MYSTERY SURROUNDS

SHOOTING AFFRAY IN

Refuses To Give Any Information Concerning the Affair.

Windsor, Feb. 19.—Andrew Mofile lies in the Hotel Dieu here today at the point of death, suffering painful gunshot wounds in his right shoulder, caused, it is alleged, by a gun in the hands of Sakam Koyanna, a Japanese, and also from cold and exposure, having been forced to travel after being wounded for a distance of nearly four blocks clad only in a suit of underwear. His alleged assailant is being held, Mofie would tell the constables nothing. He had been shot and that was all the information he would divulge. The occupants of the house to which he staggered could give the officers no clue. They had heard groaning outside the house at 2 o'clock in the morning, and on going down found Mofie on the doorstep.

Scouting around outside the house, the officers found tracks made by a person walking in stocking feet. They followed the tracks across the field to the summer cottage owned by Walter Flanders on the river front in Sandwich East Township. Here Koyanna threatened to shoot when they demanded admittance.

the cross-examination of the witness began.

E. T. Essery, who was appearing for one of the witnesses, inquired as to the food. He thought that Lawder had in authority to jut water in the soup to make it be sufficient for all. He should have served the soup in smaller quantities, but in its original state, instead of thinning it. While Lawder reported to MacDougall, Essery said that he was derelict in his duty when he id do not take the matter up with Beamlish, the chef. He had falled in his duty to the public.

As to Foods.

He was pressed very closely on the matter of foods, and was made to admit that he didn't know just how much food each patient was to receive, and that there were no deit sheets or service to have issued to them. The plaintiff admitted that if the department of prisons and charities did set the amount each person was to receive he did not know whether it was delivered to them. It might have been continued on page three.

Jared Vining, counsel for the laun dier patient on the port of Slumcuski, dress and the chief attendant, next mitted to him that he had on one or two occasions taken a few boxes of berries from the place in the berry season, but only because he took his supper at home instead of at the institútion.

He was asked if he ever put strawberries under a bush and came and got them at night. He acknowledged that he did, but said that he gave them to the patients in the wards.

"Is that all you have taken?" was asked.

They were dismissed from the employ of the institution.

Attendant May was in charge of "B" hall before going overseas, but when he returned was given a poorer job in a back hall, he claimed.

Attendant Munnery, who was supervising the hospital before he joined the navy, was employed as an attendant on his return.

Attendant Kite, Lawder charged, had been employed as a farmer previous to the war, but when he was discharged from the army was given a job as attendant in the north building. He was unable to get an increase in salary, so quit.

Lawder declared that Dr. Robinson only inspected the patients' diningroom once every two and a half or three months, and at those times listened to complaints of patients.

Cross-Examination.

"Is that all you have taken?" was asked.

Lawder replied in the affirmative.

Boys From 14 to 18 Years To Be Eligible For Affiliated Organization.

The 2nd Canadian Machine Gun Bricade is making excellent progress with its organization, nearly 50 per cent of the personnel having now been attested. The first training parade will be held in the armorles next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, and everyone on the strength is especially asked to attend, and any new members who are interested will be welcome. Capt. G. W. Beresford has visited Windsor. Chatham, Sarnia, Guelph, Stratford, St. Thomas and Woodstock and has interested a number of officers and other ranks in each of these places who have already taken steps to start organizing batteries.

This unit will be equipped with 72 Vickers machine guns and a transport composed of 19 G. S. double limbers, with an establishment of 6 riding horses and 36 light draught horses for annual training. In London the brigade headquarters and No. 1 company will be stationed with 24 Vickers guns, and the other companies will be distributed in the places mentioned above.

Uniforms will be drawn in the near future and will differ from other units in that machine gunners will wear breeches instead of the regulation infantry slacks, and British warms instead of the long great coat.

It is proposed to fit up rooms in the armouries for a sergeants' mess and a recreation room for the rank and file where magazines, etc., will be available for the members any evening and where a canteen will also be opened. A rifle association is being organized and prizes will be given to the men getting the highest scores. The out-of-town batterles will also be allowed to compete.

Form Cadet corps.

town batteries will also be allowed to compete.

Form Cadet Corps.

A cadet corps composed of boys from 14 to 18 years of age will be organized in affiliation with this unit, to be trained by the officers and N. C. O.'s of the machine gun corps. Any well-grown boy between these ages is welcome to join and will be able to spend a profitable evening or two a week in connection with this work. Many boys are interested in automatic contrivances, and they will find the machine gun something that will appeal to them.

Lieut. Marshall Macpherson is taking charge of the signalling section and all signallers are invited to attend the meeting next Monday evening.

Capt. G. W. Beresford, adjutant of the 2nd Canad'an Machine Gun Brigade (active militia), has now been authorized to attest recruits for the permanent force machine gun brigade with headquarters in Kingston. Only category A men will be accepted. The permanent force machine gun brigade desires to get, first, all machine gunners who served in France and, secondly, young men of about 18 years of age who were too young to go to the war. All overseas machine gun N. C. O's under the rank of 2nd class warrant officers will be allowed to keer their overseas rank. Lieut. Col. E. W. their officers will be allowed to keep their overseas rank. Lieut.-Col. E W. Sansom has been appointed officer commanding and reports that recruiting is starting very well and that he has a number of old machine gunners signed

A dangerously acute situation in the

A dangerously acute situation in the foreign exchange market has forced into the limelight the whole problem of paper currency in the terms of gold metal. Several years ago, the writer attempted to show that the gold stand-

"No adjustment of labor factors will be effective to insure industrial and social peace, which does not eliminate the gold standard clause in finance contracts, standard clause in finance contracts, and money practice in world exchange."

The relation of this proposition to local wages and to the high cost of living is very direct, although it is certainly obscured by many factors which operate with skillful deception to conceal its point of contact with the everyday experiences of the wage-workers and salaried men and women in the working class of Canada, as it so operates in all other countries.

I do not now ask permission to burden your readers with a lengthy recital of evidence in support of my recorded views in regard to the counterfeit character of the paper money (supposed to

DENIES REPORT THAT MALTA IMMIGRANTS ARE TO BE EXCLUDED

Only Settlers From Former Enemy Countries Barred.

Ottawa, Feb. 19. - (By Canadian Press).—The statement that immigrants from Malta are to be denied admittance to Canada on the ground of nationality is denied by the department of immigration here today. An official of the department pointed out that the only nationals denied admittance to Can-ada at present as immigrants are Ger-mans. Austrians, Hungarians. Bul-garians and Turks. Settlers of any other nationality are welcomed to Canada if they conform to immigration regulations and if there is no economic

FRYATT CASE LIKELY TO BE REOPENED AS RESULT OF NEW NOTE

Berlin, Feb. 19 .- Examination of the official text of the last allied note sent to the German Government relative to the trial of men accused of war crimes shows that a significant passage was omitted from the Paris version published here on Tuesday afternoon. This passage refers to a stipulation by the Entente that previous verdicts at trials of German war offenders must be annulled and that they be remanded for

This provision, the Freihelt says, means the reopening of the Fryatt case, in which a German commission decided the execution of Fryatt, captain of a British merchantman, was not a violation of international law. The conservations of the conservation of the con ative pan-Germanic press unites in re-jecting the allied note as wholly unac-ceptable, and the Tageblatt expressed the belief "it is a halting on the road leading to revision of the Versailles the institution and complainant in the investigation, went on the stand when the afternoon session began yesterday. Previous to 1912 he had been employed at the asylum for eight years. He has in his possession a first-clashonorable discharge from the 17th Lancers of the imperial army, with which he served as a sergeant for eleven years. In 1915 he enlisted with the 142nd (London's Own) Battalion, and went overseas. After thirteen months' service in France with the 1st Battalion he was discharged as medically unfit. In 1918 the plaintiff was re-employed at the Ontario Hospital and worked there until October, 1919. His first charge dealt with the food served in the dining-room on Flat 4, in which he was employed. The sour served almost always was insufficient to go around, so much so, in fact, that on one occasion eight quarts of water had to be added to make enough for all. It consisted of porridge, corn and very little meat. When poured off it was very thin and lacked nourlshment. Meat was not sufficient in quantity either. On one occasion; of the sixteen tables in the dining-room, the persons at but nine of them had meat given them, and only patients who actually had worked that day received some, But twice in eighteen months was roast meat served, and it was supplied only after Mr. Lauder had laid complaint. At every other time boiled meat was issued.

At every other time boiled meat was issued.

The porridge was very poor. It was as thin as the soup. In in were lumps of raw meal as large as a duck's egg. The pudding was not properly cooked and there was only enough to supply half the patients. No sugar was served with apple sauce.

Potatoes for the attendants' diningroom were sliced on the night previous to their being used and by breakfast time were sour. The bread served in this room was hard and dried out, while the butter was so strong in taste and smell that few of the attendants ever used it. It was not as good as oleomargarine or lard.

Poor Quality of Milk.

At the time that F. Spearin was in charge of the dairy the milk was fair in the morning, but by evening was thin and blue, and almost unfit for use On two occasions the odor of it was so bad that it had to be thrown away.

Mr. Lauder charged that during his first period of service at the institution Dr. Robinson, Dr. Harris, Dr. Biggs and a fourth party who was not named, gambled on many occasions in the main building of the institution. Dr. Robinson he accused of having kept John Kelly, an inmate, in the cold stable until 3 o'clock in the morning to take one member of the party to his home in the city. At the same time, there was a coachman on the staff but the patient was used instead of him, Lauder himself claimed to have heard them joking over the games.

The witness said that wards had been stripped of attendants in order that they might participate in curling rand leave bording in welect of their words.

CARL HOMUTH, SOUTH WATERLOO MEMBER, IS NEW LABOR WHIP

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—Carl Homuth, Labor M.P.P. for South Waterloo, has been appointed whip for the Labor wing of the Ontario Legislature. The appointment was announced this after. LONDON. Feb. 18.—Several names are under discussion in connection with the appointment of an ambassador to the United States to succeed Viscount Grey. Those most prominently mentioned are Sir Auckland Geddes, minister of national service and reconstruction, and H. A. L. Fisher, minister of education. The death occurred early this morning after a brief illness of Mary Ann Uttley, widow of the late Nathan Uttley, aged 82 years. The deceased was born in England and came to Canada when a girl. She spent most of her life in Waterloo County and was on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Hohner, when she died. Three sons and three daughters survive.

Drayton, As Usual, Says "No Decision" On Policy.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.-(Canadian Press) -The problem of what to do with business profits tax in Canada is engaging the attention of the Government with no solution for it immediately in sight. It is admittedly a handicap on business, he is admittedly a handicap of business, besides a source of fremendous work for government departments in determining the exact part of a firm's profits which shall be assessed. But it brings in about $35,000,000 to Canadian revenue, and such an amount cannot conveniently be added to the income tax on private incomes. Approached today on the question, Sir Henry Drayton stated that the Government had not decided what is policy would be on the debated point of business profits tax. BOARD OF COMMERCE TO DISCUSS THE PRICE OF SUGAR FEB. 20 Read What B. B. B. Did For

THE PRESS AND THE UNREST. A citizen charges the press with being responsible for the world-wide industrial and social unrest. This is not the case, as a very causes would have shown. The power of the press as an influence for good or evil is tremendous. Probably it exceeds that of any other man-made agency for intercourse between men and peoples, but it does not possess the potency to have brought about the present upheaval and unrest, Back of that is the ages-old discontent born of injustice and cruelty. The industrial and social crises of today are the logical outcome of conditions of the past. Their sources are deep in the life of the race. Sooner or later they would have burst into the present disturbances and clashes. The convulsion due to the war merely hurried the explosion. The budden crumbling of autocracies and tyrannies, the passing away of the old political systems In these and the unspeakable agony, distress and misery of the world war, are to be found The immediate causes of our present industrial and social unrest.

It is to the credit of the press as a whole that its strength has been thrown into the fight against the extremist, the anarchist and all agencies that would destroy constitutional government. It fights for moderation, decency, decorum. It is not responsible for the prevalent restlessness; quite the contrary is the case. But for the curbing, guiding, moulding influences of the press through channels of publicity, advice and information, the state of the world today industrially and socially would be immeasurably more perilous than it is. The press is a pacifier, not a trouble maker.

THE TEACHER PROBLEM.

From all parts of Canada comes the cry for teachers for the public schools. Manitoba's minister of education reports that scores of the province's schools have had to close up through the lack of teachers. Quebec is also hard put to secure enough to go around. Several other provinces state that while they have sufficient teachers, many of them are far from being suitable. Thus the primary education of thousands of Canadian children is being held up, while thousands of others are being trained makes for a serious social situation, for which | Safety League. a remedy must be found at once. Next to that of the home there is no influence that so directly acts on the children as that exerted by the public school teacher. This is so obvious that it is amazing we have not sooner seen to it that our schools are adequately supplied both as to quantity and quality.

Unquestionably one of the reasons, probably the main reason for this dilemma, is that the teacher is very much underpaid, considering the vital importance of his service. Hundreds of men and women, who are thoroughly equipped for the teacher's profession, and who have a natural inclination in that direction, turn to other professions or enter business life, where the monetary returns are in fairer proportions to the service given. In these days of widespread propaganda, it would be a move in the interests of the country's welfare if a campaign was launched with the object of awakening the public to the importance of this problem.

CULTIVATE THE WASTE LANDS. Mr. Cauchon, who is well known to Londoners because of his town beautifying schemes, is out with the proposal that the vast waste areas of the older sections of this province be reclaimed. He points out that this is one way in which the soldiers and other settlers could be kept in Ontario, instead of trekking to the west in such large numbers, as is the case at present. He sums up the advantages of this scheme as follows:

2. To Ontario by the retention of its people within its borders. 2. To the cause of production, in that the settler on the reclaimed area can from the first devote all his energies to production, whereas the settler on the wild areas cannot do much in the way of production for some 3. To the settler in the way of the amentties of life to be had by living in a settled and 4. To the cause of land settlement, in that people will be more inclined to go on the land and stay on it under the social and economic conditions prevailing in Ontario.

Commenting on this excellent suggestion, the Ottawa Journal says:

"For many years Ontario has been losing too many of her best people, some of them going to the Western Provinces to farm, some to the labor market of the United States. If Mr. Canchon's estimate of the extent of the waste areas of older Ontario and the practicability of their reclamation is correct, the province has within her borders a counter-attraction against both the agricultural in-ducements of the West and the industrial ands of the United States. The cultivation of these areas would be less hazarous and generally as profitable as the cultivation of the prairies, or even of New Ontario, and in an old, settled, and well-served community would not be at so great a disdvantage in comparison with life in industrial centres as farming under primitive

We believe the third and fourth clauses of fr. Cauchon's argument touch the nub of his problem. The settler who goes into the ilds of the northern sections of Ontario to hew ant a home and some acres for production cuts posts, which are still to be seen in Regent street mself off completely from the social and nomic privileges that tend to make life first footways.

contented and endurable. Only the adventurous and the physically hardy can tackle this life. On the other hand, huge areas of reclaimed land close to urban centres would appeal to thousands who would go back to the land but for the isolation and hardship involved in opening up the wilderness. And, what is most important to the country, these reclaimed areas, under the application of scientific methods of cultivation, would at once begin to produce.

THE CHICKADEE.

Piped a tiny voice near by, Gay and polite, a cheerful cry. "Chick-chickadeedee!" Saucy note. Out of sound heart and merry throat, As if it said, "Good-day, good sir!" "Fine afternoon, old passenger! Happy to meet you in these places, Where February brings few faces!"

Introducing himself by singing to all the world his cheery little name, the chickadee is one of the most winsome of winter birds. Friendly, fearless, interested, he can be won very easily to the intimacy of the windowboard, and the shy acceptance of food from the hand, or even at times from the lips. Not the least wonder he is so loved and sought. Frank superficial consideration of events and their W. > The inquisitiveness of the chickadee asserts itself when he answers one's whistle, and by degrees comes closer to investigate his human friend. J. C. Middleton, of the Ridgeway, London, whose lawn is surrounded with evergreens, has among his bird friends twelve chickadees These have become such chums that the leas whistle brings them to feed from the little boxes of food that Mr. Middleton invariably carries in his pockets for just such hungry little feathered folk. The winning of a wild bird's confidence is perhaps a special privilege given to certain people, but so happy are the results of training that the chickadees watch familiar doorway for food from sometimes a stranger, and to know the magic touch of tiny, clinging feet on one's hand is to feel oneself in league with the fairles and wood sprites. Then to note the wonder of the pale buff breast, the glossy black crown and brilliant dash of glowing black immediately beneath the bill, to study the folded wings edged with the frailest fluff of down, is to see into the Great Heart of the woodland world. Careless of the cold, contagiously cheerful, irresistibly winsome in his attempts to sing his optimism into the heart, the chickadee is worth cultivating as a sunny little friend for a

A WAY TO HELP FARMERS.

[Buffalo Courier] The Toronto papers are carrying an advertisement inserted by the Dominion minister of lands and forests, announcing that "the bureau of colonization and immigration expects a large number of first-class men from the old country during the latter part of March and succeeding months; some experienced, some inexperienced young man and experienced married men with and without

Why should not Congress organize effective agencies for the distribution of immigrants in such way as to help our farmers? From every point ew this is desirable. It would not only help the farmers, but it would be the best possible step toward the much-talked-of Americanization.

There are thousands upon thousands of immigrants who would be far better off on farms than in cities and factories. They should be encouraged not only to become farm help and farm tenants. but also owners of land. When an immigrant becomes a lond owner he has taken a long stride toward Americanization, and is secure against the Red or Bolshevist propagandists.

A NEW ANAESTHETIC. [Owen Sound Sun-Times.]

Ether has been long known and much used as an anaesthetic, but the honor of discovering a process of preparing it which adds incomparably to its value has been reserved for Dr. Cotten, a young Foronto surgeon. The new preparation, called 'Cotten process ether," has been tried out in the forente hospitals and found to be much quicker in its effects than ordinary ether, and much preferable to either it or chloroform. A few drops of it is said to destroy all sense of feeling, without pro ducing unconsciousness. A little larger dose results in unconsciousness, out of which patients recover quickly without the nausea that is so distressing after other anaesthetics.

One small defect in the drug remains to be eliminated. When a certain amount has been given patients are said to become most confidentially communicative, and are quite willing to tell any- ment. thing about themselves that is asked, and to be absolutely truthful. For detective purposes this opens up illimitable possibilies of which advantage may yet be taken; but the ordinary patient might hesitate to put himself or herself at the mercy of the surgeon and nurses in this respect. The newspapers have had their turn of fun out of suggestions as to possible uses to be made of the new ether, but if it is perfectly safe it will become immensely popular and be a real boon to humanity and a bonanza to the medical and dental professions. Already the demand far exceeds the supply.

FIRST FOOTPATHS IN 1762.

The student of old London, noticing the whitened curbs in the streets today, is inevitably reminded that the institution of the footway is really of quite recent date. It was not, indeed, until after the Westminster paving act of 1762 that footwars became at all general. Before that time man and beast took the same road. Many of the old iron and elsewhere, showing the crown and the monogram of the Georges, indicate the corners of these

[Halifax Memorial.] The Edith Cavell monument in London is now early ready for unveiling. The standing figure, in the simple dress of a hospital nurse, will at once attract the eye, but it is itself dominated by the impression of a great cross that rises high in air behind. The "Mother of Humanity," seated on a great cross-beam of stone, with a hand upraised to bless or protect the child safe and happy on her sheltering arm, embodies the helpful pity that was the ruling passion of Edith Cavell's life, and the engraved letters around the monument complete the tragic heroism of her story. "For King and Country." "Faithful Unto Death," acrifice," "Devotion," "Fortitude"—these words explain the motives that prompted Nurse Cavell to run risks of which she was as fully aware as any of her friends in taking up the work that had an ending so suddenly brutal and tragic. The monument near St. Martin's Church is described as impressive by its dignified simplicity of design, and caches a lesson that future generations will do well to bear in mind.

CLASS RULE OR COMMON GOOD. [Montreal Star.]

By means of destructive class warfare the sum total of the benefits of industry is visibly the League of Nations as Sir Oliver Lodge is reduced. To retain the maximum of advantage for all necessitates co-operation. Red agitators who stir up class antagonism have their answer in the political situation now develop ing in Great Britain. The great intelligent salaried element is coming together. The prospect is for ; wider and more intense conflict, with unprecedented losses in production, or for a new situation in which the apostles of class warfare may find reason to regret their rashness.

The agitator is a wastrel. He serves nobody but himself. To what end is his flery declamation? Sympathy, tolerance and good-will, the qualities he rules out of consideration, must always remain at play in human affairs. If he has been wronged he is himself the victim of a condition he seeks to perpetuate. Instead of joining in a fight for overcoming injustice, he flies before it under its mastery, a creature and servant of the thing against which

The needless waste of his creed will stir up its own Nemesis. Industry is peaceful, naturally abhorring the loss entailed by strife. The wider class consciousness of those who toil

The dispatch seems to place a heavy pedal upon he fact that it is because of absence that he is aving a pleasant life. Without doubt he is the nly member of the Unionist Government who is having anything like a good time at the present

What worries the government at the present time is the plain task of "carrying on." If vacancies did not occur in constituencies and the government could back up against the wall and stay there, it would not have such a distressing existence.

But portfolios have to be filled, and men have be re-elected, and elections are the most distressing things that any Unionist cabinet minister can contemplate these days. In the last bunch of seven or eight elections the government cut a very poor figure, and scarcely escaped annihilation. Another disaster like the last group of elections would place the government perilously near the danger

And all this time we are under the impression that a government remains in office because it represents the will of the people. The present government is remaining in office because it knows very well that it does not represent the will of

The first is a sensible arrangement of rooms: living and dining room on the south, and the kitchen next to the dining-room, also a place near the kitchen where you can keep fresh food within easy reach. You can live reither the south and the control of the co easy reach. You can live without this arrangement; most people have to, for few houses are built right yet, but don't unless you must. The second desirable is beauty; don't live with ugly wallpapers, ornate mantels, and ove papers, ornate mantels, and overdone trimmings of any sort if you can help it. The third is convenient lighting, all too rare, but such a joy when found. Lighting is a new art, and there is much to learn about it, but already you can have low lights for reading, well-placed lights for cooking, and becoming lights for social uses, at dinner and card table, which add greatly to the joys of home. It is about a year since I last wrote to your lovely Mail-Box, so thought I would come again. Talk about books: I think I would rather read than do anything else. I read "Seventeen," and thought it was great, also "The Oriole," by the same author. How many have read "Rainbow Valley," the latest of the "Anne" books? It is just splendid I am also very fond of the Alger books. Grace S. Richmond and Gene Stratton Porter are favorite authors of mine. Polly, where have you gone? I wrote to you not very long ago, but have never received an answer. Mother made a date loaf yesterday off Merry England's recipe, and it is just lovely. Yours till Niagara Falls run dry.

London fans saw their O. H. A. hopes go down in the abyss of lost hope junior series for consolation. On the whole, the Juniors made a far better showing than was expected of them at the beginning of the season. The kids did their work well, and the tans give them every credit for it. There is still another year or two left, and Stratford and other juniors surely have to grow out of hunior booker. Tuesday night-or to Stratford-and now have to turn to the Northern League

THE GAME'S THE THING. If the same is all that matters, then a large number of fans should turn out to see the Juniors in their career through the northern. If there are no other games, the ones that possibly may land here if Tillsonburg beats Preston and finds the locals and the Pan-Dried youngsters facing-off again, should give any fan his money's worth.

It has taken the senior game to furnish the surprises this season. Friday hight's two senior fixtures see Dents and Hamilton in a real struggle, and Kit-hener, after a bad start, with an opportunity of creating a three-cornered tie they beat the whole raisin crop. The whole of Western Ontario will pull for Kitchener to tie the group, and get another chance for the honors, after a great

The French champion is sewed up to Cochrane with much tightness except that he may wear what he ikes. Outside of that, Cochrane apparently figures in everything Georges does

There are a lot of lovers of dogs in this part of the country, who have from time to time suggested that if coursing and field day meets could be arranged, a new sport and one of the best would find many enthusiasts. Already London has in dog shows taken a leading part, and some of the best kennels are located in this city. The greyhound is not particularly common in this part of the in this city. The greyhound is not particularly common in this part of the country, but a field day for setters and kindred breeds would probably result in widespread interest and the addition of another great sport for London.

TO GROW HAIR

Specialist Gives Simple Recipe That

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and failing hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair-tonic and nearly every acception har-tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring grey hair to its original color, stooping hair from failing out and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces: Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces: Menthol Crystals, one-haif drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Ladies using this found in hair tonics. Ladies using this prescription should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.—Advt.

Torontos are tied with Ottawas for first place, but their position is stronger than this, as three of their five games in the present half have been on the road, while three of Ottawa's five have been played at home. Torontos have more games at home than has Ottawa in the balance of the section, and therefore look like the winners, on their present form."

London officials of both Grand trunk and C. P. R. When asked this morning what they thought of the proposed increase in passenger and freight rates the local men did not appear to be at all surprised that the railroads had asked for a higher rate.

One London official stated that within a few years the sale of return tickets will in all probability be discontinued and the traveler will only be able to buy his ticket one way. Special rates for conventions will be discontinued. Chicago, Feb. 19.—Strength developed in the corn market today after some speculative selling which took place at the opening had exhausted its force. Scantiness of receipts gave an advantage to the bulls, and so, too, did higher quotations on hogs. Commission houses were the principal buyers. The openwere the principal buyers. The opening, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to %c lower with May at $1 32@ 1 32¼, and July at $1 22@ 1 29%, was followed by a slight further sag, and then by moderate gains all around.

Rye opened 14c lower for May at $1 7412. Farmers are beginning to dig their way through the drifts that block all the roads that lead to the city. Three or four sleighs reached the local market way. IX .- The Door At the End of the Corridor. "Perhaps you may think it strange that I should talk to you like this," went on Travis Lloyd, as he showed me over his house. "But—pardon me—you interest me tremendously. Long before I met you I had heard of you—had seen your picture in the papers. before I met you I had heard of youhad seen your picture in the papers.
And my friends and neighbors, the Anstruthers, often spoke of you. I wished to meet you—very badly."
"You are very kind," I rejoined, embarrassed. In all my years of ups and downs, I've never got over an annoying trick of blushing easily. And I blushed
now. For—more than his words—this man's whole attitude was one of respectful admiration.

spectful admiration.

"I wish to be always kind—and helpful," he went on. We walked the length of the picture gallery together. It was radiantly lighted up by electricity. "I'd like to be your friend. It would be such an—an honor—and a privilege." His humble tone amazed me. Here was a rich, influential, high-born gentleman—a mature men of affairs—

Left alone, then, I breathed freely. Whew! I must escare and ion the others in the library. Surely, from this unexplored portion of the gallery a string se would lead down below!

Noiselessly I slipped away. I hurried down a passage, turned a corner, hesitated, wondering which course to pursue.

To the right and left were corridors.

To the right and left were corridors. I chose the left. At its extreme end was a sharp corner, and—pulling up—I found no steircase, but a single door. Again I hesitated. The corridor was a lengthy one, and this door might lead me to a staircase.

My fingers were upon the handle, when a sound of footsteps running after me caused me to pause. How anoying! It must be Mr. Travis Lloyd! I turned a trifle irritated. He hurried round the corner, and to my amazement, gripped me by the arm, away!"

My fingers dropped from the hand'e I am sure my mouth was gaping with astonishment. The usually calm and courteous gentleman looked actually dishevelled, and was pale and breath-you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mul-sified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use. One or two terspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply creamy lather, which rinses out easily, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy

COLD STORAGE NOT

EQUALIZES THE SUPPLY Prevents Alternate Flooding of Market and Extreme Shortage.

At the meeting of the businessmen's forum at the Y. M. C. A. last night, A. E. Silverwood lectured on the subject of cold storage. He stated that most of the people of the country today were of the opinion that the cold storage owners were to plame for the high cost of food. 'He then went on to explain where they were wrong.

In the first place the meat packers were looked on by most of the people as being cold storage men. They were in a sense, but they had nothing to do with the general line of storage, which is really known as cold storage. Most of the small towns had a cold storage for the keeping of dairy produce and poultry. There were all through the country, and a great many of them were run by the Government, which spent the sum of $700,000 for their maintenance and operation.

the sum of $700.000 for their maintenance and operation.

The cold storages were not owned by combines, and were free to all who wanted to use them. There was ample space for any person who wanted to do so to store anything perishable. A great many people, he said, were of the opinion that the only people who used the storage plants were the owners. Others had access to it and any person who collected a barrel of apples—or ten of them—could put them in there. It did not matter whether they were store keepers or not.

Eggs Would Be Scarce.

Mr. Silverwood stated that 75 per cent of the eggs produced in a year were laid during the months of April, May and June. If it were not for the storage facilities there would be practically unprocurable at any prese, eggs, though not quite so good as fresh ones, were much better than the kind people had been compelled to use before the cold storage was introduced. THE SOLDIER PROBLEM

Big Farms For Veterans Impracticable, Says Official of Government.

Big farms are out of the question for most returned soldiers, but with smaller holdings properly supervised we can do wonders," declared J. Lockies will be partment of agriculture, at the annual meeting of the Western Fair Association in the Tecumseh House Wednesday afternoon.

Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore was relected to the presidency of the organization and all other members of the directorate were returned.

Mr. N. Manning, who made the motion to this effect, said that "Western" was not truly descriptive.

The meeting also indorsed a rescolution by W. W. Gammage "That this committee recommends the establishment of special facilities for the practical and scientific training of men in horticulture, and further recommends that all horticultural and kindred organizations in Canada be requested to appoint representatives to a Canadian Council of Horticultural interests in Canada as outlined herein."

The financial report showed a cash surplus of $31,068 for the year, with total assets of $129,059. Of the surplus $13,632 was added this year.

Gate and grandstand receipts last year made up the greatest bulk of money received, a total of $46,584 having been taken in from these sources. The sale of privileges, etc., made a gross income of $12,755, and the sale of cheese, butter, etc., brought $3,995. From the department of milital the ussociation received $9,500 for damages.
