LADY LAURAS' RELEASE

THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER LVIII

"Miss Rane has been found drowned in the ornamental lake at Brantome Park."

Captain Wynyard fell, as though shot, to the ground. Colonel Moncrieff suddenly remembered to have heard some rumors about the captain and Miss Rane, and he felt how indiscreet he had been.

"I should have been more careful," he said to himself. "I ought to have remembered."

He would not call any one to his aid, but went quietly into the house, and fetched a glass of brandy. He held it to the captain's lips, and in a few minutes Captain Wynyard opened his eyes.

"Is it true?" he gasped.

"I am afraid so," replied the colonel. "Early this morning one of the keepers at Brantome, passing by the lake, noticed something unusual. He went to see what it was, and found Miss Rane's body in the lake."

"Miss Rane!" cried the captain. "It is impossible! Miss Rane drowned at Brantome! What could she have been doing there?"

"No one knows; but there she was, poor lady! And they have brought her home dead."

"Dead!" repeated the captain; and Hugh Moncrieff never forgot the horror with which his friend uttered the word. He trembled like a leaf, his brain reeled, his eyes became dim.

"Help me, Moncrieff," he said. "My sight and my strength are gone from me, for I loved Gladys Rane. Help me back to my room, and leave me there alone."

Colonel Moncrieff did as he was told; and the next minute the unhappy man was alone, his face buried in his hands.

"Let me try to think clearly," he said. "I murdered Angela Rooden—sung her into the lake. Yet Gladys Rane is found there. Are they both drowned? It was Angela; I could swear it, although I did not see her face. I knew the silver-gray wrapper, which I bought and gave to her myself and the dark rippling hair. Besides, Angela was at Brantome; but how could Gladys have come there? Yet no one speaks of finding Angela. Could I—oh, perish the thought—could I have mistaken one for the other?"

A cry of despair burst from his white lips, but he recovered himself almost immediately. The idea was absurd. Gladys knew nothing of

"When I began taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I was so nervous that when I picked up a cup of tea my hand would tremble like a leaf. I could not sleep well; could not remember things, and there were neuralgic pains through my body. After taking seven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am in perfect health."

Brantome, she did not even know Angela was there; and how could she be wearing the silver-gray wrap that belonged to his wife's daughter?

"What a horrible idea!" he said to himself, with a forced laugh. "Some might call it a righteous retribution, if I had slain the woman I loved instead of the girl I hate. But it is impossible. Another dead body will be found in the Brantome lake. I must go there and solve the mystery for myself."

His face was terrible to see as he passed through the crowded hall, where unutterable confusion reigned, where women were weeping and men spoke in hushed voices. More than one paused to look at him as he hurried out, a white, set expression on his face, a wild fire burning in his eyes. He walked like a man pursued by a demon, his whole being absorbed in the one thought: Could he by accident, by mistake, by some horrible combination of circumstances have killed the woman he loved.

He shuddered when he caught sight of the water, the marble terrace, the white steps gleaming in the sunlight. To his horror and amazement, as he approached the lake he beheld Angela Rooden—Angela, whom he believed he had slain. Ah, Heaven! who was the woman he had sent swiftly, cruelly, to her death?

Angela had gone back to the lake-side, irresistibly drawn thither as by a spell. She had given up all thought of going to London on that day; she was too agitated and excited to travel. As she walked along the bank, she caught sight of Captain Wynyard his face so pale, so desperate, that she hardly recognized him; and his eyes, when they met hers, were filled with a murderous hate. She went up to him, nothing daunted.

"You have heard?" she said. "You know?"

"I know," he replied. "I would to Heaven I had died in her place!"

"Why do you look at me in that terrible way?" she asked.

"Tell me!" he cried. "I have heard the words; but I cannot believe them. Tell me Gladys Rane is dead."

"Alas, Gladys Rane is dead!" said Angela, in a low, soft voice. "But how did she get here, Captain Wynyard? Why did she come here?"

"I do not know," he replied; "no one knows. Did she know that you were here?" he asked, gloomily.

"No," replied Angela. "But there is something I had better tell you, Captain Wynyard, although it had better be told to no one else. I went to Cuddale yesterday, and on my way back quite unexpectedly I met Miss Rane. I met her face to face, so that it was impossible to avoid speaking to her. What passed between us does not matter. I asked her to promise not to tell you that I was here, and she gave me that promise." Then, looking into the captain's face, she added—"I see now that you knew."

"Go on, for Heaven's sake! Go on!" he cried.

"We walked together to the King's Meadow, where we sat down for some time and talked. I left her in ignorance of where I was staying, and I purposely went out of my way to mislead her."

"Go on!" he cried. "You speak so slowly, Angela!"

His eyes were fixed hungrily on the girl's face as though he could have torn the words from her lips.

"I left her in the King's Meadow," continued Angela, "and I never saw her again until this morning, when they laid her on the terrace there. But," she went on, "I believe I know how she came here." Then she told him of the two roads, the one leading to Cuddale, the other to Brantome, adding—"I feel sure that she took the wrong road."

It was a simple enough solution of what had seemed to him a great mystery.

"It must have been so!" he sighed. "I did not say this morning that I knew her," Angela went on. "There was no need. But why are you looking at me in that strange way?"

"Were you here yesterday," he asked, suddenly—"here, on these steps?"

"No," she replied. "I was not. I never came near here yesterday."

"You did not rest on the steps there?"

"I never even approached the lake," she answered, earnestly.

From gray to livid, from livid to a horrible white, his face changed as he listened. Whose, then, could the outstretched hand that he had turned from have been—whose the figure that he had hurled into the lake?

CHAPTER LVIII

The captain's singular questions and his general demeanor satisfied Angela that there was something terribly wrong.

"Were you here yesterday, that you ask such strange questions?" she asked. "You must have been, to have seen any one near the lake." Then she paused abruptly. "You were here!" she cried.

He stood before her, as terrible a picture of guilt as man ever presented.

Suddenly her eyes fell on a remnant of the silver-gray wrapper lying on the ground. Seizing it hastily she held it before him.

"See," she cried, "this was her shroud! It was found clinging to her dress. Oh, Heaven, I begin to understand! When I was with her yesterday I wore this; and, leaving her in great sorrow and excitement, I forgot it, and she must have put it on."

Murder shone in the livid face turned to her; murder gleamed in the fierce eyes. The girl shrunk back from him, though not daunted.

"You did it!" she cried. "As surely as Heaven is above us, you did it! I read murder in your face!" She was silent for a moment, then a cry that she never forgot came from her lips. "I see it all," she went on.

"Gladys Rane's life has been taken in a mistake for mine. You came here, you saw her, and, wearing this, you thought it was I—and you killed her!"

"You killed her instead of me!" she continued. "Murderer! You cannot deny it! No human eyes may have seen you; but neither you nor any other can escape the all-seeing eyes of Him before whom you have so mercilessly sent Gladys Rane. Your crime is known in Heaven, if not on earth."

is sharp as wine,
A man that has no vision
golden goal he seeks,
And doesn't hear the language
the voice of nature speaks.

But I am prey to woods and fields sunny hills and streams,
And I've a soul which likes to and tease itself with dreams,
And weak am I that should be —a sunbeam on a pond
Has but to wink an eye at me,
a vagabond.

BONAR LAW ON HOLIDAY.
LONDON, April 29.
Premier Bonar Law left London to-day for a sea trip, according to official announcement. There is no information as to the vessel or route. Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will, as leader, have the responsibility of making decisions usually in the province of the Prime Minister.

FRENCH TROOPS FOR SYRIA.
PARIS, April 29.
France is sending more troops to Syria to hold mandated territory against any possible aggression by Turks. France has now 26,000 men in Syria, but the northern front is two hundred miles long and a Turkish army corps of 20,000 is concentrated there with additional forces on the way. Measures have been taken, however, it is understood, as a precaution, for General Pelle brought from Lausanne a report of his long talks with Ismet Pasha. French consider more encouraging than Ismet's attitude in the Conference. The situation in Syria was described in Government circles to-day as at least disquieting.

PRINCE UNVEILS BRUSSELS MONUMENT.
BRUSSELS, April 29.
In the presence of the King and Queen of the Belgians, Cardinal Mercier, Field Marshal Haig and a great concourse of people, the Prince of Wales on Saturday unveiled the monument, erected by the British people in recognition of the assistance rendered by the Belgians during the war.

KYLE BREAKS PROPELLOR BLADE.
NORTH SYDNEY, April 29.
The Newfoundland steamer Kyle was proceeding this morning through heavy close packed ice inside St. Paul's Island, and did not expect to reach here before daybreak. She broke one propeller blade. About sixty passengers are aboard.

MANY SAVED—THIRTY LOST.
CAPE TOWN, April 29.
The Portuguese gunboat, Salvador Correia, arrived at Mossamemos in Portuguese West Africa on Friday with one hundred and ten survivors of the steamer Mossamemos, wrecked several days ago at Cape Frio. Eighty four survivors have landed at Port Alexander and the French gunboat Cassiope has thirty-three others. One lifeboat was upset, drowning seven, one boat is missing; two hundred and twenty-seven of the two hundred and fifty-eight are known to have been saved.

THREE FRENCHMEN KILLED IN RUHR.
BERLIN, April 29.
Three French railway officials were killed in a dynamite outrage against a French passenger train.

Woodford and Kennedy at Kelligrews.

A grand meeting was held in the schoolroom at Middle Blight on April 26th inst. Promptly at 8 o'clock the candidates arrived and were given hearty cheers. It was proposed by Mr. Eli Dawe and seconded by Mr. Matthew Hennessy that Mr. Samuel J. Hynes be Chairman. Mr. Hynes readily responded, saying that he deemed it a privilege and an honour to preside at such a large gathering. In a few well chosen remarks he introduced Messrs. Woodford and Kennedy as the candidates for the Hon. J. R. Bennett's Party. The first speaker was Mr. Woodford, who in a telling address, which lasted for an hour, showed up the Government in its maladministration of the past three and a half years. Mr. Woodford brought home to the audience the cruel way in which the Government was appealing to the country on a Deaf, of which the people know nothing. Mr. Woodford was given a great ovation as he resumed his seat.

Mr. Kennedy was the next speaker, and was greeted with loud and prolonged cheers. He dealt with the Fisheries Regulations and showed how they had ruined many fishermen, and had practically wiped out our fishing industry. Mr. Squires' cry of down with the merchants was an empty cry. Mr. Kennedy went on to show that the merchants were the mainstay of the country. Who would the fishermen look to for supplies if not for the merchants. All through his speech he showed up the Government and the way it had failed the people by not keeping a promise made in 1919. At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Kennedy was given a rousing cheer. Mr. Chaulker was the next speaker and in an able manner laid bare the doings of the Government. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem, after which the hall shook with cheers for Woodford and Kennedy and BENNETT and BETTER TIMES. Kelligrews will poll the largest vote on record for Woodford and Kennedy.

Political Paragraphs. The Blight of Coakerism.

Fishermen of Newfoundland! On Polling Day, May 3rd, strike a blow for freedom!

Break the chains of Coakerism that have bound you in slavery for three and a half years.

You can have no doubt now that Coaker is an enemy of the fishermen. As by his fruits you must judge him.

His fishery policy put you on the rocks, ruined the sale of fish and shut off supplies.

Vote then to end this. Vote for Bennett and Better Times.

Laborers of St. John's, vote for a change. The snow and rock industries are poor business for men who have been always used to men's work.

Coaker and Squires have shown themselves to be the enemies of labor, the decent, manly labor that you have been accustomed to.

Coaker once called the St. John's laborers "drunken bums" and "lazy loafers." Remember this insult when polling day comes and vote for Bennett and Better Times.

Who reduced the country from a condition of prosperity to one of destitution and adversity? Coaker and Squires.

Who destroyed the fishery, ruined the fishermen and made fish unsaleable? William Ford Coaker.

Who increased taxation 100 per cent, deprived the laborers of employment and ruined the tradesmen? Squires and Coaker.

Fishermen, Laborers and Tradesmen. Remember this on Thursday next and vote to put them out. Vote for Bennett and Better Times.

Vote the straight ticket for the Bennett candidates. Coakerism must go.

The northern districts will help in the defeat of Coakerism on May the 3rd.

The country is groaning under destitution caused by Squires and Coaker during the past three years. Vote then for Bennett and Better Times.

The country sorely needs a change.

To get back our prosperity vote for a change.

To restore confidence in public affairs, vote for a change.

To restore laborers and tradesmen to happy conditions and good wages vote for a change.

To revive the industries of the country vote for a change.

To reduce taxation, vote for a change.

To restore the country to her former prosperity, vote for a change.

VOTE FOR BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES!

When YOU Buy Sunlight Soap You Get More Soap For Less Money!

Every bar of Sunlight Soap is guaranteed pure Soap. Sunlight never becomes bad, in fact it improves with age, and is so pure, that it will not injure even a baby's tender skin. Levers 1000 pounds guarantee of purity proves the truth of these assertions.

Sunlight Soap, being ALL PURE SOAP, without the addition of injurious chemicals, will remove the dirt from even the finest clothing, without in any way injuring the clothing.

Cheap, injurious soaps, will injure your clothing and as clothing costs more than soap, it will not pay you to save a few cents on soap, only to lose several dollars on your clothing, therefore, use Sunlight Soap, which is guaranteed, ALL PURE SOAP.

Sunlight Soap in 12 ounce bars costs 15 cents per bar, therefore, a bar of Sunlight costs no more than any 8 ounce bar for which you pay 10 cents or any 4 ounce bar for which you pay 5 cents.

From the foregoing you will realize that an 8 ounce bar of soap for 10 cents is not cheaper than a 12 ounce bar of Sunlight for 15 cents. Don't let anyone fool you into thinking otherwise. Sunlight is the purest and least expensive of laundry soaps.

If you buy Sunlight Soap in cartons containing 3 bars of 12 ounces each, the cost will be less than for any 8 ounce soap at 10 cents, but as Sunlight is the best and purest of soap, you will really get more soap for less money.

A Call to the West End Voters.

BY A TRUE HEARTED WEST END-ER.

Young voters of the West End, the eyes of the East End and suburban towns are upon you. Within the last twenty-five years you have come into your own and have asserted your rights. Many years ago the writer heard one high up in authority in the land say that it was a shame to build any fancy buildings in the West End of the city. What a change in these years! You now have the Railway Station and many stately and ornamental buildings in your midst. Leslie Street was considered by the wild woods thirty years ago; now beautiful residential buildings are on that street and far beyond it. But voters, it was not men like Campbell and Squires that have brought about this change. If you put them in power again you will witness streets of vacant houses in this city of St. John's. The Humber Valley may be all right but you young men of St. John's will not go cutting logs in the wilderness. Young married men of St. John's West will not be able to bring their families there for some years and will be up against the double expense of paying board on the Humber and keeping their families in St. John's. It would be better for you St. John's voters to go to the States where industries are not in the initial stages. Very few of you will get accustomed to lumber work; so the Humber has no interest for you personally. Squires boasts of his brains, his ability, his scholarships, etc., but to-day you have men in St. John's City who have all these things and yet can hardly earn their living. If you cannot reduce brains to practical effort—and this, Squires has not been able to do for the good of this country—brains count for nothing. Squires has worked on borrowed money so far, so could any one of you, even those with only fair ability. He will do the same if you return him to power. Rock-breaking by hand is the last resource for hungry men in the Old Country. Squires knows this. He wouldn't condescend to notice each man in England when entering or leaving his grand hotel. He won't notice the West Enders after his second return to power. This is his last time to call for your votes so squelch him and his Coaker tribe who haven't spirit enough in them

BIG HEARTED WEST ENDER.

They Are on the Run.

NOW MEN MAKE A GOOD JOB OF IT.

Do the Government party think that the people can forget the suffering they endured the past three years and a half by the destruction of all industries brought on by Coaker's crazy legislation? Do they imagine that all this talk about the Humber Deal, the particulars of which Squires is afraid to reveal, will soothe the outraged feelings of the fishermen and laborers, who have been reduced to a condition bordering on starvation by the conduct of the Government in its interference with the trade and fisheries of the country. The people of Newfoundland are just as capable and intelligent as those of any other country, and they know in this case where their interest lies. They know how to remedy existing evils and that it is in their own hands to make the first move towards this end. They will, we feel confident, apply the remedy on May the 3rd by voting for

Remember, Coaker Will

CONTROL SQUIRES IF THEY GET IN.

The Government organs claim that Coaker will get eleven men in the North. If that be so it is a warning to other parts of the country to vote for Bennett unless the people are prepared to accept dictation from Coaker and his Union followers for four years more. This country has had a sad experience of Coaker's misrule. The fishermen and the laboring classes of the country know to their grief what Coaker's domination has brought in its trail to this unfortunate country since 1919 and there is no doubt that the same or greater tyrant will prevail if they get a new lease of power. Realizing this they should vote to a man against the possibility of a continuance of Coaker's domination. A vote for Squires, remember is a vote for Coaker. The Government supporters themselves every day confirm the belief that Coaker will dominate Squires again when they count on his eleven men in the North. They are prepared to submit to this for the sake of getting graft after the election. We have confidence in the intelligence of the Western people and the people of Conception Bay that they will refuse to continue as Coaker's slaves. No, they realize only too well the damage done this country by the present incapable Government. They see too well the ruin wrought by Coaker's crazy policy in the Fish Regulations and they know that their only salvation is in voting for a change. We feel that the reason for this are so glaring and so evident that the whole country will unite against the menace of Coakerism and that on the 3rd they will vote for BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

AT WEST END COMMITTEE ROOMS
 At the West End Committee Rooms Saturday night, the candidates, Messrs. Linegar and Hunt addressed an overflow meeting. Mr. Linegar, dealing with the result of the canvass made comparison of the wonderful receptions being accorded them in sections, which in 1919 were regarded as strongholds of the Government. There is not the slightest doubt, said Mr. Linegar, that St. John's West is going to vote straight ticket for the Bennett candidates. Mr. C. E. Hunt gave a forceful speech on the manner in which the Government papers were flouting the name of Cashin. The reason was obviously one which intelligent voters would not stand for. The vilification of Sir Michael Cashin was only a method of hiding the true issue of the election which was "are the people prepared to have the Coaker menace continued." The Bennett party was out to defeat "Coakerism," and that is why all men who had the interest of the country at heart were supporting the Bennett candidates.

Bennett's Great Reception at Spaniard's Bay.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir—Will you kindly give me space in your esteemed paper to say a few remarks on the political meeting which was held here last night (Thursday, 26th April). I may say, Sir, without fear of contradiction that it was the best ever held here. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity, some three hundred (300) voters being present. The oration given the different speakers was most enthusiastic. The first speaker being Hon. J. R. Bennett and in a way which is a credit to himself and Spaniard's Bay he outlined his policy and criticized the Government for their misdoings for the past three and a half years of control. He also spoke on the Humber Deal project and the Fisheries, and the latter he (Mr. J. R. Bennett) is going to back to the last inch. In concluding he asked every man when they go to mark their X to vote straight for Bennett, Hickman and Archibald. I have lots to back me when I say the hall rang with cheer after cheer for so long as ten minutes and then the Chairman had to use the gavel.

Now, Sir, the next called on to address the meeting was Mr. A. E. Hickman, and in a most forceful address he told us of some of the dirty work that was done by the present administration, and in concluding he was given such an applause that the windows had to be opened so that the voices could echo and re-echo through the settlement.

Now, Sir, last but not least Mr. F. C. Archibald was the speaker. He (Frank) is known around the District as "Big Hearted Frank." He was born in Harbor Grace and is a thorough Newfoundlander with the right red blood in his veins, and I venture to say, Sir, that he is a credit to his native town and the district in general. He is a born politician and a fine speaker. When he begins there is a job to stop him, but he doesn't hit below the belt. Every word he says there is some weight into it, as he well did prove, Sir, when he cleared out from the Squires combination and took an independent seat after sitting one year with them. I may say, Sir, that we can't boost Frank Archibald too much as nearly every one knows him in this old District of Harbour Grace as a gentleman.

Now, Sir, to get at his speech of last night it was such that the audience could not keep still but kept up continually cheer after cheer, and I can tell you he didn't spit it out and was cheered time and again. At his concluding remarks he asked one and all to vote for Bennett, Hickman and Archibald, and the reply came from hundreds of throats "Yes," and then the cheers were deafening.

Well, Sir, I don't want to intrude on your valuable space any further, but I feel it an encumbrance on me to say that we back up Port de Grave District in falling in line with Harbor Grace District, and that the people are not believing Mr. John LeDrew's statement of Mr. McKay ridiculing the statement of the disablement of our friend, Mr. A. W. Piccott. We are duly bound to vote the straight ticket for J. R. Bennett, A. E. Hickman and F. C. Archibald for BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

A Nice Young Man.

Mr. Dunfield is a nice young man and has a nice appearance. After the ballots are counted he will have a sad appearance. He says "Squires has brought you bad times, but he is trying to defeat the candidates opposed to Squires. Consistency thou art a jewel."

Mr. Dunfield says "The Government wants watching on the Humber Deal so that they cannot throw away our birthright for a mess of pottage."

Mr. Dunfield has endeared himself to the printers of the city in particular by getting his printing done in Halifax. This is a good start at encouraging home industry.

We would say to Mr. Dunfield in all love and charity: "This is no time for a so-called Independent. The country wants a change and voters will make certain of a change by dropping 'Independents,' and voting for those candidates opposed to Squires and Coaker."

The Flag and the Jar.

Editor Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir—It has come to my ears that certain Squiresites are busy saying English was drunk at the Majestic Theatre, Wednesday night. This is a malicious falsehood as I have never been drunk in my life and never take spirits. I may add that only toughs of the Squires type of hoodlums require to screw up their courage to the fighting temper, and there were many bottles in evidence among the Squires supporters at the Majestic. If the tough who took hold of me to put me out thought he had a cur to deal with, all I can say is, he has another guess coming. It is openly said on the street that Squires supplied his tools with plenty of rum for that occasion. I saw men drinking from bottles that night and every drink was followed by senseless and aimless shouting for Squires. The recourse to the rum bottle is a pretty mean shift and only paltry men must fall back on what is humorously called Dutch courage.

Yours truly,
ARTHUR ENGLISH.

Earnest Shipman Pays Dividends.

OTTAWA PRODUCTION DECLARES 15 PER CENT.

The productions of "The Man From Glengarry," and "Glengarry School Days," produced in Ottawa not many months ago by Ernest Shipman, have already declared a 15 per cent dividend. This early profit has been made possible by Mr. Shipman obtaining a cash advance on each picture from the distributor after the pictures were found to be what Shipman, the producer, claimed them to be. Those in St. John's, who were associated with the film magnate last summer will welcome this news, as it shows what can be accomplished with the Newfoundland photoplay. The Telegram is informed that the above productions were given a tremendous reception when recently shown in New York.

Trick to Get Begrudged Praise.

There is a story of a famous musical work which serves to show how easily false history can be made when desired. Hector Berlioz, the founder of programme music, was disliked by many of the musical critics in Paris. His scathing sarcasm, his boldness, and his extreme demands in orchestral matters made him many enemies, who attacked his music root and branch.

About this time Berlioz discovered an old musical score by an unknown composer. Berlioz transcribed it and wrote it in modern form.

The Sweetness of Revenge.

When it was given publicly in Berlioz's transcription the critics found traces in some of the numbers; they discovered mediæval music in its best state, and a few even hinted that if Berlioz could write something like that he might indeed have hopes of becoming a composer.

Then came the sweet revenge. He explained there was no mediæval manuscript; there was no "musical discovery"; he had written every note himself, and he was greatly obliged to the critics, who had at last given him hearty praise.

Many a musician has gone into ecstasies over Mozart's Twelfth Mass and the "Gloria" in this has been spoken of as an excellent example of Mozart's power.

But it is highly probable that Mozart never wrote it. It is one of the most doubtful works in the music catalogue, and was perhaps made up of various excerpts from unknown sources.

More Precious Than Gold.

There may come a time when there will be a "rush" to Papua for a metal called osmiridium, which is eight times as valuable as gold.

Not long ago a small parcel of the metal, weighing 2 3/4 lb., was sold for £1,200. It is used in minute quantities with its alloy iridium for the tipping of fountain pen points and for very delicate bearings of fine machinery.

Its presence in Papua, British New Guinea, was discovered by a curious accident. Some gold prospectors were washing gravel in one of the river beds, and in the process discarded a bluish-grey substance as worthless, not knowing that they were throwing away a metal worth $40 an ounce.

When they returned to camp they mentioned the stuff to a mining engineer, who said: "It must be osmiridium; where did you leave it?"

They told him that it was still on the river bank, but when the party returned, tropical rains and a swollen river had washed most of it away. However, they scraped together every grain they could find, and the result was that Papua became a happy hunting ground for osmiridium.

"Up Guards, and At Them!"

Coaker the Supreme Issue: Will You Longer Endure Him?

Coaker is the Supreme Issue in this election. As Mr. Dunfield has said, in effect, if Squires is returned, Coaker will put him there. Elections are uncertain things, but nothing in this campaign can be much more certain than this, that if Coaker fails, Squires is done, and if Squires is not beaten, Coaker will be the dominant force in his government.

What does this mean to the Colony at large, and what especially does it mean to St. John's? Coaker has said that he resigned from the Government because inside of it he was bound by the decisions of his colleagues, but that outside of it, he would be free to do as he pleased, and the Government would do as he ordered.

What would his orders be? Judge him by the record of the past three and a half years. He ordered the Fishery Regulations, and the fish trade of the colony was smitten, a tragic blow from which it is still reeling. He ordered the Railway Commission, of which he was Chairman, and it cost the Colony a million dollars more in one year to operate the railway than it will cost under a capable manager. He ordered half a million dollars spent to buy fish from his own constituents, and lost fifty per cent. of it in shipping part of it to market under his own control.

Judge of what he aims to do by his own declarations! He has declared that the fish trade of the Colony shall be put under the control of a Committee appointed by himself; that, in short, vested interests and established methods shall be scrapped for a system of trade over which he shall be an autocrat. He would create conditions infinitely worse than those the Fishery Regulations created. He has declared that he will sell the Labrador to Canada, thus imposing Confederation on the Colony by piecemeal. If he be given power in face of these plain declarations of what he will do, will he stop short of Confederation itself for this Colony if he can get his price?

What did Coaker threaten to do to St. John's, and how has he carried it out? "I will make the grass grow on her streets," he said, and has he not done so? He first diverted trade, as far as possible, by establishing the head-quarters of the Union Trading Co. at Port Union, and then he struck a staggering blow by the infamous Fishery Regulations on the trade that was left this doomed city. He has taken away or destroyed the work and wages of thousands in our midst, there are many hungry women and children amongst us whose wretchedness is directly due to the malice and madness of this man Coaker, and yet what he has done to create wretchedness here is as nothing to what he has boldly declared he will do if permitted.

And yet, while Coaker is the bold, bad man, the crafty supple tool with which he has worked is Squires. Fluent, crafty and pushing, he is also untruthful, dishonest and unreliable, and knowing the better part, he has again and again performed or permitted the wickedness Coaker has devised or executed. Coaker could not have procured the enforcement of the Fishery Regulations if Squires had not weakly consented. Coaker could not have wasted money on railway operation, or robbed the Colony to buy fish, or carried out the hundred and one scandals he has been guilty of without the complicity of Squires. And Coaker will be helpless to damage the Colony hereafter if Squires is not in a position to aid him. Separated, they are fangless, but united they are as dangerous as dogs with hydrophobia.

Now, electors of the Colony, and especially of St. John's West, you have the power to protect yourselves, by your votes on election day. Do not be deluded by the thought that Squires is clever, for he is also untrustworthy, and mere catarracts of words and effusive promises will not make up for the lack of solid work and accomplished deeds. Remember that behind Squires sneaks the sinister form of Coaker! A VOTE FOR SQUIRES IS A VOTE FOR COAKER.

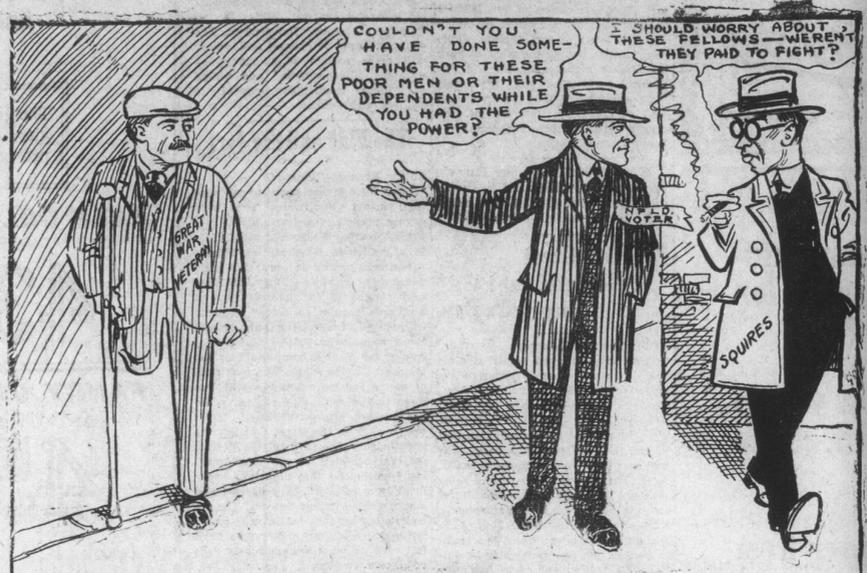

Electors of the Colony, if you do not wish your trade again thrown into disastrous turmoil; Electors of Conception Bay, especially, if you do not wish the Labrador sold; Electors of St. John's, in particular, if you do not wish decay in your streets, and need in your homes, vote against Coaker, against Coakerite candidates, against all mere Coaker pawns, and above all, against Squires, whose superficial appearance of talents, and admitted gifts, make him all the more dangerous as a Coaker helper, "for his thoughts are low, to vice industrious, but to better deeds timorous and slothful," and Coaker would use him for purposes destructive to you. It is, in truth, "time for a change," and you should vote for "Bennett and Better Times."

Nancy Lee Arrives.

The three masted vessel "Nancy Lee," Capt. J. Wiltshire, after a passage of 30 days from Barbados, arrived in port yesterday morning at 1 o'clock. Capt. Wiltshire reports that good weather was met with on the first part of the run. Nearing this coast the vessel ran into heavy fields of ice, and for 14 days much sailing about was done in trying to avail of an opening to get in. The Nancy Lee sighted no vessels throughout the run. The vessel brought a large cargo of molasses, consigned to various firms in the city.

BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES

Hurrah for Conception Bay!

Coakerism and Squiresism Meets Their Waterloo--Nine Seats Sure for Bennett

Messages from Bay-de-Verde, Port-de-Grave, Spantard's Bay, Bay Roberts, Harbor Grace, Harbor Main and a d Carbonare received by hundreds in the city during the past few days indicate sweeping majorities for Bennett candidates in every district in Conception Bay, and Govt. supporters refuse to wager on any of all of the constituencies mentioned. The tide of victory increased one hundred per cent. in volume in favor of the Bennett and Better Times Party since Friday, and from every viewpoint it is reasonably admitted that Squires and Coaker will not get one seat out of the districts mentioned and that Bennett will have at least 24 seats whilst it is evident that this number will be materially increased when the poll is completed. The 3rd of May, 1923, will be an eventful day in the Colony's history. It will be a record of the universal condemnation of a corrupt Government that in a short period of forty months dragged Newfoundland and her people from the pedestal of prosperity to a state of stagnation and depression that by reason of its extent was deemed impossible. Newfoundland paid the price in big figures, she suffered severely the evil of misfortune that has been her lot since the people made Woodford and Kennedy Harbor Main's Choice.

Dr. Jones Turned Down the District when He was Expected to Render Aid--Loyal Hr. Main Voters Have no use for "Twisters" or small Politicians.

Latest reports from Hr. Main dispose of Jones' boast that he controlled enough of voters in the district to elect him. The little doctor seems to have a very inflated idea of his own importance. Because he was elected on the Government ticket in the 1919 general election as the colleague of the Minister of Public Works, who had been over a quarter of a century member for Hr. Main, he got it in his head he could do the trick alone, and beat all-comers. It is well known that in the 1919 election the then Opposition had two candidates who had never contested an election before and who were scarcely four weeks in the district before polling day. And from the very first it was conceded on all sides that they could not beat Woodford and his combination in that district. Jones forgets that it made no difference who was Woodford's colleague then, he would be elected. But the doctor believes he "elected" Woodford. He has repeatedly said so. What a disillusionment is now ahead of him. Woodford will poll seven to one, and the doctor will be fortunate if he saves his nomination fee. What have the men of Turk's Gut to say about the doctor? Do they forget when they cailed on him to get them work or relief that he declined to bother himself to try and do either, but told them to go home and look after themselves. And according to reports then circulated the men said they needed food and if they could not get it any other way they would take it from the stores. The next day Turk's Gut was visited by three policemen from this city, who went to arrest the men who made the remark quoted above, and common report had it that Jones wired the Inspector General to send the policemen. What do the men of Avondale and Conception think of him when they called on him for work on Bell Island, and what answer did he give them because he suspected that they were the men who opposed him in the elections. That is the kind of public spirit which Dr. Jones showed after his election and it corresponds with the public spirit he is showing now when he makes demands upon the Opposition for cash in hand and other concessions which no leader would consider for a moment even if Jones were as wealthy a man as he imagines he is in Hr. Main. His "conditions," outlined in his letters to Sir Michael Cashin give the people a public spirited and opens their eyes to the fact that he is more interested in his own honors and his own pocket book than in the welfare and comfort of the people he asks to trust him. Hr. Main electors will teach Jones on May 3rd that he cannot sell them for honors and cash for himself. They will vote the straight ticket for the man who never left them in need, Woodford, and they will also give vote for vote for his colleague, Kennedy.

False and Dangerous Logic

No Firearms at Bay Roberts

The Mail in a special issue this morning tries to bolster up a losing cause by asserting that firearms were used by the people at Bay Roberts on Saturday. We have made inquiries and have been informed that the heaviest weapons in evidence were fire crackers which some mischievous boys set off. Truly the crowd are getting so badly misled that they are beginning to believe things. Another peculiar thing is that it is only when the doubtless R.A.S. appears in footlights and receives a hostile reception these scares are gotten up.

John R. Bennett as Colonial Secretary

Advocated and Supplied the Humber Deal in 1915--Coaker Slammed Grand Falls.

Squires says "Morris started the Humber Project in 1915 when I was his partner." "He helped me in England to get the Deal through."

Squires also makes the claim that the Humber is the work of his brain, telling the people it is his life's work. Let us see.

That Morris started the project may be seen by reference to the Journal of the House of Assembly, R. A. Squires was then Minister of Justice. The schedule of the indenture, says this (indenture) was entered into on the 16th April, A.D. 1915 between Sir W. E. Davidson, K.C.M.G. of the one part and the Newfoundland Products Corporation, Limited, of the other part. The indenture then goes to state that the company was incorporated to develop the water powers of the Humber River and Junction Brook. The signatories to the agreement are John R. Bennett, Colonial Secretary, H. D. Reid, R. G. Reid.

Now why doesn't the Mail or Squires mention these facts. As was pointed out in a previous issue, the enterprise was similar to the Humber Deal of '15-day. The description is identical and as taken from the Journal of the House begins as follows:—The Company organized to carry on the industries comprehended in the foregoing agreement is officially styled the Newfoundland Products Corporation, Ltd., and has a capital of $21,000,000.

It then continues: "This colossal new enterprise is being projected by Messrs. Reid Bros. and Mr. Thomas Leopold Wilson of Ottawa. The initial installation is to be located within the Humber area—estimated to cover 3,000 miles. The electrical energy obtained by damming the rivers will be 120,000 H.P. in building the dams, construction and equipment of the power houses $6,440,000 will be spent." A description of all the subsidiary industries follows. Previously we pointed out. Now Morris said: "The total cost of the work before a dollars' worth of produce would be shipped would be $18,000,000, and how 5,000 men representing 5,000 families would receive $5,000,000 in wages. (The Morris Deal offered $1,000,000 more wages to the workmen than the Mail says they will now get.) How the Revenue would be boosted $1,000,000 annually. (The taxes then were estimated at 20 per cent, so that at 60 per cent. It is easy to boost the taxes to $2,000,000 as per Mail.

The object in reviewing the foregoing is to show

1. That the Humber Project is an effort of Messrs. Reid to develop their property.

2. That the sing song about more work, better wages, reduced taxation as used by the Government papers is simply a rehash from the Journal of the House of Assembly.

3. That nobody wants to steal Squires' brain storm.

Funny how it happened that in Mr. Coaker's opposition to the Deal he should doubt that it would pay. We quote him: "Take the Grand Falls industry for instance, that does not pay." "The Premier (Morris) painted a very rosy picture when he said that 4,000 men would be employed on the Humber." "I hope it will not turn out like the promises that the Southside Hills would be white with sheep." "A fisherman is able to do more for the country as a fisherman than a laborer." "Many a man has gone to Grand Falls and is very sorry that he ever left the fishery to go there." "The ordinary fisherman, if he remains at home to work hard, catching fish would earn a far better living."

There is one thing about the 1915 Deal and that is, the whole contract was laid before the people. It contained many good features as the present Deal no doubt does. It had objectionable features and no doubt the present Deal also contains them, else why is Squires afraid to tell the whole story. Why did he not publish the contract

East End Trio Close Outside Campaign.

Messrs. Higgins, Fox and Vintcombe finished their "down the shore" campaign on Saturday night, when two very successful meetings were held at Bally Haly School House, and at Major's Path. At the former place, Mr. Thomas McDonald was Chairman, and at the latter, Mr. Thomas Butler presided. At both places there was a full attendance and the candidates were given a big reception all along the line; the houses being decorated and the country side lit up with bon fires in their honor. Splendid addresses were delivered by the candidates at each place, and they were a fitting close to what is pronounced the most successful campaign in the history of St. John's East. It is now only a matter of waiting till Thursday to roll up the big majorities for HIGGINS, FOX & VINTCOMBE.

Cape Race Makes Long Passage.

Srh. Cape Race, Capt. Mark Burke, 75 days from Seattle, with a cargo sail to Bowring Bros., arrived in port yesterday. The captain and crew are well, although wearied with the long passage. The vessel's hull, above the water line, has been somewhat damaged by contact with an iceberg, which was hit during the night time. For practically one whole month the vessel did not make a mile of progress owing to fog and calm weather.

MINARD'S LINIMENT, LUMBERMAN'S FRIEND.

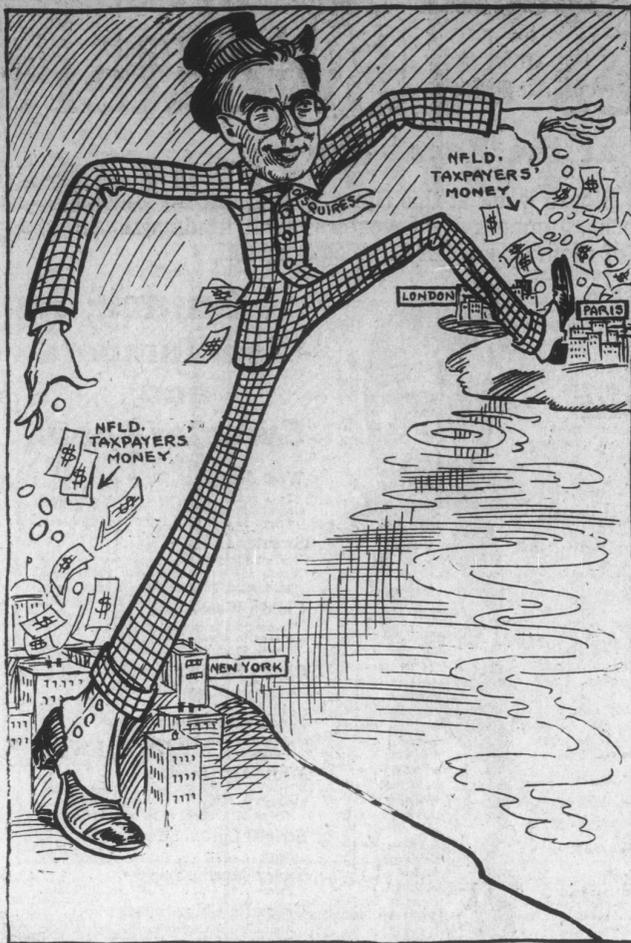

What's the Price?

That Squires is sold to Canada becomes increasingly apparent as day succeeds night. Fresh evidence, for instance, was afforded on Friday last by the Mail, the personal organ of Squires himself. It appears that somebody wired the Halifax Herald (probably Squires) that Leader Bennett had publicly charged that the Herald had been paid advertising rates for publishing a eulogy of Squires which appeared in the Herald recently, and was gleefully republished here by the Mail and Advocate. The Herald thereupon wired a contradiction, and, without proof that Mr. Bennett had actually made the assertion attributed to him, proceeded to reveal a transaction alleged to have taken place between the Herald and Mr. Bennett himself, nearly six years ago—a transaction in which, the Herald alleges, it accepted payment for publishing a eulogy of Mr. Bennett.

The Herald's conduct manifests two things very clearly: first, its strange partisanship for Squires, and second, its disregard for business decency. It would have been justified in denying any untrue report about its dealings with Squires, but no heat was necessary, and it was wholly unjustified in revealing an alleged business transaction with Mr. Bennett. Its conduct denotes strong partisanship for Squires, as its laudatory article about him also did, and this has not been won without reason. There's a "Nigger in the woodpile" to explain all this for Squires in Canada.

Viking Arrives.

TERRIFIC WEATHER IN GULF.
S.S. Viking, Capt. Wm. Bartlett, arrived in port at 6 a.m. yesterday, having for 6,500 young seals. The Viking prosecuted the seal fishery in the Gulf and is the last ship of the fleet to arrive. Capt. Bartlett reports terrific weather conditions all spring, day after day boisterous head winds with continuous snow storms raged, and it was madness to send the men on the ice under such wretched conditions. Owing to the severe storms met with in the early part of the spring the Viking was late in striking the whitelines, and then only in small quantities; but his crew managed to get 6,500. With the exception of one of the crew who died of heart failure early in the spring, as reported by wireless, all the rest are well and glad to be home after such a trying experience. The total catch for the spring of 1923 will be in the vicinity of 101,300 old and young seals. The following is the catch to date:—
Sagana (landed) 11,822
Eagle (landed) 10,761
Seal (landed) 12,233
Neptune (landed) 16,269
Thetis (landed) 16,149
Terra Nova (landed) 14,241
(Landed) 81,535
Ranger (reported) 13,000
Viking (reported) 6,500
Total 101,035

The Class met yesterday afternoon in the Synod Building at the usual hour and was fairly well attended. In his opening remarks the Chairman referred to several members of the Class who have taken up their abode in other lands and from whom he had recently received letters. A long letter of encouragement to the workers from Mr. R. Saunders, formerly an employee with Mr. John Anderson, was read and was greatly appreciated. When men of Mr. Saunders' ability and business interest can find time, after two years absence, to take such a keen interest in the work, it shows something of what the Class is doing for our young men and what the city will do for the Church when the duty of service is presented to them. Next Sunday, D.V., will be the re-opening of the Harbour and Wharf Mission. The day begins with a celebration of the Holy Communion at the Cathedral at 8 a.m., at which all the members of the Class will be present. Immediately after this service the formal launching of the boat will take place at the wharf of Messrs. Bowring Bros. The final meeting of the Class for this season will be held in the afternoon and all members are particularly requested to be present.

Tug Moulton Re-Classed

HARBOR TUG NOW IN AI CONDITION.

The tug "Moulton" is again in service after undergoing an extensive overhaul at the Dry Dock. While on dock new sheathing of Greenheart was fitted from stem to stern adding to the strength of the vessel and providing substantial protection against ice. A new boiler built by the Dry Dock, of larger size and heavier construction than the old one and carrying a steam pressure of 150 pounds per square inch has also been installed, considerably increasing the power of the tug and providing a reserve power. A most important feature in vessels engaged in towing work. Last year the "Moulton" had a new propeller fitted especially designed and made by the Dry Dock for heavy towing so that the tug is now well equipped and capable of handling the largest size vessel of the port. Messrs. Furness Withy & Co. now possess the most powerful tug in the harbor and are now to be congratulated upon their enterprise in this respect.

Inter-Club Billiards.

MASONIC SCORES TWO VICTORIES.
There was a large attendance of billiard enthusiasts present at the Masonic Temple rooms on Saturday night last to witness the games in the Masonic-B.I.S. Billiard Tournament. Two games were played, and in each case resulted in wins for the Masonic. In the first game Thistle (Masonic) defeated Power (B.I.S.). Thistle made a good start, and had a commanding lead on his opponent, which he increased as the game progressed, and won out very handsily by a margin of 99 points. Power for the B.I.S. made a pretty break of 31 in the early stages of the game. The breaks were:— Thistle (550)—18, 10, 17, 12, 16, 17, 12, 10, 12—161.
Power (B.I.S.)—31, 12, 10, 15, 14—82.
The second game between Merner (B.I.S.) and Sid Pearce (Masonic). Both players put up a rattling good exhibition, and great interest was created all through. The players tied at 66 and again at 170. Pearce made a pretty break of 34 at this juncture and had quite a nice comfortable lead towards the close, when Merner went in and scored 29. Pearce gave a splendid exhibition of cannon play, while Merner excelled on hazards. The breaks were:—
Pearce (850)—12, 11, 30, 28, 17, 14, 15, 34, 14, 18, 11—204.
Merner (850)—14, 14, 30, 14, 13, 17, 13, 29, 21, 12—177.

Sagana Towed Daisy to Port.

S.S. Sagana, Capt. Tavernon, arrived in port at 11 p.m. from St. Mary's Bay, with the S.S. Daisy in tow. The Sagana landed all her freight along the South West Coast with the exception of Burin. Several passengers were on board on route to the latter place, and they were safely landed at Tide's Cove yesterday. She arrived to the assistance of the Daisy at 11 o'clock last night and had no difficulty in towing her to port. Capt. Coich of the S.S. Daisy states that the ship had her rudder damaged on March 25th last, when she was driven ashore inside of Point LaHaye.

Latest Attack on St. George's Coal Co.

A peculiar feature of the Squires-Coaker policy is that no man or no institution can venture to differ from them without being blackguarded like a pickpocket. For instance, when Mr. Monroe announced his readiness to contest a District for the Opposition, Squires staged a blackguardly attack upon him in the Squires organ and falsely asserted that he had to intervene on Mr. Monroe's behalf financially a year ago. Then, when some men at a meeting near the Ropewalk interrupted the Squires-Coaker candidate, the Ropewalk Company, its management, and its officials were assailed in the same way. So also is the Board of Trade held up to public vilification every night because it is understood that most of the members of that institution who have seen perhaps better than anybody else the ruin which Coaker has brought upon the country, are understood to be opposed to the present Government.

Wednesday night we had an article pointing out the difference in the treatment accorded the St. George's Coal Company, which has a thousand or more shareholders in St. John's, men mostly in humble walks of life who have invested their savings in this enterprise, and the treatment accorded the Reids in regard to their coal deposits at South Branch, although at the last election, when it suited Squires' political purposes at that time, he could blackguard the Reids in the same way as he is blackguarding everybody else who disagrees with him now.

His paper was turned loose on Thursday to assail the St. George's Coal Company, to suggest that there was something wrong with its affairs, and to insinuate that some of its directors called upon Sir Michael Cashin. The insinuation was that these gentlemen called on Sir Michael Cashin, if they did, for some assistance, purpose, and the Squires organ proceeded to threaten this Company and those connected with it because of that.

Now, we do not know whether any directors of the Company called on Sir Michael Cashin or not, and if they did we do not know that it matters much. If they called upon him we suppose they did so to put some business proposition before him; and if they did, surely they had as much right to do so as the Reids, or the Collishaws, or the Harry Crowes, or the Armstrongs, Whitworths, or anybody else seeking concessions from the country which concessions are to be met by the taxpayers and not by Squires, Coaker, etc. Let us suppose, for instance that these directors had a proposition which involved a guarantee of Principal and interest on any money to be invested in the St. George's Coal Fields. Well, surely they would have as much right to put forward such a proposition as the Armstrongs-Whitworths and as much right to expect a sympathetic consideration for it.

Now and Then

MR. COAKER SLATED GOVERNMENT FOR VOTING MONEY ON EXECUTIVE AUTHORITY.

In 1915 Mr. Coaker was very strong on spending money on Executive responsibility. Here is what he said in the House of Assembly as copied from the official debates of that period: "Now Sir, there is another serious matter to be considered and that is spending public monies on Executive authority". If the Government intend to live up to this privilege of the House, why do they resort to voting money on executive responsibility. If the Government had to spend $14,000 why did they not vote the money last year. What is the good of the House if the Executive can at its own authority take charge of the finances and spend it as it likes without the consideration of this House." It is to laugh! Gentle reader, look up the history of the present Government which voted millions of the people's money without even consulting either the Legislature or the full membership of the Executive Council.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—In answer to the letter written by an ignorant school teacher at Paquet, in the Advocate. Mr. Editor, the teacher's father insulted Mr. Roberts at the beginning of the meeting and the chairman was unable to control the poor silly man. After Mr. Roberts finished, I was introduced by Mr. Milley and after speaking for forty minutes, I was interrupted by the school teacher. He told me he had been speaking forty minutes and that I was only allowed fifteen minutes on a political platform. I said thank you and seeing you are an A.A., I will have to give allowance for you. For goodness sake mind your bread and butter. You should have taken the little bit of advice I gave you. Now, Mr. Teacher, allow me to tell you we know all about you when teaching at Nain, and my opinion of you to-day is that you should not be teaching south of Baffin Land. Mr. Editor, while I was speaking; with the exception of this teacher and his father, you could hear every word. One man got up and said, "Gentlemen, hands up for a change for 'Bennett and Better Times'." AMERICA'S MANIA FOR STANDARDIZATION.

Two flappers were walking down the street ahead of me the other day. They were dressed very much like each other and very much like all the other flappers who passed them on the busy street.

Their hair was bobbed, their noses were powdered, they wore ear rings (of an Egyptian design) their dresses had broad pleated collars, their hats were small, their stockings were sheer silk, their feet were shod in fancy sandals.

From what I could catch of their conversation, that, too, was in substance and in form about what all the other flappers were probably saying to each other as they also paraded our local compromise between Fifth Avenue and Main Street at 4 o'clock of an April afternoon.

In short, they were a perfect type, in clothes, in manners, in interests, of the self-standardized girl of 18 or 17.

The Flappers Criticized!!!

Presently I saw that these two girls were nudging each other and giggling at someone. I looked to see whom. And I saw a large man striding along with an abstracted air. His hair was cut perhaps an inch longer than the ordinary man wears his, he had on a soft hat, a soft tie and gauntlet gloves. These were the only details in which he differed from the average. And yet they were evidently enough to set the two standardized flappers off into giggles.

As it happened, I knew the man by sight and reputation. He is one of the most brilliant lawyers in the state, if not in the country; he is a fine citizen; he has the sort of brain with which perhaps 1 per cent. of our population is endowed and without which our intricate civilization would probably go to pieces.

And those little flappers, who probably didn't have a tenth of his brain power between them, laughed at him. Why? Because he wasn't standardized. Because his hair was an inch longer and his gloves and his hat and his manner of walking are a wee bit off type so general.

An American Fault.

This mania for standardization, this habit of making fun of anything that is different, is said to be one of our American faults. In no other country, we are told, is the instinct for standardization so strong, the contempt and derision for anything the least bit off type so general.

"America lacks respect for unlikeness for otherness," said Rabindranath Tagore when he visited here. "Its democracy seeks to make all men alike, to run them into one mold, to rob them or abase them out of their picturesqueness or diversity."

Especially among the young is this instinct almost a mania. When you force a child to do or wear something different from what his fellows are doing or wearing at school, you put him in a position where he probably suffers acutely. To be different, unless you can be dominant, is to be ostracized. And very few of us can be dominant.

As we grow older we grow a little more lenient of differences. We find out perhaps that the boy or girl we did not understand, whom we may even have called a freak at school, was different in the sense of being above, not below, our standard. And we make a few more allowances for variation.

We Need to Change.

But not enough, even then. The fact that the melting pot which will fuse all differences together and make us all of the same material has long been one of our pet American ideals shows our worship of standardization. We need to change it. To quote the Indian poet again:

"It is not a melting pot that is needed in America, but a flower garden where each race may bloom and add its beauty to the commonwealth."

"The Glorious Fool" at the Nickel.

A delightful story from the pen of Mary Roberts Rinehart, "The Glorious Fool" will be presented at the Nickel Theatre beginning to-day. The story takes place in a hospital, with the heroine a sympathetic probationer and the hero a private patient who insists upon marrying his nurse and leaving all his wealth to her. But he doesn't die. Upon his recovery, he assigns himself the arduous task of wooing his wife.

Given Richard Dix as the man who does the wooing and Helene Chadwick as the girl who is the wooed, one may expect a delightful combination of comedy and pathos. Both these players have appeared together in a number of pictures and each understands the other's method of acting so well that their screen union is one of the most perfect among leading players of the screen. An added attraction at this theatre, this week is the appearance of Miss Gladys Redstone, one of the city's most popular soloists. Miss Redstone has selected some excellent numbers for this big show.

THE FESTIVE AUNT.

Val's Aunt.

My Aunt Lucretia's very old, she's lived a frightful while, but still her mien is free and bold, her clothes of fustian style, she's bound she will not lose her hold on youth, she'll still be gulle. Along the street, with airy grace, she swings her ancient bones, and she has powder on her face, in many hues and tones, and relatives don't jar my nerves; to such a dame I'll always grant the homage she deserves; when wintry flappers galling I can't admire their curves.

To make potato balls, cut one pint of the balls with a French cutter. After boiling five minutes in salted water, drain and add a half cup milk; heat to boiling point. Stir the potatoes into a white sauce as soon as boiling point of sauce is reached. Remove from fire.

An attractive flower-bench may be made from an old oilstove. The upper part may be unscrewed and discarded. Coat base twice with a pretty color enamel.

When Men Dressed Like Women

We look upon gowns, robes, blouses, and petticoats as belonging to women's realm; these garments were once worn by men as everyday attire.

The gown, a thousand years ago was a robe of fur worn by monks who were fond of its health. To-day university clerghymen and lawyers still wear gowns. Nowadays, when a man is dismissed from the church, he is "unfrocked."

Frocks originally were blouses with large, open sleeves, and worn as an outside robe by men and friars. The frock-coat owes its origin to the fact that sported by the old friars and monks. So, too, does the smock-frock, countrymen once wore.

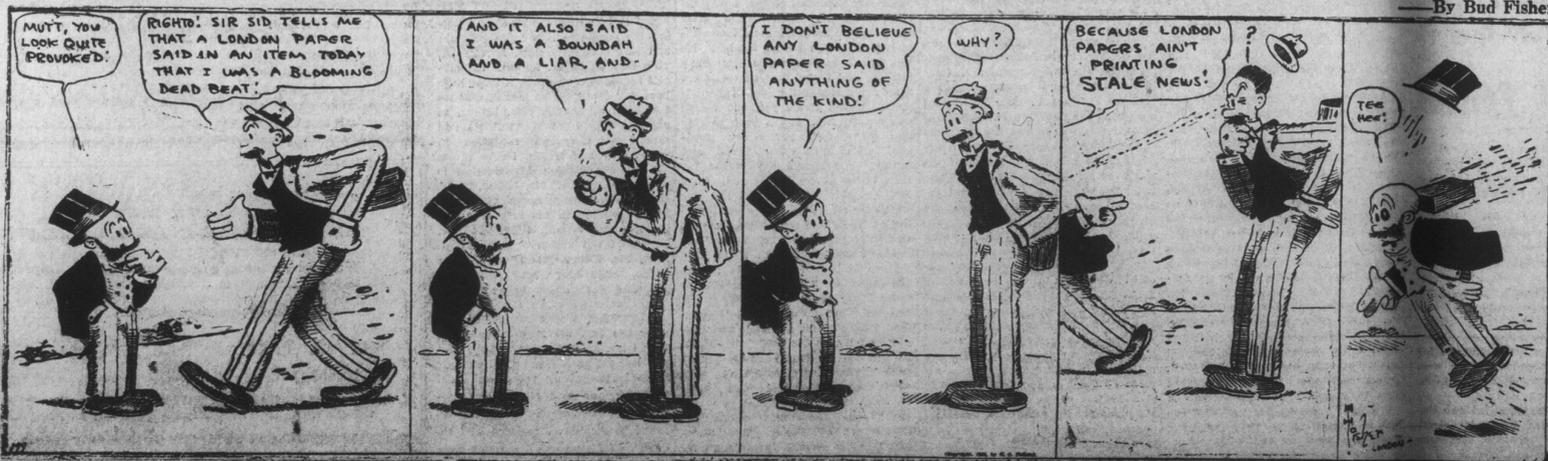

A man's short coat was once as a petty-coat, and the word to-day to describe the undergarment worn by women.

Knights of old wore a silk garment to protect their gleaming armor from rain and sun, and this known as a blouse. When discarded it, women adopted it.

The jacket—or coat, when worn by women—is a jacket or little garment which in ancient times was made of several folds of a stag's skin stitched to it for extra protection against arrows and daggers. So the word jacket is quite so meaningless as it seems.

Cocoonut Macaroons—Mix one-fourth cups cocoonut with third cup condensed milk, add half teaspoon vanilla. Beat one egg until stiff, add to mixture. Shape into small cakes. Bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven.
