NEW YORK IN NO DANGER FROM YELLOW FEVER.

British Expert Comforts Americans---Disease Can Be Checked in New Orleans---Panama the Greatest Problem.

(See also page 4.) NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Sir Patrick Manson, medical advisor to the British colonial office, and one of the foremost living authorities on tropical fevers, who arrived in New York Saturday, declared yesterday that the United States marine hospital service can stamp out yellow fever in New Orleans before cold weather sets in, that the sanitary on the Panama Canal, seen from a medical point of view, is the greatest problem put on a nation's shoulders in this age, that Dr. W. E. Gorgas, who is in charge of the medical forces in the isthmus, is the best man in the world for the place, and finally that New York is in practically no danger so far as yellow fever is concerned.

Yellow fever in New Orleans was the chief topic of discussion by Sir Patrick. "The situation in New Orleans," he said, "depends entirely upon the intelligence and intelligence of the people of that city. If the people are honest and will report to the government medical forces, who have now assumed charge, the existence of all new or suspected cases, concealing nothing whatever, the disease will be stamped out." "Before cold weather sets in?" Sir Patrick was asked. "Certainly, why not," he replied. "On the other hand," continued Sir Patrick, "if some of the people in New Orleans are not honest and conceal the existence of new cases the fever may go on indefinitely."

Asked about the problem that Col. Gorgas and his staff are trying to solve in the Panama Canal zone, "that is the biggest medical problem of this age," was Sir Patrick's emphatic answer. "Down there it is the health and not the engineering problem that presents the greatest difficulty. However, the situation is in charge of Col. Gorgas, and he is the man to solve the problem."

BRUTAL ASSAULT OR ATTEMPTED MURDER; POLICE INVESTIGATING.

An affray which almost ended fatally and which looks like a brutal attempt to murder Samuel Macaulay of Carleton on Wednesday evening last has just come to light, and the police are at present busy investigating the affair.

It seems that Macaulay, in company with other men, two of whom are well known to the police, were on board a schooner lying at West St. John, when a quarrel ensued between Macaulay and the men in question. The former was badly beaten, a large quantity of blood being spilled. It is alleged that Macaulay was then carried to the side of the schooner and thrown overboard.

The two men who are alleged to have committed the assault are well known in Carleton, and Detective Killen has been investigating the matter in the hope of "help," went on board the schooner from which the man had been thrown and to the men there, but there was no one on board. At the same time he noticed a quantity of blood about the place.

The reply he received was "Leave them there, and cut off to hell." He then left, and did not return until the injured man, who was on the point of sinking, to the shore. After being rescued he recovered somewhat, the rescuer went on board his own ship to change his clothes. In the meantime officer Goslin found the victim all battered up, and took him to his home.

The two men who are alleged to have committed the assault are well known in Carleton, and Detective Killen has been investigating the matter in the hope of "help," went on board the schooner from which the man had been thrown and to the men there, but there was no one on board. At the same time he noticed a quantity of blood about the place.

I. C. R. FIREMAN KILLED. Was Sleeping Beside the Track and Startled by Noise Jumped up as a Train Was Passing.

(Special to the Star.) MONCTON, N. B., Aug. 7.—The Marlin express coming down this morning killed a man named M. G. Harriman, who was lying asleep alongside the track.

The engine passed without striking him but the noise of the train appears to have partially aroused him and he rolled over and was struck by the baggage car.

Harriman was a fireman on a working train but how he came to be asleep on the track is not explained.

C. for Julia and John Donahoe; M. G. Ford for Mrs. McCafferty and Mary Winslow. The evidence of Rev. J. J. O'Donovan and Mrs. McCafferty was taken.

TIP O'NEIL HAS BROKEN HIS ANKLE.

He's Out of the Game for the Season.

He Was Sliding for Third in a Game in Louisville When the Ankle Bone Snapped.

John "Tip" O'Neill, the fast St. John base ball player, who has been doing such magnificent work for Milwaukee in the Western League this year, is now confined to his bed with little or no prospect of again being seen on the diamond this season. "Tip" has a broken ankle.

He received his injury in a game at Louisville on Tuesday last but no word of it reached here till this morning when his sister received a letter from him written at Louisville the day after the accident. "Tip" says in his letter that the manager had been with him some hours and that all arrangements had been completed for sending him north to Milwaukee the next day. Mr. Cantillon, the manager told "Tip" that while his loss to the team would be irreparable he needs to take things easy till he was as strong as ever, even if it took till the end of the season.

The accident occurred during the second inning of a game with Louisville. "Tip" was sliding into third when his ankle snapped and they had to carry him off the grounds. His many friends here will regret to learn of his accident as he had been occupying a leading position in the league and had a good chance to lead the batsmen, being in third place and only a few points behind the leader.

AFTER THE CANADA CUP.

Canadian Challenger, Designed by Fife, Looks Very Fast and Has Scared the American Cracks.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The Fife designed yacht, Temeraire, on which the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto, plan to carry the Canada cup back to its old place across the lake arrived at Charlotte last night, about 8.30 o'clock under tow. The designer of the boat, did not make the trip across with Skipper Wedd, but arrived on the Kingston last night and immediately came to Rochester.

It is possible the Temeraire will sail around the club course today to acquaint the skipper and crew to conditions, and on Thursday or Friday will have out for a final racing before the first race next Saturday.

BOY BADLY HURT; DOESN'T KNOW HOW.

James Brazilian, the thirteen-year-old son of James and Mary of Kingsville, was found on Saturday behind a barn near his house in an unconscious state with a fracture in the front of the skull. The boy had recovered somewhat, but he does not know how the accident came from a lad who said young Brazilian had been kicked by a horse. The wound is described as clean-cut, as if made with an axe. Foul play is not suspected. He was unconscious for some hours, but has not yet been able to give any account of the accident. Dr. Curran said this morning that the laceration in memory is not unusual and that without doubt the boy would recover.

$10,000 MONTREAL FIRE; ITS PECULIAR ORIGIN.

(Special to the Star.) MONTREAL, Aug. 7.—Kearney Brothers' wholesale tea warehouse at 14 St. Peters street, was damaged by fire early this morning. The injury to the building was not great, but so much water was poured into the place that it is feared the loss to stock will run close to $10,000. The warehouse is across the street from the Starke hardware, and is believed to have started from a wire cable which caught fire in the Starke building and smouldered until it reached the Kearney premises.

A fracas occurred on Saturday evening at the Oriental restaurant on Charlotte street. Two drunken men roughly handled the two young girls, knocking them to the ground. The men are known to the girls, and will be given in charge when their whereabouts are discovered.

The police have been informed that certain parties who reside on Duke street are harboring a young girl, Dorothy Walker, aged 15, against the wishes of her guardians, two elderly ladies, who are the girl's aunts. The police will warn the parties concerned.

40,000 RUSSIANS TAKEN PRISONERS.

Japs' Success on Sakhalien-- Witte Despairs of Peace and Warns Russia to Prepare For More War.

TOKIO, Aug. 7.—The disposition of the convicts on Sakhalien Island is now under consideration. They will probably be taken to the Russian coast, and will there be transferred to the Russian authorities.

Under a pre-arrangement the Russian prisoners of war on the island, 40,000 in all, are being transported to Japan.

WITTE DESPAIRS OF PEACE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—According to a staff correspondent to the American at Portsmouth, N. H., a correspondent of a Russian newspaper called on M. Witte Friday night, and was received in his apartments. Baron Rosen was present, and M. Witte was in a despondent frame of mind. The correspondent asked for an opinion as to the outlook. M. Witte said: "I talked for an hour with the president. We had much to say to each other."

"And what may I say as to the prospect," asked the correspondent. "Cable your paper that Russia must be prepared to continue the war," replied M. Witte.

Baron Rosen interposed "do you think it is well that this should be said?" "Yes," answered the senior peace envoy, "it is better that it be said. The absolute truth of the statement is beyond question the American avers, and it not only expresses the view of M. Witte but accurately presents the opinion of Baron Rosen."

The Russian correspondent's paper is published in St. Petersburg and he enjoyed close relations with Witte and Rosen. The correspondent has already cabled the message to his paper, though he refrained from mentioning the name of the "High Official" from whom he secured the statement.

WITTE AND KOMURA SHAKE HANDS. OYSTER BAY, Aug. 5.—History was made today at Oyster Bay. Russians and Japanese clasped hands and greeted one another with all outward evidence of cordiality and for the first time since nations began to have relations one with another, an executive of a great power received the envoys of two belligerent countries on a mission of peace.

President Roosevelt, on behalf of the United States and its people, extended formal greetings to the representatives of Russia and Japan, introduced the plenipotentiaries to one another and entertained them at an elaborate luncheon, at which Russians and Japanese fraternized with one another as comrades rather than as enemies.

During the luncheon President Roosevelt proposed a notable toast in which he expressed the "earnest hope and prayer, in the interest not only of these two great powers, but of all civilized mankind, that a just and lasting peace may speedily be concluded between them."

PEACE ENVOYS ON THEIR WAY. NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The Dolphin and Mayflower, with their crews bearing the Russian and Japanese commissioners to Portsmouth, N. H., sailed from this harbor at 8 a. m. With the exception of Mr. Witte, who left for Boston by special train last night, the members of the Russian and Japanese parties were on board their respective vessels.

TWO SISTERS DROW.

(Special to the Star.) ST. HYACINTHE, Quebec, Aug. 7.—Two sisters, aged 17 and 14, daughters of J. B. Phaneuf, were drowned last night in the Yamaska river. The party were rowing and when a short distance from shore the boat, which leaked, bilged and sank. The girls disappeared almost immediately, but the younger sister, aged nine, and a youth, named Latimer, who were also of the party were rescued by two young men who were camping near by and heard their cries for help.

THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION.

Though M. Witte is one of the most advanced of the reformers at home, when he is abroad he is a Russian and refuses to tell tales out of school. Consequently he assures the American newspapers that all these reports of Russia's internal troubles are greatly exaggerated and misinterpreted, and pooh-poohs the idea that any such thing as a revolution is possible. The impression he evidently seeks to convey is that the government has entered upon a career of reform which will end only when the people are satisfied and happy.

In interesting contradiction to this expressed opinion is an article by so eminent an observer as Dr. E. J. Dillon, written from first knowledge, and after long residence in St. Petersburg, for the August number of Review of Reviews. According to Dr. Dillon there have never been any reforms in the direction of more liberal rule, nor ever will be while the present system is in power. True, he says, the Czar has made many promises, some of them apparently explicit and precise, but none of them have been carried out, chiefly because the Czar has entrusted their execution to the bureaucracy, which that execution would annihilate, and which naturally and calmly has proceeded to smother the innovations in the germ.

Thus, he says, the Czar solemnly agreed to give his people a representative assembly, but his ministers, with his consent, refused to say when or how they would carry out this promise, and they even punished the stupidly-minded who took it seriously. More depressing still is the circumstance that almost every step taken by the authorities since then betokens a tendency bitterly hostile to representative government. Recently, for example, the Czar called upon his subjects to assist him with their advice, and for this purpose expressly permitted them, in his ukase of March 3 to the Senate, to discuss the most precious of all the promised reforms, liberty of conscience, has also been nullified in a similar way. Though it is ostensibly allowable for a man to leave the orthodox church yet the members of other sects are forbidden to induce or help him to leave, so that if a clergyman of any other church receives a convert from the orthodox communion he is open to prosecution and heavy punishment, while the convert would be severely dealt with as a witness whose status in Russia may be made as bad as the prisoner's. As the writ phrases it: "It is like telling a man he may travel from New York to Buffalo on condition that he does not pass through the intermediary space."

The more recent promises of representative chamber, plans for which are ostensibly being framed now, has no more chance of fulfillment than these says Dr. Dillon. And since governmental reforms are impossible under the present regime and since the people are determined to have those reforms, he sees no way out but by revolution. Indeed he holds those frantic struggles at Loda, at Liban, on board the Kniaz Potemkin as not the prelude of the revolution but a part of it. All that is needed for its success is a rallying centre, and that, he thinks, will be provided when the zemstvo delegates carry out their expressed intention—if the Czar fails to convene a representative assembly in a few weeks—of forming provisional boards of government for the provinces.

Of the result he has no doubts. In the face of the coalition of all the intelligent classes at home and shut out from further aggrandisement abroad, absolutism, he declares, is doomed; possibly the end will come within the year.

St. John carmen feel that they have been badly treated at the Sydney races. While we believe the North Stars to be the better crew, the decision which gave them the race was hardly fair to St. John.—Halifax Echo.
The Echo has as much ground for its opinion that the North Stars are the better crew as it has for the belief that Halifax is fitted to be a winter port. Leaving the unfortunate mixup at the turning buoy out of the question, the fact remains that the Carleton crew were in the lead by about six lengths before the turn and had rounded for home before their opponents needed a buoy. Does that look as if the Halifax crew were the better?

A new word has been coined. The Macleod Gazette refers to the distribution of constituencies in Alberta as the "disgraceful Olivermander." Ettridge Gerry, once Governor of Massachusetts, will now lose to the Canadian Minister of the Interior, the unenviable distinction of having given rise to the word that stands for party trickery in arranging the boundaries of constituencies. A gerrymander has become that word's thing an Olivermander.—Winnipeg Telegram.

It is said that Mr. Parmalee, deputy minister of trade and commerce, will be superannuated, and that his place will be taken by Mr. P. C. O'Hara, who is a connection of Sir Richard Cartwright. Mr. O'Hara is already in the public service. As Sir Richard has no relatives left without office, there is nothing now to be done for the family but increase their pay.—Sun.

DUFFY WILL RETIRE.

World's Champion Sprinter, Home After Record Breaking Tour, Announces His Intention to Leave the Track.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Arthur F. Duffy, champion sprinter of the world who recently returned from a successful trip abroad has decided to retire from the cinder path, says the Herald. His reason for retiring is that he has had his day and that he would rather retire when at the height of his fame than wait until defeated.

While abroad Duffy won two new championships and established three world's records for short distance events. His best performance was his victory over G. A. Wigman, the Australian one hundred yard champion, who had not been defeated before in years. Duffy also took the measure of Macpherson of New Zealand.

In speaking of his trip to New Zealand Duffy says that the runners there were started as horses are at the race track in this country. Every runner has to step into his partition with a barrier across his breast and when everything is ready the starter snaps it. About Australian runners Duffy says they are slow to begin but once under way there are no faster men in the world.

Of English runners he says: "Let them once master a quick start and there will be no sprinters in the world who will have anything on them. It is now there is no question in my mind and my victories away from home would tend to show it, that the Yankee short distance men are, as a class, as much superior to the English as the English distance runners are superior to the Americans."

ELECTRIC EGGS.

Dr. Oiler's age theory will have no chance at all when the invention recently perfected by George J. Foster, of Alameda, comes into general use, says a San Francisco telegram to the Chicago Record-Herald. Experiments with barnyard fowls have convinced him that eggs, properly electrified, constitute theelixir of life, and are, in fact, coils of wire are laid around the nests in his henhouse, and the current turned on when the hens went to lay. It is said when the eggs act like a tonic. By careful selection Mr. Foster has bred a race of fowls endowed with electric properties from birth.

The Natural History Society's outing at Dr. Hay's cottage at Inneside on Saturday was a great success. The visitors were shown around the neighborhood and during the afternoon a number of addresses were given. It is understood that the suit for damages on account of alleged statements in Dr. Hay's financial position, against W. H. Murray and J. Fraser Gregory, has been dropped at the instance of Mr. Russell.

SIR HENRY MORGAN, BUCCANEER

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY.

Author of "The Southerners," "For Lo... of Country," "The Gipsy of Honor," Etc

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Sir Henry Morgan, a notorious buccaneer, who had been knighted by King Charles II. and made vice-governor of Jamaica, was deposed by King James and ordered under arrest. Morgan admitted the two officers who came to take him, slew them and made his escape. With the help of one Benjamin Hornigold, a former assistant in his piracy, he collected a gang of a hundred out-throats in Port Royal and announced his intention of holding the black flag again. Hornigold actively aided him because he hoped in this way to get Morgan in his power and exact a horrible revenge for his brother when the old buccaneer had hanged. The last chapter told Morgan and his gang on board the British warship Mary Rose, which they had just seized in Port Royal Harbor.

"Silence!" roared the captain. "We are not yet free! Back to your stations! Stand by the harbor batteries!"

At that time the entrance to the harbor was very narrow, and the channel "The King will triumph!"

swept close under the Port Royal shore. Everybody in the town knew that something had happened on the frigate. The garrison of the fort was out, and the guns were loaded and bore fair upon the channel. Softly, for they were within earshot distance of the fort, Morgan passed the word to train the guns at the battery on the parapet of the fort. He also told off all the men with snuff arms to line the side, with instructions for them to fire at the portholes of the fort as they passed, and he charged every one under pain of death to keep all fast until he gave the word. Hornigold beat all his mind to getting the ship safely out of the harbor. Five or three reliable men were stationed in the gangway, whose sole business it was to repeat his commands without fail during the confusion, no matter what happened. They were right in the entrance now and coming opposite the fort. The men below were still keeping up a great noise, but a hail which came across the water from the rampart was entirely audible, the distance not being more than half pistol shot. "Hello, the Mary Rose! Hello, the frigate!"

"Aye, aye! What is it?" "Where are you going? Where's Lord Carlingford?"

There was no answer. The rapidly moving ship was fairly abreast the fort now. In thirty seconds she would be beyond it.

"We have killed the governor and his companions, and this is the ship of Sir Henry Morgan, bound for the Spanish main on a buccaneering cruise. Fire!"

A perfect hail of shot at point blank range belched forth from the twenty-four guns of the harbor battery of the onrushing ship. In the surprise and confusion caused by this murderous discharge at short range the frigate slipped by, and, although every gun in the fort, whether it bore or not, was really discharged by the infuriated seamen, no serious damage was done to the ship. Here and there a man fell.

"Searing an effective musketry and pistol fire upon the surprised garrison, the frigate slipped through the channel. Before the cannon could be reloaded they were out of range. There before them lay the open sea, bounded to the southward by the rich and unprotected coves of the Spanish main.

"We're out of the harbor, sir," cried Hornigold, coming aft to where Morgan stood triumphant on the poop.

"That's well!" said the commander. "Secure the guns and muster the crew. We'll divide into watches and bear away to the southward."

"Long live Sir Henry Morgan, King of the buccaneers!" cried a voice out of the darkness, and amid a tremendous roar of cheers the vessel swept away.

CHAPTER V. TEN days after her departure from Port Royal the Mary Rose was tumbling southward before a gentle breeze through the blue and languid seas.

Match had happened in the interval. In the first place, Morgan had organized and drilled the ship's crew relentlessly. With the aid of the five principal adventurers, whom he had constituted his lieutenants, he had brought the motley crowd which he had shipped into a state of comparative efficiency and of entire subjection to his iron will. The co-operative principle which had been the mainspring of action as well as the which produced unity among the brethren of the coast had ceased to be regarded so far as Morgan was concerned. He took care, however, to be upon fairly amicable terms with the officers in command and the veterans, though he treated the rest of the ruffian-like dogs they were. They murmured and raged, but did not revolt, although it was quite possible if he pushed them too far and they found a leader they might...

IN accordance with Morgan's advice, after deliberation between Morgan and the leaders, the Mary Rose had first run up to La Vaca Island, south of Hispaniola, and the number of original marauders had been increased by fifty volunteers, all those, indeed, who could be recruited from the small pirates who made that delightful spot their rendezvous. In addition to those the crew had also been reinforced largely from those of the unpaid and discontented seamen and soldiers of the frigate who had happened to be under hatches the night of the capture. Presented with the choice of instant death or adherence to the band, most of them had accepted the latter alternative, although, to their great credit be it said, not until one or two of the loyal veterans who had hotly refused to have anything to do with their ruffianly captors had been forced to walk the plank as an example to the rest should they prove recalcitrant. Farly through terror, partly through discontent, partly on account of promises of the great reward awaiting them, speciously urged by Morgan himself, for he could talk as well as he could fight, and most of all, because even at that date it was considered a meritorious act to attack a Spaniard, some seventy cast in their lot with the rest.

Among the 220 members of the heterogeneous crew so constituted were to be found natives of almost every race under the sun, even including one or two Spanish renegades, and it would be safe to say that the lowest and meanest representatives of the several races were assembled on that very ship. The officers and men who had been recruited from Isla La Vaca as well as the older original members of the crew of the Mary Rose, together with a select few of the remainder, were men of approved courage. The officers, indeed, bore reputations for hardihood and daring not to be surpassed. Most of the rest, however, were arrant cowards. As a body the band could not compare except in leadership with the former bands of buccaneers.

Morgan himself, however, almost made up for all deficiencies. His eye was as keen, his hand as steady, his soul as reckless and his skill as high as any he had had the greatest buccaneer fleet that had ever assembled on the famous Panama expedition. Everybody on the ship hated him except young Teach and the faithful Black Dog. But they all feared him as much as they hated him, and they admired him as much as they feared him.

So far as he was concerned, discipline was absolute. No admiral of the fleet was ever served more promptly and respectfully than he. Even his nearest associates were treated with a certain haughtiness, which they bitterly resented and which they would have called in question had the situation been other than it was. Truth to tell, influenced by Hornigold, they had embarked upon a mad enterprise, and they needed Morgan to bring it to a successful conclusion. Without him the slender coherence which already existed would fall and anarchy would be the state upon the ship. So long as they remained together it was certain that Morgan would lead them on some successful surprise, and they might get some reward for their risks and crimes. In his safety lay their safety.

The ship, however, was a floating colony of suspicion, treachery and hatred. Morgan himself never appeared without being loaded with weapons, not for bravado, but for use should occasion arise, and his back was always protected by the silent and gigantic maroon, whom the sailors, catching the title from those who had known him of old, referred to with malignant hatred as Black Dog. That was a name indeed, which the tactful half breed rather rejoiced in than resented. Morgan had been able to awaken love in no hearts except those of young Teach, whose feeling was admiration rather than affection, and this half breed maroon. Whether it was from his black African mother or from his fierce red Carib father that he inherited the quality of devotion was not apparent. Devoted he had been and devoted he remained.

There was one among the officers Morgan was sure of and upon whom he could depend in an emergency, and that was young Teach. He had fastened him by unusual marks of kindness, and alone among the officers this fellow did not seem to cherish the rancor and suspicion of the others. He was too young to have experienced a betrayal, as had the rest. This was his Royal Household Flour must be better than all other flours. We will not be satisfied to even share the honors of first place. THIS assertion is not made through any selfish desire to deprive other millers of their right position; but we know that our facilities for producing THE BEST FLOUR are beyond contradiction the finest in Canada. Ours are the only mills where flour is scientifically purified while in the course of being ground, and if you could see the dirt that we take out, and then think of what others must of necessity leave in, you would not long hesitate as to which is best for your stomach. YELLOW FEVER IN NEW YORK. One Death and Nineteen Suspects—Eight Deaths and 28 New Cases at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6.—Yellow fever report up to 6 o'clock p. m. New cases today, 28; total cases to date, 533. Deaths today, 8; total deaths to date, 165.

Today's report is interpreted by the authorities here as encouraging, particularly as there were only two new deaths, one up town and one down town. It is estimated there are now 232 cases under treatment. The marine hospital service has not yet assumed control of the situation, but it is expected to do so tomorrow. The condition precedent to their assumption, that the citizens of New Orleans pledge themselves to put up $250,000 to defray the cost of labor and material, has been met and Surgeon White is in momentary expectation of receiving the formal order from Surgeon General Wyman to take charge.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—One man died of yellow fever at New York detention hospital at quarantine today. The third case of yellow fever discovered on ships entering New York this summer and the second death. There are at quarantine nineteen other persons who were taken off ships because their temperatures were higher than the degree fixed for yellow fever suspects used in examining the ships which enter New York. Only two of these persons are from New Orleans. All except one of the others are from the Panama district.

TRAIN HIT TROLLEY CAR. CLEVELAND, Aug. 6.—The fast Pittsburg flier, No. 560, on the Cleveland and Pittsburg R. R. crashed into an east-bound St. Clair street car at 9:30 o'clock tonight, killing a child instantly and fatally injuring six people, while fifteen others sustained injuries. The accident happened without a warning, as the conductor had just crossed the railroad tracks to see that the line was clear and had thrown a safety derailer switch to permit the car to pass.

SUSPECTED MURDER AT MONTREAL. MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—As a result of the body of Dorion Mitchell, a middle-aged man, being found on Lake St. Louis on Saturday morning, Charles Kernish, Mrs. Kernish and Mrs. Charles Girard, her sister, are under arrest, charged with being concerned in his death. The four had been picnicking, and it is said a quarrel ensued between Mitchell and Kernish, during which the latter was smashed over the head with a bottle and then thrown in the water. This the prisoners deny, saying Mitchell fell in the water, and the wounds on the head were caused by his falling on rocks.

THE DELINEATOR FOR SEPTEMBER. The earliest creations of autumn are attractively set forth in the September Delineator, along with the fashion commentaries and prophesies of Helen Berkeley-Loyd, Edouard La Fontaine and other authorities in the world of styles, and there is much in the numbering of interest from other than the standpoint of fashion. Mrs. Mary Hinman Abel contributes an article on the pure food question. It is the first of a series and opens the discussion by outlining the part of the consumer, the housewife, in procuring safe foods. N. J. Cornell writes interestingly on English pottery and porcelain in "The Collector's Manual," and Dr. Grace P. Murray has a paper on the child inly by mothers. The hymn "Nearer my God, to Thee," is the subject of a paper by Allan Sutherland. Weyman Bay Mills concludes his "Romances of Summer Resorts," and there is an enjoyable travel sketch, describing and picturing the beautiful Lake District in England. In the way of fiction, the number contains the continuation of Albert Bigelow Paine's serial "The Lucky Piece," and of Helen M. Winslow's new England story, "At Spinsters Farm," and two short stories by Cornelius Atwood Pratt, and Elizabeth McCracken. There are also entertaining pastimes for children, including an animal fairy tale by L. Frank Baum. As usual, many pages are devoted to domestic interests and the particular needs of woman within and without the home.

BLOOMER BASEBALLISTS ARRIVE.

The Star Bloomer Girls are in town and this afternoon are doing battle with the local players on the Victoria grounds. The party arrived this morning in their private car attached to the express from Montreal, and were met at the depot by a large crowd, many of whom had been waiting for an hour.

As the train pulled into the depot the Bloomer Girls band (?) played, but there were no girls in sight, the setting damsels keeping under cover. Their car was switched into the yard, and the crowd followed, as it was expected that they would parade, but the crowd was disappointed.

However, later on the band played a number of selections, and the ladies, in full regalia, drove to the grounds through the prominent streets, followed by a curious crowd, old and young. Arrangements have been completed for a game this evening with the St. Johns on the Victoria grounds, starting at 8 p. m. The ladies' team carry their own lighting plant, and can illuminate the grounds so as to play a game of ball at night just as well as in daytime.

POLICE COURT.

Hamilton Still Unable to Appear Against His Assailant—His Condition Serious—Several Minor Cases.

Quite a large muster of prisoners faced Magistrate Ritchie this morning, as the result of the vigilance of the police during Saturday and Sunday.

Four ordinary drunks were promptly fined $8 with the option of thirty days, and one the same summary penalty, but with double the stay in jail.

George Patterson, who was given in charge on Saturday evening for using abusive language on Mrs. Joseph McAfee, on Brussels street, was remanded for the attendance of the latter.

Laura Byron, twenty-one years of age, who came out of jail on Thursday last, after doing six months, was remanded on a variety of charges.

On Saturday evening he was on Brussels street, when he saw Laura surrounded by a crowd. Someone took her through an alley into Waterloo street, where she turned the air blue with her sultry language. He arrested her, but owing to her violent behavior had to call on a young fellow for assistance.

The latter, however, refused to aid him, but a volunteer in the shape of Percy Magee came forward, but was badly bitten on the hand by the prisoner, who was behaving like a tigress. Eventually she was got to the station, followed by a crowd of men, women and children.

Laura pleaded guilty to being drunk, but she has not been made against her, viz: drunkenness, profanity, resisting the police and biting Mr. Magee.

The case of aggravated assault against Frank McDermott was mentioned by D. Mullin, K. C., on behalf of the police, who reported that the injured man was not nearly well enough to attend the court yet. It was stated that Mr. Hamilton had passed a very bad night, being delirious and suffering much pain. It is hoped to take the case on Wednesday.

The case of assault on the person of Mrs. McDermott was in court this morning and got permission to have an interview with her husband in the jail.

Jas. Linn, on remand, was fine $8 or two months for using obscene language to Michael Harty at his store on Brussels street. The fine was, however, allowed to stand.

A case that caused a great deal of amusement was that brought against a member of the Hebrew persuasion, Harris Gilbert, who keeps a store on Mill street, by a Syrian, William Beate by name. It appears that Beate, who was in Gilbert's store last Saturday morning and wanted to buy some glassware. Mr. Gilbert promptly laid out a large stock of his ware on the counter.

Something was then said about jewelry, and the elated Hebrew quickly produced some specimens of "shoolery," which, added to the glassware, made quite a respectable showing. The Jew then pressed the Syrian to make him an order as the stock was not large. After carefully weighing them for a few seconds the latter made the magnificent offer of ten cents for the lot.

The Jew was speculating at the man's colossal impudence, but when he recovered himself, he promptly told the man to go to a warmer climate, ordered him out of the store and followed this up by calling him some very pretty names. The man went, but meeting Officer Scott told him all about it, with the result that the officer went to the shop and advised the man to apply to the magistrate. The honor facetiously remarked that after being told to go to hell, the officer recommended the man to go to the magistrate.

Mr. Gilbert denied using the expressions attributed to him, and said the Syrian came into his shop and made fun of him, calling him among other things, "Christ-killer," and "a dirty sheehey." The witness said, "If I had been a stronger man I would have given him a kicking."

Officer Scott was not quite sure he heard Mr. Gilbert tell the complainant to go to the place described, so his honor dismissed the case.

YACHT RUN INTO AND SUNK. A yachting accident, that created considerable excitement on the river a short time ago came very nearly being a fatality of unusual proportions. The yacht "Suns Scout" of Rothesay with Messrs. Brock and Davidson, Mrs. Brock, Misses Brock and Miss G. Robertson was run into, through a series of unavoidable circumstances by the tug "Hero" of Oak Point. The cruising craft began to fill and it was with difficulty the ladies were gotten safely to shore. While the "Suns Scout" was being hauled aboard the Hero's raft the ladies were cared for at a nearby house. Fortunately the accident did not result as it might have done, for the collision made considerable breakage.

OTTO MULLIN SLOWLY IMPROVING. Otto Mullin, son of George W.
