

CENTENARY OF LOUIS PASTEUR

All Nations Join France in Its Celebration.

He Opened a New Epoch in the Fight Against Disease—A Hero of Science.

(Boston Herald.) All civilized nations join France today in her centenary tribute to the man who opened a new epoch in the campaign against disease, revolutionized the art of the surgeon and so applied science to the reduction of human suffering and the promotion of human welfare...

There was, of course, no "chill party" in Pasteur's case, for he began with a good education. He did not even need to "grasp the skirts of happy chance," the best of his mind was towards scientific studies from the beginning, and to the end, even under the stress of partial collapse, he was enabled to follow it out. At first we see him dipping down into the atoms and molecules for their secrets...

TREE BELIEVED 2,000 YEARS OLD FOUND IN NEW ZEALAND Wellington, N. Z., Dec. 29.—A giant pine tree, believed to be 2,000 years old, has been discovered in the Northern Forest. It is believed to be 2,000 years old. It has a trunk 22 feet in diameter and 66 feet in girth and it rises 75 feet clear of branches. The tree contains 198,000 superficial feet of timber.

Nothing in the opposition of critics or eliques to shake the faith he had in human nature. He toiled, not with selfish interests in view, but to enrich knowledge and increase human happiness. A felicitous family life, not unaccompanied by bereavements, buttressed his work to the last, but the closing years brought exhaustion, paralytic attacks and a marked change in those features which have been reproduced so vividly in Aronson's well-known bust.

Pasteur has gone into history as the scientific idealist who could give his long work life to the prosaic facts of physics, optics, chemistry and biology without losing sight of their higher meanings. "There is no greater charm," he once said, "than for the investigator to make new discoveries, but his pleasure is heightened when he sees that they have a direct application to practical life."

WILD DEER DRAG SIX MEN OUT OF DREAD SNOW TRAP Animals Hatched to Valhalla Which Brings Mountaineers Back to Safety. Six California mountaineers, caught by an early, heavy snowfall in the high Sierras, captured twelve deer, harnessed them together with ropes and bells, and broke a trail back to civilization. The men were working early in November building a summer camp at Gold Lake, a point far up in the mountains. When a heavy snow storm came up unexpectedly and they found themselves with only a few provisions and without snowshoes or skis, help could not reach them, they knew, before several days.

FIRE FRIGHTENS ELDERS MORE THAN THE CHILDREN

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Montreal, Dec. 28.—During the "moonlight fairies" dance by nine little girls in the Chateaux tree entertainment at the Ladies' Benevolent Institution here this afternoon, a lamphade held by one of the performers came into contact with a torch held by another, and there was an immediate flare. Cries of fire went up. The audience rose to their feet and the children backed into corners. The flaming paper was soon stamped out, but it was observed that it was the audience who were nearest to panic, the children being comparatively calm.

HORSE'S INSTINCT LEADS TO BODY IN OLD WELL

London, Dec. 8.—(By Mail)—The astonishing instinct of the horse, which reveals to the animal the presence of a dead human being in the vicinity, was demonstrated at an inquest some time ago, reports the Alderhot correspondent of "The Daily Express," held on Alfred Green, a caravan dweller. George Aldred, son-in-law of Green, was leading a horse in a field at Ash when the horse stopped near a well, and Aldred had great difficulty in inducing it to pass. The well, which had been used for many years, was afterwards examined, and the body of Green was found there. The horse had passed the well many times before without showing signs of restiveness. A verdict that Green committed suicide while of unsound mind was recorded.

DRUG ADDICTION GROWING IN WORLD, SAYS DR. SIMON

Drug addiction is increasing in all the countries of the world, we and Dr. Dr. Carleton Simon, chief of the Narcotic Squad and Deputy Police Commissioner, told the Exchange Club at a luncheon in the Hotel Bretilin, New York last week. He said drug addiction growing from primary medical use had been overestimated, but that materialism is responsible for much of the increased use of cocaine, heroin and morphine. Only a great spiritual uplift can check such habits, he asserted. Dr. Simon found no excuse whatever for opium smoking. Much of the blame for the conditions recorded rests with the war, he said. "The war had much to do with the breaking down of religion and increasing immorality and crime. The greatest need of the time is spiritual uplift."

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 193.

THE LOCATION OF RECEIVING STATIONS.

One of the reasons why it is impossible to pre-determine with any degree of accuracy the effective range of a radio receiving station is the fact that geographical conditions in the immediate vicinity of the receiver materially affect the intensity of the intercepted waves.

In the diagram a radio receiving station located at "H" at the base of the hill may not receive any detectable signal from a broadcasting station to the north, although good reception may be experienced from stations to the southward.

The nature of the material forming the hill affects the propagation of the waves so that the waves are believed to pass through formations of low electrical conductivity while they bend over and around hills containing large metal deposits.

There are many so-called "dead spots" on the ocean and on land where signals from certain directions cannot be heard, and in fact no signals at all are intercepted. In some instances there are no apparent reasons for this.

condition, especially on the ocean where there is no visible obstacle in the path of the waves. Mountain ranges along the shore sometimes keep the waves from reaching vessels close in shore, while vessels further out receive good signals from transmitting stations beyond the mountains.

ADMIRAL HAMMICK SAW LONG SERVICE

Was Born in 1848 and Entered Royal Navy at Age of Thirteen.

London, Dec. 6.—(By mail)—The death of Vice-Admiral Robert Francis Hammick, retired, which occurred at Devonport on Sunday at the age of seventy-nine, has followed quickly on that of Vice-Admiral Sir Bouvierie Clark, who stood next to him on the list. Both were promoted to captain in 1884, and retired as rear-admirals in 1898, being advanced to vice-admiral in 1904.

He was the second son of the Rev. Sir Vincent Love Hammick, Bt., brother of Sir Murray Hammick, K. C. S. I., and grandson of Sir Stephen Love Hammick, first surgeon of the Royal Naval Hospital at Plymouth, the late vice-admiral in command of the HMS "Hector" in 1864, and entered the Royal Navy in March, 1865.

As acting lieutenant in command of the Ant. gunboat, he saw active service during the Boer war, being present at the attack on the rebel position at Rangariri on November 20, 1893, for which he was promoted. He was also, as a lieutenant of the Miranda, screw corvette, landed for duty with the Naval Brigade which acted in support of the assaulting party on the Maori position at Pukehinahina, in the following April, when he was wounded.

MOVING DAY IN BANK CIRCLES

Bank of Montreal to be All Settled in King Street Office and Ready for Business There Jan. 2.

The concentration of the Bank of Montreal's business in the King street office will soon be completed. The work of removing the Market Square branch will be carried on tomorrow afternoon until Monday, and it is expected that all will be ready for business in the King street office by 10 o'clock, Tuesday morning, January 2.

Already the safes have been moved over from Market Square to the main office, and the safety deposit boxes have been installed in the new vault of the Royal Trust Company's office, which is underneath the King street branch and connected with it by a staircase. In future the safety deposit department of the bank will be looked after by the Royal Trust Company, of which A. C. Skilton is manager, in addition to being manager of the Bank of Montreal here.

The Market Square branch is being closed altogether, and the building, temporarily at least, will be unoccupied. If the building is not sold outright it may be divided into offices and rented, but that remains to be seen.

The entire staff of the Market Square branch will move over to King street, and it may be that some members of the combined staff will be transferred to other branches. In any case there will be a staff of between forty-five and fifty in the new office. The staff will probably include an assistant manager as well as an accountant and two or three assistant accountants. There will be four tellers' boxes on the counter, and, in addition, an inside teller's box.

The structural changes in the King street office are not yet actually completed, as the doors of the new cash vault, just built, will not have all their electrical devices before, perhaps, the middle of January.

The office equipment will be first class, not showy or extravagant, but solid and in good taste. There will be excellent lighting, and the general appearance will be quietly impressive. The change is one of much interest in financial and business circles generally.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR FAIRVILLE

Meeting Decides to Call for Tenders for Apparatus and Prepare Plans for a New Station.

Preliminary steps towards providing fire protection for the Fairville fire district were made last evening at a meeting of a committee appointed recently at a meeting of the rate-payers. It was decided to call for tenders for a combination hose, chemical and pumping engine and to have prepared plans and specifications for a new fire station. Commissioner Thornton of the City Public Safety Department gave some valuable information on the question of fire apparatus. Councillor William Golding presided and others present included Councillors John T. O'Brien and Murray Campbell, B. C. Bennett, Joseph O'Brien, William Reed, William Linton and J. L. Feecey, engineer, as well as representatives of the White Co. and The Bickle Company, manufacturers of fire apparatus.

HE PAID FOR HIS FUN.

Sussex Record.—A young man from the outside district, who kicked up a rumpus on Main street, Thursday night last, was arrested and locked up in the police cells by Officer Laney. On Friday morning Judge Folkins fined the prisoner $20 for resisting the police, $10 for using filthy language, $5 for being drunk and $4 costs, a total of $49. Judge Folkins stated that resisting the police seemed a joke with a great many people, but hereafter it would not be with any one convicted before him of that offense, as the full penalty of the law would be imposed. Another point the judge strongly emphasized was that it was the duty of every citizen to assist a police officer in discharge of his duty, when called upon to do so, and to refuse to do so was breaking the law and punishable by a fine.

BLIZZARD IN ST. JOHN WAS VERY SEVERE

Early Efforts to Keep Streets Clear Fail

Wind Soon Undoes Work of Ploughs—Street Railway Has Trouble—Telegraph and Telephone Companies Fare Better—Wind Up to 40 Miles, and Nearly a Foot of Snow.

All shipping, both inward and outward, is tied up, railway and street traffic is badly disorganized, and practically the entire city lies buried in huge drifts of snow as a result of the most severe storm of the winter, which sprang up last night and continued without abatement until this afternoon. A wind out of the northeast, which varied from thirty to forty miles an hour, caught the snow, which amounted to nearly twelve inches, and piled it high on the streets. Ploughing of the main thoroughfares was attempted, but very little progress was made against the fine drifting snow, which filled up paths almost so soon as they were cleared. In some streets one side of the thoroughfare lies bare, while on the other the drifts reach almost to the first story windows. The day proved a most uncomfortable one for those who had to be about in the open.

Although the wind whipped up quite a sea in the harbor, the Carleton ferry was able to make its trips almost on schedule.

The storm broke late yesterday afternoon and all through the night raged continuously. The wind during the night reached a velocity of thirty miles an hour and the falling snow was whirled around and formed high drifts. This morning the wind increased, and at eleven o'clock varied between thirty-six and forty miles an hour.

D. L. Hutchinson, director of the Meteorological Observatory in Douglas avenue, said that the storm was an exceptionally severe one and that he estimated more than ten inches of snow had fallen. This kept drifting and formed into high banks. The total snow fall to date for the month of December is thirty-six inches and is by far the heaviest for this month in many years.

Soon after daybreak, the public works department turned out its street apparatus to endeavor to plough a way along the sidewalks for pedestrians, but it was found that the blinding blizzard was too much for the horses, and these pieces which had been cleared immediately drifted in again, so the attempt was temporarily abandoned. Although the N. Y. Power Co. kept its ploughs and sweepers out all night on the main lines, they were able to maintain the service only in a spasmodic manner. East St. John, Glen Falls and the West Side lines were entirely paralyzed.

The Street Cars.

The street railway sent a sweeper to East St. John and Glen Falls this morning, but as fast as the snow was swept off the tracks the wind kept throwing it back and efforts to carry on a service were discontinued. The same trouble was experienced in West St. John. Only six cars were run during the morning. On the main line between the N. Y. Power Co. and Prince William street car, two on Haymarket Square, and two West St. John cars, which operated as far as Fairville corner. The sweepers were kept in operation all day in an effort to keep some of the lines open and they were able to give at least a partial service when the storm abated.

The Trains.

The C. P. R. reported today that the storm was very heavy all over the district and that plows were kept running on all lines in order to prevent any serious delay in train. Their passenger trains were reported running behind time, but none were delayed to any great extent. That trouble was being experienced in the New England States and Maine was evident from the fact that the Boston train was reported running between five and a half to six hours late.

The Montreal was running one hour behind schedule time when it was kept by the outgoing Halifax express, which leaves here at 1.40, one hour or more late in leaving St. John.

No serious hold-up was reported at C. N. R. headquarters up to noon from outside. Considerable difficulty, however, was encountered in the island yard, where an extra gang of more than a 100 men were kept busy all morning in an attempt to clear the switches. The work was hampered owing to the high wind and drift snow for in many places the switches were no sooner cleared than they became blocked again.

The New Brunswick Telephone Company reported at noon that the storm locally had not interfered to any noticeable extent with their lines. Some trouble had been encountered through the morning between St. John and Moncton, but at noon everything was reported as running smoothly and the storm had not upset communication with outside places.

Some trouble had been experienced by the Western Union between here and Charlottetown, and at time of going to press the line had been cleared. No other trouble had been encountered.

The C. P. R. Telegraph office reported that they had little or no trouble. All lines were working well through the morning, and no reports of any trouble or interference with the ordinary course of service had been reported up to noon.

COAL REPORT.

George S. Cushing, provincial fuel administrator, this morning received a wire from one of the United States anthracite companies, advising him that all kinds of anthracite, including buckwheat, was very scarce. Mr. Cushing said that it would be wise if those who required coal would lay in a supply of some other variety, rather than wait the chance of the arrival of hard coal.

STORM INCIDENTS

When a storm was at its height this morning one of the large plate glass windows in the Provincial Bank branch, at the corner of Douglas Ave. and Main St. blew out and the staff was obliged to carry on in an adjoining store until temporary repairs were made.

An automobile stalled in King street this morning and efforts to extricate it attracted a number of spectators. A number of men and boys got around the machine and by a concerted effort forced it through the large drift to the street car rails. Once clear of the deep snow it proceeded without any trouble.

PLEADS GUILTY TO HAVING AN ILLICIT STILL

Also to Violation of Provincial Act—Magistrate Remands John Kane for Consideration.

John Kane pleaded guilty in the police court this morning to having liquor in his possession contrary to the law, and also to violating the Dominion Inland Revenue Act by having an illicit still. The charges grew out of a visit yesterday afternoon to Kane's house along the highway, a little beyond the One Mile House. The premises visited by the local liquor inspectors and John Murphy, excise officer, were at one time occupied by Ex-Chief Simpson and his family, known as the Drury place.

The magistrate, dealing with the defendant, said that he could not pass over the circumstances of the case lightly, as he was obliged to make an example of the accused. He certainly would impose a fine. He remanded Kane for five days.

The apparatus seized yesterday, while regarded as primitive, is, however, said to be able to produce very potent stuff. The process by which the hooch was made is said to be old fashioned, but productive of "results."

SAID SHE HAD WEE DROP IN BAG FOR EMERGENCY

A lady, very much agitated, very short of breath and very cross withal, appeared at City Hall this morning and demanded to know why the street department had not cleared a path between her home on the West Side and the ferry boat. When she was told that an attempt had been made to plough off the streets but had to be abandoned on account of the drifting snow, she replied testily, "they were able to do it in other years" and she did not know "what the town was coming to anyway."

She then launched into a tirade against the civic government generally, against the rate of taxation, the unwholesomeness of the mill pond, the street railway service, this, that and the other thing.

Coming back finally to the struggle which she had made against the elements on her way to the city this morning she tapped a small leather shopping bag which she carried, and in an indignant whisper remarked: "And I have a wee bottle of brandy here, just in case I might get feet in my attempt to get through the drifts which the city should have had removed the first thing this morning." "Life is like that!"

Quebec, Dec. 29.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. Father Connolly, rector of St. Patrick's Church, gave emphatic denial last night to a story current that an attempt had been made to set fire to the church.

A., rector of the Catholic Church at Rexton.

1000 OF A 7,000 MILE TRIP IN EAST MADE ON FOOT

Sir George Pereira Travels Through China and in India and Makes a Visit to Famous City of Lhasa.

London, Dec. 28.—(By Mail).—An interesting narration of Brigadier General Sir George Pereira, military attaché to the British Legation in China, travelling from Peking via Lhasa, is described by the Calcutta correspondent of "The London Times".

The total distance covered by him is over seven thousand miles, of which he has walked nearly half.

Interviewed for "The London Times," Sir George Pereira said the journey had taken him nearly two years. He had traversed a great part of western China and the whole of east Tibet, passing from regions troubled by brigands to the desert plains of north-east Tibet, and on to the land of jumbled mountains and valleys of south-east Tibet. The journey was perfectly peaceful, even in the two worst brigand-infested provinces of China, Szechuan and Szechwan. All he had to do was to inform the magistrates, who arranged with the brigands that Sir George should not be attacked.

In Tibet he was made welcome everywhere, deputations led by village headmen bringing him gifts of vegetables and meat, which converted his room into a Covent Garden. He got permission to enter Lhasa and was made the guest of the commander-in-chief, a young man aged thirty-eight, who is learning English and has a daughter in Darjeeling School. He met the Dalai Lama, who was not living in Potala, but in one of the seven villages in the western suburb of the town. Each villa is surrounded by a beautiful garden. In this suburb Sir G. Pereira lived with the commander-in-chief. The only modern road in Lhasa was from Potala to this suburb. He reached Lhasa last October and stayed there ten days.

Sir George started from Peking in January, 1921, travelled southwards by train to Tientsin, thence by cart to Shanai, thence across the Hwangho (Yellow River) to Hoyang, where he met General Wu Pei-fu. From Hoyang he visited Sianfu, the old capital of China, and climbed Hwashan, a tremendous rock with precipitous sides, in which were heavy steps of irregular shape, climbed in parts by hauling oneself up with chains. This is one of the five sacred mountains of China. Small temples are scattered about it. Thence he went to Chengtu, where he had some shooting. His foot was frost bitten and he was laid up for a month.

Next Sir George went to Tatsienlu, where he met Tibetan tribes. He went up the Min River into Kansu province, where a large tract of territory was under the control of the Prince of Chou, an old friend of Sir G. Pereira's. Chou is the biggest Tibetan prince in the province, and their old friendship not only got Sir G. Pereira hospitality, but protection. Next he travelled through Siningfu, which was full of Mohanzans under Machi. Thence he went to Tangar (Dangar), where preparations were made for the long journey through Tibet.

The first nine days out were easy going. He met nomads from whom he bought fodder for the pack animals. But later on there was no more grass and the mules suffered, five of them dying. Not a tree was seen till the Yangtze was crossed. There were tremendous winds and the weather in northeast Tibet was most changeable. The nights were bitterly cold, while the day was pleasant if there was no storm.

Sir G. Pereira was well over 15,000 feet all the time he was in Tibet, except for two descents into valleys, which were at 10,000 feet.

APPOINTMENT OF DR. H. P. WHIDDEN

Wolfville, Dec. 29.—The appointment of the Rev. Dr. H. P. Whidden to the Chancellorship of MacMaster University adds another name to the long and illustrious succession of Maritime Province educationists who have been chosen for University leadership. Dr. Howard Primrose Whidden is a son of the late Hon. C. B. Whidden of Antigonish and brother of Councillor D. Graham Whidden of Wolfville. He was born in Antigonish in 1871 and graduated in Arts from Acadia in 1891. He pursued post graduate studies in Boston, Toronto and Chicago. He received a doctor's degree in divinity from Denison University in 1908 and was made a doctor of laws by MacMaster University in 1913. He was principal of Brandon College, Manitoba, for the past ten years and brought that institution up to a high state of efficiency. He is a man of fine culture and strong administrative gifts. He represented Brandon in the Federal Parliament during the late Union Government administration.

Should Dr. Whidden decide to accept the Chancellorship of MacMaster, he will be the third Acadia graduate to occupy that position, the late Dr. Theodore Harding Hand, first superintendent of education for Nova Scotia, and Rev. O. C. S. Wallace, now of Baltimore, being the other two. A strong effort is now being made by people of Hamilton, Ont., to have MacMaster move to that city and it is not unlikely that a policy of that kind may be announced in the near future.

AUTOMOBILE IMPROVEMENT

Automobile engineers are working on plans for improving the 1923 automobile motor. There are three new construction features to be brought out in the next year: 1. The adoption of the four-wheel brake system. 2. An increasing number of eight-cylinder cars, with an even larger percentage of sixes. This step will be taken care for the demand for smooth-running cars and stability of all speeds. 3. Changes in transmission and clutch construction so that there will be less shifting of gears, and cars may be started to high speed without danger of harming the differential and universal joints.

WALTON'S HOUSE TO BE MEMORIAL

Cottage of the Author of "Compleat Angler" to be a Shrine for Fishermen—Plan Endowment and a Library.

New York, Dec. 29.—A movement to restore and preserve the cottage of Isaac Walton, prince of anglers, at Shallockford, England, begun by Mayor T. A. Dunn and other officials of Walton's birthplace, Stafford, is to be carried on in this country through friends and former legal and business associates of the late Julian Tappan Davies, attorney and trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

This was disclosed coincidentally with news that an offer made by relatives and friends of Mr. Davies to purchase the cottage had been accepted by Mayor Dunn and his committee appointed to consider the future of the great angler's cottage. It is the hope of the American sponsors of the fund to obtain enough money to endow the structure, place in it a library of piscatorial lore and make it a shrine for followers of the rod and reel the world over.

The cottage, six miles up the river from Stafford, is a timber-framed building with thatched roof. According to tradition, it was the favorite resting place of the great fisherman when he was whipping the brooks and rivers for fish. There also, according to persistent tradition, Walton mused upon his book "The Compleat Angler," "Was Gift to Charity."

When Walton died, in December, 1683, his will directed that the cottage be given to the Corporation of Stafford for the assistance of the worthy poor and various other philanthropic purposes. At a later date the cottage was assigned as part of the revenue of the King Edward VI, grammar school of Stafford, but, owing to the lapse of time, the building has become dilapidated, and the Stafford County Education Committee, though sympathetic, is without funds to renovate and keep the dwelling as a link to the great disciple of angling.

A brief notice in a London weekly, which caught the attention of Major Archibald G. Thacher of Barry, Walworth, Thacher & Symmers, New York attorneys, resulted in the idea of American help in the restoration, and also of making the rehabilitation a memorial to Mr. Davies, who was a keen fisherman. The London publication reported that Mayor Dunn and other officials were seeking to raise a fund of $600 to rehabilitate the cottage and of making the rehabilitation a memorial to Mr. Davies and sportsmen, both in the United States and England, will I am sure, be glad to have an opportunity of contributing for the preservation of such an interesting relic of the "Prince of Anglers," wrote Major Thacher, who served in the World War, to Mayor Dunn. "My late father-in-law, Mr. Julian T. Davies, was a great sportsman and fisherman, and I am sure that were he alive he would wish to enjoy the privilege of contributing to such an admirable object. May I, therefore, enclose draft for $5 to your order, in memory of Julian T. Davies, American fisherman and sportsman?"

Smith, Demming, Lanyon and Stout; duet, "So Thou Liftest Thy Divine Petition," A. C. Smith and W. T. Lanyon. A cantata, "Glad Tidings," by Skully, followed. Its features were: Introductory organ solo, S. M. Stout; chorus, "Let Songs of Joy Abound"; chorus and solo, "The Song of the Shepherd"; chorus and Messrs. A. C. Smith and W. T. Lanyon; chorus, "Shout the Glad Tidings"; solo, "Sleep Little One," Miss Hilda Walton; solo and trio, "Mary's Lullaby," Mrs. C. R. Freeman, Mrs. J. M. Patterson and Mrs. T. L. Webb; soprano and tenor duet and chorus, "In a Manger Cradle," mixed quartette; "He Shall Feed His Flock," Mrs. Freeman, Miss Demming, E. Cosman and H. M. Stout; men's union, ladies' union and chorus, "O'er the Plains," mixed quartette, "O Light Divine," Mrs. J. M. Patterson, Mrs. B. L. Webb, A. C. Smith and A. F. Stowell; chorus, "Come Ye Faithful People, Come," benediction and postlude.

PROGRESS IN LIMITATION

(New York Tribune)

In spite of the fact that the naval limitations treaties have not yet been ratified by the five signatory powers the naval race has virtually ceased. Secretary Denby's report shows that the scrapping of completed vessels doctored under the treaty has already made good progress and that construction has been halted on ships now on the ways which are to be destroyed. This means great economies in the future. At the same time it is further proof of the effectiveness of the Washington conference.

Secretary Denby's detailed statement as to the work by the different nations shows that Great Britain and the United States have led the way in proceeding more cautiously, is nevertheless also complying with the spirit of the treaty. The Japanese Ministry of Marine has wisely stated that "while work preliminary to scrapping will be done, the hulls will not be broken up or sunk, until the treaties have been ratified by all the powers." As neither France nor Italy has any ships to be scrapped under the agreement nothing has been required of these powers. France, as a matter of fact, has one battleship which she was to retain and it, therefore, entitled to build another to replace it. There is as yet no indication, however, that she will avail herself of the opportunity. As a matter of fact, the practical effect of the naval limitations treaties upon France is largely negligible. There is little likelihood, therefore, that she will fail to ratify them.

Pettis Store Featured Sales Force as Well as the Goods Sold

Patrons Asked for Them - 'We Sold Lots of Goods and Also Established Valuable Personal Contacts.'

The Pettis Dry Goods Company, of Indianapolis, tried a novel experiment recently, when it turned over to its employees the important task of conducting the daily sale.

'We are rightly proud of our organization and feel that the sale will take on a degree of service to the community which will place it in the front rank of the best of our mercantile life.'

The newspaper advertisements were detailed with photographs of the employees, temporarily placed in complete charge of the various departments.

When I placed a picture on the 'green cap' it's all right to give great values—but I wonder if it had gone so far. The buyer first winked, then smiled—his suggestion was, 'Go as far as you like!'

Then followed a compelling description of the sweaters, calculated to assure a tremendous sale for the merchandise.

The executives are unanimous in declaring that the employees' sale has proved a huge success.

'Not only did we dispose of a tremendous amount of merchandise, said one of the department heads, but we have every reason to believe that we will be worth thousands of dollars in the long run.'

Several call sales to establish tax losses were noted in the early dealings. Moderate gains were made by St. Paul preferred, Lehigh Valley and Bessemer.

Features of the report, especially from the northern markets, are the increased sales laid upon winter weather stimulating buying at retail, and the same reason assigned for the higher prices for coal.

Home Training at Root Of Juvenile Delinquency

The Great Need of Proper Parental Control and Education—The Use of the Rod a Preventative—Decrease in Halifax.

It has been recently stated in our public press that the official records of Canada concerning our juvenile courts show a marked increase of crime in number of juvenile delinquents. During a period of three years it was stated more than twenty per cent. of indictable offences were committed by children under sixteen years of age and in twenty years the increase has been three hundred per cent. One child, we are informed, in five, between the ages of five and sixteen is a criminal, according to the records.

lofty hopes and aspirations, as to the future of her child, the result will soon be seen in the child itself. Happy the mother and happy the nation who sees in their children what God intended them to be and trains them to the fulfillment of the duties of that intention.

No child should be so sacred to its mother as her own, and no duties so paramount as that of her own home. May it never be said of our mothers that "they were made keepers of the vineyards, and their own vineyard they have not kept." Mothers cannot guard their children so carefully, especially have they to be kept from bad influences and bad companions. Fish take their color from the water in which they swim, so the lives of our children are colored by their surroundings. When our homes are what God intended them to be, where the light of a mother's love shines bright and that light kindles a fire in the heart of a child. When our homes become light-houses for the erring child, and a temple for the one who has gone astray, a resting place for the one who is tired and weary of a home of joy and refreshment, a home where "the kettle is ever singing and the water is always hot," then will be said of Canada that no country on earth surpasses her in well being of her rising generation.

The wedding which brought an influx of Manchus from all parts of the ancient empire, was solemnized on December 1. The princess was carried in a sedan across the moat that surrounds the Emperor's Palace within the Forbidden City and through the great triple-arched gateway.
