

STORIES OF BROTHER BEING SPREAD IN WYOMING
IMMIGRATION FROM STATES TO CANADA

Manufacturing Concern Threatens to Withhold Shipments of Threshers and Implements Because of Story Published in a Cleveland Newspaper

Winnipeg, June 25.—For reasons that are growing more obvious daily, the wheat crop in Western Canada are becoming active again in the United States, and in the past week two state-wide and grossly untrue statements have been carried to American newspapers regarding crop conditions in the west, particularly Manitoba and Saskatchewan. So unfairly do the articles in question misrepresent the true conditions that the immigration authorities have been obliged to investigate in order to avoid a serious state of affairs in the west through the United States "dispatches."

Influence Manufacturers.—The fact that they influenced manufacturers is clearly demonstrated by a letter received by the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Winnipeg from the Cleveland, Ohio, threatening to cancel all orders for threshers and implements received from Manitoba and Saskatchewan. This company, fortunately, has written and instructed its agents to inform the bank and immigration authorities that they have no business transacting in the west.

The letter received by the bank reads as follows: "Gentlemen:—The article in yesterday's Cleveland Plain Dealer in which we are vitally interested (see enclosure) in view of the fact that we have a large number of threshers in the west for farmers and if the report is true, we, of course, should hesitate about filling the orders. Very sincerely yours, J. H. Walker, Cleveland, Ohio."

Print False Dispatch.—The letter was printed by a "dispatch" that appeared in the Cleveland Plain Dealer of June 15, 1913, and reads as follows: "Son Burns Province. Winnipeg, Man., June 12.—Manitoba and Saskatchewan are being burnt up under the intense heat that has prevailed the past few days. Unofficial reports from the southern part of these LIBERALS IN FAVOR AT THE VATICAN IN ROME.

Removal of Merry, Del Val, Head of the Conservative Party, Rumored

Rome, June 25.—For some time past reports have been current that several prominent members of the college of cardinals have determined to demand from the Pope the removal of Cardinal Merry de Val and De Lali from their present places of practical omnipotent power.

These reports emanating from circles known to be hostile to the Vatican, were first set down as mere scandals and little attention has been paid to them. Now, it seems that they are far from being unsubstantiated. The gravely of the break between the Vatican and the conservative party of the church. Cardinal Merry de Val is the accepted leader of the latter party. Cardinal Rampolla is the leader of the Liberals. Through the visit yesterday of Cardinal Rampolla to the Pope the facts in the case were partly available and these come from sources which can be considered almost semi-official. Cardinal Rampolla and those who agree with him, hold that the manner in which Cardinal Merry de Val and De Lali are prosecuting their campaign against Modernism is likely to bring the Vatican in further disrepute, such as those between the church and France, Portugal and Spain, and elsewhere. Cardinals Merry de Val and De Lali have been imbued by other than the Vatican with the desire to "restore all things in Christ." Cardinals Merry de Val and De Lali must be superseded.

It has been proposed to the Pope to appoint either Cardinal Vannutelli or Cardinal Ferrasi as papal secretary of state. The Pope is distressed by the situation and has endeavored to reconcile the two parties, but without success. As a direct result of Cardinal Rampolla's conference with His Holiness yesterday, Cardinal Rampolla, formerly papal delegate in Washington, may be called to direct the affairs of the Vatican. Pope Pius himself, it is said, suggested Cardinal Ferrasi as a compromise secretary.

MODERN RIP VAN WINKLE FAILED TO WAKE AT LAST

Well-known in the United States, Canada and Derbyshire as "The Sheep Man," Arthur Fitzgerald Mann, aged 44, the son of a Duffield magistrate, died under peculiar circumstances related to the Bakewell case. Mann left the United States in April last, and on arriving in Derbyshire he fell asleep for a week. On recovering he started for Bakewell, but fell asleep on the road, and did not wake for five days. In America and Canada he had frequent sleeping attacks which lasted for a week, and the doctor's efforts to rouse him were futile.

He was lately found on the bank of the River Lathkill in a wet and unconscious condition, and taken to the Bakewell Workhouse infirmary, where he died without recovering consciousness. The medical officer was of opinion that when sitting on the bank of the Lathkill River he was seized with one of his sleeping attacks and fell into the water. The shock, said the doctor, would produce sufficient stimulus for Mann to get up and walk to the workhouse bank there would be a relaxed position. His clothing saturated, he remained on the bank for several hours before being removed to the infirmary.

Death was attributed to shock produced by cold and exposure. Miss Mann, who identified the body, stated that the American doctor who examined her was subject to attacks of coma.

Roosevelt for Argentine.—New York, June 25.—Theodore Roosevelt will leave New York during the first week of the coming month for a series of addresses in the Argentine Republic. He will be accompanied by all and Chile and may make a trip to the tropical interior of the continent. These details of his Argentine trip were announced in his newspaper.

Personally Conducted
Tour of Europe for Sale at Actual Cost

The News-Telegram has two extra trips to Europe which will be sold at actual cost in order to complete the party of 26, which will assemble at Winnipeg on July 7, and tour the seven great countries of the old world under direction of the Thos. Cook & Son Tour Agency.

Twenty-eight members of the party are already provided for, through the circulation campaign conducted by The Regina, Province, The Brandon News and The News-Telegram.

In order to insure the special standard sleeping car from Winnipeg to Montreal and return, and the services of a special "tour conductor" on the continent, it is necessary that the party number 30 members.

The offer of the two memberships in the tour party constitutes an opportunity which will not come again. To make the same tour covered by this schedule would cost from $100 to $200 more than the party rate the person were to go alone.

The steamer reservations for the News-Telegram party were made three months ago. At that time outside staterooms were secured for the entire party, on the splendidly appointed Allan Line steamer "Scandinavian." European travel is so heavy this season that outside rooms are not to be secured at this time. In fact, it is difficult to secure cabin accommodation of any kind at this late date.

The News-Telegram will charge a flat rate for the two available tours, which will be inclusive of all charges and expenses of the journey. This will provide for:

- 1. One first-class railroad ticket from Calgary to Montreal and return.
- 2. Standard sleeping car, Calgary to Montreal and return.
- 3. Allowance of 43 per cent in dining car from Calgary to Montreal and return.
- 4. Outside stateroom on steamer from Montreal to Glasgow going and returning.
- 5. Baggage allowance of 66 pounds, to be checked by tour conductor in Europe, and suitcases to be carried as hand baggage.
- 6. Three meals per day on steamers.
- 7. Three meals per day at European hotels.
- 8. Convenient and comfortable journeys from point to point on tour, and sleeping car berth in Europe when traveling by night.
- 9. Services of an experienced and efficient tour conductor.
- 10. Free carriages for all sight-seeing excursions, local guides and care for luggage in all of the principal cities, and special agents to care for arrangements for the prompt delivery of all mail addressed to members of the party en route.
- 11. The schedule of the party covers Scotland, England, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium and Switzerland.

HIRED MEN TRIED TO KILL ALL CANADIAN TOWNS CAN ENTIRE FAMILY MEET OBLIGATIONS

Such Is Charge Made Against Victoria Capitalist Replies To Ivan Bizuy, in Estavan, Saskatchewan Statements by Horne Payne

Winnipeg, June 25.—Major C. T. Dupont, Victoria, who claims to have the supreme court was the result of the Payne in municipal securities, started in an interview here tonight that he had a fight with a Jewish farmer named Fiehrman, at Hirsch, who at a great price had sold to the farmer placed strophine in his turkey soup with intent to kill the whole family. One of the girls, getting the meat ready, noticed a peculiar smell and remembered that Bozzy had been around the house, and was seen to be carrying a bag of strophine to the house. She sent down a sworn statement that this was sufficient strophine in the soup to have killed every one of the family. Evidence was taken in Victoria and translated to the prisoner in Estavan. It was not allowed to make a statement, as he was not represented by counsel, the latter action being decided on to prevent his incriminating himself. Sergeant Major Lett watched the case on behalf of the crown. The prisoner was taken away by the police tomorrow morning to Regina.

THOMAS HARDY A POET'S CHOICE FOR LAUREATE

There is no nobler name among the critics of England at the present time than that of the poet Thomas Hardy. The man who made known more of modern English literature than any other, and perhaps the finest dramatic critic of the day. What does he think of the "Laureate"? Let him speak for himself. The following letter which is self-explanatory appears in a recent issue of The Daily News and Leader: "Sir:—After the death of Tennyson I felt, as Mr. James Douglas feels now that the office of Poet Laureate ought to be allowed to lapse. It would then have ended in a blank of story. But now I do not agree with Mr. Douglas. I would like to see an office which has been held by Johnson and Dryden, by Wordsworth and Tennyson, should end in mere eclipse. Let us restore its lustre before deciding whether it ought definitely to become a thing of the past. And the way to do so is obvious. Let us select a man who has shown that he is our greatest living poet. Let us select WILLIAM ARCHER. London, June 6.

FREER TRADE AND MORE LAND TILLERS WANTED

London, June 25.—After an absence of 26 years, the Hon. George Langley, minister of municipal affairs for Saskatchewan, who emigrated to Canada in the spring of 1893, is paying a visit to London. He is investigating the possibilities of this country as a market for Canadian grain.

Seen by a newspaper representative the other day, Mr. Langley expressed regret that so small a percentage of British emigrants to Canada take up their residence on the land.

"The factor system in Canada," he said, is operating to make settlement on the land less inviting and less attractive. It is a pity that so many of our people are not taking advantage of the opportunities of virgin prairie lands. The proportion of population is growing larger in the urban centres of this country, and not only in the Western Canada, but in the prairie west as well.

PEERLESS GEORGE DOES NOT APPROVE OF SLANG

Sir George Alexander was in reminiscence a week ago when he distributed the Beaufoy and Mortimer prizes at the City of London school. The prizes are offered for the encouragement of the study of Shakespeare works and for proficiency in the English language. Although not a City of London School boy, said Sir George, he was a City of London boy. His thoughts went back to the days when he came from a Scottish high school with half a crown in his pocket and a strong Scottish accent. (Laughter.) He entered the house of Lords, silk merchants, and for three years lived with in a stone's throw of the then site of the City of London School. On one occasion one of the heads of department objected to him rehearsing "Romeo and Juliet" among the mortars. (Laughter.) Sir George spoke of the value of recitation and the study of Shakespeare, and said that quite apart from the intellectual benefit one received, such study would do much to cure what was a real reproach to modern England. Nothing was more appalling to one who studied the stories of our language than the increasingly slipshod way in which it was used by the majority of people now-a-days. A splendid vocabulary was narrowed down almost to the number of words used by savage tribes; the beautiful music of the words was too often marred by slovenly clipping and slurring.

Some stupid piece of slang was used to express a dozen meanings. He was no enemy of slang—expressive, virile slang used in the right way—but when slang was merely the lazy substitute for choosing the appropriate word it was rotten—(laughter)—using "rotten" in the appropriate sense.

Electricity the Greatest Doctor on Earth

Nature is the greatest doctor on earth. When she can't cure it is because she needs aid. Now most people have an idea that this aid is drugs, and being made for many new and dose their stomachs with the stuff that is sold for medicine. This does not help any; in fact, it does a great deal of harm. The doctor that you need is Nature. The large Horse Show building in Victoria Park has been secured for the two days' show August 13 and 14, and arrangements are being made for many new and novel features of attraction. Special attention has been given to garden competition. This year many valuable money prizes, cups and medals have been offered.

All Our Stock of Pictures Being Cleared at Half Price

Rather disappointing news this, for it means giving up entirely a department that has provided untold pleasure and profit to hundreds of Calgary's picture lovers.

The fact is that we cannot find room to make an adequate display of this fine collection; of sheer necessity they're crowded into about one-eighth of the space needed to show their artistic merits.

Other lines of merchandise are similarly crowded, so to relieve the congestion we've decided to display our entire stock of pictures, and that as quick as possible. It shouldn't take long, when you have unrestricted choice at half price.

MUNICIPAL EXPENDITURE.

It seems to be the favorite pastime of small bore financiers and get-rich-quick millionaires of various types to lecture western cities upon their borrowings, and complain that the towns are too extravagant, outrageously extravagant. The accusation is not correct. Western cities have not been extravagant. They are borrowing rapidly, but not unnecessarily. As cities go there has been but little extravagance in connection with their administration. Calgary and other western cities own street railways and other utilities, and that makes their debt seem larger than that of many cities, but with added liabilities there are additional assets, and the utilities are revenue-producing and generally profit-making.

Western cities like Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, and Regina must be modern and up-to-date. They cannot afford to leave their streets unpaved or to have their areas undeveloped. They have had as rapid growth in ten years as eastern cities of similar population in the last forty years. The increase in debt has been rapid, because the development of the city has been rapid.

Cities have made mistakes. In some instances in making outlays they underestimated their own prospects. We may have prepared for a city of 20,000, and when the preparations were completed found that we had a city of 40,000. But that did not greatly increase our expenditure.

There has been some needless waste and extravagance because of our unnecessarily large areas, which are not properly assessed. That has led to an increase in the cost of administering the city. But in that we differ but little, if any, and then only in extent from other cities in Canada or in the Old Country.

There has been no unusual extravagance. We have succeeded in avoiding many of the mistakes of older cities. We own our utilities and give the services to our people at the lowest possible cost. It is possible that our cities are not as well run as they should be, but they are well managed as far as the general run of cities go.

No western city has failed to meet its obligations, and no western city is likely to be in such a position. We resent the implication that we are over-borrowing. It is not true. Our cities are developing and we are doing our best to keep up to date.

The Dominion handed over sixteen million or thereabouts to Mackenzie & Mann, which was bad enough, but what is still worse is that newspapers in every part of Canada actually were found which defended the deal, and the public in general is very apathetic about the whole matter. It prefers to be troubled about the grip that the U. S. corporations have upon our neighbors across the border.

There will be a re-adjustment of the water works charges, and possibly an increase in the rates. The city utilities must pay expenses, whatever the rates may be. However, no very great increase in rates will be necessary.

The Leithbridge fair, the first of a long procession of Alberta exhibitions, lasting well into September, is under way now. The Leithbridge fair is one of the best and usually very well attended. The fall or summer fairs in Alberta are not yet the important factors in life that similar gatherings are in Eastern Canada, but they are rapidly becoming so.

Henri Bourassa, in a speech before French Canadians, made a vicious attack upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier, which is not surprising. The ex-premier has gone further in opposition to the separatist policy of Mr. Bourassa than any other French Canadian or any other Canadian could do successfully.

KIPLING "KIPPLES."

Rudyard of "kippling" fame—happy verb—has taken up his pen and "kippled" freely, to the extent of sixty-one lines of verse, in yesterday's London Morning Post, in celebration of President Poincaré's visit to the metropolis of the British Empire. As telegraphed, it must be confessed that the "kipple" in question does not appeal to one as likely to endure as a classic of the poetic art. It is true, however, that the transatlantic cable service is too often responsible for weird and wonderful evocations of song; and anything like detailed criticism should in fairness be reserved until the arrival of the mails from England.

There can be no doubt, however, of the fact that the gifted author of "Barrack Room Ballads" has exceeded poetic licence when he sings that Gaul and Britain have swept each other's sword and sacked each other's home since the dawn of Brennus clashed on the scales of Rome. The fact is, as every schoolchild knows, that Brennus' descent on Italy occurred in 390 B.C.; and for the three centuries succeeding history is absolutely silent as to any hostilities taking place between the Celtic clans who then populated the two sides of the British Channel. When history, as written by "the mightiest Julius" in the deathless "Commentaries," begins to speak in an authoritative manner, we find the British Celts, so far from being hostile to their Gallic kinsmen, actually leagued with them to withstand the Roman. It needs no learned doctor, or reference to classic lore, to remind us that Caesar's appearance in arms upon the British coast on August 27, 55 B.C., was a "military demonstration" to overawe the clans of the island, and to thereby arrest their despatch of succor to the Gauls, whom the conqueror of Vercingetorix was then engaged in subduing. Subsequently to the conquest of Gaul and Britain by the Eternal City, the eye of history fails to discern her two westernmost provinces—the "Last Great West" of the period—"fretting in the womb of Rome to begin their fray."

After five centuries of Roman rule, when the Anglo-Saxon invader had converted South Britain into Anglesland—England—and his Frank cousin had turned Gaul into Franciland—France—history notes the same absence of hostility. King Ethelbert of Kent married a Frankish princess, she who was instrumental, primarily, in the conversion of her husband and his subjects from the worship of Woden to the creed of Christ. All during the Saxon period amity united France and England. It was the Norman Conquest which sowed the seeds of centuries of discord. The native Anglo-Saxons, subdued and dispossessed and reduced to serfage by the haughty Norman, confounded in a common hate the Norman, the Breton, the Picard, the Poitevin, the Angevin, the Manceau, the Tourangeau, the Burgundian, the Poitevin, the Marchois, the Dauphinois, the Aquitan, the Gascon, and the Provençal—in short, whoever spoke the Romance tongue from the British Channel to the Mediterranean.

Why should we give up a park for a drill hall, when it is needed for the greater portion of the year by the young men of Calgary? Why should Calgary, which cannot sell its bonds at any price, pay $100,000 for land for a drill hall site when the Dominion government, which will own the property, has surpluses of $30,000,000 more a year and gives out to railway promoters subsidies by the millions for the asking? Why? It is time we asserted our own rights.

The Moose Jaw News boasts Arthur Meighen for any vacancy in the Borden cabinet. Without doubt he is the most promising member in the ranks on the government side of the house and surpasses most of the cabinet ministers. If we are not mistaken we have heard the name of another westerner associated with the same vacancies.

Surely the weather man will take no liberties with the Cochrane races which are on today, and which are some of the sacred traditions of this part of the country.

"The political controversy in Canada should take its course free from any suggestion, however shadowy, of imperial influence or concern." Those are the words of The London Times referring to Mr. Winston Churchill's statement in the house on the future policy of the admiralty department.

This much is now clear—that no naval policy, whether temporary or permanent, can be carried into effect in Canada without a reference to the electorate. Those also are the words thundered forth by The London Times, and we have been informed so often that we had actually decided upon the whole thing and given a mandate to the present government to send empty ships to the mother land.

RECORD OF LIBERALISM.

The satisfactory results that have followed the efforts of the Liberal administration in Great Britain during the seven years of its existence are somewhat amazing. It is doubtful if any other government has done so much for the welfare of the people in so short a time. The result may be described as a peaceful revolution.

One of the first acts was the pacification of South Africa by the grant of responsible self-government to the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony. This was the creation of a great new self-governing British empire.

The second was the revision of the tariff downwards. Though Great Britain is a free trade country, it is not entirely without a customs tariff. The income tax on earned incomes was reduced by 9d in the pound; sugar duty was reduced from 4s 2d to 1s 10d per cwt.; tea was reduced from 6d to 5d per pound. A total annual reduction was made of over $200,000,000 in the normal year.

But the genius of the Liberal party for finance did not cease there. The government has reduced the national debt to the extent of over $310,000,000. It purchased the telephone system, or the decrease in the debt would have been very much greater.

By the Shops Act the government secured one half holiday a week to every shop assistant, and provided that proper time should be given for meals.

By the Old Age Pensions Act outdoor pauperism has practically ceased to exist in Great Britain, and indoor pauperism has been decreased by 20 per cent.

The passage of the National Insurance Act embraces within its scope over 13,000,000 persons. Its beneficial effects are just beginning to be felt.

The Trades Boards Act for the regulation of wages in various trades where sweating conditions formerly obtained has been an unqualified success.

Probably the most important measure was the readjustment of the taxation of the people. This has had the result of placing the taxes upon the wealthy, who had long escaped the fair share of the burden, and eventually will lead to single tax throughout the British empire.

This was followed by the limitation of the veto of the House of Lords, which had a remarkable influence not only upon the people of Great Britain, but upon the whole British empire and the whole world. It destroyed at one move the influence of the hereditary nobility, and declared to the world that Britain had declared that the end had come of the relics of the feudal system. It is the latest declaration of the power of the people against the classes.

The Liberal administration at present is giving Ireland local self-government, and is disestablishing the church in Wales.

Col. Sam Hughes is different in some ways from other men, colonels and otherwise, but he has the same old way of saying the same old pleasant things about the Canadian volunteer.

The city controller says that he is little better than a clerk at the busiest times, and that superiority may be questioned. The city should elevate the position to a man's job and get a competent official to take charge of it. With a competent controller the city affairs would not be in such a deplorable condition.

And they do say that the sham battle was called off when the rain began to fall. All battles should be called off before the rain begins to fall, and soldiers should never be allowed to work more than eight hours a day.

Temperance people have some cause for reflection over the report of the department of inland revenue which shows that last year the per capita consumption of beer was 7,065 gallons and 1,112 gallons of spirits, compared with 6,898 of the former and 1,090 of the latter during the preceding year. One explanation given is that many of the foreigners coming into the country drink wine, beer or spirits more freely than Canadians, and accordingly increase the average. The native Canadian is becoming more temperate.

Col. Hon. Sam Hughes has departed, the Saskatchewan huckleberries have wended their way, peace has been established on a firm footing in the Balkans, the baseball controversy has been settled, and all the more effervescent excitement in life has just about departed.

Canadians are a little too feverishly excited over the fool remarks of this man Horne Payne, and his senseless break in London. A man who will talk that way is not likely to have much weight with men who have any money to lose. He talks too much like a lightning rod vendor or a book agent.

RAILWAY COMMISSION INSISTS THAT THERE MUST BE NO DELAY IN RATE CASE

"No More Enlargements and No More Excuses," Insists Chairman Drayton; Case Will Be Resumed About the Middle of September; Chairman Presents a Number of Questions For Counsel to Answer

OTTAWA, June 25.—With an indefinite adjournment which government counsel wished to be set as late as September 1, the now famous western rate case completed another phase today. The cross-examination of W. B. Lanigan, western freight traffic manager of the C.P.R., was continued in the afternoon by Isaac Pitblado of Winnipeg, and W. A. Macdonald of British Columbia. At the conclusion of this Chairman Drayton, of the board of railway commissioners, told H. W. Whittle, of the government counsel, that the exhibit now prepared by J. P. Muller, the American rates expert, would have to be justified by the railway company.

Chairman Drayton finally fixed the time for the placing of the final Muller exhibits in the hands of counsel at six weeks. Three weeks later counsel must be prepared to submit their criticisms, in which must be outlined the principles upon which it is desired that the board should take action.

"We must have no more enlargements, and no more excuses," declared the chairman of the board.

Judging from the proceedings today, the hearing will be resumed about the middle of September. The chairman also made some pertinent remarks on the character of the evidence that had been put in both by the railway companies and by the opposing counsel. He outlined half a dozen particular questions that in his mind had important bearing on the case, and told counsel for both sides that these must be answered by the date which would be fixed by him later, when the case came before the board again.

Mr. Pitblado criticized the basis of rate comparisons taken by Mr. Lanigan in the C.P.R. exhibit. He thought the corresponding movement, to the movement of wire, for instance, from Fort William to Winnipeg would be the movement of wire from a distributing centre, not the movement given in the C.P.R. exhibit, instead of moving the wire from the exhibit the wire would move in carload lots at a lower rate to distributing centres, and then to the point of destination. Mr. Pitblado, at less than carload rates, reflected in the earnings of the railways.

Mr. Lanigan practically admitted this would be the movement, except for the fact that the Canadian mixing privileges.

Attacking the Rates. Mr. Pitblado then attacked the C.P.R. exhibit as not a comparison between one actual movement and another. If these exhibits were to be of any value, he thought, they had to be compared and not the "spectral rates," Mr. Cowan had already referred to.

Chairman Drayton said that C.P.R. exhibit No. 43 was not a comparison between actual traffic movements. He asked Mr. Pitblado's opinion as to whether the rate of a movement to a point affected the commodity rates thereto, but to this Mr. Pitblado was not prepared to give an answer. He stated, however, that he did not think it was possible to make a comparison between mileage rates. Dealing with the figures of comparative population submitted by Mr. Lanigan, it was contended by Mr. Pitblado that the figures do not mean anything unless reflected in the earnings of the railways.

Mr. Lanigan thought that difference in population was an important factor in the consideration of the question of rates. He contended that the distribution of the Canadian side of the line differs to those of the American side. Chicago and Minneapolis are in a larger sense distributing points. As it was not so, he contended that the Canadian railways have the advantage of carrying the bulk of the freight from the coast to the interior. The long haul through unproductive territory between Fort William, he said, was a disadvantage to the Canadian. Later on he said that in arriving at proper conclusions as to rates, it was not proper nor advisable to divide a railway into sections.

Did Not Consider Everything. Mr. Lanigan admitted that in his comparison of revenues to be gained on carload shipments of the Canadian side of the line and the Great Northern, he had not taken into account certain mileage rates. Mr. Pitblado pointed out that the Canadian side of the line has an advantage to the westward. Later on he said that in arriving at proper conclusions as to rates, it was not proper nor advisable to divide a railway into sections.

It is shown that western rates are not unfair as compared with those in the east. F. H. Chrysler remarked that at a previous hearing the railways had established that the difference in western and eastern rates is due largely to water competition in the east. Chairman Drayton said that the board had not given any ruling in regard to that contention. The only ruling which had been given was to the effect that the onus of proving that the western rates are not discriminatory in character rests upon the railways. Then do I understand that the complete defence of the railways has been put," said Mr. Cowan.

F. H. Chrysler explained that the counsel for the railways had yet to examine J. P. Muller, the American rates expert, in reference to his theories as to the difference between eastern and western rates. Apart from that the case of the railways was practically complete.

The Hearing Concluded. Chairman Drayton remarked that Mr. Muller had worked out a theory on behalf of the counsel for the Dominion government, which he contended that if the railways had any theory relating to it they should set it out for the benefit of the board. He expressed hope that everybody connected with the case would gather up all

"house ends" before the next sitting in order to hasten the matter to a conclusion. H. W. Whittle asked that a time limit be placed upon the railways in furnishing the exhibits not yet supplied. Mr. Drayton fixed the time at 20 days after completion of Mr. Muller's exhibits. This concluded the hearing for the present.

Regina Rate Case. Mr. M. K. Cowan was then heard in connection with the Regina rate case. He explained that the chief of this case in its beginning was the contention by the Regina board of trade that, taking Fort William as a basis, the carload ratings to points west of Regina favor the Winnipeg jobbers and discriminate against the Regina jobbers. It was established, Mr. Cowan said, that carloads of groceries or any other commodities could be shipped from Fort William to Winnipeg and out again to points west of Regina, such as Swift Current, for less than they could be shipped to Regina and then out. The board decided that Regina, within its own mirado zone was entitled to equal treatment with Winnipeg. An order was issued instructing the railways to remove the discrimination. The railways issued new tariffs, which reduced, but it did not remove the discrimination. Anyone could sit down and figure out that Regina is still having trouble, being discriminated against. F. H. Chrysler, who commenced the reply on behalf of the C.P.R., said that the new tariffs had done away with the discrimination under which Regina had suffered. He will continue tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Martin have just returned from a trip to the Pacific coast. While there they took the occasion to visit the playground of Canada, better known as "Canada's Greatest Pleasure Resort," in which they had invested prior to going to the coast. Mr. Martin was so taken with the place that he increased his purchase, and reports that the beach, building sites, climate, etc., all on the broad Pacific Ocean, were so much beyond his expectation and so beautiful that he placed orders for more land to describe the place adequately. He believes that hundreds of thousands of dollars annually at the American resorts that the new resort now building will be the big note in Canada in the course of a very short time and will attract the tourist travel from all parts of the world.

WHAT THE PUBLIC WANTS

(By Constance Errol.)
Are you satisfied with the way this page is being conducted? You are paying for it and you might as well have it exactly to your liking. If you don't the fault lies with you and not with The Albertian, since we are willing and eager to give you what you want once that want is stated.

A person who has much to say is always being censured, though usually the censure comes through a third party. A daily paper is but the carrying of speeches and actions from one set of persons to another, and necessarily it also comes for censure. The "pushers," too, sometimes do more than echo others' sentiments. They dare to think for themselves, and through the medium of the press to spare their thoughts on an unsuspecting public. Quite often the public doesn't like it. Once in a while it rears, but usually it is content to growl in a low sullen tone and lie low.

This is not what the paper aims at and it is not what it wants. It wants to tell what is taking place all over the world, and especially it wants to tell the public a good deal that the public in part knows, because human nature always likes to air its knowledge and adores its own name in print. And then, because those who work on a paper do not stick to one sphere, or thought, or creed, but must give fair heed to every man's opinion, they sometimes catch a glimpse of what to them seems truth, and they speak it.

They set things in clear perspective; they are too rushed to be prejudiced, and so they sometimes do reach heights of reason that they themselves did not dream of. They become leaders of thought, and so, the saying now should read, "The press is mightier than the sword."

But these paper people are not more human. They don't mind being told that people disagree with them, even if the only excuse they have is the being able to show off their reasons for what they did think. They aren't out to air their opinions. If they were they would be novelists, or poets, or preachers, and as the life of a paper lies in controversy, they delight in contradiction. If you don't like what we say, tell us on paper.

Again, we want to give you what you want. There are a number of you and no two wants are alike, but so far as it is possible, for men and women, paper and machinery to turn out a paper to your liking, then you have but to say the word.

This is no story "new or never told before." I said the same last week with regard to this page, as sincerely if not as emphatically. In answer to the enquiry I received replies, stating that fashions were and were not wanted. That heart talks were rubbish and very helpful. That gowns did not matter (though outside I was told that when a woman goes from home she is just dying to know who all enters during her absence, and who all buys new suits). A literary page was asked for, and hints on the bringing up of babies, also receipts for dinners, lunches, etc. Beauty hints were not despised, and clubs were implored. Somebody wished the name of the Woman's Page altered—a good suggestion. Again may I beg the public to stand sponsor?

The Albertian has honestly attempted to fulfil its duties, "and then some." It has given beauty hints from the pen of Lillian Russell, the noted actress; Miss Margaret A. Stewart has contributed domestic science articles, while Laura Jean Libbey has contrived to tie and untie love-knots in the wisest way known to human Society has been covered, and clubs were given full publicity, yet some folks want more. This is not a woman's magazine, it is only a part about women in a daily paper, so that men may know what the women say and do, and that the women themselves may see how it looks in print. This society editor, or, as she prefers to be known, women's writer, was at Edmonton, which explains her sudden expression of a long desire to take a good grip of the responsibilities which a number of women and all men credit the press woman with possessing. Once more, before the page is remodelled and rechristened, will the public say what it wants?

A letter just received asks news on the W. C. T. U.

Dear Miss Ingram—There are about 300 women in Calgary who are members of the W. C. T. U. and they all as well as a large outside interested public, would like to see a W. C. T. U. column once a week in The Albertian. An up-to-date paper should not ignore the largest and liveliest woman's society in the city.

Very sincerely, ISABEL N. CAMPBELL, Vice-Treas. Calgary District

Other letters will be equally welcome.

Aftermath of Montreal Fire.
Montreal, June 24.—Hundreds of people fought their way into the smouldering ruins of the city, and amid the wreckage and the charred and disfigured bodies of the four firemen who lost their lives in yesterday's disastrous fire at the sash and door factory of Hawairo & Sarrasin.

The loss is estimated today at not more than $75,000 and on this there is insurance to the extent of $1,000,000. Floral tributes of all kinds are being sent into the homes of the bereaved families, and at the various fire stations throughout the city. They come from all classes of the community and many have been sent from points outside Montreal.

There will be a civic funeral of the four victims, the Roman Catholic and the Protestant processions moving through the streets side by side. The remains will be carried on an open fire truck. The mayor and aldermen, the entire fire brigade, representatives from the insurance societies, friendly societies and other organizations throughout the city, police, militia, forces and others will follow the remains to the churches, where memorial services will be held simultaneously, and thence to the cemeteries. It is feared that the wife of Fireman Patrick Hamilton, who was among the dead, will not survive the shock. She was young and was preparing to celebrate the sixth anniversary of their marriage yesterday, when the news of her husband's death came.

The falling wall that killed the firemen was blown out by a back draught of put-up smoke. All four killed were crushed to death and in each case death was instantaneous.

HON. SAM HUGHES IS FOR MEWATA PARK ARMORY SITE

Decision Expected Within a Few Days When Minister Returns From the Coast

The visit of Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes to Calgary yesterday did nothing to further the settlement of the vexed question of the armory site. So brief was the visit of the gallant Colonel that he was unable to give any time to go and visit the proposed sites. He was waited on by the mayor and Alderman Garton, and he informed them that he understood that the site for the new armory was on Mewata park. There was no indication that the matter was decided finally, but the impression which those present thought was to be conveyed was that the park would have to be the site for the building. As the minister went west to the coast and will be back again within a few days, it is expected that he will stop off here for a short time and inspect the site and arrive at some decision.

SASKATONIANS SEE ALL THAT CALGARY HAS TO OFFER

ALL WERE PLEASED WITH WHAT THEY SAW HERE

Interest Was Taken in the Hospital and the Other Buildings, Especially the Market Street Railway Was An Object of Admiration

SASKATOON'S ninety and seven-roaming business men did Calgary yesterday morning. To some it was not a new thing, and yet their eyes were opened to see in greater reality the great things of Calgary as they were pointed out by Commissioner Graves, a connoisseur, if such there be. Roused at an early hour, the Saskatonians yesterday morning found that for all the rain the scenic car and a batch of automobiles were in readiness to carry them through the city. Thus they went north, south, east, and west, and saw all that Calgary had to show. In a few hours they were back to the depot and not one of the flock being missing the train drew out on the homeward stretch towards Medicine Hat just at noon. The Saskatoon men declared their eyes had been veritably opened with the sights of Calgary, and they could not report half of what they saw here on their return to their home city.

President Is Appreciative. President Johnston of the Saskatchewan board of trade said that while they had been heartily received wherever they had gone, there was no better welcome given them than right in Calgary. He was much impressed with the many fine buildings which had gone up in the business centre of Calgary within the last three years and said that some of the larger structures were such that Calgary might well be proud of them. The hospital was an object in which a special interest was taken by the visitors from Saskatoon. That city is much in need of some big work being done along the line of erecting a thoroughly up-to-date building for the care of the sick.

It is likely that something will be done soon to ratchet work and the many visitors during the trip, some of them being members of the hospital board, were much interested in seeing the hospital buildings of the other western cities and seeing how they were run.

F. Scanders, the industrial commissioner, was also much impressed by the many changes he noted in Calgary and said it was refreshing to see that other cities could make a progress that could compare with that of their own city.

Several of the visitors were connected with the city council and spent the few hours here taking mental notes on the paving, the sewers, the water system, and notably the street railway, which each Calgarian pointed out with justifiable pride. The market building also attracted much attention, while the fine schools and the still finer grounds around them were at once the envy and the admiration of the men from Saskatoon.

When the party left there was not a word to be heard but praise for Calgary and Calgary men. The visitors felt that they had not wasted time in coming here and said that much of the experience of Calgary would serve them in good stead on their return to deal with similar problems in their home town.

Retail Confectioners Ask Attorney-General to Have Lord's Day Act Enforced in Calgary

The closing of confectionery stores in Calgary on Sunday was advocated at the meeting of the board of trade yesterday afternoon, and a resolution asking for the strict enforcement of the Lord's Day act in its entirety on the particular was unanimously adopted by the board.

The matter was brought up as the result of a petition from the retail confectioners of the city. They pointed out the importance of the Lord's Day act both in the interests of trade and the employees. They said that one of two courses ought to be followed by the people in authority in Calgary, either the provisions of the act ought to be set aside altogether or they ought to be a strict observance of the statutes by the shopkeepers of the city. After some general discussion it was felt by the members of the board of trade that a committee should be held to the law like all others who have stores, and a resolution was passed asking the attorney general to see to the enforcement of the law in the city. Should this be done, it will mean the closing of all places of refreshment and for the sale of soft drinks on Sunday throughout the city.

The Markets

STOCKS OF NEW YORK RAINS IN WEST HAVE SELL WITHIN VERY NARROW LIMITS

Depressing Effect ON WHEAT PRICE

Rainfall Stocks Show to Best Advantage, But Prices Drop During Last Hour

New York, June 25.—The strong tone of the stock market earlier was markedly changed by the news of heavy rain in the West. The market opened with a narrow range, but the price of wheat advanced. The market was depressed during the last hour of the day.

Winnipeg, Chicago and Minneapolis Close Lower; Cash Prices Unchanged

Winnipeg, June 25.—Rains over the Canadian West and dry portions of the United States spring wheat stocks together with the lower Liverpool cables, depressed the wheat markets on both sides of the line during the early hours of business. Later there was a general recovery in prices on the British report by Export Sales, on conditions in the River valley, where the condition of the wheat was reported from 27 at June 1 to 47 at the present time.

Chicago, June 25.—Statements that contrary to fire reports the burnt district of South Dakota had not been touched by rain, except in a few spots, rallied the wheat market today from a sharp set-back. The close was firm at prices ranging from 1.15 to 1.4 ungraded, right to 1.8 above.

Chicago, June 25.—Deals in stocks here today were on a small scale and price movements were for the most part narrow and meaningless.

WOOLFORD WILL MARKET $100,000 WORTH OF HOGS

The Woolford district will market 4,000 head of fat hogs this fall, in addition to a wide variety of other products, in the statement of E. B. McTigue, who was in the city yesterday. Mr. McTigue is a merchant at Woolford, and says that section is going in for mixed farming on an extensive scale, having learned by past experience that wheat farming, while profitable, is more or less of a gamble.

The hog output alone will bring to the people of any community $100,000 this fall, said Mr. McTigue. "And I anticipate that next season twice as many hogs will be marketed from our country."

London, June 25.—The stock market opened firm and higher today, but speculative issues soon came off on realising and the rise in the Netherlands bank rate to five per cent. Consols declined three-sixteenths when the increased rate was announced.

The closing was dull but foreign and home rails and Grand Trunk shares advanced, and the wheat market finished above the lowest.

The general settlement on the stock exchange is being arranged at rates a fraction harder, but conditions in July will be pressed over without trouble. Money discount rates were slightly easier.
