BULGARIA APPROACHES ALLIES SEEKING A SEPARATE PEACE, IS WORD FROM SWITZERLAND

Bulgarian Minister at Berne Said To Have Made Overtures To Representatives of Entente, Looking To Peace.

London, April 12.—4:13 p.m.—Reports from a Swiss source have been received in Rome that the Bulgarian minister at Berne has made overtures to the Entente ministers with a view to the conclusion of a separate peace, says the Exchange Telegraph's Rome correspondent.

Similar advices regarding Bulgaria are sent by the Exchange Telegraph representatives at Lausanne. He reports that the Gazette of that city states it has learned that semi-official Bulgarian delegates are in Switzerland endeavoring to arrive at a basis for a separate peace with representatives of the Entente.

FRENCH RUSH HUN POSITION ON NEW LINE

Germans Driven Further Back Near St. Quentin.

DRIVE FOE TO FOREST

Germans Are Ejected From Trenches in Champagne District.

Paris, April 12.—Noon.—In an attack last night on the new front below St. Quentin, between Coucy and Quincy-Basse, the French drove back the Germans to the southwestern edge of the upper Coucy forest, capturing several important positions, the war office announces. In the Champagne the Germans were ejected from trenches east of Sapigneul.

The statement follows:

"Between the Somme and the Oise artillery fighting continued with violence during the night, especially in the region of Urvillers.

"South of the Oise our troops after artillery preparation attacked the German positions east of the line from Coucy-la-Ville to Quincy-Basse. After a spirited engagement we forced back the enemy as far as the southwestern edge of the upper Coucy forest. Several important points of support fell into our hands notwithstanding the resistance of the enemy, who left a number of dead on the ground and prisoners in our hands.

Artillery Active.

"In the region northeast of Soissons there were patrol encounters and active artillery fighting, especially in the sector of Laffaux. North of the Aisne our reconnoitring parties penetrated the German lines at several points and brought back forty prisoners, one of which is an officer.

"East of Sapigneul a sharp attack enabled us to expel the enemy from certain portions of trenches which he had held since April 4, and our line was re-established intact. Two surprise attacks by the Germans in the Champagne, in the sectors of Ville-sur-Tourbe and Butte-du-Mesnil, were broken up by our fire, which inflicted losses on the enemy.

"In the course of an incursion into the German lines in the Woevre, northeast of Remenauville, we inflicted appreciable losses on the enemy. Patrol encounters occurred southwest of Le-Intruy."

OUTRAGEOUS SUB CRIME IN SINKING OF PARANA TOO MUCH FOR BRAZILIANS

Rio de Janeiro, April 12.—The breaking off of diplomatic relations with Germany is officially announced by the Brazilian Government in a communication to the press. A combination of reasons is given for this action, the official explanation reading:

"Considering that the inquiry and the conclusions cabled by the legation at Paris on the subject of the torpedoing of the steamer Parana established the fact that the Parana was proceeding under reduced speed, was illuminated outside and inside, including the shield with the name 'Brazil' and considering that the steamer received no warning to stop, according to the unanimous deposition of the crew; and further, that the steamer was torpedoed and was shelled five times, and that the submarine made no attempt to save life, then, in the presence of such aggravating circumstances, and in accord with the note of February 9, and the telegram of February 13, sent by the Brazilian Government to the legation at Berlin, the Brazilian Government severs relations with Germany."

MORE "KULTUR"

Havre, April 2—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—A well-authenticated incident which occurred recently during a German court-martial in Belgium has become known here. M. Paul Terlinden, burgomaster of Rixensart, appeared before the court charged with shielding a wounded Frenchman, for which he was condemned to twelve months' imprisonment.

His daughter, Baroness De Coninck, a young married woman whose husband is at the front, was present at the hearing. A German officer sat down beside her, saying: "I believe, madame, I've met you before."

Baroness De Coninck replied: "You are mistaken, I don't know you, sir."

The German persisted, saying: "Perhaps I am mistaken, but you greatly resemble an Englishwoman whom I knew well."

"Evidently you mean Miss Cavell," retorted the baroness.

For this answer she was sentenced to one month in prison.

INSURANCE CIRCLES CONSIDER THE WAR CLOSE TO THE END

London, April 12.—11:50 a.m.—A feeling in some quarters that the war may end before the last of the year is indicated by the fact that in underwriting circles business was done yesterday "to pay total loss if peace is not declared before December 31," at 45 guineas per cent. Some time ago business was done at the rate of 15 per cent against the declaration of peace within eighteen months. A report that 10 to 1 was being offered in Wall Street that peace would be concluded within 90 days, was described as more in the nature of a jocular bet than an attempt to trade. The wide betting odds frequently mentioned are not seriously considered as indicative of market operation.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR COL. LEONARD TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Military Authorities of District Will Be Present.

READY TO DIE FOR HIM

Old Members of 6th Battery Pay Tribute to Their Late Commander.

No particulars of the death of Lieut.-Col. Wood Leonard, D. S. O., have been received at the family residence here. The simple announcement of his death is all that has come to London.

The family are at Atlantic City, where they have been staying for a couple of weeks, owing to Mr. Leonard's health. The militia department at Ottawa was notified last night where he was located, and it is probable that any further information has gone direct to the members of the family.

As soon as the notification was received from Ottawa Mr. Leonard made arrangements to return to London immediately. He will arrive in London about noon on Friday.

Many Telegrams Arrive.

Scores of telegrams have already been received from citizens and prominent persons throughout the Dominion. They have not been opened as yet, waiting for the return of Mr. Leonard.

The announcement of his death has caused a great deal of sorrow in London. In fact, it is doubtful that any

WOODMAN LEONARD

Lieut.-Col. Woodman Leonard has answered the final call and has passed to that haven where there is no war, but only eternal peace. Only the glory of his going can serve to mitigate the deep sorrow London feels at the loss of this, one of her finest sons, a true patriot, soldier and gentleman. A gloom has been cast over the city by his death which dims the memory of where he died and the glorious victory to which he contributed.

Trained as a soldier, war's first alarm found him ready and eager to play his part. He immediately volunteered for active service and was departing for the front at the head of his battery before the majority of young men had seriously thought of enlisting. Landing in England, it was not long until he, with his battery of London boys, left for France, there to make a name second to none as an artillery officer; his theory, his leadership, his judgment and his valor were beyond criticism.

London can claim "Wood" Leonard as her own, a native-born son, he was ever of the type which the city is proud to point out as symbolic of her young men. True as steel, fearless, upright and kindly to a degree, he stood for all that is best in Canadian manhood. With his equals in rank he was popular, by the men whom he commanded he was idolized. Every man of his unit, which earned undying fame, has joined in praising the colonel. Not one word has been said by returned men of him but has led to the belief that every honor or promotion granted him was earned by excellent merit.

Lieut.-Col. Woodman Leonard, as a man, is dead, but his spirit lives on among the men in France and will be an inspiration to those who follow him along the path of duty in defence of humanity.

SEDITIOUS MATTER.

Edmonton, April 12.—A. F. A. Coyne, oil promoter, was arrested here yesterday by the provincial police, charged with the publication of seditious matter. The alleged offence consisted in the display in the window of Coyne's place of business of what purported to be a copy of a letter written by Henryck Schollerman, who recently committed suicide while under arrest charged with having in his possession prohibited literature. The letter contained reflections upon British and Canadian Governments and troops. Coyne was released on $2,000 bail.

BREAK DOWN SUB BLOCKADE AND SEND FOOD TO ENTENTE FIRST STROKE OF AMERICANS

Washington, April 12.—A campaign of colossal proportions to break down the German submarine blockade and keep the Entente plentifully supplied with food, clothing and munitions has been decided upon by President Wilson and his advisers as the United States' first physical stroke against her enemy.

Unable now to send an army into the trenches, the president believes the United States can do an even greater service in the common cause against Germany by providing a great armada of merchantmen to invalidate the undersea campaign, about which have been rallied the fading hopes of Prussian conquest.

Long Working on Plans.

For weeks officials have been at work on such a plan, but not until today was it revealed on how great a scale the task had been projected, or how great importance was attached to it in the administration's general war program. Virtually every detail has now been completed, and by fall the campaign itself will be in full swing. Quickly built, light wooden ships of 2,000 tons and upward, are to make up the fleet of merchantmen, and to maximum construction the shipping board has enlisted the country's entire shipbuilding facilities. Upwards of a hundred private plants on all the coasts will help, giving the board's orders precedence over every other class of work except the most urgent naval construction. For the first year production is expected to reach an average of three ships a day.

Already lumber interests have given assurances of an adequate supply of timber at reasonable prices. Engine manufacturers have pledged their cooperation too, and all the necessary machinery for vessels can be assembled as fast as they can be turned out at the yards. At more than one plant new ways are already under construction to take care of the Government building orders.

To Repair German Ships.

The use of German merchant ships now in American harbors will add approximately 600,000 tons to the supply of the United States. Estimates are now being made on the cost of repairing the damaged machinery of these vessels.

HAIG, BY NEW DASH AT DAWN, TAKES POINTS BEYOND VIMY

Two Important Positions of Germans Carried Early Today by the British, and Pris oners Taken — Hostile Attacks Dur ing Night.

London, April 12—1 p.m.—The British captured early this morning two important positions in the enemy's lines north of the Vimy Ridge and are now astride of the Souchez River, according to an official statement issued by the war office. A number of prisoners were taken. The statement says the weather continues wet and stormy.

Two German counter-attacks on Vimy Ridge were broken up last night with heavy losses to the attackers. The statement follows:

"The weather continues wet and stormy. Early this morning we attacked and captured two important positions in the enemy's lines north of Vimy Ridge, astride the Souchez River. A number of prisoners were taken by us.

"During the night two hostile attacks upon our new positions on the northern end of Vimy Ridge were driven off by our machine-gun fire with heavy German losses. Some progress has been made south of the River Scarpe."

2 CENTS AN HOUR AND CONCESSIONS GRANTED TO MEN

Amicable Settlement Reached by Street Railway Parties.

MANY POINTS ARE WON

At a meeting of the members of the local division of the Association of Street Railway Employees, held last night in the Foresters' Hall, the terms proposed by the management of the London Street Railway were accepted as satisfactory by the men, and the necessity of submitting the question to arbitration or going out on strike to enforce their demands has been eliminated.

According to the new scale of wages, the maximum rate per hour will be 28 cents instead of 26 cents as formerly, and the other rates are increased in proportion.

The company will in the future furnish money with which to operate the cars, and will pay half the cost of uniforms. The company has practically recognized the union organization, although it has not definitely signed the agreement with the association.

Agreement Signed Today.

The new agreement will be signed today by both parties and will remain in effect one year, or longer unless terminated by consent. The agreement is retro-active, and is dated April 1, 1917.

Members of the executive of the men's association today expressed themselves as much pleased with the new agreement and the improved working conditions it contains, including stools purchased for the men, and a down town office. "Our relations, during the negotiations, with Mr. King and Mr. Humeston, were most cordial, and though at times we differed in opinion, it was in a friendly spirit," said one of the men who attended the conferences. "The men were pleased that President Currie came into the conferences, and the splendid spirit of fair play and recognition of the men as a body by the management, has commended itself to every employee of the company."

"The executive committee in its report to the men, congratulated Mr. Currie highly for his attitude toward the men, and the business-like manner in which he disposed of the questions in contention."

"The men are now resolved to go ahead and give the best that is in them to the service. They also appreciate highly the assistance and fair spirit of the daily papers," he added.

Pleased With Result.

Today Manager C. B. King, on behalf of the company, said that the management were glad that the terms had been arranged satisfactorily.

ANOTHER WEIRD REPORT FROM FOE'S WAR OFFICE

London, April 12.—The Reuter correspondent at British headquarters adds:

"The Germans are claiming they took 8,000 prisoners as the result of a counter-attack at Bullecourt, but I have reason to believe that this statement is as wild as most of their recent announcements to this effect."

Two German counter-attacks on Vimy Ridge were broken up last night with heavy losses to the attackers. The statement follows:

"The weather continues wet and stormy. Early this morning we attacked and captured two important positions in the enemy's lines north of Vimy Ridge, astride the Souchez river. A number of prisoners were taken by us.

"During the night two hostile attacks upon our new positions on the northern end of Vimy Ridge were driven off by our machine-gun fire with heavy German losses. Some progress has been made south of the River Scarpe."

EMERSON ST. PIERRE GETS LIFE SENTENCE, FIVE YEARS FOR GIRL

Nettie Richmire Pleads Guilty To Being Accessory.

NO EMOTION DISPLAYED

Prisoners Unperturbed When Punishment for Manslaughter Meted Out.

Cornwall, April 12.—Sentence was handed down this morning in the case of Emerson St. Pierre, yesterday found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of his father, William St. Pierre, the Osnabruck Township welldigger, shot on February 8 and buried in the cellar of his home, and Nettie Richmire, paramour of the male prisoner, who this morning pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact. Emerson was given life imprisonment and the woman five years.

When the court had been opened the grand jury presented a true bill in the case of Nettie Richmire, who, upon being arraigned, pleaded guilty.

R. A. Pringle, K. C., Ottawa, crown counsel, addressing the judge, said that he had intended indicting Mrs. St. Pierre, widow of William St. Pierre, but the grand jury felt that her three little children should have her protection. His lordship would see that protection was afforded as far as possible. He would not press the indictment at the present time. The evidence against Mrs. St. Pierre as an accessory was not so strong as that against Nettie Richmire, but there was some evidence that she had knowledge of the burial of the body and concealment of her husband's clothes. He felt that the ends of justice had been secured by the conviction of Emerson and Nettie Richmire.

Mr. Pringle then warmly praised Detective Miller, the officer of the Ontario attorney-general's department, who had unravelled the case, who, he said, had taken every step that could be taken.

Showed No Emotion.

Mr. Justice Latchford, in passing sentence on the girl, who showed no evidences of emotion, said that he was strongly of the opinion that to allow the girl to go back to the home she had left would be mistaken kindness. He only hoped that she might yet become a useful member of society if removed as far as possible, and for as long a time as possible, from the position she has occupied. She had no apprehension of what was right and what was wrong. Her conduct in the witness box showed that she was totally lacking in a proper regard for truth. To save her lover she was not justified in perjuring her soul. The home she had left was a festering spot in Ontario, and she was a part and parcel of it. If a traveling missionary had said such a spot existed in Mexico, Bolivia, Pata-

One Thousand Yards of German Trenches Taken Today By British-Canadian Advance and Another Hill Won—Eleven Guns Added to Booty.

London, April 12.—3:30 p.m. — About 1,000 yards of trenches south of Farbus Wood, in the region southeast of Vimy, were captured by the British this morning, Reuter's correspondent telegraphs from the front. A hill southeast of Wancourt also was captured.

The British yesterday took eleven additional guns in the fighting between Croisilles and the Scarpe.

The past 24 hours has been marked by a general increase in the intensity of the fighting. The Germans appear to have been reinforced in the positions upon which the British assaults have driven them back, and are offering desperate resistance.

Various counter-attacks were launched, but with the exception of at Bellecourt these met with no success. Fighting for the key position at Monchy-le-Preux was very bitter, but with the British retaining all their gains and consolidating the position.

Time now is required to get forward the big guns and to make good the communications before attempting another great stroke.

[BY PHILIP SIMMS.]
[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

With the British Armies Afield, April 12.—Canadians earned new honors today in a storming advance on a mile front south of the Vimy Ridge.

Dashing forward impetuously, they stormed and took nearly a mile of German trenches running south from the German commandant's house near the Fabarus Wood.

It was along this line of defence that the German forces have been clinging desperately since the first sweep forward of the Canadians cleared the top of the Vimy Ridge.

MORE GUNS TAKEN.

It was over ground inches deep in snow and slush, in cold, wet weather that the British and Germans battled man to man today—with the best man steadily winning. The British advance still continued. Stiffening resistance all along the line from Lens to St. Quentin showed that the Teutons were desperately striving to stop the encroaching wave of the British advance.

The British artillery superiority was also marked today. German marksmanship was bad.

ENTRANCE OF STATES FINAL STAMP UPON WAR FOR LIBERTIES

London, April 12.—Addressing the American Luncheon Club today, Premier Lloyd George said the advent of the United States into the war had given the final stamp and seal to the character of the conflict, which was a struggle against military autocracy.

The premier said he was not surprised that the United States had taken time to make up her mind as to the character of the struggle, having regard to the fact that most of the great wars in Europe in the past had been waged for dynasty aggrandizement and conquest.

Kaiser Is Right.

Early in the war, Mr. Lloyd George

Winnipeg, Man., April 12.—Delegates attending the Great War Veterans' convention have decided upon Ottawa as headquarters for the national organization of veterans. The delegates will conclude today the discussion of the form of the constitution, although it is practically decided that active membership; with the right to vote, shall be confined to those who have seen active service during the present war, and have been honorably discharged, including those who went no further than England. Soldiers honorably discharged in Canada, and veterans of other wars will be accepted as associate members without voting power. Officers will be elected this afternoon.

BRITISH SECURE KEY TO POSITIONS ON HEIGHTS.

London, April 11.—The operations along the Arras-Lens line were greatly impeded by snowstorms. According to the official report from British headquarters tonight the Germans delivered two counter-attacks against the British positions in the neighborhood of Monchy-le-Preux, five miles east of Arras, but these failed. The text of the statement reads:

"Snow has fallen heavily and continuously throughout the day, rendering observation impossible and greatly impeding the operations of our troops.

"This morning two German counter-attacks on our positions in the neighborhood of Monchy-le-Preux were successfully beaten off. Prisoners taken in Monchy-le-Preux state that they had orders to hold the village at all costs.

Fighting Further South.

"Further south bodies of our troops succeeded in penetrating a German position in the neighborhood of Bullecourt and secured a number of prisoners. At midday they were counter-attacked by large forces of the enemy and forced back to their own lines. The enemy attacking troops were effectively engaged by our artillery and suffered heavy losses.

"Our airplanes were active again yesterday, and in spite of a strong westerly gale and frequent snowstorms performed valuable work in co-operation with our infantry."

Monchy a Key Position.

Reuter's correspondent at army headquarters in France describes Monchy-le-Preux as one of the key positions between the Scarpe and the Sensee Rivers, which the Germans had strongly organized. The town had as its approaches four sunken roads, which were full of snipers and machine gun teams. As a frontal attack would have been costly it was resolved to turn the position and this operation was executed without the Ger-

MILLION DOLLARS IN BUILDINGS PLANNED HERE THIS SPRING INCLUDES BIG FORD PLANT

Motor Company Will Install Coke Ovens Later On For Enameling Cars—Industrial Expansion Includes Many New Plants and Additions To Present Buildings — No Stagnation in Building Trade.

SOME OF LONDON'S 1917 BUILDING

$200,000 addition to Ford plant, to be commenced at once, with next step building of big coke ovens.

$90,000 in new flour mills in east end for Hunt Bros.

$150,000 to an East London plant, which cannot be named.

$45,000 new foundry and cupola house at Chelsea Green for Beatty Bros.

Three-story buildings on Bathurst street for Silverwoods, Limited.

$35,000 for addition to Horton street sub-station.

Hundreds of new residences in various sections of the city.

Notwithstanding somewhat unfavorable conditions, brought about by scarcity of labor and high prices of materials, the building season in London is opening with the big end of a million dollars worth of construction work in immediate sight. One of the biggest propositions of the year will be additions to the Ford plant here, which will entail an expenditure of about $200,000. Manager Smith stated to The Advertiser today that work will be commenced immediately on a factory addition three stories, 150 x 102. The structure will be a handsome one of pressed brick with granite and terra cotta trimmings. A little later the firm will install coke ovens with a capacity of 2,500 tons a day, and it is planned to enamel all the auto bodies here. When the addition is completed this fall about 75 more men will be given employment.

MILLS TO COST $90,000.

The George A. Lochead Company of Toronto have the contract for the new Hunt Flour Mills in East London. The buildings and elevator will be of reinforced concrete, and will cost $90,000.

Work is now well along on the $160,000 addition to the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium at Byron. More work is planned and Architects Watt & Blackwell are getting out plans for large new stables.

Architect Nutter is getting out plans for an addition to an East London plant that will cost $150,000.

Architect W. G. Murray is busy with plans for the new foundry and cupola house which Beatty Brothers will erect in Chelsea Green. These buildings will be of the most modern construction, and will cost about $45,000.

NEW WAREHOUSE FOR HOBBS.

Hobbs Hardware Company plans to erect a three-story warehouse on the southeast corner of York and Colborne streets, and Silverwoods, Limited, will build large new stables of reinforced concrete. The buildings will be three stories, and of reinforced concrete.

It is expected that work will start very shortly on the new hydro offices and sales building at the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets. This will cost about $100,000, and will be one of the handsomest structures in the city.

ADDITION TO SUB-STATION.

The utilities board is also having plans prepared for a handsome red pressed brick addition to the Horton street sub-station. This will cost about $35,000.

Plans are now in the hands of Toronto officers for approval for the $25,000 hospital that will be built in connection with the Salvation Army Home on Riverview avenue.

While residence construction is not as brisk as usual many citizens attracted by the scarcity of modern homes and high rents asked are planning to build. Some really handsome houses will be erected this year.

SOUTH LONDON FORGES AHEAD.

South London from present indications will see more new residences than all the rest of the city put together. On Ridout street south, Hyatt Bros. are working on a handsome residence, and Copp Bros. are building five on their property. Several attractive bungalows are being planned for Erie avenue, among others planning to build being George Wenige, T. E. Walsh, Chas. Jarmain, H. Bailey and E. Evans. Mr. T. H. Janes plans to erect three fine residences in the south end.

In East London, Bert Weir will erect six modern brick cottages.

ALL SOLDIERS SOON TO LEAVE CANADA; MILITIA IS NEEDED

Country Needs an Adequate Force for Home Defence.

SAME AS OVERSEAS MEN

Terms of Enlistment For New Army Provide Separation Allowance.

Two weeks ago the department of militia and defence at Ottawa issued an outline of the plan which had been drawn up for the raising of a force of 50,000 men in Canada for the home defence force. Sir Edward Kemp, minister of militia and defence, in sending out the memorandum, said: "It is necessary that the country should not be left without an adequate force for home defence in case of emergency."

In time of war no one knows when an emergency may come. In time of war emergencies are too serious to be overlooked. In time of war all possible safeguards must be taken. In the course of a few weeks all the members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force will have left the shores of Canada to go to Europe to take their places on the firing line. Emergencies may arise in Canada. Canada must be prepared.

Given Serious Training.

It is in order that the Dominion will not be found asleep that the Government has issued this call for 50,000 men. These men will be trained in military arts under the control of serious men. They will be educated in the needs of the time, and will be physically trained so that their bodies may be fit to bear up the spirit which is in all Canadians, so that they may perform to the end their duties as citizens.

The officers of the militia regiments throughout the country have been giving deep consideration to the scheme, the staffs have been partially appointed for the home defence battalions, and by this time most of them have their plans laid for enrolling men.

Get Same Terms.

The term of enlistment, training, clothing, equipment and subsistence are the same as for the overseas forces. Separation allowances are given to married men in addition to their pay, and it is hoped that many of the many thousands of men in Canada who want to serve the Empire in the present struggle cannot for some reason or other go overseas, will take this opportunity of doing what they can.

In order to bring before the men of Canada the need of the country, the Federal Government is conducting an advertising campaign in the press. The first of the advertisements appears in a current issue of this newspaper.

Stars and Stripes Now Get Cheers In Movie Houses

Marked Change in Public's Attitude in Last Few Weeks.

Since the United States declared a state of war with Germany a decided change has been noticed in moving picture theatres.

Before the commencement of hostilities between the two countries, when the American flag was displayed, a marked coolness was noticed. Frequently there were demonstrations against the display of the flag.

For the past two weeks, however, the appearance of the Stars and Stripes in films has been the signal for hearty applause. American residents of the city have noted the change with great satisfaction, and the warmth of the friendship now existing between the two countries becomes more apparent each day.

WOMAN NOT TO BE PROPOSED NOW AS LIBERAL CANDIDATE

Suggestion Had Reference to a Provincial Nomination.

NAME FEDERAL NOMINEE

Probably Reeve Ross of Lucan —A. B. McCoig Speaker On Saturday.

The feeling that a general election for the Dominion Parliament is to be held in June of this year is probably responsible for the widespread interest in Saturday's convention of the East Middlesex Liberals, who realize that the present time holds particular promise of a turnover in this riding.

East Middlesex comprises that portion of the city of London beyond the old city limits, that is, what is known as the "annexed district," the townships of London, Westminster, West Nissouri, North Dorchester and Biddulph, also the town of Lucan. It is a Lucan man whose name is perhaps most prominently mentioned in connection with the nomination, Reeve James Ross, though the names of several others will also be brought before the convention, among them Warden Arch Blakie and Mayor Stevenson.

General Invitation.

In the event of a ballot, delegates to the number of five men and five women will be allowed to vote, though a general invitation has been extended to Liberals of city and county to attend the meeting. In order to provide for a ballot being taken easily, one side of the auditorium at Hyman Hall is to be reserved at the commencement for the delegates.

The speaking will not be until after the nomination of a candidate, except by those participating in the convention proper. The subsequent meeting is to be addressed first by Mr George S. Gibbons, the Liberal candidate of London, and then by Mr. A. B. McCoig, M.P. The latter, who represents the county of Kent, is one of the foremost champions in Parliament of the cause of the farmers, and as he is as eloquent as he is persistent, his address will be of much interest to the convention.

Annual Meeting.

As the annual meeting is to be held immediately upon the opening, word has been sent out that it will commence sharp at 2 o'clock, and members of the East Middlesex Reform Association and the convention delegates are requested to be in their places not later than 2 o'clock.

On account of the invitation to the women of the riding to be represented, there appears to be an understanding in some quarters that they are certain to have the franchise at the next Dominion elections. Secretary Claude Sanagan states that this depends upon when the elections are held.

"If the elections are held this summer," he says, "it is very improbable that the women will be able to exercise the franchise. In federal elections, the provincial voters' lists are used, and if Ontario women were on our voters' lists at the time of a Dominion election, then they would be entitled to vote, that is, unless the House of Commons should decide to pass special legislation to prepare its own lists on the manhood suffrage basis only. Were there to be a provincial election this summer, the supposition was that a special enumeration would have been undertaken by the Ontario Government in view of its recent adoption of the Liberal policy in regard to woman franchise, but we are assured that there is to be no provincial election this year, so that if the federal contest comes soon it will doubtless be on the present lists.

Is Premature.

"This being the situation, the question of nominating a lady for the federal candidacy is, of course, somewhat premature. The suggestion was made that East Middlesex set the example in this regard when a provincial convention was held, the idea being to elect a woman as a test case of the recent argument that in a woman franchise province a woman had the right to sit in the Legislature. However, that is distinctly a matter for the future if it should be seriously put forward. It cannot possibly come up at the convention on Saturday, as this convention is a federal nomination. And, even if there were a delegation from every subdivision in the riding and the majority favored an early convention to nominate a candidate for the Legislature, it would be out of order to propose it at this meeting, no notice having been given to that effect. Besides, the ridings for federal and provincial purposes are not quite the same, Lucan and Biddulph being in North Middlesex for the election of members to the Ontario Legislature."

Mr. Thomas Ramsay of Hyde Park has been president for the past several years, and at the last meeting of the executive intimated his desire to retire from the first office of the association. He will probably be succeeded by the present vice-president, Mr. W. E. Grieves of Westminster.

MR. ALFRED BECOMES PRESIDENT OF THE P. M.

Official Who Has Been in London Frequently at Top of Ladder.

Frank H. Alfred, formerly general manager of the Pere Marquette, when it was in the hands of a receiver, has been elected president of the road, which is now re-organized, having gone out of the receivership. Mr. Alfred has been in London on frequent occasions. He made tours of inspection of the line, when he was manager, and conducted the negotiations with the London Railway Commission for running rights over the London and Port Stanley, and when the settlement of accounts for old rails, etc., was up for adjustment.

BANISH SCROFULA

Scrofula eruptions on the face and body are both annoying and disfiguring. Many a complexion would be perfect if they were not present.

This disease shows itself in other ways, as bunches in the neck, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, wasting of the muscles, a form of dyspepsia, and general debility.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine completely eradicates scrofula. It purifies and enriches the blood, removes humors, and builds up the whole system. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

Scrofula is either inherited or acquired. Better be sure you are quite free from it. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla and begin taking it today.

No More Weak Stomach Dieting For Me.

Today make your declaration of stomach independence from diets and stomach drugs. Just because you have been pampering a weak digestion for years is no reason why you should not begin today to eat the rich delicious nourishing food you crave. Try one more good dinner, taking with it a teaspoonful of pure bisurated magnesia in a little hot water. Bisurated Magnesia neutralizes all the dangerous acid in your stomach, prevents food souring and fermenting and allows easy, natural, painless digestion. It works like a charm and old dyspeptics dieting for years are forgetting now their stomach woes and worry and are eating anything they wish. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless and is sold by druggists everywhere in both powder and tablet form—never as a liquid or milk.

CALF RAFFLE NETS $37.50 FOR HOSPITAL

Proceeds Devoted to X-Ray Equipment at Byron.

Walter Parkinson, lot 6, concession 14, London Township, donated a calf to be raffled off at a sale of live stock he had recently. The calf was drawn by C. F. McLean, agent Ford Motor Car, Lucan, and put up for sale by him, and sold to Courtney Carmichael. The proceeds, $37.50, have been handed in to apply on the $3,000 being raised by the ladies of London Township to pay for the X-ray equipment at the Soldiers' Hospital, Byron.

Fashion Notes For the Coming Season

The Fashion Mirror

In a few lines Mrs. Westermann has given us a comprehensive review of many of the fashions of the coming season.

A review of the styles from the top of a Fifth avenue bus would give one about such an idea as I will be able to give in trying to cover the subject in a line or two, but perhaps it will help you in your shopping.

HANDBAGS—The fabric and beaded Bags have largely displaced the leather bag in fashionable circles.
WOMEN'S NECKWEAR—Silk Collars seem to have the most popularity. They are usually flat or semi-flat.
GLOVES.—There is still an effort to encourage the use of decorative effects in glove wrists and backs.
PARASOLS—The Parasol is no longer a glorified umbrella—shapes are as unique as materials, the extreme novelties prettily trimmed.

JEWELRY—The popular Jewelry is inclined to favor oriental designs—colored enamels are employed to give unique effects.

It is the ensemble that makes for the perfection of attractive style, and hence is is well to remember the little things that seem less important, but in reality are marked indications of one's knowledge of proper dress.

PAY LAST RESPECTS TO AVIATOR'S MEMORY

DORCHESTER, April 11.—Crowds of friends gathered this afternoon at the home of Postmaster John Talbot, to pay their last respects to the memory of his only son, Lieut. Harold Talbot, whose tragic death occurred Sunday afternoon following a fall in an aeroplane which occurred earlier in the day at Camp Borden.

Lieut. Talbot was 23 years of age, and had just received his B. A. degree from Queen's University, where he was studying for the ministry. He was a young man of the finest mental calibre. Several times he has occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church here, and on the occasion of his first home visit after enlisting, was made the recipient of a $10 gold piece from the guilds of the Crumlin and Dorchester churches.

Dr. D. L. McCrae conducted the funeral service, and six cousins acted as pallbearers. Ten cadets from the Aviation Corps, Toronto, acted as guards of honor. They walked on either side of the hearse as the remains were borne to the Union Cemetery.

It required an auto to carry the numerous floral tributes, among them being two from Queen's University, two from Toronto University, and one from pupils and ex-pupils of Woodstock Collegiate Institute.

Lieut. Talbot is survived by his parents and one sister, Gladys.

WEDDING BELLS

JONES—LEWIS.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at the Hamilton Road Presbyterian manse, Hyatt avenue, when Miss Edna May Lewis, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis of Lucan, became the bride of Mr. W. R. Jones of Stratford, brakeman on the G. T. R. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae. The young couple left on the afternoon train for Windsor and other western points. They will reside in Stratford.

AUSTRALIAN WAR LOAN.

London, April 12.—A Melbourne dispatch to Reuter's says that the total subscriptions to the recent Australian war loan were 22,400,000 pounds. The loan was launched in January for 18,000,000 pounds at 4½ per cent. A previous loan of 10,000,000 pounds was issued in February, 1916, and was oversubscribed.

NEW WAR MINISTER.

London, April 12.—Field Marshal von Schleyer, chief of the war control department, has been appointed temporary minister of war for Austria-Hungary, according to a Vienna dispatch to the Central News by way of Amsterdam. Field Marshal von Scheleyer succeeds Gen. von Krobatin, who recently resigned.

BARN DESTROYED.

Fire completely destroyed a barn at 1014 Waterloo street, belonging to J. Steward, of South London, at 1 o'clock this morning. The cause of the fire is unknown.

REDUCES LIGHT COSTS

Clinton Hydro Department Slices Its Domestic Rates.

CLINTON, April 11.—The hydro-electric department has just announced a substantial reduction in the cost of electric power and lighting for this town, to take effect from April 1.

The domestic lighting is reduced from 5 to 4½ per cent per kilowat, and from 2½ to 2¼. Floor space remains at 3 cents per hundred cubic feet.

Commercial lighting is reduced from 10 to 9 per kilowat, and from 5 to 4½ per kilowat, and from 1 to .9.

The Clinton taxes will in future be collected half-yearly, instead of yearly, on June 15 and September 15, and the assessor will do his work in the fall this year instead of the spring as formerly.

The town will give a graded discount for prepayment to induce the citizens to pay in advance, and by this arrangement the taxpayer will get the interest usually paid to the banks.

RAISE $1,200 FOR BYRON SANATORIUM

Belmont Women Started Out to Get $500 and Almost Triple Objective.

BELMONT, April 11.—A great contest has been closed, which has been going on for a couple of months, under the auspices of the Women's Institute Red Cross. The ladies undertook to furnish a ward in the Byron Sanatorium at a cost of $500, and the two vice-presidents were selected as captains.

When the contest closed last week, it was found that Mrs. Fitchett's side was victorious, having raised $574.50, and Mrs. Vining's side raised $511, the total being $1,085.50. The proceeds of an entertainment held in the Methodist Church, $116, and other smaller donations, swelled the total to over $1,200. The losing side entertained the whole society to a supper and concert in the Methodist Church on Monday night.

In addition to the cash receipts, the Red Cross has made 89 shirts, 33 pillowslips, 53 suits of pyjamas, 14 sheets and 617 pairs of socks.

Claude Bancroft has commenced the erection of a concrete blacksmith shop on a vacant lot near the bridge, and will soon build a modern dwelling on the same lot.

Mrs. P. Cunningham fell on Tuesday while hanging wallpaper, and fractured a few ribs.

The Red Cross Society of Knox Church shipped a bale containing a complete outfit for two beds to Byron Sanatorium, valued at $34.60. It also shipped 148 pairs of socks and three parcels to soldiers at the front.

PHOTOPLAY NEWS

PATRICIA.

Mary Pickford in "A Poor Little Rich Girl," the big special photoplay, will be screened today (matinee and night) for the last time in the city. Capacity audiences have been delighted with this photoplay, declaring it as the best "Mary Pickford" subject seen in the city. For today, Friday and Saturday, three vaudeville acts of unusual worth, namely—Ellers' Circus, described as the cutest and cleverest animal act in vaudeville; George Taylor, comedian, with a stock of original songs and stories, and a big five-people act known as "A Romance of Old Ireland," presenting a singing sketch replete with Irish songs, music and dances. These acts the management feels certain will prove more than satisfactory to Patricia patrons. Selig's Red Seal photoplay, "The Heart of Texas Ryan," a big borderland drama featuring George Fawcett and Bessie Eyton, will be the special screen attraction for Friday and Saturday.

THE ARGYLE CASE.

"The surest test of a feature is the passage of time without the spectator realizing it. That being so, 'The Argyle Case' ranks as one of the best pictures ever produced, for the reason that the 6,500 feet have been unwound before your vision without the slightest thought traveling through your mind suggesting the passage of time. It is an ideal photoplay adaptation from the legitimate stage success." JOLO, Variety.

Patricia next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

SENSELESS TO BUY PAVING EQUIPMENT UNLESS IT IS USED

...troller Moore Says City Made Good Bargain.

...UT CAN'T STAND IDLE

...ompany Carried Only $3,000 On Plant for Which $17,500 Was Paid.

The board of control had a special ...eeting this morning to open tenders ...r paving and sewers. Three bids to ...t down pavements were received, ...e for sewers and four for refined ...lt, and one for stone dust for ...g purposes. The quotations were ... City Engineer Brazier to tabu... While no figures were given out, it is stated that the paving prices will be fully 20 per cent higher than last year. Mr. Brazier's figures are given, and if his tender is the lower he will do the work by day labor.

Some criticism of the price paid for the paving pant is heard, but its usefulness will depend on the amount of work to be done this year. If little is done the cost of the paving will be high.

$3,000 Insurance on Plant.

The city paid $17,500 for the plant. In this is included the site, the estimated value of which is $7,000. It was stated that the Standard Company carried only $3,000 insurance on the plant, but insurance agents state that the cost of insuring such a plant is very heavy, which would account for the actual value of the machinery, etc., being much higher than $3,000.

"I looked the plant over, and I am certain we got excellent value for our money," said Controller John M. Moore. "Of course, we will have to use the plant, to make it worth while. There is no sense in buying it unless we intend to put down pavements. We have enough in sight to keep it going, and I think we should do the work. We will get some valuable information on the whole question of paving, and we will discover by actual experiment just what pavements should cost."

Streets To Be Paved.

The council will probably pave Richmond north, a portion of Adelaide street, Rectory street, a portion of the Hamilton road, Beaconsfield avenue, Ardaven Place, and others, making a total of about 40,000 square yards, a good season's work.

Prominent Former Postal Official and Bowler Came Here When Boy.

Willis T. Cox, for 43 years connected with the postoffice department of the Canadian Government, died today after an illness of nine weeks. He was the son of Georege S. Cox, who was at one time assistant postoffice inspector here, being succeeded on his superannuation by the present inspector, Col. Fisher.

Mr. Cox was born at Wolf Island on March 12, 1851, and he came to London with his father when quite young. He was appointed a mail clerk in the London division in 1869. Shortly after 1880 he was sent to the British Columbia division and was transferred from there to London once more in 1895 to a position on the staff of the postoffice inspector. He served there until 1912, when he was superannuated. He was prominently connected with the bowling and curling organizations of the city, and took a great interest in the various tournaments and bonspiels. He was a member of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and was a brother of Rev. George S. Cox, and of the late A. B. Cox. His wife, a son and a daughter survive him.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, 716 Waterloo street, on Saturday to Woodland Cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. Canon Craig.

IGNORES FOSTER CLAIM AND GOES ON WITH WORK

Utilities Commission Says It Has Sound Position Legally.

The utilities commission has not been notified that F. W. Foster will contest the option on his property for five wells.

The general manager, E. V. Buchanan, is proceeding with his work of connecting the wells, and will start the trench work at an early date.

The pipe has been ordered, and will be here in a few days. When the weather settles the supply will be connected.

"We are going ahead as if the option had been closed," said Chairman Pocock. "We have ordered the pipe, and we will have it ready in a short time. The legal end of the business is in the hands of City Solicitor Meredith. We have been advised that our position is perfectly clear and sound."

MOTORMAN SUCCUMBS AFTER AN OPERATION

Richard F. Slater Had Worked for L. S. R. and City Line.

Richard F. Slater, aged 37, motorman on the London street railway, and formerly with the London and Port Stanley line, died yesterday after an operation. Some time ago an abscess formed in his ear, and complications developed which resulted fatally. He was unmarried, and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Melinda Slater of 245 Talbot street. The funeral will be held on Saturday to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The newly-formed Street Railwaymen's Union performed a generous act in connection with Mr. Slater. In passing a resolution of sympathy today, the members of the union also agreed to contribute as much money as possible to defray funeral expenses. Mr. Slater was not a member of the union, but the members feel that he would have been had he not been ill when it was formed.

Those who are off duty when the funeral is held on Saturday will likely attend in a body. The pallbearers will be employees of the street railway and of the L. and P. S. R.

The permits have been issued since the beginning of the year, and the whole lot will not total more than $2,500.

WISH HER HAPPINESS. — The "Good Cheer" class of Adelaide Street Baptist Sunday school tendered a shower to Miss Ethel Carson at her home on Lorne avenue Tuesday evening, when some 35 of her friends met to wish her happiness in her married life. C. J. Leach catered for the dainty repast that was served, and an oldtime spelling match and original toasts and songs added to the jollity of a most successful evening.

TAKING A MAN'S PLACE.—Miss Hazel Tanner, M.A., is returning to Brockville on Saturday, after spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tanner, 428 George street. Miss Tanner is one of the London girls who has actually released a man for active service and is filling his place while he is on overseas duty. For the past year, she has been teaching in St. Alban's College, a boys' school, filling the position formerly occupied by a man teacher who is with the flying corps. A precedent has been established this year in the appointment of women teachers to the staff of St. Alban's College of whom one other has been engaged with Miss Tanner.

McPHERSON—STEVENS.

On Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage, Lambeth, the marriage took place of Ruth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens of London (formerly of Wilton Grove), to Stanley McPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McPherson of Glanworth. Rev. R. L. Wilson officiated. The bride wore a becoming suit of blue with black hat. After the marriage the young couple returned to the home of the bride's parents, 283 Simcoe street, London. After a honeymoon to Detroit, West Lorne and other western points, Mr. and Mrs. McPherson will be at home to their friends at Myrtle Farm, 5th concession, Westminster.

SPLENDID DASH

mans observing the extent or direction of the turning movement.

The attack was pushed in artillery formation along the north bank of the Scarpe, which river was crossed in the neighborhood of Roeux. Then as the advance deployed southwards, the Monchy garrison began a stubborn resistance.

Two More Villages Taken.

Fighting was continued until after dark Tuesday, but during the night the main body of the Germans evacuated Monchy, and when in the morning the attack was renewed it was continued successfully down to La Bergere and across the main Arras-Cambrai road to Guemappe, which, it is reported, has also been occupied.

This success is considered of great importance, as it gives the British domination of the high ground.

The correspondent says that Wednesday was devoted largely to consolidating the gains and moving the artillery forward, although there was considerable fighting between Croiselles and St. Quentin. Prisoners, he adds, are continually arriving and apparently hunger induced many to surrender. It is believed that the severe wintry weather has affected the German morale. They are reported as still fighting hard, but as lacking the spirit displayed in the Somme battle.

"Tank" at Monchy.

The taking of Monchy-le-Preux was aided by a "tank." The British infantry reached the village late Tuesday, but the German machine guns posted there needed special attention before an attack. So, digging themselves in, the Tommies watched by their arms throughout the night. Early today the British turned their artillery against suspected machine gun emplacements, while the "tank" circled the town, scattering terror and death as it went.

When it had completed its circuit the infantry sprang forward from their shallow trench and charged in a sort of encircling movement, meeting with little opposition, so well had the artillery and "tanks" done their work. A number of prisoners were taken, as well as machine guns. The remainder of the garrison fled in the direction of a wood, whence later in the day, reinforced, they attempted to counter-attack.

Roeux Held by British.

The British have taken a copse three-quarters of a mile northeast of Monchy, and also Pelves, on the bank of the Scarpe. Roeux, on the north branch of this vagabond stream, misnamed river, is now in British hands.

Some of the hottest fighting along the entire battlefront is taking place at Vimy, where the Canadians are slowly, but surely, pressing forward down the eastern slopes, their patrols scouring the forests which screen that side of the ridge. All efforts on the part of the Germans to shell them off the crest or out of the woods have failed.

ESKIMO MURDER TRIAL.

Edmonton, Alta., April 12.—It is probable that Chief Justice Harvey will preside at the trial of the two Eskimos accused of the murder of two French priests somewhere in the neighborhood of Great Bear Lake. The trial will probably take place in Edmonton in August. The Eskimos are at present in custody at Herschell Island.

Little London Lady of 9 Years Holding Her First Exhibit Of Wonders Done in Clay

Miss Florence Robson, Daughter of Captain Tom Robson, Shows Rare Talent in Modeling, and Fills Two Store Windows With Her Funny and Serious "Things."

[By Isabel Armstrong.]

A group of models in patent clay among the pictures and other exhibits in Colerick's window on Dundas street has attacted much attention from passersby today. More interest would probably be aroused were it known that the house, the animals, the clusters of flowers and the other pieces composing the collection are the work of the skilled fingers of a small girl just turned nine, the little daughter of Capt. T. E. Robson, county treasurer, and Mrs. Robson.

Farther down the street to the west, in Wendall Holmes' window is another clay group fashioned by the same young artist.

Advertiser Illustrations.

MISS FLORENCE ROBSON, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Tom Robson.

Finds Her Art In Mud.

Ever since she was a tiny tot, even before kindergarten days, the chief delight of Florence Robson was making things of mud. Mother Robson, recalling her own childhood days, took it for granted the "things" were merely mud pies. But wise little daughter knew better. Little daughter played in the shade of the big tree and she found her materials around its roots. A little bit of dirt and a little bit of water, and, presto, the modeling material was right at hand. Only she didn't call it modeling material. She hadn't even heard those big words. It was what she "made things with."

The fifth birthday arrived, and the freedom of a part of every day was given up to kindergarten. But that didn't in any way interfere with the "mud-pie" industry. Mother remonstrated when she found great holes gouged out at the foot of the big tree, exposing the roots.

Sculptor, Spare This Tree.

"You are spoiling the tree, and it won't live if you don't leave clothes and a dinner for the roots," the mother said gravely.

"But I got to have mud to make things with," implored little daughter. Then a bright idea struck the child. "There is a kind of mud they have at school that you don't have to dig out of the ground at all. Couldn't you get me that?"

They didn't play with patent clay when mother went to school, but it did not take her long to discover it after the suggestion, and soon the happiest little girl in London was modeling away with "nice, clean mud, like you get in school and don't have to kill trees for."

Her "Career" Dawning.

The young modeller in clay had a real, new interest in life. She revelled in her color box and she never grew tired of making pictures. She copied calendars and she copied picture postcards, and she put in the colors to suit her own taste, which revealed quite an unusual amount of talent.

The beginning of this year her parents decided that she should have some lessons in form to at least discover if she had special ability. The teacher secured began with lessons in oils.

During the years of the big jump from five to nine, the modelling was by no means neglected. Shortly after the lessons began in painting little Miss Florence turned with renewed interest and enuthiasm to her first love, "making things of mud," even if it happened to be a glorified variety. Quite unexpectedly, with a few deft twists, she made herself a mouse, just like one she had seen scurrying across the floor.

Then she tried to make more animals, and it wasn't long till she had a whole menagerie, a zebra, an elephant with a long trunk, a monkey, and all the other kinds that are required for a respectable circus.

A mouse, very much like the first one, sits on a stool, playing the piano in the group in Colerick's window.

The Clay and the Twist.

Ambition next turned to architecture and building of houses became the chief occupation of the day. There was a classic looking residence, all in white marble, on a most efficient mosaic court in white and green. Of course, houses required people to live in them and automobiles for the people to ride in, pianos for them to play upon, and furniture with which to surround themselves. Simplest things in the world if you had the clay and the right twist!

When it came to the farm dwelling which is appropriately located in the midst of the forest of gardening literature in Holmes' window, the artist decided a fence was indispensable. Then to give it a home-like appearance the proper thing was to have the father and mother comfortably seated outside and children playing on the lawn. Also there must be at least one cow and a horse and stables for them.

Illustrating favorite stories by sculptured groups has been a further excuse for lingering over art "mud." For example, there was the story of "Micky Longtail." The famous monkey was soon mounted on the back of the mountain goat and that was only the beginning of the possibilities of such absorbing play.

Two or three days ago the little artist walked downtown with mother and cases of wax flowers in an auctioneer's window filled her with fascination and wonder. She could scarcely be induced to go farther.

Mother was out the next forenoon and when she returned to the house after a few hours' absence she found her little daughter surrounded by whole bouquets of mud flowers and just rolled in like that," half apologized Miss Florence.

A Run On the Clay Supply.

The dealers began to wonder why a certain family in town was making such a run on patent clay. Inquiries brought forth the fact that the little daughter of the household was as happy as when she was making it into "things," and that her appetite for using it was practically insatiable.

Then the dealers expressed their interest in seeing some of her work. That is how it comes about that Florence Robson, aged just nine, is holding her first exhibition in sculpture.

LIEUT. JOE WALTERS NOW IN COMMAND OF COMPANY

Advertiser Boys at Front Play Their Parts Manfully—Roy Scott Transfers From Hospital To Be Among London Batterymen.

The boys of The Advertiser editorial staff have done great work in the Canadian army.

Lieut. Joseph Walters, who went away with the 99th Battalion, has been in command of a company on the west front for some time during the absence of the captain, and it is said that he will be given a permanent command or a post in the flying corps. His brother officers, writing home, say that "Joe" has developed into a wonderful soldier.

Word was received at the office today that Pte. Roy Scott, who-for with two other members of the staff with No. 3 Stationary Hospital, and went through the Dardanelles campaign, has been transferred from the hospital and is now with the 12th Field Battery, in command of the late Lieut.-Col. Wood Leonard, until he was appointed a brigadier. Sergt. Ed. Penny, also with the hospital, is endeavoring to secure a commission with a fighting unit, and Pte. Nelson Minhinnick is also seeking a transfer to a battery.

Lieut. Bert Perry is about to leave for France, if not already there, to engage in the fighting wing of the Royal Flying Corps. He passed his examinations with flying colors.

Other staff men are serving with distinction in various units.

10 PER CENT REDUCTION FOR COMMERCIAL POWER

Decrease for Householder May Come Later, Says Chairman.

The utilities commission, through Chairman Philip Pocock, announced today that there would be a reduction in rates for power users, and commercial lighting. The power prices will be cut 10 per cent, while commercial lighting will be reduced 15 per cent.

The total saving would be about $25,000. All the big manufacturers will benefit by the reduction, and the big stores and office buildings will also save money. The London Street Railway will pay $1 a horsepower less on their rate, saving the company about $1,750 per annum.

There will be no reduction for the householder, who will continue to pay the same rates as heretofore. A revision of the price for the householder is under consideration, and a lower price may be decided on.

"We think it proper to give a reduction at this time," said Mr. Pocock. "The rates have been confirmed, and will be made public as soon as the details can be arranged."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

FUNERAL OF JOHN ROSS.

The funeral of John Ross, formerly of J. & D. Ross, now Ross Limited, who died Tuesday after a short illness, was held today from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. R. W. Glover, 152 Central avenue. The services were conducted at the house by Rev. D. C. MacGregor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and although of a private nature were largely attended by the numerous friends of Mr. Ross during his forty years of business life here. Interment took place at Woodland Cemetery and the pallbearers were John Gunn, S. Screaton, David Ross, R. W. Glover, Alex. Ross and A. Sharpe.

DEATH OF MRS. MITCHELL.

Mrs. Christina Mitchell, cousin of the late Dr. McIntyre of Gencoe, died on Wednesday at her residence, 303 King street. Her death was caused by pneumonia. She was 56 years old and before her marriage was Miss Christina Campbell. The funeral will be held from her late residence on Friday, interment taking place at Woodland Cemetery.

ENTRANCE OF

continued, the United States did not comprehend what had been endured in Europe for years from the military caste in Prussia. Saying that Prussia was not a democracy but that Emperor William had promised it would be after the war, he added: "I think the Kaiser is right."

The luncheon, held to celebrate the entrance of the United States into the war, brought together the most distinguished gathering in the history of the club. The guests included Chancellor Bonar Law, Col. Winston Spencer Churchill, Lord Reading, Gen. Smuts, Lord Derby, Lord Bryce, Walter Hume Long, the Italian ambassador, Marquis Imperiali Di Francavilla, and the Cuban minister, Garcia Y Velez.

Premier Lloyd George, the guest of honor, delivered the principal speech after a brief introduction by Ambassador Page. The premier received a tremendous ovation when he entered the room. Toasts were drunk to President Wilson and King George.

Got Into Bunkers.

"In three years we tried every kind of blunder," said Mr. Lloyd George. "We got into every bunker, but now we have got a good niblick stroke, and we are right out into the course.

"It is worth America's while to study our blunders and begin where we are now. I am so glad the United States is sending naval and military experts to this country to exchange views with men who have been through three anxious years of war."

Assured of Victory.

Absolute assurance of victory, the premier said, was to be found in the word "ships." He saw that the United States realized this fully, and had arranged to build a thousand ships for the Atlantic.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, the premier went on, had declared that German submarines would put England out of business before the United States was ready.

"He does not know America," the premier declared. He added that von Hindenburg's prophecy was "as false as his famous line, which we have broken already."

GOVERNORS FAVOR MAKING A START ON NEW BUILDINGS

University Plans Should Be Prepared at Once.

VISIT MEDICAL SCHOOL

Survey of Conditions Will Be Made Tomorrow Afternoon.

Discussion which may lead to a start upon the buildings of the Western University at the new site and preparation for a new medical school immediately after the war took place yesterday at a meeting of the board of governors in the office of Major T. J. Murphy. The matter first came up when expenses in the medical and arts departments were being discussed. Whether the present arrangement was economical was questioned. It was decided at once that the governors would visit the medical school Friday afternoon and ascertain what could be done to put conditions on a satisfactory footing.

Prepare for War's End.

It was pointed out that in all probability the war would come to an end within one year, and that the preparation of plans for a medical building would take a considerable time. The advisable plan was to secure these plans and to be ready to commence the building immediately after the war.

The university now has the deeds both to the Kingsmill farm and to the Fitzgerald and Flannigan properties adjoining. That is was advisable to go ahead with a central building on the new property, or at least to make a start toward the securing of plans, which would take many months to prepare was regarded as a basis for immediate discussion.

Erect Central Building.

Some of the governors believed that the right thing was to go ahead on credit and construct a central building after passing on plans, so that the university would be ready to meet the rush of students certain to come immediately after the war. It is altogether probable that steps toward securing competitive plans for the whole university and medical school will be taken. The governors are practically a unit on the need for "preparedness" and their survey of medical school and its affairs will start the ball rolling toward definite action.

SCARLET FEVER MOST PREVALENT DISEASE

During the week ending April 7th, 25 cases of infectious disease were reported to Dr. H. W. Hill, medical officer of health. Of these, 4 were chickenpox, 1 diphtheria, 3 mumps, 12 scarlet fever, 3 tuberculosis, 1 whooping cough, and 1 German measles. Scarlet fever continues to be the most prevalent disease, although signs are not wanting that the epidemic is dying down.

There are 129 cases isolated at the present time, 98 at home and 31 in the isolation hospital. Out of this number 76 are scarlet fever, 11 mumps, 27 whooping cough, 6 chickenpox, 5 German measles, 3 diphtheria, and 1 a combination of scarlet fever and diphtheria.

EMERSON ST. PIERRE

gonia, Western Australia, or Spain, people would have raised money to abolish it. This home would have discredited a community of savages.

His lordship then announced that sentence on the girl would be five years in penitentiary.

St. Pierre Sentenced.

Emerson St. Pierre was brought in after the girl had been removed.

To him the judge remarked that he or somebody acting for him had induced Nettie Richmire to commit perjury yesterday. After her truthful evidence in the morning she had announced that she was glad she had told the truth, even though it meant the end of Emerson's existence. In the afternoon she had changed her story. It would have been a great farce if, after Emerson had been acquitted, when the girl accepted responsibility for the murder, Emerson had gone into the box and sworn he killed his father, thus securing the acquittal of both. The prisoner was unperturbed when the judge told him he must go to the penitentiary for the term of his natural life.

Take Children Away.

Judge Latchford then called Mrs. St. Pierre and an officer of the Society for the Protection of Children before him. He said that Flossie and Leila St. Pierre, the 9 and 10-year-old children of the dead man, should be removed from the custody of a mother so unnatural and immoral as to allow them to live in the home that had been described at the trial, if it was as bad as described. It might be that it was not. That would be for the judge before whom the officer made application for the care of the children to decide.

In the struggle by the crowd to gain entrance into the courtroom yesterday afternoon a woman was so badly crushed that she fainted; one man had his arm broken and another several fingers smashed in a door.

WHAT A TRIBUTE

To the Methods of Standard Drug Stores

Is the persistent and unblushing manner in which some of our envious rivals try to copy and imitate us. What a difference between the Originator and the Imitator. How easy for the buying public to see the awkward, clumsy efforts of those who copy, those who follow, those who have to be led, those who would never have offered you cut prices if Standard Drug had not come to your relief. Those who would, if they could, charge you the full limit of high drug combine prices.

BULGARS GETTING ANGRY.

GERMAN cavalry is being utilized, says a Reuter dispatch, to suppress riots in Bulgaria's capital, and has charged the crowds, causing many casualties.

Think of what would happen if, urged by hunger and misery, the populace of Ottawa should riot and American troops be used to quell the rioting by the use of swords and firearms. The city's whole population would rise, including the soldiery, and tear the visiting troops to pieces.

Yet this is what is being done in Bulgaria, and the Bulgar soldiers are asked to stand by and see their fathers, mothers, sisters or wives felled to the ground by the blades of the Hun brutes. How much longer will the alliance last?

PHYSICAL STANDARDS.

ARE THE MILITARY authorities of Canada not making a serious mistake in requiring that recruits for the home defence force pass the same physical examination as those enlisting for overseas service? Is a similar degree of fitness essential?

There are many slight disabilities which prevent the acceptance of willing men for the strenuous trench life of the European battlefield, but which seem too trivial to bar them from service in the Dominion. For instance, many have been refused because of flat feet, among them well-known athletes of proved endurance, the belief being held that they could not stand the heavy marching and continuous labor involved in the stubborn fighting in France.

Presumably Canada's home defence force will be required, if brought into action at all, to repel attacks by pro-Germans made from across the border. That appears to be the only possible menace while the British navy controls the seas. These attacks would of necessity be short-lived, since with the United States as an ally, no serious attempt to carry out a thorough invasion of the Dominion would be possible.

For guard duty, whether at prison camps, along the border, or at ammunition plants and other places of vital importance, a "hammer toe," a varicose vein or other similar affection could, surely, not be prohibitory. Good eyesight, mental alertness and a sure aim, together with average general fitness, would appear to be sufficient to meet the necessities.

There is no denying that under present rules and regulations men hesitate to join for home defence for fear of being sneered at as too "yellow" to go overseas. Possibly the fear is groundless, but it exists. If the physical standard were lowered, it would not only attract men who are unable to get overseas, although willing to do anything asked of them, but would shield from the danger of reproach those perfectly fit, but who consider it impossible to leave the country to fight. There must be thousands of men in the Dominion who have been rejected, not to mention those invalided back from England after arrival there. Most of these would be willing to do "their bit" here since they cannot do it abroad, and to give them the opportunity would help to fill up the home defence ranks more quickly than can be hoped under existing conditions.

PITY THE HUNS, TOO.

MISGUIDED people who are spluttering "sympathy" by the column over the 17-year-old boy who was whipped for a brutal assault on an 8-year-old schoolgirl should save some of their commiseration for the Huns, who have been accused of the same crimes in Belgium and France.

Wouldn't it be a pity to punish these Prussians? They know not what they do, and, no doubt, some of them only weigh "not more than 120 pounds," as the "sob sister" who stirred up the "sympathy" with false reports would put it. Cannot our Canadian boys refrain from using these kaiser's men so cruelly? Give them a severe talking to and take them into the bosom of your family, one to each home. To whip them would be horrifying! (Shudder here twice.)

The newspaper which has made a hero of this gallant youth should also be reminded that he is to leave jail in a few days. He should be met by a reception committee, headed by a band, photographed, and asked to write a signed article on "Atrocities at Home and in Belgium." Then his loving admirers could hang a wreath of flowers about his neck.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

AFTER READING that the amount distributed among injured workmen in Ontario, under the compensation act, was nearly $2,500,000 in 1916, one wonders what were the conditions before this act came in force. How did all the victims of accidents live during their sickness and manage to keep their families from starvation? Some, of course, were taken care of by fraternal societies' benefit funds, a few by benevolent employers and others by mutual insurance schemes, but the great mass had little assistance. The worker of today has many advantages over his brother of yesterday.

Statistics show that the number of cases compensated was 16,192, of which 256 were fatalities and 1,418 permanent disabilities. It is impossible to compare this with records of years preceding the passing of the act, but it is almost certain that the percentage of workers injured has decreased considerably. Employers, manufacturers especially, have found it to their advantage to install safety devices not previously considered necessary and have insisted upon their employees being more careful and taking advantage of everything provided for their benefit.

The workmen's compensation act has been a real blessing to the people for whose sake it was introduced, and they ought to remember that it is one of the many progressive moves forced upon an unwilling and backward government by the Ontario Liberal party and its leader, N. W. Rowell.

ONE STEP FORWARD.

IN VOTING to admit women to the vestries of the church, St. Paul's Cathedral vestry took a step towards removing one of the outstanding injustices to the "weaker sex," and it may be expected, confidently, that other churches will not be slow to follow the example thus set: if they are, they are liable to suffer for it.

In the Anglican church, as in other churches, women have a large share of the work thrown upon their shoulders, and they are expected to provide an important part of the funds. Yet, when it came to having a voice in the conduct of the institution, they have been neglected. The wonder is that they have endured it so patiently.

What church today would be able to meet its liabilities, help the missionary cause, or hold together at all, if it were not for the women members? It would be interesting to know what proportion of the male membership of a church would continue to attend and donate if the influence of the women was removed.

THE GERMAN PEOPLE.

THE president of the United States in his address, very correctly expresses the true feelings of the United States and Canada towards the German people. He says:

> We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling towards them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their Government acted in entering this war. It was not with their previous knowledge or approval. We are, let me say again, the sincere friends of the German people, and shall desire nothing so much as the early re-establishment of intimate relations of mutual advantage between us—however hard it may be for them, for the time being, to believe that this is spoken from our hearts. We have borne with their present Government through all these bitter months because of that friendship—exercising a patience and forbearance which would otherwise have been impossible. We shall, happily, still have an opportunity to prove that friendship in our daily attitude and actions towards the millions of men and women of German birth and native sympathy who live amongst us and share our life, and we shall be proud to prove it towards all who are in fact loyal to their neighbors and to the Government in the hour of test. They are, most of them, as true and loyal Americans as if they had never known any other fealty or allegiance. They will be prompt to stand with us in rebuking and restraining the few who may be of a different mind and purpose. If there should be disloyalty, it will be dealt with with a firm hand of stern repression; but, if it lifts its head at all, it will lift it only here and there, and without countenance, except from a lawless and malignant few.

The Germans in America can aid very materially in giving the German people the true idea of America, and an understanding of freedom as it is in America, and ought to be in Germany. It will then rest with the Germans in Germany to bring about the abdication of the kaiser, and consequent peace. President Wilson says, "the right is more precious than peace" The German people can have both right and peace.

SPRAYING, CULTIVATING, FERTILIZING AND THINNING THE PEACH TREE.

The great enemies of the peach are the San Jose scale and the peach-tree borer. The San Jose scale is kept down by a thorough spraying in the spring. This must be done before there is any sign of the bursting of the buds. Commercial lime-sulphur, in the proportion of one gallon to seven gallons of water, or home-boiled lime sulphur wash, described in Tuesday's article, may be used. This is usually the only spraying that the peach tree receives. Other applications are made to deal with specific pests, which may or may not attack the trees. The larvae of the borers which inhabit the bark of the trunk are cut out with a sharp knife, usually in October or the beginning of June. Their habitation is discovered by the mass of gum which exudes from the wounds which they make in the tree. Often they are found in the trunk, even three or four inches below the ground. Wounds thus made should be covered with white lead or grafting wax. Another type of borer inhabits any wounds which may be found on the tree, and it is found in the large branches as well as the trunk. The method of dealing with it is the same.

Our severe winter frosts are not favorable to the peach tree, and one of the great trials of the peach grower is what is known as winter injury. This is usually caused by a sudden drop in temperature, when the fruit buds, branches or roots may be killed. About the only way to avoid this is to have hardy trees growing in a sheltered position. A cover crop or a good mulch of barnyard manure will help.

Cultivation is important, and should be done as soon as the ground may be worked in the spring. If commercial fertilizers are used they must be used along with barnyard manure, or a cover crop, which will supply humus to the soil and help to absorb the commercial fertilizer. The most convenient cover crop for a city gardener would be clover or peas.

Thinning is not usually practiced by the extensive grower on account of the expense, but might be well done by citizens who have only a few trees. It has been found out by experiment that the fruit on thinned trees is much more profitable and of a superior quality. The distance to thin depends largely on the bearing capacity of the individual tree, and must be left to the judgment of the grower. However, experiment has shown that peaches thinned to from one to three inches, that is, just so that two peaches will not touch when ripe, are the most profitable.

A FINGER OF PROMISE.

By Susan E. Clagett.

Tired in body and soul, Louise Tomlison dropped into a chair and stared blankly out of the Washington hotel window. She was conscious of nothing outside of the immediate problems threatening the life she had carefully regulated for twelve years or more. Her unseeing eyes rested upon an ethereal thing arising from out the surrounding darkness, softly white and pointing upward as if in promise—a beacon of hope after years of silent endurance, had she but known it.

She had stopped in Washington on her way to New York instead of going there after the New York opera season, as was her custom. What possessed her to alter her usual schedule she could not have told, and as she sat by the window in the darkness of her room she wondered if she had been influenced by the chance remark she had overheard as she changed cars at St. Paul. She was a conventional woman and resented having her world turned topsy-turvy. But that was what had happened. Her emotions had gained the upper hand, and whichever way she looked she was confronted by memories that left her shaken She had been aroused by the casual mention of a name, buried with other memories when she had broken her engagement many years before.

Her father had looked upon the affair as a boy and girl affair that would be forgotten, and thankfully forgotten after the lapse of years. He reasoned that travel, the development of her musical talent, and, later, the social life to which she was entitled, would play so large a part in her young life that for some time to come there would be no room for other interests. He should have judged her differently. She was one of those women who cannot forget, but who bring their force of will to bear against individual happiness, when that happiness means the misery of another. She knew that he was the one spot of brightness in her widowed father's life. He could not go with her to her prospective home in the north of Ireland, neither could the man she loved give up his interests to come to her. There was but one choice, and she made it.

Judge Tomlison had been dead five years the autumn Louise had come to Washington, and as she sat, with her unseeing eyes centred upon that finger of light far off in the heavens, her mind was slowly going over the few words that had passed between herself and the man who still had the power to arouse emotions she had thought were past, but that now held her in a grip, the intensity of which she resented.

They had met that evening at dinner. She was late. Moving swiftly across the reception hall to greet her hostess the lace of her gown caught in the signet of a man who moved aside for her to pass. Impatient at the detention she spoke quickly, as he endeavored to untwist the delicate threads.

"It does not matter. Break them, please."

"I would rather you would unfasten it in at your leisure," he said, and, slipping the ring from his finger, he offered it to her.

Annoyed by the incident, but unable to wait longer she pushed the ring within her glove and moved away without a glance into the face of the man beside her.

He was seated next to her at the table, by one of those fateful happenings that come about in the most natural way. It was then that she looked at him, and from him to the ring she held in her hand, a sapphire set in diamonds with a crest and motto familiar to her.

"Am I so changed that you do not recognize me, Louise?" he asked, but before she answered his dinner partner claimed his attention. It was some time before he again turned to her, then only for a moment.

"Will you drive with me tomorrow? Keep the ring until then. You cannot give it to me now without attracting attention."

"I did not recognize your voice, Lawrence. There is a different note in it, otherwise you are unchanged, except for that scar across your face. I heard you had been wounded in Africa."

"The Boers about did for me. I was hoping they would make a clean job of it, but they didn't and about the worst time I have spent in my life was getting well in the hospital in Johannesburg. Your letter had reached me just before going into action, if action you could call the one-sided affair. Their sharpshooters picked us off one by one. But this is not a subject for dinner talk. Will you drive tomorrow?"

"At 3," she said. She did not again have opportunity to speak to him.

Now in the dark all these things came back to her, and the wavering finger of light still pointed hopefully upward.

The following afternoon there was little talk between them until they reached the open country. Then he turned to her.

"It is twelve years since I received that letter, Louise," he said going back to their talk of the evening before. "I had not heard from you for weeks, and I was homesick for a line. We moved at daybreak, and the chances were against any of us returning, for every kopje held a sharpshooter. I could not read it at once, but the very feel of it in my pocket gave me comfort. Then when I was at last alone I could not sense the contents. I had been so sure of you, and there in black and white were words at last that burned into my consciousness. Your reason was inadequate. Your father needed you. Sometime you would give me a full explanation. I do not like to think of that time; but afterward, as lay in that Johannesburg hospital, I tried to reason it out, but could not. All through those endless days your eyes looked at me steadfastly, giving the lie to that letter. They seemed to say, 'Wait, only wait.' I wrote to you, but my letters were returned to me from your dead letter office; yet as the years passed I still waited.

"One day I met an old friend who had known you, Col. Arthur. From him I learned of your father's trouble, and for the first time I understood the reason of your break with me. Through Arthur I also heard of his death. I sailed on the next steamer for New York. Arthur was with me. He went on to Seattle and I came to Washington, hoping to find some trace of you here. I could not believe my luck when you brushed against me last evening." He leaned forward and touched his ring shining upon her ungloved hand. "It seems natural to see it again in place."

Then it was that she became conscious of something that had been haunting her memory since the night before. Rising from out of the clouds into the clear atmosphere above was the tip of Washington's monument, an ethereal thing pointing like a finger of light into the beyond—a finger of promise.

"I heard your name when I changed cars in St. Paul," she said at last. "Two gentlemen were speaking of you. They stood with faces from me, and I did not recognize either, but their chance remark changed my plans. Some time I will explain to you fully why I sent that letter, but just now I only want happiness."

"And you find it with me?"

"For the first time in twelve years I am content, Lawrence!"

AMERICA ENTANGLED

"America Entangled" is the title of a timely book just published by A. C. Laut, New York, written by John Price Jones of the New York Sun, with introductions by Theodore Roosevelt and former United States assistant attorney in New York, Roger B. Wood. This book gives a picturesque and entrancing story of German intrigue and espionage in the United States up to the recent breaking off of diplomatic relations between Washington and Berlin. It is a story as amazing as almost anything in "Arabian Nights," and yet the statements are made by experts, supported by experts and based on official records, as Theodore Roosevelt says.

Mr. J. P. Jones, the author, obtained and collected his facts while acting as a reporter on the New York Sun who devoted a year to no other work." He describes Mr. Roger B. Wood as having "the credit for the unfolding of the intricate and varied schemes charged against Koenig, studying the evidence for months as it was developed by federal agents under Superintendent Offley and Captain Tunney, and preparing for trial the cases against the German agent." As for Col. Roosevelt, he needs no vouchers in this connection. As Mr. Jones says, he "has made a special study of Germany's crimes on neutral territories," and in a speech at Brooklyn, January 30, 1916, expressed the following opinion:

"The German and Austrian Governments through their accredited representatives in the embassies at Washington, have carried on a campaign of bomb and torch against our industries. The action our Government should have taken in view of this campaign was not action against Dumba, von Papen and Boy-Ed, but the holding of the German and Austrian Governments themselves responsible for every munition plant that was blown up or damaged."

Mr. Roosevelt justly writes of Mr. Jones' simple, unvarnished and yet sensational narrative that it is "a capital work, and I wish it could be put in the hands of all good Americans." He will still have that wish, now that his country has gone to war, for in this little 50 cent book there is material sufficient in itself alone to fan the righteous anger of a nation that has endured with patient temper insult upon injury, and to convince it that its anger is well founded.

What Col. Roosevelt charged, the German Government formally denied, that it had directed any illegal acts upon American soil. Mr. Jones' book amply proves the truth of Col. Roosevelt's charge and the falsity of the German Government's statement. He quotes first from the well-known, infamous "War Book" issued by the German Government to officers, to show the open and brazen indifference to breaches of morality expressed by Prussianism. Here is one sentence: "The ugly and inherently immoral aspect of such methods (assassination, incendiarism, etc.) cannot affect the recognition of their lawfulness." But Mr. Jones retells the astonishing story of von Papen, von Igel and von Rintelen, their direct employment by the German Government, and their promotion of bombing, their violation of American neutrality in the smuggling of supplies to raiders and their organization by wholesale bribery of Mexican crises, strikes, embargo movements and "peace" propaganda. It is red-hot reading.

Crowning injury in this line was the diabolical plot which entrapped the Lusitania. As Mr. Jones tells the story from the evidence taken at the official inquiry, the captain of the Lusitania was misled by a wireless message forged in Berlin, put into the British code at Sayville, Long Island and substituted by German agents on board the doomed steamer for the genuine British admiralty radiogram. While the genuine message directed Capt. Turner to proceed to a point 70 or 80 miles south of Old Head of Kinsale and there meet his convoy, the fake drew him to a point ten miles south of Old Head, where two German submarines were lying specially in wait for the splendid vessel. In order that this shocking crime against humanity might be perpetrated, "American neutrality was violated and American statutes governing wireless stations were disregarded."

One point, rather humorous, made by Mr. Jones, will touch the American mind very sharply. On page 190 he says that during the long negotiation between Berlin and Washington over the Lusitania case, every time word went abroad that the German attitude was unyielding, and New York stocks in consequence dropped some pegs, the German Government's American agents would buy, and then, when reports appeared that Germany was yielding, and stocks were buoyant, the Germans would sell at a substantial profit. So, says the writer, "as a result of every crisis the German Government realized millions of dollars on the market." This may be guesswork or hearsay, but it is amusing.

The amount of money spent by the kaiser's agents must have been something enormous. It is stated that Samuel Gompers, the labor president, was offered $500,000 to assist actively in the "peace" propaganda. He scorned the offer. When "there was no money left" for this movement, "the propaganda died," after two fine, big, fat, rousing conventions had been held.

Von Rintelen deposited in Cuban and Mexican banks more than $800,000 for Huerta's use, and "while the Huertista faction was amply financed, it was only one of seven groups, five of which were in Mexico, to which von Rintelen passed out money, hoping that President Wilson, nervous and harassed, would raise a big army for a march."

Mr. Jones asserts that after several arrests, deportations, convictions and a thorough rousing of the American people to its danger, when Bernstorff issued a warning last spring to Germans in the United States to refrain from illegal acts, there began a general exodus of one class of German agents to South America. Perhaps we shall be hearing more of their doings. No doubt the recent work of German raiders off the Brazilian coast is some of it. Brazil's entrance into the war may be its finish.

The character of Prussian officialdom is well shown up in this book, its insolence, self-confidence and peculiarly offensive boastfulness. The wonderful dove-tailing and co-ordination of all activities of life is exhibited in the training of the kaiser's secret service men. Von Rintelen was a financier, a naval officer, a linguist, a diplomat, a gentleman and a rogue. All things work together for evil in the Prussian system. There is only one good thing for the world in it. Owing to the overweening self-assurance of the blackguards, they constantly misjudge and underestimate non-Germans. They thought meanly of France and Great Britain, "the English would not work," they pooh-poohed at first the ability of American plants to turn out an appreciable amount of those munitions which went through their skulls at Ypres, and we may well believe that they are at their old ignorant, sneering misjudgment again in supposing that the entrance of the United States into the war "will make no difference."

"America Entangled" is cleverly written, with much picturesqueness and force as well as simplicity and clearness; though here and there stands out a phrase or sentence amorphous or ill-grammared, the positive merits make these negligences unnoticed. It is evidently an honest and serious piece of work. The closing sentence is one of impressive dignity: "The citizens of the United States must stand in time of danger as one man in defence of our lives, our liberties, our rights on land and sea, our homes and our national honor."

"MORE LIGHT" ON CUBA.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Your editorial "Cuba and Panama," has been read with displeasure, no doubt, by thinking people that know the history of the heroic island.

You are right when you say "There is something doing most of the time in Cuba." The fact is that people of that island do not want "peace at any price," as others do, especially when their liberty and freedom are at stake. They have proved that since the time they expelled the British from their island and again when they started at the work of shaking off the yoke of the clergy, as well as the yoke of Spain in 1837. After this revolution, several others took place for liberty and freedom.

In 1868 the best people of that island—the intellectuals and the millionaires—gave their lives and money for the sake of their country, and proclaimed in their constitution at Tava "that all men were equals under the law." Just think of this! Millionaires and multi-millionaires fighting side by side with their slaves for their mutual political freedom!

This revolution lasted ten years. The island was destroyed almost entirely But it was glorious, for they demonstrated the fact that they have no regard for riches or life when democracy and liberty are at stake.

Though the revolution was apparently lost, the fact that the republic was established in 1895 showed that "the thinkers" were right in 1868 in winning from Spain the freedom of the slaves, who were brought to this country by England and Spain, and to whom the Cubans are indebted for their sacrifice and help in gaining their mutual political freedom. The Cuban's gratitude is also due to United States for their friendly assistance.

That our people are still ready to stir up some excitement by means of a revolution is not surprising, Mr. Editor. To prepare your nerves for the future, I may add that so long as Cubans are not free economically as well as politically; so long as there is a class that lives on the fat of the land, while the great majority have to pay the bill, there will be "something doing in Cuba."

I do not quite understand your reference to the dusky people. If you allude to the Ethiopian race, they only number 13 per cent of the Cuban population, the balance being made up of European races.

Thanking you in advance for insertion, I am, yours truly,

A CREOLE.

Removes Hairy Growths Without Pain or Bother

(Modes of Today.)

It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these beauty destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment, be careful to get real delatone.—Advt.

Mother, Why Don't You Take Nuxated Iron?

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable All the Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?—The Doctor Gave Some to Susie Smith's Mother and She Was Worse Off Than You Are and Now She Looks Just Fine.

NUXATED IRON WILL INCREASE THE STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE OF WEAK, NERVOUS, CAREWORN, HAGGARD LOOKING WOMEN 100 PER CENT IN TWO WEEKS' TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

THE CHILD'S APPEAL

There can be no Beautiful, Healthy Rosy Cheeked women without Iron."
F. KING, M. D.

"There can be no healthy, beautiful, rosy-cheeked women without iron," says Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author. "In my recent talks to physicians on the grave and serious consequences of iron deficiency in the blood of American women I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—nuxated iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard looking women patients. Pallor means anaemia. The skin of the anaemic woman is pale, the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fags and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks."

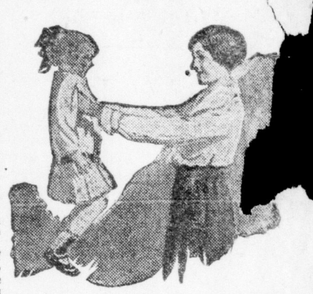

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated cornmeal, the iron is found to be ruined. And longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked, are responsible for another grave iron loss.

"Therefore, if you wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor to a ripe old age, you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt.

"As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest of all strength-builders. If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease, preventing it becoming organic in thousands of cases, and thereby the lives of thousands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, kidney, liver, heart trouble and other dangerous maladies. The real and true cause which started their disease was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood.

On account of the peculiar nature of woman, and the great drain placed upon her system at certain periods, she requires iron much more than man to help make up for the loss.

Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly-looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again, and see how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while double their strength and endurance and entirely rid themselves of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles, in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate, or tincture of iron, simply to save a few cents. The iron demanded by Mother Nature for the red coloring matter in the blood of her children is, alas! not that kind of iron. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe aggravated conditions, with unfailing results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial, all of whom have given me most surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful healthy rosy cheeked women full of Life, Vim and Vitality

Many an athlete and prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray; while many another has gone down in inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But so many American women suffer from iron deficiency with its attendant ills—physical weakness, nervous irritability, melancholy, indigestion, flabby, sagging muscles, etc., etc., and in consequence of their weakened, run-down condition they are so liable to contract serious and even fatal diseases, that I deem it my duty to advise such to take Nuxated Iron. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results, and those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, tells physicians that they should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their patients—Says anaemia—iron deficiency—is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American Woman.—Sounds warning against use of metallic iron which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach and do far more harm than good; advises use of only nuxated iron.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine or secret remedy, but one which is now used by druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, rundown conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in nuxated iron that they offer to forfeit $100 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60, who lacks iron and increase their strength 100 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Standard Drug Company, Limited, and all good druggists.

BEAUTY DOCTOR TELLS SECRET

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken grey hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a grey-haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair and relieve itching and dandruff."—Adv.

CHINA BANISHES CURSE OF OPIUM

(NEW YORK SUN.)

The country which for generations has been looked upon as the least progressive in the world has won the greatest victory ever achieved over a vice that was a national curse. China has shown itself worthy of the distinction of being the oldest civilization in existence. It has set every Occidental country an example by abolishing the source of much of its misery, degradation and weakness, for after March 31 the opium traffic must cease altogether. A vice that has held tens of millions in its clutches is being exterminated.

European and American investigators differ in opinion as to whether the ravages of opium are worse than those of alcohol, but agree that the use of the eastern drug is a more insidious habit than liquor drinking and harder to stamp out. Moreover, the percentage of high Chinese officials who were at one time slaves to opium was far higher than the proportion which alcohol could claim among the administrators and civil servants of western countries, and repressive measures adopted by the Government have in all cases been hampered by influential personal inclination such as would not be met with elsewhere. Ridding the Celestial Empire of its favorite vice has therefore been a stupendous task, greater and more wonderful even than Russia's abolition of vodka; but it has been accomplished after ten years' well-planned work of a thorough, common-sense kind, to the incalculable benefit and everlasting credit of a gifted people.

Spirit of Reform.

Twelve years or so ago a new spirit manifested itself in China, a spirit of reform which aimed at nothing less than the restoration of the yellow race to its old-time independence and prestige. Many of the reformers, like Sun Yat Sen, were men of European and American education; one and all saw the social decadence of every class of their people.

The Mandarins and the rich, the governing classes, in tens of thousands of cases, smoked most of the night and slept most of the day. The poor, countless millions of them, lived existences of such utter monotony, discomfort and wretchedness that they found in the pipe the only relief from misery. Whole populations were sinking, in some places had sunk, into indescribable lethargy and social decadence.

Empire Was Debauched.

The empire was debauched and its strength sapped by what the victims themselves often described as "dirt." Even the poorer and more ignorant of the smokers were, in most cases, ashamed of their habit; while the educated looked upon it as the beginning of China's national sorrows as well as the cause of their own degradation.

Faced with such conditions, the reformers realized and declared that all attempts to create a new China must prove abortive if opium were allowed to continue to sap the vigor of the nation. The basis of national renovation, they saw, must be a sound and energetic people, and having gained control of the Government they acted according to that principle. An edict against opium was issued in 1907. Part of it was as follows:

Edict of 1907.

"Since the first prohibition of opium almost the whole of China has been flooded with poison. Smokers of opium have wasted their time, neglected their employment, ruined their constitutions and impoverished their households. Thus for several decades China has presented a spectacle of increasing poverty and weakness. It rouses our indignation to speak of the matter. The court is now determined to make China powerful; and it is our duty to urge her people to reformation in this respect. We decree, therefore, that within a limit of ten years this harmful muck be fully and entirely wiped away."

That was not the first time the Chinese Government had attempted to put an end to the national curse. In 1729 there was an edict against it, and the smoking dens were ordered to be closed. What was done at that time was not permanent, however, for more than a century later, in 1834, trade in opium was again prohibited, and at Canton the famous Commissioner Lin burned large quantities of the drug, all of which in those days was imported from India.

Britain Encourages Reform.

Then came the war of 1840, the result of which was that Great Britain forced China to import the drug from her great East Indian depedency. It has been estimated that between 1773 and 1906 Indian-grown opium sold to China realized net gains amounting to more than $2,000,000,000. However, when China's reforming Government consulted Great Britain in 1907 it encountered a spirit very different from that of 1840, for there passed through the House of Commons without a dissentient voice a general resolution not only expressing sympathy with China, but a willingness to adopt in India measures similar to those proposed by Pekin.

The regulations laid down in the decree that has now reached its point of completion included the following: Smokers to report themselves and take out licenses; Government officials under sixty years of age to cleanse themselves of the habit within six months; all dens to be closed after six months; no pipes or lamps to be made or sold after six months; the cultivation of the poppy in China and the importation of the drug from abroad to be steadily diminished; shops for the sale of the drug to be closed on March 31, 1917, when the entire traffic was to come to an end.

There were few who believed ten years ago that this wise program could be carried into effect. From thirty to forty per cent of the entire adult population, including women, were under the malign influence of the poison. Since 1858 great tracts of land had been placed under poppy cultivation, which had become a very profitable business, employing an immense number of people.

A Task for Resolution.

A vice of such magnitude as that was not to be banished without a tremendous, sustained and uncompromising fight, and it was feared that even the resolute men who formed the Government would find the task they had set themselves beyond their power of accomplishment. But they never wavered, and found strong support in the International Opium Commission, which, representing the United States and Great Britain as well as China, met in Shanghai in February, 1909, and agreed to do all in its power to help to end the opium curse. This commission was largely the outcome of American leadership of sentiment, and its chairman was Bishop C. H. Brent (who is a native of Ontario).

Ravages of Opium.

The work of the commission, as well as that of the Government, has included giving medical treatment to the unfortunate creatures who had made opium-using a habit. Greatly debilitated in body and mind became the men and women whose ruling passion was to dip the needle into the treacle-like mixture, turn it round till a bead was formed, put it into the lamp to light and then, having transferred the drug to the pipe, take three whiffs, and go through the performance over and over again until stupidity and a heavy sleep stole over them. Nothing but the poison that was ruining them could bring relief to their sufferings.

Curing the Victims.

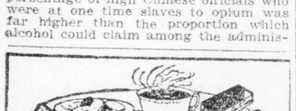

Moderate smokers without privileges are treated in a manner both drastic and effective. The cure is either swallowed or administered hypodermically and is given the patient at the time he takes the drug. The Government cure includes 15 per cent tincture of belladonna, fluid extract of prickly ash (xanthoxylum), and fluid extract of hyoscyamus.

During the last two or three years only old and elderly people and the weakest and worst victims of the habit have used opium. Smokers have been held up to public scorn and the secret pill eaters in Government service have been dismissed from office. Growers who have produced the poppy in remote places have been severely punished.

Closing the Dens.

Notwithstanding rioting and bloodshed in many cities and widespread destruction of property by mobs, the work of reform has been relentlessly pushed ahead. In one city alone 7,000 dens were closed and between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 scattered all over the country have been put out of business. No longer are the passenger steamships encumbered by the sprawling forms of men who have smoked themselves insensible. Huge bonfires of pipes have been publicly burned in every city to the applause of men who formerly spent one-fourth or one-third of their small wages on the drug that impoverished them.

The change that has been effected in the life of the people as a whole is reported to be beyond all expectation, and now that the door has been finally closed against the enemy that worked destruction for centuries a new era, resplendent in its promise, dawns for the largest nation on earth.

KIND IS MY MARY.

[Sent by "Olnna" upon request of "Mother of Two."]

Her brow is fair as winter's snow,
Her cheeks wi' modest roses glow,
An' dovelike glances sweetly flow
Frae oot the een o' Mary.

Chorus.
Sae kind, kind, and gentle is she,
Kind is my Mary,
The tender blossoms on the tree
Cannot compare wi' Mary.

Oh, see yon proud and haughty lass,
Her head wi' pride an' folly tossed,
Ne'er look on her, but let her pass,
Be sure that is not Mary.

But see ye ane o' modest air,
Bedecked wi' beauty sweet and rare,
That mak's your heart feel sweetly sair,
Oh, weel ye ken my Mary.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

An Old Lady's Cure.

Miss Grey,—I noticed in Monday's Mail-Box where "Mrs. S. E. B." is asking help for her little girl's arm. When my brother was a little chap he had his arm scalded and nothing seemed to cure it, until one day an old lady came to visit us, and she told my mother to take a piece of fat smoked pork (bacon would do all right), and stick it real full of oats, then set fire to it and catch the dripping off it, and apply that as you would any other salve, so "Mrs. S. E. B." could try it on the burn. We hold the fat on a meat fork and let it drip into a saucer.

Trusting it will help the little dear. I remain as before, A MYSTERY.

Ans.—Mystery or not, you are ever ready to respond to our Pagelets' appeal. Will "S. E. B." try this old-fashioned remedy?

She Is Willing.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is the last payment due the prisoners' fund. Shall be willing to continue for another six months, if others agree to same. While the amounts are small every little helps, and taken all together make a good contribution. If you have the recipe for graham loaf with dates, that calls for baking powder or soda, will you kindly have it printed? Sincerely, MRS. C. J. W.

Ans.—I am debating as to whether it is necessary to print a renewal pledge with the expiry of the present one. Like yourself, many of the readers who have been contributing regularly, will wish to continue, and I am sure we shall have no difficulty in making up the amount (and over) each month.

Date Loaf—One cup yellow sugar, shortening size of an egg, cupful of dates (remove stones and cut in half) one half cup walnut meats cut finely, two cups Graham flour, cup sour milk, (or a little more if flour requires it), level teaspoon soda. Bake in moderate oven for an hour, in well greased pan. Sweet milk and baking powder (two teaspoons) can be used with equally good results. If preferred, too, omit the nut meats.

Invites "Mrs. Gay."

Dear Miss Grey,—I see where "Mrs. S. E. B." was asking for something to cure a little girl's burned arm. My little girl was terribly burned about six years ago. It took one year for her burns to heal all up. She had the flesh all burned off the tops of her arms, and her body down to her waist. A burn takes a long time to heal, and generally heals from outside of burn. I used to see little spots of new flesh growing, but I think it is more apt to close in around burn. All I used was pure vaseline. Get old table linen and iron out on both sides, spread good and thick with the vaseline. It takes a long time for a burn to heal, but if you have patience, I think you will be well paid for your trouble.

"Mrs. Gay." I often think of you. I was wondering if you would like to accept that invitation I gave you about two years ago, to come and visit me. It will be a change, and perhaps do you good. The invitation is still good. Love to all the Cynthiaites. "Aunt Nannie," I read one of your letters not long ago. Hope you are feeling better. I will sign same old name,

A FRIEND OF ALL THE BOYS IN KHAKI.

Ans.—Glad to welcome you once more to our Mail-Box. "Sister Gay," are you going to accept that kind invitation?

Must We Wait?

Dear Everybody,—How are you all this lovely spring day? Here the sun is shining, and the birds are singing, and the soft but boisterous wind is making music out among the pine trees, and telling me with every swish against the window-panes that spring is here. Isn't that a welcome message? Was about to let old March slip into oblivion for another twelvemonth without blowing in again, but took another sudden notion, and up I leaped. These lovely evenings are enough to inspire anyone to write, or do something desperate, to show how glad one is that winter has gone.

I am indeed sorry, "Tommy Atkins," to have missed that letter. Have often wondered about you, and hoped you had recovered. Our addresses are quite similar—no doubt that caused the mistake.

Lately the question was asked, "Which is the better place to bring up children, city or country?" Now, I have set some serious thought on the subject, I would say the country is the best place to rear a family.

The city, of course, offers by far the greater educational advantages, and the late Hon. David Mills used to say, "Education brings humanity to the world." While agreeing with him, I think there is something still higher than book-learning, and dwellers of the peaceful countryside might have a better chance to find it. In the crowded thoroughfares of a great city, where everyone is going, going, after the "main chance," there seems little time left for quiet thinking about the real problems of life. And if the parents haven't time or haven't the necessary qualities to teach their children life's lessons, who can do so, I would like to know.

Like poor, turbulent Ireland, with its mighty rich and mighty poor, so it is with a big city. The parents in the mighty poor sections are too busy earning bread for the children to have time for anything else. I have lived in a big city and have known its poor. Children in the country earn their own living at an early age. City children have more idle hours, and you know what Satan does with these. So, all things considered, my little mansion by the country roadside looks more preferable, when birds come back in the springtime.

Is there anything can fill one with such haunting sweetness as a robin's song at nightfall? Such memories sweep o'er one and an unutterable longing for the higher life, and courage to keep right on trying for it. Just listen hard, all of you, next time you hear him sing at twilight.

Then there's the little lambs at play in the green pastures and there's the running stream across the meadow, which, as the water subsides, shows up the tenderest of green, getting darker as the season advances.

And there's the willow tree that each passing April fills me with fresh joy and wonder at the swift transition of its leaves. All these things may seem commonplace, but they speak to me of hidden mysterious things of the life that is to be. God always seems nearer in the springtime.

I liked "Country Mother's" letter so well that while reading it something seemed to come up in my throat and clutch me. Such as she is the salt of the earth. There are quite a few "Country Mothers" if we but knew them. I cut her letter out, together with "Parsonage Mother's," and laid them away among my treasures.

The first flower seed that goes into my garden this year will be "Heart's-ease." Have taken a sudden deeper liking for the velvety blossoms. My dear mother, who has magic with flowers, will teach me how to grow them.

Expect to be busy with my vegetable garden, too, and while toiling under the burning rays of Old Sol, wielding that old-fashioned but newly popular implement, the hoe, I'll take courage from the thought that the rest of you folks are doing likewise. Every vicious crack we give, and every weed we lay low, we'll pretend it's Germans. When the task grows too heavy, I'll retire to the shade and eat one of "Rose of Sharon's" "brown mounds," which she told us last fall how to make. They are fine.

"Truro," I believe there is a sequel to "The Second Chance." It is called "Black Creek Stopping Place." Haven't seen it catalogued tho', so I might be mistaken.

Didn't someone ask for "When the Snowbirds Cross the Valley"? I am sending the words of it.

Now just a word about that "Rose of Joy." Each person has a different one of course, but don't you think putting self in the background and trying to bring joy to others a pretty sure way of finding one's "Rose of Joy"? I thought it a nice idea when I read of it some place from Emerson, I believe.

What about the thorns, Miss Grey, would there be any or not?

As an illustration, I think "Country Mother" has found her "Rose of Joy." Am sure everyone will be glad twelve months must roll past before another visit is due from MARCH WIND.

Ans.—"March Wind's" letter penned the very last day of the boisterous month, is a bit late getting into print. But it will be read with none the less interest, I am sure. And "March Wind," we can't possibly wait another year for a letter. You'll simply have to be "June Roses" or something that entitles you to pop in at any time. About the thorns on our "Rose of Joy," do you know I believe we'll be so gladdened by the "boo-ful flowers," the prick of the thorns will scarcely be felt.

Her Kind Gift.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am rather late in sending March pledge, but wanted to see you got February's first. I am inclosing $7 and registering; will know you will get it all right, $2 is for Mrs. Edwards' fund (Belgium); $3 for prisoners' fund and $2 for "Aunt Nannie." That will complete my pledge. I'll not send any more by the month, as I am always anxious till I see you get it safe, and I think it is a nuisance to you. Wishing the Mail-Box all good wishes. SILVERITE.

Ans.—Your inclosure has been divided as requested. According to my "ledger"—see how businesslike I am! The $3 for prisoners' fund more than pays up your pledge. I have you credited with the $6 (as pledged), and an extra dollar for next month. Thanks very much for your kind interest.

Men's Economy.

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw somewhere a mother had a little girl with a sore arm. I have a good salve, and I will send the recipe: One lb. lard or 12 oz. olive oil, 8 oz. beeswax, melted together; have 1 oz. camphor gum put in, 5 oz. alcohol, 1 oz. oreganum, 1 oz. of laudanum. Let all dissolve while you are mixing the first two, then stir together until cold. Don't put it together too hot, or the camphor will go off in steam. The olive oil is more healing than lard.

We read so much in the papers about doing without a new hat, but what about the men that spent $400 for a rug for the Parliament? I must stop, and get to house-cleaning. Hoping to hear that the mother has success with the little arm, sincerely, MRS. TOM.

Ans.—Yea, verily, Mrs. Tom, the men have queer ideas of economy. Haven't you noticed that in "Mr. Tom" sometimes?

(All Rights Reserved.)

The six daily studies for this week constitute the International Sunday School Lesson for next Sunday. Read the Bible Story on which this study is based, as you ponder the following questions:

11. Verse 5—What danger, if any, is there to a loving, faithful Christian, of mistaking some other "voice," for that of the Holy Spirit of Jesus?

12. Verse 6—Is it or not, and why, necessarily a sign of lack of spirituality, or of real goodness, when a person does not intellectually understand some of the parables of Jesus? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club).

13. Verse 7—A door shut is to secure the inmates, and keep out "thieves and robbers," while a door open is for egress and ingress; how then is Christ the door of the Christian sheepfold?

NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS LOSE TO PHILADELPHIA

Brooklyn Drops the Opening Game of Season.

CUBS CHEW UP PIRATES

Matty's Reds, in Mid-Summer Form, Wallop St. Louis.

BROOKLYN, April 11.—The National League champions lost the opening game today to Philadelphia by a score of 6 to 5. Brooklyn outbatted the visitors, but long hits by Luderus, Cravath and Dugey gave Alexander a victory. Dell was ineffective, Luderus and Cravath hitting successive home runs over the right field wall. Leon Cadore, pitching the last four innings, held the visitors to one hit.

Fabrique, Brooklyn's new shortstop, made a good impression, reaching first base four times in five chances, twice on hits. Cutshaw's timely hitting featured Brooklyn's offensive. Score:

DOYLE RESPONSIBLE FOR PIRATE DEFEAT

CHICAGO, April 11.—The National League season was opened here today with a 5 to 3 victory for Chicago over Pittsburg. Bunched hits by the locals, coupled with Vaughn't good pitching and fast fielding, was responsible for the victory. Capt. Larry Doyle, who before the game was said to be a cripple on account of his last year's injury to his ankle, proved the star player for Chicago. His batting was responsible for the first run, and his fielding saved Vaughn and probably the game on two occasions. Score:

HUGGINS' SAINTS NO MATCH FOR REDS

CINCINNATI, April 11.—Schneider pitched in midsummer form today, and the locals annexed the opening game of the season by defeating St. Louis 2 to 1. It was not until the final inning that the visitors proved anyway dangerous, and then only for a moment. On the other hand Mathewson's men connected with Meadows' delivery with regularity, and it was only exceptionally fine fielding on the part of Huggins' team that kept the local score down. Summerlike weather prevailed and a tremendous throng of persons attended. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis ..	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1—1	4	0
Cincinnati ..	0	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	x—3	8	1

COLDS OR COUGHS SHOULD NEVER BE NEGLECTED.

If They Are, Some Serious Lung Troubles Are Sure to Follow.

A cold or cough, if neglected, will sooner or later develop into some sort of lung trouble, so we would advise that you get rid of it before it becomes settled. For this purpose we know of nothing to equal Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This preparation has been on the market for the past twenty-five years, and has always given universal satisfaction.

Mr. Erwell Bolton, Wilton, Ont., writes: "Last winter I was caught in a storm and had to stay in a barn all night. I caught a severe cold which several medicines failed to cure. I went to some of the best doctors but these failed to do me any good. A friend advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I used three bottles and they gave me instant relief."

When you ask for "Dr. Wood's" see that you get the genuine, put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and bearing the name of The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 25c and 50c.

CANADIAN LEAGUERS ARE WIDELY SCATTERED

Pitcher Lou Peterson, the big blonde Swede, who twirled for Ottawa in 1914 and 1915, is back this season where he started. The Senators landed Peterson from Fort Wayne along with Urban Shocker. Had Pete possessed the same internal toughness and mental stability as Shocker he would likely have been up in the big show right now. Knotty Lee while manager of the Guelph outfit in 1915, declared Peterson the best twirler in the league not excepting Shocker. At any rate Peterson is trying out with Fort Wayne again this spring, and among others who are also down in the Indana town trying to catch on are Pitcher Bobby Roberts and Catcher Pete Powers.

Two former Canadian Leaguers are with the Newark International Club in Frankie Fuller and Roy Wilkinson.

Hank Gero, whom Ottawa paid Brantford the fancy price of $25 to have pitch seven innings for the Senators, will twirl for the Springfield, Mass., club in the Eastern League. This player was under suspension till the Canadian League lapsed a year ago when all players were declared free agents.

John Smithson, the southpaw with London in 1915, is twirling for Denver in the Western League. This fellow had more smoke than any pitcher in the Canadian League two years ago.

George Pay, the smart little third sacker with St. Thomas, will hold down an infield position with the Petersburg, Virginia, League team.

George Dunlop notified Toronto Leafs he would pass up baseball for business this season.

Norman McNeill, the ex-Peterboro backstop, who gained notoriety through puching an umpire at Ottawa, is catching for Lynchburg in the Virginia League. Johnny Harkins is doing great work for Waco in the Texas League.

Andy Kyle, the baseball hockeyist, who was awarded Ottawas in the raffle of Toronto players last winter, has signed to play with the Bloomington club in the Three Eye League.

FRANKIE FLEMING TRIMS HAL. CONDEN AT MONTREAL

Canadian Featherweight Outpoints Brooklyn Scrapper.

Montreal, April 11.—In a whirlwind ten-round bout at Sohmer Park here tonight, Frankie Fleming, the local star featherweight, who has long been accorded the Canadian championship, widely outpointed Harry Condon of Brooklyn. The men fought toe-to-toe nearly all the way, and at a fast pace throughout, but Fleming, after fighting cautiously until the third round, had the advantage to the end. The first round was Fleming's by a margin, and the second went to Condon on points at in-fighting.

The match was a return for one three weeks ago which was awarded Fleming because of repeated foul blows. Fleming weighed in at 127 pounds, and Condon at 130.

GIANTS VS. BRAVES OPEN SEASON TODAY

Boston, April 12.—The opening of the National League season in this city, postponed from yesterday because of snow, was arranged for today. Although the weather bureau had forecast "fair and warmer," it was cool and cloudy early in the day, with occasional snowflakes in the air.

Recognition of the war was shown in the plans for a military drill of the Boston and New York players before the opening of the game, together with a parade of 500 sailors from the navy yard and an airplane flight over the field.

VITT SUSPENDED

DETROIT, April 11.—Oscar Vitt, star third baseman of the Detroit Americans, who declined to sign his 1917 contract because of salary differences, was automatically suspended today. Suspension was the result of his failure to report to Manager Jennings before the opening game. Bobby Jones will play third base, at least temporarily.

SAME OLD JOHNSTON

DETROIT, April 11.—Wildness of Pitcher James of Detroit in the first inning of the opening game of the season here today gave Cleveland a lead the home team could not overcome, the visitors winning 6 to 4. In the opening inning, three bases on balls, three hits and two errors netted Cleveland four runs. The batting of Cobb and Veach was noteworthy, the latter driving out a home run in the first inning, with Cobb on second as the result of a two-base hit.

What was reported by the management as the largest number of spectators ever present at a game here attended the opening game. Score:

DONOVAN'S YANKS EASY FOR WORLD CHAMPIONS

NEW YORK, April 11.—The New York Americans proved an easy victim for the world's champions, Boston, in the season's opening game today, the visitors winning 10 to 3. Ruth, Boston's star left-hander, held New York to three hits, and a wild throw by Barry aided New York in scoring.

Caldwell held up until the seventh inning, when, with the score a tie, Boston scored four runs on a base on balls, two singles and Hoblitzell's home run.

Major-Gen. Leonard Wood threw out the first ball, and with his staff reviewed a military drill of the New York players. Score:

WHITE SOX STAGE RALLY AND WALLOP ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, April 11. — Chicago won the opening game of the American League season here today by defeating St. Louis 7 to 2. Hamilton held Chicago to three hits until the eighth, when the visitors tallied, a single, two doubles and a triple producing three runs. An error by Sisler in the ninth, two doubles and a home run off Wellman, gave them three more. The usual flag-raising ceremony was preceded by a military drill by the players. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

TOO MUCH JOHNSTON FOR CONNIE MACK'S NINE

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Walter Johnson's blinding speed and the bunching of three of the hits secured off Bush enabled Washington to win here today, 3 to 0. Johnson held Philadelphia to three scattered hits and he fanned eleven batsmen. Previous to the game the home players marched to the flagpole behind a band and unfurled a new flag and then marched back to the home plate. Score:

THREE DOG TEAMS LEFT AFTER BIG BLIZZARD

Two Teams Cover 112 Miles So Far in Arctic Classic.

Nome, Alaska, April 12.—Emerging from a two days' shelter forced by a terrific blizzard, three dog teams continued the contest today for honors in the All-Alaska Sweepstakes, the 412-mile Arctic classic. The team driven by Paul J. Kjegstad was out of the race, having been scattered by the storm, and one dog killed.

The teams left Nome Monday, the course being to Candle, on Kotzebu Sound, and return. On the outward stretch teams of Leonard Seppala and Fay Deizene were at Fish River, 112 miles from Nome, last night, and Victor Anderson's at Boston Roadhouse, 107 miles out.

KINCARDINE TURF CLUB

KINCARDINE, April 1.—The annual meeting of the Kincardine Turf Club was held on Tuesday evening. The treasurer's report showed the finances to be in good condition. It was decided to try to form a circuit for a series of races to be held in June.

The following officers were elected: Wm. Griffith, president; W. J. Morrison, vice-president; J. Armitage, secretary; Robt. Patterson, treasurer. The above officers and R. D. Farley, W. Wakefield and W. Burnside will form the managing committee.

BILLIARDS

Akron, Ohio, April 12.—Benny Allen of Kansas City won the opening round of the national pocket billiard championship match here last night from Frank Taborski of Schenectady, N. Y., 150 to 123. About 400 fans watched the match which will continue through Friday.

DOPESTERS PICK GIANTS AND WHITE STOCKINGS AS LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

New York and Chicago Should Lead Van in Respective Leagues.

The Giants and the White Sox are billed by many baseball critics to win the respective major league pennants this season. On form the Giants look the class of the National by far. In fact, they were the best team in that organization last year at the end of the season. The Giants have the class and that's all there is to it. It has been said that temperament is due to make or break the Giants.

It has been pointed out that Kauff, Zimmerman, Herzog, Robertson and one or two others are sure to make trouble within the ranks. This may all come to pass, but it is recalled that McGraw has been subduing temperamental athletes for some few years, and his most recent success in ironing the kinks out of Kauff's fiery disposition will bear more than a passing scrutiny. Adding the dope all up establishes the fact that McGraw has one of the greatest aggregations of stars ever brought together under one tent, and if they fail to win the pennant there is little virtue in baseball arithmetic.

White Sox Good.

The Chicago White Stockings look like the one best bet in Ban Johnson's league. This conclusion is not reached as the result of a long period of crystal gazing, but is offered because the Sox appear to possess every requisite of a championship club. They looked like pennant winners in 1914 and 1915, but they were handicapped by a manager inexperienced in big league ways. Since then he has learned his lesson. Rowland should get maximum results this season, which is saying a pageful when the calibre of his baseball talent is considered.

Maximum results from such players as Joe Jackson, Eddie Collins, Happy Felsch, Ray Schalk and the others should be sufficient to win any old pennant. It is a wonderful clubbing aggregation, a star fielding cast, and a splendid battery corps. Rowland should get them on the crest early and keep them there.

WEST LORNE DRIVING CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

WEST LORNE, April 11.—The West Lorne Driving Club has elected the following officers for the year 1917: President, M. McKillop; vice-president, J. Cullen; secretary, L. G. Brown; treasurer, W. H. Bole. A board of directors was also appointed, and the interest of the club will be well looked after during the present year.

FIFTY ENTRIES FOR BOSTON MARATHON

BOSTON, April 11.—The American Marathon road race, held annually for the past twenty years, under the auspices of the Boston Athletic Association, will be renewed on April 19, the athletic committee of the association decided today. The committee had considered the advisability of abandoning the contest this year because of the war.

As the Marathon had its origin in the performance of the Grecian soldier, it was decided that the event would be in keeping with the martial spirit of the times. Entries to date number 50, among them leading distance runners of Canada, a representative of Greece, and athletes from Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and other cities.

WAS TROUBLED WITH SHORTNESS OF BREATH

When the heart becomes affected, there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness, a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

The nerves become unstrung, you dread to be alone, have a horror of society, start at the least noise and are generally fatigued.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. They are just what you require at this time. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mrs. C. M. Cormier, Buctouche, N. B., writes: "Since two years ago I was troubled with a shortness of breath, and sometimes I could hardly breathe. I went to see several doctors, and they said it was from my heart and nerves, but they did not seem to do me any good. One day I got one of your B.B.B. almanacs and read of a case similar to mine.

"I bought a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after taking it I noticed such a change that I kept on taking them until I had used four more boxes, when I was cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box, three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHERE WILL REDS STAND THIS YEAR?

Matty Has Whipped Cincinnati Gang Into Fairly Good Shape.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 11.—Some difference between the Cincinnati team right now, and just one year ago—yea, verily! Last year's crowd may have been about as well trained as the 1917 bunch—this is an A1 training station—but this year's crew learned more in a few days—more, real, practical baseball—than the 1916 fellows learned all season. A sweeping assertion? Possibly—but anyone who saw the Reds all through the last campaign, and then has watched them in their present practice stunts, will believe that the claim isn't far astray.

Christy Mathewson has been really conducting a baseball school, and making quite a hit as the Old Master or the Eminent Dean. He has shown the boys more stuff about bunting, inside ball, and all-around tactics than they ever knew, and his way of teaching is what gets results.

It is an interesting study to watch Matty when he has to call a man for pulling a bone—and bone plays happen every now and then, even in the best of baseball families. He doesn't go up in the air and rave upon the bench. He doesn't shout across the diamond, berating the player for the break. Without a sign of irritation, without a shade of anger on his face or in his tone, he sits down beside the sinner, explaining to him wherein he made the mistake, and just how the play should have been accomplished.

And the boys listen, learn, and remember. They don't get sullen or sulky, as was the case in other years. They know that Matty knows whereof he speaks, and his gentlemanly way of telling to them has won their heartiest approval.

Figured 40 Per Cent Better.

The team has shown its improvement in games against the Shreveport ways. Besides his outfield skill, he can play a great third base, and he is a tricky base runner.

Cutie got the hearty horse-laugh on himself in one of the practice games. He banged a mighty wallop far down the field, and galloped around, never touching even one of the bases. When he slid home, safe a block, he was informed that he was out for cutting first, second and third. "Carramba!" cried Senor Cueto—"ees eet in de practice game necessary dat a man mu' touch de bases?"

The infield question puzzles Matty, and the rest of the boys—not how to present a good infield, but how to best arrange the elegant material with which the club is actually overstocked. Some of the players think the best possible combination would be made up of Chase, first; Groh, second; Kopf, shortstop, and McKechnie, third. Others hold that the strongest layout would be Chase, first; Shean, second; Kopf, short, and Groh, third. The wonderful ability of Groh at either second or third, and the acknowledged skill of Shean, cause the arguments, and each combination is strenuously supported. One shift which may be made occasionally during the summer will be accomplished by sending Chase to the outfield and Huhn to first if any outfielder is disabled, as Chase can play a great field and Huhn a nifty first.

TOO MUCH BROTHERLY LOVE AMONG THE BALL PLAYERS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 10.—Fred Clarke, winner of four National League pennants and one world's championship with the Pittsburg Club of the National League, deplored the "pink tea" tactics that have found their way into baseball.

The game, he says, lacks aggressiveness; there is too much brotherly love and fraternizing among the players. Players on opposing teams should be friends, he maintains, but not in the ball park. Clarke is in Kentucky on business, and expects to remain for some time.

"The fight between Ty Cobb and Herzog in Dallas will do more to draw crowds than anything else that could have happened," Clarke said. "Of course, I do not approve of fist fighting on the field, as was staged at Dallas, but I would like to see more aggressiveness and less of this brotherly love stuff."

Clarke believes that golf is vastly over-rated as a means for improving the hitting of a ball player.

"The golf itself does not hurt a man's batting, and may improve it. But I think that a player has all he can do to play baseball for six months without looking for more work. That extra exertion spent in trudging around a golf course is too much if you are playing ball. If a man should play golf all morning he would sap up energy that should be expended at the ball park in the afternoon.

"That is why I never played golf as long as I was in baseball. Since I retired in 1915, however, I have taken up the game and play a great deal."

Concerning the retirement of Hans Wagner, the veteran shortstop of the Pittsburg Club, Clarke said that Wagner could go back 90 per cent and still be above the average player.

CAN KEEP FOE MOVING

German Barbed Wire No Obstacle to Prepared Advance.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, via London, April 11.—(By Stewart Lyon, special correspondent, Canadian Press.)—The ground won in Monday's great battle gives evidence of the terrific effect of the artillery preparation on a scale believed never before to have been attempted. The German tactics in withdrawing from the line to their deep dugouts when the bombardment began, and leaving only their patrol exposed, is fully explained by the condition of the enemy's line, which is smashed almost beyond recognition at some points.

Our barrage and direct fire were so intense that the Germans sought to escape it by advancing.

Hand-to-Hand Fighting.

The number of their dead, found well forward in the front lines in such positions as indicate hand-to-hand fighting, and the utter sweeping away of their protective wire, which the enemy believed impregnable, must have had a most depressing effect on them.

Their wire was practically no obstacle, so splendidly was the artillery preparation carried out. The co-operation of the British, with their heavier guns, with the Canadian gunners, added much to the effectiveness of, and confidence in, our infantry's ability to keep the Germans on the move. This confidence is greatly strengthened by this latest demonstration that the German barbed wire is no longer a bar to a carefully-prepared advance. The spoil in war material is large, and it will increase as the remaining unexplored ground is cleared up.

Big Guns Taken.

A partial list of the guns taken by the Canadian corps at the front shows two eight-inch, seven 5.9-inch, two 4.2, eleven field guns and several nondescripts, including one gun of 4-inch calibre, dated 1881. This indicates that the enemy is using everything in the shape of guns at his disposal. Fifty machine guns are already enumerated as taken, and many more may come this (Tuesday) afternoon. The advance of the Canadian troops has been resumed in the northern part of the front, and further progress is being made, with a number of additional prisoners taken.

WANT FEDERAL LAW TO CHECK VENEREAL DISEASES

Toronto, April 11.—Z. A. Lash, K.C., is now engaged on a draft of an act with Dean C. K. Clarke of the General Hospital, which will be submitted in a few days to the Federal House through the conservation commission, to prevent the spread of venereal diseases. The act will call for the compulsory registration of people suffering from specific diseases, doctors to be compelled to forward particulars of cases to a centre of their locality, where all reference would be made by number.

By another clause a sufferer would be compelled when his case was discovered in a hospital or other institution, to undergo treatment, and be on the same basis as a man suffering from any infectious disease.

$200,000 WORTH OF FOOD PRODUCTS LOST IN FIRE

BELLEVILLE, April 11. — Fire broke out at half-past 3 this morning in the evaporating plant and head office of Graham Company, Limited, and before it was under control eight hours later, the entire structure had been destroyed, entailing a loss of between $350,000 and $400,000. There was over $200,000 worth of food products in the store and evaporator, all of which were lost. The company, which owns a chain of evaporators between here and the Pacific coast and in the United States, has lost several plants since the outbreak of the war. The loss will be fully $200,000 over the insurance carried.

German Submarines In Pacific Ocean, Wires U. S. Officer

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Warning that German submarines are believed to be operating in the Pacific was sent to all steamship captains at sea today by order of Lieut. Commander E. C. Wood, of the 12th Naval District here.

The warning said:

"Information has this day been received that German submarines are operating in the Pacific. Please notify all ships under your control and ask that they spread the warning broadcast."

The location of the submarines was not made public.

MUNITIONS BLAST WAS CRIME OF EMPLOYEE, IS THE OFFICIAL VIEW

Malicious Deed Probably Took Plotter's Life.

CHESTER, Pa., April 11.—A statement today by a high official of the Eddystone Ammunition Corporation placed the blame of yesterday's disaster, the worst in the history of the state, on a disloyal employee, who is thought to have sacrificed his life with the 116 known dead, most of whom were girls and young women.

This amazing development late today spurred on the investigations of the catastrophe already under way by federal, state, county, local officials and officers of the company. Numerous suspects were rounded up here in Philadelphia and Villanova, Penna., and in Camden, N.J., and in each case the disposition of the prisoners was placed in the hands of agents of the department of justice at Philadelphia. The arrests so far, however, have apparently furnished no tangible clue to the perpetrator of the alleged plot.

NEW UNIFORMS ASSURED FOR INGERSOLL CADETS

INGERSOLL, April 11.—It has been decided by the board of education to provide new uniforms for the cadet corps of the collegiate institute. At the last regular meeting of the board Principal Shales requested that a grant be made to purchase the much-needed uniforms. A special committee was appointed, and a report has since been submitted and adopted that $250 be granted for the purchase of the uniforms.

Rev. L. W. Hill officiated at a quiet wedding at the parsonage, Duke street, when he united in marriage Miss Myrel R. Henderson of this town to Homer J. Shock of Canton, Ohio. The bride, who was becomingly attired and wore a bouquet of roses, was unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Shock left for Toronto and later will take up their home in Canton.

New W. M. S. Officers.

At the annual meeting of the W. M. S. Auxiliary of the Methodist Church the following officers were elected: Honorary president, Mrs. R. Butler; president, Mrs. F. Bradbury; honorary vice-president, Mrs. R. Morrow; first vice-president, Mrs. (Rev.) J. G. Scott; second vice-president, Mrs. F. G. Walley; third vice-president, Mrs. (Rev.) L. W. Hill; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Strowbridge; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. E. Manzer; treasurer, Mrs. George Smith; pianist, Mrs. A. Macaulay; auditor, Mrs. H. Boyse; Christian stewardship, Mrs. William Thompson; mite-boxes, Mrs. Amgood; assistant, Mrs. C. Greenaway; A. helpers, Mrs. B. Miller; assistant, Mrs. B. Cody; cradle roll, Mrs. T. Waterhouse; assistant, Mrs. J. Barrett; honorary president for the circle, Mrs. Stoneman; honorary president for the Boys' Band, Mrs. Geo. Smith; assistants, Mrs. Horton and Miss Walley.

Miraculous Escape.

A small lad by the name of Sexsmith was knocked down by an automibile Tuesday night near the corner of Oxford and King streets, and received minor injuries to his head. His escape was miraculous. He ran out from behind a dray, and the driver of the car, H. Sutherland, did not see him until his car was almost upon him. He stopped quickly, or the result would likely have been more serious.

111 BILLS PASSED IN ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

TORONTO, April 11.—When his honor the lieutenant-governor prorogues the Legislature tomorrow afternoon he will give assent to 111 bills or exactly one bill for each member of the Legislature, as representing the enactments of the session just closed There will be the usual ceremonies in connection with prorogation.

"KIDDING" THE POLES.

London, April 12.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent sends the following dispatch received there from Vienna:

"The transfer of the Polish volunteer corps to the Polish army occurred Wednesday at Warsaw. An army order issued by Emperor Charles to the volunteers was read. It said:

"'May you prove yourselves worthy of the great time when the Polish Empire, the bulwark of occidental religion and civilization, arose to a new life. Wind fresh laurels around the glorious Polish eagle. May the Holy Virgin of Czenstochau protect you in all dangers.'"

SAYS---"LO, AND BEHOLD! A REMARKABLE CHANGE TOOK PLACE IN MY ENTIRE BODY!"

Inventor of Wonderful Hypnotic Devices Was Physical Wreck—Is Now Nearly Half-Century Old, But Again Feels Like a Boy!

Believes Ordinary Blood-Iron-Salts Will Save Millions of Sufferers From Nervous Weakness, Anaemia, Rundown Condition and Mental Tortures, After Drugs, Exercise and Other Methods Fail.

NEW YORK.—"For years, physicians and scientists have hoped that some genius of the chemical world might discover a harmless mixture that would aid nature in putting new life and youthful energy into the veins of delicate, nervous, rundown men and women. Thousands of unfortunate sufferers have foolishly doctored for years with drastic patent medicines and false strength-giving stimulants, only to give up in despair. And many precious lives, too, have paid the price with premature death," says Professor McIntyre, the eminent authority on suggestive therapeutics and inventor of wonderful hypnotic instruments. "Were it not for my persistent efforts; my determination to keep on searching for that which would give me back my health, strength and powers of endurance, I, too, might now be resting peacefully five feet beneath the sod. My work was of such a nature, many said it practically sapped all the vitality out of my blood, nerves, brain and body. I was almost a physical and mental wreck.

"Exhausting every available medical means at my command, and feeling that what little powers of endurance I still possessed would not last long, I decided to search overseas, somewhat like the drowning man grasps at the straw. I searched in England, Germany, Russia and France, trying many remedies suggested by doctors and friends, but gradually became worse. At one time in Paris, the doctor attending me advised that I be removed to a hospital—a death, he feared, in a hotel, might not be the proper thing. But I believe it was fate that saved me—yes, destiny, so that I might tell my story to the world for the millions who suffer to benefit by.

"One day, a physician suggested that I try some ordinary Blood-iron-salts. This preparation, he said, contained valuable ingredients for increasing strength and assisting nature in regulating the normal action of the stomach, liver and bowels, also for neutralizing and eliminating the injurious poisonous toxins that were chemically developed in the intestines by the decaying of undigested food elements; that analysis of blood-iron-salts show it to contain such valuable ingredients as sodium glycerophosphate, iron in the right form, cascarin, and other properties now advocated by up-to-date physicians. This sounded reasonable to me, skeptical though I was, but I made up my mind to try it. Right here, let me say this—I had taken this remedy only a short time, when lo! and behold! a remarkable change took place in my entire body. My bowels began to act daily without the usual purgative. My appetite increased, and I was hungry between meals. My cheeks began to fill out; the dark rings and hollows under my eyes and the haggard, aged appearance of my skin and body began to disappear as if by magic. And if the dead were brought back to life before my very eyes, I would not be more amazed than I was at the relief from suffering, as well as the new life and vital energy that seemed to shoot through my veins and body. While it is true that I am now nearly a half-century old, I again feel like a boy, bubbling over with vital energy and powers of endurance, and that strange, magnetic power that once enabled me to control and sway the minds of vast audiences. Former friends look at me in amazement, and few new acquaintances guess my age to be more than 28 or 30. In fact, I feel as though it were my second time on earth, and I attribute it all to taking a little ordinary Blood-iron-salts with a swallow of water, after each meal for awhile. This was what I needed all those terrible years, but I did not know it. The doctor, in speaking of the remarkable potency of Blood-iron-salts, said it is what all delicate, rundown, nervous men and women need, especially those past 40; that it supplies the blood with the strength-producing ingredients found lacking in many cooked foods—the important substances so necessary for making healthy tissue, vital energy and powers of endurance. And further, that he would indeed like to see every person suffering from nervous weakness, anaemia, lack of strength and healthy tissue, or a rundown, overworked condition, and especially those complaining from indigestion, stomach, liver and bowel troubles and premature aging of the skin and body, take ordinary Blood-iron-salts for a few weeks. If they did, you might soon see that continual half-sick, rundown condition and many of their old troubles disappear. And, instead, we would likely have an army of pink-cheeked, vigorous, healthy, successful, prosperous, happy men and women it would do our hearts good to see and mingle with. I have seen this remarkable preparation work wonders in scores of other cases. Every person who is interested in maintaining the sparks of youthful energy in their veins to a ripe old age, should take 'Blood-iron-salts' occasionally. As a test, even for those who are not ailing and who wish to increase their general health, bodily strength, endurance, and a more youthful appearance, I suggest getting some ordinary five-grain 'Blood-iron-salts' tablets from a reliable druggist. Take one or two after each meal for awhile, then note the difference in your digestion and action of the stomach, liver and bowels; the increase of strength and endurance; the healthy, youthlike color of your lips and cheeks, the appearance of your skin and complexion, your disposition, and celerity of thought and action. There would, indeed, be much rejoicing and happiness if sufferers would take this simple remedy as I and hundreds of others have done, who have been fortunate enough to hear about it. I believe I shall devote the rest of my life to telling what 'Blood-iron-salts' has done for me."

NOTE.—Blood-iron-salts, on which Prof. McIntyre above reports, is not a secret remedy. The ingredients contained therein are now known to and used by many leading physicians. The manufacturers have witnessed such amazing proofs of its success, that they unhesitatingly guarantee satisfaction to all users, even where drugs, diet, exercise and other methods have failed. Anybody may obtain Blood-iron-salts tablets in this city at Standard Drug, Limited, stores, and other good druggists.

ALLIED MINISTERS TO VISIT U. S. CAPITAL FOR A GREAT WAR TALK

Balfour and Viviani Will Go to Washington.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN TOO

Every Phase of War Will Be Discussed — To Meet Within 10 Days.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The assembly in Washington within a few weeks of a great war council was foreshadowed by an announcement from the state department today that a British commission, headed by Arthur J. Balfour, British minister of foreign affairs, is expected to arrive within ten days to discuss with the Government here questions connected with the conduct of the war. In addition to the foreign minister the commission will include Admiral De Chair, of the British navy, General Bridges of the army and the governor of the Bank of England, attended by a numerous staff.

This was as far as the announcement made by the state department goes, but it was learned authoritatively that a French commission composed of officials and officers equally as distinguished as the British representatives also will be in Washington about the same time.

M. Viviani Also Coming.

This commission will be headed by M. Viviani, at present minister of justice in the French cabinet and formerly premier.

It is not known definitely whether any of the other allied powers will send commissioners to Washington, but it is assumed that owing to the difficulties in passage and the probable delay, the interests of these governments will be confided to their resident ambassadors.

Beyond the statement that the object of the commission is to discuss generally questions of policy connected with the war, no information was given at the state department.

No Political Alliance.

It was made clear, however, that in no way will the United States Government depart from the traditional policy of avoiding anything in the nature of political alliances, though of course that does not exclude full and intimate military and naval co-operation in the prosecution of the war. While it is by no means certain that there will be a joint meeting of the visiting commissions, if the state department should desire to avoid the appearance of an alliance there is certain to be concert of action in some way.

The conference is stated to have been sought by the Allied leaders themselves, in order to discuss every phase of the war. No attempt will be made to go into details or technical considerations, as the general policies involved are too stupendous to permit of it.

Gratifying To Washington.

The calibre of the men sent, particularly Foreign Secretary Balfour, who is remembered here most warmly for his earnest indorsement of President Wilson's plan for world federation to insure peace, and Minister of Justice Viviani, one of the first half dozen statesmen of France, is most gratifying to officials. Both men, it is recalled, have held the post of premier in their respective governments.

One of the first questions to be taken up will be the distribution of the $3,000,000,000 loan to the Allies, for which President Wilson has asked Congress to provide. Great Britain has been rendering financial aid on the most extensive scale to several of her allies, and possibly when relieved of the necessity for continuing such allowances she may be able to get along with much less assistance from America than she would otherwise require. On the other hand the countries whose exchange has suffered so heavily, such as Russia and Italy, might find welcome relief from the financial strain by an allotment of American funds, which would have a reassuring effect on the standing of these countries in the world's markets.

Naval Co-Operation.

The greatest problem before the conference is stated to be the maintenance of the flow of American munitions and food supplies to Europe. This will be sought first by naval co-operation to fight the German submarine, second by construction of a huge fleet of wooden merchantmen to negative its destructiveness, and third, by a ways and means to increase American manufacture and the Allies' ability to pay for the products.

Naval co-operation is understood to contemplate the policing of all North and South American waters by the American navy, allowing the return of the British and French vessels engaged in that work, and the safeguarding by American ships of at least part of the sea lane to Europe. Whether the latter will necessitate the actual sending of American war craft to the other side has not yet been announced, but if it does, arrangements already have been made to offer the port of Brest in France as an American naval base.

Send No Army for While.

The military participation of the United States also probably will be discussed in broad terms, though it is realized on all sides that this country will not attempt to send an army to Europe for the present. The military situation of this country is well understood by officials abroad. There is, however, an intense desire on the part of the general public in the Entente countries to see a small division of American troops at the front.

The complete reversal of American relations to the Entente powers through the abandonment of neutrality in favor of war, will necessitate an entire readjustment of the country's diplomatic situation. The Allied policies of blockade, mail censorship, blacklist and rationing of Holland and Scandinavian countries, originally necessitated by the exigencies of war and bitterly protested throughout by this country as a neutral, must now be considered by the United States from an entirely new angle. While it is obvious that none of the restrictions built up by the Allies will be abandoned, it is very doubtful as to how far this country will go in actually co-operating with them.

May Sraighten Tangles.

The United States is stated, therefore, to find itself in a dilemma between the policies of its allies, the exigencies of the war, and its own views of international law. The Allied Governments are understood to appreciate this situation, and to be anxious not to make it more difficult. As a result it is probable that the inter-departmental board of the departments of state, treasury and justice, will recommend to Congress laws which will restate American policy without crippling the huge machinery already set up by the Allies for bringing Germany to terms.

The situation of the few remaining neutrals is expected also to call for the deepest consideration at the conferences, and it is the hope here that several other nations will definitely range themselves with the Allies.

Neither side, it is understood, will miss the opportunity of sounding out the other as to the eventual peace terms and the reconstruction of the world. It is well appreciated abroad that this country is not in perfect sympathy with some of the peace terms of the Entente, and that it does not look upon as complete a crushing of Germany as some of the Entente countries demand. For this reason the European delegates will be eager to sound out officials here as far as possible, in order to see to what extent they can count on complete American support.

YOUNG AVIATOR KILLED SECOND DAY IN WAR

Capt. James Duff Stewart Encounters Two Foemen.

VANCOUVER, April 11.—Capt. Jas. Duff Stewart, son of military commander in Victoria and Vancouver, has been killed in France. He left here with an infantry regiment, but transferred to the Royal Flying Corps. On his second day in France he got into an air fight with two German machines, and when his machine fell both he and his pilot were killed.

DECREASE IN TOTAL OF BRITISH VESSELS SUNK IN PAST WEEK

Fifteen Ships Over 1,600 Tons and One Smaller Ship.

LONDON, April 11.—During the week ending April 8, seventeen British merchant vessels of more than 1,600 tons were sunk. Two vessels of less than 1,600 tons were sent down. This was officially announced tonight.

The statement follows:

"Merchant vessels over 100 tons of all nationalities arriving and sailing from United Kingdom ports: Arrived, 2,406; sailings, 2,367. British merchant ships sunk by mines or submarines over 1,600 tons, including two sunk during the previous fortnight, seventeen. British merchant vessels under 1,600, two, including one sunk last week. British merchant vessels unsuccessfully attacked, fourteen, including four during the previous fortnight. British fishing vessels sunk, six, including one sunk during the previous week."

The current report shows a slight decrease from that of last week in losses of large vessels, and a marked falling off in the number of smaller merchant craft destroyed. There were eighteen of the former class sunk during the week ended April 1, and thirteen of the latter. The highest figure in ships of more than 1,600 tons sunk was nineteen, during the fourth week covered by the reports in their present form, and the smallest thirteen, during the second week.

The reports show a total of 97 vessels of more than 1,600 tons sunk during the last six weeks, and 43 vessels of less than that tonnage.

$642,000 REQUIRED TO COMPLETE WEST SHORE

Interested Municipalities Will Decide If This Is To Be Furnished.

KINCARDINE, April 11.—The regular meeting of the town council was held on Tuesday evening. A question of importance to the community was the report of the hydro-electric commission engineers on the Ontario West Shore Railway. This was read at the meeting. Summarized it is as follows: Bonds already issued, $400,000; reconstruction, Menestung and Kincardine, $388,000; Goderich and Kincardine spur, $60,000; overhead construction, substations, barns and three motor cars, $193,400. Total, $1,042,000.

Of this amount, J. W. Moyes sold the $400,000 worth of guaranteed bonds which the municipalities are now paying interest upon. It will be seen that the estimate for the completion of the road is $642,000.

As an offset against this, the estimated revenue of the road is as follows: Passenger revenue, $40,000; freight, $15,934; mail, express, etc., $2,500. Total, $53,434.

It will be seen that this is a trifle over 5 per cent, just about the interest on the investment. The question now before the municipalities is whether it would be better to put up more money and get the road completed, or swallow their loss of $400,000. If the road became a part of the hydro radial scheme, it would be a good thing to have it completed, for its earning power would be enhanced in value, and it would in time be able to assist in providing for the principal.

Goderich, Ashfield, Huron and Kincardine are the municipalities which have guaranteed the bonds, and they are now meeting the interest. A meeting of these four municipalities will be held shortly to take some definite action in the case.

Every chapter of this disastrous venture can be closed with the assurance that the Government has as yet been unable to locate John W. Moyes, who was the promoter of this gigantic swindle. Mayor Miller and J. J. Hunter have been appointed a committee to represent Kincardine in the case.

2,000 INDEPENDENT PHONES.

KINCARDINE, April 11.—The commissioners of the Bruce Municipal Telephone System, Messrs. D. McNaughton, A. McLean and J. J. Hunter, at a meeting decided the price of phones for the coming year would be $14. This is the largest municipal-owned system in Canada, and has exchanges at Kincardine, Trenton, Underwood, Paisley and Port Elgin. Besides this it has connection with the Huron and Kinloss system, making nearly 2,000 phones in this section of the country.

DRINKING TEA UPSET NERVES

Orillia, Ont., April 12.—"How to be well and strong?" is the question many are asking at this time of year, and in this letter you will find the answer.

It tells something of the blood-forming, nerve-invigorating influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great restorative which is causing so much talk here just now.

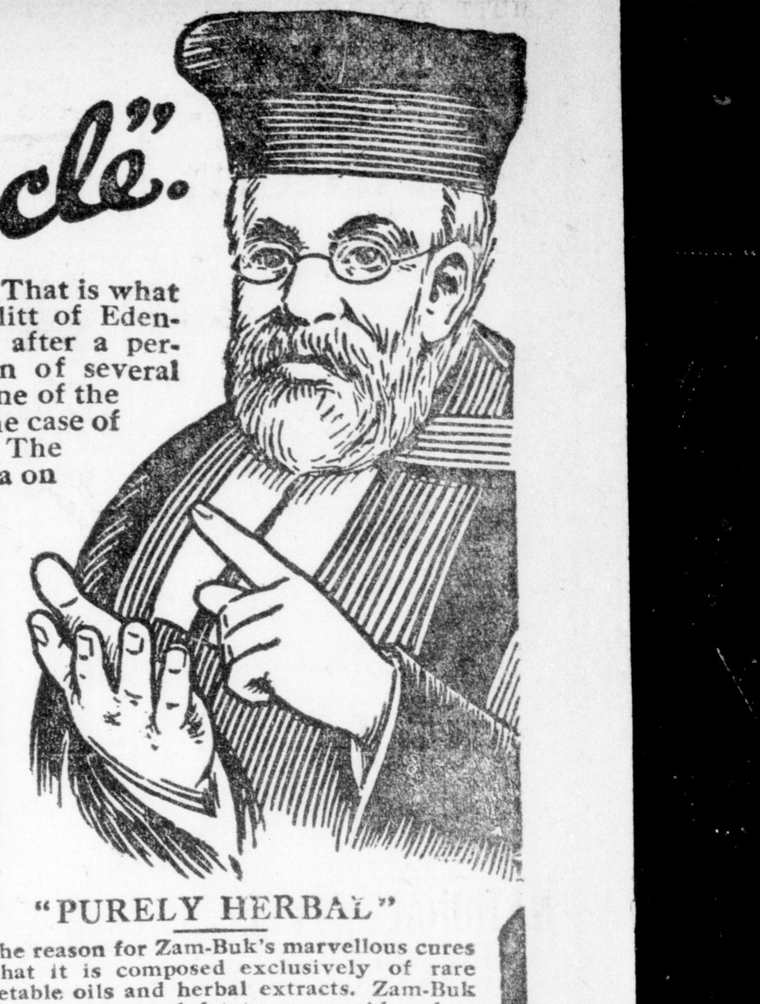

Nature's way of curing disease is by building up the vitality of the body, and this is exactly what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does. The blood is made rich and red, and it nourishes the exhausted nerves back to health and vigor.

The experience of Mr. Burroughs as described in this letter is similar to that of hundreds of others in this community who have recently put this well-known food cure to the test.

Mr. George Burroughs, 23 Peter street, Orillia, Ont., writes: "A few years ago, after coming out to this country from England, the change of customs seemed to have some effect on me. In the old country the habit of drinking strong tea was prevalent, and after arriving here I suffered very much from nervousness. If I put my arm down on the table it would shake very noticeably, and while performing my work I would easily tire, and want to sit down and rest. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I secured some and took a treatment. It built me up and made me strong and healthy. I have not had a trace of the nervousness since. I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment also, and find that it heals the skin very quickly. In fact, I find all of Dr. Chase's medicines good."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

"Almost a Miracle."

That is what Rabbi Shalitt of Edenbridge, Sask., says after a personal observation of several Zam-Buk cures. The Rabbi continues: "One of the most marvellous cures I know of was in the case of the little son of E. Romanuk of this place. The child had had a very severe attack of eczema on his face and head for three years and the inflammation and irritation caused him dreadful suffering. The sores on his forehead and eyes were so very bad that for two years he was completely blind.

"The child was taken to various doctors for treatment, all of whom finally pronounced the case incurable. In desperation the father asked me if I knew of anything that would cure his child. Having great faith in Zam-Buk and having already known of several wonderful cures it had worked, I recommended it for this case, which was apparently hopeless. The parents commenced the Zam-Buk treatment immediately, and to cut a long story short—Zam-buk completely cured the child."

Mr. E. Romanuk, the boy's father, makes this corroborating statement: "For three years my boy suffered intensely from eczema, and for two years the sores on his forehead and eyes were so bad that he was completely blind. Doctors' treatments were useless, but Zam-Buk has worked a complete cure. This wonderful healer was recommended to me by Rabbi M. Shalitt, for which I shall be thankful to him for ever."

Rabbi Shalitt adds: "I always keep Zam-Buk on hand for my own use. It is excellent for cuts, burns, bruises and injuries of all kinds and, being a strong germicide, instant application prevents all possibility of festering or blood-poisoning."

"PURELY HERBAL"

The reason for Zam-Buk's marvellous cures is that it is composed exclusively of rare vegetable oils and herbal extracts. Zam-Buk contains no animal fat to go rancid and no coarse mineral drugs. The herbal ingredients, which are the feature of Zam-Buk, are so blended and refined that the balm virtually soaks into the pores. It therefore gets beneath the surface skin and reaches and destroys all germs in the diseased underlying tissues.

Zam-Buk cannot be equalled for ulcers, abscesses, old sores, bad legs, blood-poisoning, ringworm, scalp sores, boils and piles, as well as cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries. All druggists and stores or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto; 50c box, 3 for $1.25.

THE TRUTH ABOUT GERMANY

Germany Intended Attack On Suez Canal By Zeppelins, But Recent British Sucesses in Mesopotamia Have Forestalled It—Zepps Saved Constantinople for the Turks—Berlin Hopes Zepps to Re-establish Commerce.

BY CARL C. ACKERMAN.

(Registered in Accordance With the Copyright Act, Canada, 1917, The Tribune Association.)

Constantinople would be in the hands of England and France today were it not for Germany's zeppelins.

Rumania would have collapsed much later than December 6 had the zeppelins stayed away.

England would be able to send more anti-aircraft artillery, areoplanes and trained gunners to the continent were it not for the possibility of air raids.

The one big hope, besides an ultimate victory, which German business men have of re-establishing world commercial relations is the zeppelins.

Germany today looks forward with confidence to the day when zeppelins will be flying from Hamburg to New York in forty hours and from Constantinople to Pekin in three days.

Most Americans believe the zeppelins have been great failures. England and France discount them absolutely as military weapons. But what are the facts?

During the two years I was in Germany I met commanders and first officers of zeppelins who had raided London, Paris, Bucharest and Boulogne. I met in Bucharest a man who for fifteen years was a confidential co-worker of Count Zeppelin. I visited in Hungary a zeppelin harbor. As far as I know I am the only neutral correspondent who saw a zeppelin base and who had an opportunity to learn at first hand what the zeppelins have accomplished.

Opposition to Zepps.

It is true that as far as air raids on London and Paris are concerned the zeppelins have not been a decisive military factor. I believe there was a time when the zeppelins could have destroyed a great deal in either London or Paris had it not been for the opposition within Germany to the use of zeppelins in this fashion. The Catholics have always been against zeppelin raids. Bavaria has never supported Prussia in these schemes. Karlsruhe and other Western German cities, including Metz and Munich, which have suffered by Allied raids, have brought strong pressure to bear upon the general staff. Eighteen months ago, when the zeppelins were prepared for a gigantic raid on London, the internal opposition was so great that the plans had to be modified. But now the English and French have practically solved the zeppelin danger by using a chemical bomb, which, when it explodes within 100 yards of a zeppelin, sets it afire, provided the big gas bag has already been punctured by shrapnel. This is the reason the last few raids on England and France have resulted in the loss of so many zeppelins.

A Turk Story.

At the beginning of this article I said that Constantinople would not be in Turkey's possession were it not for zeppelins. I heard first from Turkish sources, from a Turk who is known in the United States, about the work of zeppelins when the Allies were pounding at the Dardanelles. His story was amazingly interesting, but I doubted it until I met the captain of one of the zeppelins which had taken part in the operation. He confirmed everything the Turk told.

After the Allied fleet had pulverized several Turkish forts, and after troops were landed on the Dardanelles, the whole world expected the fall of Constantinople within a few weeks, if not days. Turkey was spending every shell she possessed to defend her positions. The German and Turkish battleships had to give up their supplies for the land defences. The Allies kept hammering, and the situation became more desperate.

Shells in Beer Kegs.

Germany had promised Turkey support, so the Krupp interests tried to send powder and ammunition to Turkey via Rumania. Serbia at this time was still unconquered. Rumania, however, placed an embargo on the shipment of war supplies through her territory, so Germany shipped powder in beer kegs and shells in cement blocks. For some time Rumania did not discover the German tricks, and it was not until a keg of powder on a supposed beer train exploded in Rumanian freight yards that Rumania discovered what was going on. The Krupps had shipped a trainload of powder in beer kegs. On one car they had real Bavarian beer for distribution to Rumanian border officials, but one night when the train was on a sidetrack, four Rumanian railroadmen broke into a car, took out a keg, and when they hammered in the bunghole the barrel exploded, killing three of the men and wounding the fourth. That put a stop to the shipment of war supplies through Rumania.

Sent Aid By Zepps.

But the Allies were still attacking the Dardanelles, and Turkey needed immediate assistance, so the zeppelins were mobilized. Ammunition factories in Germany were taken apart, and the machinery was carried to Constantinople from Temesvar, Hungary, by zeppelins. The machinery was shipped to Temesvar from Essen and Madgeburg, and carried through the air to Turkey. Powder was carried in the same manner. Within a few weeks German ammunition factories were running in Turkey, and the big shells which the Turks needed for defending the Dardanelles were being manufactured as fast as Turkey needed them. The crisis was passed. The zeppelins had saved the Dardanelles and Constantinople.

This incident, which played such a great part in deciding the outcome of the Dardanelles operations, was never related to the German people, because the general staff guarded information about zeppelins more closely than information about any other thing in Germany. The general staff deliberately misled the German people in order to deceive the outside world, because the German Government and the big manufacturing interests know that the zeppelins during this war have demonstated that when peace comes they will be the greatest and most important means of international communication. The zeppelin engineers know that under any conditions, except war, zeppelins cannot be destroyed as easily as people imagine. One time in Temesvar I met an Austrian captain of a zeppelin which had raided Saloniki. He told me it took ten hours to fly from Temesvar to Saloniki, a distance of about 70 miles. He told me that zeppelins could fly, and had gone from Namur, Belgium, where there is a base, to Constantinople. Zeppelins had gone from Constantinople to Bagdad, and near Bagdad the Germans were building a zeppelin base for an attack on the Suez Canal. The success of the English operations in Mesopotamia have, of course, temporarily put an end to these aspirations.

Deceived the Public.

The German people are very easily deceived. One time I saw a confidential report of the general staff to the German newspapers.

The report began by saying that the East India docks near London "were burned and great storehouses of ammunition destroyed. The docks and storehouses on the London docks were burned and many ships hit. A large cotton warehouse on Victoria docks was burned. St. George and Lemon streets were badly damaged. The city itself and the newspaper quarter was badly damaged. All the following objects were especially hit:

"One tower of the Tower Bridge, which was defended by anti-aircraft machinery.

"Chancery Lane.

"Liverpool street.

"Moorgate street.

"Bishopsgate and Aldgate and a large number of streets, including whole blocks of houses, were destroyed."

Nothing to It.

I have not been in London since February and March, 1915, so I must leave these statements to those who have been there, to correct. I have been told by English correspondents that the report was "greatly exaggerated."

Zeppelin construction has developed a great deal during the war. The three types have been wonderfully changed. The largest are the so-called "S. L.," the next are the regular zeppelins, and the third are the marine airships. The new Schuette-Lanz ships are over six hundred feet long and have a carrying capacity equal to seven normal freight cars. All are equipped with wireless telegraphy, and the second officer is usually the wireless operator. These are the machines which Germany plans to use in re-establishing her commerce with the United States. Under normal air conditions, flying at an altitude of one thousand feet, I was informed the zeppelins would be able to fly from Hamburg to New York in less than two days. The great possibilities of zeppelin communication cannot be foreseen today. For carrying important mail and express they can revolutionize after the war the means of communication. Passenger service, too, will be established as soon as the first trips have proved practical. Germany did not send zeppelins to New York during the war because they would have to cross England, and because there are no German ships on the ocean to be of assistance in case of emergency. When Germany begins her zeppelin communication with the United States she will have to depend upon her ships at sea for aid in case the air currents change or in case of an accident.

Long Flights Coming.

But for communication with China and the far east the time is not far away when Germany will have plans made for revolutionizing intercourse between Europe and those powers. I have been told often by zeppelin experts that all they need is peace time conditions to perfect the zeppelins for this work. At present all zeppelin construction is for war purposes. Air raids have taught the constructors important lessons. The first raid over Saloniki was one of the most enlightening in this way. On that raid the zeppelin was shot almost to pieces, so that it barely remained in the air. But it returned safely to its base after being in the air 41 hours. And en route to Hungary the zeppelin encountered a storm. Some of Count Zeppelin's most capable assistants made the trip, and they received pointers during this voyage which taught them how to make important changes in the construction of the zeppelin air cases.

Count Was Daring.

Until his death, Count Zeppelin was one of the most daring aviators in Germany. He made flights under all conditions and to all points. A few months ago, shortly before his death, he went to England on a raid to study the effects of the gunfire and to see if he could not get at the secret of the English anti-aircraft system. A wireless operator on one of the ships which took part in this raid told me one of the things which impressed the old count more than anything was the white-eyed searchlights which looked up into the sky from the City of London. He counted at one time 62 searchlights on his zeppelin. Count Zeppelin, however, died before he learned how to protect his great inventions against the English and French anti-aircraft artillery.

The zeppelins, of course, have not been successful in air raids. They have not been able to greatly assist the army, but they did save Constantinople, and they are preparing daily for the next great North Sea battle. At nights, shortly before diplomatic relations were broken, zeppelins could be seen manoeuvering above Berlin. Even on dark nights one could see these giant ships, with their red and green port and starboard lights, cruising about in the heavens. The war is not ended, and the possibilities of the zeppelin are not over. It is almost too early to judge whether zeppelins are a failure or a success. They certainly have as much to their credit as to their loss.

GRIEVE—GOSSELL.

KINCARDINE, April 11. — A very pretty house wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. C. Gossell, con. 6, Huron, yesterday, when her daughter, Ruth Irene, was married to Thomas C. Grieve of Seaforth. Rev. A. R. Kellum performed the ceremony. Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. T. Grieve, Seaforth; Mr. and Mrs. T. Hannon, Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. A. Bell, Blyth; Mr. Charles Sanders and Mrs. N. McAvoy, Exeter.

WAKING UP WELL

One of the best signs of good nerves and clear, well-nourished blood, is to wake up in the morning at just the right time, without a thought of tiredness or a disinclination to rise.

If you wake up feeling tired, headachy, and with a desire to stay in bed a while longer, depend upon it your nerves are out of order and your blood is probably thin and poor. An anaemic person is never good for much until after breakfast; but the first waking hours are the brightest to those whose blood is in good condition.

For better nerves, a hearty appetite, good digestion and confident spirits, the new rich blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make is the best thing in the world. Take a dose after each meal for a while and see what a difference they will make. Notice how vigorous you will become; how hungry you are for your meals; how steady your nerves will have grown and how confident you feel to take on the day's work. This is always the effect of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the greatest nerve tonic ever discovered—the only nerve tonic that makes blood which the body must have to keep you well. You have only to try them and you will be convinced.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Dandruff Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging at the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advt.

GERMANY REPORTED AS SEEKING TERMS WITH THE STATES

New York, April 12. — A news agency dispatch from Copenhagen today says:

"Apparently positive reports were received here today that the German foreign office was making overtures to the United States. It was understood these negotiations sought peace between the two nations.

"No further details were available here. Official circles manifested the most intense interest in the report.

"It is understood that Secretary of State Lansing has already received the overtures through unofficial mediators. The proposition, as reported here, is for the U. S. Government to send Col. E. M. House to The Hague for a secret 'unofficial conference.'"

WANTS ALL OLD MEN OF BATTERY TO MEET FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE

Sergt.-Major John A. Barnhill of the 12th Battery, has asked The Advertiser to request all the former members of the battery now invalided home, to meet at the corner of William and Queen's avenue, not later than 10:45 a.m. on Sunday to attend the memorial service in Memorial Church to Lieut.-Col. Wood Leonard.

"I would send a personal appeal to all the boys, if I knew where they were," said Sergt. Barnhill. "I do not know where they are, but I am sure all will be on hand to pay their last tribute to as gallant a soldier and as fine a man as ever lived."

"As a member of Col. Leonard's battery, I want to pay just a word of tribute to our late commander," said Gunner Daw, who was badly wounded at the Ypres salient when the battery did more than its share in stopping the fearful rush of the Germans. "No man could have been better to us than he was, and none was more beloved.

"When we were having it at a fearful rate, Major Leonard, as he was then, threw off his coat and helped to shovel sandbags to better protect us. There was nothing he would not do for the boys. It is a great loss."

COUNT AT SEATTLE.

Seattle, April 12.—Count Alvo von Alvensleben, who was reported to have left Chicago suddenly and who denied two years ago, when refused entrance into Canada, that he was connected with the German spy system, has been in Seattle for several weeks.

He is reported today to be dismantling the house at Laurelhurst, a suburb, which he has occupied during his stay here, and where he lived before going to Chicago more than a year ago. The count claims to be representing German commercial interests.

CONSULS LEAVE CHINA.

Peking, April 12.—Twenty German consuls and their families left Shanghai today on a Dutch steamer. They will proceed by way of San Francisco to Germany.

Tenders Wanted

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up till 2 o'clock p.m. on Saturday, the 14th inst., for wiring and furnishing electric light fixtures for the matron's rooms in the county jail.

OFFICER IDOLIZED BY CITY OF BIRTH KILLED IN ACTION

Lieut.-Col. Woodman Leonard Believed To Have Died In Drive.

A BELOVED ARTILLERYMAN

Lieut.-Col. E. Woodman Leonard, London's most famous officer on the west front, has given his life for the Empire.

In the terrific rush at Vimy Ridge, it is believed, he died while directing the brigade of artillery, of which he has been in comamnd for some months. The particulars are not yet available, but it is certain that he died as befits a great hero.

Possibly no more popular officer ever left the shores of Canada than Col. Leonard. Although but 34 years of age, he has spent the bigger half of his life in training for the career that was his on the west front.

Early in life, he and his brother, Lieut.-Col. Ibbotson Leonard, took a deep interest in things military. As boys, they attended the Royal Military College, Kingston, where they graduated with signal honors.

Takes Command of Battery.

Since their return to London from college, they entered the business of E. Leonard & Sons, but all their spare time was devoted to military matters. Woodman Leonard first was associated Major Eddie Mills, who organized the old 6th Field Battery. The unit soon became famous throughout the Dominion as one of the best, and when Major Mills retired, Major Wood Leonard, as he was then, assumed command. For years, he took the battery to Petawawa, where it was considered one of the most efficient. Shortly before the outbreak of the war, Sir Sam Hughes, then minister of militia, caused some trouble with Major Leonard, and the latter resigned. When the war did break out, Major Leonard was the first to volunteer, and he was authorized to raise a battery. Practically all the men of the famous Sixth, who had resigned from the battery when Major Leonard retired, came to the front, and they were taken across. When in England, some efforts were made to break up the 6th Battery, but after considerable difficulty, Major Leonard was given command again, and sent to France.

Their Record at Ypres.

Here his men soon distinguished themselves, and wrote one of the most vivid pages in Canadian military history. When the Turcos and Algerians, the French colonial troops, broke at Ypres, when the Germans sent over their horrible gas, Major Leonard's battery was left alone, with hordes of Huns coming in. Instead of abandoning the guns, the old Sixth fellows stood their ground, and gave the grey hosts of the kaiser a fearful shock. Shifting their guns, the Canadians shot point blank into the hordes of Germans. Hour after hour, they held on, and fought and fought. Ammunition was running out and Capt. Scandrett was sent back for more. Trained officers said he was insane to attempt to get back, but he said that Major Leonard must have the ammunition, and he got through with it, and won the Military Cross. Then they fought and fought, with some of the guns out of commission.

Battery Always Working.

After hours of this grim hard work, the Germans were held, and the fame of Wood Leonard and his battery rang throughout the Dominion. The battery did not rest on its laurels, but at the Ypres salient, at Givenchy, and a score of other places, it held its own with the best of them, either British or French.

Later Major Leonard was promoted to be lieutenant-colonel, and was given command of a brigade. He was in charge of the brigade, when he met his death.

It is said the 6th Field Battery, known as the 12th at the front, won more honors and decorations than any single battery in the Canadian forces. Practically every officer under Col. Leonard won the D. S. O. or the Military Cross. Col. Leonard was the last to receive the D. S. O., as he always stood behind to allow his men to get the honors. Among the rank and file, there was a number who won the Military Cross or D. C. M.

Rode at Olympia Games.

Personally, Wood Leonard was a most likeable man, and very popular. Quiet, courteous, generous, kindly, he was welcome in any company. He was prominently connected with the London Hunt Club, and rode to hounds frequently. He was an expert rider, and on several occasions competed in the New York Horse Show, the Olympiad at London, Eng., and other smart performances. He won many prizes for his riding. There was always a dash about his riding that was appealing.

While never aspiring to municipal or political honors, he was deeply interested in matters political, and for some years was an officer in the Liberal Club here, and was frequently heard in debate. His speeches was striking for their logic at all times.

Idolized By His Men.

Col. Leonard was beloved of his men. There is not a soldier in the 6th Field Battery who would not have given his life for his commanding officer. Every returned man uses superlatives at all times when speaking of Wood Leonard, as a soldier and a [illegible]

A strict discip[illegible]n, he was always human, and [illegible]ould go out of his way to help any [illegible]an of his battalion, no matter how much he had disciplined him. There was comradeship between him and his men, and a clear understanding. He always gave credit to his men for any achievement that was outstanding, and always saw to it that the bravery and courage of the men were recognized.

How He Remembered "Bob" Mercer.

One of the little incidents of the war that shows his thoughtfulness is told, and it is characteristic of the man. Among his men was "Bob" Mercer, a fine soldier, and a real fellow. He had been a member of the original 6th, and when the call came, he joined his old commander. "Bob" went across, and at Ypres was wounded. When being cared for at a dressing station, the Huns shelled the building, and Mercer was killed. A few days previous he had received word that a baby boy had been born to him in London, and he told Major Leonard. The latter did not forget that, and when he wrote to Mrs. Mercer, to console her on the death of her husband, he sent a check for $75 with his sister, Miss Alice Leonard, to start a bank account for "Bob's baby," whom the father would never see.

Always Cool in Action.

"I remember when Col. Leonard had a close call, and it shows how brave he was," said Garfield Jennings, who was at the front with him. "A bullet struck a stone near him, and bounced up, lodging in his Red Cross kit that he carried. He paid no particular attention to the incident. 'Close shave, that, Jennings,' he said. 'I have a German souvenir anyway.' He put the bullet in his pocket, and went away. He never turned a hair. Major Leonard was the best artillery officer on the west front, and one of the best men who ever lived. There was never anything like him. I can't beleive that he is gone. It's an awful pity."

Always Sent a Cable.

Col. Leonard always sent a cablegram home to his parents each week, telling his family briefly how things were progressing with him and the condition of the battery. He did this to relieve the anxiety of relatives.

Deceased was unmarried, and is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Leonard, who are at Atlantic City, a brother, Lieut.-Col. Ibbotson Leonard, with the Mounted Rifles in Divisional Cavalry in France, and three sisters, Miss Alice at home, Mrs. Innes Carling, Ottawa, and Mrs. Schofield, Montreal.

Mr. Leonard and family will return from Atlantic City on Friday morning. They were notified last evening of their son's death.

The family always took a deep interest in the men of the 6th Battery, and Mrs. Leonard and Miss Alice Leonard were weekly visitors to the families of the men. The deeds of kindness to them were legion, and Col. Leonard's purse was always at the command of his sister when there was need for money.

FURTHER SUCCESSES FOR THE BRITISH IN PALESTINE WAR

More Turk Ground Is Taken in Vicinity of Gaza.

Cairo, Egypt, April 12, via London.—The British are continuing their successes in the vicinity of Gaza, Palestine. Their mounted forces have occupied further Turkish territory to a depth of 15 miles, consolidating strong positions menacing Gaza and making many prisoners.

The losses of the Turks around Gaza are estimated at 8,000 while the British dead, according to the reports received, were less than 400. One hundred and ninety British are missing, mostly members of small parties which became isolated in the fog after penetrating the town of Gaza.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

event in a year has created such widespread concern. It is the main topic of conversation throughout the city.

A memorial service will be held Cronyn Memorial Church on Sunday morning. The rector, Rev. R. W. Norwood, took the matter up at once and made arrangements for this last tribute to one of London's first heroes. He got in touch with Col. L. W. Shannon, O. C. for this district, and the military authorities consented to assist in paying their respects to he honored dead.

Pay a Last Tribute.

"Col. Leonard was one of the greatest as well as one of the most kindly men that this country has developed," said Mr. Norwood. "We cannot honor him, as he has honored us, but we will pay our last tribute of praise to him. He earned all that came to him by sheer merit. His loss is very great."

"I will also best remember Col. Leonard as a man," said Sergt.-Major John A. Barnhill to The Advertiser. "He was a prince in every way, kindly, generous, true as steel, and very brave. He was a strict disciplinarian, but he never disciplined a man who did not deserve it, and he never held it against him. There was not a soldier in his battery that he would not do all in the world for. Our welfare was his first consideration.

Kept Men Protected.

"At Ypres, when it looked all day with us, and the shells were flying, he ordered every man into the dugouts, but he stayed out there, with almost certain death staring him in the face and watched and watched. When it was time for us to come out, he ordered us out, and we fought as best we could.

"His great personality made him an inspiration to the men. The most sluggish of the men were keyed to great deeds by him, and the honors that came to the battery were due in a great measure to his leadership and spirit. There is not a man in the old 6th Battery who has not lost a true friend and a comrade.

"It would take a long time to tell all the things that he did. Taking chances for his men, fighting hard amid most impossible situations, all these made him an ideal leader and a comrade.

Real Leader of Men.

"I do not think there was a better artillery man on the west front than Col. Leonard. That's a great deal of praise for a man, but after our experience there, I am persuaded that I am not doing him justice even. He was a real leader of men, and we are all heart-broken over his loss. It is a calamity for the city and country."

Sergt. Oakley's Tribute.

"There never was a commander who was held in higher esteem and more beloved by his men than Lieut.-Col. Wood Leonard," said Sergt. James Oakley today referring to the death of the former 6th Field Battery commander.

Sergt. Oakley was a member of the battery, and saw several months of active service as gunner. He is home on leave, and will return to the front in the near future.

"He would never ask a man to go where he would not go himself, and every man in the battery would have been willing to have laid down his life for him," continued Sergt. Oakley.

He related an instance where the guns were caught during a terrific engagement, and it was necessary to move them by hand or abandon them completely.

How They Saved the Guns.

"It was just before I left the battery in the summer," he said. "We were being shelled out of our position and it was a case of move the guns and move them quickly or lose them. Major Leonard, for he had not yet been promoted as colonel, gave the order to move the guns. He did not only give the order but grasping one of the wheels tugged with all his might along with the rest of us until we got them out of range. Every man in the battery regarded him as a soldier of the highest type and we will all greatly feel his death."

PUT DEMAR TO SLEEP WITH A FENCE PICKET

Mike Custoff Remanded for Week on Assault Charge.

Mike Custoff was convicted of an assault upon John Demar and remanded one week for sentence by Deputy Magistrate Graydon this morning. A jumble of evidence, strained through an interpreter, indicated that Custoff had told Demar to go to sleep, and the latter demurring, had put the defendant into the land of dreams with the aid of a fence picket. Sergt. James Oakley of the 12th Battery, home on leave, and Policeman James Singleton said they saw Custoff chasing Demar.

Arthur McGowan was convicted of an assault upon George O'Dell, whose best evidence was a plum-stained eyelid, that shed its radiance over the courtroom. McGowan said he did it in self-defence, and in this was supported by Mrs. Rawlings, who rents a house owned by O'Dell. Sentence will be given today.

Mr. Graydon told two youths charged with stealing coal from the M. C. R. that they would not have gone wrong if they kept away from a Horton street livery stable. Their mothers cried and pleaded for the boys, and they will come up again on Thursday, April 26. The mother blamed the plight of the boys on loitering around the livery barn.

Robert Ingram, 1178 Trafalgar street, appeared to answer a charge of non-support preferred by his wife, Mary. There appeared to be two sides to the domestic story, the husband claiming his wife spent her time in Detroit, and did not use the money provided to support their children. The case was enlarged until Monday.

An inebriate, who got his liquor from Montreal, paid $10 and costs.

BACK FROM EXILE.

London, April 12.—Telegraphing from Petrograd, Reuter's correspondent says: "Mme. Catherine Breshkovskaya, 'grandmother of the Russian revolution,' arrived here today. She was welcomed by enormous enthusiastic crowds.

Mme. Breshkovskaya was released recently from Siberia, after having spent 44 of her 73 years as a convict, prisoner and exile in Northern Asia.

WRIT FOR $20,600.—Dun's bulletin today shows that a writ for $20,600 has been issued against George E. Coleman, the action being taken by the Bank of Nova Scotia to recover that amount. Judgment for $35,300 has been awarded the Bank of Nova Scotia against Jose Gaste Company, Limited.

PRESIDENT IN TORONTO.—President Braithwaite of the Western University is in Toronto this week attending the convention of the Ontario Educational Association.

2 CENTS AN HOUR

Ferguson and Hessell of the trades and labor council were present at the meeting, and spoke briefly, congratulating the men on the success that had attended their initial efforts as an organization.

George S. Gibbons, who was present on invitation, gave an encouraging address to the men, in which he explained that as this was an age of organization, and that as capital had found it beneficial to organize, the working man who had to sell his labor to the best advantage should take a leaf out of the book of the capitalist and organize also.

Terms of the Agreement.

The agreement is as follows:

Working conditions for the motormen and conductors of the London Street Railway Company, effective April 1, 1917:

Section 1—The company has no objection to any of the motormen and conductors, or any other employees of this company, both present and future, joining the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, each employee being at liberty to use his own pudgment in this regard.

Section 2—The company agrees to meet and treat with any committee of its motormen and conductors, or any other committee of its employees (whether they are the properly accredited officers of the association or not) on all matters and grievances affecting them which may arise from time to time, said committee, or committees, to consist exclusively of employees of this company.

Section 3.—In the event of a motorman or conductor being suspended or discharged from the service of the company, and if he feels such suspension or discharge to be unjust, he shall have the right to have his case taken up by any committee of the employees, and his case brought before the superintendent within three days of such suspension or dism[illegible] upon further investigation, first by the superintendent, and then if necessary, by the manager, such employee is, in the judgment of such official, found not guilty of such cause to warrant such suspension or discharge, he shall be reinstated to his proper place in the service of the company, and shall be paid for all the time lost during such suspension or discharge, at the rate of his regular daily schedule run.

Senior 4.—Seniority in service of the company shall govern in all departments, and conductors and motormen shall select their runs in accordance with that principle. When the board is made up, the oldest man in the service shall first select his choice of run, the second oldest in service shall next select, and so on down the list, until all scheduled runs shall have been filled. A service seniority list of men shall be posted near the board for the purpose of assisting men to select their runs. Selection of runs as here indicated shall be made each time the board is changed. Board to be changed once a month.

Section 5.—The wages of conductors and motormen commencing from April 1, 1917, shall be as follows: While on the spare list, 23 cents per hour; remainder of first year in service, 25 cents per hour; second year, 26 cents per hour; third year, 27 cents per hour; after third year, 28 cents per hour. All Sundays to be so rotated that each man shall have a turn at the long and short runs.

Section 6.—The company will pay one-half of cost of such uniforms as may be from time to time required. Orders for such uniforms being obtained from the superintendent.

Section 7.—The company will immediately take steps to provide proper lavatory accomodation on the respective car lines for necessity of employees on duty.

Section 8.—Men off sick, when ready to go to work, shall be permitted to report for duty on or before 4 o'clock of the day previous to their starting to work.

Section 9.—All spare conductors and motormen who are booked for show up at the barns for work in the morning at 5:45, and who [illegible] a run, shall be allowed one hour's time.

Section 10.—All conductors shall be supplied by the company with fifteen dollars ($15.00), with which to purchase tickets and change necessary for the operation of their cars.

Section 11.—Satisfactory arrangements will be made by the company for compliance with the law of letting men off one day each week, when working on Sunday, and a list shall be posted sufficiently far in advance notifying the men of their day off.

Section 12—Day men "missing" will show up before 10 o'clock a.m. and will take such work as the car-starter may allot to them, provided, however, that the extra men shall have first choice in allotting any such work. Should the car-starter provide no work for such men who have slept in by 10:30 o'clock a.m., then such day men shall be relieved from further duties for that day, and shall take his car at the usual time the following morning.

Section 13—The company will make such arrangements that conductors and motormen making relief at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets will not have to report back to the Lyle street office for the purpose of handing in fare boxes and reports.

Section 14—Motormen or conductors working snowplows or sweepers will be paid two cents per hour extra for such work.

Section 15—Any motorman or conductor who has resigned from the company's service and re-enters the service within six months from the date of resignation will retain the same rate of wages as before he resigned, but losing his seniority rights on the board.

Section 16—Motormen and conductors training new men shall be allowed two cents per hour in addition to their regular wage rate while engaged in training new men.

Section 17—The company will provide stools for all motormen free of charge on all cars of the company, and will also provide seats or stools for conductors on all pay-as-you-enter cars.

Section 18—Motormen and conductors shall be given reasonable leave of absence to transact any business they desire, and when returning shall have the same seniority.

Section 19—No partiality or discrimination shall be shown to employees in regard to discipline and working conditions.

Section 20—This agreement and the provisions thereof shall continue in force and be binding on the respective parties hereunto until the first day of May, 1918, and from year to year thereafter, unless changed by the mutual consent of the parties hereunto. Either of the parties hereunto desiring a change in any section or sections of this agreement shall notify the other party in writing of the desired changes thirty days prior to May 1, 1918. Upon such notice the agreement shall be open to consider the change or changes desired. If not opened at that period, it shall continue to the next year, and so on.

The London Street Railway Company
by manager.

Dated April 11, 1917.

CONCERT FOR CONVALESCENTS.—The weekly concert under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. for the convalescent soldiers at Byron Sanatorium was put on last night by the members of the A. Y. P. A. of St. John's Anglican Church. Vocal selections were given by Miss Balch, soprano; Harold Ellis, baritone, and J. Little, baritone. Misses Kathleen Adams, pianist, and Elby Young, violinist, were heard to good advantage in instrumental numbers, and in addition, readings were given by George Steer and selections by Master Erie McKay and E. Bower, entertainers. Robert Liddle was chairman.

PURCHASED AS INVESTMENT.—James Cairncross, purchaser of the store at 190 Dundas street, has not definitely decided yet for what purpose the place will be used. "For some time at any rate, I have no intention of moving from my present location," said Mr. Cairncross today. "I bought it purely as an investment and have no definite plans in view."

NURSE HENRY DETAILED.—Nursing Sister A. H. Henry has been detailed for duty at the Military Hospital, Wolseley Barracks, according to an announcement in today's camp orders.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE CITY MARKET

Vegetable prices were steady on a fairly large local market today. There is not likely to be any change in greenstuff for some time as the supply is limited, most of it coming from the greenhouses. Green onions were firmer at 40c to 50c a dozen bunches. Rhubarb had a fairly good sale at 10c a bunch or $1 a dozen bunches. Lettuce sold for 40c to 50c a dozen heads and radishes for 40c to 50c a dozen bunches. Cabbages were offered at $1.50 to $2.25 a dozen. Potatoes were very firm, a few selling for $3.15 a bag, but the majority bringing from $3.25 to $3.50. Pecks sold for 60c to 65c. Apples sold for $1.25 to $1.50 a bushel.

A good supply of butter and eggs failed to influence prices. Eggs retailed for 35c to 36c a dozen, and in crate lots sold for 32c to 34c a dozen. Dairy butter, in crocks, sold for 42c, while in rolls it brought from one to two cents a pound more. Creamery butter sold for 46c to 47c a pound. A decrease in the supply of maple syrup was noticeable, and as a result prices were slightly firmer, the lowest being $1.65 a gallon, while much sold as high as $2. It is not expected that the supply will be plentiful after the close of the week, as the sap run has almost ended.

Live hogs registered a 25c increase, selling for $15.50 a cwt. Dressed hogs were firmer, too, at $19.25 to $19.50 a cwt. Fat sows were unaffected, and sold for $12 a cwt., liveweight. Meats were steady, veal selling for $16 to $18 a cwt., and lamb for $20 to $22. Beef brought $14 to $15 a cwt., and heifer beef, $15 to $18.

Hay had an exceptionally slow market, because of the bountiful supply. Some sold as low as $10.50 a ton, while only a few loads brought as much as $12 a ton. Straw also was slow at $8.50 to $9.50 a ton. There was little trading in grain, oats selling for $2.20 a cwt., and wheat for $1.75 a bushel.

LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, April 12.—Receipts at the Union stockyards today were 684 cattle, 238 calves, 2,958 hogs and 17 sheep. Trade in cattle was active and prices were well maintained. Hogs made a further advance.

CHEESE

GRAIN.

Chicago, April 12.—Rains in Kansas and Oklahoma temporarily eased down new crop deliveries of wheat. The May option, however, continued to be in demand from export and milling interests. After opening at 1⅝c decline to 2¼c advance, with May at $2 08½@2 11, and July at $1 79½@1 80½, the market rose all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Steep advances in the corn market attracted far more notice today than anything else on 'change. Reports were current that scores of distilleries would be used by the Government exclusively for the manufacture of denatured alcohol needed for military explosives. It was inferred that a big increase of the demand for corn would result.

WALL STREET.

New York, April 12—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Yesterday's late rally in speculative issues was resumed at the opening of today's market, munitions and equipments again leading the advance with shippings, metals and some of the high-grade rails, notably the transcontinentals. Lackawanna Steel, new stock, Republic Iron, American Smelting, Marine preferred, Ohio Gas and Industrial Alcohol, the latter, however, soon reacting. United States Steel gained a substantial fraction with Virginia-Carolina Chemical, Central Leather and Sugars.

Noon.—Free offerings of Mexican Petroleum, Industrial Alcohol and Pittsburg Coal checked the first hour's advance, those issues with other specialties reacting 1 to almost 3 points, with more moderate reversals in leading industrials, coppers and rails. Union Pacific and Reading fell under yesterday's final prices, and other early gains were largely effaced. Prices rebounded briskly again toward noon. United States Steel, shippings and popular war shares showing the most strength with equipments, including General Electric, American Can, American Woolen and Central Leather. International bonds were firm, with irregularity in domestic issues.

1:30 p.m.—A further break of over 4 points in Delaware and Hudson and an advance of 13 points in Gulf States Steel were the only diverting features of the mid-session. Otherwise forenoon gains were maintained or extended.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, April 12.—The effect of the prospective issue of treasury bills was only temporary on the stock exchange today, and the investment section displayed renewed steadiness under a fair outside demand, the war loan touching 95⅛. South American securities were good, especially Peruvians, and shipping shares were supported from the provinces. Some uncertainty was displayed by Brazilian issues. In the industrials, American Marconis were easy under profit-taking. The low-priced American securities were in request at hardening prices, and the other shares in this section were marked in sympathy with Wall Street.

The supply of money was plentiful, and it was well employed at previous rates. Discount rates were steady, pending the issue of treasury bills.

MASTER BARBERS TO MEET ON MONDAY NIGHT NEXT

The master barbers will meet at White's barber shop, Richmond street, on Monday evening next, to discuss the contemplated advance in prices and the demands to be made by their employees for higher wages. The barbers will ask for a raise of $3 per week and a higher percentage on amounts they earn exceeding $22 weekly. At the meeting of the master barbers these two important questions will be acted upon and definite decisions will be reached on each matter.

TO REJOIN HIS UNIT.—Capt. Gordon Cooper of the Canadian Army Service Corps, leaves this evening for Toronto after spending a few weeks' leave at his home here. He will proceed from Toronto to rejoin his unit at the front.

Count the Metal Pulleys in Your Plant

Then figure this out:

Running on an average daily load, each metal pulley is wasting you $5.00 worth of power a year. If you have fifty metal pulleys, write these items into your overhead charges:

To cost of power wasted by fifty metal pulleys as compared with Wood Split Pulleys.......$250
To needless expense in buying fifty metal pulleys at 50% more than wood split pulleys, say, at $4.00 per pulley.......$200
Total money wasted.......$450

Upon request we will arrange a demonstration of the Dodge Wood Split Pulley in your plant.

Sowing and Reaping

Sowing the seed in the springtime so that you may reap a bountiful harvest, is like depositing your first dollar in our savings department. It grows and multiplies rapidly as does the grain, and ere long you have a goodly amount of "golden grain" in your granary—in the form of a savings account.

One dollar deposited opens an account, and we pay 3½% compound interest. Will you start sowing next pay-day, that you may reap and be independent?

GOING OVERSEAS

HYDE PARK, April 11.—Dr. C. C. Ross expects orders any day to go overseas. He will take charge of a hospital somewhere in England.

Dr. Guest of London Township, will take charge of Dr. Ross' practice during his absence.

Miss Annie Guest who underwent an operation for appendicitis in Victoria Hospital recently, was able to return home this week.

Joseph Henderson who has been quite ill with ptomaine poisoning, is slowly recovering.

Farmers in this district claim the fall wheat never looked more promising than this spring. They greatly fear that the recent heavy frosts may do considerable damage.

SERBIA NOT FORGOTTEN

"Serbia so seldom is mentioned now in the daily news," said a worker on the Canadian Serbian Relief Committee," that we find it difficult to make people realize the enormous amount there is for the relief workers to do. It is a task of great difficulty to raise funds to carry on the work.

"So many people are contributing to other patriotic purposes, that time and again our pleas are met at first with unwilling refusal. But the truth regarding Serbia's pitiful condition and the absolute dependence of her refugees on the generosity of her allies, seldom fails to awaken the listener to the vital importance of the alms of the Serbian Relief Committee."

According to the information given to the writer, all the actual work in the administration of funds is carried out under the direction of the British Committee, the Canadian Serbian Relief Committee devoting its energies to the very essential work of receiving funds.

In this way the administrative expenses are kept at an astonishingly low percentage; nearly the whole of the workers devoting their time to the cause voluntarily. b

Splendid Program Carried Out Amid Rounds of Applause.

DANCERS ARE CLEVER

Show Will Be Put on Again This Evening at Masonic Temple.

The best value for the money in the way of a popular entertainment offered in London in many a day was the grand patriotic festival of dance and song last evening in the Masonic Temple, under the direction of Mrs. Alice Henderson, for the benefit of the relief work of the London branch of the Returned Soldiers' Association.

Bright, novel, varied, colorful, the program went with a snap and a dash that was exhilarating and evoked rounds of applause. Everybody was enthusiastically appreciative, from the infants just a little beyond the "in arms" stage of development, to the grandmothers and grandfathers of the entertainers and of fighting men. From beginning to end, the dull moments could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Clever Dancers.

All the dancers taking part, of whom there were betwen 30 and 40, were pupils of Mrs. Alice Henderson. Assisting them were Miss Alice Clark, soprano; Oliver Sinclair, tenor; Aubrey Baker, baritone; Pipe-Major Thomas Macdonald and London's clever juvenile pipe band; Miss Marguerite Gibson, violinist; Charles McCarthy, cornetist, and Miss Edna Bray and a chorus of twenty or so.

Accompaniments were furnished by the Returned Soldiers' Band.

Picturesqueness was lent to the entertainment by the characteristic costumes and stage settings for the different numbers.

Scottish Airs.

First came "In the Highlands," introduced by Scottish airs played by the orchestra. The curtain-rising revealed a striking Highland scene, with 50 or 60 kilted young people gracefully grouped.

The Scotch offerings included tunefully sung choruses, "Annie Laurie" and "The Hundred Pipers," followed by a bagpipe selection by the juvenile pipe band, under the direction of Pipe-Major Macdonald, this proving immensely popular. The pipers were Gladys Tullett, Charles McCarthy and Donald Ellis. Miss Marion Stark, who is also a most talented dancer, played with surprising accuracy and skill the big bass drum, Misses Isabel Graham and Violet Hunt managing the kettle drums very successfully.

Skillful Work.

A graceful old-time minuet, which incorporated a pretty flirtation in pantomime, ending with wedding bells, was given a charming presentation by Marion Stark and Irene Anderson.

Selections from "The Bohemian Girl," prepared for the gaiety of the next scene "In Bohemia," with its rollicking gypsy songs and dances.

Tiny Ivy Baldwin in a vivid scarlet Spanish costume made one of the big hits of the evening with a rhythmic dance to which she kept perfect time with her tambourine.

Dance of Butterflies.

A beautiful number was "Dance of the Butterflies," in which eight advanced pupils appeared wearing butterfly costumes in delicate pinks, greens, blues, mauves and yellows.

Following this was a genuine bit of the Emerald Isle, with an Irish jig by Miss Gladys Comber; a song and dance, "Mary From Tipperary," by Miss Kathleen England, assisted by Gladys Tullett and Marion Stark; an Irish song by Aubrey Baker; a bewitching Irish jig by little Lillian Tyrell; a waltz clog by Isabel Graham and Earl McAllister; an Irish tilt by Dorothy Munro and Marion Smith, and a Kerry dance.

The grand climax came in the patriotic close, "Britannia Rules the Waves," in which Miss Edna Bray and Oliver Sinclair and the dancers took part. Mrs. Alice Henderson, teacher and director, appeared for the first time in London, her native city, as Alice Dunbar, entertainer, by which name she is well known on the stage. She literally brought down the house with a screamingly funny vaudeville act, including a couple of songs and several stories. Seventy returned men fro mthe Central Military Convalescent Hospital were the guests at the entertainment of Col. T. S. Hobbs, Sir George Gibbons and R. C. Struthers.

The grand patriotic festival will be repeated this evening.

ADVERTISE FOR MEN TO DO THE PLOWING

High Cost of Living Committee Is Very Busy Now.

A quorum of the high cost of living committee met yesterday afternoon in the city hall, when plans were made for the plowing of the lots, for which applications have been received.

It was decided to grant a request received from the Women's Gardening Association to include the community gardens of the organization in the vacant lots' plowing scheme. It was decided also to advertise for men to do the plowing, and, this failing, to ask the city engineer for some of the city teamsters to do the work.

After the meeting the convener of the committee located seven men on lots in the neighborhood of the sewage disposal plant, within a quarter of a mile of their own homes. These lots will, if possible, be plowed this week. A large plot of ground is available next to the mineral baths, several in South London, and two or three in West London, as well as scattered lots in other parts of the city. In the next few days the lots will be staked out and numbered. Up to the present, 22 people have applied for lots on which to make gardens, and a good deal more land than is required for present applicants is still available. The committee is hoping to receive more applications.

IN AID OF RED CROSS.

AILSA CRAIG, April 11.—Parkhill young people are putting on the play, "The Mountain Waif" in the town hall, Ailsa Craig, on Friday evening, April 20. An orchestra of eight pieces, with Miss Myrtle McIntosh of Wyoming, leader, also specialties will be introduced between acts. This play has been put on in Forest and Parkhill for patriotic purposes, and has offered to assist the Young Ladies' Club in its Red Cross work.

The Easter dance will be held in the town hall on Friday evening, April 13, by the young ladies of the town, with music furnished by the London Harpers.

FIREMAN GRANTED USE OF HALL TO DISCUSS BUSINESS

President Dean of Trades and Labor Council Wrathy.

AUDIT EXPENSE SETTLED

Offer of Utilities Board to Pay $2,100 Considered Satisfactory.

President Joseph Dean, of the trades and labor council, had a pitch-in at the meeting of the finance committee last evening, and the labor man did not get the worst of it.

Mr. Dean and a deputation from the trades council appeared before the committee and asked that the city firemen be given the use of the central fire hall to hold a meeting once a month to discuss their business. Ald. Dyer apparently did not take kindly to the request.

"Some of these firemen are just living on charity," he shot back.

"I suppose you are trying to hit my brother," replied Mr. Dean, warmly. "Well, you can't insult him, or me, either. If my brother does not do his work, discharge him, and do it like men. Don't act like dogs. Be men, and do your work like men. It is a pity that a man who has served the best part of his lifetime on the fire department, and was smashed up doing his duty, has slurs like that made against him."

The other aldermen quieted the disturbance, and the committee decided to give the fire hall to the men for their meetings.

Audit Expenses.

The offer of the utilities commission to pay $2,100 towards the audit of the city's books created some discussion. Ald. Manness held out for $2,600, saying that this was the amount promised. However, it was explained that the commission would pay the additional $500 provided F. G. Jewell did some work on the books, 100 hours, to be exact, the utilities commission to get one-quarter of this extra time. Ald. Ashplant thought the arrangement perfectly good. "It is worth the money, and we have a good bargain," he declared.

Some mistake was made in the taxes of the Toasted Corn Flakes Company, and Controller John M. Moore was authorized to straighten out the difficulty.

The utilities commission will be furnished all the correspondence relative to natural gas in the possession of the council.

Was Laid Over.

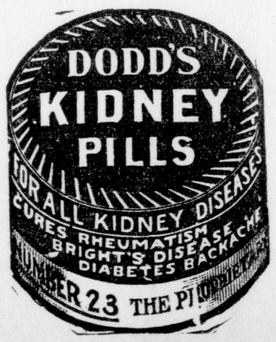

The communication from the London railway commission, withdrawing the proposition to have no 30-cent fares to Port Stanley, but 40 cents every day, was laid over for further consideration.

Henry Macklin, J.P., who acted as magistrate for some months, was voted the sum of $875. He is to pay any help he had out of this grant. This is the proportion of $2,000, the annual salary for the position.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan, of the utilities commission, informed the board that he was securing information as to the possibilities of power developing at Springbank. He also informed the committee that the hydro-electric commission's engineers had the data required.

The committee will ask the Grand Trunk to remove the team tracks on Bathurst street, to accommodate the London and Port Stanley Railway.

Much other business was also disposed of.

CHANCE FOR MANY MEN IN ARMY MEDICAL CORPS

Physical Standard Lowered, Says Militia Department Announcement.

Many men who up to the present time have been prevented from going overseas on account of physical disabilities, will now be able to do so, by joining the Canadian Army Medical Corps, the physical standards of which have been lowered.

An announcement recently made by the military authorities states that the physical standard, which was formerly the same as was required for the infantry battalions, has now been lowered to that required for the Forestry and Construction Battalions. This change will afford an opportunity to many men who were formerly unable to pass the medical tests to serve their country by doing work for which they are capable, and which will be congenial to them.

In many cases men who were rejected as physically unfit for the ordinary units, could have joined the Forestry or Construction units, but did not do so, because they felt that they could not handle an axe, or a hammer, successfully, and ar opportunity is now offered to them to work in the medical branch, where physical prowess is not such an essential.

In this branch of the service men of fair education find that their abilities are such that they can make good, and win promotion, and for this reason, it is to be expected that the new regulation will result in many joining up who heretofore have not done so.

SURPRISE OLD NEIGHBORS

MELROSE, April 11.—The neighbors and members of the Melrose Methodist Church surprised Mr. and Mrs. James Tuckey Monday evening by appearing at their home and presenting their old neighbors with two handsome easy chairs, a couch and a fancy parlor table.

Mr. Venner presented the gifts, while David H. Sells read a suitable address, to which Mr. Tuckey, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Tuckey replied.

Mrs. Andrew Knight on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society, presented Mrs. Tuckey with a leather purse.

Fully one hundred were present, who, after a bountiful repast, provided by the ladies of the congregation, enjoyed an impromptu program of music, readings, recitations and speeches.

A successful sale of farm stock and implements was held on the farm of James Tuckey, fifth concession, London Township, Tuesday. The sale was well attended, bidding was brisk and prices were good, both cattle and horses averaged good prices.

On and after April 16, owing to the high cost of living, the feed barns of London have decided to increase the stable rates. 43u wt
