

MEAGRE REPORTS FROM THE BATTLEFIELD SAY ENEMY STILL UNABLE TO BREAK ALLIES' LINE

FIGHTING CONTINUES FURIOUS ALONG WHOLE BATTLEFRONT IN FRANCE

Curtain Drawn Around Scene of Operations Again and Only Meagre Information From Front—Few Reports Coming Through Show Battle Goes on With Violence Which Has Marked Fighting of Past Four Days—Enemy Has Redoubled Efforts To Break British and French Line But is Again Repulsed and Allies Make Slight Gains.

Furious fighting continues in Northern France where the allied French and British armies at grips with the German forces in what is characterized as the crucial action of the battle of the Aisne. Beyond admitting this fact the official statements are vague. Few details of the struggle which may be the turning point of the western campaign have been given to the waiting public.

One sentence: "There is no change in the situation," epitomizes the official reports from London, Paris and Berlin. The allies claim to have made slight advances here and there, notably in heights of the Meuse. The German official statement, however, declares that "reports concerning a victorious advance of the enemy are untrue." Both the British and the French official statements refer to the violence of the attacks made by the Germans who seem to have redoubled their efforts in an attempt to hurl back the allied line. The reports indicate, however, that the French and British have given no ground before the onslaught of the invaders.

A very rigorous censorship has evidently been imposed at virtually all points, particularly in London, regarding the operations at the front, as very little news is being permitted to come through, the war officials doubtless fearing, first, to raise the hopes of the people without some decisive result having been attained, and, second, that the publication of even the smallest details of the operations might be of aid to the Germans.

RUSSIANS INVEST PRZEMYSL.

Petrograd reports officially that the Austrian stronghold of Przemyśl, in Galicia, is completely invested by the Russians, and that the main Austrian army is retiring behind the Carpathians, into Hungary, pursued by the Russians. Berlin, however, declares that "reports of the fall of two of the Przemyśl forts are inventions."

The Montenegrins, who have allied themselves with the Serbians in the conflict with Austria, are making advances, according to advices. A despatch from Cetinje, Montenegro says that the Montenegrins are within artillery range of Sarajevo, capital of Bosnia.

The Austrian forts at Cattaro, Damatia, on September 19, sunk a big French warship, according to a despatch to the Cologne Gazette. This ship was one of a fleet of eighteen which was met by a Salvo from one of the Austrian forts.

A despatch from Constantinople says that the Dardanelles have been closed to navigation.

The Austrian government had consented to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's securities and money deposited in Vienna, according to reports as well as the company's observation cars running on Austrian railroads. This is the result, it is said, of a refusal of the company to pay the dividend of Austrian shareholders.

Advices received in Paris say that the rapid increase in grain prices in Austria is causing anxiety in official circles. Farmers are holding their supplies for higher prices, and the government proposes to fix a maximum price for this commodity.

For the first time since the war began wireless news circulated by the French government through Eiffel Tower has been received in London. The message detailed the fierce fighting which took place in Northern France between September 28 and 29.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, in outlining the Ulster programme with respect to the home rule bill, has called upon Ulsterites to throw themselves "wholeheartedly into the patriotic action that the time demands in supporting the Empire."

OTTAWA OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

Gov. General, Premier Borden and Sir Wilfred Laurier Address Inaugural Meeting.

NEED FOR ALL HELP CANADA CAN SEND.

Canadian Troops as Fine Body of Men as Any Among Empire's Army, Sir Robert Borden Says.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—An enthusiastic rally, initiating the Ottawa campaign for the Canadian Patriotic Fund was held in the Russell Theatre tonight, when His Royal Highness the Governor-General, Sir Robert Borden, Sir Wilfred Laurier, and Cabinet and ex-Cabinet ministers addressed a huge throng. A cablegram was read from Premier Asquith, wishing success to the meeting. There was a wild burst of applause when His Royal Highness and party entered the theatre. In response to the request of the chairman, Sir Henry Bann, His Royal Highness rose in the Vice-regal box and said:

"It gives me great pleasure to be with you tonight. I hope that my attendance, also that of the Duchess and my daughter, will show you how thoroughly we are in sympathy with the objects which you have brought together on this occasion. "Recently I have had the pleasure, several times, to visit Valcartier, and also to be present at what is perhaps no longer a secret, the embarkation of the Canadian troops. I assure you that they are a fine body of loyal and patriotic Canadians, who are leaving their native land to take their share in the great struggle in which the Empire is now engaged. "You have heard told that every creed and every nationality is represented in this undertaking, and you may be assured that the money subscribed will be carefully devoted to the objects for which it was intended. "The great fault with these siege mortars is that they are not being made throughout Canada, and that not a single one of the dependents of these who had gone to the front would suffer of want. "Sir Robert Borden who was received with cheers said:

All Aid Canada Can Give Will Be Needed. "It is an honor and a privilege to have the opportunity of speaking to you tonight on behalf of the appeal. Continued on page 2.

SLAUGHTER APPALING IN AISNE BATTLE

American Officer Tells of Terrible Efficiency of Modern War Machines—Some Shells Weighing 800 Pounds

Military experts who believe that the great battle of the Aisne, now raging between the forces of the Allies and the German, will decide the outcome of the war, yesterday declared that the slaughter during this, the longest sustained battle in the history of warfare, would startle humanity.

As an evidence of the appalling expertise of the killing machines of both sides, an army officer recently returned from Europe, where he studied military equipment, said:

"Despatches indicate that both the French and Germans are using heavy siege mortars in this battle. How great their destructiveness is remains to be seen after this conflict is ended. The possibilities of the destruction of instruments of destruction defy conception. The 8-inch guns and 11-inch mortars of the Germans, and highly explosive shells, can do incalculable damage."

"The effective range of these siege mortars is from six to nine miles, and they throw a shell capable of piercing armor plate which weighs about eight hundred pounds. The diabolical effect of such a gun, truly found in trench where men are fighting shoulder to shoulder can best be imagined."

"The great fault with these siege mortars is the difficulty of transportation. They must be moved on great platforms over the macadam roads or, probably, the Germans are four tracking the railroads as they move along, thus enabling the artillery forces to mount these enormous pieces of ordnance on two flat cars."

Although he admitted that the losses so far in the war have been enormous and appalling, this officer said he did not believe they were as great as first reports would indicate.

"The despatches reported the destruction of three Russian army corps in Galicia with 120,000 men," he said. "Now that is a physical impossibility. To add to the color of this report, it was said that 70,000 men were captured. Why, at Mukden, in the Russo-Japanese War, only 30,000 men were captured. If twenty per cent. of the forces of one side now battling have been lost, it will be a frightful death toll per cent. loss will make troops give way and retreat to a new vantage point."

"Wounds made today by the bursting shrapnel and chemical coated bits of steel from lyddite shells are more terrible than those of other days."

Speaking of the report that French soldiers smoked and chatted as they killed in bayonet charges, he said: "Drill ground regulations go by the board in real battle. A soldier may do pretty much as he pleases in battle so long as he keeps going toward the enemy. He may smoke, he may drink, if he can get it, and he may curse to his heart's content. It isn't any unusual sight to see American soldiers rolling cigarettes between rifle fire in a battle."

SITUATION IN NORTHERN FRANCE FAVORABLE TO ALLIES, WORD FROM PARIS

GREAT BATTLE IN EASTERN THEATRE SOON

Events Shaping For Decisive Struggle—Kaiser's Generals Paying More Attention to That Section—Have Twenty Two Army Corps on Russian Border.

Special to Standard and London Times Petrograd, Sept. 27.—Since I telegraphed last night important events have occurred on the Russo-German border heralding at no far distant date a great battle in the life and death struggle between the armies of the Kaiser and the Tsar. Recently it became certain that German generals regard the eastern theatre of war as the most important one. A few days ago there were 22 German army corps on this side, whereas there were only 18 in the French and Belgian war zone. Today I am able to supplement this information. Many, if not the majority, of the field corps are concentrated on the Russian border, whereas the armies remaining in France and Belgium are mainly composed of reserve corps.

Moreover it has been ascertained beyond a doubt that the Kaiser himself has come into East Prussia.

It is in the light of these indisputable facts that the repulse of the German host near Niemen which was recorded last night must be viewed. The events under immediate notice are briefly related by the headquarters' staff as follows: "Fighting with the German troops began on September 25, in the region of Sopokhine and Druskentil. Compared with a previous bulletin, the German advance guards repulsed September 23 on the borders of Suwalki. This information shows that the enemy has moved towards the Niemen more than 25 miles in two days, according to information available at the hour of telegraphing the enemy's advance has been checked. To judge from the speed of his movement and the relatively narrow front of his deployment, which is not exceeding 15 miles. The operations with which General Rennenkampf had to deal in Lithuania, call not of first rate importance.

The question that naturally occurs to military observers is whether the German movement is really for merely a feint. The tendency here is to regard it as a demonstration intended to cover a more important action elsewhere, namely the line between the Kalisz and Carcow.

The absence of a serious objective for the advance from East Prussia has already been pointed out by Russian military writers. An invasion in force from this quarter would obviously weaken the German resistance in the direction of Breslau and would also expose the flank of the invading army while the absence of the railway facilities would moreover prove a fatal difficulty. On the other hand a mere raid upon the Russian communications would avail little because it could not go beyond the interruption of the Warsaw railway, causing an unimportant delay. Russia disposes such an array of forces on the Austro-German front that no diversions or demonstrations will wrest the initiative from her hands. The division of the German army's strength cannot be remedied by any conceivable plans. Russia is confident that her allies will continue the game so well begun."

man known throughout the United States and Canada, were poisoned in their stalls in this city today. Vereland and Arran are dead, but the life of Jim L., the least valuable of the three was saved.

LITTLE GIRL SENDS THANKS TO CANADIANS

Writes Letter to Government Expressing Appreciation of Dominion's Gift of Flour.

Special to The Standard Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 28.—The government has received the following touching letter from a little English girl, Marjorie Robertson of Wandsworth Common, London.

"It is with most grateful appreciation that I write to thank you on behalf of my country for the handsome gift of flour you have so generously sent us, which is most welcome. We most heartily thank you not only for the gift but for the kind thought and your action in the time of war. It is nice to feel that your Dominion remembers the mother country in such a nice way."

French and British Continue To Hold Firm Against Terrible Onslaughts of Germans Who Have Kept Up Attacks Almost Continuously For Four Days—British, Almost At Mouth of Enemy's Cannon, Fight Hand-to-Hand with Germans—French Troops Bearing Their Share of the Fighting.

Bulletin—Paris, Sept. 28, 11:08 p. m.—The following official communication was issued tonight: "First—On our left wing the reports on the situation are favorable. "Second—On the centre our troops have successfully withstood new and very violent attacks. We have made some slight progress on the heights of the Meuse. In the Woerwe region a thick fog has caused a suspension of operations. "Third—On our right wing (Lorraine and the Vosges) there has been no change in the situation.

French and British on the left wing have repulsed for days the attacks of the Germans who have been endeavoring to take the allied positions by assault. Word from the front describes the encounters. On one occasion the French and British held positions within a quarter of a mile from the German front, where they were not in danger from the heavy German artillery and were sheltered from the machine guns unless they came into the open.

One of the most furious German assaults turned upon the trenches occupied by British regiments, which, with admirable coolness, awaited the onslaughts of line after line of Germans, meeting them with sustained rifle and machine gun fire and some times at the point of the bayonet, which did great execution.

The centre of the battle line today became the scene of heavy fighting. Here the Germans have most of their big guns, and they also brought much infantry into action. But their efforts proved ineffectual.

The vigor and spirit of the soldiers were remarkable after such an exhaustion campaign, during which they have scarcely had a full day's rest.

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 28, 6:21 p. m.—An official despatch from Petrograd says that Przemyśl, in Galicia, is now entirely invested by the Russians, and that the main Austrian army is retiring behind the Carpathians.

Dardanelles Closed. London, Sept. 28, 11:15 p. m.—The Dardanelles have been closed to navigation, according to a despatch from Constantinople to Reuter's Telegram Company. The duration of the closure is not stated.

London, Sept. 28, 10:55 p. m.—A casualty list received from British headquarters at the front, covering losses up to September 24, contains the names of one officer, who was killed, seven who died of wounds, nineteen who are wounded and ten who are missing. These missing men had previously been reported as wounded.

Greater Part of Maubeuge Burned by Germans. Paris, Sept. 28, 11:15 p. m.—A resident of Maubeuge who had been made prisoner but later escaped states that Maubeuge was three-quarters burned by the Germans. The forts resisted for a long time the assaults of forty thousand men.

London, Sept. 28, 2:50 a. m.—The operators of a German Zeppelin dirigible dropped a bomb into a school house at Bielsostok, Russia yesterday killing eleven children, according to a despatch from Petrograd to the Morning Post.

When not actually engaged in fighting many of the regiments have marched thirty miles daily for several days when changing positions in order to carry out new movements.

The reason for the recent determined attacks by the Germans along the Somme is credited in French military circles to the desire of the newly appointed German generals, who have taken the places of those removed by #### emperor to carry out some daring exploit.

The battlefield on the Somme seems to have been made by nature for such a formidable conflict. The country is undulating, and in some places with out woods. The lower parts offer splendid covering for troops approaching to attack. This advantage, however, has been rendered to a great extent without avail owing to the number of aeroplanes in use on both sides.

The centre of the battle line today became the scene of heavy fighting. Here the Germans have most of their big guns, and they also brought much infantry into action. But their efforts proved ineffectual.

Berlin Denies Allies' Successes. London, Sept. 28, 9:40 p. m.—A wireless despatch to the Marconi Company from Berlin gives the following official statement issued in the German capital today: "There is no change in the situation at any of the theatres of war and reports concerning a victorious advance of the enemy are untrue. "Reports of the fall of two of the Przemyśl forts are inventions. "The Austrian government alleges that Russian troops have been using dum-dum cartridges, and in the course of their protest they remarked that it is not at present the intention of the commander-in-chief of the Austro-Hungarian army to adopt reprisals."

OPENING NIGHT BIG SUCCESS

Thompson-Woods Stock Company Commenced Its Winter Season in Strong Production.

With "everything new but the name" the Thompson-Woods Stock Company opened the winter season in the Opera House, last evening in a production of the New York success, "Bought and Paid For." Both company and play merited and received the approval of a large audience.

Of course it is not possible to judge the calibre or quality of a stock company by one performance or one play; they require to be seen in a range of parts to establish reputation for versatility, the most important requisite of an organization which purports to make an extended visit. If they do as well in the bills which are to come as they did in their opening performance, then it is safe to say that St. John will be pleased with the players who will entertain them for the next few months and the company will be satisfied with the patronage accorded to them.

The play chosen for the opening bill holds large opportunities for five members of the cast and smaller ones for two others. In every case these were embraced intelligently. There were slight traces of nervousness not surprising in an opening performance, and the audience was quite as critical as the usual St. John audience. Consequently the company did not receive as much applause as they merited on at least two occasions during the evening when they did really high class work.

Miss Lois Howell, the leading lady of the company, has the great advantage of a very pleasing stage presence and a delightfully modulated voice. She reads her lines with expression and understanding and in her emotional scenes with Mr. Dimock showed ability of a quality that leads one to expect much from her during the engagement. In the second and third acts, the big scenes of the play, she did her best work, but she was pleasing throughout.

Mr. Dimock, the director of the company, had the leading male role that of Robert Stafford, the man who marries out of his social circle. In his lighter scenes Mr. Dimock was very much the man and when occasion required it, considerable of a brute. He played throughout with an artistic restraint and achieved effects without appearing to reach for them. This quality, an admirable one in a good actor, was particularly in evidence in the third act where less capable handling would have "slopped" the part.

Mr. Howard who will take leads in most of the bills was out of his line in the role of Jimmy Gilley, a light comedy part, but he did it well and invested the character with all the smug self-satisfaction the author intended. He is easy and natural and should prove successful.

Miss Florence Chapman is a delightful ingenue; in the role of Fanny she was vivacious and capable. In the last act there might have been just a shade of overdoing, but this was more than offset by consistently good work in the remainder of the piece. Frank McDonald as Oki gave a character study of a Japanese valet which has not been approached here since the production of the Typhoon by the King Lynch players a couple of years ago. He had but a bit but he did that bit very well.

Miss Ida Parks and Frank Hayes were seen in minor parts, the former as a French maid, when she read her lines in French with perfect accent and tone inflection. The piece was well staged and appropriately dressed. As stated at the outset, it is not possible to judge of the merit of a stock company from one performance, but to say that last evening's production was equal to the best of last season's offerings is but to accord a just meed of praise. If the future offerings will rank with "Bought and Paid For," then there need be no doubt as to the success of the engagement. "Bought and Paid For" will be the attraction all week with a Wednesday matinee. It is a strong, well written play, and comes with all the prestige of a prolonged New York run. Even without New York's approval it is worth seeing, as it is a clever play, well produced.

for the Canadian National Patriotic Fund. Throughout Canada a splendid and generous response is being made to that appeal, and we must see to it that the capital is well to the fore in the honor list. No one can foresee the duration of the tremendous struggle in which our Empire is now engaged, but it is certain that all the aid which the generosity and patriotism of the Canadians can supply, will in all probability be needed.

Indigestion and Headaches

Arising from Constipation, Cured and Regular Habits Established by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.
In the western Provinces, where so many thousands live far from doctors and drug stores, very many rely on Dr. Chase's medicines to cure disease and maintain health and strength. This letter gives some idea of what perfect control Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills exert over the most common ills of life.
"Mrs. H. K. Hewer, farmer's wife, Eastport, Alta., writes:—'For about ten years I suffered from constipation, indigestion, headache and languid feelings. Treatment from two or three doctors afforded only temporary relief, so I turned to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and with most satisfactory results. Headaches have disappeared, regular habits established and general health very much better. Both my husband and I can speak highly of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as we have both been greatly benefited by them. with no spirit of pride; with no boast of our might or of our resources, we have engaged in this war as a solemn duty without which this empire could not have continued to exist, save with dishonor. We believe that the course which Canada should follow, the course which duty and honor place before her is absolutely plain, and we purpose to pursue it."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier
Sir Wilfrid Laurier voted his admiration of the splendid way in which Canada had come forward to "as sacred a cause as ever men fought and died for."

He continued:
"It is not without pride that I find today my compatriots coming to the government and asking permission to raise a French-Canadian regiment. I may tell you, for after all, blood is thicker than water, that I was deeply moved when I learned that the government had granted the prayer of that deputation."

He was sure that on the field of battle these French-Canadian would do their share well to uphold liberty and justice.

Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, ex-Minister of Labor, also spoke.

NO TRACE YET OF MISSING HOULTON GIRL

Boston, Sept. 27.—The mystery of a young woman's disappearance has temporarily shifted its scene from Presque Isle, Me., from which 17-year-old Mildred Sullivan, one of the town belles, has been missing since September 2, to this city. A physician and two women were arrested yesterday, charged with being fugitives from Maine justice, accused of performing a criminal operation on the Sullivan girl.

Aroostook county is deeply stirred over the case and the county officials co-operated with the Boston police in the arrests. The county officers in Maine are doing their utmost to find some trace of the missing girl, who, it is feared, is dead.

Dr. Lionel E. Dudley, 36 years old, of Presque Isle; Alice Pelletier, 22 years old, and Etta Pelletier, 24 years old, are the persons under arrest in this city. The physician is accused as a principal, and the two women as accessories. They were arrested on statutory charges September 24, the physician and Alice Pelletier being released on $500 bail and Etta Pelletier being held at Charles street jail in default of bail.

Dudley was arrested in a house on Warren avenue yesterday by Detective Sergt. Will Irwin, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Martin Lewis and County Attorney Bernard Archibald, of Houlton, Me.

Alice Pelletier Arrested.
After arresting the doctor, Sergt. Irwin learned that Alice Pelletier had an appointment with the physician at the Crawford House, where the officers found the woman and arrested her. The police say four glass tubes were found upon her, two wrapped in paper and two others concealed in a handkerchief. These tubes, the police say, contained strychnine, morphine and cocaine.

The physician said the missing Sullivan girl had been to see him at his office in Presque Isle, but denied having performed any illegal operation, or being anything to do with such a matter. The two women denied having seen the missing girl at all. The warrants issued in Maine charged an illegal operation performed on Sept. 2. A few days after that the Sullivan girl considered one of the prettiest and most attractive in all Aroostook county, went to the home of a Mr. Elias Southard to live, spending much of her time there in her own room. It is reported from Houlton that her father saw her at the Southard home and saw with her a young French girl.

After being three days at the Southard home, Miss Sullivan, wrapped in a blanket and in a serious condition, was taken, the police say, in a public carriage to the home of the Pelletier woman, since when all trace of the girl was lost.

Telegram to the Mether
Some days later Mrs. George Sullivan, the girl's mother, received a telegram dated North Station, Boston, purporting to be from the missing girl, stating that she was in Boston and well. The original of this telegram has been sent to Houlton, and Mrs. Sullivan, after carefully examining the telegram, stated positively that it was not in the girl's handwriting.

About a week and a half ago, Dr. Dudley and the Pelletier woman took rooms in a house on Warren avenue, this city, where they were arrested on statutory charges. Aroostook county authorities learned of the arrests here and immediately got into communication with the Boston police.

The three prisoners will be arraigned this morning and will probably be taken to await trial at once. Aroostook county authorities believe that, if they will, the prisoners can do much toward solving the mystery of the girl's whereabouts.

Miss Sullivan left her home originally to attend the fair at Presque Isle, where young Briggs was working at the time. After the fair Briggs disappeared and the Maine authorities are looking for him.

Miss Sullivan's disappearance has become the chief topic of conversation in Houlton and surrounding towns. Pictures of her have been sent broadcast throughout the country and the police of New England requested to watch for her. At Presque Isle an active search is being prosecuted on the theory that the girl is dead and her body disposed of.

The rooms in this city occupied by the prisoners were searched after the arrests, but the police deny having discovered anything of value in solving the mystery.—Boston Globe.

out other inconvenience than delay due to movements of troop trains.

Most of the regular routes—Dieppe, Flushing, Calais, Ostend, Havre and Boulogne are open but owing to mines strewn by German vessels, Channel boats have only been allowed to cross by day.

The Flushing boat trains have brought hundreds of German Americans, some of whom can hardly speak a word of English. Their passports have been closely examined at the ports of entry and all incoming travellers have had to submit to a strict medical examination.

London, in fact, has become the one great City of Refuge for Europe and all Americans and refugees of all types, whose origins are to be found in all the nations of the Continent, are flying from the devastations and trials of the war.

How varied are the types of these American citizens can only be realized by those constantly meeting boat-trains. The Relief Committee Workers have had to help German, Austrian, Belgian, French, Polish, Roumanian and Russian Americans and North American Indians, a picturesque party in full war costume, whose trials and privations after touring in Austria with a German circus, have been related in previous despatches.

Only two days ago a Galician, who has been an American citizen for over twenty years, arrived with his wife and her child. He had gone to Galicia to marry her and the woman and child arrived clad in their artistic national costume, top boots and all. The measures taken by the Relief Committee to deal with those without money have been admirable.

IMPERIAL'S BUDGET OF HITS!

Every Item an Immense Success Yesterday!

People Held Spellbound
The gripping force of the wonderful Viagraph three-reel social melodrama "Shadows of the Past" made the people sit spellbound every performance. It was actually a repetition of "A Million Bids" experiences. These are the pictures that have been making the Imperial famous among critical playgoers. Last showings today and tonight.

May Maxfield's 'Nut' Stuff
You have heard of the new crazy kind of vaudeville called "Nut Stuff"? Well, that's what pretty little kittenish May Maxfield is pulling in the clever singing and dancing skit "The Manicure and the Traveller," with Harry Mott, the good-looking big baritone.

Elsa Marie Is Brilliant
A high-class dramatic soprano of the true operatic type. Dresses exquisitely and sings appealingly. Her Valise Brillante entitled "Joyous Love" was a rare treat and many more good things of this sort are to come.

War Pictures and Comedy
The Hearst-Selig Weekly will splendid Belgium war scenes as well as world-news in general. There was a Biograph comedy entitled "The Cheeseville Cop"—a scream. Both these reels were unusually interesting on their merits.

UHLANS ARE STALKERS FOR GERMAN ARMY

Rotterdam, Sept. 28.—Concerning the German Uhlans of whom so much has been heard in the European war, Luigi Barzini, a widely known Italian war correspondent, says in the Corriere della Sera: "As we heard a small station and the train lessened its speed we saw a small troop of cavalry guarding the railroad crossing—at patrol of Uhlans. Their demeanor was calm. Though they were in the enemy's country, their careful attitude gave the impression that they were merely in a manoeuvre camp."

ENEMY'S CRUISERS HAVE DESTROYED TWELVE BRITISH VESSELS

King John after an unsuccessful attempt to reach the English coast, advanced to surround the English without any attempt at manoeuvring on a narrow front that neutralized the superiority of his numbers. He also dismounted all his men-at-arms except those of the front rank, and now supported by a corps of archers, the horsemen soon outdistanced the crossbow men, their advance marching time to get away he took a defensive position between the Poitiers-Bordeaux road and the River Maunson.

He Used Dr. Chase's Ointment for Protruding Piles With Splendid Results. Too often a doctor can only think of an operation when asked for a treatment for piles. ## THE WAR SITUATION.

Judging from despatches, the great battle of the Aisne is nearing the stage where it must be decisive. The news of yesterday from the war zone was not at all discouraging; on the contrary it held hope that success would rest with the Allies. The German attempts to break through the lines have apparently failed while the British and French troops are reported to have made further gains.

An important factor in the battle, and one which must grow in importance with each day of fighting, is the British quality of soldiers. Well drilled and well armed soldiers can make a brilliant showing in a battle of short duration, even if they lack the force to carry it on to a successful conclusion. It requires men of the traditional steadfastness of the British troops, however, to continue a fight as long as the battle of the Aisne has kept up, without signal success to either side. The men who can press forward time and again, after being forced back by a powerful enemy, are the men who must win in a struggle where as much depends upon resolution as in the present case. So far the Allies appear to have the advantage in this respect; they do not recognize reverse.

It is stated that the Germans are fighting with the desperation of men who realize that upon the outcome of this battle will depend much of the success or failure of the future campaign. Men in such condition may do deeds of valor which will redound greatly to their credit, but desperation does not always win battles. History teaches that confidence and steadiness have turned the scale more often than the desperation of a forlorn hope or a lost cause.

The next few days should produce results of decisive character. In the report of Sir John French it was stated that the German forces included the reserves; this being the case it can readily be seen how terribly the heavy loss of life must be telling on the Kaiser's armies. If, as reported, they have the further enemy of disease to cope with their plight is difficult indeed. Faced by a resolute and unbending foe on the battle line, ravaged by disease in their camps, and with the country behind them disaffected and sullen at the sacrifices of the war, the Germans should fight with desperation.

The reports indicating that Italy and Roumania intend to take an active part in the struggle have been revived during the past day or two. Should they prove to be correct, the armies arrayed against Germany would be increased by two powerful and efficient fighting forces. It is not improbable that one of the first actions of Italy after a declaration of war might be to strike across Austria and into the heart of Germany. Her task would be no more difficult than that of the Russians, and if an Italian army should cross the Alps, or following a naval attack upon Trieste, strike through the Austrian provinces at the same time that the Russians were engaging Austrian troops on the other front, one or the other of the armies must soon find the road to the important German cities open before them. It would be a glorious stroke if, while the Russians were advancing upon Berlin, an Italian force could close on Munich and the other Bavarian cities. Such an operation might be expected to bring the war to a speedy termination—if it is not almost too good to be hoped for.

Whether Italy decides to join with the Allies or to retain her neutrality the situation is considerably improved. There must be a decisive result soon in the operations of the Russian and French and British forces. There is no reason to expect that it will be other than favorable to the cause for which the Empire is fighting.

A WISE POLICY.

That Canadians will now be able to get the very best qualities of Canadian fruit, principally apples, is a condition for which the European war is largely responsible. Hitherto the excellence of Canadian apples has been recognized to such an extent in Britain that the demand for the best qualities has been very large and the apple growers have found no difficulty in disposing of the best of their stock at fancy prices. Consequently the prime product has been exported while the home market has been forced to content itself with an article of lower quality.

Canadian apple shipments have been an important factor of our export trade. Great Britain and Europe welcome the luscious products of the Canadian orchards and they have fixed upon them as the standards of quality for their apple exporters. The war has interfered with this business and it has become necessary for the Canadian orchardist to find another market for his product. In this the Government has taken a hand and it is the intention that the Government will expend the money necessary to tell the purchasing public in Canada of the opportunity which awaits them as the result of conditions in Europe.

In deciding upon this action the Government has acted not only in the interests of the fruit growers but of the fruit purchasers as well. There can be no doubt that the Canadian purchasers of apples will learn with approval of the Government's decision, as it will give them an opportunity to obtain a better quality of their favorite fruit. Apple growers will also endorse it as they will be provided with a market to replace that temporarily lost to them.

The Government in making the opportunity known to the Canadian people will utilize the best of all mediums, the newspapers. This is also good business. Private firms, catering for trade, first stock their stores with a good article and then advertise it. The stores of the Canadian fruit grower are already stocked with the finest of all fruit and the only thing now necessary is to tell prospective purchasers of the quality bargains in store for them. The decision of the Government to take upon itself this task will be generally commended. By their action they not only ensure to the fruit grower a good market for his product, but they will assist the Canadian public in securing a better article than that with which they have been forced to be satisfied in the past.

As it is with apples, so it may be in other lines. Canadian export trade must suffer to some extent because of the chaotic condition into which Europe has been plunged and the closing of ordinary avenues of trade. If it can be found that the home market can be developed to assimilate the products formerly exported, then the struggle across the world may prove to possess for Canada a lasting benefit which will do something to compensate for temporary loss of business. In taking steps along this line the Government has again shown that it is alert and businesslike and worthy of the support of all Canadians who place business welfare ahead of partisan political considerations.

The trial of the young man Braman sufficed to give another young lawyer a chance to rap the moving picture theatre and the censors. Despite his earnest contention that the moving pictures exhibited in St. John serve as an incentive to crime, we venture the opinion that his statement was not fortified by knowledge. The "Movies" are an important source of amusement to a very large section of the community. They are already past the experimental stage and have established their usefulness here and elsewhere. All the oratorical outbursts of juvenile disciples of Blackstone are not likely to interfere with the business of the theatres or to cause the censors to change the methods which appear to be giving very general satisfaction.

St. John theatregoers will welcome the opening of the winter season of stock productions. Last season the Thompson-Woods organization made many friends for themselves by their clever productions of good plays. If last evening's performance may be taken as a criterion then the company which is now with us, under the same ownership, but containing new faces, will prove as popular as its predecessor.

If the report is true that there is a possibility of a New Brunswick unit being sent to the front to supplement the splendid contingent of fighting men which Canada has already contributed then there will be no lack of volunteers. As it is, one unit of the first contingent will bear the flag of New Brunswick and is likely to add lustre to the fair name of this province.

The Kaiser is reported to be suffering from an illness caused by falling into a water-filled trench. If he had to take his place with his men fighting in the water-filled trenches day in and day out, with all the added discomforts of insulative bullets poking about his head, his fierce desire for war might be somewhat assuaged.

Although dwarfed by comparison with events in Europe, the Japanese campaign against the German forces in China is being successfully carried on. The Japs proved their mettle as fighting men some ten years ago, but it is interesting to learn that they have not forgotten the art.

Madame Thobes, the noted French seeress, set November 1st as the date on which the war would cease. It is sincerely to be hoped that she is a good guesser.

Bravo!

(London Daily Mail.)
Kitchener sat in his London den. Silent and grim and grey. Making his plans with an iron pen. Just in Kitchener's way. And he saw where the clouds rose dark and dim. And all that it meant he knew; 'We shall want every man who can shoulder a gun To carry this thing right through!' Bravo, Kitchener! Say what you want, And the world shall know, where our bugles blow. 'We've a man at the head—today!'

Jellcoe rides on the grey north seas. Watching the enemy's lines. Where their lord high admirals skulk at ease. Inside of their hellish mines. They have drunk too deep to the bottom of the fight. They have vowed too mad a vow! What do they think—on the watch-tower tonight?

What are they drinking now? Bravo, Jellcoe! Call them again. And whenever they take the call Show them the way, give them their "Day!" And settle it once for all!

And French is facing the enemy's Stubbornly day by day. Taking the odds and bearing the brunt. Just in the Britisheer's way. And he hears the message that makes him glad. Ring through the smoke and flame! "Fight on, Tommy! Stick to them, lad! Jack's at the same old game!" Bravo, Tommy! Stand as you've stood. And, whether you win or fall, Show them you fight as gentlemen should. And die like gentlemen all!

So Kitchener plans in London Town. French is standing at bay. Jellcoe's ships rise up and down. Holding the seas' highway. And you that loaf where the sides are blue. And play by a petticoat hem, These are the men who are fighting for you!

What are you doing for them? Bravo, then, for the men who fight! To hell with the men who play! It's a fight to the end for honor and friend. It's a fight for our lives today! —Fred E. Weatherly.

Conditions in Turkey

(Boston Transcript)
The desperate political situation of Turkey is reflected by a despatch just received in Boston from a high authority in Constantinople. It seems that at the beginning of September urged by German and under ministerial leadership, Turkey was rapidly drifting towards war. Mobilization was carried on with extreme vigor and with a determination and recklessness as to the cost entailed beyond all precedent in Turkey. The utter disregard of the consequences of the German and under ministerial leadership, Turkey was rapidly drifting towards war. Mobilization was carried on with extreme vigor and with a determination and recklessness as to the cost entailed beyond all precedent in Turkey. The utter disregard of the consequences of the German and under ministerial leadership, Turkey was rapidly drifting towards war.

To add to the confusion it was recognized that the entente Powers were daily becoming more and more exasperated at the position taken by the Ottoman Government in response to her German advisers. Anticipating that Turkey was likely to go to Germany's aid by declaring war against Russia, it seemed not improbable that the patience of the Powers might reach the breaking point and that they might declare war against Turkey before she had time to act herself in that direction. Such an act, it was feared, would be followed by declarations of war on the part of Greece, who regards Turkey's attitude as altogether hostile to her. Foreign residents, especially those representing nations involved in the war, were quietly planning what to do should the emergency arise. The outlook was said to be decidedly "grim."

The passing of this month without Turkey's becoming actually involved in the war strengthens the hope expressed that some solution might be found which would stave off such a conflict while it does not lessen the fact that the war has added to the tension, disorder and stress throughout the Turkish empire.

The Real German Spirit

(From the Rochester Herald.)
The destruction of Louvain and Rheims, with their countless artistic memorials, by the German soldiery, has led many to ask if the Germans are barbarians. If the Russians had done what the Germans have done, Americans in general would not have been surprised, for Americans are accustomed to thinking of Russia as a barbarous country, as a country far more barbarous, indeed, than it really is, but they have been not only surprised, but shocked, to discover that a people priding itself upon being the most civilized in Europe should have been guilty of such wanton acts of destruction. Are the Germans barbarians? they are asking over and over again at the present juncture.

No, we must answer, the Germans are not barbarians, any more than Americans are, but they have been hypnotized into believing that the despotism of their government can do no wrong, and they are not yet clearly enough to see that they are living under a despotism which has wrought not only the world at large, but the German people themselves more than any others. ### Why Doctors Study Eye Refracting

A very large number of the graduates of medical schools who begin practice in small towns come back to the cities in a few years to take a post-graduate course in eye refraction because they find out that eyes have a very important bearing on general health.

Much ill-health that every physician in general practice is called on to treat can be cured until the patient is supplied with properly fitted lenses held in place by properly adjusted frames.

Much ill-health, including many serious cases, can be prevented by scientific watching of the eyes.

At least once each year you ought to have a competent specialist examine your eyes and act on the advice given. You'll find such eye specialists at Sharpe's. You can rely on them absolutely. If you don't need glasses, you'll be told so frankly. But if you do, the glasses they prescribe will be exactly the glasses you require.

NEW GUNS USED BY FRENCH MOST DEADLY TYPE OF WEAPON USED IN MODERN WARFARE

Fire Turpentine, Which Causes Instantaneous and Painless Death to Every Living Thing Within Reach — Whole of Enemy Stand Dead in Tracks Killed by Fumes.

(Associated Press.) London, Sept. 17.—Remarkable tales of novel engines of war are appearing in all parts of Europe, but nothing has yet equalled the reports circulated concerning the new guns used by the French in firing turpentine, a substance said to produce instantaneous and painless death for every living thing within its reach.

Although it is so deadly in its work, turpentine cannot be objected to on the ground that it violates human principles of war. In fact it is so humane that it must not be confused with lyddite and other explosives which have deadly fumes.

English correspondents have reported that entire lines of German soldiers stood dead in their tracks as a result of the fumes from the mysterious turpentine discharged by the French in engagements along the Marne. The dead Germans are reported to have maintained a standing posture and retained their rifles in their hands, so sudden and unusual was the effect of the new weapon. Instantaneous paralysis is said to have been caused by turpentine.

ARMIES IN FRANCE OVERRUNNING MOST FERTILE COUNTRY

From the smiling valley of the Oise to the stern foothills of the Vosges an ever moving wave of fighting men of three nations marks the line of the greatest battle that has been fought since the beginning of the world. Across the vine clad hills and pleasant valleys of old Champagne, through the forests of Compeigne, Courcy and Mont d'Huzel; up and down the steep banks of the Aisne, in the narrow valley of the Meuse the tide of battle has swept. Across the two wooded chains of the Argonne, over the plateau of the Ardennes, to the sterner hills of old Lorraine the soldiers of France, Germany and Great Britain are fighting to decide the result of a campaign the like of which makes Napoleon's battles seem mere outpost engagements.

Five separate and distinct waves of fighting men have passed over this country in less than seven weeks. Five times have the feet of the men and horses of the warring nations tramped over this, the smiling countryside of one of the most picturesque parts of France. First came the French, marching to meet the Germans; then they came stumbling back and the Teuton invaders made the third wave; now they in turn are reeling back, disputing every foot of the way, and the ever advancing line of the allied armies makes the fifth surge.

A good idea of the topography of the country where the battered German right wing, under General Von Kluck, is making its stand on the heights north of the Oise, may be obtained if one can imagine one's self on the highest point in that neighborhood, the hill of Courcy-le-Chateau, on which is the ruined donjon of a castle of the middle ages, erected in the tenth century and which has seen the warriors of the ages come and go. The Armagnacs and the Burgundians fought for it; during the wars of religion it was assailed now by one, now by the other side; during the Fronde it was a bone of contention until Mazarin raised its walls, and now it will in all probability be the scene of a German stand against the French advance.

From the height of Courcy-le-Chateau, looking in the direction of the north, one can see the towns of Laon, Compeigne, Noyon and Chauny looming up from a great assemblage of lines of hills separated by valleys. The nearest of these is that of Renault, which, issuing from a spur of the mountain at Courcy, runs west to join the Letto River, a little stream running through a rich valley until it joins the Oise at Manicamp.

Through this valley, the eastern edge of the Champagne country, and protected by the indirect fire of their artillery behind the hills, will probably come the flanking movement of the French right wing. Turning toward the south one's eye rests on the most beautiful forests in France, inclosing in their green sweep the woods of Courcy and the forts of Mont d'Huzel lying on the hills which hide Sotsons from view. Through these woods will come the skirmishers of the gallant British field army, working their way to Laon, and through the forest of Craonne to the southwest, trying to cut their way between Von Kluck's left and von Buelow's right, which are in touch at Laon.

Von Hausen's army, connecting the German right with the centre, lies at the southwestern border of the Ardennes, with the picturesque valley of the Meuse behind it; that deep valley protected by the green hills of Hautes-Buittes and Rocroi. It is at the edge of the plateau of Hautes-Buittes that the Germans are in a strong position on the slopes leading to the plateau. This section is one of the leading centres of slate quarrying in France, besides supporting great numbers of foundries and other metal workings.

The German centre lies entrenched at Montfacon, in the centre of the Argonne. The Meuse here runs in a narrow valley between the two wooded chains of the Argonne hills, connecting the plateau of Langres with that of Ardeennes. Between the river and the western Argonne hills the tide of battle will most probably flow. Along this line the armies of the Grand Duke of Wurtemberg and the Crown Prince of Germany, holding the centre, are in force. The Crown Prince's right is on the eastern Argonne hills, opposite Verdun, his centre and left bent back towards Longwy, while the French are trying to push him back from the railroad line running to Metz through Chateau-Sains and into the gloomy gray rocks and sombre forests of the Vosges.

Suggested in London That Part of Canadian Women's Fund Be Used to Buy Vehicles.

London, Sept. 28.—The fact that the hospitals are not the only way of aiding wounded soldiers, is the reminder given by Lord Kitchener, who points out the urgent need for properly constructed and equipped motor ambulances for the quick transport of the wounded from the firing lines. The American Women's War Relief Fund, originally started for a hospital, has been diverted to the provision of such ambulances. As these vehicles could bear the imprint of the donors the suggestion has been made by a leading Canadian woman over here, that a portion of the Canadian women's fund now being sent to the war office, might profitably be utilized in this form.

London, Sept. 28.—The Ontario Government offices in the Strand are closed today, and the flag is at half mast out of respect to the deceased premier of the province, Richard Reid, Agent-General for Ontario in a statement given to the London press, paid a fine tribute to Sir James Whitney, saying that he had a thorough abhorrence of anything approaching political jobbery, and that beneath a brusque and even abrupt manner, which sometimes deceived the casual observer, was concealed a loyal and affectionate personality. All his public utterances breathed an intense devotion to all associated with the war Empire.

APPLE CROP IN BANDED CONDITION

New Brunswick Fruit Shows Up Well—Dominion Crop 28 p. c. Greater Than Last Year.

The fruit crop report for September, issued by the Dominion Government, says:—

The present season, so far as production of apples is concerned, and speaking broadly for the whole Dominion, is a most satisfactory one. The crop is large and the fruit is clean and of good size. Such a condition is exceptional and if the means of distributing are normal, the growers would unquestionably reap abundant returns.

The foreign market, however, at the present time is greatly demoralized. In practically every section of the country the growers are exceedingly pessimistic regarding the ultimate distribution of their fruit in a satisfactory manner. This feeling is particularly marked among independent growers, who have in previous years relied upon the itinerant buyers to purchase their fruit. Many of these buyers are not operating this season and even in cases where they have quoted prices their offers are far from alluring. The consequence is that growers are practically a loss as to any means of selling their crop. Many of them have had no experience in marketing, having formerly sold their fruit on the trees or packed in the orchard. Co-operative associations are not so seriously under capable management as in previous years. Most of the associations have established connections upon which they can place some average over the whole Dominion for early apples is 78 per cent. for all apples 78 per cent. and for winter apples 74 per cent. This is an increase of 28 per cent over that of 1913.

"New Brunswick the crop will be as good as any harvested in recent years. There are a few reports of small sized apples, but the general opinion is that the fruit will be sound, clean and of good color.

"Orchardists are urged to examine their trees and plantations very closely for injurious insects and fungous diseases.

"Specimens of insects, if dead, should be wrapped in paper or cotton and enclosed in a strong pasteboard tin or wooden box. The specimen is particularly soft, it should be packed in cotton saturated in alcohol. Wherever possible grapes, raspberries and other fruit should be packed alive in a box together with a supply of their food; air-bubbles are not necessary. Particulars as to the nature of the damage which it is doing, whether to leaves, buds or stem, are frequently of great importance.

"In the case of bacterial or fungous diseases, choose specimens representing every stage of the disease. Moist material or material likely to decay, press small plants or parts of larger ones carefully between layers of newspaper, protecting with necessary with stiff cardboard. Fruits, each separately wrapped, should be packed in strong cardboard boxes.

All such packages should contain the name and address of the sender, and are carried postage free, provided their weight does not exceed 12 oz.

"Send specimens of insects to: Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and specimens of bacterial or fungous diseases to: H. T. Gussow, Dominion Botanist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa."

MAJOR FRINK PATRIOTIC COMMITTEE

Major Frink yesterday morning made his report in connection with the absorption of the local fund into the Canadian Patriotic Fund. The report was read at the executive meeting of the local patriotic committee.

It is quite apparent that as far as this committee is concerned we have been living under some disadvantages in the distribution of relief and in the course of my enquiry some points were made clear, previously obscure. To begin, it is essential that a complete list be obtained covering the men who have enlisted from the province and the city of St. John, together with the particulars of those who have gone to the front. Such a list has been prepared at Ottawa in Hon. Mr. Ames' department. I saw this list but it was impossible for me to obtain a copy as the only one available was being sent to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor. I have written him today to be good enough to have a copy made for the purpose of this committee. A complete set of books will be necessary so that the account and history and condition of not only the soldier himself but his dependents can be obtained in detail. I attach a printed form of relief which is used in Montreal which appears to have a good deal to commend it.

In Ottawa local grants of money are alone made and those receiving it must be responsible for its expenditure, and I am of the opinion that this course should be pursued as far as the work of this committee is concerned.

The investigating committee will meet with the executive at stated intervals agreed upon. The ladies' auxiliary is found indispensable as they can more easily come to accurate conclusions in regard to the wives of soldiers and families and their needs. In order to become affiliated with the Canadian Patriotic Fund it is simply a matter of writing a letter to the honorary secretary, H. B. Ames, M. P., Ottawa, as provided in the act. This having been accomplished, all moneys are to be deposited to the credit of the organization, and there is no objection to the organization retaining a certain percentage for use in cases of emergency or any unforeseen conditions. An accurate account, however, will have to be made of these expenditures so that it will be shown in the general account or final account as the case may be.

But the principal uncertainty in the distribution of the Canadian Patriotic Fund is this: That the local organization will make out each month the amount of money required to maintain each individual family and then make a requisition on the general fund through the honorary treasurer for the amount required. He will in turn issue his cheque. When the cheque is received it shall be deposited by the local branch organization and can be checked out at the discretion.

There has been some difficulty in determining the distribution of soldiers' pay. Any soldier going to the front is not obliged to give any portion of his pay to his wife or dependents. If a man does allow a portion of his pay to his dependents, the fund ignores it. Separate allowances are provided by the department of militia as per the schedule submitted and all separation allowances have been paid by the militia department. Any wife who has not received her allowance is requested to write to Hon. Mr. Borden. If widows can show that their sole support, they will also receive it.

"For about forty years, I was troubled with Lame Back brought on by kidney and bladder trouble. I was never confined to my bed with the trouble, but it affected my spine and I had to rest for a time. I took advertised remedies which never did me any good. Then I saw 'Fruit-a-Lives' advertised and decided to try them. They did me more good than any other remedy. ## London, Sept. 25—The marriage of Alfred E. Voysey, assistant European manager in London for the C. P. R., to Miss Mildred Vinal of Eastbourne, was celebrated at Eastbourne today.

At the end of the wedding, Mr. Voysey was the recipient of a side-table and plate cabinet, presented by the staff, together with an illuminated address. Mr. MacLaren Brown, the European manager, in making the presentation, referred to Mr. Voysey's many years of service to the railway. He also mentioned the names of several other members of the staff whose signatures were missing from the address, owing to the fact that they were serving the colors.

Many friends about the city were shocked to learn of the death of Mr. Fred St. C. Pender, who passed away suddenly about 5.30 o'clock yesterday morning at his home in Orange street. Besides his parents, his wife survives, with one young son. He also leaves one brother, Vance, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Bailie. His funeral will be held this afternoon from his late home, 29 Orange street, and will be attended by members of the Masonic Fraternity, Union Lodge of Portland, No. 10, to which he belonged.

MAJOR LAREN HOUSE SOLD.

The fine brick residence owned and occupied by the late Dr. MacLaren, father of Dr. Murray MacLaren, situated on the east side of Charlotte street near the corner of Princess, has been sold by Allison & Thomas to a local purchaser.

The property is freehold and the house is a very large structure, built of solid brick, with expensive interior finish. There is also a barn and a garage in the rear.

It is understood that the house will be entirely remodelled and the lower portion turned into business premises, for which it is admirably suited, being in a good retail section.

TWO NERVOUS WOMEN

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had a severe case of nervous prostration, with palpitation of the heart, constipation, headache, dizziness, noise in my ears, timid, nervous, restless feelings and sleeplessness."

"I read in the paper where a young woman had been cured of the same troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I threw away the medicine the doctor left me and began taking the Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to sit up and in a short time I was able to do all my work. Your medicine has proved itself able to do all you say it will and I have recommended it in every household I have visited."—Mrs. Mary Tompkins, 210 Siegel Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Bad Case.
Ephrata, Pa.—"About a year ago I was down with nervous prostration. I was pale and weak and would have hysterical spells, sick headaches and a bad pain under my shoulder-blade. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand long enough to my medicine. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me well and happy and have begun to gain in weight and my face looks healthy now."—Mrs. J. W. Hornum, R. No. 3, Ephrata, Pa.

INTERNATIONAL BILLIARDS.

New York, Sept. 28.—Melbourne Inman, of Twickenham, England, world's champion at English billiards, scored 829 points in the first session of the international match here tonight. Willie Hoppe of this city, holder of the world's title for balk line billiards, who was Inman's opponent, made 304 points. The first game was played on a 212 English table and Hoppe's victory was fairly convincing, although his unfamiliarity with the English style.

THREE GREAT CAPTAINS OF THE GRIDIRON

The biggest consignment of Eastern football interest is arranged around three football teams—Yale, Princeton and Harvard—Harvard wearing its so-called championship, and the Tigers and Bulldogs pointing in that direction, with old stings to be wiped out with victory alone. For this reason it is safe to say that the three biggest men in football in the Eastern section are the captains, Brickett, of Harvard; Ballin, of Princeton, and Talbot, of Yale. On them "random" telescopes is turned. Brickett more particularly than the other two is basking in the limelight, for without his star field goal kicker Harvard really has no greater chance of continuing along the titular path than have Princeton and Yale. He is the edge that Harvard holds. If he enters the big games of the season in form Harvard must be credited with having about twenty-five yards the advantage, for any time the team gets within that distance of its opponent's goal Brickett is within striking distance. The Crimson has this much of a bulge around its rivals can develop a kicker of equal ability, and Brickett are not to be found scattered promiscuously around gridirons.

GEERS' TROTTER SENSATIONAL PERFORMER

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 28.—From ten heats on this afternoon Columbus Geers' Trotting Club circuit racing program, a time average of 2:04, 67-100 was secured for a reduction of the world's record made on the same track last Tuesday when thirteen heats were trotted and paced in an average of 2:05 1-15. Etawah, the Geers trotter, was the sensational performer. In winning the Chamber of Commerce stake, he made a world's record three heat trotting mark, regardless of sex or age. The total, 6:13 1/2, is just two seconds below the mark made by Hamburg Belle at Hartford in the Charter Oak stake race in 1908. Summary:

WILL ATHLETIC MACHINE CRACK IN WORLD'S SERIES?

New York, Sept. 28.—Wilbert Robinson, the portly person who manages the Brooklyn Dodgers, is trying to figure out whether John McGraw slipped something over on him relative to Marty O'Toole, the $25,000 pitcher. About a month ago when word reached Robinson that Barney Dreyfus was going to ask waivers on O'Toole the Dodger boss remarked to McGraw that "I guess I'll put a bid for that fellow." "Don't do it," said John to Wilbur. "His elbow is gone." Wilbert believed John—and he spurned the chance to get the pitcher. The next thing Wilbert knew, however, was that John McGraw had slipped into Pittsburgh and slipped right out again with O'Toole in tow. Worse than that, John sicked O'Toole on to the Dodgers in O'Toole's first start in a Giant uniform and O'Toole gave the Dodgers a beating. Naturally Wilbur is much puzzled. For a large flock of years Wilbert acted as John's understudy in those dear old Giant days. Wilbert grew to know John as a truthful friend. He trusted him like a child trusts a fond and loving parent. In Wilbert's eyes John was all right. Even after Wilbert cast his Giant uniform aside and donned the togs of the Dodgers he loved and revered John in the same old way. But now Wilbert is wondering. Has John taken a sudden turn for the worse? Did he intentionally double-cross an old pal by steering that pal away from the chance to grab a pitcher at a bargain price so that he could grab him unto himself? Or was it done accidentally, or did John mean that the left elbow of the right-handed O'Toole was gone? They looked it—but they weren't. "How long will the Athletic machine last?" asks a fan who adds: "The Cub machine went to smash after winning four pennants in five years, and the Cubs of 1910 looked just as powerful and just as enduring as the Athletics look today." They looked it—but they weren't. The Cub machine when it ended the 1910 season was a somewhat battered machine—battered by age, the stiffening and the decline that come sooner or later in every aggregation of athletes. The Athletics today, excluding Plank and Bender, average about five years younger per man than did the 1910 Cubs. McInnes is just above the voting age, Collins, Baker and Barry are not very far along in their twenties. Schang, the regular catcher, is about twenty-one. The outfield is composed mostly of kids and the Athletics' pitching staff averages well under twenty-five with Bender and Plank excepted. As for those two veteran twirlers—neither forty and the other around thirty-six—well, they look good for about four years at least. Perhaps the added years suddenly may make their presence felt, and soon rob them both of their power to baffle the big league batters, but their 1914 showings give no such indication. Recently figures on American League pitching showed Bender leading the league, only a few points from the 900 mark, with Eddie Plank in second place, just a few points in the rear of the Indian.

MACKMEN CLINCH THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—Now that the Philadelphia American League baseball team has clinched the championship of that organization, officials of the club are making active preparations for the world's series. The Athletics and the Boston Red Sox still have eight games on their respective schedules. If the Athletics lose all eight their percentage would be 52, while by winning all, Boston would have a percentage of 521. The victory of the Athletics in the American League race gives Connie Mack his sixth championship, a new major league record. Under his tutelage they won the league pennant in 1902, 1905, 1910, 1911, and 1913, and in the latter three years they also captured the world's championship. The National Commission will hold a meeting here next Wednesday to make final arrangements for the world's series, the first game of which will probably be played on either October 8 or 9. KID WILLIAMS WON. Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—Kid Williams, of Baltimore, the bantamweight champion, tonight stopped Kid Herman of Pekin, Ill., in the fourth round of what was to have been a six round bout. Herman forced the fighting in the first round but weakened in the second and was forced to the floor in the fourth round by a succession of body blows delivered by the champion.

Careful, Cautious and Canny

IN Canada it was all right for manufacturers to pause when the tumult and confusion of war shook the ground beneath their feet and unsteadied them. But it is not all right for Canadian manufacturers to go into temporary or permanent hiding at this time of national necessity and opportunity. On the contrary, it is time for a broad forward movement.

The man who shrinks from battle, even though the forces opposed may appear overwhelming, takes away from the strength of his comrades. If he deserts, dire punishment is meted out to him. Winning or losing, battle-time calls for men who will fight until overthrown or slain. The careful, cautious, and canny man—manufacturer, wholesaler or retailer—never rises to be a great merchant.

When the war is over, the honored and rewarded men among soldiers and merchants will be those who never faltered, who kept their face to the foe, and who fought dauntlessly to the very end.

The valiant-hearted business men of Canada—retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers—are advertising NOW.

The shed to be available at that time. The clerk kept him in conversation while another member of the staff called up the army and the man was kept engaged until a military guard arrived and he was placed under arrest. He was taken to the armory where he was detained until last evening when he was placed in the jail for safe keeping.

CAN SUPPLY MARKET IN OLD COUNTRY

St. John Business Men Will Need Time, However, is Opinion—Big Trade Opportunity.

That it is only a question of time before Canada will be exporting to England many lines of goods hitherto supplied by Germany was the view expressed yesterday by several prominent St. John merchants. George McAvity said that there could be no doubt as to the ability of Canadian manufacturers to supply most of the articles of hardware as to which enquiries are being made by English firms. These include such things as set screws, screw eyes, hooks, barbed wire, wire goods, nails, small tools and a host of other requisites which can, he said, be made in Canada, if time be given to satisfy any required standard. Only two weeks ago Mr. McAvity was in Montreal when he and Mr. McNaughton of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, Sydney, C. B., and W. W. Near, president of the Page-Hersey Tube Iron and Lead Company of Guelph and Welland, had a talk with P. G. Donald, who represents two important English export houses, on trade prospects between Canada and England. As a result several hundred tons of merchandise, such as wire nails and iron pipes, will be shipped to the old country as an experiment. "But it will all take time," said Mr. McAvity.

It having been stated that Canadian manufacturers of boots and shoes have frequently expressed a desire to test the British market, and that the present is an opportune time to make special efforts to obtain a footing, C. P. Humphreys said that the demand in England was mostly for boots and shoes made in the United States. Last year Canada supplied the English market with only £738 worth, out of a total importation of these goods valued at £239,133. Of this total Germany sold no less than £76,522 worth. "Importations of German slippers have been cut out," said Mr. Humphreys, "and English manufacturers will get this trade. There is not more than five per cent. difference in the price." This is in favor of the German article and is accounted for by the fact that the government of Germany has been punishing manufacturers with a view to attaining English competition. With regard to the export of leather to the old country Mr. Humphreys said that since the United States removed the duty on this commodity Canadian tanners were now able to send their surplus supply to the republic. Germany has been one of the chief contributors of leather for use in England, but with the ceasing of imports from Germany, Canada would, of course, have an additional field for supplying the different kinds of leathers.

R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the Board of Trade, said that enquiries having for their object the capturing of German trade are becoming much more frequent. The names and addresses of English firms desirous of communicating with Canadian manufacturers and merchants may always be obtained at the offices of the board, and already, said Mr. Armstrong, there is promise of a much more profitable business between the Dominion and the old country as a result of English manufacturers, and the people generally, to purchase goods of German origin.

G.P.R. PROPERTY CONFISCATED IN VIENNA?

Venice, via Paris, Sept. 28, 8:01 p. m.—The Austrian government has confiscated the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's securities and money deposited in Vienna, it is reported as well as the company's observation cars running on Austrian railroads. This has been done, it is said, as a consequence of the refusal of the company to pay the dividends of Austrian shareholders.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., was asked about the despatch from Venice with reference to the report that the Austrian government has confiscated the C. P. R.'s securities and money in Vienna, as well as the company's observation cars on Austrian railroads, because of the company's refusal to pay the dividends of Austrian shareholders. "They don't know whether we will pay dividends or not," Sir Thomas replied. "They may confiscate what they like. I do not know what they are doing over there, but we will do our duty."

KAISER BILL'S LAST WILL

Emperor of All the Germans Feeling End Near Credited With Preparing Curious Document.

If there is anything that a young man whose home is in England likes to receive while out in Canada or any other part of the world it is word from "Ome." At the present time anything touching on the war is a subject that is a chief topic to him, for in nearly every case he has a brother or father at the front fighting for the Empire. Among the young Englishmen at present in the city is W. Morston, the second steward on the Manchester liner, Manchester Mariner, and while in conversation with a Standard reporter yesterday afternoon, he presented the scribble with the following document, which he said he had just received from "Ome" and which he rather thought was "jolly good":

THE KAISER'S LAST LAP (Latest telegram from Berlin) Our special correspondent in Berlin says that he hears from an authoritative source that Kaiser Bill, the Chancellor Knopk, is realising that his end is drawing near through a serious attack of French and British microbes, has made his last Will and Testament, which reads as follows:

- 1. To General French I leave my blessing, and hope that he may soon follow me in shadowland.
2. To France I leave to their honor to take all the territory they consider they are justly entitled to.
3. To John Bull I give my Colonies and all my ships of war, which will be the means of reducing the taxes on the English people, for whom I have always had the greatest reverence.
4. To Admiral Jellicoe I bequeath the admirals and men of my navy in the hope that he may knock the funk out of them and teach them what it means to be courageous and brave.
5. To Belgium I give my solemn vow that no future ruler of the Fatherland shall ever violate her territory, and should they dishonor this my vow, may they be torn to pieces as I am the "Scrap of Paper."
6. To Russia I pray that she may be everlastingly covered in ice and snow.
7. To Serbia I bequeath my Diplomatic and general advisers, hoping that she may place them securely in a lunatic asylum.
I desire to be buried in Heligoland and request that instead of playing the Funeral March I wish to be played "It's a Long Way to Tipperary." Signed HOCH WILHELM, The Self Anointed Lord of Hosts. Signed by above HOCH WILHELM, this being his last Will and Testament in the presence of his beloved advisers who in his presence and in the presence of each other heretofore subscribed our names as witnesses.

L. P. D. Tilley Chosen to Command at Meeting Last Evening—Members Enthusiastic.

Canadian Patriotic Rifle Club, Company No. 1, with headquarters in St. John, was formally organized last evening at a meeting held in the Seaman's Institute. The company starts with 65 members. The company will be in command of a captain, a first and second lieutenant, a sergeant-major, two sergeants, four corporals and six rifle instructors. L. P. D. Tilley was chosen as captain, R. R. Langstroth as first lieutenant, J. A. Langstroth as second lieutenant, and F. J. Shrieve as secretary-treasurer. Non-commissioned officers will be selected by the officers. The company will be under the control and direction of the militia department of Canada, and its members will be liable for home defence. They will have the privilege of volunteering for the defence of the Empire in foreign service in case further calls are issued or men to go to the front. A second company will, it is expected, be formed here in a short time, as already 35 applications or membership in a second company have been received.

At the meeting last evening members of the company adopted by-laws to govern the organization and general characters of the corps. Members of the company undertake to shoot at the rifle range one day in every fortnight during such months as may be selected for target practice, and shall be liable to dismissal if they fail to do so during the period of drill named by the officers. Any member who fails to attend two consecutive drills shall be liable to a satisfactory excuse to the officer commanding, shall be requested to hand in his resignation, and if he fails to do so his name shall be struck off the rolls. Any member failing to obey the orders of the officers or non-commissioned officers while at drill, or at the butts, shall be liable to dismissal. Any member of the corps when not on duty or active service shall have the privilege of retiring by sending in his resignation to the officer commanding, and turning in his rifle, ammunition and uniform, if any. Additional members will be admitted on recommendation of two members, and by election at a meeting of the company. The annual meeting of the company shall be held on the last Thursday of September, and meetings may be held from time to time at the call of the officer commanding, or on requisition of five members.

By-laws may be changed or added to at the annual meeting by a majority vote. A quorum shall consist of fifteen members. The membership fee is one dollar a year. The standing of the company at the annual shooting or whenever required will be forwarded to the militia authorities at Ottawa. All members must serve without pay during their enrollment. Officers will be responsible for rifles and accoutrements. The members of the company will have the privilege of wearing a uniform, the design or pattern of which is to have the approval of the militia authorities. Officers hold office for a year.

FIRST WIRELESS FROM EIFFEL TOWER SINCE WAR BEGAN

London, Sept. 28, 3:46 p. m.—For the first time since the beginning of the war wireless news circulated by the French government through the Eiffel Tower was received in London tonight. The message, dated September 28, follows:

"Feels that their position was becoming more and more critical under the pressure of the allies, the Germans have tried to stop us by repeated counter attacks. Since September 26 they have delivered by day and night frequent and very violent attacks all several positions on our front. Everywhere they have been repulsed, sustaining considerable losses and abandoning as they lay, thousands of dead and wounded. "The Eight Army Corps and the Guards were severely put to the test, and a large number of prisoners fell into our hands. It is to be remarked that many of the latter gave themselves up voluntarily, although they could have escaped. "It seems that the German soldiers are beginning to have no further doubt as to the treatment which await them in captivity. At the beginning all those captured had a terrified and supplicating attitude, arising out of statements made by their officers to the effect that the French shot their prisoners. It is rather by an excess of kindness that we transgress in regard to them, and the too kindly treatment which is meted out to prisoners in certain districts of France has even evoked complaints, which occasionally have been justified, on the part of all those who know how our men are treated in Germany."
