Petition from the Electors, Making Formal Charges Against County Judge Elliot.

Mr. Lister Presents the Document in the House—Text of the Bill of Indictment.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 28.—Col. Amyot announced to the House to-night that his defection from the Conservative party, which has lasted six years, was at an end, and he would return to the "love of his youth," as he expressed it. Mr. Amyot's reason that the Liberals were hopelessly out of power for at least three years scarcely warranted the applause given him by Sir John Thompson.

At the opening of the House, the petition of the London electors, making formal charges against Judge Elliot, was presented by Mr. Lister. It will be laid on the table to-morrow, and a copy ordered to be sent to Judge Elliot. On Wednesday or at a later day Mr. Lister will move an address to his Excellency, reciting the charges and praying for Judge Elliot's dismissal. This motion, if the usual course is followed, will be referred to a select committee. Following is the text of the petition:

To the Honorable the House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada:

The petition of the undersigned electors of the electoral district of the city of London, in the Province of Ontario, most respectfully showeth:

1. That William Elliot, Esquire, has been for some years past, and still is the Judge of the County Court of the county of Middlesex, and as such judge it is his duty under the provisions of the Electoral Franchise Act to hear and decide appeals from the decision of the revising officer for the electoral district of the said city of London.

2. The said revising officer having duly appointed the 10th day of November last for the final revision of the lists of voters for the said electoral district, one Frank Walder Lilley, an elector of the said district, desiring to object to about 640 names on the said lists as preliminarily revised, did two weeks before the said 10th day of November give notice of his objection in writing in the form required by the said act to the said 640 persons whose names he so objected to, and also to the said revising officer as required by the said act.

3. On the said 10th day of November it was contended on behalf of the said persons so objected to that the revising officer should not hear or dispose of the said objections on the ground that the said Lilley's notices of such objections were invalid, null and void.

4. The said revising officer held the said notices to be insufficient but not invalid or void, and thereupon directed the said Lilley to give amended notices of his objections, and adjourned the hearing of the objections for that purpose till the 27th day of November last, and such amended notices were duly given by the said Lilley in accordance with the direction of the said revising officer.

5. An appeal was taken from the decision in the last paragraph mentioned, of the said revising officer to the said William Elliot, which appeal was heard before him on the 20th day of November last, when the said William Elliot expressed his opinion that the said Lilley's said original notices of objection were invalid, but that he had no authority to interfere with the said revising officer's power to order amendment or to adjourn the court.

6. Thereupon the said revising officer notified the said Lilley that in consequence of the said opinion of the said William Elliot, he (the said revising officer) refused to proceed with the trial or hearing of the said objection of the said Lilley.

7. Application was thereupon made by the said Frank Walder Lilley to the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice for Ontario for an order of mandamus to compel the said revising officer to hear and dispose of the said Lilley's said objection, and the said court on the 25th day of November last unanimously decided that the said notices as originally given by the said Lilley were sufficient and valid, and commanded the said revising officer to hear and dispose of the said Lilley's said objection.

8. In obedience to the said order the said revising officer proceeded to hear and dispose of the said objections to the said names on the 4th, 5th and 7th days of December last, and after evidence given found and decided that the names of 228 of the persons so objected to should be, and the same were thereupon by him struck of the said list.

9. From the said decision of the Queen's Bench Division an appeal was taken to the Court of Appeal for Ontario, which appeal was pending on the 31st day of December last.

10. From the decision of the said revising officer striking off the said names from the lists of voters appeal was taken on behalf of the said 228 persons to the said William Elliot, the only ground of appeal stated being that the said Lilley's said notices of objection were invalid and void.

11. Such appeals came on to be heard before the said William Elliot on the 31st day of December last, when he reserved judgment thereon, pending the decision of the said Court of Appeal in the said appeal to that court.

12. On the 18th day of February last, the said Court of Appeal gave judgment refusing to entertain the said appeal to that court, but at the request of the counsel for the appellants and respondent, three of the judges of the Court of Appeal gave judgment that the said Lilley's said original notices of objection were valid, the fourth judge of said court expressing no opinion thereon.

13. After such decision of said Court of Appeal, and on the 24th day of February last the said Lilley applied to the said William Elliot to give judgment upon the said appeals to him, but he then declined to do so upon the ground that notice of further appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from the decision of the Court of Appeal had been given to the said Lilley.

14. On the 4th day of March instant application was again made by the said Lilley to the said William Elliot for his decision of the said appeals to him, and on the 9th day of March the said William Elliot gave judgment thereon, holding that the said Lilley's notices of objection were invalid and void, and on that ground he ordered that the said 228 names should be restored to the said list as duly qualified voters.

15. On the 26th day of February, 1892, the election of a member to serve in the House of Commons took place in the said electoral district, at which election Charles S. Hyman, Esq., and the Hon. John Carling were the opposing candidates. One hundred and thirty-one of the said 228 persons whose names had been struck off the list by the said revising officer voted.

16. The votes of the said 228 persons whose names were so stricken off by the said revising officer were at the time of said election the subject of an appeal to the said William Elliot as aforesaid, but all of the said 131 persons who voted as aforesaid were counted by the returning officer, and 128 thereof were cast for the said Hon. John Carling and 3 for the said Charles Smith Hyman, and excluding these the said Hyman received a majority of 22 votes over the said Carling.

17. The said William Elliot during the said election and while the said appeals were pending before him contributed editorially and also under an assumed name to the London Free Press newspaper articles of a violent and partisan character bearing upon the said revision of the voters' lists and political questions of the day, and particularly upon the said election for the said electoral district, and in support of the candidature of the said Carling and against the said Hyman.

18. After the said election, and before deciding said appeals, the said William Elliot in strong and violent language denounced the said Hyman and his supporters, and stated to several electors of the said city that the said Carling would certainly get the seat in the House of Commons for the said electoral district.

19. That the conduct of the said William Elliot in writing the said newspaper articles pending the said appeals and in making the said oral declarations and in afterwards carrying out the spirit of such articles and declarations by over-ruling the judgment of the said Queen's Bench Division and the express decision of the said judges of the Court of Appeal, show him to be a violent political partisan incapable of giving an honest or unbiased judgment on the subject matter of such appeals.

20. In view of the foregoing facts your petitioners submit that the said William Elliot was wholly unfit to exercise judicial functions in the matter of such appeals to him, and that he subordinated his position as a judge to his desires as an active and bitter partisan, and that his continuance in the position of a judge in the future, owing to his extreme partisanship, will tend to destroy public confidence in the administration of justice. And on this account your petitioners pray your honorable House to do justice in the matters herein complained of.

21. Your petitioners are in a position to prove that the statements above set forth are true.

Wherefore your petitioners pray your honorable House to take this their petition into favorable consideration and to deal therewith in conformity with law and justice and the interests of the public service. And your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray, etc., etc., etc.

The replies to questions drew from Mr. Bowell the statement that the duty collected at the port of Montreal on the flag presented by the Duke of Connaught had been ordered to be refunded.

The motions for returns introduced discussions on artificial fertilizers and binding twine. Regarding the former Mr. Haggart made the point that the duty was not burdensome, because Ontario, for example, had only paid $166 last year on imported fertilizers.

Mr. Laurier used the statement effectively by saying that this proved that the duty was not retained for revenue purposes, but solely to enable one manufacturer of fertilizers to extort his own prices from the farmers.

Mr. Ives argued that the protection enabled this one firm in the Eastern Townships to even export fertilizers to the United States, which caused Mr. Laurier to ask why, then, they could not cease to regard this as an "infant industry."

Mr. Bowell admitted that fertilizers to the value of $12,000 annually were imported by the Dominion.

The motion for papers made by Mr. McMillan was carried.

The discussion on the tax on binding twine covered no new ground. The tax was not defended by any member of the Government. Messrs. Campbell, Mulock, Watson, Macdonald (Huron), Davin, McMillan (Huron), Semple, Stairs and Gillmour took part in the discussion, and the motion for papers was carried.

Debate on the budget being resumed, Col. Amyot, who bolted from the Conservatives in 1886 on the Riel question, made a speech announcing that he had determined to return to the "party of his youth," as he phrased it. Reciprocity, he said, was dead; the National movement was dead, and its leader, Mr. Mercier, was lying "dead" in the ruins. The Globe's attack on Mr. Mercier and its article referring to Quebec politics made it necessary that it should be repudiated by the leaders of the party if he were to remain in the party. Mr. Laurier had not received the support from his party, Colonel Amyot said, which he had a right to expect, and the result of the Ontario elections he took to mean that Ontario would not accept Mr. Laurier's leadership because he was from Quebec. These, in brief, are the reasons why the grey member for Bellechasse returns to the Conservative party after a long absence.

A Government Backdown.

BERLIN, March 28.—Count Von Eulenburg, the newly-appointed president of the Prussian Council, made a statement in the Diet on Monday, justifying the separation of the Imperial Chancellorship from the presidency of the Prussian Ministry. The burden of the work involved by the union of the two posts, he said, was beyond the powers of one man. Continuing, Count Von Eulenburg said that in view of the fact that the discussion of the Primary Education Bill had created serious differences in the Diet, and also in the country at large, that the Government refrained from insisting upon the further consideration of the bill. Count Von Eulenburg's statement was received with mingled cheers and hisses by the members.

Effects of Reciprocity.

LONDON, March 28.—In the House of Commons Baron Henry de Worms said that in entering into an agreement with the United States by which the duties imposed upon various imports into the British West Indies were reduced, the Government had duly considered the bounties which the United States granted to the home sugar producers. The alteration of the West Indian tariff would not necessitate higher duties on all articles exported from Great Britain to her colonies in the West Indies.

"For Wearing of the Green."

LONDON, March 28.—Lord George Hamilton, First Lord of the Admiralty, admitted the fact that a stoker at the Seaman's Hospital at Devonport had been sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment for refusing to take out of his cap when ordered to do so a shamrock he wore on St. Patrick's Day. The sentence, he added, was afterwards commuted to one of ten days' confinement in the barracks. He did not think the punishment severe, and would not interfere in the matter. Several Irish members protested that they would bring the subject up again. Lord George Hamilton declared that the rule in relation to wearing Irish emblems applied with equal force to the emblems of other nationalities. The offense was the refusal to obey orders.

Slaughtered by Thousands.

LONDON, March 28.—The bloody engagements recently between imperial troops and rebels in Northern China resulted in the slaughter of several thousand rebels. The imperial army lost only 5 killed and 45 wounded. Over 8,000 rebels were put to death with the sword. A number of engagements are reported. A body of insurgents, numbering 3,000, was overtaken by the imperialists at a place 60 miles from Kulun and over 100 of them were killed and 3 leaders made prisoners. Dispatches give details of several engagements, in one of which three-fifths of the rebels were killed and one-fifth made prisoners, among the latter being a leader who was instantly decapitated. A still larger force of the enemy was posted in the Chien-Chang district, where they had an encampment with guns filled up in the loopholes of the wall surrounding the villages. Churches of the new creed served as outposts of the rebels' army. An onslaught was made upon their position, and in an engagement lasting two hours 800 out of a total of 1,300 were put to the sword. About 500 of the rest were burned alive, and including stragglers it is estimated that not less than 1,400 of the enemy were put to the sword on this occasion. A great number of the adherents of the new creed were captured, including three leaders, who were instantly beheaded.

Nova Scotia's Financial Standing.

HALIFAX, March 28.—In the House of Assembly this afternoon Premier Fielding made his annual financial statement of the Province. Total expenditure for the past year $692,538, the largest item being $215,484 for education. The revenue was $661,541, leaving a balance against the Province of $30,997. The largest items of income were $432,822, Dominion subsidy, and $169,287 from mines royalties.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, March 28.—The Mark Lane Express in its weekly review of the British grain trade says: English wheats have fallen on the average of 10d. Farmers continue to increase their deliveries on the falling markets, having lost all hope of being able to hold out against the enormous imports. Foreign wheats dropped 1s. The cheap freights foster the inpour of arrivals; the quantities on passage from India, Australia and America are excessive. California is quoted at 37s 9d, Oregon 39s 3d, American spring at 35s, and red winter at 37s 9d. Corn is depressed; American sells at 20s 9d. Barley is 6d lower. Oats, beans and peas are flat.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

A Brief Session of the Assembly.

Kind Words for a Deceased Colleague from Both Sides of the House.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

TORONTO, March 28.—The Legislative Assembly sat for only a few minutes this afternoon, and then adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Mr. H. E. Clarke. Mr. Mowat and Mr. Meredith made brief but sympathetic addresses expressive of the loss sustained by the death of their colleague. The former was much affected, his agitation several times interrupting the course of his remarks.

Mr. Mowat said that the funeral of the late Mr. Clarke would take place at 3:30, and he would therefore move that the House, without transacting any business, adjourn as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased. The suddenness and the circumstances of his death make it peculiarly solemn to all. The trouble was heart disease, with which he was afflicted for several years, and his disease had been growing worse. In view of the circumstances it is satisfactory to all to know that on the day of his death there was nothing exciting or disturbing, and nothing to ruffle the feelings of any one. The session had not been a stormy one, and on that day there was nothing unpleasant or of a personal nature. The question of municipal taxation was the one on which Mr. Clarke was engaged in expressing his opinion when he was suddenly arrested and sat down in his seat, as they all knew, and in a few minutes was dead. Honorable gentlemen on the other side of the House knew him better, but we on this side saw enough of him to cause us to regard him with respect and esteem. He was a strong party man, the lieutenant of the Opposition chief, and leader of that side of the House in the absence of the chief. At the same time he was anxious to be on friendly terms with everyone so far as he consistently could. He was a genial man. He had many friends and no enemies. All will remember his genialty and his integrity. All will give him credit for those qualities. They differed politically, but he (Mr. Clarke) expressed the views he conscientiously held. He loved to do the right, and supported or opposed measures because he believed he was in the right. He was a fluent speaker, he had a pleasant voice, and his observations showed his wide reading and excellent common sense. His successor may be a more brilliant man, a more noisy man, but the electorate will be fortunate if he is as good and as useful a man. He died at his post a representative of the people, while in the very act of discharging a public duty, and he died regretted by his family, his friends and all who knew him. He died suddenly, and yet he was forewarned and prepared. Could any one desire a better ending for a life which must end somehow, sometime? Mr. Mowat closed by moving the adjournment of the House.

Mr. Meredith, on behalf of himself and those on his side of the House expressed the appreciation with which the Attorney-General's remarks were regarded. It was satisfactory to know that everything he had said of their deceased colleague was not the mere after-death eulogism too often spoken of those who have gone before—it was a true estimate, which everyone who knew the deceased must have formed of his character. Mr. Clarke was in the best sense of the word a self-made man, who in business and municipal life and in Provincial politics had attained a position of which anyone might be proud. It was true those on his own side of the House knew him best. While all in political life are too prone to use the first weapon that comes to hand, it would be found, if the history of the party were known, that their deceased friend had always stood up for what was honorable, right and fair. He was a man of extensive reading and wide knowledge, and his experience was of great advantage to the House and to the country at large. The country has lost one of her best sons. Words might prove of little comfort to those bereft of father and husband, but it would be some consolation to learn that the deceased was regarded as a man of stainless reputation in public as well as in private life. He bore the love of all who knew him and the respect and admiration of the whole House. Mr. Meredith again thanked the Attorney-General for the kindly words which he was sure came from the bottom of his heart. The House then adjourned.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mr. Clarke took place at 3:30 from his residence, Jarvis street, and was attended by an immense crowd. The members of the Legislature were present in a body, as were also the mayor, aldermen and the civic officials. The floral tributes which surrounded the casket were magnificent. Perhaps the most beautiful was that from the Opposition members of the Assembly. It was in the shape of a very large pillow, composed of calla and ascension lilies, white roses and hyacinths. The service at the house, and afterwards at the grave, was conducted by Rev. J. V. Smith, assisted by Dr. Potts, Dr. Young, Dr. Briggs and Dr. Sutherland. The pallbearers were W. R. Meredith, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Messrs. John J. Withrow, H. A. Massey, M. Langmuir, W. H. Pearson, William Edwards and George Kerr. The remains were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

O, woman, despairing and wretched,
Dreading, yet longing to die,
Hear the glad chorus that rises,
Filling the dome of the sky:

"Sisters, be glad, there's help to be had;
No longer be miserable, gloomy and sad;
Lost health regain," rings out the refrain,
"Poor creatures, be healthy and happy again."

How? By taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the world's greatest remedy for all kinds of diseases peculiar to women. It brings back tone and vigor to the system weakened by those distressing complaints known only to women, which made life such a burden. It restores relaxed organs to a normal condition. It fortifies the system against the approach of diseases which often terminate in untold misery, if not in death—which is preferable to the pain and torment of living, in many instances. It is the great gift of scientific skill and research to women, and for it she cannot be too grateful. It cures her ills when nothing else can. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction or price ($1) returned. Absolutely sold on trial!

THE SEAL QUESTION.

Every Prospect of a Satisfactory Settlement.

President Harrison and His Cabinet Pleased With Lord Salisbury's Latest Message.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—It is said on good authority that the President and his Cabinet are well pleased with the conciliatory tone of Lord Salisbury's note of the 26th inst., especially as it is held to concede the point that has been the principal cause of contention, viz., a renewal of the modus vivendi of last year for the protection of the seal fisheries. This alleged concession is believed to be implied in his proposition to agree to a modus in case the treaty of arbitration is ratified, under the condition that each Government shall guarantee the other for damages incurred through the suspension of sealing.

An official who has been consulted by the President in regard to the negotiations said he was especially pleased with Lord Salisbury's admission that Great Britain would hold itself liable for damages resulting to the United States because of the modus vivendi in the event that the verdict of the arbitrators is adverse to its contention. He said that, taking it altogether, Lord Salisbury's note is satisfactory as indicating a good prospect for an amicable settlement of the question at issue.

Further correspondence will be necessary to settle the method of determining the character of the damage claims.

The character of the response to Lord Salisbury's note was indicated briefly in the President's letter as being a substantial acceptance of the British Premier's tender with a few modifications that could doubtless be arranged without difficulty. There can be no question that the reception of the communication has largely removed any doubt of the favorable action of the Senate upon the treaty, and it was the general belief that the treaty would be ratified to-morrow without any conditions or resolutions that might operate to defeat the completion of the negotiations.

STARK'S BICYCLES

The enormous demand and increased production of wheels make it impossible to keep up the old prices of last year. The demand now is largely for a good, strong, serviceable, all-round wheel, and at a price that will put them within the reach of all, both young and old, for all the world must ride or be out of fashion. Such a wheel as described above, we now offer you as a big bargain and at a little more than half the old price.

We now offer you the celebrated Black Prince (made by Starley Bros., Coventry), solid three-quarter inch tire, for fully guaranteed. Hundreds of these wheels are now in use and giving the best of satisfaction. We are the sole agents for the Dominion for this wheel.

We have a number of high-grade Canadian-made wheels (used only a few days), which we have taken in exchange for our celebrated machines, and on which we will give bargains if sold at once.

REPAIRING DEPARTMENT.

First-class repairers; best machinery. All the latest appliances for this work, including enameling and plating, of which we make a specialty.

Our 1892 bicycle catalogue is now ready. Illustrates bicycles, bicycle accessories, lawn tennis and other open air sports, tents, gymnasium supplies and photographic goods, etc. Will be sent free on receipt of postcard giving address.

Agents wanted in every town and village throughout the Dominion where we are not now represented.

This is the latest recipe for a cold: Take four parts of the advice of one person, with three parts of the advice of fifty others, mix well and swallow at every hour in the day. Make it convenient to die on Thursday so you can be buried before washday.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and conver the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for Constipation and Headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c and $1. ywt

A Nightingale nurse, writing in the Hospital, says: "Miss Nightingale sends all her nurses a Christmas card every year. Her interest in this school does not seem to abate in the least, and when any of us get a good appointment she generally sends for us to say 'Goodby' and wish us success in our new sphere."

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Experiments in instantaneous photography have proved to us that the shots not only spread out, comet like, as they fly, but they string out one behind the other to a greater distance than they spread. Thus, with a cylinder gun, when the first shot of a charge reaches a target that is 40 yards away, the last shot is lagging ten yards behind. Even with the choke-bore gun some of the shot will lag behind eight yards in forty.

A pair of horses belonging to Harry McCormick, Paris, were driven over an embankment. The driver went home, changed his clothes and skipped out. Next morning the horses were found at the foot of the embankment uninjured.

The officers and teachers of the Congregational East End mission school, Brantford, were pleasantly and hospitably entertained on Friday evening by Wm. Mellish, in celebration of his 84th birthday. Henry Symonds, superintendent of the school, spoke of the efficient work done in establishing the mission, and of the untiring efforts he continues to make in its behalf. Most men at the age of Mr. Mellish feel that they are entitled to retire from active service, but he, in his old age, has undertaken, and been largely instrumental in carrying to successful completion a very important work.

HURON.

David A. Purvis, whose death is announced, was one of Goderich township's most valued and best known residents. Deceased was yet a young man, being but 46 years old. He was born and raised in Gananoque, and came to Huron in 1869, settled first in Colborne for a period of eleven months and then moved on to the present farm in 1870. He was a prominent agriculturist, being for years actively identified with the West Riding Society, for the past three years one of its vice-presidents. His mother, now in her 86th year, and three sisters survive him.

Her husband died about fourteen years ago. She was stricken a month ago with paralysis, which rendered her helpless. She had a family of ten children, nine of whom are living.

STABBED AT A CHURCH DOOR.

A Scene of Rejoicing Converted Into One of Consternation.

WHITEWOOD, N.W.T., March 28.—A sensation was created here at a Presbyterian social in a church by a young man named Oswald E. Spence making a savage attack upon a farmer named Myles McArthur, with an open jack-knife. The two men were enemies over some disputed land claim. Spence rushed upon McArthur at the church door and stabbed him a number of times with a knife. McArthur had a child in his arms and could not defend himself. Rev. Solomon B. Musselman, Methodist, at this stage grabbed Spence's wrist, several more men assisted, and the sacred building, which but a few minutes before had resounded to harmony, was the scene of a wild struggle. One woman fainted; other women were wildly rushing to and fro, seizing their children and hurrying them out of the way, while McArthur, with his face deluged in blood, presented a most ghastly appearance. His wounds, however, are not serious. Spence was overpowered, and has been committed for trial.

EVERY PROVINCE HAS FELT ITS WONDERFUL EFFECTS.

It can be safely asserted that no other remedy has so quickly met with favor and approbation in Canada like Harvard Bronchial Syrup. Every Province in the Dominion has felt its wonderful effects. Men and women ask for it, and will take no other; and druggists find it to their advantage to keep it in stock, so great is the demand.

A Lower Province druggist says: "Our people ask for Harvard Bronchial Syrup, and will have no other. Of course I am aware of its good qualities, and do not feel surprised at the large and increasing sales."

An Ontario druggist writes: "Send me another gross of Harvard Bronchial Syrup; it is the best cough and cold remedy I ever sold. All my customers speak well of it and recommend it to their friends."

A Winnipeg druggist writes: "Harvard Bronchial Syrup is taking the place of all other cough remedies in this city. Once used it always becomes the favorite, owing to its very prompt action."

A St. John, N. B., druggist says: "Your great cough, croup and throat remedy, Harvard Bronchial Syrup, is meeting with phenomenal success here. It is a most valuable preparation, and must become the best seller in every drug store. It certainly deserves success."

FRANK WHEELER.

An Old-Time Montreal Athlete.

His Startling Statements—They Are Worthy of Consideration—Interesting to Athletes and the Public Generally.

Mr. Frank Wheeler, of the Metropolitan Manufacturing Company, Notre Dame street, Montreal, recently made a few statements for the benefit of his brother athletes and the public, which are worthy of serious thought and consideration.

Mr. Wheeler is favorably known to thousands in Canada as an old-time athlete—a true Canadian—who has shed lustre on Canadian field sports which so much conduce to the physical welfare of our young men. Our country has reason to be proud of such noble specimens of physical culture; they have given a reputation to our loved country, and made her to be respected all the world over where athletic sports are encouraged.

Mr. Wheeler was a lover and admirer of all athletic sports, but was particularly noted on the snow-shoe field, where he carried off many honors. He was one of the prominent members of the Emerald Snow-Shoe Club—an organization which has done good work for the encouragement of winter sports.

Athletes, like ordinary mortals, require much care and attention as far as health is concerned. They are subject to the common ailments of life, unless watchfulness is exercised; and once out of condition, it requires careful treatment to bring them back to health and vigor.

Mr. Wheeler, who, for a time, had given up active participation in athletic sports, was still a vigorous and robust man. His sinews and muscles were still strong and wiry, and he seemed to be fitted for any amount of hardship. The evil day often comes when least expected, and like many another physically strong man, Mr. Wheeler overworked unconsciously. He rested too little, and probably became indifferent to essential rules governing digestion and exercise. He at last had to succumb to weakness, lassitude and general debility.

We think it advisable at this point to give to the readers of this paper Mr. Wheeler's own words. His letter regarding his troubles and sufferings are interesting, and will repay a careful perusal. This letter not only shows Mr. Wheeler's wisdom at a time when he was physically low, but also points out clearly the course that all sufferers should adopt when weak, broken-down, nervous, sleepless and dyspeptic.

"Permit me to write a few lines in regard to Paine's Celery Compound. My many friends will remember my haggard appearance about three years ago, when a young house surgeon of one of our leading hospitals pronounced my lungs weak and the tops slightly affected. At about the same time I was taken with Canadian cholera, lasting seventeen days, which naturally brought me still lower in health, and (helped by the terrors of decline) a shadow of my once robust constitution.

"As a test, I tried to join an insurance company (knowing full well the physician always gives the benefit of the doubt to the company), and, I am sorry to say, I was put back for six or eight months by one of our leading physicians.

"It was at this time that I was recommended Paine's Celery Compound; and, to please my wife, I took two bottles, and seemed to regain my appetite, and felt some inclination 'to brace up'; but, unfortunately, I did not continue with the good work, and when after a very favorable verdict from a careful examination by the late celebrated Dr. Howard, who pronounced my lungs perfectly free from disease, but that my constitution was completely run down, and I had strained two sinews over my left lung, causing the pain which had raised my fears of decline, I stopped all medicine until last June, when a terribly busy season with one of the largest furniture houses here once more ran me to the ground, as my duties demanded me going from top to bottom of the house 20 or 30 times a day, up four flights of stairs, numbering 98 steps. My limbs fairly bent under me, and I had many times to go upstairs and lay on one of the lounges perfectly exhausted, and asking no greater boon than to lay there and rest. My appetite was gone, and my wife discouraged (trying to make me some tempting dish), and all the symptoms of two years ago had come back, and I dropped from 148 pounds to 132 pounds. A lady friend was the first one to again bring your Celery Compound to my notice, through the good it had done her and her nephew. I took two bottles and again improved; and after four bottles I have regained fifteen pounds in weight, and my appetite is splendid; and now I will say, in justice to you, that I never felt better in all my life, although it is two months since I left off taking your valuable discovery. My many athletic friends will recognize in my signature an old-time Emerald snowshoer and athlete; and to them particularly do I recommend this great boon. No tonic can equal it to bring to the athletic form a fine limb, a strong arm and health to wield the same. It is truly with gratitude that I sign myself—Yours respectfully,

"FRANK WHEELER."

Fully restored and strengthened! A new life, increased vigor, joy and happiness! All these blessings are given to users of this wonderful remedy. All obtain vastly more than they ever expected. Is it not wonderful, marvelous and inspiring? In the face of such evidence, how can people go on wasting time and increasing suffering by using common and untried remedies? Common sense, solid proof and honest testimony plainly give the words of command, "Use Paine's Celery Compound." Surely our Canadian people have light strong enough to guide and direct them to choose between life and death.

God's in His heaven,

—[BROWNING.

London, Tuesday, March 29.

St. Thomas Journal: "As the judges respect themselves and their office, so will they be respected."

The law bears heavily upon election crooks.—[Hamilton Spectator.

Unfortunately, under the Dominion Franchise Act, some of the election crooks can assert that they are above the law.

Since Mr. Tait, M.P.P., gave Mr. Meredith such a setting out for, impliedly, defending Elliotization, no Opposition member of the Legislature has said "Judge Elliot" in the hearing of the doughty Joseph.

It often falls in course of common life
That right, sometimes, is overborne of wrong;
The avarice of power, or guile, or strife,
That weakens her and makes her party strong.
But justice, though her doom she do prolong,
Yet at the last will make her own cause right.
—Spenser.

A rumor comes from Toronto that Mr. W. R. Meredith, M.P.P., who is now thoroughly acclimatized in that city, having been a resident there for several years, may become a candidate for the vacancy caused by the death of the late H. E. Clarke, M.P.P. It is regarded as a safe seat.

E. A. Macdonald (Conservative) announces himself as a candidate for the Legislature to fill the Toronto seat rendered vacant by the death of the late H. E. Clarke. He comes out squarely as in favor of the political union of Canada with the United States. Mr. Meredith's lieutenant (Sol White) runs on the same ticket.

The tariff war between Canada and Newfoundland has resulted in serious loss to exporters of Canadian agricultural products. During the last two years, the exports of these commodities from Canada to Newfoundland have been:

	1890.	1891.
Flour	$96,314	$408,409
Cattle	80,449	91,378
Beef	11,483	12,171
Pork	12,458	2,593
Hogs	401	153
Cheese	12,777	9,104

Tariff wars, like other conflicts, are always costly.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto World (Conservative) writing last night, says:

"Mr. Lister's shot bids fair to prove fatal to Judge Elliot unless he can disprove the charges made, which, I am told on good authority, he will find it very difficult to do. If the charges contained in the latter part of the resolution can be proved—and the petitioners affirm with great solemnity that they have the proofs—then there will not be much sympathy left for Judge Elliot. The judiciary of Canada must keep itself clean and non-partisan, and the usefulness of any judge who so far forgets himself as to take sides in an election contest is hopelessly gone."

The St. Thomas Times can't abear the ADVERTISER'S contention that "it would be better for Canada, better for Great Britain, better for the United States, better for manhood, were Canada an independent nation, with the opportunity of promoting the friendliest relations alike with our kinsmen across the lakes and with our kinsmen beyond the sea." Well, would the St. Thomas Times kindly state what it would like? Is it content to be a mere Colonist all its life? Does it favor Imperial Federation, whatever that means? What does the Times want, anyway?

JUDGE ELLIOT WAS UP THEIR SLEEVE.

A contemporary endeavors to make out that the attempt to obtain justice for Mr. Hyman, member-elect for this city, has not been well managed by the Liberal lawyers.

There is no truth whatsoever in the contention.

Everything that could have been done has been done and the friends of Mr. Hyman and the upholders of justice are properly grateful to the members of the legal profession who have so disinterestedly worked for the right. But we would like to ask our contemporary a question: What difference would it have made in the result, under all the circumstances, if Mr. Hyman and his supporters had been aided by all the eloquence and all the ability of all the lawyers in the last 100 years, so long as their opponents had Judge Elliot up their sleeve?

LET THE INDICTMENT BE MET.

The charges made in Parliament against Judge Elliot, on the responsibility of many leading citizens, backed, as we have reason for believing, by affidavits, cannot be laughed out of the House without thorough investigation, as some stupid local partisans are trying to make understood.

It is in the interests of the whole people that the investigation should be complete from beginning to end, and that no mere partisan inquiry should be resolved on.

The charges are serious enough in all conscience, and the citizens who make them seriously believe them to be well-founded, or we are convinced they would not have put their names to them. We are all interested in maintaining the administration of justice in its purity. The bench should be thoroughly non-partisan and unbiassed in its judgments. The law that takes from judges the right to vote in political contests leaves no doubt on this point.

If it can be proved, therefore, as alleged in the petition, that Judge Elliot is an offensive and active partisan, not only talking and writing against one of the political parties, but overturning the judgments of Superior Courts to secure party ends, then assuredly has his usefulness gone, and his decisions of recent date on matters political unworthy of respect.

The charges must be met; they cannot be laughed away by those who have temporarily profited by the theft of Mr. Hyman's seat, and who do not have the honesty to fairly state the indictment.

Having no party interests to serve, the ADVERTISER has given a full statement of the charges made against Judge Elliot, and it is just as ready to publish Judge Elliot's defense if he has any. Meanwhile, it does seem strange that a contemporary should deem the whole matter either a huge joke or a mere evidence of the chagrin of a party because of its defeat.

The evidence against Judge Elliot in regard to the defrauding of Mr. Hyman, M.P., out of his seat, by the counting of bogus votes struck off the lists by a Conservative revising officer, is most conclusive. His action, directly in face of the unanimous opinion of two Superior Courts, sought for by the legal advisers of Mr. Hyman's opponents, was that of a gross partisan. No matter what quibbling may be indulged in to uphold that deed, if fairly considered, no other conclusion can be reached than that Judge Elliot was determined to seat his benefactor, Mr. Carling, at all hazards.

But it is now asserted, and we are informed that there is sworn proof to support it, that Judge Elliot was far more partisan off the bench than upon it, even going the length of anticipating his judgments by writing editorials and letters under an assumed name, in support of his violently one-sided views. These editorials and letters, it is asserted, were inserted in the London Free Press. They denounced Mr. Hyman and his supporters, and alleged that Mr. Carling was certain to get the seat.

It is such serious accusations as these that are pooh-poohed as unworthy of a moment's consideration by the newspaper apologist for Judge Elliot, Mr. Carling, and their fellow-manipulators. We are certain that no Canadian who wishes his country well will lightly regard charges of so serious a nature against an administrator of justice. While regretting that such an inquiry is rendered necessary, no honest man will attempt to play the buffoon, and try to laugh away the effect of the charges. No matter what views a man may hold before he takes a seat on the bench, it is in the interest of all parties that he who holds the scales of justice shall do so evenly at all times, without fear, favor or affection.

When, as is the case with Judge Elliot, the accumulated evidence is strongly presumptive against his impartiality, it is time, not for quibbling, but for an exhaustive inquiry and speedy action.

WHY?

The rash newspaper defender of Judge Elliot has not the courage to publish the indictment against that functionary, as contained in the petition presented to Parliament. Why?

THE SITUATION REVIEWED.

Professor Goldwin Smith, at the request of the Toronto Mail, has written a review of the situation, which he concludes as follows:

"The Liberals still have the Provincial Government and Legislature, which truly represents the interests of the people. That they would be able to wrest the Dominion Government out of the hands of the Tories never seemed very likely. The Tories are thoroughly entrenched at Ottawa; they have all the patronage in their hands; they have the command of an unlimited bribery fund under the guise of subsidies and public expenditure on local works; they have the nominations to all the senatorships and the recommendations to titles; the Governor-General is completely on their side; the Senate is their creature; they have settled the franchise in their own interest; they have and they use without scruple, the power of dissolution, the gerrymandering power, and the power of fixing the times for the bye-elections; they control the election machinery and appoint the judges who try election cases; they control the tariff and the votes of all who are interested in it, as well as the votes of other interests favored by their legislation; they have most of the wealth and all the aspirants to titles on their side. To crown all, they have the Canadian Pacific Railway, which, bloated with national subsidies and bound by every tie of honor to political neutrality, makes itself a party engine and reaps the advantage of that course. Fresh revelations of jobbery and corruption are said to be impending, but in the state to which public sentiment has been brought they will hardly produce much effect. Nor even if the Liberals could get possession of the Dominion Government is it easy to see what good they could do with it. Its establishment was not the dictate of nature or the demand of the people, but the shift of politicians brought by their rivalries to a deadlock. With all its enormous expenditure and the corruption, which is morally still more costly, what benefit, political, commercial, or military, has it bestowed, or is it capable of bestowing, on Ontario which she might not have equally enjoyed as one of a group of colonies federated by common connection with the Empire and under the protection of the Imperial power? Its lack of any natural basis, geographical, commercial, or even social, has almost compelled it to maintain itself by corrupt means. Its monument is a large public debt contracted as fast as that of our neighbors has been paid off; its fruit is the exodus; its moral record is the report on the McGreevy case; its material record is the last census. History teaches us to be patient and hopeful. Even such a flood of reactionary baseness as the restoration subsided in time. The Paris meeting shows that though reaction is for the hour triumphant, opinion is not dead. If the Liberals in their discouragement are meditating retreat, they will find that in this as in many other cases the best and safest line of retreat is to the front. The last election by the lines on which it was fought by the Tory Government, made the Liberal party continental while it made the Tory party more anti-continental than ever. The Liberals will have to become more continental still. They will have to hold out to the people something which is not only clearly to their advantage, but clearly capable of being obtained; then they will find real force behind them and defeat will be turned into victory."

A SEAT FOR MR. BLAKE.

There is a call for Hon. Edward Blake to re-enter public life as an Independent Liberal. The honorable gentleman is both able and honest, and by his presence at Ottawa these days he could do a great deal to re-establish right government in the land. A correspondent has asked the Lucknow Sentinel whether the honorable gentleman could not be seated for West Bruce. The Sentinel, while not pretending to speak for the whole riding, unhesitatingly answers "Yes." West Bruce is a riding constituted, under the infamous Gerrymander of 1882, to hive the Liberals, and there is no reason to doubt that if a vacancy were created Mr. Blake would either be returned unopposed or by a majority enormously large. What say the M. P. for the riding and the local Liberal associations?

Charilas Tricoupis, whom the Greek King recently invited to form a new Ministry, is called "The Aristides of Modern Greece." His fate has been pleasanter than was that of his namesake of classic Greek times, whom the Athenians grew so weary of hearing perpetually called "the Just" that they banished him, the legend concerning which relates that Artistides himself wrote his name on the shell, to oblige one of his enemies who could not write.

"And now is the season of general awakening and preparation among the knights of the tapered wand," writes E. W. Sandys in Outing for April. Already the babbling tongues of the streams in many parts of this country have been loosened from their icy bonds, and the voice of forest and stream says, 'Come!' Nature's grand choir is not yet in full song, and the calling voice is yet but a merry pipe compared with what 'twill be a month later; still it is possible to fish. That fact is enough for the eager fellows who feel with me that

The rod hangs long on the lonely wall,
The tackle is hid 'neath a dusty pall,
The reel has forgotten the song it sings,
The flies would fain stretch their deadly wings,
The basket can boast no tempting spread,
And the flask is cold and its spirit fled.
Man! Is it right such things should be
When the first of the season are rising free!"

Dr. Livingstone once said he had walked for weeks through a region in Africa where a lake ought to be, according to the maps. Joseph Thomson reported when he returned to England a while ago that, if the maps were accurate, he had been sleeping in the middle of Lake Bangweolo; and now Mr. Fortin writes that there is something wrong with the big island mapped in the Gulf of Paria, on the northeast coast of Venezuela, for he has walked all over it, and is unable to find where it is detached from the mainland; all of which goes to show that he is a great cartographer who can satisfy every explorer.

"The voice of the masses was never heard in the old-world literature," says Walter Blackburn Harte in the April New England Magazine. "A whisper of it was heard almost for the first time with the French revolution. It is now begining to be heard in real earnest; and if it does not find a strong utterance in poetry as yet; it is because poetry is trammelled by tradition. When the poets really awake to the grandeur of being able to give expression to the great heart of humanity, we shall hear no more of this twaddle about this age being too democratic and too prosaic for the production of good poetry. If the common life of the nations cannot afford inspiration for a great poet, then we may believe that poetry is indeed dead forever; for it will then appear that the great poem of God is ridiculous in the eyes of his human mouthpieces. The awakening intellect of the millions will throw down kings and aristocracies and plutocracies and the brutal chivalry of romance forever, and there will then be a greater, more human, more divine inspiration for the true poet in the common life of the people. The old poets, from Homer down, concerned themselves principally with the prominent men of their time; the men who were the peaks of circumstances, and whom we have since learned to accept as great. They have really been defied by the greatness of the poets. History is beginning to show us how small and mean and petty they actually were in their lives. The poets were too often courtiers."

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in strength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDERICK, Saugerties, New York.

HISTOGENETIC MEDICINE CURED HIM

in a few weeks. Now, there is no longer a doubt of Dr. J. Eugene Jordan's Histogenetic Medicines curing consumption. This was a genuine case of tuberculosis. The lung microbes could not be destroyed without danger to life, even greater than from the disease. But the safer method positively did succeed. It was the only hope, and it must be tried. Did it really succeed? The picture and following letter from him answers the question. It has a hopeful ring in it. LISTEN: "Three years ago I had intermittent fever. It shook my constitution, especially my lungs, liver and bronchial tubes. A year later I took la grippe, followed by cough, expectoration, night sweats, pain in my lungs, loss of flesh, etc. I knew consumption would soon carry me off. All treatment failed. I became discouraged. I got worse and worse. I heard at last that Histogenetic Medicines cured consumption and bronchitis. I consulted Dr. Rar, who prescribed those medicines. I commenced to gain at once, but unfortunately took another severe cold, but persevered, and was soon better than usual. I rapidly improved till cough, pain, sweats and expectoration ceased. I have gained more than I had lost in weight. In fact, I weigh more than I have for years. I wish to tender my hearty thanks, and those of my now happy wife, to the Histogenetic Medical Association for the deep interest they took in my case, which has resulted through God's blessing in my life being saved, when all else failed.

Yours, truly and gratefully,

Miss Etta Hilbert

Her Parents were in Despair

But She Was Brought Into Healthy Girlhood by

HOOD'S
Sarsaparilla

Mr. Edward Hilbert, of 183 Broadway, Lawrence, Mass., sends us the following:

"Ten years ago our child was born. Having lost six children we were naturally anxious as to the health of this one. What was our dismay and sorrow to find that she was apparently doomed to the same fate as the others. She had little strength as a baby, and did not improve as she grew older. When about 2 1-2 years old she began to have

dropping wherever she happened to be. At these times she would turn black and appeared at the point of death. Doctors told us she was in a very bad way from

Heart Trouble

Nothing that we gave her did any good until, in utter desperation, we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She gradually began to improve, the fainting fits became less and less frequent and finally ceased entirely. Her general health improved until at the end of a year, having taken seven bottles, we stopped giving it to her. At this time she was 4 years old, and, although anxious lest the troubles might return, we ceased to worry, she seemed so well. She is now 10 years old and is as a child as you will find anywhere and has never shown any indication of a return of the heart difficulty. During the past 6 years perhaps she has taken 3 bottles in all, we only giving it to her irregularly at times when she has complained of feeling tired in the spring and early summer. We feel that we owe a great deal to and cannot say too much in favor of it." EDWARD HILBERT, Lawrence, Mass.

Healthy and Rugged

FOOTBALL.

The leaders in the chief old country organizations are: English League, Preston North End; England Alliance, Notts Forest; Midland League, Burton Wanderers; Northern League, Ironopolis; Scottish League, Dumbarton. Sunderland will probably have displaced Preston North End before the season is over.

The only alteration suggested in the laws of the game at the forthcoming meeting of the English Rugby Football Union is a proposition to increase the value of a try from two to three points, and thus render two tries superior to a goal—dropped or placed.

BASEBALL.

Syracuse and Rochester have not yet raised the guarantee necessary for membership in the Eastern League. At last week's meeting it was decided to grant them an extension of time until April 1 before being required to deposit their guarantee. It is to be both cities or neither. If either fails to come to time, both will be dropped, and the following eight clubs will form the circuit: Buffalo, Albany, Troy, Philadelphia, Elmira, Binghamton, New Haven, Providence. The meeting then adjourned to convene in Albany April 5, for the adoption of a schedule and allotment of players. President White declares he will surprise the public when the names of the 55 players he has signed are announced. Many of them played in the big leagues last year.

AIDING THE PRISONERS.

A Prison Gate Home To Be Established in This City.

Public Meeting Last Night—The Prisoners' Aid Association Actively Engaged in the Work—Addresses by Staff-Captain Bolton, Ensign Archibald and Miss Neal—Money Already Subscribed.

A public meeting of the Prisoners' Aid Association was held in the City Hall last evening for the purpose of receiving and considering the report of a preliminary meeting of the association held for the purpose of furthering the establishment of a Prison Gate Home in this city. The Salvation Army was well represented, and a large number of citizens were also present. Rev. A. C. Courtice said that on account of illness Mayor Spencer was unable to be present and requested Mr. Sam Grigg, president of the Prisoners' Aid Association, to take the chair.

Mr. Grigg explained why the meeting had been called and asked Rev. Stephen Bond to lead in prayer.

Mr. Chas. Hutchinson, acting secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, held March 5. Mrs. Hutchinson, secretary, owing to family bereavement, was unable to be present last evening.

The Bishop of Huron wrote to express his regret at inability to attend.

Commissioner Rees, of the Salvation Army, sent a communication to the association setting forth the conditions under which the army would take control of the home. It contained the following: A suitable house should be obtained for a home in a convenient neighborhood. This home should have accommodation for not less than fifteen men, and should contain a bath-room and be fitted with a plentiful supply of hot and cold water. The house is to be furnished at a cost of not less than $400; the bedrooms to be fitted with single beds. The home shall be known as "The Salvation Army Prison Gate Home," and shall be governed and controlled by the Salvation Army. At stated times auxiliaries may conduct meetings in the home, and at all times have the privilege of sending ex-prisoners and other deserving persons to the home, provided that the home is not already full. The Salvation Army will labor to the utmost to make the home self-supporting. If, however, after a fair trial for twelve months from the date of opening we do not obtain the necessary assistance and support from the citizens of London to maintain the home, we shall be quite free to consider the advisability of discontinuing it. It will be readily understood that after the home is furnished, we shall require a sum of at least $500 to enable us to commence an industry which we suggest should be a wood yard, on account of its suitability in providing healthy and profitable occupation for the men.

Staff-Capt. Bolton said all good people should engage in the work of reform. Few people knew the amount of crime committed in Ontario. There were 42 common jails in this Province and last year there were 11,810 poor men and women placed behind the bars in these, beside hundreds of other prisoners in other penal institutions. Of these 11,810, 4,285 were married men. What an example these set to young men! Just as the Christian had an influence in a family so had the drunkard. In 1890 there were 754 confined in Middlesex county jail, and of these 338 were recommittals. In Toronto and Hamilton the officers of the army met prisoners as they were discharged from custody and took an interest in their future welfare. At 7:30 every Sabbath morning services were held in the prison at Toronto. Sometimes 200 were in attendance at these meetings. In Toronto there was a "Red Maria" for conveying discharged prisoners from the jail to the Prison Gate Home. The inmates were given employment and there was a commercial traveler to sell the shoes made. The first nine months he was on the road he took orders amounting to $3,300. After the inmates had won the confidence of the authorities good situations were obtained for them. During 1891, 135, some of them the worst men in Toronto, had been cared for and helped. A little was also done in the matrimonial line. Sixty-five of the 135 were last year placed in good situations; 46 had become Christians, and only 36 had not turned out satisfactory. Commissioner Rees hoped that action would be taken at once, and that before long a Prison Gate Home would be established in London.

Ensign Archibald, of the Salvation Army, was thankful that the Lord had allowed him to spend his life in this good work. In the Hamilton home during the last year 48 discharged prisoners were cared for, and only 8 of these turned out unsatisfactorily. Only two of those taken in charge by the Salvation Army last year in Hamilton had returned to jail.

Miss Neal, of Hamilton, a lady experienced in the work, gave a brief and touching sketch of the downward path of a young man and his subsequent reclamation through army instrumentality. Miss Neal had seen a good deal of the Prison Gate work recently done in Kingston, Toronto and Hamilton. The work as carried on by the army was very simple. The inmates loved the homes and trusted the officers.

It was moved by Thos. McCormick that "Whereas a resolution was passed at the preliminary meeting held in Victoria Hall this afternoon recommending the establishing of a Prison Gate Home in the city of London under the direction and control of the Salvation Army on the plan laid down by Commissioner Rees, of the Salvation Army, in his letter of Nov. 19, after hearing said scheme read and explained, this meeting expresses its approval thereof and agrees to adopt the same, and hereby pledges itself to do all that is reasonably in its power to carry on the work satisfactorily."

Bart. Cottam seconded the motion, and expressed his belief that something practical should be done at once. Many prisoners discharged from jail had been found situations by him, and many had been accommodated with beds.

The resolution was carried unanimously by those present.

It was moved by Rev. A. H. Rhodes and seconded by Rev. A. C. Courtice that the subscription list opened at the preliminary meeting yesterday afternoon be circulated at the meeting. Carried.

The mover and seconder made brief addresses showing that they were anxious to take an active part in having a home instituted in this city. Twelve interested persons subscribed $215 yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Courtice moved that H. A. Hodgson, Rev. Ira Smith, Rev. A. H. Rhodes, and Rev. S. Bond be added to the executive committee, and that they complete the canvass for the $500 necessary. Carried. The meeting then adjourned.

WITH THE WORKERS.

The Grand Trunk Trainmen's Troubles Cleared Away.

Printers Locked Out at Ottawa—Restricting Chinese Immigration—The Hamilton Molders.

The printers employed on the Ottawa Daily Citizen were locked out to-night. Mr. R. W. Shannon, the new proprietor, notified the men in the afternoon that their services were required no longer. He has engaged seven or eight printers formerly employed on the Montreal Herald, and has introduced three new Typograph machines. He is also receiving assistance from the Journal staff. Mr. Shannon proposes to make his office a non-union office. The discharged employes include Mr. C. Bouldreault, foreman and night editor, who has been connected with the paper for nineteen years.

THE GRAND TRUNK DIFFICULTY SETTLED.

TORONTO, March 28.—Delegates from every section of the G. T. R. system in Canada, from Montreal to Sarnia, assembled this afternoon in Local Manager Wragge's office to discuss the situation with the authorities. They were met by General Superintendent James Stephenson, from Montreal; Superintendent Stiff, of the southern division, and other officials. The conference lasted from 2 to 7 o'clock. Every complaint was discussed, and it is understood all differences were settled. Afterwards Mr. Stephenson stated that the meeting was most harmonious in character, and all difficulties were at an end between the company and employes. The men who were interviewed say the same.

The representatives of labor now in Ottawa waited on Mr. Gordon, M.P., and asked him to make his bill restricting Chinese immigration more strict if not prohibitive. Mr. Gordon thought further restriction must be gradual.

Although Joseph Payette has been in Montreal for a week or more, no more non-union molders have arrived at Hamilton, and the work in the shops that are running is going along as usual. No non-union men have left the city since Friday night. A few more city union men have gone. There are now between 80 and 90 men out, all receiving strike pay. The executive committee of the union has prepared a circular, copies of which are being mailed all over the country.

Another attempt is being made to settle the difficulty between the painters and master painters in Halifax, N. S.

At a mass meeting of workingmen, held in Sydney, N. S. W., a protest was adopted against the introduction of colored labor into the colony while white men were without work. The meeting demanded that the labor members of the Colonial Parliament urge the Legislature to prohibit the importation of black laborers.

A deputation representing the Ottawa Trades and Labor Council waited on Col. Prior, M.P., Victoria, B. C., and asked him to support Mr. Gordon's anti-Chinese bill. Mr. Prior refused.

Both Killed.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 28.—Jas. Galvin and Edward Welsh, two young men of this city, were killed on the New York and Massachusetts road, near the junction of the Hudson River Railway, this afternoon. They were leaning against an empty car, which was run into by a number of other cars, both men being thrown under the wheels and instantly killed. Galvin was aged 18 and Welch 20.

Indians on the Warpath.

GUTHRIE, O. T., March 29.—The Pawnee Indians have engaged in the ghost dance on their reservations during the past week, and have worked themselves into such a frenzy that they now openly declare their intention of going on the warpath. Two hundred bucks have donned their war clothes and have put on their war paint, and are being joined daily by others. Two troops of United States cavalry passed through here yesterday from Fort Reno to the Pawnee reservation to quell the uprising.

To the Christian Ladies of London and the World Over.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I am more than pleased to see the agitation now going on through the press and pulpit, and also in the Woman's Christian Associations, re water closets and sanitary arrangements in stores, offices and factories for the convenience of employes. I clerked in a store on Dundas street for over ten years where there were eight girls and ten men, and not a closet on the premises, and some of the employes lived such a distance they had to bring their dinners. The nearest convenience we had was the Grand Trunk station—nearly three blocks away. Now, I say it is a crying shame that should be looked into at once, as I know other places in the same predicament. I have seen many a young girl leave the place sick, and have heard it said it was for lack of proper accommodation. Now, this has got past mere sentiment. I would suggest that one or two of our police be appointed to make a thorough inspection of every such place in the city and report, as I understand business is dull in their line just now, thanks to the great temperance movement in our noble city. Very truly yours, MERCHANT.

P. S.—Is a landlord compelled to supply proper closet accommodation, or is there any compulsion about it? M.

[Not at present, but under the new law he properly will be.—EDITOR ADVERTISER.]

The City Weigh Scales.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I see that it is proposed to let the weigh scales by tender, and I as a tax-payer in the city decidedly object to so doing. What do we want a city weigh scales for? Is it solely for the purpose of raising a revenue or is it to see that justice is done between the buyer and seller and for the accommodation of both? If this view is correct the annual renting of the scales will undoubtedly defeat that object, as it stands to reason that there are very few who will be able or willing to work for nothing, not to speak of losing time and money. So far the system has been a success; both Mr. McIntosh and Mr. Healy have proven themselves honest men and neither of them were wholly depending upon the receipts of the scales for a livelihood. But let the sum to be paid equal or exceed the receipts and the inevitable result would be that either the buyer or seller would be bled and the reputation of our market injured. "Live and let live" is a good old motto; go farther than that and you put a premium on dishonesty. I understand Mr. Healy offered to take a salary of $450 per annum or give the rental he now pays. EPPS'S COCOA—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly-nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. THE DEADLY PARALLEL.

Let every unprejudiced reader study the positions which the London Free Press has taken in regard to the bogus votes in the course of little over a month. We place its views in parallel columns:

[Attitude of Free Press, Feb. 19.

The Free Press, on behalf of the Conservatives, accepted the decision of the Court of Appeal as just what its party friends wanted, and expressed its assurance that they would win the election on the honest voters' list, and were most anxious that the names should be removed. Here are the remarks of the Free Press on this point:

"The Liberals will seek to make capital out of the decision of the Court of Appeal respecting 220 names on the London voters' list. Let no one be deceived. The Conservatives never for one moment counted on those names, and it was they who pressed for an early decision of the court, as shown by the Globe's report the other day. Had those names remained on the Conservatives would have stood 534 ahead of the Liberals on the list; but as it is they are quite content with the net gain of 314."

And that there might be no mistaking its verdict, the Free Press added:

"Let every voter rest assured that the Conservatives wanted these 220 names out of the way before polling day."

[Free Press, March 22

All the forced indignation that has been expressed over the London election is based on the presumption that the votes in appeal had been "struck off after being duly inquired into and found invalid upon evidence adduced. This is not the case. These votes were and are on the list for the reverse reason, that they had not been inquired into at all. They were put on the list by the revising officer as taken from the assessment roll, or by sworn declaration, and were prima facie good votes until they were properly and legally attacked and proven to be bad. This was not done. They were not legally attacked, and therefore not attacked at all.

On Feb. 19, Mr. Carling's friends were hopeful they could win without the bogus votes. In that case the bogus votes would not have been counted, and our unfortunate contemporary would not have been forced into the plight in which it now finds itself. Mr. Carling was defeated, with the "220 names out of the way before polling day," and then Judge Elliot got in his fine work. He had been arguing on the streets and through the columns of the Free Press, that Mr. Carling should have the seat, and even though they were previously demolished—and rightly so, the Free Press being our authority—by the unanimous judgment of the two superior courts. The Free Press is equal to the emergency, too. It supported the judgment of the superior courts so long as there was a chance of getting Mr. Carling to Parliament without the bogus vote. But the moment the bogus votes are required it as cheerfully reverses its position, and assumed that all its pre-election arguments must be upset! The upholders of the outrage are paying a big price for their hollow victory, and the end is not yet.

CHICAGO, March 28.

To-day broke the record this year for low prices in the wheat pit. The figures for May, the ruling option, crashed down to 79c. A year ago this time a bushel for the same delivery was several cents above a dollar. The demoralization produced one failure, that of C. P. Doerr & Co., who were on the wrong side of the market with 500,000 bushels of wheat in their hands. Partridge is represented as having said to-day that he did not propose to sell wheat short at 80c. Willard, in Kennett's Gossip, says: "Wheat ought to be worth 80c at least until the Government report is published. If that shows the crop in good condition it will probably sell at 75c." Corn showed a good deal of strength in the face of the big decline in wheat. May opened at 39½c, weakened during the last hour mainly in sympathy with wheat, and fell to 39¾c. Oats were hardly so firm as corn, but the decline was slight; May sold at 28¾c to 29c, but dropped during the last hour to 28⅜c, closed at 28½c. Hog products were higher.

A JUDGE DENOUNCES A JURY.

Disagreed on a Murder Case, and the Court Says They Disgrace Society.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—The jury in the case of Robert J. Cascaden, on trial for the murder of Policeman Ernest E. Findley, has been discharged by Judge Arnold.

Upon retiring the jury took a vote and stood nine for a first degree verdict to three for a second degree. Neither side would give in. Judge Arnold was indignant, and, turning to the jurymen, said:

"It is incredible that men of average intelligence should stand out against a verdict of murder in the first degree in the face of the evidence which has been given in this court. You are not only a disgrace to society, but are clearly defeating the ends of justice. Hereafter it need cause no surprise if citizens should be assaulted on the streets without interference on the part of the police.

THE GREAT LONDON STEAL.

Further Strong Condemnation by Leading Newspapers of the Dominion.

Facts Which Cannot Be Sneered Down or Laughed Out of Hearing by Unscrupulous Partisans.

The Logical Outcome.

IF GUILTY OF ONE HALF THE CHARGES MADE AGAINST HIM JUDGE ELLIOT MUST GO.

The impeachment of Judge Elliot of London by the Liberals is the logical outcome of the London election case. If Judge Elliot be guilty of but one half of the charges preferred in the petition to be presented to the House of Commons to-day, he is manifestly unfit to occupy a judicial position. The judges are responsible to the Parliament of Canada, and in answer to the impeachment, Judge Elliot will be obliged to clear himself completely to satisfy the people of Canada, though probably the Conservative majority at Ottawa will not be so exacting.—[Montreal Herald.

Must Be Rebuked.

THE END CANNOT JUSTIFY THE MEANS IN DISPENSING JUSTICE.

A motion is to be made at Ottawa for the impeachment of Judge Elliot, of London, for gross partisanship. For the credit of the Canadian judiciary, and to insure respect for its future judgments in political matters, it is to be hoped the offense of the London judge will not be permitted, even by the Abbottites, to go unrebuked. It is far more important to maintain the dignity of the Canadian bench than it is to protect a judicial partisan, but we are not at all sure that the Premier, who has declared the gospel that "the end justifies the means," will look at the matter in that way.—[Brantford Expositor.

"Haunted."

"A PECULIARLY CONTEMPTIBLE PIECE OF PETTY LARCENY."

The Parliamentary reports informed the world one day last week that Hon. John Carling had taken his seat in the House amid tremendous applause on the Conservative side. This announcement contained a slight inaccuracy. It was Mr. Charles S. Hyman's seat the honorable gentleman took, as it is admitted by all parties that Mr. Hyman received a clear majority of the legitimate votes cast in the election. The ballots which constituted Mr. Carling's majority were those cast by persons who, according to the ruling of the revising officer, had no right to vote; they were counted, however, by virtue of a decision rendered by Judge Elliot of the County Court, and upon this decision Mr. Carling and the Government propose to take their stand. Whatever may be said for Judge Elliot's law (which happens to be in opposition to that of the Superior Court judges), nothing can be said for his justice. The seat has been flagrantly stolen, and in view of the great majority already enjoyed by the Government, the theft is a peculiarly contemptible piece of petty larceny. The Conservative members of the House would have displayed more self-respect if they had permitted the new "member" to appropriate the other man's property in silence, for they knew the facts of the case. The Conservative members of the British Parliament, under similar circumstances, would have received Mr. Carling with a hurricane of hisses, and, furthermore, would have insisted on justice being done. It is this sort of peanut politics that is rendering Canada contemptible. Surely there are some members of the Ministry and of the party in office who are above such a scurvy piece of business, though none have yet dared to say so openly. We certainly never supposed that Sir John Thompson would stoop to such tactics. We would like that gentleman—or any other member of the Cabinet or of the House—to answer plainly this plain question: Do you honestly believe that Hon. John Carling was fairly elected by the rightful voters of London? — [Toronto Grip.

Higher Courts Set Aside.

MR. CARLING CAN REPRESENT NO ONE BUT JUDGE ELLIOT.

Our legal system is supposed to rest largely upon the decision of the judges. The judges of the higher courts bind all those below. Seven Superior Court judges decided that the notices served by the Liberals objecting to certain Tory votes on the supplementary and old list were sufficient. The revising barrister struck the votes off as not having any proper right to vote. The county judge over-rides the decision of the Court of Queen's Bench and the Court of Appeal and puts the names back on. The result is that Mr. Carling, defeated by the qualified voters, is elected by Judge Elliot's decision. This is rather a new system of representation. To whom must Mr. Carling give an account of his stewardship? Not to London, for London rejected him. Not to the appealed voters for they were off the list according to the statute and were only put back on by the illegal juggling of the deputy of Sir John Thompson. If not to these then to whom should he account? Manifestly the only claim he has to representation is through Judge Elliot. The account of his stewardship would be interesting reading.—[Parkhill Gazette.

The Burglar's Dissatisfaction.

A NEWSPAPER DEFENDER OF THEFT OF POPULAR RIGHTS EXPOSED.

Surely that utterly depraved journal, the London Free Press, is now possessed by a picturesque longing for tranquility. Its sorrow is not to repentance but is akin to that which a burglar feels when the dissatisfaction of the party whom he has robbed threatens to interfere with his enjoyment of the proceeds of a crime.—[Toronto Telegram (Independent Conservative.)

A Humiliating Spectacle.

CHEERING THE BENEFICIARY OF A RASCALLY SCHEME TO DEFEAT THE POPULAR WILL.

Dis-"honest" John Carling was loudly cheered when he took his seat in Parliament. Should the judicial partisan who stole the seat for him go down to Ottawa he also would receive an ovation. But the cheers may come from the other side before the House is through with the family compact which engineered this electoral fraud. —[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

"Downright Swindling."

THAT IS WHAT ONE HONEST CONSERVATIVE JOURNAL CALLS IT.

No man of self-respect, least of all a Minister of the Crown, should allow his reputation to be imperiled by such hocus-pocus work as that now going on in London. No great party should sully its record by furnishing the legislative means to make it possible. If Mr. Carling takes the seat for London he will do so by virtue of the Dominion Franchise Act, not by the will of the people; and no matter what the legal aspects of the question, no matter how fine spun and ingenious the arguments used to bolster an obviously crooked cause, the people will never be convinced that an injustice has not been done, or that the dominant party has not taken a mean advantage of the weaker side. There is no argument which can justify the Dominion Franchise Act or the enormous expenditure it involves. Its effect is to center more and more the power of the franchise in the hands of party heelers and ward bosses and take it out of the hands of the people; to make of the voter a pawn to be played by the party politician. A man with the qualification of ten voters may be left off the list altogether, while one with no qualification at all may be put on by the connivance of a venal partisan. No matter how nice it may be in theory, in practical operation it leaves so much room for irregularities and injustice, if not downright swindling, that it cannot too quickly be abolished.—[Manitoulin Expositor (Conservative).

"Out of Their Own Mouths."

SHAME SHOULD COVER THE WHOLE CROWD WHO ENGINEERED THE GREAT RASCALITY.

The London Conservatives are being convicted out of their own mouths of having secured the election of Mr. Carling to Parliament by means of bogus votes. On the 19th of February the Free Press, the organ of the party, said editorially:

"The Liberals will seek to make capital out of the decision of the Court of Appeal respecting 220 names on the London voters' list. Let no one be deceived. The Conservatives never for one moment, counted on those names, and it was they who pressed for an early decision of the court, as shown by the Globe's report the other day. Had those names remained on the Conservatives would have stood 534 ahead of the Liberals on the list; but as it is they are quite content with the net gain of 314. Let every voter rest assured that the Conservatives wanted these 220 names out of the way before polling day."

A more explicit admission than this, that the names in question had no right to be on the voters' list; in fact that they had, virtually, been removed, could not be made, and yet it was by using these votes, admitted by the Free Press to be bogus, that Mr. Carling now holds his seat in Parliament. The Free Press, Mr. Carling and all connected with the disgraceful proceedings should be ashamed of themselves. Out of their own mouths let them be judged. After this, what security has any constituency that the man properly elected will be allowed to take his seat, so long as by virtue of the Franchise Act any number of bogus votes can be held in reserve to be used or not as party necessity may require? If Mr. Carling could have been elected without those bogus votes, it is evident by the remarks of the Free Press that they would not have been used; but it was found that without them he was in a minority, hence the bogus votes must be counted, and all this disgraceful hocusing can be carried out under a law of this Dominion. If there is anything worse than this in the United States or any other country we would like to know of it.

The ADVERTISER also broadly insinuates, and the statement is otherwise made, that Judge Elliot, whose judicial decision was required before this iniquity could be perpetrated, was, during and before the election a contributor to the columns of the Free Press, the Conservative organ. Such an insinuation as this should not be allowed to go unchallenged for even a day. The independence of the judiciary is too important a thing to be trifled with. If Judge Elliot does not take steps to make the ADVERTISER retract its insinuations, there is good presumptive evidence that the charge is well founded, and a commission should be appointed at once to investigate his conduct. If he is a partisan of that kind there is no room for him on the Canadian Bench and he should be removed, so he could indulge his penchant for partisan writing in the political press without casting discredit upon Canadian courts, by giving grounds for even suspicion that the decision may be tainted by partisanship. We must keep the judiciary pure and free from political or partisan taint at all hazards. But if our judges are allowed to dabble in political discussions by becoming writers in the political press, their independence will soon be a thing of the past.—[Seaforth Expositor.

Two of a Kind.

THE MEMBER FOR JUDGE ELLIOT HAS A CHUM IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. Carling, the Minister of Agriculture, who was not elected by London, and Mr. Baird, who was not elected in Queen's county, will be able to keep one another in countenance in the House of Commons. Mr. Baird was once fairly shamed out of the House, but at that time he had no companion in disgrace. With "honest" John Carling sitting on the Ministerial benches as the representative of voters whose names were struck off the list by a Conservative revising barrister, Mr. Baird will naturally feel that people's eyes will not first turn upon him when mention of members who were not fairly elected is made.—[Mitchell Recorder.

Resignation Asked For.

JUDGE ELLIOT'S GROSS MISCONDUCT CONDEMNED BY ALL INDEPENDENT PAPERS.

The London case is, however, the most glaring, and the decision in this case of Judge Elliot has called forth the strong condemnation not only of the Reform press but of the Independent press as well without a single exception. It is also clear that if the charges in the press are even half true, Judge Elliot has committed a gross crime, and his resignation should be asked for without delay, and if refused, steps should be taken to have him impeached, and removed from office.—[Wiarton Echo (Independent).

It Breeds Corruption.

THE INFAMOUS FRANCHISE RENDERED THE STEAL POSSIBLE.

The legal squabble following the recent Hyman-Carling contest in London shows with unmistakable clearness the evils attending the present system of allowing one man more than one vote. Had but resident voters been permitted a voice in the contest much unnecessary trouble and expense would have been avoided. We hold up both hands for one man one vote and no imported voters. The privilege of the ballot to non-resident voters has a demoralizing tendency, and goes a great way toward breeding corruption in elections. Let qualified resident voters alone deposit ballots and much of the irregular practices so common in modern politics will be done away with, and there will be fewer contested elections.—[Point Edward Post.

—At Osgoode Hall on Monday in the case of Struthers vs. Green, D. Armour, for the plaintiffs, appealed from the taxation of the costs of the defendants, the Molsons Bank, by the deputy-registrar at London, the appellants contending that the costs should be taxed upon the lower scale under rule 1219 (4), the subject matter not exceeding $200. The action was brought to set aside a transfer of certain notes and securities as fraudulent and void, and for an account. Rowell, for the defendants, the Molsons Bank, contra. Judgment was reserved.

A St. Thomas Landmark Burned.

On Sunday night a vacant frame house in the west end of St. Thomas, near the London and Port Stanley gravel road, was burned. It was one of the oldest buildings in the city. Old residents remember its being there at least before 1850. It was at one time surrounded by well-kept grounds, and Mr. Dalton, a brother-in-law of John Carling, resided in it. A man named Peter Dunn suicided by hanging in it about nine years ago. Latterly it has not been occupied. It belonged to N. W. Moore, and was of small value. It was probably set set fire to by boys.

Bill Dodd's Indian Yarn.

Several of the jurymen at the St. Thomas Assizes arrived early on Monday morning and spent the forenoon in the courtroom swapping stories. William Dodd told a good one about an incident that happened when the Elgin settlers had to come to London to do their legal business. Mr. Dodd's father was summoned on the jury and "hoofed" it over to London the day the court was announced to open. In those days the Court House was surrounded by a dense swamp, and London itself was but a one horse village. Mr. Dodd and his brother jurors arrived on time, but the judge failed to connect. He was seen in the neighborhood the day before as full as a tick and a diligent search failed to discover his whereabouts. The lawyers, jurymen and litigants first got mad over the delay. Then they saw this did not mend matters, and one of the lawyers who was a wag got Rufus Turkey, a celebrated redskin, who was a terror to the settlers, to go on the bench and take the seat of the justice. Rufus was furnished with a gown and togged out in judicial style. He sat on the bench as straight as the proverbial Indian and more dignified than the average judge. A case was called by one of the lawyers, a jury empaneled and evidence was being taken when the judge was discovered in the swamp where he had got lost the night before and brought into court. He walked up to the Indian and ordered him to vacate the bench, but Rufus had had a taste of judicial dignity and he declined. The judge could only induce him to leave the bench by making a compromise. The office of high sheriff was given him, and he announced that fact to the crowd before he came down, and told the lawyers they "must act accordingly."

JAMES McPHAIL IN TROUBLE.

A Wardsville School Trustee Arrested, Charged with Having Appropriated $700 of the School Funds.

By the midnight train last night there arrived in this city, James McPhail, an official of the village of Wardsville. For seven years he has been secretary-treasurer of the High School Board, and was looked on as a trustworthy and valuable man. Yesterday two of the trustees of the school came to this city and swore out a warrant charging McPhail with having appropriated $700 of the school funds, which were held by him. Detective Allen went to Wardsville last night, arrested him and brought him to this city. They registered at the City Hotel, Detective Allen not taking his prisoner to jail. McPhail denied the charge. The trustees allege that the money was disposed of some time in February. It is stated, however, that $400 of the missing money was lost some time ago through the failure of one of the village banks. He was taken before Squire Peters this morning and bailed to appear a week from to-day.

Thirty-Two Horses Saved from a Livery Stable at Owen Sound.

OWEN SOUND, March 28.—About 5 this morning fire broke out in Stoddard's livery. The building being frame the flames spread rapidly, and it was with difficulty that the 32 horses in the building were saved. The rigs, harness and robes were consumed. The building, which was owned by Jas. Johnson, was valued at $1,000 and insured in the Western Assurance for $500, and is a total loss. Stoddard's loss, $3,000; insurances are Northern Insurance $1,000, Gore Mutual $3,000, part of this being on horses. The fire is supposed to be the work of incendiaries. The men who sleep in the barn had a narrow escape.

THE TURF.

SPECULATION ON THE QUEEN'S PLATE.

London parties are evidently going to stand by their Queen's Plate candidates, or especially Alberta. The Forest citizens sent down a lot of money last week for the winter books and backed the Hodgens filly heavily at 20 to 1 and 14 to 1, the latter figure having been forced on Saturday. Bay Court, the other London candidate, was not so much in demand. Berlin and Waterloo money came in fast on Seagram's O'Donoghue, the latest odds against the b.c. being 6 to 1, which makes him the present favorite for the guineas. Next comes the Woodstock filly and a fair amount at 8 to 1 was placed on Japonica. Gorman's Gladstone already carries considerable. Not a dollar has been placed on either of the Hendrie fillies.—[Toronto World.

The Czar Quarreled with His Brother.

BERLIN, March 29.—It is reported on good authority from St. Petersburg that the Czar has had a serious quarrel with his brother, the Grand Duke Vladimir, who has resigned all his offices, intending to live abroad. The quarrel was due to the Czar presenting the crown estate of Pavlovsk, tenanted by his uncle, the late Grand Duke Constantine, to the younger Grand Duke Constantine, instead of to Vladimir, who claimed it.

Steamer Eider Released.

LONDON, March 29.—Wrecking steamers pulled the steamer Eider off at Herfeld ledge this morning and she is now in tow bound for Southampton. It will require an immense sum of money to repair the damage to the vessel, for not only is her hull damaged, but her saloon furnishings are about completely destroyed by the sea washing in and out of her. The company, however, will have her thoroughly repaired, and it is believed she will shortly be again employed in the transatlantic trade.

The Curate Was Clinched.

LONDON, March 29.—A disgraceful incident occurred Sunday in Trinity Church, South end. A new rector of the church had discharged the curate named Waller; but, regardless of his dismissal, the curate appeared in the church as usual, and began the service. The rector also proceeded to hold service and the contending services roused the anger of the congregation. The police were called in to remove Waller, but he fought so desperately that he had to be thrown to the floor before he would submit. During the struggle a number of women and children fainted. The curate was dragged to the vestry, from which he insisted upon walking to the police station in his full clerical garb, being followed by a howling mob. He was committed on a charge of brawling.

CHAPTER XX.

Long before I had any thought of writing this story, I had told it so often to my little maid,* (*This is what he always called me, but I am not so very little.—M.) that she now knows some of it better than I. If you saw me looking up from my paper to ask her, "What was it that Birse said to Jean about the minister's flowers?" or, "Where was Hendry Munn hidden on the night of the riots?" and heard her confident answers, you would conclude that she had been in the thick of these events instead of born some years after them. I mention this now because I have reached a point where her memory contradicts mine. She maintains that Rob Dow was told of the meeting in the wood by the two boys whom it disturbed, while my own impression is that he witnessed it. If she is right Rob must have suceeded in frightening the boys into telling no other person, for certainly the scandal did not spread in Thrums. After all, however, it is only important to know that Rob did learn of the meeting. Its first effect was to send him sullenly to the drink.

Many a time since these events I have pictured what might have been their upshot had Dow confided their discovery to me. Had I suspected how Rob was grown to dour again, Gavin's future might have been very different. I was meeting Rob now and again in the glen, asking with an affected carelessness he did not bottom for news of the little minister, but what he told me was only the gossip of the town, and what I should have known, that Thrums might never know it, he kept to himself. I suppose he feared to speak to Gavin, who made several efforts to reclaim him, but without avail.

Yet Rob's heart opened for a moment to one man, or rather was forced open by him. A few days after the meeting at the well Rob was bringing the smell of whisky with him down Banker's Close when he ran against a famous staff, with which the doctor pinned him to the wall.

"Ah," said the outspoken doctor, looking contemptuously into Rob's bleary eyes, "so this is what your conversion amounts to? Faugh! Rob Dow, if you were half a man the very thought of what Mr. Dishart has done for you would make you run past the public houses."

"It's the thocht o' him that sends me ranning to them," growled Rob knocking down the staff. "Let me alane.

"What do you mean by that?" demanded McQueen, hooking him this time.

"Speir at himsel'; speir at the woman."

"What woman?"

"Take your staff out o' my neck."

"Not till you tell me why you of all people are speaking against the minister."

Torn by a desire for a confidant and loyalty to Gavin, Rob was already in a fury.

"Say again," he burst forth, "that I was speaking agin the minister and I'll practice on you what I'm awid to do to her."

"Who is she?"

"Wha's wha?"

"The woman whom the minister——"

"I said nothing about a woman," said poor Rob, alarmed for Gavin. "Doctor, I'm ready to swear afore a bailie that I never saw them thegither at the Kaims."

"The Kaims!" exclaimed the doctor, suddenly enlightened. "Pooh! you only mean the Egyptian. Rob make your mind easy about this. I know why he met her there."

"Do you ken that she has bewitched him; do you ken I saw him trying to put his arms round her; do you ken they have a trysting-place in Caddam wood?"

This came from Rob in a rush, and he would fain have called it all back.

"I'm drunk, doctor, roaring drunk," he said hastily, "and it wasna the minister I saw ava; it was another man."

Nothing more could the doctor draw from Rob, but he had heard sufficient to smoke some pipes on. Like many who pride themselves on being recluses, McQueen loved the gossip that came to him uninvited; indead, he opened his mouth to it as greedily as any man in Thrums. He respected Gavin, however, too much to find this new dish palatable, and so his researches to discover whether other Auld Lichts shared Rob's fears were conducted with caution. "Is there no word of your minister's getting a wife yet?" he asked several, but only got for answer, "There's word o' a Glasgow leddy's sending him baskets o' flowers," or "He has his e'en open, but he's taking his time; ay, he's looking for the blade o' corn in the stack o' chaff."

This convinced McQueen that the congregation knew nothing of the Egyptian, but it did not satisfy him, and he made an opportunity of inviting Gavin into the surgery. It was to the doctor, the cosiest nook in his house, but to me and many others a room that smelled of hearses. On the top of the pipes and tobacco tins that littered the table there usually lay a death certificate, placed there deliberately by the doctor to scare his sister, who had a passion for putting the surgery to rights.

"By the way," McQueen said, after he and Gavin had talked a little while, "did I ever advise you to smoke?"

"It is your usual form of salutation," Gavin answered, laughing. "But I don't think you ever supplied me with a reason."

"I daresay not. I am too experienced a doctor to cheapen my prescriptions in that way. However, here is one good reason. I have noticed, sir, that at your age a man is either a slave to a pipe or to a woman. Do you want me to lend you a pipe now?"

"Then I am to understand," asked Gavin slyly, "that your locket came into your possession in your pre-smoking days, and that you merely wear it from habit?"

"Tuts," answered the doctor, buttoning his coat, "I told you there was nothing in the locket. If there is I have forgotten what it is."

"You are a hopeless old bachelor, I see," said Gavin, unaware that the doctor was probing him. He was surprised next moment to find McQueen in the ecstasies of one who has won a rubber.

"Now, then," cried the jubilant doctor, "as you have confessed so much, tell me all about her. Name and address, please."

"Confess. What have I confessed?"

"It won't do, Mr. Dishart, for even your face betrays you. No, no, I am an old bird, but I have not forgotten the ways of the fledglings. 'Hopeless bachelor,' sir, is a sweetmeat in every young man's mouth until of a sudden he finds it sour, and that means the banns. When is it to be?

"We must find the lady first," said the minister uncomfortably.

"You tell me, in spite of that face, that you have not fixed on her?"

"The difficulty, I suppose, would be to persuade her to fix on me."

"Not a bit of it. But you admit there is someone?"

"Who would have me?"

"You are wriggling out of it. Is it the banker's daughter?"

"No," Gavin cried.

"I hear you have walked up the back-wynd with her three times this week. The town is in a ferment about it."

"She is a great deal in the back-wynd."

"Fiddle-de-dee! I am oftener in the back-wynd than you, and I never meet her there."

"That is curious."

"No, it isn't, but never mind. Perhaps you have fallen to Miss Pennycuick's piano? Did you hear it going as we passed the house?"

"She seems always to be playing on her piano."

"Not she; but you are supposed to be musical, and so when she sees you from her window she begins to thump. If I am in the School-wynd and hear the piano going, I know you will turn the corner immediately. However, I am glad to hear it is not Miss Pennycuick. Then it is the factor at the Spittal's sister? Well done, sir. You should arrange to have the wedding at the same time as the old earl's, which comes off in summer, I believe."

"One foolish marriage is enough in a day, doctor."

"Eh? You call him a fool for meaning to marry a young wife? Well, no doubt he is, but he would have been a bigger fool to marry an old one. However, it is not Lord Rintoul we are discussing, but Gavin Dishart. I suppose you know that the factor's lassie is an heiress?"

"And, therefore, would scorn me."

"Try her," said the doctor dryly. "Her father and mother, as I know, married on a ten-pound note. But if I am wrong again I must adopt the popular view in Thrums. It is a Glasgow lady after all? Man, you needn't look indignant at hearing that the people are discussing your intended. You can no more avoid it than a doctor's orders could keep Lang Tammas out of church. They have discovered that she sends you flowers twice every week."

"They never reach me," answered Gavin, then remembered the holly and winced.

"Some," persisted the relentless doctor, "even speak of your having been seen together; but of course if she is a Glasgow lady that is a mistake."

"Where did they see us?" asked Gavin, with a sudden trouble in his throat.

"You are shaking," said the doctor keenly, "like a medical student at his first operation. But as for the story that you and the lady have been seen together, I can guess how it arose. Do you remember that gypsy girl?"

The doctor had begun by addressing the fire, but he suddenly wheeled round and fired his question in the minister's face. Gavin, however, did not even blink.

Every Time.

For the pains and aches of suffering humanity there is one great remedy, of which it is said, as in the following, that it cures every time. Toronto, Ont.: "I am pleased to say I have used St. Jacobs Oil for the various purposes of a family liniment, and can confidently recommend it as a very valuable preparation. It fills the bill every time, and truly conquers all pain." H. M. STEVENSON.

For chapped hands try washing them in soft water to which a handfull of cornmeal has been added.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

OUR CONDITION DEMANDS ATTENTION!

What We Should Do.

At this season we daily hear our friends complaining about their health; they talk of having the blues; they feel inactive; some are weak, weary, and look worn out. Many are grievously afflicted with nervousness, headaches, dyspepsia, nausea and biliousness. All are anxiously concerned about their condition, and are sighing and wishing for better days. Let us remind these individuals that the great life stream—the blood—which is the source of life, is now sluggish and very impure. It requires cleansing—filtering—to enable it to course freely, so that it may supply every tissue with power and life.

All dregs and impurities must be removed at once, if perfect health and strength is desired. The great nervous organism must be reinforced and strengthened, flesh must be built, and the whole system fortified for the great change of weather.

"How am I to do this?" "What agent is necessary to give me the health that I so eagerly look for?"

To the man or woman who asks these questions, we would simply say, you require an agent that has been well tested—one that our best doctors can recommend. The great remedy for you case is certainly Paine's Celery Compound, as its results in past spring seasons have amply proved.

No other remedy dare honestly approach our people with such assurances of good results. Our best people have given it a place in their homes, and have taken the trouble of publicly testifying in its favor. The proprietors of other medicines often publish lengthy letters of testimony, but these letters have no genuine authors—most of them are false and misleading.

Paine's Celery Compound is founded on the rock of truth and honesty. It has no object to gain by making false representations and publishing spurious letters.

If you are not in a healthy condition, reader, at this season, we strongly advise you to test a bottle, and see for yourself what virtues there are in this great preparation—Paine's Celery Compound. We think when physicians prescribe it, you cannot err much in using it. It cures every time.

FUN, FACTS AND FICTION.

Queen Marguerite of Italy will loan her collection of rare laces for the exposition at Chicago.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority

The furnishing and arranging of a house is, in nine cases out of ten, an index of the character of its mistress.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Society and its claims wear out more men and women than work does. In other words, society conquers us in the long race.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents. ywt

We ought not to yield so readily to what we call our "natural temperament." We should exert our will and triumph over our disagreeable tendencies.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

It is expected that the lacquer tree (Rhus vernicifera) will be planted in Germany, so that Europeans can be taught the art of lacquering wood by some expert worker from Japan.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

Sin is most facinating when you cannot see its face.

"How to Cure All Skin Diseases."

Simply apply "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for SWAYNE'S OINTMENT. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal wholesale agents. ywt

It doesn't make a lie any whiter to put it on a tombstone.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

The man who leans on his blessings is a lame man on crutches.

A Sensible Man

Would use Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. It is curing more cases of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all Throat and Lung Troubles, than any other medicine. The proprietor has authorized any druggist to give you a Sample Bottle Free to convince you of the merit of this great remedy. Large Bottles 50c and $1. ywt

No matter how small a sin, follow it and it will lead you straight to the devil.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of and other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

A few drops of benzein in the water will be apt to give the complexion a slight tinge of color.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

NOT A MIRACLE.

In these days there are no miracles. People are not cured by them or deceived by statements to that effect.

Indigestion, sour stomach, dyspepsia, in fact all stomach troubles are produced by the fermenting of the food, the result of which must be acid that decomposes the food, involving gasses which act on various nerves by pressure. Neutralize the acid and the disease ceases.

That is what Brunton's Curative Fluid will do. Being composed of a combination of potasses, it neutralizes the acid, assist digestion and purifies the blood.

has two pipes, one covering the valve rod (dry pipe) and the one conveying the water to the spout (wet pipe). The rod in this hydrant is actuated by a brass screw and handle above, and raising plunger the smallest fraction of an inch, closes waste before any water can enter discharge pipe. With the valve open we have the full and unobstructed flow of water through the hydrant which can well be compared to a straight way valve or round-way cock. Closing the valve empties all water from wet pipe through dry hole. To repair hydrant or washer remove top cap or plate and withdraw plunger valve. It can be readily repaired without digging up.

Is This Your Turn?

A gentleman visiting a patient in a hospital said to the attendant, "That sick man's father is my mother's son." What relationship existed between the visitor and the patient?

THE QUEEN will give an elegant Mason & Risch fine toned upright piano to the first person answering the above problem correctly; an elegant gold watch for the second correct answer; a china dinner set for the third correct answer; an elegant silk dress pattern for the fourth correct answer, and many other valuable prizes. An elegant special prize will be given for the first correct answer from a reader of this paper. Each person answering must inclose five three-cent stamps for copy of THE QUEEN for April, containing full particulars, and a beautiful water-color engraving, "Easter Morning." This announcement appears simultaneously throughout Canada to-day. Answer promptly, as postmarks count. Address THE CANADIAN QUEEN, "X," Toronto, Ont.

N. B.—THE QUEEN gives away one piano each month during 1892. The winner of the piano in the last (closes) problem was Miss May Gormley, of Hamilton, Ont.

A Cure for Constipation and Headache
Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion, it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50 cents a package.

TWO TENNYSON LYRICS.

Love flew in at the window,
As Wealth walk'd in at the door.
"You have come for you saw Wealth coming," said I.
But he flutter'd his wings with a sweet little cry,
I'll cleave to your rich or poor.

Wealth dropt out of the window,
Poverty crept thro' the door.
"Well now you would fain follow Wealth," said I,
But he flutter'd his wings as he gave me the lie,
I cling to you all the more.

The bee buzz'd up in the heat.
"I am faint for your honey, my sweet."
The flower said, Take it, my dear,
For now is the spring of the year.
"So come, come!"
"Hum!"
And the bee buzz'd down from the heat.

And the bee buzz'd up in the cold
When the flower was wither'd and old.
"Have you still any honey, my dear?"
She said, "It's the fall of the year.
But come, come?"
"Hum!"
And the bee buzz'd off in the cold.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Snowdrops have blossomed out in different parts of the city.

—Sim Fax, the Woodstock vocalist, will move with his family to London.

—Inspector Donovan, of the separate schools, was in the city to-day on business.

—Mrs. McIntosh, of Detroit, is the guest of Miss Jennie Porter, Talbot street.

—Mr. George M. Reid is on an eastern trip in the interest of Reid Bros., and was in Ottawa yesterday.

—Judge Mackenzie, of Sarnia, has postponed his judgment on the London election betting case for a week.

—Major H. A. Gray, of Toronto, and Capt. R. Dillon, of Oshawa, are among the military men in the city.

—The sale of seats for Professor Clark's recital Thursday night assures him a large audience. He is very popular in the city.

—Dr. Wishart has been confined to St. Joseph's Hospital with a severe attack of congestion of the lungs. He is slowly recovering.

—The Bishop of Huron preached last evening at St. John's Church in Glencoe, and a liberal collection was taken up on behalf of the building fund.

—The Young Liberals have rented a room in Hunt's block, and will commence practicing at once for the grand musicale to be given in a few weeks.

—Mr. and Miss Whitehead, of Craig street, South London, will go to England for a prolonged visit in a few days. They will be much missed in local philanthropic circles.

—Miss Annie Cowan, of London, Ont., who has been visiting Mrs. Cavell, of Madison avenue for the past few weeks, returned home a few days ago.—[Toronto World.

—Miss Edith Busby, of Queen street, South London, left yesterday on a visit to her relatives in Ottawa. A large number of young friends were at the station to see her off.

—No matter what Judge Mackenzie's decision on the betting case may be there are several similar actions coming up at the May Assizes. The amounts in stake average $500.

—Mrs. Prudence Donnelly says she is afraid of Mrs. Ettie Beatty and wants her bound over to keep the peace. These are the ladies who figured in the pitch-fork case. It comes up to-morrow.

—City Engineer Graydon will go to Montreal this week to glean information respecting his suggestion about centralizing the electric wires on fewer poles. Mr. R. Ironside will act during his absence.

—It is understood that Mr. Wm. White has disposed of his 100-acre farm, being the south half of lot 11, con. 13, London township, for $6,000. The farm is considered one of the best in the township.

—Mrs. Miller, proprietress of the Renwick Restaurant, entertained her boarders and a number of their friends at an oyster supper last evening. The usual toasts were proposed and a very pleasant sime was spent.

—Mr. James Griffith, R.C.A., after a very serious attack of bronchitis, has so far recovered as to be able to start to Ottawa for the opening of the Royal Canadian Academy, which takes place to-morrow.

—The Presbytery of London met in Knox Church, St. Thomas, at 11 a.m., and in the afternoon at 2:30 inducted Rev. Mr. McIntyre into the pastorate of Alma Street Presbyterian Church. This evening a reception will be tendered the new pastor of the congregation.

—Assistant City Clerk Abbott was at his office to-day for the first time in six weeks. He has recovered from his attack of lung congestion, but will not be able to resume work for some time yet. Mrs. Abbott is improving, though she is still very weak.

—The barn belonging to Beverly Robinson, of Siddalsville, on the town line between London and Lobo townships, was destroyed by fire one night last week. Five horses, including two valuable stallions, were burned to death. Insurance on building, $600.

—All theater-goers in the city will hear with regret of the death of Pat Rooney, the well-known Irish comedian. He has been in London on and off for years, his last appearance here being in the fall of 1890. He was a guest at the London Clam Bake and contributed to the programme.

—The remains of the late John Mustill, jun., were brought from Grand Rapids, Mich., yesterday afternoon to his father's home on Craig street in South London, whence the funeral was conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock, attended by a large number of the sympathizing friends of the relatives.

—Wm. Phener, of Komoka, was arrested in jail by Detective Allen yesterday on a charge of having escaped from an officer while being brought to jail under commitment on a charge of larceny. Squire Smyth committed him for trial. When he escaped he was in charge of County Constable Smith Spence and had a handcuff on one wrist. This he got filed off at Alvinston.

—A large delegation of the members of Detroit Lodge visited their Masonic brethren of London, Ont., last Tuesday night. They were the guests of St. John's Lodge, 209a, for whom they exemplified the third degree. The Detroiters are enthusiastic over the royal treatment they received from their Canadian brethren. A return visit is promised, and "reciprocity" will be the order of the day.—[Detroit Free Press.

—It is pleasing to learn that the sale of seats for the sacred concert to be held in Dundas Street Center Church this evening has been a success, and there is no doubt that a large audience will greet this celebrated choir. Those present may expect a great treat in the "ensemble" singing of the quartet. The price of admission has been placed at a most moderate figure so that it is within the range of all to attend and enjoy a first-class concert.

—The Board of the Convalescent Home beg to acknowledge very gratefully the following acceptable donations: Mrs. W. J. Reid, tablecloths; from the W. A. M. A., Huron Diocese, cakes after the reception at Cronyn Hall. On monthly maintenance cards, Mrs. Graydon, $1; Mrs. Boomer, $4, whilst from the trustees of the Dalton trust comes the acceptable gift of $50, the third year the Convalescent Home has been thus kindly remembered by them.

—The I. O. G. T., of St. Johns, gave an entertainment in the town hall of that place on Monday night to a well-filled house. Recitations by Mr. George, and comic songs by Messrs. Clayton, Decker and Blake Mills were heartily encored. The Richmond Street North, Quartet Club (Messrs. Froggett, Mitcheltree, Stockwell and Fraleigh), gave a couple of good selections, which were well received. A 'bus load from the city "took it in" and came home well pleased.

—An Ottawa correspondent writes: The Bishop of Ontario is expected back in April. It has been stated he has pledged his word that if he finds when he comes back to his diocese that he is not able to perform his duties he will resign, when a new bishop will be elected. Bishop Sullivan, of Algoma, and Bishop Baldwin, of Huron, have been mentioned as fit persons to fill the vacancy, if there be one. Either of these would be acceptable to the laity of this diocese, who want a low churchman or low bishop to preside over them.

—Yesterday afternoon the remains of the late Mr. Frederick Rowland were laid away in Woodland Cemetery, beside those of his beloved wife who was buried there on Thanksgiving Day. In addition to the large gathering of friends and relatives, the members of St. George's Society attended the funeral, Mr. Rowland having been a life member of that organization. Rev. Canon Richardson, of the Memorial Church, conducted the services at the residence and at the grave, the pall-bearers being Messrs. Pope, W. Gibson, R. Pritchard, J. S. Pearce, R. Rich and J. H. Fraser.

—A party of friends and workers of the Kensington Methodist Mission invaded the residence of Mr. A. B. Powell, Kent street, last night, with a bountiful supply of edibles. After taking Mr. Powell completely by surprise, Mr. Hamilton read an address which paid a very high compliment to Mr. Powell for his continued labors in connection with the mission, and Mrs. C. Norman presented him with ten volumes of Dr. Parker's Commentary upon the Bible. The recipient made a suitable reply. Refreshments were served, and a good programme of speeches, vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc., was carried out.

—Dr. Oronhyatekha, S. C. R., and John A. McGillivray, S. S., of the I. O. F., passed through the city to-day to institute the High Court of Wisconsin. The ceremony will take place in the Senate Chamber at Milwaukee, the use of which has been kindly granted by the Governor of the State. On Saturday the doctor and supreme secretary will be in Chicago and meet the I. O. F. of Illinois, who seceded from the present order in 1879, to consider with the High Court representatives the advisability of uniting them again with the order, and should the negotiations succeed it will add 20,000 more members to this fraternal society, thus making a membership of over 50,000.

Wanted to See Miss Smith.

Angus Morrison, while alcoholically hilarious last night, took a notion he would like to see his friend, Miss Smith. He had evidently mislaid her address, and he aroused the good people of 203 Bathurst street about 11 o'clock. They declined to let him in. He came around again at an early hour in the morning, and proceeded to bombard the front door with a whipstock, until P. C. Campbell, who had been sent for, arrested him. His companion, Andrew Ryan, was also taken into custody. This morning they were assessed $5 by the magistrate, with the option of spending 20 days with Governor Kelly. As they declined to pay Mr. Frank Sage for the rig they hired, that charge will also be laid against them.

Westminster's Township Clerk Dead.

Geo. Routledge died at his residence, concession 5, Westminster township, to-day, at the age of 56 years. A week ago Sunday he was taken ill with congestion of the lungs, and up to the time of his death every effort was taken by his relatives to bring him around again. Three doctors were in attendance most of the time. He was a well-known farmer, had been treasurer of the township of Westminster for a number of years and was also connected closely with agricultural societies. He was the eldest of the family, leaving three brothers and four sisters, besides a wife and three daughters. The family have the sympathy of a large number of friends in their bereavement. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

Walt Whitman's Funeral.

If the weather is fine to-morrow the funeral of Walt Whitman, the poet, will be held in the open air. It is not expected that any minister will officiate. Short extracts will be read from the Psalms as well as from his own poetical works and some from the works of other poets. Addresses will be made by men who were close friends of the poet, among whom will be Dr. R. M. Bucke, of this city, Whitman's biographer. For two or three hours before the funeral the body will lie in state to enable the public to take a last view of the poet. Death masks of the face, head, chest and hands of Walt Whitman, have been taken by Thomas Eakins, a portrait painter of Philadelphia, and William R. O'Donovan, the sculptor, of New York. Mr. O'Donovan is now at work on a bust of Whitman.

REMOVAL!
JOHN MOULE
Will remove to the store lately occupied by Mr. P. J. Watt,
131 Dundas Street,
ABOUT 1st APRIL.

A Quartet of Benevolent Men.

First three months free of charge. The staff of eminent physicians and surgeons are now in London, and permanently located at their residence, No. 456 Talbot street. All invalids who visit these eminent doctors before April 1st will receive services for the first three months free of charge. The only favor desired is a recommendation from those whom they cure. The object in pursuing this course is to become rapidly and personally acquainted with the sick and afflicted.

The doctors treat every variety of disease and deformity and will perform all surgical operations free this month; viz.: The removal of cancers, tumors, cataract, polypi, etc. All diseases of the eye, ear, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, and all female difficulties arising from whatever cause, all nervous prostrations, failing vitality, and diseases originating from impure blood, treated with the greatest success.

Catarrh in all its various forms cured by their new method, which consists in breaking up the cold-catching tendency, to which every person suffering from catarrh is susceptible.

Invalids will please not take offense if they are rejected as incurable. The physicians will examine you thoroughly, free of charge, and if incurable, they will positively tell you so. Also caution you against spending more money for useless medicine.

Hours from 9 a.m. to 5, and from 7 to 8 p.m. Sundays, from 2 to 4 p.m.

And still they come! What? Testimonials from thousands of smokers all over the land, speaking in the highest terms of the worth of the [illegible] cigars. The popularity of this brand has been something remarkable, and is due solely to its merit alone. It is made by H.
