A Child of Sorrow.

CHAPTER VI.

"Better," she said, with a little shrug of her shoulders. "You need not be there very long; besides it will be rather a good show than otherwise."

"What do I care for shows?" he asked.

"That Miss Carrington is going to recite," she said. "Glassbury said you liked her the other evening."

"Oh, very well, if you insist."

"I do," she said, with a smile. "Don't be late. Tell them to drive me home."

Heroncourt walked away, half-greeting his promise and wholly displeased with himself. Why should he go and see and hear the girl again; and why hadn't he told Lady Glassbury of the adventure on the pavement and his visit to Coleridge Street? The girl was getting on his nerves.

He lunched at his club and in the afternoon set out moodily for Manchester Square. Lady Dorington's rooms, spacious as they were, were already crowded when he entered, and he had some difficulty in getting to Lady Glassbury. The latest pianist was playing Wagner, so that Heroncourt, with the rest of the crowd, was free to indulge in conversation.

He told her of Lord Raymond's offer and its acceptance.

"It was kind of him," she said; "but was it wise of you to accept?"

He knew what she meant.

"You mean that I shall miss it when I have to turn out again?" he said, gravely.

She nodded and softly bit her lip.

"Yes; it will be hard for you. You'll have got used to the place—grown fond of it. But perhaps you will not have to leave it—at any rate for long."

There were one or two heiresses present, and as she spoke her eyes wandered over them.

"For Heaven's sake, leave that idea of yours alone—at any rate until I am driven right into a corner," he said, grimly.

At that moment the talking suddenly ceased, and Maida went to the piano. There is nothing so successful as success. Many of those present had heard her at Lady Glassbury's and were prepared to be pleased. Her triumph was complete in every sense; but no one of the audience was more impressed and affected than Heroncourt, though he did not applaud, and managed, by a great effort, to retain his usual impassive expression; but the effort irked him, and, as Maida took her encore, he rose and made his way to a conservatory adjoining the big room. A portion of the audience had overflowed into it; but, a little apart and by herself, sat Carrie, her hands clasped tightly in her lap, her girlish face all alight with joy and satisfaction. Unnoticed by her he went and stood beside her, and stood quite still until Maida's recitation was over; then he said:

"You must be very happy, Miss Carrie?"

She started and turned to him swiftly; then, as she recognized him, she smiled with surprise and a frank welcome.

"Oh, is it you?" she exclaimed. "Happy! I should think so! Didn't she do it beautifully? Isn't she wonderful?"

"She is," he said. "Your sister is a genius, Miss Carrie."

"She is going to do something else," said Carrie, craning forward eagerly; "but they are going to let her rest awhile. Isn't it a triumph? Of course, I always knew she would succeed. And doesn't she look beautiful?"

Heroncourt did not smile at the girlish enthusiasm, but nodded, gravely.

"Your sister ought to be on the stage," he said. "No! I beg your pardon; she shouldn't."

Carrie looked up at him with a glance of comprehension.

"Oh, no; that would be far too common for Maida," she said. "She wouldn't like it; neither should we. Of course she would succeed on the stage; but—well, we are poor but proud. Maida can always be herself while she just recites like this. Besides, the stage would be too hard work for her; not that she isn't strong, though she looks so delicate and fragile. Maida is really a fraud in that respect," she added, with a little confidential nod. "Of course, she would earn more money at the theatre; and that's of importance to us, because we are poor—as you saw when you called the other day."

"I am afraid I committed a breach of etiquette the other day," he said. "Your sister was displeased." Carrie coloured slightly.

"Well, yes, she was," she admitted, with her usual candour. "Maida has some very strange ideas—no, they are quite proper ones. You see, you are a stranger; though, of course, you went to her aid the other night and found her bracelet. Did you see that she has got it on to-day? You are quite a stranger in the ordinary sense—we don't know your name."

At that moment Maida began again, and they were both instantly silent. In the thunder of applause and her excitement Carrie, quite forgot him, and she sprang to her feet to await Maida. The slim figure approached them. There was a slight flush on Maida's face, her deep grey eyes were glowing with her triumph, and Carrie sprang forward and grasped her arm with a deep drawn "Oh, Maida!"

Maida pressed Carrie's hand, and was about to speak, when she caught sight of Heroncourt, and she checked herself; her brows drew together and she turned her eyes from him coldly.

Heroncourt saw the expression felt the coldness. He knew that he ought to walk away; but somehow he could not. He felt that he must speak to her.

"May I join my congratulations with your sister's? may I express my gratitude, Miss Carrington?" he said. Maida scarcely looked at him.

"Thank you very much," she said. "Carrie, we may go now."

"You will let me get you a cab?" he asked, with as much respect, and indeed, reverence, as he had ever addressed any woman in his own class; but Maida made a little gesture of refusal.

"Thank you; there is no need," she said; "we can get one quite easily ourselves."

She walked away from him, and Carrie followed her. But Carrie paused for a moment and looked back at him with a half-appealing, half-regretful expression on her eloquent face, and with a moue on her lips, as if she would say, "You see? It's no use. I can't help it. It's not my fault!"

Heroncourt responded with a no and a little smile; but the smile was rather a grim one. The girl had a good as cut him. It was quite certain that whenever and wherever he might meet her again, he would have no right to address her.

By the time they reached home it was the hour at which Mr. Carrington generally returned for high tea; but he was not there. At that moment he was seated at his desk in the grimy little office with his head upon his hands. He had had a very bad day. He had succeeded in raising a loan at his bank, and had transacted a little business; but most of the time he had wandered about the city and along the streets of the Strand in which the small hotels favoured by country folk and Colonials most abound.

He knew it was no use looking for Josiah Purley, yet he could not refrain from the futile search. He had come back to the office instead of going home to tea, because he knew that he could not face the two girls. He was looking a wreck of his former self; the sleepless, haunted night, and the tollsome day, with its futile hunting, had painted dark shadows under his eyes and graven deep lines about his mouth. The sherry bottle and a glass stood on the table, and the bottle was empty. He had eaten nothing all day, and the cheap and rather fiery wine had half-muddled him. He felt confused and bewildered, vaguely conscious of the doom which threatened him, and of the fortune which he had missed; and the sun filtering through the dusty window-pane made the room hot and his brain heavy. Presently his head began to nod, and after awhile it fell on his arm which leaned upon the table and he sank into sleep, a deep, but uneasy sleep, in which he saw, like a vision, his own ruin, a vivid presentment of the bankruptcy court and his own death. His two girls would be left fatherless and penniless; he dreamt that he saw them wandering hand in hand about the London streets.

His dream was suddenly dispersed, and he was awakened by a deprecating touch on his shoulder. He raised his head slowly and turned his heavy, sleep-laden eyes; then he sprang to his feet, and gripping the chair, as if to keep himself from falling, stared and gasped. "Purley!" he exclaimed. Josiah Purley stood and looked at him with a deprecatory and apologetic expression.

New Orleans, La.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, for I know my daughter never would have been so well if she had not taken it. For more than a year she had suffered agonies from irregularity, backache, dizziness, and no appetite, but is now well. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters and you can publish this letter."—Mrs. A. ESTRADA, 129 N. Galvez Street, New Orleans, La.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"My daughter was feeling tired and all run down with no apparent cause. She had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before and knew its value so she again purchased it and she was able to keep to work, her eyes became bright and natural, and her system was built up completely. We generally keep the Vegetable Compound in the house for it is to be relied on."—Mrs. E. J. PURDY, 5131 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

"You've—you've come back!" panted Carrington.

"Yes, I've come back—couldn't help myself. Sorry to intrude, Carrington; sorry to bother you."

Carrington struggled for self-possession, and moistened his lips, glancing at Purley's commonplace, apologetic face furtively.

"That's all right," he said. "Glad to see you. I—I was just taking a snooze. Been very busy all day. Sit—sit down."

"Was he still dreaming? Could it be possible that the man stood there before him in flesh and blood?"

"Why had he come back? Had he learnt the value of the shares? Did he know that the Roaring Jane was worth millions, and that he possessed nearly all of it?"

These questions darted through his mind. He felt sick with suspense, apprehension, the throbbing of an impossible hope.

"Sit down, old man," he said, forcing a smile. "What's the news?" (To be Continued.)

Nerves Weak Head Hysterics

Orilla Lady Tells of Her Pitiable Condition When the Nerve Food Way and She Became Sleepless, Irritable and Excited.

Orilla, Ont., June 11th. — There is an abundance of proof found right here in Orilla that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unrivalled as a means of forming new, rich blood and building up the exhausted nervous system. At this season almost everybody feels the need of restorative, tonic treatment to keep up vitality and ward off the tired, languid feelings. This letter will give you some idea of the splendid results to be obtained by using this great food cure:—

Mrs. Percy Moulding, 23 West street, Orilla, Ont., writes:—

"Some years ago my nerves got the better of me. I became so bad that on one occasion, during a thunder storm, I had a severe attack of hysterics. Then I became anxious about my condition. It was sleeplessness and nervous debility that were my trouble. Some nights it would be 1 o'clock before I could get to sleep. Knowing the good results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I commenced a treatment. I took about seven boxes, and gradually I could feel my nerves becoming steady and my appetite returning. I could sleep well, and stay alone without any difficulty. Some little time ago I commenced losing in weight, and began using the Nerve Food again as a tonic. I used only two boxes, and recovered the weight I had lost. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and when I see anyone looking ill or nervous I say, 'Get busy and use some Nerve Food!'

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint. I

Atlantic Fleet

Most Powerful Sea Force the Flag is on Edge shop of War — Turning Out chantment in

With the United States Atlantic Fleet, May 24.—The big ships of the most powerful fleet ever under the American flag, when visited by a respondent of the Associated Press through arrangement with the Committee on Public Information, were working day and night to bring about the defeat of Germany on the sea. Ready for battle, they are spending the waiting period turning out ships and men.

The fleet, temporarily, is a workshop of war. Already it is turning out one of its finished products, the guns on American armed merchant ships. Its other products, the United States will use to feed the Allies—will be ready as soon as the ships are ready.

Five-inch guns, the kind principally used against submarines, are being by the hundreds. On the decks are turrets house long fourteen and twelve inch rifles—three or two on a turret. On high platforms guns are for defense against airplanes point to the sky. Brass is always shining, steel is always polished, paint is always new, decks are always white from scrubbing.

The men behind the guns have been shipmates in the war—they were on crews on merchantmen sunk by German submarines. And other shipmates now are on duty aboard the destroyers operating with the British and French fleets. The men with the Atlantic Fleet are working to prepare themselves to avenge the killing of their mates.

Here's what happened the other day: A crew was practicing with a five-inch gun. A bluejacket about 17—he still had down on his chin—was pointing. He grasped handles of a broad brass wheel; his eye was steady at the end of a long shaft, through which he saw the target. His duty was to keep the gun on the target, so it might be fired any time. Around this beardless youth were grouped other gunners ready to fire when his crew had completed its part.

First Shot Hits. The breach snapped open, the shell was thrown home, the breach was hurled back in place, and then the buzzer, operated from the fire control station, sounded; there was a flash, a roar, the hiss of a projectile speeding through the air, and the soldier his of compressed air, hissing smoke out of the gun. Miles away the projectile struck the target.

"Guess that's bad," said an old man-o-war's man looking on intently at the third shot, as the gun crew got the range and the pilot of white water leaped into the air. Suppose that had been a submarine and—

The buzzer, the roar of the gun, and the hiss of air interrupted him. "Another hit! That's some shooting."

And the Worst is

Atlantic Fleet in Fighting Trim.

Most Powerful Sea Force Ever Assembled Under the Flag is on Edge for Battle—Like a Workshop of War—Waiting Period Spent in Turning Out Gun Crews for Merchantmen and Breaking in Recruits.

With the United States Atlantic Fleet, May 24.—The big ships of the most powerful fleet ever under the American flag, when visited by a correspondent of the Associated Press, through arrangement with the Committee on Public Information, were working day and night to bring about the defeat of Germany on the sea. Ready for battle, they are spending the waiting period turning out sailor men.

The fleet, temporarily, is a great workshop of war. Already it is turning out one of its finished products—men who can fight. They are serving the guns on American armed merchant ships. Its other product—men who can run the great merchant fleet of the United States will use to feed the Allies—will be ready as soon as the ships are ready.

Five-inch guns, the kind principally used against submarines, are there by the hundreds. On the decks great turrets house long fourteen and twelve inch rifles—three or two to a turret. On high platforms guns used for defense against airplanes point to the sky. Brass is always shining, steel is always polished, paint is always new, decks are always white from scrubbing.

The men behind the guns have lost shipmates in the war—they were gun crews on merchantmen sunk by German submarines. And other shipmates now are on duty aboard the destroyers operating with the British and French fleets. The men with the Atlantic Fleet are working to prepare themselves to avenge the killing of their mates.

Here's what happened the other day: A crew was practicing with a five-inch gun. A bluejacket about 17—he still had down on his chin—was pointing. He grasped handles on a broad brass wheel; his eye was steady. The end of a long sight through which he saw the target. His duty was to keep the gun on the target so it might be fired any time. Around this heedless youth were grouped other gunners ready to fire when his crew had completed its period.

First Shot Hits.
The breach snapped open, the load was thrown home, the breach was hurled back in place, and then a buzzer, operated from the fire control station, sounded; there was a flash, a roar, the hiss of a projectile speeding through the air, and the louder hiss of compressed air blowing smoke out of the gun. Miles away the projectile struck the target.

"Guess that's bad," said an old man-o-war's man looking on admiringly at the third shot, as the gun crew got the range and the pillar of white water leaped into the air.

Suppose that had been a submarine and—

The buzzer, the roar of the gun, and the hiss of air interrupted him.

"Another hit! That's some shooting."

On the after deck latest arrivals aboard the ship were set to work that day, and every other day, in fact, upon the loading machines. They consist principally of a breach and block and a slide that carries away dummy projectiles and powder bags. Officers with stop watches in their hands set one crew after another to work, the idea being to develop extreme loading speed by competition. The newest members of the ship's companies work for days at these loading machines. The next step in their training carries them to the guns. But they are not yet ready to fire the regular charges. One-pounders that go off with a sharp crack are lashed on top of the big guns and the crews go through all the motions of firing, but instead of a big shell a little one weighing a pound speeds for the target when the buzzer sounds or when the turret Captains in charge of the bigger rifles yell "Fire!"

After a period of firing with the sub-calibre arrangement the crews get down to real battle practice. There are few busier places than a turret in action. Concave steel walls are all around, and a steel roof is just above the heads of the gunners. The pointers sit far forward, underneath the barrels of the guns. Little seats like those on a motor-cycle are there for them and on every side are instruments. As the turret begins to fire, a lift, bearing the huge projectile, bangs up from below, great bags of powder slide from the magazines into a long brass trough. Husky bluejackets toss the powder into another brass trough that is slipped into position at the gigantic breach. The projectile, almost as large as a man, meanwhile has been rolled into the trough, a long automatic rammer has jumped from the rear and shoved it into the barrel. The powder bags are driving home, a man at the breach swings a lever, a ton of steel swings up with a hiss of compressed air. The breach block turns and locks, a buzzer sounds, the charge is ignited, and with a rush of air the guns recoil about a yard and then jump back into position. There is a loud "swish" as the guns come back and then go forward. Inside the turret not much more than that is heard.

Outside it is much different. There is a flash, a roar, a ring of smoke, and the loud whistle of the projectile rushing through the air. So great is the concussion that every man outside has cotton or some other substance in his ears to save his ear drums from being broken.

Landsmen Learn Quickly.
Fifteen seconds from "Commence firing" to "Fire" is considered good time for the big guns in the navy. They have new gun crews in training now who never saw salt water until three weeks ago who are doing the thing easily in sixteen seconds.

Some nights the ships of the fleet cruise in waters nearby for night battle practice. Other nights they are localities which are favored by cloudbursts every thirty days, however, popular taste runs to roofs with a sharp peak, telephone poles and the sure-footed flatboat.

The cloudburst seldom attacks a community unless it lies in the path of an unused creek bed, which immediately overflows in several different directions and lines Main street with live stock, top buggies and the waving arms and legs of people who did not learn to swim in their youth. It also stops long enough to uproot some humble church and permit the brethren to collect enough insurance to meet the pastor's salary. Sometimes a stout, healthy cloudburst will so change the face of the business district that it will have to be entirely remodeled at the expense of property owners who appreciate the rent, but prefer to live elsewhere.

People refuse to take any stock in Noah until they are rescued from the top of a cottonwood tree after a cloudburst.

As a general thing, there is no telling when or where a cloudburst will light. The United States weather bureau forecasts them with great accuracy and success the second day after several thousand people have been rendered homeless and driven into cold, unspiced rain water up to their necks. The bureau then comes out with a warning to the public, and urges every home to lay in a supply of life belts, rope ladders, hip boots and climbing irons. We should all revere the weather bureau, for it is a national institution, but when a thunder storm heaves in sight it is better to trust to the voice of the 75-cent barometer.

Attacked by Dogs

Repeatedly attention has been drawn to the herds of savage dogs at large in the city and destruction done by them to property and otherwise. On Saturday last two small children named Firth, who were playing near their home on York Street, were set upon and served badly by two mongrels that are a positive menace to that neighbourhood. For the public safety it is essential that such canines should be prescribed for in no uncertain fashion and the attention of the police is directed to the matter.

THE CLOUDBURST.

The cloudburst is an effort on the part of nature to renew popular belief in the deluge and the story of Noah's ark. In some parts of the country there is so much unbelief that people refuse to take any stock in Noah until they are rescued from the top of a cottonwood tree after a cloudburst, when they immediately become converted to the idea and attend prayer meeting for several weeks.

Cloudbursts are caused by a large body of water collecting in one spot and falling upon the earth in a solid lump. Sometimes this lump is so solid that it irons out the unsuspecting pedestrian in a smooth and efficient manner and washes him into the nearest basement, where he is pursued by the cloudburst and has to take refuge on top of a hot-air furnace. The Citizens' Committee Report.

We have received from the Secretary the General Report of the Citizens' Committee summarising the most important of their findings in the examination they have been conducting into the Municipal Charter of the late Commission. We publish a first instalment of it to-day, and reserve comment until the whole of it has been published and the intention of the Legislature in regard to the completed draft is made known. That is the matter that is of importance at present. There has been much talk of shelving the act for another year, apparently because the House may not have time to discuss it adequately. It does not need time to be discussed. Further, it would be a misfortune if it attempted to do so in any detail, for it is a special matter which is hardly within the province of the House. The general principles being admitted, the sections are nothing more than a number of rules and regulations, any of which can be repealed next year if found unsuitable. The only way in which the suitability of the principles themselves can be tested (and we must admit that some of them are a radical departure from those existing) is by actual experience of them. Another year of discussion is not likely to see the charter in any better condition than at present; we need to see how it works. In any case the bill should certainly come before the House. If some grave objection is discussed there, it can be postponed; otherwise it should be passed. Mr. Gosling's letter discloses a particular reason, in addition to the general one, why the act should come into force. We join with the News in opposing a suggestion which would be illogical, possibly injurious and a reflection upon the men who have given so much time and thought to this matter.

Corporal Jagers At Rossleys.

Corporal Jagers of the 60th Rifles will appear at Rossleys to-night. This wounded hero comes very highly recommended to Mr. Rossley by Canadian Managers. The only wounded hero to represent the Canadians on the vaudeville stage. His act consists of songs, dances, drills and thrilling stories of life at the front. There is also a new shipment of beautiful pictures. On Tuesday the big Country Store Mrs. Rossley bought up a great quantity of lovely articles at the White Elephant Sale, clocks, pictures, silver, cut glass, china ornaments and heaps of real good things, the smallest of them being well worth many times the price of admission.

Sunday Gun

ANNOUNCES DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME.
 At 9 o'clock last night citizens of St. John's were startled to hear the sound of a cannon. At first many thought it was the arrival of a Home boat, but on making enquiries learned that it was the "noon-day gun" on Signal Hill announcing to the people of Newfoundland the coming into effect of the "Daylight Saving Bill." As no public announcement had been made that the gun would be fired, we presume it must have automatically discharged itself in order to get even with an error that was made some years ago when the "noon-day Sunday gun" was not fired. If this be not true, may we suggest to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries that he let the public know who fired the "Daylight Saving Gun"? He knows, we suppose.

To Owners of Motor Cars.

There are now fifteen men of the Regiment (and it is anticipated that there will be twenty-five within the next few weeks) convalescing at Waterford Hall.
 There is nothing the men would appreciate, and certainly nothing more calculated to aid in their progress towards health, than an occasional drive countrywards.
 If any owner of a car feels like taking any of them for a drive from time to time, the Major would be very glad to arrange the matter by telephone.

Mothers must learn to refrain from meddling and let the little ones learn to do their own lessons. When a child has already learned, unfortunately, to ask for help, one must try at once to undo this evil tendency by providing simpler and simpler exercises until through making a very slight effort "all himself" the child learns the joy of self-conquering and re-acquires his natural taste for independence. Healthy, normal children give no trouble of this kind. The average child always says: "Let me do it." Mother must learn to be patient enough to let him do it. This is not to be considered "unbridled child abnegation," but simply heading him in the right direction.

A Big Fire Yesterday.

Callahan, Glass & Co.'s Manufacturing and Furniture Establishment Wiped Out — Damage Estimated at Over $50,000.

Fire of an unknown origin broke out yesterday in the five storey building of Messrs. Callahan, Glass and Company, on Duckworth Street, with the result that what was one of the largest manufacturing and furniture establishments in the country is now a mass of ruins. A conservative estimate of the loss is fifty thousand dollars, about half of which is covered by insurance.

Shortly after 11 a.m. volumes of smoke and tongues of flame were seen issuing from all the windows of the premises by passersby, who sent in an alarm. The Central and Western Companies responded hastily, followed by the Eastern Company, but when the two former reached the scene the entire building and its inflammable contents were ablaze and presented a veritable inferno. Gradually the outbreak increased to alarming proportions and a conflagration seemed imminent. The Callahan building, situated in a very congested locality, adjoined to the eastward a block of small dwelling houses and was in close proximity to several large business and residential buildings, so that if the blaze spread, aided by even a moderate westerly or south westerly wind, the whole central section of the city would be threatened with destruction.

WORK OF THE FIREMEN.

With commendable promptness the Fire Brigade members soon had twelve streams of water playing on the burning building. Seeing that it was almost impossible to save this from destruction the fire-fighters wisely directed part of their efforts towards preventing nearby property from igniting and in this they succeeded, despite the huge flame, the intensity of which was so great that glass in the windows of the City Hall directly opposite was smashed and much difficulty was experienced in preventing that building from catching fire; also windows in the Wesley Building, C. of E. Institute and Peters and Sons were broken. At noon or nearly an hour after the blaze was discovered thousands of people filled the streets and all spoke in terms of admiration of the splendid work of the firemen, who knew no fear and undertook grave risks in climbing around the burning building. Two of them got cut hands. They were determined to subdue the flames and after working ceaselessly with might and main for upwards of three hours, were successful in their endeavours, as at 2.30 p.m. the "all out" signal was sent in.

SPLENDID WATER TEST.

There is much cause to be thankful for the magnificent water service that was in evidence. There were twelve streams with a pressure so great that it took three men to operate each hose. The unusual force, no doubt helped materially to put out the fire so effectually and probably saved adjoining property from being destroyed. It was the intention of the City Council to have a test of their water system, but we think yesterday's splendid demonstration convinced all citizens of its excellent standard.

VOLUNTEERS TO THE FORE.

Amongst those who gave voluntary assistance in fighting the fire were several members of our Naval Reserve and Regiment, two of the latter in particular, who are veteran soldiers, rendering yeoman service. Their work generally was praised by the regular firemen.

WHAT SAVED THE SITUATION.

In the opinion of one who has been forty years fighting fires, there is not the slightest doubt that if there had been any wind blowing yesterday from the directions already mentioned above, the disastrous results would have been appalling, notwithstanding the high water pressure. The down-pour of rain was also a fortunate circumstance. It is rather a coincidence that this building escaped the big conflagration of '92 when practically the whole town was wiped out, though it took fire two years later.

The exact cause of the fire is not known, though it is supposed to have originated in the showrooms on the ground flat on Duckworth Street, and to have been smouldering a good while before discovered. The building itself is totally destroyed and everything in it consumed. Several people in the city, who had valuable furniture stored there, are heavy losers. We learn that there are between twenty and thirty thousand dollars altogether carried on stock and building by several companies.

FOR LOCAL TRADE.

The Hudson Bay Co.'s auxiliary schooner Fort Churchill which was built of English oak three years ago and has been engaged in northern waters since being constructed, is a clipper, and under favourable weather conditions, with all her canvas spread, can show her heels to anything her size on this side of the Atlantic. The ship is about 300 tons register and elaborately fitted. The following crew left by yesterday's express to bring the ship along. Capt. W. Robertson, mate Jas. Robinson, cook Job Stead, oiler T. Sullivan and Seaman W. Anthony and Albert Howell. The schooner will be used in the local trade.

Here and There.

ENCOURAGING FISHERY NEWS.—By the Portia, which arrived Saturday, we learn that the Western banking feet are doing well and indications for a good shore fishery along the S. W. Coast are also good.

RETURN FOR DUTY.—A number of Soldiers and Foresters who were visiting their homes along the South West Coast returned by the Portia on Saturday. They reported at Headquarters this morning and resumed duty.

"It Sounds Alright, But . . ."

By BETH CAMERON.

BETH CAMERON.

Molly came home with a new scheme the other day, a new kind of insurance which sounded very attractive and reasonable. The Author's wife listened to her enthusiastic description and then brought out her inevitable comment upon any new idea: "Yes, it sounds all right but if it's any good why doesn't everyone do it?"

Because There Are So Many People Like Her. The best answer I ever heard any one make was the Author's "Because, dear lady," he said, "there are so many people just like you who instead of trying it say, 'If it's any good why don't other people try it.'"

Of course there is a truth in her point of view. But it is one of those truths which impress the wrong people. Whereas it is a truth which over-enthusiastic people need to take into account, it is the under-enthusiastic people who are always being influenced by it. We need it, of course, but we also need to balance it with the opposite truth—namely that every good thing was once new and had to be tried by people with courage and open-mindedness.

And Someday The Aeroplane May Bring As Much More.

Where would all the pleasure and health and happiness and efficiency that the automobiles have brought us be to-day if people had said, "If the thing could be done why haven't people done it before?" Who knows what the next twenty years will bring. Perhaps flying machines may be as common as automobiles now are.

The world is full of infinite possibilities. Think of the wonderful things that have come to be in the last six hundred years. Why should the next hundred be any less wonderful?

Better Common Sense Than Conservatism.

Of course we need inhibitions to keep us from going off on impossible tangents. But they should be the inhibitions of common sense, not of all embracing conservatism.

We should study each new thing that comes to our attention carefully in the light of reason and common sense and of what people who know more about those particular subjects than we ourselves think about it.

As Robert Whittaker says: "Let us bring an unprejudiced mind to the consideration of all problems and then have the courage to take the old path or the open wood; whether well broken or untrudden."

At the Yarmouth Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp, held at Tuskat Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LINIMENT most beneficial for sun burn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

ALFRED STOKES, General Sec'y.

A very pretty frock can be made of dark blue muslin with sleeves and collar of gray organdy. The simplest jumper blouses are rendered charming by a little brilliant-colored embroidery.

CREW RETURNING.—The captain and crew of the ill-fated barquentine Rosina have arrived at New York and are now en route for home. With proper train connection they will arrive here on Thursday.

Orange and Green.

Once more the sons of "Paddy's" have achieved some great renown. At Messines Ridge they took a stand and beat the Germans down; Oh, glorious was the victory. Which on that day was seen. When both sides fought for liberty. The orange and the green.

All troubles of the past forgot. 'Twas truly grand indeed. For each man proved a patriot; No matter of what creed; They kept one thing before their view. 'Twas "Country, King and Queen." And those who first saw Mallin Head had fostered naught of spleen. Before such men the Germans fled. The orange and the green.

Now those who first had seen the light. By beautiful Lough Neagh, Brushed side by side all in the fight. With those from Bantry Bay; And those who first saw Mallin Head had fostered naught of spleen. Before such men the Germans fled. The orange and the green.

Now over fair Killarney's Lakes To-day there plays a smile. The blackbird sings near Shannon's brakes. And all around Lough Foyle; And Hindenburg, a crown wears. Because of what he's seen. Brave men who dared the Prussian spears. The orange and the green.

Oh may the hour soon come along On Ireland's emerald shore When green shall thro' for orange strong. And troubles are no more; When orange shall with green unite And peace and plenty seen. Oh then 'twill be a happy sight. The orange and the green. JAMES MURPHY, St. John's, June 9th, 1917.

The Auto Owner.

WALT MASON.

An auto is the one best bet, if you're entirely out of debt, if you have money tucked away, providing for the rainy day. But if you're mortgaging your home, that you in pomp and state may roam, and if in roaming through you burn your troubles, fast as you can earn, your auto is a Jonah cart, and some day it will break your heart. An auto is a precious boon, the smoothest thing beneath the moon. If you, as down the street you lie, can look the grocer in the eye, and say, within your secret soul, "I haven't put him in the hole." An auto is the thing for you, if, when the butcher looms in view, you know you are not owing coin for liver-wurst and tenderloin. An auto is a blessed thing, all kinds of comfort, it will bring, if your not dodging the ga-loots who sell you clothes and lids and boots, if you can say in ringing tones, "I owe no punks or bucks or bones, and I've a package of long green to blow for oil and gasoline." If you can't put up such a talk, don't own a car—you'd better walk.

Everyday Etiquette.

"When a friend takes me to call on a woman whom she is anxious for me to meet and we find that our hostess is out, should I leave my card?" asked Mand. "Yes, you should leave your card along with those of your friend," advised her mother.

Our Volunteers.

Only three recruits signed the roll at the various recruiting stations Saturday:—

FOR THE ARMY.

Thomas Power, Tilton Harbor. Hollie White, Cottle's Cove, New Bay, N. D. B. Dormaa White, Cottle's Cove, New Bay, N. D. B.

Saturday Lieut. Smith tried the new machine gun at the rifle range and found it to work satisfactory in every way. Major Montgomerie, Captains Rahau and Riley were present. Yesterday the Volunteers and Officers attended Divine Service at their respective churches, and in the afternoon they attended the funeral of the Private Gerald Hatan.

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours, a cleaner kitchen. It is a mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Never a woman becomes used to gas cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A Gas Range is so much easier to operate efficient for all kinds of cooking so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style means is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in many households think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating a kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER. THE OLD. THE CLOW GAS STOVE RADIATOR WAY. may 23, 17

Hats and Fashions.

Le is used on hats. The waist coats are very smart. Piped collars are great favorites. Gaudie is used to trim foulard. Braids are made of felt and straw. Besmaide's frocks are made of organza. The nets are much employed for dresses. Edge is a favorite material for neckwear. Lingerie is apt to have borders of blondes. Touch of white distinguishes the new blouses. Very fine batiste makes a dainty summer frock. Military capes with white vestes are fashionable. Silk, draped and scarf collars are in vogue on coats. Red and Valenciennes laces are still the favorites. There will be many fabric shoes this summer. Summer frocks are actually the richest ever shown. It is the material most used for vacation dresses. Some wash dresses have short-waisted waists. The millinery trend is toward the dored style of hat. Silk dresses are by no means out of vogue for summer. Edge your white satin collar and fits with figured silk. The newest sports blouse is made of silk shirting. Picot-edged veils appear on the fresher types of hats.

Why Do You

put pictures you value away unframed in some cupboard or press where you never see them from one month to another?

Why don't you have them—these pictures you love, perhaps some prized photo or engraving—nicely framed in suitable Mouldings and hang them where they can be an every day source of pleasure to the eye?

We frame pictures of all kinds, we experts at selecting Mouldings that blend perfectly with any given subject, and we have a very wide range of Picture Mouldings from which you may select the frame for your pictures. Why not let us frame your pictures for you?

THE SPANISH CRISIS.

MADRID, To-day. Marquis Prieto who yesterday declared the resignation of the King, declared to-day that he would continue in office. Eduardo, former Premier, has been summoned to the Palace. It is believed that he will be placed in the hands of the King with the task of forming a new cabinet.

FRENCH-CANADIAN MINISTER SIGNS.

OTTAWA, To-day. Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Secretary of State in the Borden Government, resigned and his resignation accepted by Sir Robert Borden when Patenaude's resignation placed in the hands of the Prime Minister. It is believed that he will be placed in the hands of the Prime Minister on Saturday afternoon when the Cabinet Council broke up. The afternoon Sir Robert Borden asked as to the truth of the report that the French-Canadian member of the Cabinet had resigned. He stated that there was nothing in it, understood at the House that Patenaude's letter of resignation was placed in the hands of the Prime Minister. It was almost immediately accepted. It had been known since the announcement of the Government's intention to introduce Conscription that Patenaude had been vigorously opposed to it and that he had on a number of occasions asserted that he would in all probability drop out of the Government. It is understood that his resignation was accepted by the Prime Minister for his action in the past and his present position untenable in view of the opposition to Conscription in the Province of Quebec.

SEVIGNY WILL NOT RESIGN.

QUEBEC, To-day. Hon. Albert Sevigny, Minister of Land Revenue, declared here that he intends to remain in the Government. "If French-Canadian Ministers here," he said, "ended without reflection to a portion of the people I think would immediately resign, but the French element in this country is not ready to abandon its representation in the Government."

FLAT FOR CONSCRIPTION.

TORONTO, To-day. A mass meeting was held in the hall last night called by a number of prominent Liberals of the city in support of the principle of conscription by Selective Draft, and attended by thousands, the building being packed to its utmost capacity. The principal speakers were Dr. M.

THE SPANISH CRISIS.

MADRID, To-day. Marquis Prieto who yesterday handed the resignation of the Cabinet to the King, declared to-day (he would) continue in office. Eduardo Dato, former Premier, has been summoned to the Palace. It is believed in political circles that he will be charged with the task of forming a new ministry.

FRENCH-CANADIAN MINISTER SIGNS.

OTTAWA, To-day. Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Secretary of State in the Borden Government, has resigned and his resignation has been accepted by Sir Robert Borden. Just when Patenaude's resignation was placed in the hands of the Premier is not definitely known, but it was probably on Saturday afternoon when the Cabinet Council broke up. Early in the afternoon Sir Robert Borden was asked as to the truth of the reports that the French-Canadian members of the Cabinet had resigned. He said that there was nothing in it. It is understood at the House that Patenaude's letter of resignation was sent to the office of the Prime Minister and that it was almost immediately accepted. It had been known since the announcement of the Government's intention to introduce Conscription that Patenaude had been vigorously opposed to it and that he had on a number of occasions asserted that he would in all probability drop out of the Government. It is understood the reason given by him to the Prime Minister for his action is that he considered his present position untenable in view of the opposition to Conscription in the Province of Quebec.

SEVIGNY WILL NOT RESIGN.

QUEBEC, To-day. Hon. Albert Sevigny, Minister of Inland Revenue, declared here to-day that he intends to remain in the Borden Government. "If French-Canadian Ministers here," he said, "hesitated without reflection to a certain portion of the people I think they would immediately resign, but I think the French element in this country is not ready to abandon its representation in the Government."

FLAT FOR CONSCRIPTION.

TORONTO, To-day. A mass meeting was held in Massey Hall last night called by a number of prominent Liberals of the city in the interests of the principle of Conscription by Selective Draft, and attended by thousands, the building being filled to its utmost capacity. The principal speakers were Dr. Michael Clark, M. P., Redder, and N. W. Rowe, leader of the Ontario Opposition, both of whom came out flat-footed with the view that the urgent needs of men of the country must outweigh all party exigencies, and that Canada's honor is involved in replenishing the depleted ranks at the front in the only way in which it could be done effectively.

SIR WM. MACDONALD DEAD.

MONTREAL, To-day. Sir Wm. Christopher Macdonald, Chancellor of McGill University, Director of the Bank of Montreal and the Royal Trust Co., and creator and head of the Macdonald Tobacco Co., died on Saturday evening in his 86th year.

WILSON'S MESSAGE TO RUSSIA.

WASHINGTON, To-day. President Wilson in a communication to the new Government of Russia has made plain the war aims of the United States and its position on her no annexation, no indemnities slogan of the Russian people. No territory must change hands except for the purpose of securing to those who inhabit it a fair chance of life and liberty, says the President's communication. No indemnities must be insisted on except those that constitute payment for manifest wrongs done. No readjustment of power must be made except such as will tend to secure the future peace of the world and future welfare and happiness of its people. In unmistakable terms President Wilson declares against Germany's proposal to restore the status quo before the war. It was the status quo ante out of which the iniquitous war issued forth, he says, and the power of the Imperial German Government within the Empire and its widespread domination and influence outside of that Empire. That status must be altered in such fashion as to prevent any such hideous thing ever happening again. The President's communication was delivered to the Russian Government by Ambassador Francis at Petrograd.

AMERICANS IN FRANCE.

Boulogne Sur Mer, France, To-day.—A number of officers of General Pershing's staff have arrived here to begin the work of organizing the bases of the American army in France.

THE MARK DECLINING.

BERNE, To-day. The German mark reached a new low level to-day when it touched 71 francs for 100 marks compared with 123.42 in peace time.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN.

PARIS, To-day. M. Viviani, Minister of Justice, speaking at a meeting of the French Women's Suffrage Union to-day expressed the opinion that it was the duty of the men of the present generation to concede equal rights to women and above all the vote. After telling of the cordial reception extended to him by the women of the United States which he said was also extended to the women of France, he concluded by exhorting French women not to let themselves become wearied but to hold out to the end.

FAVOR REPUBLIC.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The Congress of Peasants' Delegates of all Russia has joined in the movement for the establishment of a Republic in Russia. It has adopted a resolution in favor of a Federal Republic on democratic lines.

COUNCIL STATES ITS VIEWS.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates has issued a statement regarding the entry of their delegates into the Provisional Government with a view of meeting certain criticisms of their action. The statement says, first, that Socialist Ministers were sent into the Government by the Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, with a definite mandate to secure a general peace by agreement between the nations and not to prolong an imperialistic war in the name of the liberation of nations. Second, that the Socialist participation in Government does not mean a cessation of the struggle of the classes but on the contrary its prolongation by a political power. It was for this reason that the entry of the Socialists into the Ministry with representatives of the Bourgeoisie parties was impossible until some of the enemies of the Russian proletariat were interned and others removed from power by the movement of the revolutionary masses on the second and third of May. Third, that the participation of the Socialists in the Government is being carried out by conditions of the most complete liberty being enjoyed by the proletariat and the army. This liberty being entirely unaffected by martial law, political censorship or other restrictions, the organized control by the working classes of their representatives is effective enough. Fourth, that the entry of its representatives into the Government does not mean for the Russian proletariat the weakening of the bonds uniting it with the Socialists of all countries who are struggling against imperialism but on the contrary the strengthening of those bonds by a more intense common struggle for a general peace.

NEW SPANISH CABINET.

MADRID, To-day. Eduardo Dato has accepted the task of forming a Cabinet. He will submit his list of Ministers to the King at noon.

NOTED AVIATOR KILLED.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. A Berlin despatch reports the death in action in Flanders of Baron Ernst von Pflener, one of Germany's most celebrated aviators.

HINDENBURG HASH.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Von Hindenburg has telegraphed to the Potsdam Union for a German peace. "I am sure that the army and people will be held together by the strong hand of our gracious Kaiser, will enforce against any power on earth such a peace as Germany desires so that the present war will not have been fought in vain."

ADVANCE SOUTH OF MESSINES.

LONDON, To-day. The British have made an additional advance south of Messines, according to an official statement issued by the War Office this morning.

THE FOX TROT.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Premier Radoslavoff, of Bulgaria, was summoned to Hamburg Castle on Saturday night following his arrival in Berlin, and spent Sunday in conference with the German Emperor and Field Marshal von Hindenburg. Later he left for Vienna.

QUITE CREDIBLE.

BERLIN, To-day. Bulgaria has no intention of trying to carry the war into Greece, according to a statement made by the Bulgarian Premier, M. Radoslavoff, in an interview given to a Berlin newspaper on Saturday. The Premier said that the Bulgarians were in a position to successfully resume the offensive against General Sarrail's army, but added: "It is not in the direction of our politics, however, to carry the war into Greece."

RAID ALIEN MEETING.

TORONTO, To-day. Detectives and plain clothes men yesterday afternoon raided Lodge 52 of the Social Democratic Party of Canada, which was holding a meeting in Occident Hall; 30 or more alien enemies who have accepted an undertaking from the Registrar, under which they were given their freedom with certain restrictions, were taken into custody. All the men in the room who had been nationalized citizens were not questioned after they had shown their papers.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, To-day. The statement follows: "There was considerable fighting on both sides during the night east of Epehy. Bodies of hostile troops assembled in this area were dispersed by our fire. We made a successful raid last night southwest of Labasse. Much damage was done to enemy's trenches and mine galleries and 13 prisoners were captured. Parties of our troops also raided German positions east of Vermeles and south of Armentieres. They inflicted a number of casualties on their enemies. Our own and the enemy's artillery showed great activity. Our line has again been advanced slightly south of Messines."

NORTHCLIFFE IN U.S.A.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, To-day. Northcliffe arrived in the United States to-day.

SOUND SENSE FROM RUSSIAN PAPER.

PETROGRAD, To-day. President Wilson's note to Russia dealing with the aims of the United States in the war is published to-day by all the morning newspapers. The Novoe Vremya, however, is the only journal which comments editorially on it. "Its aim," says the paper, "is to meet the artificiality with which Germany has sought to enslave Russian public opinion. The American President realises the source of the desperate agitation which has been made in Russia and other countries under the banner of social democracy and false pacifism. A copy of the note must be given to every soldier, workman and peasant. It must open the eyes of every one whose brain is not warped by the stupid and criminal stories that the war has started by capitalists for their own benefit. Russian democracy will be able to see the difference between the straightforward words of the American democracy and the crude lies by which servants of the German Emperor are trying to drive the world."

Sergt. A. Snow, D.C.M.

On June 2nd, Sergeant Augustus Snow, C.E.F., was presented with the Distinguished Conduct Medal by His Majesty the King for services rendered in the field. The presentation took place at Hyde Park, London, England. Sergt. "Gus" Snow was well known here, being a printer by trade. He enlisted with the Canadian Infantry at the outbreak of war and was on active service for over two years, during which period he took part in some of the heaviest battles on the Western Front and was twice wounded. He gradually won promotion in the ranks for his conduct and ability, and recently won honour and distinction for his gallantry and devotion to duty. He is the son of Mr. Geo. Snow, of Colonial Street, St. John's East, and has two older brothers with His Majesty's forces, Lieut. Joe with "ours" and Allan with the Royal Engineers. The Telegram tenderers its warmest congratulations to Mr. Snow on the honour achieved by his brave son.

Died at Lynn, Mass.

There passed away at Lynn, Mass., yesterday an old and respected Newfoundland in the person of Edward Bennett, at the ripe age of 80 years. Deceased, accompanied by his wife, left St. John's about four years ago to live with one of his sons, and prior to that resided in the city for thirty-five years. He was formerly a native of St. George's, where for close on half a century he was engaged at the fishery. He leaves five sons, four in the United States and one in Canada. Mrs. Mullaly, Patrick Street, is the only daughter. To the sorrowing relatives the Telegram offers its sympathy.

DISAGREE WITH THE DAYLIGHT BILL.—Hon. John Anderson was at the Court House at 9 o'clock last night and put on the hands of the steeple clock to the hour of ten. As a consequence many young folks who were walking countrywards had to make a hurried retreat in order to get home at the usual hour. It is assumed that on the way back many unfavourable things were said about the new Daylight Bill and Mr. Anderson.

PRISONERS TAKEN OVER 7,000.

LONDON, June 9. The prisoners taken in the British offensive now exceed 7,000, with a great deal of material still buried under the debris. Except for artillery fire, all is quiet on the Ypres front. Positions have been consolidated at Greenland Hill, etc. British air raids over the enemy lines have destroyed large accumulations of rolling stock.

COUNTER ATTACKS REPULSED.

LONDON, June 9. The British official statement follows: At 7 p.m. yesterday, after heavy artillery preparation, the enemy launched powerful counter attacks against nearly the whole of our new front south of Ypres, from St. Yves to the north of the Ypres-Comines Canal district, about six miles. The attack was delivered with large forces composed of fresh divisions brought up from the enemy reserves, and was pressed with determination. Under the destructive fire of our artillery and machine guns, it was completely repulsed at all points. Fighting was fierce east of Messines, also in the neighborhood of Klein-Zillebeke, north of the Canal. By midnight the enemy attacks had broken down with great loss all along the line, and our troops retained possession of the whole ground captured by us since the commencement of the battle. Operations were carried out by us with complete success last night further south on a wide front from the south of Loos to La Bassée. South of the Souchez River our troops entered German positions on a front of over two miles, and penetrated to a depth of more than half a mile. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy and more than 70 prisoners and a number of machine guns captured by us. Our own casualties were light. The enemy's trenches also were entered successfully north of the Souchez River, southeast of Loos and southwest of La Bassée. A large number of Germans were killed and great damage done to the enemy's defence. A further 44 prisoners, including three officers, were taken by us. The sector of the Hindenburg line still held by the enemy west of Bullecourt was raided by our troops last night, and a number of the hostile garrison killed or taken prisoners.

ENEMY LOSE HEAVILY.

LONDON, June 9. The raid Saturday morning, it is known, resulted in the infliction of far more serious losses on the enemy than at first estimated, while our own casualties were light, considering the number of men engaged and the depth to which the enemy's position was penetrated. In one section of the front, it is said in the official report, thirty dead were counted and 12 prisoners were taken by our men, whose losses were only two killed and five wounded. If the enemy loss along the entire front was in the same proportion to ours, in this small portion, the raid must have cost him more casualties than any other affair on this part of the line since the battle of Yvry Ridge. A new method of warfare was used by the Canadians for the first time. It was the projection before the assault of two hundred drums of burning oil into a part of the enemy front.

THE KING'S CONGRATULATIONS.

LONDON, June 9. It was officially announced to-day that King George sent Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, Commander of the British forces in France and Belgium, the following message: "We rejoice that, thanks to the thorough preparation and splendid co-operation of all arms, the important Messines Ridge, which has been the scene of so many memorable struggles, is again in our hands. Tell General Pflumer and the Second Army how proud we are of this achievement by which in a few hours the enemy was driven out of the strongly entrenched positions, which had been held by him for two and a half years."

BRITISH LOSSES SLIGHT.

LONDON, June 9. Referring to the exaggerated German statements with regard to the number of British casualties in the battle of Messines Ridge, Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France says that up to Friday evening the number of all ranks who failed to respond to the roll call on the British side was just about ten thousand. Judging from past experience about sixty per cent. of these are men wounded so slightly that they are able to walk, and of the remainder a number will be able to rejoin the regiments later.

RUSSIAN SUCCESS.

PETROGRAD, June 9. In the Carpathians northwest of Rafatovka, two Russian scouting parties surrounded wire entanglements and attacked the Austrians, driving them from their trenches, says today's official announcement. Eleven men were captured and the others bayoneted. On the remainder of the front, rifle firing. A German airplane was brought down in flames in the region of Kozov, and its occupants captured.

OSTEND DESERTED.

LONDON, June 9. The Admiralty official issued to-night reads: The Vice-Admiral of Dover reports that the latest reconnaissance of Ostend shows that all large shipping has been removed from that harbor. Two destroyers lately reported being towed to Zeebrugge are probably those damaged during the bombardment and which had been removed from the basin. The harbor presents a deserted appearance.

GERMAN GENERAL CAPTURED.

PARIS, June 9. It is reported from Hazelbrouck, Northern France, behind the British front, that among the German prisoners who passed through that town yesterday was a General who is said to have been captured single-handed by a soldier.

EARTHQUAKE REPORTED.

WASHINGTON, June 9. Observers at the Georgetown University reported to-day that their seismograph had recorded an earthquake approximately 3,500 miles from here, and therefore not connected with the Salvadoran quake. The signs of the disturbance were first noted at 11.40 p.m. Saturday. They lasted nearly till one o'clock this morning.

WHAT BERLIN SAYS.

BERLIN, June 9. British troops which attacked last night on the front south of Ypres were repulsed, the war office reports. German troops penetrated the French positions at several points, and returned with a considerable number of prisoners.

SWEDISH VESSELS SUNK.

COPENHAGEN, June 9. The Swedish sailing vessels Alida and Helene have been sunk by a German submarine. A third ship was halted, but permitted to proceed with the crews of the vessels which had been sunk.

ST. PETER ADMITS THE KAISER.

LONDON, June 9. Emperor William, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, Prince Eitel Frederick and other members of the German Emperor's staff were inside St. Peter's station in Ghent, Belgium, when it was bombarded by the English Allied airmen the other day, according to a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from a Dutch frontier correspondent. The Emperor's party was unhurt, but three army officers nearby were killed.

SUCCESSFUL AIR RAID.

LONDON, June 9. A successful air raid was carried out on Saturday on the aerodrome at St. Dennis, western Belgium; all pilots and machines returned safely.

SPAIN'S CABINET.

MADRID, June 9. The Marquis Manuel Garcia Prieto, has tendered to the King the resignation of the cabinet.

DIED OF WOUNDS.

DUBLIN, June 9. The announcement was made here to-day of the death of Wm. Redmond, member of the Commons for the East division of Clare, from wounds received in action on June 7th.

NORWEGIAN SUNK.

CHRISTIANIA, June 9. The Norwegian steamer Bolleta, 1,701 tons gross, was torpedoed off the Spanish coast June 3rd; crew landed.

GERMAN INTRIGUE.

PETROGRAD, June 9. The Council of Soldiers' and Workmen has made public the fact that the German Commander-in-Chief on the Eastern front sent a wireless message inviting the Russian armies to a separate armistice, and proposing they enter into secret pour parlers with the German leaders. The Council denounced the proposals. In his telegram, according to the Council's announcement, the German commander proposed to show the armies the way towards an honorable peace and the means of ceasing to wage war without a rupture with the Entente allies.

MINEIS RESCUED.

BUTTE, Montana, June 9. Twenty-eight men entombed in Speculator mine since the fire of Friday night were brought to the surface alive at 1.40 o'clock this afternoon. Of the 28 rescued men one was so far gone that resuscitation was impossible. Finding the men alive stimulated the efforts of rescue teams. There is strong hope that others may be found alive.

STILL UNSSETTLED.

PETROGRAD, June 9. As a result of renewed defiance of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates at Kronstadt which yesterday declared its resolution deposing the Petrograd Government, still holds good, and the situation is again aggravated. The Provisional government has recalled from Kronstadt all officials of the department of control and the Ministry of Justice, some officials and others officers. This is interpreted as preliminary to stern measures which have been threatened by the government. The officials of the bureau of post-telegraphs have not yet been recalled.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, June 9. The official report from British headquarters in France to-night reads: The enemy made no further counter attacks south of Ypres, but his artillery is active in this region. We carried out a successful raid to-day south of the Souchez River. Hostile artillery has been active in the neighborhood of Fontaine-lez-Croiselles. Six German airplanes were brought down yesterday in an air fight. Three others were driven out of control. Three of ours are missing.

A Wonderful Help in Keeping the Complexion Youthful and Clear.

Perhaps you wonder how so many women manage to have a complexion that is always fresh and clear, and how you can make your complexion better. Here's the secret:—

This is the Vanishing Cream that softens the skin and gives it that soft, velvety radiance that we all desire. Nyal's Face Cream is not oily or greasy, and it is readily absorbed by the skin, vanishing without leaving any tell tale gloss on skin. The skin welcomes this pleasant, soothing, cooling cream. It makes dry, tight skin soft and pliable. It makes rough skin firm and smooth, and gradually gives to coarse rough skin a finer, more delicate texture.

Fishermen!

This is the Jigger that catches all the fish all the time. Use an ordinary or wedge-shaped lead with two swivels and the jigger will spin like a Minnow. It's marvellous how it catches so much fish. Used exclusively in Norway. Try it.

OPENING ANNOUNCEMENT!

This House of Good Shoes takes pleasure in announcing its readiness to furnish its patrons with the Best of Foot-wear. The Store lately used as a Ladies' Department has been converted into
