By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound-Their Own Stories Here Told.

Edmonton, Alberta, Can. — "I think it is no more than right for me to thank you for what your kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

"When I wrote to you some time ago I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had organic inflammation and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend your medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills, and think they are fine. I will never be without the medicine in the house."---Mrs. FRANK EMSLEY, 903 Columbia Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

It is generally the work of some smart alec of the neighborhood, who desires to create to nervous disorders, and this makes talk at the expense of others and to their immunity from the trouble all the embarrasment of the publisher. Even the most careful editor some times gets caught unawares, and if the law as it at present stands does not make the author of such items subject to prosecution, it should be mended with this end in view.

It was recently deemed expedient to call upon the native chiefs south of Khartum to make a public declaration of loyalty to the British Crown They were all brought up before the Sirdar, Sir Reginald Wingate, and all made the required declaration without comment, except one old chief, who asked if he might put a question. Permission to do so was given. "Well," said the chief, "how given. many British troops are there now

Many a middle-aged man of Canadian birth going back to the scenes of his boyhood looks and listens in vain for evidence of the presence of black squirrels, of which the woods seemed to be so full when he was one of their persecutors. Their human enemies and their racial enemies, the red squirrels, proved too much for them, and now the red squirrel ie also becoming scarce. It s true, the black squirrel is reappearing timidly in some of his old purlieus. This is because in those regions the game law is not disregarded, says a writer in the Toronto Mail and Empire. WOMEN RARELY STAMMER.

And This is a Fact That Puzzles the Medical Experts. Have you ever known a woman who stammered? It is very doubtful. The fact that those afflicted with stammering are a hundred men to one woman is one of the most curious things in the science of pathology. Even the specialists in nervous troubles are utterly at a loss to account for this peculiarity. One eminent speclaitst says that in all his vast experi-ence he has only known one woman to suffer from stammering. Stammer-ing is a nervous affliction of the organs of speech, and the victim is usually a person of highly strung temperament. Where there is not any real reason for this trouble, the cause usually lies in the mind-that is, the stammerer stammers because he fears he will stammer. Now, women are much more prone the more remarkable. For some mysterious reason their nervousness affects the organs of speech only in very rare cases. Stammering is said by some medical authorities not to be due at all to any defect in the organs of speech, but to come under the head of a bad functional disease.

Another peculiarity is that a person who may stammer badly in ordinary conversation can sing excellent-ly and without hesitation. - London Answers,

LAUNCHING A VESSEL

Matter of Mathematics, With a Vasi Amount of Calculation.

The launching of a vessel is primarily a matter of mathematics. In a ship of immense size it calls for a vast amount of calculation before the first step is taken in the actual work. In the first place, the specific gravity of the vessel must be figured out so as to allow for the various strains to which the hull is subjected on its slanting journey into the water, with its sudden plunge as the bow drops from the ways.

An enormous amount of data must be collected to fix this center of gravity. The weight of all the material that has gone into the vessel up to the time of the launching, the distribution of this weight, the weight of chains and anchors and other material placed on board preparatory to the launch must all be considered. When the center of gravity is fixed the successful shipbuilder knows just how to build his launching ways and just where to strengthen them. He knows then by a little calculation how long each part of the vessel will be subjected to certain strains and how best to prepare for them. He can fig-

EGGACTLY

(By Mary Ann)

The other day I was present when a conflag took place between a farmer and his far better half -as to what a stale egg really is, or eggs suitable for sale at the store. The argument wazed fat and furious (or course she would have the last word) and he to prove that an egg was fresh and good for dyspepsia within the twenty-one day limit smashed one on the floor, and dear oh dear the atmosphere changed suddenly. The air was so thick it seemed as if a dozen of those black and white animals so fond of chicken were out for recess. He coughed, she cough ed and I excommunicated myself out the back door. It is needless to say he looked sick. The point was exploded. That egg was not good for dyspepsia by any means, still that husband would make his wife send such eggs to the store in exchange for clean goods. From a financial standpoint that man had a head on like a tack, but morally speaking he was a sinner who needs lot of prayers. There, are a lot of just such eggs put in the market basket that should be kept out. I contend that farmers would make a higher market by selling strictly fresh eggs, which could be done by testing. The wholesaler would soon advance the price to the merchant and the merchant to the farmer. There should be a heavy fine imposed on the seller of bad eggs, whether he be producer or dealer. Thousands of dollars are spent, annually by wholesale houses testing which could chiefly be avoided at

A number of special attractions, which should prove of interest to every fruit grower, have been secured for the Lambton County Horticultural Exhibition, which takes place in Sarnia, on October 27, 28, 30. Several firms, 'well known in Canada, have already applied for space in which to exhibit appliances connected with the fruit and vegetable growing industry. These exhibits, will include potatce machinery, spray outfits, spray materials, fertilizers, pruning tools, nursery stock and other materials of interest to fruit men.

Among the educational exhibits, of which several have been secured from various Departments, none will prove more interesting than an exhibit of market packages. This exhibit was a feature of the Government display at Toronto Exhibition. The exhibit will be in charge of F. C. Some Northwest Grain Yields

The Grassy Lake correspondent of the Lethbridge Daily Herald says : Here are the yields reported for the threshing done since last week which prove that the crop is turning out far better than was anticipated—they are not just the best yields picked out but a fair indica-tion of how the grain is running. Andrew Volk had 56 acres of wheat that avaraged 50 bushels per acre. Gus. Schmidt had over 9000 bushels of pure Red Fife wheat off 260 acres. His oats yielded better than 100 bushels per acre by weight. Ed. Johnston's oats yielded at the rate of 95 weighed bushels per acre.

64. Johnston's oats yleiden at the rate of 95 weighed bushels per acre. Berlins will have over 10,000 bushels of wheat from 300 acres, and some of the crop looked very light. Walter Gwilliam threshed 5100 bushels off 130 acres, and a 50 acre field that was disked in on stubble produced at the rate of 22 bushels. Hart Bros., in the Sherburne district, got.5100 bushels from a hundred-acre field of wheat.

Women's Suffrage

At the beginning of the war son people thought women's suffra would be one of the issues whi would drop out of sight for som time. As a matter of fact, howeve the movement is gaining groun rapidly.

The Alberta government has an nounced that a women's suffrage bill will be introduced at the coming session. A similar bill will also be introduced at the first session of the Norris government in Manitoba and the issue is becoming a very keen one in Saskatchewan with prospects of some action very soon.

When the women of the three prairie provinces have full provincial rights of voting and when, as is likely, this will extend to votes in the federal elections, for provincial lists are used in both contests. a great impetus will be given to the movement for women's suffrage in the provinces where success at present does not seem near, for the women of one part of the country will not want to be discriminated against as compared with women in other provinces, in the field of federal as well as provincial politics.

The brave men who have won it, those who died in the struggle and those who lived to wear the crown of victory have done the greatest service men can do for their native lands.

We feel pride in their achievements, in their heroism, and honor them for the sacrifices they have made.

There are gaps to fill in the ranks of these gallant men who are fighting for us on the battlefields

It is the young men of Canada who are expected to fill them and emulate the deeds of those who have fallen in the hour of victory.

It is left to your voluntary decision.

Ask yourself, you of military age. what is your duty to the flag that protects you in the enjoyment of your free citizenship.

What is your answer ?

Ottawa, October 15, 1915.—The Census and Statistics Office issued to-day its monthly report on the field crops of Canada, based upon returns made by crop-reporting correspondents at the end of September. The report gives the second or provisional annual estimate of the yield of the principal grain crops, a statement of the quality of these crops at the time of harvesting and the condition of root crops on September 30th. YIELD OF PRINCIPAL GRAIN CROPS VIELD OF PRINCIPAL GRAIN CROPS

GUIDE-ADVOCATE, WATFORD, OCTOBER 22, 1915

YIELD OF PRINCIPAL GRAIN CROPS For wheat, oats, rye and flax the pro-visional estimate now issued shows yields higher even than those reported a mouth ago; but in the case of barley and oats the present estimate is less than that of August 31. The total wheat crop of Can-ada is now placed at 336,258 000 bushels from 12,986,400 acres, representing an average yield per acre of 25.89 bushels. This total is 174,978,000 bushels more than last year's inferior yield of 161,280,-000 bushels, the crop this year being therefore more than double, or 108 p. c. more than that of last year. It is 104,-541,000 bushels, or 45 p. c. in excess of the previous highest yield of 231,717,-000 bushels in 1913, and 140,232,000 bus. or 72 p.c. in excess of the annual average yield of 196,026.000 bushels for the five years 1910 to 1914. Of oats the revised total yield is 481,035,500 bushels from 11.365,000 acres, an average per acre of 42.33 bushels. Barley comes out at 50,-868,000 bushels from 1,509,350 acres, an average per acre of 33.70 bushels. Rye is now 2,478,500 bashels from 11.2,300 868,000 bushels from 1,509,350 acres, an average per acre of 33.70 bushels. Rye is now 2,478,500 bashels from 112,300 acres, or 22.07 bushels per acre and flax-seed 12,604,700 bushels from 1,009,600 acres, or 12.48 bushels per acre. In the three Northwest provinces the estimated yield of wheat is 304,200,000 bushels and of oats 305,680,000 bushels. The remain-ing grain crops of Canada, whose yields are now reported on for the first time of cats 305,680,000 bushels. The remain-ing grain crops of Canada, whose yields are now reported on for the first time this year, are as follows: peas, 3,240,-400 bushels from 196,210 acres, an average of 16 52 bushels per acre; beans 594,000 bushels from 43,310 acres, 13.71 bushels per acre; buckwheat 8,101,000 bushels, 343,000 acres, 23.58 bushels per acre; mixed grains 17,128,500 bushels, 466,800 acres, 36.69 bushels per acre; con for husking 14,594,000 bushels, 253,300 acres, 57.62 bushels per acre; In arriving at these estimates certain deductions have been made for quantities reported as destroyed by the weather in the province of Ontario, chiefly sprouting in stook through the excessive rains during August. These deductions do not re-present a total loss, as the sprouted grain will be used for feeding, They amount on the average to 11 p. c. of the total crops for wheat, 9 p.c. for oats, 8.5 p.c. for peas, and 6 p.c. for beans. Correspondents were asked to report on the quality of the grain crops at the time of harvest, as measured against a standard of 100 representing grain well headed, well filled, well saved and unaffected to any appreciable extent by frost, rust, smut, etc. The average re-sults for the whole of Canada are as sults for the whole of Canada are as follows: wheat, oats, barley, rye, and mixed grains from 90 to 93; peas, beans, buckwheat, flax and corn for husking from 79 to 84. The quality of spring wheat is exceptionally high in the North-west provinces, being 93 in Manitoba, 96 in Saskatchewan and 97 in Alberta. Last year the corresponding figures for Can-ada were below 80 in nearly all cases and even in the good season of 1913 they were not so high as they are this year. She told the man where he would find a ladder in an outhouse, how he could climb to a certain window on the sec ond floor, which he would find open; how he could enter a room where there would be a box of jewels on a dresser When this agreement had been made the man retreated and Georgia rode * back to the house to report the inter lew

She was reproved by her mother, who did not for a moment suppose that she had the remotest idea of car rying her prank any further, nor did I. Mrs. Middleton proposed that on the night appointed for the robbery the gate should be locked and the police be called to protect the premises. Mr Middleton was in the city and not expected at home for several days. I, being the only man present, ventured to suggest to Mrs. Middleton that the man would not be so gullible as to trust himself in the hands of a stranger and nothing would come of it, but the lady declared that she believed many robberies were committed by connivance of the servants and this was a case in point.

After the matter had been duly discussed by all except its perpetrator, who had maintained a modest silence, Georgia as soon as she got me alone told me that she believed the man was a jailbird who had escaped or had end-ed his term and that she had completely deceived him. She asked me to assis her in carrying out her scheme. I told her that the police would be only too glad to be interested in it with a view to capturing the man red handed.] volunteered to sound them and learn what they would prefer to do.

I did so and was told, after giving them Georgia's description of the man, that he was probably Red Mike, who and recently been discharged after doing a term in state prison. They begged me to secure them an opportunity to trap him. I suggested that they put a guard around the Middleton grounds and take him as he entered, but they said that by this course they would have no charge to make against him, whereas if he were permitted to enter the house and was caught there carrying away property he could be sent back to prison for another term. When I reported these facts to Georgia she asked me to grant the request of the police, but declared that the matter must be kept from her nother. I did not like to be mixed in a matter of dissimulation, but Georgia aid it could be managed with her mother's knowledge of it. I finally left her to do as she pleased. She determined to communicate with her father, who, returning from the city, after hearing the story and giving his daughter the usual scolding upon one of her pranks, decided to give the police the opportunity, if it occurred. to get in a criminal who was bent on making a dishonest living. On the night of the expected burglary we amused ourselves as usual till about 11 o'clock when we all wont to our rooms, agreeing that all lights should be turned off at 12. The robbery was to be committed at 1. I turned off my light at the appointed time and sat in the dark in my clothes. My room overlooked the outhouse where the ladder that the burglar was to use was kept, and the window through which he was to enter was or the same side of the house. Shortly before 1 o'clock I began a watch upon the outhouse, but when ten minutes after the appointed time had elapsed and all was quiet I made up my mind that it was Georgia who had been

So he uttered no word Georgia, having played her prank now regretted that she had been instru mental in returning a man to prison and began to urge her father to use his influence to prevent the rascal being prosecuted. But Mr. Middleton told her that the matter was not in his hands. The police had caught the robber red handed and had the necessary evidence to convict him. Nevertheless, Georgia did not give up. She hired a lawyer to defend the man she had trapped, and the thief got off on the ground that he had been per suaded to rob the person who had persuaded him, which was a conspiracy. Georgia wound up her summer musements by bringing me to a declaration and refusing me. I suppose should have condemned her, but I did not. I pretended that I had also been musing myself, though I took care to show this by my bearing and not by words. The ruse was successful, and in time I married her.

I am happy to say that since our marriage my wife has behaved herself to my entire satisfaction. She plays no oranks-indeed, she has forgotten those she played in her girlhood. Our daugh ter. BRUTALITY WAS THE RULE.

One of the Mildest of the Inflictions Was Drumming the Culprit Out of Camp and This Was Attended With Branding and Humiliation.

In times happily gone by discipline in the British army was maintained by methods the majority of which can only be described as vindictive, tyran nical and even brutal in severity. It is doubtful if the savages of the dark ages could have conceived more revolting penalties than some which were inflicted by courts martial, and even by commanding officers on their own responsibility, in former times. The voluntary sufferings of the inints, the tortures of the religious or ders of olden days, pale before the cruelty involved in the various forms of death penalty, the riding of the wooden horse, picketing, running the gantlet, branding and flogging. It is comforting that, these punishments have gradually succumbed to the force of public opinion and the progress of civilization. Drumming out of the army-or trumpeting, as it was called in the cavalry and artillery-was of a different character. It was vindictive, unnecessarily so, but not brutal or even painful. It was quaint and at the present day might almost have been considered theatrical. The prisoner, handcuffed, was brought from the guardroom to the parade ground under escort. The crime of which he had been found guilty and the sentence of the court martial, were read aloud by the adfutant, he was to be degraded, branded as a bad character, discharged from the service with ignominy and to suffer a term of imprisonment with hard abor. In the process of degradation the buttons, braid, badges, facings and even the medal which he had earned were stripped from his tunic. Then came the branding. There is nothing necessarily degrading in branding. All recruits in the Roman army, for instance, vere branded on final approval, but its infliction as a punishment is another matter altogether, and not so easily de fended. It was apparently a custom peculiar to the British army. During the reign of George L deserters were "stigmatized on the forehead." At a later period in history they were branded on the left side two inches below the armpit, and later generally on the arm. The tattooing was applied with a brass instrument containing a series of needle points, the nunctures made by which were rubbed with a composition

The door had been purpose ly left ajar by the police, who were in room overlooking the outhouse. I saw the figure carrying something which I presumed to be the ladder, though it was too dark to discern what was, and by his motions I knew that he was raising one end against the ouse. Then I saw him slowly mount the rounds.

I had left my door open so that I ould look into the hall and now went to take position at the door. It was ot a minute, though it seemed longer, after this change that the electric lights on that floor were turned on, the police sprang from the room they occu pied into the hall and thence into the room the burglar had entered. I rar to the door of the room they were in, reaching it just in time to see them eize the man and take from him a box, which one of them opened. It was filled with pebbles.

The household was up and about. No one had gone to bed, and as the burglar was led out through the hall he passed us all. When he came to Georgia I saw him start, for he saw her, not in cook's apparel, but dressed as a lady. Summer Is Especially Hard on the Servant.

PUT YOURSELF IN HER PLACE.

Be Considerate of the Maid Who Must Toil in the Hot Kitchen While the Mistress of the House Takes Her Ease.

The warm weather is hard on rich and poor, on mistress and on maid, but where the wealthy can escape from the heat by leaving town the poor must stay and face it. While the mistress can keep cool by avoiding exercise and by the thinnest of garments, the maid must bear the heat of the kitchen as best she can. For this reason the hot weather is a very trying time on all those who must work.

Those of you who have the means to employ servants to do your work for you should be particularly considerate of them in the heat of summer. There are so many little things you can do to make the heat less hard for your maid to bear. If you can mentally put yourself in her place you will be far more thoughtful of her comfort than if you look on her as a mere automaton. The kitchen is far from cool at any time in the summer, but you as mis-tress can do much to keep it from growing any hotter. For instance, try to avoid many roasts, for to keep the oven glowing for two or three hours is to make the kitchen a real inferno. One roast or two at most in the week is plenty for summer months. But when you have a roast let it be sufficiently large so that it will last several days. It can be served cold for one meal and then as a stew, with onions, carrots, etc., or as a pie or in cro-quette form. If you have the forethought to provide three days' meals from one roast you will save the maid much of that excessive heat which attends all baking in hot weather.

Ironing day is most trying for the girl, and you can, if you will, do much to help her through this as well. If you will allow her to keep the swinging door into the dining room open and the windows in the kitchen and dining room open while she is doing her iron-ing the draft through will carry off a good part of the warmth without mak-ing the rest of the house any hotter.

On washing and ironing days try to have the dianers as simple and as easy to prepare as possible. Have as few dishes as possible that require long cooking. Vegetables that need to be helded year long give off a great deal boiled very long give off a great deal of steam, heating the kitchen to a high degree. To be obliged to iron or wash, both of which are very hot work, in a room already rendered warm by the stove, is nothing short of torture in the

TOO MUCH POETIC LICENSE.

The Big Guns of Literature, in His Opinion, Take Liberties the Little Ones Would Not Dare Take and Cites Examples to Prove His Case.

"I've been dipping into poetry," remarked the casual caller, "not as a writer, you understand, but as a reader. At that I think I could do as well as some of them if I could also write my own license. "The mere versifier must stick to all the rules of the game or be treated as a joke, but the fellow who can get across with the idea that he's a poet can make his own rules and take liberties with riming and common sense that would make a gargoyle ashamed of himself, which no one could do under a regular journeyman poet's license.

"Take 'Lochinvar,' for instance:

"So light to the croup the fair lady he swung; So light to the saddle before her he sprung!

"How could he? I ask you that. With the lady once mounted how could he spring to the saddle without kick-ing her off in the act-unless he mounted backward? And who but a poet himself would license a poet to make his hero do such a fool thing as that? Those Netherby people would have died laughing at the spectacle. And that's only the start, for we also have: "And save his good broadsword he weapons had none; He rode all unarmed and he rode all alone.

"Silly, isn't it, to crack a man up as riding unarmed when he carried a broadsword that ranked with the weapons of those days about where a machine gun does now? We wouldn't boast of the nerve of a man these days who went to call on his ladylove with a gatling, would we? "These poetry heroes do such very foolish things! There's also 'Horatius,' you know:

"So he spake, and, speaking, sheathed His good sword by his side. And, with his harness on his back, Plunged headlong in the tide.

"Can you imagine it? A man with a couple of tons of iron attached to his person and very likely a spiked helmet diving head first into a river! Why, he'd have spiked himself to the bottom so hard that he'd be there yet. It's supremely ridiculous, and no one but a major poet would have dared even hint at such a thing. What Horatius really did, if he had the sense of a brass pup, was to jump in feet first so that he could begin churning himself to the surface the minute he struck the water. But it's when he mo ships and railroad trains that the poet becomes most absurd:

that I listened to the casual caller. I can a longer read poetry with my for-mer careless appreciation of it; I have become too critical.—Elliott Flower in Chicago Herald.

Sheer batiste embroidered in daisies and edged by a bobbin lace makes a dainty collar and chemisette for wear with a silk or cotton gown.

Old Straw Hats.

Perhaps your old summer straw hat would do if you turned it wrong side out, as that generally gives the desired drooping shape. If it's not quite the shape you want steam it over a steaming tea kettle. Then you can do with it what you please. As soon as the steam has dried, which is only a mo-ment, your hat will be free from dust and have its original stiffness.

Good-bye to Asthma. Persons suffer-ing from that extremely trying trouble known as asthma know what it is to long with all their hearts for escape as from a tyrant. Never do they know when an attack may come and they know that to struggle unaided is vain. With Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Rem-edy at hand, however, they can say good-bye to their enemy and enjoy life again. It helps at once. m

The largest grower of tobacco in the Learnington section this year is G. A. Brown, who has 80 acres in tobacco on his Talbot St. east farm. This is the largest tobacco acreage ever grown in that locality, it is claimed. He has about 60 acres of the Warne variety and the balance chiefly Burley, which he expects to yield about a ton to the acre.

The ease with which corns and warts can be removed by Holloway's Corn Cure is its strongest recommendation. It seldom fails.

It really is to your advantage to try to save your maid as much as possible during the hot weather. She will be able to do far better, far more satisfactory work if you try to help her a little than if you go on regardless of her comfort. No one is able to do her best when she is overcome by the exhaustion of too great heat, and the work your girl can do for you will only be of the best if you try to protect her from the heat so far as it is possible. If you can only picture to yourself how she feels on the days you find warm you will be more thoughful of her comfort. And the girl, seeing your regard for her interests, will have the incentive to work all the harder, whereas if you pile on the work regardless of the temperature, you will exhaust the girl and rob her of all her ability to do good work.

Widows In China.

There are no merry widows in Chi-na. When a Chinese husband dies his widow is despised by every member of her family as a woman who has incurred the wrath of the gods.

Seems To.

They say there is no intelligence in inanimate things, but a pin works a heap more tractably for a woman than it does for a man.-Kansas City JourneL

THE FUTURE.

I do not say we ought to be happier as we grow older, but we ought to be calmer, knowing better what life is and looking forward to another which we believe to be a reality, though we cannot tell what it means.-Jewett.

Think of your wonderful immunity from harm if you mind your own busithe state of the state of 1 ness.-Loomis.

"'We are lost!' the captain shouted As he staggered down the stairs.

"Remember that old favorite, illustrating the power of faith? Read it to a seafaring man some day and hear him snort. Why, a captain who'd leave his post in a storm and go skipping down to the cabin to throw a scare into his passengers couldn't hold a job as a mule driver for a canal boat. Think of it! A great storm, when he's needed to handle the ship, and the poet sends him bellowing into the cabin to start a panic—with no reason for it either, for we learn later that they 'anchored safe in harbor when the sun was shining clear!' It's on a par with the engineer's story: "The train was heavily laden, so I let my engine rest, Climbing the grading slowly till we reach-ed the upland's crest.

"I put that up to a railroad man once and he told me with much emphasis that any engineer who let his engine rest on an upgrade with a heavily loaded train would be chased off the right of way with bricks—if he got his train through, which he probably wouldn't. The chances are the train would slip back and pile up in a ditch somewhere while the engine was resting.

"But for supreme idiocy commend me to 'Casabianca.' Why, say, if that boy had been left in a house and the house caught fire and the boy had refused to let the firemen rescue him be-cause papa had told him not to go cause papa had told him not to go away you'd be sorry for him, of course; but you'd never think of cracking him up as anything but an example of un-precedented imbedility! You'd reason, 'Well, that kid didn't have sense enough to grow up anyway,' and let it go at that. Yet the poet goes to work ord reacts him to death on a burning and roasts him to death on a burning ship just because papa isn't there and expects you to applaud the inhuman act. It makes me tired!

"And the riming that some of these big guns do is simply atrocious. A lit-tie fellow couldn't get across with it in a thousand years. Here take 'Mandalay,' for example:

"On the road to Mandalay, Where the old flotilla lay,

Keen Eyesight of Birds.

A hawk can spy a lark upon earth almost exactly the same color at twenty times the distance at which it is perceptible to a man or a dog. A kite soaring out of human sight can stul distinguish and pounce upon lizards and field mice on the ground, and the distance from which vultures and eagles can spy their prey is almost incredible.

The giant Ferragus, who was slain by Orlando, the nephew of Charle-magne, was, it is alleged, eighteen feet high. party entered the drawing room, the bride being given away by her father. In front of an embankment of autumin flowers, Rev. K. M. Esson performed the ceremony. The bridal couple was un-attended and only the very immediate friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride was gowned in pearl grey silk with lace trimming, and carried a sheaf of white chrysanthemums. After the cer-emony, dinner was served in the dining-room, which was decorated in pink and white. The young couple left on the travelling in a tailored suit of blue. They will be at home to their friends after November 15 at the groom's home, Napier.

Death of Thomas D. Brown

At St. Joseph's hospital, London, on Saturday, October 2nd, Thomas[D. Brown passed away in his sixty-first year. He was born in Lobo township, March 31st, 1855, and in February 1871, he with the family, left Lobo and became a resident of Brooke, living on the west half of lot 26, con. 10, continuously until June 1915, when he went to St. Joseph's hospital to be treated for stomach trouble where he remained until Aurust 28th.

Connolly, returned missionary from Japan, assisted by Miss Sparling. On Thursday morning the devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Snell. Rev. John Ball, of Kerwood, then gave an energetic address on "A Lost Christ" which evoked a very warm discussion on the amusement question and that of liquor advertisements appearing in the columns of a number of papers that find their way into our homes, subsequently leading to some very strong resolutions regarding the same. The closing address on "What shall I do" was very lucidly dealt with by the Rev. Mr. Connolly, after which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was ad-ministered, thus bringing to a close a convention that will, no doubt, produce far-reaching and permanent results.

CONSTANT STRENGTH Their Strength 1s Taxed and They are Victims of Weakness

When there is a growing family to care-for and the mother falls ill it is a serious matter. Many mothers who are on the go from morning till night, whose work, apparently, is never done, try to dis-guise their suffering and keep up an ap-pearance of cheerfulness before their box guise their sunering and keep up an ap-pearance of cheerfulness before their family. Only themselves know how they are distressed by backaches and headaches, dragging down pains and nervous weakness; how their nights are often sleepless, and they arise to a day's work tired, depressed and quite unre-freshed. Such women should know that their enforting are usually due to helt of their sufferings are usually due to lack of good nourishing blood. They should know that the one thing they need above know that the one thing they need above all others to give them new health and strength is rich, red bood, and that among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tor their blood-making, health-restoring qualities. Every suffering woman, every woman with a home and family to care for should give these pills a fair trial, for they will keep her in health and strength and make her work easy. Mrs. G. Strosser. Acton West, Ont., says; "I am the mother of three children, and after each birth I became terribly run down; I had weak, thin blood, always felt tired, and unable to do my household work. After the birth of my third child I seemed to be worse, and was very badly run down. I birth of my third child I seemed to be worse, and was very badly run down. I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I found the greatest benefit from the pills and soon gained my old-time strength. Indeed, after taking them I feit as well as in my girlhood, and could take pleasure in my work. I also used Baby's Own Tablets for my little ones and here found them a supendid medi and have found them a splendid medi-cine for childhood ailments." You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

There is another outbreak of hog cholera, along the lake front in Col-chester South, which threatens to be a very serious one. On Thursday last Gordon Howie noticed some of his hogs-late and Saturday Inspector Rowe, of Sick, and Saturday Inspector Rowe, of Chatham, accompanied by Dr. Hall, of Ottawa, visited the place and slaughtered 42 for Mr. Howie. Serum treatment was administered to the herds belonging to John Birch and James Howie, some ninety each, and these are being watched to see the outcome. At the same time, other farmers in the district have report-ed sick hogs, and the inspectors are busy going from farm to farm trying to pre-
