FIELD BATTERY OFFICERS ENTERTAINED VISITORS

Over Fifty Guests Had a Very Pleasant Time Last Night at the Camp.

The sergeants' mess of the Sixth Field Battery entertained the senior sergeants of the other regiments in camp in their mess tent last evening. Over fifty guests were present and a most enjoyable time was spent.

A choice programme of music was rendered by the orchestra from the Twenty-Sixth Regiment Band, and also by the male quartette from the same band. Major Mills, Capt. H. J. Cameron, Lieut. Mathewson and other officers of the battery were present. After the function at the mess, the guests were entertained by the band and several of the sergeants were invited and all delivered short addresses.

Capt. Cameron made the announcement that he had been elected to the position of doing the best work during the season. The announcement created great enthusiasm among the men.

The committee in charge of the very successful banquet were Q. M. S. Scott, O. R. S. Leask, and Sergt. Blackwell.

Among the guests were Q. M. S. Jordan, of Kingston, instructor in signalling, and S. M. McGowan, of the signalling corps.

BUTCHER'S HORSE IN LIVELY RUNAWAY

The Animal Became Frightened When a Bolt Came Out of the Shafts.

A spirited horse belonging to J. Flannigan, a wholesale butcher, created some excitement on the market this morning about 8 o'clock, when it ran away.

The animal, attached to a single rig, had been standing near the poultry shed on King street, when one of the bolts that attached the shafts to the gear of the wagon, dropped out. This let one side of the shafts fall down around the horse's feet, and it immediately dashed down King street, with the wagon following in kind of a seesaw manner.

Near Talbot street the other side of the shafts became disengaged, and the wagon was released, but so fast had the horse been going that the wagon kept on going like an automobile, till it crashed into a telegraph pole, and smashed the dashboard and "dished" one of the wheels badly.

The horse, in trying to round the corner of Ridout and King streets, fell and slid for fully 25 feet, injuring its side and hip very badly. The animal was taken to a veterinary, where the wounds were dressed.

CAMP PAYMASTER WILL PAY OUT ABOUT $15,000

Captain Laybourn and Staff Are Busy Compiling Pay Roll for the Soldiers.

Today and Friday are busy days for Captain Laybourn, paymaster for the camp, and his staff. The musketry returns are completed, and have been handed in, and the work of compiling the pay and paying the men is being rushed along as quickly as possible. The amount of the pay, making efficiency in musketry the basis of efficiency pay instead of length of service, necessarily involves an enormous amount of detail work, as every man's score has to be checked over in order to determine his rate of efficiency pay. There are three rates, 20 cents, 40 cents and 50 cents. This money is paid in addition to the 50 cents a day that every man receives for attending camp. The pay sheets, however, are practically complete, and the men will be paid today and tomorrow, and immediately afterwards the sheets will be added. The pay roll altogether will be in the neighborhood of $15,000.

IMBED SON IN CEMENT TO FOIL THE WIDOW

Old Man With Shotgun Stands Guard Until the Work is Completed.

Paris, Ill., June 16.—To prevent the removal of the body by the widow of the dead man, Branson Davis has filled the grave of his son with cement and gravel. His action anticipated the filing of a petition for injunction by Mrs. Davis to prevent any interference with her wish to remove the body.

The petition for injunction and a bill in chancery were filed by the widow, Mrs. Sarah Davis, of Meridian, Miss., who was killed in a railroad accident two years ago and buried in a cemetery lot supposed to be owned jointly by himself and his father. Recently the latter served notice on the widow that the lot belonged solely to him, and that she could not be buried there.

Mrs. Davis thereupon began preparations for the removal of the body, but Davis mounted guard with a shotgun. He also prepared to encase the casket in concrete, so it could not be removed.

Sheriff Winn, who served the injunction papers, found Davis had completed the work, tons of concrete having been poured into the grave. Mrs. Davis says she will ask for a decree giving her the sole property rights in the corpse, with the privilege of removal.

COMPETITION FOR CHALLENGE CUPS

Tomorrow the Active Service and Laybourn Trophies Will Be Shot For.

MARCH TO THE RANGES

Of Five Miles—Conditions Which Govern the Shooting—Col. Peters Is Chief Umpire.

The most important musketry competitions that are held during the camp commences tomorrow morning in connection with the active service challenge cup and the Laybourn cup.

The active service challenge cup is presented annually by Hon. J. Gowan, and every company in every regiment in camp is compelled to enter a team. The competition is designed so as to make the conditions as nearly as possible what the men competing would face if they were on active service.

The chief umpire in the challenge cup competition will be Col. Peters, and he will be assisted by Lieut. Col. McKenzie, commander of the Second Infantry Brigade, and Lieut. A. O. T. Beardsmore, of the Tenth Royal Grenadiers, Toronto.

The teams taking part will parade at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and will march for five miles to the ranges at the regulation speed of 120 paces a minute. As soon as possible they will commence firing.

The Competition.

"The idea of the competition," an officer explained to The Advertiser, "is to make the conditions exactly those of active service. It is a very easy thing for men to ride down to the ranges in the street car and then take their time in shooting. In the challenge cup competition, however, there are no such easy practices. The men march five miles at full speed just as if they were marching to the support of a regiment in action. If such were the case they might have to march eight, ten or more miles, and immediately upon arriving take up their position in the firing line. That is just what they do in the challenge cup competition. The marks are awarded for precision of drill and marching, fire discipline, turnout and target practice.

The Conditions.

The conditions are as follows: 1. The cup will be competed for annually by company teams from military districts Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4, during the annual training at camp. This cup will be held for a year by the regiment possessing the company team which scores the highest number of marks under the following regulations:

1. Team.—To consist of one officer, two sergeants, one bugler and twelve rank and file. Note.—The rank and file only to fire.

2. Uniform.—Drill order, haversacks, 3. Rifle.—Service, 303, as issued. No addition nor interference with the sights allowed.

4. Ammunition.—As issued from the stores. 5. Marching.—Each squad will march for a five-mile course at the regulation pace, in proper military order. Particular attention being paid to discipline and regularity.

6. Shooting.—Twenty-one rounds per man. 7. Position.—Any. 8. Targets.—Second class with bulls-eye.

9. Hits.—Bulls-eye, 5; inner, 4; magazine, 3; outer, 2. 10. Distances.—Three volleys at 500, and three rounds independently at each of six halts from 500 to 100 yards.

11. Advance.—To be conducted quietly, no rush to exceed 50 yards. 12. Time.—The time occupied in firing the first three volleys, and in advancing from 500 yards firing point, until the last shot is fired, not to exceed twenty minutes.

At the end of the twenty minutes, the "Cease fire" will be sounded, when shooting must cease. 13. Turn-out.—Of marks.

Marching 28x12— 336
Fire discipline 28x12— 336
Target practice 165x12— 1,260

There will be a chief umpire and two assistants detailed to superintend and carry out the practice, by the district officer commanding at each camp. The detail of their report will be confidential, but the relative order of merit of the competing teams will be promulgated in camp orders on the day succeeding the competition.

All regiments and companies must compete.

JUDGE IN JAIL.

Chicago, June 16.—Former Circuit Judge Abner Smith, convicted of conspiracy to cheat and defraud in connection with his wrecking of the Bank of America, now is an assistant librarian in the state penitentiary in Joliet. He was assigned to that task not only because of his advanced age, but also because of his varied and comprehensive literary capabilities.

GOT A PHONE AT LAST.

New London, Conn., June 16.—For the first time in history a telephone was installed yesterday in the National Whaling Bank of New London, and this because Sebastian D. Lawrence, who for 45 years was president of the bank, is dead. Lawrence was the last of that old-time family of millionaires who made fortunes in the whaling business. He died a bachelor with a fortune of over ten millions. He would not use a telephone, and would not have one in his bank.

FIRE ON TRAWLER.

Gloucester, Mass., June 16.—The Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company, of this city, owners of the schooner Behn Gardner, received no information regarding the reported action of Captain Vincent Nelse, of the Gardner, in firing on a French trawler. The company, however, received a dispatch from Capt. Nelse, in which he said that his trawler had been carried away by a French steam trawler, and that he would have to go to Nova Scotia to get new gear.

GREAT WOMEN'S COUNCIL OPENS

Delegates From World-Over Are Gathered at Toronto.

LADY ABERDEEN IN CHAIR

Quinquennial Congress Welcomed to the Province by the Lieutenant-Governor.

Toronto, June 16.—It was all bowing and umbrellas and no kisses at the Union Depot this morning, when the train from Ottawa pulled in at 7:50 with a hundred or so delegates to the International Congress of Women. Three policemen braced themselves for the ordeal, and then marched valiantly over to take their stand beside the reception committee. A big freight truck charged through the committee amid general exclamations, and managed to cross in front of the oncoming train. The Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, postmaster-general, descended briskly from the train, only to find himself in the midst of a bustling crowd of ladies. The suffragettes had captured a parliamentarian.

Mr. Lemieux, nothing amazed, picked out some whom he knew and in a moment was chatting affably.

Confusion Worse Confounded.

It wasn't many minutes before the platform was crowded with delegates. The confusion of the ladies among these international congresses. Most of them were out of their cars a few minutes after the train had stopped, and most of them, also, were just as helpless as though they weren't used to discussing the things that make the cup go round, and taking society apart to see if it needs oiling. The reception committee did its best; did all that a reception committee could do, but what was needed at that particular moment was an organized force of lusty boys who could have carried the ladies' baggage upstairs from the dingy greenness of the train platform to the waiting rooms above. Of such boys there were a few, the regular station staff, but they could not cope with the situation at all. Hence the ladies bagged their baggage and lugged their luggage themselves, and who were robust fared well, while others who were frail fared badly.

Guarding Against Rain.

The worst of it was that many of the ladies carried parasols and umbrellas. Half a dozen in what looks like a golf bag is the correct thing. Half a dozen handles, half a dozen shades; but "vanity, vanity, all is vanity," even at an international congress.

Some of those innocent-looking looking bags had handles made of pig iron, or probably lead. Station boys picked them up and sighed. Their owners carried them and almost wept. The regulation handbag, however, was a long shot poorly played. Preference was given to the soft and supple, and the ladies with a coat of waterproof or canvas or a shawl.

There was luggage from foreign lands, which looked as foreign as it was. One lady of ample proportions and a kindly face carried something for all the world like a cheesebox varnished over with a coat of varnish. England had a huge suitcase with initials writ so large on it that anyone could see them a block away; and her initials spell O.H. "Oh," was exactly what the porters said when they tackled these innocent-looking bundles and found them heavy as bricks.

All Properly Tagged.

The delegates do not pretend to be sweet girl graduates. Making allowances for the fact that it represents twenty-three different countries, and consequently a great many types, the delegates could not be described as purposeful. Nobody, dropped from a parachute into the crowd at the Union depot this morning, would have imagined that he had landed in a Sunday school picnic.

The delegates wore tags; tags with the names on. Anxious hostesses, looking for their guests, would go up to these good ladies and peer through eyeglasses at their badges, while the delegates innocently kept moving just enough to defeat their purpose.

The three policemen groined inwardly and bawled the crowd to get to the waiting-room as best they could. The delegates do not kiss, their congress having apparently abolished at least one objectionable custom indulged in by their frailer sisters at railway depots. They did not kiss, and shake hands with their men, but they carried their grips and their umbrellas, and nobody knows what all prevented it. One bag burst gracefully upon the platform just as the flurried owner was making a bee line to join the upward-hastening crowds.

Probably about one-quarter of the two hundred are university women. To these the University Women's Club is to give an informal reception at Annesley Hall at 5 o'clock tomorrow. There has been some difficulty in ascertaining how many of the delegates have had a college training, and the club therefore wishes it known that all delegates who are university women will be heartily welcomed.

Conveners Were Absent.

This morning's programme provided for meetings of three standing committees, and it was announced that some of the conveners are not present. Fraulien Helene Lase is not on hand to take charge of the finance committee, which is therefore in the hands of Frau Marie Stritt, of Germany. Mme. D'Arrast has not come from Paris, and Mrs. Edwin Gray, president of the British council, takes her place as convener of the laws committee. (Continued on Page Four.)

A NEGRO LYNCHED.

Acadia, Fla., June 16.—An unknown negro was lynched late yesterday for an attempted crime against a white woman. Vincent Nelse, of the Gardner, was P. R. Reed, wife of a prominent citizen of Acadia. A posse was formed as soon as the news of the attempt spread, and within an hour the negro was captured, a short distance from the scene of the crime, and lynched.

FELL DOWN STAIRS WITH 7-FOOT CLOCK

Army of Gould Servants Testify to Intoxication of Their Mistress.

New York, June 16.—Howard Gould did not go on the stand today to testify against his wife, Katherine Clemons Gould, whose suit for separation he is opposing. Instead there was a continuation of servants' gossip, accounts by menials of their former mistress' eccentricities and humiliating details of Mrs. Gould's alleged fondness for alcoholic beverages.

Indications are that the plaintiff must endure for another day, possibly for two, the embarrassing ordeal of listening to the testimony of former servants, all of whom have been called at the instance of her husband to sustain, if possible, his contention that living with his wife was impracticable and decidedly unpleasant, hence that the charge of abandonment, the mainstay of Mrs. Gould's case, is not borne out.

What Katherine Clemons Gould heard today was but a reiteration and in some respects an amplification, of yesterday's testimony, the basis of which was that at various times at the vast Long Island show place, Castle Gould, she had, according to the witnesses, been intoxicated, had abused menials, had given arbitrary and unreasonable commands to the servants and had used rather severe language in altercations with her husband.

Bitter Retaliation. Coachman, gardener, chambermaid and other servants went on the stand and swore to the demeanor of the woman who used to give them orders. An occasion when she would have fallen from her carriage but for the protecting arm of a coachman, an attempt of hers to drive through a closed gate, a time when a footman saved her from falling when intoxicated, as he testified, were among the things alleged as Long Island rustic or former servant went on and passed from the witness-stand. Mrs. Gould was greatly moved as she heard these declarations, and she has evinced her intention of fighting bitterly in rebuttal against them.

A carpenter, Herbert Trotter, was the last witness of the day. He said, when he was working on the servants' quarters, Mrs. Gould rushed in there at one time, swore at and abused the servants.

"Her voice was shaky and incoherent, her hair disheveled and she was very profane. She was decidedly drunk," said the witness.

"At another time she came into the stables while I was working there and swore at the grooms and was so drunk that every one could tell it."

"She tried to go upstairs to the harness-room, but couldn't navigate the steps."

Trotter said he was ordered to go to Blue Gap farm, the Gould place in Virginia. On several occasions during the first ten days he was there, he testified, he saw her intoxicated and heard her swear a great deal at the workmen.

"One night she came in from driving drunk," said the witness, "and began to abuse me and a man named Tony. She said to me she wanted the big seven-foot hall clock moved, and I told her I would have to get help, and she said: 'Why, I can move it myself.' She was staggering drunk. She grabbed the heavy clock and both she and the clock fell down stairs together."

London, June 17.—The suspicions with which the proposed meeting of Emperor William and Emperor Nicholas were viewed in England, when the announcement was first made, on the assumption that Germany was attempting to weaken the triple entente, have almost entirely disappeared and both through the papers, and in the streets one now hears it generally welcomed as a further move to assure the peace of Europe. This change in sentiment is the result of most candid semi-official statements from Berlin and St. Petersburg.

That such is the intention of the interview has been accepted in England, and it is pointed out that, in view of the coming visit of the Emperor of Russia to Sweden, Denmark, France and England, and possibly Italy, a meeting between Emperor Nicholas and the Emperor of Germany could not be avoided without the suggestion of discourtesy. Officially it has never been believed that the meeting between the two emperors had any other purpose than that of friendly exchanges, the evidence of which is shown by the fact that Sir A. Nicolson, the British ambassador to Russia, is leaving St. Petersburg this week on a three months' furlough.

Officially it is understood that the interview, beyond the personal exchange of courtesies, will be confined to questions concerning Germany and Russia alone. Anything, however, tending to the peace of Europe will be welcomed by England.

The czar and Kaiser left this morning to meet at Pitkanpas, which is a little retired bay on the south coast of Finland, about 60 miles from St. Petersburg. It has been chosen by Emperor Nicholas as his summer yachting headquarters on account of its climate, natural beauties and seclusion.

BIG BEAR GOES MAD IN STREET PARADE

Imperils Trainer In Cage and Finally Dies—Man Is Badly Clawed.

Boston, June 16.—Driven frantic by the heat and noise today a big black bear attacked his tamer in an open cage as a Wild West parade passed through Tremont street, and injured the man seriously before he could be beaten off.

The parade had reached a point opposite a new building when the fight began. In a cage was a so-called happy family consisting of a man, two wolves and two hyenas. Here Dresbach, an animal trainer, sat in the den, for some moments he had noticed that the biggest of the bears, called Buster Brown, had been acting strangely.

Riveters were at work on the building, and the noise of their operations may have had something to do with the animal's madness, for just as the van came opposite that building, the bear sprang at Dresbach.

Picking up the chair he was sitting on, the trainer swung it, endeavoring to beat off the animal, while the spectators screamed. The bear bit and clawed at him and lacerated his right arm.

Dresbach worked his way backward through a partition in the cage, and remained in the van until it reached the show grounds, when he assisted in getting the mad bear out of the cage. Just as they got the animal out it died. Then Dresbach started for a doctor's office to have his wounds dressed.

LONDON, THURSDAY, JUNE 17.

THE C. P. R. IN LONDON.

The agitation in favor of a union station in this city is one that will meet with public sympathy. Everyone will admit that it is a most desirable thing—if it can be accomplished at a reasonable cost to the city. It is no new idea, however; it has been frequently discussed in the past. But the obstacles seemed too great—perhaps greater than they are now. It would have cost the C. P. R. too much to effect any arrangement with the Grand Trunk; and the amount of business done would, it was claimed, be too small to justify the cost.

But the business of the C.P.R. would seem to be improving. It is increasing the number of trains passing through London, and as it cultivates the traffic between the Western States and the Atlantic seaboard, there will be a growing necessity for better facilities in this section. There is no doubt this road will have to extend its yards and sheds and provide better accommodation for the business it hopes to do. As it is expected that the Grand Trunk will also make some improvements before many years, the time would seem to be suitable for the two roads to consider the advisability of some mutual arrangements which would benefit both parties and help the city as well.

But there is a feature in connection with any changes which should not be overlooked—and that is the present location of the C. P. R. freight sheds. The closing up of Wellington street and the presence of these homely structures in such close proximity to a growing residential part of the city, are evils that ought to be overcome, if possible. We could not afford to pay very much for moving the passenger business of the C. P. R. onto the Grand Trunk lines if the improvements effected went no further than this.

Viewing the situation as it exists today, everyone is disposed to condemn the city authorities for agreeing to close up Wellington street. At the same time, in justice, we should remember that the conditions were very different when this unsatisfactory arrangement was made. At that time it was thought of the utmost importance to bring the C. P. R. to London. It had acquired the Credit Valley charter connecting Toronto with St. Thomas; it was seeking a connection with Detroit and Chicago. To make London the centre of its Western Ontario system was considered by our people to be a project worthy of some sacrifice. And the closing of Wellington street seemed to many the smallest part of the sacrifice. There were few homes at that time north of Piccadilly and east of Richmond streets. The Hellmuth Boys' College, with its extensive grounds, occupied most of the space, Wellington street, through that section of the city, was not as valuable as a thoroughfare as it is today. And when the C. P. R. agreed to put up an overhead bridge whenever called upon, the possible requirements of the future seemed fully met.

It is not just, therefore, to berate the city council for the arrangement it made with the C. P. R. From the point of view of that day the bargain was not a bad one. But altered conditions demand a change, if it can be secured. And if there is to be an arrangement between the two railways, which shall provide a union station, open up Wellington street, and move the C. P. R. sheds to a more suitable locality, the city will have to pay its share of the cost, and the first chapter of any negotiations between the city and the company must be devoted to the question of dollars and cents.

SOUTH AFRICAN UNION.

The Natal referendum having resulted in favor of union, the federation of the four South African colonies is now assured. The next step will be for a delegation, representing those colonies to proceed to England with the draft of a union; and a bill embodying the scheme and some amendments already agreed upon by the delegates and the Imperial Government will be presented to parliament. The Imperial Government has no intention of touching the principles of the union bill, but it is obvious that the subject matter when put in the form of Imperial statutes may require amendments not affecting principles, but necessary in the interests of parliamentary and legal phraseology. Official as well as other public opinion in England is unanimously in favor of the acceptance of the principles of the convention, and in the desire to see it made law before the prorogation of parliament.

In the opinion of Mr. Lionel Phillips, who recently returned to England from South Africa, the wider responsibilities of those colonies the less the danger of race division or parochialism. There is a strong desire on all sides to avert an appeal to the country upon racial lines, but under the existing condition of things it is difficult to discover other points of difference sufficiently marked to serve as the foundation of a party struggle, if such is deemed inevitable. Though recognizing the advantages of party government, there seems to be sound reason and even an urgent call for the establishment of a national government to bridge over the very difficult period of reconstruction. It, as a preliminary step, says Mr. Phillips, a coalition can be arranged, in which existing parties have a fair representation, it will be in the best interests of South Africa. As the complicated work of gathering up the reins of government proceeds, differences of opinion and of interest will no doubt manifest themselves, and on those differences there may arise the occasion for "establishing" opposing camps of thought, entirely divorced from racial distinction.

The struggle for ascendancy between the white races in South Africa, which lasted for about one hundred years, came to an end with the late war. The Boer leaders have publicly acknowledged that without the war there could have been no rapprochement between Britain and Boer. The Boer people have learned that Great Britain and their British fellow-colonists wish to be friends in the best and broadest sense of the term, and nothing has contributed more to the happy change than the gift of responsible government. General Botha and his colleagues entered office pledged to govern upon enlightened principles, regardless of racial distinctions, and no one can say they have not fulfilled their pledges. The government of the Transvaal is composed of very capable men determined to see every branch of industry in the country developed, and everyone is striving for progress and prosperity. Best of all the country is rapidly getting away from the race division which has had such a baneful influence in the past.

THE BRITISH FINANCE BILL.

Late English papers to hand contain the text of the finance bill, which with its seventy-four clauses and six schedules, makes up a pamphlet of sixty-six pages. It is entitled "a bill to grant certain duties of customs and inland revenue (including excise), to alter other duties, and to amend the law relating to customs and inland revenue, and the national debt, and to make other provisions for the financial arrangements of the year." In the arrangements of the measure the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Lloyd-George, puts the most novel and the most contentious of his proposals in the forefront, beginning with the duties on land values and following with the liquor license duties, the death duties, income tax, stamps, customs and excise other than liquor license duties, provisions as to payments to local authorities and to road improvement account and the national debt.

The comprehensive budget speech and the subsequent prolonged debate have left few surprises of a general character in the text of the measure. Some light is, however, thrown on the working of the new land taxes. The bill provides that the land owner must submit to an estimate of value of the unimproved minerals. If the commissioners of inland revenue are not satisfied with this return it must be amended to their satisfaction or they will themselves determine the value. Right of appeal to expert referees is allowed the land owner. None of the new taxes on land is to be levied on the property of local authorities or on land used for public or charitable purposes.

Another provision abolishes the prohibition of a native tobacco industry, by declaring that "so much of any act as prohibits or restrains the growth, making or curing of tobacco in England or Scotland, shall from the first day of January, 1910, cease to have effect." The chancellor of the exchequer is unable to say any reason why as good tobacco should not be grown in the United Kingdom as in Holland or France or Germany, and proposes that an excise duty shall replace prohibition, the excise duty to correspond with the customs duty, so that the new industry may develop to its own strength, and in proportion to its soundness.

Under the finance act of 1896 objects of national and scientific or historic interest are exempt from estate duty. The new bill provides for the exemption of such articles from legacy duty also, and to extend the exemption to objects of artistic interest. In such cases duty is to be chargeable only when the object is sold.

These are the chief points of the bill which have not hitherto been revealed.

BRITISH CAPITAL FOR CANADA.

[Toronto Globe.]

For some years past Canada has been increasingly popular with British capitalists as a field for investment, and apparently its popularity is to be indefinitely enhanced. Not long ago, a large amount of capital became available for the extension and improvement of the steel works at Sault Ste. Marie, and now it is announced from Montreal that more than half of the five million dollars needed for the flotation of the Canadian Textile Company has been supplied from British sources. In the face of partisan attempts to weaken Canadian credit in London, in connection with the loans needed to complete the eastern division of the National Transcontinental Railway, it is satisfactory to find that Canada is still regarded as safe from the standpoint of the private investor; it is therefore, inconceivable that the credit of the Dominion as a borrower should be in the slightest degree injured by disgruntled opponents of the Government. It is much to be regretted that such tactics should be resorted to, but in the end they will prove a Nemesis to those who indulge in them.

A NEW REST CURE.

[Toronto Globe.]

The arrival of an excursion steamer at Winnipeg from Grand Forks in Dakota is a notable event. It is the first trip of the kind that has been made for nearly a generation, but apparently it will not be the last. There may never again be frequent communication between Red River ports by water, but even occasional trips should be kept up, if for social, historical or geographical reasons people desire them. The journey will always be sufficiently leisurely to suit those who were "born tired and never got rested."

A FAILURE.

[Branford Expositor.]
The effort to bring out opposition to the re-election of Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King in North Waterloo has thus far met with no greater success than the effort of the Mail and Empire to make the King not "a fit and proper person" to represent the labor interests at Ottawa.

GREAT IS BRITAIN.

[Buffalo Courier-Examiner.]
The Imperial press conference that has been in session in London will soon be succeeded by the gathering of Government officials from all parts of the British Empire. The Government in London and Englishmen generally are uncommonly active and interested in concerted steps to arouse the loyalty of British subjects in all corners of the world, and to give greater strength to the position of Great Britain in international affairs.

Many persons are unaware of the enormous compass of the British Empire. Great Britain is today sovereign over 11,908,378 square miles, or nearly one-fifth of the land surface of the globe, and her subjects are not far from 400,000,000, or more than one-fourth of the population of the entire world. The area of the British dominion is distributed approximately as follows: In Europe, 125,055 square miles; America, 4,000,000; Africa, 5,000,000; Asia, 2,500,000. The population of the empire is distributed as follows: In Europe, 42,000,000; America, 7,500,000; Africa, 42,000,000; Asia, 200,000,000. The white population is 56,000,000 and the colored 34,000,000. The territory covered by the British Empire is nearly equal to the combined possessions of the United States, France and China.

A COMING GREAT CITY.

[Victoria Colonist.]
The Prince Rupert land sale, which was brought to a close yesterday, realized for the Government of Canada $1,175,376. This is a great amount of money to be invested in a new town site. It argues well for the confidence of the public in the western terminus of the National Transcontinental Railway.

THE MENACE OF RABIES.

[Philadelphia Ledger.]
That rabies is a disease preventable by strict quarantine and by strictly enforced regulations concerning dogs is a fact that is likely to be more and more impressed upon the consciousness of the state live stock sanitary board of the prevalence of the malady shall be confirmed. Although the extent of the malady has doubtless been greatly exaggerated by the natural fears of the people, the counter error of ignoring it ought not to be allowed to prevent the taking of needed precautions.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

[Hamilton Times.]
The statistics of 1908 show a decrease of 48,265 in the number of deaths during the year, and an increase of 18,067 births. That should be effective as a nerve-quieting potion to some of our alarmed birth-rate cranks.

JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES.

[Washington Post.]
Unless human nature is wholly perverted, the recent course of events in Japan and the United States should serve as an absolute guarantee of continued peace and goodwill between the two nations. It is impossible to believe that the courtesies and compliments which have lately been exchanged are hypocritical, making empty and concealing a purpose to precipitate trouble later. Our battleship fleet was received in Japan with evidences of the most sincere enthusiasm on the part of the people. Later, the Japanese fleet was received at San Francisco with hearty tokens of esteem. Last night Admiral Uriu was honored by a dinner at the Metropolitan Club in this city, attended by the leading officials of the United States Government, headed by the President himself. The President joined in the cheers which greeted the close of the admiral's speech, vibrant with the spirit of fellowship and sincere admiration for this country. Mr. Taft in his address bespoke for Japan the warmest affection.

FAKED "NEWS."

[Hamilton Times.]
Obviously many of the head British were aware of the fact that the Canadian public are just as silly in their inventions of the news, for as the story that Canada had ordered a $25,000,000 navy to be built in Great Britain.

NOTHING DOING.

Although the Ontario Government two years ago authorized a bounty of 6 cents a pound on refined nickel either in the form of cash or in the form of a bounty made on the $60,000 a year set apart for the fund.

ONE ON THE DOCTORS

Madame J. Rioux, St. Moise, Que., says: "Fruit-a-tives cured me of severe liver disease. Neither doctors nor any other remedy did me any good, but Fruit-a-tives promptly cured."

"Fruit-a-tives" always cure liver trouble, biliousness and constipation, because they act directly on the liver. They stimulate the secretion of bile, which decreases the quantity of blood in the liver, and thus relieves the congestion or biliousness. With plenty of bile to move the bowels, there is an end to the constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a disordered liver. They are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—prepared by a newly-discovered process, and combined with valuable tonics and antiseptics. They are, without doubt, the most popular remedy in Canada today.

50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box 25 cents. If you can't get "Fruit-a-tives" in your neighborhood, these wonderful tablets will be sent, post-paid, on receipt of notice, by addressing Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL OPENS

Mittie, Mme. de Sainte-Croix, of Paris, convenor of the white slave traffic committee, is another absentee.

In the absence of Lady Aberdeen, the secretary, Dr. Ogilvie Gordon, who will also be a guest at Government House, had charge of arrangements this morning, the vice-presidents being from Germany, Sweden and France respectively. All resolutions before the congress are printed in three official languages, English, French, and German.

Talked of White Slaves.

Froken Elisabeth Gad, president over the meeting dealing with the white slave traffic, in the absence of Mme. Avril de Sainte Croix, of Paris, this morning, in the university.

Froken Gad held the position of head mistress of the higher girls' school in Copenhagen for 35 years before giving it up to devote her entire time to philanthropic and social work. She is honorary treasurer of the Danish national committee for the suppression of the white slave traffic, and in this connection she has attended the conference held in London, 1899, and at Frankfurt in 1902.

Froken Gad, at the beginning of the meeting, spoke in several different languages to the delegates from the various countries.

Conditions in Toronto.

"Many maids applying for positions on some of our best streets, in the homes of the best families, have to be careful unless they know to whom they are going," said Mrs. Hattie Stevens, of Toronto, in presenting her report on conditions in this city.

"Girls coming here in search of employment are under our care. Our special agents at the Union station tries to secure the safety of young girls who have forgotten the address to which they were going. Many young girls are lured here by false advertisements, which give addresses of houses of ill-repute. Our agent knows the agency of the wretched unsuspecting girls of their danger."

"We should just as be anxious to save Japanese, Chinese and black girls as our white sisters," said Miss Jones, 63 Avenue road, Toronto. "Hundreds of Japanese girls are sold into a life of shame in this country."

"The white slave traffic had a very quiet and agreeable existence until the latter part of the nineteenth century," commented Froken Gad. "Girls of twelve years were taken for the most part of all purposes. But now through the agency of the consuls, the capitals of Europe are awakening."

She went on to tell of several pathetic cases which happened in Denmark.

"Artists the Worst of Men."
"I remember when eight Danish girls were enticed to Berlin by artists. You know artists are the worst of men. These girls were promised high wages, which they never got. Another Danish girl was taken to New York. When she awoke from a drugged sleep, all her beautiful blonde hair had been cut off to sell and she was quite bald."

"Thirty thousand foreign girls go into Chicago every year. They cannot stand the terrible life-long. It has been found that only 20 per cent of the fallen girls of America are in that condition by inclination; 80 per cent have been tricked, bought or threatened."

"I have been in Galicia for five or six years, and I tell you there is a beginning," said Miss Pappenheim, a Jewish lady from Germany.

"I find it hard to make Galician girls understand that New York is not a small town. In Russia Jewish girls can't remain in the country unless they register with the police as prostitutes."

"As a Jewess," continued this remarkable woman, "I am not listened to in Europe. But I am listened to in this free country of yours."

Miss Pappenheim has been in nearly every country in Europe in connection with the suppression of the white slave traffic. She is a very able speaker in several languages.

Greetings were read from Queen Alexandra, the Russian Government and from Canadian municipalities, including London.

On behalf of the university, Prof. Ramsay Wright was on hand with his tribute to the president of the council.

Mayor Oliver spoke briefly. The Province of Ontario extended cordiality and good wishes. So said Lieutenant-Governor Gibson. He paid a tribute to the president as the founder of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Lady Aberdeen welcomed the sisters from other lands. "The coming of women was to help others, and the co-operation of that help to be extended to all was the object of the conference," she said.

After referring to the birth of the organization in Washington in 1888, Lady Aberdeen spoke of the progress that had been made since that time. At the end of twenty-one years the council now represented world-wide organization. A national council had been formed in Russia after many tribulations, and only last April she was asked to go to Turkey to address a meeting of Turkish women with a view of inaugurating a council there.

Storm Batters Boat.
Menominee, Mich., June 16.—Badly battered by 24 hours' of terrible pounding on the rocks off Washington Island, the steamer Sailor Boy, of Sturgeon Bay, bound for Menominee, was released by tugs early this morning. She was taken to Sturgeon Bay dry dock for repairs and will probably be out of commission for several weeks.

Six passengers were on board. The boat was blown out of its course in yesterday morning's fierce storm and lay on the rocks, keel out of water for six hours until tugs arrived. Damage to the hull is estimated at $2,000.

Fix Dam by Monday.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 16.—Announcement was made at the Canadian engineer's office today that the locks will be in operation again on Monday. Since pumping out an examination has been made of the bottom. The boats which dashed through did little damage to the sills, while the sub-structure is in condition to be used. New gates will not be put in immediately.

Owing to the rush of traffic through the American canals, officials decided to get the locks in commission as rapidly as possible. Guard and intermediate gates are to be used. It is probable that the full repairs will not be made until the close of navigation. The movable dam is still closed, but can be moved in a short time. There are only bales of straw at the upper face of the dam, which can be easily removed.

Mike Bulster, canal man, who was thought at first to have been seriously injured, while putting the dam in place, is out of danger.

BLIND MAN'S PENSION TO ONE WITH SIGHT

How a Civil War Veteran Fled Uncle Sam's Government for Years.

Alton, Ill., June 17.—If George Washington Taylor, late of Alton, were alive and could survive until the year 2007 he could begin drawing a pension of $12 a month. But Taylor is dead. Pension Agent Bent, of Chicago, was not aware of Taylor's death when he wrote a letter addressed to the veteran received at the Taylor home. The pension agent penned this grim joke: "You are hereby notified that you are granted a pension of $12 a month, under the law pensioning all veterans over 62 years old, but—here Bent draws a long dash—on account of your having defrauded the Government out of pension money heretofore, no voucher can be issued to you until after the year 2007."

Taylor died as a federal prisoner in the workhouse at Peoria five days after he began serving a sentence on conviction of having made a false affidavit to obtain a pension. For 20 years he had drawn a pension for blindness. The first three years he got $72 a month. For the remaining 17 years his monthly voucher was for $100. Taylor made affidavit that he was kicked by an army horse during the war, while in service as a soldier, and that he was blind as a result of the kick. It was discovered that he was not blind.

The money received from the Government on the veteran's affidavit of blindness would require 98 years, or $100, Taylor made affidavit that he was kicked by an army horse during the war, while in service as a soldier, and that he was blind as a result of the kick. It was discovered that he was not blind.

Low Dockstadter Minstrels.
At the Grand on Front, Low Dockstadter and his minstrels will make their annual appearance. The popularity of minstrelsy, as dispensed by Mr. Dockstadter and his associates, is just as keen in this city as anywhere the big organization appears, and everybody who enjoys a caricature of the dorky man has long since learned that "Lew" gives them an original article. The songs are all new and are claimed that the jokes are doing duty for the first time.

Mr. Dockstadter will have the usual budget of songs, of which "Welcome to Our City" and "Lew" are the favorites this season. He will also have a few remarks to make on matters of local and general interest the nature of which cannot be forecasted.

A Prince of Sinners

"After all, they have been kind to me," she said. "My mother was the black sheep of the family, and when she died Mr. Bullson paid my passage home, and insisted upon my coming to live here as one of the family. I should hate them to think that I am discontented, only the things which satisfy them do not satisfy me, so life sometimes becomes a little difficult."

"Have you friends in London?" he asked.

"None! I tried living there when I first came back for a few weeks, but it was impossible."

"You will be very lonely, surely. London is the loneliest of all great cities."

"Why should I not make friends?"

"That is what I too asked myself years ago when I was settled there," he answered. "Yet it is not so easy as it sounds. Every one seems to have their own little circle, and a solitary person remains so often just outside. Yet if you have friends—and tastes—London is a paradise. Oh, how fascinating I used to find it just at first—before the chill came. You, too, will feel that you will be content at first to watch, to listen, to wonder. Every type of humanity passes before you like the jumbled-up figures of a kaleidoscope. You are content even to sit before a window in a back street, and listen. What a sound that is—the roar of London, the voices of the street, the ceaseless hum, the creaking of the great wheel of humanity as it goes round and round. And then, perhaps, in a certain mood the undercurrent falls upon your ear, the bitter, long-drawn-out cry of the hopeless and helpless. When you have once heard it, life is never the same again. Then, if you do not find friends, you will know what misery is."

They were both silent for a few minutes. A car passed them unnoted. Then she looked at him curiously.

"For a lawyer," she remarked, "you are a very imaginative person."

He laughed.

"Ah, well, I was talking just then of how I felt in those days. I was a boy then, you know. I dare say I could go back now to my old rooms and live there without a thrill."

She shook her head.

"What one has once felt," she murmured, "comes back always."

"Sometimes only the echo," he answered, "and that is weariness."

They walked for a little way in silence. Then she spoke to him in an altered tone.

"I have heard a good deal about you during the last few weeks," she said. "You are very much to be congratulated, they tell me. I am sure I am very glad that you have been so fortunate."

"Thank you," he answered. "To tell you the truth, it all seems very marvellous to me. Only a few months ago your uncle was almost my only client of importance."

"Lord Arranmore was your father's friend though, was he not?"

"They came together abroad," he answered, "and Lord Arranmore was with my father when he died in Canada."

She stopped short.

"Where?"

"In Canada, on the banks of Lake On. If you know where that is," he answered, looking at her in surprise.

She resumed her usual pace, but he noted that she was pale.

"So Lord Arranmore was in Canada?" she said. "Do you know how long ago?"

"About ten years, I suppose," he answered. "How long before that I do not know."

She was silent for several minutes, and they found themselves in the drive leading to the Bullson villa. Brooks was curious.

"I wonder," he asked, "whether you will tell me why you are interested in Lord Arranmore—and Canada?"

"I was born in Montreal," she answered, "and I once saw some one very much like Lord Arranmore there. But I am convinced that it could only have been a resemblance."

"You mentioned it before—when we saw him in Mello's," he remarked.

"Yes, it struck me then," she admitted. "But I am sure that Lord Arranmore could not have been the person whom I am thinking about. It is impossible. He is so different from me, and I am so much more of a creature of the world."

They stood upon the doorstep, but she checked him as he reached out for the bell.

"I have never seen quite a food deal of him," she said. "Tell me what you think of Lord Arranmore."

His hand fell to his side. He stood under the gas-bracket, and she could see his face distinctly. There was a slight frown upon his forehead, a look of trouble in his grey eyes.

"You could not have asked me a more difficult question," he admitted. "Lord Arranmore has been very kind to me, although my claim upon him has been of the slightest. He is very clever, almost fantastic, in some of his notions; he is very polished, and his manners are delightful. He would call himself, I believe, a philosopher, and he is, although it sounds brutal to me to say so, very selfish. And behind it all I haven't the faintest idea what sort of a man he is. Sometimes he gives one the impression of a strong man willfully disguising his real characteristics, for hidden reasons; at others, he is like one of those brilliant Frenchmen of the last century, who toyed and juggled with words and phrases, esteeming it a triumph to remain an unread letter even to their intimates. So you see, after all," he wound up, "I cannot tell you who I think of Lord Arranmore."

"You can ring the bell," she said. "You must come in for a few minutes."

Their entrance together seemed to cause the little family party a certain amount of disturbed surprise. The girls greeted Brooks with a great show of pleasure, but they looked doubtfully at Mary.

"Did you meet at the front door?"

Selina asked. "I thought I heard voices."

Brooks was a little surprised.

"Your cousin brought her class of factory girls to my lecture tonight at the Secular Hall."

Selina's eyes narrowed a little, and she was silent for a moment. Then she turned to her cousin.

"You might have told us, Mary," she exclaimed, reproachfully. "We should so much have liked to come, shouldn't we, Louise?"

"Of course, we should," Louise answered, sympathetically. "I don't think why Mary should go off without saying a word."

Mary looked at them both and laughed.

"Well," she said, "I have left the house at precisely the same time on Wednesday evenings all through the winter, and neither of you have said anything about coming with me."

"This is quite different," Selina answered cuttingly. "We should have known that you were going."

"Do tell us what it was about."

"Don't you be bothered, Brooks," Mr. Bullson exclaimed, hospitably. "Sit down."

"This is a very interesting case," said Mr. Bullson, looking at the papers before him.

down and try one of these cigars. We have had supper, but if you'd like anything—"

"Nothing to eat, thanks," Brooks protested. "I'll have a cigar if I may."

"And a whiskey-and-soda, then," Mr. Bullson insisted. "Say when!"

Brooks turned to Selina. Mary had left the room.

"You were asking about the lecture," he said. "Really, it was only a very unpretentious affair, and to tell you the truth, only intended for people whose opportunities for reading have not been great. I am quite sure it would not have been worth your while to come down. We just read a chapter or so from 'A Tale of Two Cities,' and talked about it."

"We should have liked it very much," Selina declared. "Do tell us when there is another one, will you?"

"With pleasure," he answered. "I warn you, though, that you will be disappointed."

"We will risk that," Selina declared, with a smile. "Have you been to Ennott this week?"

"I was there on Sunday," he answered.

"And is that beautiful girl, Lady Sybil Caroom, still staying there?"

"Yes," he answered. "Is she very beautiful, by the bye?"

"Well, I thought men would think so," Selina said, hastily. "I think that she is just a little loud, don't you, Louise?"

Louise admitted that the idea had occurred to her.

"And her hair—Isn't it badly dyed?" Selina remarked. "Such a pity. It's all in patches."

"I think girls ought not to make up in the street, either," Louise remarked.

"I don't think so," Louise said. "It is all very well—(Louise had a nose which gave her trouble)—but I really don't think it looks respectable in the street."

SYNOD STANDS FOR COMPENSATION

Anglican Clergymen and Laymen Say License Holders Have Rights.

THREE-FIFTHS INDORSED

Majority in Favor of Present Legislation in Regard to Local Option—Yesterday's Session.

After more than an hour's warm discussion at yesterday afternoon's session of the synod that body declared itself in favor of the three-fifths clause, necessary to obtain local option, and also by a vote of 77 to 35, defeated a recommendation to have the clause concerning compensation for hotelmen who lose licenses struck from the charge, and later voted to retain it. On this last question especially there was some very pointed discussion, which showed the synod to be fairly evenly divided on the matter. The champions of the bishop's viewpoint, however, were somewhat in the preponderance, as the subsequent votes showed.

"We heartily indorse the bishop's stand regarding the three-fifths clause, and also agree with the general principle of compensation."

This clause from the report of the committee to consider the bishop's charge was the signal for the opening of the debate.

Indorses Three-Fifths Clause.

"There is not a man in this building," he believed," said Mr. A. S. Backus, of Tyroconnell, "who will not indorse the three-fifths clause, but while this is so, it is not more a matter of political policy by that would be better left to the political platform? While I am in favor of the law, I do think that its introduction into the deliberations of the synod might be altogether wise. It is a question as to whether we should bind the synod to the indorsement of this law. And it is also a question as to whether it is the feeling of the church, and for that reason I would suggest that it be struck out."

After a second had been found for Mr. Backus' motion, an unknown gentleman remarked:

"We are not going to gain these fellows by chopping their heads off. It is grace and love that is going to win them, and I am even more glorified in my bishop that he has taken this decided stand. Give us the love of God and let us stand by those people and we will have them with us."

Motion Was Lost.

The motion to have the mention of the three-fifths clause expunged from the report was then put and lost.

The report was then put and lost, nor a technical error," said Mr. Henry Macklin, of this city. "We are to challenge the advocacy of compensation for cancelled licenses. 'I don't think the principle is right, nor should such a recommendation come from the synod. I think we are going out of our way to recommend the legislation to give compensation in the very remote possibility of prohibition being declared as a Government policy. Compensation has never been practiced in Canada."

"His lordship and a number of the members of the synod expressed their disagreement with this contention," Mr. Macklin continued.

"Your lordship referred to the British liberation of the slaves, and the compensation made therefore, but I hold that the cases are not parallel. The slaves were property, and it was only right to treat them as such. But a man's license is given him for one year only, and he has no definite right to expect a continuance of that license longer than the year. Twenty-five years ago 3,000 licenses were cut off by the Crooks act, yet there was no compensation given. And I can see no reason why compensation should be given."

No Reason for Compensation.

"I can't see any possible reason why a hotelkeeper should be compensated for the cancellation of their license," said Mr. R. M. McElheran, secretary of the London Board of Education.

"The commissioners license the house and not the man. He takes his chances of having his license cancelled, and he takes it with his eyes open. Why should we, as a synod, take the stand that we are in favor of such action. A few days ago forty licenses were cut off in Toronto, and there was no thought of compensation. It is the public good, and it is the public good that the barrooms should be cut off."

Cries of "Hear! hear!" greeted Mr. McElheran as he continued. "You are wasting a lot of time when you are speaking of sympathy for the liquor seller."

"I believe in local option," said Rev. Mr. Miles, of Aylmer, "but the fault I have to find with it is that there is no compensation, and it isn't a question as to whether it has been done in the past that should interest us, but whether it is just in the present."

Mr. T. H. Luscombe again took up the cudgel against the principle of compensation.

A Presupposed Right.

"Compensation," he said, "presupposes some right existing in a man which you take away. If you take away something he is entitled to you should make some compensation. But are you not assuming that there is some right of the licenseholder that can be taken away? But there is no such right. The licenseholder has absolutely no right to the reissuance of a license. The commissioners if they see fit may refuse to reissue the license, without giving any cause, and he has no right to renewal of his license, what right can he have to compensation. How can there be a moral understanding with the licenseholder which the law does not justify? He has no right to compensation because you cannot take away from a man what he hasn't got."

"I think the synod should ponder long before they justify this principle of compensating a man for preventing him from doing evil to his fellowmen."

Mr. E. G. Henderson and Rev. Mr. Hind, of Amherstburg, both spoke strongly in favor of compensation.

The Hotelman's Rights.

"Mr. Luscombe has proved to his own satisfaction, but not to mine," said Mr. Ransford, of Clinton, "that the hotelkeepers have no rights. When you take away a man's license you take away from him what constitutes the main value of his property. I am with Mr. Luscombe in his desire to close every accused barroom in this country, but I think that this end can be more rapidly and more justly accomplished by a common honesty, recompensing a man for his loss."

"The principle of compensation has been found satisfactory in England," said Mr. E. Paul, of London, "and I would most decidedly desire to hold up the hands of our bishop in his charge on this matter."

Mr. J. H. Gunther was of the opinion that temperance people would achieve far more success if they adopted this principle. "Many men," he said, "are holding aloof from the fight because some such action is not taken."

"We want, as a church, to stand well before the public," said Rev. John Downey, "and I don't think that commending this principle will help us to do so. I would be sorry to differ with the bishop, but in this matter I can see no other way. It is well enough to speak of compensating the liquor men, but ought we not also consider the number of lives that are ruined by these men. And do they get any compensation?"

Not Practiced in Ontario.

"Compensation has not been practiced in Ontario," said Mr. Macklin, "and I would be sorry to see it go out to the world that this Synod of Huron, which holds a high reputation, had championed the principle, that if the sale of liquor is abolished the sellers should be compensated. We think to much of these men and too little of those whose destruction they are aiding."

The fact that Ontario hasn't practiced compensation, explained his lordship, "does not say that refraining is right. But it is to be remembered that it is not the question of closing the barroom that is before us, but only the matter of compensation."

The amendment to omit the compensation of the bishop's charge in the matter of compensation was then put, the result standing 55 for the amendment, and 77 against. The clause was then adopted.

The Laymen's Movement.

Rev. Canon Craig presented the report of the committee on the bishop's charge. The report was a very thorough one, dealing with every matter presented by the bishop.

After commenting heartily on the bishop's exposition of the findings of the Pan-Canadian and Lambeth conferences, the committee expressed themselves as heartily in accord with the bishop's suggestion of appointing a secretary for Sunday-schools and Young People's Societies, as well as indorsing in enthusiastic terms the forward movement of the church in consecrating a bishop from the Canadian church to the bishopric of Hunan, China.

"We are glad to hear," the report continued, "of the continual progress and success of the laymen's movement and heartily agree with the bishop's words."

"The first thing necessary for success in the movement is undoubtedly for the clergyman to take the initiative. Without his hearty co-operation and sympathy the movement cannot succeed."

"I think that to speak of the clergy as the initiators is an unfortunate form of expression," said Mr. John Ransford, of Clinton. "The movement is after all a laymen's movement, and I think it should rather bespeak their hearty co-operation and sympathy than speak of them as the one who must take the initiative."

Rev. Jos. Ardell, of Owen Sound, was of the same opinion. "If it gets out," he said, "that this is a clergyman's movement it will be practically killed."

"But the clergy must be the initiators of all the work in the parish," protested Archdeacon Mackenzie, of Brantford.

Co-Operation of Clergy.

"I think we have a right to assume the co-operation of the clergy," said Mr. McElheran. "We have a right to their sympathy in this movement, and I don't believe in holding a club over the heads of the laymen. I think they ought to be spoken to as men, not as children."

"I don't like this pronounced emphasis on its being a laymen's movement," said Mr. Charles Jenkins, of Petrolia. "The clergyman, from a nature of their calling must be at the head of these movements, and if there are uneducated people who think this will discredit the movement it is our business to educate them."

The clause was finally passed as it stood.

The report went on to commend the bishop's utterance regarding the increased stipends for the clergy, and expressed its approval of the appointment of an additional professor at Huron College.

"Your committee is also glad," the report went on, "that attention has been called to the inexplicable bias and misrepresentation of cable dispatches from the old country regarding affairs of the Church of England, and we venture to suggest, that with all respect it would be well if editors in Canada were to consult someone who is conversant with facts concerning the church before using such dispatches as the basis for editorials."

The Gambling Evil.

"Your committee is glad to note the bishop's remarks on the subject of betting and gambling, and recommend the closest attention to his warnings regarding all forms of this evil, especially in its dangerous beginning in private and social life."

Judge Ermatinger asked permission from the bishop to refrain from voting, because he could not agree with the bishop's contention that in the matter of church union the church in Canada could not unite with any other body unless the united church throughout the world were to take the same action. He did not wish to be put in opposition to the bishop, he said, and therefore asked to be relieved of the necessity of voting. The permission was granted.

The report as a whole was then voted upon and adopted.

The Bishop Speaks.

In commenting on the discussion, his lordship remarked, "I doubt if I shall ever again appoint a committee to consider my charge."

"Is that a reflection on the committee?" asked Archdeacon Mackenzie.

"It is not," replied his lordship, "but I have not found the practice satisfactory. When I deal with the scribes and pharisees there is no objection to my charge, but when political questions are dealt with, then there is pronounced difference of opinion. You do not feel free to challenge my statements, and I wish to have absolute freedom to say what I see fit. Therefore, I think this is the last time a committee will be appointed."

Rev. Dr. William C. White, bishop elect from the Canadian church, to the bishopric of Hunan, China, the first bishop to be consecrated and sent to a foreign land, was presented, and called to take a seat on the platform.

Selecting Auditors.

The committee to select auditors reported that the matter could be quickly settled were the auditing the only consideration, but heretofore the making of accounts and the tending to the books had largely been left in their hands as well, which was unsatisfactory to the auditors as well as very unbusinesslike.

The committee recommended the appointment of Messrs. Booker and Jewell as auditors of the synod. This motion was carried.

A Separate Province.

The motion:

"That it is desirable to form the dioceses of Ontario now in the ecclesiastical province of Canada into a separate ecclesiastical province."

That should a new ecclesiastical province in Ontario be formed, this synod considers that the remaining dioceses of the ecclesiastical province of Canada should be formed into a new and separate province also."

After being discussed at some length the motion was carried.

Fraternizing Greetings.

After greetings were received from the Diocese of Toronto and Rupert's Land, from Archbishop Matheson, primate of Canada, came the following message:

"The archbishop and synod of the Diocese of Rupert's Land gratefully acknowledge the fraternal greetings of the bishop and synod of Huron, and in turn bid them God-speed and every blessing on their labors. (Signed, S. P. Rupert's Land."

Message From Toronto.

From the Bishop of Toronto the following message was received:

"The Diocese of Toronto, in synod assembled, send greetings to the brethren of the Synod of Huron, praying for God's blessing upon their deliberations. (Signed, James Toronto."

Folders for Strangers.

A motion was then presented by the Rev. E. C. Jennings as follows:

"Believing that the church has arrived at an important period of her history in this diocese, we would respectfully ask that his lordship, the Bishop of Huron, be requested to appoint a committee for the purpose of having a folder printed, upon which the evening prayer of the church service will appear as they come in the service, so that the said printed folders may be given to strangers to use, who do not understand the complicated arrangement of the service as it is in the prayer book.

Pittsburg Beat By New York--Mullin Lost To Athletics

YOUNGS BEAT THE RAMBLERS TOOK POSTPONED GAME 7 TO 3

The Ramblers Had Ten Errors and Did Poor Fielding.

THE MATCH WAS A SWATFEST

The Bases Were Filled a Couple of Times and a Run Was Forced.

The game at Tecumseh Park yesterday between Youngs and the Ramblers was won by Youngs by a score of 7 to 3, and was worthy of being witnessed by a far larger crowd than was present. Youngs, particularly, played good ball all the way through, and had Brooks for the Ramblers been given anything like the support he deserved, the contest would have been an exceedingly keen one. A glance at the error column of the Ramblers tells its own story.

The Scoring.
In the first inning Gatecliff hit a long fly to left field and stole second. Jackson sacrificed and Gatecliff went to third. Ward flew out to left and McFie struck out, leaving Gatecliff on third.

The Ramblers scored one in the first when Brennan hit safely, stole second and scored on a long hit to centre by Wanless.

The Ramblers scored again in the second on a hit by Pook and a long drive to left for three bases by Brooks.

A Wild Throw.
Youngs scored their first run on a wild throw by Sharratt, who sent the ball about ten feet over Wanless' head and when it got lost in the grass Gatecliff got all around the bases.

In the fourth Ward got first on a hot liner, went to second on a bunt by McFie, who got to first when Sharratt fumbled. Brooks then gave Clark a base on balls. Ward scored on a sacrifice by Phillips. Kerr was hit by Brooks, and with three on bases Pook made a splendid running catch of a high foul and retired the side.

The Fifth Inning.
In the fifth Brooks passed Jackson who went to second when Ward bunted safely. Jackson stole third and Ward went to second when Sharratt threw wild to Fitzmaurice. Both Ward and Jackson scored on a hot liner over third by McFie. Stroud did some fumbling and made a poor throw and a moment later McFie scored on a hit by Clark.

Kerr singled to second on a sacrifice by Munroe and scored when Brennan dropped a fly in right field.

Clark Was Slugging.
In the seventh Isky Clark hit a long one to left for two bases. Phillips got first when Wanless dropped an easy fly. Both men advanced when Smith fumbled an easy grounder by Eccleston. Clark was forced in when Brooks gave Gatecliff a base on balls.

With three on bases and two out, Jackson hit an easy one to short and retired the side.

Jackson's Great Catch.
In the next inning Jackson made a sensational one-hand catch of a hot liner over second, hit by Stroud.

In the eighth Brooks singled and went to second when Sharratt fumbled. Smith drove a hot liner over third, advancing both men. Brennan flew out, Wanless fanned and Fitzmaurice flew out, leaving three on bases.

In the ninth Stroud hit to third safely and Quick hit a fast one over second. Stroud hit a home run, scored when Ward dropped the ball which was thrown to him. Quick stole third, Pook struck out, Brooks was caught on a foul and Sharratt was thrown out at first.

ST. JOHNS DEFEATED

Went to Strathroy Yesterday and Lost to the Tigers by 11 to 6.

The St. John's A. C. baseball team journeyed to Strathroy yesterday afternoon to battle with the fast Tigers of that town. The game was clearly contested for the first five innings, the score being 6 to 1 in favor of the St. John's boys, but in the sixth and seventh innings, on three hits and four errors, the Strathroyites cinched the game by scoring ten men.

Richardson, for the local boys, pitched good ball and with a little better support would have won his game. Davis, for the jungle men, was hit freely. The score by Innings:

St. John's.....0 2 4 0 0 0 6 10 7
Strathroy.....0 1 0 0 0 5 11 13 4

Batteries—Richardson and Gillies; Davis and Barnes.

BUTCHERS BEAT GROCERS BY 9 TO 5

Fans Thought the Losers Had Game Wrapped Up, But They Didn't.

POLICEMEN LOST SECOND

Shoe Clerks Won Out in Merchants' Springbank League by 14 to 7.

The first game was a good one, in spots, and a surprise was furnished the spectators when the butchers won by a score of 9 to 5 in the Merchant Springbank League yesterday. It was the opinion of the majority before the game started that the grocers had the game tied in a package, but when it was all over it was again demonstrated that it's a wise man who can dope out baseball in the bush leagues.

The butchers played the better ball and deserved the game. They got a running start on the grocers, and although the latter threatened towards the end of the game, there was not much strength in the rally and it did not last.

Mitchell's Good.
For the winners, Mitchell pitched a fine game, and should have won his game, going away. His support was bad in spots. Breen, Mitchell, Baker and Anderson batted well, while Hamilton, for the grocers, did some nice hitting, as well as catching a fine game.

The players lined up as follows:
Butchers—Brennan, 2b; Baker, 3b; Anderson, l.f.; Sweeney, s.; Mitchell, p.; Stinson, c.; Legg, c.f.; Farnsworth, 1b; Breen, r.f.
Grocers—Ehl, l.f.; Richards, 3b; Nopper, 1b; Hamilton, c.; Heard, 2b; Bouz, p.; Jones, c.f.; Doherty, s.; and Vincent, r.f.

THE SECOND GAME.
The Policemen lost the second game to the Shoe Clerks by a score of 14 to 7. It was a somewhat slow game, at that, but the Clerks have yet to be beaten.

It really all happened in the first inning. The Shoemen got right after the Policemen, the slim pitcher, and hammered his curveballs slants and over the premises. When the smoke cleared away, six Clerks had crossed the Great Divide. Ernie Black picked up the work at this station, and for four innings did nice work. However, he weakened in the sixth, and there were a bundle of other Clerks safely anchored in the fold.

The Hitfest.
For the winners, Bill Graham and Fiddes did some tall and lofty slugging, and Bill Graham did the right kind of fielding. Ty Cobb Stewart made a few hits, and many near-stops. Arscott pitched a fair game. For the losers, Jimmy Bell did some heavy hitting, while Powell and Black did fair work with the willow. The errors were so numerous, that it took two scorers to apportion them.

The Players:
Shoe Clerks—Graham, second; Fiddes, third; Ashplant, first; Stewart, shortstop; Arscott, pitcher; Beeche, centre field; Legg, catcher; Lackie, left field; Rananhan, right field.

Policemen—Bell, shortstop; Powell, second; Black, centre field and pitcher; Probyn, first; Hawes, second; Downs, third; Hopper, right field; Lucas, pitcher and centre field; McRobert, catcher.

Score by Innings:

CHICAGO WON 3 TO 1 DESPITE AN EVIL OMEN

Cub Hoisted Second Successive World's Championship Flag, and It Blows Away.

Chicago, June 16.—Chicago's second successive world's championship pennant was hoisted today after a parade of both teams, headed by a brass band. Just before reaching the top of the high pole, however, the rope pulley broke, and the emblem blew away back of the bleachers in centre field. Ignoring the evil omen, Chicago went in and won the game by bunting four hits in the top of the first. Reubach was hit harder than Rucker, but kept Brooklyn's safeties well scattered. Score:

COVERPOINT JOLTS

The serious accident to Dr. Hughson is a most regrettable occurrence, and his many friends sympathize with him. He has always taken a keen interest in the matinees and has always had a good horse in the competition. He is a good sportsman and a good fellow. There is no doubt that his horse, The Arrow, would have stepped the half in 1:02 or thereabouts, had the accident not happened, as he stepped the first half close to 30 seconds. We sincerely hope he recovers in a short time.

All things have an end, and yesterday witnessed the downfall of the Pirates after fourteen straight wins, and of George Mullin, the hitherto unbeaten twirler of the champion Tigers. The Detroit bunch are not going any too well just at the present moment, and they are due for a climb soon. The Cleveland team is showing better form and are coming along. They are liable to be dangerous one of these days.

It was believed by the writer and others that Ed. Killian, of the Tigers, was a left-handed pitcher, and when we have seen him work, he did pitch from the starboard side, but since seeing a cut of him in a certain paper as a right-hander, we have come to the conclusion that we were very badly mistaken. We will have to wake up.

With George McCormick and Dr. Hughson out of the matinees it will be up to some of the others to get their speedy ones in line, as these events are quite popular.

WARNED OF DANGER.
Sault Ste. Marie, June 16.—Superintendent Sabin, in charge of the American canal, has received a telegram from Victor Olander, secretary of the Lake Seaman's Union, in which Olander warns him of danger to Government property under present conditions on the lakes. Mr. Sabin said in a reply that he appreciated the warning, but while every possible precaution is taken the possibility of accident always remains.

ACCOMMODATION ORDERED.
Windsor, June 16.—It has just come to light that the Ontario Government has ordered Essex County Council to provide suitable office accommodations in Windsor for the public officials, whether Windsor bears a share of the expense or not, and that unless the county does so the Government will proceed with the work and collect the expense from the county. It is said this order was sent to the county council several months ago, but has been suppressed by the latter.

ILLNESS HASTENS END OF GREAT RUN

The Tigers had three runs before the Athletics got one, and at the end of the fifth inning were in the lead by a 4 to 1 score. At this time it looked like a certain Detroit award. But in the sixth the effect of Mullin's recent illness seemed to begin to tell on him. He lost his speed, and did not work at all as he had in the early innings. Three hits were made in the sixth, and these with two outfield errors, cost two runs. The hitting was the warning to withdraw the twirler, and substitute a new man. He was allowed to go through, however, and three more in the seventh, including a double and triple, cost him his game. After that the Tigers had but one chance to get back, and then they failed to finish what they started. Mullin had won eleven straight.

PROFESSOR FOSTER WAS NOT EXPELLED

Baptist Minis'ters, However, Express Disapproval of Former Toronto Man's Doctrines.

Chicago, Ill., June 15.—Professor George Foster, of the University of Chicago, whose recent book on "The Function of Religion" caused a cry of heresy to be raised against him, escaped expulsion from the Chicago Baptist Ministerial Conference yesterday, but only after he had been lashed and grilled in a torrid discussion extending over more than four hours.

The resolution, which was introduced a week ago, in which it was demanded that Professor Foster resign from the conference and surrender his ordination papers, failed.

A substitute motion, reaffirming the fundamental doctrines of the Baptist Church and repudiating those attributed to Professor Foster, prevailed. No one ventured to uphold Professor Foster's ideas.

"Your opponents intimate you are a heretic," a newspaperman remarked to the professor.

"A man can't be guilty of heresy in the Baptist Church," responded Mr.

THIN BLOOD MADE STRONG

Tiredness and Weakness Overcome.

A JOYOUS LETTER.

"I admit because I neglected early treatment I am entirely to blame for the condition of weakness that for nearly two years made my life a real misery," writes Mrs. Hazen, of Beauport. "At first I felt sort of flat in the morning and could do no more than pick at my breakfast. Later I remember my sleep was disturbed, that dreamy, restless sleep, from which you finally awaken, feeling as if you could never get up. Then I became thin, lost my color, got nervous and fearful about nothing, and kept thinking about myself all the time, and was irritable, cross and easily made cry. What would have become of me if I had not taken Ferrozone I can't imagine. Ferrozone put new life into me from the start. It strengthened my nerves and brought back my color, and in a little while, less than three months, no healthier and brighter woman could be found anywhere. I highly praise Ferrozone and advise sick people to take advantage of its health-conferring properties."

Ferrozone quickens the powers of both body and mind, simply because it forms lots of blood that's full of life and vitality. Ferrozone creates appetite, gives strength, vim and endurance, it's good for old people, good for everybody that needs better health. Thousands of men, women and children use Ferrozone every day and all say it's the best nourishing, strengthening tonic made; try Ferrozone yourself, 30 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all dealers.

Foster. "It has no set creed. Every one can believe privately as he sees fit, and, as a minister, has the right to advocate his beliefs.

"If there can be no heresy in the Baptist Church, how can they take away my ordination papers? Who will take them away? If some one should demand them I would be in great difficulty, for I have not seen them in twenty years, and don't know where they are.

"The conference is in the nature of a ministers' club, so that lack of membership in it does not affect one's standing in the ministry.

The professor said that neither he nor his son would attend the meeting that will decide the issue.

THE GOULD CASE

Mrs. Gould Says She Will Refute the Testimony of Servants.

New York, June 15.—Evidence to justify Howard Gould in separating from Katherine Clemmons Gould, was begun today in the hearing of her suit for separation and alimony.

Most of the evidence bore upon the conduct of Mrs. Gould at her home, 40 Madison street, where she and her husband, who she alleged and servants testified that Mrs. Gould had made such use of intoxicants as to cause Mr. Gould to absent himself, not to return except upon conditions that his wife would refrain from humiliating him before his friends.

Mrs. Gould has asserted that no prominent society woman's reputation is safe in the hands of her servants, if their testimony is to be accepted against her, and that their testimony in this case will be rebutted. Mrs. Gould came into court today attired as usual in black, and sat at the counsel table near Clarence J. Shearer, her attorney. When Mr. Gould entered he walked rapidly to a chair next to Delancey Nicolli, his counsel, and sat down, looking at the proceedings with a cold, uninterested expression. There was no sign of recognition on the part of either the plaintiff or the defendant.

MONTREAL SHERIFF DEAD.

Montreal, Que., June 15.—The death took place somewhat suddenly this morning of Hon. J. R. Thibadeau, sheriff of Montreal. Mr. Thibadeau was appointed senator in 1878 and had been sheriff ever since. He came of Acadia stock and was born in 1837. He was for many years interested in the wholesale drygoods business. He also for many years took a prominent part in politics in the Liberal interests.

ROUND UP BUFFALOES.

Butte, Mont., June 15.—A unique round-up will start today on the Flat-head Indian reservation in Western Montana, when the Pablo herd of buffaloes will be corralled and driven to the big stockade in Ravalla. The animals will be loaded on specially constructed cars. A number of the finest specimens will go to the Canadian National Park. Others of the animals will be shipped to eastern parks.

OPENED NEW HOME.

Walkerville, June 15.—Several hundred persons attended the formal opening of the boat club's new home last night. Among those who took part in the ceremonies were Mayor Chiffer, of Walkerville, and Mayor Wigle, of Windsor, both of whom made appropriate remarks.

EMPERORS TO MEET IN FINNISH GULF

William and Nicholas Not Likely to Discuss Change in Grouping of Powers.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—Premier Stolypin, Foreign Minister Iswolsky, Count Von Pourtales, the German ambassador, and the German military and naval attaches, left here today on board the Russian imperial yacht Polar Star to join Emperor Nicholas in Pitkaps Bay, where the meeting between Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William of Germany will occur tomorrow. Emperor William already is on his way to the rendezvous.

Pitkaps is a little retired bay on the south coast of Finland, about 60 miles from St. Petersburg. It has been chosen by Emperor Nicholas as his summer yachting headquarters on account of its climate, natural beauty and seclusion, a few Finnish villagers being the only inhabitants of the region. The meeting of the two emperors in 1906 occurred in this same vicinity. All the conferences and festivities will be held on board the yacht Standard and Hohenzollern, the former with the Russian Emperor, and the latter with the German Emperor on board.

Information gleaned from competent Russo-German sources bears out the intimation conveyed in these dispatches when the meeting was first announced, that the importance of the visit lies in the manifestation that friendly relations between the two emperors have not suffered by the recent friction over the Balkan situation. No change in the grouping of the powers or general lines of policy is contemplated, and it may be stated in this connection that the widely-heralded "menace of war" with which Germany ended the Balkan crisis really consisted in mediation, undertaken at the initiative of Russia to prevent an Austro-Serbian conflict.

It is stated that the conference between the two monarchs and their ministers will touch upon a number of questions in which Russia and Germany are jointly interested, notably the Polish problem and the ultimate policy with regard to the Balkans and Turkey. The Cretan question also may be incidentally discussed. It is authoritatively denied, however, that the reports from Persia will be taken up. Neither will Emperor William endeavor to mediate between Austria and Russia. The recall of the recent conflict is still too vivid to justify an attempt to improve the relations between these two countries. Emperor Nicholas may meet Emperor William in the matter of technical development of the German navy.

A SEAFORTH WEDDING.

Seaforth, June 15.—The wedding took place quietly at St. James' Catholic Church, Seaforth, today, of Miss Nan Killoran, youngest daughter of Mrs. Winifred Killoran, of Seaforth, to Mr. Edmund Clear, eldest son of Mr. Francis Clear, of Windsor, Ont. Owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family, only the immediate relatives were present.

NEW ROAD PROJECTED NEW YORK TO CHICAGO

United States Eastern Lines Badly Scared by C. P. R. and Head Off Competition.

Chicago, June 15.—F. A. Delano, president of the Wabash, stated today that if the control of the road had passed out of the Goulds' hands he was not aware of the fact. He was, he said, unable to account for the rise in the market value of its securities, which might indicate that something new was being contemplated. People who are best informed in railway circles seem to think that back of the flurry in the Wabash securities is a project to establish a new through Chicago-New York line and to prevent such a line being established by Canadian interests. That the Canadian Pacific recently negotiated tentatively for the purchase of the road is asserted by some. It is understood that it was the Canadian Pacific, also, which was back of the projected Buffalo, Rochester and Eastern road, which the public service commission of New York State refused to permit to be built. That refusal was made the basis of fulsome praise on the part of many railroad men, who said it marked the beginning of the end of the time when competitive railroad construction would be allowed in this country where there were sufficient existing railroads.

On the other hand the influence of the New York Central lines was seen by some in the defeat of the project. It was stated that the Canadian Pacific road had an option on Wabash stock sufficient to secure control, and that the Buffalo, Rochester and Eastern was being planned to complete a new transcontinental road from Winnipeg to the seaboard. The other American link in the event of such a line would be the Wisconsin Central, which was recently acquired by the Canadian Pacific.

The Wabash sustains close traffic relations with the Lackawanna road, and it is rumored that the thwarted move of the Canadian Pacific road so frightened the management of the Lackawanna, that it at once started out to secure control of the Wabash to prevent its passing into other hands, and thereby shutting the Lackawanna out of its principal Chicago connection. In fact, it is asserted, all the eastern roads combined to see that the Wabash was taken care of so as to prevent the possibility of such a Canadian invasion as recently threatened them.

The thought of a Canadian road having a transcontinental route from the great wheat fields of the Northwest, through Chicago to the seaboard, was sufficiently startling to arouse all eastern management.

The customs service of China estimates the total population of that country at 458,214,000.

TURKS CLASH

The Friendship of Germany and England Said To Be the Issue.

Constantinople, June 15.—A council of ministers was held last night to deliberate on the foreign policy which Turkey ought to follow. Hilmi Pasha, grand vizier, supported by Ferid Pasha, was of the opinion that the old Germanophile line of conduct should be followed, while cultivating good relations with the other powers.

Rifaat Pasha, minister of foreign affairs, however, declared categorically in favor of an Anglophile policy, explaining that Germany could be of no help to Turkey in case England, irritated at her Germanophile policy, should create embarrassments for Turkey throughout her vast empire.

This divergence of opinion, which exists at present on a limited scale, will shortly take an acute turn, and the ministry, which was to have been partially reconstructed shortly, may soon have to resign. It is certain that the opinion of Rifaat Pasha will not be carried out so soon, for Gen. Scheffer Pasha, who at present real-ly holds the supreme power, could accept the office of grand vizier, continuing, according to his inclination, a Germanophile policy.

Opinion in Parliament is very divided, and cannot have decisive action. The locum tenens of the Bulgarian Exarch has declared that he will imitate the Oecumenical Patriarch in protesting against the intentions of Parliament, providing for the abolition of the national and ecclesiastical Armenian Patriarch, declaring that the article of the constitution providing for the nationalization of various foreign nationalities in the empire would never be tolerated, for it is a question of life and death.

STRATHCONA WINS SUIT

Case Involving Ownership of Western Property Is Decided.

Winnipeg, Man., June 15.—The important suit of Rowan vs. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, involving the ownership of the Silver Heights property, came to a sudden conclusion before Mr. Justice Mathers this morning, the case being dropped. When the case was called, M. G. MacNeil, for the plaintiff, stated that plaintiff had no evidence to offer, consequently judgment was entered for the defendant with costs. The judgment declares that plaintiff has no estate or interest in the lands in question in the action, and directs that the caveat and "lis pendens" filed by the plaintiff be discharged, and the action dismissed with costs.

Millions in Hidden Wealth.

It is the belief of Lieutenant-Governor Tweedle that the hidden resources of Canada have been merely scratched. This is an absorbing topic discussed in his article, published in the June 19th issue of COLLIER'S.

"MIND YOUR OWN BIZ AND LET IT ALONE"

Colored People at Bennett's Last Week Are in Trouble in Toronto Now.

Toronto, June 15.—When the police went into a lodging-house at 113 York street yesterday afternoon they "made a hole" in the cast of the troupe which is doing "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Shea's in London, the week previous. Five of the members of the company were taken to headquarters, but subsequently two were let off, which made things better for the show. The people were arrested in connection with a ring-switching case at the establishment of M. Moss, 70 Queen street west.

Three of the colored women went into the place Monday afternoon, one of whom was Georgina Payne, aged 21. She told the clerk that she wanted to purchase a pair of earrings. The party took some time in deciding just what they would like, and finally the dealer found that a diamond ring, a sapphire ring and gold forester's emblem were not in their right place, and a final look about showed that they were not in the store. The police were then notified.

Yesterday afternoon Detectives Kennedy, Guthrie and Murray went to the York street lodging-house and questioned the three women. Everybody denied any connection with the affair at first, but afterwards the Payne woman admitted. In the meantime two of the detectives followed Thomas Delaney and James E. Jackson out of the house and watched them hide a small parcel in a lane near by. They afterwards discovered it and found it contained two rings and the emblem which were missing from Moss' store. The two men were charged with receiving stolen property and the woman was charged with the theft. When searching Jackson the detectives found twelve small tickets for jewelry.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Former Bank Manager Arrested in Connection With Forgery.

Quebec, June 15.—William P. Lindsay, former manager of the Levis branch of the Bank of British North America, was arrested at noon in connection with the Levis forgery, for which Geo. Atkinson was tried twice, being acquitted in the first instance, and the jury failing to agree in the second. W. P. Lindsay, who is a young man highly connected in Quebec, is accused of complicity in the forgery that led to the foreclosures on the Bank of Montreal and the Bank of British North America, involving the sum of $9,000. During the trial of young Atkinson several important witnesses showed themselves from the city, and there was the alleged compounding of a felony by the payment of the notes held by the Bank of Montreal under most extraordinary circumstances.

St. James' Court, Premier and Attorney-General of the province, is determined to bring every phase of the forgeries to light, and if possible punish the guilty parties. Several persons high up in social circles are said to be implicated. Ex-Manager Lindsay, shortly after his arrest, was admitted to bail. Messrs. G. G. Stuart, K. C. and C. A. Pentland, K. C., signed the bonds.

THE REV. DR. DICKIE CALLED TO CHATHAM

Presbyterian Church Wants Minister From Woodstock.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Chatham, June 15.—A capital band concert and dance were held in the Armories last night, and a good number of young couples took advantage of the excellent condition of the floor. The Regimental Band furnished the music, and the gallery was well filled with spectators. There was also a band concert at Erie Beach, and the special cars were crowded.

The young ladies who have opened a tea room in the Scane Block for four days, did a great business yesterday afternoon and evening, and considering the excellence of their fare, this is not surprising.

A call has been extended by the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church to the Rev. Dr. Dickie, of Woodstock.

The Sons of Scotland met in the Auditorium last night. The ball game between the Hardware Clerks and Gray's Factory team, resulted in a win for the Hardware Clerks, the score being 11-7.

Saturday is to be tag day for the General Hospital in Chatham. It is announced that even horses and automobiles will be tagged on that day.

A Marathon race will be run in connection with the McKeough School picnic on Friday. The course will be along St. Clair street.

Edward Oliver, Ph.D., of Toronto, is spending a few days with his parents on Joseph street.

Almost a record number of June weddings are to take place in Chatham today.

TAKE UP WORK AND DON'T HIDE

Stirring Addresses in Crayon Hall on the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

SERVANTS OF CHRIST

Should Do All in Their Power to Extend His Kingdom, Said Rev. Mr.
Allin, One of the Speakers
—Dr. Crawford's
Address.

There was a very large and enthusiastic missionary gathering in Bishop Crayon Hall last night, when four stirring missionary addresses were delivered on behalf of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, and the churches' work in China and Africa.
The first speaker of the evening was Mr. R. J. Allin, general secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.
"This work," said Mr. R. J. Allin,
"should be done through the organization of the church, but it is because the church has not done all it could do that this movement was called into being. It stands for inspiration rather than organization, and its object is to inspire the church to do what it would."

The Laymen's Missionary Movement comes to you, and asks you to take up the work that comes to you as servants of Christ—not to hide behind our church organization, but to do the work that must be done by you or forever left undone.

"The movement stands for co-operation, with the different missionary boards; with the laymen of different communities. Its one object is to save the world to Christ. It stands for investigation, its ideal has been to get practical men to visit the mission fields and see what sort of work was being done. To use a business term it takes stock of the situation. What we have heard from our statesmen and soldiers and businessmen has been that the missionaries are doing as good and noble a work as many people on the globe.

"If the laymen's movement accomplishes nothing else, it has achieved a new attitude towards foreign missions.

The man who says he doesn't believe in foreign missions is in most cases trying to shield his own innate selfishness.

Not Selfishness.
"Christianity is not selfishness, for selfishness is paganism, and if we are following in Christ's footsteps we will not be backward in sustaining the cause of missions. The laymen's movement wants you to examine the condition in your own parish and put for personal responsibility. Someone has said the conversion of the world waits for the conversion of the laity from passive to active association in the service of Christ. Are we being a stumbling block in the way of the great work? The movement has the grandest ideal that has ever been before any movement—the evangelization of the world in this generation.

"We ask that the men in heathen lands should have the chance that we have had. Let us at least be fair to them and give them a fighting chance in our own time. We can do the work in our lifetime if we will, and the Laymen's Missionary Movement asks us to say we can do the work, and we will. We have no great organization to suggest to you, we only ask that you do something. Men clamor for organization. Why? That they may hide behind it as they have done in the past.

The aim we have before us is greater than a system—we want the life behind the system as the only thing that can make the system effective.

Extending the Kingdom.
"The extension of Christ's Kingdom in other lands should assume at least equal proportions with the work of our own parish. We have not been training our people to give. The Laymen's Missionary Movement suggests weekly giving, but not only that but to study missions, and greater than that, we want you men to gather together for prayer for this movement. And, lastly, we want more faith in Christ, we don't understand how a man can look at the words of Christ and then say in his next breath that he does not believe in missions. What we need is faith that takes hold on Christ and never lets go.

Dr. Crawford.
Dr. Crawford, a medical missionary in Eastern Africa, was the next speaker, and told of the opening up of the mission field in that locality.
The but of the missionaries had to be constantly guarded by troops to protect their lives until the natives began to know them.

"Then," continued Dr. Crawford, "we built a dispensary of mud, roofed with banana bark, and soon the patients swarmed to us. I have had as many as 250 patients in a day.

and we need your aid to help us to hold it for Christ."

A New Bishop.
Dr. White, the bishop-elect of the new diocese of Honan, China, received quite an ovation as he rose to speak.

"Tonight I wish to speak on the new mission in China, which we are opening, and give a few reasons why we should take up this individual work," he said.

"Canada and Canadians are destined to play an important part in the regeneration of China. Quite one-half of the Y. M. C. A. secretaries in China are Canadians, and these are coming in immense numbers. I know that these men will respond most readily to anything in the way of service to their country. We cannot keep them out of the heavy tax will not do it. On the steamer I came out on there were 600 Chinese, all prepared to pay the $500 head tax.

Make Christians of Them.
"They will not make good citizens, for they all intend to return to their native land, but you can make Christians of them, so that they will be missionaries when they return.

"Canada has had nothing to do with the opium traffic, which has been the greatest drawback to Christian work in China, and this fact is of immense advantage to us. The opium wars with China have militated strongly against England's influence, which only lays the burden more strongly upon us.

"And we should take up the work because of the magnificent opportunity that is presenting itself at this time.
In the Province of Honan there are at least 35,000,000 souls. In the district set aside for the missionary society of the Church of England in Canada there are over 3,000,000 people, and not a single missionary or even Chinese worker.

The China of today is not the China of five years ago. Everywhere people are waiting to hear the gospel. Even the Litterati are willing now to accept the teaching of the gospel, and we are hoping that our church will leave its mark in China for time and for eternity."

The Laymen's Movement.
"The outstanding feature of the laymen's missionary movement," said Canon Tucker, is its urgent effort to carry the gospel to all nations, which means that Canada will play its part in this great work. And when the missionary opening in the missionary Canada do its share? The answer came back, "By God's grace we will," and now the question comes to the Church of England, and I do not think it is the temper of the Church of England today to play any small part in this great movement. The most splendid missionary opening in the missionary history of the world is before us.
One half the heathen population of the world opens up before us in this generation.

Canon Tucker spoke of the marvellous history of that great nation, which stretched back almost before the opening of modern human history.

An industrious, thrifty, and brilliant people, adaptable nation they are. A nation who are peacefully inclined and could set an example to the so-called Christian war lords of Europe.

This ancient nation, after 4,000 years of continuous history, has turned around and are waiting to accept the civilization of Europe, and this accounts for the great opportunity.
This is an opportunity, and we disregard it? And besides this inward call comes the request from the missionaries in China for us to come and assist in this great work. And this question when finally put to the English church in Canada found not a dissenting voice. And the church decided it could and would accept the work.

Canon Tucker went on to outline in a manner that swept the large gathering with enthusiasm, the way in which this project had worked out, in a manner that the speaker said could not be explained, but by the recognition of the Divine hand in it all.

"Here is an opportunity," Canon Tucker concluded, "for the gifts and energies of the church to undertake the great mission of saving the world in this generation."

A Resolution.
At the conclusion of the service the following resolution was presented by Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, of Brantford, seconded by Mr. J. H. K. Pope, of this city, and unanimously carried:

"This synod, recognizing the importance of the Laymen's Missionary Movement as an international and immense, international movement of laymen, the object of which is the evangelization of the world in this generation, subject, however, in Canada, to the claims of the home mission field;
and further recognizing that the movement has been approved by the House of Bishops and the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, desires to put on record its cordial financial support of the policy of the L. M. M.
as defined by the National Missionary Congress recently held in Toronto, and would urge upon every congregation in the diocese the advisability and the urgency of establishing a local committee or official board of laymen to co-operate with the Anglican national committee in promoting by every means in their power the objects of the movement."

MAD "HUB" BUTCHER SENT TO ASYLUM
Cambridge, Mass., June 17.—John J.
Murphy, the pig killer for the North Packing Company at Somerville, who while at work killed five of his fellow-workmen on June 5, today was ordered by Judge Lawton to be sent to the state institution for the criminal insane at Bridgewater.

NO HELP FOR PERKS
AT PRESENT, SAYS GOVT
Ottawa, Ont., June 16.—Sir Robert Perks, the British financier, who is promoting the Georgian Bay canal, has returned to the city, in connection with the project. He interviewed the Premier yesterday, but he is said to have been given to understand that it is not the Government's intention to do anything this year.

JOSEPH SMITH HAS DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT

Committee Appointed to Administer the Stamp Fund Report That He Cannot Be Located.

A meeting of the committee appointed to administer the recently-raised Christmas stamp fund for consumptive patients was held in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon, to consider an application for admission to the Gravenhurst Sanatorium, under that fund.

This fund has provided for three beds at the sanatorium for one year, but already three patients have been admitted, and the question arose as to whether, in view of the probable recovery within that period of any of those already sent, the Sanatorium Association would admit any others recommended, provided that the whole time did not exceed the limit arranged for. It was decided to admit the applicant whose case was considered yesterday if the sanatorium authorities would give their consent.

It was stated that the man, Stevenson, now at the sanatorium, was coming from that place some days ago to attend the funeral of his wife, who was much improved that his stay in the institution would not be prolonged.

Where Is Smith?
In relation to Joseph Smith, whose case has been attracting so much attention lately, it was stated that no trace of him can be had since he left Victoria Hospital. The reason for his leaving that institution was because of his continued infraction of the hospital rules, by coming to the city and not returning to the hospital till very unreasonable hours of the night. Other complaints, equally undesirable in a hospital patient, were registered against him.

The committee felt strongly that if the disease is to be stamped out, a man in his condition should not be permitted to roam around at will, yet there is no power to restrain such a one from acting on his own impulses, and the only alternative for the hospital authorities was to prevent his readmission.

The report from Gravenhurst, based on the examining physician's certificate, was that his case was too far advanced to make him eligible for the institution.

Three Big Battles in the Balkans

Vienna, June 17.—According to newspaper dispatches from Saloniki and Uskub there have been three severe fights between Albanians and Turkish troops near Schichma. Many on both sides were killed or wounded.

The losses sustained by David Pasha were so severe in one engagement that he was obliged to retire to Djakova, abandoning it. It is reported, however, that his artillery. Only after repeated attacks could David Pasha force an entrance into Schichma. He has asked the Government for reinforcements and has threatened the Albanians with martial law.

It is stated that Prince Chika, recently returned from taking part in the fighting. He and the Albanian chiefs have taken a mutual oath to oppose to the utmost the Government's proposal to disarm the Albanians.

Lake 'Longshoremen Will Not Strike
Cleveland, June 17.—There will be no strike of the longshoremen on the great lakes, according to T. V. O'Connor, international president of the Longshoremen's Union, who arrived here early today.

"The vote of the members of the union upon the question of declaring a strike was so close that we had to go over it again," said Mr. O'Connor.
"There is one error which I wish to correct and that is that the movement among the longshoremen is sympathetic in connection with the strike of the marine engineers, seamen, cooks and firemen. That is not the case.

We are acting independently. Wages are not an issue at this time. We are fighting for the union and its principles."

Mr. O'Connor also said he is not in favor of this strike by the longshoremen at this time, and hoped that the final count of the ballots will show the members to be against it.

"The general business conditions do not warrant such a move at this time," he added.

OFFICERS GIVEN SPLENDID TIME

City Entertained the Military Men in Camp on the Heights.

A TRIP TO SPRINGBANK

And Later a Dinner at the Kennels —Mayor Stevely Made Speech of Appreciation of Soldier Boys.

The officers attending the military camp at Carling's Heights were the guests of the city council yesterday afternoon, and the fair proved to be a most enjoyable outing, appreciated alike both by the officers and the mayor, aldermen and citizens under whose control it was made such a success.

At 4:30 Mayor Stevely, Ald. Stevenson, chairman of the reception committee, Ald. Ferguson, Ald. Bestie, Ald. Cooper, Ald. Fitzgerald and the other members of the committee, met the officers at the heights with special cars. They were then shown the city, and were afterwards taken to Springbank, where half an hour was spent in the city's big park. It never looked better, and the officers were more than delighted with it.

Dinner at Kennels.
At 6 o'clock the party returned to the city, and then to the Kennels, where dinner was served.

After dinner an informal programme was presented. The Seventh Regiment Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Blatter, gave an excellent programme of music. Mr. Chris. Pink then sang several songs in excellent voice. He was particularly good in his patriotic selections, and the visitors could not hear enough of him.
He made a decided hit.

Lieut. Piggett, of the Thirty-third Regiment, was also pressed into service, and sang several songs in fine style. There was a hiatus in the proceedings while some athletic contests were given.

Officers' Race.
A race for officers in uniform for a special prize donated by Mr. E. Reck-nitzer was the feature of the evening.
Over fifty of the officers took part in the race, which was a beauty. First prize went to Lieut. Morrison, Sarnia, of the First Hussars, with Lieut.
Bricker second.

Later a race for city officials, excluding aldermen, was given. The victor was the piece of resistance of the whole evening's show.

Ex-Ald. Saunders executed the greatest slide ever known, and he is certain to be taxed for damages to the greens.
He played up the estate on his nose.
Ald. Neil Cooper rolled home like a sail sailer. Ex-Ald. Gillman beat the barrier, and about everything in sight.

Mayor a Sprinter.
Mayor Stevely covered ground like a frightened gazelle for about four seconds, and then he had to be stopped for fear he would dislocate the neck.

Ex-Ald. Scarlett ran like a red streak, but was badly handicapped. A near shot was prevented when the prizes were given off to the victors.
Feats of all descriptions were performed, including a drill by the civilsians of the city.

When this was finished, the officers sang several choruses and other musical numbers were given. The victor of the officers' race, Lieut. Morrison, of the Twenty-seventh Regiment, Sarnia, made a brief speech very grateful to the officers. They were very hospitable, and declared it to be one of the pleasantest functions it had ever been his privilege to attend.

"We have all enjoyed it very much,
and we thank you most cordially for it,"
said Col. Morrison.

Mayor's Address.
Mayor Stevely made a brief reply.
It was a pleasure to entertain such a fine body of men as the officers attending the camp. The city in the past had not recognized them as they should, but that would not be the complaint in the future. He hoped all enjoyed themselves. It was certain that the city officials had.

Speeches were made by Ald. Stevenson, chairman of the committee, Ald.
Bestie, Ald. Ferguson, Ald. Bestie, and Rev. Canon Dann, chaplain of the Twenty-sixth Regiment.

At 10 o'clock the officers were escorted to the heights, and gave three cheers for the city officials.

The Committee.

FIELD AMBULANCE WORKED ALL NIGHT

Tactical Exercises at the London Camp Almost as Hard as Real War.

BUSY DAY AT THE CAMP

Inspectors Are Present, and Boards of Examiners Are at Work—Latest Military Gossip.

Notwithstanding the wet weather, today is the busiest, and without doubt, the most important of any day at camp thus far.

This afternoon Inspector-General
Lake arrived from Ottawa, and proceeded at once to Carling's Heights and inspected everything.

This evening the general inspects
the Seventh Regiment in the Armouries, and then proceeds to St. Thomas, where he will inspect the Twenty-fifth Regiment.

Major Bruce Carrothers, assistant-general of the Signalling Corps of Canada, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and is inspecting the signallers today. He is accompanied by Sergeant-Major McGowan, chief instructor of his staff.

Tactical Exercises.
The tactical exercises for the benefit of the Ambulance Field Units in camp commenced last night and continued until dawn this morning. The units turned out and performed the work they would be supposed to carry on in supporting a defensive force occupying the position from the ridge of the 6th concession of London Township to the Asylum road.

The defending force was supposed to be strongly attacked, and it was the duty of the Field Units to establish hospitals all along the line. The units were under the direction of Col.
Belton and Col. Hayes.

Col. Jones, director-general of the medical service for the militia department of Canada, and a member of the headquarters staff at Ottawa, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and after inspecting the camp hospital and medical service generally, looked over the tactical work that the ambulance units performed.

Board of Examiners.
At half-past four this afternoon the board of examiners, consisting of Major H. R. Abbott, First Hussars,
Major E. S. Leonard, First Hussars, and Lieut. C. H. H. Sixty-fourth Battery, met, and will examine the largest class in equitation that has presented itself in the history of London camp.

The examination will be held in front of the lines of the First Hussars, and the candidates to be examined are Major L. W. Shannon, D. S.
A., military district No. 1; Capt. J. R.
Ingram, Seventh Regiment; Capt.
T. R. Ramce, Thirty-third Regiment;
Capt. T. W. Nisbett, Captain H. D.
McKenzie, Lieut. A. A. O. Beadmore, of the Twenty-seventh Regiment;
Capt. T. E. Elliott, Capt. J. J. Doyle,
Capt. G. E. Whitworth, and Lieut. S.
H. McPherson, all of the Twenty-eighth Regiment; Capt. J. L. Fairbairn, and Lieut. A. J. Windell, Twenty-ninth Regiment; Capt. H. C. Dunlop and Lieut. A. Rougier, Thirty-third Regiment; and Lieut. A. O. Beadmore, of the Tenth Royal Grenadiers.

Provisional Lieutenants.
The following provisional lieutenants who have been attending a class of instruction in camp, will be examined by the provisional board this afternoon: P. J. Hettjory, Twenty-ninth; G. A. Robb, Twenty-sixth; F. C. Jeanette, Twenty-ninth; N. W. McGregor, Twenty-sixth; C. L. Foster, Twenty-sixth; D. F. McGowan, Twenty-sixth;
R. G. Plumb, Twenty-ninth; W. C.
Ferguson, Twenty-sixth; J. G. Stenburg, Thirty-third; R. W. Armstrong, Twenty-seventh; A. C. Dricker, Twenty-eighth; S. V. Pollard, Twenty-seventh;
H. L. Cobb, Twenty-eighth; J. G. Hahn, Twenty-ninth; R. G. C. Kelly, Twenty-seventh; T. L. Watt, Twenty-seventh;
A. E. Kaiser, Twenty-seventh.

Sacred Concert.
This evening at 8 o'clock a large number of the officers and men will attend the complimentary concert to be given in their honor in Dundas Centre Methodist Church. The choir will be under the direction of Mr. J. Parnell.
Included in the programme will be sacred music given by them on the occasion of their recent visit to Toronto.

Sports Tonight.
A feature of much interest at camp this evening will be the sports arranged for by the members of the First Hussars and Sixth Field Battery. The programme is an attractive one, and includes a series of races, a tug-of-war on horseback, wrestling matches on horseback and other equestrian feats.

The corps of guides, which, under Col. Lamb, have been making a tour of the country, and at the same time completing a topographical map of the district they travelled over, arrived in camp this morning from Dorchester.

LUCAN STAGE HORSE HATES AUTOMOBILES

Shied When He Saw a Man Walking and Wearing Auto Glasses.

It seems that an automobile hat and the odor of gasoline are alone necessary to frighten horses.

This morning a local automobilist was walking across Coning street, when the Lucan stage happened along.

One of the horses took one look at him and shied, being restrained with some difficulty by the driver.

"I guess that horse must have known me," said the automobilist. "I pass him several times a week on my trips, and I have come to the conclusion that he does not require a machine to make him act up."

"If he had been a runaway, I wonder if it would have had to pay a fine for not having my number on."

The incident caused not a little amusement.

REV. FATHER DURKIN TAUGHT MAN LESSON
Forcibly Ejected Disturber From a New York City Parochial School.

Rev. Father John J. Durkin, formerly of this city, but at the present time rector of St. Vincent Ferris Roman Catholic Church, New York City, was the hero of an exciting adventure on Wednesday last and later of police court proceedings.

Downs did not elect to go quietly, but placing his hand on his hip pocket he threatened to shoot.

Father Durkin immediately seized Downs, and the incident related above is considered highly characteristic by his friends.

On his vacations to London he has occupied the pulpit of the Catholic churches of the city, officiating in St. Mary's Church on the occasion of his visit home last summer.

AWARD REJECTED
Only About Ninety of the Owen Sound Dockers Return to Work.

Owen Sound, June 17.—Seventeen cents an hour for day work, 18 cents for night work and Sundays, 23 cents an hour for grain and 25 cents for coal is the majority award of the board of conciliation on the labor dispute of the longshoremen and the Canadian Pacific through freight department. The award was signed by Donald Ross, chairman, and Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., arbitrator for the C. P. R., while Mr. J. G. O'Donoghue, representing the men, filed a minority report.

A meeting was held yesterday morning in the Workmen's Club rooms, and it was decided to strike again rather than accept the award.

An interview was held with Agent Simpson and a demand presented for a scale of 20 cents for day work, 22 cents for night and 25 cents an hour for Sunday work. This was refused, and many of the men declined to go to work. About 60 of the older employees decided to accept the award and went to work under the new scale. In the afternoon about a hundred men went down to No. 3 shed, where the unloading of the Manitoba was in progress. They were warned off, and quietly dispersed. Later about 30 more men took out their checks and went to work.

INTELLECTUAL TREAT
Lecture Recited in the Conservatory of Music Last Night.

A decidedly intellectual treat in a musical way was the lecture recital given in the recital hall of the London Conservatory of Music, by Mr. Louis C. Stanton, of Boston, on "The Art of Listening to Classic Music."

Mr. Stanton in an informal talk, illustrated by various selections on the piano from the works of the great masters, showed how the composer would take a simple theme and clothe it in any and every conceivable form of harmony which the fancy of his genius could devise, and pointed out that active and intelligent listening was essential to a proper understanding and enjoyment of worthy music. Only in this way could the hearer appreciate the beauty and the intricacies of the art of the composer.

Part II was devoted to showing the material a composer has at his command in the way of alteration of his theme, especially in sequence of form. The Binary form was defined, and illustrated, showing the place where two themes are to be found, and the parts of the composition where the composer has ample scope for the display of his ability and resource. All this was led up to an analysis of the movement of one of the early sonatas of Beethoven.

The last part of the evening was devoted to shorter sketches, among which might be mentioned an intermezzo by Schumann and a serenade by D'Albert, which Mr. Stanton played in a masterly manner, which was thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed by a warmly sympathetic audience.

The occasion of Mr. Stanton's visit to London is the midsummer examinations of the London Conservatory of Music, at which Mr. Stanton was the examiner of the graduating pupils.

Munson—Martin.
A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. William Martin, in Adelaide Township, near Strathroy, when his daughter, Miss Carrie E. Martin, was married to Mr. Bert A. Munson, of Westfield, New York, Rev. A. K. Birks, of Askin Street Methodist Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride was given away by her father, and looked very pretty in a gown of white tulle with over cream silk. She carried a beautiful bridal bouquet. Following the ceremony, a dainty luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Munson left on the evening train for Westfield, New York, where they will reside.

Miss Martin was until recently a member of the choir and Epworth League of Askin Street Methodist Church, and a large number of her friends gathered at the station last night to meet her on her way to Westfield.

THE GILLIES' TENDERS
The Government Lets Go Vast Tract For $74,643.

Toronto, June 17.—Of the 870 acres of mineral land in the Gillies limit being offered for sale by public tender, the Government has decided to accept, decided to dispose of 283 acres, receiving therefor a sum of $74,643. This amount is the total of the recent tender which alone was accepted.

In all there were 116 tenders received for the 35 parcels of land offered. Only the fifteen highest tenders have been accepted. Considerable others were rejected because the amount offered was not deemed satisfactory, and a few because the conditions were not complied with.

The department deems the bidding to be low, and the Government will not, at present dispose of the other offer for the tenders received.
