in the casualties as killed in action.

The annual bospital of the Eastern Ontario Curling Association opens at Renfrew to-day.

The weather keeps very cold, 20 to 28 below zero, whilst coal is about as scarce as fresh eggs in January.

Bank of Ottawa staff here, is now adjutant of the 230th Forestry Battalion.

Mrs. Joe McCreary of Cabri, Sask., who

The train service, the mail service and the express service are all more or less upset at present, much to the inconvenience of the public, probably due to the unusual conditions prevailing.

A well-considered plan for the farm work, utilizing fully the time available, will vastly increase production. With the shortage of labour on our farms, the most must be made of that remaining.
Proper planning of the work now will save time.

Thousands of trees throughout Canada are being injured by the mauling of advertising matter to them. Not only is the bark injured and the cambium layer broken, which gives fungi an opportunity to attack the trees, but the spaces behind such signs serve as harbours for moths and other insects.

A GOOD MAN GONE

REV. A. A. SCOTT PASSES AWAY VERY SUDDENLY

At high noon on Sunday, Rev. Alexander Armstrong Scott, M.A. pastor emeritus of Zion Church, of which congregation he had been the active pastor for 38 and a-half years, passed quietly to rest. He had been suffering with a cold for a few days, but was better Saturday evening, and on Sunday morning felt so well that he dressed for church and was awaiting his wife and daughter when suddenly stricken down with cerebral hemorrhage and at 12:20 the life-spark departed.

Rev. Alexander Armstrong Scott was born near Woodstock, May 9th, 1846, one of a family of thirteen, being a son of Michael and Jane Scott, natives of Langholm, Scotland. He was educated in East Zorra and the Woodstock Collegiate Institute, after which he taught school for two years. He then entered Toronto University, graduating in 1874 with a B.A., and receiving his M.A. two years later. He took theology in Knox College, graduating in 1877, and in January, 1878, received and accepted call to Zion church, and on Feb. 21st he was ordained as pastor. As to this charge, the congregation at that time being in the Presbytery of Ottawa. For 38 years and six months he remained the pastor, resigning in September last.
In November of 1878 he married Isabella Mills, of Toronto, who with one son, Rev. A. A. Scott, a missionary in India, and one daughter, Miss Mary, survive.
One son and one daughter are deceased.
Five brothers survive, James, of Clinton;
Thomas, East Oxford; Henry,
John and William B. Innerkip; and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Leake, East Oxford; Mrs. Thos. Hart, of Innerkip; and Mrs. Alex. McLean, Carleton Place.
Mr. Scott was a man of strong convictions, and ever stood for the highest ideals in christian life. He was a great student and kept himself versed in the affairs of the present to the last. He was an earnest preacher and always gave his hearers something to carry away with them. But his race was run, his work was finished, and his end was swift, calm and peaceful, just like a transfer to the other shore. He was known far and near throughout the Presbytery, and his death will be deeply lamented by many who learned to love him for his real worth.

The funeral took place this afternoon.
A private service was held at the home on Emily street, after which the remains were taken to Zion Church where service was conducted under the auspices of the Presbytery of Lanark and Renfrew, Rev. A. H. Scott, of Perth, moderator, conducting, assisted by Rev.
Mr. Campbell, the clerk, and Revs.
Monds and Dobson. Fully a dozen members of the Presbytery were present.
The pallbearers were members of the Session. Upon the casket were beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends, also a broken circle from the family, a wreath from the Session and managers of Zion Church; a wreath from the Willing Workers, Young People and Choir, and a wreath from Zion Sunday School.

The church was crowded, all denominations being represented in the concourse assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to one who spent his life for the welfare of his fellows. Interment was made in St. Fillan's cemetery.

Among the relatives from a distance, who were present at the obsequies were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Scott and Mr. John Scott, of Oxford; James Scott, of Clinton; Mr. T. M. Hart, and his mother, of Innerkip; and Mr. Robert Mills and Mr. Bert Mills, of Toronto.

The Home Garden.

Canada must produce more food-stuffs
We have much vacant land about our homes, which, if cultivated, would greatly add to the food supply. Very little work is necessary, and the returns more than compensate for the effort. By helping to provide the food for your own family you are releasing that much additional for the general good, and reducing the cost of living. Conserva-

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Pleasant Evening Reveries dedicated to tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

AT SET OF SUN.
If we sit down at set of sun
And count the things that we have done,
And counting, find
One self-dwelling act, one word
That eased the heart of him who heard,
One glance, one hand,
That felt like sunshine when it went,
Then we may count the day well spent.
But if through all the living day
We've eased no heart by any way,
If through it all
We've done no good that we can trace,
That brought the sunshine to a face,
No act, no word, no thought,
No count that day as well spent.

One active bee, nut, given a chance,
Will result in a forest. One little thought started right will go round the world and keep on its travels. It gets there by moving, not by sitting sulkily in the sawdust and wishing it were a plum pudding. Move on. Catch on.
Hold fast as long as you can, and if you're knocked off, grab for the next car that comes along and you will get there.
But don't start in the wrong direction.
Be not start for the drunkard's grave, or you will be sure to get there. Do not start in to go it blind whenever some "Smart Aleck" blows the horn for you to fall in, lest you fall in where it is deep and ever remain there. Be active or get out of the way, and in one year

see how much better off in mind, body, and comforts you will be.

The first person to whom Christ appeared after the resurrection was a woman. During all the ages that have come since that first Easter morning, whenever there was a word to be spoken for the Master, a tender service to be performed in His name, a cup of cold water to be given to some wayfarer, or a prayer to be offered for some sin-sick soul, woman has always been the first on the scene.

Never be ashamed of your early surroundings because you are living in a more refined place at present. Do not be ashamed of your old father and mother when they come to your city to visit you because their manners are a little old-fashioned and try to smuggle them in and out of your house. Call in your best friends and say to them "this is my father and my mother, if they had lived in your day and had had the advantage they would be as well up as you." Have you forgotten what a hard time your father and mother had in the early days of life, depriving themselves of the necessities of life in order to save and leave something for their children when they are ready to lay off their earthly toil.

Jesus called a little child to represent who should be the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven. No long-faced elder of the church was brought, nor smileless member of the monastery, but a pratt-ling child in all its innocence and mirth; and unless we are converted from our austere ways, and become in habits and tastes like unto a child, it is declared the door will be barred against us.

The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time. In the nursery, on the playground and in the schoolroom, there is room all the time for little acts of kindness, that cost nothing, but are worth more than gold and silver. To give up something when giving up will prevent unhappiness; to yield when persisting will chafe and fret rather than come against another; to take an ill word or a cross look rather than to resent it; these are the ways in which clouds and storms are kept off and a pleasant, sim-ing sunshine secured even in a humble home, among very poor people, as well as in families in higher station. Much that we term the miseries of life would be avoided by adopting this rule of conduct.

On our criticisms of others, let us remember that we have faults which our friends have to excuse. How much would be left of us if all those who see inconsistencies in us should clip away from our character and reputation? It is an invariable rule that those who make the roughest work with the names of others are those who have themselves the most imperfections. The larger the beam in your own eye, the more anxious you are about the mote in somebody else's eye. Instead of going about town slashing this man's bad temper and the other man's falsity, and this woman's hypocrisy and that one's indiscretion, go home with the ten commandments as a monitor and make out a list of your own derelictions.

A woman may be surrounded by all the luxuries that money can buy, and have the fawning friendship of people whose smiles only live in prosperity; but if she feels herself unloved and alone in her heart, the crown jewel in her diadem of happiness is lost, things lose their value and life becomes monotonous. The honest, tender love of two brave hearts who have started out, and are struggling to get a home for their little ones, and money enough to feed, clothe and educate them, makes life a thousand times more attractive and inspiring.

The Plum Hollow cheese factory, owned by Harvey Kilborn, was burned.
Practically everything was lost.

The Dominion Government, last year, appropriated and expended $100,000 for the relief of sufferers by forest fires in Northern Ontario last summer, and $400,000 for the purchase of seed grain for farmers in distress in the west.

Culicurn Farmer Commits Suicide.

Mr. Thomas James, a prominent farmer of Goulburn township, committed suicide Wednesday morning by cutting his throat with a razor, dying shortly afterwards. Although not in the best of health, lately he appeared to be in good spirits and talked quite rational before retiring Tuesday night.
He was heard to get up and go outside about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.
This was not unusual, but when he did not return for some time, members of the family investigated and found him in an outdoor house with his throat badly cut. Dr. Scobie, of Hazeldean, was immediately summoned but little aid could be given and the unfortunate man died shortly after the doctor's arrival. No inquest will be held. Deceased was about 60 years of age and is survived by a grown up family, his wife being dead a couple of years.—Carp Review.

Last of Confederate "Signers."

A reminder of the tragedy of the American Civil war comes in the announcement of the death of Judge A. P.
Campbell, at Jackson, Miss. He was the last of forty-nine original delegates to the Confederate States Congress who signed the constitution of the Confederate States of America. Judge Campbell was licensed to practise law when only 17 years old. He served as a member of the State Legislature and was a member of the constitutional convention which adopted the ordinance of secession.

There are thousands of not thrive—they only need

Most of us believe that clouds have a silver lining, but few of us make any effort either to turn the clouds round for to get behind them.

Undoubtedly the Industry's Crowning Achievement

From your point of view this announcement is most important.

For herein we set forth the achievement toward which the Willys-Overland organization has aimed for the last eight years.

This achievement in a word is the completion of the gigantic Willys-Overland organization to a point where a comprehensive line of automobiles can be made and marketed under one head.

This means tremendous economies—much greater than ever before.

This means the elimination of all waste, all lost motion and much greater factory efficiency.

This means an even higher grade of cars at much more attractive prices.

All of which means a substantial saving for you on the next car you buy.

For now and for the first time in the history of the automobile business we as one single organization offer the public a full and comprehensive line of automobiles.

This concentration—this greater efficiency—this more effective means of pulling together is going to set a new standard of low priced high-grade automobile values.

For we operate on the basis of—

- one executive organization
- one factory management
- one purchasing unit
- one sales expense
- one group of dealers

—to plan, produce and sell all Overland, Willys and Willys-Knight models.

Buying power is concentrated. Costs are distributed over all these cars. The savings are enormous.

As a result we are producing cars of exceptional quality—and marketing them at unusually low prices.

Every car is built to a rigid standard of performance, comfort and appearance.

The new models are listed in this announcement.
They include Overland models from the snappy comfortable $930 Light Four to the beautiful Light Six Sedan at $2220.

They include also the big, handsome Willys-Knights from the Four at $1800, to the super efficient Eight at $2730.

These new models establish price records, value records and performance records which we believe will prove to the public conclusively that the vast economies of vast production are the key note and manufacturing secret of the greatest value for the least amount of money.

THE CRUSHING OF OATS FOR WORK HORSES IS UNPROFITABLE.

(Experimental Farms Note)

The practice of crushing or grinding oats for horses is increasing. The best authorities have for years contended that grinding oats for draft horses does not pay, and if the meal is made too dusty or fine it may often be injurious.

However, the practice of rolling or crushing has largely replaced grinding in many districts. Many large city companies are now using crushed grain and report favorably as to its economy. Advocates of oat crushing claim great benefits therefrom, such as:

1. Increasing the percentage of digestibility of oats for horses on hard work and having little time for feeding.
2. Greedy feeders are made to eat more slowly.
3. Horses with bad teeth are assisted to digest the grain properly.
4. That twenty-five per cent of grain fed whole is not digested and is lost in the manure unless crushing is adopted.
5. Proper crushing leaves the grain free from dirt and fine meal.
6. Crushing exposes the grain more fully to the digestive juices, thus aiding digestion.
7. That crushing even at a considerable cost is profitable in that grain is saved and that horses are healthier.

These and other arguments are used by advocates of crushing oats for horses. Considering the high cost of grain and also of crushing, it has been considered advisable to conduct an experiment along this line. The results of this trial given herewith appear to answer conclusively most of the above stated claims.

Results of Experiment.

Five teams of horses were selected for this experiment and these were fed experimentally for eight months starting on October, 1915. The object of this trial was a comparison of the same quantity by weight of whole and crushed oats. One horse from each team was started on crushed, and the mate on whole oats, thus insuring a fair comparison as to work performed on each feed. At the end of each month the feeds were reversed in each team. Careful records and weights were kept as to the feeds consumed. All horses received their usual supply of hay, water and salt. Horses were weighed each week.

As all experiments and practical trials have proven the value of some bran in a grain ration the following mixture: oats 5 parts, bran 1 part, was adopted for both the whole and crushed oats.

The first week of each month, the transition period, was disregarded in compiling results. The following observations were made:

1. The gains and losses in the weights of the horses were closely related to general health and vigor.
2. No horses became fat but all remained in good condition in spite of extra heavy work in fall, spring and early summer and regular work in winter.
3. During the whole trial the gains or losses in weight were approximately the same for both whole and crushed grain.
4. The slight difference in weights was in favour of crushed grain but amounted to only 125 lb. gain for 10 horses fed half the time on crushed grain during the eight months.

This is .15 lb. per horse per day. At the average charge of $2.00 per ton for crushing, such slight gains would cost 13c. per pound. However no difference was apparent in health or general condition.

5. When bran was mixed with the whole oats the horses could not eat too much hay, while grain was found in but very small quantities when at all, in the manure.

7. Both from the weights and appearance of the horses and the condition of the manure, crushing did not appreciably increase the digestibility of oats.

8. Whether fed crushed or whole grain horses must have sufficient rest after meals to start digestion at least. If time is short, feed less rather than allow too rapid eating of the regular feed.

In conclusion, it seemed to be definitely shown that, to horses fed in the proper manner, the crushing of oats had little if any advantage and was unprofitable. In other words, the cost of crushing is wasted.

THE IMPLEMENT SHED.

From now on till next spring most of the implements of cultivation will not be used nor will be planters. The place for them and for all implements not in use every day is under the shed. Why? What does a man work for? Implements cost money. Exposure to the elements causes them to rust, warp and decay. When they are gone more work must be done to get more money to buy more implements, when just a little work and a little care at the right time would have made them last a year or two or three longer.

CONTROL OF GRAIN INSECTS.

Pennsylvania Experiment Station Furnishes Some Timely Advice.

C. H. Hadley, Jr., in charge of entomology extension at the Pennsylvania State college school of agriculture and experiment station, reports considerable injury to grain in the bin, especially to seed wheat, this fall. The best way to prevent such injury, according to Mr. Hadley, is to fumigate the bin with carbon bisulphide. This chemical may usually be purchased at drug stores.

The following directions for use are outlined: The bin should be made as nearly airtight as possible. About one pound of the sulphide is necessary for each 100 cubic feet of space. The liquid should be poured into one or more shallow dishes and placed on top of the grain. The bin should then be closed tightly and allowed to fumigate from twenty-four to thirty-six hours. The fumes will penetrate the grain, killing any insects present.

If the grain in the bin is quite deep it is a good plan to insert pieces of gas pipe, each with a stick inside, down into the grain at various points. The stick is then withdrawn and about one-fourth pint of the carbon bisulphide poured into the pipe.

Carbon bisulphide is inflammable; hence it is absolutely necessary to keep lighted cigars, lanterns, etc., well away from the building in which fumigation is taking place. One should not inhale the fumes of the chemical, as they may cause sickness.

Provided fumigation is not continued longer than forty-eight hours the germinating quality of the grain will not be injured.

A Trap Nest.
This is an illustration of a trap nest, not a guillotine. It is designed to help the poultry breeder to find out his good layers and to keep pedigrees. It is very simple. It may be attached to the under side of the dropping board, with the front facing the pen and arranged so that it can be easily removed. The dropping board will then be the roof of the nest.

The rear of nest may be of wire for the sake of ventilation. If the nest is placed on the wall, slats or wire should be inserted from the front of the nest to the wall at a sharp angle to prevent the hen from roosting on the nest. When she enters the nest the hen's back raises the door, which releases the catch and allows the door to shut. The catch should be set so that its edge just holds the door, the position being regulated by a screw or nail at the lower inside edge of the catch. A washer on the screw will prevent it from sticking. The guard around the catch holds the nesting material away. The nest should be visited frequently to release the hens.—Popular Science Monthly.

More Live Stock Needed.
The population of the United States has increased by 24,000,000 people in the last fifteen years, and the number of beef animals has decreased 6,000,000 and sheep 10,000,000, while hogs have increased only 11,000,000.

BARN WISDOM.

"Barns For Wisconsin Dairy Farms" is the title of a new bulletin issued by the Wisconsin experiment station. The following counsel applies most anywhere:

Gambrel roofs give more room for hay than do gable roofs. This is an important point to consider.

The barn should have its length run north and south if the largest amount of direct sunlight is to be let inside. Rectangular shaped barns are more satisfactory than round ones.

The location should be at least 200 feet from the house and handy to a well, sheds and granaries. Drainage is necessary if the stock is to be kept healthy. Concrete is the best product that can be used for the foundation, ground floor and wall of the barn.

Build the barn large enough to meet future needs and to permit the handling of the maximum capacity of the farm. If the new barn just holds the stock at time of building another barn will probably be needed soon.

FAMILIAR QUOTATIONS.

Gems For Which We Are Indebted to Rev. Edward Young.

Among the older English poets sententious quotations from whom have passed into the very warp and woof of our daily speech, the first place, of course, belongs to Shakespeare. The second belongs to Pope and the third to Milton or Dryden, but to the Rev. Edward Young, whose "Night Thoughts" lay on the reading tables of the pious ancestors of those of us who had them. Young has been called "Pope in woolen stockings." Perhaps he would be more accurately described as Pope in cassock and bands.

To him is due the possession by almost every one of the knowledge that "Procrastination is the thief of time," that "we take no note of time but from its loss," that we should "be wise to-day—'tis madness to defer," that "at thirty man suspects himself a fool, knows it at forty and reforms his plan," that none is a fool indeed "but all men think all things mortal but themselves," that "blessings brighter as they take their flight," that "man wants but little, nor that little long" (echoed by Goldsmith), that "by night an atheist half believes a God," that "Death loves a shining mark," that "pygmies are pygmies still, though perched on Alps," that "all may do what has by man been done," that "the man that blushes is not quite a brute," that "too low they build who build beneath the stars," that "an undevout astronomer is mad," that "none think the great unhappy but the great," and that "fondness for fame is avarice of air."

"Infinite archer, would not one suffice?" is a familiar query which he first propounded. The very first line of the first Night in which he achieved his funeral thoughts, "Tired nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep" has often been repeated as Shakespeare's—no doubt by confusion with Macbeth's eulogy of the sleep he had murdered.

VASTNESS OF GREENLAND.

This Ice Crowned Island is as Big as Mexico or Alaska.

Greenland is the largest island in the world. Its total length from Cape Farewell, its southern extremity in 60 degrees north latitude, to Cape Morris K. Jesup, its northern extremity in 83½ degrees north latitude, is in round numbers 1,500 miles, almost exactly the same as the length of the United States on the ninety-seventh meridian, from the mouth of the Rio Grande to where our northern boundary crosses the Red River of the North. The greatest width of Greenland is about the same as the distance from New York to St. Louis.

In regard to its area the figures of various authorities vary widely. It may be sufficient to say that it can be grouped in size with the United States, east of the Mississippi, Alaska, Mexico, Colombia, Persia, Portuguese West Africa and Turkey in Asia.

Its interior is covered with a great sheet of ice rising to elevations of probably 10,000 feet in places and several thousand feet in thickness. The available ice free land is a strip of varying width along the coast, intersected by numerous deep fiords.

When one turns the pages of American arctic exploration Greenland is found more or less intimately associated during over sixty years with all American expeditions, except the Jeannette expedition.

Americans have lifted nearly all of its northwestern and northern coasts out of the arctic night and fog and have twice crossed its northern part. American names stud its coasts, and the name of an American marks its northern extremity, the most northern known land in the world.—Rear Admiral Peary

His Telephone Number.

"Confound it all!" cried a business man. "I've forgotten my new telephone number. I didn't write it down because that's an indication of weakness."

"What about forgetting the number?" said the other man. "Isn't that mental weakness too? Is it the number of your home telephone?"

"Yes."

"Then why not call up your wife and ask her what it is?" And without the slightest hesitation the forgetful man called up the forgotten number and asked his amazed wife what it was.

Handed It Back.

"Why don't you put your mind on it and get a good cook?" demanded Jones impatiently of his wife.

"Well," replied Mrs. Jones sweetly, "I guess it is because I don't know how. I never seemed to have a faculty for selecting people to live with."—Exchange.

Brine.

Brine boils at 225 degrees F., and at this degree the salt is formed. At 165 degrees F. common salt results and fishery, or large grained, at 110 degrees F. The salt crystallizes on the surface of the brine in the pans, floats a little and then sinks to the bottom, leaving it free from fresh crystals.

Changeable.

"He fell in love with a girl whose face he saw on a magazine cover." "Sounds romantic. Did he follow up the romance and marry her?" "Didn't have time. There's another magazine out this month."

Green All Around.

Mrs. Greenbridge (in fish store)—Haven't you any lobsters that are ripe? These look so green.—Boston Transcript.

THE HERALD.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13TH, 1917.

PARLIAMENT has adjourned till April 19 to permit the Premier, Sir Robert Borden, to proceed to the Imperial War Council.

War certificates to the extent of over 15,000, aggregating over a million dollars, have already been sold, and the daily demand now exceeds one thousand certificates a day.

A new Government regulation brought about by the German submarine warfare demands that no Canadian ship be permitted to leave Canada without a license, and only when it is established that the trip will be of useful service.

During the three weeks of the seventh session of the twelfth Parliament which were ended last week by adjournment, more business was put through by the Dominion's law-makers than during any other Parliament in Canadian history.

Mr. C. H. Mortimer, publisher of trade papers, died at his home, in Toronto.

Mr. John Smith, from near Kemptonville, met with an accident while holding a cat, a neighbor's boy making preparations to shoot it. The boy slipped and the gun exploded, the bullet lodging in Mr. Smith's ankle. He was taken to the public hospital at Smiths Falls and had the bullet removed.

Pembroke Housewives' League favors the lifting of the embargo on oleomargarine, and will urge the Pembroke Local Council of Women to petition the Dominion Government to this effect. The league will also encourage this summer the planting of every available piece of ground with some kind of vegetables in the spring.

In the February issue of Rod and Gun, now on the news stands, Bonycastle Dale, the naturalist writer, describes in "Hunting with the Modern Camera" the methods by which he gets near enough to the forest birds and beasts to take some of the remarkable photographs with which his stories are illustrated. "The only danger is from falls and falling trees," he says. There is not anything in the woods of North America that will attack you if unmolested. "The Wood-duck," by E. V. Williams, supplements the cover picture for this month which reproduces in colors that are true to life this rarely beautiful and comparatively scarce species of duck. "Old Frying Pan," a bear story by H. C. Haddon, "Hawks and Other Game Destroyers" by Reginald Gourlay. With a Watch and Compass," "With the Timber Wolves in Northern Canada," etc., etc. along with the regular departments which are well maintained, make up a particularly interesting number of this premier Canadian magazine of outdoor life. W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont., is the publisher.

Cost of Bad Roads.

A company in Stanislaus county, California, that buys skimmed milk from the farmer has demonstrated to the rural residents in an emphatic manner the value of good roads to them. This company sends trucks directly to the farms to collect the skimmed milk, but it pays higher prices for farmers living on good roads than on bad roads. On poor roads the company pays 174 cents per 100 pounds, but on good roads it pays 20 cents. Of course the farmer always has been paying this tax on very hundred pounds he hauled over bad roads and he has been relieved of it on every hundred pounds he hauled over good roads, but that fact has not been brought to his notice as in the case cited. When he measures his distance from town in minutes instead of miles he will realize the profit of good roads—American Lumberman.

MORE BRITISH BLOWS

Another Advance Made on the Somme Front.

Strong System of German Trenches on Southern Front of Ridge North of Beaumont-Hamel Was Captured—The Total Number of Hun Prisoners Exceeded the British List of Casualties.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—British troops captured Saturday night a strong system of German trenches on Serre Hill, north of the Ancre, on a front of over three-quarters of a mile.

Serre Hill is about 500 feet in height and it commands the valley of the Ancre. The British gains bring their lines a considerable distance up this hill.

Two hundred and fifteen Germans surrendered to the British and they went as prisoners to the rear. The British bulletins from France say that the number of prisoners taken exceeded the number of British casualties.

The British had to fight to hold the ground on the Sully-Sallisel Hill, east of the village. They managed to drive back German attacks with heavy losses to the Germans without losing any ground themselves.

The official statement for Sunday reads:

"Another highly successful local operation was carried out last night. A strong system of hostile trenches, lying on the southern front of Serre Hill (north of Beaumont-Hamel), was attacked and captured on a front of over three-quarters of a mile. We captured 215 prisoners, a number considerably exceeding our casualties."

"We repulsed this morning by our fire an enemy attempt to approach our lines south of Sully-Sallisel. We entered for trenches during the night in neighborhood of Pys, southwest of La Bassee, north-east of Neuve Chapelle and south of Fauquissart. Many casualties were inflicted on the enemy and his dugouts destroyed. A number of prisoners were secured. We effectively bombarded the enemy's positions to-day at a number of places along our front."

German attacks against the new British positions east of Sully-Sallisel, on the Somme front, were unsuccessful, according to the official statement from British headquarters in France, issued Saturday night by the War Office. British troops have carried out successful raids in the region of Ypres. The statement reads:

"Last night the enemy attacked our new positions east of Sully-Sallisel after heavy bombardment. The attacks were everywhere unsuccessful and our line was maintained entirely."

"The enemy attempted raids during the night northeast of Neuville-St. Vaast, east of Vermelles and south of Neuve Chapelle, but were repulsed in each case with considerable losses, leaving a few prisoners in our hands."

"A party of our troops entered the enemy's lines east of Neuville-St. Vaast, destroyed a machine gun emplacement and returned without casualties. This afternoon we carried out a very successful raid opposite Givenchy. We captured 25 prisoners, including one officer. In the last 24 hours we have taken 48 prisoners, including two officers. The artillery has been active on both sides of the Somme, in the neighborhood of Serre and in the Ypres sector. Four explosions were caused in the enemy's lines by our fire."

Prompt Victory Promised.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—General Castelnau, chief of the French military delegation at the conference of the Entente Allies at Petrograd, is quoted in a despatch to The Temps from the Roumanian capital, as saying:

"One has only to compare the military situation of the Allies in the month of January, 1916, with that of January, 1917, and he will be compelled to admit that the conditions for the forthcoming spring campaign are much more favorable than they were last year."

"I can say that each day we are coming nearer to the realization of our objects. The brave Russian army, which has assumed the formidable task; the gallant Italian troops, and, finally, the Anglo-French forces, which are increasing in number, constitute the best guarantee of our final victory, which hereafter, will come promptly. In the meantime the military power of the Allies remains unshakable. The Germans have procured success only on secondary fronts."

"With regard to the principal fronts, on which decisive action will occur, our enemies have shown themselves powerless to obtain any serious results."

Food Riots in Austria.

ROME, Feb. 12.—The Vatican has information from Austria that food riots have been repressed with bloodshed, and that frequently soldiers have refused to fire upon the citizens. Several regiments have mutinied, and the situation is very serious. Sensational developments, including a revolution, are feared.

Vatican clergymen and Cardinals have been asked to implore the Pope to stop the war in order to save Germany and Austria-Hungary.

Swiss Protest.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The Swiss Federal Council, in its reply to the German note on the new submarine campaign, enters an energetic protest against the announced blockade and threatens all the rights of Switzerland as a neutral. According to the Havas News Agency Agency's Bernese correspondent: "It expressed confidence, however, that the German Government will take all necessary measures to assure the protection of Swiss interests."

TRUST IN SUBMARINES

Germans Still Hope Piracy Will Win War.

Important Conference Will Be Held to Discuss the Modification of the Ruthlessness in the Case of Neutrals—Austria is Anxious Not to Break With United States, but Must Obey Kaiser.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—An important conference at Headquarters has been called by Emperor William, presumably to discuss the submarine question, says the Exchange Telegraph Company's Amsterdam correspondent Sunday.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, and high army and navy officials will attend, and it is reported that the possibility of negotiations with neutrals for modifying the terms of the recent German memorandum will be discussed.

Reports from Vienna received at The Hague and transmitted by the Exchange Telegraph Company say that the Austro-Hungarian Government is negotiating with American Ambassador Pendleton over the question of allowing Americans to travel unhindered in the Mediterranean, hoping thereby to avert a severance of relations between Austria-Hungary and the United States.

It is not expected, the despatch adds, that the negotiations will succeed, because Germany is anxious to give any pledge regarding Americans, on the ground that it would weaken the blockade in the Mediterranean, and Austria-Hungary is unable to give a guarantee without Germany's sanction.

According to a Geneva despatch to Paris, says that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg counts upon the submarine to end the war quickly.

"Every day badly employed," adds the paper, "is lost for Germany and gained for Britain, which perfects her system of defence. We must hasten our action. Five or six months will suffice. May God grant that we do not renew with our submarines our deceptive experiences with Zeppelins."

SUBS NOT EFFECTIVE.

Hun Campaign of Ruthlessness Not a Success.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—More than 1,100 vessels arrived at or sailed from United Kingdom ports during the first nine days of Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare in British waters, according to an announcement made here Saturday by persons in authoritative touch with British Admiralty officials.

Seven hundred vessels entered United Kingdom ports safely, and 410 departed, according to this information. The Admiralty officials are declared to be convinced that Germany's renewed undersea activity is a failure in so far as it tends to bring about starvation of the people of the British Isles.

Other figures declared to have been received from Admiralty sources, covering the U-boat operations from February 1 to February 9, inclusive, show that sixteen ships escaped after being attacked.

The total number of vessels destroyed within the period, according to these figures, was eighty-nine. Of these, twenty-one were trawlers and smacks.

May Arm Ships.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Administration has under consideration the proposition as to whether it will supply guns to the American Line, to be utilized in arming its merchant passenger liners for defence against German submarine attack. The matter is being considered jointly by the State and Navy Departments, and White House, with whom these departments have been in close touch. It was learned late Sunday night that no decision had been reached.

The matter is being considered from the standpoint of broad general policy. It was learned that there is no basis for objection by the State Department to the furnishing of guns to the company for mounting on their ships, and that the Navy Department is perfectly willing to furnish the necessary guns to the company if the State Department offers no objection, and the President, representing the Administration, is willing. While no decision has been reached, the prospects as they stood Sunday night are understood to rather favor some action being taken in favor of the Navy Department supplying the necessary guns to the company provided the American Line itself will find the necessary gunners for use in manning the guns.

Gerard and Suite to Sail.

ZURICH, Switzerland, Feb. 12.—The correspondent of the Central News learned personally Sunday night by inquiry made of the German and United States embassies, as well as from other authoritative sources, that Ambassador Gerard and his suite will sail for the United States on Feb. 24.

It was stated by some of the newspaper correspondents that there will be but few of the Americans who will brave the present situation, appearing to all that war will involve the United States within the next month at the very latest.

Revitalize Dutch.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 12.—The Telegram suggests that while military movements in Belgium are kept strictly secret, the Germans are willing to let the Dutch know that German troops are at the frontier, and says this procedure is a method of revitalizing the Dutch.

The British troops crushed the rebellion of Tripoli in Egypt. The Roumanian General who has charge of the defence of Bucharest has been degraded and sent to prison.

DISTRICT NEWS.

APPLETON.

Special to THE HERALD.
There has been good skating on the river here just above the bridge all winter, and the young people are having a jolly time every night.
Gordon Paul, who has been a resident for some time, has gone to enlist for overseas and although we are sorry to lose another of our young men we wish him God-speed.

The young people of the village gave a dance on Friday night in Mr. Fuller's new house which is almost finished, and all report a good time. We are glad to see another house here, as houses are very much needed at the present time.
The Excelsior Mission Band held their meeting in St. Andrew's church on Saturday afternoon. Their Band is gradually increasing in numbers and the children take great interest in the work.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. R. C. Fumerton has sustained serious injuries by falling down stairs one day last week. All hope she will soon be quite herself again.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Aid society, held at "Kenmore Farm" last week, the President, Mrs. John Stewart, and the Treasurer, Mrs. T. C. Arthur, handed in their resignations as officers. Mrs. E. H. Turner was elected President. The Ladies of the society expressed sincere gratitude to Mrs. Arthur for her willing and efficient services both in the society and in the general work of the church and regret that Mrs. Arthur is shortly leaving to take up her residence in Carleton Place.

Miss Meda Miller, of Cedar Hill, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Molt-Struthers at present.

Mr. Peter Stevens, of Lindsay, has bred stock at the sale in Lindsay last week.

Miss Lena Struthers is visiting friends in Carleton Place.

We are pleased to see most of our sick able to be out again. The severe cold has been very hard on most of our people.

LANARK.

From the Era.
Master Arnold Cuthbertson, who has been seriously ill with pleurisy, is now in a condition which assures his friends.

Mr. James Martin, manager of the Bank of Ottawa, received word last week of the death of his brother-in-law, Mr. William Hale, which took place at Sault Ste. Marie, on Jan. 29th. Deceased was about 76 years of age and formerly resided at Pembroke. His widow and three sons survive.

Seated in a public auditorium in a military camp in England, Archie Forbes of Queen's Ambulance met Allie Buffum of a western battalion. Lanark will not keep apart. Although these two soldiers had not seen each other since one was a star pitcher on Lanark's diamond and the other was knee high to a grasshopper wondering what it was all about, the magnetism of nativity compelled recognition. "I know your face, but I can't tell your name," was the only barrier to identity, but when the truth flashed upon each and both, they were immediately friends.

Writing under date of Jan. 3rd, the Paris correspondent of the Montreal Star has the following to say concerning Capt. A. D. McConnell, a few years ago assistant pastor of the Methodist church, Lanark-Clayton circuit, who spent New Year's in Paris: Among the Canadians who were able to spend their Christmas in Paris were Col. Lanaudiere, Capt. Gobell, Major Chasse Major B. G. of Quebec, and Capt. McConnell, of Kingston. The two last named hold the fortunate record of never having had to leave their work for one day's sickness or wounds since war broke out.

ALMONTE.

From the Gazette.
Mr. J. H. Conn has purchased the goods of Mr. T. J. Reu. Word was received here on Wednesday to the effect that Pte. Percy James had been wounded. Pte. James went overseas with the 73rd Highlanders, later being transferred to a trench mortar battery and came through the recent severe fighting on the Somme, occupying a trench about two hundred yards from the German lines. Pte. James is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. James.

Miss Ann Scott has left Ottawa and is now on her way to Carleton Place to expect to return to Almonte next week.

After much delay owing to difficulty in getting wire through congestion in the traffic the wiring for the street lighting circuit has been completed and the current was turned on for the first time on Wednesday evening. The street lamps are of the latest type and after the absence of street lights for a time. The main streets are lighted by 400 watt lamps enclosed in handsome pear-shaped globes, one to each post, affixed to nest brackets, while in the outlying sections the lights are placed at intervals of 100 yards. The lamps are 250 watt, frosted with large porcelain shades and are a great improvement over the old arc lamps.

Mr. Frank Bradford, brother of Mr. George Bradford of town, died at his home in Ottawa on Wednesday night, after an illness extending over between three and four years. He was a comparatively young man, being only 55 years of age. He was a stonemason by trade, and was well known here, having worked in Almonte for some time years ago. Mrs. Bradford is still living.

The death occurred at Haileybury on Wednesday, February 7th, of Mr. Aaron Barnett, who was born in Almonte in 1829, and for many years had his home here. Until a few months ago he resided with his son, Mr. Robert Barnett, at 660 Gilmour street, Ottawa, at which time he went to reside with a daughter, Mrs. John McFarlane, at Haileybury. He is survived by two sons, Robert of Ottawa, and William of Pittsburgh; two daughters—Mrs. W. Banning, of Winnipeg; and Mrs. John McFarlane, of Haileybury.

Almonte and Ramsay people heard with regret of the death on Monday last of Elizabeth Foster, wife of Mr. John Oates, governor of the Lanark county gaol. Deceased was one of Ramsay township's finest women, and is remembered for her kindly disposition and generous hospitality. She was sixty years of age, and leaves one son and two daughters, with the husband, to mourn for her.

Under the auspices of the Parish Guild of St. Paul's church, the operetta, "The Wild Rose," was put on in the town hall Monday evening, by Carleton Place talent, under the direction of Mr. F. G. Mann, organist of the Anglican church there. The acting and costumes were both good, and the whole play was much enjoyed by those present. Between the acts solos were given by Miss L. Moore, and Messrs. McCafferty and G. Dummert of Carleton Place; piano duet by Miss Blanche and Master Ronald Saddington; and the little Misses Helen and Naomi Lotan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lotan, in their doll song and "Keep the Home Fires Burning," won unstinted applause. After the entertainment those taking part were entertained at a supper by members of the Parish Guild.

PERTH.

From the Courier.
Mr. Wm. Earle, late of the Albion Hotel here, has leased the Cecil Hotel (the old Allan House) and is putting it in good shape to accommodate the public. The bed-rooms, dining-room, and the inside generally is receiving paint, paper and other decorations, and in the near future Mr. Earle will have a comfortable hotel.

On account of the shortage of globes, many of the town street lights are out. The cold weather and frost has a tendency to break the globes, and at present they are hard to replace.

Married at Almonte.

The Gazette says: A very quiet wedding was solemnized Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. McGregor, Walter Street, when their daughter, Annie V., was united in holy matrimony to Mr. Harry N. Carson, Rev. S. G. Brown performing the ceremony. The bride was becomingly gowned in a dress of navy blue tulle with chiffon and bead trimmings. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Carson drove to Carleton Place en route for New York and from there they will take a trip to Florida and California. On their return they will make their home at Boston, Mass. The many friends of the bride extend congratulations and best wishes for future prosperity to her and Mr. Carson.

Municipal World Explains Law.

In the last issue of the Municipal World the following question is asked—"Local option has been in force here five years the first of May last. Under the Prohibition Act now in force does the hotel have the benefit of its business assessment cut off and a reduction of the property assessment if approved by the Council in office?" Here is the answer given—"Only holders of tavern licenses cancelled by the Ontario Temperance Act are entitled to exemption from tax on business assessment for 1916."

The Duke of Norfolk, ranking member of the English nobility, died in London.

President Butler of Columbia University says Britain has taken 200 German subs.

At Berne, Switzerland, travellers assert that internal troubles are new thick and violent in Germany.

The officials of the miners are satisfied with the proposal of the operators, consumers and Government to settle their trouble, and advise the men to accept it.

The Weser Zeitung of Bremen says that the merchant submarine Deutschland has not started on her third voyage to America and remains in a German port.

Brig. Gen. Garnet Hughes, only son of General Sir Sam Hughes, former Minister of Militia, has accepted the command of the 5th Canadian Division now being organized in England, and has been promoted to be Major-General.

Premier Borden appointed a committee to inquire into the alleged Laurier to nominate four, or deal with the questions affecting returning soldiers.

Chief Coroner Johnson's jury found that Col. W. C. MacDonald came to his death through the negligence of the G.T.R. and the Union Station Company.

Archie Stevenson, of the township of McNab, has purchased two farms, comprising over 400 acres, near Braside, and will engage in raising purebred cattle.

BAR-LE-DUC CURRANTS.

Two Picked Recipes for a Delicious Winter Treat.

Take selected currants of large size, one by one, and with tiny embroidery scissors carefully cut the skin on one side, making a slit one-fourth an inch or less in length. Through this with a sharp needle remove the seeds, one at a time, to preserve the shape of the currant. Take the weight of the currants in strained honey and when hot add the currants. Let simmer two or three minutes, then seal as jelly. If the juice of the currants is very thick, add a little water. The following recipe is less work, but gives a nice preserve: Get the largest size currants, red or white, and stem them without breaking. To each pound allow three pounds of sugar. Take some ordinary currants and bruise them while warm until you have a pint of juice. Put half a cupful of this into a porcelain kettle and three pounds of sugar. Bring slowly to a boil and skim carefully. After boiling five minutes drop in very carefully one pound of the large currants and let simmer four minutes. Take them out without breaking them and boil the sirup down five minutes or longer if not very thick, as the currants are sometimes less juicy than at others. A few minutes more will be needed at one time than another. When thick skim well and strain through a hot cloth over the fruit. Put into little jelly glasses and when cold cover as in jelly making.

PAPER ROPE FOR WEAVING.

A New Occupation For Idle Vacationists This Summer.

Raffia and reed have long been popular for weaving, but now give way to the more practical material—paper ropes. In using this article all necessity of wetting and singeing disappears. It is soft and therefore easy on the hands. The lengths are greater, minimizing the need of continual piecing, and the possibilities in color combination make it far more adaptable. Dainty blue rooms, pink rooms, yellow or violet rooms may have woven waste-baskets, lamps and even whole desk and bureau sets of matching color. A soft finish is often preferred, but if something more durable is desired a coat or two of shellac will produce a hard, glossy finish that will stand any amount of wear. The shellac will keep the basket in shape and will shed dust. It makes no difference how intricate the chosen shape may be, baskets can be made in curved lines or straight, with sharp angles or tapering lines. This is because the foundation is of wire—easy to bend, yet strong enough to hold its shape once formed. Reed baskets are often uneven when finished, for the material is springy and the spokes vary in flexibility.

Even more popular than the baskets just now are the butterfly rope trays and the electric lamps. They are beautiful in any home and also make handsome wedding presents. The work once started becomes of absorbing interest.

Woolen Stockings. These are very attractive woolen stockings made for sport wear. Some of them are striped and others have clocks of bright color. Picnics are the frocks with the skirt trimmed with narrow upstanding flairs that are finished at the bottom with narrow ribbons.

Modern Egypt Was Made

By Genius of Lord Cromer

Prosperous and Strong

EGYPT, the Land of the Pharaohs, and of the pyramids, owes the prosperity of her people more distinctly and exclusively to the activities of one man than perhaps any other land ever did. That man was Evelyn Baring, Lord Cromer, whose death is a vast loss to British statesmanship.

Born, as the saying goes, "with a gold spoon in his mouth," a Baring, a member of the best known of English banking families, Evelyn Baring would not let indolence or apathy lay hold upon him. He chose to go into the Royal Artillery in 1858; he had only risen to a captaincy in 1870. His relative, Lord Northbrook, having become Viceroy of India in 1872, made the young man his private secretary, and Evelyn stayed in India for four years, learning administration in a good school. Made Commissioner of the Egyptian Public Debt in 1877, he studied intelligently the horrible conditions in Egypt. Ismail Pasha was Khedive. Ismail had done something for education, something for improvements, but was a veritable Sardanapalus in his luxury, contemptuous of the common people, ever seeking by intolerable taxation to grind out of them the vast sums needed for his extravagance and for the deals by which he secured extension of power from Constantinople. Every man was taxed. Every animal was taxed twice if it were a meat creature, once otherwise. Every crop was taxed, charcoal was taxed, salt was taxed, butter was taxed, and horrible cruelties were imposed on those who could not or would not pay. The kurbash was in use everywhere. Ismail's vanity was pouring out money on useless efforts to dominate the Soudan and Abyssinia.

Ismail died in 1879 and Tewfik Pasha succeeded him. That same year Baring was made Controller General. He could do little for Egypt then. But after the bombardment of Alexandria that followed the revolt of Arabi Pasha in 1882, and the British occupation, all things were changed. Baring was made British Agent and Consul General in 1883, and served in that capacity till 1907. He had a sufficient British military force, he had virtually carte blanche from London, he ruled Egypt as truly as if he had been Khedive, and he made Egypt what she was before the war broke out in 1914.

Temperamentally Baring, who was made a baron in 1892, a viscount in 1898, and Earl Cromer in 1901, impressed the Egyptians. He was an aristocrat, he maintained a state that made him respected, he was physically courageous, and his very arrogance won support. He got rid of the heavy whip, the kurbash for collecting taxes, he lowered the land tax by 50 per cent. He abolished the corvee or semi-feudal service, exacted from the poor. He ended many of the annoying taxes on persons and personal property. He substituted, in a word, scientific for unscientific taxation. The Fellahs began to be prosperous. The irrigation monopoly of the large landholders was broken up. And the treasury was filled nevertheless. Slavery became "virtually extinct." Law and order ruled. They continued to rule after he left Egypt; they rule now, so far as is possible, with war going on; they will rule after the war is over. The life work of Lord Cromer is secure.

Incidentally, this life work was of vast importance to the British Empire. Egypt contented under British domination, the Suez Canal was safe, communications with India were safe, and Constantinople became a matter of indifference to England, as is shown in the readiness of the English to consent to Russian control of that city and of the Dardanelles.

Of all the administrators who have taken up for England what is called "the White Man's Burden," Lord Cromer was the best type. None ever won more dramatic success. None ever gripped the appreciation of his own people and of the world so quickly as he did. His name belongs to the history of the British Empire.

Preparation to be Made

To Face All New Problems

That Will Follow the War

THE approaching session of the Legislature, which opens on February 13th, will be one of great consequence to the people of Ontario. With the war in its third year and the record of Canada's participation before them, the representatives of the people will gather to take counsel together, to review the course of Ontario's assistance, and to plan for the enlargement of the work of the Government to meet the conditions that will arise when the men of this country are released from their war labors.

The Province as a whole can regard with pride what has been accomplished. In many ways Ontario has rendered signal service to the Dominion and to the Mother Country. A good start has already been made towards organizing for after-war conditions. What is known as the Organization of Resources Committee has made satisfactory progress during the year in stimulating production and aiding patriotic movements all over the Province. Since it was appointed the Soldiers' Aid Commission has been of assistance to a large number of returned men. The colonization policy of the Government under Hon. G. H. Ferguson is being amplified to make settlement in the North easy and attractive as well as in the older parts of the Province. The men who desire to go on the land will be guided and trained, and money, as needed, will be set aside out of the funds of the Province, to help them to re-establish themselves in this way again in civil life.

The newly-formed Department of Labor, with its employment offices in large centres, has been able to meet the labor demands of the Imperial Munitions Board. The floating supply of labor has been directed into channels where it has been utilized to the best advantage. At the same time the Colonization Branch is canvassing the border states for agricultural laborers to help the farmers during the coming season.

At while this has been going on the Department of Highways has prepared a program of construction to keep pace with the growing demands of the country. It was recently announced by Hon. F. G. Macdormid that a system of provincial highways would be established extending from Windsor to the Quebec boundary to form the backbone of a larger system that would make farm life in Ontario comfortable, attractive, and profitable. All but a few counties have come under the Highway Improvement Act, and those remaining are expected to come to a decision shortly.

Following the practice of former years the Department of Highways is holding a conference for county road superintendents and engineers early in February. In past years these gatherings have been profitable and instructive. Interest is increasing as the good roads movement grows, and to-day Ontario is abreast of the most progressive communities in this work, and in some respects may be said to be showing leadership.

The forthcoming budget of Hon. T. W. McGarry, Provincial Treasurer, will be important as showing a wise and careful disposition of the finances for the year. In the three years that Mr. McGarry has been in charge of the finances of Ontario the Department has made conspicuous strides towards efficiency.

Western Christian Union.—Two pastor's wives were visiting together. One said: "I don't know what we will do—my husband is so discouraged. Somehow his people do not care to hear him preach, and our salary is far behind. My husband feels so blue that he does not like to visit his people and pray with them, and so he sits around at home nearly all the time." The other sister said: "We are getting along fine. My husband spends much of his time visiting and the people like to have him kneel and pray with them in their homes. Our congregations are always good, and our salary is paid up promptly." While the first wife was mending her husband's trousers, the other was mending her husband's trousers at the knees.

All Europe Going on a Ration Basis.

The British Food Controller has urged the people of the United Kingdom to limit themselves to four pound of bread, two and a half pounds of meat and three-quarters of a pound of sugar per capita weekly. In case voluntary restriction proves insufficient a rationing system will be introduced and the machinery for this is already being prepared.

Switzerland, because of limitation on her imports, is already preparing for rationing her people. Indeed it looks as if in all Europe people will ere long be compelled to limit their food supplies by what the governments are prepared to allow.

Has the Deutschland Been Captured?

The German mercantile submarine Deutschland was reported to have sailed from Bremen for the United States on Jan. 2nd. Since then nothing has been publicly heard of her. As her first westward trip was made in 16 days, it is believed there is ground for the rumor that she was captured by the British while on the way to America, and that she is now in a British port in company with the German merchant submarine Bremen, which was reported captured by the British on her first voyage to New York.

KNEW TOO MUCH.

Tennyson's Father Had to Fly For His Life From Russia.

Shortly after the assassination of Emperor Paul of Russia, Tennyson, the father of the poet, dined with Lord St. Helens, the British ambassador, in Moscow. Several Russian officers of high rank whose names he did not know were also guests. During dinner a guarded reference was made to the emperor's death.

"Why do you speak so gingerly about a matter so notorious?" cried Tennyson impulsively, leaning across his neighbor a Russian whose breast was covered with orders. "We know very well in England that the Emperor Paul was murdered. Count Zoffo knocked him down, and Benningens and Count Pahlen strangled him!"

There was a strained silence; then the ambassador abruptly changed the subject. As the guests fled out into an adjoining room Lord St. Helens drew Tennyson aside. "Don't go into the next room," he whispered, "but fly for your life. The man next you, across whose breast you leaned, was Count Pahlen, and Zoffo was also at the table."

He gave a few hurried glances at Tennyson and then rushed off, threw his clothes into a portmanteau and fled behind fast horses to Odessa, still in evening garb, though the cold was intense. He lay hidden for weeks and at last, in the disguise of a servant, was smuggled on board an English frigate.

A Wise Provision.

Did you ever notice when a man smites his thumb with a hammer while putting down a carpet under his wife's supervision how quickly he thrusts the bruised and throbbing member into his mouth? People think it is because the application is soothing. But the movement is purely involuntary, like winking. The man cannot help it. The fact is that nature knows what a man is apt to say under such circumstances and so has provided him with an automatic stopper. Whenever he hits his thumb hard enough to hurt—and it doesn't take a very hard blow almost to kill a man when he is doing something he doesn't like to do—by a sort of interlocking system his thumb flies into his mouth, and for the critical moment speech is cut off.

When Dick Came Home

He Discovers His Mistake.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Dr. Mansfield stood in the doorway and beamed kindly upon the merry dancers who were tripping over the polished floor. It was Ella's birthday, and this dance given by the doctor for his adopted daughter had been talked about in Shropton for many weeks beforehand. Ella herself, tall and fair, with restless blue eyes, that seemed always seeking Dick Allen when he was not beside her, was dancing with Frank Miller. Frank would gladly have married the doctor's pretty daughter, but every one knew that she was only waiting for Dick Allen to make up his mind.

Her roving eyes saw Beth Page smiling up at Dick's downcast face. The two were standing together—Dick so tall and Beth so tiny and so very charming in spite of her cheap, home-made dancing frock, which had cost twenty times less than Ella's rose pink crape.

Beth was saying something now in her frank, open manner. "You haven't danced once with Ella, and it is her party, Dick."

"I'm going now," he said guiltily. "Save another one for me, Beth."

"You've had your share," she retorted as he moved away.

Ella greeted him with a haughty tilt of her chin, and when he asked her to dance she shook her head. "You are too late, Dick," she said coldly, although her voice was very near to tears.

"Then you will talk with me until some one comes and takes you away?" he urged, for now he was under the magic sway of her beauty.

"I cannot, but I have the supper dance. I saved it for you, Dick," she cried hastily.

"For me? Oh, you have honored me!" he cried contritely. And he was so remorseful that he would not go near Beth until after supper.

Dr. Mansfield, watching his young people, saw Ella's unhappy face and wished in his blundering way that he could help matters along. He liked Dick and would gladly have welcomed him into the family. He wondered why Dick was holding back the important question.

Dick himself was wondering that while he danced the supper dance with Ella and afterward led her into the dining room, where supper was spread at a great round table with many little flanking tables.

The birthday cake was placed before Ella, and when the time came she was to cut it.

"There is a ring in it and a thimble and a coin," she told Dick.

"A ring? What does that signify?" he asked carelessly.

"Oh, a wedding for the lucky finder." "And the coin?"

"Riches." "And the thimble?"

"Spinsterhood—alas!" she sighed.

Now Ella was cutting the cake. There was much laughter and gay chatter. Dick noticed that she watched the slices closely as they fell beneath the silver knife.

He saw the ring in its twisted waxed paper plainly imbedded in the cake. Ella saw it too. The silver knife poised, trembled and then went swiftly over to the other side of the loaf and began to cut.

Dick felt dizzy for a moment, and then he was glad that he had seen it in time.

Ella had cheated. She had seen the ring and was saving it for herself. All the while Dick was shocked he was thinking that Beth Page never would have done such a thing. Beth would have taken whatever luck came along and gone blithely on her way.

"What is the matter?" Ella's voice broke through the gale of merriment about him.

"Why—why—nothing," he stammered.

"Why don't you look happy?" asked Ella. "Don't you see what has happened?"

Dick looked at the bit of waxed paper in one of her hands and the sparkling sapphire ring on her right hand.

"I drew the ring!" she exclaimed. "You drew the ring," he repeated stupidly.

"And Frank Miller drew the coin. Frank will be rich!"

"And the thimble?" he asked, not because he cared, but because he was trying to adjust his thoughts. Ella had cheated, and he had thought he loved her.

Now he felt only contempt for her and pity.

"The thimble," she was saying carelessly. "Oh, Beth Page drew the thimble! Isn't it odd that she should draw the symbol of spinsterhood just when she is going to marry Frank Miller? At least that is what every one says."

The next day Dick went away. A good opening had been waiting for him in a nearby city, and he had delayed accepting it because he had been playing with Love. And now that Love had flouted him he was going away where amid new scenes he might forget. Ella had proved herself a cheat, and Beth was going to marry another man.

a lover of adventure. So he was. But the idea of a rescue of a woman from the Russian government was so wild, so innately near the impossible, that for a time it never entered his head. When it did it was banished, but to return and keep returning till it occurred to him that he possessed one element of success that was not to be despised, especially in Russia. He had plenty of money, and Russian officials were amenable to bribery. No sooner did the fact present itself to him than he gave himself up to concocting a plan by which he might assist Lisa Dmitrievna to escape from Kara.

A prominent American journalist had some years previously obtained permission from the Russian government to inspect the Kara prison and write a report of the treatment of the prisoners there. It occurred to Champlin that such permission would be of great help to him. Since his efforts were to be entirely dependent upon the use of money he thought he might as well begin at once. But this first move was independent of bribery. He from whom permission must be given was of the imperial blood, and to attempt to bribe him might spoil everything.

Champlin went to England and bought a newspaper. Immediately its columns contained bitter attacks upon the Russian government for the treatment of prisoners at Kara. Champlin saw to it that these articles were largely copied, and he employed persons to send clippings to the czar. It was not long before a protest was sent to his paper by the official charged with the administration of prisons. The editor of the paper wrote that if permission were given a representative to inspect the prisoners of Kara an article would appear in the Journal giving a true account of what he saw.

It was a happy day for the American when the desired permit came. He had meanwhile been gathering funds for corrupting prison officials and had all he wanted. Having converted a sufficient amount into Russian money, he started for Siberia.

It is questionable if Champlin would have been able to make even a beginning had he not been favored by fortune. Lisa's father was a trusted officer of the czar. His daughter had not been convicted of assassination or intended assassination. She was in league with revolutionists and had been caught in suspicious actions. These facts enabled the general to obtain for his daughter a transfer to what is called the Free Command, which means that those confined there live in huts instead of prisons and are in so far their own masters.

While Champlin was being shown over the prisons—they had been put in the best possible shape for the inspection—he was keeping an eye open for his purpose. When he learned that Lisa had been transferred to the Free Command his heart beat high with hope. He at once expressed a desire to inspect this portion of the institution and was given permission to do so. On his arrival there Lisa's cabin was pointed out to him, and, going to the door, he knocked. A woman keeper answered the summons, and upon his showing an order to inspect any portion of the institution he was admitted. Lisa was sitting at a window sewing. She looked up at the visitor and recognized him at once, but he did not change countenance himself, and she restrained hers.

"I desire to question this prisoner," he said to the keeper, "she being free to tell me what I wish to know."

The woman read his permit carefully, then went into the other of the two rooms which composed the cabin and shut the door. Champlin, having satisfied himself, or rather, Lisa having assured him, that he was not spied upon, spoke freely in a low tone. Lisa, overwhelmed that he should have come to Kara in her interest, seized his hand and kissed it. But that time should not be lost he proceeded at once to question her with a view to laying a plan for her escape.

His first query was, "Can your keeper be bribed?" Lisa told him that she could if the bribe were large enough. If she permitted Lisa to escape, she remaining, it would go hard with her. She must be paid for that.

Presently Champlin went into the room where the woman was, and when he came out he had left with her 40,000 rubles ($20,000), which she at once buried under the floor of the hut. For this she was to resign her position, stating that she desired to go to her home in Russia.

Leaving the hut, Champlin visited the officer in charge of the entrance to the Kara establishment.

"Colonel," he said, "one of the keepers in the Free Command has resigned her position and desires to return with me to Russia. I fear you may think that I am taking a prisoner instead. Lest you should feel bound to delay me till the matter can be investigated, I leave with you a little present contained in this package."

The colonel took the package into another room, examined it and found a hundred thousand rubles. His eyes stood out of his head, but when he returned to Champlin he merely said: "I will not delay you."

The next day the journalist completed his inspection, and in the morning, just before break of day, he drove out of the prison yard with Lisa's keeper, thickly veiled. As soon as they were out of sight and hearing the woman's veil was thrown off, and Lisa sprang into her preserver's arms.

A few months later Fred Champlin appeared among his friends in America with a Russian wife. But he did not dare tell that he had taken her from the Free Command of the Kara mines. There is no extradition treaty for political prisoners between the United States and Russia. But both Fred and Lisa felt easier at not publishing the fact that she was wanted in Siberia.

AUTOINTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

The Dangerous Condition Which Produces Many Well Known Diseases.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THIS TROUBLE

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" — The Wonderful Fruit Medicine — will Protect You

Autointoxication means self-poisoning, caused by continuous or partial constipation, or insufficient action of the bowels.

Instead of the refuse matter passing daily from the body, it is absorbed by the blood. As a result, the kidneys and skin are overworked, in their efforts to rid the blood of this poisoning.

Poisoning of the blood in this way often causes indigestion, loss of appetite and disturbed stomach. It may produce headaches and sleeplessness. It may irritate the kidneys and bring on pain in the back, rheumatism, gout, and rheumatic pains. It is the chief cause of eczema—and keeps the whole system unhealthy by the constant absorption into the blood of this refuse matter.

"Fruit-a-lives" will always cure Autointoxication or self-poisoning—as "Fruit-a-lives" acts gently on bowels, kidneys and skin, strengthens the bowels and tones up the nervous system.

Out of the War.

"Through its destruction of men and monuments the war has given to surviving Europeans more ruggedness and firmer character and a realization of the fact that it is dangerous to bury oneself in a past that the present has set about abolishing, and that a settled state of mind tends to form prejudices, and to become old faster than the nation itself. But there remain to us a sufficient number of traces of our ancient glory—traces sometimes painfully shattered and for that reason all the more precious—to permit us to find in the past a criterion and a point of comparison for our new enterprises. The deserted cottage is loved all the more when we return to it. The field that has been made barren by a thunderous rain of steel will be cultivated with even more perseverance for its having been for a time a waste. The mutilated cathedrals predispose one to a firmer faith. On visiting our battlefields and sojourning in our shattered cities, which recovery will quickly make more prosperous, you will better understand what good fruit lies in traditions that upheld and comforted us when the present appeared to hold only ruin and disaster."—Jules Bois, in the February Century.

High-priced Eggs.

The Hamilton Patriotic Fund had one unique contribution. Twelve dozen eggs were delivered at headquarters, with some verses by a Canadian hen, stating that she was unable to go herself, but felt she ought to do her bit. These were auctioned off by Robert Hobson in dozens, and realized $291, some dozen lots bringing the fabulous price, even in these times of high prices, of $30.

No New Slang.

There is no new slang under the sun. Those "characteristic Americanisms" such as "take it from me," "the real stuff," "piker," "sure thing," and so on, have been traced to Sheridan, Thackeray, Smollett, Dickens, and others, and are in common use in Great Britain, while there appears to be little question that Aristophanes was the first to use the expression, "We take the cake."

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VII.—First Quarter, For Feb. 18, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John iv, 43-54. Memory Verses, 49-51—Golden Text, Matt. viii, 13—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The story of today is called the second miracle in Galilee, and it was wrought at the same place as the first, in Cana of Galilee. Verses 46, 54, compare chapter ii, 2, 11. At the marriage he manifested forth His glory, and it was on a third day (chapter ii, 1, 11), and I must confess to a special delight in working out the third day and the glory of kingdom veins of truth in the Scriptures, believing that it is only as the glory of His kingdom takes hold of us that we shall be the faithful followers we ought to be in this present evil age. It would seem from verses 43, 46, that this was another third day event, though it is just possible that there may have been an interval of a day or two between the two verses, but I think not. The marriage of the Lamb is the next great event in the future, and counting a thousand years as one day, it will probably be the third day in the morning. Somewhere about that time will be the redemption of Israel, as it is written in Hos. vi, 2, "After two days will He revive us; in the third day He will raise us up, and we shall live in His sight."

Our Lord seemed to have the same thing in view when He said, "Behold, I cast out devils, and I do cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected" (Luke xiii, 32). It will be the time of the resurrection of a righteous Israel, according to Isa. xxv, 8, 9; xvi, 19-21; Dan. xii, 13, when "the King of Israel, the Lord, shall be in the midst of them and they shall not see evil any more" (Zeph. iii, 15). Note the sayings already in this gospel concerning the Son of God, the King of Israel; heaven opened and Jacob's vision a reality, the temple of His body raised up, the kingdom which can only be entered by the new birth, the saying about the bridegroom and the bride, His declaration that he was the Messiah and His reference to the harvest (chapters i, 50, 51; ii, 20, 21; iii, 3, 5, 29; iv, 26, 35). Surely we cannot but be fully persuaded that the kingdom and the glory were the joy ever before Him which enabled Him to endure (Heb. xii, 2). And how can we, His followers, hope to endure in any other way?

This teaching will not bring us honor or from men, but the honor which cometh from God only will more than suffice (iv, 44; v, 44). The Galileans believed because they saw the things that He did at Jerusalem, and I do not know any truths which will work in us the Christ life like those concerning His coming and kingdom. A letter just in from the Philippines tells of a worker whom many people think queer because of these truths, but the remark was added that her lovely life wins many people to Him. That is the one thing worth while. The healing of the nobleman's son in this connection makes us think of the time of the kingdom when the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick; the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity (Isa. xxxiii, 24).

After He had spoken the kingdom truths of Matt. v-vii He gave samples of the kingdom in the healings of chapters viii and ix. While the kingdom is postponed because of His rejection, we may not expect kingdom miracles, though in His great grace He has wrought many for many of His simple minded believers and has made it manifestly true that His word stands "according to your faith be it unto you." We may journey with this nobleman and imagine something of his heartache as, having left his son at the point of death, he seeks the Great Physician. We may not know how He was encouraged to believe that the Lord Jesus would help him, for the healings at Capernaum of the demon possessed man, and Peter's wife's mother, and the centurion's servant, and the ruler's daughter, seem all to have taken place after this. But he must somehow have seen or heard enough to convince him that there was help for him, though he seemed to think it necessary that Jesus should accompany him home (verse 49). That gracious word, "Go thy way; thy son liveth" (verse 50), did its work in both father and son, for the father went his way believing and found on reaching home the next day that the boy had been healed at the very time that Jesus had said the word. One result was that the man's whole household believed in Jesus. Just as the Galileans who had been to Jerusalem saw His works and believed, so this household saw and believed, and there are still those who need to see something of the power and grace of God in human lives to lead them to believe, and they ought to see it, for His life should be manifest in His redeemed (II Cor. iv, 10, 11). For saved souls like Thomas it is always true "Blessed are they that have not seen, yet have believed" (John xx, 29). The verb "to believe" is found in some form in this gospel ninety-nine times and reminds us that without faith it is impossible to please God, and also that the only way to be filled with joy and peace is by believing (Heb. xi, 6; Rom. xv, 13). We may well ask ourselves, Do we know this same Jesus?

LOST IN LOVE.

All Weatherers Were Alike to These Two Dreamers.

A Man and a Maid who walked along the garden paths were observed by the Moon, the Roses and the Night Wind.

"Here come two lovers," chuckled the Moon. "I will shine my silver best for their sakes."

"Here come two lovers," murmured the Roses. "Let us send forth our sweetest perfume to greet them."

"Here come two lovers," sighed the Night Wind. "I will whisper to them of the magic that lies in a summer night."

But the Moon suddenly blotted the smile from his face. "We will not trouble ourselves," he declared. "These lovers are the same two who walked the garden paths but yesternight. And, for all we did our best to please them, what did they in return? They spoke no word of my beauty—either of them."

"And they never noticed us," complained the Roses.

"I remember them well," sniffed the Night Wind. "They only said, 'It is a beautiful evening' and gave us no credit at all. Let us do all we can to punish them."

So the Moon hid behind the darkest cloud he could find. And the Roses withheld their perfume. And the Night Wind turned chill and rustled the dry leaves dismally, and even succeeded in finding a few stray raindrops and flinging them in a dank, grayish mist across the garden paths.

"It's a beautiful evening!" said the two lovers.—Ella Randall Pearce in Life.

A 1,000 Year Prophecy.

One ancient prophecy at least should now be fulfilled as an outcome of this war. Nearly a thousand years ago it was foretold that the event which our Jingoos of the seventies refused to contemplate would come to pass. "By the vulgar of every rank" (in Constantinople) says Gibbon, "it was asserted and believed that an equestrian statue in the same square of Taurus was secretly inscribed with a prophecy, how the Russians, in the last days, should become masters of Constantinople." The statue had been brought from Antioch, was melted down by the Latins, and was supposed to represent either Joshua or Bellerophon, "a curious dilemma," as Gibbon puts it. But of the existence of the prophecy there is no doubt.—London Chronicle.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Organization Meeting—The Chairman and Secretary and Treasurer Re-Elected.

The Carleton Place Board of Education met as per statute, on Wednesday, February 7th, the following members in attendance: Messrs. N. M. Riddell, C. McIntosh, J. S. L. McNeely, G. T. Fulton, J. S. Richards, W. J. Muirhead, J. Patterson, G. M. Warren, T. B. Caswell and G. A. Cornell.

The secretary called for nominations for the position of chairman, when Mr. Riddell was again elected on motion of Messrs. McNeely and Richards.

On motion of Messrs. Warren and Muirhead, Mr. C. H. Abbott was re-elected secretary at the same salary, viz., $100.00.

Moved by Mr. McIntosh, seconded by Mr. McNeely, that Mr. A. R. G. Peden be re-elected treasurer at the same salary of $75.00—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. McIntosh and Muirhead the Board proceeded with the regular order of business.

The chairman appointed Messrs. McIntosh, Richards and Muirhead a committee to strike the standing committees and report forthwith.

During the committee's absence the chairman suggested that it would be a good idea to have the annual meeting of the Board changed from the first Wednesday in February to the first Wednesday in July in order that there should be no change in the committees during the school year.

Mr. McNeely thought the date was fixed by statute for February and doubted if it could be changed. It might be well to memorialize other boards on the matter however.

The special committee then reported the standing committees as follows:

Finance—Messrs. McIntosh, Fulton and Brown.

Contingent, North Side—Messrs. Warren, Muirhead and Cornell.

South Side—Messrs. Richards, McNeely and Patterson.

Printing—Messrs. McCallum, Caswell and Cornell.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. McIntosh and Richards.

The chairman suggested that cards be printed showing the members of the several committees, the teachers on the staff, etc. This was referred to the Printing Committee.

The minutes of last meeting were then read and adopted.

The chairman's report for the high school stated there were 114 on the roll, $1 less than last year. He referred to the vacancies on the staff owing to illness. He also reported that the old furnace would not heat the far side of this school in severe weather.

Mr. Robertson, reporting for the public school, stated there were 608 on the roll, with an average attendance of $13, an average of 13 less than last year. He reported the heating of the Stanley ward school unsatisfactory and the sweeping not properly attended to. He had received $15.91 from the Strathcona Trust Fund as Carleton Place's share for physical culture work in the school. There were a number of boys who were willing to take up farm work after Easter. He called the Board's attention to a long list of supplies still needed to complete the minimum equipment.

Letters were read: From Miss Ewing, asking for leave of absence, owing to illness, until midsummer; from the Canadian Defense League, asking for support in a petition to the Government to change the regulations; from Miss Sherlock, asking for 4 1/2 days' remuneration for teaching in the public school; from the James Smart Mfg. Co., asking for a testimonial for their furnace.

Moved by Mr. McNeely, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, that leave of absence be granted to Miss Ewing as requested by her, and that a qualified teacher be advertised for to take up her work during her absence.—Carried.

Mr. Richards said the caretaking in the central school and the Nichols building was unsatisfactory. There was considerable difficulty in heating the central school, some of the rooms requiring to be dismissed during the severe weather. He laid the blame at the door of the caretaker, and stated he had another man in view to take up the work but he would require $500 salary.

Mr. McNeely said he had seen the man in question, Mr. Alex. McLaren, and he thought he would be a satisfactory man. He recommended that Mr. Wilkinson be given his notice and Mr. McLaren engaged.

The chairman suggested the matter be left in the hands of the Contingent Committee if the salary was satisfactory to the Board.

A number of accounts were read and the Finance Committee recommended payment on motion of Messrs. McIntosh and Fulton:

Moved by Mr. Richards, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, that the Contingent Committee for the south side be authorized to engage Mr. McLaren at $500, and that the secretary notify Mr. Wilkinson that his services will not be required after one month.—Carried.

The chairman stated he would sign an order for Miss Sherlock's pay.

Mr. Richards suggested that the chairman supervise the purchase of supplies required for the public school.

Mr. McNeely reported that the furnace in the north side of the high school gave excellent satisfaction under normal conditions. He suggested a change which would effect a saving of fuel after school hours.—The Contingent Committee will deal with the matter.

The Board then adjourned.

LOYALTY IN CARLETON PLACE.

Editor HERALD.

Dear Sir:—I desire to thank you very much for all your kindness to the 240th, and your generous treatment in your business transaction with us.

There is a matter which I think the people of Canada should know about the Citizens of Carleton Place. In visiting your Public Schools lately, Principal Robertson asked the scholars in one of the rooms "for all those who had relatives in khaki to stand up," and to my agreeable surprise every child stood up. Where in the Empire could this be repeated? It certainly could not be surpassed anywhere.

What splendid men and women their parents must have been! Such loyalty to a state and high ideals in a community is not met with everyday and as an officer in His Majesty's Citizens' army, I congratulate Mr. Robertson upon the fact that his teaching must have been of the proper mould or such eminently creditable results could not be attained.

With many thanks again and best wishes believe me

Yours respectfully,
LENNOX IRVING.

LANARK L.O.L. ANNUAL COUNTY MEETING.

The annual county meeting of Lanark County L.O.L. was held in the village of Lanark on Tuesday, Feb. 6th, there being a morning and afternoon session. The County Lodge was opened by Worshipful County Master Joseph H. Ebbs in the chair. The morning session was given over chiefly to the hearing of reports of committees and the appointment of committees to arrange the subject-matter of business to be dealt with in the afternoon so as to ensure expeditious and orderly discussion and treatment. The Primary Lodges under the oversight of the County Lodge have a membership of over 1,000, which is steadily increasing in numbers and influence. A goodly representation of its members are in the service of king and country and quite a few have already made the supreme sacrifice. The county association is in a flourishing condition in every way and has within its membership some of the outstanding men of the county. The afternoon session was the business session of the day, and under the skillful and masterly oversight of Worshipful County Master Ebbs, put through a large docket of business. The various sections of the County and their lodges were represented. The Master's address was sane, judicious and appropriate. Other subjects dealt with were of outstanding importance and elicited helpful discussion. The following are the officers for the ensuing year: Worshipful County Master, Norman H. McPherson; Chaplain, Rev. J. C. MacLeod; Sec. Sec'y, John H. James; Fin. Sec., R. J. Sample; Treas., Robt. Lyle; Director of Ceremonies, S. J. Lowe; Lecturer, Thos. McFarlane; 1st Deputy Lecturer, George Snider; 2nd Deputy Lecturer, Wm. Langstaff. The above officers were duly installed by Past County Master Robt. Lyle. The next place of meeting was set for Almonte on the first Tuesday of February, 1918, at the hour of 10 a.m.

BYLAWS PASSED.

On motion Mr. A. E. Cram was appointed to the Board of Health, the bylaw being read the requisite number of times.

A bylaw to borrow $12,000 for current purposes was introduced and read three times and passed, the rate being fixed at 5 1/4 p.c.

The bylaw to appoint an Assessor, was introduced and read the necessary three times and passed, the blanks being filled with the name of G. A. Cornell and the amount $235.

A discussion took place, Messrs. Bates and Cameron being of opinion that the assessment is still far from satisfactory.

Mr. Donald stated that he would like to see date of paying first instalment of taxes made earlier in the year. Would move to amend bylaw later on.

On motion, Mr. Cameron, of Montreal, representing the Northern Electric Co., was heard before Council regarding a storage battery system. It is claimed for this system that greater efficiency is obtained whilst the cost of maintenance is very much less than the present gravity system. Cost of operating about $12 a year; of present plant from $200 to $300. Estimated cost of a plant for Carleton Place is now $944, set up and installed. The saving in four years would pay for the entire plant and it is then good for 40 years if properly cared for. No chance of wiring was necessary.

Moved by Mr. Donald, seconded by Mr. Cameron, that the Fire and Light Committee visit Smiths Falls and inspect the fire alarm system and report their finding and recommendation at a meeting of Council to be held on Monday evening, Feb. 19th.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Nichols, seconded by Mr. Pattie, that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to sign agreement with Bates & Innes re deed for street and right of way for sewers over their property.—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. Hughes and McNeely the Council adjourned to the 19th instant.

A Havas despatch from Barcelona, Spain, says that Ambassador Gerard will sail from that port for the United States on a Spanish trans-Atlantic liner.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."

LITTLE WORRIES IN THE HOME

These Bring the Wrinkles and Pallid Faces That Make Women Look Prematurely Old.

Almost every woman at the head of a home meets daily many little worries in her household affairs. The care of her little ones, the work about the house all contribute to these worries. Most of them may be too small to notice an hour afterwards, but they constitute a constant strain that affects the blood and the nerves and make women look prematurely old. The effect of these little worries may be noticed in sick or nervous headaches, fickle appetite, tiredness after slight exertion, and the coming of wrinkles which every woman dreads. To those thus afflicted Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer a speedy cure; a restoration of color to the cheeks, brightness to the eye, a hearty appetite and a sense of freedom from weariness. Among the many thousands of Canadian women who have found new health and strength through these pills is Mrs. G. Strasser, Acton, West, Ont., who says:—"I am the mother of three children and after each birth I became terribly run down. I had weak, thin, blood, always felt tired, and unable to do my household work. After the birth of my third child I seemed to be worse, and was very badly run down. I found the greatest benefit from the Pills and soon gained my old time strength. Indeed after taking them I felt as well as in my girlhood, and could take pleasure in my work. I also used Baby's Own Tablets for my little ones and have found them a splendid medicine for childhood ailments."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can procure them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.
