TAILS OF HIS
RECRUITING PLAN

Following up his suggestion made in Evening Times on Monday last, as new way to get more men to join colors in the province, Michael Mahas developed further definite deof his scheme. He thinks a plan on following lines would help:

all meetings of the merchants and businessmen, in the different cities, and villages of the province, to press upon them that the fate of the ire is at stake, that Canada and every on of it have as much at stake as other part of the British empire, and it is up to every man and woman in side the cities, towns and districts sections, giving each business man some territory to cover—to make a of the different houses, the names of the different male occupants of each, ages, health, whether married or
; the financial position and condiof each and to thoroughly canvass eligible prospect as a recruit to the

These business men should promise employees who enlist that their is would be kept open for them; and ossible, that they (the employer) not only guarantee this but that would pay, in part or whole, the ies of the men while absent at the

This plan should be simultaneous all the province—the heather should be from one end of New Brunswick to tother.

Recruits should be guaranteed that conditions would be along the lines of ss rather than because of social or ical pull.

Special appeals should be made to women of the country. They have lady done a great work, through their ous organizations and individuals, they can do a 100 per cent. more—a 1,000 per cent. more—if the prop-al be made to them. Let ladies take platform and tell the women of the —at meetings called specially for er—why they should urge their huss, sweethearts, and, in many cases, ands, to join the colors, in defence the empire and civilization. Let the s point out, as they could in eloquent s, that the empire of Canada is the womanhood of New Brunswick Canada required—yes, demanded—every eligible man in this province throughout this dominion should en-and the result will be electrical. Such s could tell the mothers of the and sweethearts that England was ing for the existence of Great Brit-and Canada; that if Germany wins his war it means good night to us all and that the atrocities committed the Belgian women can be—and doubt would be repeated upon our ers, wives and daughters in Canada
every part of it.

A strong point should be made of the hat there is very little, if any, more er of death at the front than among who have stayed at home. There been many times more deaths those who did not go to war, dur-the past year, than among those who died of color. Thousands of men of the colors who were well and strong year, and who did not go to the war, died within the past twelve months.

not the man at the front, or on his nd, doing his duty to his king and try, he is immune from danger of th, within the next year, as the man is kept from the front by his women tives, who fear that he may lose his if he joins the colors?

Every section of the province should thoroughly organized, and the as-sance of the local clergymen, the ladies' organizations, the resident newspaper n, the M. P.'s and M. P. P.'s, the coun-councillors, the aldermen, the business of the locality, and the military hobbies.

Write His Lordship Bishop Le Blanc, Lordship Bishop Richardson, His ishop O'Leary, and other ch dignitaries, to hold joint pubicings, at such central points as St.
n, Moncton, Fredericton, Woodstock, Stephen and Chatham or Newcastle,
amich.

Have monster September and October lects in important agricultural districts—to be addressed by leading men both sides of politics.

Have central committee headquarters in all important centres, these to be open to commercial travellers who, in this s, could keep the local authorities posted to what other centres were doing advancing the work of recruiting.

Thorough organization, particularly New Brunswick, is more than ever died, because of the present low con-on of our Patriotic Fund. Strenuous ematic work will be needed materially to augment that fund, so as to guarantee the families of those at the front that sufferings through the fall and ter months.

In a cable received by Harold Mayes,
s. J. L. Duval states that she is willing to the Hesperian and that she will her husband's body on the boat.
many friends of the late officer will glad to learn that his body will be to rest here. Carleton Union Lodge

MORE THAN SCORE DROWNED, IT IS FEARED, WHEN THE HESPERIAN WAS STRUCK WITHOUT WARNING

HAS VISION OF WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF THE GERMANS EVER COME OUT

Correspondent of Associated Press Describes Visit to the British Fleet

A Seemingly Endless Line of Ships from the Queen Elizabeth Down to the Small and Speedy Torpedo Boat Destroyers—All Waiting for "The Day"—It Will Be a Short Job, the Officers Declare.

London, Sept. 6.—For the first time the veil of secrecy over the British naval operations has been lifted. During the past week the correspondent visited the grand fleet and the great naval bases. At one naval barracks, he saw dry-docks capable of docking the largest dreadnoughts, which had been built since the war began. Maps were shown to the correspondent, showing where the German submarines had been sighted, and one on which the results of the attacks were classified under "capture," "supposed sunk," and "sunk." When bubbles are observed rising for a long time at the same spot in smooth water it is taken for granted that a submarine's career has been ended. When an officer was asked, "how do you get them?" his answer was, "Sometimes by ramming, sometimes by gunfire, sometimes by explosions, and in other ways we will not tell of."

IT IS GREAT SPORT THEY DECLARE.

All the officers aboard the battleships and armored cruisers are envious of those engaged in submarine hunting, which is regarded as great sport. The admiral commanding at an important naval base told the correspondent that England had 2,300 trawlers, mine-sweepers and other auxiliaries, outside the regular service, on duty in the work of blockading from the British Channel to Iceland, and in keeping the North Sea clear, and that their crews had been most zealous in their important part in overcoming the kind of naval warfare Germany wages.

As the torpedo boat destroyer on which the correspondent was a passenger, after a cruise at sea, and following the coast, turned into the harbor where the grand fleet lay at anchor, he saw a target being towed in the customary manner for firing practice by some of the cruisers. "We keep at it all the time," an officer explained.

The practice of the cruisers finished, they took their place in the formation among the immense field of gray shapes at anchor in precise order, which, as the torpedo boat destroyer drew nearer, became line after line of dreadnoughts.

The Queen Elizabeth Home.

"In the tint melting into the sea even the Queen Elizabeth, back from the Dardanelles, looked small for her tonnage and gun power, unless compared with the indefatigable, flagship of the Falkland Islands battle, or the vessels of the light cruiser squadron which just had come in from "sweeping" the North Sea, as scouting is called.

Every deck was stripped for action, steam was up in every ship, and as the destroyer threaded her way, turrets were seen turning and guns being elevated and lowered in the course of drills. Sea-lanes, which were sailing over the fleet, had their home on a famous Atlantic liner, which has carried many thousands of passengers.

In their places in the battle cruiser squadron, which is known in the navy as the "Cat squadron" were the Lion and the Tiger, which sank the German armored cruiser Blucher in the North Sea battle.

This seems a sufficient denial of the German report that the Tiger is at the bottom of the sea, said an officer.

Looking strange among the homogenous types of the 10-gun ships which belonged to the regular British navy was a Turkish twelve-inch gun dreadnought, taken over at the outset of the war.

The Admiral.

As the torpedo boat destroyer approached the flagship of the commander-in-chief, an officer pointed out Vice-Admiral Sir John Jellicoe as one of two officers transposing the quarterdeck carrying a telescope under his arm. From the quarterdeck he can keep his eye on all the gray monsters which form the fighting part of the command, while others of his host of ships, are abroad on different errands.

Vice-Admiral Jellicoe received his guests at the gangway. The admiral, at 57 years, is the senior of all the fleet, which includes vice-admirals at the age of 44. He is never without telescope under his arm when he is on deck, and officers say there is nothing which the young officers on watch see that he does not see.

Vice-Admiral Jellicoe escorted his guests through the ship, showing them the men at drill. He also called attention to the special machine practice of the gun-speakers in firing, where the result of each shot is displayed.

The blue-jackets are invariably sturdy, being service men of mature years, who have been kept drilling on the same ship since the war began. Their health is better than in time of peace, as they are kept aboard under a regimen and with sufficient exercise and good food. Misdemeanors of all sorts in the navy have decreased since the war began. Sir John Jellicoe and all his officers said that if the German fleet had any chance of success, it was at the outset of the war.

ALLAN LINER TORPEDOED OFF THE IRISH COAST

Remained Afloat for 34 Hours and Then Sank in Deep Water

Carried 350 Passengers and a Large Crew, Including Two Americans—At First Thought That All Had Been Saved, But Nearly Thirty People Are Now Missing—Captain Stays by Ship Until the Last—Dr. Duval's Body on Board.

Admiral Jellicoe, well known at this port, which was torpedoed without warning and later went down off Queenstown, Ireland.

London, Sept. 6.—The Allan line steamer Hesperian, with 350 passengers and a crew of 300 aboard, bound from Liverpool for Montreal, was attacked without warning by a German submarine off the Irish coast, just as darkness was falling Saturday evening. Although the torpedo found its mark, the vessel remained afloat until 6.47 a. m. Monday. It is believed about twenty-five people lost their lives.

The force of the explosion was tremendous, and of the passengers landed at Queenstown, many of them scantily clad, about twenty were injured. There were no American passengers, aboard, so far as the American consul could learn tonight, but two members of the crew were American citizens and they were both saved.

The Hesperian sank at 6.47 a. m. today while near Queenstown. Later a message from Queenstown said that wireless reports received by the Allan line state that Captain Main and the members of crew of the Hesperian who remained aboard were taken off before the steamer foundered.

The Hesperian remained afloat virtually thirty-four hours after being struck, and it was hoped she could be towed into Queenstown. Several steamers were standing by. Late reports showed the Hesperian was down by the bow to about thirty-five feet, with water in two forward compartments. Captain Main was then on the bridge, hopeful of being able to save his vessel.

MORE THAN SCORE MISSING.

Queenstown, Sept. 6, 11.25 p. m.—Six second cabin passengers, six third cabin passengers and thirteen of the crew of the Hesperian, torpedoed 150 miles off Queenstown Saturday evening, were unaccounted for tonight, according to the revised official figures issued by the Allan line. This brings the probable death list, including Miss Carberry, of St. Johns (Nfld.), whose body is here, up to twenty-six.

CAPTAIN MAKES NO STATEMENT.

The captain of the stricken liner remained by his ship until it sank. He declined to comment on the disaster for publication; hence the official statement as to whether he believes his ship was a victim of a torpedo or a mine must come from the Admiralty, although the captain is quoted as having told an Allan line official today that the Hesperian was torpedoed. Most of the survivors, passengers and crew, will leave Queenstown tomorrow by special train and boat for Liverpool.

Captain Main and the officers who remained aboard the steamer while efforts were being made to tow the liner to port were able to save some of their effects before the ship plunged to the bottom, 78 miles southwest of Fastnet, not far from the scene of the attack, taking with her 3,545 bags of mail, much of it originating in neutral countries.

The flooding of the forward compartments, which caused the Hesperian to sink so much by the head as to throw the propellers out of the water, made the task of towing the liner to Queenstown impossible in the rough sea.

The names of the missing second cabin passengers follow: Miss Bannister, Mrs. Fisher, Joseph Fowler, Mrs. Hannah Fowler, Maria Jenkins and Miss Murray.

Sank Monday Morning.

London, Sept. 6.—The Allan line steamer Hesperian sank at 6.46 o'clock yesterday morning within a few miles of Queenstown, after Captain Main and a volunteer rescue crew of twenty-five had made a brave fight to bring the crippled ship into port. During the night the Hesperian settled gradually by the head. Daylight showed the decks awash and the liner about to take the final plunge.

The captain and crew were taken off by rescue boats, and landed later in Queenstown by the steamer Empress.

The sinking of the Hesperian in deep water probably will prevent an investigation to determine whether the disaster resulted from a submarine's torpedo or from a mine. Passengers and crew assert positively that his vessel was struck by a torpedo, but thus far no statement has been obtained from anyone who saw a submarine or a torpedo.

The American embassy is receiving reports from Wesley Frost, American consul at Queenstown, on this question whether warning was given to the liner. Persons so far seen by Mr. Frost state that no warning was given.

Captain Main's statement probably will be taken later today.

The list of identified survivors still leaves a considerable number of persons unaccounted for. The Allan line is confident the final checking up will show no loss of life, except for the death of one or two persons after reaching Queenstown.

VIOLENT ARTILLERY DUEL ALONG WHOLE WESTERN FRONT

Both Sides Using Enormous Quantity of Shells, But Allies Are the Aggressors—Indications Are That Some Great Undertaking May Be Looked For Soon—Menace to Riga Becoming More Serious—Official Statements.

London, Sept. 6, 10.50 p. m.—The menace to Riga, an important Russian seaport in the Baltic, is becoming more serious. The Germans still hold the bridge-head at Friedelstadt, the occupation of which effectively cuts off Riga's railway communication to the south, while German aircraft are active in the gulf, perhaps presaging another naval clash as part of a concerted German move from land and sea to complete the isolation of the city and force its abandonment by the Russians.

According to an unofficial Berlin despatch, received by way of Copenhagen, the Germans claim possession of the gulf, the Russians having abandoned Dago, the northernmost of the three islands just outside the gulf.

Today's Berlin official communication lays no claim to further progress by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg from the Baltic to Grodno, but thence southward the armies of Prince Leopold and Field Marshal Von Mackensen are said to be moving forward, while the Austrian official statement covering the battle line farther south and east records nothing but Teutonic gains.

The great artillery duel in the west goes on unabated, with the French, and presumably the British, the aggressors. The fact that it has continued for a fortnight unabated leads to the belief, in some quarters, that it may mean preparation for an allied offensive before the approach of cold weather. The lavish use of shells by the French would seem to indicate some great undertaking, but the plan is not yet apparent to the general public.

Heavy Artillery Action.

Paris, Sept. 6.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"Artillery actions continue along the whole front. In the sector to the north of Arras, our batteries have inflicted heavy losses on the German batteries in the region of Roye, in Champagne, on the Perthes-Beausjour front, in the forest of Apremont and to the north of Citey the artillery duel has been particularly spirited.

"In the Vosges, at Schratzmannelle and at Hartmanns-Wellerkopf, a combat by means of big bombs has been carried on.

"On September 1, as we announced on that day in the communication of 11 o'clock in the evening, four German aeroplanes came to bombard Lunerville, an open town, where there is absolutely no military installation to destroy. Our enemies brought refinement to the point where they clearly aimed at the populous sections, and selected for the execution of their operations the day and the hour of the market. As a consequence the victims, unfortunately, were too numerous, and were, for the most part, women and children.

"As a measure of reprisal forty of our aeroplanes this morning bombarded the barracks at Saarbrücken. The aviators noted that the results attained were considerable.

"A German aeroplane has been obliged to land in Lunais. The aviators were taken prisoner.

"Enemy aeroplanes have dropped bombs on Saint Die, without causing either loss of life or damage.

Violent Artillery Fighting.

Paris, Sept. 6, 3.35 p. m.—Violent artillery fighting continued last night in the vicinity of Arras, Roelincourt and Bretoncourt, both German and French batteries taking part. There were also artillery exchanges in the Champagne district, according to the official report given out this afternoon by the French war office.

The text of the communication follows:

"Last night witnessed a violent artillery bombardment in which batteries, both French and German, of all calibres, took part to the north and to the south of Arras, of Roelincourt and of Bretoncourt.

"There was also fairly spirited cannonading in the Champagne district, in the vicinity of Auberville.

"In the Argonne there was fighting with mines at Courcy Chaussees.

"French aeroplanes have bombarded the barracks at Dieuze and at Morhange."

37,000 Canadians in the Trenches

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, who was a guest of the Toronto exhibition directors today, in an interview, confirmed the appointment of General Turner, of Quebec, to command the new second Canadian division, and the reports that if the Canadians went into action as an army of two divisions, Gen. Alderson, commanding the first Canadian division, would take command of the corps, and that Col. A. W. Currie, commanding the second brigade, first division, would take command of the first division. He added that it was the policy of the militia department to appoint officers with experience at the front to new commands, and if a third Canadian division were to go into action General Mercer would be offered command of it.

There are at present, he said, 37,000 Canadian troops in the trenches, and 40,000 more in England, waiting to go to the front. Two divisions in action would mean about 80,000 men.

At the directors' luncheon, Sir Sam delivered a brief but inspiring address. He spoke of the gallantry of all the Canadian regiments, notably that of the 48th Highlanders, in holding the line in the battle of St. Julien. He delivered a message from the men at the front to the boys and girls at home, and told them they were doing our duty.

"They have faithfully and nobly performed their duty," said the minister, "and they are determined to stay on the job till they smash the autocracy of the Kaiser. During their whole arduous service there has been not one reflection on their honor, their fearlessness and their determination."

TURKISH DESTROYER SENT TO THE BOTTOM

Athens, Sept. 6, 3 p. m., via Paris, 11.25 p. m.—The Turkish torpedo boat destroyer Yav Hissar has been sunk in the Sea of Marmora by an allied submarine.

The torpedo boat destroyer Yav Hissar was built in 1907. She was 134 feet long and displaced 284 tons. The vessel had a speed of 23 knots.

JOFFRE WENT TO ROME TO MEET VICTOR EMMANUEL.

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 6, 10.45 p. m.—A semi-official note announces that General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, has paid a visit to Italy to be presented to King Victor Emmanuel and make the acquaintance of Lieut. Gen. Cadorna, chief of staff of the Italian army. The king greatly appreciated General Joffre's visit, and conferred upon him the Grand Cross of the Military Order of Savoy.

General Joffre spent two days at general headquarters and inspected some of the more important points along the frontier. He was met at Turin on Friday and was met at the station by General Porro, assistant chief of the general staff, who accompanied him to Milan.

The two generals then proceeded to general headquarters.

The Giornale D'Italia says that General Joffre desires not only to affirm the belief in the Latin brotherhood in arms, but in all probability to arrange with the Italian commander-in-chief plans for concerted military action.

and the result will be electrical. Such appeals could tell the mothers, wives, sisters, sweethearts, husbands, brothers, and friends, that if Germany wins the war it means good night to us all; and that the atrocities committed against the Belgian women can be—and should be—repeated upon our mothers, wives and daughters in Canada every part of it.

A strong point should be made of the fact that there is very little, if any, more fear of death at the front than among those who have stayed at home. There have been many times more deaths among those who did not go to war, during the past year, than among those who did the colors. Thousands and thousands of men who have stayed at home, and who did not go to the war, died within the past twelve months.

DUNCAN MACLEAN, PROBABLY OF "B" SQUADRON, MOBILIZED HERE, INSTANTLY KILLED BY GAS

(Montreal Gazette Cable)

Folkestone, Sept. 3—Privates Duncan MacLean, 6th Mounted Rifles, and W. F. Clonan, 4th Rifles, were knocked down by a motor bus last night. MacLean was killed instantly, and Clonan seriously injured, but there is hope of his recovery.

Private P. H. Sandell, 19th battalion, was found dead in a hut in Sandling Camp this morning. The cause of his death is unknown.

The only D. MacLean whose name appears in the official list of the 6th Mounted Rifles is D. J. MacLean, whose residence is given as East Florenceville (N. B.). He enlisted at St. John in squadron B, under command of Major C. H. McLean.

While there is no certainty that the Duncan MacLean who was killed and D. J. MacLean listed in B squadron are identical, yet there is strong probability that the soldier from East Florenceville is the man who met with the unfortunate and fatal accident on Thursday.

The report received early this morning is the third record of casualty in the ranks of the 6th since the battalion left Canada.

The first death occurred on the trans-Atlantic passage and was due to drowning; the second fatality was the death of Trooper F. M. McDonald, who was instantly killed in being struck by lightning on the camp grounds in England.

The third fatal accident will be learned with deep sorrow and regret.

A phone message from East Florenceville early this morning said that Donald J. MacLean, of that place, although he had enlisted had not gone to Europe so that the foregoing may refer to some one else.

Ottawa, Sept. 2—The midnight casualty list follows:

FIRST BATTALION. Dangerously Wounded. Cornelius Cosson, England. Wounded. Frank Smart, England.

THIRD BATTALION. Previously Reported Died of Wounds While Prisoner of War, Now Officially, Alive and Serving With Unit. A. J. Grundy, Toronto.

ALBERT MINES MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Lorenzo Rennison, Despondent, Cuts His Throat in a Barn.

Hopewell, Sept. 2—(Special)—The residents of this and neighboring communities were greatly shocked when it was learned that Lorenzo Rennison, a well known resident of Albert Mines had suffered a tragic death last night, the unfortunate man having taken his own life by cutting his throat with a knife.

The body of the deceased, who made his home with his brother-in-law, was found by Mr. Milton, lying in the barn about midnight with the throat cut from ear to ear. One hand still grasped the handle of the hunting knife, with which instrument the deed had been committed.

KEEP NEWS FROM GERMAN PEOPLE

Not Told of Back-Down in Arabic Matter or of Loss of Many Submarines

London, Sept. 2—The German public has been kept in ignorance of any concession to the United States concerning submarine warfare, according to the London Times.

Washington, Sept. 2—With both oral and written assurances from the German government to the state department regarding Germany's submarine policy, officials today looked hopefully for a satisfactory settlement of the whole submarine problem.

Sir Robert Borden, Back from England, Confident of Glorious Victory

Will Fight Till Result is Achieved

Tells Vast Crowd That After Visiting the Fighting Line He is Thoroughly Convinced that the Allies Will Win in the Great Struggle of Civilization Against Barbarism.

Montreal, Sept. 2—Sir Robert Borden was welcomed to Montreal tonight, on his return from England and the battle front in France, with a demonstration of patriotism that probably never has been equalled in this city.

Not less than a quarter of a million people turned out to give the premier a reception, the warmth of which must have touched him deeply, surfeited, as he has been, with public attention.

From a temporary platform in front of the Grenadier Guards' armory, Sir Robert addressed the throng. Probably few were able to hear him, but they all saw him and that seemed sufficient to arouse their enthusiasm, and they were unstinted in their applause.

COLPITTS CLAN GATHER IN AUTOMOBILES FOR QUINQUENNIAL UNION

Friday, Sept. 3. The Colpitts reunion took place yesterday on the Ralph Colpitts place about two miles below Forest Glen (N. B.).

That is the message I bring back from our men at the front," declared Sir Robert in ringing tones, "and I told these men, when I saw them doing their duty, that I had a like message and determination to fight this battle through to a victorious conclusion as were the men in the lines."

Summer in Lunenburg. (By Helen Leah Reed, in Lunenburg, N. S.).

Oh, the beauty of Piccadilly and its roar!

A tide of life's broad oceanward the shore.

Who once has listened, ever long refrain.

With haunting echo droop or flaunting strain.

Who keeps it, in his vision wide through pass-

And over there the laughing lad and lass.

While weary men and women pass the way.

Where windows glow and the evening sky is late.

A crescent moon is watching lass and lad.

The long, warm London they are, though as late as the rush and the life of Piccadilly is more.

Ah, the dark, the cold, the freezing men are full before the fight.

Then for one the calm is rumble and the roar.

Of far-distant Piccadilly, as set before.

He sees her who went at was that? A whin!

Once a man—that huddled was smiling as he Summer has returned to the Green Park.

Cheers and tea together the breaking heart!

Summer in London. (By Helen Leah Reed, in Boston Transcript) Oh, the joys of Piccadilly - its rumble and its roar!

Who once has listened, ever can hear its song refrain, With haunting echo drowning or dirge, or haunting strain.

Who hears it, in his vision may see a world-throng pass - And over there the Green Park with laughing and laughing lass!

While weary men and women and careless youth go by, Where windows glow and glitter, and on the evening sky

A crescent moon is watching the laughing lass and lad, The long, warm London twilight! Happy they are, though sad.

With kiss and tear they are parting, 'Tis freezing men are crouching in the hall before the rushing and roar!

The life of Piccadilly is waning - is no more. Ah, the dark, the cold, the stillness of the trenches in the night,

When freezing men are crouching in the hall before the rushing and roar! Then for one the calm is broken by the rumble and the roar

Of far-distant Piccadilly, and in dreams, as if at before,

He sees her who wept at parting, What was that? Whining shell!

Once a man - that whining horror! He was smiling as he fell.

Summer has returned to London. Now the Green Park is gay, and the breaking heart beats true.

Birds of trumpet - blood air fire - so her hero marched away.

Happy led and last they parted - now the plying sky is gray.

Blood and fire! Through its heroes shall a nation live again.

Blare the trumpet! But in silence aching hearts must bear their pain.

Ah the stillness of the trenches, all the rumble and the roar!

Cheers and tears by England offered for the lads who come no more.

To provide the many gifts the public are making, an order has been placed for Lewis machine guns, costing $10,000 each, and upon delivery we shall be glad to purchase three in the name of the residents of Queens county and forward same as gifts to the 55th Battalion. This, as you can appreciate, is subject to military necessity that may arise from time to time.

Please convey to the citizens of Queens county, and accept for yourself, the grateful thanks of the government for this very generous and patriotic donation.

Yours faithfully, (Sgd.) JAMES A. LOGGHEED, Acting Minister, A. R. SLIPP, M.L.A., Fredericton (N. B.)

CAMPBELLTON SENDS PATRIOTIC FUND IN 500 MEN TO FRONT NEW BRUNSWICK

One-fourth of 55th Battalion Recruited in Restigouche ALL BRANCHES OF SERVICE REPRESENTED

During Last Two Weeks 106 Men Have Responded to Call - 28th Entertained in Camp by Party of New Brunswickers in London.

A report that was circulated yesterday that the 94th battalion was full as well as the 59th was premature. There were yesterday evening some 700 men under canvas at Sussex and others expected from Nova Scotia points. Even if the battalion should be disbanded, recruiting is expected to go vigorously forward as there will undoubtedly be drafts taken from the 64th as there have been from the other battalions and other arrangements may still leave gaps in the ranks.

All the men who can be induced to see clearly a way to enlist will be wanted. The effort will yet be the whole province. Drill has already commenced, recruiting officers are being sent to the front, and things are rapidly settling into hard work to get a shape on before the winter change may set the battalion transferred.

Campbellton has done well in the recruiting campaign. Nearly 500 men have enrolled from that district. The last two weeks have beaten all records for enlistments. 106 men were signed on since the 14th of August. The following recruiting officers: Lieutenant A. Brooks, Lieutenant McG. MacDonald, and Captain Le Blanc. Campbellton men are now in every branch of the service, and people feel justly proud.

The Campbellton men enlisted are in the following branches of service: 12th Battalion, 23rd Field Battery, 2nd Field Ammunition, 1st Field Ammunition, 2nd Field Ammunition, 2nd Mounted Rifles, 2nd Field Battery, 4th Artillery Brigade, 4th Field Ammunition, Aviation Corps, 98th Field Battery, C. O. Construction Corps.

Total 477. Concert Organized. The following report of a concert has been sent to The Telegraph from England:

"One of the most enjoyable concerts I have ever attended was given under the direction of Mrs. Hatheway Turnbull to the men of the 30th battalion, second Canadian contingent at East Sandling Camp on Dunbar Hill, near London, England, who was chairman and looked very handsome in gold and black, told a few stories and some truths which the men, some 1,200 in number, heartily enjoyed.

The concert, presided over by Mrs. Mne. Fernades Benham, Miss Nellie Hatch, Little Annie Trilnick, the child reciter, Private Eric Marks, who has just been engaged as principal boy for the next Drury Lane, and Lieutenant Black, Lieutenant Pidgeon, Miss Nicole Blake and Edgar Berter, the well known comedian, of Folkestone, who was extremely funny in his character sketches. The same concert was repeated at Otterpool camp.

"What impressed me most about this concert was the happy idea of Mrs. Turnbull, in her taking the chair and linking up the different items, now with a funny story now with a little home touch, welded the artists and the audience, which included Colonel McVitie, Major MacKenzie, Captain Dawson and Captain A. McMillan, into a harmonious whole. One character sketch was the providing of cigarettes for the men, which were handed round by the girls, who were dressed in the uniform of Mrs. Turnbull. Even the naughty boys were not left out of the festivities for they were given their cigarettes by the man who, by common consent, was voted the most honest in the camp - Mr. Mackenzie.

Mrs. Turnbull referred to the fact that it was due to her that the monthly general-agency, F. W. Sumner, and in lending his car and putting up the concert party for the two nights that she was able to provide such an exceptionally good programme.

"The cheering at the close of the concert was so loud and so continuous that there was fear that orders would come from headquarters that shouts as well as lights should be put out. The men were so close as they were so serious on the note of thoughtless glee. The response was magnificent and the men sang as one. Some of them had tears in their eyes. God bless them! And I know that they were turning down my cheeks to see those splendid, big, Canadian boys who have given up everything to rally round the Mother Land. The officers at the Otterpool camp were Colonel Harrison, Captain Harrison, adjutant, Lieutenant Pidgeon, Captain Hugel, Private Fletcher sang a solo and the bombardier and a number of others sang a chorus, composed by themselves on the subject of where the Germans will go to when they get at Fredericton's Honor Roll.

The following is the complete list of the first eleven volunteers from Fredericton for the 54th Battalion, who signed the roll at Thursday night's recruiting rally:

Charles L. Dougherty, Fredericton. Thomas H. Lynch, Fredericton. Murray Murdoch, Fredericton. Loring B. Wandless, Fredericton. David Somers, Strathaven, Scotland. Paul Bailey, Fredericton. Michael Levesque, St. Leonards. Robert Sidney Wilby, Hull, England. William Graham, Fredericton. Robert H. Smith, Fredericton.

CONDENSED NEWS LOCAL AND GENERAL. Rev. Thomas Harrison of St. George (N. B.) chaplain to the 54th Battalion, spent a few days in St. John this week.

The Rev. H. F. Cowperthwaite, D. D., at one time pastor of Queen square church and other important circuits in the N. B. and P. E. Island conference, is visiting in Truro (N. S.) and is reported to be in good health. His ministrations are greatly appreciated.

The Presbyteries of St. John and Miramichi will meet the second session on the same date, the second Tuesday of October, the former in St. John, the latter in Newcastle.

Rev. Donald MacQuarrie, of Calvin Presbyterian church, Pembroke (Ont.), formerly of St. John's church, Moncton (N. B.), has been spending a few weeks visiting his home friends in Cape Breton during his vacation.

Rev. A. P. Logan has resigned the pastorate of St. Mark's church, Sydney (N. S.), and his resignation has been accepted by the Presbytery of Sydney. The resignation of the pastorate of St. Andrew's (N. S.) by Rev. J. A. MacKeen was to be considered by the Presbytery of Halifax yesterday.

Rev. W. R. Foote, of Wonsan, Korea, has recently arrived home on furlough and is at present with friends at Truro (N. S.). Mr. McLeure, M. D., of Wellsville, North Honan, China, is also with his home on Ontario on furlough. Mr. McLeure has been in Honan since 1888.

Rev. W. Gordon Pirih, of Tide Head (N. B.), underwent surgical treatment in the hospital at Campbellton (N. B.) some time ago. He has recovered from his illness and left the hospital about a week ago.

The new pulp mill at Bathurst started making unbleached pulp on Aug. 17, and the bleached product will be turned out within a month or so. The construction of the railway spur line to the mill is in progress, with eighty men at work.

C. W. Bleskey has been appointed foreman in the I. C. R. machine shop, Moncton, via James Starkey, transferred to the position of foreman of the erecting shop. W. D. Stawary has been appointed general storekeeper of the N. E. R. with headquarters at Transcona.

Miss Clara Dooe, who has been for a year in Labrador with Dr. Grenfell's mission, has returned home and is now visiting her brother, Richmond H. Dooe, Hospital street. During the twelve months in the north Miss Dooe has had most interesting experiences. She does not expect to return soon, at least, to the missionary field, and she may possibly go to the front as a Red Cross nurse.

Thousands Cheer While Recruits Sign Honor Roll

Seven of Men Yet Needed for 64th Accepted at King Square Marquee, While Ten Other Willing Volunteers Fail to Pass—Further Meetings Arranged With Eloquent Speakers.

ST. JOHN'S HONOR ROLL

- Arthur Smith, Leeds, England. Frederick Rayner, London, England. Otto Logan, Boston (Mass.), (British parentage). William Pine, Hartford (N. B.). John Griffin, 100 Erin street, St. John. William Parker Lawton, St. John. (At Vassie's). Thomas Patrick Ferris, Coldbrook, St. John county.

Saturday, Sept. 4

A net record of seven enlistments as the result of last night's meeting on King square was far from being an adequate return for the unparading effort that had been made to arrange it, but this will not represent the whole, for the very presence of the marquee there, with the splendid gathering of from 12,000 to 15,000 people, most certainly be felt later in the coming weeks. If the full strength of the stream had not been felt it is certain that the current of thought has been diverted again from the ordinary things of everyday life in the city to the big, grim business of the empire.

No fault could be found with the preparations. They were as perfect as any have ever been made in St. John. Only the vastness of the gathering took against its success. The speakers could only make themselves heard with a strain by the huge crowd. Yet what was done was excellently done. The historic square has perhaps never looked so beautiful. It certainly has never served a more loyal purpose. There was a significance in the ordinary lights that shined in strings round the square, the Red, White and Blue meant something more than decoration last night. Then overhead had been hung fine sweeping flags of the empire and of the Allies. In the middle facing the rostrum that had been erected just inside the marquee stood the Royal Standard with next to it the Union Jack and the 14-colored fair France; then close by the three plain colors of the little land with the crushed blue but the immortal soul—Brave little Belgium. Beyond was that of Russia and on the opposite side the gay and bright of Italy. All this made a scene that has seldom been equaled. Captain Mulvagh had been added by the second officer and men of the S.S. Kilkerran. And under this gathered a massed concourse, possibly one-third the population of the city. The crowd stretched away back from the band stand to meet to the Charlotte streets and all along the north side of the square were groups who could not get near enough to hear.

When the bands came up they formed in an enclosed square on the right of the rostrum and with plenty of electricity they had ideal conditions in which to render the selections that they gave between speeches. With the bands came many boys carrying mottoes such as: "If we don't rally, Britain falls," "Come on boys, before it's too late," "Your home is in danger," "Take up the sword of duty," "We are fighting for our duty," "We are fighting for our duty," "We are fighting for our duty." The parade had been carried out according to programme.

Major Frink presided and in a brief pointed speech said that about four hundred men would be required for the 64th Battalion and the gathering was to be the criterion he thought there would be no time lost in filling it. If there was any apathy in the city this was the time to dispel it. Their men, he felt, were ready to act in the preservation and the conservation of the liberties that had been granted to them. Those who had founded the Loyalist city had not been shocked by adversity and their sons had no right to be either. The freedom they all enjoyed was not a dream nor a vision but an actual thing that, as Britons, they ought to stand up and fight for. (Applause).

Rev. Thomas Harrison. Rev. Capt. Thomas Harrison, Presbyterian minister, St. George, who is going as chaplain and who had served through the Sudan campaign of 1898, next spoke. He did not come to dictate, he said, but every young man who was physically fit should ask himself whether he ought not to enlist. If he did not he was a traitor to the highest and noblest things in life. As to the reason for the war he thought it might be given in a perverted nursery rhyme.

"The Kaiser's game is nothing to get any more gambling gain. To strap his world-wide empire in." He did not think it was right to speak of peace yet, despite some misguided opinion. There could be no peace until Belgium had been cleared, until France was freed and until the Germans were out of Poland.

Then he said there was something higher than home in national life that had to be fought for, and that was the country in which the home was made; that was the highest form of patriotism. Civilization too called for aid in this crisis. He wondered if those who spoke most of home ties realized how it would be if the order were reversed, and Germany ruled in New Brunswick.

Addressing the women of the province Rev. Captain Harrison said: "An American writer has said that in the week the women of Belgium had been reduced to the position of a she-dog and yet when the women of Canada, the mothers and sisters and wives are asked to give their consent to their dears ones going to the aid of those Belgian women, they have heard in the name of your suffering sisters in Belgium to exercise all the persuasive power you have to send your sons and brothers to help to protect the virtue of your sisters across the sea." Speaking of the criticism that he had heard was so common of the 64th battalion while it was in St. John, he said, with scorn: "Let there be an end of criticism."

Major Day, of Fredericton, now in a Nova Scotia battalion, formerly of the King Edward Light Horse, said that he had often heard Germans say when he was a student at the University of Berlin that the Germans would conquer Britain and that they would be glad to get Nova Scotia and New Brunswick because it would give them the fine ports of Canada and form a fine naval base on this side of the Atlantic. He said he had heard what would happen to the children of the province if Ger-

WEDDINGS

Snowball-MacGowan.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Murray, Moncton, was the scene of a hymeneal event of much interest on Wednesday evening when their niece, Miss Mabel Alice MacGowan, was united in marriage to William Harrison Snowball, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snowball, Chatham. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The ceremony was solemnized under a handsome floral bell of pink and white flowers presided by Rev. M. A. Godwin in the presence of forty guests. The bride was given away by her uncle, Dr. C. A. Murray, and leaning on his arm entered the room to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin which was rendered most acceptably by Miss Katharina MacGowan, Miss Mabel MacGowan, the bride and groom were surrounded by a large circle of friends at a buffet luncheon.

The bride was charmingly attired in white crepe du chene and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Lenora, as maid of honor, attired in white shot silk and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served. The bride received many presents among which were cut glass, silver and other mementoes. The young couple left for their home at 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

MacQuarrie-MacGowan. The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. MacGowan, of Hoyt (N. B.), was the scene of an interesting wedding when their daughter, Miss Mabel MacGowan, was united in marriage to Walter Youngblood of Milo, Maine. Rev. James G. Byles officiated.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN OF CANADA

The following open letter to the women of Canada concerning the need for fighting men has been issued by the National Committee of Women for Patriotic Service. The officers of the Committee include: H. R. H. the Duchess of Connaught, H. R. H. the Princess Patricia, Lady Laurier and Lady Borden.

A year ago the thunderbolt of war fell upon us out of a clear sky! After the first moment of surprise and confusion had passed, we asked, "How can we help?"

During the year that has passed that question has found many answers. The trained nurse quickly proved her value. Other women were called upon to organize and direct Red Cross and St. John Ambulance work or Patriotic Societies, while all gave time or money or personal service in preparing supplies.

To comparatively few came the need for the supreme sacrifice—the sending forth of husband, son or brother to the fight. The first appeal for volunteers was limited and did not appear very urgent. All honor to those who heard and obeyed the earliest call of Empire and whose women sent them forth with pride to fight in the front rank of the Canadian forces.

Today the situation has changed. "We have learnt, after a year of war, that our task is harder, our danger more real, than we thought a year ago. We have "given" gladly; now we are called to "give-up," and service must fulfil itself in sacrifice. Most urgent of all today is the call to give up ungrudgingly our husbands, sons and brothers. We are called to create in our homes such an atmosphere of self-devotion that our men and boys may feel their resolution to offer themselves in their country's service is simply what we expect of them.

This does not mean that women should be constantly urging their men to enlist, for it is doubtful if the patriotic persistence of a wife or mother would produce anything but a reluctant and resentful recruit. The men of Canada have not shown themselves less patriotic than their women; but it is for us, the women of Canada, to ask ourselves whether our self-sacrifice is falling short of the supreme test.

ARE WE MAKING IT HARD OR EASY FOR OUR MEN TO OBEY THEIR COUNTRY'S CALL TO SERVICE? Why is the call so urgent now? The answer is simple: it is because our existence as an Empire is at stake. WE WENT INTO THE WAR TO KEEP OUR SOLEMN PLEDGES TO OUR ALLIES; AND THIS REASON STILL HOLDS GOOD.

But there are now other reasons which did not exist a year ago. Belgium with her ravaged land and exiled people cries aloud for justice. What do Canadian women say to the appeals of her outraged women and mutilated children? They have suffered for us: what are we willing to suffer for them? The women of France and Russia and the United Kingdom have long ago heard the appeal to give of their men, and have responded nobly. What will Canadian women do?

Beyond the keeping of our pledged word, the woes of Belgium, and the example of our Allies, there comes to us today the knowledge that we are called on to fight our own battle; not to send help to Belgium or France or even England, but to fight for our own national existence.

We are told by the men who know that we cannot win in this war without our men. If we hold back our men we are courting defeat; and defeat means, not a vague mistreatment to the Empire at large, but the very practical result of a Canada governed by Germans.

Do we want to know what that would mean? Then let us look at Belgium, and learn how the yoke of the conqueror galls the neck of a freedom-loving people. Defeat would mean for us a period of bitterest shame and discontent, and then—another war. Can we risk it? We are risking it if we do not make the path of service easy for our men.

But the most compelling call for sacrifice rings out from the graves of those who on the fields of Flanders, at Langemark, and Ypres, and Festubert, have blazed the trail to glory with their life blood.

CAN WE MAKE THEIR SELF-SURRENDER OF NO AVAIL BY HOLDING BACK THE MEN WHO WOULD TAKE UP AND COMPLETE THEIR SPLENDID TASK? There is a saving which is losing; is it worth "saving" our men from death if we lose their respect? There is a loss which is gain; even though we learn to "despise" the sides of the whole great world's anguish, forced through the channels of a single heart.

We are called to scale the gleaming peaks of self-sacrifice, in the company of our brave sisters of the Allied nations.

WHAT WILL THE WOMEN OF CANADA DO? Hampton, Sept. 6.—(Special)—The patriotic fair held by the Hampton Tennis Club on the court house square this afternoon and evening has been a doubly successful one. It attracted not only crowds of people from the villages but many others from surrounding communities as far as Upham, Titusville, Smithtown, Bloomfield, Norton and Quispambis, who came by rail, automobile and horse vehicles.

Bordering the main walk to the court house were booths and decorated enclosures, forming a splendid pike and among these attractions were the wheel Kingdon, $1; Miss Ida Northrup, Corn Hill, $1; Miss M.
