Heavy Fighting Expected Soon

Boers Assume the Aggressive at Different Points.

Thabanchu Likely To Be the Scene of a Big Battle—Enemy Attack British Outpost at Boshof-Gen. Hamilton Opposed by a Strong Force-The Canadians Have Work Cut Out for Them-Col. Otter's Report -Saturday's Fighting.

Fighting heavier than any since Ladysmith seems to be imminent near Thabanchu. The dispatches of Lord Roberts, dated Monday and Tuesday, show that the Boer rear guard, stubbornly resisting his advance, forced the British on Saturday and Sanday to act chiefly on the defensive. Gen. French, who is directing the operations, has at least 15,000 men. Some estimates give him 30,000. The Boers are estimated to be at least 6,000, and possibly 10,000. According to a dispatch from Pretoria, dated April 28, they were expecting to give battle, and have numerous artil-

posts at Boshof, the headquarters of The horse suddenly threw him, and he Lord Methuen, on April 28, but without result. The British guns at War-renton shelled the Boers out of their half-constructed trenches. A British reconnoitering party fell into the hands of the Boers near Windsorton.

FIGHT OR LEAVE.

A special dispatch from Cape Town, dated May 1, says that Secretary of State Reitz, of the South African Republic, declared to a visitor at Pretoria that not only would every Eng-lishman be cleared out of the state, but also every American, German or any man of other nationality who was not prepared to shoulder a Mauser and fight for the country.

According to a dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez, there are 1,000 British residents yet remaining in the Transvaal, but they are to be expelled immediately. SATURDAY'S FIGHTING. London, May 2.-Winston Churchill, telegraphing to the Morning Post from Thabanchu, April 28, says: afternoon, upon the withdrawal of the

"Vesterday British demonstrations on both flanks of the enemy, the Boers pressed to close quarters, and Kitchener's Horse were unable to evacuate their position until midnight. The suspense caused great anxiety. Today's operations were intended to drive out or to intercept the Boers. They occupied a wide horseshoe of mountains, with the convex face towards us. Gen. Hamilton succeeded in crushing the Boers on right and opening a road for Gen. Dickson's cavalry brigade, which dashed through and hunted the enemy from ridge to ridge, shelling them with horse artillery. At last we arrived at the rear of the horseshoe, and the Boers, in parties of 22, could be seen within the inclosed space running about like rats in a trap. Gen. Dickson hoped to make a bag, and signaled to Hamilton regarding the situation. Gen. saying he was in good health. Hamilton came at once, bringing up every soldier he could find. Suddenly, about half-past 4, the Boer army, nearly 4,500 strong, moved out of the horseshoe and began marching north-east. I had never before seen such an array of Boers. Their order was so regular that at first it was believed they were Gen. Gordon's cavalry brigade; but they quickly opened with ar-tillery on Dickson. At the same time the Boers who had escaped earlier in the day from our imagined trap returned in force on Dickson's left and rear with two guns. In these circumstances Dickson resolved to retire, and

Taken altogether, the march was a very trying one, without tents, or change of clothing for many days, engaged more or less with the enemy, and for two-thirds of the time upon half rations, subjected to a very hot sun, cold nights, and several severe rainstorms. The endurance, courage and good spirit of the battalion was most fully tried, and it is with pleasure I have to record its having proved itself fully equal to the strain. The battalion is now resting, in conjunction with other parts of the army, and though still in bivouac, is again on full rations, to which I have been enabled, with the funds at my disposal, to pro-cure a few extra comforts, in the way

Workingmen in Line

Address a Great Gathering in Jubilee Rink.

The Street Railway Strike Discussed -Vicience Deprecated-Trusts and Monopolies Denounced - Firmness and Betermination Counseled.

Last night, when the union against the London Street Railway Company was resumed, the workingmen of this city engaged in a demonstration that illustrated more forcibly and more effectively than words can depict, their unswerving loyalty the one to the other. Not alone on account of its size was the demonstration notable, but also because in it there was manifested publicly the evidence of the cohesion of unions, and a recognition of the fact that the completest advantage towards the accoment of just aims can be obtained only by strong concerted and lawful effort. This manifestation was made by respectable, industrious citizens, soberminded and serious-thinking, not with en air of bravado nor with boisterness, but with quiet and firm determination. This aspect changed only as the cars glided swiftly by, and then a loud ery, half-anger, half-derision, rolled from end to end of the mile-long line

No attempts were made to arouse antagonistic feelings. No fireworks were tempted, except the banners of the various unions which were carried. IN THE PARK.

At 7:45 o'clock in Victoria Park, where the parade was organized, a stroller could observe nothing unusual in his associations. Within a few minutes, the scene changed from one of usual calm to one of movement, and exoftenent. Along every street that led to the park there came crowds of men, women and children. They thronged upon the lawns and crowded the neighboring boulevards and streets. numbers were increased by hundreds of bicyclists, who hastened towards the gathering place. The adjoining roads were black with the awaiting crowds then grown larger and denser, who were awaiting their approach. They were quickly marshaled in accordance terward the representative workmen of St. Thomas, of whom there were some three hundred, arrived, beaded by the band of the 25th Battalion.

In the meantime, the members of the different unions had congregated in their halls and arranged themselves in parade order before proceeding to the park. Here they were greeted by the ROUNDING CHEERS OF THE CROWD.

THE PARADE. The order was given to march, and the procession started down Dufferin avenue. The advance guard was formed of hundreds of bicyclists. Then came the St. Thomas citizens and band. The following bodies had representatives in the parade:

THE SPEAKERS.

The chair was occupied by Joseph Kelly, president of the Cigarmakers' Union, and with him on the platform were President Gompers, A. F. L.; President W. D. Mahon, A. A. of S. R. E. of A.; F. W. D. MAHON. W. D. Mahon, president of the A. A. of S. R. E. of America, then arose. This was not the first time, he said, that he had faced the workingmen of London on a public platform, but he regretted that it was on the same a word of difference with clergymen, question that he had to address them. yet on this occasion they must have

The former organization has nine branches in Canada, and none of them have any difficulty with the employing com-panies except in London. He was ashamed to say that the apparent reason was that the London company

AN AMERICAN COMPANY.

That the labor organization was a law-abiding one its record showed. The men in London are more determined than ever to win in their fight. Like Napoleon's drummer-boy, who had never learned how to sound a retreat, they would take fresh inspiration and go forward in the march of progress in which labor will yet win the respect and the reasonable conditions to which it is entitled, and in the front ranks of which it will always be found.

FRED MITCHELL.

Mr. Fred Mitchell, president of the St. Thomas Trades and Labor Council, when asked to speak by the chairman, expressed the sympathy of his fellow-workmen with the strikers, and gave it as his opinion that the only sure remedy for existing evils was to elect their representatives of labor to the legislature.

PRESIDENT GOMPERS. President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor was then introduced, and was given a splendid reception. He is a man of striking physique, one whose appearance causes people to turn and look at him on the street. Short, thickset, broad-shouldered, with long, curly, iron-gray hair, his features indicating a forceful character, he stands firmly upon his heels, and as he talks his whole appearance is one of power and aggressiveness. Had it been possible, he said, he would have preferred to address them under different circumstances. It had been charged against organized labor that it was never happier than when it was warring with others. Although for years and years, endeavors had been made to open the eyes of the workingmen to what appeared to be inevitable, it had been impossible to do so, and it was necessary to take action against evils that were not being abolished nor even subsiding. In reference to the claim that United States agitators should not come to Canada, he argued that there was nothing to prevent the capitalists from either country going to the other and crushing the heart out of the worktions became louder and more enthusiingman; he understood that the company in this city was virtually a United States company, and if that were so, was there any reason why the Yankee agitator should not follow the Yankee capitalist?

Noting the Cleveland strike, where there were heart-burnings and injury wrought, he asked if it were not strange that here in London the employes of the same company should revolt against the treatment accorded

THE SAME COMPANY. The workingmen of this and other countries have realized that from the wealth produced, they have not received fair remuneration for their work, their toil had been unrequited. Although wonderful progress had been made in the world the workers were not sharing in it, and ther were now determined to be targer sharers in the results of their efforts.

ORGANIZED LABOR DEFENDED.

Mr. Gompers then dwelt upon some of the claims made against organized labor. It had been said that trades unions were like trusts, a statement Mass Meeting of London's town were those in East London, who waited until the workingmen had entered, and then they, too, streamed into the rink. The galleries of the great structure were quickly filled by the younger element, who did not permit any periods of monotonius quiet. The band played a number of popular airs, while the immense crowd was arranging itself in a comfortable position to hear the speeches, a condition by no means easy of attainment, because of the inadequate seating capacity.

Address a Great Gathering tyrannical, that they interfered with individual liberty. He suggested the difference that existed between organized and unorganized labor. If, in the latter an individual had a grievance and sought to have it remedied, his employers "would not do a thing to INDIVIDUAL WEAKNESS.

What was one man among thou-sands? The individual would be thrown into the street if he attempted to better his condition, but if thousands acted in unison then they might hope to maintain a position of equality. People spoke of the tyranny of trades unions, a tyranny that con-sisted solely of an insistance upon the observance of rules that they themselves had promulgated. Strikes were declared to be an awful method of accomplishing ends. It was awful, and they should be avoided, if possible although to deploy his sible; although so deplorable, a de-graded and demoralized manhood was worse. AN ERA OF ORGANIZATION. This era was one of organization; so the right of labor unions to exist could not be questioned. The doctors have their organizations, and those who break their laws were punished; so with the lawyers, with their bar associations. All employers of labor had organized, and it was necessary, in order that they should maintain their manhood, that the workingmen should

His reference to the associations of ministers, afforded the speaker an opportunity to reply to the recently published local appeal, signed by two clergymen and a lawyer. He had heard there was a feeling among the citizens that this fight should them either to inform themselves not be renewed. To them he would more accurately or leave the unions say that the strikers were admitted to to transact their own business in their have been in the right a year ago, and own way. Mr. Gompers accused the were, therefore, equally clergymen of being inconsistent, in that they stated in one sentence in the circular that their action was not be maintained. He regretted that the railway, while in another they deprecated the boycotting of the cars, and test to the injury of the toilers. They said they would not place themselves "in opposition to honest labor." How did the two statements agree? "When the disciples of Christ, have no right to dwell in the Augean stables and live on the fatted calf at the expense of the workingmen.'

> OPPOSED TO VIOLENCE. No one would be coerced, nor would they ask anyone to do anything repugnant to their conscience. He spoke strongly against any 11legal action being done. No stones should be thrown, not only because it was wrong, but because it would harm their cause. He was inclined to consider that these misdeeds were the work of enemies of the strikers, done in order that their names might be opprobrious to all right-thinking citizens. He mentioned the fact that six or seven cars had passed the procession in as many minutes, which was a most unusual occurrence. The

As President Gompers concluded, Mr. Frederick Appleton, who is sup-posed to be a member of the Socialistic labor party, stood up and said: "Do you know, Mr. Gompers, of any

The reply was that it was being solved every day. The accial millennium would be when there was the highest possible comfort and happiness in life as the result of that labor. This was not possible in a day. However, reductions of time were being made and wages were being increased. The problem was working out its own solution.

Mr. Appleton then wanted to know what the laborer's exact share of his labor should be.

LAME BACK AND

Two London Men Who Now Swear by Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills-Permanent Cures.

Backache, lame back and complicated kidney ailments can only be per manently cured when both the kidneys and liver are set right For this reason no remedy was ever so successful as Dr. Chase's Kidney-

Liver Pills in curing diseases of the kidneys and liver, backache, lame back, lumbago and rheumatism. Mr. Geo. Grant, 2 York street, London, Ont., says: "I had suffered with lame back and kidney troubles for three years, had different doctors and all to no avail. I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, began to use them, and am proud to say that I now feel like a new man. I would like all suf-ferers with lame back to know of this cure, for I can sympathize with them." Mr. W. D. Wilson, Center street, London West, Ont., says: "I was troubled with kidney disease and scald-ing sensations, and suffered much. After trying many medicines without finding a cure, I was induced to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They worked like a charm. I can now sleep all night through without inconvenience, and consider myself cured."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are well known in London and vicinity, where they have effected many marvelous cures. In most families they are kept as a family medicine, and one 25 cent box frequently saves hundreds of dollars in doctor bills. One pill a dose, 25c a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox, probably the cleverest living American authoress, is a woman whose utterance on any subject should be listened to with attention. Her views on dieting and the superiority of our foods are so sound as to commend them to the consideration of all sensible people. GRANOSE and GRANOLA are the healthiest and most strength-giving foods in the world, while CARAMEL-CEREAL is a healthful and palatable substitute for coffee and tea. Mrs. Wilcox, referring to these foods, writes as follows:

Gentlemen—It has long been my conviction that light eaters make long livers. The regular prevalent idea of a good appetite, which consumes bloody meats and greasy foods of all kinds, three times a day, is filling hospitals and sanitariums with dyspeptics, diabetics, and victims of Bright's Disease. For the first time in my life I cheerfully give my name as reference for the excellent and beneficial effects of your Health Foods. I thoroughly believe in them. Could many who are complaining of their ailments be induced to use your foods, I believe it would turn an army of grumblers into cheerful optimists.

Letters Alleged to Have Been Written by the Saviour and King Agrippa

The cable message continues. "Prof. Bohrmann announced that these letters had been discovered carved in stone over the gateway of the old pal-ace of the kings of Ephesus, and that they were undoubtedly the letters re-ferred to by Eusebius and other early writers, according to whom they were written in Syro-Chaldaic characters and originally discovered under a stone, 84 miles from the city of Ictn-ium in the year 97 and then lost. Fragments purporting to be of the original were declared spurious by Pope Leo

"Prof. Bohrmann says this discovery proves that such letters were written and supplies the full text." Tolstol is right when he says that hate begets only hate, while on the contrary good-will begets good-will. The Advertiser's recommendation is that all citizens of good-will should insist firmly, yet in House Unanimously Supports moderate language, that there be some sort of a getting together of the contending forces along lines of good-will and expediency. We are convinced that this might be done if public opinion unanimously demanded it from both sides. We see no other hope of that restoration of good feeling so desirable and necessary.

Meantime-while good-will and expediency are getting their bearings-The Advertiser would advise each side to the controversy, and the general public, to refrain from either action or speech calculated to embitter the situation. At this time an ounce of good-will and moderation will be much more likely to be useful than a ton of

Were he to run as a third candidate, outside the regular party nomination, it would be imhis rivals. Presumably it would be likelier to cut into Bryan than into McKinley, since the Admiral prefers to call himself a Democrat, and a Gold Democrat at that; while Bryan's heresy in the eyes of many Democrata is his view of the relation of silver to the vellow metal. Admiral Dewey has been making a visit to Chicago, and it is noteworthy that along the route from Washington he was everywhere greetenthusiasm. the Fire Relief Grant of $100,000.

Ottawa, May 1.-The resolution granting $100,000 for the relief of the sufferers by the disastrous Hull and Ottawa fire was adopted by the house today with absolute unanimity. After the usual routine business the premier arose and said: "When the house adjourned on Thursday last it was under circumstances of a very distressing character. A large part of the city of Hull and the larger part of the city of Ottawa were at that moment the prey of a most disastrous fire, which continued for the greater part of the night, and when the sun rose upon the following morning it was upon a scene of desolation and ruin, where the day before there had been thousands of happy homes and prosperous industries which were the pride of Ottawa. The details which we had on that morning were of such a character that we came to the conclusion that the destruction which had been thousands of same of his excellency, together with the estimates, be read to the committee of supply forthwith.

The opposition leader seconded this motion, and stated that it was with which had been caused by this most calamitous fire was beyond the reach of private charity, though private charity was abundant and early and speedy. We had a report, which has been since confirmed by the investigations that we have made into the subject, that over 2,000 families have been made homeless by the fire. Under such circumstances the privy council met and came to the conclusion that as in our judgment private charity, abundant as it was, was not able to cope with the needs created by this calamity, parliament and the country would sustain us if the government also came to the aid of the sufferers, and we determined that day to ask parliament, at its next meeting, for an appropriation of $100,-000. We instructed the deputy minister of finance, Mr. Courtney, whose discretion and judgment are well known, to immediately make an appropriation and place at the disposal of the relief committee the sum of $10,000, part of the grant which we proposed to ask parliament to make. On the afternoon of the same day I thought it my duty to acquaint Sir Charles Tupper of our intentions, and I wrote accordingly, telling him what we had done, and the amount which we proposed to ask par-liament to vote, and I have this reply from him: 'Dear Sir Wilfrid Laurier,— I am very glad to learn by your letter of today that you propose to ask parliament for an appropriation of $100,-000 to assist those suffering from the terrible calamity of yesterday, and that in the meantime you have furnished $10,000 for the immediate relief of the sufferers. I wish to express my hearty support of the measures the government propose to take." I have only to say now that the government are prepared to ask this amount from parliament, and Mr. Fielding has a message from his ex-Fielding has a message from his excellency, the governor-general.

Mr. Fielding then said: I have the honor to present a message from his excellency the governor-general, signed by his own hand: "The governor-general transmits to the House of Commons supplementary estimates of the sums required for the Dominion for the year ending June 30, 1900, and, in accordance with the provisions of the British North America act, 1837, the governor-general recommends these estimates to the House of ComTHE RUNIANS, GRAY, CARRIE CO. mons. Dated, Government House, May Mr. Fielding moved that the mesthe greatest pleasure that he had as-sured the premier of his hearty support of the measure which the government proposed to take of asking $100,000 for the emergency. The proposal commended itself to the hearty approval of the house, and he believed would be thoroughly acceptable to the entire people of the Dominion. Mr. Fielding moved that the house do now resolve itself into committee of supply. In doing so, he explained that, in addition to what had been mentioned by the premier, the work of immediate relief for which the appropriation of $100,000 was asked, there was a further obligation incumbent upon the government, the reconstruc-tion of the public works destroyed by the fire. It was proposed, therefore, in the estimates submitted to make an appropriation of $20,000 to rebuild the appropriation of $20,000 to rebuild the Hull postoffice, and $21,000 to restore the Dominion bridges at the Chaudiere, so that the total appropriation now asked amounted to $141,000.

Mr. Foster thought that some means ought to be devised to do away with the piling of so much lumber in the city of Ottawa, on cars and otherwise. He said in part: "The city authorities and the relief committee and the government—the municipal authauthorities and the relief committee and the government—the municipal authorities, of course, having the larger part—by which these tinder boxes and sunpowder trains, so to speak, should not be allowed to be set in the city. With the intensity that these lumber of the figures all the ber plies give to the flames all the fire appliances on earth could not have stopped such a fire. The city authorities of Ottawa seem to allow these things to be set up in any part of the city; you find a great pile of logs threatening every man's home and life. In the heat of summer they become like tinder and are a menace to human life anr property. In some way or other the government should take advantage of the existing conditions, and by some wise suggestion, if not pressure, endeavor to lessen the dangers which threaten the city of Ottawa from the cause I have referred to. If the government take action in this mainter I am sure they will be backed up by public sentiment throughout the country. ber piles give to the flames all the

to the immediate relief of the sufferers; men, women and children were to Foster had voiced the sentiment of the people of Ottawa, and of the nation at large, that we ought to make use of the fine water-powers as free from danger as possible. These lumber piles must be of necessity a source of con-tinual danger to the city, and if it be possible to induce the lumbermen, who were just as much interested as parliament, to remove their lumber piles to a distance from the city, he thought they should have done a good act, and that this great calamity would have one redeeming feature, if they learned from it the lesson of protecting the city against the danger which has threatened them in the past. But, so far as his information went, they had only the power to remonstrate; they could not demand. But the government would not fail to call the attention of all parties interested to this important subject.

After further debate the item of $100,000 for relief as well as items of $21,000 for the restoring of the Ottawa bridges and $20,000 for a new postoffice in Hull were adopted, Mr. Muloch promising that the work would be done by contract.

The budget debate was then resumed by Mr. Craig. He was followed by Dr. MacDonald, and the debate was continued by Messrs. Clancy, Cowan. Mr. McNeill moved the adjournment of the debate, and the house rose at 1:01 a.m.

Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting no this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good.

As a stock-raising country Venezuela could supply the world with beef were the grazing facilities utilized.

Want to Keep Your Neuralgia? Of course you don't; so you should take Scott's Emulsion. It is a fact this remedy cures it; and it cures nervousness, nerve debility and insomnia

One evil that cannot come alone is impure, blood. If this is allowed, it is attended by kindred ailments galore. This condition means that every vein and artery of the body, instead of carrying to the organs a healthgiving flow of life, is laden with a slow and impure fluid that is harming instead of healing.

It is unfortunate when there is "bad blood" between people. It is worse when it is inside of you. Hood's Sarsaparilla will not make enemies friends, but it will make "bad blood" good blood, and blood should be of the best quality. Hood's never disappoints.

Pimples-"My face was covered with pimples and blackheads but after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a short time, I was entirely cured, and my skin left smooth and clear. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." MAY RYAN, North Street, Chatham, Ont.

Erysipelas-"I would strongly urge the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla for erysipelas or any scrofulous disease. I have received great benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla for the former complaint. It is an excellent blood purifier." Mrs. H. D. West, Church Street, Cornwallis, Nova Scotia.

Tired Feeling—"I had no appetite and experienced a tired feeling. Different medicines did not help me. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time I was enjoying perfect health. Since then we always take Hood's Sarsaparilla when we need a blood purifier or tonic." Mrs. S. Kinch,

I had doctored without avail and used many mediated without avail and used many mediated without avail and used many mediated." cines unsuccessfully. My sister advised Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time it cured me. I am now stronger and sleep better. I shall never be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house." FOR WELL PEOPLE.

An Easy Way to Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health. The all-important thing is to keep the stomach right, and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favorite articles of food must be avoided. Prof. Wiechold gives pretty good advice on this subject. He says: "I am years old, and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers or dieting of any sort; on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves, but for the past eight years I have made it a daily practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and attribute my robust health for a man

Stuart's Tablets. "My physician first advised me to them because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestives, peptones and diastase, and after using them a weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice. "I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing, and preserves health to the well and strong.'

Men and women past 50 years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best-known and most widely used is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well-regulated household from Maine to California, and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favor. druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia

Terrible Coal Mine Disaster Near Colton, Utah.

Some 137 Bodies Taken From the Death Pit-No Hope for the Missing

Salt Lake, Utah, May 2.- A terrific explosion occurred yesterday in the winter quarters in the Pleasant Valley Company's coal mine at Schofield, on the Rio Granda Water Schofield, on the Rio G the Rio Grande Western Railway, near Colton, Utah, by which, according to reports, over 100 people were killed and many injured. It is reported that 90 hodies have already hear rekilled and many injured. It is reported that 90 bodies have already been recovered. The explosion is attributed to the blowing up of a number of kegs of blasting powder. The work of rescue is going on, and everything possible is being done to relieve the suffering. Among the dead fourteen bodies have been identified.

A special from Schofield states positively that there have been 85 dead bodies taken out of the Pleasant coal mine, No. 4. There were 250 men at work in the two mines, Nos. 1 and 4.

work in the two mines, Nos. 1 and 4. The remainder of the miners are dead. The explosion is supposed to have oc-curred in No. 4, and to have extended by action to No. 1.

A LATER ACCOUNT. Salt Lake, Utah, May 2.-Two hundred or more lives were lost in the explosion in mine No. 4 of the Pleasant Valley Coal Company at Schofield, Utah. One hundred and thirty-seven bodies have already been recovered. The work of rescue is still progressing, although there is no hope that any of the men who are unaccounted for escaped death.

The scene of the disaster is just outside this place, on the line of the Rio Grande Western Railroad. The explosion, which occurred in the winter quarters of the mine, is attributed by some to the blowing up of a number of kegs of blasting powder.

TWO HUNDRED COFFINS OR-DERED. Two hundred coffins have been or dered to be sent at once to the scene of the disaster. A special train bearing the seriously wounded has started from Schofield for Salt Lake. The mine inspector is still without the data to lay blame on anyone.

MINES ON FIRE. Bristol, Tenn., May 2.-The coal mines at this place are on fire, and there is a great apprehension for the lives of the miners. It is reported that all except nine are accounted for, but nothing in the final is known as to the loss of life.

Roanoke, Va., May 2.—A considerable portion of the Toms Creek coal mines, in Wise county, have been on fire since last Saturday evening. Four men are known to have been caught in the mine and suffocated. The fire is reported under control. The amount of damage and the number of lives lost cannot be ascertained at present.

Interesting Report on "Church Life and Work"-Will Conclude Tonight.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the Presbyterian Synod, Rev. W. J. Dey, of Simcoe, read an excellent paper on "The Future Life," followed by an interesting discussion, opened by Rev. of my age to the regular dally use of R. Pettigrew, Glen Morris. Rev. G. C. Patterson, Embro, read a paper on "Present Day Preaching." The discusresent Day Preaching. The discussion was led by Rev. James Malcolm, Teeswater. The synod then listened to Rev. Dr. Campbell, moderator of the general assembly, who spoke on the twentieth century fund.

In the evening Rev. H. A. MacGillivray, in the absence of the convener,

Rev. D. R. Drummond, St. Thomas, presented the report on "Church Life and Work," which contained a number of important recommendations. The discussion which followed occupied nearly all the balance of the evening session. Rev. Mr. Henderson, Appin, presented the report of the augmentation committee, just before adjournment

At this morning's session Rev. R. G. Anderson, Wroxeter, presented the report on Sabbath schools, which was followed by discussion. Rev. J. S. Henderson, then presented the report on "Young Peoples' Societies," which was also discussed. The appeal of Rev. Mr. Larkin, of Chatham, against the decision of the presbytery in the case of Botany Church site, was occupying the synod's attention when the noon adjournment was made. The synod will conclude tonight

THE HORSE

Col. Leys States His Position as to the Provincial Grant.

Col. Leys, M.P.P., in response to a statement in the Mail that sectionalism and local jealousy had inspired his agitation for a change in the mode of granting provincial aid to the horse show, said to a representative of the Toronto Globe:

"The question is not one of local prejudice at all, but of the best means of securing the results aimed at the improvement of horse breeding in Ontario. The government has no right to give $2,000 a year to a local 'society' event. The money never reaches the farmers, and they must be reached if any improvement is to be obtained. My idea is that the government should grant, say, $3,000 shows in the east, center and west of the province. The money would be devoted to the granting of special Ontario Government prizes for farmers showing mares and foals, etc. minister of agriculture could pick out the classes. If a farmer in any district were to get a prize of $100 for mare and foal it would be an incentive to every farmer for miles around to secure a better strain of blood and try for the prize next year. That is what I mean by practical encouragement for horse breeding. At present I do not believe the farmer-breeder gets a dollar of the horse show money "As to the suggestion of the Mail and Empire that my criticism was the result of jealousy because Mr. Adam Beck, of London, secured some prizes and made some reputation at the show. I can only add that it is an utterly diabolical one. I am only too pleased to see Mr. Beck win prizes here, and hope he will continue to do

POLICE COURT.

At the police court this morning, Chas. McGowan, a laborer, pleaded guilty to having abandoned an infant child on Monday afternoon, by leaving it with a little girl on Lyle street to be taken care of till he returned. He was remanded till Monday for sentence. McGowan was arrested in St. Thomas yesterday as he was about to leave for Detroit to join his wife. The child had been placed in their care and they desired to be rid of it.

John Sullivan, 341 Hill street, was arrested last night on a charge of drunkenness, but later Detective Egelton laid a charge against him of throwing a stone at a street car, near the corner of Dundas and Adelaide streets. To this charge he pleaded not guilty, the first charge being with-drawn. He was remanded till tomorrow to enable him to secure counsel. The charge preferred against Joseph Lynch by his landlady of causing malicious damage to property, was adjourned for a week to allow of a settlement. Two sidewalk wheelmen were fined $2 and $1 respectively. Frank Portley, drunk and disorderly, was fined $2, and another drunk went on suspended sen-

How the Boers' Attack of April 11 Was Repulsed.

[Special to The Advertiser per C.P.R.] Gala Day in Windsor-Tangled Stories From Thabanchu.

> A dispatch from Mafeking describing the Boers' attack of April 11, says: The bombardment of the Creusots was the hottest of the siege. Many shelis entered the hospital and women's laager. Under cover of the artillery, a large force commanded by Cronje (the younger), including the German corps, advanced close to Fort Abram. The garrison laid low until the Boer force was at close range, when they fired a volley, killed five, wounded many, and the attack was repulsed. The bombardment then ceased. The Boers, under a Red Cross flag, were permitted later to recover their dead. GALA DAY IN WINDSOR.

It is difficult to unravel the tangled stories from the neighborhood of Thabanchu, but apparently the British forces are engaged in a movement having for its object the hemming in tween 200 and 300 of them in the city. of the Boers still in that district. While Gens. French and Rundle are holding the Boers at Thabanchu, Gen. Broadwood's cavalry has been pushed on Houtnek (not Houtney), in the hope of intercepting the Federal convoys between Ladybrand and Winburg. Gen. Botha has been reinforced, there is every prospect of sharp fighting. It is believed that Lord Roberts is ploying his army preparatory to be-ginning his northern march, and that it is the commander-in-chief's intention to advance simultaneously from Kimberley, Bloemfontein and Lady smith, with the view of preventing the Boers from concentrating their forces at any given point. THE TRIUMPH OF TRUE LOVE

But no one seemed to notice it, or to think it strange; no one looked on. Mrs. Purton began to talk to the nurse, and she was alone with her son. She clasped him in her arms; she raised the drooping, burning head, and pillowed it on her beating heart. She bent over him and kissed the flushed face, the burning lips; kissed them with a passion of love that seemed as though it could never be satisfied.

"Mother! whispered the boy, without opening his eyes. "Oh, mother! have you come at last?"

Then, after a moment—
"Mrs. Rivers," he said, in a low, calm tone, I am so glad you have come. I was just dreaming of my

Then he had not known. Her gentle caressing touch had awakened the memory of his mother within him, and caused his cry.

"I have come to stay with you, Rupert," she said, "until you are quite well. Lord Selwyn came to fetch me."

"I am so glad," he said. "You are quiet and gentle. Everyone here seems to make such a noise, and my head to make such a noise, and my head aches without ceasing. You will tell me the truth, I know. Do you think I shall ever get well again?"

People looked at each other, and asked the question. "What can be the matter with him?" Skillful doctors bent over his couch; they tended him with untiring skill, yet he grew no better. The fever still burned in his veins. The parched lips still bobbled delirious words; the burning hands moved restlessly. In the day he in-variably improved; night always found him better; morning always found him

What was wrong with him? Father, physicians, servants, friends, all asked the same questions, and no one could reply. No doctor could say decidedly what his disease was. It began with a severe cold, which turned to low fever. Proper medicine was pre-scribed for that, yet the fever grew no less, and the boy's strength fail-ed him day after day, until those who nursed him and cared for him most feared the hour would come when there would be no more strength, and the wasting fever would have its own

Lord Selwyn had sent to London for a professional nurse; Mrs. Rivers was with him night and day; Lady Beatrice was untiring in her attendance: every servant in the house considered it a privilege to wait upon the young heir. Everything that human skill could suggest was done: neither trouble nor expense was spared, yet the boy grew no better. The wanderings became more frequent, the sane inter-vals more rare. The worst feature of was his sleeplessness. doctors agreed that some hours of sound sleep might in all probability restore him to health; but that slumber never fell upon him. Dr. Danvers prepared nightly an opiate that was as strong as he dared to make it. He gave strict orders that the nurse or Mrs. Rivers should adminster it when whole household had retired, and there was nothing to mar its effectno chance of any noise to arouse Night after night the opiate was administered-always with the same absence of effect, until it seemed that there was little hope left for the heir of Selwyn.

Lord Selwyn was constant in his visits to the sick room. It was piti-ful to see the strong, handsome man bending over the fragil boy, with such sorrow in his eyes and unspoken prayers on his lips; how he spoke to him with tender words-how he be-sought him to taste the dainty food and wine from which the poor child recoiled in shuddering dread-how, when the boy slept, he knelt by his side, praying, with weeping eyes, that this one great treasure, Violante's son, might be spared to him. He seemed to forget the presence of nurses, of servants, all and everything, except the boy whose life was so slowly ebbing

The day came at last when Lord Selwyn looked into the doctor's face with despairing eyes, and asked-'Can nothing more be done for and the doctor, with grave words, answered that unless the could sleep. he must die. Sleep! The white-faced woman in the widow's cap who never left him, wearied

heaven with her prayers for sleep.
She knelt for long hours together begging for sleep. The kind, devoted fauner, who would have given his life for his boy, prayed as men seldom pray, for sleep. Yet the burning eyelids never drooped, the tired eyes never closed in peaceful slumber.
So the shadow deepened, and Lord Selwyn wandered despairingly round his magnificent home. His whole heart was centered on Rupert, and the great love was because he was Violante's son. He had lost the mother, now the shadow of death lay upon her child. He could not rest; he went several times during the night to see how the boy fared. He would have sat up with him night after night only that gentle Mrs. Rivers said his presence would be more likely to disturb the sufferer than conduce to

He could not eat. In vain Lady Beatrice implored and pressed him. His heart was sick and sore within His heart was sick and sore within him. His conscience not quite at rest. It seemed to him that his son's iMness was in punishment for his wife's unhappiness—that as he had not taken sufficient care of the mother, he was not allowed to retain the child. He vexed himself with these thoughts as the danger of his son increased; his melancholy, and even despair, deepened. There were many who believed the same sword which smote the fair young son would destroy the father.

Little Lance mourned for his playfellow, and Lady Beatrice—well, no one knew what my lady thought. Out-one knew what my lady thought. Outwardly she observed every decorum; she was kind to the child, gentle and sympathizing to Lord Selwyn; mildly plaintive to all strangers; but her true thoughts no one knew, and it was well they should not.

The boy who lay there gasping for breath, murmuring sentences that had no connection and no sense, was the only barrier between her beautiful boy and the splendid inheritance. When Lady Beatrice sat alone there was little sorrow in her face—nothing but a gleam of triumph in her dark eyes. and a great guilty joy throbbing at her heart.

Mrs. Rivers had become invaluable. Even Lord Selwyn in the midst of his sorrows, paused to watch the gentle, soothing hands. The only rest poor Rupert ever found was when he lay in her arms; then the hot, aching head would drop upon her breast, and if he did not sleep sweet and gentle memories came to him—pleasant, quiet thoughts-deep, unutterable rest. She never wearied of him! There were times when Lady Beatrice looked at her and said if she did not rest, she would fall ill, and she only answered, with a quiet smile, "that she felt no

"I do not know how it is," said the boy to her one day, in his faint voice, "but when I am resting in your arms I always think of my mother."
"Perhaps it is because I love you, and she did the same," replied Mrs.
Rivers, kissing unheeded the white hands are like hers; and they have the same touch. She used to lay them on my head as you do. They are just as white and soft. If I die, let those hands clasp me in death, because they are so like my mother's.' She bent over him to hide her tears.

It was evening then, and she was alone

"I suppose all sick people have fancies," continued the boy. "Do you know, Mrs. Rivers, I think sometimes alive to nurse me, I should get well. She could only answer with her tears; the eyes filled with fever were fixed full and bright upon her. [To be Continued.]

Practical Steps Taken by the Liberal Governments to Have This Evil Wiped Out.

Remarkable Activity in General Busi ness-Canada at the Paris Exposition

[From Our Ottawa Correspondent.] Ottawa, May 2.-With very little parade or flourish of trumpets, but in a practical, business-like manner, the Liberal governments, both at Ottawa and Toronto, are placing legislation upon the statute book which in its operation will go far to minimize, if it does not entirely eradicate, the pernicious "sweating" system, which has so long been a standing disgrace in most parts of Christendom, and which was obtaining altogether too firm a hold upon the industrial life of Canada. The postmaster-general's reso-lution now being debated in the com-mons, provides that all government contracts or works aided by public funds shall be carried on under such conditions as will secure the payment of proper wages to all employed thereon, and as the best possible evidence that this is no academic motion, to be relegated to oblivion as soon as pass-ed, the machinery is already being per-fected for carrying out the provisions of the act which will follow the passing of the resolution, and that machinery has been placed under the direction of one of the best known and most trusted representatives of labor in the PROVINCIAL LEGISLATION ALSO. In the Ontario house a bill has been introduced by Hon. Mr. Latchford, which provides that every person contracting for the manufacture, improve-ment or alteration of clothing, or parts of clothing, shall keep a written register prominently posted of the names and addresses of all persons to whom such work is given out to be made, and each articles so made shall bear upon a label the name and address or number of the person making it. Such articles shall not be exposed for sale without a permit from the inspector, showing that the place of manufacture is in a thoroughly clean and sanitary condition. When such article of clothing is found to have been made under unclean or unhealthy conditions, it shall be seized and impounded, and a label, "Insanitary," placed on it, after which it shall be disinfected by the board of health at the owner's ex-pense. The board of health, if they see fit, may destroy articles of clothing which they find were made in a workshop, tenement or dwelling where the inspector finds evidence of unclean or unhealthy conditions, or infectious or contagious diseases.

THE COMMERCIAL OUTLOOK. The following review of the commercial outlook in Canada will prove entirely satisfactory to most reasonable men, though it may not be entirely satisfactory to Sir Charles Tupper, and those who, in 1896 and 1897, were determined to see nothing but the most dire disaster follow the sccession of the Liberals to power. The article, which is from the pen of a recognized authority in a leading Ontario daily, says: "The summer season will open this year with encouraging prospects for business. Labor is generally well employed, and in some trades it is impossible to get men for work requiring prompt attention. The fact of the matter is that the opening up of new territory in the western and northwestern parts of the province, and the increased prosperity of the country west of the lakes, as well as the better demand of the Maritime Provinces, all contribute to keep workmen away from the cities at a time when in former years they came there in CAPITAL AND LABOR BOTH AC-TIVE. "The employment of large sums of money in connection with the coal and mineral resources of the Dominion, both in the eastern and western part of Canada, has contributed greatly to the prosperity of the country. The masses are more largely employed now than ever before in the history of Canada, and the average wages paid now is higher probably than hitherto experienced by the laboring classes in the Dominion. New settlers are arriving in the country and taking up land in the Northwest, while in this province the prosecution of large enterprises in part of Ontario that had not' hitherto attracted the operations of the capitalists, has the effect of drawing in settlers to tracts of country the advantages of which had been overlooked. There is a great deal of railway construction in progress, and employing large gangs of men at good wages. The effect of this de-velopment and activity in general business will be more apparent to business men as the summer advances. When large numbers of men who had in former years been idle a great part of the time, are fully employed, the effect on the business of the community must soon become apparent. The keen demand for funds for business purposes which has been reported by the banks for some time past, fore-shadows a better era for business. The steady employment of the masses at good wages largely increases the purchasing power of the people, and must result in increased demand from the retail trade, and soon extend to the vholesale business. The older industries of the Dominion are all well employed, and every week brings reports of companies making arrangements to enlarge their manufacturing capacity to keep up with the demand for staple goods. Many factories and mills in Canada still have orders on hand that will keep them busy for some months to come. This does not look like the approach of a period of over-produc-

THE GOLD ROYALTY. The Vancouver board of trade has passed a r olution in favor of reducing the gold royalty in the Yukon from 10 to 5 per cent on output values. A British Columbia newspaper, commenting favorably on the proposal, says: "There is every reason to believe that the suggested reduction of duty would be largely compensated by a greater output, accompanied by less taxation evasion, whilst there would also accrue to Canada a larger revenue from customs and excise duties and other receipts, directly and indirectly connected with mining and trading development. It is, moreover, admitted under present circumstances by Mr. Sifton that the Dominion makes a considerable profit out of its Yukon administration, and this profit, considering what is given in return, may certainly be rated excessive." One writer, commenting upon this view of the situation, says: "It will probably not be denied that, making all due allowances of the chest, bronchitis, etc.

HREE RYING IMES.

There are three periods in a womau's life that are fraught with great danger to her hearth. The first of these is the unfolding of the bud of girlhood into the full bloom of womanhood.

Mothers should carefully guard their daughter's health at this time. If there be pain in the back, weariness and lassitude, paleness and weakness, headaches and irregularities, there is no remedy will do so much good as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. It enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves, makes the cheeks rosy, and brings about regularity. The next period when a woman requires the aid of a good nerve-

During pregnancy these pills make the blood rich and keep the health good. After baby comes they restore the strength and build up the depleted system.

Women at the change of life will find nothing equal to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to tide them over this trying transition period.

For the nervousness and dizzy spells, prickling sensations in the fingers, hot flushes, numbness, headaches and heart palpitation, which so often prove such a serious menace to health, there is no better remedy.

In fact, at all times in a woman's life, when she is weak, run down, nervous, sleepless, anæmic, suffering from heart trouble, lacking energy and ambition, she will find Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a friend in need that gives her rich blood, strong nerves, regular beating heart, refreshing sleep-drives away pains and aches, and restores all the blessings of sound health.

for the getting rid of tax evasions, and for the getting rid of tax evasions, and for increased customs revenue, etc., the reduction from 10 to 5 per cent would destroy the profit which now accrues to the country; in other words, the gold would be given away for nothing. If this view is sound, one can hardly understand why so much objection should have been raised to Mackenzie & Mann getting a share of Mackenzie & Mann getting a share of the gold, whether small or large, in return for the building of a railway. The capitalist who builds a railway for any gold he may find is surely more useful to the country than the ordinary miner, who leaves nothing behind him but a hole in the ground." CANADA AT THE EXPOSITION. Speaking of the position of Canada at the Paris Exposition, the Montreal correspondent of the Globe says: "The extraordinary influence which Canada has acquired in Britain since Sir Wilfrid Laurier came to power, is shown by the change in the status of this country at the Paris Exposition. Originally the name of Canada was ignored in the official catalogues, and she had no part assigned in the official demonstrations. Hon, J. Israel Tarte on his arrival in Paris discovered this, and at once communicated with the imperial authorities. Mr. Chamberlain recognized the injustice done to the most powerful colony of the empire, and a dispatch to Le Patrie announces that he has just signified to the French authorities the desire of the imperial government that Canada should be accredited directly. The effect of this upon European nations can easily be imagined, and it must prove of immense value in attracting attention to this country. This action of the British government recognizes the new power which Sir Wilfrid recently happily said has arisen in the west."

-At a pleasant gathering of the choir of Southern Congregational Church and the friends who so kindly assisted in the rendering of the cantata a week ago, Miss Julia Claris was taken much by surprise on being requested to come forward and receive at the hands of Mr. H. B. Allen, church secretary, on behalf of the choir, an address couched in very appropriate terms, expressing appreciation not only of her musical ability, but also the tact, self-sacrifice and fidelity with which she discharged the duties of organist and leader of the choir. Accompany-ing the address was a well-filled purse, presented on behalf of those present, by Miss Nettie Wilson. Miss Claris replied feelingly. After refreshments and an impromptu programme, recitations by Misses Edith Cook and Annie Os-borne, and a solo by Miss Ethel Per-rin, the gathering was brought to a close by singing "God Save the Queen."

In 1875 he embarked in the banking business at Blenheim, and two years later opened a banking office in Leamington. Mr. Fuller took a great interest in public affairs, and was twice elected mayor of the town by acclamation. In politics he was a Liberal, and in 1896 he had the offer of the candidacy of the Liberal party in South Essex, but refused it. He was a director of the Natural Gas and Oil Company of Ontario; also of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway Company. He married Charlotte, fourth daughter of Col. A Talk About Feet and Shoes

In the course of a conversation this morning with Mr. F. A. Brown, of the BAR-GAIN SHOE STORE, 143 Dundas street, the following remarks which he made atruck us as being very much to the point and well worthy of careful considera-tion. He said, "Many people have to give up taking beneficial exercise owing to the condition of their feet. A healthful condition of the feet is an essential to perfect general health. The beginning of a great deal of ill health and unhappiness can often be traced to the wearing of uncomfortable shoes. To obtain health and comfort, however, for the feet it is by no means necessary to wear ugly shoes. The footgear I am selling combines admirably both beauty and comfort. All my stock is new and made in accordance with special orders. City Fathers Come in for Some Scathing Remarks-Committee Appointed to Report on the Work of Kindergartens.

The bolard of education will take legal proceedings against the city fathers. This step was decided upon at the regular meeting of the educationalists last night, after a somewhat lengthy and lively discussion. The trouble, which arose some time ago between the school board and the council, upon the action of the latter body in repairing the board's estimates, will be definitely settled in this way. The trustees are of the opinion that their action in demanding the $17,400 asked for repairs is unassailable, and hold that the action of the council is illegal. Chairman Bayly stated that the matwas a continual source of friction, and he was strongly in favor of hav-ing it settled finally. 'The board's solicitor had been consulted, and believed the action of the board in demanding the money from the council was well taken. Mr. Bayly thought the members should fully back up what had been done. The question could be tested, he said, at the weekly high court here with trifling expense

Mr. Blackwell thought that Chairman Bayly had exceeded his authority, when he undertook to engage a solicitor to fight the city without the sanction of the board. In his opinion the board should have been gotten together and consulted before such action was ta-Chairman Bayly stated that it was necessary that action should not be de-layed. He had acted as he did merely to retain the legal position of the not go to the council at once. Mr. Blackwell-Then you blundered somewhere, Mr. Chairman. You had no right to let the debentures and estimates to go in together to the council. He (Mr. Blackwell) had been asking for over a month to find out what the $17,400 asked for repairs was going to be put to.

The chairman informed Trustee Blackwell that the plans of the repairs were in the hands of the architect, and COULDN'T KEEP IT. Kept It Hid From the Children.

"We cannot keep Grape-Nuts food in the house. It goes so fast I have to hide it, because the children love it so. It is just the food I have been looking for ever so long; something that I do not have to stop to prepare and still is nourishing. Wishing you all the success you deserve, Mary Y. Margeson, 80 Lincoln street, Winthrop, Mass."

Grape-Nuts is the most scientifically made food on the market. It is per-fectly and completely cooked at the factory, and can be served at an instant's notice, either with rich cold cream, or with hot milk if a hot dish is desired. When milk or water are used, a little sugar should be added, but when cold cream is used alone the natural grape sugar, which can be seen glistening on the granules, is sufficiently sweet to satisfy the palate. This grape sugar is not poured over the granules as some people think, but exudes from the granules in the pro-cess of manufacture. This, in effect, is the first act of digestion; therefore, Grape-Nuts Food is pre-digested and is most perfectly assimilated by the very weakest stomach.

Sharbot Lake, April 30.-Twenty years ago this month, John Nicholas Babcock first noticed the symptoms of Gravel and other Kidney troubles. his sentence is up today. He says: "After twenty years of pain caused by Gravel and other Kidney trouble, I am pleased to make it known that I have been completely cured by one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars without receiving any lasting relief."
