The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

D.B. Weldon Library
University of Western Ontario

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol  $\rightarrow$  (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

D.B. Weldon Library

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\rightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

Third Year.

For the Third Year the Candidates shall be examined in Theology, and Ancient and Modern History, in the following order:

TEXT BOOKS.

Watson's Theological Institutes, Parts III. and IV.;
Pearson's Exposition of the Creed, and Taylor's Manual of Ancient and Modern History.

ADDITIONAL FOR HONOURS.

Smith's Sacred Annals: (3) The Gentile Nations.

WATSON'S THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTES.*

PART THIRD.

I. MORALS OF CHRISTIANITY.

1. The Moral Law.
2. The Duties we owe to God.
3. Duties to our neighbour.

* The examination on this work will be conducted by the Analysis of the Institutes referred to at page 21.

PART FOURTH.

II. INSTITUTIONS OF CHRISTIANITY.

1. The Christian Church.
2. The Christian Sacraments.
  1. Number and nature of Sacraments.
  2. Sacrament of Baptism.
  3. Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

PEARSON ON THE CREED.

ARTICLE I.

Sec. I. "I believe."

The three things implied in the word Credo.

1. With respect to internal faith or belief.
2. With respect to the external confession of the faith thus explained.
3. With respect to the obligation of thus believing and confessing, as declared in the word "Credo."

A summary of what is meant by these words, "I believe."

Sec. II. "I believe in God."

The three considerations involved in the proposition, "I believe in God."

1. With respect to the meaning of the term "God."
  2. With respect to the existence of the Being thus declared in the Creed.
  3. With respect to the unity of this Being.
- A summary of what is meant by "I believe in God."

Sec. III. "I believe in God the Father."

Considering the relative term Father, ascribed to God in the first part of the Creed, either with respect to the creation immediately following this, or the correlative Son, who is the subject of the second part of the Creed next following.

1. With relation to the whole creation of which we are a part, and the part principally concerned in the term as thus applied.

2. With relation to the "Only Son" hereafter mentioned in the Creed.

A summary of the truths confessed in this primary article of our Christian Religion—belief in God the Father.

Sec. IV. "I believe in God the Father Almighty."

Respecting the epithet "Almighty," immediately added to the confession of belief in God by the church militant, as it is to the adoration of him above by the Church triumphant, as described in the Apocalypse,—the Greek word Παντοκράτωρ here used, as by the writers of the New Testament, after the Alexandrine interpreters of the Old may be taken with reference to two different Hebrew words of which they make it severally the representative.

1. Considering the "Lord God Almighty" as the most usual translation of the common Hebrew title, "Jehovah God of Hosts," and consequently as the ex-

2. Considering the word Παντοκράτωρ as the constant translation of another Hebrew title of God, viz. Shaddai, by which is denoted His all-sufficiency and power of Himself, without the intervention of any of the hosts of His subjects to execute his will, in which his dominion stands distinguished in kind from that of all lower potentates.

3. Considering this word Παντοκράτωρ in two further senses which some ancients have ascribed to it.

A summary of what is contained in this great epithet applied to God.

Sec. V. "Maker of Heaven and Earth."

With respect to the attribute of Creation annexed to God the Father Almighty,

1. As to the object of that creation, viz. "Heaven and earth."

2. As to the nature of the Act, viz. Creation, which has been sufficiently considered in the second division of the first head.

3. As to the Agent, viz. God, considered with reference to this great act of his power.

4. As to the importance of thus recognizing God as the Creator: explain how it is necessary.

A summary of this final clause of the first article of our Creed.

ARTICLE II.

"AND IN JESUS CHRIST HIS ONLY SON OUR LORD."

Sec. I. "And in Jesus."

In the appellation "Jesus Christ," which characterizes the next great object of christian belief,—distinguishing between the proper name and the official title,—We begin with the formal, or the nomination strictly so called. And,

1. Respecting the ordinary use of the name "Jesus."
2. Respecting the import of the name.
3. Respecting the applicability of the name thus expressed, though so common, to the actual Messiah or Christ (though not described by this his proper name) in the ancient prophecies.
4. Respecting the expressiveness to ourselves of this ever-blessed name of Jesus, to which all things in heaven and earth are to bow, and the importance of our thus personally acknowledging Jesus our Saviour.

Sec. II. "And in Jesus Christ,"

We proceed from the proper name Jesus, by which even his enemies termed him, to the title Christ, which is in Greek precisely equivalent to the Hebrew Messiah. And,

1. Respecting the interpretation of this title מָשִׁיחַ (Mashiach) or ΧΡΙΣΤΟΣ.
2. Respecting the expectation of a person to whom this sacred title was to belong, in a most eminent and peculiar manner, of which all preceding unctions were but figures and precursors.

3. Respecting the fulfilment of this expectation of the Christ in the sole person of Jesus our Saviour.

4. Respecting the manifestation of the peculiar import explained to belong to the term Messiah, or Christ, in the actual work of Him who was thus expected and announced, and who thus fulfilled the expectation.

5. Respecting the mode in which He who was thus eminently Christ, the Messiah or Anointed, received the unction of the peculiar offices thus unfolded.

6. Respecting the necessity of believing and confessing this great and most distinguishing titular adjunct to the name of our Lord.

A summary, in few words of what is meant by confessing our Lord Jesus as the Christ.

Sec. III. "His only Son."

The appellation of Our Lord in the Creed, being immediately followed by the assertion of His filiation; in discussing this we must consider,

1. The account of this designation.

2. The explanation of it, stating how Jesus is the Son of God.

3. For the necessity of this article of faith, exhibit it in its bearing.

A summary, in few words, of the momentous truth of Christian belief, expressed in these words, "His only Son."

Sec. IV. "Our Lord."

Respecting the next name of Jesus Christ the Son of God, viz. "Our Lord," which in the language of the Holy Scriptures is not merely a descriptive adjunct to the title of Christ, but itself a proper title or appellation, so as singly and separately taken to mean Him only :

1. Show the meaning of the term ΚΥΡΙΟΣ in Scripture.
2. The application of this name to our Lord Jesus Christ.
3. The extent of the Lordship thus ascribed to Christ.
4. The necessity of believing and professing this article of faith.

A summary of what is implied in this concluding circumstance of the primary article of Christian belief.

ARTICLE III.

"WHO WAS CONCEIVED OF THE HOLY GHOST, BORN OF THE VIRGIN MARY."

Sec. I. "Who was Conceived (and Born.)"

State what is the difference between the older Creeds, and this our Creed in the latter editions of it, as to the conception and birth of Christ,—and what is important to be observed on this, that we may view the two clauses in connexion, (as being both of the Virgin Mary, and both by the power of the Holy Ghost,) and thus learn the whole sense of the ancient church on this article.

1. Proof that He of whom this is said, being true God from everlasting, is nevertheless neither the Father nor the Holy Ghost, but he alone whose eternal generation, and dominion, and Lordship, have been before severally proved.

2. That in His being conceived and born, we imply a true and entire participation of the same nature with other men.

3. That in this entire assumption of human nature, He did not cease to be, as to His Divine nature, the same as before; the two natures of perfect God and perfect man remaining in the same subject, but entirely distinct.

4. That the doctrine proved under the preceding heads is not a bare scholastic speculation, but a most indispensable and fundamental truth in Christianity.

Sec. II. "By the Holy Ghost."

With respect to the power and operation through which this conception of our Lord by the Virgin was effected,

1. Proof of what this assertion of a special Divine power excludes.

2. That the assertion includes an extraordinary operation of Divine power, by which the Virgin was caused to be a mother, in every respect as other mothers.

3. That the belief in this operation of the Holy Spirit of God in the conception and birth of Jesus Christ our Lord is necessary.

A summary of what is implied in this part of the article.

Sec. III. "Born of the Virgin Mary."

With respect to her, of whom Our Lord Jesus Christ was thus conceived and born—consider

1. Her name. Heb. מַרְיָם.
2. Her descent.
3. Her condition—expressed by her inseparable and constant designation, the "Virgin."
4. The necessity of believing this, viz. that our Lord, the only-begotten Son of God, was thus born of the Virgin Mary as man.

A summary of what is contained in this confession of Christ Our Lord as born of the Virgin.

ARTICLE IV.

"SUFFERED UNDER PONTIUS PILATE, WAS CRUCIFIED, DEAD, AND BURIED."

Sec. I. "Suffered."

In this capital Article of the Christian Creed, the Passion properly constituted but one subject:—Beginning therefore, generally, with the Article of Passion or suffering, we are to consider—

1. Who it was that suffered: and that in two respects, official and personal.
2. What it was that Jesus Christ the only Son of God, did thus suffer, as the Creed declares, under Pontius Pilate.
3. What is the necessity of the sufferings of Jesus Christ our Lord, and our belief in them.

A summary of the import of this article of the Passion generally.

Sec. II. "Under Pontius Pilate."

Respecting the circumstance of time declared by adding the name of the then Roman Governor of Judea, Pontius Pilate, who though a stranger to the commonwealth of Israel, and to the Church of Christ, is thus commemorated among the objects of the Divine Faith of Christians to the end of time,—we have to consider,

1. His recorded name—consisting of two parts ; [the prænomen not being mentioned nor known.]

2. His official state in the Roman Empire, as procurator of Judea.

3. His character and disposition as evinced in other circumstances, told in profane history as well as in the Gospel.

4. The necessity of this person's name and character expressed to us in this capital Article of our belief.

A summary of what is contained in this second necessary circumstance of the article of the Passion.

Sec. III. "Was crucified."

Respecting the most remarkable particular of this suffering of our Lord, viz., His Crucifixion, show

1. That this circumstance of the Messiah's suffering, though the great stumbling-stone of the Jews, was exhibited to them also very distinctly.

2. That Jesus whom we believe to be the Christ, did so suffer as those preceding adumbrations and predictions stated that Christ should suffer.

3. The nature of this punishment—now not understood, as it was of old, by the bare mention of the word.

4. That thus to believe in “Christ crucified,” is rightly made the necessary characteristic of Christian faith on several accounts.

A summary of this third and most particular circumstance of our Lord’s passion.

Sec. IV. “Dead.”

In the assertion of Christ’s death—not necessarily connected with the preceding one of His Passion, as may be shown,—

1. Prove that the Messiah was, according to the Scriptures, to die, as well as to suffer.

2. That in conformity with these presignifications, our Lord did die.

3. Wherein consisted this Death of Jesus Christ, our Lord and God.

4. That the belief of this great fact is necessary, as referred to Christ in His threefold capacity—viz., as Prophet, Priest, and King.

☒ Sum up, therefore, this article of our Lord’s death.

Sec. V. "And buried."

In the assertion of our Lord's Burial, which in this clause follows the two preceding of His Passion, and His Death, show

1. That the Messiah must be buried.
2. That Jesus Christ, our Lord, was accordingly buried.
3. That the belief of this circumstance is necessary.

Sum up, therefore, this termination of the Central Article of the Christian Creed.

ARTICLE V.

"HE DESCENDED INTO HELL: THE THIRD DAY HE ROSE AGAIN FROM THE DEAD."

Sec. I. "He descended into Hell."

Respecting the descent into hell, show

1. The history of this dogma of faith.
2. The explication of this article.

Sum up, therefore, in a few words, this remarkable part of the Article respecting our Saviour's triumph over Death.

Sec. II. "He rose again."

On the great article of Christ's resurrection, that follows in the Creed, consider the act implied in the word "Resurrexit."

1. Show that the Messiah or Christ was to rise again from the dead.
2. Show that Jesus our Lord was evinced to be that Messiah or Christ, as by other tokens, so by this most eminently, that he did thus rise again from the dead according to the Scriptures.

Sec. III. "He rose again from the dead."

Next, considering the precise nature of this act, as being the Resurrection from the Dead,

1. Define the true nature of such a Resurrection from the Dead.
2. Prove that the Resurrection of Jesus Christ truly answered to the above definition.
3. Prove, respecting the cause of this resurrection, by which its true and proper nature is further confirmed; that, &c.

Sec. IV. "The third day he rose again."

Considering the time so expressly marked as a point of faith in the Creed—viz., the third day:

1. Show that the Messiah or Christ was thus to remain dead three days, and also to rise again on the third day from the day of His Passion—viz., on the Lord's day, or Sunday.

2. Show that Jesus our Lord, the true Messiah or Christ, did actually realize in both respects what was announced of Him, having been crucified on the Friday of the preparation of that Paschal Feast, and rising again the third day after, on Easter Sunday.

3. Declare the belief, and consequent observance, which the Church of Christ have ever since founded upon this great fact—viz., that our Lord buried with himself in the grave the obligation of the Jewish Sabbath, during which he lay there, and raised up again in a new form the obligation of the fourth commandment, ever since attached to the day on which he broke the bars of death, and opened eternal life to all believers.

Sec. V. "The third day he rose again."

Reverting, therefore, to the total consideration of the article whose parts we have thus severally examined in the preceding sections, we have only left to,

Finally, Show the importance of the doctrine of Christ's Resurrection, which is thus proved, thus explained, and thus observed by the standing customs of the Christian world, in several respects.

Sum up, therefore, in few words, this capital Article of our Christian faith.

ARTICLE VI.

HE ASCENDED INTO HEAVEN, AND SITTETH ON THE RIGHT HAND OF GOD THE FATHER ALMIGHTY.

Sec. I. "He ascended into heaven."

In considering the ascension of our Lord from earth to heaven, preparatory to His sitting at the right hand of the Majesty on high,—

1. Prove that the promised Messiah or Christ was thus to ascend.

2. Prove that what was thus foretold and represented of the promised Christ, was actually performed by Jesus our Lord.

3. Prove what was that heaven which was the termination of our Lord's Ascension from earth.

4. Declare the use of this Article of faith.

Sec. II. "And sitteth at the right hand of God the Father."

In considering the Session of Christ the Son of God at the right hand of the Almighty Father,—

1. Prove that the promised Messiah was thus to sit at God's right hand.

2. Prove that Jesus, whom we worship as the true Messiah or Christ, did thus sit at God's right hand, from the testimony of the Apostles.

3. Explain the import of this phrase.

4. Show the use of this Article of belief in Christ's Session at God's right hand.

Sec. III. "Of God the Father Almighty."

Sum up, in a few words, what is included in the whole of this Article of Christ's Ascension and Session at the right hand of power.

ARTICLE VII.

"FROM THENCE HE SHALL COME TO JUDGE THE QUICK AND THE DEAD."

Sec. I. "From thence he shall come."

In the next great Article of Christian faith respecting the second coming of our Lord, yet future,

1. Considering the future Advent in itself.
2. Considering the place from which the Lord is to come, indicated by the words "from thence."

Sec. II. "He shall come to judge."

Considering the third point connected with this Advent: viz., the principal purpose assigned for the future coming of our Lord from heaven:

1. Prove that there is a judgment to come.
2. Prove that though God, as God, is the judge of all his creatures, and therefore all the persons of the sacred Trinity are concerned in this judgment, yet is Christ peculiarly and distinctively the judge of the world.
3. Show the circumstances of this judgment as they are represented, according to our capacity of understanding, in Scripture.

Sec. III. "The quick and the dead."

With respect to those who are the Objects of this action—viz., "The quick and the dead,"—

1. Prove negatively who they are not.
2. Prove positively that the persons meant are those that shall be found alive physically, and those that shall have died, at the time of Christ's second advent, respectively.
3. Show the necessity of this belief of Christ's Advent to judgment.

Sum up, therefore, in few words, this great article of religion.

ARTICLE VIII.

"I BELIEVE IN THE HOLY GHOST."

"I believe in the Holy Ghost."

In the next Article, which begins the third division of the Creed, considering the great object of belief simply, without reference to the peculiar form in which this part, like the first and second, is understood; and from which the Divinity of the Spirit, as of the Father and the Son, has been inferred:—

1. With respect to the Holy Ghost, prove his existence and nature.
2. Describe his office in the Christian economy.

3. Explain the necessity of thus believing in the Holy Ghost, both as to his nature and office.

Sum up, therefore, in a few words, this fundamental Article of Christian Faith.

ARTICLE IX.

"THE HOLY CATHOLIC CHURCH, THE COMMUNION OF SAINTS."

Sec. I. "The Church."

In the next Article, the "Holy Catholic Church" (of which the last epithet was added by the Greeks), we have to consider, respecting the thing believed, which is the Church, (Ecclesia),—

1. The import of the word, Church.
2. The actual existence of the one Church of Christ, thus propounded to us as an object of faith.

Sec. II. "The Holy Church."

We have, in the next place, to consider the properties here assigned to the Church, as the Holy Catholic Church. And beginning with sanctity or holiness,—

1. Show how this most important attribute belongs to the Church on several accounts.
2. Explain in what respects this attribute of Holiness is thus predicated of the Christian Church.

Sec. III. "The Catholic Church."

In considering the next great Attribute—viz., Catholicity: this word, though added to the Creed as it first stood, indicating a property of great dignity and importance: we are to consider,—

1. The name, as used by the Fathers from the earliest times next to the Apostles, with some diversity of acceptation.

2. The truth of the epithet, whose meaning in itself, and as applied to the Church, has been thus fully explained.

Sec. IV. "The Holy Catholic Church."

Having thus explained at large the nature and unity of the Christian Church, with its two great attributes of Sanctity and Catholicity, we have now to consider,—

3. The necessity of thus believing in the Holy Catholic Church.

Sum up, therefore, in a few words, this essential Article of the Christian Creed.

Sec. V. "The Communion of Saints."

Respecting the Article of the "Communion of Saints"—

1. Consider those whose communion is here asserted.

2. Considering what is here predicted of the Saints first described—viz., Communion, declare the persons with whom they have this communion or fellowship.

3. Considering the importance of this belief, show how it is necessary to believe this Communion of Saints.

Sum up, therefore, what Christians believe on this Article.

ARTICLE X.

"THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS."

"The forgiveness of Sins."

This Article being placed in the Creed next after that which relates to the Holy Catholic Church, in which is the Communion of Saints, we have to consider,—

1. Respecting the fact thus indicated—viz., that the Remission of Sins—which is equivalent to Pardon or Forgiveness—is obtained in the Holy Catholic Church.
2. Respecting the necessity of believing this forgiveness.

Sum up, therefore, in a few words, what we profess to believe on this great Article.

ARTICLE XI.

"THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY."

"The Resurrection of the Body."

Having already, in the great Article of Christ's rising again from the dead, explained the nature of resurrection in general, it remains here that we should consider severally,—

1. What is the future Resurrection here mentioned and wherein differing from that great resurrection of our Lord ?
2. Who are those who shall be thus raised from the dead ?

3. The mode, time, and circumstances of this general Resurrection.

4. The value and necessity of this great truth of the future general Resurrection.

Sum up, therefore, in few words, this momentous Article of the Christian's belief.

ARTICLE XII.

"AND THE LIFE EVERLASTING."

"And the Life Everlasting."

On the last Article of the Creed—"The Life Everlasting"—which expression, though, like that of the resurrection of the dead, it be most frequently used in Scripture for the just alone, is, like that, capable of being understood with reference to both the great divisions of mankind; we have accordingly to consider,—

1. The true doctrine of everlasting life: and that doubly, as relating to the wicked and the good.

2. The uses of this doctrine thus expounded.

Sum up, therefore, in a few words, this conclusion of our Christian faith.

Fourth Year.

For the Fourth Year the Candidates shall be examined in Theology, Philosophy, Logic and Rhetoric, in the following order:

TEXT BOOKS.

Butler's Analogy, with Tefft's Analysis; Upham's Mental Philosophy; Whately's Elements of Logic; Whately's Elements of Rhetoric.

ADDITIONAL FOR HONOURS.

Examination by miscellaneous Questions on the Theological part of the foregoing course.

BUTLER'S ANALOGY.

The peculiar form of this incomparable work, scarcely allows of any topical arrangement of its contents, other than that which is contained in the titles of its several Chapters. To these, are here subjoined, appropriate questions from Hobart's Analysis of Butler, which will materially assist both the candidate and the examiner.

INTRODUCTION.

1. How is probable evidence distinguished from demonstrative; and to what may the former at length amount? Illustrate this by a fact in nature.

2. What exception does Locke justly produce to the following general rule, namely: that from observing a likeness in an event to another which has come to pass, we determine on the probability of its occurrence, and so of every thing else.

3. What imperfection naturally attaches itself to our reasoning by analogy, from the extent of our observation being limited? Quote Dr. Leland's observation as to the exact value of experience, in reasoning upon a reported fact.

4. How do men act in all worldly affairs with respect to probable evidence?

5. Quote the argument from Beattie by which he endeavours to prove that likeness, would produce presumption, then opinion, lastly conviction.

6. What does Origen say upon the application of analogy to religion? How does Butler support and confirm his argument?

7. What degree of weight is to be attached to the argument from analogy; and in what consists its principal excellence?

8. What general answer may we give to those who would argue from the possibility to the propriety of a better than the existing form of Divine government?

PART I.

Natural Religion.

I. ON A FUTURE STATE.

1. Describe at full length the scheme of the first part of the analogy which treats on natural religion.
2. How does Butler correct Locke in his definition of personal identity?
3. How does the analogy of nature warrant us to assert that a future and different state of existence is probable?
4. Why is it probable that we may continue endued with the same capacities, unless they may be destroyed by death?
5. Show that there is no ground from reason or from analogy, to presume that death does destroy any faculty of perception or action.
6. What answer can be given in refutation of the objection that "Living beings are compounded, and so divisible," and consequently liable to complete destruction?
7. By what argument do we arrive at the following conclusion, viz.: That the dissolution of matter in which living beings were most nearly interested, is not their dissolution? And to the truth of what proof is this conclusion applied?
8. Show that there is no probability that Death will cause the destruction of our present powers of reflection.

9. Explain what is meant by the assertion that "Our entrance upon another state will be natural."

10. Show that the credibility of a future life, insisted on by Butler, in this chapter, answers all the purposes of religion that a demonstrative proof would.

II. ON THE GOVERNMENT OF GOD BY REWARDS AND PUNISHMENTS, AND PARTICULARLY ON THE LATTER.

1. What supposition makes the consideration of the question concerning a future life, evidently important to each individual?

2. Describe the general analogy which makes a future state of rewards and punishments perfectly probable.

3. Why is the present happiness or misery of creatures left so much dependent upon themselves?

4. Suppose it to be granted that "The dispensation of happiness and misery in this world is to be ascribed to the general course of nature," what follows from that admission?

5. What is the proper formal notion of government, whether human or divine? and what would be the most perfect manner of it?

6. State the two objections urged against the assertion that "Pleasure or pain is annexed by God to certain actions, as an apparent inducement for our conduct," and refute them.

7. Describe at full length the particular instances of analogy between natural punishment in this life, and what religion teaches us of those in the next.

8. For what purposes are the above-mentioned instances of analogy amply sufficient?

9. By what analogy may the folly of a person who is unconcerned about a future state be demonstrated?

III. OF THE MORAL GOVERNMENT OF GOD.

1. Explain the meaning of the term "moral government," and show in what it consists.

2. In commencing the inquiry, "Whether in our world a righteous government be not discernible," what considerations, that might fairly be adduced in proof of it, does Butler omit to press as arguments? What reasons does he give for these omissions?

3. State the four general heads under which the arguments, showing that God's government is to be moral, are comprehended in this chapter.

4. How does it appear from their effects on the mind and temper, that the uneasiness arises from vice, and pleasure from virtue.

5. Show that from the world in general, virtue, considered as such, is actually rewarded; and vice, considered as such, punished.

6. Whence is it that the above-mentioned rule of judging and acting is never inverted by mankind in general?

7. To the proof of what assertions does Butler apply these two facts, viz.: that mankind possess a moral nature, and that they—taken as a whole—judge and act according to it?

COURSE OF STUDY.

8. How may we answer the objection, "That some persons are even rewarded for wicked actions, and others punished for virtuous ones"?

9. Give a summary of the comparison which Butler institutes between reason and virtue; as to their natural tendency in causing power, under their direction, to increase in society.

10. Name some of the obstacles which counteract the natural tendency of virtue to prevail. How and when does Butler suppose they may be removed?

11. For what purpose are the above-mentioned suppositions brought forward?

12. By what supposed case — the possibility of which, however, is intimated in Scripture — may the natural happy tendency of virtue in a society be seen?

13. All the reasonings here alleged, affording confirmation of the usual arguments that the future state is to be perfectly moral, are summed up under four heads. Name them distinctly.

IV. OF A STATE OF PROBATION; AS IMPLYING TRIAL, DIFFICULTIES, AND DANGER.

1. What is the meaning of the term "A state of probation," as used in this work?

2. From what analogy does the present life appear to be such a state?

3. Explain the analogy which appears to exist between our state of trial to our temporal, and that in our religious capacity.

4. How do mankind commonly behave under both trials?

5. By what causes common to both, are the difficulties of doing well increased?

6. Answer the following two objections, viz.: 1st, "Why is not this state of trial less uncertain?"

7. 2nd, "Is it not improbable that hazard should be put upon us by a Being whose foreknowledge is certain.

V. OF A STATE OF PROBATION AS INTENDED FOR MORAL DISCIPLINE AND IMPROVEMENT.

1. What is the only question of real importance to us that arises from the consideration of our being in a state of probation here? and how may it be answered?

2. State 1st, the general analogy by which Butler illustrates this subject; and 2nd, the four distinct considerations by which he shows the extent and force of that analogy.

3. How does he explain the passage in Ecclesiasticus, Chap. xlii. 24, and what consequences does he deduce from it?

4. State what are our capacities of acquiring knowledge; and by what power we may acquire settled alterations of our character.

5. What comparison may we institute between the habits of the body and those of the mind?

6. Give a summary of the argument showing the marked difference between practical habits and passive impressions on the mind; noting especially the only way in which the latter can become useful to us.

7. Prove that the possession of capacities implies the necessity also of using them.

8. By what considerations may we distinctly see how, and in what respects, the present life may be a preparation for a future state?

9. Show that, from the very constitution of our nature being deficient, there is a necessity for discipline in human creatures.

10. What meaning does Butler affix to the term, "a sense of our interests," when he proves it is perfectly compatible with moral rectitude? State his argument on this point.

11. How does it seem distinctly conceivable, from the very nature of particular affections implanted in them, that creatures made upright may fall?

12. How does it appear that upright creatures, by pursuing their integrity, may raise themselves to a more secure state of virtue? What inference is drawn from the two foregoing positions?

13. By what arguments is it proved that this world is peculiarly fit to be a state of discipline for the purpose, not merely of improving, but of renewing men?

14. Answer the following objections: 1st. "The present state becomes to most men a discipline of vice instead of virtue." And

15. 2nd. "Actions proceeding from hope or fear, though they be materially virtuous, only discipline and strengthen self-love." And

16. 3rd. "How can passive submission and resignation, which are required only in affliction,—and they are occasioned by a state of sin—serve to qualify us for perfect happiness and virtue?"

17. 4th. "Might not all our trouble and danger in this state of discipline have been saved, by God making us at once the creatures which he intends us finally to be?"

18. What purpose may be served by the manifestation of the real character of individuals in this life?

VI. OF THE OPINION OF NECESSITY CONSIDERED AS INFLUENCING PRACTICE.

1. Show that the proof of the existence of an intelligent Author of nature is not affected by the opinion of universal necessity; and give a familiar illustration of the argument.

2. Explain the meaning of ascribing to God a necessary existence. Why cannot anything similar be predicted of all natural objects?

3. In what manner does Hamilton distinguish between the existence of God and creatures?

4. By what examples does Butler illustrate his assertion, that the opinion of universal necessity when practically applied to our condition in the present life, is found to be fallacious?

5. How is it proved that in the application of the above opinions to the things of a future life, it will be found equally fallacious ?

6. Show that from the facts of "our finding within ourselves a will, and our being conscious of a certain character belonging to us," arguments may be deduced against the idea of universal necessity affecting the system of a Moral Governor.

7. Prove that the opinion of necessity does not affect the practical proof of religion, derived from the particular final causes of pleasure and pain annexed to actions.

8. State the heads under which it is argued that natural religion has an external evidence that can not be affected by the doctrine of necessity.

9. Answer upon his own ground, the following objection of a fatalist, viz.: "The method of government by rewards and punishments in a future life must go upon the supposition that we are not necessary agents; but the Author of nature knows that we are so, and, therefore, will not reward or punish us for our actions hereafter, under the notion that they are of good or ill desert."

10. In what sense is it true that the doctrine of necessity is essentially destructive of all religion ?

VII. OF THE GOVERNMENT OF GOD CONSIDERED AS A SCHEME OR CONSTITUTION, IMPERFECTLY COMPREHENDED.

1. What answer can analogy furnish to objections against the wisdom, justice, and goodness of God's moral government ?

2. How does it appear that God's natural government of the world is a scheme, and one that is incomprehensible ?

3. To what extent does Butler assert that the Divine, natural, and moral governments are connected, and what does he suppose to be credible from them ?

4. Prove that, from our very ignorance of the universal scheme of Divine government, we are supplied with a reasonable answer to all objections against it.

5. "In the scheme of the natural world no ends are accomplished without means, and good ends are often brought about by means undesirable and apparently unsuitable." Apply this to the case of the moral world.

6. What good reasons may be given for the fact that the natural government of the world is carried on by general laws ?

7. Answer the following objections: 1st. That "we must argue from what we know, not from what we are unacquainted with."

8. 2nd objection. That "the answers here given to objections against religion might equally be made use of to invalidate its proof."

9. What conclusion does Butler draw from all that he has advanced in respect of natural religion ?

PART SECOND.

Of Revealed Religion.

I. OF THE IMPORTANCE OF CHRISTIANITY.

1. Give summarily the scheme of the second part of this book; in which the support given to revealed religion, by analogy, is described.
2. Show the extravagance of the assertion that Revelation is in its very notion not incredible, as being superfluous.
3. Refute the argument that "the only design of revelation must be to enforce the practice of natural piety; and it is immaterial whether we believe and practice upon the evidence of nature, or of revealed religion."
4. What are the two views which must be taken of Christianity, in order that we may understand its importance?
5. In what manner does the revelation of Christianity confirm and support natural religion?
6. How is it proved that this revelation, considered only as subservient to natural religion, is important as an external institution of it?
7. Answer the objection "that Christianity has been proved, and has had little good influence."
8. What important duties arise on our part to God the Son, and the Holy Spirit, from Christianity revealing to us the particular dispensation of Providence, carrying on through them?

9. What are the two instances by which Butler illustrates his conclusion, "that Christianity can never be esteemed of little consequence till it be positively supposed false?"

10. Show clearly where is the distinction between what is moral and what is positive in religion?

11. Prove that the peculiar preference which the Scripture teaches us is due to the former, is reasonable.

II. OF THE SUPPOSED PRESUMPTION AGAINST A REVELATION CONSIDERED AS MIRACULOUS.

1. Explain what Butler means by "the general scheme of Christianity," and show that there is no appearance of a presumption from the analogy of nature against it.

2. By what arguments does Hume attempt to prove that we ought not to believe in any miracles? Wherein does the fallacy of his reasoning consist?

3. Give the correct definition of a "miracle," and illustrate by examples the two classes into which they are divided, of visible and invisible.

4. Why can there be no peculiar presumption from the analogy of nature against a revelation, considered as miraculous, at the beginning of the world?

5. Describe the three views under which alone the subject of a revelation from the beginning can be fairly considered.

6. Why may we safely admit the testimony of tradition as to the original revelation, and what is that testimony?

7. Give a general answer to the objection that "after the settlement, and during the continuance of a course of nature, there is a presumption from analogy against miracles."

8. What comparison does Butler draw between miracles and ordinary facts, in order to show what is the only material question respecting the former? How does Price support these assertions?

9. What weight does the consideration of religion add to the testimony concerning miracles?

III. OF OUR INCAPACITY OF JUDGING WHAT WERE TO BE EXPECTED IN A REVELATION, AND THE CREDIBILITY, FROM ANALOGY, THAT IT MUST CONTAIN THINGS APPEARING LIABLE TO OBJECTIONS.

1. Name the three principal divisions under which the subjects in this chapter are comprehended.

2. What are the various objections usually brought against the Christian Revelation, and what general answer may be given to them, assuming Christianity to be a matter of fact?

3. Prove, from analogy, that we are likely to be incompetent judges as to what were to be expected in a Divine Revelation.

4. State fully the particular example in which Butler compares our ignorance concerning inspiration, before experience, with our ignorance concerning natural knowledge.

5. How is the objection obviated, that "Revelation, unless given in such or such a way—i. e. according to the objector's judgment of what was proper—would not answer its purposes."

6. Give the argument by which the following assertion is proved, viz.: that "the analogy of nature shows it to be probable, beforehand, that men will imagine they have strong objections against a revelation, however unexceptionable."

7. Answer the objections against Christianity, drawn from the abuse of gifts and powers, said to be miraculous, by persons exercising them.

8. Show that the improvements and hinderances of both natural and revealed instruction are of the same kind.

9. Answer the objection, that, "If Christianity be so great a remedy, why it has been so long withholden, and now so little known?"

10. What is the proper province of reason in judging of revelation?

IV. OF CHRISTIANITY CONSIDERED AS A SCHEME, OR CONSTITUTION, IMPERFECTLY COMPREHENDED.

1. In obviating objections against the wisdom, justice, and goodness of Christianity, with what doth Butler compare it; and what connexion does he assert to exist between it and the general plan of providence?

2. Name two particular analogies, by the consideration of which the credibility of Christianity being a scheme imperfectly comprehended by us, will more fully appear.

3. Upon what grounds is it said that the course of nature is carried on by general laws? What inference may be drawn from this subject, applicable to miraculous interpositions?

4. How may the principal objections in particular against Christianity be answered?

5. Answer the following particular objection, viz.: "The Gospel scheme supposes God to have been reduced to the necessity of using round-about means to accomplish man's salvation."

V. OF THE PARTICULAR SYSTEM OF CHRISTIANITY—THE APPOINTMENT OF A MEDIATOR, AND THE REDEMPTION OF THE WORLD BY HIM.

1. Show that there can be no objection from analogy against the general notion of a Mediator.

2. In reasoning upon the redemption of the world—what supposition may we, without absurdity, assume, respecting the way in which punishment may follow sin?

3. Answer the objection that "supposing punishment to be the natural consequence of sin, is taking the execution of justice out of the hands of God."

4. Give fully the argument illustrating the assertion that "with this supposition, we have a full analogy, in the course of nature, for a provision made for preventing the future consequences of vice from following inevitably and in all cases."

5. How may we prove the unreasonableness of those who wonder at finding it spoken of as at all doubtful, that the ruinous consequences of vice might have been prevented?

6. What considerations show the improbability that behaving well for the future, or any thing that we could do, would alone, and of itself, prevent the fatal consequences of vice.

7. What confirmation is given to the teaching of the light of nature by the Scriptural view of man's redemption?

8. Prove that there is no weight in the objection that "Christianity supposes mankind to be naturally in a very strange state of degradation."

9. Explain at large, under three different heads, the particular manner in which Christ interposed in the redemption of the world.

10. Against what part of Christ's office have most objections been urged, and how have men erred on contrary sides in their reasonings concerning it?

11. Answer the following objections: 1st "We do not see the necessity or expediency of the sacrifice of Christ."

12. 2nd objection. "The doctrine of Christ's being appointed to suffer for the sins of the world, represents God as being indifferent, whether He punished the innocent or the guilty."

13. By what arguments does Butler expose the presumption and folly of these, and similar objections, to particular things revealed in Scripture ?

VI. OF THE WANT OF UNIVERSALITY IN REVELATION, AND OF THE SUPPOSED DEFICIENCY IN THE PROOF OF IT.

1. Upon what supposition is the weak objection founded, that "because revelation is left upon doubtful evidence it cannot be true?" Give a general answer to it.

2. Explain in like manner the foundation of the 2nd objection that "Revelation cannot be true from its want of universality;" and answer it generally.

3. Give a particular application of the subject to the evidence of revealed religion in different ages, and the degrees of religious light enjoyed by various parts of mankind.

4. What considerations may tend to reconcile us to the apparently unequal dispensations of the Creator in regard to religion ?

5. Admitting revelation to be uncertain in its evidence, there are three practical reflections which will tend to remove all causes of complaint. Name them.

6. How does Butler prove that there is not a great difference between what might in reason be the rule of life to those who really doubt, and those who are fully convinced of the truth of religion ?

7. How does Butler prove that doubting necessarily implies some degree of evidence for that for which we doubt?

8. Show that the same account may be given of doubts in the evidence of religion as of temptation and difficulties in practice.

9. Give a summary of the argument in which it is explained, that uncertainty in religious truths may partly arise from our own neglect.

10. Answer the apparent analogy, by which an objection is raised against the fitness of revelation being left upon doubtful evidence.

VII. OF THE PARTICULAR EVIDENCE FOR CHRISTIANITY.

1. In what does Butler proceed to consider the positive evidence for the truth of Christianity?

2. Give summarily the five heads under which Butler treats of the historical evidence of miracles.

3. Why must peculiar importance be attached to the testimony afforded by the writings of St. Paul?

4. State the argument which leads to the conclusion that "the conversion of many to Christianity, when education, prejudice and authority were against it, is an undoubted presumption of its Divine origin."

5. Answer the objection, that "enthusiasm greatly weakens, if not destroys, the credibility of evidence given even for facts, in matters relating to religion."

6. How may we answer the assertion that "there is a considerable degree of historical evidence for miracles acknowledged to be fabulous?

7. What general answer may be given to all the foregoing objections against evidences of religion, taken from the liability of men to be deceived?

8. In stating the evidence of Christianity, derived from prophecies, how does Butler excuse the defects imputed to them, from the alleged obscurity of certain facts in them?

9. Answer the objection, that "considering each prophecy distinctly, it does not at all appear that the prophecies were intended for those particular events to which they are applied by Christians."

10. Explain why we may reasonably assert, that "It is useless [for a person arguing against the truth of prophecy] to show that prophecy is applicable to events of the age in which it was written." Also, give Butler's remarks in conclusion of this part of the chapter.

11. When considering both the direct and circumstantial evidence for the truth of Christianity, as making up one argument, in what light may Scriptural revelation be looked upon? What is its general design? And how does the supposed doubtfulness of evidence bear upon the question of its genuineness.

12. Give a summary of the acknowledged facts, which, in connection with what is collected from the Old Testament respecting its ancient chronology, the history of Israel, prophecies of Christ; or from the New, respecting the Gospel History or prophecies, ought to have great weight with a reasonable and impartial inquirer.

13. Mention some of the specious reasonings by which unbelievers endeavour to evade the force of the above arguments, and answer them.

14. Prove the reasonableness of the following warning, given to a man noting down every thing which seems to be a proof against religion, "Let him remember that a mistake on one side may be, in its consequences, much more dangerous than a mistake on the other."

15. Taking it as an admitted principle, that the truth of our religion, as of other common facts, is to be judged by all the evidence taken together, show where the stress of the argument for Christianity lies.

16. Describe the argument given by Davison, to show that the evidences of religion being so exceedingly dissimilar, are highly characteristic.

VIII. OF THE OBJECTIONS WHICH MAY BE MADE AGAINST ARGUING FROM THE ANALOGY OF NATURE TO RELIGION.

1. How may the objections urged against arguing from analogy to religion be generally answered?

2. Give a special reply to each of the following objections:—1st. "What is wanted is, not to solve difficulties in revelation by saying that there are the same in natural religion, but to clear both of them of their common as well as their respective difficulties.

3. 2nd objection. "It is a strange way of convincing men of the obligations of religion, to show them that they have as little reason for their worldly pursuits."

4. 3rd objection. "We cannot vindicate the justice, and goodness of the author of nature, and remove objections against both, to which the system of nature is open, by showing that the like objections lie against natural Providence."

5. 4th objection. "Analogical reasoning, carried to the utmost extent, does not fully satisfy the mind."

6. 5th objection. "We cannot imagine that men will forego their present interests and pleasures from regard to religion upon doubtful evidence."

7. Give an exposition of the argument, by which Butler distinguishes between abstract truths and matters of fact in religion. What important conclusion does he draw from thence?

8. To what purpose may the force of this whole treatise be effectually applied?

9. Deducting every thing that can upon skeptical principles, be required to be deducted from the positive evidence of religion, what practical consequence can be drawn from that which remains unassailable by sophistry and cavil?

21. The dictum universally applicable.
22. Common and singular terms.
23. Abstraction and generalization.
24. Notions expressed by common terms.
25. Different abstractions from the same object.
26. Different modes of classification.
27. Utility of the analytical form.

Book II.

Synthetical Compendium.

I. OF THE OPERATIONS OF THE MIND, AND OF TERMS.

1. Operations of the mind.
2. Language and its purposes.
3. Use of terms, propositions, syllogisms.
4. Defects guarded against.
5. Analysis of syllogism and proposition.
6. Division and definition of terms, with the rules of each.

II. OF PROPOSITIONS,

1. Definition of proposition.
2. Division of propositions.
3. Quality of propositions.
4. Quantity of propositions.
5. Opposition of propositions.
6. Conversion of propositions.

III. OF ARGUMENTS.

1. Syllogism. Defined, and distinguished from argument.
2. Several parts of a syllogism, and their relation to each other.
3. Validity of an argument.
4. Aristotle's "dictum". State and explain.
5. Axioms or canons involved in the syllogism.
6. Rules of the syllogism. State and prove them.
7. Mood and figure.
8. Variety of moods, with the valid and useful ones in each figure.
9. Perfect and imperfect moods.
10. Reduction of syllogisms. Methods of reduction.
11. Reduce Baroko and Bokardo by both methods.
12. Reduce the other imperfect moods ostensively.
13. Hypothetical syllogisms.
14. Explain the two modes of reasoning in conditional syllogisms.
15. Reduction of hypotheticals.
16. Enthymeme.
17. Sorites—its structure and laws.

IV. OF TERMS. SUPPLEMENTARY.

1. Division of terms, as singular, common, &c.
2. Subject, predicate, copula.
3. Opposition of terms.

4. Formation of common terms ; abstraction and generalization.
5. Predicables, genus, species, differentia, property, accident.
6. Division and definition, with the rules of each.

Book III.Of Fallacies.

1. Definition of fallacy.
2. Distinguish the several kinds of fallacies.
3. Induction, and its relation to syllogistic reasoning.
4. Discovery—physical and logical.
5. Distinguish between information and instruction.
6. Inference and proof ; philosopher and advocate.
7. Distinguish between verbal and real questions.

Examples.

N. B.—Candidates for examination must be able to analyze the examples given in the appendix, and to pronounce upon the characters of each, applying the foregoing rules.

Great importance is attached to this exercise ; and the student's expertness and accuracy in it, may be taken as a test of his logical skill.

24. How did persons inspired to reveal the will of God, establish their claim to the belief of those whom they addressed ?

25. On what was the faith both of Moses and of the Israelites founded ?

26. In what respect did it differ ?

27. Make also a similar distinction in the case of inspired propounders of revealed truth, and receivers of it from them, subsequently to the time of Moses.

28. Through whom was the will of God pre-eminently revealed ?

29. How did belief in the revelations made through Moses and other inspired propounders of the will of God, continue obligatory after the death of such persons ?

30. Describe briefly the faith of the Israelites ; of the Apostles ; of the Christians converted by the Apostles ; and of Christians since that time to the present.

31. Out of whose writings was the Creed first collected ?

32. And what is the nature of the assent we give to it in professing to believe ?

33. Why must it needs be thought that Christ appointed some external expression of Faith ?

34. Before what rite of the Christian Church has such expression been always required ?

35. Quote Scripture instances ?

36. Why are Christians under a necessity of making confession of their Faith ?

37. Quote texts in proof and illustration.

38. On what occasions did the Church require the recitation of the Creed ?

39. Are Christians under an obligation, individually, both to believe and confess ?

40. Is individual profession of faith inconsistent with a common profession of it ?

41. Why is every individual Christian bound to believe and confess ?

42. Give a summary of truths confessed by every Christian when in the creed he says, I believe.

Sec. II. I believe in God.

1. Why must the Confession of our Faith properly begin with the acknowledgment of belief in God ?

2. In what respects are the words, I believe in God, to be considered ?

3. What was the prevailing opinion in the Latin Church, and grounded on whose authority, respecting the extent of meaning implied by believing in (with the preposition) ?

4. Show that the opinion appears to have no foundation in the language of the Old Testament, and not to be favoured by the usage of Jewish or Christian Greek writers. What, then, is asserted in saying, I believe in God ?

5. In what respects may the nature of the truth thus expressed be considered ?
6. Of whom is the name of God in this article to be understood ?
7. In what cases is it otherwise applied ? And
8. How does such application differ from that here made ?
9. What does the common notion of a Deity signify, and in what particulars does it consist ?
10. Why may we not imagine the knowledge of the existence of God connatural to the human soul ?
11. Why not affirm His existence to be a self-evident truth ?
12. How then does it become known to us ?
13. State the proofs of the existence of God to be drawn from our own existence, and from that of all things that are made.
14. From the operations of natural agents.
15. From the universal consent of mankind.
16. From Prophecy.
17. From Miracles.
18. From Conscience.
19. What are the practical uses of belief in the Existence of God ?
20. How does it appear that the Unity, as well as the Existence, of God, is included in this article ?
21. Quote texts in support of the doctrine.
22. In what respect is the Unity of God peculiar, and different from any other unity ? Quote texts.

23. What are the practical uses of Belief in the Unity of God?

24. Give a summary of truths confessed in the affirmation, I believe in God.

Sec. III. I believe in God the Father.

1. What are principal senses in which we believe in God as the Father?

2. In what character has God, wheresoever acknowledged, been understood and worshipped?

3. What is the proper foundation of Paternity?

4. Is the phrase, of generation, always used in its proper sense?

5. If not, how do its various senses influence latitude of the application of the term, Father?

6. On what accounts is the name of Father, in the sense of the term now under consideration, given to God?

7. By which of His creatures is He more properly called Father as well as Creator?

8. Quote texts in support and illustration of the reasons assigned for styling God our Father.

9. What are the practical uses of belief in God as our Father?

10. What is the principal and most proper explication of God's Paternity?

11. How far are we (in a Christian sense of the term) the Sons of God? Quote relevant texts.

12. According to what degree of filiation may all men;

according to what higher degree may some men, be accounted Sons of God ?

13. Who is the true and proper Son of God by a far higher degree and kind of filiation than all these ?

14. Quote texts, illustrating His pre-eminency, and the distinction between Him and us, whom He calls His brethren.

15. How does it appear that the pre-eminent notion of God's Paternity, as Father of Jesus Christ, is the original and proper explication of this article of the Creed ?

16. In what name is Baptism said, in the Acts of the Apostles, to be administered ?

17. Why does it not follow that that name, only, was used ?

18. In what sense must the name of Father be taken in the form of Baptism ?

19. Why so there ? and therefore here ?

20. Why must the Father be here considered personally, not inclusively, as He sometimes is, of the whole Trinity ?

21. In what ways may God be called the Father of Christ ?

22. Why is Paternity far more properly predicated of God as the Father of Christ, than of any human father in regard of his son ?

23. In what does the priority of the Father in regard to the Son consist ?

24. Quote texts. " My Father is greater than I " ;

John xiv. 28. Some of the ancients interpreted this of Christ as the second person of the Trinity; but with reference to what?

25. The Father hath life in Himself; the Son hath life in Himself; in what respects equally, and with what only difference?

26. On what do we justly ground the congruity of the Divine Mission?

27. How does the Father differ from the Son and the Holy Ghost with regard to Mission? Quote texts.

28. How has the Father, in reference to Mission, especially manifested His love to man?

29. How does the dignity of the Father appear from the order of persons in the Trinity?

30. What is that order? And on what founded?

31. Is it invariably observed whenever the Three Persons are referred to in the same Scripture passage?

32. Quote texts.

33. If not, what occasions are there on which it is and must be strictly observed?

34. How did the ancient fathers speak of the Father as the fountain of the Son or of the whole Deity?

35. And why did they make this distinction in regard of the Father?

36. Some of them may seem to have made such a distinction as if, because the Son had not His essence from Himself, the Father had; but show how their expressions in such a case are rightly to be understood.

37. The name of God, taken absolutely, is often in Scripture used of the Father: give instances.

38. What are the practical uses of belief in God as the Father of Jesus Christ (and fountain of the whole Deity)?

39. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in God the Father.

Sec. IV. I believe in God the Father Almighty.

1. How is the notion of Almighty, in the Creed, to be interpreted?

2. To what two Hebrew appellations of God does the word here used correspond, according to the usage of the ancient Greek interpreters: and what do they appear to have taken to be the force of the Hebrew terms?

3. On what authorities and testimonies do we, in this article, ascribe to God the Father universal dominion and government?

4. Into what branches may the power authoritative, in this article ascribed to God, be divided?

5. Why must a right of creation be first mentioned in treating of this subject?

6. In what respects, and wherefore, is God's right of possessing all things both independent and infinite? Quote texts.

7. On what is God's right to the use of all things founded?

8. For wse benefit hath he made all things?

9. For whom ultimately?
10. God cannot receive any real benefit from his creatures, yet can, and does, receive what has some similitude with it. How?
11. What are the practical uses of belief in the Almighty? Quote texts.
12. What are the derivations proposed for the Divine name Shaddai?
13. How does it appear that the second notion of Almighty (implied in this term) is necessarily inferred from the first?
14. How does the dominion of God differ from that of earthly rulers?
15. The term Almighty in the sense of active power will come under special consideration hereafter in Article VI. Why?
16. What two other interpretations of Almighty are mentioned by Pearson?
17. Show that they are true as regards the facts implied by them.
18. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in God the Father Almighty?

Sec. V. Maker of Heaven and Earth.

1. Was the last clause of Article I. expressed in the ancient creeds?
2. What is required for its full explication?

3. What is comprehended under the terms "heaven and earth?"

4. What words were used to express the same meaning in the Nicene Creed?

5. And from the expression there used, and the addition "heaven and earth" made to it in the Constantinopolitan Creed, shows that the Latin Church using in the Apostle's Creed only this last expression, must have taken it in the same extent of meaning, as the words of the Nicene Creed?

6. Show the sense of the clause now under consideration, from texts of scripture?

7. Especially apply the language of Acts xvii. 24, illustrating this language by reference to the manner in which Hebrew writers, Biblical and Rabbinical, express the world or universe, as also to usages of Greek writers?

8. What necessary exception do we make when we say that, all things are made?

9. Give a scripture illustration of a similarly elliptical expression?

10. Quote texts showing the universality of Creation?

11. "Every house is builded by some man;" Heb. iii.

4. Apply a similar argument in reference to the World.

12. Whatsoever hath any being is either made or not made. Contrast the made with the not made?

13. From the creation of Angels and Heaven derive an argument for the universality of Creation?

14. Did the most ancient Heathen Philosophers hold a doctrine as to creation opposed to our Christian faith?

15. State the arguments on which they who first in this respect, denied the right faith, grounded their opinions; and refute the fallacies involved in them.

16. In what respects is the manner how the world was made to be considered?

17. What is the proper notion of the true nature of Creation?

18. State why it is not to be collected from etymology, Latin or Hebrew: and show on what testimonies it really is collected: and

19. What was the opinion of the Jews on this subject?

20. Quote opposite texts.

21. Show the falsity of the opinion of the necessity of the existence of subject-matter for the production of the world, coevally with the Maker.

22. "Out of nothing, nothing can be produced." Is this proposition true?

23. Confute the argument drawn by the maintainers of it, from their observation of the necessity of materials to artificers, and from the present course of mutation and production of things.

24. Distinguish between proper and improper Creation; giving instances of each.

25. In what respects may we consider the Agent in Creation?

26. Why must we regard Him as not moved by any external cause?

27. But by what? Quote texts.

28. Contrast goodness in creatures, with goodness in God.
29. What erroneous conclusion did the ancient heathens draw from their right conception of the goodness of God as eternal, &c.? How refuted?
30. Contrast Creatures (with and without understanding) with God, in reference to freedom of action.
31. What absurdity would follow if God were a necessary Agent in Creation?
32. Why must the actions of God be free?
33. In what sense is God necessarily—in what sense freely—good?
34. Show that God creates by determining to create?
35. Quote texts.
36. Show that the existence of the creature, however it might be imagined as possibly eternal, actually had a temporal beginning? Quote texts.
37. State particulars as to certain accounts of the immense antiquity of the world: and show such accounts to be prima facie absurd or nugatory.
38. With what infallibly-true account of the time of creation is the view just mentioned—of the immense antiquity of the world, inconsistent?
39. Show that it derives no support from ancient Historians and Poets, and is inconsistent with what we know of the invention of arts and sciences, &c.—the origin of nations, &c.
40. Give some particulars in illustration.

41. Whence did the pretence of immense Babylonish antiquity originate?

42. What do the asserters, some of the eternity, others of the immense antiquity, of the world, object to the arguments for its novelty brought forward?

43. Show the objection unfounded.

44. What two advantages does the propounding of it afford to the Christian faith?

45. What are we to believe as to the actual time of creation?

46. Where is this authoritatively recorded?

47. Show from calculations based on Scripture, and conclusions drawn from human observation and experience, the number of generations above which it is not probable that any one now living is distant from Adam.

48. How does the statement so obtained bear on the present argument?

49. By what one God was the creation of the world performed?

50. Show that no argument for diversity of Makers, can be justly derived from any difference among things created, nor from the present badness of some of them?

51. By what vain conceit did certain ancient heretics try to account for the contrariety now subsisting in the created things, which are respectively good and evil?

52. Quote texts in refutation.

53. Show the Creator of the World to be identical with the Father of Jesus Christ. Quote texts.

54. Show that the Son and Spirit cannot be excluded from the act of Creation.
55. In what two respects is it peculiarly attributed to the Father?
56. What are the practical uses of belief in God the Father Almighty, as the Maker of Heaven and Earth?
57. Quote texts throughout.
58. In order to our more effectual humiliation, what should we reflect on together with our creation?
59. Of all God's creatures, which only have proved disobedient?
60. In what consists the happiness of him "whose hope is in the Lord his God, who made heaven and earth?"
61. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in God the Father Almighty, as the Maker of Heaven and Earth.

ARTICLE II.

"AND IN JESUS CHRIST, HIS ONLY SON, OUR LORD."

Sec. I. And in Jesus.

1. Quote texts enjoining belief in the Son of God.
2. In what respects is our Saviour represented in Article II?
3. What kind of name belonging to our Saviour is Jesus? When given to Him?
4. Was it an usual name among the Jews?
5. Give examples.

6. With what Hebrew name is it identical, and how formed from it?

7. Who was first named by the Hebrew name identical with Jesus?

8. Mention other persons who bore it.

9. What change, and when, was made in the name of the person first so named?

10. What was the difference between his successive names; and what appears to be implied by the change?

11. From the identity of the names Jesus and Joshua, and from the circumstances under which they were given respectively to our Saviour and to the Jewish leader, what do you infer as to the work, to the performance of which Jesus was divinely designated?

12. What was the angelical interpretation given in Joseph's dream to the name Jesus?

13. Show that it corresponds with the heightening of sense in Joshua, as distinguished from Hosea.

14. Why does it appear that the addition of the name of God, probable in Joshua, is more than probably contained in Jesus?

15. What is the constant Scripture interpretation of the name Jesus? Quote texts.

16. To whom, and under what circumstances, did the ancient Greeks give the title of Saviours?

17. To what men do we find it given in the Old Testament?

18. In what respects is Jesus, peculiarly and properly, called our Saviour?

19. How are preachers of the Gospel, in Scripture, said to save persons?

20. Contrast them in this respect with Jesus.

21. In what respects has Jesus procured our Salvation? Quote texts.

22. Quote texts in reference to Jesus conferring final salvation.

23. Quote some texts which especially (in words or meaning) term Jesus a Saviour.

24. To what Jewish Deliverers, or Saviours, does He thus especially correspond?

25. Illustrate this correspondency, especially by particulars relating to Joshua, showing their resemblance to particulars in the life, office, &c., of Jesus. Quote relevant texts.

26. What are the practical uses of belief in Jesus? Quote texts.

27. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Jesus.

Sec. II. And in Jesus Christ.

1. What is required for the full explication of the term, Christ?

2. What kind of name is Christ, as belonging to our Saviour?

3. What does the word Christ signify?

4. What is the synonymous Hebrew word?

5. In what passages of the New Testament is the former given as explanatory of the latter? And why?
6. Which name is used by the writers of the New Testament, and retained by the Latins and ourselves?
7. What was the purport of the anointings practiced under the law?
8. Give illustrative instances of the practice from the Old Testament.
9. What is hence to be inferred as to the full import of Messiah or Christ, as a title applied to our Saviour?
10. Quote passages, with requisite remarks, from the Gospel history, showing that the Jews evidently expected a Christ to come.
11. "In Isaac shall thy seed be called." How does St. Paul refer to this passage as relating to Christ?
12. How does St. Peter apply the prediction made to Moses, of a Prophet to be subsequently raised up, like himself?
13. Were the prophecies and promises in the Old Testament, concerning the Messiah, numerous?
14. Were they so explicit as to account without any difficulty, for the universal expectation of the Jews on this subject?
15. "And after three-score and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off," &c, Dan. ix. 26. What is there peculiar in the application of this passage?
16. How do we account for the familiarity of the Jews, subsequently to the Babylonish Captivity, with the doctrine and name of the Messiah ?

17. On what did they ground their expectation of his coming ?

18. Show that the Messiah is already come from the prediction respecting Shiloh. Quote texts and make requisite remarks.

19. Show the same from prophecies respecting the coming of the Messiah to the second Temple, and the glory of the second Temple above that of the first. Quote texts, and show in what manner these prophecies were fulfilled.

20. How did the time of Our Saviour's coming correspond with the period assigned by the prophets for that of the Messiah ?

21. Show that the prophecies relating to the Family, Place, and Manner of the birth, of the Messiah, were fulfilled in Jesus. Quote texts, &c.

22. What figment have the Jews invented as to a double Messiah.

23. Show that in excellency, authority, &c., of teaching, Jesus eminently fulfilled what was predicted of the Messiah as a Teacher. Quote texts.

24. Show from the great number of miracles wrought by Jesus, and from the nature of his miraculous power, that He eminently did all which the Messiah could be expected to do. Quote texts.

25. Show that Jesus both in the contempt he met with through life, and His undergoing of death with preceding indignities and pains, suffered all which the Messiah was to suffer. Quote texts, and make requisite remarks?
26. Show that Jesus, in the fulfilment of prophecies of what should happen to the Messiah after His death, obtained what the Messiah was to obtain?
27. On what suppositions do the propagation and reception of the gospel in the world, prove Jesus to be the Christ?
28. Show that the conversion of the nations, and the doing away with the religious distinction between Jew and Gentile, were to be accomplished by the Messiah.
29. Show that the nations accordingly were converted to the faith of Jesus.
30. State some particulars as to the first progress of His religion among the Jews and Gentiles. Quote texts.
31. When did the Roman Empire become professedly Christian?
32. What distinction was observed by the converts as to the moral and the ceremonial, &c., parts of the Jewish Law?
33. How did the abolition of the heathen oracles and idols among the converts correspond with prophecy?
34. Show that the reception of the gospel is not to be accounted for from the nature of its doctrine, the personal condition, &c. of its teachers, nor the manner their delivering it.

35. How then, alone, can it be accounted for ?

36. Give a brief summary of the arguments to prove that Jesus was the Christ.

37. What are the principal things to be shown with regard to the unction of the Messiah, and the fulfilment of them in Jesus?

38. Show that the Messiah was to be a Prophet, Priest, and King : by arguments drawn from the typical usage of unction among the Jews,—also from the Offices which it was necessary for the promised Redeemer to sustain for effecting the salvation of *sinner*s ?

39. Show that Jesus, as the Messiah, was anointed to the prophetical office, according to prediction ; and the proofs of it derived from his preparation for the office, his mission to it, and administration of it ?

40. In particular, remark, in reference to his preparation, circumstances relating to the designation of Jeremiah and John the Baptist to the prophetical office ; and to the time when the Levites began their ministry :—name the two great testimonies to the Divinity of the Saviour's Mission :—and show how he fully administered the prophetical function in regard to promulgating, confirming, and perpetuating, the doctrine containing the will of God for the salvation of man. Quote texts, &c., throughout.

41. Show that Jesus, as the Messiah, was anointed to the sacerdotal office. After what order ?

42. To whom among the Jews did the priesthood belong before the consecration of Aaron ?

43. Show that Jesus fulfilled the office of a Priest in regard to oblation, intercession, benediction. Quote texts, &c.

44. Show that Jesus, as the Messiah, was anointed to be a King, quoting texts, &c.

45. In what respects does He exercise His Regal Office in reference to His own people and to His enemies? Who are His enemies?

46. How were they, who under the law were types of the Messiah, anointed to their offices?

47. How does it appear that the same material unction was not that whereby Jesus was anointed to the offices of the Messiah?

48. What do the Jews say of the future finding, &c., of their last anointing oil?

49. Why no such need of it as they suppose?

50. What does David call the oil used for the consecration of the Messiah?

51. What, in Scripture language, is the true oil, wherewith the Messiah was to be anointed?

52. On what two special occasions was Jesus anointed therewith?

53. Compare the correspondency of anointings, at different times, in the case of David, the type of the Messiah. Quote texts, &c.

54. Show that, in the sundry particulars required by the Jews themselves, to complete their legal unctions, Jesus was eminently and properly anointed with the Spi- rit of God ; especially with regard to the reasons assigned by them for the use of oil, in respect of the action and the matter of the legal unctions.

55. What are the practical uses of belief in Jesus as Christ? Quote requisite texts.

56. Name some notorious errors in belief and practice among Christians, which expose their profession to the objections of Jewish opponents.

57. What were the principal names by which the early converts to Christianity were called?

58. Where were they first called Christians?

59. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Jesus Christ.

Sec. III. His only Son.

1. Quote texts showing that the Jews accounted "the Christ" to be also the "Son of God."

2. What Scripture did they interpret as attributing this Sonship to their Messiah?

3. How did the primitive Christians connect our Saviour's filial title with His names?

4. What in the phrase of Scripture and the Greek Church is the word which we translate only, in reference to Christ's Sonship?

5. What is required for the explication of the words His Only Son?

6. In what remarkable senses, short of the highest and most peculiar sense, is Christ the Son of God? Quote texts.

7. Show that to be born of a Virgin would not be sufficient to entitle Christ the only-begotten Son of God.

8. It being then necessary to find another generation by which Christ is Son of God in a transcendent and peculiar sense, and so rightly styled His only-begotten Son, what will it be requisite to prove from Scripture, to establish such a generation?

9. Show that Christ really was in Heaven, and consequently had a real being, before He was conceived in the Virgin.

10. Confute the extraordinary Socinian figment that Christ ascended into heaven before his death.

11. How are John the Baptist, and Adam, opposed to Christ in Scripture in reference to His heavenly Origin?

12. Jesus Christ was existent before John the Baptist, and before Abraham. What follows hence?

13. Show that Jesus Christ was existent before John the Baptist, from John's own testimony?

14. Show from our Saviour's own assertion that He existed before Abraham.

15. How do the Socinians explain the passage referred to?

16. And why are their modes of doing so inadmissible?

17. To what far-longer space of time does Jesus Christ's pre-existence extend?

18. Show that He existed before the Flood.

19. State and confute a vain mode of interpretation which has been adopted, of the passage used for this purpose by Pearson.

20. Show that He existed at the beginning of the World.

21. Quote a passage adduced by Pearson from Heb. i. to prove that the literal creation of the world is to be ascribed to the Son of God.

22. Why does he so specially insist on this passage? Make any requisite remarks.

23. Col. i. 15, 16, 17: "Who is the image of the invisible God," &c. Give Pearson's exposition of this passage, showing that it properly and fully expresses the truth of the creation of all things by the Son of God.

24. Show that the old, literal, Creation, not the new and metaphorical one, (as has been pretended,) is here meant.

25. To whom were addressed the words, "Let us make man", &c.: Gen. i. 26?

26. Give Pearson's exposition of John i. 1, 2, 3, noting the steps by which the Apostle proceeds in setting forth the Pre-existence and Divinity of the Son of God, and the Creation of the World by Him.

27. How, and wherefore, would the Jews be likely at once to understand what St. John meant by the Word?

28. State some futile attempts which have been made to evade the real force of this passage, and show their absurdity.

29. Give a summary of the arguments by which it has been proved that Jesus Christ had a real being before he was conceived of the Virgin Mary.

30. After whom were the heretics named against whom Pearson vindicates this doctrine?
31. Show that the being which Christ had before he was conceived of the Virgin was the Divine essence, from the ascription to Him of the creating of all things; and prove from John i, 1, &c., (in opposition to certain cavils,) that He was the same God with whom He was.
32. "Being in the form of God," &c., Phil. ii, 6, 7. (See passage at length). What are the three principal propositions hence resulting?
33. Show from Phil. ii. 6, 7, that Christ was in the form of a servant as soon as He was made man.
34. Could He be properly considered a servant in respect of any earthly master?
35. In what did His taking on Him the form of a servant properly consist?
36. Give, and explain the effect of, Pearson's correction of our translation of Phil. ii. 7.
37. In what consisted Christ's humiliation? See verse 8.
38. In what his exinanition?
39. "Mine ears hast thou opened;" Psa. xl. 6. To what is this equivalent according to the Apostle's interpretation in the Epistle to the Hebrews?
40. And what follows from that interpretation?
41. Show, also from Phil. ii. 6, 7, that Christ was in the form of God before He was in the form of a servant consequently before He was made man?

42. Show, also from the same passage, that Christ was as much in the form of God as in that of a servant, and as really subsistent in the nature of God as in that of man.

43. Show that the being which Christ had before he was conceived by the Virgin was the Divine essence, from his being styled Alpha and Omega.

44. Quote the texts where he is so styled.

45. "I am Alpha," &c., Rev. i. 8, admits of being referred to the Father or the Son; show that the conclusion affirmative of Christ's Divinity equally follows according to either interpretation.

46. Prove the eternal Divinity of Christ from Isaiah's description of Him whose glory he saw; Isaiah VI. in connection with St. John's testimony that that glory was the glory of Christ; John xii, 41; quoting the requisite texts, &c.

47. What is to be concluded from Christ, though man, being frequently in Scripture called God, in a manner applicable only to the One Eternal God?

48. Show from Scripture that Jesus Christ, being called God, is not one of "Gods many" who in a certain sense are so called, and that He is therefore the One Supreme God.

49. Pearson states two rules invented in opposition to the truth of Our Saviour's being the same God with the Father. What are they? and what observations have their framers founded upon them?

50. Does Greek usage with respect to the insertion or omission of the Articles, afford any certain ground for the rules which the derivers of Our Saviour's divinity, have framed, from such insertion or omission in reference to the name of God?

51. Why, even if their rules were granted, would their conclusion still be without certainty?

52. "God was manifested in the flesh," 1 Tim. iii, 16. Give Pearson's explication of this passage, showing from it that Christ is the One Supreme God.

53. Show that no Divine Attribute, and no Divine person except the Son, can be the subject of the proposition in this passage.

54. "Take heed . . . to all the flock over which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the Church of God, which he hath purchased with His own blood;" Acts xx, 28. Show from this passage, quoting other requisite texts, that Christ is the One Supreme God.

55. In disproof of what particular assertion of the deniers of Christ's Divinity, have the two leading passages in this paragraph been made use of?

56. Show in disproof of what assertion of the deniers of Christ's Divinity, that the name of God with an Article of excellency is attributed to Christ.

57. Make any requisite observations on the three leading passages quoted by Pearson, and quote requisite texts.

58. Prove from Rom. ii, 5, the Supreme Divinity of Christ.

59. Show the force of the term "blessed," and how converted Jews would understand it. Quote requisite texts, &c.

60. Give a brief summary of the arguments by which it has been proved, that the being which Christ had before He was conceived by the Virgin, was the Divine essence, whereby He was the true, eternal God.

61. Against whom (from whom named?) is this doctrine vindicated?

62. Show that the Divine essence which Christ had, he had by communication from the Father.

63. Show that Christ must have the whole of the Divine essence communicated to Him.

64. By what term did the Nicene Council denote the consubstantiality of Christ with the Father?

65. Give Pearson's explication of "I and the Father are One;" John x, 30; and of "The Father is in me," &c., ver. 38, compared with "I came out from the Father;" xvi, 37.

66. How does Pearson connect the Creation of the World with the communicability of the Divine nature?

67. Show that God always had a Son.

68. Why did Mohammed deny that God ever had a Son?

69. "Thou art my Son, &c.;" Psal. ii, 7. How do the followers of Mohammed corrupt this passage?

70. How is it applied by the later Jews?

71. Show the correctness of the view of it taken by the ancient Jews, from the interpretation of it by St. Paul, Heb. i, 5.

72. What is the true notion of generation ?

73. Distinguish between two kinds of similitude in human generations.

74. What is the essential similitude founded on the communication of the Divine essence ?

75. How is this communication a far more proper generation than any generation of the Creature ?

76. State the particulars in which human generation is inferior in propriety to the generation consisting in the communication of the Divine essence.

77. Animals on arriving at perfection become prolific; what argument may hence be drawn illustrative of the eternal fecundity of God ?

78. What then may the eternal communication of the Divine nature be termed ?

79. Quote texts founded on this conclusion.

80. What is the full force of " We are in the true Son ? " 1 John v, 20.

81. What is the proper and full signification of only-begotten, as applied to Christ ?

82. Pearson mentions two expositions given by heretics of this term. What are they ? and how shown to be far short of the truth ? Quote requisite texts.

83. Christ is the Father's " beloved " Son ; is also the " Only-Begotten " Son ; how should we understand those statements as they may concern ourselves ?

84. Show that any others than Christ who are said to be sons of God, and to be begotten of Him, are not begotten in the same sense in which Christ is: and

85. Show the distinction between the Word and the Holy Ghost as regards Sonship.

86. What analogy may be alleged in illustration from the difference between Eve and Seth in a similar respect though both produced from Adam.

87. Give a brief summary of the arguments from which it is concluded that Christ is the Only-Begotten Son of God.

88. What are the practical uses of belief in Christ as the Only Son of God

89. Quote texts throughout.

90. Distinguish different degrees of idolatry according to the Godhead or otherwise of the object of worship, and the (knowledge or) belief of the Worshipper in reference thereto.

91. How does belief in Christ as the Only Son of God, secure us from falling into idolatry with respect to Him?

92. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Christ as the Only Son of God.

Sec. IV. "Our Lord."

1. What is required for the explication of Our Lord in Article II.?

2. Quote some of the texts in which the Lord alone, absolutely taken, is in the New Testament used for Christ.

3. What is chiefly required to ascertain the true notation of the Word?
4. Show that the Lord, (Κύριος), though sometimes used in the Septuagint and New Testament with relation to dominion merely human, is certainly also used of Christ in a far higher sense.
5. How is that name most frequently used in the Books of the Law?
6. For what names, and most universally for what name, of God?
7. How does Pearson explain Exodus vi, 3?
8. What is the (equivalent) etymology of יהוה, and of Κύριος?
9. Show from comparison of Scripture passages (in resolution of the doubt whether Lord, as the translation of Jehovah, belongs to Christ? or whether if so, it belongs to Him in the same propriety as to the Supreme God?), that the original Jehovah is by the prophets applied to Christ.
10. Show similarly that Lord as the usual interpretation of Jehovah is attributed to Christ by the Apostles.
11. Show that Lord in a Divine sense is attributed to Christ as the interpretation of Adon.
12. How does the notion of Adon agree with and presuppose that other notion of Jehovah?
13. What two kinds of dominion belong to Christ?
14. In what nature has He dominion as Creator of all things?

15. In what nature as "made Lord and Christ?"
16. Name some principal branches of the dominion belonging to Christ in respect of His acquired Lordship? Quote requisite texts.
17. Show that the dominion given to Christ in His human nature had not all the same beginning; distinguish between different parts of 'it, and the different times of His receiving them. Quote texts.
18. Distinguish between parts of the same dominion in reference to difference in duration.
19. Show that "forever," (Heb.,) though not necessarily signifying absolute eternity, yet sometimes has that sense; and that it must in that sense apply to a part (which?) of the dominion given to Christ in His human nature. Quote requisite texts.
20. How is Christ in a general sense Our Lord?
21. In what respects peculiarly Our Lord?
22. What are the practical uses of belief in Christ as Our Lord? Quote requisite texts.
23. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Christ as Our Lord.

ARTICLE III.

"WHICH WAS CONCEIVED BY THE HOLY GHOST, BORN OF THE VIRGIN MARY."

Sec. I. "Which was conceived—born."

1. How did the ancient Creeds express Article III? And,

2. How must their language be understood so as to be equivalent in meaning with the words as they now stand?
3. What is the import of this Article as connected with the preceding?
4. How far does the force of the connecting pronoun extend in reference to following Articles?
5. How was Christ made man?
6. In what only person of the Trinity was made the union of the human nature with the Divine?
7. Who was the founder of the Patripassian heresy?
8. How is it inconsistent with the words of the Creed?
9. What is Christ often called in reference to His manhood?
10. To what persons was He in His human nature promised as a descendant?
11. As real and perfect man, of what two parts does Christ consist?
12. Show that Christ assumed a real human body. Quote requisite texts.
13. By what heretics (first by whom?) was the humanity of Christ denied?
14. Show that Christ assumed a real human soul. Quote texts.
15. What heretics held that the Word supplied in Christ's flesh the place of an informing soul?
16. Show that the Divine and human natures in Christ are distinct; not being confounded by commixtion, nor changed either into the other by conversion.

17. "The word was made flesh." What very different erroneous interpretations, and by whom, have been made of ἑγένετο in this passage?

18. What argument did the ancient Fathers draw, in opposition to the Eutychian heresy, from the sacramental union, without change of the elements, in the Lord's Supper?

19. How does their use of this argument militate against the antiquity of the doctrine of transubstantiation?

20. Who was the founder of the Eutychian heresy?

21. Give a brief summary of the arguments whence it is concluded that the union of two distinct natures was made in the one person of the Word.

22. Show the importance of the true notion respecting this union.

23. Who was the founder of the Nestorian heresy?

Sec. II. "Conceived by the Holy Ghost."

1. "Conceived by the Holy Ghost." What is the only subject for direct consideration in this Section?

2. And why so?

3. What is excluded by attributing the Conception of Christ to the Spirit? Quote requisite texts.

4. What is included in the Conception by the Holy Ghost? Quote requisite texts.

5. How is it manifest that Christ was not made of the substance of the Holy Ghost?

6. Why may not phrases seeming to attribute the generation of Christ to the Holy Ghost be understood by proper generation?

7. What strange conjunction in Christ's nature has been invented by the Socinians? And with what view?

8. What are the practical uses of belief in the Conception of Jesus Christ by the Holy Ghost?

9. Quote requisite texts throughout.

10. Why was the original holiness of our human nature in the person of our Saviour so necessary?

11. In what particular respect, with reference to the subject under consideration, may the love of God, shown in the Incarnation of Christ, be regarded?

12. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Jesus Christ as conceived by the Holy Ghost.

Sec. III. "Born of the Virgin Mary."

1. In what three principal respects is our Saviour's Mother to be considered?

2. Was hers a common name among the Jews of her time?

3. With what name in the Old Testament is it identical?

4. Who first bore that name? And,

5. What may be observed of her in reference to the bringing of the Israelites out of Egypt?

6. Of what tribe and family must our Saviour's mother have sprung ?
7. Is such a descent recorded in Scripture ?
8. Who was her cousin Elizabeth ?
9. How is the mother of Jesus distinguished from others of the same name ?
10. Show, from predictions in the Old Testament, that the Messiah was to be born of a virgin.
11. Show the futility of Jewish objections to this application of a prophecy which is to this purpose in Jeremiah, and of another, still more express, in Isaiah.
12. Show that our Saviour's mother was a virgin even when she had brought forth.
13. What reasons have persuaded the Church to believe that she ever continued so ?
14. Show that the objection to this belief, drawn from St. Matthew's expression that "Joseph knew her not until she had brought forth," &c., has no weight.
15. Quote texts in illustration.
16. Show the same as to the objection from the expression, the first-born son of Mary ;" quoting requisite texts.
17. Show the same as to the objection from the mention in Scripture of the brethren of our Lord ; noticing two modes of accounting for their being so called, though not sons of his mother.
18. In answer to the last objection, as still farther urged, that Scripture shows James and Joses, the brethren of Christ, to be also sons of Mary His mother, show, moreover, that they were actually sons of another Mary. Quote the necessary texts.

19. How does our Saviour's mode of commending His mother, at His crucifixion, to the care of His beloved disciple, favour the notion of her uninterrupted virginity?

20. What is to be attributed to the Virgin in the birth of Christ?

21. By what three things is she His mother? Quote texts.

22. What remarkable epithets have been applied to her in this character by the Greeks and Latins?

23. What are the practical uses of belief in Jesus Christ as born of the Virgin Mary? Quote texts throughout.

24. How did the primitive Church distinguish between what was due to the Virgin and to her son?

25. Levi, in the loins of Abraham, paid tithes to Melchizedec; Christ, though Abraham's son, paid them not in him, but received them in Melchizedec: what contrast does Pearson hence illustrate?

26. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Jesus Christ as born of the Virgin Mary.

ARTICLE IV.

"SUFFERED UNDER PONTIUS PILATE, WAS CRUCIFIED, DEAD, AND BURIED."

Sec. I. "Suffered."

1. How did the most ancient Creeds express the IV. Article?
2. What addition—and why?—did the Church afterwards make to this statement?
3. "Suffered." What is required for the explication of this expression?
4. What is here distinctly considered?
5. In what two principal respects are we to consider Him who suffered?
6. Show that the promised Messiah was to suffer, from our Saviour's own, and from Apostolical, testimony.
7. Show the same, especially as in opposition to unbelieving Jews, from a remarkable prophecy in Isaiah.
8. What distinction have they invented to elude the Christian application of this prophecy?
9. Show that this distinction is both false in itself, and invented to counterfeit the truth; not only invalid against us, but advantageous to us.
10. Show that Jesus (our Messiah) suffered making reference to some particulars of His sufferings, and to testimonies which prove the reality of His sufferings acknowledged by all: (with the exception of what ancient heretics only?)

11. Show from Scripture that the sufferings of the Messiah were agreed on between Him and the Father, determined according to covenant between them, and revealed to the prophets, who delivered them to the Church.
12. How did Moses say that Christ should suffer?
13. Mention some remarkable instances.
14. Quote declarations of our Saviour, as to the fulfilment in Him of all those agreed on, &c., sufferings, and a similar declaration of St. Peter.
15. Show that the Person, who, in His office of Messiah suffered, was no other than God the Son.
16. Why could not Christ possibly suffer in His Divine nature?
17. In what nature alone did He suffer?
18. What heretics held opinions inconsistent with the Catholic truth as to this subject?
19. In consideration of what do we properly say "God did suffer," though we profess that the Godhead suffered not?
20. Show that the properties, and consequently the actions and passions, of the human nature may be attributed to the Son of God.
21. What is properly meant by the "communication of properties," as not involving a confusion of the properties of the Divine and human natures?
22. State briefly, in conclusion, from the arguments previously used, how God the Son suffered.
23. How does the language of this Article limit the beginning of the period of our Saviour's sufferings considered in this section ?

24. Under what two principal heads are we to consider the sufferings undergone by our Saviour in His human nature ?

25. What did He suffer in His body ?

26. What did He suffer in His soul ?

27. How is the intensity of our Saviour's sufferings testified by the language of the sacred writers ?

28. How is the intensity of His sufferings manifest from the occasion of them ?

29. What are the practical uses of belief that Our Saviour suffered ?

30. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief that Our Saviour suffered ?

Sec. II. Under Pontius Pilate.

1. Why has the Church thought it expedient to mention in the Creed the governor under whom our Saviour suffered ?

2. For what reasons is it expedient to ascertain what can be known concerning him ?

3. State particulars as to the two names by which that governor is described.

4. Why should we suppose that he may have had another name, (of what kind ?) though none such be extant ?

5. What was his national origin, and rank ?

6. By whom was he sent to be Governor of Judea ?

7. When were the Jews made tributary to the Romans ?

8. When first immediately subjected to Roman Governors ?

9. Of what Roman province was Judea made a part?
10. What was the office which Pontius Pilate bore, properly designated?
11. When and for what purpose originally instituted?
12. What was the increased (why?) extent of power attached to it in Judea?
13. What important end was thus brought about by Divine providence? Quote texts.
14. Show that Pilate of himself was unwilling to condemn Jesus; and account for his condemning and crucifying him notwithstanding. Give requisite texts and illustrations.
15. What are the practical uses of belief that Christ suffered under Pontius Pilate?
16. Mention some false duties which have been assigned (with what views?) by enemies of Christianity to Our Saviour's passion.
17. What written testimonies did Pilate give to Our Saviour's passion and innocence?
18. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief that Christ suffered under Pontius Pilate.

Sec. III. "Was crucified."

1. What is required for explication of Our Saviour's crucifixion?
2. Mention some remarkable types of Christ's crucifixion; noting particulars of correspondence.
3. Mention some remarkable prophecies of His crucifixion.

5. Show the reality of Our Saviour's Crucifixion by enumerating some of the leading incidents of the accounts given of it by the Evangelists.
6. What extravagant fiction in relation to Simon the Cyrenian as connected with Christ's Crucifixion has been broached? By whom?
7. Why is it not now so easy as once it was to ascertain the exact nature, &c. of Crucifixion?
8. By whom and why was it first abolished as a punishment?
9. Give some account of the Roman Cross, and of the manner in which Our Saviour was affixed to it.
10. What was the accusation, and how do we ascertain it to be so, on which Pilate actually condemned Jesus?
11. Illustrate the aggravations of our Saviour's passion arising from the acerbity, and from the ignominy of it.
12. What are the practical uses of belief in Christ crucified? Quote texts throughout.
13. What particular curse of the law did our Saviour take on Him by the manner of His passion?
14. What epithet has been applied to Him by the Jews in reference of His crucifixion?
15. Mention an important particular in which the case of persons who, according to certain heathen traditions, died and rose again, differed from that of our Saviour.
16. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Christ crucified.

Sec. IV. "Dead."

1. What is required to illustrate that clause of the Creed which affirms that our Saviour was dead?
2. Mention types representing the death of our Saviour.
3. Show that the saving of Isaac alive when brought to be sacrificed, does not invalidate such an application in his case.
4. Quote prophecies foretelling Christ's death.
5. How is the reality of Christ's death established by the belief of hostile witnesses? And by certain attendant circumstances?
6. How do both the Christian Sacraments bear reference to the death of Christ, and to what particular circumstances connected with it?
7. What is the proper meaning of death in reference to human beings? And in what accordingly did the death of Christ consist?
8. Quote an expression used by Christ, and another by St. Luke, (in connection with that of Christ's recorded by him,) which show the reality of His death.
9. Illustrate also the reality of His death from its immediate cause.
10. Show that His voluntary submission to death did not prevent the necessary operation of that immediate cause; also, that from His dying so soon as he did, no conclusion must be drawn as if He had miraculously hastened His own death. Quote requisite texts.
11. What two different unions existed in Christ?
12. Which of them was dissolved by His death?

13. Show that according to the language of the Creed, neither the body nor the soul of Christ was by His death separated from His Divinity.

14. Show that no such separation would be consistent with the Ecclesiastical language, founded on Scripture, that God died for us.

15. Show that Christ's innocence and obedience preclude the supposition of such a separation.

16. Show that such a separation is not implied (What is?) by the exclamation "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

17. Show that the cause which effected a separation between the soul and body of Christ, could not separate either His body or soul from His Divinity.

18. Show the practical uses of belief that Christ was Dead, from a consideration of the importance of His death in reference to His offices of Prophet, Priest, and King.

19. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief that Christ was dead.

Sec. V. "And Buried."

1. What is required for the explication of the clause of the Creed declaring that Christ was buried?

2. Why would the Messiah's burial be presumed to follow from His being to die among the Jews?

3. By what type was it represented ?
4. How prophetically foretold ?
5. How might the Roman custom in cases of crucifixion seem repugnant to the expectation that Jesus would be buried ?
6. Show how it was nevertheless brought about by Divine Providence, that the burial of Jesus should take place in accordance with the ancient predictions. Quote requisite texts, &c.
7. Give some account of the chief particulars to be considered, with reference to the performance of Our Saviour's burial according to the custom of the Jews.
8. What are the practical uses of belief that Christ was buried? Quote texts.
9. What was the usual Greek and Roman manner of disposing of the bodies of the dead ?
10. How and when did burial come to take place of it throughout the Roman Empire ?
11. What Christian reasons, in addition to the natural one, are there for paying respect to the bodies of the dead ?
12. What influence did the attention paid by the primitive Christians to the burial of the dead exercise on the minds of the heathen ?
13. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief that Christ was buried.

ARTICLE V.

"HE DESCENDED INTO HELL; THE THIRD DAY HE AROSE AGAIN FROM THE DEAD."

Sec. I. "He descended into Hell."

1. What Church, and at what time, first introduced the descent into Hell into her Creed ?
2. What was the antiquity of the reception of the descent itself in some sense or other ?
3. "Hell;" what was the term here used in the Aquileian Creed ?
4. With what variety translated by the Greeks ?
5. How does it appear that the words "He descended into Hell," were when first used intended to express only Christ's burial ?
6. Show, however, that their meaning cannot be so restricted in the Creed as it now stands.
7. How must we proceed to ascertain the Scripture ground of belief in the doctrine that Christ descended into Hell ?
8. "Now that He ascended," &c., Eph. iv. 9. Show that we cannot be assured that this passage is to be understood of the descent into Hell.
9. Christ was "put to death in the flesh," but, &c., 1 Peter iii. 18, 19. Show that this passage cannot properly be interpreted of the descent into Hell.
10. Beside the two leading texts considered, what other passage has been especially brought forward to prove the descent into Hell ?

11. Give it as delivered in the Old Testament, and quoted and applied in the New ? and show that the truth of the proposition now under consideration is clearly established by it.

12. Among the different opinions as to the meaning of the descent of Christ into Hell, what kind of explication must be looked for ?

13. Show that the (singular) opinion of Durandus as to the descent being merely metaphorical (in what particular sense ?) is inadmissible.

14. What was Calvin's opinion as to the descent into Hell ?

15. Show that in a literal sense Our Saviour certainly did not suffer infernal torments.

16. Show that if Our Saviour be said metaphorically to suffer infernal torments, in reference to the greatness of the sufferings which He endured in His soul, this interpretation would not be a pertinent explication.

17. What explication has been made of the clause under consideration, as if referring to burial only, founded on a certain translation, (what ?) of the original terms used for "soul" and "hell" in the passage on which the proposition of Christ's descent into Hell is founded ?

18. Show that it must be acknowledged that such a translation can be supported by instances of Scripture usage.

19. What other advantage must this explication be allowed to have ?

20. Show that the notwithstanding the advantages just mentioned, this interpretation, however it might perhaps be thought a probable one of the words of David, cannot be allowed as an exposition of the Creed as it now stands ?

21. What explication of the clause under consideration has been grounded on an interpretation of "Hell" as signifying the state or condition of the dead ?

22. Show that this explication is inadmissable, because contrary to all ancient authority as to the meaning of Hades.

23. Also, because, as the Creed now stands, the clause so explicated would be superfluous ?

24. What interpretation of Christ's descent into Hell yet remains, grounded on the general opinion of the Church, and a probable exposition of the Psalmist's prophecy ?

25. In regard to this exposition, what does Pearson observe concerning the existence, condition, place, of the souls of men departed ?

26. How does it appear that this exposition is grounded on the general opinion of the Church ?

27. In what did the Ancients agree ? On what leading subjects did they differ ? As regards Christ's descent into Hell ?

28. By such of the Ancients as believed "Hell" the general receptacle of all souls, to whose souls was Christ thought to descend? and on what remarkable point did they differ respecting the effect produced by His descent?

29. By such of the Ancients as thought Hades never in Scripture denoted a place of happiness to whose souls was Christ believed to descend? And for what end?

30. And what difference of opinion was there among them, as to the number of the souls to whom the effect of His descent extended?

31. By what means did they conceive deliverance to be wrought for the souls in Hell?

32. Show that their notion of the end, or means to effect the end of Christ's descent, cannot be admitted; as wanting good authority, and false, &c., in itself.

33. Show also that their opinion as to the effect thus supposed to be wrought by Christ's descent, is not to be admitted in respect of the authority on which it is built.

34. Nor in respect of the doctrine involved in it.

35. What opinion respecting the end of Christ's descent into Hell, because prevalent in the later ages of the Church, and was delivered as a matter of faith by the schools?

36. How was it supposed to fall from a denial of the deliverance of the souls of the damned?

37. Show that the opinion vainly claims to be founded on the consent of antiquity.

39. Show that there is no certainty as to the truth of that opinion, either as regards the place of the souls of the just, or any change made in their condition, or the dependence of such (supposed) change on the descent of Christ into Hell.

40. Mention some things certainly contained in Scripture which are adverse to that opinion.

41. How does it appear that the bosom of Abraham is still the place promised to the souls of the faithful?

42. What other opinion has obtained, especially in the English Church, concerning a triumph achieved by Christ's descent into Hell?

43. How were Col. ii. 15, and Eph. iv. 8 9, interpreted and conjoined by the supporters of this opinion?

44. Show that the two Scriptures above mentioned are not sufficient to found the conclusion alleged.

45. What is the full extent of the conclusion which properly follows from them?

46. And how is that conclusion unfavorable to the supposition of Christ's descending in order to triumph in to Hell?

47. Show that the testimonies of the Fathers, are vainly and inconsistently alleged in support of the opinion now considered.

48. "Thou wilt not leave my soul in Hell;" show that these words are adverse to this opinion.

49. What does Pearson conclude to be the end of Christ's descent into Hell, most conformable to the words of the Psalmist, and least liable to objection?

50. What benefit and encouragement do believers receive from the descent of Christ into Hell ?

51. Give a summary of the manner in which a christian may express his belief in the fact, and in the purposes thereby to be answered,—that Christ descended into Hell.

Sec. II. "The third day he rose again from the dead."

1. What may be observed as to the antiquity. &c., of that part of this article, which asserts Christ's resurrection ?

2. What are the particulars contained in it ?

3. How was it prophesied that the Messiah was to rise again ? How typified ?

4. By what human testimonies was it established that Jesus our Messiah, accordingly rose again

5. By what angelical testimonies

6. In what respects was the resurrection of Jesus Divinely testified

7. Define in what a true resurrection consists ; noticing how it differs from a new creation, and from an accidental alteration, also, how it can be predicated of things incorruptible, nor of some (What) things corruptible, and how it takes place with respect to a human being.

8. Show that Christ truly thus rose again, by Scripture proofs, that after his resurrection he had a real human body and real human soul, identical, identical with the body and soul which he had before.

9. Show that Christ truly rose again in the same soul and body, from a consideration of the meritorious cause of His resurrection.

10. Show the same from a consideration of the efficient cause of it.

11. Why must the resurrection of Christ be attributed to God generally, as Father, Son, and Holy Ghost

12. Quote texts in which it is ascribed to God the Father?

13. Show that in Scripture it is also ascribed to God the Son?

14. How do the Socinians attempt to deny this?

15. Show the futility of their arguments.

16. How are we especially assured of the truth of Christ's proper resurrection, in the same soul and body, from a consideration of Him as raised by the Father, and as raised by himself

17. How was the distance of time between the death and resurrection of the Messiah typified

18. In reference to the distance between the death of Jesus and His resurrection; show why it was requisite that some space of time, and yet not a long space, should intervene between them.

19. Show also what was the determinate space which did thus intervene, giving requisite quotations and illustrations.

20. What things are to be considered in respect to the precise day on which Christ rose ?

21. How was the day of His resurrection typified ?

22. On what day of the week did Christ rise ?

23. And how does it appear to have corresponded with the day typical of it ?

24. How are these points settled from consideration of the day, from which the resurrection day is reckoned the third ?

25. How does the language of the Evangelists, expressing the time of Christ's resurrection show on what day of the week, and about what time of the day it took place ?

26. For what reason was the observation of a Sabbath on one day in seven enjoined ?

27. What seventh day of the week was enjoined as a Sabbath to the Jews, and for what additional reason in regard to that particular day ?

28. Why is the first day now sanctified as our weekly Sabbath, instead of the day formerly enjoined to the Jews ?

29. Give instances from Scripture of the Apostles' practice in religiously observing the first day of the week.

30. What peculiar name has it received in Scripture in reference to our Lord ?

31. How are Christians distinguished from Jews and Mohammedans by their religious observance of the first day of the week?

32. What are the practical uses of belief that Christ rose again from the dead?

33. In what two respects is His resurrection a cause of ours? Quote texts throughout.

34. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief that Christ the third day rose again from the dead.

ARTICLE VI.

Sec. I. "He ascended into Heaven."

1. What things are required for the illustration of Christ's ascension?

2. How was His ascension typified?

3. How prophetically foretold?

4. What was this proper ascension? Quote texts throughout.

5. Show that the ascension now considered cannot be understood figuratively, of any change in his body consequent on His resurrection.

6. In what sense only could it be truly said that Christ had before ascended into Heaven?

7. Show that Christ's more proper ascension was to be performed not long after His resurrection.
8. What are the testimonies to Christ's ascension?
9. What difference existed, and why? as to the necessity of an eye-witness of Christ's resurrection and of His ascension?
10. Show, quoting requisite texts, what is meant by that Heaven into which Christ ascended.
11. What are the practical uses of belief that Christ ascended into Heaven? Quote texts throughout.
12. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief that Christ ascended into Heaven.

Sec. II. "And sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty."

1. How was the latter part of Article VI. stated by the ancients?
2. What is required for the explication of the session of Christ?
3. How was the sitting of the Messiah at the right hand of God pretypified?
4. How expressly foretold?
5. Refute Jewish misapplications of the prophecy.
6. Show, quoting requisite texts, that Jesus did accordingly so sit down.
7. Can the same be predicated of any other man or angel?

8. "On the right hand of God." Show what is meant by this expression?
9. Show that Christ's session on the right hand of God corresponds in all respects to that meaning.
10. "He sitteth." What is meant by this expression?
11. Show that Christ's session on the right hand of God corresponds in all respects to that meaning.
12. What is the substance of the doctrine conveyed in the phrase of Christ's sitting on the right hand of God?
13. What promise was made by God to David of the continuance of his kingdom?
14. On what condition did the fulfillment of it depend?
15. And why was it not literally fulfilled?
16. In what highest sense was it completely fulfilled?
17. From different times of David's anointings and accessions of power, illustrate Christ's entrance after divers gradations on full and entire dominion.
18. What is the immediate effect of His regal power?
19. What Oriental custom is referred to under the image of His making His foes His footstool?
20. Who are the temporal enemies of Christ?
21. Who have especially been so?
22. And how made His footstool?
23. Who are the spiritual enemies of Christ?
24. Distinguish between the total destruction and the absolute subjection of Christ's spiritual enemies.

25. With respect to whom are these His enemies destroyed?
26. Instance in each particular enemy.
27. With respect to whom are they continued in operation, and not destroyed, though subdued to Christ?
28. How long shall Christ's regal power in this mediatorial capacity continue?
29. When and wherefore will His mediatorial office, in all its branches, cease?
30. What clause was added to the Nicene Creed, and why? respecting the eternity of Christ's kingdom?
31. Show in what respects He will nevertheless be a King forever?
32. What are the practical uses of belief in Christ as sitting on the right hand of God?
33. "God the Father Almighty." Why does the attribute Almighty require to be here considered, and not the nature of God, nor relation of Father?
34. Define the potency, and further, the Omnipotency signified here by this term.
35. Explain how God is to be called Omnipotent in regard of power derived from Him.
36. How in regard of inability in any thing to resist Him.
37. How, yet more properly, in regard to the infinite extent of His power, both as to the object and the effects of it?

38. When is a thing said to imply a contradiction?
39. What things only are absolutely impossible, and wherefore consequently not within the power of God?
40. In what ways may an action imply a contradiction in respect of the object?
42. Show that it is not derogatory to the Omnipotency of God that He cannot effect such an action.
42. How may an action imply a contradiction in respect of the agent?
43. Show that it is not derogatory to the Omnipotency of God that He cannot effect such an action.
44. Show that God only is Omnipotent.
45. Show that the attribute Almighty is not confined to the Father only.
46. Why is He here peculiarly so described?
47. What are the practical uses of belief in God Almighty? Quote texts.
48. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in Jesus Christ who sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty.

ARTICLE VII.

"FROM THENCE HE SHALL COME TO JUDGE THE QUICK AND THE DEAD."

Sec. I. "He shall come."

1. In illustration of the future coming of Christ, show that such a coming of the promised Messiah was foretold in Scripture.

2. Confute a Jewish misrepresentation of a remarkable prophecy to this purpose.

3. Show how we are assured that our Jesus shall accordingly so come. Quote texts.

Sec. II. "From Thence."

1. Whence shall He so come? Quote texts.

2. How therefore appearing most fit for the office of judging?

Sec. III. "To judge."

1. What things are necessary to be considered for the explication of this particular?

2. How does a future judgment appear demonstrable from consideration of our own conscience and its operation?

3. How from consideration of the perfect justice of God, especially when we regard the rewards and punishments of men in this life?

4. Show that the doctrine of future judgments is certainly true, as being expressly revealed by God in His word.

5. Illustrate by instances recorded in Scripture, the expectation entertained by the heathen of a judgment to come.

6. To whom alone, and wherefore, does Supreme judiciary power by right belong?

7. What follows, in respect of the future judgment, with regard to the three persons of the Blessed Trinity?

8. To which of the three persons of the Trinity shall execution of the judiciary power be committed in the day of judgment?

9. Distinguish between the original and derived judiciary power of Christ.

10. The Father hath given Christ "Authority to execute judgment, because He is the Son of man." What is here ~~to be~~ understood beyond the mere fact of Christ's humanity?

11. Illustrate Christ's fitness for the office of Judge, from considerations of what He hath done and suffered as the Son of Man, and the Divine justice manifested in His consequent exaltation.

12. "The Father judgeth no man," &c. Show what is here asserted of the Father is applicable also to the Holy Ghost.

13. Illustrate Christ's fitness for the office of Judge from considerations relating to ourselves as of the same (human) nature with Him, and to His being man as well as God.

14. Show from Scripture that from the resurrection and ascension of Christ, we are assured that He shall be judge.

15. Mention some of the figurative and parabolical descriptions under which Christ is in Scripture represented as Judge.

16. In what does the reality of the act of the future judgment consist?

17. Recount, quoting requisite texts, the steps of the formal judiciary process by which the manner of it is represented to us in Scripture.

Sec. IV. "The quick and the dead."

1. Give Scripture instances of the use of the phrase "The quick and the dead."
2. Why is it capable of several interpretations?
3. Why have some understood by "the quick," the souls, by "the dead," the bodies of men?
4. What, according to them, would the phrase imply in reference to the general judgment?
5. Why is their interpretation inadmissible?
6. Answer the same questions in reference to those who have understood by "the quick," the just, "the dead," the unjust.
7. What remains as the true meaning here of "the quick and the dead," and the proper sense of the article?
8. What only doubt, and induced by what consideration, has been objected to this interpretation?
9. Confute from Scripture the objection so raised.
10. What are the practical uses of belief in Christ's coming to judge the quick and the dead?
11. Quote illustrative texts.

12. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who professes his belief that Christ shall come to judge the quick and the dead."

ARTICLE VIII.

"I BELIEVE IN THE HOLY GHOST."

1. What are the two particulars relating to the Holy Ghost, necessary to be set forth for the explication of Article VIII?

2. And what may be considered under each of them?

3. Show, quoting requisite texts, &c., that it will be needless to begin the indagation of the nature of the Holy Ghost by proving his existence.

4. Why would it be presumptuous and unreasonable, even before taking into account the positive evidence to the contrary, to suppose the Holy Ghost nothing but an operation or quality?

5. Some things are in Scripture, spoken of the Holy Ghost, which are proper, some which are not proper to a person—Why do the latter contain nothing to invalidate the conclusion for the personality of the Holy Ghost drawn from the former?

6. Show that the Scriptures describe to us the Holy Ghost as a person.

7. How do the Socinians attempt to answer the argument drawn from the Scriptural expressions attributing Personality to the Holy Ghost?

8. Show the futility of their answer.

9. What further explication did Socinas contrive in answer to the orthodox argument?

10. Show the futility of this second explication.

11. Instance some Scriptural expressions used of the Holy Ghost, which the Socinians object against this Personality.

12. Show that one of them, i. e., that God is said to give the Holy Ghost, is not inapplicable to a person, and that the others, even if so inapplicable, are rightly to be understood in a sense—what? which does not invalidate the orthodox doctrine.

13. Against what opponents is the Personality of the Holy Ghost asserted?

14. In proving that the Holy Ghost is not a created person, what admission of the adversaries themselves may first be alleged?

15. Prove that the Holy Ghost is a person, and un-created, from the words of our Saviour concerning the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost.

16. Show the futility of the Socinian objection to this application of the passage.

17. Prove, quoting requisite texts, that the Holy Ghost is no created person, because in the beginning not made by Christ, nor now subjected under His feet.

COURSE OF STUDY.

18. Prove the same truth from Christ's being called the Son of God, because conceived in the Virgin by the operation of the Holy Ghost.

19. Against what heretics is it asserted that the Holy Ghost is not a created person?

20. Show that the assertion of the proper God-head of the Holy Ghost, necessarily follows from the preceding assertions, and that it is proved even by the admissions of the respective adversaries of those assertions.

21. When Moses "went in before the Lord," &c., he took the veil off, &c. Exod. xxxiv. 34. From St. Paul's interpretation of that passage, 2 Cor. iii: 15, &c., prove the Deity of the Holy Ghost; and show the futility of the Socinian evasions of the force of the Apostle's declaration that "the Lord is that Spirit."

22. Prove the Deity of the Holy Ghost from lying to the Holy Ghost, in the case of Ananias, being represented by St. Peter as equivalent to lying to God; and refute objections to the orthodox argument.

23. Prove the same truth from the bodies of Christians being by St. Paul called Temp'les, because of the inhabitation of the Holy Ghost; and refute objections.

24. Prove the same truth from attributes in Scripture given to the Holy Ghost.

25. And from works attributed to Him.

26. Show that the Holy Ghost is not the same person as the Son.

27. Quote texts in which the Holy Ghost is distinguished both from the Father and the Son.
28. Against what ancient heresy is the distinctness of the Holy Ghost from the Father and the Son asserted?
29. Show that the Holy Ghost is in order the Third person of the Blessed Trinity.
30. Show that the procession of the Holy Ghost from the Father, is a truth expressly delivered in Scripture, as also evidently, following from the identity in nature, but difference in person of the Father and the Holy Ghost.
31. Show that the procession of the Holy Ghost from the Son, is virtually contained in Scripture.
32. What was asserted as to the procession of the Holy Ghost by the Latin Fathers in the primitive times?
33. How did the Greek Fathers differ from them in language as to this particular?
34. Show that this involved no difference of doctrine.
35. How in regard to the procession of the Holy Ghost from the Son, did the great schism arise between the Eastern and Western Churches.
36. What are the six assertions in which the nature of the Holy Ghost has been declared?
37. How may the Holy Ghost be called Holy in himself or by way of distinction from other Spirits?
38. But why is He rather so called?
39. What is His peculiar office?
40. What are the two branches of the work wrought by the Holy Spirit in enlightening men with the knowledge of God?

41. What heretics have denied the necessity of the internal operation of the grace of God to enable a man to believe the gospel?

42. In respect to regeneration and renovation, what is wrought by the Spirit of God? Quote texts.

43. What in respect to the directing, animating, &c., of our actions? Quote texts.

44. What appears to be the correct Scripture notion of Παράκλητος? (Paraclete).

45. What is wrought by the Holy Ghost in respect of joining us to Christ? Quote texts.

46. What in respect of assuring us of adoption? &c. Quote texts.

47. What in respect of ordination of Ministers? Quote texts.

48. What are the parts of which the Office of the Holy Ghost consists?

49. What are the practical uses of belief in the Holy Ghost? Quote requisits texts.

50. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief in the Holy Ghost.

"THE HOLY CATHOLIC CHURCH, THE COMMUNION OF SAINTS."

Sec. I. "The Holy Catholic Church."

1. What is to be observed of the IXth Article with regard to the variety of its position in different creeds, and the additions made to it as originally stated?
2. What must be shown in expounding the clause "The Holy Catholic Church?"
3. Show by reference to the etymology and original signification, &c., of the English word Church, and of the Greek word Ἐκκλησία, that the nature of the Church here intended, is not sufficiently described by the nominal definition or derivation of the word.
4. To whom, and in opposition to what notions of greater latitude, must the notion of the Church be here restrained?
5. Whence must be concluded the true nature of the Church?
6. Quote the passage wherein it is first mentioned as promised to be built, and passages showing the fulfilment of the promise.
7. Of whom did the Church at first consist? Quote requisite texts.
8. How was that Church one?
9. In what other way is the Church which we believe, one?

10. Why is it requisite to show how those several Churches, into which the one Primitive Church were divided, were constituted?

11. In what sense is Εκκλησία used in the New Testament?

12. In respect of the latitude in which it is used in its most usual sense, give instances of its admitting of distinction and plurality.

13. Also of its reducing all into conjunction and unity; as regards the Churches of a district.

14. In what most comprehensive extent may Churches be reduced to the denomination of one Church?

15. What is the Church in this creed?

16. How is the unity expressly marked in some other creed?

17. In what must the unity of this Church consist?

18. How did members added to the first Church, become members of the same Church?

19. Show, quoting requisite texts, how the Church is one by unity of origination, of faith, of the sacraments, of hope, of charity, of regimen and discipline.

20. With reference to the distinction between things past, present, and future, how is the Church in the creed now propounded, and how has it in every age since it was constituted, been propounded, as the object of faith?

21. What duration of existence do we ascribe to the Church, and what must we therefore prove concerning it?

22. Why is the uninterrupted continuance of its existence to the end of the world, strictly an object of faith?
23. How does it appear that the Universal Church is not of itself indefectible?
24. Show, quoting requisite texts, that nevertheless according to the promise of God, it never shall perish.
25. In what respects and for what reasons is the Church universally holy?
26. How has St. Paul represented another (What?) kind of holiness, which must be more restricted (Why?) in its application?
27. What two opposite kinds of persons are comprehended in the external communion of the Church?
28. Illustrate this comprehensiveness from Scripture.
29. Against what schismatics did the ancient Catholics vindicate this comprehensiveness?
30. When do the wicked totally cease to be members of the Church?
31. Define how in respect to its godly members the Church is (or shall be) truly (though imperfectly) holy; perfectly holy, and most completely holy.
32. How must we ascertain the interpretation of the word Catholic?
33. When attributed otherwise than to the Church, in what senses is it used by the ancient Fathers?
34. As attributed to the Church, in what senses, especially in what most comprehensive sense?

35. In what acceptations did the ancient Fathers consider, and do we in the creed understand, the Church in respect of its universality to be Catholic? Quote requisite texts.

36. What are the practical uses of belief of the Holy Catholic Church? Quote requisite texts.

37. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms that he believes in the Holy Catholic Church.

Sec. II. "The Communion of Saints."

1. In explicating "the Communion of Saints," how are we directed by a consideration of the time of the insertion of this clause in the Creed?

2. Why may not "the Communion of Saints" be here understood (as otherwise it might be), of the community of goods, charity, &c., among the first Christians?

3. What must be considered in order to the explication of it?

4. In ascertaining the meaning of the "Saints," what senses are previously taken for granted to be not here applicable?

5. How is the clause now under consideration, connected with, and more restrictive than the preceding clause of the article?

6. In inquiring in what sainthood consists, what must be observed with reference to persons before as well as after the beginning of the Church of Christ?

7. How has Moses expressed the true notion of saints ?
8. What is the primary and general sense of holiness ?
9. How is it thus predicted of the whole people of Israel ?—of all the professors of Christianity ?
10. What further is required to make persons really and truly holy ? Quote requisite texts.
11. And who accordingly are saints ?
12. What saints are here particularly understood, in reference to distinction between the time before and after the beginning of the Church of Christ.
13. Show, quoting requisite texts, that there never was any Church of God but there were saints in it.
14. Show that saintship does not cease at death ; and distinguish between the Church militant and the Church triumphant. Quote requisite texts.
15. Show, quoting texts, the existence of, and particulars relating to, the Communion of the Saints with God the Father,—with God the Son,—with God the Holy Ghost: (and, which is necessarily implied, with the whole Trinity.)
16. With the Holy angels.
17. In what things have the living Saints communion, in what have they not with men not truly saints ?
18. Note particulars, (quoting requisite texts) respecting the communion of all living Saints one with another.
19. Show that the saints living, have communion with all saints departed.

20. How is it that all communion between saints and hypocrits, ends on the death of either, but the communion between saints living and saints departed, is still continued ?

21. In what do we communicate with saints departed ?

22. Is anything to be proved from Scripture in regard to what the saints in heaven do in relation to us on earth ?

23. As to what we ought to perform in reference to them, what is the limit beyond which we have no warrant in Scripture ?

24. In regard to what is done by the saints in heaven for us, and what we ought to do in relation to them, how does it appear that the Church of Rome teaches what is new as well as unwarrantable ?

25. What are the practical uses of belief of the Communion of Saints ? Quote texts.

26. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief of the Communion of Saints.

"THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS."

1. What is to be observed as to the antiquity of Article Tenth ?

2. With what preceding clause was it at first immediately connected, and what is its sense as shown by that connection ?

3. What is required for the explication of the Article thus understood ?

4. Show, quoting requisite texts, what is the nature of sin.

5. How may sin be distinguished in respect of commission, omission, evil habit, and evil inclination?

6. What is the obligation of sin?

7. Show the difference between sins, whether of commission or omission, and the guilt contracted by them, in respect of duration.

8. Show, from Scripture, that a sinner's obligation to eternal punishment is, or is not, taken off according as respecting there is, or is not, remission of sins.

9. Whose act is the forgiveness of sins?

10. What is the Greek word used in the Creed to express "forgiveness?"

11. Show that the true nature of forgiveness of sins cannot be sufficiently ascertained by consideration of any word used to express it; how, therefore, must we proceed to ascertain it?

12. Show, from Scripture, the necessary connection, in fulfilment of legal types, of Christ's death with the remission of sins; the vicarious nature and intent of His sufferings, and the consequent accomplishment of the forgiveness of our sins.

13. In reference to God as offended, and as just, what two main particulars, respectively, are contained in "the forgiveness of sins?"

14. Show, from Scripture, that Christ, by his death, reconciled God to man.

15. What is meant by reconciliation?
16. Show that God's anger against men was not incongruous with His love for them.
17. The Socinians object that Scripture says Christ reconciled men to God, but not that He reconciled God to man: show, from instances of the usage of Scripture language in reference to reconciliation, the futility of this objection.
18. Show, quoting requisite Scriptures, that Christ, by His death, made satisfaction to God for our sins.
19. What is meant by a ransom?
20. Why is the death of Christ of sufficient value to be a full satisfaction for our sins?
21. Describe, by a summary of what has been said, in what forgiveness of sins consists.
22. Show, quoting requisite Scriptures, that remission of sins was to be obtained in the Church of Christ, and that the doctrine of such remission is peculiar to the Gospel.
23. Show that the Law of Moses did not so propound it as does the Gospel.
24. By virtue of what only did remission of sins, even before it was clearly revealed, at any time take effect?
25. How is remission of sins first to be procured in the Church (notice and refute some erroneous statements of Socinus connected with this point), and how subsequently? Quote requisite texts.
26. Whose was the hersey, (when promulgated?), of denying that repentance was available to the forgiveness of sins after baptism?

27. What are the practical uses of belief of the forgiveness of sins? Quote texts.

28. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief of the forgiveness of sins.

"THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY."

1. What was the only verbal difference in the delivery of the Article concerning the Resurrection of the flesh by the ancient Churches?

2. How does our Creed verbally differ here from the ancient Creeds?

3. Show, by quoting an illustrative passage from the services of the Church of England, that no difference of doctrine is intended.

4. Under what Articles of the Creed has the proper notion of Resurrection in general been considered?

5. What points remain to be here treated of?

6. What peculiar difficulties attend the Resurrection now under consideration different from those which might seem to obstruct belief of the Resurrection of Christ?

7. What must be shown in proof that there will be a Resurrection of the Body?

8. What difference of opinion existed among ancient philosophers in respect of another life in regard of the soul?

9. What was their general opinion, (on what grounded?), as to the possibility of a resurrection of the body?

10. Quote a passage from the Acts in illustration.

11. Show that the resurrection is not impossible, in reference to the Agent to whom we ascribe it, on the ground of deficiency of knowledge.

12. Nor of deficiency of power.

13. Show that it is not impossible in reference to the patient.

14. Show that the resurrection is highly probable from consideration of the parts of which man consists, and the shortness of his life in this world compared with that of many inferior creatures.

15. Also, from a consideration of man's capability of doing moral good or evil, and his consequent liability to reward or punishment.

16. Why are Angels incapable of a resurrection?

17. Why will there be no resurrection of the creatures inferior to man?

18. Why would it not be reasonable to think that the soul alone of a sinner was to undergo sufferings in a future life?

19. Show that the resurrection is highly probable from analogies presented in the course of external nature?

20. How only can we be assured that there certainly will be a resurrection?

21. Show that God hath revealed, even in the Old Testament, His intention to raise the dead.

22. "I know that my Redeemer liveth," &c. Job xix. 25, 26. Give Pearson's explication of this passage, and refutation of interpretations, (what?), adverse to the conclusion of a future resurrection from it.

23. Show that God hath fully revealed, in the New Testament, His intention to raise the dead.

24. "I am the God of Abraham," &c. Exod. iii. 6. What is the force of our Saviour's argument hence in proof of a resurrection?

25. Notice another passage of the Pentateuch whence the Jews have drawn (how?) a similar argument.

26. Show that God hath confirmed our faith in the Resurrection by examples already given of a resurrection.

27. Give three such examples under the Law.

28. Give three such examples (of persons raised by Christ) under the Gospel.

29. Show that God hath, moreover, confirmed our faith in the Resurrection in a peculiar manner, beyond that of example, by the Resurrection of Christ.

30. In what two respects does the consequence of a future resurrection, as deduced from that of Christ, concern all men in general?

31. How does it peculiarly concern the chosen servants of God?

32. What diversity at the resurrection of either part of man, from such part as existing in this life, would be inconsistent with the identity of the man raised?

33. What is unquestioned—what is to be proved?—as to the identity of both parts respectively at the Resurrection with both as existing in this life?
34. Show that from Scripture we have the same grounds for believing the identity of the rising with the dying body as for believing that there will be any resurrection.
35. Show the identity of the body as implied in the very term Resurrection, according to either of the two (what?) notions under which it may be regarded.
36. Show the same identity from the description given in Scripture of the place whence the resurrection shall begin.
37. Also, from the immediate consequent of the resurrection, even the rewards and punishments to be received, upon judgment, according to the things done in the body.
38. Also, from what will appear by those bodies which, never dying, shall never rise. Instance them.
39. Also, from all the examples which have been given of a Resurrection.
40. Against whom is maintained the identity of the rising with the formerly dying body?
41. With respect to the Resurrection as belonging to all men, and the difference to be observed as to the revelation of this truth under the Law and under the Gospel, show the extent of what may be proved from the Old Testament.
42. Notice some Jewish opinions on this subject.
43. Show that the New Testament clearly reveals that the Resurrection belongs not to the just alone, but to the unjust also.

44. And, further, to all, both of the just and unjust.

45. What heretics, in the Apostles' days, erred (how?) in respect of the time of the Resurrection?

46. Whom does St. Paul name as thus erring?

47. By what interpretation of the doctrine of the Resurrection is the Article under consideration in effect desired?

48. Prove from Scripture that the Resurrection is yet to come, at the end of the world.

49. What are the practical uses of a belief of the resurrection of the body? Quote texts.

50. Give a summary of the truths confessed by him who affirms his belief of the resurrection of the body.

"THE LIFE EVERLASTING."

1. What is to be observed as to the occurrence of Article XII, in Ancient Creeds, and the modes in which it was there connected with the preceding article?

2. What, in reference to this connection, is the true interpretation of this article?

3. What is the Scriptural usage of the expression "Life Everlasting?"

4. Show that it may nevertheless be (and in this article is to be) used in a more extended (what?) sense; and that the life which all shall live after the resurrection is an everlasting life.

5. What truth is asserted in this article as to the resurrection to condemnation?

6. What two particulars are contained under this head?

7. Refute the argument for the annihilation of the wicked, which some would found on Scripture expressions, relating to their destruction, &c., noticing the futility of such an interpretation of Matt. x. 28, and the plain proof of the orthodox doctrine contained in the sentence passed on the wicked, and the description of the departure of the wicked and the righteous to their respective doom; Matt. xxv.

8. Show that the infernal fire is in the largest sense of the word eternal, and that consequently they who shall be tormented by it shall not be annihilated.

9. Show the futility of the argument for the annihilation of the wicked, drawn from the Scriptural assertion that they shall be punished with the second death, from a consideration of what is meant in Scripture by that very death.

10. Show that the argument, from bare phrases of perdition and destruction, is still weaker than that just alleged, to prove an annihilation of the wicked.

11. Show that the pains of the wicked shall never be remitted.

12. What erroneous opinion did Origen entertain on this point?

13. In what sense is the "life everlasting" to be understood in this Article in reference to the resurrection of the just?

14. Distinguish the eternal life of the just as Initial, Partial, and Perfectional.

15. In what does the life of the saints after the resurrection consist, considered not only as natural but spiritual?

16. Why is it especially called life?

17. In what does the happiness (so far as revealed) of the saints, in the perfectional life everlasting, consist, with regard to their bodies?

18. With regard to their souls?

19. With regard to the condition in which they shall exist?

20. How is the life of the saints after the resurrection life everlasting in respect of duration?

21. Why is the duration of the life equally necessary with the life itself?

22. Show, quoting requisite texts, that that life shall be eternal?

23. What are the practical uses of belief of the life everlasting in reference to eternity—1, of torment, and 2, of felicity? Quote texts.

24. Give a summary of truths confessed by him who affirms his belief of the life everlasting.
