DEVOTED TO COUNTY NEWS AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE

GODERICH, ONT., FRIDAY, MARCH 20, 1885.

THE HURON SIGNAL

Published every Friday Morning, by Mc GILLICUDDY BROS., at their Office, North East Corner of Front and Beaufort Streets, GODERICH, ONTARIO.

And is despatched to all parts of the surrounding country by the earliest mails and trains. By general admission it has a larger circulation than any other newspaper in this part of the country. It is one of the most reliable and most interesting journals in Ontario, and being in addition to the above, a first-class family and friends paper—it is therefore a most desirable advertising medium.

TERMS.—$1.50 in advance, postage pre-paid by publishers; $1.75, if paid before six months; $2.00 if not so paid. This rule will be strictly enforced.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.—Eight cents per line for first insertion; three cents per line for each subsequent insertion. Yearly, half-yearly and quarterly contracts at reduced rates.

JOB PRINTING.—We have also a first-class jobbing department in connection, and possessing the most complete outfit and best facilities for turning out work in Goderich, and prepared to do business in that line at prices that cannot be beaten, and of a quality that cannot be surpassed.—Terma Cash.

FRIDAY, MARCH 20th 1885.

That was a happy typographical error which made a Tory critic call the Ross series of school books the Ross Readers. So they are.

Hon. J. H. Pops, Minister of Railways, is worse, far worse, than Hon. Mr. Hardy. Mr. Hardy's offence was that he heard a man say a swear word, but an exchange says that the Hon. John Henry Pops's salutation to Mr. Tom Cowan, of Galt, on meeting him in the Railway Committee room in presence of the railway bonus delegation was: "How are you, old boy? Why the hell—I don't you comb your hair?"

A Toronto World reporter attended the Local Legislature on St. Patrick's day, and this is what he observed:—"Hon. Mr. Fraser—Yellow rose and shamrocks in buttonhole.

Mr. Meredith—Shamrocks in buttonhole.
Mr. McKim—Do.
Mr. Moran—Do.
Mr. Hudson—Do.
Hon. Mr. Morris—Yellow rose.

All the Speakers—Flowers of rhetoric in their mouths.

In the Ontario Legislature last week, Hon. A. M. Ross introduced a bill regarding the public health. He said the object of this bill was more in the direction of providing machinery for enforcing regulations which were necessary in the interests of the public health. One provision of the act passed last session was that municipal councils should appoint medical health officers, but some of those did not do this, and one change now proposed was to give the lieutenant-governor-in-council power to appoint such officers in places where an epidemic had broken out if the councils did not take action.

In his speech in favor of the bill allowing persons charged with a criminal offence to give evidence in their own behalf, Mr. Lister, of Lambton, said:—"I feel that the hon. member for West Huron (Mr. Cameron) is entitled to the thanks of this Parliament and of the people of Canada for what my friend from Picton (Mr. Tupper) is pleased to call his pertinacity in bringing this Bill from time to time before the House. The hon. member for West Huron, in an elaborate and exhaustive speech, which does his industry infinite credit, has gone into this question and advanced arguments in its favor that by no possibility can be refuted, and which should convince us of the propriety, yes, of the absolute necessity of making this the law of the land at the earliest moment possible."

The compliment was a neat one, and was fully deserved.

STREILING firewood was a common practice among a certain portion of the community in country towns and various have been the means resorted to by owners of woodpiles to detect the perpetrators. The most common practice to insure detection has been to bore holes in certain sticks, pour in powder, and then plug up the holes. Of course any person using these particular sticks is constrained to buy a new stove, and the report goes abroad over the section, for it is well known that ill news travels fast. Until recently no good and sufficient reason has been given by the owners of the exploded stoves as to the cause of the "blow up," but at last the problem has been solved. A short time ago we read in one of the city papers that a wood stove had exploded, and the sagacious owner at once attributed the damage to the fact that some evil-disposed neighbor had placed dynamite in the stove. And now the owners of woodpiles will have to discover some other method of detecting shrinkage in the stock of fuel.

RAILWAY BUSINESS.

We are glad to learn that the business done at the railway station here this winter has been very brisk. The shipments of flour, salt and lumber have been large, and we are pleased to be able to say that the amount of business done at Goderich station is nearly double that of any other point on the Buffalo and Lake Huron line. Clinton and the other small places are away behind, even in proportion to their size.

OFF TO THE SOUDAN.

A few weeks ago the Star told a nice little story about a little boy who heard the older heads of the family discussing the situation in Egypt, when he put in his say to the following effect: "Why don't they send Sir John out there, he'd fix the Arabs." The Stratford Beacon takes up the idea, and suggests the following order of business:—"Sir John can take command, armed with his rusty sword. The army printing can be divided between Tom White, of the Montreal Free Press, and the Hamilton Spectator. John Shields will be happy to go along as army contractor. The whisky won't freeze in the Soudan. Big Push Wilkinson will, of course, be paymaster. We don't know just what position Mr. Hesson would fill. Perhaps he would carry Sir John's musket. The army is formed. Sound the slogan. The Mahdi trembles."

THE ROSS READERS.

In the recent debate on the reader question the Minister of Education said: I am following the individual scholar, from first to finish, and he pays 5 cents more for his books than for the old series, but in every respect I think the new series may be considered 50 or 60 per cent. cheaper than the old. We will institute a comparison between our books and the other series:

Series.	Copies.	Cents per page.
Gage's	752	$1.31
Royal	975	1.50
Royal Canadian	955	1.80
New Readers	976	1.35

It will thus be seen that, considering the size of the book, they are cheaper than any of three series they displace—they are cheaper and also more excellent print and illustration, and as good, if not superior in regard to the selection of matter. Place our books side by side with any other set of readers, and I do not think any man requires keen powers of perception to arrive at the conclusion that our books are really cheaper than any others at the same price, or compare them with other books of a similar kind placed on the Canadian market.

THE "OUTSIDE" VOTE.

Hon. C. F. FRASER'S new franchise bill will effect a radical change in the calculation of results in elections. Hereafter, in figuring upon probabilities, it was necessary to make close calculations upon what was known as "the outside vote"—the vote of non-resident property holders. Sometimes this vote was the balance of power in certain voting districts, and often the secret service money had to be doled out to impudently non-resident voters at a distance to ensure their appearance at a poll miles distant from their place of residence. Under the new franchise scheme, no man can vote in more than one constituency, no matter how many property qualifications he may hold elsewhere, and the "outside vote" will thus fail to be a factor in the determining of elections. The local newspapers will not in the time to come be able to insert such items as the following:—"Good Work.—Mr. John Jones, of Jonesville, proved conclusively on election day that he was a "True Blue." He was possessed of a vote in four different constituencies, and by dint of hard driving succeeded in polling all four. Mr. Jones is a man of whom the party should well feel proud. If every voter was actuated by a like loyal spirit to the party of his choice, there would be no necessity for agitating the question of compulsory voting."

Two Conservatives were unseated on Monday—Belleau, of Levis, and Guillet, of West Northumberland. Roddy Pringle's little bet of $5, etc., that Reformers "would not vote Grit" was regarded by the Supreme Court as a corrupt practice. The election in West Northumberland will be a close one.

IS IT NOT A GERRYMANDER?

A close scrutiny into the redistribution bill of the Ontario government fails to detect a real grievance in the shape of a gerrymander.—[The Week.

ON THE WING.

A Few Thoughts on the Question of Railway Travel.

Knocking around the country gives one some peculiar experiences. As that ubiquitous individual "Northern Sparks" used to say, "We're here today, and tomorrow we're up the town line." My last epistle was written from the halls of the Provincial Legislature, with the stentorian tones of Hon. G. W. Ross breathing forth words of doom to the opponents of the Provincial readers. The present mild reminder to the readers of The Signal that I still live and move and have my being, is written in the ambitious town of Wingham. I left the Queen City on Wednesday last with the intention of going to Brussels, but owing to that affliction of Providence known as the Grand Trunk monopoly, failed to get farther than Palmerston the first night. The manner in which this line afflicts Western Ontario reminds one forcibly of Sinbad the Sailor weighed down by

THE OLD MAN OF THE SEA.

It has gobbled up and monopolized all the branch lines of what were formerly independent roads, and in the effort to handle them all, has slackened accommodation on the whole of them, so that the travelling public are poorly served and heavily charged. Close connections are unknown, and where lines cross, instead of attempts being made to facilitate passenger traffic, one would think the idea of the railway management was to paralyze that branch of business. The morning train from Palmerston north the day I was there was billed to leave at 6:30 o'clock, and I arranged to go on it. At 6 o'clock, I performed a hasty toilet, bolted a slim breakfast, and rushed frantically to the station, grip-sack in hand. It was 6:30 by the watch. The train was standing on the track, and it stood there for nearly an hour after dark. I wasn't alone; there were other passengers waiting to go north—brothers in affliction, so to speak.

PALMERSTON STATION.

which is a junction of W. G. & B. R. R., is run on "go-as-you-please" principles. When the leader of our party, a commercial drummer, walked to the ticket delivery, and pounded at the portal for the opening of the port-hole, so that he might obtain a ticket, we discovered that station master was not est committimus as the high school students sometimes say. This fact didn't cause the drummer to relax his exertions, and he continued to beat a tattoo on the door of the station. After a while he started the baggage man, who had been side-tracked on the other line, and that individual mildly reminded the party that the station agent had no intention of being around as he had business elsewhere; also that the key of the office had been mislaid; and in conclusion, that the passengers must buy their tickets on the train, and those of them who wanted return tickets could get them at Leitowell. The drummer immediately leapt toward the coach, and the rest of us followed suit. After a weary waiting the train began to move, but it was only so that we could admire Palmerston from different standpoints. The engine shunted up and down until the passengers' breakfast appeared like a myth, and they sighed for lunch time. Finally Palmerston was left, but the snail's speed made by the train was a travesty on railroad travel. It was

who had customers to see in Gowanstown, Leitowell, Atwood, Ethel and other points, for he could get off, make his sales and return with the latest news from every stopping place; but the rest of us were of opinion that there was a corpse in the baggage car, and the remainder of the coaches formed the funeral procession. It was awfully slow. And here I might give a pointer to the management of the road: If they charged by the hour instead of by the mile they might be able to swindle the passengers even more than they do. Shakespeare has said, "He who steals my purse steals trash," but the railway not only lightens your wallet, but steals your time, in large instalments, and I remember the headline in my old copy-book in the way-back used to say in a big, bold round hand, "Time if once lost can never be regained." After my experience on that occasion I have come to the conclusion that there was considerable wisdom in that old headline, for I lost half a day on the railway between Palmerston and Brussels which I never expect to find again. Even advertising in The Signal,—the best medium outside of the cities—wouldn't recover it. You might just as well expect to recover a lost umbrella on a damp day. The morning train from Palmerston runs to Wingham, but it makes no claim to accommodate the passengers by connecting with the L. H. & B. branch at that point. In this respect it reminds me of the story of

who had been in partnership but had decided to have a place of business on each side of the road so that opposition in their trade might be kept away. They pooled the receipts of the two shops, but in order to show the public that they were not in collusion, each of the worthy sons of Abraham placed over his store the following legend: "I haf no pianes mid dot roaster offer do way."

About 3 o'clock a L. H. & B. train leaves for the south, and in order to reach Goderich, the passenger jumps aboard and reaches Clinton about 4 p.m. At that point, which rejoices in the local appellation of the "Hub," you are compelled to wait until 9:15 for the B. & L. H. train to Goderich—a delay of over five hours. I never could understand why Clinton was called the "Hub," but I am inclined to believe that it is owing to the fact that every Clintonian you address puts in a "spoke" for it.

THERE IS BUT ONE CLINTON.

In Ontario, and every Clintonian is its self-constituted prophet; and every mother's son of them has, if I may be allowed to quote from a high authority, "an everliving and abiding faith" in the glorious future of that town—a place which he believes is destined to increase and wax mighty in the time to come, and which even now (so you are told) is pregnant of great things awaiting fruition. And so mote it be, so far as I am concerned. It is really a pleasure these hard times to see people who can calmly look present depression straight in the face, and turning toward the Star of Hope, are buoyed up by a firm belief in the great possibilities of the time to come.

IN THE FOREGROUND I HAVE TOUCHED UPON ONE OF THE CURSES OF PASSENGER TRAFFIC IN THIS WESTERN PART OF ONTARIO. I HAVE NOT ALLUDED TO

but I can assure the readers of The Signal who have not had occasion to see that branch that it is in an infinitely worse condition than even the passenger trade. Under the present order of amalgamation with G.T.R. management, this unsatisfactory condition will continue to obtain, and no help can be looked for except in one direction, and that is in the bringing westward connection with the C. P. R. A live competition would cause better rates for freight and more speedy travel and better connections for travellers.

In writing this letter I have no idea that the Grand Trunk management will at once frame a new time-table that will expedite matters, but nevertheless I feel convinced that when the present deplorable condition of railway travel is brought to the knowledge of the public, many who have heretofore been averse to the bringing of

to this western section, will give the question that thought which it undoubtedly deserves, and a little thinking upon the matter will soon convince the most skeptical of the necessity for a change. If I succeeded in this, I will be satisfied that my epistle in this connection has not been in vain, and now I will draw my cogitations to a close, and leave the readers of The Signal to take up the thought, and keep "Thinking, thinking, thinking." D. McG.

THE NORTHWEST TERRITORIES.

Mr. Cameron, of Huron, made an able speech on the subject of the representation of the Northwest Territories in the House of Commons. There is no doubt whatever, that as soon as there is a sufficient population in a district of the Northwest to return a member to Parliament, in consequence of the provisions of the B. N. A. Act, representation should be given, and if there is anything like the population in Assinibois and Alberta, which has been represented, steps ought to have been taken by the Government to ascertain their numbers, and provide them with several representatives ere this. It is very desirable that there should be adequate representation from these new and remote districts. It is impossible for persons living far away from a district always to adequately realize the wants of its population. Those who reside in the country and know its circumstances can best express the feelings and sentiments of the people, and can enable the House to form a more correct judgment than it otherwise could on these matters. It is true that by the law relating to the local government of the Northwest Territories they are entitled to representation in the local council. But in a country where such extensive public undertakings are being carried forward this is not sufficient. It is of the first importance to know precisely what view is taken in the locality; and how questions of public interest immediately affecting that country, and under control of the Parliament of Canada, are regarded by the people. They have been so much more occupied in considering their own personal interests as Ministers than they have in public affairs that they do not realize that the population of the Northwest has been well-nigh neglected. Mr. Cameron has done an essential service in bringing the matter to the attention of the House, and we trust the result of his action will be to force the Government to do what otherwise it is very certain would not have been done.—[London Advertiser.

DUNGANNON SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Sabbath School convention, held in Dungannon on the 26th of February, was a decided success. The day being favorable, there was a large attendance, especially in the afternoon and evening sessions, when the church was crowded. The speakers were all present, with the exception of one or two, and the addresses showed a great amount of careful study and thought in preparation. The choir was also at hand, rendering its valuable service in singing, from choice music of excellent selection. The morning session opened with the Rev. John Turner, superintendent of the circuit, in the chair. Mr. Theo. Anderson then gave an address of welcome, in which he expressed his hearty sympathy with the Sabbath School work and workers, and the pleasure it gave him to meet them on such an occasion. This was followed by the reading of reports from the Dungannon and the Nile Sabbath Schools respectively. In the course of the reading of reports the question was asked, "What is the best way to keep scholars in the Sabbath School?" It was answered by Mr. Kerrigan, to the effect that teachers should be "At their post every Sunday." Then another question was proposed, "What is the best way to keep the Sabbath School children interested in the study of the lesson, in case they should become disinterested by the manner of study pursued?" This was answered by Mr. John Echlin, who recommended a change of the ordinary routine of study by proposing questions to the scholars, to be answered by them on the following Sunday.

MR. JOHN TILLYN, IN HIS ADDRESS, "HOME AS AN AID TO THE SABBATH SCHOOL,"

spoke of home training as an essential to the preparation of Sabbath School work, and the necessity of parents frequently visiting the Sabbath School.

THE OPENING SPEECH OF THE AFTERNOON SESSION WAS DELIVERED BY MR. JOS. HETHERINGTON, SUBJECT—"THE SABBATH SCHOOL'S OUTFIT, ARRANGEMENT, AND CONDUCT."

In dealing with the outfit of the Sabbath School, he said, "It was necessary to have the names of the scholars, good teachers and officers, a good supply of Bibles, a good organ and suitable music books, a supply of helps for teachers and scholars, such as Bible Notes, lesson leaves, &c. Also a blackboard, a bell, a temperance pledge, maps and post cards for teachers to send to absent scholars. Speaking of the arrangement of the Sunday School, he said, in country schools we are governed by circumstances, as it is not always possible to have everything complete, and we should therefore make the best possible use of what we have. In connection with the conduct of the Sabbath School, he suggested that Sabbath School papers should be handed to the teacher with the names of those scholars who were to receive them, so that only one paper should be given to each family. Mr. Sanderson in discussing the subject, said, that Sabbath School work was a progressive work, which he showed by comparing the Sabbath School of today with what it was twenty years ago, and the present with what we might expect in the future. Rev. Mr. LeGear proposed the question as to whether the Sabbath School lesson should be read by the teacher and the class, or by the superintendent and school alternately. In this there was a division, and no definite conclusion was arrived at. Rev. Mr. Turner thought it would be advisable to have a clock in the Sabbath School. Mr. Wm. Bailis, superintendent of the Nile Sabbath School, gave an address on the subject, "Teachers' Preparation." He said the teachers should never attempt to teach a lesson, unless they were prepared to explain it in more ways than one, as scholars were differently constituted, and therefore could not be reached in the same way. Teachers should never attempt to teach without the attention of their scholars, and that their daily actions should correspond with their profession.

THE NECESSARY QUALIFICATIONS FOR A SABBATH SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

He said the superintendent should be punctual, and always be at the Sabbath school to open at the proper time. He should be a golly man, with a good knowledge of the scriptures and a good education. He should have the faculty of explaining the scriptures so as to make it plain, using as few words as possible. Mr. John Echlin in discussing the subject, said "the superintendent should be like a child, like a youth, like a full grown man, in order to adapt himself to all classes, and seeing to the quick perception of children, he should be very careful in his actions, and try to win their affection." He spoke of the conceit of the boy of the present day, who thought that they knew more than their teachers, and how the superintendent should try by love to overpower their conceit, being careful not to show partiality, which was always attended with evil results. A collection was then taken up to defray the expenses incurred by the convention. A vote of thanks was tendered to the choir for their services in singing, and to the Rev. Mr. Turner for officiating as chairman. The convention was then brought to a close by singing the hymn entitled "God Bless our Schools," after which the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. James LeGear.

DEATH OF HAMILTON CASHIE.

This well-known vocalist died at his residence, Brachelston square, Greenock, on the 27th ult., after a lingering illness. He was born in Glasgow about forty years ago, and had been travelling as a professional singer for twenty years. He arranged a series of programmes after the style of those of the Kennedy family, in which he appeared as the sole performer. These were quite successful, and he was in the height of his popularity, when he crossed the Atlantic, and for about two years travelled over the United States and Canada. Had his business management been equal to the dictates of his ambition, his career would have been a brilliant success. As it was, he left America poorer than when he arrived. His second wife and two children survive him.

CHILDREN'S MASS MEETING.

The mass meeting for children which began about 3:30 p.m., was addressed by the Rev. Jas. LeGear, Mr. Jas. Hetherington, Rev. Mr. Cameron, Presbyterian minister of Dungannon, Mr. John Dutoie, Mr. Kerrigan and Mr. Willis. The mass was most excellent advice and warning given, which could not fail to leave an impression on the minds and hearts of the children.

EVENING SESSION.

In the evening session R. W. LeGear first spoke, his subject being "The necessary qualifications for a successful Sabbath school." Mr. LeGear gave as his definition of a successful Sabbath school, one that is instrumental in bringing the children to Christ. He said that in order to obtain this end it was necessary to have a good superintendent who must be a man of faith and piety, expeditious, cheerful and patient; 2nd good teachers, who should be converted in order to bring others to Jesus; 3rd good literature, as it was by this that the interest of the Sabbath school was kept up, and therefore the selection was very important. He said, that too often a taste for novel reading was engendered by Sabbath school literature, and recommended the literature published by our book rooms, as it was very carefully selected. Mr. Kerrigan spoke of the necessity of the Sabbath school's being supported by the church, and of having consecrated teachers in connection with the school.

MR. JOHN McLEAN SUPERINTENDENT OF DUNGANNON SABBATH SCHOOL, THOUGHT THAT THE SABBATH SCHOOL SHOULD HAVE THE SYMPATHY OF THE PARENTS AND THE CHURCH, AND THIS BE UNITED IN THEIR WORK.

Mr. Wm. Plunkett then gave an address on the subject, "Teachers' Responsibility." Mr. Plunkett thought this was a subject that should always be kept before the minds of the teachers and that they should engage in their work with all their might. In considering the short time that the teachers have to teach the lesson, he said "they should make it a study as to what means should be used to make the most of their time, and that they should be careful in training the children, because of their being more susceptible to impressions, at that period of their lives, and their future usefulness depended largely on their present training." The next thing on the programme was "Teachers' Reward," by Mr. John McLean. In opening his subject, Mr. McLean said that he wished to have his topic coupled with work, because in order to reap a reward we must be workers. He said "the reward of the teacher would be just what he made it," therefore he should engage in the work "with all his heart." He mentioned the rewards which we receive in this life.—An approving conscience; the knowledge of having been the means in God's hands of leading to Christ those committed to our care. The knowledge of Christ as ours, and His approval of our work. Speaking of the teachers' reward hereafter, he said, that he would be rewarded according to his work here. He then gave an earnest exhortation to be faithful in working for Christ, referring to his own experience as to how he had been strengthened in the work, and his determination to keep working to the end.

MR. JOHN PENTLAND ADDRESSED THE CONVENTION ON THE SUBJECT "THE NECESSARY QUALIFICATIONS FOR A SABBATH SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT."

He said the superintendent should be punctual, and always be at the Sabbath school to open at the proper time. He should be a golly man, with a good knowledge of the scriptures and a good education. He should have the faculty of explaining the scriptures so as to make it plain, using as few words as possible. Mr. John Echlin in discussing the subject, said "the superintendent should be like a child, like a youth, like a full grown man, in order to adapt himself to all classes, and seeing to the quick perception of children, he should be very careful in his actions, and try to win their affection." He spoke of the conceit of the boy of the present day, who thought that they knew more than their teachers, and how the superintendent should try by love to overpower their conceit, being careful not to show partiality, which was always attended with evil results. A collection was then taken up to defray the expenses incurred by the convention. A vote of thanks was tendered to the choir for their services in singing, and to the Rev. SURPRISED.

She was tall and pretty, with deep hazel eyes, and heavy, glossy braids of dark brown hair...

'Then let them be sent to an orphan asylum.' 'Oh, George, the color mounted rapidly to Olive Merton's cheek...

'Just as you choose,' he answered, coldly; 'but has it ever occurred to you how you are to support these two precious proteges of yours?'

'Good-bye, George—try to think kindly of me, she faltered, her little hand trembling in his palm...

No, it was felly, and worse than felly, for her to sit brooding here when the matter was fully and irrevocably decided.

'Packing your trunks, eh?' said Miss Agatha. 'Going to move?' 'Of course; I cannot continue to board in so expensive a place...

'There are two, but I shall not look for them until the latest, which comes in at six.'

Something or Nothing.

Christianity is Something, infidelity offers Nothing; it asks us to give Something for Nothing...

Nothing is the foundation of our civil and social, as well as of our philosophical and religious order.

L. H. Bailey, in the Country Gentleman, says hot-beds are not usually sufficiently appreciated by the average farmer and gardener.

The most important feature of the hot-bed and the one upon which there is the most general failure is the 'heat' (the manure).

The actual Hindu woman is, after all essentially a domestic woman. She has no life outside her home.

This is the season of the year for 'catching cold.' The fact that is spoken of as evidence that heat travels faster than cold.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

How the Memory of Ireland's Patron Saint was Honored in Goderich.

Tuesday last was bitterly cold, but it did not freeze the "patriot fire" out of the hearts of the hundreds of Ireland's sons in and around Goderich.

During the past few weeks much excitement prevailed in and around Goderich station, by the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Moore, a local medical man.

Returned Home.—Messrs. Moore and Chittick, of Dorchester, the gentlemen who in company with Mr. W. O'Neill, of Watford, visited East Saginaw and Bay City, Mich., during the week in order to fix up business matters with Dr. S. W. Moore, returning here by the limited express on Saturday morning, and left for home on the accommodation. They discovered the missing doctor at a hotel in East Saginaw.

Household Hints.

SUGAR COOKIES.—One cup of butter two cups of sugar, one cup of sour milk one teaspoonful saleratus, one egg, and flour to roll out.

CREAM TARTAR CAKE.—One teaspoon of butter, two and a half cups of sugar, two of milk, three tablespoonfuls of cream tartar, two of soda, one egg, nutmeg, fruit if you please.

POKE CAKE.—Thirteen ounces of pork, chopped, one pint boiling water, poured over, add three cups brown sugar, one cup molasses, six cups sifted flour, one pound raisins, one tablespoonful soda, a tablespoonful cinnamon, one tablespoon cloves, one tablespoonful of spice, one nutmeg.

SPONGE CAKE.—Four eggs, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one teaspoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful extract of orange; beat the yolk and sugar together ten minutes; add the flour with powder sifted in, and the extract last; add the eggs (whites) beaten to a froth; bake in well buttered tin in a steady oven thirty minutes.

FROM EGYPT.

A TRAITOR ARRESTED.
ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, March 14.—Zebehr Pasha has been arrested and his house searched. Documents were found proving his complicity with the Mahdi. Zebehr has been under surveillance, which practically made him a prisoner, for the past two years. His wealth, mainly acquired in the slave trade, was quartered up on condition that he should not leave Alexandria without the consent of the Khedive.

Gen. Gordon considered that Zebehr should be restored to power in the Sudan, and said that the ex-king was the only man who had enough nerve and prestige to keep the Arabs in subjection. General Gordon had encountered Zebehr during former service in Egypt, and hazarded one of Zebehr's sons, who was left as a hostage and whose life became forfeited by an act of treachery on Zebehr's part. When Gordon was sent to Khartoum last year, both he and Zebehr Pasha seemed to have agreed to ignore the past. It was another of Zebehr's sons who escorted General Gordon across the desert from Korosko to Abu Hamed. Without this escort it is certain General Gordon would have never got to Khartoum.

It has now been discovered by the British Government that Zebehr has been in continual correspondence with El Mahdi, both before and since the capture of Khartoum and the killing of General Gordon. Several other persons are about to be arrested, including some prominent notables.

A Sunkid despatch says a general advance toward Tanai will be made on Friday.

Poor Sir Leonard passed the most uncomfortable quarter of an hour he ever passed in his life. (Ottawa Free Press.)

A MONSTER ICEBERG.

The steamer Sidonian, which has just arrived at Baton, reports passing a monster iceberg in latitude that may be regarded as low for such a time of year so early in the season. This Arctic iceberg was passed on the 7th inst., in latitude 41 degrees 53 minutes north, longitude 52 degrees 28 minutes west, and its altitude above the sea surface was estimated at about 300 feet. The total height of the berg, if this estimate of the part above sea level approximates correctly, must have been 2,000 feet.

Bread and Butter Loyalty.

The Canadian voyagers accomplished the work they undertook to do in a manner which called forth hearty expressions of approval from the general commanding the Nile expedition and from all the critics. Without their assistance the ascent of the Nile would have been a much more tedious and costly affair—costly not only in money, but in lives. The voyagers have reflected great credit upon their country, and their countrymen ought to give them a hearty reception on their return. (Montreal Star.)

Isn't their trace of flummery in all this sort of thing? What had the country specially to do with the voyagers any more than they have to do with the gangs of men who go every winter to the Michigan lumber woods? As we understand it, the voyagers were selected not because they were particularly "loyal," but because they understood the business of navigating boats up rapids, and the whole affair was an ordinary, commonplace, every day commercial transaction. Some of them have read, offered to be engaged—no enlist, mind you—if the wages were doubled. The trouble with the people who go into the bushing business is that they slip over on too slight provocation. (London Advertiser.)

I. O. G. T. ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment held in the temperance hall here on Friday evening last was well attended. The Auburn friends turned out in force, and were in charge of Bros. Sturdy and Young. They had a pleasant drive down with an open-top. The proceedings of the evening began by both lodges singing the opening ode, and the prayer read by R. E. Brown. Our W. C. T. acted as chairman. Readings lively and amusing were given by Bros. Young and Macdonald, and recitations were well rendered by Bros. Cassidy and Muly. A dialogue by Bros. Sturdy and Stalker kept all in raptures of laughter. The singing of sisters Caswell, Stalker and Bros. Sturdy was well received. Sister Hakkirk, who is an excellent accompanist for one so young, also sang a pretty little song. The programme was cheerful and interesting, and showed that "for the good of the order" is not neglected by our Auburn friends. Our own lodge took a part in the programme towards the close. Our W. C. T. thanked the visitors for their attendance, their entertaining programme and good order, and invited them to remain for special business after the close of the entertainment. This meant a social supper, which was nicely served. The bread and butter was well done for home, all the occupants of the sleighs seeming pleased with their second annual visit to I. O. G. T. Lodge 213.

The Late Rev. W. G. Campbell, D.D.

The Irish Christian Advocate of Belfast, the organ of the Methodist church in Ireland, gives a long and interesting sketch of the life of Rev. W. G. Campbell, D.D., uncle of Wm. Campbell, town clerk of Goderich, who died recently in Ireland at the venerable age of 83. Some years ago he paid a visit to Canada, and will be remembered by many of our readers, as an able and zealous preacher, in the church or on the street. The deceased appears to have been a man of mark in the Irish Methodist body. His death was unexpected, notwithstanding his great age, for on the evening of his death he had addressed a prayermeeting in Belfast with power andunction, and led in the singing. The editor of the Advocate, who was a personal friend of the deceased, writes:—"In the course of Dr. Campbell, which has so unexpectedly occurred, it may be said literally said, he ceased at once to work and live. Besides conducting the meeting, just mentioned, so very soon before his death, he himself in the afternoon of the same day, revised the 'proof of an article which he had contributed to this journal, and which appears in another part of our columns. As the last fruit of his pen, it will be read with a melancholy interest, as will also his two articles of Heaven, written for this journal a few weeks ago. Evidently the celestial home had of late been specially in his mind. A reference to our issue of January 30, will show that he had collected all the figures which Scripture used to describe Heaven, and had made them the subject of deep meditation. His contributions to our columns for the last few weeks, abound in the confidence of rejoicing faith, they almost palpitate with longing for the dawn of his goal."

All through his long life, Dr. Campbell was a hard worker. His ministry extending over fifty-four years, was full of energetic zeal. From place to place, unrelaxing and seemingly unwearied, he preached throughout Ireland with the industry of an apostle. His ministry was very fruitful. We have no doubt, his spiritual children could be counted by thousands. Many of them are in the ministry, and there is no country where the English language is spoken in which there are so many of his disciples. The salvation of Ireland was a passion in his heart. He was a Christian patriot, believing that the Gospel of the Lord Jesus was a sovereign remedy for all the ills of this country. What he could do by voice and pen he did to advance the Kingdom of Christ, and it will be found that without exception that wherever he went there was a desire for his return. He loved his ministerial brethren, and enjoyed their unqualified love and confidence. He was at all times a brotherly Christian, an unpassioned evangelist to the unevangelized, and in street preaching, did he lay himself out to win souls, laboring thus against discouragement of all kinds, with a perseverance which was the very hallmark of his character. He was a public laborer, he was also very studious. It was his habit always to rise early. He thus found time to read extensively; he also wrote much, and is understood to have preserved in manuscript a record of his times. Two microfilms in the United States conferred upon him their degrees. Our own conference in Ireland elected him to membership in the "Legal Hundred," and by various tokens of honor testified his high estimation of his character and work.

Dr. Campbell's deceased remains most conspicuous figure from the number of Ireland's Evangelists. As a "General Missionary" he might well have been called a "General" among missionaries. Such confidence was felt in him that he was named as the life of the church at his disposal for the furtherance of spiritual work under his own direction. A very wide space is now left blank by his departure for the fellowship above. But stimulating as were the labors and ministrations of Dr. Campbell, the road depth of his piety, simplicity of his character, true saintliness of his spirit, and full-orbed sacredness of his personal habits, were only adequately known by those who had the favor of his fellowship in the congregation of Brucefield in the village of Loebarn. We have had the advantage of Dr. Campbell's assistance in work for a quarter of a century, and yet only in the intimacy of a family guest did we adequately realize the sweetness of his inner life, and the habitual investment which he put on the Lord Jesus. No man was more truly sympathetic in times of sorrow. He would go far to mingle tender condolence with the grief of the afflicted, or to assuage the sufferings of the bereaved. His heart was rich in charity, and his hand liberal in help. We do not think he ever forgot a friend or lost a friendship.

The Church is poorer, our country is poorer, we are all the poorer for his loss. Dr. Campbell was a man that will be missed. But God doth all things well. His mantle may fall on no one, but it may in measure upon us all. He has left us a noble example, a fragrant memory, a name jeweled with the thanks of numerous converts. A ministry of fifty-four years bequeaths us the blessing of his fruit. The Head of the Church has come for Dr. Campbell, and having taken him to Himself, He teaches us by his life how we may all live. Among his successors, may God raise up many to emulate his zeal."

Frozen to Death.

Thessalon, Ont., March 16.—A furious storm from the east set in on the 14th and continued all the next day. Seven men on their way from Cockerburn's Landing to Bruce Mines were caught in it. They managed to reach a fisherman's hut four miles from the latter place on the morning of the 15th, but the tree of their horses was so exhausted that they remained, while the rest proceeded to Bruce Mines for assistance. The relief party, on their return, found two of them, Robert and Simon Van Norman, badly frozen, but they will recover. The other man, named G. Furrows, of McLeod Forest, was so badly frozen that he died a few minutes after their arrival. It is still drifting and blowing furiously from the west. The roads are all blocked.

Paranount Editors Treasonable Words.

DUBLIN, March 16.—At a meeting on Thursday last of the Nationalists section of the municipal council, a manifesto from Parnell was read advising the Nationalists to maintain an attitude of reserve during the visit of the Prince of Wales, and declaring that the visit was inopportune while an unspensakably indecent color remained in possession of Dublin castle. The matter was placed before the crown solicitors who have rendered the opinion that the manifesto is a treasonable document. It is believed the government will base some severe action upon the opinion.

The Canadian in Egypt.

Mr. Cook, of the firm of tourist agents who had the contract for conveying all of General Walseley's forces up the Nile to Wady Halfa, accompanied the army in its struggles through the cataraacts to Monrovia. He says the Canadian boys of the boats were the finest boatmen he ever saw. The work they did and the impetuosity they gave the other men fully repaid the Government for the cost of taking them to Egypt. He especially praises the skill with which they guided the boats among the rocks while descending the cataraacts on the way home. After he saw them steer through the first cataraact he concluded that he needn't trouble himself any further, and he felt as much at his ease as though sitting in his library, while they were accomplishing in eleven hours the distance that took them thirteen days on the upward journey.—[Ex.]

Presbytery of Huron.

The Presbytery of Huron met in the Presbyterian church in Searohart, on Tuesday last, notwithstanding the snow, and proceeded with the usual business. In the absence of the moderator and clerk, Mr. McCoy, of Egmerville, acted as clerk. Session records were examined and attested as correctly kept. Mr. Martin reported that as the committee on Sabbath observance had issued no questions this year he had no returns to submit. Mr. Thomson, of Brucefield, read the report on Sabbath school work during the past year. Mr. Musgrave reported that the committee on the state of religion, he had not prepared a report. He was instructed to prepare a report from the returns received, and forward the same to the synod. Some time was spent in considering the state of congregations receiving aid from the home mission fund. It was agreed to instruct the representative of the Presbytery on the home mission committee to apply for $100 for Exeter, and the usual grant for Grand Bend, Elyfield and Bethany, and for the Gaelic mission station at Goderich. The following commissioners to the General Assembly were then appointed, namely: Messrs. Barr, Fletcher, McCoy, Carrere and Martin, ministers, and an elder from the Egmerville, Thames Road, Goderich and Brucefield congregations. It was agreed to appoint Mr. McGilivray to supply the Gaelic station at Goderich for the summer months. The Presbytery spent some time considering the appointment of Mr. Thomson, of Brucefield, to Burrard Island, British Columbia, in the United States conferred upon him their degrees. Our own conference in Ireland elected him to membership in the "Legal Hundred," and by various tokens of honor testified his high estimation of his character and work.

Dr. Campbell's deceased remains most conspicuous figure from the number of Ireland's Evangelists. As a "General Missionary" he might well have been called a "General" among missionaries. Such confidence was felt in him that he was named as the life of the church at his disposal for the furtherance of spiritual work under his own direction. A very wide space is now left blank by his departure for the fellowship above. But stimulating as were the labors and ministrations of Dr. Campbell, the road depth of his piety, simplicity of his character, true saintliness of his spirit, and full-orbed sacredness of his personal habits, were only adequately known by those who had the favor of his fellowship in the congregation of Brucefield in the village of Loebarn. We have had the advantage of Dr. Campbell's assistance in work for a quarter of a century, and yet only in the intimacy of a family guest did we adequately realize the sweetness of his inner life, and the habitual investment which he put on the Lord Jesus. No man was more truly sympathetic in times of sorrow. He would go far to mingle tender condolence with the grief of the afflicted, or to assuage the sufferings of the bereaved. His heart was rich in charity, and his hand liberal in help. We do not think he ever forgot a friend or lost a friendship.
