Three Canadian Historic Spots

(1) Inside the old fort at Annapolis Royal. (2) Martello Tower, West St. John, N.B. (3) Evangeline's well.

THREE unique and interesting historic spots are to be found in the Maritime Provinces of Canada. Each tells its own story of a romantic past as it links us up with generations that have long since passed away.

The three are: the old French gate and barracks at Annapolis Royal, the ancient Willows and well-sweep of Grand-Pre, and the massive Martello tower, overlooking the Bay of Fundy from the heights of West St. John.

Each of the trio is worthy of a pilgrimage, and no better objectives could a traveller have in this delightful maritime land than to visit each in turn.

Let us, in the meantime, visit them in imagination. The Annapolis of today was the Port Royal of the olden times. It was one of the first European settlements in America, the only habitation of civilized man on the great continent on the fringes of a vast wilderness, stretching from Florida to the North Pole, Champlain and de Monts visited Annapolis Basin in 1604, as did another hero of the old French days.

So the little settlement was formed and for a story and a half there after it tells the story of attack, capture and recapture. It witnessed many a baptism of blood, did the ancient French stronghold, until in 1710, England won it at the hands of a force of New Englanders. Again in 1758, it was captured by an American force, but today it is a picturesque corner of Canada situated in one of its garden spots and facing a lone arm of the sea.

Next let us go to Evangeline's land, where the apple blossoms make a beautiful world in the summer time and where a glamour still rests over the valleys in memory of an Acadian maiden who was only the dream child of a poet. Here is the site of the old French farmstead, there the ancient well near the old French willows where real Acadian maidens drew water, while hard by is the smithy's forge that figures in the poem as well as the little church. What a story the willows could tell if they had the power of speech, of the days when France ruled half of the continent and England was challenging her supremacy.

And finally there is the old Martello tower, a relic of the Napoleonic era, when they were built in England as a means of defence, and later in Canada. Similar specimens are still to be found in Quebec, Montreal and Kingston.

You taste the true rich coffee flavor—and that alone. Red Rose Coffee is of such a quality that no egg is necessary to clear it. It is as easily made as Red Rose Tea, and pours out of the pot bright and clear, with a fragrance that fills the room, and your heart with joy. It's the class, is

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:

A Woman's Problem

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and back-ache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. MARGARET GRASSMAN, 759 N. Ringold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—Mrs. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Roundly St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—Mrs. E. KESLER, 951 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

The Food Pledge.

Ninety per cent. of the food consumed in Canada passes through the hands of our women. There is, then, a great responsibility resting upon them to conserve supplies needed overseas and to utilize perishable foods. Waste in all its many forms should be regarded not only as a sin but as actual disloyalty in war time. It is important that sufficient and nutritious food should be provided, suited to the needs of the different members of the family.

Arbitrary rules in this case are of little value but the principle is of general application, that the women in the homes can do more important patriotic service than by guarding against waste. The question of sanitation is very largely in their hands. A little saving in every home, when applied by all the homes in the Dominion, would mean a very large amount of food products saved for the soldiers.

You may feel that you do not need to sign the food pledge, that you will save all you can without it. But how about your neighbor? The actual pledge may help her to remember the duty of food service. The housewife of Canada, pledged to food service and living up to their pledges, will be a powerful factor in the struggle against Germany and against starvation.

Germany's Losses.

Danish Society for Study of Social Consequences of the War estimates that for three years of this war France's total loss of population is 2,200,000 and that of Germany for the same period 3,700,000. According to the investigation, Germany's population will have decreased from 67,800,000 to 65,500,000 instead of increasing to more than 70,200,000 as it would have done under normal conditions.

Before the war there were about 690,000 more females than males in Germany. After three years of war there were about 2,700,000 females in excess of males.

After the War, What?

Already statesmen and political economists are seriously considering the momentous issues which must follow the ending of the war. The Contemporary Review says: "At the close of the war what the various Governments will be faced with will not be opportunities of enriching themselves at the cost of their enemies, but the imminent danger of famine, in one country or another, with a calamitous deficiency of some of the principal foodstuffs, such as cereals and meat, threatening, quite possibly extensive local starvation with huge deficiencies in most countries in such materials as the metallic ores, coal, timber, hides, oil, wool, rubber, etc., without which the civil employment of the demobilized millions can not be resumed, and with such a scarcity of merchant shipping and railway wagons, and such a dilapidation of all the ways of land transport as seriously to aggravate all the shortages of commodities.

In some parts of Europe and Asia it is scarcely too much to say, society may be not far from dissolution from sheer want. What the diplomats must necessarily settle, actually as part of the very negotiations for peace, is how this quite imminent peril of widespread unemployment and starvation can be averted. In this sense the general revictualing of Europe will be as urgent as was the revictualing of Paris, which had to be made part of the terms of armistice in 1871.

Whole classes of people in every country, it may be even the whole population of some countries, will, if concerted arrangements to prevent unemployment are not made, find themselves, hungry as they are, without what the economists call an "effective demand." They will have no money to buy the food and materials that they need, or to pay the freight for bringing them, and without food and materials they will be unable to produce that which would enable them to buy.

However reluctant the statesmen may be to grapple with this problem, they will be compelled in the interests of the whole world, as well as of their own country, imperatively to do so; and they need to do so promptly. Peace, when it comes, will come like a thief in the night; and famine will be very near at hand to some, at least, of the European populations.

Study and Exercise.

Overstudy and lack of exercise make this bloodless children. Study does not usually bring a child at school unless the studies are so close that those who spent in school doors exercise. But lack of exercise and overstudy is a combination that brings on St. Vitus dance. If your boy or girl at school is thin and pale, listless and inattentive, has a feeble appetite, is unable to stand still or sit still, you must remember that health is much more important than education, and time should be given to exercise and recreation.

See to it that once the child does not overstudy, gets plenty of out-of-door exercise, sleeps ten out of every twenty-four hours, and takes a safe, reliable tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills until the color returns to the cheeks and lips and the appetite becomes normal. For growing children who become pale and thin Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not only best but in most cases are the very best tonic that can be taken. These pills build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and assist nature in keeping pace with rapid growth.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Child Was Nervous, Irritable, Tired Out

She Had No Appetite, and Her Complexion Was Pale and Sallow.

How many parents realize the strain which going to school means to the child who is naturally nervous and of delicate health? For some time ago, from the schools daily with pale faces, many wearing glasses, and looking tired and worn. At home they are irritable, do not sleep well at night, and are upset by a little extra excitement.

If they are to grow to healthy manhood and womanhood their systems must have attention now. Such treatment for children in this condition. We are constantly receiving letters from grateful parents telling what the Nerve Food has done for their children. This one is a fair sample:

Mrs. Stephen Hartman, Italy Cross, Lunenburg Co., N.S., writes: "My little sister at eleven years of age became nervous, irritable and seemed all tired out. She had no appetite, was listless and groovy and her complexion grew pale and sallow. Finally she had to keep her bed and have somebody with her all the time. She was afraid of everything, would get excited and tremble till the bed would shake. As she seemed to be getting worse under the doctor's treatment, mother decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After she had used about four boxes, improvement was noticeable and it was wonderful to see how much brighter and stronger she grew; weak by week. She used the Nerve Food and she cured her nerves. She got fat and rosy and went to school every day with an ambition that she never seemed to have before. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone who has a nervous child."

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 16, 1917.

Editorial Brevities.

Owing to the shortage of coal, Norway is greatly extending its use of peat for fuel. An output of 100,000 tons is expected this year.

THE ACADIAN has received with the compliments of the author's father, a most interesting little volume of poetry, entitled "Canadian Twilight," by Bernard Freeman Trotter, second lieutenant with Lecleres, who was killed in action in France, May 7th, 1917, with an introduction by W. S. W. McLeay, M. A., professor of English at McMaster University, Toronto. This young soldier, a son of Dr. Trotter, of Toronto, was a resident of Wolfville for some years and had many friends here. The poems in this volume were selected from a much larger number which he wrote, and published since his death, and will be of much interest to many friends.

THE ACADIAN had the pleasure this week of inspecting the splendid assortment of preserves, jellies, pickles and fruit juices which Mrs. R. deW. Archibald has prepared during the past summer, and which are now being packed in readiness for shipment to the hospitals in France for the use of our brave boys. Mrs. Archibald has done a most wonderful work and the result of her laborious and painstaking efforts presents a most tempting appearance. Mrs. Archibald is an adept at this kind of work and has unstintingly contributed her time and means to this most laudable undertaking. She has over a thousand jars and bottles now ready which will carry cheer and comfort to many a wounded boy. Probably no other woman in Canada is doing so much for our soldier boys and this would be better appreciated if our people generally had the privilege which was ours of examining the excellent things that have been prepared. All honor to her, and may she have a most generous assistance in future efforts than she has enjoyed in the past.

Our Heroes.

The Wolfville boys at the front have suffered seriously of late. Within the past week the following casualties have been reported:
Lieut. Frank Hutchisson, killed.
Edmund Hutchison, gunshot wound in leg.
Harold Vaughn, gunshot.
Brenton Eagles, wounded in hand.
Henry Ruffe, wounded in chest and arms.
Douglas Borden, killed.
Stanley Murphy, gassed.
From Black River:
Douglas Schofield, wounded.
THE ACADIAN extends sympathy to all the sorrowing ones.
Winfield Farris, killed.
James Farris, wounded.

I have such faith in them that I never hesitate in recommending them to any of my friends who have little ones in the home." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rural Planning and Development.

A NEW REPORT ON PROBLEMS OF VITAL AND CURRENT INTEREST IN CANADA.

The latest report of the Commission of Conservation deals with the important subject of the planning and development of rural districts and small towns in Canada. It has been prepared by Mr. Thomas Adams, Town Planning Adviser of the Commission, who has made a close study of the problems of rural development in this country during the past three years, following twenty-five years experience in farming, land surveying and town planning in other countries. The report deals comprehensively with the social conditions and tendencies in rural areas and the prevailing systems of land settlement and development. It indicates the rural problems requiring solution in order to secure the proper development and economic use of land for purposes of efficiency, health, convenience, and amenity. The great injury which land development suffers, from speculation, neglect of public health, and want of expert business administration of land settlement, is considered. Incidentally, the problem of returned soldiers is dealt with, and the connection between land development and such questions as taxation, unemployment, and high cost of living is clearly shown.

Having regard to the need for more attention being given to production in Canada; to the extent to which production is impaired by speculation in land, by neglect of systems of health, and by haphazard systems of development; to the importance of increasing the supply of human skill and energy and of capital derived from production instead of by borrowing; the problems dealt with in this report are of vital and current interest to the people of this country. There are five appendices by competent authorities, and the concluding chapter gives an outline of proposals and makes general recommendations to cover the conditions as presented.

Vegetables Should Be Properly Stored.

This year, in response to appeals for increased food supplies, Canadians have produced a record crop of vegetables.

That the greatest use may be made of these products it is essential that care be exercised in their storage and preservation. A cool, dry cellar is the best place to store vegetables. Carrots, parsnips, beets, etc., if covered with sand, will not dry and shrivel up. Cabbage are best taken up and hung by the roots individually. Green tomatoes, when too late to ripen outside, should be wrapped individually in paper and kept in a dark place to ripen, and, while not taking on altogether the color of those exposed to the sun, they are otherwise as satisfactory. Tomatoes thus ripened may be used till Christmas.

Potato supplies for those who have not grown their own should be secured this autumn. The farmers have grown large quantities, and in many cases losses will be heavy if they find it necessary to store them. In addition, during several of our winter months, it is not safe to market potatoes, which leaves the consumer dependent upon the middlemen for supplies, usually at an enhanced price. By early distribution, the storage problem can be largely solved and much of the waste due to freezing avoided.

The Death of Miss Elizabeth Prat.

The death of Miss Elizabeth Prat, which took place early last Monday morning, came as a great shock to her numerous circle of friends in this town. She had been ailing for over a year and had undergone medical treatment since the early autumn of last year. Last summer she seemed for a while to gain and some latent hopes were entertained of her recovery. But the slight improvement was not maintained. It was not, however, until about ten days or a fortnight ago that a decided change for the worse was perceptible. Then she sank rapidly and after about forty-eight hours of unconsciousness passed away.

Miss Elizabeth Prat was the eldest daughter of Mr. Geo. A. Prat, our well known and highly esteemed citizen, and his wife, Mrs. Effie Prat. She was born in Paradise, N. S., but came as a child with her parents to Wolfville, where she has since resided. Miss Prat was a person of singularly fine character, and though unobtrusive and homelike, had a very large number of friends in this town. She was a life-long and valued member of St. John's church and ready and willing worker. For many years she taught in the Sunday school and was an active and prominent member of the Women's Auxiliary, and when her health permitted a regular and devout attendant at its services. Her departure will be a severe loss to the congregation. Widespread sympathy has been expressed for her parents and family in their bereavement. Besides her parents she is survived by three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Collins, of this town; Mrs. A. Stewart Clarke and Mrs. Percy Starr; Mr. Geo. A. Prat, of Youngstown, Ala.; and Mr. Samuel Prat, of Boston, U. S.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at 3 p. m. There was a large attendance. The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. F. D. A number of hymns were Victory Loan—Why you should buy at least one Victory Bond. Not only as a patriotic act but in interest of labor generally. The money thus lent the Canadian Government will be used to pay Canadian Workmen and not one penny will leave this country. Buy and see that your friends buy.

On Friday evening of last week Mrs. Henshaw entertained the returned boys at a dinner at her pretty home on Acadia street. There were present Messrs. Hugh Crawley, Douglas Borden, Vaughn Henshaw, Ernest Barnes, Reginald Black, Paul Davidson and Maurice Haycock. The table was daintily and tastefully arranged with flags and other military and naval symbols, and presented a very pretty appearance. There was a fine spread of tempting viands, and a very enjoyable time was had. After dinner a number of friends were invited in and a pleasant evening was spent. Music was furnished by Misses Radie, McKenney and Bunting, of the Seminary staff, and Miss Gaines, the popular soloist of the same institution. There were a number of readings in her usual entertaining manner. All were greatly enjoyed. Delightful refreshments were served.

More Sad News.
The sad news arrived yesterday morning of the death in action of Corp. Robert C. Borden, second son of the late Clarence Borden and brother of Lieut. A. D. Borden, both of the 1st Batt., of Nova Scotia Highlanders. The news of his death, which took place Oct. 30th, has come as a terrible blow to a large circle of relations and friends in this town. He was only twenty-one years of age but he had already endeared himself to a large number of our citizens of all ages by his sunny disposition and kindly nature. At the time he enlisted he was a junior at Acadia College and had an excellent record. He was a member of St. John's Church. The deepest sympathy is felt by all classes in the town with the family and relatives in the sudden and untimely death of this fine promising, clean living young soldier. He was indeed in every sense physically, mentally and morally a fine specimen of Canadian manhood. A memorial service will be held conjointly with that of Miss Elizabeth Pratt on Sunday morning at St. John's church at 8 o'clock and 11 o'clock.

The Plain Duty of Every Canadian

Your duty, as a Canadian citizen, is plain, definite and imperative. Your sons and your neighbors' sons are fighting for their country, their flag, their homes—and for YOU.

They cannot fight without food, shoes, clothes, bread and bullets.

The Government looks to you for the money to buy these things. Your duty is to lend—not give this money.

It is more than Duty—more than patriotism—it is a privilege to buy Victory War Bonds.

The money you pay for them will help win the war—help keep our soldiers fed, clothed, armed and protected—help keep your country safe for Democracy.

The Canadian Government guarantees to pay your money back. It pays you 5 1/2 per cent. interest on your money, semi-annually.

You can buy Victory Bonds at any bank or broker's. You can buy them on the partial payment plan if you wish.

The Woman He Married.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE, Nov. 20th.
Read what The Halifax Herald says: 'The play brought out in a striking way the rare qualities of Carrol Ashburn, the new leading man, and Miss Irene Summerly also had a part which showed well the splendid reserves of dramatic strength with which that talented actress is endowed. The third act was a great climax, and in the part of 'Jack Harding' and 'Mrs. Jack Harding', the suspicious and unreasoning husband and the loyal and true wife, Mr. Ashburn and Miss Summerly gave a dramatic performance of great power. In their personal appearance the two looked the ideal young husband and wife.

Another in the cast who deserves mention for his calm and coolness of detail, especially as seen in the second act, was Carl T. Jackson. He was the artist for whom 'Mrs. Jack Harding' had been the model. He fell in love with her, not knowing that she was a young wife. The way he portrayed his part was admirable, and in this too, Miss Summerly showed with peculiar brilliancy.

Doonee's songs had the part that does not win popularity with an audience. It is the fortunes of war (on the stage) that bring some more than their share of roles like this, but Mr. Bopp evidently takes with good grace what comes to him, and certainly his work is well done.
Louis Albion has not as heavy a part as often falls to his lot. He, Luella Morey and Houston Richards are exceedingly satisfactory.

The Boy Scouts.

All scouts are requested to meet at the Club Room this evening at 7:30 for the first rehearsal of the annual entertainment.

Monday, Nov. 26th, is the date fixed for this year's show. The program has been arranged along the same lines as heretofore and will include new patriotic songs, scout work, and some clown stunts that are guaranteed to cure the blues and will put last year's Henry Ford in the shade. The concluding number will be a farce, 'B. X. and Cox' which is the best yet.

The boys will be around with tickets early next week and every person in Wolfville and vicinity is asked to purchase at least one. Only six hundred are printed and all should be sold.

An interesting feature this year will be the participation of the new patrol from Grand Pre and White Rock.

There are no short days at the Graham Studio. Up to date artificial light makes it possible to have satisfactory sittings up to 9 p. m.

Is This The Cause?

The United States military draft shows that the number of those physically defective is from 7 to 20 per cent. higher in rural districts than in cities. The officials blame this on the lack of medical inspection in country schools.

Has Prohibition Benefitted?

Under the above caption the St. John's Herald Free Press says:

The Prohibition measure has now been in force a little over nine months, and we do not believe, despite some abuses of the Act and the unlimited supply for medicinal and manufacturing purposes, that even its most violent opponents will refuse to admit that it has justified itself. We do not purpose to-day to point out the many changed conditions in our city life—changes for the better—which are solely due to the disappearance of the liquor traffic; we hope to do that fully at a later date; but desire simply to quote the Police Court records as infallible evidence of the improvement that has taken place. During the first nine months of 1916 there were 426 persons arrested on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct for which the intoxicating cup was responsible. For the same period this year only 40 cases have appeared before the court. This means that 386 individuals have escaped the degradation that such arrests carry with it; means that so many men have been able to do more and better work, so many families with more home comforts and less sorrow to bear, so many children happy because their little lives are freed from the terror of a drunken parent. One has only to look about him to see marvellous, or might say miraculous, changes that have taken place in some lives. Men who were confirmed drunkards, to whom work was a stranger for years, have reformed and become industrious and thrifty citizens. Has prohibition benefitted? Who will deny it? It has saved a dozen lives it was worth while."

Instant Action Surprises Many Here.

This grocer's story surprises local people: "I had had stomach trouble. All food seemed to sour and form gas. Was always constipated. Nothing helped until I tried buck horn bark, glysteric, etc., as mixed in Adler's. ONE SPOONFUL, astonished me with its INSTANT action." Because Adler's flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. A. V. RAND.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson, fellow of the American Academy of Medicine, lecturing in London, said it takes somewhere between three and four tons of projectiles and explosives to kill a single individual. Total death rate per annum in this war, he said, does not exceed 5 per cent. of the total number of individuals engaged. Of the allied soldiers who survive wounds six hours, 90 per cent. recover; of those who reach field hospitals, 95 per cent. recover, and of those who arrive at base hospitals, 98 per cent. recover. There are fewer amputations proportionately than ever known before.

PHENOMENAL GROWTH OF MOTION PICTURES

Statistics Regarding "Kinetograph's" Early Life Presented—Beginning in England—An Enormous Industry.

Many "happy returns" to the kinematograph, for it is now just twenty-four years old, declared an English weekly in 1917. It was early in the summer of 1893 that the first public exhibition of motion-pictures took place, when the visitors to the World's Fair, Chicago, were entertained by the wonders of Edison's Kinetoscope. This was really a kind of animated peep-show, for the pictures were viewed through a peep-hole, and were shown in miniature. Not until nearly three years later—on February 20th, 1896, to be precise—was the kinematograph first introduced to the British public. This work was done by the pioneer, in Europe, of motion-pictures in their present form. The demonstration was given at the Polytechnic, before the students of the Polytechnic Technical College, and the projecting medium—which Mr. Paul called the Theatrograph—was subsequently exhibited at the Alhambra, London, where for weeks it drew vast crowds, who went into ecstasies over such pictures as those showing a horse jumping or the waves breaking.

A Rapid Rise to Prosperity
The kinematograph's amazing development really did not commence until 1898. Previous to that year, although several kinemas had been built by private effort, not a single picture company had been registered. Compare this with the figures for the year before the war, when $44 such companies were registered with a capital of over $11,000,000. The total amount of capital invested in Great Britain in the "picture" business in the year nearly twenty million pounds. The increase in the number of workers employed in the industry has been correspondingly rapid. In 1907 the number of such employees was certainly below 600, and their weekly earnings not more than £2,000. But in 1914 these figures had risen to 125,000 employees, with an aggregate weekly wage-bill of £27,000 every week.

Countless Theatres
By 1914 there were approximately 6,500 picture-theatres in Great Britain, with an aggregate weekly attendance of about 9,000,000. A tenth of these theatres were in London, and about 130 in Manchester and district. Finally, it may be said that in the whole world there are not less than 60,000 picture theatres, and that for the entertainment of these, 2,147 new films were produced last year, 5,440 during 1915, and 7,948 in 1914. The handicap of the war on film production is very apparent. Twenty-four years old is the kinematograph only, but already has it become ubiquitous. Its temples may be found in such remote regions as Uganda, the Fiji Islands and the South Sea Isles.

HAS FOUR "HOUR HANDS"

Making Traveller's Watch Keep Good Time Everywhere

The average commercial traveller who journeys about Canada has to keep a close watch on his timepiece to see that it is telling the truth. There is an hour's difference in time and it's an important matter that you do not forget to set your watch back or forward an hour, according to which way you are travelling. An express official who travels almost all the time and is so busy that he sometimes forgets to change his watch, frequently had an experience of this kind. Sometimes he arrives an hour ahead of time, or perhaps an hour after a train left, giving him time enough for reflection. Then he conceived the idea of making his watch tell all four different times—Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific. He went to a jeweller and had extra hour hands put on his timepiece—each of a different color, so that he can recognize it at a glance, on the face of his watch. For instance, the ordinary hour-hand, set at Eastern time is silver; the blue hand, set an hour back, represents central time; a red hand, for mountain time, set two hours back, and a green hour-hand, three hours back, represents Pacific time. You can do this to your own watch. The jeweller will make a set of hands of these colors and alter your watch for a consideration of a few dollars.

DURING THUNDERSTORMS

Avoid Telephones, Registers, Radiators, Chandeliers, Wet Floors, etc.

During a thunderstorm if you are indoors: (1) Keep away from the stove, chimney, etc. The hot gases from the chimney may conduct the lightning to and down the chimney. (2) Do not take a position between two bodies of metal, as the stove and water pipe, for example. An exception to this rule is the case of a bed, or of an iron bed. One of the safest places, is on a mattress in an iron bed, provided you do not touch the metal. The metal surrounding you makes a safe cage which will prevent the lightning from reaching a person inside. (3) Do not stand on wet floor nor draw water from the well or faucet. Inspiration to Anglers
The weather may be unpleasant, the fish shy, luck villainous, but never be discouraged; luck must turn, the fish must feed, the sun must shine and you must catch fish. The poorest fisherman is always concluded with the capture of a second fish.

Deer or mutton fat will be found to be an excellent dressing for fishing lines. It will keep them soft and pliable, and also keep a fly line floating. Green feed in some form, grit, oyster shell and a dry dust bath are four essentials to egg production in early winter.

COAL and FENNIMORE COOPER

D. & H. Line—On the shore of Lake Champlain.

THE great industrial wealth and the wonderful historic interest of the country served by the Delaware & Hudson Company give special interest to the linking up of this company with the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is the country of anthracite coal, and it is the country of Fenimore Cooper, whose tales of the French and Indian wars are known to every schoolboy. In spite of Mark Twain's joke, that the Indians of Fenimore Cooper were an ancient tribe that never existed, the country round Glen Falls, Lake George, Otsego Lake, and Fort William Henry is dotted with localities identified with the East of the Mohicans, and Leather Stocking. The hunting and fishing grounds of the Five Nations and the Algonquians are now famous hunting and fishing grounds for tourists, who find in this rugged lake and mountain scenery of the Adirondacks the scene of many a happy holiday. Coal is the industrial backbone of the country, and the demand for coal in Canada to-day makes the value of the connection between this railway and the C. P. R. all the more apparent. It carried 2,400,000 tons of coal annually, but in 1899 the greater convenience of rail haulage was realized and Pennsylvania and the connecting

KINDS OF FERTILIZER

A great amount of work has been done by the various agricultural farms throughout the country in determining the kind of fertilizer best adapted to the soil in the vicinity, as well as its effect on the plants, as each plant, to a more or less extent, requires that the amount of substance taken out of the soil by it be replaced by artificial means if the ground is not to be allowed to suffer. Experiments have been carried on with the use of pulverized limestone and valuable results obtained; there are also used fish-waste manures, ground saw-wood and a host of naturally occurring substances, valuable in this connection. It is to be hoped that details of these experiments will be available so that the farmer will be enabled to obtain a supply of good fertilizing material at a small expense. The application of chemistry to agriculture should result beneficially to both.

FARMERS AND CHEMISTRY

Experiments in Canada with Fertilizers Should Benefit Production

In such an agricultural country as Canada where the production of food-stuffs is one of the leading industries, the rational use of fertilizers is one of the best means to an increased production that can be developed on short notice. As would be expected, the varieties of soil in Canada range from the most fertile that may be found anywhere in the world to soils that are so poor that any attempt at ordinary methods of farming would be hopelessly unsuccessful. As each class of soil requires a different chemical treatment, it is obvious that the work of the Central Experimental Farm, with its main branches throughout the Dominion has had a large amount of work to do in analyzing the soils of each locality and prescribing a fertilizer which would make up for any deficiency that existed in the soil as found or to replace the necessary elements that have been taken out of the soil by growing one kind of product continuously.

The need of added fertilizer varies according to the locality, fertilizers having little use in the West where the largest area of unproductive soil is found. In fact the alluvial prairie land of the Red River valley is a veritable mine of plant food, natural fertility of which would be difficult to exaggerate. In the older provinces, however, where the land has usually been worked for many years without the application of any kind of assistance to the soil is at once apparent in order that the soil may be raised to a high state of productivity.

Convenient Hook with Looped Handle

The ordinary latch hook, whether it be for a cupboard, barn door, chest, or the like, frequently causes much annoyance because it is inclined to stick and difficult to grasp. A patented hook provides against such Inconvenience by means of a looped handle projecting from its shank, which makes the catch easy to operate. The cost of manufacture is low, for a single strip of wire can be twisted by machinery to form the loop and the hook. Popular Mr.

GUESSED BADLY THEN

Critics Thought Mathewson and Lajoie would Not Make Good

That the baseball critics of the '90's were just as bad guessers as some of the present-day ones is noted from a paragraph that appeared in 1897. It read as follows: "The Philadelphia writers are of the opinion that Manager Billy Gault of the Quakers had picked up a jewel in Outfielder Phil Deter, but they are not so sure about Lajoie, the first baseman secured from the Fall River club in the same deal. So capable a leader as Frank Selig, of Boston, looked over Lajoie before Nash got him and turned him down because he didn't shape up to the standard of a major league baseman. Just now Lajoie is hitting pretty well, but wait until the pitchers discover his weakness." This shows that the boys of many years ago were a trifle off. Speaking of the bitter being bitten, one can appreciate the country in the following item which appeared somewhere about 1903: "If any wonder that the Giants keep down in the second division, after after losing the title, the pitcher, forward of the club, trades a star like Ruth for an untried youngster like Mathewson."

WRIAND HAD NO BOOTS

"Wriand, the famous French Statesman, was proud of his humble origin and early struggles. The son of the keeper of a small cafe at St. Nazaire, he began his journalistic career on a small Labor Journal, and so straitened were his circumstances that once, when invited to lecture at Rennes, he had to reply: "Impossible to come. No boots." The promoters, rather than mind the lecturer, forwarded him the price of suitable footwear."

TRAGEDY OF SOUTH POLE

The South Pole was discovered by Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, who reached it on December 14, 1911. Robert Falcon Scott, the English explorer, and his expedition, reached the South Pole on January 17, 1912, only to find the Norwegian flag and the names of Amundsen and his men on the return trip.
