amusing. He says that Mr. Laurier's stand for the liberty of the subject has gained for him "the applause of the most fanatical Protestants-Presbyterians, Methodists, and especially Freemasons." In this and other English-speaking Provinces, the Liberal leader was supported not only by the majority of the Presbyterians and Methodists, but by the majority of other religious bodies, with probably one exception. Not only Freemasons, but Oddfellows, Foresters, Chosen

Friends, members of Irish Benevolent

Society, St. George's Society, St. Andrew's Society, and friendly and benevolent organizations generally, supported Liberal candidates without regard to religious predilections. The Individual much credit for it to himself, but mentioning the names of Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Tarte, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Blair, each of which was received with cheers. He declared that the young men of Canada were with the Liberal party because its cause is the cause of justice, tolerance, generosity, all of which are placed in the hearts of the young by Providence. There are thorny questions to settle, that some wicked Liberal set them on but we can settle them by applying that some wicked Liberal set them on foot to discredit Joseph Chamberlain these principles, the principles of Gladstone, Bright, O'Connell, Lacord-R. It is necessary, in the interests of the country, to preserve harmony among the different races that comprise it, and these difficulties will be settled, not by coercion, but by conciliation. ada is not yet a great country," said Mr. Laurier, "but it will become so in time. I am of the French race, and I am proud of my birth, but, in spite of that, I do not dream of a small French republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence. I want a great Canadian nation, in which all the different eleare standard-bred, together with a number of trotting brood mares with foals at foot and now in foal to trotting stallion Five Points; also some mares with foals to imported coach horse Royal Duke, three registered thoroughbred brood mares, all supposed to be in foal, and a number of young stock suitable fer saddle, carriage and light driving purposes. A good chance for farmers to secure a brood mare of high breeding, as it is well known that mares of great merit will be sold at this sale. Sale will be held at 11:30 a.m. on other nations in arts, sciences, literature and commerce. I do not advantageously see why they cannot compete in arts, science and literature. As to commerce, I hope they will be able to do so some day. Assuredly this continent is large enough for every creed and nationality. What I wish s the ideal. It has always been my dream, and it is the programme of the new Liberal Administration, and it will be accomplished with the help of our young men." Having referred in comolimentary terms to all the young men elected in Quebec and elsewhere, Mr. Laurier expressed the greatest confidence in the future of the Liberal party, and said all they had to do Stock may be inspected at Westera Hotel stables the day before the sale, or at the owner's private stables, 860 Waterloo street.

SARNIA'S ANNUAL MEET. The Sarnia Bicycle Club's annual meet, to be held on Wednesday, Aug. 19, is a leading topic in the western section of cycledom. The S. B. C. afways puts up a first-class list of at-tractions and prizes. It has a superb, record-breaking bicycle track; abun-dant good cheer for the entertain-ment of visitors is a feature, while the club sustains a wide reputation for conducting its race meets in a manner calculated to inspire the conidence of cyclists and the public generally. This year's meet will doubt-less be no exception. The attractions of the Sarnia meet of 1896 will include a special mile matched race in heats, for $150, between the champions, Mc-Leod and Loughead. In addition there will be a list of first-class amateur and professional events, as follows: Amateur-One mile novice, one mile open, two mile handicap. Professional -Half-mile open, one mile open, two mile tandem, one mile invitation, best two in three heats, for a purse of $150.

THE TRE. DETROIT SUMMER MEETING. Detroit, Mich., August 5.-The summer meeting of the Detroit Jockey Club opened at Grosse Pointe track yesterday. Only two favorites were successful, outsiders winning in four events. The international Derby, a sweepstake for 3-year-olds, worth $3,-000, was won by Damien, a rank outsider, and a 15 to 1 shot. In the stretch Damien, who had been trailing the leaders, began to come fast, and had his field beaten a furlong from home, winning by two lengths from Nimrod, who was a head in

Councilor Hamilton said that the constable was evidently too much crowded with work outside of the village to attend to the south end of the town, at any rate. There the sidewalks were in a very bad condition, with so many cows and horses running at large. Councilor Moore—It is not only the case with the south end of the town, but also in the north end. The matter was referred to the reeve to have a personal interview with Mr. Ward and explain matters to him. The sum of $260 was transferred to the school account. Tax collector Campbell submitted his roll, and stated he had great difficulty in collecting the taxes because the roll was not up to date. He also complained that a great many people refused to pay dog taxes. Last year there was a balance of uncollected dog taxes amounting to $70, and people said, "As so many are not paying their tax, I'll not pay mine, either." The collector's book is copied from the assessment, and he is supposed to collect all taxes entered in his book, but a number of people have left the burg since the book was made up. Councilor Hamilton-It was thought that the dog-catcher would make it easy for the collector to collect the dog taxes.

It takes a lot of people to make a crowd at Port Stanley, but yesterday it was difficult at times to walk around the picnic grounds without treading on somebody's toes.

It was a pleasure to merely exist at the Port under such conditions as the Irishmen's picnic and the weather furnished. THE CONCERT.

A pleasant innovation was an oper air concert at 5 p.m., in front of the Fraser House, the lawn being crowded with auditors. Dr. Geo. C. Davis introduced it in a speech from the bal-cony. Mr. H. R. The L. E. and D. R. R. ran a special late train from Port for the accommodation of the late ones. The train service was entirely satisfactory. With such workers as the I. B. The pleasure of two or three people was marred in the afternoon by an accident. Wm. Hilburn, of Yarmouth, and George Stafford, of Sparta, were driving a team up the hill, and when opposite the dancing shed Mr. Hilourn tried to turn round too sharply. The rig was overturned, and Mr. Stafford thrown out, with such violence that his leg was dislocated near the ankle and the small bone broken. He was carried to the Fraser House, where Dr. Fred Guest, of Shedden; Dr. Mitchell and Dr. Jento reduced the fracture. The team dashed down the hill after the spill and struck Mr. Steve Birmingham, and Mrs. Thomas Morkin, both of London. Both were slightly injured. Mr. J. B. McKillop's bicycle had a very narrow escape from annihilation.

Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 3.-Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years. and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health. The annual increase of the German

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on kidneys, make them strong and healthy, stop aching backs in every case. Here is a sample case. Mr. Charles M. Allen, 412 Richmond street, London, Bank of Commerce Building says: "I have been ailing for the past eight months with kidney troubles. I had severe pain across the back and between the shoulders, neuralgic pains across my eyes, so much so that I thought something was no ambition, my head felt heavy and my sleep was poor; I did not rest; sometimes I could not sleep one hour all night: The urine was red-colored and unnatural in flow, and I had scarcely any appetite. I felt really miserable day in and day out.

"The one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Strong's drug store gave immediate relief from all depressing troubles. I am now free from all of the terrible symptoms which afflicted me. I feel splendid, have vigorous health, have gained four pounds in weight, and am certain that no other remedy could have produced the effect which Doan's Kidney Pills have in my case, for I had previously tried almost every other remedy on the list.

Good Prospects if Carefully Gone About.

It is hardly to be doubted that British Columbia is a country rich in minerals, and at the present time there is an organized rush of capital The danger of a boom does not appear to be feared; indeed, it is being said that with such a minit cannot be overdone. But surely this is folly. No matter how prom-Ising the outlook may be, there is a possibility that rash enterprises will be entered upon and that large sums business is never healthy, and is always to be dreaded, no matter how bright the prospects may seem. If British Columbia has large resources of gold, silver and copper, they will be developed; and it is infinitely better that mining should be undertaken there as a permanent business, in which capital and labor should find safe and steady employment, than that men should lose their heads in the excitement and frenzy of a boom. Mining is like any other line of business; it is only to be carried on profitably by the use of business methods, and so conducted the investments in it may be as safe as in agriculture, manufactures, or commerce. But it has a fascination that perhaps no other calling or occupation has, and especially where gold is the object of search: and so there is all the greater reason why men should keep their heads level when there is a tendency to mish Those who go into the gold regions are not the only free trade between the various States ones who take risks. The fact is that men who stay at home to buy and sell mining stocks without any knowledge of the properties which the stocks represent. Then, booming is supposed wants of its people. In Sir catching, and attempts will be made Walter's estimation the tie which at to float all kinds of schemes. Within the last few days or weeks we have seen it seriously claimed that there is anthracite coal in the Archaean rocks of Algoma, and great beds of salt underneath the city of Toronto!

A Noted Englishman on the Future of the Race.

Those who take enjoyment in speculating on the future of the Englishrace will find much that is instructive in the interesting discussion of the subject in the August number of the North American Review. author is Sir Walter Besant, and entertainingly. He points out that the Anglo-Saxons, ever since ancestors left the cold, sterile city of Hamburg, have been a masterful people-a stiff-necked, unyielding, customs, his religion. Australia, and South Africa, until now the race controls the whole of the magmificent henitage of North America; the whole of Australia; the whole of New Zealand: the rich and beautiful islands of Jamaica, Ceylon, Newfoundland, Mauritius, and hundreds of others; the Anglo-Saxons control Burmah. Singapore and the settlements of the far east; they have strongholds in the Mediterranean; they occupy Egypt, and mean to stay there. The whole world is dotted here and covered there with the possessions of the Anglo-Saxon race. All that is best, most fertile most temperate, best fitted for the white man's permanent residence. were one United Federabe the greatest, the richest. the most powerful empire, republic or gan her long war with France, her own population was no more than fifteen millions, while in America there vere about five millions-twenty miltions in all. One hundred years ago University, Kingston, gave the toast there were in the whole of Australia of "The Houses of Parliament," in no more than a few thousand convicts | the course of which he said: and guards. In New Zealand, Tasmania and South Africa there were no white settlers. In 50 years these countries have assumed an Anglo-Saxon population as a man puts on cloak, and the North American prairies, which 50 years ago were the nome of the red Indian and the buffalo, now afford sustenance to many millions of English-speaking people. These wonderful results have been brought about chiefly by the restlessness of our race, but in part as a result of its remarkable capacity to absorb and to control all other races. Mere emigration, however, does not account for all the vast increase of the English-speaking people. One hundred years ago, the race in Great Britain numbered fifteen millions: now there are forty millions. There, too, the Anglo-Saxon had absorbed the foreigner as soon as he set foot on British soil. Whether in the British metropolis, in the newer Canadian London, or in New York city the second generation of the foreigner is a pure English, Canadian or United States citi-

Thus it has come about that in one lions, and has extended its possessions to something like a fifth part of the habitable globe. History affords no an extension of territory so vast. The rest of the world put together: they parts of the earth: they are connectmon history up to a certain point; common ancestors: by the same ing of sects; by the same literature; differences: and by millions of close ties of blood relationship. No fighting between ourselves, says this eminent English author, not centuries of warfare nor rivers of blood, can destroy

But to speak of the present union of the English-speaking race is ridiculous. Theoretically, at present the race forms one great empire and one great republic. The two sections of the race are about equal; but the republic is closely connected and has of which it is composed: whereas the ment, but it is not representative of other component parts, and each colony has a tariff of its own to suit the present binds the colonies and the motherland together is little more than a sentiment.

Holding these views, as he does, the prophecy of Sir Walter as to the interesting. The British people, he believes, will continue the monarchical form of government, because it best suits their needs. But the colonies, in setting up house for themselves, have always chosen the republican model, and Sir Walter is under the impression that as they grow big enough-say in 50 years from now-they will evolve into nations, with a republican form of government. Then we will have six great English-speaking nations, with differences caused by climate, but all exhibiting the same Anglo-Saxon virtues and weaknesses. What will happen in a world which possesses six great nations united by the bonds here described? Sir Walter says they will either be constantly fighting and blood-letting-and civil wars between brethren are always the most ferocious-or war between them must be made impossible. The experience of the last year, when the two great branches of the race were brought perilously near open rupture, shows that it will not do to trust to wisdom of leaders and ministers, or to the self-restraint of the populace. Sir Walter Besant sees no way open to permanent peace except a Court of Arbitration, before which all cases of difference can be brought. The very existence of this court would tend to prevent disputes between the different sections of the race, and enable them to compel peace in other nations, when war that would be hurtful to any one of them was

It is indeed a glorious outlook, this picture of the whole English-speaking people, living peaceably with each other, enjoying the closest possible trade relations, rivals only in art, science and literature, and allied offensively and defensively, to preserve the peace and secure the progress of

"We admit that the mother of Parliaments is first, but I think we Can-adians hold that the Canadian Parliament comes a very good second. We do so not merely because Canada is the greatest of the colonies, but because it has triumphed over more difficulties and more varying and apparently insuperable obstacles than any other English-speaking country. (Cheers.) In England, with a homogeneous people, it is easy to get a representative assembly. In Canada we had to work together two races who had fought each other for cen-turies—races differing not only in race but in religion. And we have succeeded in doing that with an extraordin-ary amount of success. (Cheers.) There are few spectacles so picturesque as that represented by this Par-liament of Canada that is to meet this month-a Parliament to be pre sided over by a French-Canadian, elected as Prime Minister by his countrymen from ocean to ocean. Laurier is a man of such virtues that every Canadian looks forward to his Premiership not only with joy, but hope, because, while he has many virtues, he has especially all that virtue that commends a man to Englishmen. 'Laurier,' said Sir John Macdonald, 'could not break his word if he tried.' (Cheers.) And then we have as his lieutenant Sir Oliver Mowat, who for 23 years has given an absolutely pure administration to the premier province of the Dominion, a man of the keenest constitutional insight. (Cheers.) What, then, can we look for but a continuation of the past history of Canada just as sound, just as true to all that makes the British Empire great!" (Loud cheers.)

THE BOLTING NEWSPAPERS.

Boston Herald. The number of newspapers that have bolted the Democratic ticket for the presidency is now reported to have reached nearly 200. We doubt if the public fully realize the signifi-cance of this demonstration. Nothing like it, we think, has ever been known in American politics—certainly nothing like it in the previous history of the proverbially faithful Democratic party. Here are the elements of disintegration, if it is possible to produce them. The places of none of these bolting journals have been filled, it will be observed, by accessions from the other side, beyond the limits of a few of the smallest states of the Union. We see no noting of accessions of any importance outside press in any other quarter than this limited one in point of numbers. There are plenty of rumors of what s to be, but how feeble is the figure they cut in contrast with the solid

New Provincial Secretary to His Constituents.

Important Declarations as to the Policy of the Hardy-Ross Government.

It Will Be Progressive and Conceived in the Best Interests of the People.

Kingsville, Ont., Aug. 5 .- After Hon. W. D. Balfour, the new Provincial Secretary in the Hardy-Ross Government, had been declared re-elected by acclamation here yesterday, he addressed a large crowd of the electors of South Essex in the Town Hall. He thanked his Liberal friends particularly for the support they had given him. During the years he had been their representative, they had unitedwon five hard fought Psovincial battles, and he had assisted them to victory in three Dominion campaigns. He desired to say to all present, Conservatives as well as Liberals, that al-though he had been always determinedly and in the main fairly fought by his political opponents, he had never forgotten when the battle was over that he was the representatives of both Liberals and Conservatives, and many independent men among the latter had recognized this by giving him their hearty support. As a mem-ber of the Government he should never forget that they were governing for all parties, and all his colleagues were of the same mind as himself in their determination to do justice to all. He praised the leadership of Sir Oliver Mowat, who had now, at the call of duty, gone to a wider sphere to serve his country. Sir Oliver Mowat was a great leader, and wonderfully suc-cessful, but, as he himself his fre-Sir Oliver Mowat was quently stated, a very large measure of his success was due to the very able lieutenants by whom he was sur-rounded, and who made possible his unexampled career of nearly a quarter of a century of continuous Government. Today they had selected him a colleague of Mr. Mowat's successor as Premier, the Hon. Arthur Hardy, who is one of the ablest of Sir Oliver's original lieutenants, and who was associated with him in the Government for nineteen years, successively discharging the duties of Provincial Secretary and of Commissioner of Crown Lands, and making a great reputation as an able, honest and upright administrator of those two great departments. During all that time not a charge of corruption or wrongdoing in the slightest degree had been proved against him, and it has not been proved, for the best of reasons, that his administration had the last two years, and said he horsed ABSOLUTELY DEFIED ATTACK. There was nothing wrong to be prov-ed. Opposition newspapers and speakers have on different occasions characterized him as the wicked partner of the Mowat Government, but no man ever less merited such an appellation, as those of us who have been closely associated with him in Parliament for many years past know that of the members of the Government he has probably been the staunchest upholder of all that made for honesty in public life, for temperance and for the social and moral elevation of the people, and much of our legislation on these lines has been framed and carried through by him-His great ability is acknowledged by all. His senior colleague. Hon. Geo. W. Ross, has not only a Provincial but a Dominion reputation as the greatest platform orator in Canand his successful career as an administrator is well known; while the farmers' interests in the Government continue in charge of Hon. John Dryden, the best practical farmer and the most capable man for the position that Ontaro, or even the Dominion, has probably produced. The other Ministers were known to them all, and they could rest assured that the Hardy-Ross Government will be a Government for the whole people of Ontario, and while doing no injustice to the professional classes, will specially charge themselves with the interests of the farmers and the artisour Province, striving to do all that they can do to improve and ameliorate their condition. They would continue to uphold the interests

THE LIQUOR LAWS. As they are aware, the administration of the liquor license laws of the Province had been placed under his supervision, and their temperance friends need not be afraid that there would be any laxity in their enforcement. As already publicly declared by Premier Hardy, his Government is a temperance Government; it believed in temperance reform and would take no step backward, and would go as far forward as its jurisdiction would allow and as public sentiment would sustain it in going. The recent judgment of the Privy Council had not very satisfactorily defined the powers of the Province in regard to prohibition, although their local option legislation had been upheld. He hoped they would be able at an early day to introduce legislation which would further materially reduce the number of licenses in the Province, and do away with all the poor and useless hotels, and would also limit the hours of selling all over the Province. These, and such other amendments as may probably be introduced, will be all in the direction of restraining the traffic as far as possible. He had always of the Province on all occasions, and hoped, with a friendly Government in power at Ottawa, to be able to solve many disputes, such as those pertaining to fisheries and railway drainage.

supported all true temperance legis-lation in the House, and would con-tinue to do so in the future, and temperance men need have no fear for their cause in the hands of a Gov-ernment two-thirds of whom are total abstainers

FURTHER REFORMS

Mr. Balfour next spoke of the great heritage which the Province has in its northern territory, and the necessity for properly develoring its agri-cultural and mineral riches. The indiscriminate immigration of boys and girls from old world slums must be discouraged. He was hopeful that all toll-gates would soon be abolished. Some scheme must be devised to secure that desirable reform, with justice to all. Though opposed by some, he was glad to find that the act for reducing the size of the county councils had been received as a measure of true reform. The value of an M.P.P.'s services were not to be measured by the grants of public money he secured for a constituency, but by the higher and more important services he performed in the passage of wise laws for the improvement of the moral and educational standing of the people is worth countless thousands to the Province; the teaching of improved methods of farming is equally valuable; the diffusion of accurate knowledge about the Province adds to the wealth of every individual. Then, too, the efforts of the Ontario Govern-Then. ment have always been directed to relieve the people of burdens, not to tax them, say, five millions for the sake of returning to them less than a tenth of that sum, as has been done by another Government. In this way, the committee have been relieved by the Ontario Government of the expense of caring for the insane, the blind, the deaf and dumb, oriminal classes of various kinds, they have been as-sisted in the care of their sick, by grants for their schools, for agricultural and for other purposes. The appointment of a drainage referee, in which he took considerable interest. has already saved tens of thousands of dollars to the people of these wes-tern counties, and along with the improved drainage laws will save many thousands more.

TO THE PATRONS.

Mr. Balfour said years before they were organized, he had advocated various measures which they had contended for, such as curtailing the privileges of corporations, the abolition of bonuses and exemptions, and against exclusive rights to the professional classes. The sixteen or more members of the Patron order had their views broadened since entering the Legislature. Many things that seemed desirable to be done by legislation and otherwise were found in-advisable in the light of the explanations and experience of the older members. Other things that seemed easy of accomplishment were found beset with many difficulties, and sometimes even with dangers to the public interest, while it did not require long to discover that in the main the affairs of Ontario were honestly and the last two years, and said he hoped to co-operate with them in his new position. He expected a satisfactory settlement of the railway pass question and of the future of Government House. In all matters he would use his best energies for the development of the Provinc , and the welfare of its

Mr. M. K. ( wan, M.P.; Dr. King, his opponent in the late contest; Dr. Brien, ex-M.P., Mr. R. F. Sutherland, and Police Magistrate Bartlet, of Windsor, all delivered congratulatory speeches.

Mr. Peter Inman, county secretary of the Patrons, also added his congratulations. He said Mr. Balfour was a hard fighter, and he was pleased to see him in the Cabinet. He believed Mr. Hardy, with whom he was personally acquainted, would make a better Premier than Sir Oliver Mowat. He also looked for better times under the Laurier Government. Sir Charles Tupper was a rascally leader.

The meeting closed with thanks to the sheriff and cheers for Messrs. Balfour, Cowan, Hardy, Laurier and the Queen portant Changes.

A Special Committee Makes Some Im

A special committee, composed of J. S. Pearce, R. Robertson, J. W. Wheaton (secretary of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association), and Secretary Browne, visited the exhibition grounds this morning for the purpose of making some further changes in the buildings in the interests of dairying. The committee have decided to convert the building formerly used for the Palace of Illusions into a dairy hall and use the old dairy building for the poultry. The new building will be arranged on the most modern plan. In the center will be erected a large refrigerator 20 feet long, 7 feet wide, and 8 feet high, for the exhibition of butter. The refrigerator is to be of plate glass, and the butter will be arranged against the glass on shelves. The judges will do their work on the inside of this refrigerator. For the cheese display three rows of shelves will be put up on each side of the dairy building. There will also be a long table down the center. All this has been done to make the display one of the finest ever seen. Provision has also been made for dairy machinery, appliances, etc.

A Sure Estate.

"If only men would give to the living some of that which they bestow so lavishly upon them when they are dead, what a different world this would be! Yes, indeed. If you have anything in the shape of surplus, Mr. Wealthyman, invest it in life insur-ance, and the result will be the bestowment upon your family when you are dead of a sure estate—one they cannot, possibly, be as certain of through any other means." "If only great things were independent of the little ones, what a success should have in every department of affairs, for there are thousands who can plan, who fail in carrying out a design. Many a man, no who has 'planned' to have his life insured, has, as yet, failed to carry out the design. Perhaps you are one of them. Get your plan and your design together at once, ere the designs of death are made manifest and you are gathered to your fathers." Any agent of that strong and successful home company, the North American Life, will be pleased to interview you and fully explain to you the many advantages offered under the Compound Investment and Investment Annuity plans of insurance, and thus aid you in carrying out your design for the protection of your family, before it is too late. Willie Rowe Collides With a Trolley

Got Off One Going West and Ran Into One Going East-Narrow Escape From Death.

Willie, better known among his companions as "Herdie," Rowe, a lad 15 years of age, and son of Mr. Wm. Rowe, 633 Queen's avenue, had a marvelous escape from instant death about 8 o'clock last night at the corner of William and Dundas streets.

Young Rowe and a boy named Reid were on a mission down town, and when the car bearing a party of excursionists from the Centennial Church came along, the boys mounted the car at Lyle street. Young Rowe climbed up and stood on the drawhead until the car neared William street, when he got off. The car was going at full speed, and did not stop at William, as it was a chartered one. In jumping Willie ran to the left of the car, ignorant of the approach of another motor, only a few feet away. He ran headlong into the approaching car, and was knocked spinning. He sustained two fractured ribs, a badly bruised shoulder and a skinned leg. The boy admitted that had the car been coming at as fast a rate as the excursion car he would never have known what struck him. The car he ran against had stopped for passen-gers to alight at William street, and was not going very fast when he ran against it. To this fact, "Herdie" owes his life. He struck the corner of the car squarely with his left side, which broke the ribs. He walked home atterwards, and his parents sent for Dr. English, who set the broken bones. The boy will be around again in a few days, as the fractures are not seri-

A Remarkable Scene.

There was a remarkable scene at a Northumberland avenue hotel Thursday. It seems that a party of newlyarrived Americans, most of whom were strangers to each other, sitting at luncheon, and one of them was with an English friend, who had called to see him. The conversation between the two naturally drifted back to the war time, and the American, who been a federal, described some of his adventures, and how at one place the opposing soldiers used to work so near each other in the trenches that they were able to engage in conand surreptitiously changed tobacco and tea-the Northerners having plenty of the latter and none of the former, and the Southerners were in exactly the opposite condition. But, he continued, the most curious "swop" he ever made was a small packet of quinine for a pound of tobacco, to which the confederate added a curiously carved wooden pipe. That pipe he had kept ever since, because he regarded it and the tobacco as having saved his life; for somehow or other his superior officer had come to know that he possessed a quantity of "the weed," and ordered him to report himself concerning it. Before he could regain his post a skirmish occurred, and the man who was in his very place was killed. At this point a tall, sunburnt American, with white hair and beard, who had been listening to the other with considerable emotion, interrupted with, "Excuse me, though I am a stranger to you, but didn't that Southerner tell you that the quinine was for his little daughter, who was down with fever?" "Yes," said the other, "and didn't the Northerner say that his little girl was ill of fever, too, but he would share her medicine with the other little one, even without the tobacco?" "Why, yes," cried the original nar-rator, "I believe he did, and that was

"And I was the Southerner," cried the other, "and here is my daughter, whose life you helped to save, and here's one of my grandchildren with

The Englishman who was present says that there was then such a scene of handshaking, introductions and congratulations as must have made poeple at the other tables think the company must have been visitors from Bedlam. The Northerner had also a daughter with him, who is a widow, and the embrace of the two women who had never seen each other before, but whose early lives had so closely touched, was peculiarly affecting. "And to think that we should meet each other so far from home, and in England, too," exclaimed one.

"God bless England for it say I," replied the other.-London Telegraph.

Stories of O'Connell.

The Famous Irishman's Private Secretary Writes a Book.

Interesting Anecdotes Now First Printed.

London, Eng., Correspondence. There have just been published "Selections From the Journals" of Mr. W. J. O'Neil Daunt, M.P., the private secretary to Mr. O'Connell. The book is an exceptionally interesting one from the sidelight it throws on political and legal affairs.

I give from it the following stories, which, I think, are quite new: Here are two anecdotes of Clerk of Eldin: "A raw young lawyer, indig-nant at the decree of the court against his client, jumped up and said: 'My Lords, I am grieved and surprised at your Lordships' decision.' The court instantly stopped him with a sharp reprimand for his temerity. John Clerk interposed on his behalf:

'My Lords, I beseech you to pardon my young friend's indiscretion, which is to be imputed to his 'My Lords, I beseech you to pardon my young friend's indiscretion, which is to be imputed to his youth and his total inexperience of your Lordships' court Sub-language. your Lordships' court. Such language, an ancestral parent of the organ, and I admit, is most improper, and on his behalf I crave leave to apologize. My Lords, if my young friend had kenned your Lordships' court as long and weel as I do he might indeed be grieved, but he could na' be surpreesed at any decision your Lordships might make." When Clerk was promoted to the bench by the title of Lord El-chief of the Clan Chattan. din he said: "The difference between me and the Lord Chancellor of Eng-land (Eldon) is all in my 'i." "O'Connell told me of the only act of clemency I ever heard ascribed to Lord Norbury. He had tried a murderer whose guilt was indisputable. To every one's astonishment, he charged the jury strongly for an acquittal. The crown prosecutor ventured to interrupt the charge by re-calling to his Lordship's recollection portions of the evidence that left no doubt of the prisoner's guilt. 'I know all that, my good fellow,' responded his Lordship, in a sort of stage aside, "but I hanged six men at the last Tipperary Assizes who were innocent, so I'll let off this poor devil now to square matters."

O'Connell's duel with Peel was commonly talked of when impending, and O'Connell was apprehended and bound over to keep the peace. enemies suggested that this was done with his connivance. Pleading in court before Lord Norbury, he urged an argument which the judge did not seem to appreciate. "I fear, my Lord," said O'Connell, "that your Lordship does not exactly apprehend me." "Oh, that would be impossible," replied the confirmed punster, "there is no man so easily apprehended as Mr. O'Connell."

Another of Lord Norbury's puns: The State surgeon in the Irish Lord Lieutenant's household is entitled to wear military uniform. A gentleman, to whom that functionary was unknown, asked Norbury, at a castle levee who was that distinguishedlooking officer. "That," replied his Lordship, "is the general of the Lancers.

Here is a very timely election story: Returned today from Enniskillen. In our carriage were reporters from the Freeman's Journal and Evening Mail. The former told us that when Mr. Hemphill, Q.C., was canvassing Cashel he found that a party of electors, locally known as "commoners," numbering some thirteen or fourteen, were notoriously corrupt, and always sold votes to the highest bidder. Mr. Gibson has leased the Eedy Their usual price was £20 per vote. Hemphill requested the preach a sermon on the sin of trafficking in the franchise, and the priest complied, and denounced corrupt traffic in votes as a mortal sin. Next day Hemphill met one of the commoners, and, anxious to learn the effect the sermon had produced on these venal gentlemen, he asked the man whether he had been at mass the previous day. 'I was, your hon-or.' 'Was not the sermon against bribery excellent?" 'It was an ilegant sermon entirely, your honor.' Will it do good, do you think?' 'I think it will make the election run very close, your honor.' 'How so?' 'Why, we always got f10 for a vote before we knew it was a sin, but as his riverence says we'll be dammed for selling our votes, we can't, for the future, take less than £40.'" STATUTE. STATUTE.

FATALITIES TO ROYALTY. Of the various English kings who met death in a tragic manner William I. and William III. died on horse-back. William II. and Richard I. were both killed by arrows. Richard III. was slain in battle. Charles I. was beheaded. Edward II., Richard II. and Edward V. were murdered. A surfeit of lampreys cost Henry I. his life, and a surfeit of peaches Poison is supposed to have been administered to Edward VI. and the death of Henry VI. is laid by some historians to the charge of Richard, Duke of Gloucester, afterwards Richard III.

A WATCH and chain found in a can of tomatoes at Indianapolis were claimed by a young woman working in a cannery there, who had lost them two years ago. She thought that they must have fallen from her belt into one of the buckets or tomatoes while she was leaning over.

Lovely woman, wherever she is, knows that she is still more lovely when her gowns are stylish and graceful in their folds and curves, and this is why Fibre Chamois is so deservedly popular. It gives a stylish chic effect to skaris. sleeves or wraps, which is not only graceful but lasting. Nother crushing, moisture or long wear will spoil its splendid stiffness, and it is so light in weight that it suits equally well your filmy summer gowns or heavy outing suitsnever adding a burden to oppress you in hot weather.

You may wear out the dress. but you can't wear out the style when you use the genuine Fibre Chamois with the Red Star label on each yard.

After breakfast was over the Prophet disappeared in the cave, carrying a torch. He came back in a few minutes, but in the short time he had effected a complete change in his costume. The heavy robes of fur that he wore winter and summer in such fantastic shape were laid aside, and he appeared clad in a suit of white buckskin, with beaded moccasins and stringed leggings. The tunic, belted at the waist, showed off his splendid as well as revealing the secret of his amazing activity and powers of enthrown back behind his ears, and se-cured there by a tight fitting cap, the porcupine quills. On the breast of this tunic and covering it like a shield was a Maltese cross, and below it, worked in garnet beads, the words, "In this sign conquer." The silver hilt of a knife that looked like a short sword protruded from a finely-wrought scabbard in his belt, and two revolvers, with stocks decorated the same way, were fastened over his hips. From his shoulders a cartridge box was slung on one side, and a silver canteen on the other. In his left hand he carried his long rifle. As he strode out, the women looked up at him with mingled awe and ad-

The children gathered about, him, and holding each other's hands, half in dread, half in admiration, they looked silently at the giant warrior in whose arms many of them had recently been. Turning to Dr. Blanch-and and Valentine Kyle, who, with Mrs. Kyle and Clara, were standing near by, the Prophet said:

"I leave the valley and the tem-le in your charge. Fear not if I should be long days away, for when I return I will bring good news." But if you should not return?" the doctor ventured to ask. "My fate is not in my own hands." replied the Prophet, with thrilling solemnity. "I am the servant of my

The Prophet waved his hand, and turning, was soon swallowed up in the Stygian depths of the cave. He had traversed a few of the long cavern's chambers when he heard a low solemn chant in the distance, and then the turn of an angle Hought to view the coppery glow of a torch that burned so far away that it looked like a patch of red cloud surviving the setting of the sun. The Prophet's moccasined feet fell as lightly on the floor as the leaves on the surface of an unrippled pond. He strode on, his deep, long breathing alone telling of his humanity, til he came to the subterranean waterfall from behind which the light of the torch came. He bowed before the fall, which looked like a cataract of crystalline blood, and as he stood in this devotional at-titude the waters turned black, and an Indian, bearing a torch, came out and called to the Prophet:

"I have been waiting."
"And I have come. How are my herders?" asked the Prophet. "Safe, and so are the herds," re plied the Indian, who had charge of the stock in the valley, to which the Prophet led Captain Brandon and Howard Blanchard after their first visit to the cave. What news from the world at morning before the sun had risen speaks of having heard much firing it becomes the under dog.

ion's Life at the Risk of His Own. Dunnville, Aug. 4.-Willie Ballanyne and John Hynes, two Brantford boys camping with Grace Church choir, were upset from a boat about a mile and a half out from shore. The boys clung to the upturned boat form to advantage, and proved that he had not yet lost the grace of youth as well as revealing the secret of his cramps, and they were forced to re-turn to the boat, where Ballantyne The long auburn hair was took off his clothes and again they made an attempt to swim ashore. Hynes, after a long swim, became exband of which was made with blue hausted with the weight of his clothes and Ballantyne, though nearly hausted himself, pluckily came to his rescue, When help arrived Ballantyne was bravely holding his unconscious comrade's head above water.

Little Girl Drowned While Bathing Her

New York, Aug. 5.-Jessie Cahiel, 20 months of age, of No. 406 Water street, thought her newly acquired puppies ought to have a bath. She therefore took them to a vacant room, in which stood a round washtub, and dropped them in. Ten minutes later her uncle Thomas Jolly, attracted by the pite-ous whining of the mother of the pups, went into the room. He found the little girl's head downward in the tub. Her pets were there, too, and not any the worse for their swim, but the little girl was dead. Policeman Cronin, of the Seventh Precinct, sent a hurry call for medical aid, and in a few minutes a Gouverneur Hospital ambulance was on the scene. The surgeons exhausted their skill, but without avail.

Little Jessie was a beautiful child. Her mother is nearly distracted at her loss. Fears are entertained that she may lose her reason.

Ladies and Gentlemen,-I need scarcely tell you that you won a political victory on the 23rd day of June. Most of you are aware of that fact. Whether you owe your triumph mainly to the merits of your own policy or chiefly to the blunders of your opponents is one of those delicate questions that need not be discussed. Quite likely, victory came in part from both of these sources. It usually does. Now, if you are done shouting there are a few things that it might not do you any harm to hear. Don't exult too much in the hour of triumph. The game of politics is very uncertain. Before long the other side may get in again and if you make too much of "One of our people who came this this victory-if you carry the thing too far-your party may suffer when

> Don't allow your victory to interfere in any way with your social, the people of this country than any changes Laurier may make in Manitoba School Bill. Now that the much-discussed question. If the people who ought to be chiefly interested care very little about the matter, you are very foolish to quarrel with your > neighbors about it.

> Don't go down to Ottawa in crowds looking out for offices. The chances are a million to one that Sir Charles Tupper will not leave many vacancies unfilled. One thing is certain, he will not leave enough vacant places for > all the Liberal workers.

> Don't expect too much from Laurier. Remember Canada is a hard country to govern. Alexander Maccenzie said it was harder to govern Canada than to govern Great Britain. So it is, much harder. And then, too, you should remember that Great Brit-

Don't be surprised if the new Government should make a few mis-takes. Judging from the number of ballots that were marked in the wrong place on the 23rd, even the electors can make mistakes. If some men make mistakes in marking a plece of paper with a lead pencil when the place on which they should mark is plainly pointed out, small wonder if other men should make mistakes in governing five millions of people.

Don't expect Laurier and his colleagues to be perfect. Did it ever oc-cur to you that a perfect politician In fact a perfect politician would be onely even in the Liberal party. One reason why the party has been out of power for eighteen years is be-cause there are so many Liberals who think the chief end of Liberalism is to snarl at the leaders of the Liberal party. Gentlemen, your record is bad, very bad in the matter of loyalty to good leaders. Some of you would willingly have put George Brown on the back seat, but he had the Globe behind him, and you could not do it. Some of you exchanged honest Alexander Mackenzie for the N. P. You broke the good man's heart by driving him from power when he was doing his best to give Canada clean government. You know how much the N. P. has done for most of you. Under the guise of Patrons and Independent of the pulse of t dependents of one kind and another, some of you have been trying to knife Sir Oliver, but the old man has been a trifle too pawky for you. Historically you are not to be com-pared with your opponents in the matter of loyalty to leadership. Up to the time that the bolters bolted in Ottawa last winter, the stain of disloyalty to leadership could scar-cely be found on the Conservative escutcheon. Some of you have stained yours many a time. If you want to make your party better work on it from the inside. That is the only way to do it. The Third party busihas never accomplished much good in any part of the world. The Queen's Government must be carried on and for many a day to come it will be carried on by one or the other of the two great parties.

Don't expect Laurier to carry out every imaginable kind of reform the first day the House meets. In short, have some patience, some common sense, some loyalty to your leaders, and show by your intelligence, patriotism and self-control, that you are worthy of having a hand in the government of this young country. ernment of this young country.

Liberals and Their Leaders Discussed Annual Meeting of the Grand Encampment.

Semething for Those Who Are Inclined | Encouraging Reports for the Past Year -Election of Officers.

> Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 5. - The annual meeting of the Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F., met here yes-

The report of Grand Patriarch J. J. Reed was read. It referred to many important matters of interest to patriarchs, and regretted that no new encampments had been insti-tuted during the year, although four had been resuscitated. Three charters were recalled, viz.: Brussels, Prescott, and Thorold. The G. P. had appointed the following com-mittee on districts: Grand Representative, A. H. Blackeby, Galt; S. D. Swift, Petrolea; F. B. Jeffery, Stratford; W. J. Graham, Toronto, and R. Meek, Kingston; and their report would be laid before them for consideration. Charters were issued to Guiding Star Encampment, No. 22, Lindsay; George B. Encampment, No. 81, Ottawa; Mount Sinai Encampment, No. 82, Norwood, and Corn wall Encampment, No. 76, Cornwall. A number of decisions were given, but none of particular public interest. Grand Scribe Dawson in his report says the year just closed has been in many respects a notable one. Business has been very much depressed, and in many places it has been difficult for members to keep up their membership. In some localities suspensions for N. P. of D. have prevailed, but throughout the jurisdiction we have had in the aggregate a fair increase. Our membership is increasing. OTHERS, Do You Know that Paregorie, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle? Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher.

That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined? Do You Knew that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose ? Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest!

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

But the School Board Had Breezy Session.

The Kindergarten at Aberdeen School to be Enlarged

Awarding of the Boyle Medal Referred to No. 1 Committee.

At last night's meeting of the Board of Education there were present: Dr. Campbell (chairman), Trustees Stevenson, Griffin, Dr. Teasdall, Keenleyside. Anderson, Bayly, Dr. Wilson, Buchner, Greenlees, Sanders, Burdick, Johnston, Logan and Murphy. The report of No. 2 committee was first dealt with, by Dr.W.H.Graham | request of Mr. Buchner. The first five clauses passed in slience, but clause No. 6 stirred up the board. It recommended that action be taken to cancel Treats Chronic the leases of the rooms now occupied Diseases and for kindergarten nurroses in Colborne for kindergarten purposes in Colborne ention to Skin | Street Methodist Church, St. George's Diseases, as and Waterloo street south schools. As the new buildings are being completed PRIVATE there will be no further use for these ISEASES, and

tion to the Aberdeen school would be pils in that section.

Dr. Campbell-I think so. The inspector informed me that it would be. Dr. Teasdall—Well, Mr. Chairman, if there is, it will be a bad give-away on the board, after we have been fighting for a six-roomed school south of

After further discussion the clause passed. The clause in the report asking the board to ratify the expenditure of $476 95 on the new addition to Aberdeen kindergarten made more trou-

Trustee Johnston moved that the clause be struck out, and Mr. Griffin seconded. Mr. Johnston thought $100 was quite enough money to be spent on the school, and Mr. Griffin said it was more than the place was worth. Mr. Anderson-The motion is out of order, because this board has made provision for the expenditure. Dr. Campbell moved the motion out of order on the grounds stated by Mr. Anderson, saying that the board had set aside $500 for the purpose of fixing up that school

Another clause recommended the ac-ceptance of Gould & Stratfold's tender for side blackboards. It created a lengthy discussion, and before this was gotten through with the tenders submitted for the work had been brought down. Mr. Buchner's amendment proposed that the work be equally divided between R. Wilker and Gould & Stratfold. In speaking to this, he said that he understood the slate blackboards to be the most durable, and thought, as they were cheaper than the putty composition boards, they should be chosen. Mr. Greenlées said he wasn't in position to vote on the question, and understood the inspector would have given some light on the matter, but he was not there.

Mr. Sanders explained that the inspector had given his opinion, which was in favor of slate boards. Mr. Buchner wanted the tenders brought down. Mr. Stevenson was also anxious to have them, and the secretary went and got them.

Dr. Campbell thought the board concerned themselves too much about little matters and went to extremes. An amendment to the amendment was made by Mr. Sanders to refer the whole matter back to the committee for further consideration. Mr. Buchner's motion to divide the work between Gould & Stratfold and R. Wilker carried by a vote of 7 to

Dr. Campbell was appealed to be cause they were not all voting. excused Mr. Griffin, because he did not believe in any of the boards, and another vote was taken, in which other members did not take any part. Mr. Frederick Zeigler is well known in and around Seaforth, where he has lived for many years. His prolonged and terrible suffering from rheumafism and la grippe is also well known to most of the physicians of that town, having been treated by their for years without any reitef. Mr. Zeigler writes for the benefit of the readers of the Huroh Expositor:

"Fourteen years ago I was seized with rheumatism. I have suffered terribly with it, the pains at times being almost unbearable, I tried several of the best doctora, but to no avail, about four years ago I was taken with la grippe. I then doctored with five of the best doctors for five months with little or no relief. I paid over $150 in doctors bills and medicines of various kinds. I at last procured three bottles of Williams' Royal Crown Remedy and Pills, and by the time I had used one bottle I began to feel better, and when I had used two and a half bottles I was completely cured, and have remained in perfect health ever since. I believe it to be the best medicine ever introduced in or about these parts."

again. You don't seem to know where you are at. The amendment to refer the matter back was put and carried. Mr. Buchner-Mr. Chairman, I want that reconsidered, because you have declared it carried that the work should be divided, and you cannot go back on it.

Dr. Campbell-Now, sit down; there is no use of you talking over these things. Mr. Buchner-How the vote stand?

He couldn't find out, because nobody seemed to know. Dr. Campbell—I might make a re-mark right here that if I were notified of the man who was going to do the kicking, I would come better prepared for it.

The matter will go back to the committee for further consideration. On the motion to adopt the report as a whole, Mr. Johnston made reference to his motion to strike out the clause authorizing the spending of so much money in Aberdeen kindergarten school. If he had known that the chairman was going to cut the thing so short, he would have appealed against his ruling.

Dr. Wilson moved to have the name of Sifton & Co. substituted for that of Anderson & Co., as there was a difference of $2 70 in the price of pens. Carried. The report was then moved for adoption as amended, but just here Mr.

Buchner moved that the name of R. Wilker be substituted for that of Gould & Stratfold. The chairman gave the mover a significant look, and said: "Now, took here; we have had enough of these little tricks, and I think you should apologize at once. Mr. Buchner pleaded innocence, and the matter went through, the report being adopted. Nearly the whole of the inspector's report, which recommended many changes in the teaching staff, was referred back for further investigation. Messrs. Wilson, Buchner, Sanders and Griffin figured in the discussion.

inspector had taken into consideration the distances these teachers lived from the school to which the inspector would assign them. Dr. Campbell said the object of the inspector was not to give the teachers

Mr. Graham, principal of the Simco street school, recommended that the following teachers, who acted on the teaching staff of the Model School last year, be reappointed: Miss C. A. Can-nell, Miss M. O. Stapleton, W. M. Finch and T. H. Kinsella. No. 1. The following motion was made by Mr. Logan: "That all teachers making application for positions on the staff undergo a medical examination, and that they be charged $1. If they don't pass, the board to pay the dollar." Mr. Buchner-Would you have them examined every year? Mr. Logan—Yes. Dr. Wilson said this was a good thing. There were many teachers on the staff who were troubled with tuberculosis, and if this motion were the means of barring even one of these the school children would derive great benefit. In Toronto they had made similar move. He said it was only a matter of time when the matter would be taken up more extensively. Mr. Greenlees didn't think the peomove. What was the use of it? There were children who went to school afflicted with disease, and the teacher had to stand it. Mr. Murphy said that even if this were passed, they could not dispose of a teacher on these grounds. If they wished to discharge a teacher who was unhealthy, they would have to find some other pretext, because there was no act authorizing school boards to do anything of the kind.

Mr. Logan-I have heard some pretty strong statements about the obnoxious breath of some of the teachers.

Dr. Campbell-That is only their teeth, and the trustees have no right to get so close to the teachers.

Mr. Anderson spoke of the manner in which certain schools were overcrowded on account of non-resident pupils, and moved to amend section 41: That hereafter no pupil be allowed to attend any school out of the district in which he lived, unless personal application be made to No. 1 committee, and then only on a twothird vote." He said a great many of the pupils had been given authority to attend other schools by the school trustees, and this plan would put a stop to this kind of thing. No. 1 committee was empowered to secure a room for the Model School
