Associated Press Despatch.
Oslo, Norway, June 2.—The Norwegian government has decided to send two seaplanes to the Arctic preparatory to a search for the Amundsen flying expedition to the North Pole, which started from Spitzbergen on May 21.

It was announced today that the government has selected the ship Ingertre to transport two seaplanes toward the Arctic, whence they will undertake a search for the explorers. The Ingertre, a 4,700-ton ship, fitted with wireless, is expected to reach Morten, Norway, on the Christianiafjord, 32 miles south of Oslo, today. She will probably sail for Spitzbergen Friday.

Official announcement of the Norwegian government's decision to send two seaplanes in search of Amundsen was made this afternoon. The general opinion was expressed here that Amundsen was unable to return by air and that he would proceed afoot to Cape Columbia or Spitzbergen.

WINSLOW ASKS RELEASE UNDER HABEAS CORPUS; JUDGE TO DECIDE TODAY

Londoner Held On Murder Charge in Detroit Insists He Is Innocent in Face of Insistent Questioning by Police—Court Proceeding Delayed Until This Afternoon.

HELD FOR DEATH OF JOSEPH MAURICE

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

Detroit, June 2.—Judge Thomas Cotter will this afternoon decide whether Alfred Hugh Winslow, 30, of 133 William street, London, Ont. will face a murder trial or will be released under habeas corpus proceedings.

The Londoner was arrested as a suspect in connection with the slaying from ambush of Joseph Maurice on Saturday, May 16, and since the night of the murder has been held on the ninth floor of police headquarters building and has been denied interviews with friends and relatives on the order of Inspector John P. Smith.

Kenneth Weber, prominent criminal lawyer, retained by friends to act for Winslow, this morning condemned police methods which have kept his client from any intercourse with the outside world for sixteen days. The attorney declares that detectives have been striving to wring a confession from the prisoner through third-degree tactics, but their efforts have been fruitless.

Habeas corpus proceedings were taken on Friday night, and the judge's decision has been delayed until this afternoon to give Detectives William and John Hoffman ample time to lay formal charges against the suspect.

In a statement made to police shortly after his arrest, Winslow denied that he was in any way connected with Maurice's murder. He knew the family well, he said, and admitted that he had met Mrs. Maurice on a downtown street on the night of the slaying.

Woman as Witness.

Mrs. Maurice and her 6-year-old daughter, Marie, are being held in the women's detention home as material witnesses.

The slain man's wife was married when but thirteen years of age, and a few years later her husband was convicted of bigamy and sentenced to serve a term of eighteen months. Upon his release he again joined his wife.

Maurice was shot down on Agnes street by a person firing from a darkened alley. The bullet pierced his heart and death was instantaneous. The murder was one of six slayings in Detroit over the week-end of May 16.

Hugh Winslow is a native of this city and was manager of the Winslow Appliance Company, which operated here about five years ago. The firm was short-lived, and after its windup, Winslow left for Brantford, where he was married. He lived for a time on a farm, but returned to London last December. He went to Detroit six weeks ago.

Receiving his primary education at the Aberdeen public school, Winslow later attended the collegiate institute. He served with the Canadian expeditionary forces during the war.

CHARLES REID GIVEN 2 MONTHS FOR THEFT

Youth of 19 Was Caught by
Two Marked 25-Cent
Pieces.

Charles Reid, 19 years old, 73 Woodward avenue, was sentenced to two months in the common jail on a theft charge by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in this morning's police court. He was arrested two weeks ago by Inspector of Detectives Thomas Nickle following a robbery at J. Underhill's grocery store.

Two marked 25-cent pieces led to Reid's arrest. They were placed by Underhill in his store till as a trap. Reid was later found with them in his possession and he was charged with taking a larger amount at an earlier date.

Reid was sent to jail for one month last year. He was convicted on a theft of a small amount of money from a Lambeth resident.

FARMERS OPTIMISTIC OVER RECENT RAINFALL

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 2.—Farmers throughout southern Ontario welcomed the rain, which in the form of electrical storms, has swept over the district since Sunday. In a few isolated cases there was considerable damage done by lightning and hail but this is regarded as a minor detail in comparison with the drought which was feared.

With a backward spring and dry weather the farmers were somewhat apprehensive, but all this has been removed and the outlook now is that the spring grain, fall wheat and even the meadowlands will soon be normal. Spring and summer work is well in hand and labor plentiful.

After hours of struggling, today's weather gave up the effort of trying to the yesterday's heat record, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon the weather bureau thermometer showed 90 degrees, two notches short of the level recorded at the same time yesterday.

That the heat is abnormal for the first part of June is borne out by local statistics. A year ago today, the highest temperature was 71 degrees.

Oh, hum! The Heat!

A restless London didn't do much work this morning.

June's bubbling disposition seemed more exuberant today, even after the scowls of last night's thunderstorm, and before business had hit its daily stride the heat had already been diagnosed as oppressive.

Chicago, June 2.—Seventeen persons dead and nearly a score seriously injured were the toll of a heat wave and ensuing wind and electrical storms which hit the middle west yesterday. The region welcomed the promise of cooler weather.

From the Nebraska plateau to Ohio, the heat was general. In several places it set records for the year and for June 1 of all recorded time. Then the humidity was pierced here and there by thunder showers and terrific rains. The wind reached a velocity of almost 90 miles an hour.

POLICE INVITED TO CITY

London May Be 1926 Meeting Place of Chief Constables of Dominion.

TELEGRAMS SENT

C. of C. Forwards Message To Association Secretary—
Lions Also Aiding.

There is a strong possibility that London will be chosen as the 1926 meeting place of the Chief Constables' association of Canada, which is at present holding its annual convention in Winnipeg.

Last night a telegram went forward from the London chamber of commerce to Chief Constable William Wallace, secretary of the association, extending a cordial invitation to the police chiefs to meet in the Forest City next year. The telegram, signed by R. H. Dowler, president, was as follows: "The London chamber of commerce joins with the city council, in extending to the Chief Constables' association of Canada a most cordial invitation to hold their annual convention for 1926 in the Forest City."

A telegram was also forwarded to Chief Robert Birrell of this city, asking him to support the invitation, and to assist him in doing so, the chamber forwarded to him two hundred and fifty attractive illustrated folders on London, the cover of which contains a printed announcement urging the police chiefs to consider the advantages of London as a meeting place for their next convention, and pledging hearty co-operation on the part of the city. The convention is an important one and to secure it will still further enhance the reputation of London as a convention city.

The Lions club of London has also intervened in the endeavor to bring the police chiefs to London next year.

The following message was despatched to the secretary of the association this morning:

"Bring association convention to London in 1926. This is London's centennial year, the greatest year in the city's history. We will make you welcome."

London's centenary next year will receive an impetus from the calls of the city garbage collectors this year.

The mayor has agreed that the city garbage men shall leave a cart at every house, asking the owner or tenant to send the names of all London Old Boys he knows to the city clerk.

The garbage man is the only city employee who calls regularly at every house in the city, and he has been chosen to act as an ambassador of goodwill in the cause of the centenary homecoming in 1926.

It has been planned by the city council to make 1926 the greatest civic year in the history of the Forest City, every known London Old Boy from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands will receive an official invitation. If London has its hotel by that time and Ferguson's beer is properly matured in wood, there is no reason, say the aldermen, why the centenary should not be a success.

M'CULLOUGH GOES TO KINCARDINE

Social Service Secretary Accepts
Call From Knox Presbyterian Church.

Rev. T. D. McCullough, social service secretary, has decided to accept the call extended to him by Knox Presbyterian church, Kincardine. Mr. McCullough will take charge of the church early in July as successor to Rev. P. C. Overend, who resigned when the church voted not to enter the United Church of Canada.

The Kincardine church is said to be one of the strongest Presbyterian congregations in Northwestern Ontario, and made for itself fine church traditions under the leadership of its former pastors, particularly the late Rev. J. L. Murray, D.D. The vote to continue as a Presbyterian church was almost unanimous in the congregation. The appointment was made with it a stipend of $5,000, manse, and one month's holidays.

Mr. McCullough has acted as secretary for the whole of Western Ontario on behalf of the social service council of Ontario, as well as the local council, for the past six years. Prior to that date Mr. McCullough held pastorates in Presbyterian churches at Dresden, Harrison, and Port Hope, extending over a period of about fifteen years.

CITY WAITED LONG

Transportation Question and Bridge Issue Will Be Probed.

City Solicitor T. G. Meredith says this morning that the Ontario railway board will meet in London on June 17. This date has been proposed by the board as a day that will suit its members, and it is expected that the city and the street railway will find it agreeable to them as well.

The city council has been ready for the meeting for almost five weeks now, and so has the street railway. It means that at last the city is within listening distance of the end of its transportation troubles and that the matter of the Ridout street and York street bridge troubles may be settled in the comparatively near future.

The repairs to the York street bridge and the question of building a new Ridout street bridge have been untouched, except by criticism, for some weeks now, and will remain so until the board meets.

In the meantime London South has a bus service, and the transportation problem in that section of the city is somewhat relieved. Every angle of the bridge situation, including the matter of division of costs between the city and the company, will be laid over until after June 17.

10 ESCAPE DEATH AT R. R. CROSSING

Truck and Coupe Wrecked At Mount Brydges in One Day.

For the second time in a day, near fatalities occurred at the Canadian National public crossing at Mount Brydges when Mrs. Melville Lindsay drove a small coupe in the path of an express train No. 21.

Mrs. Lindsay suffered head and shoulder injuries and was rushed to the Strathroy Hospital. She is a sister of William Nettleton and was visiting in the district. The car was wrecked.

Although the crossing is protected by an electric bell, two cars came to grief yesterday. In the morning a truck carrying eight people and driven by E. Khoury, of Sarnia, crashed into a speeding express. The eight passengers were scarcely shaken up.

Before the driver saw the flir, it was upon him and he had time neither to swerve to the side nor to apply the brakes. He ran into the engine just back of the driving wheels and the front of his car was torn away.

COPE WITH BORDER EVIL BY ANTI-SMUGGLING ACT

Government and Opposition
Praise Bill to Cut Down Practice.

NAME $200 FINE

Imprisonment Now Faces Offenders—Merchants Are Assisted.

By E. C. BUCHANAN.
Special to The Advertiser
by a Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, June 1.—Smuggling across the border from the United States into Canada, at such points as Windsor and Niagara Falls, is expected to be greatly curtailed upon the final enactment of amendments to the customs act, which was given second reading in the Commons tonight. The risks involved will be so great as to discourage the practice. The persons caught will be liable not only to heavy fines, but to imprisonment for terms varying according to the value of the goods smuggled.

In presenting the legislation the Mackenzie King government is pursuing its determination to fight the evil of smuggling, which has attained extensive proportions. In enforcing the law it will have the co-operation of organized Canadian merchants. The bill embodying the amendments to the customs act, having the enthusiastic approval of the leader of the opposition, is not likely to meet objection in the upper house.

Penalties Great.
Where the goods smuggled into Canada are of a value under $200, the smuggler will be liable to a fine of from $50 to $200 or to imprisonment for from one month to one year or to both fine and imprisonment. Where the value of the goods is $200 or more the penalty will be imprisonment for from one to seven years for the first offence and from three to ten years for subsequent offences. Similar penalties are provided for those convicted of keeping or selling goods smuggled into the country.

The prime minister explained to the house that responsible merchants had impressed upon the government the extent to which smuggling was being carried on, and that the government had offered to co-operate with voluntary effort of the merchants to curtail it. It had been shown that fines were not sufficient of a deterrent and the conclusion had been reached that imprisonment was the best means of discouraging the practice.

The legislation had the hearty support of Mr. Meighen, who believed in the imposition of severe penalties upon those who broke the law by smuggling goods into the country to the disadvantage of Canadian industries. The opposition leader forecast the possibility of an objection to the way of the enforcement of the law in the jury system. He suggested that if it were found that juries were inclined to acquit smugglers too readily that the system should be restricted and such cases taken out of their hands.

Ottawa Payment.
This legislation was the most important business before the Commons today. Among other measures dealt with was a bill adding $25,000 to the annual contribution of the government to the city of Ottawa in return for services rendered by the municipality. The total amount now to be expended by the government for the work of the Ottawa improvement commission, assistance in the maintenance of bridges and other public works, and for fire protection, water and sewage services is $265,000 a year.

Woodstock, June 1.—A sneeze has brought fame to at least one Woodstock resident, a teamster possessing more than the usual brawn common to his calling. He was standing at the freight desk of a local railway depot this morning when he was seized with a violent desire to sneeze. With the dangling limb hanging helplessly beside him, he at once became the object of both admiration and pity, but after the limb had been reset he left the railway station none the worse for the incident.

AT THE THEATRES

CAPITOL THEATRE

The Dressmaker From Paris.

Peggy Coudrey, former leading lady of the Majestic players, is one of the most popular actresses London knows. She appeared at the Capitol theatre yesterday in a singing revue, and it was to see again a favorite of last winter that large audiences attended both matinee and evening performances.

Miss Coudrey sang a number of pleasing and popular songs in her own inimitable manner. She was admirably accompanied by Miss Edith Belmont, a London girl, on the piano, who herself rendered a delightful solo number.

The picture in the principal roles of The Dressmaker From Paris, a picture which is novel in the manner which it presents a lavish fashion revue and a relief from the usual "thriller and heart-breaker."

The Dressmaker From Paris is a romance of a little French midwintre who becomes a famous creator of fashions. In this picture fourteen girls, billed as international beauty models are gathered together. The story is lavishly portrayed and constitutes one of the first screen style shows.

Jimmy Adams in St. Tight, a rollicking comedy, and a Farbe news film complete an excellent program at the Capitol, particularly outstanding for the appearance of Miss Peggy Coudrey.

LOEW'S THEATRE

If I Marry Again.

Endless days and nights of rain, a tropical fever that befuddles the mind and the knowledge that her father-in-law is entirely against her, are the experiences of Mrs. Charles Jordan (Doris Kenyon) in If I Marry Again, which opened at Loew's yesterday for the first three days of the week.

The picture is one of the best presented at Loew's for some time. Besides having an all-star cast, including Doris Kenyon, Anna Q. Nilsson, Lloyd Hughes, Myrtle Stedman, Hobart Bosworth and Frank Mayo, the theme is good, and although slightly far-fetched, it will leave an impression on most married folk's minds.

The picture is one of a young man, who is sent to a tropical island because he marries a girl against the wishes of his father. While there he contracts fever and dies, and when the father refuses to recognize her son she starts to get even with him, but she is too fine for that, and the father-in-law then learns of what she has done. The picture is a mixture of the best of the last act, "The Paramount Quintette," is a mixture of grand opera and whatnot.

GASOLINE PRICES WILL BE PROBED

Premier Ferguson Appoints G. T. Clarkson To Investigate Matter.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 1.—Premier Ferguson announced today that G. T. Clarkson of the firm of Clarkson, Gordon and Dilworth, auditors had been appointed by the government to make an investigation into the cost of gasoline in Ontario.

The appointment of Mr. Clarkson follows the request of several municipalities to have the basic cost of this fuel determined.

"I have instructed Mr. Clarkson to go ahead and do what he likes in order to get at the bottom of this thing," stated the premier when asked what Mr. Clarkson's powers were. "He has instructions to do whatever he deems necessary."

It is understood that Mr. Clarkson will assume his new duties within a few days.

BORDER CARPENTERS STRIKE FOR INCREASE

Windsor Workmen Seek 12 Per Cent Increase in Wages.

Special to The Advertiser.
Windsor, June 1.—Four hundred carpenters went on strike in the Border Cities today. The total strength of the union, with the exception of members working in Detroit is said to be out. The trouble arises from the fact that the annual wage agreement between the carpenters' union and the builders' and contractors' association expired on Sunday, May 31. According to the contractors, the carpenters demanded a new scale of $1.12 1/2 an hour to replace the expiring one of $1. This the contractors claim to be exorbitant. No settlement is in sight.

NEW C. OF C. SECRETARY INTRODUCED TO COUNCIL

W. H. Wood Asks For Co-operation in Building Worth-while Community.

WARMLY RECEIVED

Mayor Rules Question of Police Car Use Out of Order.

W. H. Wood, manager-secretary of the chamber of commerce here, was introduced to the city council last night and received a most cordial welcome. Speaking briefly he bespoke the co-operation of the council in building up a worth-while community in London, in developing the city in the direction of health and prosperity, and in laying the foundation of a greater and better Forest City. He received an ovation at the end of his address.

Although the city solicitor, in a letter, told the council that it was illegal to buy the proposed pumper for the fire department, as there was no money in the estimates, he reminded them that there was a fund from which the money could be taken for this purpose. At the request of the mayor, who said he had "important information" on the matter, it was referred to the finance committee.

Bottrill "Out of Order."
Ald. Bottrill asked the mayor for information as to his use of police car a week ago, but was ruled out of order by his worship.

"I am only asking for information," said the alderman. "I would like to know, that's all."

"Well, you are out of order," quoth the mayor, "and in any case I'm not saying anything about it tonight."

Ald. Kilbourne asked that the recommendation from the board of works to appoint T. C. McBride city building inspector be laid over so that the housing commission, which meets

Mumps Epidemic Hits Dorchester

Special to The Advertiser.
Dorchester, June 1.—Mumps is prevalent in this vicinity, and the church attendance was much depleted on Sunday. The disease seems to be no respecter of persons, visiting young and old alike.

On Friday, might have an opportunity to make a suggestion. The council agreed.

On the motion of Ald. Douglass, the mayor was instructed to get a report on the new provincial law requiring landlords to accept responsibility for all hydro-electric appliances bought by tenants.

Complaints as to the water service charge brought a reply from the mayor that the public utilities commissioners were quite within their legal rights in charging this extra rate. Whether it was called a service charge or rent for the appliances used was immaterial. But he said he was not in favor of it.

The island at the corner of Richmond street and Central avenue will be remade the same size and shape as the original, following a motion from Ald. Douglass to this effect.

BROTHERHOOD HOLDS SECRET MEETING

One Thousand Delegates From Canada and U. S. Meet in Detroit For 30th Convention.

Associated Press Despatch.
Detroit, Mich., June 1.—One thousand delegates representing 100,000 Canadian and U. S. members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and engineers this morning convened at the first business session of the brotherhood's thirtieth convention.

All meetings are secret, but there was no attempt today to disguise the character of a number of matters of national importance to be acted upon. The outstanding problems are: Determination of effective means of fighting alleged tactics of railroads in weaning young men from the brotherhoods.

Agitation for making the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers the first of the four big brotherhoods to discontinue secret meetings.

E. Roberts, national president, in his opening address, concentrated on the "weaning tactics" of the railroads, and demanded the same "hands off" policy by the railroads toward the brotherhood men as the brotherhoods maintain in affairs of railway executives.

A step in this direction will probably be taken at a meeting of the creditors on June 10. G. T. Clarkson of Toronto has been appointed custodian of the assets.

The London Methodist conference will have sixteen representatives on the general council of the United Church, while the Presbyterian synod of Hamilton and London will have sixteen representatives. There will be 40 representatives on the council from the whole for the Congregational communion in the Dominion, of about five or six will be from Western Ontario.

The Methodist church is holding a grand inspirational rally in Sherbourne street church, Toronto, on Tuesday, June 9, at which gathering the London conference will have 48 representatives. The synod of Hamilton and London will have 90 representatives to the last general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada, which meets at Toronto about the same time as the general council of the United Church.

CITY TO RECOVER $500 FROM BANK

Sum of $17.60 Deposited in 1854 Grows To Large Proportions.

Last night the city council asked the Bank of Montreal to pay to the city the sum of $500, which stands to the credit of the city now. Originally in 1854 someone deposited a sum of $17.60 to the credit of the city, and then forgot about it. Now the city is able to claim its own and will have a nice little nest-egg to play with for the Old Boys' Reunion or the city hall picnic or some such frivolity.

A few weeks ago a real gold digger blew into London. He went to the city clerk and the mayor with a strange proposition. "If he found some money belonging to the city which the city knew nothing of would the city be sportsmanlike and go fifty-fifty with him. The city agreed it would act like a gentleman in the matter, and the result was that he unearthed this money in the Bank of Montreal. So the city, after giving this wanderer his half share in the treasure, now finds itself richer by the price of a good milk cow or a grand piano, and feels well satisfied with its bargain.

VICTORIA HOME URGED FOR AGED

Suggestion Made by Ald. Ashton Disapproved by Relief Officer.

That the old Victoria home, on Dundas street, could be made into a suitable home for the aged in London, and that there is need for a building of this kind is the claim made by Ald. John Ashton. At the next meeting of the council, Mr. Ashton will introduce a motion asking that this be considered.

R. H. Sanders, city relief officer, says there is still plenty of room in the Aged People's home on Richmond street north, and that when that institution is filled, the Strathroy house of refuge is used.

"There are a large number of aged couples in the city for whom more and better provision should be made by the city," says the alderman. "There are couples now where the city makes an allowance of two or three dollars a week, and allows them to live in their own homes rent free."

"The home on Richmond street is often filled to capacity, and it is a shame to send these people out to Strathroy. The old Victoria home would make an ideal place for these aged people, and I shall move that the city consider this suggestion at the next meeting."

On the other hand, Mr. Sanders says that most of the old people who draw a small weekly allowance from the city and live in their own homes would much rather live at home even on the very small sum they draw than go into an institution of any kind. In one case he has four old men living in a private house in the city, where they are exceedingly comfortable, and where they are well looked after. He does not see any immediate need for a new home at the present time, especially in view of the fact that so many old people are averse to going to them.

LADY BYNG ADDRESSES I. O. D. E. CONVENTION

Daredevil Dies In Auto Jump

Canadian Press Despatch.
New Westminster, B.C., June 2.—Robert Swayne, 24, of North Bay, Ont., was instantly killed here Monday when attempting a long jump stunt with an automobile. The stunt consisted of rushing up a prepared incline at a speed of 40 miles an hour and jumping the car off an eight-foot platform, a distance of 40 yards. The car, instead of landing on its four wheels, lurched to one side and struck the ground nose first, a distance of 28 feet from the platform, turned turtle, and crumpled up, a total wreck. Swayne was thrown out and landed on his head. He suffered a broken neck, fractured skull and other injuries.

LAW MAY BRING NEW TENANT RULE

Landlords Condemn Legislation Making Them Liable For Appliances.

The last report of the landlords in Ontario, who by the new provincial law, are responsible for all hydro appliances bought by their tenants, is to rent their houses on a new set of conditions.

"Buy your stuff from a private dealer," they will say, "and you can live in my house. Otherwise pick another home."

Whether this is legal they have not yet determined. They say that various landlords in the past have placed all kinds of restrictions on tenants, and that this would not be any more inconvenient than many others. In the meantime they are consulting their lawyers to see if they can include this in the new leases.

The new law, said one landlord today, "simply means that the burden of following up delinquent buyers of all goods from the hydro commission has been shifted from the shoulders of the commission to ours. It is a most unfair proposition. I do not know how the house consented to pass it. It also constitutes, in my opinion, an unfair business condition on all private dealers in these goods. The private dealer has to make sure that he gets his money, but the commission has only to sell to the purchaser, and then let the landlord do the worrying."

FERNIE MAYOR SAYS RELIEF WILL BE CUT

Government Home Bank Grant Will Provide 60 Per Cent Relief.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 1.—That depositors in the Home Bank will only receive from 60 to 65 per cent of their holdings even if the government grants them the sum of $5,450,000, was the statement made today by G. C. Henderson, mayor of Fernie, B. C., and one of the inspectors appointed by the liquidators of the defunct bank. Mr. Henderson is in the city in connection with claims of local depositors. He pointed out that the statement had been made that the government had already advanced money to the depositors when as a matter of fact not a cent had yet been received from the government.

HOUSING BODY TO DEBATE POST

Chairman Wray Calls Meeting To Take Up Building Inspector's Appointment.

Harry Wray, chairman of the London housing commission for 1925, will call a meeting of the commission the end of this week or early next week to consider the appointment of a city building inspector. He has called two meetings in the last three weeks only to find that no quorum was present either time.

"This appointment is a sufficiently important matter to make it necessary that the whole commission should be present to express their ideas on the matter," he says. "I do not propose to deal with it in a minority report. The members of the commission who have been in service as commissioners for years have a better background of experience in these matters from which to suggest a building inspector. If I cannot get all the commissioners to attend a meeting there will be no report to send to the city council."

Members of the London housing commission are E. R. Dennis, Rud Hessell, the mayor, Ald. Paul Dreyer and Harry Wray. It takes three to make a quorum.

At the last meeting of the board of works T. C. McBride was recommended at a salary of $2,500, in spite of the active opposition of Chairman Bottrell. Mr. Bottrell maintained that no recommendation should go to the city council that had not the sanction of the housing commission, which was directly concerned.

Ald. Kibbourne asked the council last night to lay the matter over for consideration by the housing commission on the same grounds taken by Ald. Bottrell. Whether Mr. Wray will be able to get a full meeting is questionable in this sultry weather. But he says there will be no recommendation unless the city and all the commissioners turn out.

CHILD SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Thelma Martin, Age 5, of Aylmer, Is in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Special to The Advertiser.
Aylmer, June 1.—Thelma, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, Dorchester, was knocked down by a car driven by Miss Letta Simpson, daughter of George Simpson of Lyons, and was seriously injured. Miss Simpson, who is employed in the office of the Aylmer Garage Co., Aylmer, was returning home when Thelma Martin and her little brother were bringing the cows home along the gravel road. The boy had just crossed the road, and when the car was almost beside her, Thelma, evidently not seeing it, darted in front of the machine to follow her brother and was struck in the head by the fender of the car. The car did not run over her, but the blow was so severe that the little girl was rendered unconscious. Dr. Leeson of Aylmer was called and the child removed to St. Joseph's hospital in London.

Reports from St. Joseph's hospital at midnight indicate the patient is still in a very serious condition, with any change hard to ascertain. She is in a state of coma and suffering keenly.

ANNUAL OUTLAY OF $5,000 WOULD BRING WINTER FAIR

Mayor Declares Scheme Could Be Easily Financed
by City.

PLAN IS OUTLINED

"London can have a first-class winter fair, with all its attendant advantages both to the business community and citizens generally, for the comparatively small outlay of about $5,000 a year for ten years, and for my part I would like action to be taken right now. I believe it can be done and there will never be a better time than the present."

Such was the pronouncement of Mayor Wenige who with E. S. Little was deputed to report on financing arrangements.

The proposal to establish such an institution here has been the subject of a great deal of study and effort by a number of organizations both in the city and surrounding countries of Western Ontario, and the proposal has now reached the stage where definite action may be expected at an early date.

All are Agreed.
There is practically unanimous agreement on the desirability of holding a winter exhibition here, in the interest of the whole of Western Ontario. The question of finances is the only one now standing in the way of immediate action, and this Mayor Wenige believes can be solved without great difficulty.

At a meeting held in the county buildings last February, attended by members of the city council, county council, chamber of commerce, Western Ontario Consignment Sales Co., and a number of prominent stock-breeding classes in the city, was advanced to the point where two committees were appointed, one to look into the financial possibilities and the other to supervise arrangements for the holding of the fair if the money can be raised.

The financial committee under the chairmanship of E. S. Little held two subsequent meetings and Mr. Little stated this morning that he and Mayor Wenige had been deputed to work out a plan for financing the building of a new stock arena in the Western Fair grounds, which is practically all that is needed in the way of equipment in addition to the buildings already there.

Will Call Meeting.
The Mayor stated this morning that pressure of other matters had prevented a meeting between himself and Mr. Little up to the present, but he is hoping to arrange immediately a conference between them together with James Bell, the city treasurer, whose fertile brain has in the past evolved many a successful financial scheme for the city's financial difficulties.

The Mayor believes that the necessary capital expenditure for the erection of the proposed arena will not be more than $200,000 or $250,000 at the outside, and is hopeful that it may be possible for the city to draw a substantial part of this amount in exactly the same manner which was followed so successfully in the erection of the Manufacturers' building. The Mayor would not cost the city a cent beyond making provision for the carrying charges on this amount, which would run to about $20,000 annually. The annual grant of $5,000 from the city with a grant of $3,000 from the county of Middlesex and proportionate grants from the other thirteen counties of Western Ontario would easily take care of this amount, in the Mayor's opinion, and he believes London would be getting most excellent returns for the investment.

WEDDINGS

GREENING-GROOM.
St. Martin's church was the scene of a pretty June wedding this morning at 2 o'clock when Mary Amelia, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Groom, Euclid avenue, became the bride of Mr. Dan Greening, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Greening of this city. The Rev. Monsignor McKeon officiated.

The church was lovely with flowers and greenery. The bride wore a gown of white georgette with trimmings of silk lace and ribbons. She wore the conventional veil of silk net, prettily embroidered with white and orange ribbon. Her slippers were of white kid and her flowers a shower bouquet of pink roses and real orange blossoms sent by a friend from the Southern states. Miss Clare Groom was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a Dolly Varden frock of rose printed chiffon, and picture hat to match with rose-trimmed crown. Her flowers were pink roses and lilies of the valley. Mr. Jack Teahan of this city acted as best man, while the wedding music was played by Miss Moore.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome diamond dinner ring, to bridesmaid, a silver bracelet, to the best man, cuff links and to the organist, a pretty vanity compact.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception was held at the home of the bride. White and blue streamers and flowers in profusion decorated the house, while roses and carnations were used on tables. About twenty-four guests were present including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groom from Detroit, and Miss May Teahan of St. Mary's. The mother of the bride assisted in receiving the guests wearing a smart gown of black georgette trimmed with steel beading and corsage of mauve sweetpeas, while the bride wore a black georgette with jet trimming and wore a corsage of sweetpeas.

Mr. and Mrs. Greening left at noon today on a motor trip to Ottawa and through New York state and will be gone about ten days. For going-away the bride donned a pretty gown of figured chiffon with powder blue georgette coat hat to match and black satin slippers. On their return they will live on Forward avenue this city.

May Declares Scheme Could Be Easily Financed by City.

PLAN IS OUTLINED

"London can have a first-class winter fair, with all its attendant advantages both to the business community and citizens generally, for the comparatively small outlay of about $5,000 a year for ten years, and for my part I would like action to be taken right now. I believe it can be done and there will never be a better time than the present."

Such was the pronouncement of Mayor Wenige who with E. S. Little was deputed to report on financing arrangements.

The proposal to establish such an institution here has been the subject of a great deal of study and effort by a number of organizations both in the city and surrounding countries of Western Ontario, and the proposal has now reached the stage where definite action may be expected at an early date.

All are Agreed.
There is practically unanimous agreement on the desirability of holding a winter exhibition here, in the interest of the whole of Western Ontario. The question of finances is the only one now standing in the way of immediate action, and this Mayor Wenige believes can be solved without great difficulty.

At a meeting held in the county buildings last February, attended by members of the city council, county council, chamber of commerce, Western Ontario Consignment Sales Co., and a number of prominent stock-breeding classes in the city, was advanced to the point where two committees were appointed, one to look into the financial possibilities and the other to supervise arrangements for the holding of the fair if the money can be raised.

The financial committee under the chairmanship of E. S. Little held two subsequent meetings and Mr. Little stated this morning that he and Mayor Wenige had been deputed to work out a plan for financing the building of a new stock arena in the Western Fair grounds, which is practically all that is needed in the way of equipment in addition to the buildings already there.

Will Call Meeting.
The Mayor stated this morning that pressure of other matters had prevented a meeting between himself and Mr. Little up to the present, but he is hoping to arrange immediately a conference between them together with James Bell, the city treasurer, whose fertile brain has in the past evolved many a successful financial scheme for the city's financial difficulties.

The Mayor believes that the necessary capital expenditure for the erection of the proposed arena will not be more than $200,000 or $250,000 at the outside, and is hopeful that it may be possible for the city to draw a substantial part of this amount in exactly the same manner which was followed so successfully in the erection of the Manufacturers' building. The Mayor would not cost the city a cent beyond making provision for the carrying charges on this amount, which would run to about $20,000 annually. The annual grant of $5,000 from the city with a grant of $3,000 from the county of Middlesex and proportionate grants from the other thirteen counties of Western Ontario would easily take care of this amount, in the Mayor's opinion, and he believes London would be getting most excellent returns for the investment.

WEDDINGS

GREENING-GROOM.
St. Martin's church was the scene of a pretty June wedding this morning at 2 o'clock when Mary Amelia, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Groom, Euclid avenue, became the bride of Mr. Dan Greening, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Greening of this city. The Rev. Monsignor McKeon officiated.

The church was lovely with flowers and greenery. The bride wore a gown of white georgette with trimmings of silk lace and ribbons. She wore the conventional veil of silk net, prettily embroidered with white and orange ribbon. Her slippers were of white kid and her flowers a shower bouquet of pink roses and real orange blossoms sent by a friend from the Southern states. Miss Clare Groom was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a Dolly Varden frock of rose printed chiffon, and picture hat to match with rose-trimmed crown. Her flowers were pink roses and lilies of the valley. Mr. Jack Teahan of this city acted as best man, while the wedding music was played by Miss Moore.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome diamond dinner ring, to bridesmaid, a silver bracelet, to the best man, cuff links and to the organist, a pretty vanity compact.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception was held at the home of the bride. White and blue streamers and flowers in profusion decorated the house, while roses and carnations were used on tables. About twenty-four guests were present including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groom from Detroit, and Miss May Teahan of St. Mary's. The mother of the bride assisted in receiving the guests wearing a smart gown of black georgette trimmed with steel beading and corsage of mauve sweetpeas, while the bride wore a black georgette with jet trimming and wore a corsage of sweetpeas.

Mr. and Mrs. Greening left at noon today on a motor trip to Ottawa and through New York state and will be gone about ten days. For going-away the bride donned a pretty gown of figured chiffon with powder blue georgette coat hat to match and black satin slippers. On their return they will live on Forward avenue this city.

Lightning Strikes Radio Set But Reception Not Affected

Sam Charlton Tells of Unusual Experience During Last Night's Storm.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

LIGHTNING STRIKES 1B - Sam Charlton, publisher, had a rather unique experience with his radio set during the storm last night. Lightning struck his aerial wire, melted it, jumped several switches, passed along the wires into the house and set fire to his radio. Mr. Charlton and his family were in another part of the house and were made aware of the fire by the dense smoke clouds that arose. Rushing to the set, the fire was easily put out. Mr. Charlton then connected the switches. To his surprise he immediately got Cleveland, and listened in to what he says was a very good concert. Mr. Charlton is unable to account for this incident as his coils were completely burned out.

POOL REMAINS CLOSED DESPITE HEATED SPELL

No Word Yet Forthcoming
From Provincial Health Authorities.

Still no word from the provincial health board on the Thames park swimming pool. Day by day the mercury jumps in the glass. Day by day small boys grow hotter and hotter. Day by day children's eager eyes watch the empty pool to see if there's any water in it, and if the gate is unlocked. But peace reigns over the pool. Its water is undisturbed. It may have all the healing of ancient Elysium, but its surface is untroubled. Cautious would do better in the vast depths of the pool than frogs or mud turtles just now. Money, the lack of it, is said by the public utilities commissioners, to be at the root of the evil. They say they cannot open the baths unless they install a shower bath, a scum gutter and a lavatory. They have no money. Therefore, nothing can be done. In the meantime Brantford is in the same boat, the civic pool there being closed too.

NINETY IN SHADE DESPITE BIG STORM

Concluded from Page One.
The air and the uncomfortable grip
of blazing white sidewalls.
Between eight o'clock last night
and eight o'clock this morning 81
was reached by reliable thermometers while the mercury dropped to 62 at one o'clock during the night, the barometer is alone in whispering of relief from summer's first embrace.
A rise of .07 points is noted in the past 24 hours and barring "unlooked for" developments the weather will moderate in a day or so.

Straw Hats Sweep in.
Straw hats were swept in by the hundreds on the wave of heat. Recently the year's standing have been trampled in the past two days with sales of more than 2,500 "Kellies" reported. This is said to be half the local consumption.

The year 1925 stands up to deny the sunny charges that the world isn't progressing. Last year June made its bow in quite plebeian weather. The highest temperature for the day was 71, and the lowest 44.
This year 92-degree high blazed a hearty welcome through London and district.

Another proof of June's improving appetite for warmth is the fact that yesterday's high temperature equalled
the highest mark in the entire month
last year. Few know just how strong Monday threatened to topple the record of summer 1924. On August 2, the mercury idled up to 94—a slim two degrees ahead of yesterday's figure.

Blessing to Crops.
Sun and rain is the formula for perfect crops. R. A. Finn, of the London branch of the department of agriculture said this morning. Last night's downpour was a blessing to the district. Still more rain is needed at present though to allow the grain to derive the fullest benefit from the hot spell.

The thunderstorm failed to temper
the sultry evening to any great extent and verandas were popular havens until midnight and later. With the night half over, the heat was still bothersome and sleep was doubly elusive to hundreds.

Came the dawn—and premonitions
of another melting hug from June.
Sleepers were fidgety long before the hour of arising and they awoke to forebodings of lethargic warmth.
Standard breakfast table grumbings were squelched under the spell of heat and London went to its work

KIWANIANS BRING JOY TO VETERANS

Westminster Patients Taken On Pleasant Outing by Club Members.

Patients of Westminster hospital
were the guests of Kiwanis club members yesterday afternoon, when more than 150 of the war veterans were given a delightful outing in a drive about the city and later a picnic at the farm home of Kiwanian
Ernie Moore, south of Lambeth.

Fifty motor cars, driven by the Kiwanians, and each carrying three of the Westminster soldiers, toured city and country roads for several hours. Later at Mr. Moore's home refreshments were provided by the Kiwanis club members and an impromptu program arranged both by the Westminster men and Kiwanians.
Music was provided when a piano
loaded on a large truck was taken on the trip.

The program of entertainment included many delightful numbers sung
by the soldiers and Kiwanians.
It was a day of exceptional entertainment for the Westminster patients as they shared in Kiwanian hospitality and enjoyed to the utmost the drive about London and the luxuriance of country scenery.
John McHale, Kiwanis club president, Col. William Beattie, William Anderson, Colin French, Ernest
Moore and H. B. Muir were the Kiwanians in charge of the outing, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable Kiwanis events of the year.

BUFFALO ROBES WERE $5.00 AT KINGSMILL'S IN THE 70'S

T. F. Kingsmill Recalls Early Days On Anniversary
of Founding.

ALL MEN CLERKS
Sewing Machine Was Popular.
Ready-To-Wear Clothes Few.

Buffalo robes at $5 each. Not a hot weather topic, but one of the recollections of T. F. Kingsmill, who,
upon the occasion of his anniversary
this morning, was tempted to recall the days of 1865 on Dundas street.

"A respectable buffalo hide brought down by the Hudson's Bay Company was retailed here for a $5 bill," said
Mr. Kingsmill. "In the 70's and 80's, housewives bought goods by the bolt
or the yard and made all the clothing for men, women and children."

Men stood behind the counters and sold the red flannels and the tweeds.
No women served in stores until the advent of the ready-made millinery.
Now the women have not only taken to the ladies' departments—they operate the elevators.

It was in 1865 when Dundas street was a gravel road and the decorative features of the stores were clumsy wooden verandahs, that T. F. King-smill, father of the president of Kingsmill's, Limited, opened a store adjacent to the present block.

Shutters at Night.
The building was a single front store, 18 feet by 100 feet deep, with the old-fashioned window shutters that were carefully put up at night
and removed in the morning.

In 1876, the business had reached such proportions that the adjoining premises were rented. Five years later, the nucleus of the store was purchased on the present site. The building was occupied by Cowan and Wright.

"This building was immediately extended through to Carling street. It was the first Dundas street drygoods store to reach such proportions," says Mr. Kingsmill.
"In the early days, no ready-to-wear, knitted goods or underwear was sold. Women bought the material and did the rest with a sewing machine. They made the under and outer garments for the family."

Home-Made Pants.
For men's wear, cloths and tweeds
were sold by the yard. Kingsmill's established the first free cutting service in town. Men could buy a length of cloth for apair of pants. The cutter would take his shears and cut out the trousers. The man would take home the pieces and his wife would complete the job.

In 1880 the business demanded further space and the premises on north Carling street were purchased. In the early '90's, the lot east of the original site was bought and Kingsmill's erected the first double front
drygoods store in the city.
The place was destroyed by fire
on No. 3, 1911, along with the stocks and stores of several other merchants. It was immediately rebuilt and opened again in 1912.

In 1915, the founder of the business died and the stores passed into the present owner's hands. The premises west of the main store remained idle after the conflagration and were not rebuilt until after the war.

Store Enlarged.
At the close of the war property,
making five lots in all, was bought.
A large furniture store was established and other departments were enlarged.
In 1922 the present firm of Kingsmill's, Limited, absorbed the original business which is composed entirely of members of the family. The president is T. F. Kingsmill, his two sons, T. F. Kingsmill, Jun., and G. F.
Kingsmill being the active managers.
Since 1871, the firm has imported directly from Europe, and two buying trips abroad have been made each year. During the lifetime of the business, the firm has had the plea-

LOSS IS $30,000 IN MONTH'S FIRES

Thirty Alarms Received During
May—Average of Other Years.

Twenty-two fires, occurring in London during the past month, caused a loss of about $30,000, according to the monthly report of the local fire department. The largest damage was suffered at the Gootson storehouse fire when buildings and contents, valued at $22,000 were destroyed.
Thirty alarms were received, seven of which were for chimney fires and one an emergency call for the pulmotor. The city fire loss for May is on an average with the same month of other years, Chief Attkin said today.

COUNTY FARMERS SAVE $1,500 IN LOAN INTEREST

Government Reduces Rates On Money Borrowed in Middlesex.

Middlesex farmers who have received loans from the Ontario government will save some $1,500 by the government's action in reducing interest rates from 6 to 5 1/2 per cent,
agriculturists stated this morning.

Middlesex county has approximately one-third of the total farm loans, it was pointed out, and this would make a saving of the above amount.

CANADA TO CLAIM NORTH POLE AREA

Hon. Charles Stewart Declares
Dominion's Right To Be Established at Once.

Ottawa, June 1.—Notice was served in the House of Commons tonight that Canada claims sovereignty over all lands lying north of the mainland of the Dominion, "right up to the North Pole." It was voiced by Hon.
Charles Stewart minister of the interior, during the discussion which preceded final adoption of an amendment to the Northwest Territories Act, under which all foreigners entering the hinterland will be required to take out a Federal license.
"We are asking for this amendment
in order that we may have authority to notify parties going into the country that they must obtain a permit, thereby asserting our ownership over the whole Northern archipelago."

said the minister. "We are getting after men like MacMillan and Dr.
Amundsen, men who are going in presumably for exploration purposes, but possibly there may arise a question as to sovereignty over some land they may discover in the northern portion of Canada, and we claim all that portion."

Pole?" asked J. L. Brown (Progressive, Lisgar).

replied the minister, who in answer-

ment had expressed itself to the same effect.

CANADIANS FAIL TO SEE MENACE

Manufacturing Association Is Told of Country's Apathy
To Fires.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, June 1.—Characterizing the convention as Canada's industrial parliament, charged with the duty of looking after the best interests of 2,500,000 Canadians dependent directly and indirectly on the welfare of Canada's manufacturing industries, Col. Arthur P. Hatch, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' association, opened the 54th annual convention of that body here at noon today. Seated with him at the head table in the luncheon room were officers of the association representing the different sections of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, while the hall was well-filled with delegates.

The official welcome to Hamilton was voiced by Mayor Juttar, after which T. A. Russell, Toronto, who was the first secretary following the reorganization in 1900, delighted the members with personal reminiscences of men and events in the early days of the association's history.

Col. Hatch's presidential address, which was followed with the closest interest, dealt largely with the tariff question, and while discussion of this subject is officially reserved until the tariff committee introduces its report on Thursday morning, most speakers during the afternoon session introduced references to this or that aspect of it.

Report Fire Losses.

The report of the insurance committee, presented by George Bigden, Toronto, showing as it did the appalling extent of Canada's fire loss, was vigorously supported by W. H. Shanley, Toronto, who censured the apathy of the Canadian people toward this drain on national resources. "If $10,000,000 worth of cattle were being lost annually, the people would take action quickly enough," he declared, "but here we are allowing a waste of $45,000,000 a year, with every prospect that it will be increased, and yet we hardly blink an eye. We seem to take it for granted that this condition must exist, and so we take little or no action."

Canada Needs Courage.
"What is keeping Canada back is not a lack of intelligence but a lack of courage," was the comment of Sam Harris, Toronto, in a general discussion following the adoption of the insurance report. He believed Canada was not forceful enough in the recognition of its possibilities, allowing the United States to take so much of its raw materials and Canada then buying back the finished goods to stop these exports and sell its goods. "If Canada only had the backbone in fabricated form he was convinced that abundant prosperity would follow."

Discoverer of Marquis Wheat

He gave to Canada a variety of wheat which has increased the wealth of the country by millions. He talks of his discovery when pressed with questions, but gives him a few seconds' recess and he begins to talk trees—the Forest City's trees.

Dr. Charles Saunders, L.D., father of the world-famous Marquis wheat, left London for Toronto yesterday afternoon after a visit with his sister, Miss Annie L. Saunders. An hour or so before he left Dr. Saunders sat by the window and again marvelled at the luxuriance of the picture that he saw.

Government Not Providing Suite

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 1.—A special suite of rooms is not being provided in Chateau Laurier hotel in Ottawa for Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railways. In answer to a series of questions in the House of Commons by John Hubbs, member for Prince Edward, the minister of railways stated that such a suite was not being fitted up for Sir Henry.

travels have taken him over a large part of the American continent and to Europe, was indeed sincere when he said that, for sheer green beauty London is without peer in the cities he has visited. In the midst of his admiration for the view outside his window he broke off to praise the foresight of the pioneers who paused now and then in the seemingly thankless task of opening the wilderness to plant saplings along the paths which are the sidewalks of 1925.

"Beautiful city," and Dr. Saunders took his gaze rather reluctantly from the bright mass of Victoria Park to answer some questions about himself. Next to London's trees, the University of Western Ontario shares Dr. Saunders' enthusiasm for this district. The convocation was one of the chief reasons of his latest visit to London.

Dr. Saunders holds the honorary degree of doctor of law from Western, and on Friday the University of Toronto will confer the doctor of science degree on the wheat wizard. This award has been pending for three years. Dr. Saunders being unable to attend any of the previous convocations. A few weeks ago he received the first Flavelle medal to be awarded by the Royal Society of Canada.

Dr. Saunders is a brother of W.

E. Saunders of this city, who also has a national reputation as a naturalist.

PERTH STORM CAUSES DAMAGE OF OVER $5,000

Canadian Press Despatch.
Stratford, June 1.—District farmers suffered serious losses during a short but severe electrical storm which raged in this vicinity late yesterday afternoon. A loss estimated at about $5,000 was caused by lightning on the William Meadows farm on the 11th concession of Mornington township. The barn was struck and completely destroyed.

UNION MOTHERS ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. Charles Carter Is Unanimously Elected President of Club.

Mrs. Charles Turner was last night unanimously elected president of the Union Mothers' club at the twentieth annual meeting, held in the technical school. Other officers are: First vice-president, Mrs. A. Drew; second vice-president, Mrs. J. F. Tennant; third vice-president, Mrs. W. Lowe; recording secretary, Mrs. H. A. Winnett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James McNiven; treasurer, Mrs. R. Day (re-elected); press secretary, Mrs. A. R. Kennedy; pianist, Mrs. F. Smith (re-elected); assistant pianist, Mrs. E. Tremee.

A resolution was unanimously passed protesting against the disregard of the will of the people shown by the Ferguson government in the sale of 4.4 beer. It called upon all members to refrain from patronizing grocers handling the beer. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to each of the affiliated clubs and to the provincial secretary.

About Rectory School.
S. F. Lawason, president of the board of education, presided over the meeting, at which the membership is now 1,800, an increase of 375 during the past year. Mrs. W. A. Tanner and the members of her executive were heartily commended for their work during the past year. Mrs. Charles Turner, the new president, gave a brief address. The retiring secretary, Mrs. Alfred Drew, presented a comprehensive report of the year's work.

Beer Resolution.
During the evening delightful vocal numbers were given by Miss Lancaster and Miss Kuntz. Short reports were presented by Mrs. W. A. Tanner, social service representative, and by Mrs. Harry White, child welfare convener. In her report Mrs. Tanner referred to the curfew law and appealed to the mothers to use their influence to have it carried out more strictly. The social service council report, she said, showed many children on the streets after 9 o'clock.

The resolution regarding the sale of 4.4 per cent beer read as follows: "Whereas the London Mothers' club, a federation of 24 school clubs, with a membership of 1,800, have taken a decided stand in upholding the O. T. A., and whereas the vote of the province has been ignored, and strong beer allowed to be sold not only in hotels but in grocery stores and restaurants, and whereas we consider this action a menace to the youth of our city and province and a detriment to social progress, be it therefore resolved that we, the members of the aforementioned federation, shall endeavor to give our trade and patronage to those merchants and others who do not sell or deal in strong beer."

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads
There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads: that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder and the water dissolve the blackheads right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Advt.

Isn't It Queer That We Don't Investigate Our Matrimonial Partners' Pasts.

Did you ever think how many queer things there are about marriage? To begin with, isn't it queer that we permit boys and girls to get married at an age at which they are not permitted to make any other binding contract? The law appoints guardians to look after the property of minors, and prevent them from squandering it or being cheated out of it by sharpers, but there is no legal safeguard to save foolish girls and boys from throwing away their life's happiness on an ill-advised marriage.

At a time of life when we consider a lad's judgment too immature for him to make a thousand-dollar investment, we consider that he is worldly wise enough to pick out a life mate. At an age when we think a girl's taste too unformed and too hectic to select her own clothes, we let her choose a husband.

Isn't the casual attitude we take toward matrimony queer? Marriage is the most important act in our lives, the thing that not only makes or mars us, but that affects thousands of people yet to be. Compared with marriage, being born is a mere episode in our careers, and dying a trivial incident. Yet there is no other thing that we do to which we give as little intelligent, serious thought.

If we were going into a business partnership with a man in which we were going to invest our entire fortune, we would think a long time before we committed ourselves. We would consider the proposition from every angle. We would look into its weak spots and try to form an honest opinion of its chances of success. And we would investigate the past record of the man we were proposing to go into business with, and find out everything about him.

We would consider what sort of a life he had led, how honest and honorable he was, how much he was to be trusted, and what sort of a disposition he had, whether he was pleasant to get along with or not. Yet the worst harm that our business partner could do us would be to cheat us out of our money. He couldn't break our hearts and make our lives miserable. If we didn't like him, we could dissolve the partnership without any trouble or disgrace.

But nine times out of ten those who enter into the marriage contract, which is the most binding contract of all, do not take the trouble to make even the slightest investigation about the one with whom he or she is making a life partnership. Every day we read of people who discover that they are married to bigamists. Every day some husband stumbles into his wife's bedroom closet, and finds that the woman that he believed pure and innocent has a dark and sordid past. Every day some agonized mother looks at her deformed or idiotic child, and sees that the sins of the father have been visited on her child.

The man was handsome, and he danced well, and he had a dandy sport model car. The girl was pretty, and she had a cute trick of looking up through her lashes, or a baby stare, so they got married without bothering to find out a single thing about the kind of life each had led before they met.

They wouldn't have bought a house without having had an expert see that its title was clear and that there was no mortgage on it, but they will marry without finding out what sort of encumbrances are on the lives of their husbands and wives. They wouldn't buy a horse or a dog without looking into its pedigree and finding out what sort of stock it comes from, and whether it is sound in wind and limb, but they will pass diseased blood on to their children with no thought of the sort of heredity with which they are cursing them.

Isn't it queer that men and women fail to consider the dispositions of those they marry? Yet that is the thing that people have to live with, and what makes marriage a success or a failure.

It isn't high and noble principles; it isn't truth and honor and honesty that makes or mars a man's or woman's happiness in marriage. It is the temper of the husband and wife. A man may be a model of all the virtues, and yet if he is stingy and grouchy and gloomy, his wife will be miserable with him. A woman may be as chaste as Caesar's wife, yet if she nags, her husband will rue the day he led her to the altar.

The White Robin Turns Out To Be the Cleverest One of the Bunch

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The White Robin, whom every-body thought queer simply because his coat was white, was out in the Great Wood. No longer did he have his father, Welcome Robin, and his mother to look after him. The fact is, Welcome and Mrs. Robin were already busy preparing for another family. It didn't take the young White Robin long to understand that he wasn't wanted about by his brothers and sisters or by any of the feathered neighbors. They would have nothing to do with him, and if he chanced to meet any of them they would stare at him and then hurry to get away from him. If he tried to follow they would drive him away.

So you see, that white coat handi-capped him. To be handicapped, you know, is to have things made harder for you. Now that young robin was handicapped because that white coat made it very difficult for him to hide. This meant that his enemies could see him easily and from a great distance. It was because of this that his feathered neighbors would have nothing to do with him.

At first the young Robin thought nothing about it, but he went about in the Great Wood he soon discovered that he had many more narrow escapes than any of the others. One day he sat thinking about it.

"It is all because of this white coat of mine," said the young Robin, talk-ing to himself. "Just why I was given a white coat I don't know, but I can't change it, so there is nothing for me to do but make the best of it. It is plain to me that other Robins and other birds can hide a great deal easier than I can. More than that, they are not so easily seen when they are not hiding. I cannot move with-out being seen. That means that if I am to live as long as other Robins I must be a little bit smarter than others. I must keep my wits work-ing all the time. I won't do for me to ever forget that I am different from other birds and that I must be on the watch every second. I must even take extra care in finding a roost for the night. This white coat of mine must show up in the dark, and it would be easy for Hooty the Owl to find me."

So young Robin soon became the smartest Robin in the neighborhood. It came about that he seldom had a narrow escape, because he seldom gave his enemies a chance. He

CLEVER ARTISTS THRILL AUDIENCE

Mildred Delma and Mildred Dougherty Are Heard in Brilliant Recital.

A brilliant program of song and instrumental numbers was presented in the Masonic Temple last evening, when Miss Mildred Delma and Miss Mildred Dougherty delighted an ap-preciative audience.

Miss Delma, a gifted soprano, has a lovely voice, which has been likened in tone to that of a rare old violin, and this has been united with re-markable dramatic talent and a vivid personality, and the three com-bined thrilled those who heard her last evening.

Her splendid qualities have been guided by high artistic ideals and sincerity of purpose and they have brought her art to a plane of brilli-ance among the younger singers. Her lovely lyric-soprano voice did not fail to arouse the greatest enthusi-asm among those who listened to her last evening.

Her songs last night particularly suited her delightful individuality and the richness of her voice, which has a remarkable range. The songs that required action were very suited to her and her beautiful costumes added much to the interest of the evening.

She sang an aria from "Tosca," which brought out the flexibility of her voice and its warmth in quality. She sang four groups of songs, and appeared in Chinese, Dutch and Spanish costumes of rare beauty.

Accompanying Miss Delma is Miss Mildred Dougherty, one of the most accomplished pianists of the younger generation. Her technique was ex-cellent, and together with her nat-ural ability, it has placed her among the leading soloists of the day.

She was very sympathetic in her accompaniment to Miss Delma's songs and her playing lent much to their interpretation. However, her solo work was the greatest appeal, and in her own field her work, not only through its execution, but be-cause of her rare judgment in select-ing her numbers. Miss Dougherty crept into the hearts of those present on the chords of Chopin, Beethoven, Brahms and Bach.

With quick fingering she gave many of her works, yet again her slow movement of a rare selection was equally brilliant. She also gave modern selections of French and Rus-sian composers. She gave four groups of numbers, and all were ex-cellenly received by her listeners.

These two artists are presenting another program this evening, and it will be a varied one of last night's works. Tonight several of the old favorites will be introduced, and Miss Delma is singing "The Last Rose of Summer."

DR. HALE IS HEAD OF DRAMA LEAGUE

One-Act Comedy Presented at Annual Meeting in Warner Hall.

At the annual meeting of the London drama league, held last evening in Warner hall, Dr. George Hale was appointed to the presidency for the ensuing year, succeeding Col. P. B. Ware. He will be supported by a very able executive, which includes Arthur Brickenden as vice-president; Miss Ruth White, secretary; Miss A. Bartram, assistant secretary; T. Walker, treasurer; A. D. Jordan, Prof. John Stevens, Regina, Parnon and Mrs. E. Nichols, as the executive and Kenneth Green as convener of the production committee. The honorary president is George McCormick, and the vice-presidents are A. D. Jordan and Col. F. B. Ware. Dr. Arnott presented the state of the nominating committee.

The drama league, it was reported, had not reached its objective of 1,500 members, and this was somewhat of a disappointment, as the production during the past year had been exceptionally good. Miss McDermott, who favored the drama league with a group of songs three years ago, gave a group of numbers last evening, greatly delighting those present. The deep, rich sweetness of her voice, her selection of the numbers and her selections were well received. She was accompanied by Mrs. S. C. Cooke. Dr. Arnott, who presided, thanked the retiring president, Col. Ware, expressing the appreciation of the drama league for his services. Miss Ruth White and Col. F. B. Ware, both of whom were re-elected to office, received bouquets of roses for their untiring efforts.

TIRED OUT ALL THE TIME Nerves Gave Little Rest

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Harrowsmith, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would take weak, fainting spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, day or night. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to publish this good medicine. I lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will serve to help others." — MRS. HARVEY MILLIGAN, R. R. No. 2, Harrowsmith, Ontario.

Figures For Registration Area Are 155,741—Over Half Are Males.

DEATH RATE FALLS

Increase in Population 90,059—Marriages Total 47,396.

The total number of living births in the registration area of the dominion during 1924 was 155,741, according to a report issued by the bureau of statistics this morning. The figures are lower than those of the two previous years.

For every 1,000 living births reported the proportion of males to females was 512 to 488. The birth rate per 1,000 population in 1924 was 23.1; in 1923 it was 23.7; in 1922 it was 25.1.

The registration area of Canada is confined to Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Population Increase.

The net increase in the population of Canada in the registration area for 1924 through natural causes was 90,059, compared with 84,834 in 1923. The increase was due to a falling off in the death rate from 10.5 to 9.8 per 1,000 population.

During the year there were 152,927 living single births. There were 1,781 twins, where both were born alive. There were 14 cases reported where triplets were born alive.

The decrease in the absolute number of births in 1923 was more in evidence in 1924, when both the total number of deaths and the death rate per 1,000 living births showed a gratifying falling off.

Maternal deaths for the year were 393, being at the rate of 6 per thousand living births, which is the highest rate reported since 1921. Of the total number of deaths due to maternity 430, or nearly 46 per cent, were between the ages of 30 and 39, while 51 represented the deaths of mothers under 30 years of age.

Deaths Total 65,682. There were 65,682 deaths from all causes during the year. The death rate was about 9.8, the lowest since 1921. Cancer caused 3.4 per cent, tuberculosis 7 per cent, diseases of the arteries 5.6, heart trouble 10.9. There was a slight increase in the deaths from tuberculosis.

In 1924 there were reported in the registration area 47,396 marriages, compared with 49,056 marriages in 1923, and 47,811 marriages in 1922. In 1924 the marriage rate per 1,000 population was 7.4, compared with 7.4 in 1923, and 7.3 in 1922. The marriage rate in 1921 was 8, the highest recorded in the last four years, according to a report issued by the dominion bureau of statistics today.

HURON COLLEGE SCENE OF W. A. CONFERENCE

Anglican Women Are Holding Week of Study—Mrs. Fry To Speak.

The Huron Diocesan W. A. marked the opening of their second annual convention at Huron College, where those attending met in the chapel at twilight for evensong and a devotional hour.

The W. A. conference was successfully inaugurated last year. Its program is of interest. Each evening Rev. L. G. Clarke will conduct the devotional period in the Huron College chapel. The morning programs will include, from 10 to 11, Bible study on the Book of Genesis taken by Rev. Dr. C. C. Waller, of Huron College. From 11:30 to 12:30, Miss Dalton of Toronto, is conducting daily a mission study class on the interesting new study book "The Clash of Color."

Luncheon is being served each day at this college. The afternoon program are varied. Today the diocesan W. A. executive are giving a tea, also at the college, to which all W. A. members are invited. Tomorrow afternoon an outing has been arranged for the delegates only, who will go to Miss Kingston's home on the Sarnia road, and on Thursday afternoon an open mission meeting will be held, with Mrs. Fry as the speaker.

The conference is lasting until Friday.

START FIELD CROP CENSUS THIS WEEK

Secretary Wood of Chamber of Commerce Informed of Survey.

The annual census of field crops and live stock in Canada for 1925 will be made this month by the Dominion bureau of statistics at Ottawa, according to an announcement received at the London chamber of commerce headquarters yesterday.

These statistics are collected jointly by the dominion and provincial governments by means of cardboard schedules issued to farmers through the rural school teachers and children. In British Columbia they are mailed direct to the farmer.

These schedules call for the acreage sown this year to the principal field crops and for the numbers of farm animals alive on the farm in mid-June. The data thus collected form the basis of the annual statistics of acreage and yield.

"It is very important for all classes in Canada that correct statistics of agricultural production should be published," points out W. H. Wood, managing secretary of the local chamber of commerce, "but it is especially so for the farmers themselves. Any farmer who has not received the blank cardboard schedule through the rural school of his district or otherwise, should make immediate application for the same, either to the teacher of the public school section in which he resides, to the provincial department of agriculture at Toronto, or to the dominion statistician at Ottawa."

COUNTY "DRYS" READY FOR POND MILLS RALLY

All Arrangements Completed For Convention Tomorrow Afternoon.

The county prohibition forces have completed arrangements for their Pond Mills rally tomorrow afternoon. This grove has been the scene of some of the most notable political gatherings of the district, and local history goes back to tell that it was even at one time a camping ground for Indians.

Instead of Indian music, the stirring melodies of the Scottish pipes will sound forth at the rally. W. H. Barnum, K.C., of Aymer, will be one of the speakers; another is to be Mr. Corbuck of West York, and an added attraction is the presence of Albert Greenlaw, the singer who has often appeared in this district and in the city.

The committee hopes to have the meeting start at 2:30.

PLAN BIG TATTOO TO AID BANDSTAND

Lions Club Seeking Funds For Early Erection of Victoria Park Structure.

In an effort to secure funds for an early start on the proposed new $15,000 bandstand for Victoria park, members of the London Lions club are considering plans for a big military tattoo to be held the latter part of this month.

Preparation are still in the tentative stage, but if plans mature, the event will be one of more than usual interest and should go a long way toward initiating the actual erection of the handsome bandstand, plans of which have already been selected.

Co-operation of Bands.

The idea upon which members of the club are now working calls for the co-operation of all the bands of the city, as well as the military authorities, and in view of the fact that the bands themselves will be greatly benefited by the provision of an adequate and up-to-date stand, there is no doubt that such co-operation will be willingly forthcoming. In fact, several have already been interviewed and have promised help. The military authorities are well understood to view the proposal with favor.

Two locations for the staging of the tattoo are under consideration, Queen's park and Tecumseh park. If the latter is selected a possible feature of the tattoo will be a parade of the downtown section by the bands of the city, together with military units and other organizations taking part. These may include the public school cadets, and the gymnastic team of the La Salle separate school.

Confident of Support.

The proposal is to charge a small admission fee to the tattoo. It is believed that the event will attract a large number of citizens, and result in the realization of a substantial sum towards the cost of the new bandstand. The club already has in hand certain funds for this purpose, and the members are not at all dismayed at the size of the proposition they have chosen to put over. They believe it is a very desirable project for London and are confident of the enthusiastic support of the citizens generally.

TURN DOWN MURDOCK AS MINE INTERMEDIARY

Canadian Press Despatch. Glace Bay, N. S., June 1.—The British Empire Steel Corporation has refused to be a party to the proposal that the minister of labor, Hon. James Murdock, act as intermediary in the miners' wage dispute, in district No. 26, United Mine Workers, Vice-President McCullagh stated this afternoon. The proposal was made by the mine workers' district executive and was accepted by the minister, but was rejected by the arrangement proving satisfactory to both parties to the dispute.

CASE OF CHINESE BOY MUST TAKE ITS COURSE

Canadian Press Despatch. Vancouver, B.C., June 2.—The case of Wong Foon Sing, Chinese house-boy, charged with the murder of Janet Smith on July 26 last, will have to take its course—that no change of venue for trial is likely and that there will not be any speeding up of the case by bringing it before a special court of assizes, was the statement made here yesterday by Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney-general. Wong Foon was recently sent up for trial and will appear at the fall assize.

Toronto's Flag Incident.

H. Rider of Cleveland complained to a police inspector in Toronto that a traffic officer in that city had pulled an American flag off his car and tossed it into the lap of one of the occupants. The gentleman from Cleveland felt so disturbed about it that he threatened to go to the U.S. consul and lodge another complaint.

It must be a queer patriotic germ that stings many of the U.S. tourists into action before they leave home. A fairly wide observation in a number of American cities fails to recall that cars there, when they are travelling around in their native air, carry a profuse decoration of flags, but when they turn the rudder of the ship toward this land the flag business becomes as essential as a jack and spare tire. The license plate on the car will tell Canadians where it's from, but that is not sufficient. There must be a fluttering of the national emblem at the mast-head as the driver makes mileage over the good roads provided by the Canadian people.

Many of the visitors go half-way. They get a little British flag and it waves alongside the Stars and Stripes. That seems to modify the display to about the right degree—it announces that the occupants of the car are from United States. Fine, glad to see them, and it is also an acknowledgement on their part that they recognize that they have crossed over into another land that has a flag too.

The average Canadian going on a trip to United States would not dress his car up in flags of this country, at least we have not noticed many of them so decked. If they felt moved to do so we are quite certain that once across the line they would have the courtesy, if they still desired to fly flags, to see to it that an American emblem was given a place in the setting.

The traffic officer in Toronto probably was a little weary of directing cars that had nothing but a U.S. flag. He had no idea of starting an international episode. His method of rebuke may not have been the most diplomatic move that could be imagined, but he's not much to be blamed if his patriotic fervor did bubble up a trifle past the control point.

There are no hard and fast rules about the carrying of flags on cars, but it's a plain fact that it would be more courteous for U.S. visitors, if they must have flags at all, to use the emblems of both countries while over here or else eliminate the flag business on cars entirely. They would find that their mileage on a gallon of gas would be just as satisfactory without the bunting.

Where Criticism Is Called Good.

The Pulitzer prize for the best cartoon published in any newspaper in United States during 1924 has been awarded to Rollin Kerby of the New York World. The subject of the cartoon is Uncle Sam, Russia and Mexico depicted as three tramp nations, cooking a kettle dinner over a roadside fire, and reading a paper with the news "48 nations agree upon league peace pact."

There is something fearless in holding such a cartoon up as the best piece of work in 1924. The little politician would at once say "It's a slam at my country," and he would be telling the truth. Yet the U.S. judges considered that picture that classed United States, Russia and Mexico as the parties refusing to enter the world court as the best piece of 1924 cartooning. It was a wholesome state of mind that could swallow such candid criticism of national policy and still call it good.

The Conservative Leadership.

An Ottawa story mentions Hon. Harry Cockshutt of Brantford, now nearing the close of his term as lieutenant-governor of Ontario, as the coming leader of the Conservative party in the federal field, and as political stories go, this one seems to have the makings of a fairly plausible bit of speculation. There have been rumors for some time that Hon. Arthur Meighen would go back to the legal field. It is recognized by his opponents that he is an able critic and well able to hold his own in debate, but farther than that he does not go. He has failed to rouse his party to enthusiasm over his proposals, and he is not possessed of those peculiar qualities that make personal friends and admirers in large numbers.

Added to that is the well-known circumstance that there is a section of the Conservative party, headed by the Hon. Bob Rogers school, that would like nothing better than an opportunity to get Mr. Meighen out of office. In saying that one is not revealing any family secret, because it is a matter of common knowledge.

The move that sought to boost Hon. G. Howard Ferguson for federal honors, even for the leadership of the party, has fallen decidedly flat, so flat that it could not possibly be resurrected. He is not looked upon at Ottawa as the strong man from Ontario. His beer experiment has not helped him in Ottawa either. From a purely local view Ottawa has found that his drink is poor stuff compared to what is sold across the river, and many of those who spent money fitting up premises to handle the trade find they are driving an also-ran. If anything were needed to end the Ferguson boom in Ottawa his 4.4 has provided the tool.

Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt was appointed in 1921, and it is not at all likely that his term will be extended. He has made good use of his office and has turned it from what might very easily have been a rubber stamp into a center of influence and use. At the various functions he has attended he has spoken with good sense, and has impressed people with his sincerity and sound judgment.

It is this chain of circumstances that makes Mr. Cockshutt's visit to Ottawa rather significant, and it is also reported that he was accorded a very cordial welcome in many of the Conservative lodgings at the capital. It would cause no surprise were this change to take place. Conservatives admit that Hon. Arthur Meighen has given his full measure of service, but they are anxious to secure a leader who possesses qualities with which Mr. Meighen has not been endowed, and which his temperament makes it impossible for him to acquire.

Have Not Learned the Lesson.

Drivers of cars have not yet learned to go safely. The week-end was a good chance to see if progress were being made toward the elimination of accidents, because there were more cars on the road than at any previous time this year. There were too many accidents. A representative list from various causes is shown in the following:

Near Chatham two cars were racing abreast on the highway. They crashed into a car going in the opposite direction, although it crowded over as far as it could to the right side of the road. Five were badly hurt in the accident, and one arrest has been made for reckless driving while under the influence of liquor.

At Paris loose gravel threw a car into the ditch. Near St. Thomas one car forced another off the side of the road; a woman and three children were injured. The other car sped away. At Dixie a car was struck by a freight—the driver badly hurt, and his two companions got out and ran away. A woman was walking on a sidewalk in Toronto when she was struck by a car that got out of control; three other pedestrians were knocked down at different places. Seven were hurt when a driver turned out on a radial track to try and get ahead of the heavy traffic north of Toronto. A radial car happened to be using the track at the same time.

The car that the racers dashed into and the one that was forced into the ditch go in a class by themselves. They were victims of the nonsense of other drivers. Running into loose gravel so that it will throw a car to the ditch is a road hazard that a driver must be prepared to meet, and he should be able to deal with it. The practice is not an ideal one, but it is done on many roads and drivers know of the danger. The other cases of crossing accidents mean that there was not enough care.

The public mind classes together those who raced abreast on the road near Chatham and the driver of the car that sped away after forcing another into the ditch near St. Thomas. They represent the most dangerous type of driver, the one who has a poor appreciation of his own safety and little regard for the safety of others. In such cases the law should step in for all it is worth. The licenses should be taken away, the cars sold to pay for damages done and the driver refused the use of the roads in future.

The Advertiser has referred to this same matter before, and it is necessary to keep on repeating the warning that there is not enough care in the driving of cars. With few exceptions the roads around Ontario are wide enough to readily accommodate two cars, and with a fair amount of common sense and road courtesy accidents could be reduced to the minimum.

Drivers are given to complaining about traffic and speed laws, yet the strange part is that they fail to see they are piling up reasons for more laws and more officers on the road to enforce them.

Note and Comment.

Kincardine Review-Reporter: In spite of the fact that four by four beer can now be had a lot of people are still picking dandelions.

New York surgeons were ready to operate on a man, when he jumped out of the window and escaped. They should have their operating room on the tenth floor.

Detroit man paid his wedding fee to the person with a bogus check, and the wife seeks divorce. The minister has a worthless check and the woman the same kind of a husband.

The much-talked-of investigation into the price of gas has not amounted to much. The only results so far have been a boost in price by the companies and another by the provincial government.

A robin has built its nest in a rural mail box near Harriston. Rather a wise bird, too, for each day it can get a look at the paper to see how the strawberry crop is coming and where any new variety of worm is operating.

The cheeseparer is busy again at New York, and has hung out his shingle stating there was a discount of 1.32 of one per cent on Canadian money. For fear he make a deeper cut we'd better keep our dollar at home where it won't get hurt.

It has remained for the people of Manor Park to be the first in, or almost in, London to raise a memorial to those from its constituency who fell in the great war. London has discussed the matter, looked at sites and considered various plans, yet it has remained for the people of Manor Park, just on the edge of the city, to go ahead and bring to completion a worthy tribute to its war heroes. There is something in this for Londoners to think about.

Police Magistrate Graydon stays on the bench in London even after his request for an increase in salary has been refused. London has a good magistrate. Mr. Graydon seems to possess enough common sense to make his rulings fair and reasonable. It has never been charged that outside influences counted in his decisions. It is doubtful if there is a court where the day-to-day decisions are given with more uniform fairness than that over which Magistrate Graydon presides in London.

It's Dangerous

Three months gone by I prophesied no blazin' sun be overhead, and now the folks are makin' me to swallow down the words I said.

Three months gone past I read at length what scientific men had said, I laid much stock in all their views and stored much wisdom in my head. For they had gazed upon the sun and photographed the spots therein, and said these spots would keep the heat from peltin' on my tender skin.

Another set had been up north, they'd made the trip there once or twice, and all they saw when roamin' round was just more fields of floatin' ice. Unto the scientific mind that meant just one thing to them all, they couldn't get that ice to move, we'd have no summer here at all.

In days of weakness I admit I wrote about these strange reviews, and passed the warnin' on to them who should be readin' up the news.

I warn'd 'em of these odd events, of spots and dimples on the sun, and how the days of dreadful times was nothin' more than just begun. How in the leafy month of June the bride would shiver in her boots, and children on the snow would play and slide upon the chute-the-chutes.

And old Tim Prune he read those words, he runs a tidy little store, and them who come to deal with him is welcomed when they cross the door.

So Tim he bought no summer socks, no straws to deck the people's head, he stocked his shelf with woolen hose and caps with earflaps on instead. He reckoned what I said was true and trade would come his way right soon, when folks would shiver on the street when come the frosted days of June.

But now they pass Tim's store and smile and ask him if he's gone insane, they're buyin' cheescloth garments now to wrap in layers on their frame. They scoff at Tim and what he has, they hee-haw at his winter stock, for Tim has no straw hats for sale, nor yet a porous summer sock.

When Tim draws near to me just now I crawl upon the attic roof, a-knowin' how he seeks for me to swing an ugly-lookin' hoop. No more he reckons me as wise, or knowin' more than I can tell, he says they should have locked me up and placed me in a padded cell.

So next time I have views like them no pen I'll wield the world to tell, and if I have to speak at all I'll go and holler down the well.—ARK.

ADVERTISER CASHES IN.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

WHEN the automobile manufacturing business of the late Dodge Brothers was sold recently the single item of "goodwill"—the reputation of the house—brought $56,000,000 over the gross price of the plant and all other assets.

How was this goodwill created? Chiefly by advertising. Judicious advertising, backed by a satisfying product, pays for itself many times over in profits on increased sales, and at the same time builds up an additional asset of goodwill that is so definite and tangible it is worth big money. In the case of the Dodge company it was worth fifty-six million dollars in cold cash! Just one more demonstration that money spent for advertising is the best investment that the producer of a needed article can possibly make.

THOSE EARLY DAYS.

From the Kincardine Review.

WESLEY Methodist church, Toronto, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its founding. One of the speakers at the banquet was Dr. Thomas Cullen, described in the newspapers as an eminent surgeon of Johns Hopkins, a son of the late Rev. John Cullen, at one time pastor of Wesley church. Dr. Cullen, among other things, said that his father's salary in his first charge at Kincardine was $200. "And they still owe $158 of that," he added amid laughter. Clergymen in those days did have a hard time, but there is a case on record where one of them refused an increase. His salary was $400, and they offered to increase it to $600, but he declined. Said he had enough trouble collecting the $400.

TACT IN ALL THINGS.

TWO members of the Gatineau Fish and Game club were discussing the eloquence of a member of the Magnassippi club.

"Yes," said one, "I like to hear him talk; but he strongly reminds me of an old pal of mine—a fisherman. This chap was once relating a tremendous struggle he had with a monster salmon, when one of the listeners interrupted:

"I notice, my friend, that in telling about that monster fish you caught you vary the weight and size for different listeners."

"That's quite correct," admitted my friend, "I make a point never to tell a man more than I think he'll believe."

Trail Blazers.

No person looks or laughs at a man with a straw hat today. Just a week or ten days ago it was different. The first half-dozen were looked upon, smiled at and folks in general had their little joke.

Perhaps it's courage that makes a man don his straw hat ahead of the crowd, and perhaps it's a lack of courage that causes the mob to squint around to see if the parade is really on before putting on the regalia.

Trail blazers with straw hats only go to show that there's a crowd ready to follow. In a broader sense it explains why here and there a man arises with a new idea, goes ahead and makes a success of it, while the rest of us sit back and wonder how it is that he has all the luck.

Foreign Office and Dominions

There Are Barriers in the Way of Dominions Acting Separately, But They Can Use the British Office.

By HENRY SOMERVILLE.

LONDON—The way is open for the dominions to arrange for their own separate diplomatic service instead of utilizing that of Great Britain. Even if this way were taken it would not close the British service to dominion candidates. London is of the opinion that the dominions would not be serving their own best interests by separate diplomatic representation. If the question of a Canadian ambassador at Washington is mentioned there is a quiet reminder that a Canadian representative at Washington would not be an ambassador. A dominion cannot have a diplomatic representative of the same rank as the representative of a great power. The status in the diplomatic corps of representatives of the dominions would depend on the size of their population.

Just as the writing of this series of articles on the foreign office is being concluded comes the news of the death of Sir Eyre Crowe, the permanent under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, and therefore the permanent head of the department. Sir Eyre Crowe was almost a personification of the spirit of the great department which he administered. He came of a diplomatic family, for his father was consul-general at Leipzig, where Sir Eyre Crowe was born. His mother and his wife were both Germans. During the war there were many attacks against him on commissioners have constitutional access only to the colonial office.

Depends on the Man.

This second objection to high commissioners has no substance so far as the foreign office is concerned. Access will be freely given to any high commissioner who desires it. No questions of constitutional status or procedure need arise. The foreign office is indifferent whether a dominion representative be called commissioner, minister or anything else. If he is the right sort of man and really wishes to keep intelligently in touch with foreign affairs there is nothing that the office will refuse him. He will be shown the most secret documents and admitted to the most confidential discussions.

Just as the writing of this series of articles on the foreign office is being concluded comes the news of the death of Sir Eyre Crowe, the permanent under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, and therefore the permanent head of the department. Sir Eyre Crowe was almost a personification of the spirit of the great department which he administered. He came of a diplomatic family, for his father was consul-general at Leipzig, where Sir Eyre Crowe was born. His mother and his wife were both Germans. During the war there were many attacks against him on the score. They were ignorant attacks, for Crowe was personally very hostile to Germany, and during the foreign secretaryship of Sir Edward Grey before the war he repeatedly risked his career by offering unpalatable advice. To journalists Sir Eyre Crowe was one of the most uncommunicative of men. He had a reputation for extreme punctiliousness. He could not bear to see a pen out of place on his desk. The efficiency of the foreign office is largely due to his administrative ability. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald very often referred to the invaluable assistance he received from Sir Eyre Crowe during his tenure of office.

The Price of Public Life.
The next man to Sir Eyre Crowe among the permanent staff was Sir William Tyrrell, the assistant under-secretary, who will, no doubt, succeed to the under-secretaryship. Tyrrell was educated in Germany. He also was assailed during the war as an alleged friend of Germany. He was not related to Germany by consanguinity or affinity, but he had been Sir Edward Grey's private secretary and before the war had supported the Grey policy of trying to get a good understanding with Germany. Prince Lichnowsky, who was German ambassador in London from 1912 to the outbreak of war, has a paragraph on Tyrrell in his famous memoir published under the title of "My Mission to London." He says: "Sir W. Tyrrell, Sir Edward's private secretary, possessed far greater influence than the permanent under-secretary, Sir A. Nicolson. This highly intelligent man had been at school in Germany, and had then turned to diplomacy, but had only been abroad for a short time. At first he favored the anti-German policy, which was then in fashion among the younger British diplomats, but later he became a convinced advocate of an understanding. He influenced Sir E. Grey, with whom he was very intimate, in this direction. Since the outbreak of the war he has left the office and found a place in the home office, probably because of the criticisms passed on him for his Germanophil tendency."

Tyrrell was at Washington with Lord Grey from August, 1919, to January, 1920, and he got on exceedingly well with the Americans. He is a wit and is very good company. He married a daughter of David Urquhart, one of the most extraordinary men in English diplomacy in the nineteenth century, who led a crusade for the moralization of international relations.

Robert Gilbert Vansittart, the present head of the American department of the foreign office, is a poet, playwright and novelist. He was private secretary to Lord Curzon, and with all respect to Lord Curzon's great qualities, it must be said that he was one of the most exacting men in the world to work for. Mr. Vansittart is marked out for promotion to the highest places in the office. Another man of outstanding ability is Mr. J. D. Gregory, head of the northern department. He it was who signed Mr. MacDonald's retort to the Zinovieff letter. Mr. Gregory has been blamed in the labor movement for having exceeded his instructions in that episode, but the foreign office men who know the inside story believe that Mr. Gregory enhanced the already great reputation he had made during the last few years when he has been handling Russian relations.

Here's the Latest--Cod Liver Oil In Tasteless Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder For Skinny, Weak, Run-Down People--Full of Vitamines.

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out. Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamin food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor--another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, Standard Drug, Ltd., or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets--and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and beware of imitations.--Adv.

DOMINION LOANS MATURE THIS YEAR

Hon. J. A. Robb Introduces Resolution For Refunding of $164,408,633.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, June 1.--The refunding of maturing liabilities is provided for in a resolution introduced in the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. J. A. He is asking his former comrades of the 168th Battalion and the 18th Battalion to come forward and testify that his hearing was all right when in these units.

PICNICKERS PRAISE PORT PRIVILEGES

U. S. Visitors Surprised at L. & P. S. Accommodation and Service.

Hundreds of American tourists who have made the acquaintance of Port Stanley for the first time since the recent inauguration of the daily service of the S. S. St. Ignace from

Cleveland have found it an occasion for great astonishment that a resort of such excellence is within a few hours' run of the Ohio metropolis. During the season in which the S. S. Theodore Roosevelt plied the same course thousands of Ohioans visited and learned to appreciate "the Coney Island of Western Ontario," and quite a demand is reported in Cleveland for a boat schedule that will permit of some of the larger organizations holding their outings on the Canadian side of the lake this summer. It is likewise a source of amazement for the Cleveland people that the London & Port Stanley Railway carries excursionists from London to Port Stanley and return, a distance of 50 miles for the round trip, at so low a rate as one cent a mile for adults, or half a cent for children.

Americans Surprised.

The point was discussed with interest by a party of Clevelanders who came over for the week-end last Saturday as part of the crowd that celebrated the United States holiday, Decoration Day, by a trip on the St. Ignace. Though there is a vast network of electric railways in northern Ohio running into the adjoining states in all directions, through a densely-populated territory, no one was able to cite a case in which the service is as good or the fares as cheap. The L. & P. S. multiple unit, all-steel trains, are among the finest on the continent, the road-bed, all on private right-of-way, equals the highest standards of the steam railways, and in the essentials of courtesy, comfort and safety the L. & P. S. patron is provided with the best the world affords. That this fine service is available at a cost of only 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children is a matter of amazement to the most widely travelled.

Free Entertainment.

The appeal to "ride your own road and boost its earnings" is producing a genuine response on the part of the public. The majority of people realize that this is not only a matter of good business, but of propriety, in view of the fact that the greater part of the burden of providing free entertainment for visitors to the lakeside is borne by the railway.

Associated Press Despatch. Detroit, June 1.—Detroit won the opening game of the series with Chicago here today 8 to 6. The outcome of the game was in doubt until the last inning. Ruth, who has been absent from the game for eight weeks, due to illness, played six innings for his first appearance since the season in a major league game. Veach replaced him in right field in the seventh, it being considered advisable not to allow Ruth to exert himself.

Associated Press Despatch. Boston, June 1.—Boston celebrated its homecoming today by defeating the home-making Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 3. Boone batted a home run into the right field bleachers in the first inning of Walberg. Heving's double off the same pitcher in the seventh scored two runs and put the Red Sox ahead, 4 to 3.

The winner was called in the seventh after Alvinston had swamped the locals, 15 to 1. The work of the Alvinston bird was very featured a terrible game. Stecher Refuses To Meet Lewis, Pointing To Previous Turndown.

Associated Press Despatch. Chicago, June 1.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, conqueror of Wayne "Big" Munn in their match at Michigan City, Ind., Saturday, had received so many alluring offers tonight that he was as much as to which one to accept. He was offered a renewal of a European tour, cancelled at the time Munn tossed him out of the ring at Kansas City, a fifteen-week vaudeville engagement, and the opportunity to make a personal appearance with movie pictures of Saturday's match.

The "Strangler," however, said he will not make any decision for at least two weeks, as he plans to spend a vacation with his parents at Nekoma, Wis. Billy Sandow, manager of Lewis, said the "Strangler" will not meet any legitimate challengers for the title, which Lewis still claims.

Lewis converted everybody yesterday that the Kansas City bout was a fluke victory for Munn," said Sandow. "The world's heavyweight wrestling championship still is in a muddle tonight, with Lewis and Sandow as the Nebraska farmer, both claiming the title as a result of their victories Saturday."

A settlement probably will not be made until Lewis and Stecher meet, and a match between them appears unlikely. Stecher, after defeating the veteran Stanislaus Zbyszko at St. Louis Saturday, said he would meet any legitimate challengers, with the exception of Lewis, who, he declared, had refused to give him a match while Lewis reigned as champion.

GRIMM'S HOMER WINS FOR CUBS
Phillies Beat Braves 12-10 in Slugging Bee in Quaker City.

Associated Press Despatch. Chicago, June 1.—Grimm's home run in the eighth inning gave Chicago a 6 to 5 victory over Pittsburgh today. Aldridge pitched a good game for the two straight over the Pirates, Mousley, but errors behind him enabled the locals to tie the count.

On the Side Lines

Premier Howard Ferguson's beerometer only registered .44 yesterday.

Stanislaus Zbyszko has arrived at that same time of life when the loss of even a questionable title doesn't mean a great deal.

A CANADIAN CHAMPION.
Mike McTigue's loss of his title is hardly a tragic matter viewed in any light. Sir Michael managed to escape any sort of popularity as a champion. Berlenbach's rise lacked anything of the dramatic beyond the fact that a short year ago he was just a wrestler. Reliable reports indicate that he hasn't evolved much past the natchderm state.

Berlenbach as a champion may bring a Canadian to the throne in Jack Delaney, a French-Canadian. Delaney seems to have the Indian sign on Paralympic Paul one of those strange things that crop up now and then in the ring. But even if Delaney should become champion it will only be for a time because James Slattery of Buffalo comes of age in September, and he would assuredly end Delaney's rule.

Berlenbach, however, may not give Delaney a chance. He might make more by holding back for Slattery, where the money, and the result would be even more certain.

A TRANSFORMATION.
Sandquist is beginning to show some of the form that made him a marked man when he broke into the league last year. Ball players, whose judgments often differ from the fans, have always seen vast possibilities in the London third baseman.

First of all they say he is one of the most natural hitters in the league. They don't care what the averages say. In fact, Sandquist hit well last year, but not as good as the averages said, because he didn't hit in runs, and the runs batted in that count. Last year, too, he kept falling off in fielding. He handled batted and thrown balls stiffly and his footwork around third base was not timed. On balls hit to either side, his timing was away off. Instead of starting with the crack of the bat, he started a step too late, and sometimes later than that. Sandquist had a slight deafness last year, which perhaps accounted for this fault.

Until Baker arrived, he suffered from the general foginess that surrounded the London infield. Baker gave him confidence and helped him in that way quite as much as he did Gehring.

In the series with Flint here, Sandquist played several perfect games. His pegging, which was his one outstanding feature last year, was as sure as ever. With that as a start, he showed sudden improvement all along the line. His hands seemed to loosen up and he caught balls more gracefully and he seemed to have a better mental grasp of what was going to or might happen. He showed more instinctive judgment on batted balls and had the jump on the ball instead of letting the ball work him. Against right-hand pitching he took the same natural cut that got him triples and doubles in flocks when he first broke in last spring.

Sandquist has one more hazard to overcome, and that is southpaw pitching. Sandquist, like so many other ball players, has decided that he can't hit southpaws. It's two-thirds mental with Sandquist. If he can fight this out, he should be a real prospect for higher company providing he doesn't backslide elsewhere in his game.

WHAT'S IN A FLASH?
Observers have called attention to the fact that London has never had a spectacular infield. Even when Wetzel had his pennant-winning combinations here, the Londoners were far from spectacular at infield. Joe Briger, too, was effective, but wasn't given to any abundance.

This year, the Londoners have a fine, workman-like infield defense, but invariably when they celebrate a nice play by a little abandoned throwing around the works, the ball is thrown away. It's a form of show-off that doesn't mean a thing, for flashy infields are very often that just in practice.

CRICKET.
Cricket seems to be making a real bid for reinstatement as a popular sport amongst Canadians. The growth of the South-Western Ontario league to eight clubs isn't so much an indication as the fact that there are more spectators out to every game.

Baseball cricket is confined mostly to Britishers at present does not necessarily mean the game will not develop generally. Canadian prep schools have always kept up their cricket traditions, and Ridley especially has turned out some very fine cricketers.

Cricket was generally played amongst Canadians a generation ago, and then baseball eventually confined it almost entirely to new citizens from the old land and to private schools.

So far, baseball has made little progress in secondary schools, and it would seem that the game would be a splendid point of development for cricket. Cricket has little standing as an intercollegiate sport, but if development were started at prep schools this state of affairs would shortly change.

Though there are many points of similarity between cricket and baseball, theoretically, actually they are as the poles apart. This has shown time and again. It was shown when a mixed team from the club at both baseball and cricket in England. The cricketers were more at sea in baseball than the Yankees were at cricket.

Daredevil Leaps To His Death

Associated Press Despatch. Nantes, France, June 1.—A leap from a tower of the suspension bridge over the Loire river here proved fatal yesterday to Wally Wolf, a Polish professional daredevil. He had successfully accomplished the feat from a similar bridge at Rouen two months ago, and wished to repeat it here, although forbidden by the city authorities. A gust of wind turned him while in mid-air, and he struck the water on his side.

PETROLIA BEATS SARNIA SECONDS

Griffin, Youthful Hard Oil Hurler, Holds Imperials To Three Safeties.

Special to The Advertiser. Petrolia, June 1.—In a battle here tonight the local intermediates defeated the Sarnia second team by a 4-0 score. Lew Griffin, on the hill for the Hard Oil, allowed only three hits and had twelve strikeouts to his credit. Teeder, the Sarnia pitcher, was found for ten safeties, and to make things worse for his support was robbed most of the time.

Petrolia scored two in the first inning, and from that time on was never in danger. In the fifth they added another when Deon caught a fly ball overhauled to first and then tailed on Galvin's double. In the sixth the locals' final counter came when C. Lindsay smashed out a home run.

Batteries: Teeder and Kinsley; Petrolia—Griffin and Penfold. Umpire—Joe Landon, Petrolia.

Lacrosse Revival In London Is Seen

Judging from the enthusiasm being displayed by several local young men who at present are working to form a lacrosse team in London, the national pastime of Canada is due for an early revival in the Port City. As it is a little late to enter any league now, a team could be put together and a few exhibition games arranged with St. Marys, Sarnia, Wallaceburg and other towns close by. Then next year London would have a team that would be able to go into a league with these centers and be able to make a good showing. For players, there is Alf Moore, who is here to play hockey. He played goal for Toronto St. Simons seniors, and is rated one of the best around the Queen City.

The sporting editor of The Advertiser can supply any information desired by players anxious to try for a place on the team.

YOUNG MOOSE CAPTURED IN SHIP CANAL AT THE SOO

Canadian Press Despatch. Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 2.—A striking spectacle at the local ship canal yesterday when a yearling moose which had hopped down from Moore's Point jumped into the canal and swam down to the canal. The struggling creature was first seen by Thomas Ross and George Bridge and the remainder of a crew who were taking a load up the river on a scow. Some of the crew went out in a small boat and towed the moose to shore by means of a rope thrown around its neck. Another rope was placed around its body and it was lifted bodily up a four-foot embankment. Its legs entangled and it sank to the ground exhausted. It had been in the water about half an hour.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

THINK AHEAD AS FAR AS POSSIBLE

What information can a player get regarding how to play his next shot?

By BOB CRUICKSHANK, One of America's Greatest Players.

After a golfer has made one shot, the manner in which he will play the next is governed by the course, position of the ball, distance from the green, etc. Much of a golfer's success is due to the manner in which he adapts his play to these conditions and the correctness with which he judges them. I have found it possible in some instances to think several shots ahead, knowing that if the ball goes where I intend that it shall I can play the following shots in a certain manner. However, I never allow thoughts of future shots to take my mind off the one at hand, but rather plan my game ahead for three successive years will become permanent holders.

ST. MARTIN'S HOLY NAME LEAGUE TEAM. Above, the Advertiser cameraman shows the St. Martin's team, which shows every indication of making a strong bid for the top honors in the Sunshine park baseball circuit this summer. It is a well-balanced outfit of heady veterans and clever youngsters. Those in the picture are: Back row, left to right—E. Brennan, G. Noonan, W. Moisse, P. Clark, Middle row—E. Clark, E. Croteau, E. Westminster Hospital Added To League, Making Eight Teams.

OPEN NEW CREASE

The entry of Westminster Hospital was accepted by the Southwestern Ontario cricket league over the week-end, and the schedule will be adjusted immediately.

Saturday saw all the teams of the league in action, and some very fine cricket displayed. The sides are all fairly matched, and the addition of Westminster, which brings the league to eight teams, should further intensify competition.

Westminster is said to muster a very strong eleven. An old Light Blue and an Estonian, it is said, are numbered among the players. They defeated the Ontario Hospital cricket club, opened its schedule on Saturday against the strong Stratford eleven at Stratford, and won by a large margin.

The game was featured by some extremely heavy hitting by Dr. Chalk and Mayon on behalf of the Londoners, and a very patient inning by Rothwell for Stratford, winning the toss, elected Parsons and Jefferys opening the innings, runs came at a rapid rate, and the fall of the wickets slow. On reaching the total of 134 runs for 6 wickets the Londoners declared their innings closed. Runs came very slowly for the Stratford team, and the last wicket fell a few minutes before tea. Parsons and Jefferys, with a sensational catch running a good 40 yards for a high fly, and with the sun in his eyes caught the ball with the tips of his fingers.

Quick Is Choice For Tomorrow

Fred Quick will probably get the pitching assignment for the London seniors here on Wednesday night against the fast Preston team.

Melanby's Riversides made the Inter-county buzz with excitement by trouncing London on a Saturday and then taking both Guelph and Galt into camp on Victoria Day.

The locals will have nearly the same line-up as they used against Brantford on Saturday.

On Saturday the Quick has been resting up and should be able to go the full route against the Riversides. Quick looks like one of the best pitching bets London has developed in years and if he is handled right should justify that promise.

STORM UPROOTS TREES IN THAMESFORD DISTRICT

Special to The Advertiser. Thamesford, June 1.—Considerable damage was done early this evening during a wind and rain storm. Half fell in some sections, and near Lakeside the stones lay on the ground almost like snow. Near here several trees were uprooted. One large tree was struck by lightning, split into three pieces, and partially blocked the highway. No reports of fires were received tonight.

DISTRICT SUFFERS FROM HEAT WAVE

Wallaceburg in Darkness—Church at St. Marys Is Struck.

TELEPHONES IDLE

London yesterday suffered in the throes of a temperature of 92 degrees.

With the heat wave came a severe electrical storm, which swept down on the district shortly after six o'clock. Many telephones were put out of order, workers who left their places of employment at this time were delayed in getting home, due to the heavy rain, and several minor accidents were reported.

Many towns and villages in the district reported that buildings had been struck by lightning and that trees had been uprooted by the heavy wind, while hail also took its toll.

Wallaceburg reported that the hydro, telephone and telegraph service had been cut off. A church steeple in St. Marys was struck and the resultant fire resisted the efforts to extinguish it for four hours.

Relief from the heat came immediately after the storm. The thermometer dropped 25 degrees, to 67, in six hours.

No cases of heat prostration were reported.

The greatest benefit of the heat wave and rain was derived by crops.

The farmers of Western Ontario welcomed the rains with open arms, and should warm weather continue for several days then all the damage in-

Boy Black Handers Threatens To Knife Uncle At Ridgetown

Special to The Advertiser

Chatham, June 1.—A threatening letter received by C. Lovell of Ridgetown, which at first indicated that members of the black hand society were at work, was written by the man's 15-year-old nephew, Hign Constable Peters discovered yesterday after an investigation.

The lad is in custody, and will appear in the juvenile police court at an early date. The missive received by Mr. Lovell reads as follows: "Lovell, Ridgetown isn't big enough for you and us, too, so you had better move out before you get a knife in your back or a slug in your head. Remember, this warning is all you get before we act."

Under the words appear a neatly drawn black hand and the following postscript: "Two weeks is your limit in this town from the time you receive this."

struck the steeple of the First Presbyterian church. Although the money loss is not large, the local firefighters had a four-hour struggle before the blaze was extinguished.

Owing to the fact that the church is located on the highest point in town the water pressure was comparatively light and in addition to this, the fire was at the very top of the steeple. Firemen got up inside the steeple but could not reach the top because of the form of construction. The fire was one of the most difficult the brigade has ever had to fight.

Lightning blew out two of the large switches at the powerhouse and for a time the town was in darkness. Several trees were struck by lightning, but no fire resulted. The storm lasted about a half-hour.

BARN IS BURNED.

Fenelon Falls, June 1.—During an electrical storm about 5 o'clock this morning, the large barn and stables on Lakeview Farm, adjoining the village, were destroyed by fire. Mr. Burichall's, the owner, loss will be heavy as only a small insurance was carried on barn and contents, and the livestock was Woodstock, June 1.—An electrical storm, accompanied by a great deluge of rain, delighted the hearts of the farmers of Oxford county this afternoon and evening. When yesterday's storm passed over this district without breaking they were almost in despair as the fields were so parched that growth of the hay and grain crops had absolutely ceased and conditions were becoming serious. Tonight's rainfall will be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the farmers of the county.

It takes healthy gums to keep healthy teeth

Bleeding gums are Nature's first warning of Pyorrhea. Then they begin to recede, lose that rich, pink color. Disease-breeding poisons collect in pus pockets and often drain through the entire system.

If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea, or check its progress—something ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to do. It contains just the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent (as used by the dental profession in the treatment of Pyorrhea). It is safe, efficient and pleasant tasting. Even if you don't care to discontinue your favorite dentifrice, at least start using Forhan's once a day.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.
