RESOLUTIONS unanimously adopted at the Annual Meeting of the Auxiliary Society for the District, held at QUEBEC, on Tuesday Evening, May 23, 1843. The Rev. W. M. HARVARD in the Chair.

After the reading of the Réport by the Rev. W. M. HARVARD, it was:—

Moved by the Rev. E. BOTTERELL; seconded by the Rev. E. EVANS:

1. That the Report now read be adopted and published; and that this Meeting offer their grateful acknowledgments to the Great Head of the Church, for his continued approbation of Missionary operations.

Moved by the Rev. R. COONEY; seconded by the Rev. MATTHEW RICHEY, A.M.:

2. That this Meeting, believing the present Missionary and Educational movements to be the best means for extending the blessings of Christianity to a lost world—deeply sympathise with the Parent Society in all their pecuniary difficulties; and pledge themselves to renewed exertions in assisting that Society to carry out their purposes of benevolence towards mankind.

Moved by the Rev. H. MONTGOMERY; seconded by the Rev. J. RAINE:

3. That this Meeting, deeply impressed with the difficulties connected with the propagation of Christianity,—fully appreciate the promises of God, without whose aid the best concerted plans are vain—but under whose Divine agency the feeblest means become mighty, in promoting the moral renovation of mankind; and, therefore, feel the importance of more frequent, fervent and united prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the Church and on the world.

Moved by the Rev. J. BORLAND; seconded by the Rev. JOHN B. BROWNELL:

4. That the thanks of this meeting be presented to the Treasurer and Secretary, and all those persons who have aided the funds of the Society; and that the following persons be the Officers of this District Auxiliary for the ensuing year. (See the third page.)

Moved by the Rev. M. LANG; seconded by the Rev. J. BROCK:

5. That the thanks of this Meeting be presented to the Rev. W. HARVARD, for his attention to the business of the Meeting.

REPORT.

It was significantly enquired by an inspired apostle: "But whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him!" He who is indisposed to promote the eternal salvation of his benighted brother, man, gives a still more affecting proof of the disaffection of his own heart to God. And that it specially compassionates the unspeakable "need" of our unsaved brethren of the human family universally, will be deemed no inconsiderable recommendation of a truly evangelical Missionary Ministry.

The fact is not undeserving of record, that the principle from which Wesleyan Methodism first originated, was one of a nature essentially Missionary. Her first preachers were men of "compassion," "called of God, as was Aaron," and "SENT FORTH" by Him, "to gather together a people for His Name!" Their remarkable success is now matter of general history. The cause of that success may be inferred from the character of its effects. The simple aim of the Wesleyan instrumentality has been, from the beginning, invariably the same. While the itinerant exercise of her regular Ministry still render her ordained ministers persons "SENT," and "on the same original principle of Christian compassion," "to turn men from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God."

Of Churches who have separated from some other community and constituted themselves into an ecclesiastical body, it is the prominent peculiarity, and generally the principal boast, that the membership originate and authorise their own ministry. But of Wesleyan Methodism, which was chiefly gathered from the unenclosed and uncultivated wilderness of the moral world, it is the honest and the apostolical glory, "that the ministry originated the membership," and by the blessing of God made them "to be a people who were not a people."

With that eminent Missionary St. Paul, the Wesleyan Ministry can address the beloved people and say, "In Christ Jesus have I begotten you through the Gospel." So that the entire British Wesleyan Methodist Connexion has the enviable characteristic of being specially worthy of the kindred designations of a Missionary and of an Apostolical Church!

But even in the Wesleyan Methodist Church the term Missionary is now considered to point out that special order of its pastors who are "sent" to preach the gospel "in the regions beyond" the seas; either to the tribes or nations who are under Pagan delusions or other forms of perilous error on the subject of their soul's salvation, or to a people nominally Christian settled at a distance from the Word of life, or sparingly supplied with the ordinances of God.

It cannot be too well remembered, that the first Wesleyan Foreign Mission was undertaken to this latter class of our fellow men, in what at that time formed a part of the British North American Provinces, so early as the year 1769. An estimable local preacher of the Parent Connexion had successfully commenced religious services in the city of NEW YORK, to which he had emigrated from IRELAND. There he found thousands perishing "for lack of knowledge," and with but an inadequate supply of the means of grace; many of them having been Methodists in the Parent Country. To his destitute children in that transatlantic region, Mr. WESLEY "sent forth" two of his early preachers; together with a small sum of money towards their first place of worship, subscribed by their brethren in the Ministry then assembled at the Leeds Conference.*

This Missionary beginning has been marvellously honored of God in the good of souls. At their Revolution, Mr. WESLEY organized his membership in the UNITED STATES into a separate body; which constitutes the present METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH in that growing nation; and who have recently reported a Membership of One Million Eight Thousand Nine Hundred and One; and a Ministry of 4,234; besides nearly 8000 local preachers. Of the membership, it is pleasing to know that while it includes Nine Hundred Thousand Whites, yet it has also more than 115,000 coloured persons in its Community. Also, 3379 converted Indians, reclaimed red men of the forest. During the year which has just concluded, the increase of the entire church has been more than 100,000; with an augmentation of more than 200 regular ministers, and nearly 500 local preachers. Well may we exclaim, "What hath God wrought!" To Him be all the praise! Amen!

The glorious result of that Primitive Missionary effort of the early British Wesleyans will, it is hoped, endear to the Parent Body that class of their Missionary Agency, and encourage our venerable Missionary Committee to CONTINUE its important aid to

* The following is the account of this Mission by Mr. WESLEY'S OWN PEN:—

Aug. 31, 1796.—I mentioned the case of our brethren at New York, who had built the first Methodist preaching house in America, and were in great want of money, but much more of preachers; and two of our brethren, Richard Boardman and Josh. Pilmoor, willingly offered themselves for the service, by whom we determined to send fifty pounds as a token of our brotherly love.—Wesley's Journal.

the spiritual necessities of the Colonial British, as well as to countries absolutely in PAGAN darkness.

The immortal interests of the heathen nations, it must be confessed, have indeed the most solemn claim on our best attentions and most fervent sympathy, and on our most zealous exertions to bring them to God. But it cannot be admitted that the case of the destitute nominal Christian, and emigrant settler in a new country, has but a feeble claim on our "compassion." That he had come "from Jerusalem," and had been accustomed to Jerusalem's privileges, is recorded as an aggravation of the misfortunes of the man who on his way "to Jericho," "fell among thieves." That he had sustained a melancholy change in his outward circumstances, was not considered by the good "Samaritan" any reason why he should be abandoned to his unhappy condition of peril and suffering. That was probably a feature in his case which secured for him the more compassionate attention. "I am glad," said the venerable WESLEY, to one of his first Missionaries in British America, "I AM GLAD you have given a little assistance to our brethren at Halifax, and along the coast. There is NO CHARITY under heaven to be compared to this bringing light to the poor heathens called Christians, but who sit, nevertheless, "in the region of the shadow of death."^{*}

The early Wesleyan Missions were long under the individual superintendency of the venerated Dr. COKE, by whose "instrumentality, liberality and personal exertion, they were introduced and established in all the four quarters of the globe. Their success in the conversion of sinners lay nearest his heart, and was one of the chief sources of his joy while on earth. There can be no doubt that thousands of real converts will hail him as blessed in the great day."

The Wesleyan Missions are at present superintended by a Committee of Ministers and lay members, annually appointed; and consisting of sixteen Methodist Ministers, for the time being stationed in or near London, and of sixteen gentlemen, members of the Methodist Society, not Ministers. Four General Secretaries, and two General Treasurers, are the managing officers of the Institution, under the direction of the General Committee. Connected with the Parent Society are about eighty different Auxiliary Missionary Societies, with their various Branch Societies and Missionary Associations, spreading over the surface of the entire British Empire. The whole income of the last year for the support of our Missionary Ministry was £101,688 sterling or 406,752 dollars; a munificent and gratifying evidence of the estimate formed by the British nation at large of the principle and utility of the Missionary Department of the British Wesleyan Church.

It is not a little gratifying to report that by the noble, and in many instances, truly self-denyng contributions of our friends in that end, more than one half of the Society's debt has been extinguished. And notwithstanding the difficulties which have embarrassed almost every description of secular interest among us, there seems a disposition on the part of those who feel the importance of that blessed work, that the cause of Missions shall be one of the very last from which their generous support shall be withheld.

The importance of this good work will be admitted when it is considered that our Missionary Society has under its charge 265 principal stations or circuits in various parts of the world, enumerated in its Annual Report. Each of these stations is, however, in general but the centre of a number of surrounding congregations, who look up to our Missionaries to be fed with the word of life. Among these we employ an agency of 367 ordained Missionaries and Assistant Missionaries, a considerable number of whom have valuable wives, who assist them in the female schools and in other important and appropriate departments of female influence. Upwards of 500 Catechists, Interpreters, School Teachers, &c., are wholly employed at the expense of the Society. To these may be added about 4500 Sunday School Teachers and other Agents, whose services are sometimes only occasional, and always gratuitous.

Nearly 100,000 full and accredited Church Members have been given by the Divine Head of the Church as the amazing recompense of the labours already bestowed on those parts of the field in which he called us to be occupied in sacred toil; besides nearly fifteen hundred individuals, who are on probation for Membership on the several Missionary stations.

The Society's Missionaries are not unmindful of the importance of promoting civilization and education, as powerful auxiliaries to the promulgation of the glorious Gospel. Uncivilized tribes have been instructed in agriculture and other useful arts. Seven printing establishments are in operation under their superintendence, from which editions of the Holy Scriptures are issued to various tribes in their own tongue; and various useful publications are sent forth to aid in the dissemination and elucidation of the truth as it is in Jesus. During the year £10,000, or 40,000 dollars, have been expended in the school department of our Mission Work, where general useful knowledge is diffused, and in which upwards of 61,000 scholars are taught to read the wonderful works of God in their own tongue. In all the Schools of the British Wesleyan Missions, the Holy Bible is invariably the principal book of the more advanced readers. If the general importance of the Missionary work be considered as a claim for the public support, the special fields of Missionary toil in which their Missionary labourers are employed, invest the undertaking of the British Wesleyans with special and peculiar interest. The Committee regret that a most rapid recapitulation is all that their limits can, on this occasion, allow.

For many years that Wesleyan Missionaries have been preaching in the most destitute parts of IRELAND, several of them in the native Irish tongue, and all of them to a people who know how to value the ordinances of religion; many of them persisting to attend the services which they find beneficial to their souls, though driven away by the horsewhip of the Romish Priests, and threatened, for so doing, with all their curses, both in time and in eternity. There is reason to believe many thousands of the benighted Roman Catholics of Ireland have thus successively been brought to feel that "the Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sins," and some hundreds are this day members of the Wesleyan Church in Ireland, who have been recovered from Popish error and delusion.

Our Missionary Society has invaluable agents in Winnenden, in the kingdom of WIRTEMBERG, where some opposition has been raised by those who love darkness better than light. The work of the Lord, however, continues to progress. From about 200 of this people our Missionary has been debarred the privilege of pastoral intercourse by persecuting restrictions. But the number of members in the "forty towns and villages" to which he has access, amount to six hundred and fifty-seven, fifty-two of whom render him important assistance, as local preachers, exhorters, and class-leaders, &c.

Regarding the spread of evangelical truth and vital godliness upon the continent of Europe as not only important in itself, but as having a beneficial bearing on Missionary work, among the heathen, (by erecting new agencies and furnishing additional means for its support) the Parent Committee contemplate, with gratitude to Almighty God, the successful exertions of the Society's Agents in FRANCE and SWITZERLAND. In Paris, a theatre has been recently converted into a Chapel, without any expense to the funds of the Society at home. The Chapel is sixty feet long by thirty feet wide. It is authorized as a Wesleyan Chapel by the French Government; and the Missionary who furnishes this information adds:—"When we state this is the third theatre in France that has been converted into a Chapel, our friends will, with us, give thanks to God and take courage."

The Missionaries in Switzerland report as follows:—"Our entrance into this field of labour, to which the door has been so marvellously opened by the providence and grace of God, has generally realized our expectations. The opposition raised to our establishment and progress, has only manifested more clearly in our members their hearty belief of the truth we preach, and their warm attachment to our godly discipline.—The presence of God is often powerfully felt in our assemblies, and our Society has received a considerable increase by the conversion of sinners to God."

Popish intolerance has excluded our Missionary from SPAIN, who is usefully engaged at Gibraltar: where he also embraces whatever opportunity may present (by correspondence and transmission of the Word of God, and religious publications) of promoting the eternal interests of the Spanish people.

The Society at MALTA is subject to great fluctuations, in consequence of the removals which take place among the military, and of other similar causes. But the Parent Committee have received the most satisfactory testimonials from disinterested parties, respecting the zealous and successful exertions of our Missionary there, and are assured that the Mission has never, at any period, exerted a more beneficial influence than at present.

The Missions in CEYLON and CONTINENTAL INDIA have, from their very commencement, had to encounter the most formidable difficulties in the way of the spread of pure and undefiled religion. In those regions Satan, indeed, has his seat, and holds an affectingly extensive moral empire over myriads of our fellow men, by the various forms of idolatry—by the most avowed atheism and worshipping of devils. A goodly number, however, have been brought to turn from idols to serve the living and true God, and several assistant native Missionaries have been raised up from among those whose conversion from Paganism has gladdened the hearts of our labourers.

In Ceylon a tribe of wild men, who were hitherto confined to the woods, and known by the name of VEDDAHs, were induced to hear the Gospel for the first time, through the persevering kindness of one of our Missionaries. The Committee have furnished us with the particulars of this highly interesting occurrence, and of its more immediate result:—"During the successful prosecution of the mission at Baticola, a district on the eastern shore of Ceylon, the Government of that Island was moved by a benevolent desire to settle and civilize a wild and barbarous people, called Veddahs, who inhabited the jungle in the interior, three days' journey from Baticola. The Government Agent, to whom this good work was entrusted, entertained the idea that Christianity was one of the most powerful means of civilization, and took with him the Missionary of the Cross when he went into the jungle to seek and collect these scattered and hitherto neglected members of the human family. The attempt has been highly successful."

Fifty-three families, whose previous habits were scarcely superior to those of the wild beasts, among which they dwell, in caves and deserts, are now formed into two little villages, and are now applying themselves to the cultivation of the ground for their sustenance. Another village was about to be formed. They have shown a great readiness to receive religious instruction.—Upwards of one hundred and fifty have been baptised, and two Christian schoolmasters are settled among them, to educate their children and conduct Divine Worship on the Lord's Day, during the intervals of the Missionary's visits.

In concluding this brief sketch of the most remarkable movements which have occurred of late years in our Missions in the East, we cannot but notice the fact, that among such a people the simple preaching of the Gospel (in connexion with those general means of improvement and civilization which the Government of Ceylon have so benevolently and laudably begun to employ) should, at this early period of the experiment, have produced effects so promising of blessing and success, and ought to silence the impatient complainings of some uninformed objectors to the prosecution of Eastern Missions; while it affords lessons of instruction and encouragement to those who have not been weary in well doing, believing that "in due season they shall reap if they faint not."

The earnest attention and deep sympathy of the British nation are now directed towards the Continent of India. One of the largest empires of the world, the very centre and stronghold of Asiatic idolatry, lies open to our philanthropy and Christian zeal; and we are summoned by passing events, as well as by our sense of love to the Saviour, and duty to the Church and the world, to work while it is called to-day; for the night cometh in which no man can work. Every kind of useful agency is employed in the Missions in Continental India; but the labourers are few. The operations of the Missions are exceedingly limited, when compared with the extent of the field which requires cultivation. We pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth more labourers into his harvest.

The Missions in AUSTRALIA and POLYNESIA comprehend New South Wales, Australia Felix, South Australia, Western Australia, Van Dieman's Land, New Zealand, The Friendly Isles, and The Feejee Islands. Our Missionaries are laboriously employed among the penal settlements, the emigrant residents, and the aboriginal tribes. Their toils and trials are mercifully regarded by Him whose they are, and whom they serve in the Gospel of his Son, and who has made them instrumental of gathering together a people for his name, whose conversion to the faith of Christ has not unfrequently been marked by signs and wonders of almost Pentecostal outpourings of the Holy Spirit of God.

Our Missions in SOUTH AFRICA, among the European emigrants and several of the native tribes, continue to repay the self-denying expatriation of our holy and enterprising Missionaries in accession of converts to the fold of the Redeemer, which justify the expectation that Emmanuel shall have the heathen for his inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for his possession.

The Committee reluctantly pass by a mass of the most interesting facts recorded in the Report of the Parent Society for the last year, bearing the most indubitable evidence of the Divine sanction of that extensive and extending part of our great Missionary work. They conceive, however, that the following notice of the great Namaqualand Mission will be so acceptable to the friends of our Missions in this district, and will be so fair a specimen of South African operations, that they cannot exclude it from the Report. The Missionary thus writes:—"The station of great Namaqualand, so unpromising in its commencement, is now rising into importance. Under a gracious visitation from on high, the word of the Lord has free course, and has been glorified during the year in the conversion of upwards of two hundred and fifty individuals, who have been added to the Church. A very encouraging feature of this great work presents itself in the native agency, which is rising up already. Several Christian Namaquas are able to render valuable assistance to the Missionary, among whom a prominent place is occupied by David Africaner, one of the seven sons of the once notorious freebooter, Titus Africaner. He has now four brothers residing with him, over whom he exercises a pleasing religious influence. Two of them have joined our Church."

Respecting the father of this chief, one of the Missionaries, on a recent visit to that station, writes as follows:—"Here I met also with Titus Africaner, who caused me some anxiety when passing through the Bushman's Land, in 1824; for at that time he was at the zenith of his power, and the terror of the whole country. The lion is now become a lamb; and he significantly states, that since his change by grace, he has the heart of a woman. His conversion to God was effected under the most alarming awakenings of the Holy Spirit, and his sorrow for his sins was indescribable. For several weeks he remained under deep distress of mind, and in the night he would frequently creep out of his mat-hut on his hands and knees, crying out in the disquietude of his soul, and arousing the whole village, while praying for mercy to that God whose laws he had so awfully broken. After his conversion, his joy was also so great that he often left his mat-hut, and repaired to the bushes, for the purpose of praise; being prevented from enjoying sleep by the joy he now experienced, as he had before by the deep sense of his guilt and danger as a sinner. He is now in his right mind, sitting at the feet of Jesus, enjoying peace with God and man, and is evidently a retired, humble, unassuming sinner. But the real Christian, though forgiven by God, never forgives himself."

In addition to the moral and religious benefits which have been derived through the Divine blessings from our various Missions in Southern Africa, it is truly gratifying to see the progress made at the several stations, in the arts of civilized life. Wandering hunters have become successful cultivators of the soil, and have shown a capability of rivalling their European friends in mechanical industry and ingenuity. They have formed interesting villages around the residences of their laborious and devoted Missionary Ministers. Their native Schools have augmented the number of readers, and the Missionary Printing Establishments have furnished a liberal supply of at least elementary books, in the most useful branches of knowledge. Thus the wilderness and the solitary place have literally been made glad for them, and has in places not a few, like the budding rose, given forth its hopeful blossoms of future prosperity.

The Missions in WESTERN AFRICA have not, by any means, abated in interest during the last year. At Sierra Leone, our oldest West African Mission station, the converted negroes, liberated from slave vessels taken on the coast, have caught the flame, and have begun a Missionary subscription among themselves, to enable the Committee to send a Missionary to their own, their native land. Every department of the Sierra Leone Mission affords indications of prosperity. Although many of the members have, during the year, emigrated to various desirable points, the aggregate number in Church Communion is considerably greater than last year. Much has also been done in providing commodious and substantial places of worship. The Rev. Mr. Dove, the Superintendent, after mentioning the erection of twelve chapels lately, and some other Missionary buildings, by the liberality of our friends, adds:—"I wish particularly to call your attention to the large town of York. As the Governor and Council kindly granted to the Wesleyan Missionary Society the large unfinished stone building, (once intended for a Church) together with a large quantity of stone, we have prepared a roof, SAWN OUT OF THE MASTS OF SLAVE SHIPS, under our own inspection at Freetown. A friend of the Society has engaged to send the same to York in his own vessel, free of expense.— And, as another instance of the desire for improvement, which is growing up in this people, they have raised, by contributions, nearly 500 dollars towards the purchase of a Printing Press for their own benefit."

The Committee cannot but refer to the new Mission in the kingdom of ASHANTI, and which they would notice with the warmest emotions of thankfulness to Him by whom kings reign and princes decree justice, and who turneth the hearts of the rulers of this world to become instruments of doing all his pleasure.

The policy of the rulers of Ashanti has been long marked by oppression, violence, and blood! Their country may indeed be ranked among "the dark places of the earth full of the habitations of cruelty." An executioner with his hatchet and block are parts of the royal procession when the monarch walks abroad among his people, whose lives are entirely at his disposal. A death-drum sounds when the king has beheaded an individual, for the purpose of perpetuating the reign of terror. Two young Princes, from Ashanti, have recently completed their education in England—and before their return home, they were introduced to the British Wesleyan Conference, and promised to afford their influence in aid of the Society's operations among their benighted countrymen. The Parent Committee embraced that opportunity to send a Missionary to reside in Kamasi, the capital. They also (as a means of conciliating the friendly feeling of the King) send him a present of a handsome state carriage, which was presented by the noble minded Missionary, Freeman, who had previously been introduced to his Ashanti Majesty on a former visit of enquiry, as to the probable opening for a Mission there.

The King had never seen a wheeled carriage before, and was obliged to have a road made of more than one hundred miles long for its conveyance into his dominions. He was evidently pleased to have such an opportunity of riding about in the same way as he understood the Queen of England did, and returned his best thanks to our Committee for so acceptable a token of their friendship and good wishes.

A Wesleyan friend in London had, at his own expense, sent him a beautiful complete set of harness, handsomely mounted. Another friend presented his Majesty with a splendid chandelier, to light up the royal palace; and various other presents were, at the same time, forwarded from other munificent friends of our Mission to that benighted land; all of which were most favourably received, and appear in the hands of God to have been considerably instrumental in softening the heart of the Ashanti monarch towards the introduction of the Gospel among his people.

He immediately gave our brethren land for the erection of a suitable Mission House, and ordered a large native house to be prepared for the temporary residence of the Missionaries and his two nephews, (the Ashanti Princes already mentioned as having been educated in England) in whom he appeared to be much interested. The Rev. Mr. Freeman appointed regular hours for Divine Service, which was well attended; many of the Ashantees were present on every occasion, and it was not unusual to witness some of the King's household paying serious attention to the word of life. Having made the necessary arrangements for the prosecution of the Mission, Mr. Freeman left the work in the charge of the Rev. J. Brooking, from whom he has since heard that the objection of the King for the establishment of a School having been removed, one has been actually commenced for the instruction of the juvenile Ashantees.

These events are well calculated to awaken lively feelings of joy. In such feelings the Parent Committee largely participate. But they do not forget that in that dark region of the earth, the battle has yet to be fought. In unison with the Missionaries, (who represent themselves as keenly alive to the difficulties and dangers of their advanced position) the Committee would prepare their minds, and call upon their friends of the Society to prepare theirs, for temporary disappointment, discouragement, and delay. The history of the Christian warfare, in every age, from the day of the Apostles, forbids the expectation that the powers of darkness will surrender one of their inmost citadels without a struggle. The contest may be severe; but this is the encouragement of the Missionary hosts—they are not engaged in a doubtful contest. Ultimate and complete success awaits them, for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it; and, while faithfully applying themselves with unwearied perseverance to the duties which the favourable commencement of the Mission impose on them, the friends of the Society may be allowed to indulge in the anticipations of faith, that the empire of Ashanti will become one of "the kingdoms of our Lord and his Christ."

Our old and interesting Missions among the white and coloured population of the WEST INDIA ISLANDS have amply repaid all the toil and suffering of the succession of our valuable Missionaries for now upwards of eighty years: during which period it is calculated that upwards of fifty thousand of our converted Negro brethren have passed "through death triumphant home!" The present generation of Negro Methodists in the West Indies, do great honour to their Christian profession—and have furnished, in that part of the world, the most triumphant attestation in favour of the Wesleyan Missions.

In the Island of HAYTI, our Missionaries have suffered great alarm from the late tremendous earthquake there; but we are happy to say neither of their valuable lives have been permitted to fall a sacrifice. Six Missionaries are employed there, who have more than five hundred Church members, between five and six hundred Sunday scholars, and fifty gratuitous teachers. The Island is now suffering from a violent political convulsion, which, it is hoped, may be overruled for the furtherance of the Gospel.

In the whole of BRITISH AMERICA our Parent Committee employ about one hundred ordained Ministers, at eighty-three central stations, each including a number of subordinate appointments and congregations. They have nearly eight thousand scholars in their schools, and more than one thousand unpaid teachers. More than fourteen thousand Church members are under their pastoral care; and it is calculated that nearly seventy thousand immortal souls, either regularly or occasionally, attend their ministry, among whom not the least interesting are several congregations of native American Indians, who have proved the civilizing as well as the converting influence of the truth of the everlasting Gospel, and from among whom some very interesting and useful native preachers of the Gospel have been raised up, and are employed in preaching to their aboriginal brethren of the forest with encouraging success.

In that part of the Province of CANADA, which falls within the limits of our own District, as well as in that of Western Canada, we have had many proofs of the attachment of our numerous members and friends to the Missionary Ministry, under the direction of the British Wesleyan Church. During the past year several of the stations of the District have been favoured with animating visitations of religious revival, and several earnest applications for additional Missionary labourers have been forwarded to the District Meeting. But while the Committee cannot but be humbly grateful to God for these encouraging evidences of the public confidence, and of the Divine favour, they have to deplore their inability at present to furnish that supply of Missionary labourers which has been so imploringly solicited at their hands by individuals and congregations, justly claiming their respectful attention and most lively sympathy.

The Committee are, nevertheless, cheered in their review by the noble and generous contributions of the friends of our Missionary Institutions in the various stations of the District, as they were announced in their last printed Report. To these valued friends they offer their sincerest thanks, and they fervently trust that, notwithstanding the pecuniary difficulties which have so heavily pressed upon almost every class of the community, the same pious and intelligent generosity will secure for the Missionary Ministry of the British Wesleyan Church increased and increasing friendly and persevering support.

The Committee desire still more fully to feel how uncertain is the brief stay allotted to us on earth, during which alone we can render our humble aid to this invaluable work of God; and, in recommending these statements to the immediate attention of all the Members and friends of the Society, they will only quote, in conclusion, the significant and weighty words of one of our West Indian Negroes, when he brought a contribution which the Missionary was disposed to think too liberal for his circumstances and position in Society, but which he insisted on giving, at the same time observing:—“Massa, the work of God MUST BE DONE, and I SHALL SOON BE DEAD!”

The following are the amounts severally reported by the Branch Missionary Societies throughout the District:—
