APPLE KNOWN TO ROMANS

FIRST CULTIVATION OF THE FRUIT IN ENGLAND.

Many of Present Brands Date From the Time of the Norman Conquest.

Though apple is a Saxon word, and is but very slightly changed from the original form "aeppel," the Romans are generally credited with having been the first to re-cognize the value of the fruit, and to them no doubt we owe the first efforts towards cultivation attempted in this country, says the Glas-gow Herald. At a later date the monks, to whom also we owe much in the development of all manner of useful things, afterwards made a special study of the apple, and it is worthy of note that Arbroath pippin, or Oslin apple, was either first introduced, or first extensively cultivated, by the monks of the Abbey of Aberbrothwick. Another famous variety, the Nonpareil, is said to have brought from France by a Jesuit in the time of Queen Mary.

TASTE WAS DEVELOPED.

During the sixteenth century the taste for cider developed to a remarkable extent, a circumstance which Gerarde, the famous herbalist, has taken care to note. "I have seen," says he in the year to have seen," says he in the year to have seen," says he in the year to have seen, and the product of the produ 1597, 'about the pastures and hedgerows of a worshipful gentleman's dwelling, two miles from Hereford, called Mr. Rodger Badnome, so many trees of all sorts, that the servants drink for the most part no other drink but such as is made from apples. The quality is such that, from the report of the gentleman himself, the parson hath for tythe so many hogsheads of cid-

Cider, of course, is still com monly brewed in many parts of the country, but the day has gone by when every farmer of importance owned his cider press and regarded the autumn brewing of that bever-age as one of the most important functions of the year. Except in a few countries, the old cider orchards are more or less allowed to run to rack and ruins nowadays, while the famous winter beverage of our forefathers, also made from the juice of the apple, and which was known as "lambswool," is one believes, everywhere forgotten. But the recipe for making this beverage, which is said to have been the grand ingredient of the wassailbowl, has been preserved, and any one is at liberty to experiment with "the pulpe of the roested apple, in number, 4 or 5 according to the great ness of the apples (especially pome-water.) pome-water.) mixed in a wine quart of faire water, and labored together until it comes to be as apples and ale, which we call lambswool."

HAD MEDICAL USES.

But the old-time uses of the apple did not end here, for, as Gerarde assures us, "there is an oint-ment made with the pulp of apples and swine's grease and rose-water, which is used to beautify the face, and take away the roughness of the skin; it is called in shops pomatum, of the apple whereof it is made. One may doubt, however, whether the apple is any more indispensable nowadays to the making of cosmetics than it is to the curling of "splenaticke and melancholie" disorders, for which latter purpose it was most highly recommended by no less a celebrity than John Keys, court physician to Their Majesties Mary and Elizabeth.

STAIRCASE TEST

If You Cannot Pass It Your Health is Failing.

When you suffer acute palpitation of the heart, dizziness or faintness every time you go up stairs; when exertion of any kind leaves you breathless and trembling, it is a warning that your blood is defective—that you are anaemic. If these warnings are neglected worse disorders will follow—perhaps decline and deadly consumption. If you are in this condition you need the new, good blood of health that has been given to thousands of sufferers by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills banish all the ailments arising from poor blood, tone up the system and make weak men and wotem and make weak men and wo-men well and strong. Miss Eliza-beth Campbell, Almonte, Ont., says: "I was living in Pembroke at the time my health failed me-I kept growing weaker every day. I kept growing weaker every day until I at last grew so weak I could not walk up stairs without help, and I could not go down street without sitting down and resting. My mother got quite anxious about me and took me to a doctor who said he was quite sure be about me and took me to a doctor who said he was quite sure he could restore my health. He gave me a little bottle of medicine, and I continued its use until I had taken four bottles, but instead of getting stronger I was growing weaker all the time, and was only a more shadow of my former self. a mere shadow of my former self. My parents believed I was in a decline and could not get better. My mother had heard so much about cordion plaited flounce, or simply Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that she by a deep gathered one. Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria. COUGH REMEDY.

A good old fashioned cough remedy is made of slippery elm, sugar and flaxseed. Soak a gill of whole flaxseed in a half pint of boiling water. In another dish put a cup of broken bits of slippery elm and cover this with boiling water. Let them stand for three hours, then strain them separately through a thin cotton cloth into a pan con-taining a pound and a half of granulated sugar. Squeeze out all the liquor possible and stir into the sugar until all is melted. Now boil it until it turns to candy. After it has cooked ten minutes add the juice of two lemons. When candied turn out into a well greased pan and mark into squares before it hardens. The children like it. A handsome woman may look good to a man, but it takes a truly good woman to get a strangle hold on his heart.

TO REDUCE MILK TO POWDER.

In reducing milk to powder a patented Swiss process evaporates about 85 per cent. of the water at a temperature of 50 degrees to 60 degrees centrigrade. The milk is then exposed four seconds in a layer of an eighth or a quarter of an inch in depth on a surface heated to 105 degrees. The second heating removes 9 or 10 per cent of the remaining water, and the resulting milk powder is not only sterile, but the albumen is not coagulated.

The principal danger of Grippe is the after effects. The way to guard against this is to strengthen the Kidneys so they can strain all the drags of the disease out of the iron nand. True, a guard of mar-ine, gunners, all over six feet high, are to surround him, but that is only for show. The real defence will be the Indian police, and they have proved that they can barely defend themselves. ### Excuses Don't Count.

The explanation of a failure is equivalent to a success.

The back ranks are full of men and romen, each one of whom can tell you with the correct narrative of every detail exactly why he has failed.

The boss was a cold blooded, unapwere against him when he was a boy, a political friend went back on him just before election, he was just ready to States and probably in the world, to rent a store when another man put in employ girls in his store has just died so on.

If you wish to prove the merits of an excuse against the merits of an order, carry an excuse book and an order book and ask the boss at the end of the week which one he wishes to see.

Great interest is being taken in the case of J. G. Armstrong of Lucknow, the druggist who will appear in the Goderich court December the 12th, to answer to a charge of criminal negligence in handling drugs in connection with the death of Miss Morrison of De-troit. Provincial officers who have been working on the case allege that three other persons, D. Murchison, of Toronto; Mrs. McMoran and her thir teen-year-old daughter, of Lucknow were all taken so violently ill after taking headache powders purchased at Armstrong's that they almost died.

Lady Teacher To Jail For Thrashing Pupil.

Brockville, December 1-Weeping bitrickville, this afternoon received a sentence of one week in the local jail, from Judge McDonald, Senior judge of Leeds and Grenville, for having last October unlawfully punished Helen McCoubrie, one of her pupils, in the school, which she taught near Frankville.

The child was in the first place severly punished for dropping a water bottle and when subsequently she brought to school a note of protest from her father by adoption, the school teacher punish ed her again. Mr. McCoubrie was subsequently paid $500 by Miss McCrea in settlement of the case and to avoid parental prosecution, but Mr. Trail, agent of the local Children's Aid Society, brought the matter to trial.

Miss McCrea testified that the child was unruly. Judge McDonald, however, found the defendant guilty. Miss McCrea, who comes of a highly respected family, feels her position very

Girl Badly Burned

Miss Dolly Tindale, daughter of Mrs. Geo. Tindale of Hanover, was the victim of a painful and distressing accident on Saturday last at the home of her uncle, Mr. Jos. Brocklebank on the 4th concession of Brant. It appears she was engaged trimming the wick of a lamp when in some manner her clothing caught fire. When her grandmother, Mrs. Richard Brocklebank, who was in the next room, but who is hard of hearing got to her, she was enveloped in a mass of flame. Dolly poured a dipper of water over her head, and the fire was at length extinguished but not before the poor girl had been burned in a frightful manner. She was taken to the Walkerton Hospital that evening and is doing as well as could be expected, but is suffering greatly. Miss Dolly is scarcely 16 years of age. Her attending physician states that the corsets she wore saved her life. Luckily the burns are mostly confined to her body and her face will not be disfigured.

The Helpful Bundle.

When winter winds are raging fierce, with snowdrifts in their track, it's mighty nice to have a tierce of boodle in the shack. Then one can sit before the fire in peace and joy, gadzooks, and knock some music from his lyre, or read detective books. The howling of the bughouse storm, that gets the poor man's goat, but makes his cottage seem more warm, from trouble more remote. He sees the snowy gusts careen outside his cheerful hut, and comfortable and serene reflections fill his nut. He salted down a plunk or two whene'er he drew his pay, and now it doesn't make him blue when comes a stormy day. Across the street there lives a skate who never reader of this newsa date, his children howl for bread. ### Items of Interest

It is notning rare in China for boys welve to fourteen years old to marry. The physical, moral and intellectual development of the contracting parties has nothing to do with the matter. Other considerations entirely regulate the affair. An old Chinsse aphorism says that the great business of life is ended when the sons and daughters are mar ried. The Chinese parents do not care to run the danger of postponing the marriage of thier children, especially of their sons, until after their own death.

BOUNCING BABY'S ECZEMA CURED

By Morriscy's No. 4. Prescription 47 Years Old.

Pictou, N. S., July 8, 1910. "When my baby was only two weeks old I noticed a slight rash on his body, and the little fellow would cry and fret night and day. I was greatly worried about him, and tried everything to relieve him, but without any success. The rash kept getting worse and worse until his little face and body was a mass of scabs. When he was about six months old I was advised to try Father Morriscy's No. 4 Eczema medicine, which I did. In about two months time the scabs had disappeared, and the child is now healthy and strong. I most thankfully recommend it to anyone

More Touble.

Brant Township Council made anoth er mis-step in connection with the local option petition. The special meeting called for Thursday last should have been held, according to statutes, at Dunkeld, where the preceding meeting was held, instead of at Walkerton. Any action they might have taken when in session at the latter place, would have been illegal. Therefore there was only one course left for the local optionists to pursue-to have a mandamus issued, compelling the council to show why they should not grant the petition for a vote at New Year's. This has been done, Mr. C. J. Mickle acting in behalf of the petitioners, and the case is to come before the proper judiciary on Friday, probably at Toronto.

Care Of Orchards.

W. E. Kydd, who was last summer employed by the Department of Agriculture in Ontario in looking after demonstration orchards in various sections, said that in the course of his work he had covered the older part of Northern Ontario pretty well from Penetang by way of Orillia and Barrie to Walkerton. He says:-"In all that distance, I did not meet with more than three or four well cared for orchards. In Simcoe county orchards do not yield more than an average of $25 an acre profit annually, while they might be made to average at least $100." In support of his statement Mr. Kydd said that one man who, prior to last year, had never obtained more than $50 from his orchard, obtained $225 from it last year as a result of the care given to it by departmental officials. Another man, named Hamilton, who had never obtained more than $250 from his orchard, with an average of $200 a year, in 1910 obtained $510 and this year has obtained $1,250.

WALKERTON.

Miss Alice Doherty fell on the icy pavement in front of the Italian fruit store here on Saturday night and broke her wrist. Numerous other falls, with less serious results, were occasioned by the slippery condition of the sidewalks the same night.

The last vestige of an industry that held forth in Walkerton for many years was removed from the landscape last week, when the large boiler and engine of the old Kent grist mill, whick was wiped out by fire, was teamed to Cargill,

Harry Berscht, son of Mr. Geo. Berscht, a former implement agent here, came down from Didsburry, Alta., to the Bruce County General Hospital, where he was operated on by Dr. Hall on Tuesday of last week for hernia, or what is more commonly known as rupture. The youth is making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

From p resent indications it looks like a three cornered fight for the big chair in Brant, Reeve McCallum having decided to seek re-election, while Deputy-Reeve Fischer who is aspiring to the Few papers on the continent hold the bigger seat, will oppose him. Mildmay merchants are preparing or a record-breaking Chrisimas trade. Enormous stocks of Christmas goods are on order or already on hand, ready for display at the psychological moment; and in the course of the next four weeks the public will learn about them in some of the biggest and most attractive announcements that the Mildmay stores have made through the press. To the people who buy the necessaries of life and secure their medical aid and expect to mraket their products in the home town it is surely not necessary to say, Buy your Xmas. goods there too. In stores certainly do not offer; you can get personal suggestions from the dealer which may be of inestimable value, and above all, you can get what you want when you want it, with all danger of delay eliminated. Read then, the announcements that will be made and remember, even in your business relationship, that good-will toward men which is supposed to be a characteristic of the merry Xmas. time.

There might be hope to her lips, Hungerford thought as no went away, but she looked like one who had at heart the bitterness of an unquenched despair. The next visitor was Joan Winthorpe, who The next had heard of the dragging of the river. She came with her eyes full of tears; a mother herself, she was touched with grief for his mother's woe. She had never been very cor-dial to Annabel, and her affection was chiefly for Margaret; but now, in her pity and sympathy, she met the second Mrs. Swayne with open arms and a kiss.

"We did not hear about it until and she says they did go down to the river; but they came away together, all three of them safely, after Ernest lost his boat. The string broke and it floated away out of reach, and Ernest said one of the men would get it for him later on. Phyllis assures me Ernest seemed satisfied about it, and she does not think he was likely to go back. It was dreadful for you to have had such a thought. And still there is no news?"

Then to her. too, Annabel spoke of the letter, escaping from the subject this time with greater difficulty, for Mrs. Winthrope was more inclined to press questions than was Hungerford. But the worst inquisitor came later, at the drawing in of the afternoon.

The Unionists, Led by Mr. Bonar Law known. One can carofully scan the licts Retire in a Body.

A despatch from London, says:
There was a remarkable scene in the House of Commons on Thursday night when the Government applied the guillotine to 470 amendments in the report stage of the insurance bill. Mr. Bonar Law, leader of the Opposition, heatedly accused the Ministers of acting in obedience to the Redmondites in thus flouting Parliament in order to clear the road for home rule for Ireland. Mr. Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, as hotly replied that the Government was only following the example set by Unionist Government.

The excitement was intense, and the members faced amonedment, when, on the Speaker putting the first amendment, the entire Opposition rose and made a dramatic exit from the House, pursued by deristive Ministerial cheering. Then in a dreary monotone the Speaker began formally putting the amendments, and when he became fatigued the Deputy Speaker relieved him. The entire 470 amendments were adopted, and in only a single that the Government was only following the example set by Unionist Government.

Anglo-German Shipbuilding Rivalry May Lead to It.

A despatch from London, says: The probability of a big naval loan in the near future is revived by The Pall Mall Gazette, which anticipates that $150,000,000 and pos-sibly more will be raised supple-mentary to the usual naval esti-mates. It is argued that in view of the campaign in Germany in favor of an increased navy for that country it is necessary for Great Britain to show that she is determined to preserve the "two-in-one" standard. The articles contributed by "Investor are for the sole purpose of guiding prospective investors, and, if possible of saying them from loaing money through placing it in "wild-cat" enterprises. The impartial and reliable character of the futormation may be relied upon. The writer of these articles and the publisher of this paper have no interests to serve in connection with this matter other than those of the reader.

The relative popularity of investments n Canada differs very materially from that in the United States. Here, for exof bond dealers' offerings and the ad vertisements in the financial press without seeing any railway bonds offered for

And so, as we are treating these securities in accordance with their rela tive popularity and not according to their relative merits, we come now to tas study of industrial bonds. "Industrial" bonds are bonds secured by mortgage of some manufacturing, mercantile or miscellaneous company of a private character. The consideration of an industrial bond as an investment from the point of view of safety involves a more thorough invest gation than that of a municipal. Th safety depends, of course, on the success of the security on which the mortgage is based, over the amount of the out standing obligations. But this margin is by no means easy to determine. "Even when determined," says a writer on the subject, "the rule is difficult of application, because a margin which may seen insufficient from the point of view of phy sical valuation may be satisfactory when considered as the equity of a working concern." That is to say, the "good will" of an active business, while it should not be reckoned as a proper security for a mortgage, may be of sufficient value to render the bonds amply safe when the good-will stands as a marginal security. Then, too, machinery is valuable only where it is being used. A negative example of this may be seen in the unfortunate position of the bondholders of the Amalgamated Asbestos Corporation. This company-primarily a mining concern, but with many points in common with the ordinary industrial-has valuable properties and good machinery; but -i.e., business connection, satisfied cusquently, when the demand for asbestos products fell off the corporation was unable to sell its output in the face of competition, most of its customers preferring, apparently, to buy from any other company than the so-called "trash. Had it had a "good-will" worthy the name it might have tided over the dull times in the asbestos trade. It must be borne in mind, however, that good-will is not a proper security for a bond, but is per lb. valuable only as an "equity."

In estimating the safety of industrial bonds the most easily estimated asset is its real estate. The first point, therefore to be determined is the value of the com pany's real estate holdings, on which, of ourse, the bond is a first mortgage. Should, as is sometimes the case, the value of the real estate-exclusive of Men Refuse to Abiide by Agreement

Death of Peter Corrigan.

Lucknow, Dec. 5 .- One of the grand old men of Kinloss Township passed away at his residence here yesterday in the person of Peter Corrigan, aged 81 years. Few men in Bruce or Huron counties were better known in a personal and municipal capacity than he. From his birthplace in Hastings County he came at an early age to the backwoods of Bruce, took up, cleared and developed a farm near the Village of Holyrood, and there resided until his retirement from agricultural labors some ten or twelve years ago. During most of that time he was bailiff and a justice of the peace, and at the time of his death he was within one year of completing a half century as treasurer of Kinloss Township. He was a man of considerable platform ability, developed by a debating society which held meetings at Holyrood many years ago, and which numbered among its supporters several men who afterwards became Stockers and Feeders.—Good steers, his official capacity he was unswerving from his sense of duty, but if he some ago, when two bailiffs were kept busy in Veal Calves.—Common rough, eastern the law on one hand and the distressed the county, he frequently stood between people on the other, helped them with advice, used his influence with creditors on their behalf, and frequently by loans of money enabled them to save their change. In this way he made friends as perhaps no other man in Ontario did, and won to an enviable degree the respect of the general public. He was a member of the Roman Catholic Church. He leaves a family of three sons and one daughter. The funeral will be held on Wednesday to the Roman Catholic cemetery at Holyrood, near his former
