BEAVER BOARD
If you are building or going to build some unfinished rooms let us show you some colored samples, illustrating the beautiful colored effects of Beaver Board. It is a sanitary and durable board for walls and ceilings in all classes of buildings.
We carry a large stock in assorted sizes.
We solicit out of town orders which receive our personal attention. The length of time taken to fill orders is governed very largely by how busy we are in the department of our factory in which the particular goods are made. While we have exceptional facilities for promptly turning out orders, it is important to place orders as far ahead as possible. Orders are filled by us in the rotation in which they are received, and customers can always depend on our doing everything in reason to give prompt dispatch.

NO NIGHT SERVICE TO DALHOUSIE

Passengers Arriving at Junction During Night Must Remain There for Hours

For over thirty years Dalhousie has enjoyed a day and night train service, both summer and winter, and now, without a moment's warning the citizens of the shiretown have had half their connections with the outside world cut off. This is to say, the road to Dalhousie is closed after 7 P. M.

This is a state of affairs which should not be tolerated and citizens are taking the matter up energetically with the hope that something will be done to restore their former service.

Two of the principal trains, the Marquette express, reach Dalhousie at night, and if there are passengers for Dalhousie they must make themselves comfortable in the station until daylight, when the first train goes in to the shiretown.

Again if Campbellton people wish to go to the shiretown to spend a social evening, to curl or skate, they must take their grip with them prepared to stay all night and get home next day in time for dinner, or walk to the Junction, a pretty state of affairs.

This is an insult to the town of Dalhousie, to its citizens, which should not be allowed to remain.

The plea of the management of the Government railway is that the night service does not pay. Even if this is a fact, and it undoubtedly is, yet the convenience of a large body of people should count for more than mere dollars and cents.

Let the service be restored at the earliest possible moment.

WEDNESDAY MORNING
Council reassembled at 10 o'clock.
The morning was taken up discussing the legality of claims for refund of poll tax to W. J. Hamilton $122, and Wilfred Brown, $172.
Council adjourned until 2 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON
Council reassembled at 2 o'clock.
The Legal Advisor reported recommending that in the case of W. J. Hamilton, no refund should be made, and that refund should be made to Wilfred Brown.

The report of the Legal Advisor was received.
The Legal Advisor was excused from attendance at Thursdays sessions.

On motion it was ordered that Wilfred Brown be refunded the amount of his poll tax, chargeable to Colborne, and that W. J. Hamilton be refunded his poll tax, chargeable to Dalhousie.

Coun. Montgomery moved that the Council go into committee of the whole to discuss with the delegation from the Restigouche Patriotic Fund re a grant to the fund. Carried.

On Wednesday, a delegation from Campbellton representing the Patriotic Committee and the Recruiting Committee, went to Dalhousie.

The purpose of the Committee was to present the views of these Committees and of the citizens of the County generally, to the County Council and to ask the County Council to make a grant for Patriotic purposes.

The delegation consisted of Mr. John McLean, Dr. Martin, Mr. A. A. Andrew, Mr. W. H. Miller, Mr. M. Mowat, Mr. A. G. Adams and Mr. M. A. Kelly. The delegation was most courteously received by the Council and was in.

BUGLE BAND NOW FULLY PAID FOR

Mr. Alex. McLennan Hands Capt. McKay Balance of $70.00 Needed

The bugle band for A Company of 132nd Battalion has been fully paid for by the citizens of Campbellton, besides this $130.00 of a regimental fund has been raised and is now in the Bank.

A few days ago Mr. Alex. McLennan learned that $70.00 was needed to complete payment of the instruments. He immediately made out a subscription list and in a very few hours had the necessary funds which were handed over to Capt. McKay.

The boys of A Company are very grateful to the citizens, and we are sure the citizens enjoy seeing our boys in khaki marching along with the swing of veterans to the stirring music of bugles and drums. The members of the band, from the big drummer to the smallest bugler, are all becoming quite proficient in their music.

The following are the names of those who contributed the final $70.00 required.

MONTENEGRO STILL FIGHTING VIOLENTLY

Negotiations Broken Off.—Russians Continue Offensive.—Submarine Ashore

Paris, Jan. 19, via London, Jan. 20.—The Journal Des Debats says it is officially announced that King Nicholas of Montenegro and his family and suite have sailed for Italy, peace negotiations between Austria and Montenegro having been broken off.

London, Jan. 19.—After only a slight pause since the conclusion of the "New Year's Battle," on the eastern front, the Russians again have begun a strong offensive against the Austro-Hungarians on the Bessarabian frontier east of Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina.

Vienna had a forecast that the second phase of the battle in this region was imminent by the announcement that the Russians were throwing strong reinforcements into East Galicia.

In the initial offensive of what probably will be termed the "Second Battle," the Russians launched, with numerous columns, four attacks near Toporutz and Boyan, but, according to Vienna, they were everywhere repulsed.

The Germans have attacked Russian bases at Tarnopol, East Galicia, with an air squadron.

While the Turkish war office asserts that the Russians in the Caucasus have abandoned their offensive along the entire front of nearly a hundred scores were Mayflower 53, Bathurst 53.

RECRUITING QUIET ALONG NORTH SHORE

Cold Weather Interferes With Work.—Only 22 For the Week

Recruiting in Restigouche has been very quiet during the past week. Last week only 22 men were signed on for the whole county.

The extremely cold weather has interfered with this work. Also the fact that the Battalion surgeon, Dr. Parks of Chatham is here going over the recruits and weeding out the unfit, has also interfered with the work. About forty men have been turned down on the final examination.

The men are now settled in barracks and will soon resume regular duties. The weather of the past two weeks, together with the snow has made drilling in the open exceedingly uncomfortable for the members of A Co. of the 132nd. On Friday afternoon a meeting of the Recruiting committee was held, and it was decided to ask Col. Thompson, A. A. G. of Halifax to have one of the large car sheds at the International station prepared for drilling in. A reply has been received saying that the matter had been referred to Col. Mersereau for his report.

IMPROVEMENTS AT McLENNAN FOUNDRY

New Warehouse Erected and Machine Shop Rearranged Sprinkler System Put in

When the fire of 1910 destroyed the old McLennan Foundry and Machine Works, Limited, plant new buildings were planned which were thought would be sufficient for some time to come, but business has increased so rapidly that several new buildings have been erected since that time, the latest of these being a fine two-story house 50 x 20, built covered. At present a large force of men are engaged placing a sprinkler system throughout all the buildings as an additional protection against fire. This system is being put in by T. H. Higginson Co. Ltd. of Montreal, and is the very latest in such appliances.

The main machine shop has been renovated and the interior whitened, which brightens it up. All the machines are being rearranged so as to converse labor, and facilitate the dispatch of work. At the present time considerable new contracts are under way, and the plant is being added to for the manufacture of six inch shells.

Just as soon as the machinery arrives, and is set up, and it is expected daily, two shifts will be put on and the shop run day and night. Already new men are being put to work and this will mean much in increased wages to our men.

Out of total orders for shells amounting to $191,424,186 placed in Canadian firms up to September 1st, 1915, the following were distributed in the Maritime Provinces:

Amherst, $544,625; Chatham, $120,000; Dartmouth, N. S., $67,000; Fredericton, $120,000; Halifax, $20,000; Hillsboro, $20,000; Moncton, $92,000; New Glasgow, N. S., $3,930,184; St. Stephen, $25,000; Sackville, $120,000; Sydney, $2,000,000; Sussex, $20,000; St. John, $558,250; Truro, N. S., $150,000; Yarmouth, $85,000.

miles, owing to the reinforcement of the Ottomans and their assumption of a violent offensive, the latest Russian official communication describes the Turkish army in this region as having been disorganized and dislodged from a strong position, extending over sixty-six miles, the Turkish retreat taking on the character of a panic-stricken flight.

Several Turkish units, the communication adds, were almost annihilated, hundreds of bodies covering the fields of battle.

A British submarine has gone ashore off Holland. No loss of life.

BATHURST CURLERS DEFEATED
Halifax, N. S., January 19.—By a margin of 27 points, the Mayflower curlers defeated the Bathurst, N. B.

SUBURBAN TRAIN GIVES
BATHURST GOOD SERVICE

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)
I. C. R. Management puts on new train between Newcastle and Campbellton that will be of great convenience to section served.

Starting on Monday last, a suburban train service was established on the I. C. R. between Newcastle and Campbellton, and the time table has been arranged so as to give the section of country between these two towns local service at hours in which previously the need had been greatly felt. Until this week, eastbound trains all passed Bathurst in the morning, and west bound trains in the evening. The new train passes Bathurst eastbound at 9.20 in the evening and westbound at 8.30 in the morning.

Our despondency is increased by the discovery that 1916 weather is no better than the 57 varieties we used in 1915.

A local merchant who had been getting his monthly account sheets and counter check books printed in Toronto was surprised and delighted when we delivered him a recently completed order. Best I have ever had, was his verdict. We can supply your needs at short notice.

RECRUITING RESULTS
NOT SO GOOD THIS WEEK

Only Five Names on the List during the Past Week. Men Seem to be Waiting for the Acadian Battalion

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)
The news that a distinctly French-Acadian Battalion was being raised in the Maritime Provinces was spread throughout the country about a week ago, and seems to have affected the recruiting figures for the 132nd Battalion. It is expected that when the recruiting for the Acadian Battalion is undertaken, and the Acadian officers are stationed at Bathurst, men will flock to sign on just as rapidly as they have been doing for some time past.

Lt. Col. L. C. Daigle of Moncton, who is to command the new battalion, was here for a few days during the week, and on Sunday met a large number of the Acadians belonging to the 132nd, some of whom expressed a willingness to transfer, as a first step in the forming of his battalion, Col. Daigle is visiting the different units throughout the Province, and securing the names of Acadians who prefer to join a regiment composed entirely of men of their own nationality. This will probably mean a reduction of from 100 to 150 in the present strength of the 132nd, so that extra efforts will have to be put forth to bring this battalion up to its full strength. Those interested in recruiting matters in this country are of the opinion that for a while the introduction of the new unit will disorganize recruiting, but no doubt when the Acadian campaign is in full swing more recruits than ever will present themselves to the different officers. It is felt that Capt. Tilley, Chief Recruiting Officer for New Brunswick would have used better judgement if he had held one of these regiments back until the other was completely filled.

The paymaster of the 132nd, Capt. F. G. Burr, was here during the week, and the recruits were paid for the time due.

On Friday night the Soldiers paraded to the Opera House where they were pleasantly entertained with moving pictures.

The following were the recruits who signed on this week:

John Arseneau, Tracadie
Francis Bradeau, Paquetville
Isidore Hachey, Bathurst
Omer J. Doucet, Petit Rocher

The recruiting meetings at Grand Anse and Carquet last week were well attended, but on account of the scarcity of men in these places, very few men signed on. The speakers were Rev. Thos. Albert of Shippegan and Mr. P. J. Veniot of Bathurst. Several of the men of the 132nd, belonging to the places mentioned were also in attendance and report that they were used in great style.

On Thursday of this week a great recruiting meeting will be held in Bathurst, probably at the Opera House at which the principal speakers will be Chief Recruiting Officer Tilley, and Major Percy A. Guthrie, a returned wounded hero.

NOVEL FEATURE OF THE WAR
A novel incident of the war in Africa is a naval engagement officially reported as having taken place on Lake Tanganyika, the long, narrow stretch of water which forms the boundary between German East Africa, the Belgian Congo and British Central Africa. British vessels have captured the German armed steamer Kingani after a brisk action and taken her into port. Command of Lakes Nyassa and Tanganyika will enable the South African troops now being assembled to overrun the colony, to choose their point of attack along 500 miles of lake shore on the western and southern boundaries of German East Africa, while the Germans will have to dissipate their strength in guarding the entire lake shore, not knowing where the blow will fall.

HOW LONG WILL THE WAR LAST?

The War Against Health Is Quickly Ended By "Fruit-a-tives".

MRS. DEWOLFE

East Ship Harbour, N.S.
"It is with great pleasure that I write to tell you of the wonderful benefit I have received from taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. For years I was a sufferer from Constipation and Headaches, and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicines seemed to help me. Then I finally tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and the effect was splendid. After taking one box, I feel like a new person and I am deeply thankful to have relief from those sickening Headaches."

Mrs. MARTHA DEWOLFE.
"FRUIT-A-TIVES", the medicine made from fruit juices, has relieved more sufferers from Headaches, Constipation, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Skin Troubles than any other medicine. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

DOUBLING THE
PRICE OF HERRING

Proper Curing Methods will Make Canadian Equal to Scotch Product

To dispose of 600 barrels of cured herring at $11 per barrel, f. o. b. Nova Scotia, while his neighbours were getting only $4 to $4.50 per barrel, was last summer, the fortunate experience of a fish packer at Goldboro, Guysborough county, N. S. This highly satisfactory result was secured by disregarding the old-fashioned Nova Scotian style of packing the fish in tight, well-made barrels that will retain the pickle and preserve the flavour. This was done in consequence of the representations of Mr. J. J. Cowie, inspector of pickled fish for the Fisheries Branch, who, at the request of the Goldboro firm, secured an expert from Scotland to take charge of the work. As a result of this valuable object-lesson, Mr. S. Y. Wilson, a large dealer of Halifax, has determined to put up some 2,000 barrels next summer in the Scotch way.

THE LATEST IN MACHINE GUNS
The latest machine gun adopted by the War Office is known as the Caldwell machine gun being named after its inventor, a machinist of Victoria, Australia.

It can fire at the rate of 1,000 shots per minute (it is said that the speed has been increased to 1,200 shots per minute); has two barrels, which can each be fired independently of the other, and is air cooled, which does away with necessity for carrying water to cool the barrel while working.

Driver James O'Brien, the first Irishman to win the Victoria Cross in the war, has died in the King George V. hospital at Dublin. He served with the Royal Field Artillery in the retreat from Mons, and made a gallant dash under shell fire to save a gun which he brought to safety. For the service he was presented with the medal of the Legion of Honor. In the engagement he received severe wounds, which kept him in hospital for more than a year, but he was home on leave quite recently. He was born in Cashel Tipperary.

Pullman porters have had their wages raised about 10 per cent. It is estimated that this will lighten the burden of the travelling public about 1 cent to the thousand.

Speaking of titles, the Gaelic Mercury suggests that plain Mr. is good enough for any Canadian unless he can win a V. C., a D. S. O., or a D. C. M.

The Allies threaten to block Mitylene. After that if they do the same with acetylene and gasoline, the German sub question will be solved as far as the Mediterranean is concerned.

BONAVENTURE'S M. L. A.
IN ABLE SPEECH

Mr. Fabien Bugeaud Makes Good Impression in Seconding Address in Legislature

Quebec Jan. 18.—The Legislature yesterday afternoon occupied itself with the consideration of the Speech from the Throne. The proposer was Mr. Fabien Bugeaud of New Carlisle, Liberal member for Bonaventure County, and the seconder was Mr. Alfred J. Bissonnet, Liberal member for Stanstead. The first speaker addressed the House in French, and the second spoke in English, following the custom of many years. Both created a favorable impression. They were followed by Mr. Philomen Cousineau, the Opposition Leader, Conservative member for Jacques Cartier.

Mr. Bugeaud began by referring to the part played by the Province of Quebec in this war. He declared that at the present time, after a year's war the Germans still occupy four-fifths of Belgium and the richest part of the North of France. Before that horrible spectacle, Canada and particular French Canada has not remained unmoved. Our Province has not remained unmoved. Our Province has, and is still doing its large share, and its children are fighting in thousands on the battlefields of Europe. They have added another page to great history, and the French Canadians have again proven their loyalty and their love of liberty. One of our statesmen remarked one day that the last shot which will be fired on American soil for the defence of Great Britain would be fired by a French Canadian, and I may add that if necessary the last drop of blood to be shed in Europe for the triumph of Liberty will be Canadian blood. (cheers)

While our men are fighting the battles of civilization, our women are helping them as far as possible at home. Taking up the question of agriculture, Mr. Bugeaud referred to it as the foundation of the prosperity of a nation. The Government of this Province which takes so much to heart the well-being of its people, has done much in recent years to encourage agriculture by the building and subvention of agricultural colleges and schools.

Millions of dollars have been spent by the Government for the construction of iron bridges and the improvement of public roads. He compared the roads of the Province of Ontario with those in Quebec, and said the Government of Quebec helped to construct 124 miles of roads whereas the Government of Ontario had only built 20 miles.

As to colonization during the last ten years, the speaker said that nearly 200 parishes have been established in the Province of Quebec, and the increase of the population particularly in the counties of Bonaventure and the District of Abitibi, has been most remarkable.

But the Government deserves particular credit for the great encouragement it has granted to the great cause of education and public instruction. The salaries of teachers during the first eight years have been substantially increased. In 1905-6 the average salary was $155.00; in 1912-13, $224. 00, or an increase of $69.00 for both Catholic and Protestant teachers. These figures are only for 1912, but the speaker hoped that in the next report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction the average would be from $240.00 to $250.00. Money advanced for school purposes has increased from $2,199,371.00 in 1905 to $6,107,250.00 in 1913 and for school instruction in 1905 only $268,084.00 were spent, whereas in 1913 the expenditure amounted to $1,173,895.00.

After referring to the great protection and assistance given by the Government for Technical and Industrial education, the speaker remarked that the system of education in this country must be powerful enough to cope with the tremendous wave of immigration which is sure to invade our shores after the war. There is no doubt that the declaration of peace of very few years later, the population of this country will have reached the fourteen and perhaps the fifteen million mark.

Here the speaker made a very strong and outspoken protest against certain declarations made by a member of the Legislature at a recent political meeting when he said that the Province of Quebec was behind all the other provinces of Confederation, and expressed his sincere regret that all did not stand together to face a common enemy.

In closing remarks, Mr. Bugeaud thanked the Lieutenant Governor for his kind wishes which he expressed in his speech from the Throne, and assured him of his great loyalty to His Majesty.

"So that my executors may have ready money."

The following extract is from the will recently probated, of a man, successful, and, as the will proves, thoughtful business man.

Among the insurance policies on my life which are now payable to my children in equal shares, I am understanding to arrange that these policies shall be made payable to my estate so that my executors may have the ready money for the payment of my debts and the expenses of my funeral.

The $27,047 life insurance prevented the sale of property which would otherwise have had to be disposed of at a great sacrifice.

The usual is plain. There is no estate, be it large or small, but should be covered by life insurance. A policy would prevent losses to your widow or your children that could not otherwise be averted, because it spells "ready money" especially if placed with

BLUETRY

The weather has been cold and blustry for the past week. Monday afternoon and evening were especially blustery.

LOST VALUABLE HORSE

The Shipen Lumber Co. lost a valuable horse on the way up to their lumber last week from Campbellton. This was one of a recent importation.

HAVE NETS OUT

The cold weather of the past week has closed the river down to the bay and the fishermen have their nets down in readiness for the next spring tide, when it is hoped good catches of smelt will be taken.

SOME COLD

Thermometer hovering around 20 degrees below zero, and the wind blowing a gale, made Tuesday morning a very cold one. The Ocean Limited was three hours late on account of heavy rail and cold.

BREAK IN WATER MAIN

A bad break in the water main was in evidence Wednesday morning in front of the Graphic office. The water ran down its way into the furnace and the pressroom of the Graphic, causing considerable inconvenience but little damage. Men are now repairing the leak. For a time there was no water on the high level.

MANY

Since the taking over of the Canada Eastern and the International railways it has been found necessary to rearrange the officials formerly housed at Moncton. With this in view the new depot here was built with spacious offices on the second floor.

Now after five years these have proved entirely inadequate and new offices have had to be provided for some departments. With this in view the former residence of the late Supt. E. Price is being overhauled and will be made to house several departments among these being the Trackmasters and Mr. Savage's.

This change will relieve the congestion to some extent.

HORSE DROWNED

Mr. Dugald A. Myles, of Brandy Brook, had the misfortune to lose a valuable mare, in the ice, last week. The ice had been made for several days, and teams had crossed in this place three days previous to the accident. Mr. Myles, who is very careful on the ice, was attempting to cross in order to haul wood for the building on the opposite side of the river, and following the track, already made, drove out on the ice. It gave way at once in a great camel, and horse and sled immediately disappeared. This ice, instead of strengthening during the three nights severe frost, following the first crossing had apparently weakened and worn away. This horse was heavier than those that had crossed in safety before this.

AS OF OLD

The train service west of Campbellton has gone back to the old time, that is the West Local leaves here 8 o'clock. The suburban at 9.15 has been taken off. So that now it is impossible for people to come to Campbellton and get home the same day, except from Matapedia, when the Limited stops, no doubt this arrangement will last only during the winter.

STOLE BOOZE

Some time ago the I. C. R. freight shed at Anderson was entered and a barrel containing whiskey was stolen. I. C. R. detective Harry Oulligan was informed and arrested four men who admitted their guilt before Judge Mathison and on account of their former standing in the community and their promise of future good behavior and paying all costs, they were allowed to go on suspended sentence.

A GOOD SERVICE

The new suburban train No. 229 between Newcastle and Campbellton made its first trip Monday arriving here with a large number of passengers about 10 minutes late. The new train consists of two passenger coaches and four box cars. This train No. 230 leaves here at 6 o'clock, crossing the local at Dalhousie Junction, and a change of 20 minutes is necessary in the latter's arrival here, or 6.50 instead of 6.30.

HAND GRIP WANTED

During a trip of a special passenger train from St. Leonards to Campbellton in December some person evidently made a mistake and took a small hand grip belonging to Mr. P. J. Veniot from the car. This grip contained very little of value to any one but Mr. Veniot as it contained valuable personal insurance and other papers which cannot be replaced. If the party who took it return it to any station or give it to any employer of the I. C. R. no questions will be asked. As it is of no value to anyone outside Mr. Veniot we hope an effort will be made to return it to him.

DEAD IN EAST BOSTON

William M. Dooley, at one time editor of the Curling Western Star, and more recently of the Bell Island Miner, died at East Boston on November 29. Dooley, who was born at battle Harbor, Labrador, forty years ago, was at one time on the editorial staff of The Campbellton Graphic. N. B. he also served as reporter on the St. John, N. B. Globe for a time, and at different times he served as reporter on the Boston Post and other United States papers.

About six years ago Dooley married Miss Maud Irvine, daughter of Capt. S. A. Irvine, of Bermuda, B. W. I.

More-over, about forty more who were at one time in attendance at the University, but who were prevented from remaining to take degrees, are now serving their country. Among these latter is Lieut. R. Vince, who has been mentioned in the despatches for good work. Mail.

FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Mrs. W. G. Harshman, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2.30 from her home, Andrew Street.

HELD OVER

We regret to state that a quantity of news items from various localities have been held over until our next issue. This is owing to some of our staff being off through sickness, and the unusual quantity of matter coming in for publication.

MUSICALS AND TEA

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church are holding a Musicals and Tea in Dimock's Tea Rooms on Saturday afternoon, January 22nd. A very entertaining programme has been prepared, which will start at 3.30 and be repeated at 4.30. Tea will be served. Also candy and home cooking will be for sale. Tickets 25c.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE NOTES

The ladies of the Women's Institute received 145 pairs of socks, 2 pair mittens, 8 mufflers, 4 pair wristlets, 50 face cloths and 1 parcel old linen, for their shipment on January 17th. They wish to notify all workers that another shipment will go forward on the seventh of February. This shipment also will be for the 6th Mounted Rifles.

NEW AUTOMOBILE

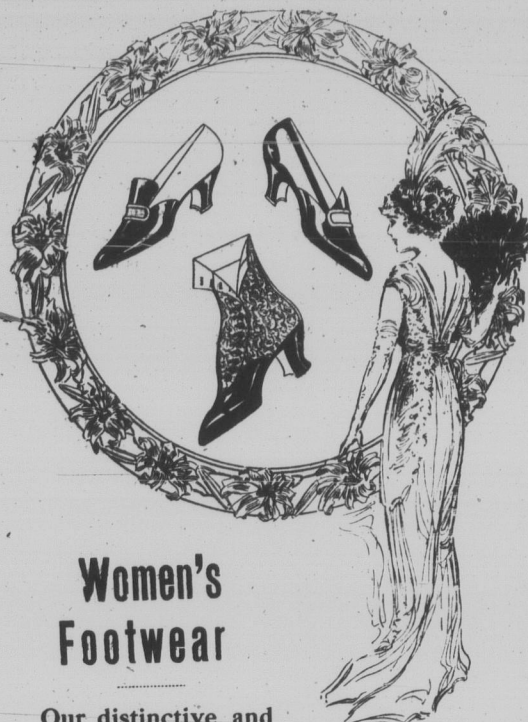

Yesterday morning Messrs. A. C. Roy and A. C. Belle Isle, who are incorporated under the name of Maritime Automobile Co. Ltd., were unloading the first 1916 Regal sold in town. This is a five passenger car, beautifully finished and strongly built of the full floating rear axle and Center Central type, with all the modern improvements. We understand that Dr. Pinault of this town has bought this machine and as the Doctor was attending the New York Motor Show lately, his choice indeed, speaks highly in favor of the Canadian Regal Cars.

PRINCESS PATS LIGHT

CANADIAN INFANTRY

London, Dec. 18th.—This is the story of the beginning and the end of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry,—the finest fighting force the world has seen. It begins on a bright, brisk day a year ago last September, in Quebec, when the Regiment, with every man wearing a previous service ribbon, swung on board a transport amid a babel of sound and riotous colors.

It ends in a crescent shaped trench at Ypres, on the eighth day of last May, amid a green vapor of strangling poison and a grey surge of German infantry, with bayonets fixed, writhing over the broken sand bag ramparts. There the men of "Pat's Own" wrote their names into history and disbanded at the command of the greatest of all commanders—Death.

Of 1,126 picked men who stood proudly in review before King George and Lord Kitchener at Salisbury Plains as they strode down the lines only twenty-three are uninjured. There's still a regiment of "Princess Pat's Own" in the trenches on the west front. But in place of the sturdy men garnered from the marts of the world are fresh faced youths, just from the scholastic halls of McGill University, in Canada. They're upholding the traditions—so newly made-of the men who went out before them.

Yesterday Corporal William B. Kysch of "Princess Pat's Own"—that regiment which went to the front a little more than a year ago—told the story of its beginning and its end. He told it in jerky snatches between quick intakes of cigarette smoke, while a hand, scaly and maimed from shrapnel, stroked his yellow face.

A Regiment of Veterans.

"I'm sorry I can't tell y' more of this," he apologized, "I never was much of a speller at best—and now, I'm rotten. Nerves gone, y' know—can't eat, can't sleep."

Yet Corporal Kysch was a seasoned soldier, as were all of his comrades, when he took the Kings shilling in Quebec and donned the British uniform. He was Sergeant William Kysch of the Twenty-ninth, United States Volunteers in the Spanish-American War, and Corporal Kysch, of the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders at Ashanti. In between he has been a pursuer on board passenger steamships running to Europe and the Far East. He was born in England, but he is a naturalized American, as were so many of the men who died at Ypres or before Ypres was reached.

"Princess Pat's Own" left Quebec on September 17, 1914, on board the Royal George, under convoy. They were part of that great first contingent, which has given such a magnificent account of itself on the west front. The regiment was made up of veterans only one man who had seen service in South Africa, Egypt and the Sudan. From the far flung heights and valleys of the world they gathered under the ensign of Great Britain.

After three weeks at Salisbury Plains the regiment was attached to the Eightieth brigade, making up part of the Twenty-seventh division, composed otherwise of British regulars just back from service in India. The transfer followed the review by the King and Lord Kitchener. The British Field Marshal, they say, as he passed down the line and saw the service ribbons across the coats of "Pat's Own," said softly:—"Now I know where all my old fighters are."

Into the Trenches at Once. The first week in December saw the regiment off to the front. There was a march from Winchester to Southampton, and there the troops embarked on board the Cardiganshire for Havre. Havre was reached in the darkness and after one night's stop the regiment marched to Bleiringhen, behind the firing line. All day long they dug reserve trenches. And then that night the word came to relieve Dikelsbusch. All of these points are within a radius of twenty-five miles from Ypres—where the fiercest fighting on the western front was progressing.

Twenty miles the regiment marched, arriving at Dikelsbusch at night, footsore and weary. This was on December 18, and hardly had they messaged when the command came to occupy the trenches. The French who had been holding them needed relief.

So into the trenches the men crept, crawling along flat on their stomachs, when the star shells from the German lines made the heavens red; rising and scooting when welcome darkness rode down again. For seventy-two hours they crouched in the trenches of Dikelsbusch under a rain of shell and shrapnel fire, with only emergency rations to sustain them. This was their baptism of fire.

"Bully Beef and hard tack and jam and cheese, with a scooper of rum each night," said Kysch. "My word, it is tough!

"We came up under a rain of whizz-bangs—they're star shells—machine gun fire and hand grenades. We lost three men occupying the trenches, and fine fellows they were. They were Dywer, of Huntington, L. L. and Meyers, of Indianapolis—fine boys, and Captain Newton. Dywer I liked especially; always with a laugh or a pun no matter what happened. And he went out before he'd seen a trench.

"Well, we left out of the trenches after seventy-two hours and marched back to West-Outer, where we rested for forty-eight hours; then back into hell again. For this time that was where we went—into trench C 10 on Hill 60. You've heard of Hill 60? Just a little sneaking mound, but it was worth something to both sides, so each killed and killed to get it. Guess it's smashed to pieces now, for they certainly wasted explosives enough to blow up a mountain just to get it.

"After forty-eight hours back we crept to West-Outer again to spend our Christmas there. We left some dead and some wounded behind. I guess it was eleven killed. Snipers picked off some; machine guns, shells and hand grenades got the others. So we went back and forth, thinning the ranks a little each time, until February 28. Then we made our first charge.

"Our artillery shelled the Germans for two days while we lay in the trenches waiting for the word. They answered back, of course, and once in a while one of our fellows would go, with an arm off or a head smashed in. At four o'clock in morning the word came to charge. We scrambled over the trench and ran toward the Germans, sixty yards away. They swept us with machine guns and bored us with hand grenades. Big "Jack Johnsons" screamed from behind the lines at us, and over our heads went back our own artillery's answer. The Germans came up over the trenches to meet us, and we used the bayonet. We slipped and fell; rose and fell again, stabbing and cutting; there was no chance to shoot.

Cold Steel Routs Germans. "Then the Germans gave way. They can't eat cold steel. They were piled up in the trenches, dead and dying, so thick that it was untenable, and after a while we had to abandon the place we'd won and go back to our own trench.

"We left seven or eight men behind in the little strip of twisted mud between the trenches. And from C 10 for days afterward we watched those fellows lie there and change from dead men into things. I wake up these nights and see one of 'em—a fine young Canadian, with blond hair, who grew a yellow mustache. When he fell, he fell face upward, and day by day I kept looking at that fellow's face and his little mustache, until there wasn't any face.

"Behind trench C 10 was a farmyard we called it Shelly's farm. There had been a battle there early in the war, right after the Germans were turned from Paris, and all the time the dead had lain there unburied. The farm was shelled continuously, night and day, and it was across this path that we had to come at night, leaving and entering the trenches.

"I didn't like to creep through there. It smelled so, for one thing and then the star shells lighted up the bodies. They lay almost as they had fallen, twisted about, and the flare of shell and whizz-bangs brought them into faint relief. Legs, arms and heads—see them, too, at night now when I can't sleep.

"After we went back to our own trench the Germans used to shoot when we came in to relieve the retiring regiments: 'Oh, there you are, Pats—well fix you!'

Own Artillery Kills 120. "Well, we charged the Germans again on March 4. We lost more men, and again had to abandon the trench we won. The dead were too thick and the trench was too terrible. That's what is meant when they say the trenches are 'untenable.' In this charge Colonel Farquhar, of our regiment, was killed. He was directing the digging of trenches just behind the first trench.

Catastrophic Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All druggists, 75c.

line when a shell got him.

"We had to stay in C 10 for six days after this. We were shelled, shelled shelled. Day and night they rained about us and behind us, cutting our relief. We lost sixty-five men killed and a number wounded. Then we got out and the King's Royal Rifles relieved us. From then on until May 3 we went back and forth, in and out of trenches. We missed 'em and blew 'em up; we sniped a little and threw hand grenades.

"And then we were ordered to Ypres. Ypres lies about five miles southeast of Hill 60, or rather St. Eloi's where we took our relief. We marched into the trenches there without delay.

"We went in in a rain of artillery fire and got caught in a vortex from our own artillery and the Germans'. An observer gave the range wrong to our artillery and we caught it. One hundred and twenty of our men went down before the range was righted, but we kept on and occupied the trench. The Germans were right across from us, about two hundred yards away. We held a crescent shaped trench, and on May 5 we routed the Germans, but we had to duck back, for the fire was too heavy and their trench was useless for protection.

"From then until May 8 the Germans shelled us. They poured tons of lead about us. No one could leave the trench; no one could stick his head out.

Our nerves went dead from the occasions, and our eyes were glazed from the sights about us. The dead lay under our feet and the wounded crept back as best they could to where they could get first aid.

First Attack by Poison Gas. "Early on the morning of May 8 the Germans charged. We knew they were coming, and we were waiting. They came over their trenches in quarter columns, a solid, swaying mass of blue gray. They shouted and ran forward as we mowed them down like grass.

Our machine guns, four to the section just waved in a semicircle and waved back again. We fired our Lee-En-Fields as fast as we could pump them and no bullet was wasted.

"They lay in piles in front of the trenches, and the piles were always wriggling around as some of the injured underneath tried to creep out. A whole battalion of them were put of the way before they drew back and formed for another charge, behind cover of their trenches.

"And this time we saw poison gas for the first time. It was the second assault, about eight o'clock in the morning. We could see that something was coming off, and then suddenly there spouted up a thick green cloud, that hid everything in front of us. The fellows under the German piles wriggled harder than ever and everybody in our trench asked: 'Well, what's comin' off anyhow?' The wind was wrong for 'em, and the Germans went back, and there was quiet until ten o'clock.

"This time their gas came in. It rolled along the ground like a moving wall about eight feet high. Behind it we knew the Germans were coming but we couldn't see them, so we left fire through the cloud. The gas had holes blown in it and the force of the bullets swayed it a bit, but before we knew it the gas was rolling in the trenches.

The End of 'Princess Pat's Own.' "I heard men cursing at one end of the trench where the gas struck first just as a shell buried me, and then I got the gas myself. I got it light, for I was half buried but the fellows about me screamed and rolled up as if they were burned, cursing and praying. It caught you by the throat and burned its way into your lungs; then you couldn't breathe out, and you burst or slobbered. I crept back on my stomach, for I had a bit of shrapnel in my stomach, and a bullet in my leg, just as I saw the Germans dropping over the sand bags. The fellows who could stand knifed 'em with bayonets or bit and fought them: I saw four of my pals—right fellows they were—lying almost over each other all of them with gas in them.

"Oh, Christ, Kysch! one of 'em called 'get me a drink. Get me'—and a German drove a bayonet clear through his throat and lungs before he could finish it. And then the same German knifed the other three boys.

"That was the end of 'Princess Pat's Own.' Long before the Germans came the last time there weren't sixteen men of the sixteen platoons of the regiment who could defend themselves. I fired 170 rounds myself from my Lee-En-Field, and it was so hot I couldn't hold her. I crept back and somebody put me in a Maltese cot and got me to Dikelsbusch. I spent six months in a hospital at Beechbury Park and then came over to Quebec, where I got my discharge."

And Corporal Kysch, still moving the hand that was raked with shrapnel over his yellow face, lighted another cigarette.

OPPOSITE I.C.R. DEPOT CAMPBELLTON, N. B.

BLACK POINT

I think it is time some of our young people were waking up a bit. The weather for some time has been very pleasant and the young people have been taking advantage of the good roads and moonlight nights.

Messrs John Black and James Harvie left last evening for a trip to the south where it is expected to spend the winter.

Mrs. Chas. McCormick has been visiting in Black Point for some time the guest of Mrs. Alex H. Dickie.

Mrs. Edward was the guest of Mrs. James Dickie for the past week. The stock has once more visited Black Point and left a bouncing baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex H. Dickie. (Congratulations.)

On Dec. 27th, a very enjoyable evening was spent in the Temperance Hall in River Louise. When the young people of Black Point gave a concert and basket social for the aid of The Red Cross.

The young people deserve much credit in the way they carried on the programme. Mr. Nat. McMillan acted as chairman and Miss Lena Chalmers presided at the piano.

The programme was as follows—Chorus—Soldiers of the King. Recitation—Dead of Briton, Miss Ima Currie. Song—Irish Eyes of Blue, Mr. John and Miss Ada Haley. Dialogue Matrimonial Advertisement. Song Little Gray Home in the West Miss Ida Haley. Song We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall, Miss Lena Chalmers.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girl! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Recitation, Miss Marie McNair. Dialogue C. Three boys and three girls. Recitation Miss Isabel Black. Phonograph music between Recitations and Dialogues.

Mr. Alexander Murchie kindly acted as auctioneer in selling the baskets.

The programme closed by singing God Save the King. Amount collected being $48.

Mr. and Mrs. John Winton and Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. McMillan were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Laughlin on Tuesday. The many friends of Mrs. Robb McMillan are sorry to learn of her serious illness, and she is not recovering as quickly as desired.

BATHURST

Mr. O. Turgeon, M. P. and Mrs. Turgeon left on Wednesday for Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Haquail have returned to their home in Fort William (Ont.) after a visit to Mrs. Haquail's brother, Mayor Michaud and Mrs. Michaud.

Mrs. John Ferguson, who was a guest of Mrs. Gus Blanchard, returned on Friday to her home in Tracadie.

Miss Roberts of Moncton has recently been added to the Bathurst Lumber Co's office staff, in the capacity of Stenographer.

Miss B. Meloin, returned during the week from a very pleasant visit of several months with relatives in Boston.

Mr. Leo Lamrick who spent the holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. McKenna returned last week to Chatham, to resume his studies at St. Thomas College.

Dr. F. X. Comeau and Mrs. Comeau of Carleton Place were last week guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Landry.

Mr. C. J. Casey of Halifax has accepted a position with J. P. Whelan.

Pte. T. Clay White of the 132nd Battalion left on Monday for Chatham where he has been appointed to a position in the Paymasters' office.

Miss Ruby Windsor of Miscou was in town this week for a short stay, before leaving for New York, where she will take a course in vocal culture.

During her stay in Toronto, Miss Dora Gallant, Milliner for Miss H. Meahan, will spend much time in studying the coming season's styles and before her return will secure the best obtainable in Millinery for the Spring display.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethelbert McLean arrived last week, and will take up their residence in Bathurst.

One evening as the British forces were nearing Khartum a dervish spy was discovered in camp and promptly taken to headquarters. But no threats or bribes would induce the spy to speak. He pretended to be both deaf and dumb. Scarcely was his examination over when another spy was led in, and proved to be equally stubborn. They were bound and led away, and placed in a well-guarded tent. About half an hour afterward there was a crash and hubbub, and a third spy was dragged in, who also would reveal nothing, so he, too, was placed with the others.

Soon the soldiers on guard outside were surprised to hear the "dumb" spies talking eagerly together in an undertone. It was impossible to hear what the said, but they labored away for an hour or more. At last the third spy appeared at the entrance to the tent and asked to be taken to headquarters, as he had something to reveal.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

The full value of soldiers' letters may not be fully realized by those who receive them. Indeed, as the war continues week after week, there is a danger that they may be regarded as a matter of course. It is well to preserve war letters carefully. It is from just such letters with their unofficial records that histories are written. Harvard is already asking for every possible document from its graduates and unites at the front to preserve for future reference. Very often important facts can be established by the confirmation of an incident told by several persons in letters in which that incident may not of itself have seemed to the recipient as of any great moments. After the Civil War in the United States and the South African war, many requests for letters were received by friends and relatives of the soldiers engaged in these struggles. New points of view are constantly being thrown on many matters of national importance the world over by the discovery of letters, not sent out to authorities or whose value was not apparent to those who received them. It would be wise for Canada to follow the plan adopted by Harvard and to collect its war letters at some college or university, where when needed they will be safe and from where they can be readily obtained when needed for the history of this world war that will some day be written.

A Hard Job.

One afternoon in the trenches an Irish soldier discovered that one of his company was wearing a nice new pair of boots. How did you manage to get hold of them? I asked Pat, enviously. Well, said his friend, I stole out of the trench last night, and found them on a German I killed. Pat became thoughtful, and that night disappeared. Early next morning he staggered back into the trenches carrying a pair of boots. Making for his friend, he whispered: I've had the hardest job of my life. Had to kill about fifty of the blighters before I got a pair to fit me.

There are over 25,000 Canadians residing in New York City. Of this number 2,844 are French-Canadians, from the Province of Quebec.

port. His request was granted but the soldiers who led him there were never permitted to know that he was Lord Kitchener himself, whose knowledge of the native language and powers of disguise had enabled him to play the spy and learn all that he wanted to know from the two stubborn dervishes.

ROBBIE

The room was still though moon had come
And with it golden day.
I gazed upon a youthful face
As sleeping there he lay.
So sweet and calm—yet sorrow filled
My heart instead of joy,
For I must part with one I loved,
My own dear Soldier Boy.

His night had passed in sleeplessness
But now in sweet repose
He sleeps, unconscious of the ills
That came in line with woes
Clad in a Soldier's dress, how fair
To me that morn he seemed
The sunny smile of boyish pride
That on those features beamed.

My mind into the past was swept
Which seemed like yesterday.
I thought upon his child hood hours,
When he was wont to play,
Around the home in childish glee
Filling the home with joy,
How little then I thought he'd be
My own dear Soldier Boy.

We loved our boy—it seemed so good,
This future was so close
Or else to grieve about what's now
I might have been disposed
The while to muse—he whom I loved,
Ere nineteen Summers born
Obedient his Country's call and from
Our hearts and home was torn.

I thought upon the cruel toll
The carnage and the gore
The sufferings intense—untold
Of those who'd gone before
And as the tears rolled down my cheeks
I turned to God to cry
That he would save and bring to Heaven
My own dear Soldier Boy.

And this I know—our God doth care
He sleeps or Slumbers ne'er
When things seem pointing to dismay
He bids us never fear.
For he who holds within his hand
This boisterous rolling deep
Is able—yes, and willing too
Our precious charge to keep.

I turned me round to bid adieu
To him I loved so well
And from my lips in tender tones
His dear name softly fell
But weary had he heard me not
And now the time drew nigh
When I must leave him go his way
My darling Soldier Boy.

I stroked the fair hair on his brow
And kissed his youthful cheek,
I turned me from that silent room
My heart too full to speak.

For was he not my first born son
Was he not true and brave
Who volunteered to help the cause
Our Country's name to save.

Ah, parents dear, those boys you have
And look upon with pride
Are they still with you—still at home
Around the fireside.

If so—remember many a heart
Is sobbing out in pain
The untold loss of boys—who here
They'll never meet again.

I turned and gave a last fond glance
Then slowly left the room
And now tonight the ocean rolls
Between him and his home

He's crossing to that stricken land
Where duty calls the brave
I pray to God as here I write
My Soldier Boy to save.

Ah stricken land, you've furnished
Graves
For many a well loved son
And when will cease the bloody strife
So cruelly begun

Well this I know that God who rules
Can give the sure reply
In whose blest care I leave tonight
My own dear Soldier Boy.

A Prominent physician says the best thing to do in case of a gripe is to do nothing and go to bed to do it. The advice sounds wise.

Defy Dyspepsia!

Among the symptoms of Dyspepsia or Indigestion may be mentioned a heavy, cutting pain soon after eating; a distended, stiff feeling of the stomach and bowels; belching of wind and flatulence; a burning sensation in the stomach, which indicates acidity; heartburn; palpitation of the heart; a feeling of fullness, pain under the ribs and shoulder-blades; headache through the temples and eyes; dizziness, coated tongue and constipation; sometimes nausea or vomiting.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt is the natural specific for all these conditions. Being an antacid, it immediately relieves the acidity of the stomach and stops the fermentation. It stimulates the secretion and muscular action of the stomach and bowels, and overcomes the constipation. When its use is kept up the normal action of all the organs of digestion is re-established.

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

How Mrs. Kelly Suffered and How She was Cured.

Burlington, Wis.—"I was very irregular, and had pains in my side and back, but after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and using two bottles of the Sanative Wash I am fully convinced that I am entirely cured of these troubles, and feel better all over. I know your remedies have done me worlds of good and I hope every suffering woman will give them a trial!"—Mrs. ANNA KELLY, 710 Chestnut Street, Burlington, Wis.

The many convincing testimonials constantly published in the newspapers ought to be proof enough to women who suffer from these distressing ills peculiar to their sex that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they need.

This good old root and herb remedy has proved unequalled for these dreadful ills; it contains what is needed to restore woman's health and strength.

If there is any peculiarity in your case requiring special advice, write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for free advice.

Wasn't Plaster At All.

An elderly church warden in shaving himself one Sunday before church time made a slight cut with a razor on the extreme end of his nose. Quickly calling his wife, he asked her if she had any court plaster in the house. "You will find some in my sewing basket," she said. The warden soon had the cut covered.

At church in assisting with the collection he noticed everyone smile as he passed the plate, and some of the younger people laughed outright. Very much annoyed, he asked a friend if there were anything wrong with his appearance.

"Well, I should think there is," was the answer. "What is that on your nose?"

"No," said his friend, "it is the label of a reel of cotton. It says, 'warranted 200 yards long.'"

NOT A CAMPBELLTON BOY

Among the casualties published on Jan. 6th was the name of Chas. E. Moore, Sydney, killed in action. As Charles Moore formerly of this town, but who enlisted from Sydney, had been formerly reported wounded, it was thought that this was a correction. We are glad to report that it was not the Campbellton boy who was killed, as his mother has received word that he is in Beachborough Park Hospital, England.

FROZEN TO DEATH

Most shocking news of the freezing to death of Jack McDonald reached Andover and Perth a few days ago. The young man, who was working in the woods for the McLaughlin Lumber Co., came to Perth last week and Saturday returned to the Tobique. On Monday he was found dead—frozen to death on the road near Trout Brook. Mr. McDonald was quite well known in this vicinity as he worked at one time for Mr. George Clark of Perth. He was of Scotch descent, coming from the old country quite a few years ago.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE

A very successful dance was held in Dimock's Tea Rooms last Friday evening to raise funds to supply telescopes for the boys in the trenches. The committee who had charge were Miss Barthe, Miss Tess Lingley, Miss McLatchy, Messrs. Earl Mowat and W. M. Ferguson and they deserve much credit for the splendid success of the affair. The chaperons were Mrs. S. H. Lingley, Mrs. R. K. Shives, Mrs. W. F. Napier and Mrs. L. G. Pinault. Dancing started at eight thirty and excellent music was furnished by an orchestra. The amount in the hands of the secretary, Mr. W. M. Ferguson, after all expenses were paid was twenty-four dollars and one cent. The sum will be bought with this amount and forwarded to the boys of the 26th Battalion.

OBITUARY

The death occurred on Wednesday afternoon, January 19th, at her late residence on Andrew Street of Mrs. W. G. Harshman, after an illness of several months. Many letters are weekly sent to the dead letter office because the senders neglect to put on the extra wax stamp. To avoid this you should use envelopes with your box number or name printed thereon, when the local postmaster will return the letter direct to you. We have a good quality commercial envelope which we will print for 25¢ per 1000. Order today.

DOMINION-WIDE PROHIBITION

The Dominion-wide prohibition movement which has been launched from Ottawa by a number of zealous and hopeful individuals, and which is said to be substantially backed, is to be carried aggressively into the Ottawa Parliament during the coming session. It is the intention of the movers of the project to address circular letters to the Prime Minister, to members of the Cabinet, to the leader of the Opposition, and to the two leaders of the Senate urging that steps be at once taken to enforce Dominion wide prohibition. In addition every member of Parliament will receive a letter urging that in voice and vote they back up the proposal in Parliament.

It is probably that the league will induce someone in the House to place a resolution on the order paper by which the proposals may be brought up for debate and consideration. By what method Dominion-wide legislation of the kind suggested may be passed is not at present clear. There is at present a Dominion Prohibition Act, the Scott Act on the statute books at the present time, but that is not the sort of measure contemplated by the new league. What they desire is Federal legislation without submission to the people.

Dear Editor:—

Your Editorial, all to brief, in your last issue, touching our Rip Van Winkle School Board, is not sufficiently illuminating. You appear to think that the Board may have its own aims, ambitions and mysterious ideals. The public think differently. It has none. It is in a rut, there to stay. Will the public take more interest in how to manage educational affairs in our town? The members seem to think that when at a monthly meeting a few accounts are passed, then their duties end.

As an instance of their doing nothing, take the case of the historical cannon, with a great history, that were so generously donated to the town by Daniel Ferguson, Esq. Where are they today? In exactly the same spot where they fell from their carriages five years ago. No attempt has been made to replace the carriages, that could have been had without cost to the town or Board.

The public has not already forgotten the energy and forethought exercised by a citizens' committee some years ago to secure these cannons and place them in position and in charge of the Campbellton School Board.

The writer's opinion is that a county Grammar School should not have as a Secretary a young lady without experience in school affairs, but a trained educationalist of experience, with the high aim of bringing our school up to the highest standard in the country. One whose love for the work, would require him to have daily oversight over all matters relating to the school. How many of our Board are acquainted with the Gary School plan of education that is meeting with such marked success in some schools in the United States. Not many I fear.

Anything you may say that will awaken the citizens and give effect to the reorganization of a live and progressive Board may result in the greatest good of the community.

Yours, CITIZEN.
