Your money back if Purity Flour does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent side of it. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes—by the superiority of the bread and pastry in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutriment and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

"MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD"

PURITY FLOUR

You can buy as little as a 7 pound cotton bag or in 14, 24, 40, and 98 pound sacks. Also in barrels and half-barrels.

Purity may cost a little more than some flours but you'll find its more than worth the difference. To be sure, it must bear the trade mark.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I HAVE received a much deserved rebuke. It was so much deserved and so much worth while that I am going to print as much of it as my space will allow to-day.

This was the way of it. I wrote about the spoiling of a child and ended with the prophecy that "some day maybe that son will run away and marry a chorus girl or disgrace his family by steering a few hundred thousand from some bank."

I am justly taken to task as follows: "It seems incredible to me, Miss Cameron, that a woman of your education and experience should consider marrying a chorus girl a disgrace and compare it in such a cold, hard way with the stealing of money. Don't you know that there are some chorus girls as pure and clean as the best of our girls? And don't you know that we have some who are by far sweeter, stronger and braver, than some of our society girls?"

"Believe me, Miss Cameron, some of those poor little girls work harder longer and just as honestly for their daily bread as you and I do. Strangers in almost every city they come to, they must grope their way alone. I would like to enlighten you if I had time on just what these girls have to do. I've watched them rehearsing. I've talked with them, and I know.

"You might ask why girls take up such work. For the reason that there is no other profession in the world which educates and pays so well at the same time. Then if one really has talent the rewards are very great, indeed.

"I know of one girl who took up chorus work as a stepping stone to greater things. The training in the chorus is very essential. One of these girls had to support her father, mother and two little brothers out of her twenty dollars a week. She became ill, but worked on until her frail constitution was worn to the snapping point. The manager, learning of the burden this slight girl carried, very mercifully allowed her a month of complete rest, paying her salary just the same. This is just one instance of the girls who, while appearing to have such a delightful time, are really carrying heavy burdens on their cruel tired shoulders. There are many such.

"It is true that we have chorus girls of the other class. But we have girls with financial tendencies in every walk of life—yours and mine. There may be much immorality on the stage, but one doesn't have to follow the crowd, you know. Those who do, find it a double sap of strength and very soon fall by the wayside. Those who are strong and brave and true, as many are, survive and sometimes realize their fondest dreams. The early training in the chorus plays a faint but very sweet accompaniment in the symphony of memories. Mascagni says, 'How flat and uninteresting would be the retrospect if there were no shadows to bring out the highlights.'

"Many very many of our most famous actresses have had their training in the chorus, actresses who are not only great actresses but great women.

"Anybody that works honestly, Miss Cameron, patiently enduring hardship and adversity, sacrificing comforts for the sake of the aim kept steadily in view, that person deserves the respect of God and man and it doesn't matter what the occupation is. Sometimes a word goes very, very deep. How many of us are cut by that cruel knife—the tongue. How many of us through a little prejudice condemn all as you have done, Miss Cameron, simply because you do not understand."

"Dear 'Reader,' as she simply signs herself—I stand corrected. It is not of my beliefs, as it is yours, that so long as the man or woman is good, the occupation does not matter, provided of course, it be honest work. And I also realize fully that those who keep high ideals and clean lives, under trying circumstances, deserve the more praise.

"I was thinking, of course, of the gay white kind of chorus-girl, but I should not have made her the type of the whole profession. I ask the pardon of those of the profession who have a right to grant it to me.

Ruth Cameron

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Piles in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Andrew Carnegie's Gift to Germany.

Berlin, Dec. 31.—Announcement was made to-day that Andrew Carnegie had given $1,250,000 for a "Carnegie Foundation for Life Savers" in Germany.

The conditions and purposes of the endowment are similar to those of the "Hero Funds" previously established by the American financier in the United States, England and France. The annual proceeds will be used for the benefit of those who have been injured in the execution of heroic acts and in the event of a hero's death, for the support of surviving dependents. A special provision is made for the education of the children of those who have sacrificed their lives.

Some time ago American Ambassador Hill, at the request of Mr. Carnegie, approached the Emperor on the subject of whether such a gift would be acceptable. His Majesty thoroughly approved of the project, and in an autograph letter to the donor expressed his deep interest in the beneficent.

The necessary details were soon concluded and the fund placed in the hands of the Emperor, who, as its patron, appointed a commission of 12 to administer the same. The president of the commission is Rudolf von Valentini.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Gentlemen,—I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT from time to time for the past twenty years. It was recommended to me by a prominent physician of Montreal, who called it the "great Nova Scotia Liniment." It does the doctor's work; it is particularly good in cases of Rheumatism and Sprains.

Yours truly, G. G. DUNSTAN, Chartered Accountant, Halifax, N. S., Sept. 21, 1905.

CARD TOURNAMENT.—The first of a series of card tournaments at the B. I. S. Club rooms was held last night. The prizes were won by Messrs. P. Walsh, R. Clancey, and J. Ryan. The winners last night gained 16 games out of 23.

DOING WELL.—All the typhus fever patients are doing well at the Hospital.

The Medical Fraternity.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Mr. Editor.—On one or two occasions during the last ten days you have given me space to voice my emphatic protest, and the almost unanimous protest of the city, against the increased scale of fees adopted by the Medical Profession. I have not been alone either, as you have published similar protests from all classes and professions.

In to-day's issue of your morning contemporary, I notice an official advice of what purports to be a revision of the new scale, but what to my mind is simply the adoption of the original rate of fees.

Be that as it may, the rate now in effect is more in keeping with our people's means, and much more likely to be paid by the majority.

Like all of us the Medical Fraternity is not infallible, and while we are always ready to criticize errors of this nature, it is only fair to all parties concerned that an attempted adjustment should bring forth an equal measure of approval. After all to err is human, and I wish, Mr. Editor, in the name of all the people whose sentiments I think I have voiced in my two previous letters to refrain from further criticism, and to congratulate the Medical Fraternity and ourselves on the happy outcome of what looked like a very serious possibility.

I would ask, however, to beg leave to coincide with the Editor of the "Evening" when he says that a speedy modification of the present Medical Act is desirable, I would go further and say it is essential, and the proper steps for immediate adjustment should be taken, so that the Legislature will be enabled to handle it at the coming February session. For this, of course, we cannot blame the Medical Fraternity, but rather the "powers that were" who so rashly designated so much authority to a handful of men—not that mean it might be availed of—but it is a blot on the statesmanship of the parties concerned.

However, there is no reason why the powers that are" should not apply be remedy, and we have a pleasurable anticipation of a further increased and mutually agreeable relationship between ourselves and the gentlemen of the medical profession.

With thanks for the use of your columns.

Yours very truly, J. J. LACEY.

To Serve Twelve Years

James J. Gallagher, Mayor Gaynor's Assailant, Sentenced on Second Charge.

New York, Jan. 5.—James J. Gallagher, who shot Mayor Gaynor last August, was sentenced yesterday to twelve years imprisonment on his conviction in Jersey City on an indictment charging him with assaulting, with intent to kill, William H. Edwards, commissioner of street cleaning of New York. The jury was out forty minutes and the trial lasted but one day. In addition, Gallagher will have to stay in prison until the cost of his prosecution has been paid by his family.

Gallagher showed no emotion when the verdict was read and sentence pronounced.

Two of the men who found Gallagher guilty also served on the jury which yesterday declared him sane, after listening to expert testimony as to his mental condition by alienists engaged by state and defence.

Commissioner Edwards was the chief witness for the state. He recounted the scene on the deck of a transatlantic liner on the morning when Mayor Gaynor planned to sail for Europe. He told how he had seized Gallagher an instant after the shot which wounded the Mayor had been fired. Edwards grasped the prisoner about the waist to show how he had been wounded by a second shot from the latter's revolver. Gallagher offered no objection to the illustration.

Better Late Than Never

We notice that the City Council have decided to fumigate houses in Pope Street in which cases of typhus fever have occurred. There is an old saying that large bodies move slowly, but in this case the saying is not inapplicable to a small body like our City Council.

Our City Fathers at length have decided to have these dwellings fumigated and put in good sanitary condition. We are glad to hear and are pleased to publish the good tidings. But it would have afforded us much greater pleasure had we been able to make the announcement some time ago. It is better late than never, but we cannot congratulate the Councilors on alertness and thoroughness in dealing with public health matters.

Harold Bartlett and Crew Safe.

In the cable message to-day was intelligence which would gladden the hearts of the Bartlett family and many of their friends. The information conveyed stated that Mr. Macoun, of the Dominion Geological Survey, who was wrecked with his party last September at Wager Inlet, Hudson Bay, and had been given up for lost were safe at Fort Churchill in the Hudson Bay.

That the tidings meant much to the Bartlett family became evident from another message we received immediately after the receipt of the news message. This later message was from Capt. S. W. Bartlett, who it will be remembered went down to Greenland some few years ago in the Jeannie with supplies for Whitney, and who brought back Whitney. Capt. Sam wired us the good news that he had just had a wire from his son, Harold, at Gimli, Manitoba, stating that the Jeannie had been lost but that the crew were safe. Shortly afterwards, the Rev. J. W. Bartlett, the brother of Capt. Harold of the Jeannie, telephoned us that the Jeannie had been lost at Wager Inlet, Hudson Bay, in the gale of September last, that they were all well and were making for Gimli to take train for home.

It may be remembered that the Jeannie was chartered by the Dominion Government and sailed early last summer with supplies for the survey party which is making the route for the Hudson Bay Railroad.

As we have already mentioned the master is Capt. Harold Bartlett, and we understand the crew, too, are Brigus men. It will be remembered that this railroad is projected to give an outlet to the teeming grain supplies of the Great North West, and the project obtained much publicity from the trip Earl Grey took last summer in that direction. He was accompanied by Mr. Anery, of the London Times, who gave the project a great send-off. We congratulate Capt. S. and Mrs. Bartlett on the safety of their son, and the Rev. J. W. Bartlett on the good news about his brother, and the relatives of the crew on the same good tidings.

Gimli is a settlement in the S. W. corner of Lake Winnipeg in railway connection with Selkirk and Winnipeg. Fort Churchill is a post of the Hudson Bay Company at the mouth of the River Churchill, and the chief port of the Hudson Bay. It is eight degrees of latitude north of Gimli, from which it is separated by Lake Winnipeg and by hundreds of smaller lakes and rivers and marshes. It would appear from the messages that Macoun is at Churchill, that the crew of the Jeannie are making their way to Gimli, and that Capt. Harold had his message sent from there.

Bricklayers' and Masons' Annual.

The Bricklayers and Masons' Union held their annual meeting last night in the British Hall. After the adoption of the various reports, Mr. Wm. Whelan was moved to the chair to conduct the election of officers which resulted as follows:

- President—A. H. O'Keefe.
- Vice-President—A. Gallop.
- Treasurer—John Cochran.
- Asst. Treasurer—R. Power.
- Secretary—Jas. J. Spratt.
- Asst. Secretary—Jas. Gallop.
- Marshal—Geo. Noseworthy.

After the newly elected officers had taken their seats, votes of thanks were passed to the Chairman and his aids, also the retiring officers and the Press. The various reports showed that the Union was in good standing both financially and otherwise. The matter of the doctors' fees came up for discussion and after some debate it was decided that the President would consult with the doctors and arrange matters satisfactory to the best interests of the Union.

Recital.

The recital at Cochrane Street Church to-morrow evening promises to be most interesting. Miss Johnson, whose playing has delighted St. John's audiences, has very kindly consented to give two violin solos. Miss Herder will sing 'Life's Recompense,' and the choir will render the Christmas music. Miss Vincent taking the solo in the anthem. The organist of the church will play three organ solos. Admission is free, and a collection will be taken for the choir fund.

A Rothschild Story.

Many good stories are told about the great house of Rothschild, whose London head has just celebrated his seventieth birthday. One of the most amusing is that of the poor Jew who when Baron Lionel died, is said to have stood at the entrance to New Court, weeping bitterly. His apparent distress touched the heart of one of the porters, who, trying to console him, said, "Don't carry on so, old man; it isn't as if you're one of the family." "Ach, dat's vy I cry!" exclaimed the man with a fresh flood of tears.

PATIENT FOR ASYLUM.—Constable Benson arrived here from Carbonear to-day bringing a patient named W. B. Henry, for the Lunatic Asylum. He was married about three weeks ago.

MR. MURPHY HURT.—While Mr. Jas. Murphy of the Board of Works was proceeding down Long's Hill Monday night he fell on the ice so heavily that he almost broke his right arm and suffered intense pain. The hand and arm became very much swollen and inflamed and he had to receive treatment from Dr. Mitchell.

To-night there is a card tourney and sale of papers in the rooms next week the beginning of a series of free dances for members will occur, and during the Lenten season there will be a series of lectures.

FINED FOR SMUGGLING.—Mr. LeMessurier, Assistant Collector of Customs, had the following message to-day from Mr. J. McEvoy, Sub-Collector at Curling: "Jas. A. McDonald, cook of American schr. Veda McGorman, charged with smuggling before Magistrate March, pleaded guilty. The goods were confiscated and he was fined $50."

The Greenspond Men's Case

The seven Greenspond men—E. J. Wornell, Stephen White, Geo. Grant, Aaron Barry, Kenneth House, W. Pond and David Stanford were before Judge Conroy to-day on a charge of riotous conduct at Greenspond on Sunday, the 25th December, 1910, namely preventing the crew of the mail steamer Fogota from landing her freight at that place.

The seven men having been called, and having taken their places at the bar, Mr. W. R. Howley, their lawyer, arose and addressed the court. He said that the defendants pleaded guilty to the charge in a technical sense. For while pleading in this way the men did not think when they acted as they did at Greenspond on that Sunday that they were breaking the law; on the contrary they were acting for good motives and believed that their conduct was praiseworthy in compelling others to keep the Sabbath. Now that they know that they were violating the law they would be careful not to do so again.

Sir James Winter, counsel for Hon. Mr. Crobble (Mtd. Produce Co.), then arose and said that he agreed with what Mr. Howley had said. His client did not wish to press for punishment, but would like to have the dignity of the law and the rights of the owners of the steamer Fogota made known to the prisoners to prevent a recurrence of this kind of conduct in future, especially being His Majesty's Mail Boat.

Judge Conroy then delivered a long address in which he reviewed the whole case, and made clear to the men by his wit and sarcasm that they were doing a very wrong thing in trying to make other people keep the Sabbath in this way. If they wished to have such a thing as a workless Sabbath they should ask the Legislature to make a law to that effect like in the case of seal killing. He fined each man $15 and costs.

The court was crowded with many men of the north side of Bonavista Bay.

South African Parliament.

Meeting Place One of the World's Most Beautiful Buildings.

The Parliament House, Cape Town, of the new Union Parliament of South Africa, is one of the most beautiful buildings in the world and was completed and opened for public use in 1885.

The principal front of the building is 264 feet in length and is divided into a central portico leading into the grand vestibule, the two debating chambers state pavilions. The portico is of massive dimensions and is approached by a commanding flight of granite steps which run around three sides of it.

The pavilions are relieved by groups of pilasters with Corinthian capitals and are surmounted by domes and ventilators. The whole of the ground floor is built of granite and the building above this is of red brick relieved by pilasters and window dressing by Portland cement.

Besides the debating chambers, which are 87 feet in length by 28 feet in width (only ten feet in length or width less than the British House of Commons), there is a lofty hall with marble pillars or tessellated pavements which forms the central lobby or grand vestibule. Adjoining this is the Parliament Library, beautiful apartment, 53 feet by 32 feet, with galleries above each other reaching to the full height of the building.

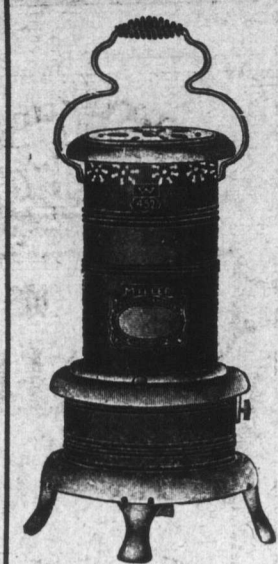

There are a number of committee rooms and spacious offices for the President, Speaker and officers of the Legislature. There are, moreover, refreshment and dining rooms, and not only smoking rooms but billiard rooms. There are, likewise, roomy galleries for strangers, ladies, distinguished visitors and the press. The ground floor is occupied by the Government departments and by first proof vaults, in which the records of Parliament and South African archives are deposited.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is reported to be considering a new pension plan, according to which all employees will be retired at 60 and 65 years of age instead of 70. Voluntary retirement is allowed at 60, and retirement is compulsory at 70. About eight per cent of the employees would be able to leave service five or ten years earlier than at present.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Miss B. Wilts, C. of E. Teacher, who spent a very pleasant time with friends at St. John's, returned on Saturday, feeling much better after the rest. Her school opened to-day.

The pictures of Grand Falls and paper making which was shown here last week and also on Monday of this week were really good, and people were surprised at the extent of the enterprise, and the large part our native fir and spruce are taking in the business world.

Miss Madge Oke, daughter of Mr. John L. Oke, left by carriage last evening for Upper Island Cove, where she takes charge of the C. of E. School. Miss Oke has been assistant teacher at the High School here for some time, and as she takes charge of this, her first school, we wish her much success.

Miss Bride Doyle returned from St. John's last week after a most enjoyable holiday with friends.

Miss Clara Fitzgerald returned last week from a six months visit to friends in Boston. This extended visit was most pleasant both for Miss F. and her Newfoundland friends, married only by the thought of its termination.

A vaudeville company opened in St. Patrick's Hall last night, but was not very well patronised on account of the very disagreeable walking, and the fact that a great many of our people are possessed of less dollars and more sense than had the past couple of years given us good fisheries.

A lady of the east end received quite a scare on Saturday night by letting a dressing pin slip down her throat. The pin was, fortunately, one of the kind with a black glass head, and went down head first. A friend of the family who had some experience in this line before came along, and after considerable difficulty succeeded in dislodging and removing the unwelcome visitor, to the delight of the lady and her friends.

"Do try and find my hand-bag, sir," said a young lady to us yesterday. "I left it in some store while making purchases." Now, we cannot guarantee to find the hand-bag, but we do guarantee to find the owner if some other person will find the bag.

The Annual Missionary Meeting in connection with the Methodist Church took place here last night. The speakers were—Rev. Jas. P. Pincock of Carleton Place, P. S. Coffin and Rev. T. B. Darby, of this town. Stirring missionary addresses were delivered by these rev. gentlemen.

We think that all the local papers should be supplied the police at their new quarters here. It would keep the officers well informed, and possibly lead to the detection of wrongdoing occasionally. The cost, too, would not be much, considering the possibility of great gain.

Several people are complaining that the Telephone Company are slow in supplying phones to those anxious to get them. Now that they have started it would be to their advantage, and to the advantage of the present subscribers to supply phones to every person anxious to get one and willing to pay for it. Parties who placed orders with the company last August are not yet supplied. It would also be well for the company to make it worth sufficient to the present Central or one of her family to remain in the office, instead of at the residence over head, at all hours during the day time at least, so as to facilitate the prompt answering of calls. There are at present no complaints to be made of the work of the Central, who is most obliging, but as the ringing of the bell necessitates a descent from the second storey of the building, to the lower flat, much valuable time is lost to the business man and others who have the phone in.

The schooner Beatrice, owned by John Horke & Son, Carleton Place, is discharging coal here to Mr. Andrew Rutherford.

Mr. Ernest Simmonds has a live rabbit on exhibition at his grocery store, Water Street. Bunny seems quite contented, and is very lively. No doubt he feels the importance of being floor-walker in an up-to-date grocery store, as Mr. Simmonds' shop surely is.

A USEFUL LIGHT.—Messrs. A. Goodridge & Sons have done a good deed in putting a brilliant electric light in the cove leading to their wharf at the east of the office. The place was heretofore very dark and was frequented by persons who caused annoyance sometimes to people passing by. There are several other dark spots along Water Street that should be lighted up.

The Midnight Marauder Again.

About 1.30 Tuesday morning Mr. Ell Harris, who resides on Hamilton St., was awakened from his slumbers by hearing a noise at the rear door of his residence and getting out of bed and coming down to the place he was surprised to hear the footsteps of a man running away as speedily as possible from the house. Investigating, Mr. Harris found that the marauder had forced off the bolts on the outer door and was doing his best to break open the inner door when he heard Mr. Harris coming and sprinted away. He evidently next gave attention to the residence of Mr. Alan English on the same thoroughfare for he also was aroused by hearing a noise at the back door and investigating he also heard the man running away and found that the outer door was burst open. This is evidently the party who burglarized the residence of Messrs. Russell and White, Springdale Street, as exclusively reported in the Telegram.

There was a large attendance. To-night Rev. Fr. Monsignor Roche will preach, and to-morrow night Rev. Fr. McDonnell. This course of sermons is especially instructive, and none who could afford the time should miss them.

Ran Down by Slide.

A lad named Murphy was run down by a slide near the railway station this morning and was seriously cut about the head. He went to Mr. P. O'Mara's drug store who after dressing the wound temporarily, he sent the man to a doctor.

Valuable Apple Tree.

Thirty thousand dollars was the sum recently offered an eastern Washington nursery company for an apple tree located near Lake Chelan. The proffer was made by a syndicate which desired to propagate the tree. It was turned down by the nursery company, which will develop the fruit itself.

The tree is 20 years old and is called the Chelan. The fruit is golden yellow and is said to be different from that of any other apple grown in Washington. It is also said to possess exceptional keeping qualities, a box having been kept in storage in Spokane for two years without any marked deterioration.

Twenty years ago, the story runs, an Indian planted a handful of apple seeds, three of which grew. The fruit of but one of the trees was good for anything. The tree is now of great size and a prolific bearer. Last year the National Apple Show at Spokane fruit from the tree took first prize for new varieties of apples.

Dr. Cowperthwaite was called to him a few days ago and went there, but arrived too late to be of any service. Deceased was a prominent resident.

A CHURCH SOCIAL.—Last night a number of ladies and gents associated with Wesley Church had a social in the basement of the edifice, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Refreshments were served and a programme of much interest and of an entertaining character was gone through.

WILL COME OFF.—The schr. Myrtle, owned by Alexander Hodder, of Twillingate, which went ashore at Barrow Harbor, near Salvage, Saturday, it is now thought will come off the rocks and will not be much damaged. Part of the 700 qts. of fish on board became damaged with water, but the rest was landed without injury. Vessel and cargo were insured.

MORE DISCOVER ASSASSINS' PLO A RUSSIAN

There was great activity on the part of the police yesterday in consequence of the discovery made by detectives on Tuesday night of an anarchist arsenal and bomb factory in a house in Stepney.
The more the investigators were in Gold-street, where the discovery was made, is examined the more sinister does the whole mystery appear. A large gang of Anarchist assassins is believed to have been at work, and search is being made for other depots of bombs, pistols, ammunition, and explosive chemicals which are said to exist in the East End of London.
The dead assassin, hitherto known as "Levi" and "Garibaldi," has been finally identified as a Russian named Poloski Morountzeff. A Russian convict in Parkhurst Prison has been brought to London in connection with the case, and is said to have given information of a plot in which this

THE STEPNEY BOMB FACTORY.

MORE DISCOVERIES --- BURGLAR-ASSASSINS' PLOT---CLUE FROM A RUSSIAN CONVICT.

There was great activity on the part of the police yesterday in consequence of the discovery made by detectives on Tuesday night of an Anarchist arsenal and bomb factory in a house in Stepney.

The more the insignificant house in Gold-street, where the discovery was made, is examined the more sinister does the whole mystery appear. A large gang of Anarchist assassins is believed to have been at work, and search is being made for other depots of bombs, pistols, ammunition, and explosive chemicals which are said to exist in the East End of London.

The dead assassin, hitherto known as "Levi" and "Gardstein," has been finally identified as a Russian named Poloski Morountzeff. A Russian convict in Parkhurst Prison has been brought to London in connection with the case, and is said to have given information of a plot in which thirty desperate men were concerned. The police are on the way to laying bare a conspiracy of a kind hitherto unknown in London and capable of taxing the powers of the most skilled men in the Secret Service of St. Petersburg.

History of the Plot—Grim Romance of the Stepney Bomb Factory.

Nine months ago a gentle-mannered young painter, a Russian, took a couple of rooms in a little back street at Stepney, and in these humble surroundings—not to be wondered at in the case of a foreigner in poor circumstances—became absorbed in his art.

He was a very handsome young man, with dark moustache, reflective eyes, and the soft voice of the student. His hands were white and delicate. It was obvious to all that this was no ordinary, hard-working peasant used to physical labour, and when the poor people who came in contact with him realised that he was an enthusiast, a man devoted to the pictures he was painting, they began to regard him with a certain amount of respect. This was added to by his pleasant manners and his inoffensiveness. The young artist's pursuits were obvious to a picture in front of the window; more than once he spoke about the difficulties of getting sufficient light in his rooms for his painting. Altogether an interesting and amiable young man, struggling hard in devotion to his art.

Within the past few days the curtain has been rolled back, and all the world now knows the young artist in his real character.

He is discovered to have been burglar, Anarchist, murderer. In his rooms have been found an equipment of materials suitable for the manufacture of bombs, a supply of deadly acids, piles of cartridges sufficient to kill crowds, and a quantity of Anarchist literature.

A consideration of all the facts leads to the belief that within a radius of two miles there may be found other depots, and that all are knit together by an organisation of desperate men, among whom the young "artist" was a leader if not the actual chief.

Riddle of the Bombs.

There is evidence of concerted effort, much ingenuity, and the most savage determination on the part of this band in effecting their objects. One of those objects seems to be the manufacture of bombs. What those bombs are for, where they are to be used are parts of the terrible riddle which the police of London are working night and day to solve. The other parts of the riddle are the whereabouts of rooms which may be similarly equipped with explosives and, equally important, the whereabouts of the comrades of the young "artist."

His name is now known to have been Poloski Morountzeff. He was one of the burglar-assassins responsible for the deaths of the police officers in the recent Houndsditch tragedy, and was accidentally shot dead by one of his friends on that occasion. His fore-finger, soft and delicate, was abraded from the repeated pulling of the trigger of his automatic pistol. It was evident he had played his part in the drama in Houndsditch before he himself was struck by a bullet.

Somewhere the men who were with him on that night are in hiding, and they are believed to be in the East End. They may be concealed in other secret Anarchist arsenals in back streets. They have their automatic pistols and plenty of cartridges. Those are the outlines of one of the grimmest stories London has known for many a long day.

It is difficult to say where the story begins, but it extends back for a year at least. All the details cannot be known, but it is possible, by a careful examination of ascertained facts, to construct something like a concerted narrative of what has happened.

Continental Anarchists know that they cannot find anywhere else the liberty which is to be found in this country for the planning and carrying out of their various projects. As a rule Anarchists work separately and not in gangs, but it is quite conceivable that a band of Russian revolutionaries arrived at the conclusion that by unity they could achieve objects impossible for individuals. Certain it is that either before coming to this country or after arriving here several Russians decided on a course of action with regard to the making of bombs and incidentally the obtaining of funds. Ingenuity was quickly brought into play, for the men did not live together, but took separate apartments in congested parts of the East End where the coming and going of foreigners is a matter of weekly, sometimes of daily, occurrence.

That each knew the residence of the other can be taken for granted. Visits must have been often exchanged in the small hours of the morning. It is related that the visitors of Morountzeff, when he was playing the part of artist, included two well-dressed foreigners, who came by night and always carried parcels with them. Here in Stepney or in the other rooms not yet discovered the plans of the confederates must have been talked over and settled upon.

It may be hazarded that their object was the manufacture of bombs for some definite purpose either here or abroad, and the course of events leaves no doubt as to the imperative nature of the demand which they made upon themselves. They were prepared to stick at nothing, even murder. They equipped themselves with automatic pistols, far more deadly than revolvers. They laid in a stock of cartridges sufficient to defend a fortress. By methods one can only guess at they secured enough money to buy a preliminary stock of the acids used in the manufacture of bombs. Some at least of these were taken to the residence of Morountzeff in Gold-street, Stepney, and it may be presumed that other portions of the stock were taken to other addresses. To smuggle these things would present no very great difficulty to such experts.

Morountzeff, the young "artist" of Stepney, used to carry with him on his walks a long black tin box, which people assumed contained paints and brushes. This box, to say nothing of the parcels brought in by visitors from time to time, would be sufficient for most of the materials. What was taken to other places is, of course, not known.

Aims of the Gang.

The band, it is now evident, were not content with what they probably considered an utterly inadequate store and they laid their plans for extensive action. They had among them certainly one who was what may be called a scientific burglar, and they carefully arranged the attack on the jewellery store in Houndsditch. It is highly probable that other raids were planned to follow the one in Houndsditch. But if this one alone had been successfully carried through there would have been ample funds not only for the making and the export of bombs but also for the personal enrichment of each individual member of the gang.

Armed with their loaded pistols they concentrated on Houndsditch on the fateful night a fortnight ago. How they were surprised, how they opened fire on the police, is now a matter of history.

Morountzeff, the young "artist," wounded by one of his confederate's bullets, was carried by his friends to a house some three-quarters of a mile from Houndsditch, and there left to die. His companions fled. Within an hour the police force of London was searching for the assassins—and they are still searching for them. A photograph of the dead man brought identification from his landlord in Stepney. Then came the search of his rooms, with the discovery of the bomb materials.

Yesterday the political section of Scotland Yard, which deals with Anarchist investigations, were busily engaged in connection with the matter. The various acids found were submitted to experts to decide their exact composition, and the City detectives and the Scotland Yard detectives were in touch with the Public Prosecutor's department.

The documents and the Anarchist books found in Morountzeff's rooms were carefully examined, with a view to finding any hint as to the residence of the missing confederates. Through every hour of the twenty-four the keenest detectives of London will be directing the search for the other assassin-Anarchists and their probable bomb factories. A more exciting and it may be added, more dangerous chase has never been known.

Scotland Yard, busy with this adventure, is leaving no stone unturned. One leading official, well satisfied that anarchy and burglary are united in the case, has some doubt whether the wanted men are burglars first or Anarchists first. He suggested that it was just possible the Russian burglars were seeking to cloak their ventures beneath the guise of revolutionary vigour. Against this there is the presence of the acids in the little back room, not displayed but carefully concealed from all.—Daily Mail, Dec. 29, 1910.

Nerves Were Exhausted

Wants others to know of her remarkable cure by use of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mrs. Martin's condition as described in her letter below gives some idea of the extraordinary reconstructive power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Such cures as this have placed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food where it stands today as the most popular and most effective nerve restorative that money will buy.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Aye's Cliff, Que., writes:—"Before I began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor in a faint. I could not even sweep the floor without fainting and my nervous system seemed to be entirely exhausted.

"The use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my nerves and I am fully so that I can do my housework and wash without any trouble, and I want others to know about it." "RUN DOWN"

Does This Describe Your Case. If so Read the Following Letter.

114 Bellevue Av., Toronto.

Dear Sirs:—

Some time ago I was persuaded to purchase four boxes of Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills. At the time I had little faith in them, as I had been a sufferer from nervous trouble for several years. At the same time I was very much run down and out of sorts. I am now pleased to say that after using eight boxes of your pills I am entirely built up, and have to thank your company for my good health.

Yours truly,
MRS. S. M. FLYNN.

The above letter describes so well the condition of a person whose nerves are weak and exhausted that little need be added.

The danger of such a state of health is sometimes overlooked by persons who do not realize that the next step is some form of paralysis, which leaves one helpless in mind and body.

Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers at 25c per box.

If your Druggist or Dealer will not supply you send 25c. (in stamps) to us direct.

City Council's Special Meeting.

The City Council held a special meeting of the Board yesterday afternoon, the Mayor presiding and all the Councillors being present. The condition of Pope Street and the adjacent thoroughfares, the scene of the outbreak of typhus fever, was the theme which was discussed. The old houses there also came in for their share of attention, and after several of the Councillors had expressed their opinions on these matters it was decided not to demolish the buildings referred to, as such action would entail much hardship on the occupants. They will, however, be thoroughly fumigated and disinfected and put in proper sanitary order. Dr. Brehm, the Health Officer, attended the convention, and gave it as his opinion that there was no great likelihood of the disease spreading further than its present limits, but that the houses in which the fever originally found lodgment should be thoroughly fumigated and repaired. The Council will take immediate action on the matter.

M.C.L.I.

"Are Unions displaying an unjust attitude towards employers and non-Union men; and, if so, should legislation be enacted to protect the rights of the latter?" was the subject debated at the M. C. L. I. last night. The affirmative was taken by Mr. I. C. Morris, who in a clear and enthusiastic speech pointed out that Unions of late in St. John's had gone to extremes, and were driving business from the city, thus injuring all concerned and the Unions themselves. He also referred to the late tinmiths' strike which caused, at least, three homes in the city to be broken up. Mr. Geo. Grimes, who led the negative, made a very able speech, and showed thereby that he has a thorough knowledge of the literature of the origin, growth and principles of Unionism in the various countries of the world. The attendance was good and the affirmative won by a substantial majority. At the next meeting the debate will be "Resolved that since education is a national concern the state (Nfld.) ought to control it."

Sudden Death.

While an old man named William Penny, aged 68, was at work on G. M. Barr's wharf at 12.30 p.m. yesterday he was seized with sudden illness, and after a few moments became unconscious. He was taken in to the watch house and efforts were made to revive him but without avail. Cabman H. Cole was called and drove the man to the residence of Mr. Moore, 76 Brazil's Square, with whom he lived. The man was conveyed into the house and was not two minutes there when he expired. Dr. Campbell was called and was quickly on the scene but his services were not required, the unfortunate man being beyond his aid. Death was due to heart failure. The man had been unwell for some time past, and only came out of hospital about 5 weeks ago.

Swede Smashes Glass.

At 8.30 last night a Swedish sailor who was more than half seas over, entered the rooms of the Catholic Literature Distribution Society, on Springdale Street, and asked for liquor, which, of course, he was denied as the use of spirits is detested by the members. He was, however, courteously given a drink of lemonade when he became garrulous and insolent and attacked one of the members. He beat out $2 worth of glass, cut one of the members' face with the lemonade bottle which he brandished, but made a mistake in this, as two of the members held him and another called officers Nugent and Whalen, who handcuffed him after a fierce struggle and brought him to the station in a cab.
