GOOD CAPTIVE—VERDICT OF OFFICERS BRINGING MURRELL BACK TO TRIAL

Guarded Every Minute of the Day and Night, Prisoner Was Talkative on All Subjects But the Crime With Which He Stands Charged.

AN UNEVENTFUL TRIP FROM THE COAST

Swiftly the drama in which Sidney Murrell, desperado, is the central figure is moving.

Last night Murrell reached the end of a whirlwind trip to the Middlesex county jail from San Francisco, the last few miles from St. Thomas to London being completed by automobile.

Today Sidney Murrell's mother will make application to see her boy for the first time in two years. Governor Byron Dawson declares he will turn a deaf ear to her pleas. Sheriff Donald A. Graham is undecided on this point.

Murrell has already laid plans for his defence at his trial for murder on October 2. He has re-engaged J. M. Donahue, barrister, who handled his case before the escape. The prisoner slept well during the night, but lodged strong complaint against prison meals and the loss of his tobacco.

Not a word did Sidney Murrell utter as the Canadian officers, Provincial Inspector W. H. Stringer and Officer A. H. Ward, walked into his cell in the county jail at San Francisco and ordered him to prepare for the journey across the continent to London.

The officers, who arrived in 'Frisco Thursday night, notified the governor of the jail of their arrival and informed him that they would accept their prisoner the next morning. They were a day late in arriving, due to a wreck at Bitter Creek, which delayed them for 24 hours, but, notwithstanding this, the trip was made in record time.

Arriving at the jail, the officers were ushered to the cell where Murrell was confined. He had been kept in ignorance of their arrival and, although he evidently expected to be sent for any day, seemed to give a little start of surprise as the emissaries of the law entered through the barred door, where he had been kept for weeks, awaiting this moment. Without a word, he got ready. After searching him, the officers announced that they were ready and acquittance papers were given the officials of the American institution.

The San Francisco jail in which Murrell was imprisoned is one of the strongest on the continent, and with absolutely no chance of escape the wanted man seemed resigned, but glad when the time came to leave it. Guards armed with shotguns and rifles met his view daily as he was taking his exercise in the jail grounds, and his companions were men of the worst type, guilty of the most serious crimes known. Even the officers were glad to leave the grim pile behind them and start for more picturesque surroundings.

Leaving the jail, with Murrell handcuffed tightly, but not to either of the officers, the party jumped into a waiting motor and were whisked across the city to the ferry which took them to Oakland, where they boarded a Southern Pacific train.

Here a drawing room had been reserved, and the officers with their captive immediately entered it, where they remained till they reached Chicago. Not a soul on the train knew that the party occupying a drawing room, of which the door was kept locked, consisted of two policemen and a man wanted for murder, with one exception—that of the porter who brought the meals from the diner and who made up the berths.

Murrell, still handcuffed, but not leg-ironed, did as the officers told him and settled himself for the long, tiresome trip. Hour after hour as the train speeded across the country, the man, little more than a boy in years, sat gazing out the window, at times breaking into conversation with the officers. All day long he sat, practically without moving. When night fell, he was gotten ready for bed and climbed into the berth prepared for him. Only then were extra precautions taken and leg-irons were affixed.

Guarded Every Minute.

At Ogden, Utah, the car was transferred to a Union Pacific train, where the same routine was carried out. Not once did the officers leave their prisoner nor neglect him. Under their eyes at all times, Murrell, as the trip progressed and the train carrying him drew nearer to its destination, seemed to become more and more resigned. Many times would he speak of home and his family, with a reminiscent look in his eyes. Regret for the trouble he had caused them and everyone else seemed to take possession of his once defiant spirit. Thoughts of a girl in Toronto, whom he would not now be able to see, also recurred to him and entered into his conversation.

On and on until Omaha, Nebraska, was reached, where once more the car was transferred, this time to the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad. Still the same drawing room, the same porter, the same guards and procedure. With his hands manacled, the prisoner seemed to withdraw more into himself with every mile.

On the Last Lap.

At Chicago the party left their car for the first time and, with no excitement or morbid crowds to watch, the officers once more jumped into a motor and rushed across the big city to the Michigan Central depot. Here they found another drawing room

Provincial Police Inspectors William H. Stringer and Charles H. Ward, the two officers who brought Sidney Murrell back to London from San Francisco, arriving in this city late last night. The officers posed for The Advertiser photographer in front of the Tecumseh House where they enjoyed the first real sleep they had had in a week.

SIDNEY'S MOTHER WILL TRY TO SEE HER SON TODAY

RECEIVES LETTER

Prisoner Sent Word to Mother, Telling of San Francisco Experiences.

Mrs. Murrell, mother of Sidney Murrell, will try to see her son this afternoon.

Governor Byron J. Dawson of the county jail says she will not be able to do so.

But, with a mother's persistence, she will endeavor to see her boy, if only for a minute.

Speaking to The Advertiser this morning, Mrs. Murrell said that she was feeling more relieved than she had for some time, now that she knew where Sidney was, and that he was all right.

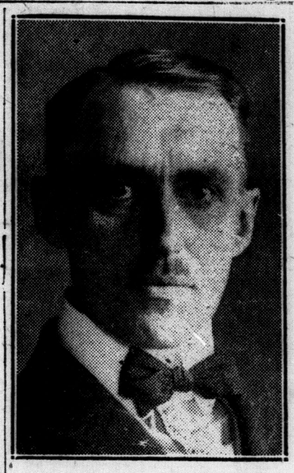

Coinciding with the arrival of Sidney last night, his mother received a letter from him this morning, mailed in San Francisco.

In it he says that he does not know when he will be leaving for London, although he realizes that his time in the States must be getting short. He is quite resigned to the fact that officers will bring him back, and has made up his mind that he will go through with it this time.

Regarding his sojourn in the San Francisco jail, he had nothing but praise for the way in which he had been treated during the weeks there. He was fed well and treated decently.

Several small snapshots received by Mrs. Murrell show Sidney laughing, as though without a care or worry in the world. Surrounded by three or four good-looking girls, and well dressed, he looks the picture of contentment. According to Mrs. Murrell, the only difference is that he looks a little older and more serious. Referring to the picture of his mother, which he received while in the jail, he told her in the letter that she did not look a day older than she did ten years ago.

Judging from the tone of his correspondence, the man is just as anxious to see his parents as they are to see him, but whether Governor Dawson will allow the reunion is not known. He says no, but Mrs. Murrell means to try, and try hard.

HE WILL DEFEND MURRELL.

J. M. Donahue, well-known local lawyer, was this morning retained to defend Sidney Murrell. Mr. Donahue appeared for the prisoner and his companions in the preliminary hearing of the case two years ago.

CAN MURRELL BE TRIED ON CHARGE EXCEPT MURDER?

J. M. Donahue Engaged This Morning To Look After Prisoner's Interests.

ACCEPTS THE CASE

Will Attempt To Have Client Tried For Robbery Until Others Are Caught.

J. M. Donahue will defend Sidney Murrell, who will be tried at the fall assizes on a charge of murder.

Early this morning, Murrell, who was brought back from California last night by Provincial Inspectors Stringer and Ward, sent for Mr. Donahue, and asked him if he would defend him when the trial came off.

Although Mr. Donahue will not make any definite statements regarding the case, he said, he felt sure that the attorney-general's department would give some consideration to the advisability of arraigning Murrell on one of the other charges to which he pleaded guilty, until such time as the two other men, William Murrell and "Pat" Norton, are also apprehended.

This, Mr. Donahue says, was done in the case of "Slim" Williams, at present in Kingston serving seven years for robbery, and who was implicated in the Melbourne case with Murrell. If this is considered by the department, it would mean that Murrell would be tried on a charge of robbery with arms.

Contradicting this opinion is that of Provincial Inspector Stringer, who told The Advertiser, that as Murrell had been extradited on a charge of murder, he must be tried on that charge and no other. If he is acquitted of that charge, the authorities must set him free and send him back to the country from which he was extradited. Then they can again begin to search for him, arrest him, and have him brought back to face the other charge, if sufficient evidence is supplied.

Inspector Stringer stated that Murrell had had the best legal opinion on this matter when in California, and that was the reason for his fighting extradition. Had he been deported, he would have been tried on any charge.

Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott made the same statement some time ago when he declared that Murrell could only be tried on the charge for which he was extradited.

BANDITS HOLD UP BANK MESSENGERS SECURE $80,000

ROBBERS ESCAPE

Two Are Shot in Revolver Duel Between Thugs and Bank Employees.

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, July 24.—The bandits' haul is estimated at $80,000, belonging to the Sterling Bank and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The loss is said to be covered by insurance.

Duck and Harris, the wounded messengers, were in a critical condition at one o'clock this afternoon, but hopes were held out for the recovery of both men.

Notification of the robbery was broadcasted by the Toronto authorities to police throughout Ontario and in American border cities. A red Studebaker car similar to that in which the bandits made their getaway was reported to have been sighted near Mimico, westward bound, shortly after the holdup.

Toronto, July 24.—Bandits and bank messengers engaged in a sensational pistol battle at 9:45 this morning, when six robbers made a daring raid on the messengers of three banks —Sterling, Standard and Commerce— as they returned from the clearing house with numerous bags of money.

W. S. Dick, 30 Gough avenue, Sterling Bank messenger, was shot and seriously injured, and James W. Harris, 4 Luttrell avenue, Standard Bank messenger, was shot in the abdomen and the thigh, but bravely returned the robbers fire.

The six robbers had a motor car and made their get-away safely with a bag of the Sterling Bank money. The Sterling Bank men were on foot and the messengers of the other banks in cars.

As the Sterling Bank men came into Jordan street, at Melinda, two men from the bandit car approached them and fired. In a moment the men were grappling, hand to hand fashion. The two shots were followed by a fusillade, as the other bank messengers and the other robbers engaged in a revolver battle.

Messenger Returns Fire.

Harris proved the hero of the affair. He jumped from the Standard Bank car and opened fire on the bandits. Lying flat in the road, he aimed at the bandits who were carrying a Sterling bag of money across the car road to their car.

Allan Lord, elevator operator in the McKinnon Building, at Jordan, and Melinda streets, was an eye witness to the entire affair. Calls on the elevator being momentarily slack, he was standing at the front door of the building. "I noticed four men, one standing on each corner, but there was nothing peculiar in that. I started back into the building and heard a shot. I thought it was somebody's automobile tire blowing out, and paid little heed until I heard four more shots. I ran out and there was one bandit grappling with a bank messenger on the northwest corner.

"The bandit had a shotgun and the messenger was in the very act of trying to draw his revolver. (Here Lord had to sit down, as he was wounded and obviously very nervous.)

"I rushed over to the messenger's assistance, Just as I got there another of the holdup gang took careful aim and the messenger sank helplessly, still clutching his gun.

Shot in the Leg.

"I grabbed the bandit, and another man struck me over the back and shoulders with the stock of a new shotgun he was carrying, swearing terribly and telling me he'd knock my —— brains out if I didn't let go.

"I did let go, but they fired four shots at me. One of them got me in the leg. I thought it was all over as I fell like a ton of lead, but that is probably what saved me. I crawled underneath an automobile standing close by, and the bucks shot simply riddled the body and the windows of the car. The bandits then ran to a large red automobile. There was no one in the driver's seat that I could see, but the car started in the second. A crowd was gathering now, and one policeman came running up from Wellington street. He drew his gun, but hesitated to use it, fearing to hit someone in the crowd. That is all I can tell you."

SEEK BANDIT CAR.

Hamilton, July 24.—Chief of Police Whatley and several parties of police were sent out in automobiles to watch all entrances to the city this morning as soon as news was received here of the hold-up in Toronto. They have been given the license number and description of the bandits' car.

Discovery of Hidden Saw Brings Fear of Jail Plot

Workmen on New Registry Office on Jail Property Find 18-Inch Tool and Thoughts Turn to Murrell's Former Escape.

Will Sid Murrell's friends attempt to aid him to escape from the Middlesex County jail?

During the last 48 hours, employees of George Hyatt, contractor, engaged in the construction of the city's new registry office had been inclined to think that one of them had accidentally thwarted a preliminary move in that direction.

The discovery of an 18-inch steel saw—capable of severing most anything—was found carefully laid away in the store-house, situated near the westerly wall of the jail, and as no owner could be found at the time, it gave rise to much speculation.

But the mystery was cleared up this afternoon, when William McCracken, one of the employees of the same contractor, but working on another job, reported that the saw was his, but that he had placed it away, as he was going to work on another undertaking.

SEVERAL ARE INJURED BY FRIGHTENED HORSES

Carriage in Duke's Procession Strikes Part of Large Crowd Gathered in Liverpool.

Associated Press Despatch.

Liverpool, July 24.—One of the carriages in a procession escorting the Duke and Duchess of York here today struck part of a large crowd of people gathered outside the royal infirmary, running down about 20 women and children.

Thirteen persons were taken away in the ambulances including seven children, who were the chief sufferers. There were several broken limbs among the children, all of whom were detained in the hospital.

The carriage which caused the injuries was the second in the procession coming next to the duke's and carried the high sheriff of Lancashire and the Early of Derby. The horses became frightened by the loud cheering and plunged into the crowd.

BRITISH LABOR TO ASK DISARMAMENT CONFAB

Ramsay MacDonald Will Continue Efforts To Advance World Peace.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

London, July 24.—British Labor party leaders, whose resolution demanding that the government immediately call a disarmament conference, was defeated in Commons last night, will try again to accomplish this object, for advancement of world peace, Ramsay MacDonald, spokesman for the party, declared.

Commons rejected MacDonald's motion, which was debated yesterday, by a vote of 286 to 169. Premier Stanley Baldwin closed the debate, and declared the house was unanimosu regarding the evils of war, differing only as to the best method of combatting them.

"One of the greatest difficulties," Baldwin said, "is the fighting instinct, which is found even among pacifists."

QUEBEC TO NAME BOARD TO JUDGE ON COMPENSATION

Special to The Advertiser.

Quebec, Que., July 24.—Hon. Antonin Gailipeault, minister of public works and labor, confirmed this morning the report that the workingmen's compensation act commission, which was authorized by act of legislature at the last session, will be appointed either tomorrow or, at the latest, next week.

Have Labor Representatives.

The commission will be composed of two labor representatives, one from the national unions and the other from the international. Recommendations have been received concerning these two appointees, while manufacturers and employees have also submitted several names.

The representative of the provincial government will likely be Mr. J. A. McTayer, deputy minister of public works.

The report of the commission is to be tabled before the legislature at the 1924 session if possible, at which time action will be taken according to recommendations.

The present system of awarding compensation by decisions of civil courts instead of by a special board, similar to the one existing in Ontario, will be the main subject of study, with also labor legislation affecting the employment and condition of employment of women and children.

The province of Quebec was the first to pass a workingmen's compensation act in Canada, which was presented by the present premier.

Deal With Indemnities.

Civil courts are given the right to deal with such applications for indemnities. One of the objections raised to that system is the cost of such application to the civil courts is very heavy, while a special commission would deal with the indemnity cases at a lower cost. International union men are said to favor the creation of a permanent compensation board, while the national union have generally been in favor of the present system.

Added interest is manifested, because it will be the first occasion when representatives of both the international and the national Catholic unions meet together to confer on labor problems. The commission will travel throughout the province to get

JAIL GOVERNOR DENIES STORY OF WINDSOR MEN

Says He Did Not Save Couple From Going to Burwash Prison Farm.

Governor Byron Dawson is amused and not a little annoyed, because of a report in a local paper to the effect that he was the means of saving two Windsor men from going to Burwash prison farm.

The story was to the effect that friends in Windsor had tried to collect money to pay the fines of the men before they were taken away. After the men had left, it was stated, the money was found. Then the story continues, the money was wired to Governor Dawson, who went to the station and effected the man's release.

"First I ever heard of it," declared the governor when he read the story. "Well, that is the limit. It's all bunk."

REPORT CHINESE FIRED ON BRITISH STEAMER

Associated Press Despatch.

Ichang, Hupee Province, China, July 24.—Steamers arriving on the Yang Tse River from Chung-King, report that the United States steamship Alice Dollar and a British vessel, under escort of the United States gunboat Monocacy, have been fired on near Kaung King. The Monocacy according to the report, returned the fire, doing considerable damage.

German Judge Shows Pity As Princess' Tears Fell

By GEORGE WITTE.

Berlin, July 24.—Princess Marguerite Von Hohenlohe Oehringen was madly in love with Captain Ebrhardt, Kapp revolution leader, whom he concealed and in whose hands she was as pliable as wax. This was brought out at the opening session of her trial before the supreme court f Leipzig on charges of perjury and of having abetted and hidden the captain from detectives.

The princess' own testimony frequently was interrupted by weeping spells, which caused sympathy among the judges. One of them cried out, "Princess, you are to be pitied. It is a shame the way this traitor has betrayed you too."

This exclamation was made following the statement by one witness that the captain had prompted her to swear under oath that she did not know where he was, although he was living in her apartment on the very same day. It was only after the police had grown suspicious and had summoned him to police headquarters, where he was recognized, that Ebrhardt told and the princess withdrew her oath.

QUASHES CONVICTION OF HAMILTON WOMAN

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, July 24.—In handing down judgment this morning in an O. T. A. appeal entered on behalf of Rosie Debacker, who was fined $500 for a breach of the O. T. A. by Magistrate Jelfs, Judge Gauld held that the magistrate had no authority to cross-examine a witness, and quashed the conviction.

AA youth named Horton was arrested with a bottle of wine in his pocket, and he told the police he secured it from Mrs. Debacker. At the trial he informed counsel for the defense that Mrs. Debacker gave him the bottle, but that on a promise from the police at the time of arrest that he would be released, he told them he purchased the bottle from her. At this stage of the case Magistrate Jelfs began examining the witness, and in so doing he made a mistake, according to Judge Gauld's judgment. His honor said had he tried the case in the first place he would have dismissed it.

WILL TRY WILLIAMS ON MURDER CHARGE

Henry Jack (Slim) Williams, one of the bandits involved in the escapades of the Murrell gang, which terrorized the district in the spring of 1921, will be brought back to stand trial on the murder charge at the fall assizes, Oct. 2.

He is at present serving a seven-year term for robbery with violence, to which he pleaded guilty, shortly after his pals, the Murrells, escaped from the county jail. This charge was in connection with the robbery of a Chinese laundry in South London, in which the gang was involved.

In all likelihood, Williams will be kept in the penitentiary until a few days before the trial. He says he will tell all he knows when he enters the witness box. He claims the gang double-crossed him.

Claims British Coalition Kept French Out of Ruhr

Lloyd George Tells Followers in London Present Government Helped Throw Economic Life of Europe Into Confusion.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 24.—Former Premier Lloyd George, addressing a meeting of national Liberals—his followers in the Liberal party—last night contended that the coalition government had succeeded for nine months in preventing the French from entering the Ruhr, but since the present government came into power, with a policy of greater friendship for France, "that act of folly has been perpetrated and the economic life of Europe thrown into confusion, while the most humiliating peace with Turkey this country ever signed has been concluded."

Mr. Lloyd George complained that lack of generosity on the part of official Liberals had caused a division of the party, which had put up Laborites in the position of alternative government to the present one. He predicted that when the country found itself faced with some great emergency, the "wretched squabbles of the Liberal party" would vanish and their regard for the country's interests would reappear.

BATTLING FIERCE SQUALL, INTRUDER WINS CUP RACE

Associated Press Despatch.

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 24.—Fighting out a squall yesterday which at time assumed the force of a gale, the Intruder, a small sloop, virtually clinched the 331-mile Mackinac cup race early today when she finished ahead of one large sloop and on the heels of another. The Dorello, Milwaukee entry, finished first, but lost the race on time allowance.

MURRELL WANTS CIGARETTES; HAS GOOD NIGHT

STOCK UP TODAY, AS GROCERS WILL CLOSE TOMORROW

Business Will Take Second Place to the Annual Picnic at Port Stanley.

SPORTS PROGRAM

Tomorrow is picnic day for the grocers of the city, who will shut up their shops and leave on morning cars for Port Stanley to take part in probably the largest picnic yet held at the lakeside.

The committee in charge of the entertainment has drawn up an exceptionally large program of races and sport events. Prizes such as silver cups, crates of fruit, tins of biscuits, and bags of flour and sugar have been offered by the city grocers in order that the lengthy program will have many entrants.

A baby show consisting of seven events with a silver cup donated to the winner in each will occupy the feature part of the program. The baby show at the grocers' picnic has always been the most popular event of the picnic season, and this year, owing to the variety of classes open for contestants, and the valuable prizes offered, the baby show is expected to draw entrants from all over Western Ontario.

Ball on the Beach.

At 11 a.m. a baseball game between the north and south end grocers will be staged on the beach. Another game that is expected to furnish much excitement will be the London Brownies (ladies) team vs. the Grocers. This game will take place at 5:30 on the beach diamond. It will be interesting to see whether the experienced ladies' team can defeat their stronger, but less experienced opponents. The London Brownies have been the champion soft ball team of the city for some time, but it is expected that when the husky grocers get at them they will go down to defeat.

A boxing bout, between two well-known pugilists, is to be staged in the afternoon, but the names of the battlers has not yet been announced.

It is thought by many that the committee have something up their sleeves they do not wish to divulge until the two warriors step into the ring. They will say, however, that the two men who are going to surprise all the anxious spectators when they step into the roped off area ready for the fray.

Prizes for Lucky Ones.

At the completion of the races, a drawing contest for the wives of the grocers will be held. They will put their names and addresses in a box upon their arrival at the Port, and the person whose name is on the lucky draw will receive 100 pounds of Dominion sugar.

The thousand of picnickers who will attend this annual festival of the Grocers' Association will leave London tomorrow morning. Special cars on the L. and P. S. have been secured to take the merry-makers to Port.

The grocers' picnic at Port Stanley has been for many years the gala event of the season, and this year's outing will undoubtedly beat any previous affair.

HUNDREDS PAY A LAST TRIBUTE TO 'UNCLE BILL'

Remains of Popular Citizen, William G. Moore, Laid to Rest This Afternoon.

The last page in the energetic and radiant career of William G. Moore, known far and wide as "Uncle Bill," the patron of all sport, who succumbed to an illness of a few weeks in Victoria Hospital on Sunday night, was turned this afternoon when he was laid to rest in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The large number of friends and admirers of "Uncle Bill" in London and district attended the services in A. L. Oatman's Funeral Home, from where the funeral was held, and the long line of cars that wended its way to the cemetery carrying the Forest City's foremost figures in business and sport, was silent but impressive evidence of the love that all bore Mr. Moore, who but a short while ago was the life of sport in Western Ontario.

The services were conducted by the Rev. J. Chapman of the Empress Avenue Methodist Church, and the large room in which the last rites were performed was crowded to the doors. Rarely has London seen so large a funeral.

Six members of King Solomon's Lodge, No. 378, A., F. and A. M., of which Mr. Moore was an active member, acted as pallbearers.

The floral tributes that banked the casket and the whole side of the room in which the remains lay were exquisitely beautiful, and in their small measure showed the fruits of Mr. Moore's cheerful spirit during his residence in London and the esteem in which he was held by young and old.

Among those organizations whose floral offerings were received were the St. Thomas Baseball Club, the inter-Club League of London, the senior baseball team of the city, King Solomon's Lodge, the Irish Benevolent Society and the Shamrock basketball team.

CLANDEBOYE

Special to The Advertiser.

Clandeboye, July 23.—Miss A. Hodgins of the village is chaperoning a party of young girls, including her nieces, at Grand Bend for the holidays.

Hazel Carter of the 2nd concession, McGillivray, has returned from a two weeks' holiday near Parkhill.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Farr of Ottawa have been guests for a few days of Mrs. L. Bice of McGillivray.

Mr. Steinmetz of Clandeboye has sold his property there to Chas. Haskett of Biddulph and is moving from the neighborhood.

The alsike clover in this section is either in the barns or is being threshed from the fields. The yield is reported as fair, so far. The wheat is being cut and stooked. The weather is continuing very favorable.

The union services of the Bible Society will be held this year in the Methodist Church, Clandeboye, next Sunday, beginning at 2:30 p.m. R. J. Bowen of London will conduct the services.

LONDON HAS DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Thinks Woman's Political Work Does Not Interfere With Her Duties To Home

Mrs. Barnett E. Marks, "Leader of Opposition" in the Arizona Legislature, Gives Interesting Opinions During Visit Here—Believe She Has Civic as Well as Home Duty.

"He" happens to be a woman—the Hon. Mrs. Barnett E. Marks, member for the capital city, Phoenix, and sister-in-law of Mr. Barye Lewis, 174 Hamilton road.

Although a Democratic wave swept the state last November, Mrs. Marks, Republican candidate, was elected to the House with but five other Republicans, and was immediately honored in being chosen as the "speaker" for the minority party, a distinction which no other woman in the United State has yet acquired.

That Mrs. Marks continues to be an important factor in the House may be judged from the fact that although she is a member of the Opposition, she was made chairman of the petitions and memorials committee, and a member of the capital building, education, counties, and county affairs and public institutions committees.

Mrs. Marks has an attractive personality. She is exceedingly youthful in appearance, although she confesses to a son in his sophomore year at Ann Arbor University. And one of her chief delights is dancing.

"I am not a suffragette, you know," says this distinguished visitor.

"My home comes first of all, and my social life is not neglected through my political duties. I find that I don't miss any bridge games or dancing, through my public life. Women can do it, you know, and still remain women just the same, if they only want to.

Continue Political Career.

"My husband, who is a lawyer, and greatly interested in affairs of the state, is very anxious that I shall go on with my political life. I sometimes feel that I shouldn't. That it might interfere with my home duties. But it doesn't seem to, and I feel that I have a civic duty as well as family ties.

"It wasn't my idea at all that I should run for member. I had never thought of such a thing. But the Republican party came to me and insisted that I should be their candidate. I had organized the Republican women of the province successfully eight years ago, and they wanted me to work for the party again in my own fight. And I have found it a very interesting game from the beginning. I didn't like the idea of the men betting in favor of me at election time, but then there was no doubt but that I should win."

Four women were elected to the house at the time of Mrs. Marks' successful campaign, Mrs. Marks being the only Republican, however. One of the three women on the Democratic side of the house worked with Mrs. Marks, and together they were successful in getting passed through the house several measures in the interests of women and children. Unfortunately, these bills were lost when the came before the solidly Democratic senate.

"Every bill we introduced passed the house," says Mrs. Marks proudly. "The fact that we lost them in the house was due to the Hunt faction. (Governor Hunt is a Democrat, and part of the Democratic party in the house follows him closely. The more conservative section of the Democratic party inclines rather our way.)

Has Progressive Laws.

The separation of the boys and girls in the state industrial schools was one piece of legislation which Mrs. Marks tried to bring about. Another asked that women sit on juries.

"The state of Arizona is a very progressive state," says Mrs. Marks. "We have minimum wage laws for women, and eight-hour working law for women. At the last election throughout the whole of the United States the parties angling for the women's vote view with each other in advocating new legislation in the interests of women and children. As many as eight new bills were proposed, and I was proud to think that six of them were already in force in Arizona.

"Women are non-partisian, as a rule, and that is why their vote is uncertain. They will vote for the party which will uphold their interests the most nearly.

"I believe that women should enter political life. They are needed there, for they are more economical in state affairs than are men. Although men will save in their private life, they become lavish when they are using the state money. If they treated their own businesses as they treat the business of the state, they would be far from successful. For this reason alone I believe that women would be a huge success in political life. But they must be the right kind of women. Women socially prominent should enter political life, for they are the ones who have the leisure to do so and are bound to make the biggest success of it."

Besides being leader of the opposition in the house of Arizona, Mrs. Marks is a prominent club woman. She is an outstanding figure in connection with the Federation of Women's Clubs, president of the Jewish Women's Council, a past matron of the Order of the Eastern Star and member of many other organizations. She will be in London for about ten days longer, when she will be joined by her husband, who is coming east to visit his old home.

ST. THOMAS MAN FINED FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Indian Claimed He Bought "Wet Goods" in Order to Catch Merchant.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 23.—Riscolla Elias, retail fruit merchant and confectioner at 643 Talbot street, was fined $300 and costs this morning by Magistrate Maxwell for selling intoxicating liquor in violation of the O. T. A. The liquor was sold to Joseph Kennedy, an Oneida Indian, who had made an agreement with Constable McKeown to procure the intoxicant. Kennedy, at the hearing on Saturday, alleged as his motive for turning "spotter" his desire to stop Elias selling liquor to Indian girls. His worship adjourned his decision till this morning, in view of the contradictory nature of the evidence given by witnesses for the crown and defence.

K. OF P. WILL EXEMPLIFY THE FIRST DEGREE TONIGHT

The exemplification of the first degree on a large class of candidates will feature tonight's meeting of Myrtle Lodge, No. 2, Knights of Pythias, at the lodge hall, Dundas and Talbot streets. The degree work will commence at 8 o'clock, with P. G. C. C. Tinsley taking a prominent part.

The grand lodge report will also be read by grand lodge representatives. Interest in this week's meeting has been heightened by the fact that Mr. Barnsdale, the new G. C. C. of Stratford, will pay a fraternal visit to witness the exemplification.

WHERE BAPTISM IS OBLIGATORY.

REV. J. P. BANNATYNE ACCEPTS NEW CHARGE

Congregations of Brigden and Bear Creek Gain Services of Popular Pastor.

Rev. H. E. Thornloe, of Alma Street Presbyterian Church, St. Thomas, assumed his duties as new moderator at a special session of the Presbytery of London, which met this morning in the First Presbyterian Church to consider the call to Rev. James P. Ballantyne from the congregations of Brigden and Bear Creek. This field was vacated a year ago by Rev. John Richardson, who is now in charge of Chalmers Church, London. With the consent of the Presbytery, Mr. Ballantyne accepted the call and his induction into his new charge has been ordered to take place on August 9.

For the past four years, Mr. Bannatyne has been ministering to the congregations of Ilderton, Bethel and Bryanston. Delegations from all three bodies waited this morning on hte Presbytery to urge that Mr. Bannatyne's decision be made in their favor. Repeated estimony was given concerning the excellence of the work done by both Mr. and Mrs. Bannatyne during their past ministry. Rev. Dr. J. McNair was appointed interim moderator for the three congregations.

Following his decision to accept the call, Mr. Bannatyne leaves not only his present charge but also the Presbytery of London, as Brigden and Bear Creek are within the boundaries of the Presbytery of Sarnia.

Regret that the Presbytery will be obliged to part with his services as leader of the service of praise was included in a motion by Rev. T. Anthony.

All other business was laid over until the next regular meeting of the Presbytery which is to be held in the month of Septamber.

waiting, and with the same procedure as before settled down for the last lap of the tiresome rail journey.

Detroit was reached and then the M. C. R. tunnel under the Detroit River. The officers were once more back in Canada with their prisoner safe. On to St. Thomas, and the transcontinental trip was almost finished. With their goal in sight, the officers sighed with relief at the thought that their responsibility was almost finished.

Once more getting into a motor car, escorted by a second motor containing two uniformed members of the provincial police, the party started for London and Middlesex County jail, where Governor Dawson, Sheriff Graham and the new chilled steel bars were waiting for Murrell.

The Lights of London.

Through the dark night the cars sped until the lights of London appeared. Through the city streets, with no one aware of the cargo carried, the two motors came, until the jail building loomed in sight. Driving almost around the stone pile, they did not stop until on Dundas street, and the chauffeur realized that he had almost carried them past their destination.

While newspaper reporters, photographers with cameras set and flash pans ready waited in the shade of the trees near the King street and main entrances of the jail, the two officers and their man got out of the motor in the full glare of the street lights and, as if they were just paying a social call to the sheriff and governor, walked in the main entrance and through the courthouse building.

That is the story of a journey across the continent and back, in which the arm of British justice reached out and caught a man wanted for murder and who had eluded the police of two continents for two years, as related to The Advertiser by Provincial Inspectors Stringer and Ward as they were having breakfast at the Tecumseh House this morning.

Prisoner Behaved Well.

Greeting the reporter with a cheery "Good morning," they invited him to sit down with them while they had their morning meal. Pulling up a chair, he did so. Question after question was asked, and to each one officer or the other replied between bites.

"How did Murrell behave on the way back?" was the first question asked.

"He was one of the best behaved prisoners I have ever handled," replied Inspector Stringer.

"Yes, he was a model captive," corroborated Ward.

"You know, he did not know that we were in San Francisco until we walked into his cell and told him to prepare for the trip. He seemed surprised, but that was all.

"It was a heavy responsibility, bringing him back, and we are glad it is over. We appreciate most highly and thankfully the manner in which he behaved. It helped us a lot, as if he had been at all unruly it would have meant getting off the train and spending the nights in various cities with him in the jails.

"He was not unduly guarded. Of course we took all precautions, but he was not leg-ironed until he went to bed. Then, of course, he was. The handcuffs that we put on him in San Francisco were not taken off until he reached London. He was not fastened to either of us."

He Talked Freely.

"Did he talk much?" was another question.

"Yes, at times. Mainly his conversation seemed to be of home and the fact that he would see his people again. At times he would mention a girl in Toronto, but I do not know her name. He seemed very interested in every place we passed through.

"We asked him if he had seen William, but he said that they separated soon after breaking jail here, and that he had not heard of him since. You know, we don't believe his story about going east after leaving London and taking a boat at the Atlantic coast. It is more probable that they made straight for the States and then west."

"What did he say on reaching St. Thomas and knowing that his journey was almost ended?"

The End of the Road.

"I think he remarked that he was glad to see the end of the road; that is about all.

"On arriving at the jail, he thanked us for the kindness which we had shown him and said that 'the Canadian government certainly used me right this time,' meaning the way in which he was brought back.

"He looks the picture of health and is remarkably well developed. I should imagine he weighed about 165 pounds, and not an ounce of it superfluous."

After having finished breakfast, the officers posed outside the hotel while The Advertiser staff photographer snapped them.

Luck and a Hunch.

According to Inspector Stringer, it was merely a matter of luck and a hunch that Murrell had been arrested at all in Susanville. The car which he bought with the proceeds of a boxing match he purchased perfectly legitimately and did not know it was stolen until he applied for Nebraska license plates. He had to give the number and make of car, and it was then found out to be a stolen one. The sheriff of Susanville was notified and Murrell was arrested.

While he had no knowledge that Murrell was wanted, a hunch struck Sheriff Carter and he had his fingerprints taken, with the result that they were identified and the first steps taken to return him to London.

That he was a desperate man was recognized by the sheriff when Murrell made his attempted escape from Susanville. With a knife, knicked and sharpened, he cut through the wall of an all-steel cell and made his way to the roof of the building, in company with McGregor. Here they were seen by one of the guards, silhouetted against the sky, and a report was made.

Knowing they had been discovered the two men slipped down into their cells again, so that when a round-up of the prisoners was made they were all accounted for. Only after a close scrutiny of every cell in the building was the hole found.

Murrell was then removed to the safety of the San Francisco county jail, from which the officers received him.

McGregor, who at one time was thought to be the mysterious "Pat" Norton, was later tried and sentenced to from one to five years in San Quentin penitentiary, the rock-bound jail of the state of California. He was found guilty of attempted jail breaking.

Strict Precautions at Jail.

Murrell already seems used to jail life.

Despite his tiresome journey from San Francisco, he awoke at the regulation jail hour for rising, 6 o'clock, this morning and asked for breakfast.

This morning he was given his bath. Jail rules provide a prisoner must take a bath when he is registered, but makes allowance for prisoners arriving at night. They do not have to bathe until the following morning. Murrell asked for his bath before the jail authorities broached the subject to him.

Then he sat down to the regulation jail breakfast. Although plain, it was wholesome and the prisoner seemed to enjoy it.

They refused to say whether a special guard had been placed on the day watch.

When asked whether a special day guard had been hired, the sheriff replied: "We are not going to discuss the inside workings of the jail for publication.

"He spent a good night and looks fine this morning," the sheriff stated, when questioned on this point.

Meanwhile the utmost secrecy prevails around the jail. All doors are locked. Visitors have to knock on the outer doors or ring to be admitted even to the governor's office. The governor and his staff are as much prisoners as the inmates. All are behind iron gratings and heavy bolted doors and gates.

Asks for Cigarettes.

Murrell has begun to complain.

Lunch today did not suit him. It seemed so vastly different from that to which he became accustomed on the train. Between meals, he stated, he had been used to iced drinks. At the Middlesex County jail, water from the tap is the only drink served.

Repeatedly, he has been imploring the guards and other officials to give him a few "drags" of a cigarette. On the train he was allowed to smoke as much as he pleased.

In other jails, he said, he was allowed to smoke. Yesterday he smoked heavily. Today that privilege was denied him. He feels it keenly. The absence of cigarettes has undermined his nerve. If he continues to call for cigarettes, it may be necessary for the jail physician to prescribe some tobacco for him.

The common jail fare, which he has received twice today, does not exactly agree with him. When soup of a kind, was served to him, he looked scornfully at it, and at the men who gave it to him.

But this is not his chief complaint. He declared he would not mind the meals so much if he could but satisfy his craving for a few inhales of a cigarette. The sudden prohibition of "smokes" has jarred him.

TWO ARRESTED IN CITY AS ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Men Are Believed To Have Been Concerned in Thefts at Colborne Street Home.

Local detectives this morning arrested two men on suspicion of having been concerned in a robbery at the home of Mrs. H. A. Truax, 569 Colborne stree, from whom a quantity of household linen and silverware were stolen.

Although the officers would not give out any details as to who the men are, where they were arersted or what aroused their suspicions, they admitted that a considerable portion of the lost linen had been recovered, although teh silver is still missing.

In addition to this, several pairs of new silk hose and a new tablecloth were also discovered. These are being held by the police pending the appearance of the men in court. Mrs. Truax identified much of the linen as hers, shortly after noon today. The men will appear tomorrow morning.

MURDERER'S ESTATE ESTIMATED AT $80,000

Will of Emilio Picarillo Filed For Probate at McLeod, Alberta.

Winnipeg, Man., July 24.—Emilio Picarillo, hanged with Mrs. Florence Lassandra, last month at Fort Saskatchewan for the murder of Constable Lawson of the Alberta Provincial Police, left an estate of more than $80,000. His will has been filed at MacLeod, Alberta, making the widow and seven children equal beneficiaries. The estate probably will be affected by the suit brought against it by Lawson's widow, who has started suit in the Alberta courts for $50,000 damages for the loss of her husband.

The estate of Emilio Picarillo, who was reported as the king of the bootleggers, who carried on business in Idaho, Montana, Alberta and British Columbia, consisted of notes, mortgages, real estate and cash; $20,000 was spent in his defense in the supreme court of Canada.

SEPARATE WHEAT POOLS DECIDED BY PROVINCES

CENTRAL AGENCY

Canadian Press Despatch.

Regina, Sask., July 24.—Following an all-day conference, representatives of farmers' organizations for the three prairie provinces yesterday decided to form separate wheat pools for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and a single selling agency. The agents decided to bring the arrangement into operation "at the earliest possible moment." This indefinite time indicates, it is understood, that there are certain difficulties not essentially Saskatchewan ones, to be solved first.

The official statement issued at the termination of the meeting was that the "conference resulted in a decision to establish a voluntary contract wheat pool operated on a provincial basis, but with one central selling agency for the three provinces." It was agreed that the provincial associations, the United Farmers of Alberta, the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and the United Farmers of Manitoba should be responsible for the organization of a pool in their respective provinces.

It was considered advisable that as far as possible there should be uniformity in plans in all three provinces.

Obituaries

GEORGE BENNETT.

FREDERICK BUSCH.

Frederick Busch, a well-known resident of Hensall, Ontario, died this morning in Victoria Hospital following an illness of several months. He was 57 years of age, and was engaged as a carpenter for many years. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Canadian Order of Foresters of Hensall.

Surviving are two brothers, Mr. William and Mr. Harry, and Miss Louise and Miss Bessie, all of the city. The funeral will be held from the Oatman Funeral Home on Thursday morning, interment being made at Hensall on the arrival of the 10:30 C. N. R. train.

ROADHOUSE WRECKED BY BOMB EXPLOSION

Special to The Advertiser.

Schnectady, July 23.—The White Swan Inn, a roadhouse, located three miles south of this city, was shaken by a heavy explosion early today. The front of the frame structure was badly wrecked and windows in nearby buildings blown out by the concus-

James Mann, who says he is at a sion. The place was operated by loss to explain the assault on his property. A bomb is believed to have been used.

Neighbors say they saw a large automobile moving rapidly away from the inn shortly before the explosion. No one was hurt, although several patrons were dancing in a rear room.

BELIEVE WOMAN AIDED IN DELIVERY AT CHESTER JAIL

USE BLOODHOUNDS

Special to The Advertiser.

Chester, Ill., July 24.—A woman, the wife of a St. Louis desperado inmate, was sought by the authorities as the "master mind" of the riot and jail break at Illinois State Penitentiary on Sunday night. The woman visited the jail Sunday, and authorities investigating the affair believe she may have smuggled in the knives with which the madmen stabbed the guards.

Posse Searches Hills.

Seventeen of the convicts who escaped in the riot were still at large today. Posses with bloodhounds are searching the surrounding hills and valleys for the fugitive, many of whom were convicted of murder.

Citizens of adjoining counties continue to go armed, as it is believed the mad men will not hesitate to kill for food and clothing.

Superintendent Stubblefield of the hospital and other state officials who think the woman from outside aided in the delivery, refused to give her name. Forty-one prisoners originally rushed through the hole in the fence of the hospital yard, made by convicts using a bench as a battering ram. Ten were captured before they got out of sight, and a total of 31 remained at large for a few hours.

One William Jackson was killed.

At 8 a.m. today, however, a total of 23 had been rounded up by the posses. Deputies and guards took the trail of those still at large, and it is feared that many of the convicts have made their escape into the underworld and elsewhere.

Recovers From Panic.

The town of Chester, with its 4,000 inhabitants, is recovering somewhat from the panic from the hospital warning of the breakout.

The guards hurt in the riot will recover, hospital authorities said today.

FALL WHEAT TURNS OUT BETTER THAN EXPECTED

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 24.—Fall wheat is turning out better in the cutting than was expected, both in yield and quality, although not up to the average, according to the report of the Ontario department of agriculture.

The hay crop is a good one, taking the province over, and Eastern Ontario is at last realizing some big yields, after many years of light cuttings.

FEARS ARMAMENT DANGERS SPREAD

SUGGESTS LEAGUE

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Eng., July 80.—J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, moved a resolution yesterday in favor of convening an international conference to discuss the limitation of armaments, but the House rejected this proposal, 286 to 169.

No vote was taken on an amendment introduced by R. W. O'Neill, which had been accepted by the government, inviting the government to take the earliest favorable opportunity to attain the object desired through the agency af the League of Nations. This amendment was talked out.

The opposition leader explained that no mention had been made of his resolution because the League of Nations had not yet won the confidence of all the most important nations of the world. It was most desirable that the United States should come into such a conference, and he wanted to make it perfectly clear to the people of the Unitd States that there was no wish to make it difficult for them to come in.

Create Misunderstanding.

The debate on Mr. MacDonald's resolution in favor of a disarmament conference turned less on the ideal to be attained than on the manner of attaining it. The government could not meet the Labor resolution with a simple negative, because, as R. W. O'Neill, who moved an amendment accepted by the government, confessed, such a course would create a misunderstanding abroad and would not represent the real feelings of the mass of the people.

Briefly Mr. O'Neill's amendment was to the effect that the House views with alarm the danger of renewed competition in armaments and considers that the government should at the earliest favorable opportunity use its utmost influence through the League of Nations to bring about general limitation of armaments.

Mr. MacDonald had represented the world as sitting under the dark gloom of threatened and reverting to its 1914 frame of mind. He denounced the Singapore project as colossal folly on the part of the government, and invited the nation to take the lead in international disarmament.

States Impracticable.

In moving his amendment, Mr. O'Neill argued that an immediate disarmament conference was impracticable and, until the Ruhr difficulty was settled, undesirable.

He advocated direct negotiations with France for disarmament and also urged that Great Britain offer France an unconditional guarantee against aggression, to replace the abortive Anglo-American convention.

Herbert H. Asquith agreed fully with the substance of Mr. MacDonald's resolution and speech, and only regretted its implication of ignoring the League of Nations as the proper vehicle to attain disarmament. He again appealed to the government to stay its hand with regard to Singapore until the imperial conference had considered the question.

KIWANIANS LISTEN TO CHINESE PUZZLE

Dr. Wallace Crawford Gives Address On This Subject At St. Thomas.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 24.—The St. Thomas Kiwanis Club held their noonday luncheon on the Alma College grounds today. The speaker, Dr. Wallace Crawford, superintendent of the Methodist Hospital in Chengto, Western China, spoke on the subject "The Chinese Puzzle," dealing at some length with the causes underlying the internal dissension in that country during the last ten years, and holding out hope for the future, not through international policing, but through the spread of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

The speaker dealt on the great need for doctors felt in China, where there is one medical man to every 10,000,000 of the population. Such a situation in Canada would mean two doctors for the Dominion, one in Halifax and one in Vancouver.

Dr. Crawford looked forward to the future with optimism. He believed that China was awakening, and that if it received its enlightenment through Christian sources, peace and progress would result.

Mayor Orders Wilson Out of City Council Chamber; Latter Refuses To Obey

Hottest Session of City Council For Years Blocks the Mayor on Every Move He Makes To Secure New City Hall in 1923—Alderman Calls Mayor Dangerous Person and Demands Resignation.

Since 1912 or thereabouts they have staged many a hard-fought battle about that historic issue—a new city hall for London. But none have ever quite reached the standard set by the members of the city council last night.

It was a special session, and several "special" features were added, to the obvious enjoyment of those who came early and stayed late—long after midnight.

As a climax of sorts, Mayor Wenige deemed it expedient just before eleven bells to rule Ald. William A. Wilson out of the council chamber, denying him the right to participate further in the events of the evening, notably, a discussion of that question of ancient vintage—the new city hall proposal.

But Ald. Wilson refused absolutely to leave the hall, and in fact moved that Mayor Wenige resign forthwith, as he was "a dangerous person to have in the position of chief magistrate of the city."

Declines to Budge.

None essayed to second Ald. Wilson's suggestion, and while Mayor Wenige gave orders that no particular attention was to be paid to him during the remainder of the session, the veteran ex-chairman of the board of works declined to budge from his position, and kept interjecting from time to time until hostilities terminated on all fronts, "I vote no."

On through the night the attack continued, the opponents of the new city hall sparring for time, while the defenders strove desperately to turn the tide. Through it all sat Ald. Wilson, pronouncing now and again that no person, not even Mayor Wenige, retained the power to move him from his seat. In the heat of the fray the mayor concluded that it would be unseemly to excite brute force to compel Ald. Wilson's bodily removal, and he directed his colleagues to ignore him when any vote was taken, and to continue as though nothing had happened to mar an otherwise snappy evening.

Battle Proceedings.

Ald. Judd, Ald. Douglass and other noted opponents of the mayor's proposal to build a new hall on the McCormick site fought from the drop of the hat, and undaunted by the spirited charge from Ald. Watt that they were "obstructionists" of the worst order, they bucked the line at each and every opportunity, and upon one occasion refused to sustain the mayor's ruling from the chair.

During one quiet episode, Ald. Judd moved that Ald. Wilson be again permitted to vote with his associates. Ald. Colbert objected and demanded that Ald. Wilson leave the hall. Ald. Douglass voted in the negative, but suggested that Ald. Wilson apologize and the mayor would deal leniently with him. Ald. Watt held a similar opinion, voicing the remark that Ald. Wilson had been very objectionable upon several occasions. Ald. Drake felt sure that Ald. Wilson would apologize, but the latter refused point blank.

"I will never take back what I said," he shouted. "He has insulted me. I defy him and I won't apologize."

Last night's gathering was without exception the liveliest held in the city hall in late years. At one juncture, Ald. Burdick announced that he was "sick of it all" and threatened to leave if the babble did not cease forthwith.

Meeting Breaks Up.

The meeting actually broke up shortly after 11 p.m. when the council failed to sustain the ruling from the chair, and several of the aldermen had already left when the mayor declared that the session had not legally terminated as Ald. Wilson had voted after he had been to all intents and purposes ousted from the proceedings.

The city hall defenders had clung desperately to their seats in much the same manner as did the dyed-in-the-wool fans who waited for the hit from Casey that never materialized. A hurried call was sent out and the mayor's opponents scrambled back into their places excepting Ald. Greer. He had disappeared in the rush, but he was back about a quarter of an hour later. Somebody must have telephoned for him.

And the long weary war dragged on, and as incidental matters during the evening the council voted to refer the city hall salary and civic holiday question back for further discussion in committee.

Compliments flew thick and fast as time passed and Ald. Judd at one thrilling moment challenged Mayor Wenige in this fashion: "Play fair. You needn't think you are going to choke anything like that down our throats."

A most enjoyable time was had by one and all.

"First Tackle."

Ald. John T. May (who wants the new city hall on the county site), was first tackle during the "new city hall" scrimmage, challenging Ald. Burdick's authority to read the report from the special city hall committee. He reminded that Ald. Wilson had not been permitted to read the report of the traffic committee, and had retired from the council chamber while Ald. Douglass acted in that capacity.

Ald. May demanded a ruling from the mayor, and the latter retorted that upon a former occasion he had ruled against Ald. Wilson on the same question, and had been sustained with a two-thirds vote of the council.

"Let me speak, please," interjected Ald. Wilson during the gathering storm. "This is an insult to the members of my committee."

"You're out of order." vouchsafed Ald. Colbert.

Ald. Wilson made a final protest to the mayor, and the game went on, Ald. Douglass edging into the front line with the query as to why the Chamber of Commerce had been invited to have an office in the new structure.

"In what way?" demanded Ald. Douglass.

"We pay the salaries," cut in Ald. Hayden.

"Why were other societies and organizations not given the same chance then?" asked Ald. McKay.

"Yes," concurred Ald. Judd. "The I. O. F. and the K. P. and so forth."

"Give the I. W. W. a chance," suggested a voice along the board, in an apparent effort to turn the city hall question into a greater joke than ever it has been.

Other Tenants.

Then Ald. Douglass noted that the "electrical inspector" had been invited to have an office in the new hall. "Who is he? I don't know him," he asked.

"You're lucky," commented Ald. Judd.

"In other words," declared Ald. Douglass, "we are taking every Tom, Dick and Harry from downtown offices where they are paying rent and offering to fit them out. Are we now in the real estate game?"

"Yes, that's what it is, if it's in the report," retorted Ald. Drake.

The customary battle occurred at five minutes to 11. Ald. Douglass rose again to speak, and his opponents sensed that he was going to speak until 11 o'clock in order to prevent an extension of time, when the meeting would automatically adjourn and all discussion would be halted.

At two minutes to eleven Ald. Drake rose and moved an extension of time, refusing to remain seated, as directed by the city hall opponents. "I demand the privilege of an extension if there are 25 aldermen on the floor," he shouted.

"I'm on my feet and you have no right until my five minutes is up," shouted back Ald. Douglass. "I'll be here till this babble ceases."

After a long debate, Mayor Wenige precipitated a further outburst when he ruled Ald. Douglass out of order, allowing Drake's move the preference.

Ald. Douglass demanded to know upon what grounds he had been ruled out. "Because you are an obstructionist," declared Ald. Watt.

Lively Exchanges.

"It's just another irregularity," retorted Ald. Douglass. "Well, I can stay here all night."

"You have got to play the game here," Ald. Judd challenged Mayor Wenige. "You can't choke this kind of procedure down our throats."

"You can have a two-thirds vote if you like," retorted Mayor Wenige, equally aroused.

After the Drake motion was passed, the mayor ruled then that Ald. Douglass' motion was again in order.

"I respect the ruling of the chair," Ald. Douglass advised later on in the evening.

"You know you were killing time, Ald. Douglass," suggested Ald. Drake.

"Then I'll have nothing more to do with this city hall business," retorted Ald. Douglass. "Ask in the C. of C. and whom you like."

"I maintain that Ald. Wilson is a nuisance here," Ald. Colbert protested a few minutes later.

"If anyone is a nuisance it is Ald. Colbert," responded Ald. Wilson warmly. "I have as much power here as either Wenige or Colbert, and if it ever comes to a fight between the mayor and I he had better look out."

Mayor Wenige ruled Ald. Wilson out of order and out of the council. Ald. Douglass protested that he (Douglass) was not an "obstructionist." Ald. Burdick threatened to quit the council if events did not proceed with more even regularity.

Tilk at Preston yesterday, advantage being taken of the occasion to present Mrs. Gilfillan, who has reached the age of 88 years, with a handsome address.

It was the first time in 40 years that the family was united. Among those present were Messrs W. Gilfillan, Paris; V. Tilk, Guelph; W. Singular, Guelph; Mrs. V. Tilk, Guelph; Mrs. L. Singular, Guelph; Mrs. M. King, California; Mrs. Johnston, California; Mrs. Reeves, Hanley, Sask; Mrs. Loth, Barrie; Mrs. Abbot, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, Sheffield, and Mrs. C. Tilk, Preston.

ASKS THAT BRITISH KEEP EMBASSY DRY

English Baptist Minister Urges Conformance With U.S. Liquor Laws.

Associated Press Despatch.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 24.—The British embassy at Washington ought to be kept dry out of respect for United States pohibition laws, Dr. J. R. Rushbrooke of London, Baptist commissioner for Europe, told the Baptist world alliance yesterday.

The alliance is being urged by various speakers to take such action as would arouse governments everywhere to the need of giving all citizens of every religious belief the right to worship perfect freedom, according to the dictates of their conscience.

WESTERN COAL RATE SET AT $7

SHOULD SELL FOR $12

Canadian Press Despatch.

Edmonton, July 24.—A freight rate of $7 per ton has been fixed, it is stated by Premier Greenfield, for experimental shipments of Alberta coal to Ontario over the Canadian National lines. Agreement to this effect has been reached by the government and the railway authorities and arrangements will be made at once for the first shipments.

The coal will be sent from Drumheller, Brazeau and other mines on the Canadian National Railway lines and will be billed through to various points in Ontario. It is expected that between 4,000 and 6,000 tons will be shipped on this basis.

Under this arrangement the operators will make a price of about $4.50 per ton, which will enable the coal to be sold in Toronto and other Ontario cities at $12 or thereabouts.

WARLIKE RUSSIAN IS ARRAIGNED IN COURT

Midnight Scene At St. Thomas Station When Muscovite Gets Mad.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 24.—Alexander Belsgovitch, a Russian scarce big enough for the name, though wearing an extensive and persistent smile, appeared in police court yesterday and was fined $25 and costs for being intoxicated in a public place early Monday morning and late Sunday night. The scene of Mr. Belsgovitch's alleged unmannerly exhibition was the L. & P. S. depot at Talbot street, shortly after midnight. Sergeant Ketchabaw and Constable Harry McCart, who made the arrest, swore that Alex. had shouted abusive language, either English or Russian, at the L. & P. S. trainman, swinging the while a heavy watch with a fob bearing the picture of "my wife," as he told Chief Armstrong this morning.

Alex. maintained he wasn't drunk, only mad at the conductor. He swore the police court was new to him, though the chief believed he had seen him there before.

BRANTFORD MAYOR CLOSES CHECK ROOM

Says Adjunct To Swimming Pool Must Not Be Open Sundays.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, July 24.—After Ald. W. H. Freeborn, chairman of the playgrounds commission, which has direct supervision over the civic swimming pool, had ordered the check-room to be opened at 8 o'clock on Sunday morning for the convenience of bathers, Mayor F. W. Billo came along at noon and closed it up again. He took this action because he did not think this money-making adjunct for the city treasury should be opened on the Sabbath.

Clarence Wagner, who has the restaurant rights at the pool, will continue to open, as the civic authorities believe there is no clause in the bylaw to prevent the proprietor from keeping the booth open seven days per week.

NICKLE GIVES ANSWER ON SUNDAY BATHING

Attorney-General Sends Wenige Copy of Act Enacted Before Confederation.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Torontao, July 24. — Attorney-General Nickle was asked for his opinion regarding the legality or illegality of Sunday bathing—an issue which is rending civic politics in London these days.

The attorney-general sent his querist, G. A. Wenige, mayor of London, a copy of the act. It is a law enacted before Confederation, and section six thereof says:

"It is not lawful for any person, on Sunday, to bathe in any exposed situation in any water within the limits of any incorporated town, or within view of any place of public worship or private residence."

SELLING BETTING NEWS MAY NOT MEAN ARREST

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 24.—"Give publicity to the law and warn those believed to be offenders. If the public notice and the private warning are disregarded take steps to enforce the law." Such in brief were the instructions sent out by the attorney-general's department here in time to reach all the crown attorneys of the province of Ontario on Wednesday last in respect to the enforcement of the betting information act.

It was stated at the attorney-general's office that because persons were selling copies of papers today containing racing information they were not necessarily to be arrested. The arrest is left to the discretion of the crown attorney of the district in which the "crime" is committed. If, after due warning and publicity, the law is disregarded then it is the duty of the attorneys to prosecute.

COCHRANE KILLING BAFFLES POLICE

DESCRIBES STRANGER

Canadian Press Despatch.

Cochrane, Ont., July 24.—With the jurors at Coroner Tucker's adjourned inquest into the death of 16-year-old Monica Foster returning an open verdict late yesterday, the Cochrane murder case remained a baffling problem tonight. Fifteen witnesses, including the father and three sisters of the dead girl, gave evidence at the hearing, which lasted practically all day, and this evening the provincial officers in charge of the investigation declared the solution of the mystery appeared no nearer.

Conflicting testimony regarding the blood-stained stone found near the bushes in which the child's body had been hidden was given at the inquest. Olga and Jessie Foster, older sisters of the victim, were positive that this stone had been observed by them on their way to town about 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, Jessie having directed her sister's attention to its condition. Against this another sister, Thelma, and most of the other witnesses swore that when the stone was noticed the following morning the blood seemed comparatively fresh, and Coroner Tucker, addressing the jury at the conclusion of the evidence, said he felt justified in asking them to disregard the evidence of the two girls on this point.

There was also considerable difference of opinion regarding the time Monica was last seen alive. Jessie Foster told of having seen her sister standing at the front door of their house about 4:20 Tuesday afternoon, but other members of the family had no recollection of having noticed her since dinnertime.

Father Testifies.

Alfred Thomas Foster, the father, was not certain whether she had been playing about the house when he left for work at 3:30 p.m., and Mrs. Mary Lebarron, a neighbor, and two of her daughters, declared that Monica had been on the swing at their home as late as 6:40 that evening. They fixed the time because they had found her there after they had eaten supper. Dr. Paul thought she had been dead not more than 18 hours prior to the time he saw the body Wednesday morning. The girl had died from hemorrhages which followed the wounds inflicted upon her throat with a sharp instrument, the doctor said, and the injury to the left temple was not in itself fatal. There had been no fracture of the skull. He thought that the stone produced in court might have caused the blow upon the head.

None of the witnesses from the neighborhood of the Foster home could swear to having seen any persons in the vicinity of the scene of the crime during Tuesday afternoon, although Jessie Foster declared she had noticed a strange man near an old log shack. He was medium-sized and broad, she said.

Describes Stranger.

Dennis Carr, the 14-year-old boy who first saw the body, told of having noticed a footprint apparently from "an old leather shoe" in the sand near the bushes, but it had not struck him as significant in view of the number of persons who had been searching in the region for the missing girl. William Wagner, callboy for the T. & N. O. Railway, had spoken to a man in the station at 3:30 Wednesday morning, and this man had asked if there was a train going out soon. The boy described the stranger and said he seemed to be "half a nigger, with curly hair cut short," while he said also he might have been an Italian. Inspector Miller produced the photograph of a man about whom the police have been making inquiries, but none of the witnesses to whom it was shown could identify it.

CHATHAM YOUNG MEN TO ANSWER CHARGES

Police Allege Improper Conduct and Breaches of O.T. A. Against Citizens.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 24.—Thirty-two informations, sworn out against eleven Chatham young men for their participation in alleged improper conduct and infractions of the O.T.A. three weeks ago, were served by the Kent County police yesterday, acording to a statement issued by Chief Peters this afternoon.

The young men in question, whose names were not given, reside in the city, although some are stated to have left to avoid publicity, others are staying here and will see the whole thing through. The young men are members of the most prominent families in the city and, for the most part, are also well known socially throughout Western Ontario.

The county police secured their information of the midnight revels on the lake shore through one of the young girls of the party. The girl in question made a statement to the police in which she implicated the eleven young men who were served with summonses.

LINERS LEAVING BRITAIN CROWDED BY EMIGRANTS

Associated Press Despatch.

Southampton, July 24.—Outgoing liners are crowded with emigrants seeking admission to the United States under the August quota. The Tyrrhenia is taking 1,600, of whom 1,000 are in the steerage.

The Empress of Scotland will sail Wednesday with 1,300, and the Majestic Thursday with 2,600. The Belgenland, which also departs Thursday, will have the largest number of passengers from the continent she has booked this year.

BOY GASHES ARM SEVERELY ON WIRE SUPPORTING POLE

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, July 24.—Running under a wire supporting a hydro pole, Joseph Felker, 12, of 41 Lincoln avenue, caught his arm on jagged ends of wire, and it was gashed from the elbow to the shoulder, requiring fifteen stitches to close the wound.

Beetles Prove of Value In Killing Plant Parasite

Friendly Black Insects Prey Upon Potato Vine Slugs Which Cause Much Trouble For Growers of Vegetables.

Special to The Advertiser.

Clandeboye, July 24.—The wind was too high on Saturday to permit of the use of the paris green puffer on the potato plants, so we were obliged to follow our grandfather's method of getting rid of potato bugs and slugs—the pail and the wooden paddle. Thus it came about that we made the acquaintance of more friends—in the form of beetles—than we ever dreamed we possessed. We had noticed a few of these beetles last season on the potato vines, but never imagined that enough of them had escaped the paris green applied then to provide the host we found Saturday.

We were greeted by ten or twelve of these friends on every row of potatoes (each row is about ten rods long), and on a number of plants we found one or more making a meal of a nice fat slug, and the energy and thoroughness displayed in completing their work was really a solid satisfaction to watch.

Fearing, however, that the job of cleaning up the whole patch would be beyond their powers, we gathered all the slugs we saw. There will be an interest in watching the patch from now on, to see how the beetles get along with their contract of keeping the slugs eaten up.

We are hoping, too, that there will be no need of buying paris green next season, and that the time usually employed in the tiresome work of applying the poison can be more pleasantly spent.

Friend beetle is easily recognized. He is about the size of one's little finger-nail, a dull black in color, square shouldered with a square outline on each shoulder in red or orange or a pale cream color, and a shield outline on his back in the same color. Those marked in pale cream have also a loop outline in the same color on each side of the shield near the edge of the wing-cases. It may be wise to try to save these beetles, but there is room for speculation. When friend beetle finishes the potato slugs will he learn to eat the potato plants?

SENATOR BEAUBIEN IS VICTIM OF ROBBER

Daring French Train Thief Steals Money and Letters of Credit.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, July 24.—The Lille Echo du Nord publishes an account of a robbery of which Senator Beaubien of Montreal, who is accompanying the Canadian trade exhibition train now touring France, was the victim.

The theft, which occurred at Douai station, was of a particularly audacious nature. Senator Beaubien left Lille for Arras and took a seat in an express which stops at Douai. He was seated in the last compartment of a first class coach and had placed two leather valises in a rack. One contained linen and other personal effects and the other $125 in gold and letters of credit to the amount of 1,000 000 francs, as well as various toilet articles.

Between Lille and Calais he left the compartment to go to the restaurant car, and when he returned a little before he reached Arras he noticed that his valises had disappeared. Arriving at Arras he reported to the commissioner of the local police. Two other occupants of the compartment declared that another passenger had got out at Douai carrying three valises. The police are now endeavoring to trace the thief or thieves.

Special to The Advertiser.

Tillsonburg, July 23.—The funeral of Mrs. Wm. Ostrander, who passed away on Wednesday afternoon, was held on Sunday afternoon from the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dick Hodgson, to the Eden Cemetery. Six nephews acted as pallbearers, and the services were in charge of Rev. T. McLachlan.

DAVID JOLLY.
Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, July 23.—In the passing of David Jolly, 142 Nelson street, in his 90th year, there died one of the most prominent horticulturists in this part of the country. For many years he had been a judge of plants and flowers at various fairs and his knowledge of nursery stock led to him being selected to choose and place all the trees which at present adorn the beautiful grounds of the Ontario School for the Blind. He was also a well-known curler and an officer of the local club for many years He is survived by his widow and seven children—Jack Jolly, Toronto; David Jolly, Brantford; Mrs. Harry Evans, Lapierre, Michigan; Frank Jolly, Detroit; William Jolly, Weyburn; Edward Jolly, Regina; and Mrs. William H. Smith, wife of Rev. Mr. Smith, Durham.

A. MINIELY.
Special to The Advertiser.

Wyoming, July 23.—The funeral of A. Miniely, the victim of the recent drowning accident, was one of the largest ever held in this vicinity. Over 100 automobiles formed the main part of the procession from the house to the cemetery. Rev. J. C. Robinson officiated at the house, and the greater part of the service at the grave was conducted by Mr. Howard Ferguson, Noble Grand of Model Lodge 147, I. O. O. F., assisted by Mr. J. D. Anderson, the lodge chaplain.

JOHN MILLER.
Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 23.—John Miller of Maidstone, a pioneer resident of Kent county, died at the residence of his son Jacob 3rd concession, Harwich township, last night at the age of 82. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from his late residence to St. Joseph's Catholic Church, with interment in St. Anthony's Cemetery.

MRS. ANNIE SANDERS.
Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 23.—Mrs. Annie Sanders, relict of Thomas B. Sanders, passed away at Amasa Wood Hospital this morning. The deceased was 75 years old. She was born in England, and came to St. Thomas 51 years ago. With the exception of a few years spent at Fargo, Ont., she had resided in this city ever since, and had made hosts of friends.

Mrs. Sanders belonged to Trinity Church, and was a member of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. L. W. Cole and Mrs. Harry McLean of St. Thomas, and Mrs. Frank J. Price, Saskatoon; one sister, Mrs. Kate Bowey, St. Thomas, and five grandchildren, Laura and Muriel McLean, city, and Lawrence, Muriel and Genevieve Price of Saskatoon.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 4 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. L. W. Cole, 88 Gladstone avenue.

MRS. SYDNEY BISSELL.
Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 23.—Mrs. Bissell, widow of Sydney Bissell, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Smith, in Detroit. She was 67 years of age, and leaves one daughter, Mrs. Smith; four sisters, Mrs. Frank Montgomery, Union, Mrs. J. Lewis, Ridgetown, Mrs. R. Miner, Frome, Mrs. S. Widdis, Chatham; and three brothers, Alvin Marr, George Marr, Detroit, and Harley Marr of Chicago. The funeral will be held Wednesday at noon from the M.C.R. train to Union Cemetery for interment.

WILLIAM SCOTT.

The many friends of William Scott of Seaforth were shocked to hear of his sudden death, which took place in that town last Wednesday. Mr. Scott with his wife made their home in London for about a year, where they made a great many friends, but after seventy years spent in Seaforth, the longing for the old home town and old friends became so great that they decided to return and spend their remaining days there. Mr. Scott was a man of sterling character, and was a staunch member of the Presbyterian Church. He leaves his wife, one son Wilmer on the old homestead, and one daughter, Mrs. McIntosh of 353 Emery street, London.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh, also Mr. and Mrs. John McIntosh of Wellington street, attended the funeral, which took place to the Maitlandbank Cemetery on Friday last. Although the funeral was of a private nature, it was attended by a very large number of friends of the family.

DAVID GARROWAY.
Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 23.—David Garroway, a former resident of this city, died Sunday in Windsor after a brief illness, aged 61 years.

He leaves four daughters: Mrs. A. R. Doan, city; Mrs. Mary Hawkins, Winnipeg; Mrs. J. Gardner, Sandwich; Mrs. A. Hope, Winnipeg; and three sons: David, caretaker Elmdale School, city; James, Saskatoon, and George, Edmonton.

The remains will arrive in the city at 12:55 on Tuesday, via Wabash, and will be taken to the residence of his son, 33 Elm street. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. to the St. Thomas cemetery. Rev. P. N. Harding will conduct the service.

Robs Home Of Over $2000

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, July 23. — Found guilty of breaking into the home of Dr. L. A. Douglas, Quellette avenue, Elmer Morgan, 16 years old, today was sentenced to serve from three months to two years in the Ontario Reformatory. Morgan stole jewelry and clothing valued at more than $2,000. Frederick Morgan, 18, brother of Elmer, was released, after being found not guilty of similar crimes charged to his brother.

BRANT COUNTY WHEAT YIELD IS BOUNTIFUL

Agricultural Representative States Serious Blight Is Affecting Raspberries.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, July 24.—A bumper crop of wheat will be reaped in Brant County this summer, according to Roy Schuyler, agricultural representative, today. Considerable wheat was cut last week-end, and the first cuttings confirm his statement that the yield will be extremely good. With the exception of timothy or lower meadow grass, haying is practically over. Rye cutting has commenced and the barley is turning yellow.

The agricultural representative states that a serious blight is affecting raspberry plants in this district, and if it continues people may have to go without their supply of berries this season. The life history of the blight has not been ascertained, consequently an antidote cannot be applied.

NO CHANGES ANTICIPATED IN RAILWAY COMMISSION

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 24.—Premier Ferguson stated yesterday no immediate changes are contemplated in the personnel of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission. George Lee, chairman of that body, has been in Toronto during the last few days and conferred with the premier on a variety of matters connected with the railway, which comes under Hon. Mr. Ferguson's own department.

CHIEF DEFENDS POLICE SYSTEM

Chatham Official Answers Charges Made At Meeting of Commission.

SEARCH FOR YOUTHS

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 23.—A vigorous defence of the city police department and the men engaged in police work in Chatham was made by Police Chief Thomas Groves before the police commission this afternoon.

The chief responded to the charges uttered at the special meeting of the commission last week, especially in regard to the enforcement of the O. T. A., the parking and speeding laws in the city.

With the limited number of men at his disposal—the same number, less one, employed thirty years ago—the police department was doing its best under present circumstances, and would continue to do so until more men are appointed to the force, he stated.

The chief's oft-repeated appeal for a special man to check up speeding cases was received by the commission, but no action was taken nor intimation of what might be done under the matter was given out, as the press was excluded from the room during this phase of the meeting.

Seek Two Youths.

The Kent county police have spread out a dragnet in the hope of capturing two young men, touring in a high-powered car, who, it is alleged, last night forced their attentions upon two young girls, residents of Wheatley.

According to Chief Peters of the county police, who received a complaint concerning the alleged incident this morning, the two girls are suffering from nervous trouble as a result of their experiences. The police have a good description of both men as well as the car in which they were traveling.

Discuss Stop System.

The "boulevard stop system" for the regulation of traffic on the city streets may be inaugurated here soon providing the city council sanctions it by passing the necessary bylaw.

The system is being conducted with great success in Detroit and is now being favorably considered by city officials. Under this system, which requires all vehicles to stop before turning onto busy streets in the business section, all danger of crossing crashes will be eliminated.

Case Postponed.

The non-appearance of J. Garnett Church and his solicitor in the county criminal court this morning has indefinitely postponed the case of Hatt vs. Church.

Church is accused by George O Hatt, his father-in-law, of forging the latter's name on a check, and also on a promissory note. He was committed for trial by Magistrate Arnold at Wheatley some time ago.

Calling for the rebuilding of the present market building into a community hall and civic building, a motion sponsored by Alderman Murdock was favorably received at the regular meeting of the city council today.

The proposition has as yet only reached the consideration stage in so far as the city council is concerned, although a special committee composed of City Manager Fuller, Alderman Thompson and Murdock was appointed to investigate the possibilities of such a venture.

RETURNING MINERS ATTACKED BY STRIKERS

Scatter Stone-Throwing Antagonists Before Police Arrive On Scene.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Sydney, July 24.—Strikers throwing stones at miners returning to work at the Toronto Minc, operated by the Bras d'or Coal Company, led to a call for police, but before the latter could arrive the miners had scattered their opponents. This was the only item of the day in the North Cape Breton mining area. The district was otherwise quiet with indications of an early return to work of miners on strike.

Phaelon, a radical storm center, after deciding not to return to work under the presidency of Silby Barrett, later appointed a committee to interview Barrett with a view to arranging for an early resumption of work.

President Barrett's executive will formally take over the United Mine Workers' headquarters Tuesday and hold its formal meeting there.

BRANTFORD FACTORY HAS TO FIGHT FIRE OUTBREAK

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, July 24.—Fire breaking out in the Cordage Compnay factory yesterday seriously endangered the whole plant. In some manner, hemp passing through the picking machines caught fire, and an alarm was turned in. Fortunately the company's fire-fighting apparatus was sufficient to put out the fire before the brigade arrived. Little damage was done by the fire, though some has resulted from the water.

BRIDE OF A FEW MONTHS KIDNAPPED IN CHICAGO

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, Ill., July 24.—Mrs. Caroline Kush, bride of a few months, was kidnapped by three men and three women today. The abductors escaped in an automobile.

Mrs. Kush with her husband was leaving a North Side cabaret when the three couples in the car invited them to ride. After driving a short distance, the kidnappers threw Kush from the machine and sped away.

The Graham Clan In Canada.

How few people know anything of their ancestors. An occasional person can go back to his father, grandfather or great-grandfather, but before that there is nothing in the way of definite knowledge. Still more important, how little we write or preserve of the history of families of today; it is perhaps handed down by way of family tradition, or entered here and there in a family Bible.

It was probably the idea of keeping family history, or clan history, alive that prompted the Graham clan to come together and have some sort of a definite organization for the keeping and writing of records.

The name "Graham" will find a big response all over Western Ontario, and the response strikes away out to all parts of the Canadian West and to many points of United States. So far there has been catalogued and identified 490 heads of families descendants of the original Grahams who came here around 1828 and 1837, settling for the most part in Lobo and around Glencoe.

Graham tradition goes away back to the year 420, when it is told that a mighty Graham (nae doobt they would ca' him michty) broke through the Roman wall that had been built across from Firth to Clyde to keep the warlike tribes of Highlanders from the south country. That is probably a direct ancestor of Dugald Graham of London, for he has all this strength and vim, especially when an election or a Graham clan reunion is in sight.

However, they start to write Graham, or Grahame, clan history more authentically from 1142, when the name Mon. de Grahame is found on a charter granted by the King of Scotland to the monks at Holyrood. The Duke of Montrose stands yet as the historic head of the Grahams. He it was who came to great strength in his espousal of the Stuarts, and was afterwards beheaded after their defeat.

From this family there branched out the Grahams of Gartmore, the Border Grahams, the Grahams of Finty, and so on, just as in this part of the new world we have them referred to as the Grahams of Caradoc, the Lobo Grahams, and the Lobo McGugans and Campbells.

John Graham and his wife, Catherine McCormick, came to this country and settled near Glencoe in 1837, and at that time they were 74 and 73 years of age; Duncan Graham, it is recorded, went into Lobo in 1828, and so on, and from these families came many of the early settlers. A glance over the Graham clan register shows 144 of that one name, with proper address and location; there are 33 Campbells as well; in fact these Graham folk, when they married, invaded many families, as the records show the following family names: Abbott, Anderson, Andress, Annett, Armstrong, Atkinson, Beatty, Black, Blue, Bobier, Brown, Brumpton, Campbell, Carmichael, Carroll, Challoner, Clare, Clark, Coad, Coates, Columbus, Connor, Crawford, Crossin, Cruickshank, Cummings, Currie, Daly, Dobie, Dolphin, Dow, Duncanson, Duncan, Edwards, Elliott, Elson, Forbes, Freele, Goff, Gray, Gillies, Haggerty, Harper, Hamilton, Hardy, Hines, Hillman, Hodgins, Hodgson, Huhn, Inwood, Jamieson, Jones, Johnson, Kay, Keith, Kelly, Lamont, Leckie, Leitch, Lodge, Lord, Love, Marsh, Mitchell, Monger, Morris, Murray, McAlpine, McArthur, McBean, McCallum, McConnell, McCluskey, McFarlane, McFeddern, McGill, McGugan, McGregor, McIntyre, McIndoe, McKelvie, McKinnon, McKenzie, McLachlin, McLaren, McLay, McLellan, McLeod, McLucky, McLean, McMillan, McMullen, McNeil, McNaughton, McNay, McPhail, McPhedrian, McPherson, McRae, McTaggart, McVicar, McWilliams, Nesbitt, Newton, Nugent, Oliver, Pitt, Poole, Pollard, Pritchard, Shaw, Sheriff, Silcox, Sinclair, Smith, Steele, Stevenson, Stewart, Straitch, Sumners, Tuckey, Turner, Wade, Waters, Waugh, Wellington, Wilson, Young, Zavitz.

In all, it is estimated that there are some 1,700 members in these families, all connected with the original Grahams. A glance at the men's names is also interesting—just a few, Robert, Archie, Duncan, Neil, Donald, Dougald, Malcolm, Colin, Alexander, Angus, and so on. Likewise in the list of ladies, Janet, Mary, Jean, Margaret, Mina, Elsie, Betty, Flora—all good, wholesome names.

Small wonder that the Grahams have a good time when they meet as they do at Springbank this Thursday. There's plenty of them to make merry and to entertain. Few clans have had the same good organizing ability to round up and record all their members, for members of the Graham clan are located at points widely separated. The records they have filed away will, in years to come, be invaluable to children and grandchildren of the present generation.

The Great Family of Dogs.

Every time we opened a door a different make of dog would run out. There was "Queenie" and "Mike" and "Mack" and "Jock," and a dozen or so others that had not signed the register, so they went by the handy title of just plain "dog" or "pup." All this happened at the London Humane Society yards on Victoria street west. Mr. Tustin, who has advised more people in London than all authorities combined on what to do for a sick dog, has the unbounded and the bounding confidence of all his patients. Here in the stable is the old black horse that can be seen around London streets almost any day. "Quiet as a lamb—wouldn't kick if anyone went up and showed him how." It was here that "Mike" was quartered, a bit of black and white hound, with long silky ears, and the rather sunken eyes of his kind. Mike was getting off to a bad start—lived in a place where there were too many fleas to the square inch. Mike has lost his fleas, and though no dog is supposed to be quite happy without a few fleas, Mike was doing well. He was having some sort of a game with a little brown spaniel. Said spaniel was a reg'lar patient, now recovered, while a few feet off was a fine Airedale whose folks had gone off for a spell and left him in good hands rather than to the street and garbage cans.

Brown dogs, the inevitable "part collie," white dogs, black dogs, all of them howling a protest when friend Tustin stopped to pat some other dog on the head. Then away to the far kennel, where there dwells one whose ancestors must have subscribed to the clan laws of the collie, the Airedale and the wolf. This poor beast was a prisoner, and he'll probably remain one—he likes to bite people, and he has quite a record of snaps to his credit, or to his discredit. Just a bit of dog lore in connection with this chap. "See his face," said Mr. Tustin. "You will notice that from where it leaves the nose until it reaches the mouth it is full and coarse. I don't like that in a dog, it's the wolf in him, and he can't help it. Otherwise that's a fine dog, but it's not safe to have him around."

On the way back a Dane clamored for attention. A great powerful white slate, when he jumped up he could almost put his paws on a man's shoulders. In the front yard was a "real dog," a beautiful collie, the property of Mr. Tustin. Long of snout, with hair almost as fine as a child's, he was all set for the welcome he knew would be his. "Jock" is as good a collie as there is in the district, and probably worth $400.

So it's down there the sick dogs go; they get taken in cars and led on pieces of rope. Mr. Tustin can get chummy with them all on short notice; he seems to know how. The man who sees in a dog nothing but a dog could well clip a little lesson from Mr. Tustin's book.

Get After Them, Certainly.

The law and the people who administer it would like to find some ready way to deal with the wife deserter. Outdoor relief department in Toronto shows that in times of normal employment ten per cent of families in receipt of relief from that source have been deserted by the husband and father. It cost Toronto last year $10,375 for this purpose.

Miss Mary Foy, of the Toronto Catholic Welfare Bureau, describes some of them as follows: "There is the man who disappears and who is not seen again for years, perhaps never. There is the periodical deserter, who, whenever there is any trouble or sickness in the home, leaves his wife to face it all alone, and later, when the crisis is passed and he is weary of his holiday, returns and expects to be welcomed. There is the man who continually neglects his family and refuses to support them."

These men deserve all they get in the way of punishment; the fact is, in most cases they get off all too lightly. Miss Foy does not put it too strongly when she declares that the man who will desert his family and leave them in destitution is as great a menace to the community "as the housebreaker or the bootlegger." So, she pertinently asks, "Why let him go unpunished for his crime?"

Monthly Report on Town Finances.

In the report of Essex Town Council, as reported in the Free Press of that town, a statement is given showing the financial statement to date. It is a good plan to have such a report given to the people who are putting up the money. Much better to report monthly or quarterly than to wait until after the elections have taken place at the end of the year.

Cities manage to fool themselves this way. The new year is always bound to start out with the sails pulled down tight, and all hands on deck ready to handcuff any individual who tries a raid on the treasury.

The "best interests of the ratepayers" are well guarded by day and faithfully escorted home after sunset.

The thing generally blows up before the year gets 50 per cent worn out. It does not sound very serious to hear of a deficit or an overdraft, or of a contingency fund gone dry.

The general public, too, may be inclined to lose patience with an economist who really wants to practise in council what he preached during election time.

There is a little added pressure from interested parties to get this, that and the other thing put through; it can be financed some way or other.

It is well to have that financial record coming up each month or each quarter, showing where the city stands; even if the statement approximates the exact amount it serves the purpose. If it is shown by the figures that the economists are slipping back from their high resolve of the first of the year, then there is positive ground and a perfectly good reason to insist on a drawing in. The aldermen or councillors can point to the list when urged to initiate work that can wait.

Keeping the people informed all the time is a much better plan than giving them one rude jolt each year.

Note and Comment.

The wise men from the east have decided to resume digging coal and making steel.

A man who is good at statistics is now figuring out how many pedestrians can be run over to the gallon.

Some people fail to get the idea that they must do more than howl in order to be classed as a howling success.

Turkey at Lausanne seems to be in the happy position of being on the outside looking in and on the inside looking out.

France in the Ruhr is as happy as the wife who doesn't know if her husband works, and if he doesn't work what does he do, and if he works what does he get, and if he does get it where does he keep it.

Here's a Detroit judge turning the guns on auto drivers who go so slow that they "gum the traffic." And no doubt he lambasts those who go so fast that they "gum the morgue."

Hon. John Martin, Ontario's minister of agriculture, says he is a "farmer," and not an agriculturist. All of which brings to mind the fact that if you want to pick a quarrel with a hard-boiled old newspaper man just refer to him as a journalist.

William G. Moore, popularly known as "Uncle Bill," has passed out. To live in London meant to know him. If ever there was a crowd or a procession, there "Uncle Bill" was in its midst or at its head. In his own smiling way, with his great shock of white hair, he seemed to fit very well into the community life. A lot of folks, young and old, will miss "Uncle Bill" Moore.

CURE FOR WORLD TROUBLE.

(From the Los Angeles Times)

Two thousand delegates to the International Christian Conference now being held at Winona Lake, Ind., have addressed a plea to President Harding and the rulers of all other Christian countries to turn to Christianity as a means of solving world problems. War is inevitable, the speakers declared, unless conditions are changed, and religion offers the only means of inculcating the love of peace in the warring nations of Europe.

"Men hate one another as intensely as they ever did and the time has come to try Christianity," they wrote. "It has never failed in any field where it has been given a chance. The nations of the world must unite to create new standards, based on the teachings of Christ." These, they felt, would lead them to abandon isolation and selfish individualism and help one another.

It is a beautiful idea and would bear fruit if it could get a fair trial. Unfortunately, in most European countries today, men have forgotten that they are brothers, after all, and have sowed the seeds of hate that will grow into many future disasters. All through the Balkans national hatreds flourish like poisonous plants, and no thoughtful person can observe the bitter animosity existing between France and Germany without an unhappy feeling that here is a friction that will result in again drenching Europe in blood. The peoples of Europe have strayed far from the injunction to love your neighbor as yourself.

THE POETRY OF BROTHERHOOD.

Oh magnify the Lord with me,
And let us exalt his name together.
Psalm 34:3.

The fault, or at least the danger, of modern lyrical poetry is that it is too solitary and separate in its tone.

It tends toward exclusiveness, over-refinement, morbid sentiment.

Many Christian hymns suffer from this defect.

But the Psalms breathe a spirit of human fellowship even when they are most intensely personal.

The poet rejoices or mourns in solitude, it may be, but not alone.

He is one of the people.

He is conscious always of the ties that bind him to his brother men.

Compare the intense selfishness of the modern hymn:

"I can but perish if I go;
I am resolved to try;
For if I stay away, I know
I shall forever die,"

with the generous penitence of the fifty-first Psalm:

"Then will I teach transgressors thy way;

TO THE EDITOR.

TEMPERANCE AND THE PRESS.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I think it is generally known that for the past two or three years an extensive (and expensive) propaganda has been carried on by the liquor interests of the United States, to discredit, if they can, their prohibition law. On a smaller scale, it may be, yet a similar effort has been made in Ontario to discredit the O. T. A. In one paper that falls under my notice, the first eight days following the election of June 25, twenty-six inches of space were used for this unworthy purpose. Today it is a quotation from "Le Canada," tomorrow an extra from "Saturday Night," etc. Now, it has occurred to me many times to ask, "What do these papers mean?" After a trial of the O. T. A. for three or four years, it was voted upon and sustained by a majority vote of 406,676, and it is an insult to these voters to send into their homes day after day such matter as above referred to. If editors feel it to be their duty to publish such items, then for the sake of truth and fair play, they should publish some facts showing the great good accomplished by the act.

This is noticeable everywhere one may go, and the official reports are of further evidence: (1) It has cut down the amount of liquor consumed to one-fifth of what it was under license. (2) It has reduced drunkenness. In Toronto alone arrests were reduced from 30.3 per thousand of population in 1914 to 7.6 per thousand in 1922. (3) It has reduced crime through the trying years following the war. (4) It has helped business. The bank clearings in Toronto alone increased from $2,102,955,665 in 1914 to $5,104,893,667 in 1921. (5) It has helped the worker. A thousand manufacturers in Ontario say: "It has increased production, increased the regularity of the attendance of the workers," and their ability and capacity as well. (6) It has helped the home—more comfortable homes and better supplies of food and clothing for wives and children. One hundred and fifty-eight school inspectors say, "it has improved home surroundings." Drunkards cease to stagger on our streets and drunkards' wives wipe away their tears and take fresh heart again. These facts should weigh much more than the irresponsible statements bandied about by those who are influenced by personal taste and financial gain. All who have at heart the moral and material welfare of Ontario, and especially the highest good of the young should resist all efforts to rob us of the victory gained—no matter how cunning and well disguised those efforts may be.

Your Health: Why You Should Select Your Shoes With Real Care

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

Summer is a hard time for the feet. The shoes hurt. The leather draws. The legs ache. Sometimes the back pains, an dwor kis impossible.

It is like the old story of the horseshoe nail. For the want of a nail the shoe was lost. For the want of a shoe the horse was lost. Everything could be traced back to the lack of a horseshoe nail.

Many a human ailment will be found to depend on the condition of the feet.

The foot is the most humble and neglected part of the body. One who is fastidious about his face, hands and person may be sadly negligent about his feet.

We are particular about the fit of a coat, and yet, after all, nothing but appearance depends on the coat. But the way the feet are dressed determines the comfort and possibly the health of the individual.

When I see some women hobble along in apparent misery I feel sorry for them. Slaves to what they are pleased to call "style," they suffer torments of body and undermining of the nervous system because of mistreated feet.

Cleanliness and dryness are two conditions essential to foot health. Proper fitting of the shoes and properly-shaped shoes are necessary to comfort.

In some shoe stores X-ray machines are now used to disclose the bones of a customer's feet. You will be shocked to see the condition of the bones of your feet if the shoes you wear are not shaped correctly.

If your feet are inclined to sweat they must be washed daily and perhaps twice a day. They are to be thoroughly dried and a powder sprinkled upon them. Then nice dry, fresh stockings are drawn on, and, if you can afford an extra pair of shoes a change will be helpful.

Bathing your feet in a very weak solution of permanganate of potash or an alum solution may help to check the sweating. A powder of boracic acid, to which small quantities of salicylic acid are added, may be beneficial when sprinkled on the feet.

Every community has its chiropodist or podiatrist. He will care for the toe nails and add wonderfully to your comfort. I know of no more satisfactory way to invest a dollar or two than by going to one of these experts. If he is well trained, he is a public benefactor.

Buy your shoes with care and do not make your foot-ease secondary to your idea of style. Unless your feet are comfortable, your efficiency is impaired and your health is menaced.

SIDNEY MURRELL ONCE MORE IN MIDDLESEX JAIL

SIDNEY MURRELL, ESCAPED BANDIT AGAIN BEHIND BARS OF LONDON JAIL TO AWAIT TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Desperado Arrives From San Francisco In Charge of Two Officers.

CAME TO ST. THOMAS

Swift Car With Escort Brings Prisoner To Cell In London.

Sidney E. Murrell, Melbourne bank bandit and alleged slayer, is back in his cell in the Middlesex county jail this morning.

With almost as much secrecy as was attached to his getaway on that dark Septembr night two years ago, the young desperado was taken from a M.C.R. train at St. Thomas, hurried to a big touring car, and whisked away to the London jail at a mile-a-minute pace.

While county officials and jail guards waited at the side entrance to the jail, with the door ajar, ready to receive their prisoner, two St. Thomas cars came to a stop on Dundas street hill just below Ridout street.

Provincial Officer Devlin of St. Thomas leaped from his own car, which had acted as an escort for the one in which Murrell rode, and ran to the side entrance of the courthouse.

Taken to Cell.

At the sight of the uniformed visitor, Governor Byron Dawson and Sheriff Donald A. Graham hurried into the courthouse and closed the door behind them. In less time than it takes to tell, Provincial Inspectors William H. Stringer and Charles H. Ward took their man from the car and rushed to the front of the courthouse. By the time they reached the end of the corridor leading to the jail, the door had been opened. The party filed through and shot the bolt.

Murrell was taken into No. 1 cell from which he escaped on September 2, 1921.

Thanks Officers.

Turnkeys locked him in the night cell, but before he was confined in his sleeping quarters he offered his hand to the two officers who had accompanied him on the long journey from San Francisco.

As they shook hands he remarked: "You certainly treated me all right, what I mean."

No sooner had they gone than Murrell crawled into his bunk. He did not even bother to pull a cover over him. In a few minutes, he was sleeping the sleep of exhaustion.

A special guard was assigned to his quarters. The iron door leading from the cell to the night cell was locked.

Weird Light.

Weird streaks of light played over the face of the sleeping prisoner. One shaft of light came from the corridor, through the porthole, through which he expects to see the face of his mother today. His face was half turned in that direction, almost expectantly. Between him and the narrow opening is a barred partition. The bars cast thin striped shadows across his weary form. It seemed the very shadows sought to mark him a prisoner, now securely in the clutches of the law, which, tricked once, had learned a lesson and tightened its grip upon him.

Not Disturbed.

But Sidney Murrell did not seem to care. Thoughts of his trial for his life in the gloomy courtroom above two months hence did not disturb his slumber.

PRISON DOORS AGAIN CLOSE ON HIM.

Sdney E. Murrell is again a prisoner in the London jail, brought here from San Francisco to face a charge of murder. Safe in a special cell, the authorities will make every effort to make a second escape of this daring desperado impossible. Special guards will watch his cell day and night. Again the long arm of British justice has spread out and gathered in an offender of the state.

On the main floor, iron gates clanged, bolts creaked into place, and the heavy double doors met, serving as a reinforcement for the windowed ones at the main entrance.

To spectators in the courthouse hall, none of this could be heard. To them the heavy doors appeared merely as curtains being drawn across the windows in the doors by some invisible hand, signifying the close of the drama of the night.

It was 10:30 when Murrell reached the jail. By midnight all lights except the one which left him visible to his guard had been extinguished.

Realizes Position.

"Murrell realizes what he is up against," stated one of the officers who brought him back to the city. "There is no doubt but that he appreciates that he is in a tight fix and that there is no chance for a second escape from the jail."

Filled with relief that their long and arduous journey, which took them across the continent to bring back a desperate man was over, the officers had but one thought, that of getting to bed as soon as possible. For four days and nights they have been on the qui vive against any attempt their captive might make to elude them. For that period neither of them have known a moment's freedom from worry or anxiety. And they feel entitled to a rest.

Since having Sidney Murrell turned over to them the two members of the provincial force have traveled night and day. Expected that they would travel by way of the Canadian Pacific from Vancouver to London, via Toronto, the route taken by them was to the contrary. Leaving San Francisco the party traveled through the Sierra Nevadas to Ogden and Chicago, thence to Detroit and St. Thomas, where they arrived at 9:58 last night.

Reach St. Thomas.

Leaving the train at St. Thomas the men might have been heard to breathe a sigh of relief at the thought that they were within sight of their destination and would soon be relieved of the responsibility which was theirs—that of safeguarding Murrell and turning him over to the governor of the jail.

At St. Thomas a high-powered car was waiting them, and with Murrell handcuffed to one of the officers, the other sitting beside the chauffeur, the trio started on the last lap of a 3,000-mile journey. With but 20 miles to go, the time was not long before they had handed over their prisoner and received a receipt for his arrival.

The car containing the prisoner and officers, escorted by a second car containing two provincial officers from St. Thomas, drove up on Dundas street and stopped just west of the corner of Ridout.

Arrives at Jail.

As the car stopped Murrell could be seen casting a look of reflection at the building from which he and his brother William escaped two years ago.

Was he thinking of the possibility of making another and more successful escape this time, or was he wondering whether he would ever come out alive?

The thoughts which passed through his mind must have been dark, indeed, for not one word did he speak. No word of greeting or recognition for those who awaited him—the governor, sheriff, turnkeys, or guards. He walked into the massive building, still handcuffed to the officers in whose company he traversed the continent, and there the doors closed on him, not to open until he is placed on trial for his life in the courtroom upstairs.

Glad It Is Over.

"I'm glad that's over," one of the officers was heard to remark, as he came out of the jail and deposited his handcuffs and revolver belt in the motor which was waiting to carry them to the hotel where they will stay for a couple of days.

"So am I," replied the other, "Now for a good night's sleep."

"How did Murrell behave on the train?" asked an Advertiser representative.

"He was not the slightest bit of trouble. He seldom spoke, and did not appear to be worried, although he knew that he was in serious trouble. He seemed to take an interest in the journey and the places through which we passed. He was not a difficult prisoner to manage, and gave us absolutely no trouble. I guess he realized that it was no use."

"Did he eat well and seem to enjoy his meals?"

"Yes, he did. He has a good appetite, and in addition to this slept well at night, although, of course, one of us was constantly on guard. His slumbers were deep, and he rested well. The thought that he was being brought back to stand trial did not affect him in that way. Only or absorbed in deep thought." at times we would catch him brooding

Story of Crime.

More than two years ago—on April 1, 1921, to be exact—Murrell, with his brother William and two pals, Robert Ernest (Fat) Norton, and Henry Jack (Slim) Williams, entered the Melbourne branch of the Home Bank of Canada and ordered the staff to turn over the cash at the peril of their lives.

A slip of a girl employed in the institution brushed by the gruff intruders and summoned the villagers to aid. The bandit gang, their escape cut off by the poorly armed townsfolk, began shooting. In the battle which followed Russell Campbell, a young garage proprietor, and a veteran of the world war, was killed. In his body was found a .45 calibre bullet. Sidney Murrell claimed the only .45 calibre gun the desperadoes had carried. To his account the crime was charged.

Tied To Post.

The Murrell boys and Williams were found tied to a telephone post that day when London police arrived. Norton, alleged master mind of the gang, had escaped. He has since eluded the authorities. On the day of the slaying, the London police found the three gunmen in a state of nervous collapse, surrounded by a mob of hostile villagers.

Once safe behind prison bars the trio began to show signs of bravado, holding mock trials and "cracking jokes" with their guards.

They were committed for trial on the murder count.

Three weeks before their trial was scheduled the Murrells quarreled with Williams and forced Williams to leave their cell. A few days later, just after darkness fell, the brothers made a sensational escape from the jail, leaving only sawn bars as mute testimony of their resourcefulness.

Swallowed Up.

After they had jumped over the jail wall, with a good half hour's start on their pursuers, they seemed to have been swallowed by the earth.

Not until a few months ago was trace of either of them found. Then it was reported that Sidney was in jail in California. Finger print records cinched the identification. Then the jail-breaker admitted his identity.

After two years, he had been caught with a stolen auto he had purchased. Then he told of his escape from the jail, of his journey by freight to the Atlantic seaboard, his trip to the West Indies and finally of his venturing into the United States. He secured work in Nevada. His work, his battles in the ring under the name of "Kid" Brooks and his luck at cards, netted him a few hundred dollars. He bought a car. The auto proved his downfall.

Fought Extradition.

Desperately he fought extradition, and remained cheery until the order for his return to Canada arrived. The sight of provincial officers caused him to wilt.

Upon his brother he laid the blame for his plight.

"He is the only one who says I done it," he kept repeating, in referring to the Melbourne crime.

But William had not turned king's evidence. William could not be found. He is still as free from the hand of the law as the elusive "Fat" Norton. "Slim" Williams is in Kingston Penitentiary, a confessed gunman. He, too, will face a murder trial.

Placed in irons for the return home, Sidney Murrell assumed an attitude of complete resignation, which later grew into one of almost natural indifference. He ate well and slept well, and seemed to enjoy his trip thoroughly.

Older and Wiser.

Today Murrell is older and wiser. Although he has not lost in weight, the youthful bandit's eyes, once so bright and carefree, are dimmed by defeat. His spirit of bravado has deserted him. He has run the whole gamut of human emotion.

War aroused in him the worst desires, he claims. Perhaps it did. At any rate his life of crime seemed to feed this flame; final defeat has subdued it.

This morning Murrell is a meek man. He does not look the gunman of two years ago. He admits his wrong. Curbed by the law, he is waiting for the law to do what it will with him.

The law charges he is a slayer. The forces of the law are massing evidence to prove the terrible accusation.

PLACE LIFE OF MELBOUR NE BANDIT IN JEOPARDY.

These are the finger-prints of Sidney Ernest Murrell, which cinched his identification when he was arrested for having a stolen car in his possession at Susanville, California, a few months ago. These prints hastened his return to London jail, from which he escaped two years ago. Of all the evidence sent to warrant his return, none was more positive than this—mute testimony of a criminal past, pointing to him as the wanted man as surely as the hand of fate which overtook him.

brother of Sidney, now held in the London jail on a charge of murder. Sidney stated in a letter to his mother that he has not seen William since five days after their escape.

Mother Says She Is Glad Murrell Is Back In Prison After Officers' Long Hunt

"Is he back?"

These were the words which greeted The Advertiser as a reporter knocked at the door of the Murrell home, 219 Clarence street, shortly after midnight.

"Yes, they brought him in about an hour ago," replied the reporter.

"I am glad," declared his mother: "glad for my sake because I will be able to see my son again, but sorry for the boy because of what he must go through."

Mrs. Murrell seemed to know that Sidney would arrive in the city last night. She told The Advertiser that this was the reason she had not retired for the night and was waiting up. When told that she had been correct in her surmise and that her boy was sleeping peacefully in the county jail, the first question that arose to her mind was whether or not she would be able to see him today.

Wants To See Son.

In the hopes that she will be allowed to do so, she is going to ask permission of Governor Dawson.

"Surely they will have no objection," she said. "If he is locked up securely and guarded there will be no harm. All I want is to see him and hear him say, 'Mother.' Do you think they will mind?"

Telling The Advertiser that she had received two letters from Sidney while he had been under arrest in California Mrs. Murrell stated that the predominating expression in the missives had been one of desire to see his family again.

While the first letter had been more or less morose the second was more cheerful.

"Now that I know I will be taken back to London," wrote Sid, "I am not sorry. I will see you again and hear you. You don't know how I have longed for a sight of you and the old familiar places. But to think that I must go back under arrest, and shame you all! When I think of this side of it I wish I were dead or that I had never done the things I have.

Blames Self Alone.

"I am alone to blame for all that has happened. I don't want the people, neighbors, friends and citizens, to think I am what I am because I was not taught otherwise. All the blame is on me and I want everybody to know it. None attaches to you or dad.

"You ask me about Will? I have not seen him since four or five days after we escaped, and do not know where he is. I have not heard from him and do not know whether he is alive or dead."

Inclosed in the letters were some small snapshots taken of him before he was arrested.

Another regret expressed by Sidney was the fact that he was unable to "give his younger brother some hints about boxing." When he heard that he had won the garrison cup at Hamilton he wrote and said that he was sorry he could not help him out in his boxing.

Says Sid Easily Led.

When Mrs. Murrell was told that the officers said that Sid was a most tractable prisoner she replied that she knew he would be.

"Sid was always all right if handled properly. If a person knew how to go about it he could get Sid to do anything. Perhaps this was why he went bad."

"Good night, and thank you for coming to tell me," were her parting words.

INJURED IN CAR CRASH MAKE GOOD PROGRESS

Two Young Ladies Hurt In Sunday Night Accident Will Recover.

The two young ladies, Mildred Pope and Rose Wener, who were injured in the auto crash north of the city Sunday night, when the car driven by J. Thompson of 205 Queen's avenue collided with a telephone pole, and were subsequently taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, were reported last night as progressing favorably and having a good chance for an early recovery.

Through an error, the article in Monday's paper, dealing with this accident stated that the machine in question was owned by the Marley Taxi Service. This was incorrect, and A. J. Marley of this firm had no connection with the car.

PLATFORM COLLAPSES AT CHURCH BAZAAR

While Baby Show Is Being Judged People Are Precipitated To Ground.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, July 24.—While the baby show was being judged at the Catholic bazaar, now in progress on Terrace Hill, a raised platform, 4½ feet high, collapsed without warning, and carried the 20 or so people on it to the ground. Despite the fact that many of those on the structure were children, including a few infants-in-arms, none were seriously hurt. Among those on the platform at the time were: M. M. MacBride, M.P. for South Brant; Mayor F. W. Billo, V. Tracey, a member of the parks commission, and Mr. J. Ryan, editor of the Brant Herald.

THREE BADLY BURNED TRYING TO SAVE BARN

James McGinnis of Kelvin, Norfolk, Suffers Heavy Loss by Fire.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, July 24.—James McGinnis and his sons, James and Everett, farmers at Kelvin, Norfolk County, were severely burned about the arms, neck and legs, when trying to save implements from a fire which completely destroyed their barn today. With the exception of an automobile, all machinery was burned, and also the season's crop already stored. The loss to the owners is $3,500, and to the insurance company about $2,000. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Thousands Fight Forest Flames

Canadian Press Despatch.

Quebec, July 23.—Nearly 5,000 men are now engaged in fighting forest fires. With no improvement in the St. Maurice Valley district and a series of small fires reported in Lake St. John, Chicoutimi and Saguenay Counties, the situation is considered serious. The village of Escalane, which was menaced Sunday was saved, but fires are still raging in the vicinity. There are fires reported in the Matapedia Valley and others on the North Shore.

NEW INDUSTRY WILL COME TO WOODSTOCK

Textile Mills To Be Started By Concern From the United States.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, July 24.—A new industry, which gives promise of becoming an extensive one, is in sight for the city of Woodstock. Negotiations, which have been underway for some months for the purchase of the former plant of the Sterling Textile Co. by the La France Company of Philadelphia, have now reached a stage at which it can be stated with assurance that the deal is to be completed, and that the new company will at an early date take possession of the premises.

The La France Company is a well-known concern of the United States and does a large business in various kinds of tapestry goods. The proposition includes both spinning and weaving departments at the local plant, and it is understood that before operations commence a considerable amount of machinery will be brought to the factory and installed.

CRITICIZE RATE POLICY OF BANK OF ENGLAND

Businessmen Say It Will React On the Industrial Situation.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Eng., July 24.—The recent policy of the Bank of England in raising its discount rate apparently with a view to arresting the depreciation of the pound sterling as compared with the United States dollar is extensively criticized by the business community on the ground that, although such deflation is praiseworthy, it reacts greatly on the industrial situation, involving further fall in prices and consequent stagnation of trade and excessive unemployment.

The Federation of British Industries, which represents the great trading and business interests, has issued a manifesto emphasizing these views and urging the government to appoint a commission representing finance, industry, commerce and labor to review the whole position and make recommendations as to the future monetary policies.

LEAVE FRUIT TO ROT BECAUSE OF PRICES

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, July 24.—Informed by growers that cherries were being left to rot on the trees by some Niagara peninsula growers, owing to the poor prices and shortage of pickers, Controller Cal. Davis yesterday issued an appeal on behalf of the civic institutions.

The controller has asked fruit men who are not harvesting their crop to communicate with him. He has also requested Boy Scouts to pick the trees, and the fruit will be sent to the different homes. No difficulty will be experienced in arranging for the volunteers for this worthy work.

Leonard Retains Title When Tendler Weathers Champion's Last Round Onslaught

L. AND D.F.A. SET DATES FOR FINALS

NO PLENTY CUP

At a meeting of the L. and D. F. A. held last night it was decided that if the R. C. R. team is not back in the city by August 1 the St. Johns Rovers will be ordered to play the Maple Leafs in the semi-finals of the Free Press trophy competition, so that the finals between Sarnia Tunnel Citys and the winners of Maple Leafs and St. Johns Rovers' game may be completed before August 25.

It was also decided that if the R. C. R. team has not played St. Johns Rovers before August 1 in the Injured Players' Cup semi-final the Rovers will meet the Maple Leafs on that date at Springbank, kick-off at 6:15 p.m., in the final game.

There will be no Plenty Cup entry.

A ruling was received from the secretary of the O. F. A., stating that players of a club becoming defunct during a playing season may re-register with another club without paying transfer fee. The delegate to the O. F. A. gave his report of the last general meeting of that body.

Permission was granted the C. N. R. to play Stratford here Saturday, and Battle Creek will be here August 4. Both games will be played on the C. N. R. grounds.

The secretary of the association was authorized to get in touch with the secretary of the Brantford and District Association with a view to arranging a game between the two associations at some future date. Arrangements are being made to stage a game between Sarnia Tunnel Citys and Westminster Hospital. The game will be played at Springbank August 6, kick-off at 2 p.m.

SARNIA WILL SHAKE UP ITS LACROSSE TEAM

Special to The Advertiser.

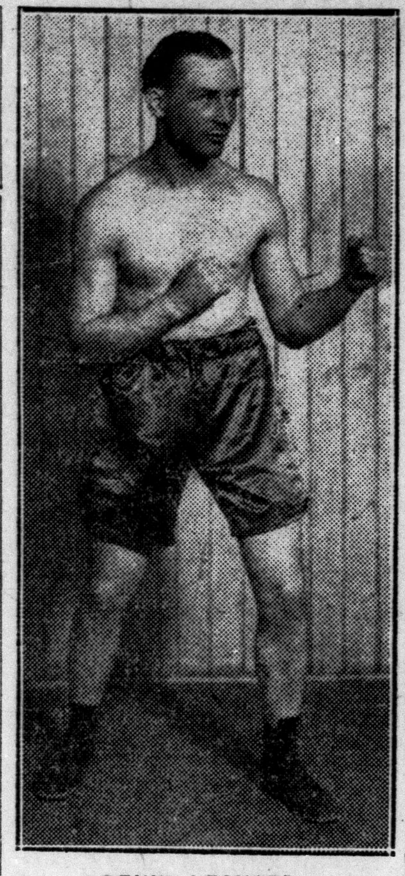

Sarnia, July 23.—Following last Saturday's unexpected defeat at the hands of the Wallaceburg intermediates here there will be a shakeup in the local lacrosse lineup for the return game in Wallaceburg a week from Thursday.

Manager Geo. Stephenson stated today that a new effort would be made to bring Elmer Ferguson out of his retirement to go into the nets, Russ McCallister being moved out to the center field position, one of the weak spots of the team. A hurry up call has been sent to Buffalo for Captain Norm Glintz to be back to hold down his old position at inside home, and there will likely be some juggling with the defence, which was not performing in all departments as it should. Practice will be held three nights this week, and the first three nights next week to prepare for the last stand of the locals against the surprising Wallaceburg team on its own grounds.

AWREY IS SUCCEEDED BY HUGHES AT QUEEN'S

Associated Press Despatch.

Kingston, Ont., July 23.—It was officially announced this afternoon by the athletic board of control of Queen's Universay that W. P. Hughes of Montreal had been appointed coach of Queen's football teams for this year.

Mr. Hughes, who has already accepted the position, coached Queen's senior team the latter part of last season after George Awrey, the then athletic director, was unable to attend to his duties on account of illness.

Down the Line In All Sports

A larger proportion of the local citizenry than has visited the suburb to the south for a couple of decades to witness a sporting event will be on hand to see tomorrow's renewal of the argument between the Saints and the local amateurs. The Saints showed a little bit of temper Saturday, and the locals put quite a bit more viciousness into their swings at the one-time more elusive "pill," as one of the more venerable sport writers in Guelph persists in calling the official ball. It is doubtful if the two mayors will be on speaking terms if this rivalry gets much keener.

* * * * *

"Uncle" Bill Moore's passing will be keenly felt by those connected with sport of any kind in London. He was always willing to help out in any way possible. He had created a little niche of his own in local sport, and the term "uncle" carried with it respect as well as affection for the familiar white-haired figure.

* * * * *

The United States have grabbed Conacher. In the more carefully-worded despatches, Conacher has decided to attend a Pittsburg college. Conacher only makes the latest addition to a long list of stars Canada developed and who were later induced to emigrate to the United States.

Jack Tait, in a long article this week, sought to show why Conacher could probably develop into another Thorpe. He had made a huge success of every game he had tackled, no matter how wide their diversity. Why not track athletics? Sure, why not?

* * * * *

However, the United States doesn't pick on Canada alone. Finland, Italy, Norway, Sweden—but spin your own atlas around to see where the rest of United States champions come from.

* * * * *

The O. A. B. A. ruling which puts the ban on professional coaches and makes them merely spectators at the games was brought home to London fans Saturday, when Gil Forgue, the local coach, was forbidden to direct the team in any way from his vantage point in a box near the local dugout. The presence of a coach on the bench would smarten up the teams' play a good deal. It doesn't help out a great deal to know that Forgue is not the type of professional coach the rule is aimed at.

A sigh of surprise murmurs through Kansas City, the western outpost of Missouri culture. A portrait of Jack Dempsey has been hung in the Kansas City Art Institute. It stands boldly forth between Spring Landscape and Indian Summer. The author, Alonzo V. Lewis of Seattle, values the painting at $2,000, or less than 1 per cent of what Jack got for fighting Gibbons.

The director of the art institute, Mr. Kurtzworth, confesses that when he saw the portrait his first impression was that "art was being degraded." He did not recall ever seeing a prize fighter artistically portrayed before. What shocking memories these art folks have! It is less than ten years since the Musee de Luxembourg was proud to acquire Charles Dana Gibson's picture of Jim Jeffries, entitled "The Champion." Jim in his silk hat, with a mob of admiring boys following him, is alone worth going to the Luxembourg to see.

After all, Mr. Kurtzworth confesses, "boxing is a man's game and a natural occupation." Not only natural, but ancient and therefore artistic. If Mr. Lewis has painted Epeus putting a cauliflower ear on Euryalus at Ilium—for details see Mr. Homer, the local McGeehan—the Kansas City critics would have said, "Isn't the past wonderful!" Mr. Dempsey is not the past, nor will he be unless Master Wills or Senor Firpo makes him so. He is the burly, opulent present, but he ought to be immortalized in oil; not boiling oil, as some persons in Montana might suggest, but the artistic, warm, glowing color medium.

The Kansas City Art Institute not only should keep Mr. Dempsey's portrait hanging on its walls, but should ask Mayor Jim Johnson of Shelby to write an appreciation of it. He knows about pictures of Jack. He paid $150,000 for a set.

TENDLER WAS HANGING ON DESPERATELY AS FINAL GONG RANG AFTER BEING OUTBOXED—SLUGGED BY CHAMP IN EVERY ROUND OF FIGHT WHICH DREW $500,000 GATE

Leonard Had Lew Almost Out in 13th—Receipts Record For Lightweight Fight.

By W. O. McGEEHAN.
Special to The Advertiser.

Ringside, Yankee Stadium, New York, July 24.—Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, outfought and outboxed Lew Tendler in every round of the fifteen at the Yankee Stadium last night. Some 70,000 customers paid over a half million dollars to see the bout. They took more punishment than either gladiators. The last round brought them to their feet cheering wildly as Leonard drove Tendler all over the ring. Tendler's face was a smear of blood. He had taken more punishment than Leonard ever delivered to any of his opponents so far, but he would not drop. Even in the last few seconds, standing on wobbly legs, he lashed a feeble right and left to the champion's face. If Tendler is the leading contender, as they say, the long reign of Benny Leonard as lightweight champion is not menaced to any extent. If the six years of defending the championship have worn Leonard down to any extent he did not show it last night. He was a better man than the Leonard who fought the same man at Boyle's Thirty Acres, but Tendler was not a better Tendler.

Outslugged Him, Too.

Leonard not only outfought the contender, but even beat him on those rare occasions when they stood up and slugged. The Leonard left had Tendler baffled from the very start. As the slow-thinking Philadelphian seemed to be contemplating shooting out a punch, Leonard would land two, and they stung. Had Tendler not been about the toughest of them all, he would have crumpled up before that rain of blows, first to the head and then to the body, and then back to the head again.

The huge nose of Tendler's, jutting out like a promontory, was red and bruised as the fight went on. Yet it always pointed at Leonard like the nose of a pointer, excepting when Leonard swung him around with rights or lefts to the chin. In the thirteenth round it looked as though Leonard would score with a knockout. A right to the jaw, followed by a left, staggered Tendler, and his knees shook beneath him. The Philadelphian, as he tottered, let go a long right swing. It missed, and Tendler slipped into the resin dust. There was a shout from Leonard's rooters in the bleachers. It looked as though Tendler had been knocked down, but the Philadelphian was up before a count could be started.

Last night Leonard looked more like a champion than he has looked for many fights. Of course, while Tendler is one of the toughest, he also is one of the most sluggish and the most awkward of the lightweights, if these two young men can be called lightweights.

The bout was too one-sided to be much of a spectacle. The customers, convinced at the start that there was not much logic in the contention of the logical contender, were waiting for someone to drop. Nobody did. There is no doubt that Leonard tried hard to oblige his followers in the seventh round, when they started to cry "Come on, Benny, let's go home!"

Leonard does not love his little business colleague, Lew. It seems that they quarrelled once over financial matters; consequently Benny appeared to be endeavoring most earnestly to knock him out. Once Leonard raised his hands in derision at his opponent at the end of a round. Busines rivals can become very bitter at times.

Leonard Pale.

When the first bell rang Leonard was pasty pale as ever, but his face became rosy as the bout progressed. Perhaps the range of the lamps permitted him to get some notion of the size of the house. The financial worries, which had him almost sick last year, disappeared into the night. Benny's share of last night's business deal will go in excess of $185,000. That should be enough to keep a lot of wolves away from the Leonard Harlem home.

Mr. Tendler of Philadelphia seemed not depressed to any extent. The worst that he got was $75,000, and that is more than Lew had collected at one time to date. Also, the return match seems inevitable. It will be staged for financial reasons, but not for artistic ones, for it was very clearly demonstrated last night that Leonard can beat Tendler fifteen rounds per night. He would do so if the customers would raise the $500,000 a night to pay for it.

It ended with great good humor. Tendler rushed out of his corner as Joe Humphries raised Leonard's hand to indicate what everybody knows, that the champion was still the champion.

"You are a great champion," said Tendler. "I congratulate you." He did not have the heart to add: "And you are a great financier." But that was understood between businessmen.

It might be that Leonard has lost some of the steam from his punches. Certainly, he hit Tendler hard enough and fairly enough to have staggered him. This was early in the bout, when Leonard was trying for an early knockout. At least, he seemed to be trying for one. After that, though, he became cautious, as though saving his hands, or as though content to win on points.

Leonard Not Shopworn.

But do not let anybody tell you that Leonard is stale or shopworn. That lightweight crown rested just as easily on his well-combed locks last night as it ever did during all the six years that he has worn it. It is quite likely that it will be there for many years to come.

Freddie Welsh, the champion from whom Leonard took the title, was a somewhat wistful spectator. The news that there was half a million dollars in the house seemed to depress the ex-champion. What Leonard got for that one bout last night is close to the sum total that Welsh earned in the ring during his long career as lightweight champion, for Mr. Welsh fought prior to the business age in pugilism.

"Public" Weighing.

The weighing-in of the gladiators, which was supposed to be public, was one of the most private public functions ever staged. It was first announced that the men would be weighed in Philadelphia at Jack O'Brien's gymnasium. At the last moment it was announced that the scene of the weighing had been changed at the request of Benny Leonard to the office of the Cromwell A. C., at No. 25 West 43rd street.

When the prospective spectators of the weighing reached this place they found the doors locked and James J. Johnston barring the entrance. "By request of Mr. Leonard the public weighing will be held in private," said Mr. Johnston.

Consequently Mr. Leonard somewhere in the recesses of the Cromwell A. C.'s private office stepped upon a set of magic scales, which gave his weight as 144 pounds. The same scales registered Tendler as being 133½ pounds. It is recommended that stout ladies and gentlemen who wish to reassure themselves weigh in on the same scales.

Present at the private weighings in ceremonies were Commissioners Dwyer and McCormick and Inspector Harry Hooke. When it was all over Mr. Hooke made his appearance and exclaimed in bland surprise to some newspapermen who were curious as to the tonnage of the gladiators, "Why didn't you let us know that you wanted to see the weighingZ The only other witnesses were Billy Gibson, manager for Benny Leonard, and Phil Glassman, manager for Lew Tendler.

You will recall that both Leonard and Tendler were in difficulties in making the weight for their last match at Boyle's Thirty Acres, and that the other "public" weighing was held in private. There were many complaints and rumors, but what is the matter of a couple of pounds between a couple of young businessmen, especially when both of them happen to be good old fashioned welterweights.

Benny Ate Heartily.

At the weighing-in Leonard attacked some chop, toast and with great relish, and then went to his home at 740 West End avenue to wait for the time of the fight. Tendler slipped away to the home of friends near the Yankee Stadium. Just before leaving Leonard said to his sister, Miss Syd Leinar, "Have two strawberry ice creams ready for me after the bout."

The customers began to swarm into the bleachers early, but the main gates were not thrown open until after 7 o'clock. For a while it looked as though the promoters had planned to hold the fight as well as the weighing-in, in secret. The first woman to enter the bleacher section was cheered, and male customers gallantly offered to give her their seats.

Harry Wills, the Senegambian stevedore, came in about 7:30 o'clock. He was recognized by the customers, and given a heartily welcome. Mr. Wills seemed a bit pensive over the story that Dempsey and Firpo had signed articles for a bout at the Polo grounds on or about Labor Day.

It sounded as though the patient Mr. Wills would have to go back to the Chelsea docks and move a lot more freight before he gets a crack at the world's championship.

By 8 o'clock the bleachers were fairly well stuffed with customers. The Bronx and Harlem delegations began to start some cheering for "Benneh." Buttonhole workers and collar button makers from other sections seemed to be fairly neutral. Both men had many friends in both of these industries.

There was a fair sprinkling of women patrons in the field seats, and many in the boxes in the lower stands. The subway was beginning to send the customers in streams by 8 o'clock, and the police had to clear jams at all entrances.

Inside there was perfect order in contrast to the confusion at Jersey City. The New York policeman with his stage whisper and his authoritative forefinger accomplished more than a fleet of Jersey police using lungs, fists and clubs.

Willard, sporting a jaunty gray fedora, came in at 8 o'clock and took a seat close to the ringside where Jack Skelly, who seconded him at his last appearance, was still bristling with indignation. Mr. Willard is merely an ex-fighter with a few hundred thousand in the bank and he looked extremely carefree last night.

Mr. Skelly, however, looked very sour every time he turned his head in the direction of his former protege.

Jack Kearns Arrives.

Mr. Jack Kearns, fresh from the last conference, came in shortly after Willard. Financial cares have ploughed no furrows upon the smooth brow of Dempsey's manager. He is a glutton for conferences and will step into another conference in the morning, he said. The financial outlook, Mr. Kearns said, was bright as far as he was concerned, despite the reported depression in the stock market.

Joseph Humphries climbed into the ring at 8:15 and announced that the judges for the evening would be Kid McPharland and Charles F. Mathison. The lights flared on and the preliminary boys started to clutter up the ring.

The place was thick with last-minute rumors. There are plenty of these before any championship fight, but last night there was nothing but flocks of rumors floating through the still evening air. Because of this the crowd seemed a bit depressed at first. They came rather in the mood to view this second meeting of the two young gladiators with considerable suspicion.

All of this time the customers continued to filter in until the three tiers of seats in the grandstand were fairly well filled. The bleachers with the exception of one expensive plot, were crowded with steerage passengers.

Gushers at figures said there were at lease 60,000 in the place at half past eight.

The first sign of blood appeared in the curtain raiser when Mike Canocrow split the lip of Jimmy Stewart of Brooklyn. Michael handled Jimmy rather roughly for four rounds and easily earned the decision.

Jack Zivic of Bridgeport and Johnny Darcy from Jersey furnished the material for the semi-final. By this time all of the customers seemed to be located somewhere and the guessing contest as to the contents of the house was on. Some of the optimists estimated the box office up to $700,000 or better, as. Johnson, the boy bandit, refused to commit himself on the figure. Finally Mr. Johnson hazarded the estimated that the gate would go a half a million. Of this Leonard would receive $185,000 or 35 per cent, while Tendler would receive $75,000 or 15 per cent, the largest sums ever paid to lightweights in the history of the boxing game.

The bout between Zivic and Darcy was a stubborn affair. Zivic hit the cleaner blows, but that stubborn young man from across the river seemed to be able to take them all and come back. The bout dragged until long past ten and the hour set for the main event. The crowd in the bleachers started some impromptu choral singing while the bout was on and clamored for the two young businessmen to come and start the main event. Zivic was given the decision.

Tendler entered the ring first clad in a brown bathrobe with a towel around his neck. Hardly had he seated himself when a ringing cheer greeted the appearance of Leonard. Leonard wore a chintz bath towel around his shoulder. Benny stepped to the center of the ring and waved his hand to his admirers. Soon the ring was cluttered up with photographers. With a serious face Joe Humphries announced Leonard's weight at 134 and the weight of Tendler 133½. Tendler pawed nervously at the resin with his feet. Several times he rinsed his mouth with water. Leonard, of course, received the bulk of the cheering, but Tendler was given a round of applause when introduced. As the men stripped Tendler appeared in black trunks. Leonard wore dark purple trunks. Leonard came out of his corner and danced around the Philadephian.

Round By Round Struggle Of Poor Youths To Fortune

Round One.

They came together slowly, sparring. Tendler missed a right lead. They clinched lightly. Leonard landed a light left to the jaw and took a left to the jaw. Tendler backed away from Leonard's lead and the crowd roared. Leonard backed slowly to the ropes, avoiding Tendler's rush. They clinched in a neutral corner, moved out into the center and clinched again. Tendler sent his left into the champion's ribs, but did little damage. They exchanged body blows in a clinch. Tendler drove Leonard into his own corner with overhand lefts to the jaw and the crowd grew excited. Leonard landed two light left jabs to the face. Tendler rushed in again. The champion clinched. They were squaring away when the bell rang. Both men took it easy.

Round Two.

Tendler continued to lead, lashing out a right to the jaw. The champion fell into a clinch. They had a light exchange and clinched again. Tendler rushed into Leonard's arm and took an overhand to the jaw. Tendler rushed again, but Leonard grabbed him with his right hand and sent a volley of solid lefts to the jaw. Tendler drove the champion to the ropes, where they had a furious exchange to the challenger's advantage. Leonard jabbed stiffly with his left and crossed two hard blows with his left to the jaw. He then resumed the defensive, meeting Tendler's next rush with a stiff right to the head. He then caught Tendler with a left jab and pounded him with his right. Tendler walked into a trap in a neutral corner, taking blows from both hands when Leonard laced out.

It was a fast round.

Round Three.

They sparred in the center of the ring, Tendler again taking the lead at Leonard's pleasure. They had a furious exchange of body blows, moved to the center of the ring and clinched. Tendler led again, catching Leonard with his deadly left, pounding him with his left, which he moved in a horizontal crossfire from belt to head and back again. In the next exchange the champion fared better, landing short right uppercuts. Leonard caught Tendler with a hard right jolt to the jaw and sent him spinning to the ropes, but remained cautious. Tendler landed a light right and a hard left to the jaw, and the champion sunk a right into Tendler's midriff. They clinched. Leonard clinched on Tendler's rush. Ben stepped back, landed two hard rights to the body and hooked two lefts to the head. That was how the round ended.

Round Four.

Tendler led with a right, but was short. Leonard retaliated with his left, sending two long uppercuts to the jaw. They did considerable dancing, then Leonard jolted Tendler with a left hook to the jaw and repeated. Leonard landed twice heavily to the head in a clinch and then soaked Tendler in the left eye. Tendler landed two hard lefts to the head and then was caught with his back to the champion, who reached around and curved his right into the challenger's body. Leonard sent two short rights to the body that hurt. They exchanged lightly to the body in a clinch. Tendler left-hooked the champion's jaw and then shot a right below the heart and was short with two rights. Leonard caught the challenger with two stiff rights to the jaw before the bell, stopping the challenger's rush. Tendler's seconds showered him with water when he came to his corner, and the champion listened calmly to his advisers' advice.

Round Five.

Leonard met Tendler's rush and they exchanged evenly, moving to a neutral corner, where they clinched. Leonard was getting much the better of the clinches now, shooting both hands to Tendler's jaw and then crossing both hands to the jaw when they separated. They clinched tightly and then Leonard speared ineffectively with his left. Leonard sunk a right to Tendler's jaw and then whipped two uppercuts to the jaw. Tendler landed a left to the mouth and then hooked his left to the breast. The champion jabbed expertly with his left, which bothered Tendler, who missed and ran away. Tendler caught Leonard with a hard left to the belt and then took a left cross to the head. They rushed into a stiff body exchange just as the bell rang.

Round Six.

The majority of experts agreed that the champion was leading by a comfortable margin at this stage. They met in the center and clinched. Leonard hooking a left to the jaw a moment later. They danced around. Tendler's right was short and Leonard slashed him with a left to the head as they clinched. Then the champion whipped his right to the body and bothered Tendler with a left jab. Leonard had much the better of a clinch, sending both hands to the jaw. Leonard backed to the ropes for a rest and stepped aside when Tendler moved up, allowing the latter to slip through the ropes. When the latter regained his equilibrium they shook hands in the center of the ring. Leonard sent solid rights to the jaw, the body and to the jaw again, and had no difficulty in avoiding Tendler's left lead. The champ appeared the least worried as they backed away from a light exchange in answer to the gong.

Round Seven.

They sparred for a second after the bell, and then both fell away. Leonard gave an opening and Tendler rushed in with a light left to the jaw. Tendler relaxed for a moment and Leonard whipped out two rights to the jaw. Tendler turned away and Leonard whipped two rights to his exposed body. Leonard dug his right under Tendler's ribs. They exchanged lightly, and when they came together Leonard sunk two more hard rights just above the belt line. Tendler again walked into the neutral corner trap, where he was caught with a two-handed attack to the head. Tendler, who was making a poor showing, fell back against the ropes and Leonard used both hands to the jaw some more. They sparred lightly and were boxing when the bell rang.

Roung Eight.

Tendler's manager used force in his talk during the intermissiion for the champion had a wide margin by now. Evidently Tendler took the advice, for he rushed twice into the lead, but his accuracy was as poor as before, and Leonard took a respite. The referee cautioned Tendler for using the rabbit punch. They danced around.

Leonard caught Tendler with hard rights to the jaw and sent in a few more when Tendler clinched. Tendler landed two short uppercuts and then took two body blows. Tendler punched the champion's kidneys. Tendler sent a terrific right into the stomach that gave a resounding plump. Leonard jabbed with his right. Leonard caught Tendler with three right crosses in the champion's corner, and the challenger appeared worried when the bell rang.

Round Nine.

Tendler's handlers kneaded his muscles, and Leonard's continued to offer advice. Tendler landed lightly with his right. They sparred around the ring and then clinched. Leonard's left was bothering and Tendler clinched. Tendler walked into a straight left and then was cautioned for hitting low with the same hand. The champion blocked him effectively in two clinches. Tendler walked into Leonard's stiff jolts and the champion crossed and hooked. Tendler became more inaccurate and missed with his left again. He fell partly through the ropes. Leonard pounded Tendler's body with his right and then forced the challenger away by sending the same hand to the jaw. Leonard jabbed Tendler sharply with his right. Leonard pounded some more at the body. They were separated at the bell.

Round Ten.

The champion revolved around the challenger, who stood in the center of the ring. Leonard backed into a neutral corner, and landed swiftly two hard rights to the head. Leonard missed a short straight uppercut. They clinched. Leonard easily ducked Tendler's advance and stopped his next sally by holding out his left hand. Tendler was again unsuccessful in trying to break through Leonard's defence, stopping more jabs and falling into a clinch. Leonard right-hooked and a right uppercut to the jaw in close quarters. They sparred. Leonard smashed Tendler on the jaw with a hard right, and they were sparring when the round ended.

Round Eleven.

They stood in the center of the ring and again the champion danced around his opponent. Tendler fell into a clinch. Leonard uppercut with his left and hooked with his right. Tendler caught the champ and hooked his left to the body. They clinched. They boxed and danced about. Then they sparred, then Leonard laced out with his left and absorbed. Tendler's advance with a clinch. They exchanged short body blows. They backed away and did it again. Another similar exchange was followed by light sparring. Leonard stopped Tendler's next advance by sticking his left under Tendler's armpit, pushing him partly to the floor. The crowd laughed and whistled at Tendler's inability to get beyond Leonard's left jabs with which he protected his wide lead. Tendler walked disgustedly as the bell rang.

Round Twelve.

They sparred cleverly. They clinched. They locked their left arms and exchanged rights to the body. Tendler was short four times with an overhand right. Tendler landed a light left, two light rights and another light left. Tendler stopped short and punched his adversary's head with his right and then allowed him to clinch. Leonard was having a lot of fun with his left jab, but he was serious enough. Leonard speedily countered Tendler's advance wth a right to the head, but was unable to land an uppercut in a clinch. Tendler's nose was trying to bleed. They clinched They were sparring when the bell stopped them.

Round Thirteen.

Tendler's handlers were excited and doused newspaper in their corner with water. The fighters walked into a clinch. Leonard hooked with his left and then hooked harder with his right to the jaw. He smashed Tendler's mouth with a battering right. Leonard uppercut sharply with his right, then pushed Tendler away. They clinched continually. Leonard whipped a right to the chest and they clinched. Tendler ducked two easy rights and then fell against the ropes for an opportunity to rub his nose. Leonard hooked two hard rights to the head. He then sent a hard right to the jaw and then a hard left. He smashed lefts to the body which sent Tendler to the floor. The champion sprang to this advantage like a cat, but it was a question of whether Tendler slipped. When Tendler stood up he had time to rub off his gloves on his pants. Leonard sprang at him punching to both body and jaw, and Tendler fought back. One of his blows was low and Leonard objected to the referee. The bell rang then and Leonard's manager stepped into the ring protesting.

Round Fourteen.

They clinched. Leonard led lightly with a right. They clinched. Leonard pushed Tendler away. Tendler landed a left to the kidneys in a clinch. Leonard drove both fists to the body in a short clinch. They sparred. Tendler was short with a lead, and as the momentum spun him around, Leonard hit him up with his right hand. They boxed around and then Leonard landed stiff blows to the head. Tendler appeared slightly groggy and the champion was anxious for a knockout. Tendler covered his face with his two fists while Leonard flailed him briefly. Leonard send a short right uppercut to the jaw and then went into his body action. He whipped out his right like a piston. He landed it and then crossed with his left. Leonard was punching when the bell stopped him.

Round Fifteen.

C.N.R. TRANS. DEFEATED IN EXHIBITION TILT

Scott-McHale Fail To Field Team For Scheduled Game.

When Scott-McHaies failed to field a team for their scheduled Manufacturers' League game with the C. N. Trans. last night, by a bona fide agreement it was decided to forfeit the game to C. N. Trans. and to play an exhibition. Scott-McHales triumphed by an 8 to 6 score.

The shoemen gathered half their total in the second, added one in the third, and notched three more in the fourth, while the transportation tossers piled up their entire collection in the third. Russell held the C. N. batters to seven hits, while his support fell on Andrews and Fagan for thirteen pokes.

Fifty-Two Rinks Get Started Away In W. O. B. A.'s Big Bowling Classic At Kitchener

Most Local Rinks Defeated In Early Stages of the Play

Ed. Weld's Four Survive First Round, First Event—Many Old Favorites Go Down.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, July 23. — Not one of the fifty-two rinks entered in the 28th annual tourney of the Western Ontario Bowling Association being held here today failed to put in an appearance. The bowlers were welcomed by the mayor, and play was commenced at 1:30 and continued until 9 p.m. tonight when the annual meeting of the association was held in the Kitchener and Waterloo Y. M. C. A.

The play was held on the greens of the Kitchener-Waterloo and Mutual Life Clubs, and there were many games which were exceedingly close, and the last bowl several times entirely changed the complexion of things.

Play is for the Free Press Trophy, the Tecumseh Trophy and the Turnbull Trophy, and will be resumed tomorrow morning at 9. The finals for the Free Press Trophy will be reached in the afternoon, weather permitting, and the final of the Tecumseh Trophy will be played tomorrow night.

Today the sky was slightly overcast, but otherwise conditions were ideal.

INDIANS ARE ON YANKEES' HEELS

Reds Challenge Giants Who Have Weedy Row To Hoe.

By JOHN B. F. FOSTER.
Copyright.

New York, July 23.—The significance of the Major League races between the first week of July and mid-season is not that New York is seriously challenged in the American League race, but that Cleveland probably is as good as anything in the American next to New York, thereby bearing out the spring forecast in which the Indians were reported to be the most dangerous team training in the south. plainly a challenger of the Giants. They

In the National League Cincinnati is have much in their favor. The Giants open their second western trip in Chicago next Thursday. Then they go to Pittsburg, after that to Cincinnati and wind up with five games in St. Louis, something not to be relished at this season of the year. If the Reds can splurge on their own grounds with a pitching staff that is probably better than that of New York, they are in such a position now that by August 15 they can lead in the National. But if they fail—if they crumple and collapse—they are not so certain to come back.

Ohio took most of the honors while the western teams in the National were dallying on the Atlantic Coast line and the Eastern teams of the American were playing in the west. Cincinnati jumped into second place in the National and gained 40 points. Cleveland gripped second place in the American, and its gain was so near that of the Reds that they are entitled to as much credit as their rivals down in Hamilton county. The Giants were the greatest losers in percentage. No team among the leaders were thumped harder than the world's champions. They know it too, they lost about 30 points in percentage which pulled them down to a point where they were seriously threatened with loss of the lead.

In 1922 the Giants were under .600 and still won the championship, a point which those who think the champions did not drop below the .600 horizon would do well to bear in mind. When a team gets below .600 it usually is slipping, or the race is one of those keen affairs in which a team cannot win two-thirds of its games.

Pittsburg lost almost as much as the Giants in points and—in other ways they lost more. They dropped out of second place, which was a severe loss to a team which appeared to be faster in the spring than the Reds. The Pirates are not getting the pitching they expected, nor are they getting all they need on the infield. They realize it quite fully. If Carey wants to be a member of a championship team in Pittsburg he will have to load his fellow players with a great deal more enthusiasm than they showed in the east. They are under par in pep.

The Philadelphia Athletics did not lose so much in percentage an their western trip as they did in pride. Cleveland helped to put the heavy weights on Philadelphia.

MARCONIS TRAMPLE ST. MARTINS IN C.A.A.

Take Second Series Opener Easily By 15—5 Score.

Marconis combed W. Clarke for 11 bingles, and managed to canter across the platter an even 15 times in the second series opener of the C. A. A. A. League at Sunshine Park last night. The score was 15 to 5.

St. Martins demonstrated all the ways known in balldom for making bobbles and invested some samples of their own to help along the topheavy score. In all they made nine errors. Had they played airtight ball, the eleven safe hits would not likely have produced such a top-heavy score.

Pete Clarke's willow was behind the only extra base wallop the south siders delivered, and he completed the circuit on the drive. M. J. Sansone had a triple, and J. Sansone, Mike Sansone and T. Mascara each furnished a double.

The box score:

NO CONFIMATION OF CONACHER'S DEPARTURE

The Toronto Star says:

The morning paper report that Lionel Conacher, Canada's greatest athlete, has definitely decided to enter Pittsburg University could not be confirmed this morning.

"Conny" is out of town for the week-end, but will be back in the city this afternoon.

Harris Ardill, Conacher's friend and confidant, stated to the Star that nothing definite has been done as yet in regard to the matter. It has been reported several times that he was to go to the Pittsburg University in the fall, and just as often denied.

Mr. Ardill says that owing to business reasons he will not manage the Argonaut football club this fall.

R. H. THOMPSON.

He is secretary of the Hamilton Collegiate Track Club. He is entering the 440 and 880 yards in the Ontario track and field meet to be held here on August 4.

AUSTRALIA MAKES OLYMPIC GRANT WITH STRINGS.

Associated Press Despatch.

Melbourne, Australia, July 23.—The government of the Australian Commonwealth has agreed to contribute £3,000 towards meeting the expenses of the team that is to represent Australia at the Olympia on condition that the managing committee which has the matter in hand shall raise an additional £7,000.

FINISHES 77-HOUR IN CAR-DRIVING MARATHON

"Daredevil" Lockwood Engaged In Attempt To Break Own Record.

Special to The Advertiser.

Detroit, July 23.—"Daredevil" Lockwood, who is striving to bring a record for long distance motor car driving to Detroit at 6:15 o'clock this evening, had finished his 77th hour of a continuous vigil at the wheel of a touring car which he is piloting about the city.

This morning Lockwood showed signs of weakening, but quickly responded to treatment and continued his long grind, apparently as strong as ever.

Lockwood, who earned his title by accomplishing such little tasks as jumping from one aeroplane to another while in midair, climbing Woolworth building in New York, and the Dime Bank building in this city, stands to win $2,000 from the D. A. C. garage if he is successful in driving continuously for 115 hours.

The present record for long distance driving is held by Lockwood, who managed to last through 112 hours of the terrific grind a short time ago in Indianapolis.

Lockwood started at the City Hall Friday at 11 p.m.. His left arm was chained and handcuffed to the steering column and the handcuff was sealed by W. S. Galbraith, manager of the Detroit Automobile Club. A trained nurse is in constant attendance, and he is also examined by a physician at frequent intervals. At no time, however, is he permitted to stop the car regardless of cause and he is compelled to submit to physician's examination, take nourishment, add fuel to gasoline tank or the car, as well as oil and water, while on the fly.

Food and water must, of course, be carried in the car at all times, but unlike the marathon dancing which held sway last spring, the driver is permitted no rest throughout the run, because of this, it is stated that he must be especially careful of his diet, and a list of foods was prescribed for him by one of the dietitians in a local hospital.

If he succeeds in breaking the existing record he will finish his trip at 9:15 on Wednesday morning in front of the City Hall.

Criqui-Dundee Both Set To Go

New York, July 23.—Eugene Criqui of France, featherweight champion, and Johnny Dundee of New York, who are matched for a 15-round title bout at the Polo Grounds Thursday night, practically finished their training today. Both are now under the 126 pound limit and will have light workouts only during the next few days to keep on edge.

MELBOURNE GIRLS DEFEAT EKFRID SOFTBALLERS

Special to The Advertiser.

Melbourne, July 23. — Melbourne girls' softball team defeated the Ekfrid girls in an exciting game, 31 to 28. The lineup of the Melbourne team was as follows: Misses Perry, McNabb, Seabourne, Laing, McGugan, Flitchu, Carruthers, McNabb, and McGugan.

Recently, the local men's baseball team sent the Delaware tossers home with the light end of a 13 to 7 decision.

A. A. Langford Elected President At Annual Meeting Last Night.

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, July 23. — At the annual meeting of the Western Ontario Lawn Bowling Association held late tonight A. A. Langford of London was elected president for the ensuing year.

The other officers elected were as follows: Patrons, Sir John Willison, Toronto; R. B. Rice, Toronto; E. Weld, London; honorary president, J. H. Saddington, Chatham; first vice-president, R. Seldon, Exeter; second vice-president, N. Cornwall, Walkerville; secretary-treasurer, C. K. Bluett, London; auditors, Gilbert Coombs, London; John Lochead, London; and representatives to the Dominion Lawn Bowling Association, Sam Collett, Toronto; Dr. L. Robertson, Stratford; Andrew Laing, London; W. J. Ashplant, London; A. A. Langford, London; R. Seldon, Exeter, and N. Cornwall, Walkerville.

There was some discussion about the length of the games at the annual tourney, and it was finally decided that all games in the trophies series should in future be eighteen ends instead of fifteen with twenty-one ends to be played in all final games.

SOUTHAMPTON DEFEATS PORT ELGIN STICK MEN

| | Won. | Lost. |
|---|---|---|
| Southampton | 2 | 3 |
| Hanover | 1 | 1 |
| Port Elgin | 0 | 2 |

Special to The Advertiser.

Southampton, July 23. — Southampton defeated Port Elgin by a score of 10 to 2 in an Intermediate O. A. L. A. fixture here Saturday.

The locals are playing a nice brand of lacrosse this season, and they have a fair chance of winning the group title.

Southampton (10) — Goal, Treiford; point, McLellan; cover, Lee; first defence, McVittie; second defence, Tooke; centre, Mickel; first home, Watt; second home, McPhail; inside, Bowers; outside, Scott; spares, Montgomery, Schular, Buckley.

Referee—Wilson of Orangeville.

BALL COMMITTEE REGRETS LOCAL SPORTSMAN'S DEATH

The L. A. A. A. baseball subcommittee at its regular weekly meeting yesterday afternoon expressed unanimous regret at the loss London sport has sustained in the death of William (Uncle Bill) Moore, and voted a suitable floral offering.

The meeting was a brief one, consisting of the reading of reports. The coming game at St. Thomas tomorrow was discussed in an informal way.

The team was sent through a snappy drill at Tecumseh Park last night, and looks in every way capable of repeating the dose they spoon-fed the Saints here last Saturday.

STRATHROY BEATS FERNHILL IN SPECIAL SERIES OPENER

Special to The Advertiser.

Strathroy, July 23.—Strathroy defeated Parkhill last night at Fernhill in the first of a special series to decide the championship of the Central Middlesex League by a score of 9 to 8. Carr started for Strathroy, but was replaced in the second frame by Greenwood, who held the Fernhill batters to four scattered hits. The win gives Greenwood a record of four wins in four starts.

Score by innings:

| | | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Strathroy | 300 100 23— | 9 | 10 | 3 |
| Fernhill | 050 000 12— | 8 | 8 | 3 |

O.B.A.A. TO HEAR GRAHAM CASE AGAIN THURSDAY

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, July 23.—The G. A. A. A's reapplication for a certificate for catcher "Buck" Graham, new manager of the Terriers, will come before the O. B. A. A. executive at a meeting in Toronto on Thursday. The local baseball authorities hope to show the powers that be, that Graham's absence of a month from the city was not a breach of the continuous residence rule.

Little Lessons In Golf

BY CHESTER G. HORTON,
Nationally Known Golf Instructor.

What I call the flat swing in golf is, I think, the best swing for the average run of golfers. The following will give you an idea of it:

Stand with your club facing the ball. I will assume that you have finished your address and are at the instant of beginning the stroke. Have the left arm straight down and extended out, say, eight inches from your body. Now start your hands over toward your right leg, and be sure that the clubhead travels with your hands. The clubhead must not lead in this beginning movement. As your hands come about even with your right leg, shift your weight to your right heel, begin a wrist-turning movement to the right and sweep the clubhead around back of you, but do not lift it up. Instead, let your inclination be to press down with your left shoulder. Press your left shoulder still further down as your left knee bends in, so that there is nothing left for the clubhead to do but go around back of you and over your right shoulder. Keep the left arm straight and don't loosen your grip on the shaft with either hand. This whole movement is a left hand, left arm and left shoulder movement of the clubhead. If you get the clubhead up in that way you won't need to be concerned about bringing it down.

No Pitching Selections Made Yet—Saints Have Few Surprises.

There are no signs in the ether that the heavy seas in which the battered Saints have been swept from their moorings are in any degree abating. The bluff behind which they were confident in their shelter has been tunnelled, blasted and swept aside, and they are a worried crew.

Saturday's beating over the river dropped the Saints into a tail-end tie. Tomorrow the locals intend to make their invasion of the Flower City the occasion for still greater greasing of the skids. Tomorrow night the Saints may hold a clear deed to the S. O. League backyard.

Woodstock's trimming of Stratford was not such a surprise, even considering the fact that the Bards are showing class. Woodstock at the getaway had one bad fault, a fault that consistently threw away games after they had almost nailed them down, and that was their tendency to blow up for just one inning. They're playing nine-inning games now, and packing each frame with nice ball.

SAINTS HAVE SURPRISE.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 23.—The St. Thomas O. B. A. A. baseball team staged a lively practice at Pinafore Park tonight in preparation for the coming scheduled fixture here Wednesday against London. The Forest City aggregation will have to battle every inch of the way, as the local lads are feeling in the pink of condition and prepared to get revenge on their own ball lot.

The homesters are suffering a batting slump, as well as a general disinclination to win ball games, but a great revival is expected this week. The Londoners feel that they are on the way to win the title of the third series, but will receive a setback when they come against Saints Wednesday. There will be several changes in the line-up, which will not be made public until the day of the game, Wednesday.

FIRPO TO FIGHT IN OMAHA.

Associated Press Despatch.

Omaha, Neb., July 23.—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine fighter, who recently conquered Jess Willard, will fight here August 3, according to an announcement today by Francisco (Pat) Boyle, Omaha fight promoter, in a ten-round decision bout. His opponent has not been selected, but probably will be Floyd Johnson, Iowa fighter; Homer Smith or Hughie Walker, Boyle said.

Tecs Open Stay At Home Today

Mackey's Braves, after sojourning in Michigan for quite a spell, brought Muskegon back with them to start a short home stay here this afternoon.

The London directors, launching a sweep for players, have been cheered on by the fact that the Tecs won seven out of the eleven games played during the road trip. Pitcher Delman, from Sioux City, reported yesterday morning, the first of some new arrivals promised.

PLAY ROOKIES.

Westminster Hospital regulars play the rookies on the hospital grounds tonight. Kick-off will be at 6:30 p.m. All the regular players are requested to be on hand for this game.

The Rookies team will be—Wheatley or Bellenger, goal; Mair and Simmons, backs; Higgins, Dr. Home and Dr. Nichol, halfbacks; Lewis, Warden and Currie, Willis and Wallace.

Terry Has Her First Ride In a Rolls-Royce and Other "Grown-Up" Experiences

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Teresa Desmond (Terry), a beautiful imaginative child who worships

Juliet Divine, the stage name of her half-sister. She rides in a gorgeous car and talks of a millionaire,

Terrence Desmond, their father, quick-tempered and unreliable, was formerly a caretaker of a Long Island estate. Forced to leave the estate through an escapade of Terry's, he opened a roadhouse called The Blue Moon, with money advanced to him by

Betty Sheen, her spoiled, young granddaughter, whose rudeness to Terry, at Silverwood, the latter will never forget, is engaged to

Miles Sheridan, a handsome, likable, young chap. His car breaks down at the door of The Blue Moon, and he meets Terry. Delighted with the child's charm and anxious to atone for his fiancee's past rudeness, supplies the wherewithal to send Terry to a convent for the next seven years.

While at the convent, Terry receives word that her mother has died.

Eustace Nazlo, a wealthy patron of the Blue Moon, is impressed by Terry's resemblance to Juliet Divine, whom he refers to as the Million Dollar Doll.

CINDERELLA AND A ROLLS-ROYCE.

Terry spoke for the first time.

"What's a million-dollar doll?" she asked, turning to her father with a faint impulse of anger; because it was Julie to whom the man gave what sounded like an impertinent nickname.

Nazlo laughed. "Let me answer, Mr. Desmond, with another question! Did they teach you mythology—ancient legends of my native land—Greece—at your convent?"

"No, they didn't," the girl said. "But there was a child's mythology book, with lots of pictures, in the school library. I read it."

"Ah! Do you remember Danae?"

"Go up top of the class! Well, a million-dollar doll's a Danae of today, who wouldn't be at home to Jupiter or any other god unless he brought a shower of gold—and some perfectly good pearls, diamonds and sables thrown in. Now do you understand?"

"No, I don't," said Terry, shortly. She felt hurt and bewildered, but father made no open attempt to defend Julia.

His ears were red, as always when he was angry, but Mr. Nazlo couldn't know that. Besides, Nazlo was looking at her.

"Just as well you don't understand," he smiled. "It's refreshing to meet innocence, these days. Mr. Desmond, your daughter ought to see something of the world, don't you think? Seems to me you're wrong to keep her cooped up here, when she might be enjoying life. She'll be young only once."

Terry expected her father to hint that his daughter was his own business, but he accepted the advice in the jovial manner in which it was offered.

"I wanted the girl to learn business, and prove the stuff she was made of," he explained. "I don't mean to keep her nose to the grindstone very long."

As a matter of fact, Desmond was furious with Nazlo. If he could have obeyed his impulse, he would have thrown the man out of the restaurant for his sneering description of Julia.

But he—Desmond—was supposed to have no special interest in Miss Divine. He had even pretended not to know that she had come back from Europe, and it vexed him that Terry should hear the news.

Now that this startling likeness had developed, it was not wise for Julia to show herself at the Blue Moon.

She loved her father, but she had risen high in her own world, and cared less than ever to be identified as a roadside innkeeper's daughter. She had invented a legend of her own origin, and wished to stick to it.

As for Terrence, he had thrown over his "old-fashioned prejudices" in the days of Tom Perrin, to whom he owed his change of luck. Perhaps most of those prejudices had dissolved, like Cleopatra's pearl, in wine. At all events they were gone; and whatever Jule did was right.

Terrence had made further concessions to life, in the grand manner. For instance, in the case of millionaires like Nazlo, you kept your temper, up to the limit and down the other side. Such magnates could buy and sell you a hundred times over.

If you were stiff-backed you showed yourself a fool. You never knew what these fellows might do for you, if you flattered them. Besides, there was this girl, Teresa, to get off your hands.

Terrence hadn't made his daughter cashier because he needed her help in the restaurant. He could easily have engaged a young woman already trained, for the job. He had put Terry where she was, in order that she might be seen.

Almost reluctantly he admitted to himself (it seemed disloyalty) that the girl was as pretty as Jule. Besides, she was ten years younger. He thought that some rich chap was sure to take a fancy to the little cashier, and might even marry her.

But he'd never expected to land such a big fish as Eustace Nazlo, the Shoe King. Nazlo was a very different type from the other young men, middle-aged, or old, who had been "caught" since her home-coming by Terry's red hair, and the big eyes that looked black, but were hazel or violet.

Those chaps had been "Johnnies"—common or garden Johnnies; and he could hardly have forced a "convent kid" to "cotton" to any of them, even had their intentions been serious, which so far, apparently, was not the case. But Nazlo was a man of brains, a Napoleon of business, who had started with nothing, and before the war was on his way to becoming a millionaire.

During the war he had reached the million mark. Everybody knew his name. His Rolls-Royce was in the garage at this minute, making every other car "look like thirty cents." Even Terry might have heard of him. But, it seemed, she hadn't.

Instead of annoying Nazlo, however, the girl's ignorance amused and pleased him. It proved as well as anything could that the "story of her life" wasn't a fairy tale. No girl of her class, except a convent girl, would treat him with such indifference.

"My advice is, get another cashier immediately if not sooner," said Nazlo, "and release this young lady from prison. Do you like motoring, Miss Desmond? If you do, you might enjoy a spin in my Rolls-Royce."

Terry blushed. She had not changed much at heart since the days at Silverwood, when she played the game of "let's pretend." "I've never been in an automobile," her thought spoke itself.

Poor WOMEN!
All their lives they are being told
"Keep to the RIGHT!"
Which is quite enough
To make them all want
To go to the LEFT.
But no!
Their MOTHERS tell them.
The PREACHER warns them.
The STREET SIGNS print it.
It is continually drummed into them:
"Keep to the RIGHT."
And they start to wonder
Now what can there be On the LEFT—
And then they think:
Now a MAN can go to the left
And it's RIGHT,
But if a WOMAN goes to the left
It's WRONG;
And WHY has a man the right
To say to a woman
"Keep off! Keep to the RIGHT."
It's enough to make any woman annoyed.
But WHAT can we do about it?
Absolutely NOTHING,
But remember always
That, unless a woman
She must "Keep to the RIGHT."

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

THE REACTIONS OF MABEL.

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD.

Carter Keith, owner and editor of the Evansville Clarion, sat at his desk, and scanned the proof sheets of the weekly edition.

Suddenly he paused, and cocked one eye reflectively ceilingward. So Mabel was coming home! Home to quiet Evansville, after four years at a women's college in the city.

What, he speculated, would be the result? How would Mabel react to the drab environment of her birthplace, whose chief dissipation was a strawberry festival, whose chief source of uplift was an occasional Chautauqua? Well, there was a vast field for Mabel's influence, Carter decided. A vast and hitherto unfarrowed field.

And in the weeks that followed Carter lent an occasional editorial pen to the preparation of that field for the seeds of Mabel's sowing.

"Miss Mabel Chester adorned her part as taken in the Shakespearean play presented by her sorority on Friday last. Perhaps with her advent the old dramatic club of Evansville will awaken to new triumphs."

"With pleasure Evansville welcomes the imminent return of Miss Mabel Chester, a native daughter, who will undoubtedly bring with her great inspiration from her contact with the neighboring metropolis which will redound to the advantage of our town."

"Miss Mabel Chester on her arrival on Monday's noon train commented favorably on the improved appearance of Main street. 'An imposing structure,' she characterized Eb Clark's new hardware store. So say we all."

As a matter of fact, "some little gift shop" would have been a more accurate interpretation of Mabel's remark, but Carter, loyally building a reputation for her, had edited as he saw fit. Since school days, Carter had had Mabel more or less on his mind and now, although she had grown up, he did not seem to find it easy to shift the responsibility.

Not only, however, through the medium of his paper did Carter seek to aid and abet Mabel in an effort to uplift Evansville.

"Yours is a wonderful opportunity, Mabel," he told her solemnly on the occasion of his first call. "Here is an entire town sunk in intellectual apathy, as it were. Yours shall be the guiding hand that summons us upward."

"You—you are very confident of my abilities," said Mabel, regarding him doubtfully.

"But the advantages you have had! Why, you owe it to yourself to expand to develop, to unfold! It would be a crime burying your talent——"

"Wait," interrupted the girl coldly. "Remember, my dear Carter, 'you are not writing an editorial. Tell me who's been married or jilted while I was gone."

But Evansville backed up Carter. Mabel was exalted to a pedestal of his making and of the town's approving. She was asked to speak at church sociables on "Ways To Improve Evansville." Her advice was sought regarding the curricula of the local schools. She was made a member of the library board and expected to pass on all proposed additions to the tiny one-room library.

Carter himself hunted up the old members of the Dramatic Club, gathered them into a somewhat reluctant session, and spurred them into voting Mabel in as president. He was indefatigable in the plans he suggested for the gradual stimulation of what he termed a "long time dead and buried community." And it was Carter himself who brought about Evansville's first—and only, let us add—literary picnic.

The idea was that the entire population of Evansville was to turn out and betake themselves with basket lunches to a certain popular grove reserved for picnics of any kind. During the meal, Carter was to declaim and Mabel was to read from our best authors. After dinner speeches were to follow on Evansville's special needs. Then, replete with food information, the picnickers were to scatter beneath the trees for quiet discussions.

The program was followed as far as the first two items were concerned. From that point—but we are concerned alone with Carter and Mabel.

Beneath a spreading maple by the river's brim, Carter lay stretched at Mabel's side, while she read from the younger poets for several minutes. Suddenly, however, she stopped and closed the book with vehemence. In fact, it looked for a second as if she were about to cast the delicate little volume from her.

"Then, Carter," she began, and her eyes were blazing, "I think you are to blame for all this tomfoolery!"

Carter looked at her quizzically. "What tomfoolery do you mean?" he asked.

"Why—all this uplifting business! As if I had nothing to do but reform Evansville? I am sick to death in hearing of my wonderful advantages and unparalleled opportunities and—but what's the use?

"You're possessed with it all and so I could not make you understand. Before I came home, I did have a little bit of an idea that I could do something perhaps to stir up the town. I had even made a few plans for civic improvements and activities. Now I never want to hear of such a thing again!"

Mabel, gazing mournfully down the river as one who watches vanishing illusions, failed to catch Carter's little satisfied nod and the smile in his eyes. But the sudden feel of his strong young arms about her startled her completely from her reverie.

"Dear little girl," said Carter tenderly, "I'll never mention uplift to you again—if you'll just marry me! I was so afraid when you came home you would become absorbed in all sorts of schemes that——"

"That—that I couldn't sleep nights!" said Carter feebly. Then, rallying, he stopped further words with a tender kiss.

Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse At Last Tell Peter Rabbit Where Their Home Is

Hardly had Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse got well started on their search for a new home when they met Peter Rabbit. Peter saw right away that something was wrong. "Hello, folks!" said he. "Where are you going?"

"To look for a new home," replied Nanny.

"To look for a new home!" exclaimed Peter in great astonishment. "I thought you had a new home."

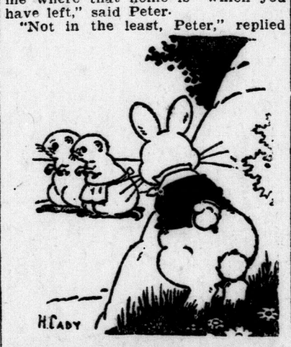

"We did have, but we haven't any more," replied Nanny sadly.

"Why not?" demanded Peter.

"Because Mr. Blacksnake found it, and we won't dare go back there to live," spoke up Danny.

Right then it popped into Peter's head that he never had found that home, although he had looked and looked and looked for it. "Since you are not going to live there any more I don't suppose you will mind telling me where that home is which you have left," said Peter.

"Not in the least, Peter," replied

"Hello, folks," said he, "where are you going?"

Danny, and his little black eyes began to twinkle. "We don't care who knows about it now. You have sat under it two or three times."

"Wha—wha—what's that," exclaimed Peter. "Wha—wha—what's that?"

"I said you have sat under it several times," replied Danny, and his bright little eyes twinkled more than ever.

"Danny Meadow Mouse, what under the sun are you talking about?" cried Peter.

"About that fine home of ours which we have just left, and which you have hunted for so often," retorted Danny.

Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind foot, and he scratched the other long ear with the other long hind foot, and he scratched his nose. "I think you are talking just plain foolishness, Danny Meadow Mouse," he declared at last. "I haven't been in a hole in the ground for so long that I can't remember when I was in one last."

"What has that got to do with it?" demanded Danny.

"Well, the only way I could sit under a home of yours would be to be down in the ground," retorted Peter.

"Nothing of the kind, Peter; nothing of the kind," replied Danny. "You see this last home of ours was up in a bush."

"What?" cried Peter.

"I said it was up in a bush," squeaked Danny rather sharply. "Do you remember the old nest of Redwing the Blackbird in the alders?"

Peter nodded. "Of course," said he. "I used to see it every time I passed this way last winter."

"That is where we have been living," Danny said. Then he told Peter all about how he had put a roof on that old nest, and what a wonderful home it had been. Peter had to laugh himself when Danny told how he had been in that nest right over Peter's head, and heard Peter talking to himself that first time he failed to find the Meadow Mouse home.

"But where are you going now?" cried Peter.

"We don't know, but we are going somewhere where Mr. Blacksnake won't find us. Come on, Danny; we can't waste any more time," said Nanny.

STOP OVER IN THE MOUNTAINS.

No journey across Canada is complete without a sojourn, however brief, among the majestic, awe-inspiring mountains.

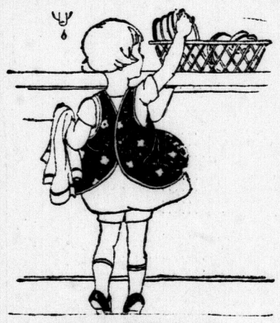

Even a one-day stopover at Jasper Park Lodge, that delightful rustic Alpine chalet by the side of Lac Beauvert in the heart of Jasper National Park, up in the Northern Canadian Rockies, gives untold compensations.

This glorious mountain playground is the largest National Park in the world, embracing 4,400 square miles of mountain grandeur. There are sublime snow-clad mountains, a number of which have never been named, and hundreds of which tower between 7,000 and 10,000 feet in altitude; glaciers both small and great, wild mountain torrents, leaping through gorges, and tumbling in white, foaming cataracts; snowfields, and clear, sparkling lakes that gleam like jewels in their setting of green.

Riding, mountain climbing, boating on Lac Beauvert, and swimming in the cool Alpine tarns, are the chief attractions of this park, while practically every other healthful recreation may be indulged in. There is a good tennis court and a golf course under construction.

Mothers and Their Children

Making the Best of It.

One Mother Says:

I never tell my child a task is pleasaant when she has heard me complain about it and knows very well I don't like it. I tell her, if the task is dishwashing, for instance, that we'll hurry up and get it over with and not fuss about it, so we can do something we like better.

VALUABLE BATON FOUND IN RUSSIA.

A field marshal's baton has been discovered buried in the masonry of one of the columns of the Petrograd Vvedensky Cathedral, near the steps leading to the altar. It is made of solid gold and adorned with 110 large diamonds and emeralds. Its value is said to be 4,000,000 gold rubles. A distinguished Russian historian considers that this is evidently the marshal's baton presented by the Czar Alexander II. to his brother, the Grand Duke Nikola Nikolaievitch the Elder, in the year 1878.

Heroic Rescue of the Watermelon.

Awakened in the middle of the night with the warning that the ship Bella, on which he was a sailor, was sinking, Albert Carr, a colored man, when he remembered a watermelon in the galley, and risked his life to go back and get the fruit. This was brought out in a case at Baltimore to recover the value of the craft from the insurance company. Carr told his story to the amusement of the court and the witness was quite proud of the fact that he saved the watermelon.

Walkerville Woman Gets a Big Surprise

"Tanlac gave me health and happiness a year ago, after it looked like I never would be well again, and I haven't stopped praising it since," declared Mrs. Maude Whitehead, 20 Victoria road, Walkerville, Ont.

"My appetite was so poor I often went all day without food, and was so weak and run-down a few steps over to the store would exhaust me, and get me out of breath, until I thought I would drop in my tracks. I feared a nervous breakdown, too, for I would tremble all over, even if the doorbell rang at night. Little noises like a curtain rustling would keep me wide awake.

"I felt an improvement with my very first dose of Tanlac, and now I am always hungry, eat like a farm-hand, am never nervous, sleep all night long, and am so strong I could walk the mile and a-half to Windsor and hardly notice it. Tanlac is simply grand."

Remove the Film

If you wish pearly teeth

You want the attraction, the added protection that it brings. Then won't you make this simple test to prove that you can get them?

You must fight film

It is film that makes teeth cloudy. It is film that ruins teeth. If you want prettier teeth and safer teeth you must fight that film.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Under old methods, few escaped those troubles. And beautiful teeth were seen less often than now.

A new situation

Now there's a new situation. Dental science has found two ways to fight film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved those methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. And those two methods were embodied in it.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Dentists the world over now urge its adoption. And to careful people of some 50 nations it has brought a new dental era.

Other essentials

Dental research proved other things essential. So Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids. Thus every use gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents.

See what it does

In fairness to yourself, see and feel these Pepsodent effects. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

You will be amazed and delighted. And you will want those benefits continued to the people in your home. Cut out the coupon now.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have." —Mrs. J. McDonald, 2947 26th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C.

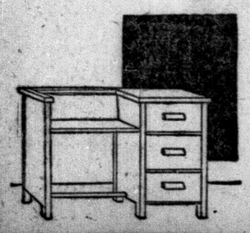

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. c

Jury Clears Officials Of Any Blame In Death Of Boy Drowned In River

State Every Precaution Taken To Avoid Accidents—Friends of Robert Tagg Tell Story of Tragic Ending.

The public utilities commission is cleared of all blame and responsibility in connection with the tragic drowning of Robert Tagg while diving from a raft after nightfall near the Becher Island swimming camp.

Arthur Horner, a companion of Bobbie Tagg at the time of the accident, was the first witness called. Tagg, he stated, got on the raft at 7:30 p.m.; the springboard near the old mill dam was broken. The raft at that time was moored inside the safety zone. The boys unfastened the raft and commenced to push it over the ropes into the deeper water with the intention of diving. As the raft left the safety zone someone shouted: "Those who cannot swim had better stay in the safety zone and get off the raft." No one left the raft.

Started Diving.

"When the raft was about 12 feet outside the ropes we started diving," he said, "and played on the raft for a while. Then several boys jumped off one side of the raft and that side shot up into the air with the weight of the boys who were on the opposite side. The next thing I heard was one of the boys saying that someone was underneath, and a call for help. Some of the boys started diving and fishing around under the raft, and then someone asked where Bobbie Tagg was."

Cross-examined by one of the jurors he added that he thought the water at that point was about fifteen feet deep. He said that the water was chilly a few feet down.

Ivers Kelly was the second witness examined, and he stated that he was on the shore at the camp and heard them shout that someone was drowned. He added that he was only a beginner in the art of swimming, and knowing that he would be useless where the boys were in deep water, he dressed and watched from the shore. He had not been beyond the safety zone.

Refused to Leave.

Fred Cook, the boy who accompanied Tagg to the river, stated that they procured suits at the camp and went in swimming. They had been swimming for some time, and he asked Bob to come out of the water and rest. This was just before the boys untied the raft, and he stated that Tagg refused to leave the water. The boys succeeded in unfastening the raft and took it out into deep water. He did not go with them, and apart from the fact that he believed that there were about 12 boys with the raft, he knew nothing of their actions until he heard the alarm and went to try and rescue his pal. "I am not much of a swimmer, but I went into the deep water and dived several times for him."

Dr. J. F. H. Bean then testified to having performed a post-mortem examination, and said that Tagg was a well-nourished boy in good health. He added that the corpse showed a small contusion on the upper lip, but this was not sufficiently serious to give weight to the possibility that he had been "knocked out" by the raft.

Was Beginner.

Jack Freezell, another boy who had been in the pool at the time, and also Jack Cook gave evidence, which in the main corroborated that already taken concerning the number of boys, the depth of the water, and the temperature of the water at the surface and below the surface in midstream. David McLean also told his story, which bore out that already given by the other boys, with the exception of the fact that he said he had watched Tagg swim across the pool at Lord Robert's school, and that he accomplished this with nothing to spare in the way of endurance, establishing the fact that Tagg was a beginner as far as swimming is concerned.

The next witness was Supervisor Paul of the Becher Island swimming camp, who stated that at 8 o'clock he had rung his bell warning the boys to leave the water and take their clothes from the check-room. He added that at 8:20 all clothing had been claimed from the camp and the loaned bathing suits returned. He then went home.

At the time he left the camp, the boys were on the raft inside the safety zone.

Tied Up Raft.

When asked to describe the means he had used in securing the raft he said:

"I took the free end of the safety rope toward the east bank and tied it completely around the raft. It is a heavy rope, and after tieing it, I drove two four-inch spikes through the rope and made sure it could not become unfastened. I had warned the boys that if they took the raft out after I left I would break it up the next day.

"In the morning I found the raft and about four feet of stranded rope. I guess they destroyed the rope by working it over the spikes."

Questioned further, he stated that the raft would support eight or ten small boys partly submerged, but that he had seen two big boys submerge the raft by standing upright on it.

The temperature of the water, he added, was warm and uniform when he was in after supper, and he said that he didn't believe in the cold-spring story which had been circulated as being the cause of Tagg's drowning. He added that he had been swimming since he was seven years of age, and that during his third year in high school had acted as one of a number of life guards at Milwaukee Beach.

Pool Is Safe.

When questioned as to whether he could suggest anything to make the pool safer, he said:

"The pool is safe enough. It is after they learn to swim that they become daring and insist on going into deep water. You can't do more than has been done to make the place safe. It is regrettable, but it is a problem which is very difficult to solve. Forbidding boys to swim in deep water is an invitation to them to try it."

Manager E. V. Buchanan then took the stand. He stated that the parks commission had done all in its power to make swimming safe first and attractive afterwards. He pointed out that in both of the recent drownings at this point the unfortunate swimmers were outside the safety zone, and in the latter instance the accident had taken place after the pool was closed for the night. He said that since the Storey fatality in the Thames every suggestion which was put forward to make the spot safer had been acted upon. The telephone was ordered installed, and a boat was under construction, and meanwhile the raft had been constructed as a makeshift until such time as the skiff would be completed.

He said that it was very regrettable that these accidents should occur, but in all sincerity the was unable to suggest anything further that would safeguard the children other than the closing of the camp and the construction of more pools throughout the city after the pattern of the one at Thames Park.

Dr. Smith, superintendent of playgrounds, also took the stand and said that while they had reached their limit in feasible suggestions he would try and inaugurate any addition or alteration which they considered advisable, but said that such precautions were of limited value when children voluntarily took such risks after those responsible for their safety had gone home to bed. "The only way that these night accidents can be prevented is by the policing of the river at swimming points to prevent children taking to the water after dusk," he said.

The court room was then cleared and the jury remained to discuss the evidence produced in the inquest. The verdict which they rendered was one of accidental drowning and reads as follows:

"That Robert Tagg was accidentally drowned in the Thames River near the Becher Island swimming camp. That the utilities commission has taken every possible precaution, and that there is no blame attached to those responsible for the conducting of the swimming camp."

THIEVES GET LOOT IN JEWELRY STORE

A DUPLICATE KEY

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 24.—Teh jewelry store of V. W. Ferris, 647 Talbot street, was entered sometime between Saturday midnight and 7 o'clock Monday morning, and watches and rings to the value of six or seven hundred dollars removed. Nothing was known of the theft till this morning, as there was no outward evidence that thieves had been at work. The police believe the store was entered by means of a duplicate key. Constables making the rounds Saturday night, Sunday, and Sunday night report that both doors were locked on each visit, with no evidence of anything unusual going on inside.

Mr. Ferris, proprietor of the store, was away all day Sunday, leaving the city at 4 o'clock in the morning to go fishing. He reports that yesterday was the first Sunday in many months in which he failed to visit his store to make sure that things were all right. The robbers evidently knew the value of the goods they were taking, as only the more expensive were removed.

NOCTURNAL ROBBERS FAIL TO OPEN SAFE

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, July 24.—Some time during Sunday night robbers broke into the Main street depot of the Grand River and Lake Erie and Northern Railways by forcing a window. They moved a safe out on the platform, and then presumably carried it to the bank of a creek running behind the depot, rolling it down the embankment, wnere with a crowbar and a railway spike hammer they tried to force the door of the strong-box, but were evidently frightened away.

The police believe at least four men were in the gang, as the safe was carried a part of the way to the creek. They are investigating. To the east of the station is a lumber yard, by way of which it is believed the robbers approached the depot without being detected.

FIRE THREATENS SCHOOL.
Special to The Advertiser.

Dutton, July 23.—The marsh fires in the west part of the township are the worst in years, and farmers were forced to remove their grain from the fields on Sunday. Only the efforts of the people returning from church saved the townline school.

Ingersoll Lad Lands Big Fish

Special to The Advertiser.

Ingersoll, July 23.—One of the largest trout caught in this section this season was taken out of Whiting creek today by Raphael McGee, a local lad. The fish measured 16 1-2 inches in length, and its weight was estimated at more than two and a half pounds. This is the second mammoth trout caught in this stream this season, one having been caught about a month ago which measured over 17 inches and weighed about three pounds.

SLEEP SOUNDLY WHILE FLAMES NEAR BEDROOM

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 24.—Sleeping soundly in bed at 2:15 this morning, with their home on fire and the flames eating their way through the wall into their bedroom, the two sons of Edward Cross, 145 Sheldon avenue, were awakened by John Commode, a neighbor, who also telephoned the alarm to the fire department.

Two trucks responded from the central station, and the fire which was gaining considerable headway was put out by use of the large chemical tanks on the trucks. The cause of the fire is a mystery, both occupants of the burning dwelling claiming there was no fire used in the house on Sunday.

RODNEY MAN INJURED BY A FLYING PULLEY

Arley Plyley Suffers Serious Accident at Plant of Canada Planing Mills.

Special to The Advertiser.

Rodney, July 24.—While working on a machine in the Canada Woodworking and Planing Mills at Rodney, about 8:15 yesterday, Arley Plyley, a life-long resident of the village, was struck by a flying pulley and so severely gashed about the head that slight hopes are held out for his recovery. Drs. S. M. Dorland and H. Patterson were summoned immediately after the accident and a bone was removed from the skull of the victim by Dr. W. J. Stevenson of London.

Mr. Plyley is married and has five children, and last April lost two fingers while operating a machine in the same factory.

MOUNTIES WILL MOVE TO MOHAWK INSTITUTE

Brantford, July 24.—The members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who have been stationed on the Six Nations Reserve since the trouble broke out there last winter, are moving into the Mohawk Institute, an industrial school for boys and girls of the reserve, on the Mohawk road on the city line. The horses will be stabled at the institute, while the Mounties will reside in a cottage nearby.

BUGGY AND MOTOR TRUCK COLLIDE ON LUCAN HILL

Special to The Advertiser.

Clandeboye, July 24. — Thomas Flynn of Clandeboye, while on the road to Lucan, had the seat and back of his buggy smashed off by a motor truck on Lucan hill recently. Luckily Mr. Flynn had time to jump out of the rig with his little boy, when he saw that a collision was unavoidable, and they both escaped with some bruises. The affair was purely an accident, and it is understood that the truck driver is paying for the damage to the buggy.

POSTPONES REVISION OF CITY HALL SALARIES

COUNCIL AWAITS REPORT OF CITY RESEARCH BODY

Ald. William A. Wilson Is Ruled Out of Order by the Mayor.

SNAPPY DISCUSSION

Salary of Commissioner Bennett Is Subject of Crossfire at Last Night's Meeting.

There will be no revision of city hall salaries until after Dr. Horace Brittain, head of the citizens' research bureau, and his staff, have completed their survey of the several municipal departments. This was the unexpected decision in the city council last night after a brief but spirited contest.

Ald. William Wilson started the ball rolling, moving in amendment to Mayor Wenige that Assessment Commissioner Bennett's salary be elevated to $3,000 and not $2,600.

Ald. Albert Judd moved that the salary question remain on the shelf until after the survey. Ald. Watt seconded this proposal.

Ald. Wilson refused to withdraw his motion as suggested. "When I make a statement I mean it," he asserted.

"When will this survey be through?" Ald. Greer asked.

"About a month," replied the mayor.

"Too long," chanted Ald. Wilson.

"Why do you now favor this to go back if you have not changed your mind about your salary recommendations?" Ald. Greer challenged the mayor. "Commissioner Bennett should be cared for at once. I move that the research bureau be asked to bring in a recommendation as to what should be paid all civic employees. In the meanwhile this survey has nothing to do with Bennett."

Ald. Frank McKay felt that there was no good reason for "stalling" the question further.

"I think that Mr. Bennett can rest assured that this council will recognize his services," promised Ald. Douglass.

"Yes, but Mayor Wenige doesn't propose to recognize them," declared Ald. Greer point blank and the mayor protested otherwise.

"We set his salary at $3,000 the other night. Where has that resolution gone to?" asked Ald. Colbert pointedly.

Wilson Challenges Statement.

"It was never put through," countered Mayor Wenige.

"Hold on, there, you are not speaking the truth," exclaimed Ald. Wilson. "I was chairman that night and it did go through and Drake was one who voted for it."

Mayor Wenige ruled Ald. Wilson out of order at this juncture for not addressing the chair.

"You'll be out of order," retorted Ald. Wilson. "We've only got you with us for a little while now. We'll deal with you in about five months."

Ald. Greer stated that the $3,000 proposal had carried, but Ald. Burdick differed, relating that a deadlock had developed.

"You all had reports of that meeting and none objected," pointed out the mayor.

"They're objecting now," Ald. Judd cautioned. "And we have a perfect right to do so at a council meeting."

Ald. Drake then stated that he had withdrawn his $3,000 motion at the last session, "as the mayor was not in a good state that night."

The vote to refer back the salary issue passed, five councillors voting in the negative. Ald. Wilson, Colbert, McKay, Greer and Shaw.

Another question not scheduled for consideration cropped up suddenly at the united instigation of Ald. Drake and the two Labor members from ward three—the long debated question about civic holidays. And this question was placed up on the shelf with the salary proposals.

Discuss Holidays.

Ald. Colbert moved and Ald. Drake seconded that all city employees with a year's standing to their credit should be entitled to two weeks' holidays each year with pay.

Ald. Colbert challenged the mayor in his opening remarks.

"You promised to deal with civic holidays in your inaugural address," he asserted. "There has been a great deal of dissatisfaction and bad feeling among the employees. You have always preached efficiency and co-operation, and yet I find that you are recommending that the same practice of other years be followed. If you want efficiency, how on earth are you going to get it by handing out discrimination and persecution to some. It is unjust and it is time that it was stopped in this city hall. We've had too much of it."

Ald. Judd submitted that there were not so many "under-privileged."

Ald. McKay felt that if necessary the several department heads could take on extra help for the holiday season, as is now being done in the fire department, consistent with former years.

Hot Shots At Council Session

"Just a moment, I'm speaking."

"I'm going to talk if there are 25 aldermen on the floor."

"This is awful."

"You're all out of order."

"I object."

"You won't be with us long. We'll settle with you in about five months."

"I don't care whether I read this report or not."

"Let me speak now, please. I have the floor."

"This sounds funny. Have we ever done this before?"

"There is no use sitting here fighting all night."

"If you are going to Port Stanley before the first train in the morning you will have to hurry."

"I think that we had better disband this traffic committee."

"Why I never heard of such an absurdity."

"It's 11 p.m. I've no place else to go. Let's stay all night."

"How did I vote there?"

"Wellington street is the worst street in Canada."

"Gentlemen, I must call order."

"I won't apologize to the mayor. I defy him to remove me."

"I demand that Ald. Wilson leave."

"I vote no, if I have to be carried out on a stretcher, as stated by Ald. Watt."

"I'm sick of this. I'm going."

"The prize grasshopper will be there when we call for salaries."

"This new government will give us anything."

"I think that Ald. Wilson owes the chair an apology."

"I object to your ruling, Mr. Mayor."

"I'll stay on my feet as long as his rumpus continues."

"I still demand to know why I'm out of order."

"Back to the board of works and we'll kill it there."

"I'll do as I like in this council."

"Ald. Douglass is only killing time."

"If you don't put that motion I'll leave the room," etc., etc., etc., until 12:30 this morning.

SHORT POLICE DOCKET GREETS MAGISTRATE

Small Number of Minor Cases Demanded Attention From Bench.

Magistrate Graydon, who returned today from his vacation, was greeted by a short list of delinquents in this morning's police court, three intoxicated citizens and one assault case receiving attention.

The case of the Crown vs. Alex. Elijah, an Indian from the Muncey reserve, was held over for settlement by the Indian agent at Muncey, pending the return of that official from his holidays. The prisoner was released on bail.

The Burridge separation case was laid over for another week, and the court ordered Burridge to make up his arrears of the temporary provision of $10 per week to Mrs. Burridge, which has lapsed since July 16.

Arthur Leff answered a charge of assault, and pleaded not guilty to having struck Benjamin Grace, and causing him bodily harm. He was fined $10 and costs.

DEMAND IMMEDIATE RECALL OF GOVERNOR L. WOOD

Manila, July 24.—Immediate recall of Governor Leonard Wood was demanded in a resolution unanimously adopted at a joint meeting of both houses of the legislature here last night. The resolution was addressed to President Harding.

CHARLES A. DUPUY DIES, WAS FRENCH PREMIER

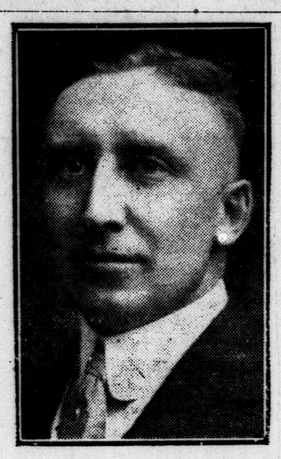

Gained Fame by His Courage When Anarchist Threw Bomb at Him.

Associated Press Despatch.

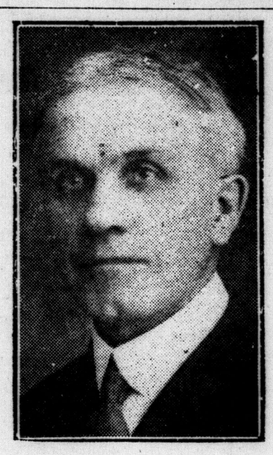

Perpignan, France, July 24—Charles Alexandre Dupuy, former premier, is dead. He was president of the chamber of deputies when the Anarchist Vaillant threw a bomb at him, and his courageous bearing and historic words, "Gentlemen, the sitting continues," gained him great fame.

M. Dupuy was born in 1851. He was premier in 1894, and was with President Carnot when the latter was stabbed to death at Lyons. He became a candidate for the presidency, but was defeated. His cabinet remained in office. It was under that Captain Dreyfus was arrested condemned in 1894.

MAYOR CALLS THEM REGULAR "OBSTRUCTIONISTS."

Here are the four thorns in Mayor Wenige's side. His worship calls them obstructionists and alleges tha they are consistently working to thwart his wishes. Today he names them. From left to right they are: Ald. W. A. Wilson and Ald. Albert Judd, ward one; Ald. John Greer and Ald. John May, ward two. Ald. Douglass, ward one, is classed by the mayor as an occasional, not yet having reached the status of his four colleagues. But these four and their "ocasional" colleague claim they are merely acting as ballast to keep the chief magistrate on an even keel.

DR. J. RUTHERFORD OF RAILWAY BOARD DIES AT OTTAWA

Dominion Commission Passes in 66th Year After a Brief Illness.

BORN IN SCOTLAND

Renowned Throughout Canada For Work in His Program of Veterinary Surgeon.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 24.—Dr. J. G. Rutherford, a member of the board of railway commissioners, who was taken ill recently while in British Columbia, died at his home here at 7 o'clock this morning.

Toronto, July 24.—John Gunton Rutherford, C.M.G., V.S., Ottawa, a member of the board of railway commissioners for Canada, was born in Peebleshire, Scotland, Dec. 25, 1857. He was a son of Rev. Robert Rutherford.

Educated in Glasgow.

Dr. Rutherford's education began in Glasgow, where he attended high school before coming to Canada. He graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and the Ontario Veterinary College, at the latter of which he was winner of the gold medal in 1875. In his younger days he practiced as a veterinary surgeon in Canada, the United States and Mexico. For some time he resided at Portage la Prairie, Man., where he engaged in the practice of his profession and in horse breeding.

Appointed veterinary inspector for Manitoba in 1884, Dr. Rutherford continued to act in this capacity for the Manitoba government until 1892. Then he became a member of the Manitoba legislature for Lakeside, which he represented until 1896. In 1897 he was elected to the House of Commons at Ottawa for MacDonald, Man.

Dr. Rutherford was appointed Dominion veterinary director-general in 1902, and continued in this office until 1912. During a part of this period he was Dominion live stock commissioner as well as veterinary director-general.

Among numerous important positions filled by Dr. Rutherford were the following: Delegate for Canada to the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome; delegate to the International Conference on Tuberculosis, Washington, D.C., 1908; president of the American Veterinary Medical Association 1909-11; chairman of the international commission on control of bovine tuberculosis; president of the Western Canada Live Stock Union; president of the Horse Breeders' Association of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories; veterinary officer to the Northwest Field Force in the Riel Rebellion, 1885.

Became Member in 1918.

Dr. Rutherford became a member of the board of railway commissioners of Canada on Sept. 17, 1918.

Dr. Rutherford married Edith Boultbee, daughter of Washington Boultbee, Ancaster, Ont., in 1887. Three daughters were born to them.

He was a member of the Ranchmen's Club, Calgary, Alta.; Rideau Club, Ottawa, and the Hunt and Golf Club, Ottawa.

Denies Any Secret Treaty Between Japs and British

Count Uchida Shows Opposition Leaders Fortifying of Singapore Matter Outside of Washington Agreement, But Thinks Action Unjustifiable.

By E. R. EGGER.

Tokio, July 24. — Count Uchida, Japanese foreign minister, interviewed today by leaders of the opposition from the House of Peers, declared that Japan has no secret understanding with England regarding the announced plans for the fortifications of Singapore, which the British claim is justified in order to protect British interests in the Orient.

According to Count Uchida, Singapore is outside the limits of Far Eastern territory, covered by the Washington agreements, and Japan cannot interfere. The fortification plans, he said, were a matter of British internal affairs policy.

He held, however, that the project conflicts with the spirit of the Washington treaties, and that there is nothing in Japanese-British relations which justify such extensive fortification undertakings.

RUSH OF IMMIGRANTS CONTINUES TO AMERICA

Twelve Thousand Britishers Expected To Leave Southampton This Week.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

London, July 24.—The rush of immigrants to the United States continues. Twelve thousand are expected to sail from Southampton alone this week in order to take advantage of the new quota which will open slightly the new world gateway on the first of August.

The Tyrrhenia sailed with 1,100 third class passengers, 400 second class. Many of the latter are occupying first class cabins because of overcrowding. The Majestic's sailing date has been postponed from Wednesday to Thursday, in order that the vessel may reach New York on Aug. 1. Reservations have been booked for 2,600, of whom 1,300 are third class.

Scotland is sending out many emigrants. Twelve thousand went to the United States and Canada this month. Three reasons were given for the unusual British emigration to America:

2—The bumper wheat crop of North America.

MINERS AND OPERATORS MAKE LITTLE PROGRESS

Special to The Advertiser.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 24.—Little progress toward a settlement was reported by the miners and operators as the joint scale sub-committee met here again today to thresh out differences.

While there was pessimism in some quarters concerning the eventual outcome of the conference. Many of the delegates said they believed the parley had not yet reached the questions of importance.

Each side apparently believes that the other will make concessions.

TAKE LEGAL ADVICE ON SUNDAY BATHING

Report From Attorney-General's Department Does Not Satisfy Mayor.

Mayor Wenige maintains that he has received no communication from Attorney-General W. F. Nickle with relation to Sunday bathing. But he has received word from Deputy Attorney-General Bayley.

And the mayor is not at all satisfied with the contents. "There is nothing in it," he states. "It's an answer all right, but there is nothing to it. It is not very clear to me. He just refers me to a certain section of the Lord's Day act."

"What are you going to do about it?" his worship was asked.

"I am going to seek the advice of a good lawyer," assured the mayor. "And then we'll know more about it directly."

HEAD OF CHICAGO FIRM MISSING, FUNDS SHORT

Wife of Frederick Siebold, Jr., Claims He Is With "Little Country Girl."

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, July 24.—Frederick Siebold Jun., acting president of the Gariden Building Company, is missing, following discovery of $150,000 alleged irregularities in the firm's books, it was revealed today by G. Bernard Anderson, the company's attorney.

Private detectives seeking trace of Siebold are also looking for a "little country girl," who, it is declared, was seen in cabarets with Siebold. She is wanted for questioning.

Anderson at a stockholders' meeting exhibited a cancelled check, declaring that Siebold invested heavily on the board of trade. The stockholders announced that the construction work being done by the company will go on.

Mrs. Siebold said her husband has not been home since July 4, when she returned from California. She blames "that woman." When you find her, you will find him," she said. Mrs. Siebold said she would join the hunt for her spouse.

AGED N. Y. COUPLE ENGAGE IN DUEL UNTIL BOTH DIE

WEDDED 40 YEARS

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 24.—Fighting with stiletto, axe and revolver by the light of a flickering wick in a glass of olive oil in a tiny room of an East Side tenement, Anthony Giordano, 63 years old, and his wife Theresa, 61 years old, today inflicted fatal wounds on each other. Both were dead when found by the police.

Neighbors declared, police said, that the couple frequently quarreled and that Giordano had been acting strangely for some time. Police asserted he probably had attacked his wife with the axe and had been repulsed with the stiletto. Both bodies were pierced by bullets and slashed in several places.

With 40 years of married life behind them, the aged couple fought for 30 minutes.

Two daughters, sleeping in an adjoining room, heard the death battle and helplessly tried to force an entrance.

About 3 a.m. the sisters were awakened by screams. They listened, frightened. Soon the noise of battle rose. Crying to their parents, the girls tried the knob of the bedroom door, but could not turn it. The daughters ran toward their brother's home across the street. Dressing hurriedly, the son ran over to his parents' flat. The tenement house by this time had been aroused and Italians were firing pistols from upper windows. This attracted the police, who smashed down the door.

On the bed, with her head where the pillows had been, lay the woman. The fingers of her right hand clutched a revolver. A stiletto rested in a pool of blood under the bed.

The body of the husband lay about five feet from the bed, the throat cut from ear to ear.

REPORTS FEWER JOBLESS PERSONS IN THE DOMINION

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 24.—Employment in Canada as at the beginning of July is reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as continuing to improve, increased activity being noted in all the provinces. Reports from 5,765 firms, with an aggregate payroll of 815,128 persons, showed an increase of some 2 per cent in the employment afforded, the index number rising from 97.3 on June 1, to 99.5 at the beginning of July. Employment in Montreal, Ottawa, Winnipeg and Vancouver increased, while in Toronto and Hamilton curtailment was indicated.

MAYOR NAMES MEN HE ALLEGES TO BE OBSTRUCTIONISTS

Four Aldermen on Regular List As Always Opposed to His Worship.

SAYS WILSON OUT

Reiterates That Ward One Veteran Must Apologize Before He Will Be Recognized.

Mayor Wenige today formally named those members of the city council who, in his opinion, are "obstructionists" and are "retarding the progress of the city."

Regularly there are four of them, and occasionally there are five, he states.

His worship names Ald. William A. Wilson, ward two; Ald. Albert Judd, ward two, chairman of the finance committee; Ald. John Greer, ward one, and Ald. John T. May, ward one. Ald. Douglass is classed as an occasional.

The mayor advises the general public that from now on they need not reckon with Ald. Wilson. "He is no longer one of us," he points out. "At least until such time as he apologizes, and even then I don't know definitely whether I shall accept his apology. It all depends upon the circumstances."

But Ald. Wilson, in a public announcement this afternoon made it quite clear that an apology will never be forthcoming from him under any circumstance, and he defies Mayor Wenige to keep him out of his seat at future sessions. "If we had a decent mayor, I'd apologize when I was wrong," he stated decisively, "but not to this fellow."

Ald. Wilson added that "if no person else would enter, he would oppose Mayor Wenige for the chair at the next municipal election."

Expects Progress.

"If the electors will note carefully from now on," cautioned the mayor. "They will see that our progress will be much more satisfactory. Now I am quite satisfied with events to date, despite our obstruction from these aldermen, and Ald. Wilson is by no means alone. We have been carrying out our program, but we have encountered obstruction at every turn from these aldermen, who are not good losers."

But the mayor insists that events will proceed much better, now that "Ward Two is only represented by two members." And his worship broadly hints that other members of the council will follow Ald. Wilson to the bench if the occasion demands.

"To me it would appear that these men are now retarding the city's progress, and I do not think they have the sympathy and support of the greater number of the people. The majority of people like and demand fair play. At a ball game they hoot the fellow who starts a rough house or tries unfair measures, but they applaud the opponent who is a good loser and player.

"These men, who opposed the city hall project from its inception, should abide by the will of the majority of the council, who represent a majority of the people. After their defeat early in the year they should be good losers, and in the city's interest hook up with the move and exert every honest effort in this endeavor."

The Mayor's Ground.

Just what will develop after last night's outbreak is hard to determine. Mayor Wenige has adopted the attitude that Ald. Wilson is no longer a member of the council until he apologizes.

The mayor bases his right to such action upon section 20 of city bylaw No. 5846 (the municipal procedure enactment), which reads: "No member of the city council shall speak disrespectfully of the reigning sovereign, or any member of the royal family, or of the governor-general, or any person administering the government of the Dominion of Canada or the government of this province; nor use offensive words against the council or any member thereof; nor speak beside the question in debate; nor reflect upon any vote of the council, except for the purpose of moving that such vote be rescinded; nor shall he resent the rules of the council or disobey the decision of the mayor or presiding officer on question of order or practice; and in any case any member who shall so resist, may be ordered by the mayor or other presiding officer to leave his seat for that meeting, but in case of ample apology being made by the offender, he may, by vote of the council, be permitted forthwith to retake his seat."

Ald. Wilson claims that the council last night voted to reinstate him, but the mayor disputes such contention.

TURKEY REJOICES AT HAPPY ENDING OF NINE-YEAR WAR

By CONSTANTINE BROWN,

Constantinople, July 24.—A salute of one hundred and one salvos fired this morning by the Turkish batteries in Constantinople, announced to the population the joyous news that the war Turkey started against the allies nine years ago, has ended in a complete victory for this country.

Celebrated Event.

It was the first time since the armistice that the natives had heard reports of the Turkish guns, and the Mussulman populace in the best of their holiday clothes, is crowded in the streets celebrating the event. The shops were ordered closed for five days. Public as well as private houses are adorned with flags. Authorities have commandeered the most of the carriages and motor cars, and have placed them at the disposal of the population, which proceeded through the streets singing patriotic songs and shouting, "Long live Kemal Pasha."

The Turks are proud of their victory, especially because it was won, not on the battlefields, but at the diplomatic table where jealousy between the British and the French contributed more to the allies defeat than the strength of the Turkish arguments. Although Turkey was defeated in the world war, and was charged with more crimes against civilization than any other defeated nation, she has succeeded in imposing her own terms, and in securing a situation better for her than that of pre-war days.

The loss of Arabia, Palestine and Syria is unimportant, because these provinces proved at all times more troublesome than beneficial to the empire due to their continuous rebellions. The loss is, however, amply compensated for by the fact that Turkey does not need to pay any war indemnity, but refuses to repay pre-war debts, contracted in gold and sterling in the same currencies.

Gives Turks Freedom.

On the other hand the abolition of capitulations gives freedom to the Turkish government to tax foreigners who hitherto have been exempted from taxation, and thus adopt a financial policy which, if internal condition were stabilized, should allow the country a rapid financial recovery.

Unfortunately the nation, as well as the government, is still very "anti-foreigner," and everything indicates that the promises given at Lausanne that the Christian minorities will enjoy the same rights and security as the Mussulmans, will be a dead letter.

The Armenians and the Greeks are much incensed against the allies who are responsible for this situation.

A leading native Christian said today: "We are being punished for blindly obeying and stupidly believing their promises when they took up arms against Turkey. Allied agents gave all assurances in the name of their governments that if we assisted them in winning the war against our oppressors we would be given a chance to enjoy complete freedom, and would be sheltered against future persecutions. Yet as soon as the allies did not need us we were left to the mercy of the Turks.

"A few days ago the British and French almost went to war with Turkey in order to save a few hundred million francs for the creditors of this country, but they never dreamed of compelling the Turks to treat us humanely. The result of the betrayal is hundreds of thousands of homeless Armenians and Greeks exiled from Anatolia and Thrace wandering around the world in search of new homes, which nobody apparently is willing to offer. Before the end of this year almost 100,000 more Christians will be compelled to leave the country, thanks to our disinterested support of the so-called allied struggle for the freedom of democracy."

Certain Hitches Occur.

American and Turkish negotiations for the re-establishment of diplomatic and commercial relations are progressing at Lausanne, though certain hitches seem to have occurred in the last few days. The Turkish authorities are not willing to discuss the matter. It is understood from reliable sources that the United States Minister Joseph Grew has demanded freedom of action for American religious educational institutions, and Ismet Pasha, the Turkish representative at Lausanne, has insisted that the same provisions that applied to the French and British should be applied to the Americans as well.

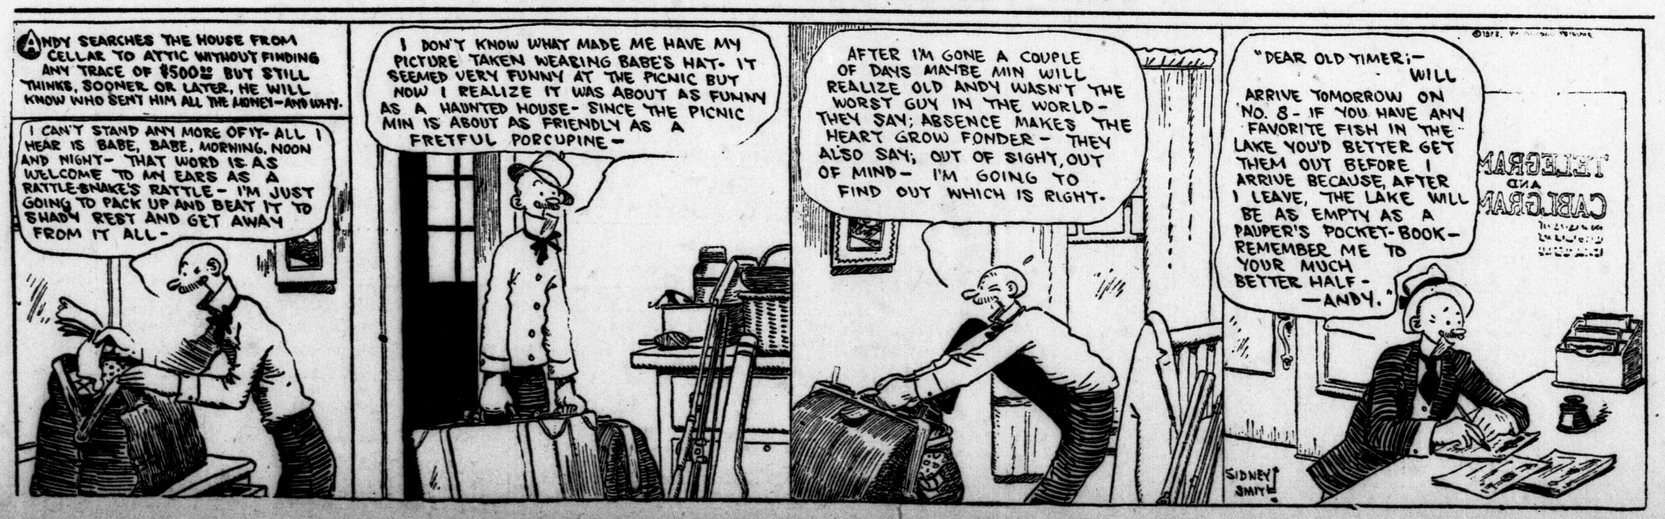

The Turks now are doubtful that the American-Turkish treaty will be signed at Lausanne, but they are confident that the American government will accept the Turkish viewpoint and that the treaty will be signed at a later date.

SCHOOL AUDIT COMMITTEE MEETS TO PASS ACCOUNTS

A special meeting of the audit committee of the board of education was held this morning to check up and pass on several vouchers which have been held by the secretary.

Owing to the absence of the chairman of this committee, the regular meeting has been postponed from time to time, and this morning's meeting was held to deal with the outstanding vouchers and to clear up some details of routine business.

He Who Has Any Business With St. Peter's Rector Must Visit Sunshine Park

Monsignor McKeon Is There Every Afternoon Leveling Baseball Diamond.

MAKES IT HIS HOBBY

Wears Large Straw Hat and Wields a Very Energetic Hoe.

The sun beats down relentlessly on Sunshine Park in the early afternoon these days. So hot is it that the boys prefer to postpone their games until the sun has got nearer the horizon. And between the hours of noon and four o'clock the baseball diamond is deserted.

Deserted?

All save one solitary figure—although it is a generously proportioned one at that—far out on the field. An enormous straw hat, just the type the farmers wear, droops down over enormous shoulders. A white handkerchief, knotted behind, takes the place of a collar, while two large, soft, but capable hands keep in motion a decidedly energetic hoe.

Who can it be?

Monsignor McKeon, of course. In pursuit of his hobby, which literally is to produce by the sweat of his own brow and the labor of his own hands one of the finest boys' athletic parks in the city.

Is His Hobby.

Sunshine Park, at the north end of Colborne street, has been Father McKeon's hobby ever since he was instrumental in getting it started over two years ago. It now possesses one of the finest baseball diamonds in the city, and a splendid stand with large seating capacity, not to mention dressing-rooms below. Two excellent tennis courts are also located on this athletic field, which has been built entirely through the personal labor of Father McKeon and an able gardener.

But Father McKeon isn't satisfied yet. Although the baseball diamond appears to be in the finest shape, he must have it better still, and every afternoon, from noon until the league games commence at 6:45 o'clock, he works away at the weeds and uneven places with his hoe.

If anyone wants to do business with the rector of St. Peter's in the afternoon, he must go to Sunshine Park, for only there can he be found. For he doesn't go back to the seminary until the ball games are over for the evening. And only then does he have supper.

But a Recreation.

"It must be desperately hot there," say those who see him working, with the perspiration pouring from his forehead. "Oh, it's only exercise," is the reply. "I'm doing all the leveling as recreation. I don't have any holidays you know. And they say I should reduce weight. This with a laugh and the confession that he has gained ten pounds since he began work on the field this year. For the large face under the straw hat is a jolly face and the fairy god-father of Sunshine Park has a keen sense of humor.

Will Not Take Credit.

But Father McKeon won't take the credit for the park to himself. He says it is the result of the energies and financial help of the Catholic Athletic Association of which Philip Pocock is chairman. The Catholic Women's League has also raised money for it. The land, 42 acres of it, was presented to the bishop by Philip Pocock some time ago for the building of a seminary. On two or three occasions Father McKeon asked the bishop to grant permission that a portion of this land might be used for an athletic park, and finally secured permission to use it for that purpose. And although the seminary may be built as early as next year the athletic park will remain open to the hundreds of Protestants and Catholics now making use of it every evening. Every week sees some improvement, for Father McKeon will never be satisfied until the park provides the very best of recreation facilities for "the boys," as he lovingly calls them.

He has a big vision for the park. "I only wish some good angel would come along and provide the money, so that we could build a golf course and lacrosse and bowling fields as well," he says.

Father McKeon is not forgetting to beautify as well as to equip, and he has planted a splendid row of young cedars along the fence by which the park is approached.

If you should drive up to the head of Colborne street any afternoon you will see him at work, a solitary figure in an enormous field. Don't look for the priest, though.

MONSIGNOR McKEON.

Bad Complexions Now Removed by Absorption

It has been found that ordinary mercolized wax has the power to absorb an old, faded or discolored complexion —or more literally, the old cuticle, or outer skin — revealing the fresher, healthier underskin, blooming with the pink of life and the glow of youth. The dead and half-dead cuticle comes off so gradually, in fine, flour-like flakes, that there is no pain, no discomfort, no detention from one's everyday duties. Of course, such troubles as tan, freckles, moth patches, liver spots, and fine lines, go with discarded skin.

Mercolized wax, which druggists supply in one-ounce tins, should be spread lightly over the face before retiring and washed off in the morning.

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of peroxine powder —sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth —rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

For Thin Waists and Sleeveless Gowns

(Toilet Tips.)

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths, is as follows Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply to hairy surface about two minutes; then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—Advt.

CLUB NEWS

NORTON'S W. I. MEETS.

The July meeting of the Norton's W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Gilbert. The meeting took the form of a quilting bee and two quilts were finished for their coming bazaar. There was a large attendance, but owing to the unavoidable absence of the president, Mrs. Andrew Dobbie, no special business was done.

PRIMARY CLASSES PICNIC.

The Primary Department of the King Street Presbyterian Church held a very enjoyable picnic at Queen's Park Saturday afternoon, about 50 children and mothers being present. Games were played, and after supper a number of races were run off, including a peanut and kiss scramble. A baseball game was played in the evening, the two sides being captained by Charlotte Grassick and Helen McCrae, the former's team winning by a score of 7—3. The success of the outing was largely due to Miss A. Buskard, superintendent of the Primary Department.

Your Home and You

By HELEN KENDALL.

SUMMER ACQUAINTANCES.

The veranda of the summer hotel was cool and inviting, and the two young matrons who occupied adjoining wicker chairs had gone through the preliminary process of introducing themselves and were beginning to exchange confidence, while their small offspring picked acquaintance on a nearby bench. The mushroom friendship, begun so suddenly, developed in three days into an intimacy, and the two women were inseparable.

Then came the jolt. Young Mrs. Jones, who had told her new friend, Mrs. Smith, all about her petty quarrels with her husband, found in some subtle way that others in the hotel knew of this incompatibility. Quite evidently Mrs. Smith had gossiped with the other guests. The all-too-spontaneous friendship changed overnight to a frigid coldness, and Mrs. Jones found herself high and dry in the hotel, for she had made no other acquaintances and every one was talking about her instead of with her.

Here was a common mistake that is made at summer resorts the world over. Many women, and men, too, mistake an apparent congeniality that is founded only on leisure and propinquity for a genuine friendship. If they are young, they swear eternal loyalty; if older, they promise to correspond and to have their respective families visit each other. In most cases they favor each other with confidences that should be made only to tried and true friends of long standing—if then! Half the time the hit-or-miss acquaintance rapidly cools; or if both sides try to keep up the hastily-formed relationship, they discover in time that they are really far from congenial and have little in common aside from a carelessly joyous summer holiday.

The woman who has the best time at any summer hotel or cottage is the one who is impersonally pleasant and agreeable to every one she meets, who accepts and gives invitations without involving any further obligation, and who keeps her own personal and private affairs to herself. One may have a very merry time playing golf or tennis, canoeing or playing bridge with comparative strangers, but one should certainly be careful about admitting these casual friends into one's inner sanctum.

Chatham Girl Met Fiance Helping Greek Refugees

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, July 23.—Since the picture of Miss Louise MacLachlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacLachlan of Chatham, appeared in an issue of the paper, people have been curious to know why this charming little Canadian will marry in Athens; if she is returning to Canada; and so on.

When the papers were full of reports of the trouble with the Turks, the name "MacLachlan" was prominent in many articles, for the experiences of the MacLachlans have been, not only interesting, but most exciting.

A year ago last May, Miss Louise MacLachlan left Chatham for Smyrna, in company with her uncle, Rev. Dr. MacLachlan, and Miss Snell of Boston, a cousin. While visiting in Constantinople the trouble with the Turks occurred, and Miss MacLachlan and Miss Snell, who had taken passage from Smyrna, did not leave the boat, as the refugees were already fleeing from there. They returned to Athens by the same ship.

Brutally Attacked.

Rev. Dr. MacLachlan, who was principal of the International College in Smyrna, was brutally attacked on a few occasions. To assist in the relief of the refugees, Miss MacLachlan accepted the position of secretary to Mr. Fowle, head of the Near East Relief, and her work has been very highly praised. Thousands of refugees have been cared for by these Canadian and American girls, and it was through them that many Americans and people of other countries found trace of their relatives.

Pleasant experiences have been recorded as well as the every-day cruel and pitiful occurrences, and readers must know that Miss MacLachlan has had happy times, for just recently came news of her engagement to Mr. Olig V. Rodomar of Salonica, Greece.

Met In Smyrna.

The meeting of Miss MacLachlan and Mr. Rodomar was in Smyrna, and their business relations developed into friendship, then love, and word comes now that the marriage will be celebrated in Athens on August 29. News of the preparations for this happy day arrives in interesting letters from the bride-to-be, and relatives, so anxious, are hoping for the day when she and her husband will return to this land. Mr. Rodomar is with the Standard Oil Company, and was transferred from Smyrna to Salonica. The wedding of this young Canadian girl and Mr. Rodomar will be a very interesting event in Athens.

WINTER DISEASES, LIKE FLU, LARGELY DUE TO SUMMER HABITS.

Everyone remembers the dread flu following the war. Few recall the absence of flu and most diseases during the war, or know that neither before, during, nor after the war were flu, pneumonia, etc., prevalent among races not following civilization's food habits. Why was this?

Blood must be kept alkaline by eating alkaline foods, yet civilized races refine out of their most important foods—the grains—the alkaline salts, just to make flour white, cereals dainty. The result is acid blood. Acids leave the blood by the skin, linings of nose, throat, lungs, etc., irritating these surfaces and lowering body vitality, enabling disease germs to attack the body.

During the war acid forming white flour, refined cereals, meats, sweets were controlled. Alkaline whole grains, milk, nuts, beans, vegetables and fruits were increased. There was no flu. After the war people glutted themselves upon acid-forming white flour, refined cereals, fats, etc., resulting in millions of deaths through flu. Flu will continue its ravages while stupid food habits prevail.

Roman Meal is richly alkaline, 400 parts in each 1,000 "Excess Alkali." It corrects the acids of white flour, other cereals, meats, fats and sweets, keeping the blood alkaline, Nature's own immunizer against disease, which protects the savage who lives upon natural foods. Use Roman Meal some way every day. It relieves constipation, prevents indigestion, alkalinizes the blood, keeps you well. It was designed by a physician-dietitian, aware of the "deficiences" of modern refined foods, for this very purpose. Delicious, easily prepared, economical. At grocers.—Advt.

WATFORD CONGREGATIONS CONDUCT UNION SERVICES

Special to The Advertiser.

Watford, July 24.—On account of the illness of Rev. H. V. Workman of the local Presbyterian Church, the congregation of that church held union services with the Congregationalists yesterday, the morning service being held in the Congregational Church, and the evening service in the Presbyterian Church. Rev. T. D. Rayner of the Congregational Church preached at both services. There was a large congregation at the morning service in the Congregational Church, and the choir gave a good rendering of the anthem, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," the solo parts being taken by Mrs. James Brush and Miss Elsie Brown.

DOMESTIC HELP READY FOR CANADIAN HOMES

Government Representative In Old Land Has Found the Right Type of Girl.

Housewives who have been bewailing the fact that they are unable to secure domestic help need not wail any longer. There are now waiting in England and Scotland a company of girls of the highest type who are willing to come out to this country if they are guaranteed employment for a year.

Miss Jessie Duff of the Ontario headquarters, Employment Bureau Service of Canada, who is spending a year in the Old Land interviewing girls with a view to placing them in Canadian homes, has just notified the London branch of the service to this effect.

Miss Duff was granted a year's leave of absence last spring and went to England in the interests of the colonization and immigration branch of the Ontario government. Her work there is conducted on behalf of the Ontario scheme for placing women household workers and giving better domestic service to the homes of the province.

Miss Blanche Friend of the London office on Carling street is anxious that the women of London may benefit by this scheme. She knows Miss Duff's ability to pick out suitable girls to bring to Canada, and suggests that the women of London undertake to give these girls a year's trial. Just as soon as Miss Duff, who has been interviewing the girls, is guaranteed situations for the girls she will send them out. At the present time she is searching for domestics in Scotland.

The bureau wants to guarantee the girls a minimum wage of $25, with an average of $30 a month. The girls are being urged to pay their own passage out if possible, so that their whole wages may come to them from the beginning of their employment in Canada. If they are unable to pay their way out, however, the prospective employer may do that, and deduct a certain amount from their wages each month until the amount is made up.

Miss Duff has been connected with the employment service for six years and has had a wide experience with girls of every type. She knows just what girls will be suitable in Canadian homes and is recommending them alone.

Paris, July 23.—The frock with a bodice and separate skirt has made its appearance, and is hailed today as one of the coming styles for autumn. The skirt is rather full, and the bodice both closely-fitted and long.

New Flounced Veils.

Paris, July 23.—Three little flounces of lace edge the newest veils. These veils, when worn over black hats, are likely to be sand-colored, or cafe au lait, though bright veils are worn over bright hats at present.

Sweeping Skirt Taboo.

London, July 23.—Women of fashion have served notice on the dress designers that they positively will not wear trailing skirts in the daytime. It is probable that skirts will be about alike in length, but the skirt that sweeps the ground is taboo today.

Poke Bonnet Persists.

London, July 23.—Nothing has done more to keep the poke bonnet in favor than the fact that it has been adopted by the young Duchess of York. The duchess has many poke bonnets in her trousseau, being fond of the large sort, with a somewhat flaring side brim.

Unbleached Linen Costume.

New York, July 23.—An unusual and practical costume for a cool, summer evening shown here today is of heavy unbleached linen, such as that from which bedspreads are sometimes made. It is trimmed with a few very large flowers in green, red and yellow worsted.

Throw Scarf Popular.

New York, July 23.—Among the smart neckpieces seen today for a sports or other tailored frocks is the throw scarf. This scarf coilar is fastened upon one shoulder, an end hanging down in front, and the other thrown across the shoulder to hang down the back.

About Shoes and Hose.

New York, July 23.—It is a mistake today to wear blue, or red, or dandelion shoes with hosiery of any shade approaching that of the shoe itself. Dandelion shoes look well with gray hose, blue with gray or sand, and red especially well with atmosphere.

Change of Water
Change of Diet
Change of Climate
Cause DIARRHOEA

Mr. Fred Palmer, 217 Dalhousie street, Brantford, Ont., writes: "When I first went out to the Northwest, the water played havoc with my bowels, and being in a remote spot, I could not get anything to give me relief for any length of time.

"I wrote and told my wife about the time I was having, and she sent me a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I cannot speak too highly of it for what it did for me.

"Whenever the children have any bowel trouble from eating fruit or drinking strange water, which they have done for the past five years, living in the country, the only remedy we use is 'Dr. Fowlers,' and nobody should be without it, as it cannot be beat for instant relief."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 78 years, and you don't experiment with new and untried remedies when you buy it; but be sure and get 'Dr. Fowler's' when you ask for it, as a substitute may be dangerous to your health.

At the Movies Last Night

"The Tiger's Claw."

A salient and annoying characteristic of "The Tiger's Claw" at the Allen is the generally blurred nature of the scenery. It serves for the most part to take away most of the reality from a story of the hill country of India, where there might have been an opportunity for heaps of action. What punch there was is left largely to Aileen Pringle as the half-caste girl to insert.

"The Tiger's Claw" is singularly without thrills. Dramatic effect is entirely destroyed in the tiger scene by showing Jack Holt, already on his way to recovery, before the nature of the accident with which he met is disclosed. The tense nature of the scene or two during his startling redemption do what they can to make up for the utter passivity of the first part.

Eva Novak and Jack Holt have leading roles, as well as Aileen Pringle. It is the latter, though, who really claims the attention. She captures the mind as a vivid actress.

The bill at Loew's is consistently good. The feature picture, "Diana of the Crossways," sails right away from other English productions which have been shown in the city up into a class by itself, with better substance and acting than many a featured American film can boast of, and none of the crudeness of direction and setting which have marked other releases from England. Fay Compton has a rare cameo-like beauty and an ability to act which rivals that of the greater lights in the screen world. In a richly beautiful manner, the story deals with life in the upper stratum of English society, the circle in which the prime minister and his colleagues move, and in which unfold the dramatic episodes in the life of Diana Warwick.

It is difficult to override the flood of publicity with which films have been deluged, but if this can be done, it ought to be to the effect that "Diana of the Crossways" will be one of the outstanding pictures of the year, and that any faults it may possess are hidden at least in the first seeing by the distinction of its fascinating star, Fay Compton.

The vaudeville is better than any bill which has been here since the 24th of May. The clever performance on that day will be remembered. This week's has as much of humor, cleverness, and originality to recommend it.

With regard to the rest of the bill, there are some Pathe scenes of Mount Etna in eruption which are worth a special mention, one of the popular Grantland Rice sport series, and a film novelty quite worth seeing, as well as the usual comedy.

The feature picture had not arrived at the afternoon performance, and in its place was shown the Sherlock Holmes story, "The Hound of the Baskervilles." The extra Christie comedy, with Earl Rodney shown in the afternoon's bill, was the best here for a long time. There is an unusually good bill, the more unusual because presented in the summer dog-days.

"Snowdrift."

The first of a series of pictures of the adventures of Yorke Norroy, the famous detective, commenced yesterday, and will be shown the first part of every week for several months.

WEDDINGS

POLLOCK—SMITH.

Chatham, July 23.—A pretty event took place at Howard Avenue Methodist Parsonage, Windsor, on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, when Hazel Irene, daughter of Mrs. E. Smith of Moy avenue was united in marriage to J. Milton Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pollock of St. Clair street, city. Rev. Mr. Allen, the pastor, formerly of Dover circuit, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The bride was charming in a fawn silk crepe de chine and hat to correspond, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, and the rooms were effectively decorated with sweet peas. Messages of congratulations were received, including a telegram from the local branch of the Dominion Bank, where the groom was a former member.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollock left on a boat trip from Detroit to Cleveland, Buffalo and other points, the latter traveling in a navy costume and hat to match. Upon their return they will reside in their new home at 876 Gladstone avenue, Windsor. The beautiful wedding gifts testified to the popularity of the young couple, and among them was a mahogany fern stand and fern from the Canadian National freight office, where the groom is employed. Relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. R. Pollock, Mr. R. H. Strain, Miss Alma Blackburn, and Miss Minnie Hill of Chatham; and Mr. and Mrs. Whittall of Wheatley, the latter a sister of the bride.

DIBB—BLAIR.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Hyatt Avenue Methodist parsonage on Saturday evening last, when Miss Emma Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blair, York street, became the bride of Mr. John J. Dibb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dibb, King street, the Rev. Johnston McCormick officiating. The bride wore a pretty beaded gown of navy blue, and white satin hat. Mr. and Mrs. Dibb will be at home to their friends in Detroit after August 1.

Slump in Northwestern Is One of Chief Incidents in Day's Trading.

STOCKS SENSITIVE

Statement of Central Leather Company Proves To Be Very Disappointing.

By STUART P. WEST.
Special to The Advertiser.
Copyright.

Wall Street, New York, July 24.—Continued weakness in shares of the northwestern railroads was one of the chief incidents in the market today. Losses of a point to more than two points occurred in Great Northern, preferred, Chicago and Northwestern, St. Paul, preferred, and Northern Pacific. The reasons for the selling in this quarter have quite often been pointed out. Great Northern is earning about 6¼ per cent against dividend requirements of 5. Northern Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern are earning less than 6 per cent and distributing 5.

St. Paul will do well if it more than covers fixed charges this year. There is no margin in any of these cases to set against losses through any reduction of grain freight rates, and the result of the depression in the wheat trade.

The fall in the northwestern issues discouraged any attempt at operations for the rise in other railway shares. At the same time belief that crude oil prices will be cut again before the end of the week caused continued pressure against the oil group. The weakness in these two directions had an unsettling effect upon the general list. It did not bring in any important selling, but it dragged prices down generally.

Specialties like Stromberg and Stewart Warner, having had a particularly rapid upturn, were more sensitive than the average to the reactionary movement. Studebaker and Chandler also came down rather easily.

Some special weakness developed in Independent Steel stocks, apparently anticipating that the midweek reviews of the steel trade will not make stimulating reading.

Leather Industry Disappointing.

Intimations that have been heard all along that the course of the leather industry was disappointing were borne out by the Central Leather figures for the second quarter published today. This company made a fair profit during the first three months, but during the second three months it fails to cover bond interest. Central Leather stocks weakened again after the report came out.

SHIPMENTS OF CHEESE FOR WEEK INCREASE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 23.—The movement of cheese for the past week from the Port of Montreal was the largest of any previous week this season, the total exports being 59,198 boxes, which showed an increase of 30,330 boxes compared with the previous week and an increase of 15,740 boxes with the same week last year, but the total shipments from May 1, 1923 to July 21, 1923, have been 7,770 boxes smaller than for the corresponding period of 1922, and they show a decrease of 335,473 boxes with 1921.

The export trade in butter was dull, and no shipments were made last week, as against 17,106 packages for the same week last year, and a total from May 1, 1922 to July 22, 1922, of 118,226 packages. There were no shipments of eggs last week, as against 400 cases for the same week last year, with the total for 1923 to date of 2,750 cases, as compared with 2,956 cases for the same period in 1922.

MONTREAL TRADING DEVELOPS DULLNESS

Twin City Rapid Transit Only Issue To Attract Attention.

Reported to The Advertiser by Johnston & Ward.

Montreal, July 24.—In the early period of the forenoon session on the Montreal Stock Exchange it looked as though a moderately active market would develop, but in the second hour trading lost most of its impetus and during the closing period the market was exceptionally dull and featureless. No factors of any kind are in sight to influence the trend of prices, and the impression prevails in brokerage circles that the future movement cannot be otherwise than in an upward direction, but for a time not much activity is anticipated.

Twin City Rapid Transit was the only issue with board lot transaction in the public utility department. A gain of one-half point was scored by Canadian Converters. The other stocks of the same group were completely neglected. Specialties attracted very little attention.

RASPBERRIES FEATURE CITY MARKET TRADING

Red Variety Predominates — Cherries Sell at 60 Cents For Six-Quart Basket.

With the local market in a sluggish mood the supply of red raspberries were the outstanding feature today. The prices range from 20c to 23c, with some asking 25c a single box. By the crate the price was 23c.

Black raspberries are scarce and are selling at 25c a box. There were a few baskets of cherries offered at 60c for a 6-quart and 85c to $1.10 for an 11-quart basket.

One load of oats sold for $1.80 a cwt. No hay or wheat was offered. Beans are selling at 40c for a 6-quart basket and 75c for an 11-quart basket.

Lettuce, radishes and beets all sold for 5c a bunch. Onions sold for 5c or 6 for 25c. Cabbage were selling at from 10c and 15c, according to size. Butter and eggs were scarce.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, July 23.—There was very little feature in today's wheat market, the session being extremely dull throughout, and there was little evidence of short selling or pressure, the demand being light, with little buying support, indicating a slight export busines worked over the week-end. After opening unchanged, the futures displayed a little strength, but towards the close eased off again, showing a decline of ½c each for the July and October delivery and ⅝c for December.

The future coarse grain markets were dull and featureless, with bids for oats about steady, while the other grains were showing an easier tendency.

CHICAGO

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, July 23.—Despite a rally, due for the most part to reports of damage by black rust in the Northwest, wheat averaged lower in price today, owing chiefly to persistent hedging sales and to slowness of export demand. The close was unsettled, at ¼c to ⅜c to ½c to ⅝c net decline, with September 98⅜c to 98⅞c and December $1.01⅞. Corn finished at a range varying from ⅞c decline to 1¼c to 1⅛ advance; oats unchanged to ½c to ⅝c lower, and provisions unchanged to 10c off.

Estimates that more than 1,000 carloads of wheat had arrived here today gave the market a downward tendency at the outset, but the actual total was much less, 864 cars, and this fact, together with reports of unfavorable weather both sides of the Canadian line, soon gave bulls a temporary advantage.

Considerable attention in the last part of the day was given to figures purporting to show that for world supply purposes the increase of Canadian wheat acreage since 1913 would along more than make up for stoppage of exports from Russia.

Corn and oats eased down as a result of beneficial showers over much of the corn belt. Influenced by scarcity of immediate supplies of corn, though, July corn touched a new high price record for the season.

Cash prices:

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, July 24.—Wheat underwent a material setback in price today during the early dealings, bears making much of a sharp decline in Liverpool quotations and of weakness in the New York stock market. Favorable weather for the spring crop in the Northwest tended further to depress values. On the other hand, hedging pressure was only moderate. Opening prices were followed by additional downturns before the decline was checked.

Owing to scantiness of immediate supplies, corn equaled the season's high price record for the July delivery. Deferred deliveries were easier with wheat. After opening at ½c decline to ⅜c to ½c advance, the market held close to the initial range.

CATTLE SALES DULL AT TORONTO MARKET

Prices Hold Steady, Although Little Demand For Animals Evidenced.

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, July 24.—Business was quiet at the cattle market today. At the opening there was still in the neighborhood of 900 stale cattle, mostly held over the week-end. There are very few desirable, either for killing or stockers among them, and they are difficult to place.

Buyers were a little keener after fresh stuff of finished and quality but there was very little in this class offering, owners and commission men in most cases preferring to hold over until tomorrow rather than face today's somewhat listless market. Prices held steady to a little firmer than last week's close.

There is a fair demand for good feeders, several cars of western cattle, steers and heifers, selling from $4.50 to $5.35. And a load of 1,200 pound short keep feeders at $5.85.

Cows good and steady, choice at $5 to $5.50.

Calves firm and higher, lambs firmer and about $1 higher at $13 to $13.50, and one small lot of government lambs at $14. Hogs steady at $8.25 f.o.b. and $8.75 fed and watered.

Union Stock Yards—Receipts today, 49 cars, with 601 cattle, 200 calves, 1,420 hogs and 552 sheep and lambs.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, July 23.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,012. There were no good quality butcher steers offered and about 225 of the cattle on sale were leftovers from last week. Trading this morning was very slow and prices were lower on the few sales made up to 10 o'clock. One small lot of fairly good steers brought $7.00 and one load of medium and fairly good steers brought $6.50. One load of common steers and heifers and a few medium cows brought $4.25. Two lots of common heavy western steers brought $5.00. One load of real good western cows weighed up at $5.25, and a couple of loads of good cows sold at $4.75 and $5.00. Medium cows ranged from $4.00 to $4.50, and common ones $3.50 to $4.00. Indications are that all the cattle will not be sold today.

Quotations: Butcher steers, medium, $6.00 to $7.00; common, $4.00 to $5.50; butcher heifers, medium, $4.25 to $5.50; butcher cows, good, $4.75 to $5.25; medium, $3.00 to $4.50; canners, $1.25 to $1.75; cutters, $2.00 to $2.50.

Calf receipts, 1,432. The majority of the calves offered were common drinkers and grassers and these sold slow. Good calves were in fair demand and a few veals picked out brought $8.00. Straight lots of medium to good calves sold from $6.25 to $7.00, and common suckers from $5.50 and up. Drinker calves from $4.00 to $5.00; grassers from $3.00 to $3.50. Quotations: Good veal, $7.00 to $8.00; medium, $6.25 to $7.00; common, $4.00 to $5.50; grass, $3.00 to $3.50.

Sheep receipts, 4,237. The receipts of lambs increased sharply over last week and prices dropped $2.00 per cwt. or more. Sales of good lambs were made this morning at from $10.75 to $12.00, with one small lot of choice lambs at $12.50. Common lambs sold from $8.00 and up. Sheep were from $3.00 to $5.00.

FRANCE TO SUBMIT PLAN TO COUNTER BRITAIN'S OFFER

SEEK MODIFICATIONS

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

Paris, July 24.—Recommendations for a counter proposition to the British plan, not Germany's, were to be submitted to the French cabinet today by Premier Poincare.

Second in importance to these was a report to the ministers by M. Letroquer, minister of public works, who returned from an inspection of the Ruhr, to the effect that German resistance is weakening and will collapse eventually.

Although official proceedings still remained cloaked in great secrecy, the inference was that Poincare and his aides had found the British draft inacceptable, just as the press and unofficial spokesmen have predicted.

The counter proposal, which will be sent to London by way of opening inter-allied pourparlers on the subject of reparations, is understood to contain French suggestions for modification of the British note. Those of the government who insist upon a firm Ruhr policy and concessions to Britain's suggestion that French and Belgian troops withdraw found M. Letroquer's report a powerful argument in their favor. The minister was understood to be convinced heavy pressure is wearing down resistance.

GRAIN GROWS RAPIDLY ON WESTERN FARMS

Special to The Advertiser.

Clandeboye, July 23.—A letter just received from a former McGillivrayite now residing on a farm near Grande Prairie, Alta., reports that crops are good in that section. As an example of the rapid growth of grain, wheat sown on May 2 began to head out by June 22. The gardens, however, are not so good as usual, owing to the dry season. Butter and eggs have fallen rapidly in price—butter being now 25 cents per pound, and eggs 12 1-2 cents per dozen. A light hailstorm was in progress at the time of writing, but did not promise to be serious.

WILL ERECT BELL SIGNAL AT DANGEROUS CROSSING

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, July 23.—As a result of a resolution passed by the city council some time ago the city clerk has received a communication from the board of railway commissioners to the effect that an order had been issued for the erection of a wig-wag and bell warning signal at the crossing of the Port Dover railway on Riddell street. A short time ago two accidents to autos occurred at this point, and it was due to these that the city council sent in a request for protection which has now been granted by the board.

FIRE OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN CAUSES LOSS AT IONA

Special to The Advertiser.

Dutton, July 23.—Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the general store of Ernest Turner at Iona Station early Sunday. The branch office of the Home Bank adjoining, was also destroyed. Mr. and Mrs. Turner were on a trip to Detroit, and the store was in charge of Mr. McLeod, who closed up about 10 o'clock, Saturday. Mr. Clark, who lives on the farm adjoining the village, noticed the fire about 3 a.m., but it was so far advanced that nothing could be saved. Mr. Turner's loss is partially covered by insurance.

FORMER GUELPH MAN ILL.

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, July 23.—Word was received here today that W. F. Savage, who for many years lived in Guelph, is seriously ill in Vancouver. His son, Dr. Tom Savage, immediately on receiving the news left for the coast.

Farmers of Alberta Will Organize Marketing Pool

Aaron Sapiro, the American Co-operative Marketing Expert, Is Going To Province To Help Movement.

Special to The Advertiser.

Calgary, Alta., July 24.—No matter what the government of Alberta, the United Farmers of Alberta, or the joint conference of Western Farmer bodies now in session in Regina may do, the farmers of Southern Alberta will organize a marketing pool to handle this year's crop.

It is highly probable, also now that it is assured that Aaron Sapiro, the American co-operative marketing expert, is coming to this province in August to help the movement, that groups of farmers in other parts of Alberta will organize similar pools. In this event, an effort will be made to merge all these pools into one marketing concern that while formed primarily to assist in marketing the wheat crop, will be used to market the farmers' other grains and other products, including live stock.

Things have moved rapidly in Southern Alberta's agrarian circles since the Provincial government and the U. F. A. directors definitely announced that a wheat pool would be impossible this year. The farmers between Calgary and the international border were not satisfied with this ruling, and it has been more than hinted they have come to the conclusion that politics was being played rather than that economics was being studied. In any case they have taken the matter into their own hands, and at four important points—MacLeod, Claresholm, Nanton and Granum—the organization of the pool is well under way and the scope of this organization is being extended to include practically the whole southern part of the province.

Ontario Hydro Enterprise May Soon Have New Rival

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, July 24.—A vast rival of the Ontario hydro-electric is contemplated in a new enterprise which is proposed for the development of power on the St. Lawrence River, an enterprise which would call for the investment of at least two hundred million dollars by private interests in the United States.

There is a feeling that the governments of Ontario and of the Dominion, as well as of the United States, must make a definite statement of policy regarding the prospects which have been made by private companies for the harnessing of the mighty river. Involved is the question of St. Lawrence navigation as well as of St. Lawrence power.

Colonel Hugh L. Cooper, representing one of the strongest groups of industrial corporations in the United States, has announced what his associations are ready to do, but all these plans are contingent upon the approval of both the United States and the Canadian governments, Canada is vitally concerned, for it controls most of the power which might be developed from the river, and the export of power must be considered.

RAIN STOPS HARVEST OF WHEAT IN DISTRICT

Farmers, However, Not Anxious Regarding Probable Injury to Crop.

The close damp weather of the last two days, with last night's rain as a climax, is interfering considerably with the harvesting of the fall wheat in this district, the farmers say.

Several farmers who attended this morning's market stated that they had cut their wheat and were ready to haul it into the barn when last night's rain stopped the harvest.

Unless the weather continues wet they anticipate no real injury to the wheat other than that it would have threshed much cleaner if the rains had held off until the crop was put under cover.

If other crops do as well proportionately which were not injured, Western Ontario is sure of harvesting a full list of bumper crops this summer.

ENGLISH POTTERIES AT KENT.

Beautiful pottery is now being produced at Sandwich. The clay deposits in the old channel which once separated the Isle of Thanet from the mainland are admirably adapted to this use, and a thriving industry is growing up in the locality.

FAVORS BUILDING MORE SWIM TANKS IN CITY PLAYPARKS

VICTIMS CARELESS

Manager E. V. Buchanan and Dr. Smith, superintendent of the Utilities Commission Playgrounds, in discussing the recent drownings at the Becher Island Swimming Camp, said that the problem of protecting the lives of the bathers who insist in swimming out of hours and beyond the safety zone of the camp is almost an impossible one.

Done Everything For Safety.

"We have done everything that we can to make these bathing places safe, and have carried out every suggestion that has been put forward that could help in making it safe. It seems an even greater tragedy to think that the safety raft which we had made to answer while a boat was being built should in a measure be responsible for the boy's death. Of course, no one could do more than the lifeguard did in mooring the raft securely within the limits of the safety zone, and the boys knew they were disobeying the rules when they took the raft into deep water," said Mr. Buchanan.

Dr. Smith said concerning the safety of the pools: "It is unfortunate that these drownings should occur when we are unable to cope with them by taking even extraordinary precautions. In the first accident, the poor Storey girl was exhausted hours before she was drowned. In fact, we learned since that she went to the pool without hehr breakfast, and stayed in the water long after the lunch hour. What is one to do to prevent an accident when a girl exhausted in that manner drowns outside the safety zone so quickly that even the attendant was unable to reach her?

"This last accident, which cost the life of a promising young lad is another case of where the safety precautions had no chance to work. It is a difficult thing to rescue a drowning person in the dark, especially as when he was not seen to sink, and wasn't even missed for some minutes.

Not Enough Policemen.

"Chief Birrell says that he has not men to spare to police the swimming places at night, and I see no other way out of the difficulty, othehr than to construct two additional swimming pools of the Thames Park type where the swimmers come under direct observation all the time they are in the water."

Asked concerning the cost of such swimming places, Mr. Buchanan stated that the Thames Park Pool had cost in the neighborhood of $10,000, and that additional ones would cost as much.

"I believe it will come to that, for although the expense is great, it is generally agreed that the playgrounds have come to stay, and the swimming pool is the biggest feature of the playgrounds. If we can't have swimming in the river without loss of life, I am in favor of building more swimming tanks," he said.

AYLMER

Special to The Advertiser.

Aylmer, July 23.—Mr. E. B. Kennedy of Detroit spent Sunday with Mrs. Kennedy, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Peckham.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Welter and Mrs. Fred Tufford motored from Chicago and are spending a couple of weeks with relatives and friends in Aylmer and vicinity.

Mr. Herbert Bates, Mrs. Walter Bates and her mother, Mrs. E. Rogers of Jarvis, motored up and spent Sunday with relatives and friends here.

Mrs. Fred Ingram, Talbot street west, had the misfortune to break her arm on Friday last while cranking a car.

Today is the first day of the Aylmer Chautauqua, and for the rest of the week the big tent on the public school grounds will be a popular place.

The Aylmer citizens' band gave a concert at Port Burwell yesterday afternoon. A big crowd enjoyed the afternoon. On Tuesday night the band furnishes a musical program at Sparta and on Wednesday night at Glanworth.

Mrs. Will Bates is spending a few days with Mrs. George Brown, Colborne street, London.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gifford and daughter Dorothy and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Gifford have returned from a two weeks' motor trip to Athens, where they visited their parents.

Miss Blanche Butterwick has returned from a short holiday spent in Windsor. Mr. and Mrs. George Harp also spent a few days in the border cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. Lindsay of Winnipeg and Mrs. R. Bruce Lindsay of Toronto are spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Anger, Clarence street, two of Aylmer's oldest and most esteemed citizens, will celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary on August 9.

At the union services in St. Paul's Church yesterday Rev. Ashmore confined his remarks to the young people, and a junior choir and orchestra furnished a splendid musical program of choruses and solos. Mrs. Eubanks of Cleveland also sang a beautiful contralto solo at the morning service. Beginning next Sunday the union services will be held in the Baptist Church for the next five Sundays, and Rev. H. T. Ferguson, pastor of the Methodist Church, will have charge, while Rev. Ashmore enjoys his holidays.

FIRE LOSS OF $16,000 ON PORT STANLEY FARM

James Black Loses Valuable Buildings and Implements in Fire of Unknown Origin.

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Stanley, July 23.—Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the farm buildings and equipment of James Black, R. R. 1, Port Stanley, shortly after 8 o'clock Sunday morning, causing a loss estimated to be $16,000. Insurance amounting to about $12,000 was carried.

Fanned by a strong breeze the flames swept from one building to another, and handicapped by a lack of fire-fighting apparatus the bystanders could do little to prevent the steady sweep of the fire. Shortly after breaking out the mass of farm buildings was a raging inferno, the heat being too extreme to allow anyone to venture near. The arrival of the St. Thomas fire brigade saved the house, but it could do nothing towards salvaging the large barns, etc.

The owner, James Black, was not present at the time, the farm being run by Mrs. Fulton and her son Lloyd. Mr. Black lives at 488 St. James street, London, and is employed at the Universal Motors.

The buildings destroyed were as follows: Barn, 40x60 feet; barn, 26x60 feet; horse stable, 26x60 feet; hogpen, 20x35 feet; water tank; silo, 14x35 feet; 90 tons of hay; two complete threshing outfits, and a large quantity of the latest modern farm machinery. No live stock was killed or destroyed.

PREDICTS STAG ISLAND WILL BECOME FAMOUS

Head of Fraternal Fellowship Association Describes Improvements Made.

Special to The Advertiser.

Corunna, July 24.—More than 1,000 people were present at the get-together meeting held on Stag Island Saturday and Sunday by the Fraternal Fellowship Association.

At the Sunday morning meeting George A. Crowe of Detroit, president of the organization, dealt with the improvements made since the island has been taken over by this body. "In a year or two," he predicted, "you will see Stag Island on the map as one of the greatest resorts in America."

The Fellowship Association has built dykes all through the island. Bridges have been built over the dykes and many marshes filled up. The place is becoming more popular each year. About twelve new cottages were built this spring and many more are now in the course of construction.

DORCHESTER BOWLERS CHAMPS FIRST SERIES

| | Won. | Lost. | For. | Agst. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Dorchester | 4 | 1 | 83 | 72 |

The league will stage its annual tournament on Dorchester greens August 4, starting at 1:30 o'clock. There will be three sets of prizes, and entries are open to league clubs only.

BRITISH FENCERS WIN CUP FROM U. S. TEAM

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 23.—The British fencers tonight won the Robert M. Thompson trophy from the United States team, which came across seas to defend. The final score was: Great Britain, 24; United States, 22.

The Britons gained possession of the trophy when they won the sabre match, the third match of the competition, by a score of ten points to six. Last week the United States swordsmen defeated the Englishmen in the foils, 11 to 5, and in the epee contest the Englishmen won nine out of the fourteen bouts.

KENT CO. LEAGUE EXPECTS BATTLE ROYAL THURSDAY

Special to The Advertiser.

Tilbury, July 23.—Next Thursday Tilbury and the Windsor Tigers meet in the second game of their three-game series. These two teams have met twice this season, first in an exhibition game, which went to Tilbury by a 1—0 score after fifteen innings, and then in the opening game of the series, which was played in Windsor and was won by a one-sided score by the Tigers. Prendergast, the Tilbury twirler, it is said, was not in form for that contest, but the Tilbury fans are confident that he will tame the Tigers on Thursday next.

So great is the interest taken in this game that there will be no games played in any of the Kent County League towns on that date, in order that the fans of Kent County may all have the opportunity to see the battle, which promises to be one of the most keenly-contested ever staged in Tilbury. And, at that, Tilbury fans have witnessed some royal contests in recent years. Manager Trudell of the Thamesville team and President Lemarsh of the Kent County League will be the umpires for the second game.

INGERSOLL SOCCER IS BOOMING.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ingersoll, July 23.—Judging from the attendance at the first practice more than usual interest is being manifested in soccer. Among those in uniform were a number of former players, and the indications point to a strong team representing the town in the Oxford Soccer League.

DUTTON TOURNEY WEDNESDAY.

Special to The Advertiser.

Dutton, July 23.—Great preparation is being made for the eighth annual tournament which the bowlers are putting on Wednesday. There is a big entry already in the hands of Mr. Young, the secretary, and it is apparent that the tourney will be bigger and better than ever.

The Dutton baseball team play the second game of league series at West Lorne on Wednesday. Owing to the keen rivalry between these clubs it is expected that a great number of the Dutton fans will follow the boys.

NEWBURY BEATS MT. BRYDGES.

Special to The Advertiser.

Newbury, July 23.—A game of baseball was played at Newbury with Mount Brydges, the score standing 13-7 for Newbury. This completes the league's games for Newbury. Newbury's team visited Inwood Saturday, winning by 11-1.

WANT AD TIPS

Use Words of Enthusiasm

Listen to a high school girl describe a beautiful new dress—a "fan" relate high lights of his favorite pitcher's last great game—a clever salesman make the talk which will land a big order. There is one characteristic common to the speech of all—WORDS OF ENTHUSIASM.

One of these three—the salesman—gives free outlet to his enthusiasm with forethought, knowing how it will assist him to sell. So necessary, in fact, is enthusiasm to him that if he is an experienced man he will seldom undertake to sell an article for which he cannot be enthusiastic. He knows he would fail. He knows how sincere words of enthusiasm arouse interest in the person he is interviewing, stimulate desire, and finally move to favorable action.

In Want Ads, words of enthusiasm are equally powerful for results. Keen advertisers realize this. Here are such words and phrases used in messages to sell homes—

"Sunny rooms," "nice decorations," pride of the neighborhood," "one of the nicest built and arranged bungalows in this fine district," "new and up-to-the-minute six-room bungalow," "attractive kitchen," "elegantly furnished," "splendid south side location," "convenient built-in features," "a love-nest of a home," "extraordinarily large rooms, wonderfully built," "two beautiful lots," "a real dream of a home," "convenient as a pocket in a shirt," "only 500 feet from street car," "built upon honor," "nice entertainment room," "magnificent view," "a pleasure to show this pretty place," "in a beautiful block of homes."

No matter what the thing you are advertising, if you feel it is unusually good, let your enthusiasm for it be apparent in your Want Ad. If you wish, an Ad.-Taker will be glad to help you put it there.

THINKS LEONARD'S NEXT OPPONENT WILL BE WALKER

LEW WAS VERY SLOW

By FAIR PLAY.
Copyright.

New York, July 24.—Benny Leonard's next opponent, according to all the dope, will be Mickey Walker, welterweight champion everywhere outside of New York, but since the New York State Athletic Commission does not abide by its own rules, any titles it bestows carry little or no respect. Just after the Leonard-Hart fight the writer said he would like to be present when Tendler and Leonard weighed in for Monday night's battle. What was meant was that he did not believe they could make the limit unless they cut off their legs.

Press Not Admitted.

Well, the expected happened at the weighing in time before the bout. The event did not take place where the commission said it would. When the location was finally traced, newspapermen were not admitted, although rule 40 of the commission's regulations say they shall be. So maybe Leonard tipped the scales within the limit and maybe he did not. It cannot be proved by any fight critic. Same for Tendler.

As a fight, the battle was even tamer than some of the shrewd followers of the political and business side of the ring game thought it would be. It looked as though Tendler had faded and that his hands, especially his left, had been rendered unfit for hard punching. Whereupon friend Benny had agreed to conduct him through a not brutal evening in exchange for the ducats of the gullible fight fans.

Tendler was slow, and never was his judgment so faulty since he began fighting. He was short in his punches from the first to the fifteenth, and when he landed the blows were of the cream puff variety.

Leonard got in some hard punches occasionally, but he kept them distributed sufficiently to insure Tendler's presence in the ring when the fifteenth round ended.

Footwork Was Good.

The champion's footwork was more like the old Leonard footwork than anything he has shown in years. Either that, or Tendler was so slow that Benny looked faster than he was. And Leonard's blocking was of high order. In other words, he went through a nifty workout of the gym variety. He showed that anything he didn't know about Tendler's left-handed style of fighting last year—and it seemed to be a lot—had been supplied to him. All in all, as a title bout, one word describes it—blah! And the writer's compliments go to the New York State Athletic Commission.

FOREST CITY PIGEON CLUB RACE GOES TO TWIN LOFTS

Forest City Racing Pigeon Club held their first race of young birds from Thamesville, a distance of 50 miles air line, and with a strong northwest wind prevailing. The birds made a creditable showing. The birds were released at 12:30.

Twin Lofts defeated Rawson Bros. birds by one second, carrying off both the special prize and the pool. The winner clocked at 1:54.46. Rawson Bros. birds at 1:56.47 and 1:56.52.

The standings (velocity in yards per minute): 1 Twin Lofts, 971. S. P.; 2 Rawson Bros., 970; 3 Rawson Bros., 969; 4 J. Astle, 964; 5 W. Collins, 953; 6 J. Lightfoot, 945 (No. 1 Loft); 7 Young & Kernohan, 943; 8 J. Lightfoot, 920 (No. 2); 9 H. Westland, 689; 10 F. Hardy, Lucan. Time, 3:7. No air line distance received.

SIR RICHARD SQUIRES QUITS PREMIERSHIP

Prime Minister of Newfoundland Resents Criticism of Agriculture Department.

Canadian Press Despatch.

St. Johns, Nfld., July 24.—Yesterday forenoon Sir Richard Squires tendered to the governor his resignation as premier and colonial secretary, and advised his excellency to call on Hon. W. R. Warren, K.C., to form a ministry. It is understood that Sir Richard alleged as his reason for resigning hostile criticisms of the department of agriculture by Dr. Alexander Campbell, a native of Prince Edward Island, and insistent party demands for his dismissal from the cabinet.

The Squires government has held power since 1919, and was sustained at a general election last May by a majority of ten members in a legislature of 36.

FORMER PASTOR PREACHES TO LARGE CONGREGATION

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, July 24.—Rev. A. B. McLeod of Tabor, Iowa, a former pastor of Chalmers Church of this city, is spending a few days in Woodstock while on a motor tour of the eastern parts of Canada and the United States. Mr. McLeod left Woodstock seven years ago, and has spent four years in California and three years in his present charge at Tabor. Last night he occupied the pulpit of Chalmers Church in company with Rev. D. Wallace Christie, and delivered a message to his former congregation. He was heartily welcomed back to Woodstock by a

PROFESSOR JORDAN TELLS BIBLE STORY

SCOTLAND AND KNOX

Special to The Advertiser.

Strathroy, July 23. — A crowded congregation listened with rapt interest yesterday morning, when Dr. Jordan, professor of Old Testament Exgesis at Queen's University, gave one of his discourses on an "Old Testament story," from the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

After an expression of his delight in occupying once again the pulpit in which he labored so many years before taking up his work in Queen's University, Dr. Jordan turned to the story of Naaman, the Syrian, being cured of leprosy by the prophet Elisha, and the sin and punishment of Elisha's servant, Gehazi, as told in the 5th chapter of Second Kings.

To understand this and many other of these wonderful stories in the ancient Hebrew literature, the doctor went on to say that it is necessary to appreciate their setting, and to illustrate, he referred to the reformation in Scotland, when under the leadership of John Knox the people broke away from the established religion and developed a new one, most drastic and better in its changes. This was exactly what had occurred in Israel, when the Jews broke away from the worship of the peoples around them, and established the worship of Jehovah.

As the Scottish people had Sir Walter Scott and Robert Burns to clothe the genius of their race in story and song, so had the ancient Hebrews their authors, who in these fiction stories and the poems of the Bible clothed their finest conceptions.

"This story of Naaman," said Dr. Jordan, "is one of the finest of these fiction stories, and asserts in the incidents related the writer's claim for himself and his people that their conception of God was infinitely higher and better than that of the surrounding nations."

In conclusion, Dr. Jordan pointed out that if this writer living 3,000 years ago with only the meagre knowledge and revelation of the thinkers of that day had such a true conception of God, how much better must we who have in addition the revelation of His Son.

During the offering, Miss Edna Sadlier, who is a member of the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto, sang Liddle's "The Dwelling of the Lord" most delightfully.

KILLS WIFE AND CHILDREN THEN TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

FARMERS WILL HEAR DECISION OF DRURY

Defeated and Elected U.F.O. Men To Meet In Toronto Thursday.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 24.—It has been arranged to hold the adjourned meeting of the U. F. O. elected members and defeated candidates in Toronto on Thursday next. The main item of business is the selection of a leader. This position was offered two weeks ago to ex-Premier Drury, who desired to take time to arrive at a decision. It is expected that he will make known his conclusion at Thursday's meeting.

It was stated yesterday no other nominations had been made for the leadership, and that the elected members at least were expecting the former premier to accept the position. In that event, it will, of course, be necessary to find a seat for Mr. Drury. The only haven at present in sight is East Wellington, and it is understood that Hon. W. E. Raney is ready and willing to resign in favor of his former colleague, in the event of the electors consenting.

TILLSONBURG CARS CRASH BUT OCCUPANTS ESCAPE

Special to The Advertiser.

Tillsonburg, July 23.—The cars of R. J. Brookfield and Basil Mabee came together with a terrific impact shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in front of the post office. A large crowd was soon on hand, but fortunately the occupants of the two cars had a miraculous escape from serious injury, although both cars were badly wrecked.

GROCERS' PICNIC PROMISES TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

Popular Lakeside Resort Will Be Scene of Merry-Making.

UNIQUE PROGRAM

The grocers' picnic at Port Stanley tomorrow gives every indication of a record breaker. Everything has been completed by the committee in charge, and it is assured that many hundreds of Londoners outside of the grocers and their families will take in the annual outing at the lake.

The sports committee has provided what old-timers declare to be the best program ever carried out at the lakeside, and it includes events that will appeal to both young and old, to spectator as well as contestant.

The baby show will be a big feature of a day of unique features. Those who would compete in the show should secure certificates so that, in case their babies should win first prizes, they may be entitled to take part in the competition on Labor Day for the grand L. & P. S. sweepstakes prize of $500 offered by the Northern Life Assurance Company of London. These certificates may be obtained at the depots of the L. & P. S. in London, St. Thomas and Port Stanley, and at the Japanese Tea House on Invererie Heights, the L. & P. S. Cafeteria and the terminal booth on the beach, Port Stanley. The name and age of the baby must be given, and also the name of the parents or guardian.

Excellent Prizes.

The grocers have provided excellent prizes for their show, and the pride of the family will be sure to win something if shown at the lakeside on Wednesday.

Chairman Harry Ranahan announces that the manufacturers' horse race will prove a stirring event, and it is whispered that "Sweet Arrowroot" will be the favorite. But the giving of tips being prohibited by law, the grocers refuse to say anything more on the matter.

Fifteen bags of flour are to be given away, and also 100 pounds of granulated sugar.

Other events include a softball game between girls' teams, a baseball match between teams picked from the grocers north and south of Dundas street, a kiddie-car race for men and other unique contests.

The Conan Doyle film, "The Hound of the Baskervilles," with Eille Norwood as Sherlock Holmes, is being shown at the L. & P. S. free movies tonight, but on Wednesday night there will be a complete change of bill for the grocers, when the feature film will be "The Veiled Woman," one of the most gripping photo plays of the age.
