The New Novel

(By James Oliver Curwood.) Never has Mr. Curwood written a more virile, gripping or swiftly moving story than "The Country Beyond," in which he tells of the love of Jolly Roger, the outlaw, for Nada the "foster-girl" of Jed Hawkins and of their enforced separation through the tracking down of Jolly Roger by Cassidy of the Royal North West Mounted Police. "The Country Beyond" which is packed with thrills is one of the most spacious and fascinating stories that has yet come from the pen of this brilliant writer. Price $1.50.

LADY IRIS' MISTAKE; Hero of 'Surata'

CHAPTER VIII.

Sir Fulke's voice changed the current of her thoughts.

"You look so troubled, Lady Iris, that I cannot keep away from you," he said. "Will you not tell me the cause?"

"I have nothing to tell," she answered gently. "A grave-yard naturally gives rise to serious thoughts."

She could not open her heart to Sir Fulke, even though she had known him from childhood; and it struck her all at once that there was no one to whom she could tell such thoughts as had been passing through her mind.

The water-party ended with a dance, which was all the more delightful because it was unexpected; and in the course of the evening Sir Fulke determined to know his fate. He could no longer bear the suspense; he must know his doom. Lady Iris was in a softened mood, such as comes to the young and happy when they are beginning to realize the higher and holier mysteries of life. Sir Fulke was delighted. It seemed to him that she had never been so gracious. She danced with him and chafed with him.

"I could not bear it another night," he said to himself. "I must know my fate. If I do not win her, my life will be a blank; I shall go abroad and never come home again. She would make home heavenly for me if she were my wife."

He took courage. The proud face certainly softened to him, and the bright eyes had a sweetness they sometimes lacked.

"Lady Iris," he said, when the dance she had given him was over, "will you come out on the balcony? The rooms are warm and you have no idea what a beautiful starlit night it is. Will you come out for a while?"

She never dreamed that he was going to make love to her. Like most girls, she had had vague delightful dreams of what love would be like when it came. But she was not ready for it yet; her life was filled at present with her gayeties, the more serious business of love had yet to come.

So under the stars the proud young beauty stood, and by her side was the man who loved her better than his life. She was calm and silent; the strange new influence that she had felt in the church-yard was still upon her. She did not know that he was trembling with agitation, that his heart beat so fast that he could hardly breathe, that his courage was fast completely failing him. His vanity gave him little consolation, and for the first time in his life he felt uncertain of his own merits.

He looked at the proud lovely face so severe and calm. What would she say when he told her that he loved her? She started as he drew nearer to her; and, looking into his face, she saw nothing there which compelled her to listen.

He told her all—the story of his love, his hope, and his longing—and for some moments she stood in perfect silence. At last she spoke.

"I am very sorry," she said slowly. "I did not know you loved me."

"Do not decide hastily, Lady Iris," he begged. "I am afraid that I am not very eloquent; words almost fail me. Think if there is really no hope for me. You hold my life in your hands."

"No," she replied slowly; "thinking would be vain. I could never marry you. I do not and could not love you."

It was terribly hard to hear his pleading, and yet have no kinder word to give him.

"Will you tell me," he said, "if you love any one else?"

"I do not," she answered. "I have not thought much of love; but I think if ever I love any one it will be a man who has something of the hero in him."

"I wish I were a hero," he said, with a deep sigh. "I cannot reproach you, Lady Iris. That you do not, cannot love me is no fault of yours; but, if you could have loved me, you might have made me a noble man."

"You can always make yourself noble if you will," she replied; and she felt grateful when an interruption took place that ended the scene.

The rooms were no longer so full; many of the guests, tired after the long day upon the water, had gone home. Sir Fulke sought Lady Cityfards. He was very pale, and his eyes were shadowed.

"Mother," he said, "I am beaten—I have lost. I have asked Lady Iris to be my wife, and she has refused. Negotiations for a cruise in his yacht next week, and I shall go with him."

John Bardon rose from his seat, trying to realize what had happened, his heart beating fast, his pulses throbbing wildly. The field was clear for him—in the first intoxication of the moment he remembered only that. Presently he saw Lady Iris; and he could bear the suspense no longer. A wild impulse seized him to go to her and say: "You have rejected Sir Fulke, now give me a chance;" but a moment's reflection told him that that would never do.

He drew near to her. She was just taking her departure with Mrs. Bellew, and he was in time to escort her to the carriage. She was gentler than usual; on her radiant face lay the first shadow that love had ever brought there—sorrow for Sir Fulke and the pain she had given him. Perhaps too those words, "Tired of life, I welcome death," haunted her.

John Bardon was not slow to perceive that she was gentler and kinder than usual. How it happened he never knew; but he found himself placing the pretty white wrapper round her, and she gave no sign of displeasure. While drawing the garment lightly round the lovely shoulders, the fragrance of the flowers she wore reached him and seemed to drive all reason and prudence from him. He grew reckless—he felt that he could raise her in his arms and carry her off against all opposition. She shrank from his ardent gaze; but—oh, wonder of wonders!—when he offered her his arm to take her to the carriage, she did not refuse, but laid her dainty white hand on it.

It was now daybreak; and anxious to avoid all compliments on anything which could distress her, she said hastily—

"How beautiful Chandon must look at dawn!"

"I wish we were there," he returned, with a deep sigh. "As the pleasures of London are as nothing with the beauty of home."

"Those are strange sentiments for a young man of fashion!" laughed Lady Iris.

He helped her into the carriage and drew the wraps closely round her. He was so anxious about her comfort and showed such gentle solicitude that she could not help feeling grateful to him.

"Are you sure that you are warm enough, Lady Iris?" he asked. "Sometimes the winds of May are very treacherous."

"No, no, Mr. Bardon; I refuse to believe that anything belonging to May can be treacherous. Everything connected with it is sweet, and it is the month of flowers."

"I am sorry my experience does not agree with yours," he answered.

Then he leaned over the carriage door, and Mrs. Bellew turned away her head lest she should overhear what he had to say.

Fulke had forgotten the possibility of being overheard. One person, however, had been listening intently to their conversation. John Bardon had entered the room unperceived, and had heard distinctly every word that had passed.

He was rejected then—this man who prided himself on his high birth and his noble name, who was vain of his fine ancestral home of his handsome face and figure. John Bardon felt a thrill of exultation. She did not love his rival, and he knew that she had not favored any of the men who had crowded round her during the season. A fierce joy seized him—a wild excitement and elation. If she had refused his rival, it might be because she loved him. He would believe it, no matter what any one might say. He was in every respect the opposite of Sir Fulke; and, therefore, admire him, as he was so different from him in every way.

John Bardon rose from his seat, trying to realize what had happened, his heart beating fast, his pulses throbbing wildly. The field was clear for him—in the first intoxication of the moment he remembered only that. Presently he saw Lady Iris; and he could bear the suspense no longer. A wild impulse seized him to go to her and say: "You have rejected Sir Fulke, now give me a chance;" but a moment's reflection told him that that would never do.

It Keeps for Months—Always Handy

THOUSANDS of Canadian housewives now buy milk ahead—a week's or a month's supply—with their groceries.

They keep Carnation Milk on their pantry shelves—pure, rich, "whole" milk, fresh whenever needed.

Rich, fresh milk is delivered to the Carnation condenseries. Part of the water is taken away by evaporation. The milk of creamy consistency is then sealed in new containers and sterilized.

So Carnation Milk keeps. None is wasted. Your grocer can always supply you—winter or summer.

And Carnation Milk serves every milk purpose. Use it as cream, even for whipping. Dilute it with water for ordinary milk uses.

Order several tall (16-oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer—the Carnation Milkman. Try this recipe and write for Recipe Book.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP.

2 teaspoonfuls sugar, 1/4 teaspoonful soda, 1 slice onion, 1 1/2 cups water, 4 tablespoonfuls butter, 1 cup Carnation Milk, 1/2 can tomato (2 cups), 2 cloves, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 cup water, 4 tablespoonfuls flour, 1/4 teaspoonful pepper, 6 pepper corns, bit of bay leaf. Cook tomatoes slowly for twenty minutes with 1 1/2 cups of water, seasoning and sugar; strain, add salt and soda. Melt butter, add flour, stirring constantly. Add Carnation Milk diluted with one cup of water. Cook until thickened. Add the strained tomatoes to the milk. Serve at once.

Money in Breaking up Old Boats.

Where do old ships go? Perhaps the very chair you are sitting in was once adrift on the tossing sea as part of a ship's timbers. For the trade of breaking up old ships is a very extensive one, and often very profitable, but it needs a man with a quick eye to pull off big coups when buying up a ship.

The average purchasing figure ranges roughly from $1 to $2 per ton. This works out at a small fraction of the cost of a new ship, but even so, the breaker's profits are seldom large.

What profits there are lie in selling off the copper bolts and sheets, and the iron, as scrap, while, if the boat is well timbered, the wood is soon taken off the breaker's hands by furniture makers.

The sum of $4,000 was paid by breakers for an old wooden warship. But her timbers were of the best, excellently seasoned, and realized no less than $11,000.

Some years back the E. and O. boat, Anstralls, went ashore near Melbourne, and despite all efforts to shift her, she struck there. She had cost $200,000 to build, but was knocked down by action for the comic figure of $250, with a further $50 for the cargo.

The purchaser, a Melbourne draper, at once set divers to work, and in one of the holds of the ship was discovered a complete set of hand instruments that alone fetched more than the price paid for the cargo.

Further, there were ten tons of Muntz metal, which was sold for $750. Nine hundred tons of iron and steel were removed from the ship, and realized $210 per ton, and the ship itself yielded 2,000 tons of scrap iron and 200 tons of brass.

All told, the lucky purchaser cleared $210,000 out of his $250 outlay!

Deafness Cured by Altitude Flight.

CHICAGO. (By Canadian Press)—Fifteen thousand feet up in the air A. S. Harris, a former soldier, pronounced hopelessly deaf by army and other specialists, regained his hearing. Before the airplane flight he was unable to hear the ticking of a watch held to his ear. When he came down he had regained about 70 per cent of his hearing and was able to converse by telephone with his mother. He also said that when he started up he could not hear the motor, but that at a certain height it was suddenly audible. This flight was held as a test for curing the deaf by altitude flights. Physicians said if Harris could go up 20,000 feet he would be able to hear perfectly.

Household Notes.

Sauces may be thickened with egg yolks.

Bake ham with apples and cook with apple cider.

Coloring matter can be used for making toy pumpkins.

Add a dish of quince preserve to your pumpkin custard.

Soft green is the most desirable color for nursery walls.

To save sugar and afford variety, cool cereal with raisins.

When cooking cabbage a pinch of soda helps to dull the odor.

Save cutting your fingers by sticking the end of the leaf lengthwise.

A mold of jellyed meat is attractive when garnished with asparagus tips.

A variety of herb vinegars is a valuable addition to the seasoning chest.

Orzani soup should be cooled and the fat skimmed off the top before it is thickened.

Do not sweep the porch. Use a dustless mop on it and it will look much cleaner.

Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Series Book of our Fashion Plates. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

YOUTHFUL STYLE.

4079. Here is a new and very unique version of the one piece dress. Belt portions over which the tab extensions on front and back are fastened, hold the fullness gracefully at the sides. Added width is given to the skirt portion by plating that form a panel over back and front. This is a good model for gingham, and also for the new tub silks in check and stripe patterns. Gingham or flannel may be selected for trimming. The sleeve is cool and pretty in the short length, and in wrist length it is the latest style feature.

The Pattern is cut in 3 Sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An extra size requires 5 yards of 32 inch material. The width of the dress at the foot with plating extended is 2 1/2 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

A POPULAR ROMPER SUIT.

3882. Children usually look happiest when comfortably dressed for play, and surely the romper suit has the right lines for comfort and convenience. This model has a pretty pocket and is easy to develop. The romper may be worn without the smock. Pocket with stitching is here shown. One could have chambray, or pin checked gingham. The sleeves may be finished in wrist or elbow length.

The Pattern is cut in 4 Sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. A 4 year size requires 3 1/2 yards of 32 inch material.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

3883. When we are well and hearty we laugh at all his claims; he is a brazen smarty, and low down are his games. He learned to cure diseases away in Yucatan, or where the arctic freezes the whiskers of a man. Some dearest chieftain taught him his wonderful healing scheme, or maybe angels brought him his knowledge in a dream. We call him a deceiver, when we are feeling fine, when we are no burnin' fever, or kinks along the spine. And then at last we're ailing, and getting worse each day, and pink pills, unavailing, seem made to throw away. Our doc, Whangdoodle Baxter, can't help us much, it seems; when we would have the quackster, with all his Hopjontin dreams. His tales of Indian wizards, who taught him how to cure, when we have aching rheumatisms, don't seem so wild or poor. His yarns of Chinese scholars who showed him how to heal will likely get our dollars when colic makes us squeal. The marvelous allures of these pains within us, but, and so the fakir cures us, or makes us think he does.

Ironized Yeast Brings Marvelous Beauty to Skin

Science Now Proves How Complexion is Quickly Beautified Through the Blood

There is nothing in the world today which is producing such a sensation as this simple, discovery. Pick out anyone who has healthy, rosy cheeks and a ravishingly beautiful complexion, and you have picked out an individual whose blood is rich with vitamins and iron. This is the secret of the "Ironized Yeast," a new being used by thousands of men and women with marvelous, yet perfectly natural, results. It gives you yeast-vitamins-iron, containing iron in the form in which it exists in the human body. It is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but is yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. Medicine that great beauty robber, gives you a life-purity which nothing else on earth can produce. Eczema, blemishes, spots, eruptions, etc., become practically an impossibility. Rosy cheeks, rarer and younger looking skin, more brilliant, youthful softness—all natural! Imagine such a skin, miraculously beautified by your favorite cream and powder.

Do think of it, beauty-lovers! No more a modern miracle! Begin taking Ironized Yeast today. There is only one Ironized Yeast in the world, sold by all druggists at $1.00 a package. Each package contains 10 tablets. Each tablet is sealed. They never lose their power. Ironized Yeast is sold by Dr. L. L. Young, Sales Agents. Get ready to be surprised! 1922.

"Ironized Yeast Has Cleared My Skin Quickly and Gloriously!"

"I wish I were a hero," he said, with a deep sigh. "I cannot reproach you, Lady Iris. That you do not, cannot love me is no fault of yours; but, if you could have loved me, you might have made me a noble man."

"You can always make yourself noble if you will," she replied; and she felt grateful when an interruption took place that ended the scene.

The rooms were no longer so full; many of the guests, tired after the long day upon the water, had gone home. Sir Fulke sought Lady Cityfards. He was very pale, and his eyes were shadowed.

"Mother," he said, "I am beaten—I have lost. I have asked Lady Iris to be my wife, and she has refused. Negotiations for a cruise in his yacht next week, and I shall go with him."

"My poor boy, I am so grieved."

"I was not good enough for her," he went on in a low, pained voice. "Instead of wondering why she has rejected me, I wonder that I had the presumption to ask her. Do not pry, mother; some day I shall forget this mad, beautiful dream of my life, and marry some quiet commonplace girl who will make me a good wife and bring up my children well. She—Heaven bless her!—says she will marry a hero."

"I hope she will end one to her taste," said Lady Cityfards, with a tinge of bitterness in her voice. "It was by no means pleasant to find her so little appreciated."

Constantinople Restored to Turkey.

In Return For Freedom of Straits -- Allies Agree to Peace Terms -- Great Dissatisfaction Among Greeks -- Carpenter Receives K.O. From Senegalese Fighter.

TURKS GET CONSTANTINOPLE.

PARIS, Sept. 25. The Allied conference on the Near East has agreed to send a note to the Turkish Government assuring the return of Constantinople to the Turks and demanding the freedom of the Straits.

LATER: It is officially stated that the Allies offer to support the return of Constantinople and Thrace to the Turks if the Kemalists refrain from entering the neutral zone along the Straits, on condition that the Straits be opened to all shipping.

TURKEY WINS OUT.

PARIS, Sept. 25. The return of Turkey to Europe was assured last night when Great Britain, France and Italy, at a final session of the Allied conference, unanimously agreed to concede all the nationalist peace terms. The Turkish claims to Eastern Thrace, the Maritsa, and including the ancient Turkish capital of Adrianople, were approved as peace terms that can be supported by France, Great Britain and Italy in a joint invitation sent to Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Nationalist leader, to a peace conference to be held at Venice at the earliest possible date. The Kemalists must agree in turn not to enter the present neutral zone along the Straits, nor make any crossing elsewhere, and must accept complete freedom of the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus, preferably under the League of Nations. The invitation, which was cable last night by M. Poincaré to Kemal Pasha, personally, urges an immediate meeting of Allied and Turkish and Greek generals at Mudania to formulate terms of an armistice pending the conference. It is regarded as virtually certain that Kemal will accept the conditions and a reply is expected from Smyrna in a day or two. In addition to other concessions Turkey is promised the support of the three Allies for admission to the League of Nations, and also the withdrawal of Allied troops from Constantinople as soon as peace becomes effective. The Allied decision came as a big surprise, for as late as noon British officials declared Great Britain would not approve any of the Turkish claims in advance of the peace conference. The change in the policy came in the afternoon after the exchange of many messages between Lloyd George and Lord Curzon and several long distance conversations, which delayed the final session from two o'clock to five. Although the British insist that their chief demand, namely the freedom of the Straits, be embodied in the conditions, it is generally conceded this unanimous decision marks a reversal of policy on the part of Great Britain, and is considered a victory for French diplomacy. M. Poincaré expressed the belief that the Near East crisis is over and all danger of a clash is past. It is assumed British troops will remain at Chanak pending the peace conference. A broad neutral zone will divide Eastern Thrace from Greece and Bulgaria in the treaty, the terms of which will be decided at the conference. Both Jugoslavians and Rumanians insisted upon this provision before they consented to return Turkey to Europe, although it is not mentioned in the note. It is thought that Turkish military forces in Thrace and Adrianople will be rigidly limited and the strictest guarantees will be exacted for Greek minorities in these places. The last minute abandonment by Great Britain of her position to avoid war, which many British officials, both home and in the Far East, regarded as likely. Pressure from British Labor which was united against hostilities is also thought to have played no small part in the decision of the British Government.

GREEKS NOT AGREEABLE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 25. The Greeks who claimed to have seven divisions in Thrace have informed the Allies that they will not tolerate invasions by the Kemalists. They declare the scattered Hellenic forces are united and strengthened and are in position to drive out the Nationalists. Unless London and Paris come to an understanding with Athens it is feared here that the Greek army in this territory may act. If successful the further fear is entertained this might bring war to the gates of Constantinople.

TURKS DO NOT WANT TO SUSPEND HOSTILITIES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 25. There is an apparent disposition on the part of the Kemalists to accept Great Britain's new terms regarding Thrace and other disputed points. They are not willing, however, to give pledges for suspension of hostilities while the peace conference is sitting. The Kemalists say, says Hamid Bey, Nationalist representative here, on the right to enter Thrace in order to liberate suppressed Moslem subjects. "All we seek is to maintain a small force in Thrace for the psychological effect upon the Mohammedan world and to preserve order," he said, and continued, "It has been suggested that the Allies could only permit us to occupy Thrace under the supervision of an Allied control commission, but we cannot submit to such conditions. We must have perfect freedom in military, financial and administrative matters. We must move on Thrace while our Greek adversaries are impotent. We can give no respite. We have fought long for our present opportunity, we must now make these realities."

L.G.'S REASONS.

LONDON, Sept. 25. Premier Lloyd George said today that whatever steps the government had taken to strengthen the naval and military forces in the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, had been dictated by two supreme considerations: first, "our anxiety as to the freedom of the sea between the Mediterranean and Black Sea," and second, "to prevent this exceptionally prodigious war from spreading into Europe." The Prime Minister declared at the outset he would like to make it clear that any action that had been taken had nothing to do with the "vis of sovereignty of the case under dispute between Greece and the Turk. The British Government, said the Premier, had been impartial as between the Greeks and the Turks. He pointed out that a few weeks ago the Greeks threatened to march to Constantinople, and at that time General Harrington, the British General in chief commanding at Constantinople, had warned the Greeks in "identical terms as the warning now given to Mustapha Kemal Pasha." In dealing with the question of the freedom of the Straits, Mr. Lloyd George said what had happened in the late war demonstrated how vital was the freedom of these narrow seas to the protection of commerce and humanity in its broadest respects. "The closing of the Straits by Turkey during the late war, he declared, was responsible for disaster to "one of our strongest Allies and to the defeat of Roumania and prolonged the war by at least two years."

KEMALIST INSURRECTION IN THRACE.
ROMY, Sept. 25. A Kemalist insurrection is being organized in Thrace, according to the Messagero in order to attack the Allies in Constantinople in the rear while the Kemal army from Asia Minor is advancing, taking the Allies between two fires. Fears are expressed, says the newspaper, that Smyrna's fate will also be Constantinople's.

FIGHTING AVOIDED.
British officials announce that a Turkish force of eleven hundred cavalry, which crossed the neutral zone at Chanak on Saturday night, retired today, following a meeting between the commanders of the Turkish and British forces. No shots were fired. The Turks retired under a white flag. The Turks stopped their advance when the British notified the Turkish commander that a further forward movement would cause the British troops to open fire. The Turkish ultimatum allowed until five o'clock yesterday afternoon for guarantees respecting the return of Thrace, and it was because no guarantees were forthcoming that the Turkish cavalry crossed the border.

REINFORCEMENTS.
MALTA, Sept. 25. Further military detachments for reinforcement of British forces in the Dardanelles are expected to leave here soon for Constantinople, and preparations for their departure are actively proceeding. Units of the second destroyer fleet, detached from the Atlantic fleet, to reinforce the squadron now in the Straits have commenced to come in. The warship Centurian, which is returning here from England, is expected to proceed to Constantinople immediately after taking on supplies.

BRITISH TORPEDO BOAT SUNK.
LONDON, Sept. 25. The British torpedo boat Speedy, sank early today in the Sea of Marmora, as a result of a collision with a Dutch trawler, says a Reuter despatch from Constantinople. Ten of the destroyer's crew were drowned and eighty-seven saved.

CARPENTIER BADLY BEATEN.

PARIS, Sept. 25. Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion boxer of Europe, was defeated today by Battling Siki, the Senegalese fighter, in the sixth of the scheduled twenty round bout. Carpentier never had a chance after the third round. He was barely able to respond to the bell beginning with the sixth and with his right eye completely closed and his nose broken, he was unable to put up a guard. Carpentier tried every trick in his ring knowledge to stage a defeat. Carpentier weighed 173½ lbs., and Siki 174.

ANOTHER AIRPLANE CATASTROPHE.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25. Lieut. Patten and Lieut. Hansen of the United States Marine Corps at Quantico, Va., were killed yesterday at Logan Field when their machine went into a tall spin and dropped to the ground.

WONDURAS AND CANADA.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25. "There is an extraordinary desire in British Honduras to increase trade with Canada," C. R. Stevens, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Jamaica, has advised the Department of Trade and Commerce.

CHURCH UNION BILLS APPROVED.

TORONTO, Sept. 25. The proposed Act and Bills for the incorporation of the United Church of Canada have been approved by the Joint Committee on Church Union with but a few minor amendments. The decision now goes to the Supreme Courts of the three churches, Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational.

NINE KILLED.

MINEOLA, New York, Sept. 23. First Lieut. Raymond E. Davis, of the United States Army Air Service, and eight enlisted men were killed, when a huge Martin bombing plane crashed at Mitchell Field last night.

Died En-Route to Hospital.

FATALLY INJURED BY FLY WHEEL VICTIM PASSES AWAY ON BOARD S.S. CABOT.

As a result of a blow from the fly wheel of his motor engine, James Clowe, a fisherman of Ferryland, received injuries which resulted fatally. The accident happened on Saturday as Clowe was returning from the fishing ground. At the time the unfortunate man was leaning over the engine house when suddenly the fly wheel broke clear and crashed through the woodwork. Clowe was hit in the abdomen and rendered unconscious. On reaching shore the unfortunate man was attended by Dr. Froehner and Rev. Father Maher. It was deemed advisable to send the patient to the General Hospital, and Sir Michael Cashin was requested to send the Cabot to convey him. The ship was despatched immediately and arrived at Ferryland at 3:30 p.m. yesterday. At 7:40 last evening the Cabot left with the injured man on board. He was accompanied by his brother and another relative, but though all possible for his comfort was done the victim passed away onboard ship. The Cabot thereupon returned to Ferryland with the body, where there is universal sympathy felt over his untimely end. Deceased, who was 24 years of age, is survived by a widow and one child.

Now It's the Railway

If the Humber Proposition has fallen through, or if negotiations have ended without any agreement being reached, as alleged by certain parties in the city, discussion on this subject becomes pointless, until a public announcement is made by the Prime Minister or some person equally responsible in authority. The outline of certain conditions asked by the promoters as published in the Telegram some months ago may have been, and possibly are, altered out of all semblance to the original draft of the agreement, consequently it is but idle to continue arguments for or against until such time as the complete text is made public. As nothing has been officially promulgated, it is difficult to arrive at any conclusion via the rumors route. That friends of the Government believe negotiations are still proceeding is evidenced by the numerous applications for land and timber options in the region where the development plant is to be erected, should the agreement be finalized, and by this, according to the Western Star "it looks as though there are prospects of a revival in the lumber trade, unless it should fizzle out like some Humbermouth and Corner Brook options of some years since." The same journal declares editorially that "the return of the Premier is anxiously looked forward to by the people, as it is felt that nothing will be made public until then."

The Western Star is a weekly newspaper in which, it is said, the Minister of Agriculture and Mines has considerable interest. That being the case and with Hon. Dr. Campbell so keen on the Humber Project it is passing strange that a paper the policy of which is under his control should make the assertion that we now quote, and with the sentiments of which we are in complete accord:

"Notwithstanding all the benefits that would accrue by the establishment of a big industrial works on the banks of the Humber, we consider the solving of the railway problem, for the present and future, would prove a still greater boon to the country, and we hope that the Premier and Attorney General, who have been in England for some weeks, will come back fully equipped to take a firm and decisive step relative to the future operation of the railway." This sentiment is expressive of the desires of the whole of the West Coast, and it is one to which all who read will cry Hear, Hear! The railway is the whole crux of the situation. Its problem is complex and that is all the greater reason for an immediate solution. The country to-day is paying through the nose for the operation of the railway. Millions of dollars have been extracted from the taxpayers pockets to make good the losses incurred in operations the past two years. Millions more will perchance have to be "our" during the current year. The Government is operating the system because the contractors practically refused to carry on. A way out of the impasse into which the Government has lodged itself must be found, hence we agree with our Western contemporary that the solving of the railway problem would confer more benefit on the country than the erection of the proposed industrial works on the Humber, at present, and that, according to the Star, is the unchanged and unchanging opinion of the people of the West Coast.

Labrador Fish. SALES AT PROFITABLE PRICES DIFFICULT.

Although there are a few cargoes of Labrador cured fish in port, the owners are finding it difficult to make a sale at anything like a satisfactory price. On Friday a couple of sales were made at $4.50 per quintal, but buyers are not disposed to purchase any quantity at this figure and the indications are that the price will drop to four dollars. Quotations on the Liverpool market are such that present prices will not net any returns when costs of shipment and present exchange is taken into consideration. The recent shipments from the coast by steamer are also having a weakening effect on the market.

Chief Engineer S. S. Digby.

GAVE ORGAN RECITAL. At St. Matthew's Church, Bay Roberts, after Evensong yesterday, a splendid organ recital was given by Mr. J. Whitford, chief engineer of the steamship Digby, who motored over to the Conception Bay town with Mr. B. B. Stafford. At the request of the regular organist, Miss M. B. Mosdell, Mr. Whitford interpreted some of the grand old tunes of the Church of England hymnbook on the splendid pipe organ, which was presented to the new church some years ago by the late Hon. Capt. C. Dewe. The recital was much enjoyed by all who were privileged to hear it.

Cute Business.

DEFAUDING THE CUSTOMS. That an offer of goods was made to him, with a further offer of invoices which would reduce the value of the goods bought by 50 per cent, was told the Telegram to-day by a business man who has just returned from a buying trip to the United States. Our informant states that he has heard of people who are constantly defrauding the customs, not only to the detriment of the revenue, but to legitimate business enterprises. This is not the first rumour of this kind that has been spread, and the whole matter seems to demand a stringent enquiry.

New Bridge Constructed

EASY MEANS OF COMMUNICATION. Last week the work of spanning the Main Barachois River by a new bridge was completed and the structure makes possible easy communication with St. Georges and Stephenville from other parts of the district. The new bridge is of reinforced concrete and has a span of 75 feet each in length. The plans were drawn by the Government Engineer's staff, under whose supervision the structure was erected.

Baker Assigned.

LIABILITIES SAID TO BE $75,000. It is reported that a well known baker, who has been carrying on an extensive business with many side lines, has assigned to his creditors. The liabilities are said to be in the neighbourhood of $75,000, but the amount of the assets has not been stated, a well known commission firm and East End general dealer being the heaviest creditors.

Slight Fire.

CHEMICAL QUENCHES BLAZE. The Central and West End Fire companies were called at 9 a.m. to-day to the residence of Mr. P. Cornick, LeMarchant Road, where a slight fire was in progress. The blaze was discovered in a clothes closet on the second floor of the building, but by the prompt application of the chemical hose the fire was confined there, and beyond destroying some clothing no other damage was done.

Work Closing.

THREE HUNDRED MEN TO BE LAID OFF. The men on relief work have been notified that the present undertakings will close down during the week. The order affects only those on day's work, it being the intention to allow the various contract road works to be completed. About 300 men will be laid off and it is thought they may get employment along the waterfront.

HIS DIARY.

Sept. 23rd.—I to my bookseller's, where by and by, I met Mr. Povy, but late returned from his shooting trip, and talked of several things, but particularly of the times, and he tells me that wise men do prepare to remove abroad what they have, for that we must be ruined, our case being past relief, the country so much in debt, and the Government mending nothing but their own interests. I did soundly berate him for his talk which, I think, caused by his failing to obtain many birds on the shooting ground, but nevertheless, there is much truth in what he says. Met at the Post Office Mr. Chomly, he tells me that the peace in the near east is high concluded, and Turkey will, he thinks get Constantinople, which I hope is not true.

Sept. 24th, (Lord's Day).—My wife and I to church, but Lord, the condition of the woman, that she will pay no heed to the service but, will comment on the autumn finery of the other women, and I see how I shall soon have to provide her with more clothes, though Heaven knows, the wretch has so much now that she knows not where to put them. All the night it did rain hard, and the weather mighty close.

Welcome Rainfall.

CROPS BENEFIT GREATLY. The heavy downpour of rain last night and this morning was gladly welcomed by farmers as the root crop, particularly turnips and cabbage, was suffering from the drought which has prevailed during the month. The potato crop was not much affected by the dry weather, but suffered considerably from hoar frost.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

THE SITUATION IN GREECE.

ATHENS, Sept. 25. Spurred to greater efforts by the popular clamour for its resignation, the Cabinet of Premier Triantafillakos is developing unexpected cohesion and strength and may even live out the present national crisis. He has added new members to the Ministry, chosen with a view to popular support and has appointed General Papadopoulos, Governor General of Thrace and designated three popular generals to proceed to Thrace and push the work of reorganizing the army there. In the meantime the note from the Allied powers disclosing the communication to Kemal Pasha has had the effect on the Grecian people of a frigid and undesired shower bath. Greece is not looking for more trouble, said one official to-day, but intends to go right on with the task of building up her army in Thrace. In Thrace Greece is and in Thrace she will remain is the watchword of the Greek people. If the Cabinet finally falls, internal affairs will begin. Athenians are passionately divided on the great issue of King or Venizelos. An alleged royal project to summon General Metaxas to the Premiership or perhaps even to invest him with dictatorial powers is the burning theme in the discussion. Metaxas told a correspondent that if called upon he would collaborate effectively with the Venizelist party in the interests of national unity.

REFUGEES MUST LEAVE.

SMYRNA, Sept. 25. Kemal Pasha has allowed until September 30 for the evacuation of the remaining refugees here. If vessels are not sent these that are refugees will be taken into the interior.

U.S. WILL PROTECT REMOVAL.

LONDON, Sept. 25. A Reuter despatch from Athens says Admiral Bristol has informed the Greek Government that United States will undertake to protect with destroyers the removal of the remaining one hundred and fifty thousand refugees at Smyrna. If Greece provides means of transport, the Greek Government has accepted the offer.

IRISH OFFICER'S LIFE ATTEMPT.

DUBLIN, Sept. 25. An attempt was made last night to kill General Owen O'Duffy, Chief Commander of the Irish Civil Police, it was announced to-day by the Free State Government. General Hogan and two other officers were proceeding along the Neas Road when their autos were ambushed by heavy revolver firing, in which the attackers were driven off.

LONDON, Sept. 25.

Marquis Lansdowne informed the Times that his mansion at Derreen, County Kerry, Ireland had been looted and burned, and valuable planations on the estate destroyed. He says he is unaware whether the outrage was committed by Free Staters or Republicans. Marquis Lansdowne has been several times a Cabinet Minister was Governor General of Canada and Viceroy of India.

Warning to Buyers of German Products.

German-made goods are appearing in increasing quantities and varieties in the wholesale and retail stores throughout Canada. In some cases German labels are omitted. A number of Canadian buyers have visited German manufacturers and agents and are arranging for imports. Some buyers have not had very satisfactory dealings owing to sharp practices in the financing, packing and shipping on the part of some German firms. In some cases there is absolute crookedness and in the case of certain German firms who are thoroughly reliable misunderstandings have arisen and the Department of Trade at Washington has just issued a warning to U.S. buyers which applies equally to Canadians.—Financial Post.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear father John O'Reilly, who died Sept. 25, 1921. "We loved him in life, let us not forget him in death."—Inserted by his children.

IN AFFECTIONATE REMEMBRANCE of William Gordon Hillier, beloved son of Benjamin and Sarah Bugden, who died one year ago. How we've missed our darling boy through the days that have intervened. His cheery smile and sunny smile made him the favorite and the loved of all. His career was short but fragrant with the many acts of kindness that marked his way. May I't be that when Christ, who is our life, shall appear, he also may appear with him in glory. This is our hope. For this we wait.

Obituary.

HENRY D. CARTER.
 The death of Henry D. Carter, youngest and last surviving son of the late Chief Justice, Sir F. B. T. Carter, K.C.M.G., occurred early yesterday morning at his country residence on the Thornburn Road. He had been ill for some time and it was only three months ago that he returned from England after a hopeless quest for his lost health. Since then the illness became more acute, culminating in his passing yesterday. The late Mr. Carter followed the banking profession, starting in the old Union Bank and finishing two years ago as Assistant Manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. Carter was a keen sportsman and never a year passed in which he did not whip the waters at Torbay and other places. In church matters he was always prominent and was a Churchwarden of St. Thomas's Parish. He was a popular clubman and was frequently to be found at the City Club, of which he was at one time a member of the Committee. Predeceased by his three brothers, Weston, a monument to whose memory is erected on the Mall, Hugh and Stanley, Barristers. The only remaining members of Sir Frederick's family are Mrs. Henderson and Miss Louisa Carter. Mr. Carter is survived by his wife, daughter of the late Hon. James Baird, M.L.C., three sons, Cyril, director of James Baird, Limited, Frederick of the Bank of Montreal, at Halifax, and Harry of this city, also by two daughters, Margaret, wife of Mr. Jack Baird, and Gertrude of this city. His genial personality and kindly counsel will be missed by all who were privileged to enjoy his friendship. The funeral takes place to-morrow from Mr. Cyril Carter's residence, Queen's Road.

KATE COLE.

On Friday Miss Kate Cole passed away at Southsea, England, where she has been residing since leaving St. John's, some five years ago. The news of her death will be received with sorrow by very many in this city, where her labors of charity and love are remembered with gratitude. Miss Cole's departure left vacancies in church and philanthropic work difficult to fill, and to the present day her guiding hand and helpful counsel are missed in many a phase of social and Christian endeavour. Notably is this so by the Methodist Orphanage, the Ladies' College, Aid Society, and Governor Street Church, the interests of all of which she watched over with solicitude. Her work for the orphaned children was invaluable, no toll, or tax on time and service being regarded by her as too great or too onerous. Miss Cole, who was a niece of the late Hon. Charles R. Ayre, and a sister of the late Mrs. J. E. P. Peters, is survived by her sister, Mrs. Alexander Robertson, of Long's Hill, this city, and relatives in Southsea, where interment will take place.

MARY MARGARET VINNICOMBE.
 General sympathy is being extended to Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Vinnicombe, whose eldest child, Mary Margaret, passed away yesterday. She had been ill for some time, and a few months ago entered the Sanitarium, where it was hoped she would benefit, but the dread disease had obtained too strong a grip for her frail constitution to overcome. Of a bright and lovable disposition, her passing, just as she was budding into womanhood, comes as a heavy blow to her parents, and is deeply deplored by her many friends. To the bereaved parents the Telegram extends sympathy.

ALICE MALONE.

The passing of Miss Alice Malone, daughter of Mr. Philip Malone, H.M.C., at her home, King's Bridge, will be learned with regret by a large circle of friends. The deceased, who was in her 34th year, had been ill for some time, but her passing came almost unexpectedly yesterday morning. Although showing no signs that her end was near she passed peacefully away. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon.

MRS. D. G. FRASER.

An event which has plunged Bay Roberts and neighbourhood in mourning is the rather sudden death of Mrs. D. G. Fraser on Saturday morning last, just as she had entered on the forty-seventh year of a happy, useful and laudable life. The funeral took place yesterday (Sunday) afternoon, and from the huge gathering from the house of mourning, the long, long procession to the church, and the graveyard and the full congregation at spacious St. Matthew's Church, it was evident that everybody from miles around, old and young, men and women, had gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to a lady, who in life was the dear friend of all who came in contact with her, both as family friends or colleagues in the many good works she undertook.

The late Mrs. Fraser was, before her marriage, Miss May Dawe, and was the eldest daughter of Hon. Capt. Ed. Dawe, M.C.L. She was born on Colley's Point, Bay Roberts, and many of those present yesterday, when her mortal remains were taken to church for the last time, and when she was laid to rest in the old cemetery, hard by the Rectory in Bay Roberts' East, where at one time either schoolmates or peers or had been her pupils at the Methodist College, St. John's, or at the Church of England Academy, Bay Roberts.

Numbered among the throngs of mourners were numerous sympathizers who had motored from Heart's Content, Carboneau, Harbour Grace, Clarke's Beach, Brigus, and even as far as St. John's. Rev. A.B.S. Stirling, former rector of Bay Roberts parish, accompanied by B. B. Stafford, Hon. Dr. Mossell, and several others motored from St. John's on Sunday morning. In addition to Mr. Stirling, there were also present at the funeral services, as officiating clergyman: Rev. Menden Bishop, rector of Bay Roberts, and Rev. E. Clanch of Spaniard's Bay Mission. Mrs. Fraser will be sadly missed by both her family and her community. There remain to mourn her a husband and seven children, her father and mother, two sisters and a brother. At the evening service at St. Matthew's Church on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Bishop, during his sermon paid the late Mrs. Fraser a deserved tribute when he spoke of her as a "mother and wife and daughter in deed and truth." The bereavement of Mrs. Fraser's immediate family is a very sad and a very trying one, indeed; and her father and mother, husband and children, and other members of her family have the sincerest sympathy of numerous acquaintances and friends, including the Evening Telegram.

The Burden of Branch Railways.

(By Grace Standard.)

Baron Morris is out in some of the dailies with a disclaimer about his reputed utterances about Newfoundland going into Confederation within a few years. It seems that the Montreal Star gave what was stated to be an interview with the Baron in which the fact of Newfoundland joining Canada was the chief incident. The interview was commented upon at considerable length in more than one of the Canadian papers. The Baron doubts having been interviewed on his recent trip to Canada on his way to New York, thence to take passage to England, and states that he kept clear of all expressions of opinion on public matters during his brief and hurried visit to Newfoundland. So much for the interview and its consequences. It is a pity the Baron did not give his opinion on public matters independent of interviews and consequences. He could, among other matters, have given an explanation of the policy, the reason and the purpose of the branch railways that were undertaken or built during the time he directed the control of the colony, and his detailed views on the wisdom and wisdom of that famous policy would prove of interest just now, when it has been roundly and forcefully condemned, even by those who were associated with him in his ever-to-be-remembered conduct of the Government. At best that policy was an attempt to prove that the Baron was in favor of railway extension then as he always was, and that he wished his name to go down to posterity as one who loved his country well, and to be forever associated with the fathers of the original policy, to make the old land flourish and through the opening up of the country by the cross country traffic and industrial activity. The dreams have passed away, and the country has been saddled with a heavy burden that will fall upon our children's children. The Baron's branch railway building has proved a useless and costly experiment, the burden of which is with us yet, and will remain.

What One Man Does to Support a Title.

LONDON.—It is hard to be relatively poor, yet compelled by the circumstance of birth to hide the fact and even play the part of a mad-cap spender. A certain Lord writes to a London newspaper: "I have to wear a tall hat and the tall coat of conventionality. I have to tip well and cheerfully, and at the same time count every penny. When friends from abroad come to town I have to entertain them—which is a pleasure, but oh! the plotting and the planning and mean little economies that I have to practice! Without a title I should be a comparatively happy man. But I inherited it and I cannot shed it. A wealthy American once said to me, 'You British peers have a jolly good time!' I tried to explain to him that we too had responsibilities, but he countered this by saying, 'I would give anything to be a man of title.' And I would have given a great deal to be plain 'Mr.' with all his money."

Bishop's New Ladies' Coats are the talk of the town for value and style. Many customers return to our store after they have searched the town and failed to find better value. Try it and prove for yourself in all we ask. sept 23, 1922.

ALEXANDRE DUMAS'

"The THREE MUSKETEERS"

Here is presented to you the greatest action picture ever made—a marvelous, magnificent photoplay that is a torrent of power without a single dull moment throughout its entire course. Never before in film history has there been such a gloriously entertaining blend of humor and pathos, of love and jealousy, of happiness and sorrow, because never has there been a story comparable in scope and in appeal, to "THE THREE MUSKETEERS!"

17TH LEAGUE MATCH.
C.E.L. vs. Terra Nova. Result: Draw, One Goal Each. Played on Llewellyn Place, August 1st, 1922.

The attendance on Monday evening was a little better than at the previous game on Friday, but the game anticipated by those present was not played, the champions totalling evidently become disorganized, and it does not need to look to see the cause. The players are able to keep their proper places without constant shouting, which sooner or later will disband the entire club. The teams lined up at 6.30 p.m. with one man short on the Terra Nova side, but he shortly appeared and made up the following:

Terra Nova:—Parsons, McNelly, J. Kent, N. Vintecombe, A. Marshall, J. Gemmill, Easterbrook, Soper, Pike, Forbes and Dowden.

C.E.L.:—W. Pearce, A. Hayward, Adams, Cooke, Ayre, Godden, E. Reid, Carnell, Osborne, Worrall and R. Wood.

Within 10 minutes of the ball being set in motion the T.N. boys had it all their own way. Nothing could stop Pike in his rush and he beat Pearce with a splendid shot. This was a thorough disheartener for the Institute, but the game continued fast and furious for some time, the Terra Nova goal being in danger often, but Parsons saved well, and once Worrall found the net but was offside. At half time the teams crossed 1-0 in favor of Terra Nova.

The second half was in favour of the Institute, who secured several corners, and within 15 minutes of time Worrall from a pretty bit of passing found the net and equalized. Further even exchanges continued for the balance of time, the game ending with the score one goal each.

Referee—T. H. Hayward.
Linesmen—Messrs. R. Forbes and C. Ellis.

NOTES ON THE GAME.
The Terra Nova team, collectively and individually played a dashing game, and are not to be intimidated as some would think. Pike is a solid wall when it comes to charging and had they a little more practice in passing will prove formidable opponents ere the season closes. Vintecombe, like his brother of the "Star" is a dashing half and plays a good game throughout. Parsons, in goal is hard to beat, every muscle being strained to the utmost when defending, and he is perfectly rigid, hard as iron. The Institute will require to play more together—they made the mistake of thinking their opponents of little account as players. A lot of talk as to record goal-making and other things is not football, and men who desire to keep in good form should refrain from strong talk. You cannot expect two men to do the work of eleven. Another mistake made was the putting in of a comparatively young player, who hindered more than assisted. Better far is Wat-Reds place had been allowed to remain vacant. Just a word to spectators, who, in their intense interest, are carried away and give loud expression to their views. To use a cant phrase "you are not the only pebble on the beach" and others about are as free to an opinion as you are, but refrain from making such a noise about it. Restrain the exuberance of your feeling, if not for those near you, for common decency sake. Football is not a prize fight, political or sectarian scrimmage, and language. Do not coach either team, for surely they know how to play by this time, and calm your actions to the orthodox method of applauding good play, or football, like cricket, will be a dead letter next season. Killed by the same means as that which restrains ardent wielders of the willow from playing in future.

Germans Hate French.

Writing from Paris to his father. Mr. Ralph Andrews tells that he has just returned from a business tour in Germany, where he found conditions very promising. Living in that country is very cheap, and for twenty dollars (gold) one can live like a millionaire. German hatred of France is more bitter than ever, says Mr. Andrews, and if the Germans were sure that Britain would not interfere, they would not hesitate to engage in another war with the French.

Household Notes.

Never throw away lemon rinds. Keep them on the sink and use to remove stains from your hands. After removing husks from corn, wash silk off by holding under running water and rubbing with hands. Put thinly-sliced carrots in a pan and brush each layer with melted butter. Bake slowly until tender. To freshen vegetables, cut off ends of stalks and decayed bits, and leave in cold water for a few hours. A batpin is excellent for testing vegetables and cakes when cooking. It does not bend as a straw does. Stuff calves' hearts with bread-crumbs, sprinkle with hot buttered crumbs and season with salt and pepper.

The Bitter End.

They were young and it was evening and the moon was shining. And she was young.

He leaned forward.

"Darling, I love you!" he breathed passionately into her tiny ear. She gazed at him passively.

"You are beautiful, wonderful, lovely!" he cried, as the moonlight illuminated her classic features.

Her glance rested upon him and stood out clearly in the pale light.

"Will you marry me—be my wife?" he asked, with bated breath and shining. Hidden fires glowed in the depths.

And still her gaze was upon him. She opened her mouth to speak. Pearly teeth gleamed in the starlight moonlight.

"Ah! That's giddy to say 'Yes!' muttered passionately, holding tightly, his white hands. "You are going to say something!"

He leaned close, his head outstretched clearly against the pale moonlight. "I was going to ask why don't you wear a rubber band round your head to train your ears not to stick out, she murmured thoughtfully.

(The end of a perfect evening.)

What Do You Think of a Fluid

That will kill bugs instantly and not leave an unpleasant odor?

That will knock flies off the wall and not harm paint or paper?

That will keep the bedroom, kitchen, or veranda, clear of flies, mosquitoes, etc., for several hours after a few sprays?

That will take fleas off a dog and not harm the dog?

That will destroy chicken lice without any injury to your stock?

That applied in small quantities to the exposed parts of the body will insure you from Mosquito bites?

That as a general disinfectant is stronger than the ordinary carbolic solution.

THAT FLUID IS SAN-O-SPRAY.

No insect can live where San-O-Spray is used. Yet San-O-Spray is non-poisonous to human beings and can be used with perfect safety in pantry, kitchen, dining-room, and elsewhere. Moreover San-O-Spray has an agreeable and delightful odor, removing all fetid or unpleasant odors. In addition San-O-Spray is a disinfectant and germicide. Portia Resumes Route.

There is not the slightest doubt that the city trade with the West Coast suffered considerably during the Portia's absence from her usual route. People will not do business these days via any old ship. They must feel suited and satisfied or they will turn their attention toward new avenues of trade. Something of the sort happened while the Portia was kept busy in directions other than those of her usual sailings. Halifax and other Canadian trade centres profited through the loss of local business men. The experiment is certainly not worth repeating.

The Trade Review understands that the two members for Burin, Messrs. S. J. Fote, K.C., and J. Cheeseman, worked hard and persistently for the restoration of the Portia to the service for the restoration of the Portia to the service for their own constituents and for those of the members for Fortune Bay, St. George and St. Barbe, and Burgeo districts. They have certainly secured a great benefit not only for the people they represent, but for the great bulk of Newfoundland trade that has its headquarters in the city of St. John's.

Everybody Anxious for "Three Musketeers."

AT THE MAJESTIC TO-DAY.

Sixteen days a man holding up a broken bridge while three riders cross it, the stealing of a queen's jewels, a desperate fight with a conscienceless woman for their recovery, the smashing of one of the greatest intrigues of history—these are but a few of the dramatic incidents in Douglas Fairbanks' sixth United Artists picture, "The Three Musketeers," scheduled for a three run at the Majestic to-day.

History retold in celluloid! That's what is claimed for this feature. Based on the marvelous adventures and escapades of the dashing D'Artagnan and three of King Louis XIII's Musketeers, this photoplay unfolds the history of France in the early Seventeenth Century when that monarchy was dominated by the designing and crafty Cardinal Richelieu, a soldier by training but a statesman and churchman only by virtue of intrigues he devised.

No more vivid and picturesque tale has ever been presented on the screen than this. From a photographic standpoint it is a work of art, and costumes and sets, are marvelous. It is believed that this photoplay will go down in film history as one of the classic productions.

Fairbanks' interpretation of the dashing and impulsive D'Artagnan will present him to his admirers in a new light, and the work of the all-star cast that supports him will insure satisfaction to all photoplay goers.

Timely Theme in Great Photoplay.

ANOTHER SCREEN TRIUMPH AT THE NICKEL.

This is only one of appealing scenes in "The Girls Leave Home," which is the attraction at the Nickel Theatre to-night. This is a picture with a theme as broad as the community itself. The question of why girls leave home is one of vital importance and of late has assumed such magnitude that it has attracted the attention of every great newspaper, social welfare organization and police department in the United States. What is the lure that leads girls to leave a comfortable home to see the world. See this picture at the most popular house of amusement to-night.

What would you think of any sensible person who would do without medicology in his or her home to tell its thousands secrets for bathing disease, meeting emergencies, preserving life and health and saving worry and money?

Man's Prerogative.

When a dog is pleased his wag his tail and flaps his ears—but he can't smile. A horse expresses his sense of well-being by rubbing his head on your shoulder and neighing—but he can't smile.

Birds chirp, cats purr, larks wheel high in the air and sing, roosters crow, monkeys swing violently by their tails from trees, bees hum—but man is the only member of the so-called animal kingdom that smiles. That's where he has it on every other living creature.

When man is well pleased he can smile, and even when he isn't pleased he can give a pretty good imitation of a smile.—Nogales Herald.

AUTUMN.
It's getting on to Fall again.
The crows begin to call again
And gather in the nearby woods
In strangely busy flocks.
The mist is on the hills once more,
And lavish Nature spills once more
A flood of shining gold upon
The humblest of the stocks.

The woods are in their best to-day,
In bronze and scarlet dressed to-day,
They seem a patchwork counterpane
Of color and design:
We wake to find at dawn again
Rich diamonds on the lawn again,
For every night's a jeweler
With gems surpassing fine.

Though walk you west or east to-day
Your eye will have a feast to-day,
For there is beauty all about
And splendour everywhere;
And it may be when strife is done
And all the toil of life is done,
The charm of peace shall settle down
And hide the lines of care.

Oh, always with the Fall again,
When beauty covers all again,
The thought returns: If God rewards
The humblest vine and tree,
If splendour crowns their days at last,
Shall we not hear His praise at last,
For what they tried to be?

The Little River Coal Mining Company, Ltd., has been formed for the purpose of developing the coal already known to exist at Little River. The Company have on the grounds at the present moment one of the leading experts of Great Britain, who is now engaged in boring on the outcropping in the endeavour to locate the main body of the ore.

"There is ample evidence of the existence of a large area of true coal, covering an area of ten (10) square miles and wherein several seams have been found outcropping. The deeper boring is to prove the continuity of these seams, which is a reasonable thing to do."—Signed, Robert Robinson, M.E., Sydney Mines.

The Little River Coal Mining Co. have decided to develop this property. They are determined that the investors shall have a square deal. They will not sell their rights to any individual, firm, company or corporation, no matter how flattering the offers they receive. Their intention is to develop the property and to place the coal on the market.

Are you a well-informed Newfoundlander? Then you know the extent of the Little River, Bay St. George and Central Coal Fields. You know that Newfoundland imports FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND TONS OF COAL ANNUALLY. Have you ever asked yourself why our coal fields LIE IDLE? Ask yourself the question now.

Are you a patriotic Newfoundlander? Have you FAITH in YOUR COUNTRY? Do you believe in our coal fields? Do you wish to see Newfoundland coal placed on the Newfoundland market? If you ARE and HAVE and DO, then it will pay you to inform yourself about the Little River Coal Company's properties. It will pay you to learn that from our shipping point we can place coal on the wharves in St. John's in less than FORTY HOURS.

In Bay St. George, a few miles from our coal properties, are great deposits of Hematite and Titanic ores. Have you vision to see the industrial future that awaits the West Coast? Have you love of country enough to help us bring that future nearer?

Treaty or Terror?

By a rather dramatic coincidence, President Cosgrave's declaration before the Irish Parliament synchronizes with a pronouncement by Mr. de Valera, and the Irish people have the advantage of viewing in sharp antithesis the alternatives before them—on the one hand the loyal and decisive acceptance of the Treaty, on the other the perpetuation of confusion and terror.

Mr. Cosgrave's words are excellent; the only question is how far they are to be translated into vigorous deeds. Mr. de Valera's ideas, like his actions, are merely chaotic. He seems to think that he is at liberty to throw a bomb one day and propound a dilemma the next. Having assassinated one political opponent, he appears to think it the most natural thing in the world to discuss with his successor whether there is any reason to assassinate him also.

He now suggests that, though he is "still opposed to the Treaty with Britain in its present form," some revision might be obtained if "men of good-will would set themselves to the task." Presumably he regards himself as a bright example of good-will and a potential influence in putting matters right. If, however, he is denied employment as a peacemaker, he prophesies for Ireland "violent political agitation and turmoil in one form or another for many years to come," and for England "the continuance of the impossible relations which had resulted in the war of the last few years."

This would, of course, be a very reasonable attitude if Mr. de Valera had merely taken up a position of constitutional hostility to the Provisional Government. He would then be justified in suggesting that nobody gains, and everybody loses, by the continuance of conditions of "violent political agitation."

But what is Mr. de Valera's actual record? He opposed the Treaty, while it was under discussion, by every kind of unscrupulous argument and incitement. Having lost the day in the Dail, he proceeded to do his utmost to rouse the country. Falling in that, he first proposed to co-operate with and then betrayed the Pro-Treaty Party. Since he has played the part of a mere brigand and murderer.

And now he has the effrontery to talk of "good-will." He has the assurance to suggest another spell of co-operation, which would assuredly be followed by another betrayal. We trust Mr. Cosgrave is really resolved not to repeat the mistake of Michael Collins. If his words mean anything, they can only mean that he is resolved to stand by the Treaty and honour the signatories of the Irish plenipotentiaries. He also speaks of tolerating no "armed despot" and no "armed interference." Logically this would mean war to the death with Mr. de Valera, who rejects the Treaty, opposes it by arms, and certainly plays the despot wherever his desperadoes have a hold on the countryside.

But something is wanted besides logic in those who would restore Ireland to decency and order. Force is wanted; force applied with vigour, and without intermission or rath. If Mr. Cosgrave can and will make good his words he will have deserved well of his country. But his words certainly cannot be made good by the sort of polite warfare waged by his unfortunate predecessor. Ireland can only be saved from terror by the sharpest and sternest measures for the vindication of the law, and the only thing to be done with Mr. de Valera is to make certain Ireland, and preferably this world, impossible for him.—Evening Standard, London.

Germans Won't Pay.

France has a grievance against Germany because of the "Treaty's" evident intention not to pay his debts. It is difficult to understand why a country left intact like Germany was unable to do more than she is doing now in making reparations for the war. The explanation seems to be that the German people have made up their minds that they will not pay. They intend to wiggle out of their obligations in one way or another rather than pay to France the comparatively small amount of money that Germany has been ordered to pay. The business men of that nation would rather run their country into insolvency. An interesting story of what they are doing in this respect is told by the Copenhagen correspondent of the London Morning Post, which we quote:—

"It had long been the custom for the seller in Germany to request the Danish buyer of his goods to place all or part of the money due on account of them to his account in some Danish bank. Now, however, the German seller asks that the money due in payment for the goods shall neither be sent to him nor deposited for him in a Danish bank. He requests the Danish buyer to return him simply an I.O.U., backed by the guaranty of a good Danish bank for that amount. It is, of course, impossible to know how much of the individual Germans possess in this way in Denmark, but there is no doubt that the amount is very considerable. The Danish experience confirms the belief that if the German State is becoming impoverished the individual German manufacturer and merchant is growing rich—richer than his competitors in any other country, and Danish merchants are of opinion that there is great danger of this development.

Leaving their money beyond the borders of Germany, the individual can plead poverty. This is listened to by the German Government, with the result that taxation in Germany is only about one-half, or perhaps less, of what it is in England. While the victors in the war are being bled white to pay the enormous debts contracted to win, the losers of the war are piling up great financial reserves in neutral countries and refusing to pay the reparations to France and other countries for the devastation which the German army caused. It is characteristic of the race. It is to be hoped that the Allies will not moderate their demands, but take whatever steps may be necessary to enforce the payment of the reparations, especially to France, which bled so deeply in the awful conflict.—The Sentinel.

Why Men Fail in Business.

"Men fail largely for three reasons," declares Dr. James M. Fitzgerald, vocational counselor who has placed 18,000 persons in their right jobs. Writing in Forbes Magazine (N.Y.) he says: "First, they cannot analyze themselves correctly, nor are their parents or teachers able to do so. "Second, men do not form logical plans of procedure. "Third, they lack self-confidence and continuity of purpose.

"First, these things accurately for a man and success is inevitable. "The failures that we make in life, the failures that we make in business are largely fundamentally inherent in the individual, that is to say, lack of education, lack of perception, lack of understanding of himself, some weakness in his character, some physical disability or weakness, something deficient in his temperament, or an imbalance in his personality, are the causes for those failures. "More than 40 per cent. of the failures in business are due to men's inefficiency and misdirected selections of their vocations, or to faulty education for their business. This should challenge the strong, clean-cut, high-thinking type of business man."

Corns Go Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra-thin plaasters. The action is the same.

Household Notes.

Diced pineapple and watermelon combined with lemon juice makes a delicious cocktail.

A stiff vegetable brush will save both waste and time in preparing young vegetables.

To clean black felt hats use a teaspoonful of ammonia mixed with half a cupful of cold tea.

If your grapes are ripening faster than you can use in jelly-making, hot the grape juice and make it up in jelly later.

To a plain suet pudding add one cupful chopped stoned dates and serve with whipped cream.

Ring flannels out slightly before hanging them on the line. They will be less likely to shrink.

The white sauce of creamed carrots is improved by a dash of nutmeg and a little onion juice.

To keep your gas oven from rusting let it stand open and dry out for half an hour before baking.

Constantinople Quiet After Midnight.

CONSTANTINOPLE.—Since the taking over of the Constantinople Police by the Allies, great improvements have been effected, and the capital is beginning slowly but surely to assume the aspect of a modern town. New regulations concerning the hamals, or streetporters, and the street vendors have been put into force with the result that any hamal who now walks with his burden along the pavement, whether it is a piano, a plank, or a basket, in such a way as to interfere with the rights of other pedestrians, is arrested and fined. The hamals and street vendors had a habit of flogging down their burdens on the pavements, thus compelling passers-by to make a detour into the street. The chief trouble-givers in this respect were the sellers of fruit and ice-cream. They usually selected a busy corner to sell their wares, and the crowds had to swerve into the street. This was particularly annoying in narrow streets—most of the streets in Constantinople are very narrow—and at corners, where one ran the danger of being struck by a tram or motor car. Among the dangers from wheeled traffic was the habit of the people to ride on the footboard of a crowded car. Where the tram lines are close to the pavement, these "limpets" frequently projected their person over the pavement, and in many cases collided with pedestrians walking peacefully along where they have a perfect right to be. That custom is now prohibited. Another great improvement effected by the Allied authorities is the prohibition of the after-midnight cries of street vendors, such as fruit and ice-cream sellers, who prevented people from sleeping in peace. The only proper exceptions to this new order is the hawk, or nightwatchman, whose warning cry of "fire" everyone listens to with interest and sometimes with dread. No one wants to suppress him.

IS YOUR ROOF IN GOOD CONDITION?

We Have

"BARRETT'S" ROOFING FELTS, 1, 2 and 3 Ply
Also COAL TAR in Tierces, Barrels & Cans

If your roof is in good condition give it a coat of Special Roof Coating Tar and keep it good. You know it is easier to keep a good roof free from leaks than to make a leaky roof watertight. Prevention is always better than cure. Special Roof Coating will prevent your roof from leaking and will keep it watertight for the next few years. A 5-gallon can costs $3.50. PUT IT ON THE FIRST WARM DAY.

If your roof leaks, fill up the cracks with Lasty-gum; put it on like putty, it won't crack like cement and won't run like tar. Lasty-gum will stop even the worst kind of leaks. Use it for flashing around chimneys and skylights. Use it around window boxes to exclude wind, dust and rain. A 5-pound pail of Lasty-gum costs $1.50. After stopping the leaks with Lasty-gum, coat the entire roof with Special Roof Coating.

If you require a new roof covering we recommend VULCANITE, which is made and guaranteed by The Beaver Board Company. Vulcanite can be had in full size rolls to cover 100 square feet of roof surface at $5.00 per roll, complete with nails and cement; also in half size rolls (18 inches wide) at $2.70 per roll complete with nails and cement. A half size roll will cover a porch or bay window roof.

We guarantee the good qualities of Special Roof Coating, Lasty-gum and VULCANITE ROOFING. Each is the best of its kind, warranted to give you satisfaction.

"THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW."

Said the people who opposed the use of tubbats as unhealthy, when tubbats were first invented about 70 years ago: "There ought to be a law that people shan't take a bath from October until March,"—and in one way there very nearly was such a law. Said the demagogue who wanted the votes of the poor people in the time of the Roman Empire: "There ought to be a law limiting the price of bread."
 How about this law? Said the people who thought the automobile a menace: "There ought to be a law that no automobile should be allowed on the roads until it has been tested for four miles an hour and that a man shall walk in front of it with a red flag." (And for a time there was such a law in England.)
 And in spite of all this, people bathe when they feel like it, millions of automobiles travel quite a bit faster than four miles an hour and no one walks in front of them (except the pedestrians who want to commit suicide), and the price of commodities is still controlled by the law of supply and demand.
 Here's one more "there ought to be" which I respectfully submit: There ought to be a law against foolish laws.
 If I set it before the country, will you vote for it?

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)
 Coffee—The exports this week amounted to $1,944 as follows:
 From St. John's—By S.S. Rosalind to New York for transshipment to the West Indies and Lighthorn; 6,000 quintals from Messrs. Harvey & Co., Bowring Bros., A. E. Hickman Co., Ryan Bros., Job Bros., Monroe Export Co., Balne Johnston Co., R. F. Goodridge, James Baird, Ltd., T. H. Carter, A. Hearn, T. Hallett, The Kennedy Co., and Williams & Co. By S.S. Sigbee from Job Bros. & Co. 15,595 qts. to Gibraltar for orders.
 From Outports—By S.S. Haaland from Balne Johnston Co., Battle Hr. to Alicante 10,790 quintals; by Ronald M. Douglas from T. Garland Gaultois 3,428 quintals to Oporto; by schr. Arkona from Forsey & Tibbo Grand Bank 1785 quintals to Halifax; by schooner Olive Moore from St. Anthony for Laso & Co. 8,571 1/2 qts.; by schr. Billy M. English from S. Fifeory, Grand Bank, 697 qts. to Halifax; by schr. General Gough from S. Harris, Ltd., Grand Bank 5,000 qts. to Oporto, and by schr. Lady St. John from John Rorke and Sons, Labrador, 8,500 qts. to Alicante. Prices are holding up so far in the local market and as the total catch is considerably short of last year the same should apply to the foreign market, especially as regards bark shears, which will be a scarce article by the end of the year.
 Cod Oil—The shipment of cod oil this week was unusually heavy. The total was 51,931 gallons to New York and Boston from Monroe, Ebsary & Co., Franklin Agencies, W. A. Munn, A. E. Hickman Co., James Baird, Ltd., and Geo. M. Barr. Those shipments went out by the S.S. Rosalind and S.S. Belvarnon. The New England market has shown a better demand since August and the best prices of the year were obtained the past two weeks when the local price ranged from $115 to $122.50 per ton. Mr. Morton who is here from Boston buying oil for his firm says that the market does not warrant paying any higher than $118.
 Cod Liver Oil—The merits of cod liver oil as a medicine in certain diseases is again to the fore amongst the leading physicians of Great Britain and the United States owing to the fact that some extraordinary cures have been made in the public hospitals. The visits of Dr. Zilva and Graham to our country the past summer had special reference to verifying the reported medicinal properties of Newfoundland cod liver oil and should their report contain the recommendation that we all hone it will then the future of our cod liver oil is assured and the price will immediately soar under the demand that will set in for the product. There is very little danger now.
 Flour—Flour showed considerable change this week. Winnipeg wheat quotation dropped one cent a bushel in the early part of the week, but recovered its old position again on Wednesday when the market closed at 100¢. The Chicago market showed even a stronger tendency upward and gained three points on Wednesday when the closing figure was 104¢ for September and 104¢ for December wheat. Many importers regard this as only a mere temporary flurry and not at all indications of any permanency in prices. The local quotations are $8.75 per barrel for good brands like Windsor Patent and Royal Household, and $8.15 for other grades. Imports for this week, 4509 barrels and 2480 sacks.
 Pork—The pork market continues easy and unchanged this week except Ham Butt. Dressed hogs declined to $13.50 per 100 pounds in the Montreal market as against $13.50 the previous week. The imports by the S.S. Sable Island, Belvarnon and Rosalind since last week amount to 671 barrels. Ham Butt pork being very scarce is higher in price and is quoted in the local market this week at $32 per barrel wholesale, as against $31.50 last week. Fat Back and S. C. C. are still $29. Grocers Family Meas $28, and Spare Ribs $24. The imports to St. John's to date are 14,804 barrels.
 Beef—There is no change in the beef situation to be noted this week. It is generally recognized by the trade that bottom prices have been reached which fact is evidenced in the heavy imports this week which amounted to 2210 barrels by S.S. Sable I., Belvarnon and Rosalind. This is evidently the beginning of big ordering for the fall and winter trade and each boat of these lines will likely bring along large consignments in their trips between now and the end of the year. The quotations are unchanged from last weeks viz: Bos Flank $22, Ex. Family $21, Special -16, New York Boneless $17 and Morris Boneless $16.50.
 Sugar—White American granulated is quoted at $11.50 per 100 pounds in St. John's market as against $11.60 last week in which a practical indication of an easier market. The new U. S. Tariff raises the duty on Cuban Sugar from $1.50 to $1.84 per 100 lbs. The stocks in that island were down to 690,000 tons, September 8th as against 1,372,000 tons same date last year. All the conditions point to a firm market through the present level of prices. The imports this week were negligible.

AMAZING FACT FULLY EXPLAIN TANLAC SUCCESS

How 30,000,000 Bottles Were Sold In Less Than Eight Years. Big Montreal Druggists Enthusiastic—Thousands of Users Publicly Endorse It.

The tremendous demand for Tanlac continues unabated, ever-increasing. Millions have rallied to its standard and thousands have given public endorsement to the large druggists everywhere are enthusiastic over this sensation of the trade is evidenced by the letters received with orders.
 W. A. Hover & Co., wholesale druggists of Denver, Colo., writing under date of July 17, state: "We are submitting to-day our order for the fourth carload of your goods since April 1. Taking into consideration local conditions this demand is not only exceptional but alone in the record sales for proprietary articles in this section."
 The National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Ltd., Montreal, states: "Tanlac continues to lead the parade as our sales of proprietary articles increase. We sold 25,546 bottles within the year."
 Since the first of the year it has been necessary to establish two new branch offices, one in New York and one in Los Angeles, and the large modern laboratories at Dayton, O., Walkerville, Canada, and Mexico City are working overtime but are still unable to keep up with the deluge of orders. Tanlac has been on the market less than eight years but more than 30,000,000 bottles have been sold to date.
 And the foreign field has been entered with the most phenomenal success. Mexico now knows Tanlac as well as the people of the United States and Canada, while Cuba has received the celebrated medicine with enthusiasm.
 The reason for this amazing demand is found in one word: merit. No proprietary article could long survive the acid test of time and public trial if it did not possess real value and produce actual and positive results. It cannot depend merely on advertising and "first call" appeal. Back of Tanlac's unprecedented record in the drug trade is Tanlac's success in producing results, and when this fact is thoroughly impressed there cannot possibly be any mystery in Tanlac's achievement in such a short time—the achievement of gaining the top of the heap and holding undisputed leadership over all preparations of its type ever produced.
 Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Melasses—The market is firm under a good enquiry at Barbadoes at 78 to 75 cents per imperial gallon according to the size of the package. There are two more Newfoundland vessels due from Barbadoes with cargoes next month. This will probably be the last for the season and will give us a normal import of about 10,000 puncheons. The local price is still 80 cents for Fancy and 70 cents for choice in puncheons. In tierces 72 and in barrels 75 cents.
 Potatoes—The potato market is "in the doldrums" and the crop at home and in Canada is so good that no one is worrying over the future. Imports have dropped to nil and there will not be any coming forward until the eve of winter. Home grown are showing up larger and dryer every succeeding week and are giving an ample supply to the market. Some few farmers report that their potatoes are small under the stalk for want of sufficient rain, but the general result is satisfactory. The frost of this week put an end to the growth. Local price is $3 to $3.50 per barrel, but Alging time will likely see a further decline.
 Apples—The price of apples, No. 1 Gravensteins, declined to $5.50 in the local market this week which is one dollar lower than the previous week. No. 2 are $4.75 to $5 per barrel and Domestic $5 to $5.25. S. S. Silvia brought in 1900 barrels this week and S.S. Sachem 500. The total crop coming out of the Annapolis Valley this fall is estimated at 1,600,000 barrels.
 Hay—The hay crop in Canada is harvested and taking one Province record with another it is almost doubtful of last year. Low prices on new hay have induced a revival in export trade and some big shipments have gone forward to Liverpool from Montreal the past week. The market quotations at the latter city are $15 per ton for No. 2 Timothy and $10 for No. 3 at the railway track in car lots. As the cost of duty and freight come to about 100 per cent. This will bring the local price up to $26 and $34 per ton for these quantities in car lots. Orders for Fall and Winter stocks are now being placed.

The market quotations at the latter city are $15 per ton for No. 2 Timothy and $10 for No. 3 at the railway track in car lots. As the cost of duty and freight come to about 100 per cent. This will bring the local price up to $26 and $34 per ton for these quantities in car lots. Orders for Fall and Winter stocks are now being placed.

Since the first of the year it has been necessary to establish two new branch offices, one in New York and one in Los Angeles, and the large modern laboratories at Dayton, O., Walkerville, Canada, and Mexico City are working overtime but are still unable to keep up with the deluge of orders. Tanlac has been on the market less than eight years but more than 30,000,000 bottles have been sold to date.
 And the foreign field has been entered with the most phenomenal success. Mexico now knows Tanlac as well as the people of the United States and Canada, while Cuba has received the celebrated medicine with enthusiasm.
 The reason for this amazing demand is found in one word: merit. No proprietary article could long survive the acid test of time and public trial if it did not possess real value and produce actual and positive results. It cannot depend merely on advertising and "first call" appeal. Back of Tanlac's unprecedented record in the drug trade is Tanlac's success in producing results, and when this fact is thoroughly impressed there cannot possibly be any mystery in Tanlac's achievement in such a short time—the achievement of gaining the top of the heap and holding undisputed leadership over all preparations of its type ever produced.
 Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Melasses—The market is firm under a good enquiry at Barbadoes at 78 to 75 cents per imperial gallon according to the size of the package. There are two more Newfoundland vessels due from Barbadoes with cargoes next month. This will probably be the last for the season and will give us a normal import of about 10,000 puncheons. The local price is still 80 cents for Fancy and 70 cents for choice in puncheons. In tierces 72 and in barrels 75 cents.
 Potatoes—The potato market is "in the doldrums" and the crop at home and in Canada is so good that no one is worrying over the future. Imports have dropped to nil and there will not be any coming forward until the eve of winter. Home grown are showing up larger and dryer every succeeding week and are giving an ample supply to the market. Some few farmers report that their potatoes are small under the stalk for want of sufficient rain, but the general result is satisfactory. The frost of this week put an end to the growth. Local price is $3 to $3.50 per barrel, but Alging time will likely see a further decline.
 Apples—The price of apples, No. 1 Gravensteins, declined to $5.50 in the local market this week which is one dollar lower than the previous week. No. 2 are $4.75 to $5 per barrel and Domestic $5 to $5.25. S. S. Silvia brought in 1900 barrels this week and S.S. Sachem 500. The total crop coming out of the Annapolis Valley this fall is estimated at 1,600,000 barrels.
 Hay—The hay crop in Canada is harvested and taking one Province record with another it is almost doubtful of last year. Low prices on new hay have induced a revival in export trade and some big shipments have gone forward to Liverpool from Montreal the past week. The market quotations at the latter city are $15 per ton for No. 2 Timothy and $10 for No. 3 at the railway track in car lots. As the cost of duty and freight come to about 100 per cent. This will bring the local price up to $26 and $34 per ton for these quantities in car lots. Orders for Fall and Winter stocks are now being placed.

Forty-Three Years in the Public Service--The Evening Telegram

The Little River Coal Mining Co., Ltd.

In the interests of the company that I represent, and for the information of our patrons, I wish to make this statement as to the current expenses of our company as we have been informed that the public have been led astray in matters of this kind, so often, that they are afraid to buy stock in our company. As I am aware that some companies, in the past, have been promoted and boosted for individual and selfish aims I cannot blame the public if they hold the same opinion of this company; but I will say that our subscribers will see results for the money we are spending—either there will be plenty of coal or no coal at all. From the evidence at hand the writer's conviction is that we will find large quantities of coal. I wish to say by way of proposition that the money subscribed is not being spent in paying large salaries, such as has been the custom with some companies in the past, but is being saved and economized for developing the property. The Executive Head has been working for the interests of the company's members, the past eight months, without drawing a cent of salary; nor is there any salary voted or entered into its minutes for him to this date. The Secretary-Treasurer is paid a nominal salary as are also the Salesmanager and Stenographer. All other employees are gentlemen all with the cleanest of records, and are working solely on commission basis, and I would invite the public to have an interview with them, whenever possible, and challenge them on any statement they may make. We have and are meeting with very encouraging success, in raising money and all our patrons can fully rely on a careful expenditure and a thorough diagnosis of our Western Coal Areas. The writer has interviewed the Minister of Mines for his consideration and a favourable reply is anticipated.

The "Grace and Ruby" Seizure Sustained.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—In a decision yesterday sustaining the seizure of the British schooner Grace and Ruby six miles off shore, Federal Judge J. M. Morton ruled that rum-running ships were not immune from seizure by the mere fact that they are beyond the three mile limit.
"The high seas are the authority of no nation," the decision said. "They are free to the vessels of all countries. But this does not mean that a nation is powerless against vessels offending against its laws which remain just outside the three mile limit. The fact that the Grace and Ruby was beyond the three mile limit does not make the seizure unlawful and establish a lack of jurisdiction."

The case came up to-day on a libel of forfeiture filed against the vessel by the government. It was established at the time of the seizure that the Grace and Ruby, while anchored beyond the three mile limit outside Gloucester, unloaded about 8,000 bottles of liquor into the motor boat Wilkin 2nd, which was captured by government officers whilst trying to land its cargo at Salem. The court ruled, that the schooner, never herself within the three mile limit, took part in a violation of the law which extended into the three mile limit. It was pointed out also that the Grace & Ruby was within the four league limit set by revenue status. When the question is not entirely free from doubt, Judge Morton's decision said, "It seems to me this action on her part constituted an unlawful landing by the Grace & Ruby within the territorial limits of the United States."
Appeal from Judge Morton's decision will be taken to the United States Supreme Court counsel for the owners of the said vessel.

German Potatoes Cheap in England.

LONDON.—Potato dumping is the latest accusation made against Germany by tariff reformers who for some time have been clamoring for the imposition of higher duties against imports from Germany. Not long ago British farmers were getting from £10 to £18 a ton for their potatoes. Now they find them a drug in the market as low as £2. "The explanation of this fall," says one authority, "is wholesale dumping by German and Dutch growers. The German government, before and during the war, stimulated the growth of potatoes in order to provide a reserve of food and also for the distillation of alcohol. This overplus has been thrown on the British market, the only one which will admit it without heavy duties, and it has been sold for what it will fetch. As a result the unfortunate British farmer, is being reduced to something very near despair, and in some cases is refusing to market his crop."

DIED SUDDENLY.—Charles Purchar, an employee of Lester's, was stricken suddenly ill yesterday and died before medical aid could be obtained. Dr. Anderson who responded to a telephone call, declared death to be due to heart failure.

Pelissier the Fun-Maker.

Harry Gabriel Pelissier, who was born at Finchley in 1874, was the son of a French diamond merchant who was a naturalized Englishman, and claimed descent from the famous Marshal Pelissier. He forsook his father's business for music and the stage, making his first appearance at the Marleybone Music Hall. Thence he graduated via "Penny readings" to the pierrot platform. He formed and became proprietor of a little troupe of performers known as "The Follies" and he made them famous. The little company of five pierrots tried their first burlesque at Aberystwyth, when "the performers enjoyed themselves immensely and the audience played the part of a refrigerator." Not discouraged, however, they persevered, with the result that the art of burlesque was brought again into full flower by a most subtly clever "potted plays," which filled the Apollo and other Theatres from 1907 to 1911. Among the most successful were "The Whip," and "Hamlet." A skit on the "Englishman's Home," was forbidden by the Censor, but Pelissier overcame the difficulty by acting it behind a screen. In 1895 Pelissier had joined the famous Baddeley Brothers (law tennis players) who also ran a company of amateur artists called "The Follies." Pelissier was a valuable recruit and in 1896, when the Baddeleys retired, he took command and turned the company into a professional one. "The Follies" appeared at Folkestone, St. Leonard's, and in the Isle of Wight, until 1908, when Pelissier and his band of six artists were engaged for the Alhambra and scored a great success. In 1911, Mr. Morton secured them for the Palace Theatre, and later, various West End Theatres were taken, and the versatile Pelissier designed the costumes, wrote the songs, invented the humor, forged the jokes for the printed programme, potted other people's plays and otherwise dominated the whole show. In the Autumn of 1912, he gave two "Espanade" concerts at the Queen's Hall, and conducted the orchestra. His last appearance on the stage was on May 31st, at the Theatre Royal Plymouth, and he was last seen in London in March. He became critically ill for some months and a short time before his death was removed to the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. Edward Compton, Severn Square, Earls Court, where he died on Thursday, September 25th, 1913.

Freemasonry in India.

Bombay.—Freemasonry in India is in a highly prosperous condition, according to the Indian Masonic Year Book which has just been issued. All three constituents of the United Kingdom are represented, England by five district grand lodges, Scotland by a separate grand lodge, and Ireland by a number of detached lodges not under a separate jurisdiction. At Bombay 57 units meet in the Freemasons Hall—32 being English. There are 23 English lodges in Calcutta, in addition to eight Royal Arch chapters in India divided among five subordinate jurisdictions, while English Mark Masonry is represented by 76 lodges.

To Make Tea.

Tea can be easily spoiled in the making unless attention is paid to a few simple rules. See that the teapot is quite free from old leaves. It must be hot, so fill it with boiling water, and pour out before you put in the tea for infusion. For the tea never use water that has boiled a long time, but fill the kettle with fresh water, and the moment it boils, pour it on the tea. Above all, the water must be boiling to make tea properly.

Girl Mail Sorter Called Speediest.

30,216 LETTERS IN 8 HOURS.

Miss Lulu M. Cargill, clerk in the Varick Street branch of the New York Post Office, the postal authorities believe they have the champion letter sorter of the world. For speed and dexterity they assert that Miss Cargill holds the palm over any other postal employee either in this country or abroad. In a space of eight hours she sorted 30,216 pieces of mail, more than a letter a second. Although there are semiannual speed and efficiency tests in the post office stations in New York, as there are elsewhere in the country, it is probable that Miss Cargill's achievement would have gone unnoticed so far as the general public is concerned had it not been for the records put forth by the Detroit Post Office and of certain post offices in England. New York, to stay on the map, just naturally had to answer these assertions.

It all started by a dispatch from Detroit, stating that Miss Nina E. Holmes a 20-year-old clerk in that office, was the fastest mail sorter in the world. Her achievement, 20,610 letters in eight hours, or nearly 48 letters a minute, was cabled to London and printed in the Daily Chronicle over there as a record. Immediately, an investigation was started to see whether Great Britain had any one who could compete with Miss Holmes. The General Post Office officials in London refused to make public any records, but it was asserted unofficially that there were clerks there who could sort mail much quicker than 23 letters a minute. It was said there was a clerk in a provincial British Post Office "who had sorted 55 packets a minute," or 28,400 in eight hours. There had been "super sorters" it was said who had done a letter a second.

According to the story told by the figures Miss Cargill established her record in two tests—it doesn't indicate whether she stopped for tea—one for six and a half hours and the other for an hour and a half. In the first test she sorted 23,500 letters, averaging 30 and a quarter a minute. In the second test she sorted 6,715, averaging 74 3-5 a minute. Her average over the eight hours was 63 letters a minute.

French Hospital Ship Finishes Season's Work.

The French hospital ship Ste. Jeanne d'Arc, which ministers to the members of the French fishing fleet on the Banks, arrived in port yesterday afternoon and is making her last visit to this port before returning to France, says the North Sydney Herald of Thursday last.

The Ste. Jeanne d'Arc has had a busy season during her stay on the Banks this year and her record of mercy is highly praised by the members of the fishing fleet, who have visited here from time to time on the French trawlers and other craft of the fleet. Not only has the ship ministered to their sickness, but has saved many from death, who strayed from their ships in open boats. She has also been the mail carrier of the fleet. During the season just closed the Ste. Jeanne d'Arc made 760 visits to vessels. Treated 433 patients of the fishing fleet. Entered 97 cots in her hospital ward. Picked up 28 sailors, who had got separated from their ships and were liable to death from exposure in open dories. Delivered 47,000 letters to the French fleet and picked up the home going mail. The Ste. Jeanne d'Arc will remain in port here and at Sydney, for a few days, and will then proceed to France, calling on ships of the fleet and at the French islands enroute.

Personal.

We (Westleyan) understand that Rev. E. W. Forbes, B.D., recently transferred from the Newfoundland to the Nova Scotian Conference, and stationed at Guysboro, has accepted an invitation to Liverpool for next year, to succeed the Rev. F. E. Barrett.

FRIENDLY GAME AT HARBOUR GRACE.

A friendly game was arranged and played at the Aero Tennis Courts on Saturday last, between Mr. J. Hambling of Bay Roberts and Mr. Kirkpatrick of the Bank of Montreal staff at Carbonate. Great interest was displayed and a large number of spectators were present. The game was a fine one and was greatly enjoyed, some really good tennis being played. In the first set the Carbonate player was victorious, winning by 6-3, to the disappointment of most of the Harbour Grace fans, who are ardent admirers of that good sport, Mr. Hambling. In the second set, the latter succeeded in winning by 6-4. Mr. Kirkpatrick played a splendid game, and displayed great skill in placing his return. Excitement ran high during the third set, which Mr. Hambling won 6-4. This was to have been followed by a set between Mr. Hambling and Mr. W. Guy of Carbonate, who is no mean player, but this game had to be called off owing to a heavy downpour of rain. —H. Grace Standard, Sept. 22.

N.F. Banking Skipper Breaks Record.

8500 Quintals Taken Since April by Thorahill.

La Havy, N.S., Sept. 21.—The Nova Scotia fisherman Marian Belle Wolfe in command of Captain J. Thorahill, now in port, is said to have broken all records of the Nova Scotia and Newfoundland fishing fleets by taking more than 8,500 quintals of fish since April 8, when she sailed for the Banks. The majority of the Lunenburg county fishing fleet have returned from their final trips this season to the fishing grounds.

Orphanaid Car Lottery.

CADET BAND WILL HELP OUT.

It was the intention to run off the orphanaid car lottery this evening, but President Hon. Dr. Mosdell, and Secretary, Councillor Dowden have decided to postpone the affair for a day or two. This action is the result of a generous offer made by Captain Bulger on behalf of the G.C.C. Band to give a grand promenade concert and dance in aid of the affair. A meeting of the band was held yesterday afternoon and it was decided to hold the concert and dance one night this week and to have both the Cadet and Mount Cashel Bands present.

Gambo Notes.

Miss Lily G. Eastman, daughter of the well known lumbering man, Samuel Eastman, who is at present superintending the work at Deadman Sliding is leaving by to-morrow's express for a visit to St. John's. Although her absence will be felt severely by the church, we wish her a joyous trip.

Mr. George Chant has taken up teaching in the Church of England school for another year. Despite his age he is an excellent teacher.

A little excitement was caused here a few days ago by prohibition prosecutions. Defendants admitted they knew the law, and a fine of $100 or three months imprisonment was imposed.

A good time is expected in a day or two as some of the people will be celebrating their birthdays.

We had a new visitor to see us yesterday, in the person of Mr. Morgan, the Railway Manager. COR. Sept. 20th, 1922.

Flying Workshop Will Accompany Plane in Air.

London.—There is now being built for the Air Ministry the first flying stores and workshop ever constructed in this country. The machine has a large fuselage and is to be used to carry spare parts with operating air fleets. This will avoid the necessity of an airplane having to return to headquarters to obtain the requisite spare parts for repairs when some slight trouble has developed, or as an alternative, having to make a forced landing. If a pilot, when flying on manoeuvres, develops "trouble" of some sort, he will signal to the flying workshop which will carry spare parts of the type that are being used by the unit. The two machines will then alight in some suitable place where the necessary work can be done. As soon as the first flying workshop is completed and satisfactorily tested, a number of similar craft will be built.

The Minard's Liniment People.
Sirs—I feel that I should be doing a wrong if I neglected to write you. I have had four tumors growing on my head for years. I had them cut off by a surgeon about fifteen years ago but they grew again till about three months ago I had one as large and shaped like a lady's thimble, on the very place where my hair should be parted, and it was getting so unbearable in public that it was a constant worry to me. About three months ago I got a bottle of your liniment for another purpose and saw on the label good for tumors. Well I tried it and kept it for exactly two months, with the result that it has entirely removed all trace of the tumor, and were it not that they had been cut fifteen years ago, no mark would have been seen. I have not been asked for this testimonial and you can use it as you see fit.

First Arrival. From Labrador.

The schooner Victor, Edward Snow, master, arrived at Bay Roberts on Sunday from Labrador with 450 qts. codfish, says the Harbour Grace Standard of current issue. She was seventeen days on the passage, leaving there on the first of the month. The greater part of the batch was had at George's Island, the balance at Holton. Her fish will be made at Bay Roberts.

THE COSY GLOW!
(With apologies to Homer K. Am.)
Oh! It's fine to get up in the morning,
When the sun begins to shine,
At four or five, or six o'clock,
In the good old Summer Time.
But when the snow is snowing,
And outside the north winds blow,
Oh! It's grand to get up in the morning,
Oh! The WESTINGHOUSE COSY GLOW.
