

GERMAN RESERVIST THROWN FROM HOTEL

Fritz Mueller Landed in Arms of Policeman After Talking Foolishly.

YOUTHS UNDER ARREST
Earl Hammond and Frank McDermott Charged With Breaking Into Store.

Fritz Mueller, no home, is a German naval reservist, and also a rabid patriot of his fatherland. Last evening while slightly under the influence of liquor he got into an altercation in a hotel and expressed the belief that the Germans would invade Canada, and that while they did they would lick the Canadian militia into a cocked hat.

Earl Hammond, 37 Edward street, and Frank McDermott, 696 Indian rd., aged 18 and 17 years, were arrested by Acting Detective Parke last evening charged with breaking into Cough's bicycle store on Ryce avenue, and stealing $12, the contents of the cash till. The boys are also alleged to have stolen a number of bicycles from persons at present unknown.

Frank Sills, 36, committed suicide at his home at 554 1-2 Yonge st. yesterday morning by drinking half an ounce of nitro of silver. He was dead before the police ambulance arrived to convey him to the hospital. The body was removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be held.

Authority Limited.
The commissioners, however, would have no authority to tax or to make expenditures without the sanction of the township council. They would, however, be enabled to prepare a scheme, and on approval and execution the improvement would be assessed against the people of the police village. The legal limit was 500 acres. Speaking in a general way of the cost of pumping water, possibly from the Humber, Mr. James estimated that this would mean roughly to $50,000, and beds, and so on.

Auto Accidents.
Slippery pavements yesterday afternoon caused two small auto accidents in the north end of the city. One after 5 o'clock William H. Morgan, 106 Bloor street, was driving west on Concord avenue his auto skidded into an auto driven by Thomas Harding, 48 Florence street. Harding was thrown from the wagon and received injuries to his hip. His horse ran away.

Charles A. Jaynes.
Charles A. Jaynes, the alleged handkerchief man, who made the sensational escape from the police in the Yonge Street Arcade on Wednesday night, surrendered himself yesterday afternoon to Detective Inspector George Kennedy. He was allowed out on bail of $500, to appear in the police court this morning to answer a charge of keeping a common gambling house. On a charge of breaking into the store of Chris Mattie, 511 Elizabeth street, and stealing cigars, cigarettes and chewing gum, Christopher James was remanded for a week. On a charge of receiving the stolen goods James Evanoff was remanded until April 22.

Wanted Some Music.
Otto Basse was committed for trial by jury yesterday on a charge of stealing a violin and bow from the R. S. Williams Company. He is now charged with stealing a violin from Roy Wiegand and an E flat alto horn from the Victor Gramophone Co.

Richmond Hill.
The Richmond Hill Home Guard had a fine turnout last night, under Captain Hickman, and one of the largest and best of drills of the season was held. The show ring at the fair is being utilized for drill, and the exhibition building for indoor rifle practice.

MAY INCORPORATE AS POLICE VILLAGE

Residents of Mount Dennis Would Paddle Their Own Canoe.

INTERESTING ADDRESS

E. A. James Deals With the Engineering Problems Involved.

It was generally agreed at last night's meeting of the Mount Dennis Ratepayers' Association that a preliminary step in the obtaining of water, either from Weston or by the installation of a separate system, should be the formation of a police village, but before taking any action it was decided that the executive should go over the district with E. A. James, engineer to the highways commission, on an evening next week, that more definite information regarding the lay-out and the cost of a water system might be submitted at a special meeting of the association.

Incorporation as a police village was advocated by E. A. James, who attended on the invitation of Reeve Thomas Griffith, as a means of obtaining local control of problems confronting the community without a heavy tax for officials. It would be necessary to have petitions submitted one month before the meeting of the county council on June 15, if they desired to act this summer, said Mr. James, and should the petition, for which a bare majority was all that was legally necessary, be granted, the people would elect three police commissioners.

Authority Limited.
The commissioners, however, would have no authority to tax or to make expenditures without the sanction of the township council. They would, however, be enabled to prepare a scheme, and on approval and execution the improvement would be assessed against the people of the police village. The legal limit was 500 acres. The meeting of the Tommorden Relief Committee, which should have been held last night, has been postponed till next week. The president, the Rev. D. D. Hang Around Stores.
"They hang around street corners, and shop fronts, and are a positive nuisance. In fact, they are a danger to the absence of the constable, who has to cover the whole territory from the Dundas Mills road to the York and Scarboro town line, and are a great annoyance to the residents of the district."

WILL NOT REOPEN SUBWAY QUESTION

Board of Works Thru With It, But Ratepayers May Take Action.

BIG MEETING TONIGHT

Large Deputation is Expected From Moore Park District.

The members of the board of works yesterday decided not to re-open the question of the changing of the depth of the subway at the C.P.R. crossing on Yonge street from an 18-foot overhead. An informal gathering including two or three prominent business men and Ald. Ball, Ald. Cameron, Ald. Ramsden and later Ald. Ilisk, looked over the situation and while the consensus of opinion was favorable to the sixteen-foot subway no definite action was suggested. The subsequent action for the license has been signed by 215 ratepayers, which is well over the number required.

Independent Action.
Independent action will however, be taken and at a joint meeting of the members of the three north-end ratepayers' associations, the North Toronto, Central and Moore Park, to be held in the town hall in North Toronto, vigorous action is looked for. A strong opposition is now developing to the 18-foot subway and leading business men who formerly favored or were not openly hostile to the scheme are now prepared to fight the thing thru to a finish. They say now that when the city has a change to effect—a big saving—the council will survive to the situation. The Moore Park ratepayers are also being organized to challenge under the delay in starting the Mount Pleasant Railway will be represented at tonight's meeting which bids fair to a lively one.

RUNNYMEDE SCHOOL FETE AND FIELD DAY

Extensive preparations are being made by the committee appointed by the ratepayers of the Runnymede School Section, No. 29 York, assisted by committees appointed by the Ratepayers Association and other local bodies, for a grand fete and field day for the school children of Runnymede and Scarlett Plains. At a meeting of the committee and trustees the games arranged for the fete, including a general competition between the children of the King George and George Sime schools, the school gaining the higher number of points, will receive a handsome trophy. Other attractions will be an exhibition of physical drill, club swinging, military training and singing, to be taken part in by the children of both schools. It was also decided to have a band in attendance. In accordance with the present arrangements the fete will be held on the second Saturday in June at Runnymede Park, corner of Jane and Annetto streets.

TECHNICILITY HALTS SEWERAGE SCHEME

A difficulty has cropped up in connection with the New Toronto sewerage system. On April 4 last year the works commissioner recommended that a system be put in that would not only take care of North Toronto, but also drain certain portions of the watershed outside the city limits. In the city of New Toronto, a site and construct a sewage disposal plant, but it now transpires that this cannot be done as a local improvement and must be submitted to the people in the form of a by-law. The city solicitor has advised Commissioner Harris that the city has not the power to construct a system larger than that required to drain land within the city limits, and if it is desired to drain the watershed outside the city limits, it will have to be prepared by agreement with the municipality. The system calls for an expenditure of $4,360,000. The matter was referred back to two weeks by the works committee yesterday.

GERMAN ATTACKS ON BRITISH CEASE

"We Hold Entire Crest of Hill," Says Official Eye-Witness.

AIR RAID ON GHENT

British Airman Carried Out Successful Attack Without Assistance.

LONDON, April 23.—There was given out in London this morning the regular semi-weekly report on conditions at the front. It is dated April 22, and reads as follows: "The German attacks on Hill No. 60 which had stopped at the time of issuing the report of last Monday, have been renewed several times. These attacks all failed, and for the time being they have ceased. We hold the entire crest of the hill, and so deny its use to the enemy, who have attached great importance to it. There is no doubt and there never has been, any truth in the German official communication that the enemy had recaptured this position. During the course of the operations around Hill No. 60 the enemy fired shells seventeen inches in diameter into the Town of Ypres.

Exploded Two Mines. "On April 21, in the neighborhood of La Bassee, the enemy exploded two mines opposite our right. They failed to damage our trenches. We discovered German mining operations in the neighborhood of La Touquet, near Armentieres, we forestalled their effort to explode a mine which we had prepared there.

"On April 19 one of our airmen carried out a very bold and successful single-handed attack on an airplane shed near Ghent. He had to run a gauntlet of fire from the ground, directed by a captive balloon, in order to attack his objective. In spite of this he came down to within 200 feet of the ground and effected his object, causing a serious explosion in the shed."

SIR PERCY GIROUARD GREAT DISCOVERY

One of Men for Whom Lloyd George Has Been Looking.

DID GREAT SERVICE

Attracted Notice of Government by Work at Armstrong-Whitworths.

LONDON, April 23.—One of the men with push and go for whom Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, has been looking has admittedly been found in the person of Sir Percy Girovard. Until the beginning of the week Sir Percy was still director of the Armstrong-Whitworths, and in that capacity he rendered immense service to the government by organizing the output of munitions by his firm. Under his direction enormous additions were made to the personal staff and plant of the firm, which it is stated is ready to employ 10,000 men at once.

By his promotion to the rank of temporary major-general and his resignation, for the time being from the board of directors, the government hopes to avail itself more directly of his influence and organizing ability. Lloyd George, speaking in the house of commons, said that arrangements have been made by which men are allowed to go from engineering works to armament firms and to remain there during a few weeks and acquire knowledge, experience and skill, so that they shall come back, say, at the end of six weeks, and be able to assist in converting an old shop into a full armament shop, and for that arrangement we owe a considerable debt of gratitude to Sir Percy Girovard, who has taken a considerable part in organizing it.

MONTREAL, April 23.—Amongst the Duke of Connaught's engagements in Montreal today was the unveiling of a tablet on the monument erected to the memory of Sir Benjamin J. NURSERY

CONDUCTED BY Elinor Murray. Educating the Sense of Taste

In early years the child's food is a matter of very great importance; not only may the child by this means be made indolent or active, sluggish or mobile, dull or bright, inert or vigorous during childhood but for his entire life. Parents should remember that simplicity and frugality in food during childhood enhance man's power of attaining happiness and vigor. Who has not noticed in children, over-stimulated by spices and excesses of food, appetites of a very low order, from which they never again can be freed? Appetites which, even when they seem to have been suppressed, only slumber, and return with greater power, threatening to rob man of all his dignity and to force him away from his duty.

So says Froebel, who understood children with a great, broad understanding seldom, if ever, found among more recent educators.

And mothers will do well to give heed to what he says about educating the sense of taste. It is not sufficient to satisfy a child's hunger; it must be satisfied with a food that builds and develops after it satisfies. Let your motto be: "It is better to underfeed than overfeed," and you will wry and discontent your baby much less. Giving a child more food than he requires, either at one time or too frequently, does not build him up. It takes only what he really needs, but the habit of over-eating is a habit that is hard to break. When overfed is long continued, it leads to serious disturbances of digestion. And it is harder to teach children to be bad than to be good to manage, dull at school or constantly in trouble.

HONOR CITYHOOD AFTER THE WAR

Galt Citizens Consider Present Inopportune to Hold Celebrations. Special to The Toronto World. GALT, Ont., April 23.—Galt will not celebrate cityhood with a two-day event, a public meeting held this evening in the town hall, feeling that with the war in Europe the time was inopportune for such jubilation, but that Galt's becoming a city should be duly honored at the completion of the war.

The meeting, however, endorsed a suggestion of Mayor Buchanan that there be a local celebration on June 1st to recognize the step forward made, and the arrangements for same were left to the council to make.

Views of Neutral on European War

Elbert Francis Baldwin Favours Cause of Great Britain Over Belgium.

U.S. SHOULD PROTEST. Writer Believes Wilson Government Morally Bound to Back Belgium.

An interesting volume, entitled "The World War, How It Looks to the Nations Involved, and What It Means to Us," "us" in this case being the United States, has just been issued from the Macmillan press. The author, Elbert Francis Baldwin, was in Germany when the war broke out, and he subsequently visited France and England and wrote sections of his book expounding the views of those three nations. He gives a fair summary and condemns Germany for the violation of the neutrality of Belgium. He seems, however, to take for granted all the German assertions about Russia, and he does not go into the Bay claims for just treatment in Austria-Hungary, where their condition had been steadily growing more gloomy and harder to be borne since that country adopted its present constitution, the dual monarchy system, thereby making it Hungary and Roumania over all instead of making Teutons, Hungarians, Slavs and Italians first among equals. He has also accepted as true the story of the Russian's presence in Russia inspired the first position war. In this he is in error. The instigator of that campaign was probably ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Serbia, the special protégé of Russia, would not enter the league until Bulgaria, under the leadership of King Ferdinand, in case she would lend her 200,000 soldiers to help the Russian cause. This does not look as if she was then relying upon Russian assistance, which she would have been doing, if Russia had been at the bottom of the conspiracy.

Transplanting the For-Get-Me-Not and the Pink

From now on is the time to tend to both the pink and the forget-me-not, that is, if you want a succession of bloom far on into the fall. Forget-me-nots are old perennials, which if they have grown accustomed to you, and the garden, you can do pretty much what you like with in reason. Forget-me-nots are most satisfactory border plants, giving a thick carpet of deep-green (gray-green) creeping stalks, from the ends of which uncurl day after day those unpeppably beautiful pale blue fairy blossoms, always taken by poets as the emblem of lasting remembrance. To have forget-me-not in your garden is to have a friend who will never forget you. It is a friend that will do anything you ask it to do, out of pure love. It will crawl over the barest rocks and hang its little white droop of moisture seems to be, and cover those rocks with shimmering gray-green and twinkling blue. It will cling lovingly to the soil, and near into cool water gardens, coaxing the marsh marigold to come out and nestle lovingly among the stems of withered bulbs and hide the pink roots, or forget-me-nots will wander in an act of sympathy, and give Scotch pink and serve as a distant foil for the fringed blossoms so soon as it is unfurled among the gray-green leaves, so tall, so sturdy, and so long, last year's root and need to be taken up and every short, stubby, well-rooted plant set in separately. You will have so many plants in a few weeks that your stock will be increased a hundredfold if you do this transplanting early.

It is about three weeks after transplanting and the blossoms are showing and then the blossoms are on and on all summer. As each year ripens, they black seeds and form and drop, you will have to spring up again, so that root and fresh plants may be coming up from the soil this spring. Think of it—and it need not indeed live up to its wonderful name. You cannot forget it.

Be sure to plant each weed plentifully and firm to earth, because, as I forget-me-not is a "surface-root" plant, it has no long roots penetrating to look at the plant yourself and you will see that its thick turf of smoky Scotch moss, which is the basis of its life, is entirely surface roots. So being the case, you will remember to water forget-me-nots very carefully, especially when blossom time is at hand. After a few weeks they will remind you of forget-me-nots quite frequently this summer. In about four weeks you will have to take your shears and clip the long rows down to within an inch of the ground. Three after-bloom again, if you please.

Now about the pink—I see I'll have to continue tomorrow—but in the meantime, cuddle the earth close up around their roots tight away.

EDUCATION FOCUSED ON INDUSTRIAL LINES

Abstracts were condemned and "things" commended, as factors in the development of education by Thomas Brough, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Association for the promotion of technical education, before an audience assembled at the home of Mrs. Simpson, 235 Seaton street, yesterday afternoon.

A plea for the possibilities of the newcomer to Canada was made when the lecturer told of cases of native talent that had come under his notice. He exhibited a figure in woodcarving done by a boy of 12 years who had never received a lesson in the art. This boy is now being educated along artistic lines by the association which Mr. Brough represents.

"We go abroad for material that we might find in our back yard," asserted the speaker. "We want to change the wooden, poor, miserable methods of the schools."

THE MAN WHO NEVER SLEPT

Striking Cure by Dr. Cassell's Tablets recalled

One-time Victim of Nerve Failure and Sleeplessness writes again. Says he never felt better in his life

DR. CASSELL'S TABLETS

from Neuralgia and Dyspepsia

A recent letter from Mr. Arthur G. Felton, the man who hardly ever slept, recalls the story of a cure by Dr. Cassell's Tablets, which last year aroused great interest all over Great Britain. Here was no ordinary insomnia, but practically unending wakefulness night after night, with no hope of relief, till, in the end, came Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and then the blessed rest of natural and refreshing sleep.

Now, writing from 5, Chipstead Villas, Chipstead-road, Coulsdon, Surrey, England, Mr. Felton says:—"It is a delight to tell you I feel very fit—never better in my whole life."

The story as originally given was so extraordinary, the cure so remarkable, that we felt justified in publishing it again that sufferers from sleeplessness and nerve failure in Canada, may know how great is the curative power of Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Here is the story:—"Dr. Cassell's Tablets freed me from the terrible affliction of sleeplessness and nerve failure," said Mr. Felton, "when the best treatment could not give me the best temporary relief. In 1905, as a result of an accident, an operation had to be performed, after which I suffered from Neurasthenia, and ultimately entire Nerve Failure. I was taken into a special hospital, only to be turned out after months of treatment, which was utterly incurable. I had claimed compensation for my accident, and even the insurance company had to pay me. I could never work again, I could just get about with the greatest difficulty, and my right hand hung along the ground. What I would, I hardly ever slept night or day. I five years ago together I never could have slept more than a few minutes at a time, for I heard every hour strike every night. Often I wished I could die. Sleeping draughts of opium, and injections of morphine had no effect whatever—I was always awake. No torture of the imagination could equal mine, nor somehow I lived through it. Relief came at last with Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and oh! how grateful I was—how blessed the man who could devise such a remedy! I had most from the first dose I improved; I began to get a little sleep, then to sleep right through the night, and that the right thing was more to me than all else that life can hold. That was only a year ago, and now I am a strong, healthy man, so it is to be hoped that many others who are suffering from nerve failure, or who are suffering from sleeplessness, or who are suffering from neuralgia, or who are suffering from dyspepsia, or who are suffering from any of the ailments which Dr. Cassell's Tablets cure, will be benefited by the use of them. Dr. Cassell's Tablets are sold in all the leading druggists, and in the United States, Canada, and throughout the world. Each of these cures is a personal story, the accuracy of which is beyond doubt. They are given freely and gratefully to all who suffer. Try Dr. Cassell's Tablets to-day and know at first-hand their remarkable power to restore health and fitness. Take them now, and you will never again suffer from sleeplessness, or from any of the ailments which Dr. Cassell's Tablets cure. Write for a free trial bottle. ### CANADA HAS GIVEN OF HER VERY BEST

"No Uncertainty, No Wavering, No Halting," Said Rev. Dr. Symons.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY
Impressive Service Held in St. James' Cathedral Attended by Large Congregation.

It was found impossible to accommodate with seats the large number of persons who attended the annual service of St. George's Society last night in St. James' Cathedral, and many were compelled to stand at the back of the church and in the aisles. The two central blocks of seats were reserved for the officers and members of the society, and reservations were made on the sides for the representatives of the other organizations which attended, while the remainder of the building was thrown open to the public. Lieut.-Col. McCordick and the officers of the 85th Battalion of expeditionary forces occupied seats to the left of the chancel, and the mayor and other representatives of the civic, educational and religious bodies filled the seats immediately in front of the pulpit.

The procession, which arrived at the church a few minutes after 8 o'clock, was headed by President James Nicholson and the officers of St. George's Society, followed by 400 of the members. Next came 200 of the Sons of England, delegations from the Sons of Oak, the Irish Protestant Society, St. Andrew's Society and a detachment of Boy Scouts.

It was indeed an impressive moment when the procession, consisting of the choristers and clergy, moved up the centre aisle, singing that wonderfully old solemn hymn, "All people that on earth do dwell, sing to the Lord with cheerful voices, the words of which struck the keynote of the whole service; a note of solemn reverence to the Almighty in whose hand lies the fate of the empire at present engaged in the greatest struggle against the powers of evil that the world has ever known. The service itself was of a very simple nature. Rev. W. H. Hincks and Rev. Provost Maclellan read the two lessons, Gounod's "Magnificat" and the "Nunc Dimittis" by Lurgon were sung. The Apostles' Creed was repeated and but one anthem, Darius's "Praise the Lord," was sung by the choir. The rector, Canon Plumpton, read the prayer for the King, the royal family, the forces of the empire at the war, those in poverty and distress, the overthrowing of the war to the establishment of "God's kingdom on earth, St. George's Society, general thanksgiving and the prayer of St. Chrysostom.

Taking for his text the 122 Psalm and the third verse, "Jerusalem, a city that is at unity in itself," the preacher spoke of the wonderful way in which the sons and daughters of the empire had thrown in their lot with their mothers and assumed the bonds of a common cause.

No Wavering.
"We in Canada," he said, "have given our sons to the fighting and our daughters to the nursing, and our given unflinchingly of our wealth, of our natural resources and of our time. There has been no uncertainty, no wavering and no halting, we are as one man devoted to the great cause which binds together Liberal and Conservative, Protestant and Catholic."
Dr. Symons expressed a solemn warning against the sinful pride of power, but urged his hearers rather to a humble pride in the grand unity of purpose that has made the empire move as one body, inspired as one soul. Pride that the nature of the cause is not a desire for land or gain, but rather a plea for truth, justice, liberty and a higher ideal of international relationship. "We fight," he said, "not to destroy a nation, but a nest of poisonous ideas fostered by a degenerate overdeveloped autocracy."
With great earnestness, the speaker urged upon his hearers the necessity of preparing themselves for the end of the war, in that they might meet it in proper humbleness of spirit. He warned them against falling back into the old paths of useless extravagance, frivolity and lazy optimism, secure in the belief that war would not again visit them in this generation. He urged upon them the fostering of a national Christian spirit, which even as England's patron, Saint George fought and subdued the legendary dragon of his day; is fighting the dragons of militarism, brute force, destruction, of weaker nations and national responsibility, and gradually transforming them into mutual help and international partnership.
During the service a telegram was received from C. W. Bowring, president of the society in New York, containing fraternal greetings and the assurance that all there, of English decent were united in prayers, and work, and hopes for England's swift success in the war. During the day greetings were received from the societies in Charleston, South Carolina, Ottawa, St. Johns, N.B., London, Ont., Hamilton, Halifax and Guelph.

IRON AND BLOOD IS THE ESSENTIAL

President Falconer of the University of Toronto, in a patriotic address at the Bloor Street Presbyterian Church last night said in part: "Bismarck was not a Prussian, but he adopted Prussian views. In 1862 he fully established the present Prussian military rule. He had told Frederick William that iron and blood would be necessary to preserve power and to finally unite the German Empire. At this time he crushed completely the hopes for parliamentary government."
"His law was the law of might. He always maintained that if Germany was in peril that nothing should stand in the way of German's supremacy, and if a country like Belgium should be in the way of their progress, crush her."
THE DRUM MAJOR.
Members of the Anglican Young People's Association of St. Matthew's Church last night gave an excellent performance of "The Drum Major". The cast is particularly good, while the music and scenery is excellent. The play will be produced again tonight. The proceeds are to be devoted to reducing the existing debt on the church.

Turning Back

The first check to the tide of centralization which has been subverting state rights ever since the close of the American civil war was applied a few days ago by the U.S. Supreme Court in the case of Leo Frank.

In Cartoons Magazine, Chicago, this month, The World's War Cartoons by Sam Hunter, have received special attention in a double page of reproductions.

state courts of Georgia. Frank, who is a Hebrew, complained that he was a victim of racial and religious intolerance that court and jury were intimidated by mob violence and that he was virtually subjected to lynch law.

When the 14th amendment was adopted there were four million blacks in the southern states not yet enfranchised and more or less at the mercy of their former owners. For their protection a clause was inserted in the amendment forbidding any state to deprive any citizen of the United States of his life, liberty or property "with out due process of law."

A few years later, however, some wealthy corporation seeking to evade a state statute as construed by the courts of the state appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court upon the ground that its property was being taken without due process of law and since that time federal courts, high and low, have assumed jurisdiction in thousands of domestic disputes between citizens of the same state which should have been adjudicated by their own courts.

With the advent of the Frank case the supreme court seems to have suddenly realized into what a mess the federal courts were drifting. If Frank's conviction had been set aside the court would have been deluged with petitions from every jail and penitentiary in the United States, claiming that nearly all the inmates therein had been deprived of their liberty without due process of law.

Hence the ruling in the Frank case where it seems that the federal authority might well have intervened. But is life to be less sacred than property? Will not the federal courts be forced to construe the 14th amendment to mean what it was intended to mean at the time it was adopted? If so the centralizing tendency in the United States, which in many respects is desirable, will receive a sharp check and the doctrine of state rights will once again be insisted upon.

Dr. Fraser, who entertains views as to the innocent nature of germs, should take his views to the German trenches. If he could persuade the Germans to make a healthy diet his germs are, he might make a hit with the Kaiser. He certainly would make a hit with the allies. We believe, however, that if he attempted to persuade the Kaiser to eat germs, he would discover that his germ views were not sufficiently German to germinate in Germany.

It appears that some people may be permitted to indulge in germs without ill effects. Anyone who desires to make the experiment may apply to Dr. Fraser. Dr. Hastings is not having any himself, but no doubt he would refrain from interfering in the interests of science, if any person wishes to adopt the Fraser germ diet. There are some people who can eat germs, and indeed anything else, with impunity. This will probably remind the reader of the man who said he could eat pork chops with impunity, but preferred them with mashed potatoes.

JITNEYS COMPETE WITH STREET CARS

"Bob" Fleming Acknowledges to Railway Board Their Serious Rivalry. THEY CUT DIVIDENDS

Chairman Orders Work to Proceed Even if Shareholders Suffer.

Three weeks ago Manager R. J. Fleming of the Toronto Street Railway laughed at the idea of the jitneys offering serious competition to his company. Before the railway board yesterday the operations of these buses and the increase of their business was proffered as a most serious argument against the company being forced to obey the board's order to reconstruct the street.

Nature of Monopoly. "You business men in the nature of a monopoly," stated the chairman in the late years the company failed to maintain the equipment which was warranted, and now because of a franchise, monopoly is practically imposed from all the ordinary trade vicissitudes.

Should Have Lingered. Mr. Oiler urged that the jitneys were growing at a tremendous rate and that they could not possibly raise the required money for the new line. They would be like a man who had an extension for new work. To this Mr. Fleming added that the people on Ossington avenue were not suffering particularly. They should have until Dec. 1 instead of July 1 to complete this reconstruction.

Commissioner A. B. Ingram objected that they were "beating time." Mr. Geary stated that the company was merely attempting to engineer another delay. The city was prepared to bear its end. The people had a right to accommodation, and the whole outfit was only $75,000.

Mr. Fleming warmly accused the corporation counsel of deliberately misleading the board as to the time required. Then came the board's decision. "The old order will stand as to the reconstruction," said Mr. McIntyre. "The board will get together and settle dates for the commencement and completion of the new line."

ORANGEVILLE, April 23.—Orangeville Bowling Club held their annual meeting and election of officers, at the Public Library Building, when Dr. Carson, chairman, presided, occupied the seat last year's president, and was warmly and quite enthusiastically. The report submitted by A. A. Huggson, the club's treasurer, showed a balance of upwards of $75 in the treasury, despite the fact that last year's expenditure was much heavier than usual, owing to the extensive improvement of the grounds and the filling in of the disused millrace. Officers and committees were appointed, as follows:

Hon. president—Dr. Carson.

Vice-president—E. Smith.

Secretary—D. McKirick.

Assistant secretary—Geo. E. Brown.

Treasurer—A. A. Huggson.

Executive committee—D. McKirick, Green, Dr. Bowles and R. H. Robinson.

Auditors—George Bewick and J. D. Torrie.

Grounds committee—Dr. Rooney, J. W. Aiken and J. D. McKirick.

Entertainment committee—Mayor Campbell, C. E. McGinnis, M.L.A., E. H. Sprout, Harry Reed and five others.

Rink committee—Dr. Carson and Geo. Torrie.

Historical committee—Geo. E. Brown, J. D. McKirick and A. D. McKirick.

July 27, 28 and 29 were selected as the provisional dates for the annual tournament. The meeting decided that the club should pay for half a dozen photos of the rink winning the inter-club competition.

HOTEL TECK WILL OPEN DOORS TODAY

Well-Known English Chop House Has Undergone Complete Remodeling.

Today the Hotel Teck, formerly the English Chop House, 30 King street west, is to make its bow to the public as a high-class restaurant and buffet, which for costly fittings and up-to-date equipment will challenge comparison with anything in the city.

Under the direction of C. E. Hoshal, manager, the well-known hostelry has undergone complete remodeling from top to bottom, and those who take advantage of the invitation to inspect will find an establishment which leaves nothing to be desired in the way of completeness. The ground floor interior leading back to the business men's buffet has been walled with Breche Pavonza Italian marble in a manner which gives the whole interior a most unique and dignified appearance.

The buffet itself is decorated in the Elizabethan style with Jacobean furniture and with subtle lighting makes a very attractive and inviting room. The ground floor, however, is only 22 feet high, and the main dining room, which is on the main floor, is a most unique and dignified appearance. Here the interior decoration is carried out in mahogany and red and white enamel, which adds quite a bright touch of cheer.

The cuisine and kitchen equipment is all newly installed and Manager Hoshal has seen to it that the menu will be prepared by skilled chefs, who know that patrons appreciate variety in good cooking.

That is Why H. A. Clark Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Western Man Tells Why Dodd's Kidney Pills Are so Popular on the Prairies.

HOMECLEEN, Alberta, April 23.—(Special)—Just why Dodd's Kidney Pills are so popular on the prairies is shown by the statement of Mr. H. A. Clark, a well-known resident of this place.

"Since I came West," Mr. Clark states, "I was often troubled with my stomach and back. Finally I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and before I had taken more than half a box I was so much benefited that I recommended them to a friend. He also found them a benefit. I am still taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would not be without them."

In new countries bad water is one of the difficulties settlers have to fight and bad water makes its first attack on the kidneys. To resist this attack the kidneys must be stimulated and need Dodd's Kidney Pills. By giving the kidneys the help they need, people get new health, and Dodd's Kidney Pills add to their popularity.

Mount Dennis baseball team of the West York League will practise this afternoon at the corner of Lambton and Chrysea avenues, at 2:30. All last year's players and any new ones wishing to join are cordially invited to attend.

A Daily Treatment for Your Skin That Will Help Keep Wrinkles Away

By LUCREZIA BORI

WRINKLES have ever been the enemy of beauty, and since time immemorial the feminine world has waged a warfare against them. They are the unfading sign of old age, and if you desire to keep the lines of time from making any further inroads upon your youthful face, you must, consistently and carefully, use the following treatment for the tissues so that they will not lose their healthy tone.

First, faithfully give the skin a daily treatment. Do not even neglect to wash the face with water and soap. Then use the following mixture which will answer the purpose:

Iodide of potassium..... 1/2 dram
Glycerine..... 1 ounce
Distilled water..... 1 pint

Scrub Your Face with a Brush. Rinse in Warm and Cold Water. Then Apply the Almond Milk.

This condition must be well lubricated and kept thoroughly clean. As soon as the skin is allowed to become dry it will wrinkle like parchment and it is impossible to remove wrinkles and eradicate the hair-like lines.

The tissues beneath the skin must be well nourished, for if they lose their firmness and shrink the upper layer of skin will wrinkle.

One should be particularly careful of the skin in the springtime, for the winds and strong light have a tendency to dry and wrinkle it.

Be extravagant in the use of almond milk, for it is one of the oldest and simplest cosmetics in use. It is invaluable for it not only softens the skin but refines it as well.

Always before applying any lotion to treatment frequently during the day. That part of the face about the eyes requires special attention to eradicate the wrinkles which invariably form there. Devote 10 minutes of every day to massaging the skin, using a reliable cream. Rub the skin with a gentle, rotary motion all over the cheeks, beginning at the temple and working slowly down beneath the eye.

This will keep the tissues in this section constantly nourished and the skin elastic.

It is also a wise precaution to massage the entire face, using plenty of skin food to nourish the tissues. This, in conjunction with the wrinkle lotion, will work wonders in eradicating the tiny lines which mar many another lovely face.

Women and Wealth.

OUR analysis of Aunt Mary Elike had not especially appealed to my wife. Most women—town bred—have an overdeveloped sense of the frivolous side of existence.

"Aunt Mary may be sensible," said my wife suddenly, "but, Peter, she's probably never had a decent gown in her life. Likely she's had one black silk that's been made over and over for the family funerals and weddings, and her good times have all been linked with a great deal of work."

"First sense of values," said I, "are probably lots more accurate than your own. She has relegated dress to its proper place in life—covering for the human body. She worked so much that she's found enjoyment in work—enjoyment of knowing exactly what to do and a busy life always makes a day hour much more sparkling when it does come. It's only the frivolous and sated that are bored to death."

Keeness and Wealth.

"On the whole, I imagine that Aunt Mary's had a better time out of life than either you or I, chiefly because she's evolved a work philosophy and has a keen sense of her value to the community. She hasn't had time to develop any fashionable ills that many of the women we know find time to indulge in."

Mary considered for a minute.

"And I'm likely to be a millionaire," she said, "the value of money!"

"Likely she does. Most women of her class know that, and know it pretty well."

"I wish I did," said Mary.

"You will in time," I told her. "We all learn sooner or later."

"Richard, in 'Blessed House,'" said Mary, wistfully, "never did."

"Whereupon I said, 'Poor Dick,' for he's a very naive, naive and pleasant fellow as Dickens ever drew."

"We were talking the other noon at lunch," said I, "and Edwards was marvelling at the fact, namely, that the gulf between the classes was ever apparent in the poorer classes than it is among the rich."

"You mean?"

"Edwards said that in very poor settlements you'll usually find the woman quicker and keener, more intelligently responsive to questions than the man. In the better classes the women are ever so much more helpless and the men are keener."

Poor Women "Generals."

"I don't think that's true," said Mary, bridling.

"Edwards insisted that it was, and he really did give a very plausible explanation of it," said I, "among the working classes the women are keener, they have more sense, they have more of the iron hand on the purse strings. She has all the money in the house to make up for her expenses."

"She must balance the man's carelessness with her own, and she's more practical and she'll go without shoes. Therefore she acquires that keener logic of an embryo financier. The man is more often merely sullenly efficient in the working woman has to mother her children, mother her husband and watch the purse. She's simply got to be keenly on the job, and it trains her faculties. The richer woman lastly defers to her husband, and doesn't think so much for herself because she doesn't have to."

"She doesn't do it for her own work because she doesn't have to," said I, "and she'll get a very quick acquisition of conventional grooves. She has more facility for self-indulgence than her poorer sister, and she naturally grows a little more selfish. Edwards says he has known working women, wives of drunken men, who have dragged their families to respectable maturity with the iron hand of a general."

APRON SKIRTS A NEW NOTE

All Sorts of Aprons Serve as Models for the Current Styles

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW.

Very Latest Gown of Embroidered Net, with Apron Skirt.

ASHION has borrowed many of this season's modes from the lowly kitchen apron. She has adapted the bib-apron effect for many of the smartest jumper frocks, making the overdress of taffeta, crepe de chine or faille, and the foundation of chiffon, mousseline de soie or other transparent fabrics.

The dainty, chic, little tea apron of lace or embroidered net appears on lingerie and evening frocks even to the long strings of ribbon which are tied in a bow at the back.

There are frocks of serge and the worsted materials made to resemble "cover-all" or artist's aprons. They are cut in one with a loose belt sometimes breaking the line at the waist, and flare gradually from the shoulders to the hem.

Even the scrub apron of checked gingham is well represented in the fashions of today. A frock of black and white checked taffeta has an overskirt which is shaped exactly like a kitchen apron. It is gathered at the top, and is then attached to a narrow band which passes about the waist and buttons in the centre back. One would almost expect to see the wearer hastily remove it as an unexpected caller arrives.

The attractive frock in the drawing is fashioned of white embroidered taffeta with a wide girde of rose-colored taffeta to add a pleasing note of contrast.

The bodice is made with a bolero jacket of the embroidered net, and beneath it is worn a blouse of net which is also embroidered and trimmed with lace.

The distinctive feature of this frock is the skirt, which has a wide, flaring foundation with a draped apron overskirt. This is brought up high over the girde in a decidedly novel manner, and a bow knot of black velvet ribbon ornaments the left side of the front.

A girlish hat of net, lace and ribbon with a drooping brim is worn with this attractive summer frock.

"Hike" Into Spring and Health

By WINFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1915, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

SPRING is here. Dear, delicious, hopeful, smiling, crying, laughing, sighing, happy Spring. The pussy willows were out before we knew it, and it was hardly a breath and a remember till the snow melted in the hollows and we began to smell the arbutus and get a whiff from the anemones and violets.

What are you going to do with it—this Spring?

Clean house—turn everybody in the family upside down, shake out all the curtains, beat all the rugs, and let it go at that!

Hunt the shops for new clothes, fret your heart out over the latest think in hats, and be done with it! Why? Because the folks knew better.

The Greeks made a festival of the first wild flowers. The Romans went out in bands and poured libations upon the friendly flowers, and there's a song about Spring in every language, and a thousand poems of it in every tongue.

Spring—come on, let's resolve to be Springy.

The "Hiking Bug."

They're great for hiking clubs in California, where I happen to be this minute.

Everybody hikes—grandpa and grandma, and son and wife, and daughter and her sweetheart, and the twins and the Little Boy.

Every Sunday morning, as soon as church is over, and sometimes before, somebody puts up sandwiches. Not a great lunch basket full of stuff, just a few sandwiches, so every one can have a bite and only a bite.

Father gets out his stout shoes, grandpa finds his best stick, mother hunts up a short skirt—one that's not too narrow—and Little Sister and Big Brother have their regalia on before breakfast.

And off they go for a whole day in the open. Everybody knows a good trail—it's a cult.

The man at dinner tells you how to hike to Lagunitas through the redwoods, the woman at luncheon draws a sap with her fork showing you the best routes to Lime Point by the sea road.

Every newspaper carries the hike advertisements—where to meet, what to wear, what to carry—strangers invited, no introductions, but a clean face and a good-natured smile, and all San Francisco that isn't motoring is hitching right now.

Through the woods, along the beach, over the mountains, down the valleys, the orchard trips, the poppy trips, the clam diggers' parade, the waders' legions—all out under the blue sky—in the wind and the sun and the green and the glory, and then the world wonders why San Francisco is the lightest-hearted city in the world.

Three Minute Journeys

WHERE A SINGLE STONE MARKS A VANISHED CITY'S SITE.

In the 10th century there flourished in the north of Africa, about a mile to the south of where stands the present holy city of Kairwan, a great city called Sabra. Today all that remains to mark the place where it was is one square stone in the midst of the sun-bleached plain.

Sabra contained 2000 baths attached to private houses, besides a large number of public buildings. It was, at the taking of a morning bath, as has been said, an evidence that a man is civilized. Sabra could have laid some claim to civilization by 10th century standards even in the 10th century.

The city possessed five gates, at every one of which the gates were guarded by some class of soldiers. It was a fortified city. Sabra was a city of the past, and now, but for this one remaining stone, the very site would be disputed.

The rest of the buildings, the streets, the roads, the public squares, the houses, the many of the pillars having been appropriated for the mosques at Kairwan.

The legend which explains the sparing of this solitary stone is that the despoilers, finding it too heavy to carry away, began to saw in two. Thereupon it emitted a fearful groan, and blood began to trickle from the wound. Sabra was clear proof of the sanctity of the stone, and the desire of the mortals that it should not be removed. Here it remains with its great blood-stained sash in the vari-colored marble.

Islamic pilgrims often come to say their prayers before it and do it reverence.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

THE best way to get acquainted with the young lady is to invite her to attend some paid entertainment. As you work at the same place, that will be proper, and if she cares to become acquainted she will accept. Forget your bashfulness and everything will work out all right. As for the dancing and smoking it is not wrong to dance or to smoke either if you are young, and it is not injurious to your health, and the doing of neither of these things will hurt your reputation, but it would be foolish to start in to do things that you do not care for. Learning to dance might be a very good thing for you.

How Good Nut Bread May Be Made at Home.

It came home late from the dinner at Cousin Maisie's, and Bob and I both agreed that it had been a perfectly "scrum" dinner. "But not a whit better than anything you cook," added Bob loyally.

"Come now," I laughed, "that's laying No Start at All."

It's Papa says he thinks he gave me quite a start when you asked for my hand.

"Oh, I don't call that a start. He reached me before I got to the door."

1 tablespoonful of shortening.
2 tablespoonfuls of molasses.
1 cup of nut meats (walnuts or filberts).
If it prepared in the ordinary way, the yeast is dissolved in a little of the lukewarm water, then is stirred into the remaining water. Milk, molasses and nut meats are then poured in; half of the flour is added, and the whole mixture beaten thoroughly. As soon as it becomes full of bubbles the shortening and the remaining flour go in. No salt is used, because the molasses has a salt element, but if salt is desired, only a very small quantity should be used—much less than for ordinary bread.

Then I kneaded the dough in my little bread mixer for about 10 minutes, when it became smooth and elastic. I left it in a greased bowl for several hours, until it was really twice its original size. Then I put it down, kneaded again, and didn't use quite so much flour for the kneading. Then I shaped it into small loaves, put the loaves into greased pans, covered, and left until double that size, when they went into the oven.

For the kneading I used entire wheat flour, which adds to the wholesomeness and flavor of the bread, which was indeed delicious when finished. Indeed, both Bob and I liked it so well that I see where wheat bread baking becomes an institution in this family.

1/2 cup of white flour.
1 cake of yeast.
1/4 cup of lukewarm water.
1 cup of milk (scalded and cooled).

Oil of Turpentine Vapor a Remedy for Tuberculosis

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

LOGICAL truth is the conformity between the intellect and reality. The difficulty in the discovery of truth, therefore, rests with the public. Truth is rarely understood or recognized. Most people, university as well as non-university-educated persons, cannot distinguish between oft-repeated statements, unanimous beliefs, accepted theories, general information, assertions of facts and the real truth.

Moreover, appearances, normal illusions, partial truths and truths that overshoot the mark and mislead justice, furles, professors, pedagogues and whole nations add further confusions in the matter.

Only a score or more years ago tuberculosis was DR. HIRSHBERG called consumption. Its victims were pronounced incurable and their days were numbered in all the doomsday books. That was unanimously thought to be the truth.

Not a Sanatorium Substitute.

Then came Koch's discovery of the tubercle bacillus. This blessed the way for the protection of the healthy, sound and vigorous. The number of susceptible persons thus saved is countless.

There has been a spiral-like progress in the assault upon this citadel of human infection. Tuberculosis today is made even of partially replacing outdoor deer sanatorium treatment for this long plague.

Oil of turpentine, it must be remembered, is an irritant that injures the kidneys seriously. It is also far from soothing to the stomach. When, notwithstanding this, its vapor—pinene—is mixed with ozone or peroxide, much of this poisonous cauterizing and burning power is wadded out and subdued. In fact, the mixture is highly febrile. Many suffered with hemorrhages, cavities in the lungs, complications of the throat, and other infections.

All were given this new treatment in sanatoriums and hospitals for four or five months. The effect of Dr. Waters' treatment was immediate relief of the dry, unsatisfactory cough. Furthermore, the tough sputum became more fluid, and the bronchitis disappeared.

Answers to Health Questions

A. L. K.—Will you kindly tell me a cure for boils?

Apply white precipitate ointment to the boils every night and morning.

A. B. C.—What causes my joints to crack when I bend my knees? My left knee hurts so bad when I want to bend it that I have to rub under my knee before I can bend it. Is it "rheumatism," and what can I do for it?

This may come from loose ligaments in the knees, called volvous arthritis, or some other form of arthritis. An operation cures this. There is no such disease as "rheumatism."

A. G. G.—While touring Europe in the latter part of August I contracted a sore ear. It is always filled with pus, itching, and when dry gets a sort of pimply scabs on it. It was told by one doctor it was from the chancé of climate. But it does not get any better with camomile tea or medicated soap. What can I do?

If this is on the scalp behind the ear, massage white precipitate ointment into it each night until it is healed.

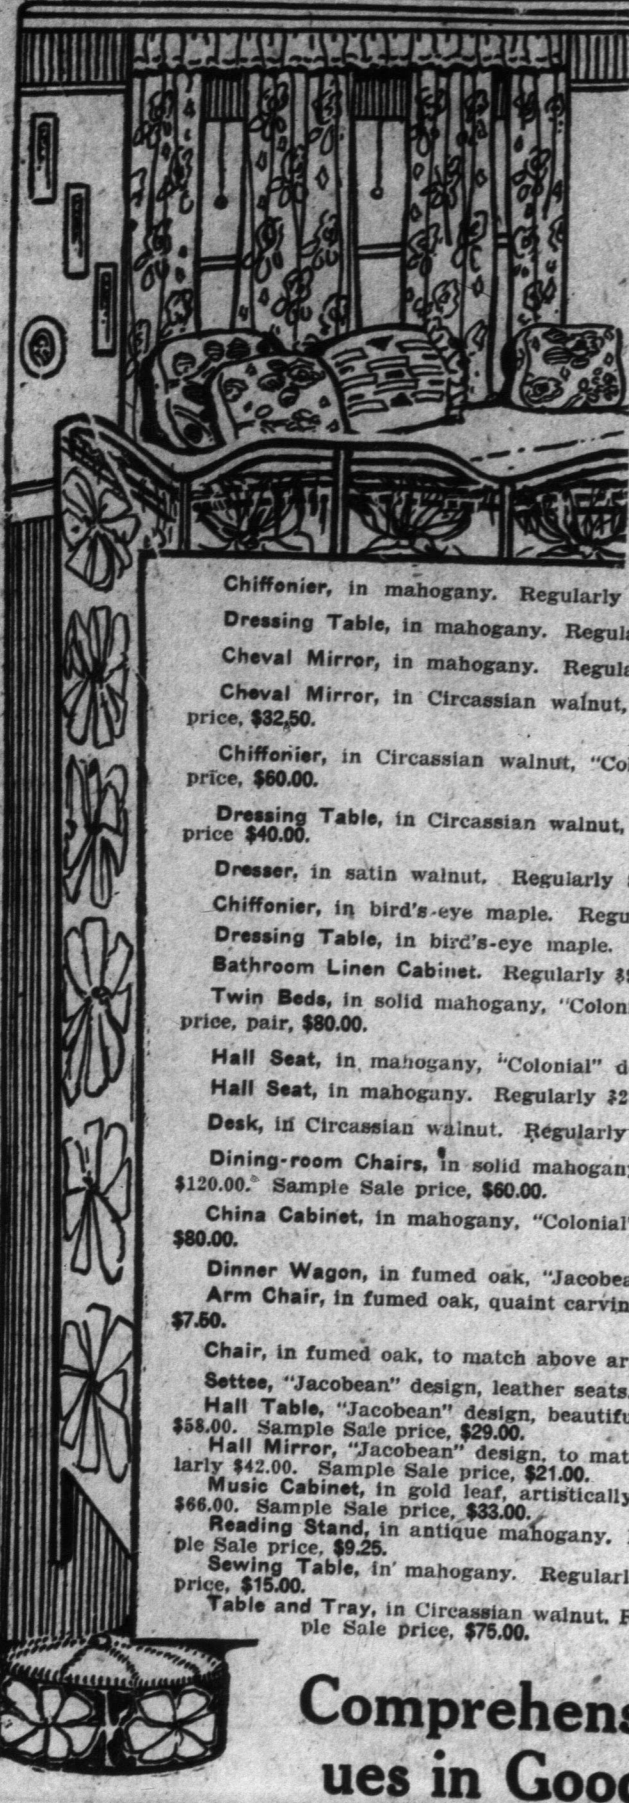

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest, letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg in his office.
