THE C. N. R. SUMMER HOTEL PROJECT

Urge Co-operative Effort to Bring Matter to a Satisfactory Solution.

Early this summer it looked as though Restigouche was to have a large summer hotel, rivaling, or even surpassing the Canadian Pacific's famous hostelry in the south of the Province, the Algonquin in St. Andrews. As all residents of the Graphic are aware this proposed hotel was to be built and operated by the Canadian National Railway.

The residents of Restigouche County have always been proud of their beautiful scenery and the other county attractions of the County, which they might well be, as a tourist paradise Restigouche is not surpassed anywhere in the world. Visitors have often marvelled that our advantages have been put to better advantage than made better known to the outside world. Scenery needs no praise, it speaks for itself to all that come with it. Our attractions to the tourist and the pleasure seeker in the way of bathing, fishing, hunting, boating, etc., are certainly unsurpassed. All we need is some one to develop these wonderful natural attractions and to advertise them to the world.

What better agency could there be for this purpose than a large railroad company, with tremendous resources at its back, spanning the American continent, with its representatives in every large centre? What better agency could there be to develop our natural attractions and to advertise them to the world? The Canadian National Railway proposed to do this. They meant business. They sent officials and experts to inspect the country and report on it and they decided that a certain site would be favourable and commenced negotiations to purchase property. Things looked promising; at last Restigouche County was to reap some benefit from the bountiful attractions granted to it by the Creator. A hotel would be built this summer, a wonderful golf course would be constructed; tourists, wealthy people from the large hot cities bent on a holiday would pour in; more money would be put in circulation; everyone would be better off; farmers, stockmen, business men; Restigouche would be advertised all over the world as a tourist paradise.

But the month passed, negotiations were held up. The property owners wanted a certain price for their property. The Railroad said, we are after all a business organization, our experts tell us that there is a certain limit to the price we can pay, over that we burden ourselves with too great an overhead, we cannot make it pay. The Railroad officials went back home; next year they will look elsewhere, perhaps in Nova Scotia, perhaps in Quebec.

Surely this deadlock can be overcome. This Hotel will mean much to everyone in Restigouche. Cannot the business men of Campbellton, Dalhousie and other communities get together and push this thing? Would this not be a worthy object for the Campbellton Board of Trade and the Restigouche Association to foster? For everyone in the County who has the interests of the County at heart to try and bring this thing about? To get the Railroad and the property owners together to agree on a fair and reasonable price.

Other communities have grown prosperous by going after things and getting them; let us not lapse into lethargy over this matter which affects all our interests. Opportunities like this do not come very often. The tourist traffic is one of the greatest sources of income in Canada today; other places are getting their share; let us get ours. We have all the natural advantages; we have one of the largest Railroads in the world willing to put it over. Soon it may be too late, the Railroad may build elsewhere; another place will reap the benefit and we will have our regret.

BOY SCOUTS AT LOCH LOMOND

Members of Local Troop Had Most Pleasant Outing in Lake District

A number of local Boy Scouts, under the leadership of their Scoutmaster, Mr. J. H. Stevens, returned from an enjoyable outing at the Loch Lomond Fishing Club camp at Loch Lomond.

About fifteen members of the local Scout Troop availed themselves of this opportunity of an expedition to this beautiful lake district, which is yet undiscovered by the forest and the mountains. Much of the time was spent in exploring this beautiful Lake District and the youthful campers were successful in catching some very nice trout in some of the smaller lakes which abound in that locality.

The food and blankets were provided by the boys and the camp was pitched on a grassy bank. The boys acted as head cook and the other boys took turns in assisting in real scout fashion. Their delightful visit at the lake was crowded with games of different kinds, fishing and boating, while after the day's activities story-telling around the camp fire contributed to the enjoyment of the evening hours.

Harry Flann was voted the best story-teller while Otis Harvey won the distinction of being voted the best fisherman having hooked five speckled beauties in less than an hour.

All members of the excursion voted their trip a most enjoyable one and will to express to the Loch Lomond Club their thanks for the use of the camp and permission to make the lake the object of such a pleasant outing.

After the Last Farewells Had Been Said

The story of their grief and mental anguish is plainly told in this remarkable picture of President and Mrs. Coolidge leaving the cemetery at Northampton, Mass., after having to rest their son, Calvin Jr. Just behind the president walks his father while John follows his mother. The president's military aide is at the right.

NEW HOTEL OPENED ON MONDAY

Chateau Restigouche A Credit to Campbellton and the North Shore

The progress and initiative of the North Shore metropolis, Campbellton, was further evidenced on Monday when its new hotel, the Chateau Restigouche, was opened to the public. The opening was scheduled for 7 o'clock but for some time before that a large crowd had congregated outside of the new hostelry awaiting the opening of the doors. In a short time the hotel was filled to overflowing and the dining hall was taxed to its capacity. On the arrival of the Ocean Limited the first outside guests were admitted and these were followed shortly afterwards by the arrival of an automobile party from the United States, the whole occupying 12 rooms. Music was furnished throughout the evening by a seven-piece orchestra on the second floor while the public were being shown around by the attendants.

The new hotel which was built by Campbellton business men is the finest hostelry east of the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec city. It consists of three stories and a basement containing bowling alleys, billiard tables, barber shops, and a soda fountain. The main floor is taken up by the kitchen, dining hall, office, waiting rooms, and a few guest rooms. The other two floors are taken up by guest rooms. In all there are 71 rooms, each room having running water, 18 of them connected with the bath. The rooms are elegantly furnished with the best of furniture and present a very fine appearance.

The directors and organizers are to be congratulated on the initiative and courage they displayed in the erection of this new hotel which is a credit to the town and community.

The formal opening in the form of a banquet will be held on Wednesday evening August the 6th.

GUARANTORS TO MEET TO-NIGHT

Chautauqua Promoters Will Complete Organization and Arrange for Sale of Tickets

A meeting of the Chautauqua guarantors will be held this evening in the Town Clerk's Office. At this meeting the Ticket Selling Committee will be organized and other necessary details completed.

Chautauqua Week opens here on Thursday, July 24th. The programme which is a most attractive and covers six days entertainment. The big Chautauqua tent will occupy the same site on the High School Grounds where it was located last year.

As soon as the sale of tickets has begun it is expected that every one who is planning to attend Chautauqua will assist the guarantors by buying a season's ticket. In this way only will those who have undertaken to provide this splendid entertainment be enabled to raise the necessary amount of money. The Chautauqua programme is one of very high order and there is no doubt but what citizens generally will make a generous response.

WEDDINGS

Stradach-Patterson

A pretty wedding was celebrated on Wednesday evening at the home of Alfred John Stradach, when he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Patterson. The bride was accompanied by her father, Mr. W. J. Patterson, and the groom by his mother, Mrs. W. J. Patterson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. J. H. Stevens. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

GIRL IS CONDEMNED BY ALL-WOMEN JURY

London, July 21.—A jury composed entirely of women returned a verdict of wilful murder at an Ashton-under-Lyne inquest against Edith Alice Weston, of Grosvenor street, Stalybridge, who was found guilting for breath in a room full of gas.

By her side, lying dead, was William Ewart Jackson, a stripper and gambler, of Ashton.

The girl was apparently suffering from the effects of gas poisoning. After treatment she recovered.

Edith Alice Weston, who had been living apart from her wife, disappeared with the Weston girl three weeks ago from his work at a Stalybridge mill, where the girl was also employed.

MORE PREHISTORIC REMAINS FOUND

Interesting Discoveries in an Ancient Burial Place in Iowa

Ottawa, July 21.—Word has been received here that last week, after 15 years' search, Dr. Robert F. Gilder, field archaeologist of the University of Nebraska, has found the remaining parts of skeletons of five prehistoric human remains, the skulls of which were discovered fifteen years ago by Dr. Harlan I. Smith, now of Victoria Museum, Ottawa, at Conical Bluffs, Iowa, in an ancient burial ground. Dr. Gilder was with Dr. Smith at the time of the original discovery and has kept up his search ever for the remaining parts.

It is claimed that the skulls and skeletons represent an entirely different type of man from any other archaeological remains previously discovered in the part of the North American continent. It is suggested that the five men were either visitors or that all other traces of their life have disappeared.

The heads were extraordinarily large and the skulls were those of men. The skulls were half an inch thick; nearly twice as thick as the human skull to-day.

Along with the five headless skeletons were found a piece of pottery, so ancient and crude that it is thought to be pre-Columbian and the first piece of pottery of that age found along the Missouri River. This latter discovery is considered also of great importance from an archaeological standpoint.

SUM OF $2500 IS NOW ASSURED

Roman Catholic Bazaar at Dalhousie is Gratifying Success—Great Crowds Attended.

(Special to The Graphic)

Dalhousie, N. B.—The R. C. Bazaar held this week during three evenings was a great success. A full account of same will appear next week. The financial result is encouraging. As the funds have not all been collected only an approximate guess can be made. The sum of $2500 is now assured.

The Pic Nic held on Tuesday at Allan's Point, under the auspices of St. Joan's, Presbyterian Sunday School, was a great success. This year the annual gathering of all interested in Sunday School work. The weather was most enjoyable and over two hundred and fifty people motored from different parts of the parish to attend. It proved to be a grand summer outing. The members of the girl's guild are living in haste at Allan's Point, and they are enjoying the lovely weather which is prevailing, and no nicer spot can be chosen in view of the famous Bay of Chaleur and Charlo Bay.

BROADCAST FROM OCEAN'S BOTTOM

Deep-Water Diver Will Send Out Messages From Sea on July 28

Atlantic City, N. J., July 23.—A voice from the bottom of the sea will call out over the wild ether waves on July 28.

Station WIP, Gimbel Bros., Philadelphia, has arranged for C. O. Jackson, a deep sea diver, to broadcast from underwater here on that day. The broadcasting will be done through the local control station of WIP.

Jackson will describe subsea floor formations, the strange fish which flip across in front of the heavy glass windows of his diver's helmet, and other subterranean features.

LOCAL NEWS

HAY CROP REPORTED GOOD

The hay crop in this district, which it was not accepted would be up to normal, is according to the latest reports, turning out well and there will be plenty to carry all of the stock through the coming winter. Cutting has already begun in some places, in the lower part of the County and the results are good. Last year, haying was not begun until the first of August in most cases.

WOMAN CAPTURED BY BLACK SAVAGES

Strong Force Pushing into Trackless South Australian Bush to the Rescue

London, July 22.—Plunging into the trackless bush of the northern territory of South Australia, a strong expeditionary force is pressing toward the strong-hold of a tribe of black savages who are reported to have kidnapped a number of white women from the schooner Douglas. Mission after mission the men and sinking the ship.

Whether any of these women are still alive—perhaps prisoners in the harem of some aboriginal chief—is the subject of much speculation in London, which was thrilled by dispatches from Sydney Friday telling of the massacre.

It is pointed out that the Douglas was already months overdue when Lloyd's last October posted her as missing. Hence the tragedy must have occurred at least a year ago and there is some belief that none of the captive women may ever be found alive to tell the tale of the attack.

Advice here are meagre, but it is also feared that the dusky abductors may have been cannibals, despite the fact that the males on board the ship are reported to have been overpowered and killed on the spot.

A Central News dispatch from Sydney failed to name the spot where the steamer was sunk and said only fragmentary reports had reached Sydney. These came from Port Darwin, a tiny port on an inlet of the Northern territory. Sydney authorities called Palmerton, another point in that district for further information.

Unusual action picture and study in expression as Miss Edith Lines of the London Athletic Club breaks the world's amateur record for women by jumping 16 feet and 11.2 inches.

FAIL TO RECOVER THOSE DROWNED

Search of Lake Simcoe Fails to Reveal Trace of Victims of Tragedy

Barrie, Ont., July 22.—Searchers for the bodies of Edgar Smith and Wilbur Hoskins, who were drowned in Lake Simcoe a week ago last Thursday or Friday, when Miss Margaret Marchion alone escaped death in the storm that upset the canoe in which the three had started out for a trip of but a few miles, have returned empty handed.

Some of the boats and their occupants had been out seventeen hours, while one party started from Barrie at dawn yesterday, and another went from Beaverton. The Barrie group made an almost complete circle of the lake, as well as landing and examining the shores of more than one hundred and fifty miles during the day. Aerials were also employed in the search but no trace was found of the bodies of the missing men.

At Brechin, an examination of the canoe in which the ill-fated party commenced the excursion bore haunting testimony of the terrible struggle for life made by one of the young men of the party. The bow rope had been held by one of them until it wore a large groove in the hardwood of the canoe, and the rope had evidently worn entirely through once by the friction caused by the weight of one of the party holding to it. Then it had been retied and the struggle continued, until the rope was worn almost entirely through again.

Before the strands were completely parted, the member of the party who had been relying on the rope for support evidently succumbed to exhaustion and slipped into the water, unable to keep afloat any longer. In addition to this many finger nail scratches marked the hardwood gunwale, and one place it had been torn altogether away for several feet, indicating the struggle that preceded the fatal termination of the tragedy.

AGAINST CHILD MARRIAGE LAW

Clubwomen of Florida Would Set Limit Upon Marriageable Age of Girls

Tallahassee, Fla., July 18.—The clubwomen of Florida plan to make a strong fight at the forthcoming biennial legislative session, in April and May, 1925, to have the marriage laws of the state amended, setting a limit upon the marriageable age of girls.

The matter was a subject of great interest at Tampa recently when a girl bride was brought before the county probation officer. It was discovered that the child's parents were dead and that she had been left in care of her aged grandmother. The grandmother had given her consent, the only legal requirement, to the child's marriage to a man of 34 years of age. The union resulted in grief to the young wife. The club women, backed by judges, probation officers, and others, plan a fight to bring about enactment of laws designed to prevent a recurrence of such tragedies.

"As is at present, the county judges are helpless," declared Mrs. Amos Norris, Tampa clubwoman, in making it known that her organization would carry the fight before the legislature. "If the parents or the guardians of a child consent, there is no law to prevent children of 11 or even younger marrying. The recent case of the 11-year-old bride which has brought this matter again before the public, Judge Hazard at first refused to issue the license, but upon further examination of the law, he realized that he had no legal right to deny it when the grandmother's consent was given and so issued it. He could do nothing else."

"We hope to alter this condition by bringing about a state law that will define the minimum age limit for marriages with guardian's consent." Sixteen years has been suggested as the limit.

KILLED WHEN SHE CONNECTED IRON

Mrs. James Thompson of Bathurst Dies of Electric Shock

Bathurst, July 22.—Another well known resident of Bathurst met death suddenly Friday night when Mrs. James Thompson was electrocuted while using an electric iron in her home. The sad event occurred about 8 o'clock in the evening when the lady was connecting the electric iron. Mr. Thompson who was near at the time, heard a sudden cry and on turning to his wife saw her fall to floor. Dr. C. J. Veniot was immediately summoned and when he arrived not more than three minutes later, he found that life was extinct, death apparently being due to electrocution, as burns were evident on both the right and left hands of deceased. It was evident that as Mrs. Thompson connected the iron to a socket with her right hand and the iron with her left, and both hands wet had established a strong circuit of electricity through her body. Mrs. Thompson was known to have a slight heart affection, and the shock which she received was sufficient to paralyze its function altogether with which a severe injury to her head when she fell resulted in death.

The late Mrs. Thompson was born in New Richmond, Que., and came to Bathurst with her husband, who is chief storekeeper at the Bathurst Company pulp mill, about 10 years ago. Since residing there she has made many friends, who keenly feel her sudden death. She leaves her husband and two small children, Doris, Arthur, and a son, who is a student at the University of Toronto. Mrs. W. J. Craig of P. and two residing in Portliff and one brother.

BOY THUGS ESCAPE DEATH PENALTY

Held For Murder, Because of Youth Get Terms in Jail

Chicago, July 22.—Willard Kennedy, 16, and Earl Woodward, 17, known as the "baby" bandits because they started a career of crime two years ago on courage furnished by a bottle of gin, will not have to hang for the murder of Joseph Kazanow, a storekeeper, because of their youth, Judge Cook sentenced them from three to 20 years in the Pontiac Reformatory.

When the two boys became criminals they had consumed half a bottle of gin. They then perpetrated five hold-ups in one night. With the proceeds they entertained their flipper friends. After that they committed a series of robberies and were in the hands of the police numerous times, but always managed to escape long terms because of their youth.

As Kazanow lay at the point of death he identified young Kennedy as one of the two bandits who had entered his store, robbed him and shot him. Their defense was that they were robbing another store away at the time Kazanow was shot.

Report of

Miramichi Presbyterial

The 28th Annual meeting of the Miramichi Presbyterial, Convened in Bethel Church, Jacquet River, on July 3rd and 4th, with a representation of 71 delegates and 6 visiting clergymen.

The public meetings on Thursday and Friday evenings were attended by large congregations, and were very inspiring. On Thursday evening, Rev. C. P. McLennan, pastor of the Church presided, and very forceful addresses were given by the President, Mr. L. H. MacLean, his subject being "A Vital Prospect", and Rev. J. E. Forbes, B. A., a missionary home on furlough from Central America, who spoke on "Foreign Missions". Special music and singing by the choir added much to the enjoyment of the evening. On Friday evening Rev. L. H. MacLean presided, the Rev. A. D. Archibald of Bathurst giving a stirring address on "Home Missions", followed by Rev. William Gosswood, who took as his subject "Foreign Missions". All the addresses were comprehensive and deeply interesting, and gave all present a far-reaching vision of the work, the needs and possibilities, as well as the results, if we measure up to what is expected of us.

The business sessions opened at 9:30 on Friday. Mrs. MacLean, the president presiding.

During routine business special mention was made of the great loss sustained by the Presbyterial, in the death of Miss M. E. Gerrard of Campbellton, a faithful and devoted member, and the members present expressed a wish that a wreath be sent, to show appreciation of one who gave so much of her self to further all good works.

Mrs. W. R. McMillan, presented an address of welcome, full of kindly greetings, and reminiscent of the early days of the work, and those women, many of whom have gone to their reward, from whom we have derived many valuable lessons. Mrs. A. D. Archibald of Bathurst replied in a most pleasing manner to the addresses.

Reports from the various secretaries were received and adopted, all showing a mark of increase in interest in the work.

Miss Cameron, the Treasurer then gave her report which speaks for itself.

of $6683.70 being raised during the year just ended, in the Miramichi Presbyterial for Missions.

Excellent papers were given showing much careful preparation by Mrs. T. H. McNair, on "The Place, Purpose and Work of an Auxiliary", by Mrs. Thomas Harrison on "Home Missions" and by Mrs. D. J. Bruce on the "Foreign Mission Situation".

The Convenor of the Nominating Committee presented the following report:

For Honorary President Mrs. R. H. Montgomery.

For Honorary President Miss Archibald.

For President, Mrs. L. H. MacLean.

1st Vice Pres, Mrs. S. McLaughlin.

2nd Vice Pres, Mrs. T. H. Harrison.

3rd Vice Pres, Mrs. W. R. McMillan.

4th Vice Pres, Mrs. A. B. Carson.

Secretary, Mrs. O. Nicholson.

Treasurer, Miss A. B. Cameron.

Sec'y Y. P. Work, Mrs. Geo. Rogers.

Assistant Sec'y, Mrs. Archibald.

Home Mission Sec'y, Mrs. Harry Fair.

Lit. and Reports, Mrs. D. Sadler.

Reporter, Mrs. W. F. Copp.

Expense Fund, Mrs. W. Edge.

It was with much regret the members present heard Mrs. L. H. MacLean, who has been our most efficient President for the past five years declines the office for this year.

Mrs. J. H. A. Anderson of Chatham was proposed in her place, after which the report was received and adopted on bloc.

Mrs. Bruce, Convenor of Resolutions and Courtiers presented her report, expressing deep appreciation for kind hospitality extended to delegates.

To the Pastor, Session and Church management for the use of their beautiful Church.

To the organist and choir for music which added so much to the services, to the speakers for their fine addresses, and to the retiring President, Mrs. L. H. MacLean for her untiring efforts in the discharge of her many onerous duties.

Our deep appreciation, and to the friends who were so generous with their autos and grateful thanks.

Bathurst extended a cordial invitation to meet with them in 1925, which was gratefully accepted.

Beautiful words of farewell were given by the president, followed by benediction by Rev. L. H. MacLean, bringing a most successful Presbyterial meeting to a close.

St. Octave de Metis

Mr. and Mrs. Eug. Leclerc of Auburn, Maine, and Mrs. Ed. Hudon of Riviere du Loup were visiting here last week. They made the trip by auto.

MOTHER WIELDED RUBBER STRAP

Administered Old Fashioned Punishment in Effective Manner While Police Watched

Portage la Prairie, Man., July 22.—While the police looked on a mother administered a good, sound spanking to her wayward son at the local jail yesterday. The drubbing was given with a heavy rubber strap, and to see that a real old-fashioned "back wood-shed punishment" was given, the Chief of Police called as judge, and several constables as witnesses.

The boy, William Leachison, an associate in crime of Percy Moggy, who shot two Winnipeg detectives in a gun-fight last week, was ordered "spanked" yesterday when he was convicted on a series of robbery charges.

GETS $10,000 GIFT FROM STRANGER

Pearl Necklace Picked up in London and Given to Passing Woman

London, July 16.—Some young woman in London or the provinces—probably the latter—is in possession of a $10,000 pearl necklace which was picked up and given her by a passing stranger.

The necklace was lost by Mme. Olga Regier, a French lady now staying at the Metropolitan Hotel. She picked it up, the exhibition and on her return the necklace was missing.

Mr. Smith, a taxicab proprietor was walking outside the New Zealand Bldg. at Wembley when he kicked an object lying on the ground. Picking it up, he found it to be something which he took for a string of beads.

Three young women were walking in front, and holding out the necklace, he asked if they had lost anything. One of them turned round and took it saying "Thank you."

Mr. Smith thought no more about the matter until he read of the loss of Mrs. Regier's pearls. Then he communicated with the assessors, who have offered a reward of $1,000 for the recovery of the necklace.

WEARS BATHING SUIT

TO COURT; IS FINED $5

Conny Island, N. Y., July 18.—Sadie Lewin went to court in a bathing suit to show the judge how becoming an attire it is. Sadie was charged with displaying too much of her shapely curves by appearing in Ocean Parkway in a bathing rig.

"You can see for yourself, Sadie," the magistrate replied. "A $5 fine for you."

Here and There

The value of Ontario's mineral products for the first quarter of the present year, as shown by a report of the Department of Mines, has increased $2,333,000 over the corresponding quarter of last year, the total being $11,575,151 and $9,242,151 respectively. Silvers was the only metal of importance to record decreased production during the period under review.

Among the passengers sailing on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montclair" for England on July 28th, was E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. While in England, Mr. Beatty is scheduled to address the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World on July 17th on the subject of "Building an Empire with Advertising."

Excellent reports as to the hunting in the Caribou district of British Columbia are being received. W. Friedman and Fred Shaver recently returned from a month's sport in that district with an excellent specimen of grizzly bear weighing about 1,400 pounds. They saw moose, caribou, deer, black bear, pheasants and grouse, and consider the district a hunter's paradise.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada at Toronto recently, the President declared that during the year ending May 31st, $567,917,000 worth of Canadian bonds had been distributed, this being by far the largest total issued in the Dominion in any post-war year.

The most striking feature in this connection is that about 89 per cent. was absorbed within the borders of Canada.

On June 18th Winnipeg, Man., celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its incorporation. From a struggling frontier village of the 70s, Winnipeg has forged into the position of third largest city in the Dominion, who continues to require as a railroad center. It is the Gateway of the West and 100,000,000 bushels of grain pass through it to the head of the lakes, whence it goes to the markets of the world.

Twenty-five officers and 200 men of the Royal Navy, from the special service squadron headed by H.M.S. Hood, enjoyed a trip through the Rockies over the Canadian Pacific lines while their ships were anchored at Vancouver recently. The sailors, who made a point, in true naval style, of seeing and doing everything, were enthusiastic over the scenery at such show-places as Banff and Lake Louise, which they declared the most beautiful they had seen in all their world cruise.

To add encouragement to the raising of high-class swine, which is being fostered by the governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Canadian Pacific Railway is awarding a championship cup to the boys' and girls' swine clubs winning the club competitions in these provinces. The cups are for annual competition, but will become the property of the club if won for three years in succession. Media will be awarded individual members. This year winning teams resident on the Company's lines will also be granted a free trip to the Royal stock show at Toronto.

The Arts, Science and Letters Society of the Province of Quebec recently sent a questionnaire to the various phases of Quebec and Montmorency counties, seeking information as to the age and size of families in these territories.

It was discovered that the family of Jussel Bedard had remained on the same land at Charlevoix for three generations.

The family in Montmorency was that of Hector Laliberte, of St. Jean, Island of Orleans, who has 20 children living, and that Joseph Gagnon, St. Pierre, Island of Orleans, has the largest number of living descendants, 210.

DISEASE PLAYED HAVOC IN ARMY

Vivid Description of General Townsend's Army at Siege of Kut-el-Amara in World War

London, July 21.—A vivid description of the hardships suffered by Gen. Townsend's army at the siege of Kut-el-Amara during the World War is given in the British Medical History of the war, volumes of which have just been completed and published.

Scour, dysentery and malaria were prevalent, and many men actually died of starvation.

The army's rations early in March of 1916 consisted of ten ounces of bread, one pound four ounces of meat, one ounce of jam, half an ounce of salt, half an ounce of ginger, two ounces of oatmeal and one and a half ounces of sugar.

The Indian troops the ration consisted of ten ounces of barley flour, four ounces of unhusked barley, one ounce of Ghil, half an ounce of ginger, half an ounce of tumeric, eight ounces of meat and one and half ounces of dates.

This was just over the subsistence diet for the Indians and an epidemic of scurvy resulted.

During the latter part of March early in April the rations were further decreased and many of the men began to suffer acutely from hunger.

Two pounds of opium were obtained by airplane and one grain pills were given by the surgeons in selected cases to ameliorate the intensity of the pain.

Sugar was not obtainable and as the supply of saccharine was small it was used only for hospital cases. Tobacco was at a premium, and every variety of substitute, including orange leaves were used.

The Mohammedan troops could not, for some time be induced to eat horse meat, and therefore suffered more from hunger than their British comrades, who ate it from the first issue.

During the siege, from December 4, 1915, to April 29, 1916, there were 1,060 admissions to the hospital from scurvy, 684 from dysentery, 151 from malaria, 487 from pneumonia and 155 from beri-beri and bronchitis, jaundice and gastroenteritis, due to debility, and starvation caused 165 deaths during the last few weeks.

During the siege there were 721 deaths from disease, 448 deaths from wounds and 537 were killed in battle.

VIENNA PRISON IS MOST SECURE

No Prisoner Has Ever Escaped—Honor System is Employed—300 Serving Terms

Vienna, July 22.—Conducting a penitentiary without guards when no prisoner has ever escaped, is the record claimed for the Wiener-Neudorf prison near Vienna where more than 300 women are serving terms from one year to life.

The women do all their own work, attending the heating apparatus, laundry, gardens, bakery kitchen, and look after the live stock and poultry which keeps the penitentiary supplied with milk, fresh meat and other produce.

All this work is so systematically done that the prison has become a self-sufficient community, and is known as the model penitentiary of all Europe.

Seriously a day passes that some representative of a foreign government does not visit the Wiener-Neudorf penitentiary to inspect the institution, and to consult with the sisters as to their way of conducting it.

RUBBER JEWELS FOR THE BATHERS

High Sea Boots of Many Colors—Costly Outfits and Sea Hats

London, July 14.—Earrings and bracelets for women bathers are among the innumerable seaside novelties this year.

A shop window in the west-end lately had half a dozen wax mannequins, clad in the most fashionable of bathing toilettes, with these accessories of "sea jewellery," executed in coloured rubber in the form of flowers or fruit.

A mermaid in a black striped costume wore cherries in her ears and flowers round her arm.

Most of the bathing costumes are highly coloured, green, peacock blue, mauve, and orange, predominating. Some of the expensive suits have embroidery across the fronts, guaranteed not to shrink.

The sea millinery is as varied and elaborate as garden party hats, if not more so. Frills and ribbons of all kinds and colours decorate it. A tam o'shanter in green rubber is a favourite.

A few years ago a woman could buy a swimming outfit for about $4. Now her cap costs about $2 her dress about $8 and the wrap about another $4.

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA

The Ottawa correspondent of The Montreal Gazette says the news that the Canadian and Australian Governments are seeking to negotiate a new trade treaty is received with much satisfaction.

This correspondent points out the heavy grain shipments have kept up the volume of exports from Canada; but that now, pending the marketing of a new crop, there will be a marked decline.

This year's grain crop should be considerably smaller than that of last year, it will be necessary to increase the marketing of other commodities in order to maintain the present level.

It is pointed out that efforts to get a larger trade with Australia have been attended by some difficulty because Australia seems to hang back from a preferential arrangement, believing it would not be as advantageous to her as to Canada.

The exports from Canada to Australia have, however, quadrupled in value in ten years, and last year amounted to $20,000,000, imports from Australia, however, amounted to only a little over $1,000,000 last year, and thus the trade is very one-sided.

Since Australia needs new markets, and since the Labor Government in Great Britain has declared against the preferential trade proposals of the Imperial Economic Conference, The Gazette correspondent believes there is now a much better opportunity to build up a trade between Commonwealth and Canada.

JEWELLED HEELS

MAKE APPEARANCE

At the Ascot Races in England

Lately

London, July 22.—Bright summer sunshine lent an unexpected splendor to the Ascot week in Hyde Park recently.

It shot dazzling silk frocks and parrots, and glittered surprisingly about the feet of fashionable women.

The reason for this was the vogue of jewelled heels.

The pattern of shoes, mostly of gleaming silk brocade, had colored stones to match the pattern let into the heels, the result being a novel play of light about the footstep of their wearers.

Straw hats and lounge suits were popular among the men.

These, with the colored soft collars which the Prince of Wales has made so popular, gave an air of informality to the silk hats and formal clothes of a decade ago.

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it." Mrs. HARVEY MILLIGAN, Sydenham, Ont.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and get into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that her strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It may be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

CHIEF INSPECTOR GETS $200 DAMAGES

J. B. Hawthorne Awarded Verdict in Suit for Libel at Newcastle.

Newcastle, July 18.—John B. Hawthorne, chief liquor inspector for the province, was yesterday awarded a verdict of $200 as assessed damages in a libel suit against Edward McGruar of Newcastle. The case was tried at this sitting of the Supreme Court, Justice LeBlanc presiding. The jury deliberated for almost four hours.

It was alleged that McGruar had asked somebody who Hawthorne was and on being informed is said to have remarked: "That is the man that they may can be bought for $10." The case aroused much interest. Many witnesses were examined.

DEAD AND INJURED IN KANSAS EXPLOSION

Fireman Killed and Seven Other Firemen Pinned Beneath Wall.

Kansas City, July 19.—One person is known to be dead, eighteen others are believed to have been injured early today as the result of an explosion and fire that wrecked a two-story brick building at Eighteenth street and Tracy avenue.

Earl Harvey, a fireman, was killed and seven other firemen were seriously injured when they were pinned beneath a falling wall. The injured were taken to a hospital.

Eighteen negroes, who occupied apartments on the second floor of the building, have not been accounted for.

SEWING CIRCLE GOSSIP
There was some discussion at the Sewing Circle this week about the location of the tomb of King Tut. The wife of the new Bank Manager said she knew exactly where it was, for she had spent a winter in Egypt, and had been in Luxor frequently. "And ladies," said she, "that reminds me if you would have a breakfast beverage that is delicious, fragrant, and satisfying, you should tell your grocer to get you a tin of LUXOR COFFEE. This coffee, I can assure you, has a flavor and aroma which surpasses that of any coffee you have hitherto used. Say to your grocer that you must have LUXOR COFFEE and refuse to accept if he sends you any other kind."

WOMAN PROSTRATED BY HEAT WEARS HEAVY FUR
"Can You Beat It?" Said Attending Physician.
Boston, July 15.—One of the victims of the heat prostration at the relief station, yesterday recovered after she had been in the institution about an hour. Dr. Bernard J. Devine granted her request that she be allowed to go home. The girl wore a fur which covered her entire back of her neck, and fell almost to her waist in front.
"Can you beat it?" asked the doctor. She just recovered from heat prostration and took at the fur she was wearing. You can't beat this thing called style."

HAD WILD PARTY
Drunkens Revels of Mixed Company in Ontario Reported by High Constable.

Chatham, Ont., July 16.—Drunkens revels in Dover township on Sunday night included a nude bathing party at a lonely spot on the shore of Lake St. Clair. High Constable Peters disclosed today, following an investigation. According to Chief Peters had moon-shine liquor was drunk by the participants and two are said to be seriously ill from the effects. County police have the names of the men and women alleged to have been in the wild party and have preferred charges against seven. The scandal will be probed on Thursday when the defendants will appear before Magistrate Carscadden.

CANADIANS HONOR UNKNOWN SOLDIER
Paris, June 25.—Not a member of the delegates of 172 Canadian newspaper men and women now visiting Paris was absent from the Arc de Triomphe at nine o'clock yesterday morning when, in the name of Canadian veterans and the Press of the Dominion, a wreath was placed on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

An impressive but brief service followed, the Hon. Philippe Roy, Commissioner-General for Canada in Paris, General Girard, representing the French Minister of War, and Mme. Roule de Jouvencel general secretary of the Bienville Francaise, welcoming the Canadian Pilgrims to the capital. At four o'clock yesterday afternoon the visitors were received by M. Maurice Quentin, president of the Municipal Council, at the Hotel de Ville, and last night were the guests of the Bienville Francaise at the Opéra-Comique and the Théâtre Francaise. The remainder of the day was spent in auto-tours to all quarters of Paris.

To-day will be spent at Versailles, where the Canadians will lunch with prominent French officials on the terrace of the Grand Trianon palace. To-night their visit will close with a banquet at the Cercle Intransigeant, with Marshal Foch presiding.

OBITUARY

THEOPHILUS RAYMOND
On Wednesday July 16th, at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, little Theophilus Raymond son of Mr. Theophilus Raymond of Grog Brook, passed away. He was ten years of age and died of blood poisoning. This little fellow was especially a bright and attractive boy and his passing was particularly sad. His sufferings were with remarkable patience and resignation.

He leaves to mourn his parents, one brother and five sisters. Mrs. William Rogers is an aunt of the deceased. The pall bearers were: Eldridge and Lester Letourneau and Russell and Arthur Connors.

It was hard for his parents to part with one so bright and promising, but God's ways are not our ways. Jesus said: What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter. How many mysterious providences and sad disappointments we all must leave in the keeping of him who is too wise to err, and too good to be unkind.

EXPLORATION IN EGYPT
Howard Carter is to return to Egypt to resume his excavations and researches in the Luxor Tomb, but only if he accepts the terms laid down by the Egyptian government, "which feels and rightly feels, if the reports as to former proceedings are to be relied upon, that Egypt has been ignored in the transactions at the tomb as hitherto conducted. Now, however, there is a rumor that continuation of the work can only be resumed if an apology is made by Mr. Carter and the Carnarvon trustees and Carter's counsel for certain offenses committed against the Egyptian government during recent hearing of the case. Then it is also asked that visit to the tomb be controlled by the Ministry of Public Works, and that work in the tomb be subject to control by the ministry, who also wish to have some restriction over Mr. Carter's assistants. It is also said that the Egyptian government request that the results of discoveries be communicated first to the Ministry to be published locally before being cabled abroad, that in the case of a discovery of some importance, these demands are all within reason and along the lines that it would seem a common courtesy should have suggested from the beginning. This would avoid a discussion that has belittled one of the most important archaeological discoveries in the world and would have added immeasurably to the prestige of Mr. Carter. The excavation of the tomb and its contents were sensational, and while they have familiarized thousands of people who never otherwise would have heard of King Tutankhamun, they have tended to annoy the Egyptian government, who every protest resented the apparent appropriation of the tomb and its history and the ignoring of traditions that meant much to the Egyptian people. The importance from a scientific and historical point of view of the excavations at Luxor are too cheapened by petty squabbling, and in any event there is a courtesy due to Egypt that should not be ignored or flouted.

Two Useful Books For the Camper
Motor Camping By J. C. Long and John D. Long. Published by Dodd, Mead & Co., New York, N. Y. 5 in. x 7 1/4 in., cloth cover, 840, fully illustrated.

This book aims in fourteen chapters to cover the whole field of motor camping. It begins by giving the underlying reasons for the development and spread of this movement. Then describes its economy, giving examples. Next is taken up what is the most frequent indulgence of this pastime, the "Week-end Camper."

As more than half of the total number of motor campers drive Fords a chapter is given to "Camping with a Ford."

Another brief chapter describes a Home-made Camping Outfit. Other chapters deal with Equipment for the Journey, including tents, beds, stoves, trailers, etc. The question of How to Choose a Camp is answered, and also methods of camping. "Fire and Food for Campers" is taken up, as likewise "Camp Health and Recreation."

"Sleeping Quarters" is the subject of another chapter. "Primitive Camping" is a chapter which tells how one may tour and live off the country by digging edible roots, and gathering greens that can be cooked for food. A chapter on "Where to Go" lists National and State Parks and Forests that are open to the motor camper. This is followed by a chapter listing some two thousands municipal tourist parks that have been created for campers.

In conclusion, a compilation of the laws of the several states relating to automobiles and their use is given, as also the fishing and game laws of the different states. In short, the book brings together about all that the motor camper will wish to know, so far as that can be given in a book.

THE OUTDOORSMAN'S HANDBOOK, By H. S. Watson and Capt. Paul A. Curtis, Jr. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. Cloth cover, 5 in. x 6 1/2 in., 320 pages, fully illustrated.

There is a preliminary chapter of 46 pages covering the general subject of campcraft, including tents, packs, sleeping bags, tools, camp furniture and food, clothing, medicine, etc. Successive chapters go into such subjects as "Big Game Hunting," "Woodcraft," "Rifles and Pistols," "Shooting," "Camp Cookery," "Dog," "Front Fishing," "Bass and Muscalonge," "Salt Water Angling," "Fishing Records," and "Game Laws."

As might be judged from the chapter headings, this book is a very complete to sportsman's guide giving him what he needs to know as a woodsman and waterman. It is bound in compact form, half an inch thick, and can be easily stowed in the side pocket of a coat for convenient reference.

Dominion observatory officials declared that no marked disturbance was recorded on the seismograph.

Of Interest to Women

The Bride's Mortgage On the Future

Most people were frankly amazed when a popular young lady who was expected to be married in the June following suddenly had a very quiet wedding at home, and her intimate girl friends remonstrated with her for surprising them all. "I couldn't afford to allow you all to give me shoes and parties and receptions," she said plainly, "I must cut my expenses to fit my husband's modest income now, not according to what my father used to give me to spend. I would not receive social attention without paying them back and I shall not be able in my little house and with my means to make elaborate social occasions possible at first. Then too I have no place to use the kind of articles brides usually receive in showers, so James and I talked it all over and decided to be married unexpectedly and save all the trouble of a big wedding."

Of course some people said that was a very mercenary way to look at the most important day in a girl's life, but there were some wiser young married women who wished they had had the good sense to have similar views a few years before. In fact the shower business has been sadly overdone in every community and the girl who does not receive from six to a dozen feels slighted. It is like the flowers at the funeral in these progressive days. It started in innocently enough when friends wanted to bring a few flowers from their gardens or house plants to lay on the coffin, but it has grown to the floral monotony and the wagon loads of expensive blossoms that, in many cases, represent positive graft upon the pocket books of those who can ill afford it.

Unless the bride is to have a house big enough to entertain in and is certain she will have money enough to pay back all her social honors, she had better not mortgage her future even for flattering newspaper notices and a little brief notoriety. What doth it profit a young bride to have a house full of beautiful and useless articles if she knows that every one of them represents a debt that will have to be repaid later? A young girl in our neighborhood was the pleased recipient of a silk shower before her wedding, and the array of silk dusting caps, silk combing jackets, silk stockings, silk corset covers and all the other dainty things were proudly displayed to her friends, but when she worries around two years later with a delicate baby and her housework on her hands trying to repay the parties and the gifts she found little comfort in the things that, after all, she had found little use for, because she had little leisure to go about her domain with a silk cap on her head.

And, another thing, she found it was one thing to manufacture a pretty gift in her own cory room at home undisturbed and indulged by a fond mother, and quite another to have crying baby needing constant attention and the dinner burning up on the stove while the mistress of the house was trying to construct a gift that would save money and still not look skimpy. And after all is said it is not conducive to health and happiness to wear one's self out attending social affairs when one should be freshest and happiest. A recent bride was much envied by less popular maidens, because for two weeks she had at least one and often two parties and showers in her honor every day. But she came to her wedding day dead and tired and hollow-eyed as result of the good times, and was too much worn out to enjoy her honeymoon. Surely that is a serious mortgage on any bride's future and one that demands early always. There is one good thing, however, and that is as soon as society begins so we are likely to see a return to wholesome simplicity in a few years when the leaders make it fashionable and its hoped that that time will soon come for more and more young men are saying that they cannot afford to marry, and they have ample reasons for such statements in view of the increasing number of teas, announcement parties, showers, post nuptial affairs, dinners for bridesmaids, club dinners and all the other fuss and feathers of the average wedding of the present.

This is the Lace Year For the Fair Ones

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., July 7.—"Lace, lace, and then more lace" seems to be the summer fashion slogan. Lace frocks have never been so universally popular as they are today. They are as popular for afternoon wear as for evening occasions.

The home dressmaker who chooses lace for her frock cannot go wrong, for no material is easier to work with than lace and no material looks so lovely in a finished garment. One can copy the most ornate lace frock with little trouble and shops carry a wide variety of skirt and dress-lace for one's selection.

The simplest lace frocks are made in straight lines with surrounding necklines and they are sleeveless. They require little of the dressmaker's art. Usually they are posed over slips of contrasting color, such as ecru lace over bronze, white lace over black, etc. Their sole ornamentation may be a flowing side-panel of chiffon or tulle attached with a flower corsage to a low waist-line.

The Tunic Models.—Tunic models are lovely with the tulle entirely made of lace and an underslip of crepe or satin. The tunic usually extends almost to the hem of the underslip and the low waistline is outlined by a narrow sash of some sort. The tunic effect may also be obtained by sewing a wide band of satin at the bottom of the frock. Black lace finished with a black satin band about the hem is very attractive, especially when worn over a creme colored slip.

Many of the all-lace frocks this season have long lace sleeves which are made to fit the arms and are fastened snugly about the wrist. These long-sleeved models, of course, are for afternoon wear only, as evening frocks are generally sleeveless.

Ecru net and ecru lace is a favorite combination. A very youthful frock utilizing these materials is made of heavy ecru net with wide bands of ecru lace insertion running horizontally throughout the frock. At the knee the lace banding is finished with a net flounce to give the full-hem treatment. This ecru frock, worn over a burnt orange underslip, is a very beautiful, though inexpensive.

Dance frocks formed entirely of lace are made. One model uses a black lace bodice with a skirt combining layers of black and white lace pleated. The foundation for this frock is white satin. On many lace frocks for dance purposes the satin underslip is made several inches shorter than the lace over-skirt producing a shadowy hem treatment which is new.

Youthful Dance Frocks.—A very youthful dance frock is made of black tulle, with its skirt trimmed with row after row of shirred narrow black lace. This makes a fluffy frock and one which will be becoming to the young miss. Neck and armholes are outlined with narrow black lace in straight band effect. The red rose shoulder corsage, which is so popular, will add a Spanish touch to this frock.

The lace gown calls for the satin slipper, either in plain pump style or with rhinestone buckle trimming. Hoary should be nude-toned and very sheer when worn with these fragile frocks.

Black lace is best when worn over foundations of black, flesh tan, white or ecru.

Brown lace, which is very popular at present, is lovely over bronze, burnt orange, lemon, lavender and green is worn.

Real laces, dyed in ecru colors, are best kept black tulle, with its skirt trimmed with row after row of shirred narrow black lace.

Colorful laces for evening wear are prettiest over silvercloth or self-shade foundations.

SAY REVOLUTION END IS IMMINENT

Brazilian Reports Indicate Prospect of Overcoming Rebels at Sao Paulo

Washington, July 19.—The revolutionary movement in the State of Sao Paulo, Brazil, "is doomed," according to reports received today by the State Department from Santos, dated July 17. The communication said a decided turn for the better in internal conditions had been noted. The Brazilian authorities were described in the addresses as hopeful that they would be successful in overcoming the revolutionists within several days.

Buenos Aires, July 19.—An official communique issued by the Brazilian Government and forwarded by La Nación, Rio Janeiro correspondent says:

"The rebel artillery has not answered the fire of our batteries. The Government forces are making the necessary reconnaissance for execution of a great operation which is planned."

KILLS HUGE SNAKE IN TOWN IN MAINE

Jonesport, Me., July 18.—Measuring 12 feet 6 inches in length a snake whose species was not determined was killed in Poverty Ridge, this town's most exclusive residential section, after the reptile had strenuously resisted his attack.

Attributed to the scene by the stream of a woman, Lakeman first tried to end the snake's life with a hoe, but found it necessary to empty both barrels of a shotgun, which he afterwards obtained, before the reptile could be put to death.

DRESS FADS FOR HOT WEATHER

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of United Press)

The upturned hat-brim is again being sponsored by the millinery world. Women are growing weary of the cloche shape; it is stated. Among the recently introduced up-turned brims are those that droop, a bit at one side. High crowns are daily growing more popular and awareness rather than roundness is being sponsored for hat crowns.

White fox neckpieces are often worn where the color scheme is black and white. Small white felt hats usually accompany the white fox, which is worn mostly for sports occasions.

While Paris is sponsoring the glittering evening frock, New Yorkers favor the plain chiffons with very little ornamentation. Very vivid colors are used, among which yellow, red, burnt-orange and bright green are noticeable.

Matching the scarf and parasol is a new idea which is very pretty. This is loveliest when both scarf and parasol are white and are worn with a white frock. The ends of the scarf are printed or fastened in brilliant colors and a wide border of corresponding colors are printed on the white parasol. A lovely green foliage applique on one side of the bodice and a narrow border about the hem of the frock of bright red. The white parasol has a border of red roses applique and a bright red handle. The home-embroiderer could easily copy such a frock at small cost.

The newest slip-on sweater is a combination of the Tuxedo and the former slip-on, for it is made with a very deep V-shaped neckline which is finished with lapels. A vest of lace is worn beneath this. Such a sweater is fashioned to give a more slender effect than the former slip-on model which was very apt to accentuate one's figure.

The half-sock is again being sold in the shops for summer wear. The latest model extends to the knee and are of the finest weave. They come in the popular shades of nude, taupe, light gray, white and brown and are finished at the top with a colored elastic strip which is attached to the half-sock.

Already women are worrying about the shadow-proof petticoat which the sheer gown demands. There are numerous ways of making the petticoat or costume slip shadow-proof. There are the deep hems which extend to the knees, double front panels and double rear panels, etc. The latest idea is the separate apron of lovely satin or heavy crepe, which is finished at the bottom with a lace flounce.

These tie about the waist with ribbon sashes and may be worn under any frock which does not demand a slip to insure sun-proofness.

THREE YOUTHS WILL BE GIVEN THE LASH

Associates in Crime of Man Who Shot and Wounded Two Winnipeg Detectives Will Also Serve Prison Terms.

Portage La Prairie, Man., July 21.—Three youths W. Bodner, Geo. Budick and William Lechison, associates in crime of Percy Mogger, who shot and wounded two members of the Winnipeg detective force last week, were all sentenced to be flogged by Magistrate Marshall here yesterday.

Bodner who is 18 years old in addition to receiving 16 lashes will serve three years in the penitentiary. Twelve lashes and one year in the provincial training school was meted out to Budick while Lechison, the youngest of the trio was given suspended sentence and a public flogging to be administered by the police.

They confessed to a series of robberies and other criminal offenses.

RUM-ROW "DOC" ON ACT OF MERCY

Official Courtesy of U. S. Government Extended to Him—Permitted to Rejoin Fleet

New York, July 20.—Official courtesies of the United States Government were extended yesterday to Dr. Royston (Rum Row Doc.) Foulkes, of Australia, England and Twelve-Mile-Limit. The doctor whose practice is confined to the off-shore whiskey trade, was arrested by immigration authorities for having landed on United States soil without a passport.

When it was learned this mission was one of mercy, undertaken in behalf of a Lunenburg, N. S., sailor near death, he was sent back to the rum fleet in a coastguard cutter with a special escort and under a white flag of truce.

Foulkes said he was a native of Sydney, Australia, and a graduate of medicine from universities at Glasgow and London. When he left school last fall he signed on a four-master. He sought experience among men, he said, and material for writing fiction.

Since he is the only M. D. in the fleet, Foulkes has accumulated quite a practice out there among sailors and runners of the fleet.

DUKE OF YORK GETS BID TO VISIT STATES

New York Advertising Men Ask Him to Attend Boat Race

An invitation to visit America during the first week in June, 1925, has been extended to the Duke of York by A. E. McKinnon on behalf of New York's advertising men. According to the plan, the Duke, who has expressed a desire to give the invitation favorable consideration, will attend the motorboat races at Poughkeepsie on the Hudson when the competition for the Duke of York's international trophy is on.

If he makes the trip, which seems probable, the Duke of York will accompany him. The Duke who is keenly interested in sports, has been anxious to visit the United States for some time.

The invitation of the New York advertising men was presented at York Thursday after the unveiling of the Duke of the tablet given to that city by New York City.

The simplest beauty secret known—but the most effective

Every day you see women well along in years, who still retain the charm of youthful loveliness. They are not unusually fortunate—just clever enough to resist the years!

They know and follow a simple method, which you may employ as successfully as they do. This tells you how.

Authorities advise this: Cleanse the skin regularly, using

ENGLAND DEPENDS ON CANADA'S CROP

Size is Now a Matter of Great Importance Says London Times

London, July 23.—"The size of the Canadian crop," says the London Times, "is now a matter of great importance, because the bulk of the last Argentine crop has been shipped and a large proportion of the Australian crop has been exported to China and Japan. In fact, much of the upward movement in the price of wheat is attributed to the failure of crops in the Far East, which led to large exports of grain from Australia and the Pacific coast, and North American internal consumption accords to an increasing extent for the United States. There has within the last few weeks been some little inquiry for the tonnage to load grain in South Russia, but it is plain the supply of grain in Russia will not be nearly sufficient for internal consumption, and British business men are beginning to give up hope of seeing supplies worth having coming from that unhappy country in the early future at any rate. So the centre of interest in Canada and any reports on the condition of the Canadian grain crop have their effect on prices."

PRESENTED WITH SOLID SILVER CUP

Baby Born on One of London's Subway Trains.
London, July 23.—So seldom is a baby born on one of London's subway trains, that the christening, recently of Thelma Ursula Beatrice Eleanor (whose initials spell Tube the English equivalent for subway) was an affair which attracted the attention of Lord Ashfield, head of the subway system, and many railway officials. Upon learning of the baby's birth on one of the underground trains, Lord Ashfield requested that he be permitted to act as godfather, and at the time of the christening he presented her with a solid silver cup.

KILLED BY BULLET FROM HIS OWN GUN

Summer Visitor Victim of a Shooting Accident at Onawa

Onawa, July 23.—Billie Bettison of Wayne, Pa., a summer resident here, was killed yesterday by the accidental discharge of a revolver, which dropped from his holster while he was unloading his baggage after returning from a fishing trip. Bettison, with two friends, arrived at 2 p. m. at the cottage in which his family lives here during the summer. While getting his luggage out of the canoe he lurched forward, the revolver slipped from its holster to the ground and was discharged, the bullet penetrating a vital spot, as he died instantly.

REPRESENTATION OF THE DOMINIONS

Overseas Delegates May Sit in Rotation at Allied Conference
London, July 21.—The question of representation of the British Dominions at the Allied Conference has settled, it was announced by J. H. Thomas, the Colonial Secretary, in the House of Commons this afternoon. It has been agreed, he said, that the representative of any Dominion so desiring, including India should be a member of the British Empire delegation at the conference under the panel system. Under this system the overseas delegates are to be designated one at a time in approved rotation to sit in the conference as the representative of the British Dominions, with powers similar to those of the delegates of other nations.

It may be just a coincidence, but it seems strange that primary teachers snake the best wives.

"DALHOUSIE"

A copy of the Historical Essay by Grace McNeill of Grade X, Dalhousie Superior School, which won the Special Prize offered by Hon. Chas. H. LaBelle.

The town of Dalhousie, called after the Lord Dalhousie, is situated at the extreme North Point of New Brunswick at the mouth of the Restigouche River and head of the Bay Chaleur. Lord Dalhousie made an effort to found a town at Mission Point, even the Indians $600 and about as much land if they would not accept their title, but they would not.

About fifty-five years ago Telegraphy was put in to the town and later on about twenty years ago the Hamilton in business at Dalhousie, he sent a shipload of Scotch sailors over to Dalhousie from the island of Arran. These settlers settled over the Restigouche River and New Brunswick side of the Bay Chaleur. They are the ancestors of the Hamiltons of Charlo and Black Lands; MacPhersons and Shaws of Shaw Cove; MacRillops of Point la Garde and in fact practically all the early Scotch settlers of this and the surrounding districts. The family erected a monument to Captain Hamilton which still exists in good condition on the old Hamilton farm now owned by Neil Neilson.

Dalhousie was originally laid off as a military town, all high levels being reserved for military purposes. This reservation was laid off into town lots and sold to private individuals some thirty years ago. In Eighteen hundred and twenty eight, John and Hugh Montgomery came to Dalhousie and established its first industry which was at what is known as the shipyard point between the Sydney and P. Q. Lbr. Co's mills.

The Hamiltons came the following year and made their headquarters in a building now owned by A. L. LeBlanc opposite the Dalhousie Lumber Co's office. They also went into ship building at the old French fortifications at Point la Garde now owned by W. S. Montgomery. At this time there were only six or seven settlers settled in what is now known as Dalhousie. Among the first were the ancestors of the present Harqualls, Cotes, Elsigers, Arsenaults and Poiriers.

After the wooden ship building industry became unprofitable, Arthur Ritchie, in Eighteen hundred and fifty erected the first steam mill on the same site as the present Dalhousie Lumber Co. mill. This mill gave employment to about fifty men. It eventually passed into the hands of George Moffat Senior, (Grandfather of the present Mayor) He was Mr. Ritchie's foreman. The latter became bankrupt and Mr. Moffat purchased the mill. Mr. Ritchie son John Ritchie recently was Lord Mayor of Liverpool, England.

The next mill (built by Peter Nadau) was a shingle mill. Mr. Nadau operated for a short period. After that there was Dalhousie (the first one) built by Andrew Wallace father of Alex. Wallace and James Wallace of this town. Later, George Montgomery tore down the Nadau mill, and W. S. Montgomery purchased the Wallace mill and sold to American Capitalists. These combined property are now owned by the British Empire Steel Co. and operate under the name of the Sydney Lbr. Co.

The fourth mill (built by George Moffat in Nineteen Hundred and one) was another shingle mill. It was sold to the Dalhousie Lumber Co. in Nineteen Hundred and two. In Nineteen Hundred and Six a company called the Restigouche Woodworking Co. which built a large factory here, made good progress for about a year, but fire destroyed it in the spring of Nineteen Hundred and Seven. This would not have occurred had the town had a water supply at the time. But owing to legal entanglements and opposition, the system was delayed for a year.

Dalhousie has an excellent harbor second to none in the province, and where all the British fleet could lay at anchor in safety. In the early days the Government seized nets for porpoises and seals and a harpoon gun, which has been used at many a celebration since. Bon Ami Rocks is one of the original grants direct from the British Crown, for fishing and fowling purposes. There are very few such grants in the province. In fact there are only seven.

Dalhousie Mountain within town limits is situated at the South West corner of town limits, and is a point that all tourists comment upon. From it may be seen Charlo, New Mills, Balmoral, Eel River, Heron Island, Nouvelle, New Richmond, Carleton and the Bay Chaleur waters for miles in all directions. This mountain rivals any look-out point in the province.

Within town limits are fossil beds which Geologists and Experts have come from Russia, Germany, Japan, France, Italy, Australia, and almost every country of any importance in the world, to examine. In the early days communication was kept up with the outside world chiefly by means of water. The setters had to lay in supplies to last the winter. But often times the provisions had to be brought on sleighs from Quebec, the vessels not being able to get here on account of the ice. This would naturally increase the cost of living and the settlers not being overly wealthy paid for their provisions with timber or farm products.

The garden party given last week by the W. A. and the Altar Guild at the Rectory was a splendid success. Miss Leontine Leclerc of Carleton, P. Q., who has many friends in Dalhousie, after a two month visit to the City of Quebec, where she was the guest of her friend Miss Theresa Marceau, of D'Auteuil St., returned to her home in the Baie des Chaleurs recently, accompanied by her uncle Peter D. Godbout, who had just returned to Quebec, after a business trip to Paris, London, Belgium, New York, Chicago and Montreal. Mr. Godbout resides in Texas, U. S., and will visit his people in Carleton and St. Omer.

Miss Emma Shannon, Campbellton, is visiting Miss Anna D. Dett. Rev. Father Dumont, of Madawaska for spending a few days in Dalhousie, the guest of Rev. J. A. Hartt at the Rectory.

Miss Whalen, Loggville, N. B., who is the guest of Mrs. J. Allan LeBlanc, Campbellton, was in town on Monday and attended the wedding of Miss Barbour returned home on Monday from Shigawake, P. Q., after a very enjoyable visit among her relatives and friends.

Mrs. W. N. Whalen, Grand Ave. N. B., spent the week end in her native town, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Elsigier, Victoria St. Mrs. Whalen was one of Restigouche Co's popular teachers, and received a hearty welcome among her Dalhousie friends.

Mr. Kenneth McKenzie arrived in Dalhousie on Saturday from Regina, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McKenzie. He spent a week with friends in Toronto, on his way east.

Mrs. D. A. Stewart, M. L. A. Campbellton, was in the shiretown on Monday.

Mrs. H. H. McMichael, St. John, N. B., who is visiting her sister Mrs. Sharpe at Upper Charlo, was in Dalhousie on Monday evening calling on friends Mrs. Sharpe and children will spend a few days at Upper Charlo.

Mrs. W. S. Montgomery was hostess on Friday afternoon at a delightful tea and bridge. Mrs. Montgomery was assisted in receiving her guests, by Mrs. W. A. Moffat; Mrs. Walter Marquis of Campbellton, assisted by Mrs. C. H. LeBlanc and Mrs. W. R. Cragg presided over the tea cups. Mrs. Charles Dalton of Campbellton replenished, and assisting in serving were Miss Elizabeth Moffat, Miss Mary Connacher and the Misses Frances Wyers and Vera McKenzie of Campbellton. The drawing room was artistically decorated with pink and white roses, the tea table being particularly attractive with its dainty decorations.

In the early days as the town continued to grow, it felt the need of a school, so one was opened in a vacant house owned by Mr. Douglas Stewart with Sarah Good as first teacher. After teaching for nine months, she was succeeded by Mr. Lloyd who taught in the same building as did his successor Mr. Parrot.

The number of pupils continuing to school, so one was opened in a much larger and more suitable building also owned by Douglas Stewart on the same site as our present school stands with a Mr. McKenzie as master. A few years after a school was built with a Mr. Bennett as first Grammar School Principal.

He was succeeded by a Mr. Hutchinson, who was in turn followed by Mr. Miller who was succeeded by Mr. Ross B. A. of Dalhousie College, Halifax. Mr. Ross was an energetic teacher who had the interest of his pupils before him in all the various occupations and professions which they have chosen. After Mr. Ross's time the Grammar school was to and from their vessels with little boats. But in Eighteen Hundred and Sixty, John Jardine, built the public wharf on which the freight shed was built during the first year that the "Admiral" began to run.

The town was incorporated in Nineteen Hundred and Four, under a board for three commissioners. In Nineteen hundred and five, citizens applied for and received full incorporation under Towns Incorporation Act with W. S. Montgomery as first mayor under full incorporation. The first vote for water service in Nineteen hundred and five was carried by the small majority of twenty three. In Nineteen hundred and thirteen a job of ratemakers was taken on installing an electric light system, and was carried by a majority of about five to one.

While Mr. Jones was overseas, Mr. Mowatt took his place. Mr. Mowatt was followed by Mr. MacRae who taught for several years. Then came Mr. G. E. Scott who also taught for several years. Mr. Scott was followed by our present energetic and able principal, Mr. J. M. Anderson. Dalhousie has better educational advantages than any other town of the same population in the Maritime provinces.

About twenty years ago, our large convent building beautifully situated on a hill commanding a fine view of the river, was built, and has proved a great advantage to education. Besides the musical instructions which are among the best, we have also an up-to-date Business College where the young people after leaving the public school, may obtain a thorough business course without leaving their home town. Graduates from this Business College may be found in the local and "big" offices of many parts of New Brunswick.

At present there are two industries extensively carried on in Dalhousie namely lumbering and fishing. The Dalhousie Lumber Co. is a subsidiary company of the International Pulp and Paper Co., which is the largest concern of its kind in the world. It is capitalized at over one hundred million dollars.

The Sydney Lumber Co., is a subsidiary company of the British Empire Steel Co.

The P. Q. Lumber Co., owned by Boston Capitalists, the principal one being Mr. Chas. Paine, whose father was at one time one of the Copper Kings of America.

Fishing is an important industry. The firms and individuals engaged in this business, both fresh and frozen, are:

The A. & R. Loggie Co., Ltd., with headquarters at Loggville, N. B. The O'Leary and Montgomery, Ltd., with headquarters at Loggville, N. B.

Donald McGregor of Dalhousie, W. S. Montgomery of Dalhousie. And in winter seasons several outside parties from the United States usually get into the smelt business with local managers.

Dalhousie is an ideal point for those who enjoy angling, and many citizens as well as tourists bring in great catches of the gamey Sea Trout as well as Lake trout and salmon from the neighboring streams and lakes.

The monument erected on the Nelson Farm, bears the following inscription: 1851 In Memory of Capt. John Hamilton, A native of Kingess, Arran, Scotland.

He was the first merchant who settled in Dalhousie and along with many benevolent actions built John's Presbyterian Church for which his friends and countrymen here, thus record their gratitude. He passed the last ten years of his life in his native land, and died at Irvine, 24th August 1848, aged 89 years.

CHAPTER VII

There had been a dinner and a very small reception afterwards at the great Embassy in Carlton House Terrace. The Ambassador, Prince Terloff, was bidding farewell to his wife's cousin, the Princess Eldersheim, the last of his guests. She drew him on one side for a moment.

"Your Excellency," she said, "I have been longing for a word with you all evening."

"And I with you, dear Stephanie," he answered. "It is very early. Let us sit down for a moment."

"You have an appointment at half-past eleven," she said. "I wish you to keep it."

"You know, then?"

"I luncheon to-day at the Carlton grill room. In the reception-room I came face to face with Leopold von Ragastein."

The Ambassador made no remark. It seemed to be his wish to hear first all that his companion had to say. After a moment's pause she continued:

"I spoke to him, and he denied himself. To me! I think that those were the most terrible seconds of my life. I have never suffered more. I shall never suffer so much again."

"It was most unfortunate," the Prince murmured sympathetically. "This evening," she went on, "I received a visit from a man whom I took at first to be an insignificant member of the German bourgeoisie. I learnt something of his true position later. He came to me to explain that Leopold was engaged in this country on secret service, that he was passing under the name which he gave me—Sir Everard Dominey, an English baronet, long lost in Africa. You know of this?"

"I know that to-night I am receiving a visit from Sir Everard Dominey."

"He is to work under your auspices?"

"By no means," the Prince rejoined warmly. "I am not favourably inclined towards this network of espionage. The school of diplomacy in which I have been brought up tries to work without such ignominious means."

"One realises that," she said. "Leopold is coming, however, to-night, to pay his respects to you."

"He is waiting for me now in my study," the Ambassador asserted.

"You will do me the service of conveying to him a message from me," she continued. "This man, Seaman, pointed out to me the unwisdom of any association between myself and Leopold, under present conditions. I listened to all that he had to say. I reserved my decision. I have now considered the matter. I will be content with the acquaintance of Sir Everard Dominey, but that I will have."

"For myself," the Ambassador reflected, "I do not even know what Von Ragastein's mission over here is, but if in Berlin they decide that, for the more complete preservation of his incognito, association between you and him is undesirable."

She laid her fingers upon his arm. "Stop!" she ordered. "I am not of Berlin. I am not a German. I am not even an Australian. I am Hungarian, and though I am willing to study your interests, I am not willing to place them before my own life. I make terms, but I do not surrender. Those terms I will discuss with Leopold. Ah, he kind to me!" she went on, with a sudden change of voice. "Since these few minutes at midday I have lived in a dream. Only one thing can quiet me. I must speak to him, I must decide with him what I will do. You will help?"

"An acquaintance between you and Sir Everard Dominey," he admitted, "is certainly a perfectly natural thing."

"Look at me," she begged. He turned and looked her in the face. Underneath her beautiful eyes, dark lines; there was something pitiful about the curve of her mouth. He remembered the although she had carried herself throughout the evening with all the dignity which was second nature to her, he had overheard more than one sympathetic comment upon her appearance.

"I can see that you are suffering," he remarked kindly.

"My eyes are hot, and inside I am on fire," she continued. "I must speak to Leopold. Freda has asked me to stay and talk to her for an hour. My car waits. Arrange that he drives me home. Oh! believe me, dear friend, I am a very human woman, and there is nothing in the world to be gained by treating me as though I were wood or stone. To-night I can see him without observation. If you refuse, I shall take other means. I will make no promises. I will not call out before him in the streets that he is a liar, that his life is a lie. I will call him Leopold von Ragastein."

"Hush!" he begged her. "Stephaine, you are nervous. I have not yet answered your entreaty."

"You consent?"

"I consent," he promised. "After our interview, I shall bring the young man to Freda's room and present him. You will be there. He can offer you his escort."

She suddenly stopped and kissed his hand. An immense relief was in her face.

"Now I will keep you no longer. Freda is waiting for me."

The Ambassador strolled thoughtfully away into his own den at the back of the house, where Dominey was waiting for him.

"I am glad to see you," the former said, holding out his hand. "For five minutes I desire to talk to your real self. After that, for the rest of your time in England, I will respect your privacy."

"These matters will be solved for us," he murmured.

"There is just one word more, on a somewhat more private matter," Terloff said in an altered tone. "The Princess Eldersheim is upstairs."

"In this house?"

"Waiting for a word with you. Our friend Seaman has been with her this evening. I understand that she is content to subscribe to the present situation. She makes one condition, however."

"And that?"

"She insists upon it that I present Sir Everard Dominey."

"The latter did not attempt to conceal his perturbation."

"I need scarcely point out to you, sir," he protested, "that any association between the Princess and myself is likely to largely increase the difficulties of my position here."

The Ambassador sighed.

"I must appreciate that," he said, "but Sir Seaman and I endeavoured to reason with her, but, as you are doubtless aware, the Princess is a woman of very strong will. She is also very powerfully placed here, and it is the urgent desire of the Court at Berlin to placate in every way the Hungarian nobility. You will understand, of course, that I cannot ignore the fact of your unfortunate relations with the late Prince, but in considering the present position you will, I am sure, remember the greater interests."

His visitor was silent for a moment.

"You say that the Princess is waiting here?"

"She is with my wife and asks for your escort home. My wife also looks forward to the pleasure of renewing her acquaintance with you."

"I shall accept your Excellency's guidance in the matter," Dominey decided.

Dominey bowed in silence. His host spoke from a political point of view, not Leopold. I am Everard Dominey."

"Oh, I know that you are very obstinate," she said softly, "very obstinate, and very devoted to your marriage vows. I am sure, Leopold; you know that there are human duties as great as any your country ever imposed upon you. You know what I look for from you, what I must find from you or go down into hell, ashamed and miserable."

He felt his throat suddenly dry.

"Listen," he muttered, "until the hour strikes, I must remain to you as to the world, alone or in a crowd—Everard Dominey. There is one way and one way only of carrying through my appointed task."

HAS NO TONGUE BUT IS ABLE TO TALK

London, July 21.—A marvel of surgery has been brought to light by the visit of a man to a London hospital. He said he had brought his wife to be treated, as the hospital had been successful with him 18 years ago. He said that he had suffered from cancer, and that his tongue had been cut out in 1906.

"We are delighted to welcome you to London, Sir Everard Dominey," she said, taking his hand, "and I hope that we shall often see you here. I want to present you to my cousin, who is interested in you, I must tell you frankly, because of your likeness to a very dear friend of hers. Stephanie, this is Sir Everard Dominey—the Princess Eldersheim."

Stephaine, who was seated upon the couch from which her cousin had just risen, held out her hand to Dominey, who made a very low and formal bow. Her gown was of unrelieved black. Wonderful diamonds flashed around her neck, and she wore also a tiara fashioned after the Hungarian style, a little low on her forehead.

Her manner and tone still indicated some measure of rebellion against the situation.

"You have forgiven me for my insistence this morning?" she asked. "It was hard for me to believe that you were not indeed the person for whom I mistook you."

"Other people have spoken to me of the likeness," Dominey replied. "It is a matter of regret to me that I can claim to be more than a simple Norfolk baronet."

"Without any previous experience of European Courts?"

"Without any at all."

"Your German is wonderfully pure for an untravelled man."

"Languages were the sole accomplishment I brought away from my misspent school days."

"You are not going to bury yourself in Norfolk, Sir Everard?" the Princess Terloff enquired.

"Norfolk is a very near London these days," Dominey replied, "and I have experienced more than my share of solitude during the last years. I hope to spend a portion of my time here."

"You must dine with us one night," the Princess insisted, "and tell us about Africa. My husband would be so interested."

"You are very kind."

Stephaine rose slowly to her feet, leaned gracefully over and kissed her hostess on both cheeks, and submitted her hand to the Prince, who raised it to his lips. Then she turned to Dominey.

"Will you be so kind as to see me home?" she asked. "Afterwards, my car can take you on wherever you choose to go."

"I shall be very happy," Dominey assented.

He, too, made his farewells. A servant in the hall handed him his hat and coat, and he took his place in her car by Stephaine's side. She touched the electric switch as they glided off. The car was in darkness.

"I think," she murmured, "that I could not have borne another moment of this juggling with words. Leopold—we are alone!"

He caught the flash of her jewels, the soft brilliance of her eyes as she leaned towards him. His voice sounded, even to himself, harsh and strident.
