemy. He would conclude that hereafter, whatever may have been the fact this time, British battle cruisers would wait for the backing of British battleships before undertaking to "sick the whole German navy." Which would be a bad thing for the German navy, as the North Sea incident demonstrated. Under the circumstances, it must be said for the Kaiser, that addressing men, as he was, who knew the whole horrible truth, namely, that the German fleet had been driven back to its hiding place, and that ships great and small which could not be spared, had been lost, he made the most of a bad job. However, there is not now and there will not be "a creeping fear" in the bones of Germany's enemy. British tars are not built that way.

The Butchers of Berlin

I know not what of truth may chance to be in neutral tales of Hunns grown mad with hunger. And strappings in the city on the Spree Of butcher and of hapless sausage-monger, Of demonstrators crying, "Peace and bread!" Almost in hearing of the royal palace, But these are suchlike tales, when all is said, I much prefer to take "Cum grano salis." And yet it does seem reasonably plain That Berlin butchers face an awkward crisis, It being said they think too much of gain And stint supplies in hope of higher price. We hear of hidden hoards, no doubt for sale To folk who know those eager palms need greasing, Of beds stuffed full of sausages—a Which strikes unskilled minds as most unpleasing!

And yet the housewife's case is scarcely sound. She should recall her nation's sacred mission, And how the butcher element is found In every Hun's internal composition. While Huns abroad their trade of slaughter ply, Their kith and kin should show their admiration For those at home who truly typify The spirit of the kindly German nation! —Touchstone, in London Mail.

Verdun

The banner of the Fleur-de-Lis still waves Above the noble fortress of Verdun, Fierce sways the strife above the myriad graves And red the river as the setting sun. The Marcellaise is sounding the advance— On, on to victory, ye sons of France! The foothills echo to the lyddite scream, The air is charged with battle's fiery breath, The bursting shells with intermittent gleam Work fearful havoc on the fields of death. Where Azrael moves, and patient dying eyes. Look upward to the quiet, starlit skies. The fair, campestrial scene is dyed in blood, The music of the woodland quenched in woe. Yet here the sons of Freedom have gathered, The frenzied onslaught of the baffled foe. "St. Denis!" 'tis the ancient battle-cry That stands for valor, faith and liberty. —E. S. GODFREY, Ottawa.

The House of

(By St. John Adcock in "Songs of the World War.") There's a little house in a little street A little way from the sea, And O, when I'm weary of all the world It's there that I fain would be. It's there that I fain would be. For the world is full of sorrow and care, And the darkness lies before; And the little house is full of the dreams That were ours, but are ours no more. In the little street, in the long ago, In the little house by the sea, We dreamed of the days that have had no dawn, Of the years that shall never be. But you were young, and I was young, And we dreamed and had no care, And dearer and better than life has been Were the dreams that came to us there. And so when I'm weary of all the world, And dearer and better than life has been, Of its sordid hopes and its pain, I think of the little house that was ours.

CORRECT TIME
There's a lot of satisfaction in knowing that the watch you carry tells you the correct time. And you should carry a watch that you can depend upon in just that way, for in these days when seconds count, being a little late may make an essential difference in your prospects. A good watch is not too expensive a proposition for you. One may be purchased for a comparatively small amount. We should like to show you some watches that will prove to be thoroughly reliable timekeepers. Come in and examine them.

Tragic Death of Foremost Figure in Empire's Military Councils Formed Theme of Impressive Sermons From City Pulpits. Readers of the recent series of articles on this page on 'The Siege of Germany' will not need to be told that the food crisis in that country has reached a point at which it is indistinguishable from the incipient stages of a national rebellion.

How could this muste possibly have failed to evoke such feelings; it was the music born of the very soul of Poland and vocalized by her patriot son, Frederic Francois Chopin, and which the service closed. 'Even though it be a Cross' plaintively sang the choir, 'that raiseth me,' and as this thought so familiar to Christians was once again proclaimed more than one in that great congregation seemed to realize that in National life, even as in the personal experience of individuals under God's strain, it is the will to die that counts.

ALLIES AID. VIOLET SALE. BIG SUCCESS. Members of The Standard's Children's Corner Raised $41.45 for Soldiers' Comforts on Saturday Morning.

The fighting men of Canada, now actually in the firing line, will receive cigarettes, gum, note books, pencils, candies, and many other little comforts to the value of forty-one dollars and forty-five cents as a result of the splendid work done by members of the St. John Standard Children's Corner Branch of the Allies' Aid Society on Saturday, when they spent the morning selling violets and other flowers.

Those who assisted in raising this large amount were Miss Muriel Ginter, Miss Estella Fox, Miss Agnes Pearson, Miss Florence Trentoway, Miss Lois Steeves, Miss Marion Phillips, the Misses Hazel and Ethel Thompson, Miss Laura Ivory, Miss Fannie Goldfeather, Miss Ernestine Friars and Edith Greogry.

After the selling of the flowers had concluded a short meeting was held, with all members present, when the collecting boxes were opened and contents counted showing the amount previously stated, which was handed over to the treasurer. A special buying committee was formed and the comfort for to be purchased as soon as possible, so that there may be no delay in the fighting men getting same.

LATE NEWS AND VIEWS FROM SPORTING WORLD

ROTHESAY'S TRACK TEAM THE VICTORS

St. John High School Lost in Athletic Meet on Saturday Day - Donnelly Makes Record.

The St. John High School track team, consisting of William and Russell Donnelly, McDonald, Anglin, Porter, Wetmore, Sommersville, Russel, Mitchell and Bustin journeyed out to Rothesay on Saturday afternoon to compete in the annual inter-school sports against Moncton and Rothesay Collegiate School.

The High School team were accompanied by a large number of rooters and admirers of which the fair sex were in the majority.

The weather was perfect for a field day. The light shower during the forenoon dampened the grounds sufficient to subdue any sign of dust, and an occasional drop of rain in the afternoon assisted materially in cooling the atmosphere.

St. John lost the meet by a half point and is not the slightest doubt, had Donnelly put the shot after he broke the record in the broad jump established by H. Sinclair, he would have two more points added to his total aggregation.

Each of the three schools pinned their faith on one individual. The High School on Donnelly, Rothesay on Nicholes, and Moncton on Ryder.

The sprints were all closely contested. In the final 220, Nicholes of Rothesay and McDonald of St. John fought for supremacy up until the last second when Nicholes, by an ending leg, broke the record in an ending leg, breaking the tape.

The hurdle race was won by Donnelly of St. John in the fast time of 17 seconds, breaking all former records.

The mile was material for great excitement when Bustin of St. John chased Germain of Rothesay right up to the tape, finishing only a step behind him.

Ryder and Addy of Moncton, although unsuccessful in carrying off any firsts, made the winners realize that Moncton had a fighting team entered in the sports.

This is the second year Rothesay has won the trophy, and should they be successful next year they will become the holders. The trophy was donated by the Alumnae of the St. John High School.

The Rothesay Cadets, elated over the victory won by their track team, celebrated the remainder of the evening with their bugle band. The band is indeed one of which any military unit might be proud and reflects great credit upon their competent preceptor and instructor, Sergt. Doe.

As the St. John boys had to remain in Rothesay until the local passed through the grocery stores and pop counters did a thriving business.

The closing exercises at Rothesay will commence on June 20th.

The results of the different events were as follows:

100 yds. dash, 1st heat—Trites, R.C.S., 1st; Nicholes, R.C.S., 2nd; Anglin, St. J.H.S., 3rd. Time, 11 sec.

NEEDLESS LENGTH OF GAMES

There has been just complaint of late over the needless length of big league games. Experiment has shown that any game may be shortened as much as twenty minutes by accelerating the battery, warning the pitcher and catcher against too much posing and by putting a little pep into the stride of batters as they saunter out to the plate.

The American association has had success in this direction where the big leagues have fallen short. The chiefs of the association, after a careful study of the matter, have discovered that the fans are pleased to sit attentive and eager throughout a game of about an hour and forty minutes duration. Much more than that, however, unless it be remarkably lively and spirited, will elicit weary and much grames, last almost two hours with few interesting features most of those present are bored.

A game two hours in length is not uncommon and in a great many cases has been found that it might be shortened to a close fifteen or twenty minutes earlier. As much as a full minute every half-inning can be saved if the umpire is onto his job and keeps the players trotting briskly about the plate.

The pitcher and catcher get more attention than the rest of the lineup and so are more disposed to pose and stall. Pitchers with elaborate wind-ups are great pests and the umpires will be doing a grand work if they can bring about their extermination.

Catchers who adjust their shinguards with undue care might also be stirred into snapper action. All of these items seem trivial at first glance, but have much to do with dragging a game out into a most tedious affair, and if umpires are rigorous this season in rebuking the languid performers they will have the hearty applause of all the fans.

SPEAKER IS LEADER.

Chicago, June 10.—Tris Speaker leads the American League batters and Ty Cobb has climbed into a tie with Joe Jackson for the second place. Speaker is leading with .369 and Jackson and Cobb are neck and neck at .327. Detroit leads in team batting with .355. Daubert maintains his lead in the National League, and Schulte hangs on to second place. REMOVES FROM PRIZE RING ONE OF ITS BIG MYSTERIES

The curtain has rung down on the final appearance of Oscar Mathew Batting Nelson, the "Durable Dane," former lightweight champion of the world, and the only man in modern annals of the ring who never knew when he was beaten.

Most of us have conceded since February 22, 1910, that Bat was all in. On that day Adolph Wolgast vindicated his way to the title over the dogged but broken resistance of the once superman, Nelson, after the most sensational battle in the history of the lightweight title.

Battered for forty rounds, at the end Nelson stood with swollen features, closed eyes and gory lips, away from his feet from exhaustion, but still defiant, begging Referee Ed Smith to alter his order stopping the bout.

"I'm all right," he mumbled; "let 'er go on, Ed."
But Ed declined to be accessory before the fact to murder, and Nelson's glory departed.

Wisconsin Ended Career.

That day Nelson's light went low. It flickered completely out when the Wisconsin boxing commission announced that it would not permit Bat and Ad Wolgast to fight ten rounds at Milwaukee because Nelson was "too far gone" to make it a contest.

Nelson's last appearance in the world which appreciates 100 per cent, game will rise as one man and take its hat off to this dead cock of the walk.

Here is the hero of 140 fights, most of which he won. In scarcely one of them did he achieve victory without first having taken a harder beating than he gave.

"Take two punches to land one," was Bat's slogan of campaign. And acting on this theory he continually stepped into whoever opposed him. Buffed often and hard, he always came back for more, until the enemy, tired of punching, fell a prey to his superhuman endurance and courage.

Just a Fighter, That's All.

Nelson was just a fighter, that's all. An injury to his left arm prevented the free use of this as a guard. As a result, the left side of the head was battered to pulp every time he fought a clever man in a long fight.

With it all—his lack of science and his stiff arm—he was actually knocked down and out once only, and that was by Owen Moran, who toppled him in the eleventh round of their struggle at San Francisco, after Wolgast had previously beaten Bat.

Nelson's always claimed that he was given short count, and the pictures of the fight indicated he was not badly hurt.

Nelson is 34 years old, or will be on June 5 of the present year. His memorable battles include the historical contest at Goldfield against Joe Gans, the colored lightweight, known as "the Old Master," which Nelson lost on a foul.

In this fight Nelson's manager forced Gans to fight 133 pounds ring-side, weigh in with all his fighting togs. This made Gans come down from a welterweight to practically 121 pounds.

Won Title From Gans.

Nelson was never the actual world's champion until July 4, 1908, when he knocked out Gans in 17 rounds of San Francisco. Gans, it was said, had gone into consumption as a result of his effort to do weight for Bat at Goldfield. Nevertheless he fought still another bout with Nelson and was again knocked out in 21 rounds, September 9, 1908.

Among the famous fighters, "kay-ode" by Nelson were Young Corbett (twice), Jimmy Britt, Gans (twice), Eddie Hanlon, Spider Walsh, Martin Chabot, Dick Hyland and others.

He was beaten many times on points however.

In fact, at one time early in his career, when Jack Powell, the St. Louis baseball player, was seeking bouts there for him, he was refused a preliminary mill at the West End Club because Manager Charley Haughton thought he was too raw even for a curtain raiser.

Bat is Well Healed.

Bat passes on his way theoretically well healed. At one time he owned lands in Texas and was almost the sole proprietor of Hegewisch, Ill., where he made his home.

Even after he lost the title he campaigned the country and cleaned up on tours through the bushes, where he would fight limited round bouts with the local celebrity for anything from $750 up.

Nelson was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, of poor parents. They settled near Chicago and were able to give Bat the merest rudiments of an education. Except for what his retentive mind picked up on his journey through the world, Bat's education stopped there.

Nevertheless, in time he wrote a story of his life that is fairly readable, and, when his fame left him and correspondents no longer eagerly sought interviews, Nelson's nimble mind devised features about himself, which he was able to click off on his own typewriter and get into the papers.

Nelson's finish sure is the finish which a commission rules him out and one of the fight gulls no longer mentions his name—marks the gradual passing of the old school of fighters, who are slowly being crowded out in favor of the boxers, a condition brought about by ten round contests.

Of the active, real fighters of the old time, take a punch to hand one sort, probably Ad Wolgast and Jim Flynn are the only remaining examples of prominence. Neither of these has much more than a year left in the ring.

The Old Order Changeth!

Hungarian papers complain that Rumania wants gold for everything bought by the Monarchy or Germany. No goods can be shipped or loaded in railway carriages without a written sanction from the Treasury, and the prices are being checked and often not approved, in which case the permission for shipment is refused. The buyer has to pay the full amount in gold at the Treasury, and only then can the seller apply for a bill of lading, he being paid by the Treasury in Rumanian paper notes. In this way all the gold is being paid into the state coffers, and as a consequence the solidity of the Rumanian lei is firmer than it ever was before. The prohibition of taking gold out of the country into Hungary is strictly enforced, and transvallars are searched to their skins before they leave the Rumanian frontier, so as to make it impossible for any gold to return if once it gets into the country. All these measures are naturally well known in the Monarchy, and they add to the feeling of suspicion and distrust in the sincerity of the Rumanian Government.

The feeling is particularly bitter when it is seen that these measures increase the difficulty of living by making it difficult for foodstuffs to reach the Monarchy. The Austrian Foreign Office's statement to the effect that the Government cannot buy cereals on account of the shortness of gold is in no way soothing in its effect, for it only makes the people realize still more the impossibility of the situation. They are given to understand that it is not the lack of cereals that is the root of the trouble, but the lack of money in gold, and they are thus enabled to realize that the financial situation is far worse than was previously admitted. They realize also that the Austrian Government has furnished proof to the Rumanians of the critical economic situation of the country, thus putting a new weapon in the hands of a neighbor who is only waiting for the moment of exhaustion to realize his aims. The fact that the Foreign Office offered ammunition in preference to gold shows the Rumanians attach to gold, for the supply of ammunition in Rumania is by no means over-abundant.

"The Hungarians have done their duty most loyally," continued Count Karolyi, "but in spite of the services they have rendered neither the military authorities nor their own Government, at whose head is supposed to be the most powerful man of the monarchy, are willing to defend them against insults, which are also insults to the nation as a whole." These words, coming from a most respected and admired leader of the Independence party, had an immense effect on the whole House, and Count Tisza, in order to counteract the attack, declared that he protested against such speeches, and termed it an unpardonable crime on the part of the leader of the Opposition to talk in this way. Count Karolyi protested energetically against the tone of the Premier's statement, and emphasized that he felt it his duty to express his indignation in public.

Happy the later reports have proved that British navy did not suffer defeat, that it fully sustained its great reputation and under adverse conditions gave the enemy as good, if not better, than it received. The market, however, had a moderate break on day but on Monday the tone both Wall Street and here was much improved and prices regained most of the losses.

Quickly following this came news of the heavy fighting in which the Canadian forces had been involved in Flanders and the heavy casualties list among the officers caused a feeling of gloom to spread in street, and left very little heart trading operations. On top of came the shocking news of the death of Earl Kitchener and his staff, the cruiser Hampshire went down the north of Scotland en route to the coast.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MONTREAL MARKET

Prices Held Up Well Despite Serious News From The War Zones. DUE MOSTLY TO THE STRONG UNDERTONE Unusually Good Industrial Conditions and Big Earnings of Corporations Have Helped Keep Up Market's Courage.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, June 10.—A week ago today the market was closed in observance of the King's birthday and at the time it was considered just as well that the holiday fell on the date it did in view of the shock the market received through the early reports of the North Sea naval battle.

Quickly following this came the news of the heavy fighting in which the Canadian forces had been involved in Flanders and the heavy casualties list among the officers caused a feeling of gloom to spread in the street, and left very little heart for trading operations.

Considering all these developments, not of a character to foster purchases of stocks, it is worthy of note how well prices were sustained. This might be attributed to the moderation of selling which in turn could be attributed to the strong undertone created by the exceptionally favorable industrial conditions and the large earnings being recorded by leading corporations.

DENY REPORT REGARDING BIG STEEL COMBINE

Combination Not Likely to be Attempted while Present Conditions Exist — More Selling of Dominion Iron and Steel for American Interests.

Special to The Standard.

Toronto, June 10.—Interests identified with the Lake Superior Corporation and Algoma Steel Corporation took occasion to categorically deny the story hitting at an amalgamation of the four principal steel industries of this country.

A steel combination might be beneficial in many ways, but it is hardly likely to be attempted while the present conditions exist. One steel president yesterday when asked as to the rumor referred the inquirer to section 498 of the Criminal Code of Canada, which provides rewards in the shape of fines or imprisonment, for any company combining to unduly prevent or lessen competition in the production, manufacture, barrier, sale, transportation or supply of any article or commodity.

CLOSING LETTER OF N. Y. MARKET BY E. & C. RANDOLPH

McDOUGALL & COWANS. New York, June 10.—The market did little during the day's short session and prices were slightly lower, although the undertone appeared good. The situation in Chicago was somewhat confused according to the news and as there was no possibility of a nomination before the closing of the session, the market did little more than mark time.

Special to The Standard.

New York, June 10.—The two hour session of the stock market was very tame and perfunctory at best, all eyes being again directed towards Chicago. Trading was exceedingly light and narrow, with a mixture of advances and declines, specialties helping largely to hold up the recent level of averages.

The usual leaders displayed little animation and no marked trend. United States Steel equalled its recent high quotation at the outset, but yielded fractionally before the publication of the May tonnage statement, which disclosed an increase in unfilled orders of 108,247 tons, bringing the grand total up to the new record of 9,937,738 tons.

NEWS LETTER FROM MONTREAL EXCHANGE

McDOUGALL & COWANS. Closing Stock Letter. Montreal, June 10.—The strongest stocks on the local market today were Canadian General Electric and Peter Lyall. From what we hear, practically every munition company in Canada have got, or can get, all the business they can handle. Steamships were also strong, selling at the highest price it has for some time. Bell Telephone, which is more of an investment stock, presumably being purchased on the strength of one of their subsidiaries obtaining war contracts.

JUST TWO WEEKS REMAINING FOR STANDARD HUSTLERS

Now On The Home Stretch in the Great Travel Club Competition — Winners of Special Prizes Will be Announced in Tuesday's Paper.

The result of the special prize offer which closed on Saturday evening cannot be announced until tomorrow's paper. So many orders came in that it has been found impossible to check them all up in time for this morning and indeed the greater part of today will be required in listing the subscriptions sent by those members of the club who were trying for the two prizes. Sufficient is, however, known to indicate that there will be important changes in the standing of some of the members. All along we have been urging those at the top of the list to keep busy as there were others farther down who were working hard and who would come in strong a little later. This is now becoming apparent and the members who may think that they are well ahead will have a disagreeable surprise coming to them one of these days. A feature which seems to have been overlooked in this special offer is that the prizes were offered for new yearly subscriptions to the daily paper by mail at three dollars and by carrier at five dollars. Some of the members sent subscriptions from postmasters and clerks who receive the paper by mail at a reduced rate. These would not count, but it is believed that none of the subscriptions mentioned have changed the winning of the prizes. Only two weeks now remain, and there is bound to be a tremendous rush of business. There will be no more special prizes of any sort offered. All that is now left is the big prize list of trips to Alaska or the equivalent as originally set forth. And it should not be supposed that these wonderful prizes can be won without work. We are not giving away this big amount of money for the fun of the thing, but we expect our members to work for all they are worth. There are five prizes. None of them have been won yet nor anything like it, and there are members pretty well down in the list today who have every chance in the world of winning out if they desire to hustle for the next couple of weeks. Do not waste a minute of your spare time but get at this thing in earnest from now until the finish and see if you cannot be one of the fortunate five to go with "The Standard's" party on that great trip to the coast. When the finish comes do not be in the position of feeling that a few hours more, which you foolishly squander, might have won for you one of the big prizes.

THRILLING STORY OF A SUBMINEE 300 Mile Voyage After Striking a Mine.

In a certain dockyard in England there is to be found a splendid tribute to the prowess of British submarines and the skill of those who man them. It is one of the finest of his Majesty's undersize boats, which, with her bow twisted and bent as the result of a collision with an enemy mine in enemy waters, covered a distance of almost three hundred miles under her own power, and arrived safely in a home port.

Through the courtesy of the British Admiralty it was permitted to see this submarine and talk with her officers and crew. She is in harbour, with her two torpedo tubes crushed. Her bulkheads are broken away at the bow; but in her tubes are two unexploded torpedoes. Their casings are twisted and stained and the rear doors of them are jammed. But the quality of the high explosive in her torpedoes and the mechanism controlling it prevented an explosion, thus saving her from total destruction.

The Explosion.

She struck a mine head on. The explosion smashed two of her bulkheads, broke all glass aboard her, and sent the crew sprawling to the floor of the compartments, but her motors did not stop, her dials did not fail to register. She dropped to the bottom of the sea, and the water flooded in under the doors of the torpedo tubes. Within five minutes after collision she had been turned, had come to the surface, and righted her nose toward home.

When I looked at her, living with her exposed tubes shining in the sunlight and her bulkheads in strips of steel she had under the coast guns of the enemy, that she could have made in her damaged condition a journey of 300 miles, returning to a safe harbor with the information she had been sent to obtain. And added to this was the fact that she had made the voyage in a high sea, that for twenty hours, defenceless, she evaded the enemy patrols.

I had heard stories of German submarines sunk by a single shot, so I asked one of the officers how his boat had survived the tremendous shock of a mine explosion. "She held her own because of her strength," he said. "It broke her bow and it tore off two of her bulkheads. But the last one held. The efficiency of her pumps was not impaired. Within two minutes we had them working."

He asked me if I would not come below and see the marks of the disaster. Directly in front of me were the rear doors of the torpedo tubes, painted a brilliant white and to my right and left shining torpedoes were clamped in their tracks.

"You see," one of the officers explained to me, "we didn't know what had happened—the water was spurting in and broken glass was everywhere. We didn't know how much of her was gone. We knew that every man aboard her had been knocked flat on his face, that the glass of the dials was rattling about underfoot. But we didn't know what was to become of us. We were as far down as we could be, and, as for getting up—well, it didn't look like much of a chance."

Undaunted Crew.

"It was fine to see the crew. They got on their feet and were at their stations before the commander had time to order them there. In two minutes the order to rise had gone through to the engine-room, and the pumps were going.

"It was still enough, down there after all the noise of the explosion. You could hear the motors turning—it's not much of a sound they make. But we were glad enough to hear it, and when we saw that the bubble in the clinometer was registering, and the inclination was becoming less, we knew that matters were not as bad as they might have been.

"Then they reversed the motors. We waited. That was a bad minute. Then the broken glass began to rattle about again. We were moving. We weren't long in getting up. At any time there's nothing like coming up into the air and sunlight after you've been under for a bit. But this was different. Yes, this was a bit different. . . . We came up. In the silence room there was the noise of the wireless sparking. The operator was testing it. At any rate we were floating. So we started and looking her over for the damage."

It was his ship he seemed to think of above all other things. "We took a look at the bow plating and at the bulkheads. They looked pretty bad, hanging loose in strips, but we decided we could make it. The engines were right, nothing broken there; the periscope was true. It was only her bow and her rudder that were gone. So we started back. We drove 'along' under our own power. It was a bit of a sea, but we made it. The waves broke over the bridge and pounded on the one bulkhead we had left forward.

"And so," he said, and smiled, "we came home."

Inner Mysteries.

Then he took me over his ship and explained its mysteries to me. He took me through four compartments, each one resplendent with white paint and polished brass. He showed me the periscope, lowered it, and revealed to me the grey horizon, with the ships ranged against it. When I marvelled at this he turned the periscope, and there flashed up before me, in a little clear image, a minute picture of men walking amidships of one of those distant vessels.

He explained the fine mechanism of the control-room, and pointed out the places for the men who have certain stations in this vital compartment. I do not think that I have ever seen such delicacy of construction as I saw in this immaculate little room, and such evidence of efficiency and concentration. This was the heart of the ship; beyond the great water-tight doors there was the engine-room, with the breathing pipes and white in-takes overhead, and beyond another white door was the battery-room.

When I came up on the deck I remembered this room above all the others. But the officer who was with me would not admit that one part of his ship was finer than another. I looked again at her smashed bow and torn bulkheads, and I remembered that she had come some 300 miles with the heavy seas pounding her, that she had dodged the patrols, that she has sent no message for help. She had come back broken, battered, helpless. But the work she had been sent to do she had done.

SHEDIAC

Shediac, June 9.—Miss Hazel Tait, who is leaving Shediac in the near future, has recently been guest of honor at a number of very enjoyable functions. On Thursday last, from 4 to 9, Mrs. A. J. Tait, entertained for Miss Tait. The spacious parlors were suitably decorated for the occasion, while quantities of cream and

Some splendid results have been reported to us from the combined use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. In complicated cases the work together with great success.

While the Kidney-Liver Pills arouse the action of liver, kidney and bowels, and so overcome derangements of these organs, the Nerve Food enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves and builds up the system in a general way.

Mr. R. B. Hillman, Purbrook, Muskoka, Ont., writes: "About four years ago I was all run down and could not work, and as to writing a letter, I could not do it on account of my hand shaking so badly. My nerves were unstrung and I was troubled with a nervous breakdown. I could not sleep soundly and would start up so suddenly as to almost jump out of bed. My kidneys were bad, too, and I had awful pains in the back all day. I doctored with our family doctor, but he did not seem to know what I needed. I was recommended to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and could sleep well three nights after starting the use of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. I take great pleasure in recommending these medicines, as I have proved that they do all that is claimed for them."

When used together the Nerve Food should be used after each meal and at bedtime, and the Kidney-Liver Pills only as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in healthy condition. Dr. Chase's medicines are for sale at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

crimson tulle, formed the floral decorations. The guests assembled in the dining room at 6.30, where supper was served, and a toast taken to the health of the "bride elect." During the evening, a guessing contest caused a great deal of amusement and the solo singing of little Kathleen Tait, was much enjoyed. Souvenirs at the guessing contest and for nearest sewing fell to Miss Evans, Miss Beatrice Harper and Miss Beale Lawton. A pretty guest prize was handed Miss Tait. The party broke up with the singing of "Shady a Jolly Good Fellow," and "Auld Lang Syne."

On Monday evening Mrs. John Livingston gave a pleasant function in honor of Miss Tait, in the form of a linen shower.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. A. J. Webster, entertained young lady friends at a fancy work party, when Miss Tait was the honored guest. The rooms were gaily festooned with white streamers and violets. Quantities of apple blossoms were very pretty floral decorations. The hostess had as her aides at serving time, Mrs. Irene Welling, Miss Jean Webster, and little Louise Balloch. The latter in a very graceful manner presented the bride elect with a charming shower bouquet of white carnations.

This afternoon, Thursday, the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will entertain Miss Tait at a tea, in Tipperary Hall, when she will be the recipient of an address and presentation.

Rev. Theo. Hicks, Marysville, was in town this week, en route to attend the Methodist Conference meeting on P. E. Island.

A Column Which Is Supposed To Children's Heats Of The St. John Theatres Be Of Interest To Women Corner Told In The Right Way

Herein are Related Facts and Fancies Concerning the Letters Received Who's Who and What's What in the Picture Game Activities of Individuals and Organizations, the by Uncle Dick and What's What in the Picture Game Home, Fashions and Other Matters. From His Boys and They Say and Do.

Violet Day.
I regret that more people in the country could not send flowers in on Saturday morning for the Allies Aid to sell for comforts for the soldiers. The children started off with their baskets full of violets and were back in fifteen minutes with empty baskets. They could have sold hundreds more bunches. People were asking for violets and it seemed too bad that when the opportunity to obtain the money for the fund presented itself "the flowers were wanting their sweetness in the desert air" in the country. The children deserve great credit for their enthusiasm and work and we hope their next venture will receive great encouragement. In another part of the paper the sum realized will be given.

Large Use of Ribbon.
The uses of ribbon to give color as well as a graceful line, has long been known to dressmakers. But the severe plainness of the gowns for the past year or two when they were so scant, did not allow of its use. But this season every width of ribbon is pressed into service, from the thinnest string-like black velvet which encircles a white throat and falls in cascades of loops and ends to the waistline, up to broad sash ribbons almost half a yard wide, which are used for girdles and for bouffants.

The French dressmakers have decided that even the tailor-made need not be without its ribbon garlands. One of Georgette's most charming tailors this spring has tiny plaited frills of ribbon at the edge of collar, cuffs, coat and shoulder-cape. The three flounces which make the skirt are also edged with the little ribbon plaitings.

Another French maker, Premet, uses many founces of black grosgrain ribbon on a tailored suit of blue serge, taking away from the plainness of that hackneyed material, the too extended use of which makes it almost like a uniform. The ribbon Premet uses is of graduated widths. For example, the flounce at the foot of the skirt is about 5 inches wide and the last flounce, at the hip, only an inch wide. Between come the various widths of ribbon with about 2 inches of blue serge showing between the flounces. With this fancy skirt goes a short jacket belted across the back and showing at the front, a narrow waistcoat of black gros de Londres silk with a row of small steel buttons. Flare cuffs and there is a shawl collar of the silk with groups of the steel buttons.

Shoe Superstitions.
The Scotch lassie believes that should she by accident drop her new shoes before they have been worn, they will surely lead her into trouble. It is said that old maids believe that when their shoes come untied, and keep coming untied, it is true their sweethearts are talking and thinking about them.

The sweetheart, when on his way to see his lady love, should he stub his right toe will surely be welcomed but if he stubs his left he may know that he is not wanted.

It is said that if old shoes are burned snakes will squirm away from the place, while to keep old shoes that are past wearing about the place will surely bring good luck.

Should you meet a person whose shoes are "worn on the toes," you may put it down as a certainty that "he spends his back with me" on the same authority it is said that the girl who has her shoes "worn on the sides" is surely fated to be a "rich man's bride."

Advice Gratis.
To keep milk fresh pour it into shallow basin instead of a jug. When clothing marble-topped wash-stands use corn flour instead of soap, and polish with a chamber leather.

To treat a damp cupboard fit some charcoal up in a muslin bag, and hang it in the cupboard.
Do not throw away the remains of cold rice pudding. Remove the skin, break it up with a fork and serve with jam.

After baking when the gas has been turned out, leave the door of the oven open to let the heat out. This prevents the disagreeable odor so often noticed.
To clean a grey felt hat, take equal parts of white precipitated chalk and powder of starch. Mix with water to a thick cream, cover the hat entirely with this, leave to dry, then brush off. If only slightly soiled, rub with dry powdered chalk.

To clean black lace and veils, dip in strong cold tea, squeezing them well, squeeze and spread out to dry, pinning down the corners. Press between two pieces of cloth, using a moderately hot iron.

To restore wet shoes and boots, wipe off all mud with a damp cloth, dry thoroughly, then rub in plenty of ordinary yellow vaseline. Put the shoes away to dry—not near a fire—and when quite dry they will be as good as new.

To waterproof boots and shoes, melt together two parts of beeswax and one part of mutton fat, and apply to the leather at night, then wipe off next morning with a fannel. The first time the boots are blacked they will not polish well, but after three or four cleanings they will polish brilliantly.

Stuffed Spanish Onions.
Take three Spanish onions and peel them, but do not break the skin, and with a vegetable cutter take out the core. Blanch them in water for five minutes. Remove from the water carefully, and stuff the centres with sausage meat. Place a piece of short pastry over the hole to prevent the juice coming out, and bake in a tin containing stock. Baste occasionally to prevent burning.

What Celebrities Do.
Lord Pirrie, the shipowner, walks a mile every day before breakfast in a military hospital in France. The Princess of Monaco possesses a pair of jeweled shoes of the seventeenth century, which she wears one day in the year.
When writing to his near relatives, the King signs himself "Georgie," while Queen Mary's signature to her near relatives is simply an "M."

The President of the Probate Court, Sir Samuel Evans, has an expert knowledge of the German language, which stands him in good stead in his Prize Court work.
The Duchess of Westminster's hospital at Le Touquet is the most luxuriously equipped private hospital for soldiers in France. It cost her Grace $175,000 to start it.

The King of the Belgians is the greatest coffee drinker among reigning monarchs. His Majesty drinks coffee after any meal, in the morning before breakfast, and in the afternoon.

TODAY'S LITTLE JOKE.
"I say, mamma," said little Tommy. "Is it true that when you first met papa you had fallen into the water, and he jumped in and saved you?" "Quite true, my dear," replied mamma, with a smile. "Then I wonder if that's why papa won't allow me to learn how to swim?"

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.
Uncle Dick wishes many happy returns to the following kiddies whose birthdays take place today.
Roland Hamilton, Fairville.
Freeman W. Patterson, Grey's Mills.
Lillian Deaton, 286 Carmarthen.

EXTRACTS FROM THE MAIL BAG.
Interesting Letter.
Dear Uncle Dick—
Do you remember me writing before? I would love to win a camera, but as we have to get children to join, I can't get one, as there are no children to join here. Some are too old to join, and the others don't take the Standard. Have you got any more Kaiser buttons? I saw my chum's Kaiser button and thought it was very nice. She has had hers quite a while. I enjoy reading the Corner very much. I found the proverbs and hope they are right, as I would like to get a prize. I am giving them on a separate page. I am in the third reader, Heaps of love to the Corner.
Your niece,
Lella Duplissie.

Wrote During Holiday.
155 Leinster St.
Dear Uncle Dick—
Please excuse me for not writing for such a long time, as I have been very busy at my school work, and as it is often a long time to get an answer in my class at school, I am taking advantage of my holiday to write to you and I am also trying the Proverb Contest, and hope I may win a prize. Is the Children's Corner going to be run through the summer? I hope it is. I think I must stop now.
Your loving niece,
Dorothy R. Roach.

Trying For Camera.
Welsford, N. B.
Dear Uncle Dick—
I enjoy the Corner very much indeed. I will try and get the camera and get as many children to join. I go to school and I like my teacher very well. With lots of love.
Your niece,
Doris Woods.

Dear Uncle Dick—
I am joining the Children's Corner for Jack Kowalski, who tells me that it is nice to belong. My age is thirteen and my birthday is January 15th. I hope to see my letter in the Saturday paper.
Yours sincerely,
Samuel Green.

Making Soldiers' Scrap Books.
The Range.
Dear Uncle Dick—
I am trying this week's contest. I got a lot of answers for it, but I did not know which would be the right one. I am making some scrap books. I could not get anything to make the bags out of in the stores around here. As I can not think of much to write, I will close for this time.
Evelyn Wanamaker.

Kentville Kiddie's Letter.
Kentville, N. S.
Dear Uncle Dick—
There was a lot of soldiers came last week, and there will be a lot more taking soldiers' wives as boarders. I am sending in this week's competition. It is quite easy. It is so near the passing examinations that I do not find much time to write or do anything for the Corner.
I must close now with much love to you and all the nieces and nephews, Yula Dennison.

Lester Cuneo Tries the Banking Game.
Lester Cuneo, who formerly played the heavy leads in Metro wonder-plays with Francis X. Bushman, and who gave up motion pictures recently to take up a banking career in Chicago, has again returned to pictures and will be seen with Harold Lockwood and May Allison in "The Come Back," a forthcoming Quality-Metro five-part production. Mr. Cuneo has been working before the camera for more than eight years, but during that entire time an uncle in Chicago has been trying to prevail upon him to take up a business career with him in a banking institution, where he is first vice-president.

While working in "Pennington's Choice," with Mr. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, Mr. Cuneo was thrown from a horse and laid up for several weeks. At that time he thought that he had suffered permanent injuries, especially a sprained ankle which gave him continued pain. It was with regret that he decided to quit the motion picture business. The monotony of life in a bank, however, did not appeal to him, while it afforded him an opportunity to take a rest and nurse his injuries.

"I am better than new," Mr. Cuneo said at the Quality-Metro studio in New York, where he had returned to work, as happy as a boy. "I know for sure that I am, for I have just taken the first beating I ever received in motion pictures. Jess Willard didn't beat up Frank Moran any worse than Harold Lockwood trounced me yesterday. We fought all over the studio, and not content with that Director J. Balsbord had him knock me down a flight of stairs. I kept up my training while I was in the west, and never missed a day at the Chicago Athletic Club. But working in pictures is the greatest training of all, especially in the strenuous brand of pictures that Harold Lockwood always appears in."

Lester Cuneo, now playing heavy leads with Harold Lockwood and May Allison on the Metro program, will take his vacation while the Barnum and Bailey circus is playing at Madison Square Garden. He knows several of the cowboys with the circus, and for two years rode the plains with a flight of stunts. I kept up my training while I was in the west, and never missed a day at the Chicago Athletic Club. But working in pictures is the greatest training of all, especially in the strenuous brand of pictures that Harold Lockwood always appears in."

First Broadhurst Film For Morocco in Work.
Filming of the first Chicago Broadhurst play was begun last week at the Morocco-Pallas studio. Rita Jolivet will be starred in this as the Countess de Cippico. The photoplay is an adaptation from "The International Marriage." Elliott Dexter has been selected to play opposite, and other members of the cast are Herbert Standing, William Robbins, Court Foote, Grace Carlyle and Olive White, and the direction is in charge of Frank Lloyd. Scenes for this are laid in European and American society, the plot revolving about the failure of a count who induces an American girl to wed him to keep his pledge and permit the woman to secure a divorce immediately after the marriage.

Edna Mayo Will Star in "Return of Eve."
Edna Mayo will be starred by Esanay in a five reel picture of Lee Wilson Dodd's "The Return of Eve." Arthur Berthelet, who has just completed "Sherlock Holmes," with William Gillette, will direct the new feature. An especially selected supporting cast will be provided.

The Return of Eve tells how two babes lived in the wilderness, attaining the age of nineteen without ever seeing their own kind. They were transplanted to a New York drawing room, and society's shams. In disgust, they went back to Eden.
But having tasted the world, they found Eden a dreary place. Eventually, being human, they returned to civilization.

It is learned that Mme. Louise Edvina, the Canadian prima donna who is well known in Western Canada, having for some time been a resident of Vancouver, and who is now in Paris where she is singing at the Opera Comique, is returning to this country for a concert tour which will open in Winnipeg in October. Last summer

MR AND MRS SIDNEY DREW IN "ONE ON HENRY" A NEW METRO-DREW COMEDY THAT HAS A LAUGH IN EVERY LOOK.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, the king and queen of laughter, who are making the Metro-Drew one reel comedies, are seen at their best in "One on Henry," which they have just completed. It is a story with enough laughs to make a ten reel feature and many are the complications that beset "Poor Henry." The Drews select and direct their own productions, and are always striving to improve on the high standard they have set in high class comedy in the silent drama. "One on Henry," which is one of their latest contributions to the screen belongs in the first rank of these laughmakers.

the prima donna sang in Paris in the performance of "Louise" with the composer, Charpentier, conducting for the first time. The occasion was a benefit arranged for one of the war charities, and when Charpentier was approached with a request that he assume the conductor's chair for the first time he made his consent conditional on Mme. Edvina's singing the title role.

Robert B. Mantell, now with the Fox players, has played on the speaking stage in every state in the Union and also in England, Canada, Australia, Europe and South America.
Edna Purviance Still With Charles Chaplin.
Reports circulated throughout the country to the effect that Edna Purviance, Charles Chaplin's leading woman, had left or was about to leave the Chaplin-Mutual Company, are denied both by the Lons Star Corporation, which holds Chaplin's $670,000 contract for his services for the next first time he made his consent conditional on Mme. Edvina's singing the title role.

Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield are likely to return to vaudeville again soon. For the last two seasons they have been adding to their fame in comedy films. Orpheum patrons remember their bare-stare classic "Back to the Woods." They may revive it again.
George Periolat played the role of an old ranchman in an American picture recently, with Louise Lester opposite. These two were members of the first "Flying A" company and it is a point of service are the oldest two "American" players.
George Sargent, who directed the big battle scenes in "The Fall of a Nation," is now directing the American Mutual serial, "The Secret of the Submarine."

FRAGRANT IN NAME, fragrant in story and with a genuine heart appeal this famous fiction is going to be talked as far as motion pictures go for a long time to come. Experience has taught us to make this prophecy. It is such a sweet and lovely romance, devoid of unfaithful wives and perfidious husbands, refreshing in its love-making, entirely different in its pious humor, amazing in its scenic innovations and belonging to a period (1840) when ladies were ladies and gentlemen were gentlemen. For a happy departure from the play-fads of the hour see "Rosemary" and be edified.

ST. JOHN SOLDIERS FIGURE IN EMPIRE'S GLORY ROLL

Frank W. Withers, of Hazen Street, Killed in Action — W. J. Swetka and Elmer Belding Among St. John Lads Wounded — Major Frank Magee's Wounds.

Many St. John homes were made and yesterday by the receipt of telegrams to the effect that loved ones had been killed and wounded in defense of their country, and the right of the smaller nations to live and work out their own destiny, without interference from their bigger neighbors. While those who have had their loved ones taken from them mourn, they have the satisfaction of knowing that they suffered in a righteous cause and the sympathy of the whole city goes out to them in their bereavement.

Frank W. Withers.
George E. Withers, 105 Hazen St., superintendent of letter carriers, of the city, received a telegram from Ottawa, yesterday, conveying the sad news that his son, Frank W., had been killed in action of May 25. L. Corp. Withers was one of the first men in St. John to answer the call for volunteers and enlisted in the corps of Guides which Major Merveston organized. On account of there being more men than could be sent across with the first contingent, the Guides corps was disbanded at Valcartier and he joined the Royal Canadian Regiment, where he was stationed for a time at Halifax and then his corps was sent to Bermuda, where they spent a year. In the fall of last year they were sent to France where they have been doing good work ever since. L. Corp. Withers was one of the group leaders of the scouts for the R.C.R., and one of the best in the regiment. The sympathy of the citizens of this city will go out to his parents in their loss. Mr. Withers received yesterday a letter

SOLD CLOTHES TO SOLDIERS; FINE FOLLOWS

Louis Brager Fined $80 or Six Months Jail for Helping Soldiers to Escape — Other Police Court Cases.

Louis Brager, proprietor of Brager's Clothing Store, at 185 Union street, was on Saturday morning convicted by Police Magistrate Ritchie of aiding two soldiers to desert and sentenced to six months in jail or pay a fine of $80. The conviction was made under section 82 of the Criminal Code. (Capt. G. Earle Logan, D. A. A. G., N. B., conducted the prosecution.)

It appears that on Monday last two soldiers went into Brager's store and each purchased a suit of clothing and shirt. They paid $7.50 for each suit and changed from khaki to mud in the back of the store. They left their uniforms in the shop saying they would return shortly, but did not do so. According to Brager's statement they said they were returned soldiers, and one exhibited a wound behind the ear. The uniforms and caps were stripped of all badges or other distinguishing marks and retained in Brager's store until Tuesday when he reported the matter to the military police. Military Police Corporal Somers, Private Powers and Private Linden, testified for the prosecution and the defendant and his brother for the defence. Brager stated the soldiers were French, and pleaded ignorance of the law. Capt. Logan asked for a conviction on the evidence. He pointed out that the defendant must have known the soldiers were deserters as they had stripped the badges from the uniforms and caps. In convicting Brager His Honor sentenced all who aided men to desert from the King's service and imposed the above penalty.

James Boyle, who was arrested Friday night by Detective Barrett was given a severe sentence. He was fined $8 or two months for drunkenness; $5 or two months for profanity; and $50 or six months jail for vagrancy and interfering with people on the street.

One drunk was fined four dollars.

Around the City

One Common Drunk.
Only one common drunk was arrested by the police during the last 48 hours and that was a colored woman from the West Side. In addition to her jag she carried a bottle of gin and a bottle of perfume.

Charged with Theft.
Detective Frank Hanrahan of the Halifax force arrived in the city Saturday morning, and left on the night express, having in custody Daisy Smith, a colored girl, who is wanted in Halifax on the charge of theft of clothing valued at $250.

Drunk and Resisting.
About three o'clock yesterday morning Police Constable McInnis had his hands full in handling William Sharkey on the north side of the King Square. Sharkey was drunk and in an ugly mood for when placed under arrest he resisted violently. While rolling about the street fighting the officer the policeman's clothing was torn badly. In addition to the charges of drunkenness and resisting, Sharkey is charged with damaging the officer's clothing to the extent of twelve dollars.

St. John Boys' Success.
George Miles, son of W. R. Miles, of this city, and a student of the Rothesay Collegiate School, was successful in making the highest marks of any student in the Dominion of Canada on the matriculation examinations into the Royal Naval College at Halifax. Wilfred Richardson, son of His Lordship Bishop Richardson, of Fredericton, and a student of Rothesay Collegiate School, came second in the Dominion, while Ambrose West, also a student at Rothesay, came seventh. These examinations are held annually at different centres for the purpose of matriculating into the Royal Naval College at Halifax and there are a large number of students taking them each year. It is indeed an honor to win the distinction of making the highest marks in the Dominion.

Major Frank C. Magee.
A cable message from Dr. Murray MacLaren, London, states that the injuries to Major Frank C. Magee consist of a slight wound in the head and a wound in the abdominal wall.

A telegram from Ottawa states that the wounds were severe and that the wounded officer had been admitted to No. 14 hospital, Boulogne, France, on June 5th.

Elmer Belding.
A. M. Belding received word yesterday from Ottawa that his son Elmer had been admitted to the London County Hospital, Epsom, suffering from gunshot wounds in the forearm and knee. Since last January he has been an N.C.O. in the signalling section of his battalion and his many friends in the city will hope that his wounds will not be serious.

William J. Swetka.
George Swetka received word from Ottawa yesterday that his son, Pte. William J. Swetka, had been admitted to No. 13 General Hospital, Boulogne, on June 3, suffering from wounds in the left arm. His friends will hope that the wounds are not of a serious nature.

Private Dick.
The wife of Private Dick, Erin Street, was another who received word yesterday that brought sorrow to the home. A telegram was received from Ottawa that her husband has been wounded, full particulars to be forwarded later.

MARR MILLINERY COMPANY, LIMITED

SUSSEX WILL BE CENTRE OF MILITARY ACTIVITY

The 104th Will Mobilize There Today and Continue Training Until They Leave for Overseas — Today's Big Fetes and Carnival at Seaside Park.

After weeks of suppositions and expectations the members of "C" company of the 104th Battalion stationed at Fredericton, received definite orders to be ready to entrain for their summer camp at Sussex this morning.

"D" company, which has been at Woodstock during the period of mobilization, will proceed to Fredericton to join "C" company, when both will leave by a special train for Sussex.

The people of Kings county will be glad to learn that the 104th will remain at Sussex until they sail overseas.

The 145th and 155th Battalions now stationed at Moncton will probably camp at Sussex until they have been recruited up to full strength. The reason for such a move can be found in the fact that it would be almost impossible to recruit for these battalions should they be at Valcartier. It was understood that Mayor McLean has been trying to get permission from the Minister of Militia to allow the battalions to remain in Moncton, but so far his efforts have not met with much success.

Now that the 104th detachments which have been quartered at Fredericton have been ordered to go to Sussex, it seems likely that "C" company of the 104th will soon be on the move. Probably the same troop train which will be used by the 104th Battalion will be requisitioned for the removal of the 145th companies "C" and "D" now stationed outside St. John.

Yesterday the battalion attended the church parade to the Congregational church where a very impressive memorial service was celebrated. Today the battalion will take part in the grand military celebration at Seaside Park, when the presentation of the new band instruments will take place. Lieut. Armstrong will be the officer of the day, with Lieut. Osgood next for duty. While the battalion is at Seaside Park the Signal Corps and Machine Gun section will take over the guard duties around the docks and sheds on the West Side. Three more men were taken on to the strength of the battalion Saturday.

115th.

The thousands of people who were disappointed on Saturday when the weather interfered with the grand carnival and military display at Seaside will have the opportunity of enjoying the programme today.

At 2 o'clock the presentation of the band instruments of the 145th will take place after which the 115th will receive their regimental colors, which will be consecrated by His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton.

Following the presentation the grand carnival will continue during the remainder of the afternoon and evening.

It was hoped that Sir Sam Hughes would be in the city to take part in the presentation, but up until yesterday at 2 o'clock it was impossible to get any word, but the Brunswick chapter I. O. D. E. still entertain the hope that he will arrive in the city in time to be present. The 115th

P. S. I. PARADE

The men from the school of instruction paraded at the eleven o'clock service in St. Stephen's church under Lieut. Pierce. Mr. Tucker of Toronto sang in pleasing manner "Show Me the Way."

The pastor of the church, Rev. Gordon Dickie, addressed the men and spoke about the vision of the far off land. He said that there is an old proverb which says that the thing which costs little is worth little. A swift triumph in war might be more harmful than good. It is the moral supremacy, even though it takes longer to realize it, that makes life worth while. We are prone to take it for granted that God fights for the right and will give victory for truth.

Today, we believe, we are fighting for such things, yet victory carries in the background. This is the thing that causes more misgiving than any sacrifice that we have made. In spite of our conviction the land of victory seems far off, but we must not forget there is a law of conservation in the life spiritual as well as in the natural. God gives us just enough encouragement to keep us going. It is not the feverish desire to strike a crushing blow at the enemy and end the war with great jubilation that we should demand today, but rather the spirit of simple confidence that bids us go forward fearing and doubting nothing.

In concluding, Rev. Mr. Dickie quoted the following from Kipling as particularly opportune just now in view of the sudden passing of England's great warrior, Earl Kitchener:

We've fed the sea for a thousand years
Still she calls us, still unfed
Though there's never a wave of all her waves
But marks our English dead.

Strips of Khaki.

Lieut. Frank Eason, who at the beginning of the war, left his position in Fredericton and went overseas with the 12th Battalion and who has been transferred to the 26th Battalion prior to the St. Eloi battle in which he took part, will return to Canada to become adjutant in one of the newly authorized New Brunswick battalions.

Lance Corporal L. H. Webber, invalided home last October suffering from tuberculosis and who has been at River Glade sanitarium, has been discharged from that institution practically cured. He was a member of the 26th.

Sergt-Major J. William Rawlings of the 26th Battalion, is now recovering at Westcliff Hospital, Folkestone, from a serious illness.

Bandman Frenze of the 145th band, who has been ill recovering and soon will be able to fill his position on the bass instrument.

In a telegram from Ottawa Mrs. Michael Melanson, 379 Chesley street, learned that her son, Pte. W. R. Melanson had been wounded on May 21 and was admitted to the British
