BEEN GREAT RUSH

Chances Yet in Horse, Sheep and Swine Departments—Close End of Wenthworth Street on Saturday Next

So numerous have been the entries for the cattle section of the Dominion Exhibition that work was given out at the central office this morning that further entries could not be received after today. The increased cattle accommodations are already crowded to capacity but in the horse, sheep and swine departments further entries will be received until the end of the present week. On the whole that important portion of the exhibition group of buildings beyond what was formerly Agricultural Hall will be the finest of its kind ever assembled in the east of the Dominion.

Things have reached the acute stage of activity around the exhibition buildings and at the offices, Prince William street. In the buildings the sound of hammer and saw is heard on every hand and aside from a large crew of exhibition employees there are scores of men working for exhibitors. The West Indian display space is ready for the arrival of the steamer Sobo, several large open Canadian manufacturing concerns are about ready to have their goods installed, the St. John Railway Company has men at work decorating their home-like suite of rooms and numerous other important exhibits are well advanced. In the open area the enlarged parade ring is completed, the boulevard rolled and leveled and the gateways and approaches in first-class shape.

Notice is given by the exhibition management that the extreme lower section of Wenthworth street approaching the exhibition buildings will be closed to the public commencing on Saturday, August 20 next, until the expiration of exhibition period. This is in accordance with custom and necessity at all similar fairs in this city.

A movement is on foot to hold a communal home parade on one of the latter days of the exhibition as a fitting climax to the animal contests of the fair, namely, the business or commercial horse competition. From the present outlook it appears there will be a large number of St. John and outside horses entered for the handsome silver trophy hung up by the Toronto Open Air Horse Parade Association. If local horse owners are disposed to cooperate healthily in this matter of a genuine fair will be put through with a swing.

In about a week's time the special issue of tickets at $ for $1 will be withdrawn from sale in most of the leading stores and at the office of the exhibition association.

Lively Scene in Main St. as Hassam Pave ment is Put on Trial—Contentions Borne Out, Says Mr. Carleton After Part of Foundation is Taken Up—Citizens Congratulate Him

The long delayed investigation of the foundation taken out almost full apart, the surface only appearing to be hard. In thickness it was found to measure from three to five inches. After the pick had gone down but a slight distance there was no difficulty in removing the foundation.

As the former inspector left the scene of the morning's work he was hailed by the cheering and congratulating citizens, and at times the police had difficulty in clearing space for the passing of street cars.

Then, in answer to the questions of Detective Miller, the young Italian told that he never spoke after I shot him. He was awake at the time. I saw his eyes, but he did not see me get the gun. I heard him crying a little, afterwards, I thought he would die. That was a joke, but all I want is a fair deal and I think that is the fairest way.

BRIDE OF A MONTH TRIES TO END LIFE

Learns Husband Was Married Twice Before and Both Wives Committed Suicide

New York, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Leona Baudy, a good-looking, well-dressed young woman, tried to end her life by jumping in front of an elevated train from the platform at One Hundred and Tenth street where the structure is the highest on the system. According to the story told to Magistrate Appleton, before whom she was arraigned after being rescued by two men, she was trying to end her life after an unhappy honeymoon of a month. She said her husband was a real estate man and had come here a few months ago from St. Louis. Four weeks ago, after a brief courtship she married him.

"He was not kind to me," she said, sobbing, "and a few days ago I learned that he had been married twice before and that one of his wives had shot herself and the other had died by inhaling gas. From that time on I became blue and melancholy.

"Last night he came home and was so abusive that my mother put him out."

Mrs. Baudy first gave her name as Leona Connelly, and her address as No. 17 West One Hundred and Eighth street. Here the name on the letter box was L. C. Baudy. Mrs. Baudy's mother bore out the story she had told about the husband.

Baudy could not be located and the woman refused to say whether or not he had an office.

She would have been killed had not a theatrical man and another person, who had been watching her actions, jumped forward and rescued her. She fought them and even attempted to throw herself downstairs when she was being taken to an ambulance. The magistrate discharged her. He had insisted that the ground be paved, as a direct result of his (Carleton's) action in the matter of the broken stone. This was changed and the ground put on concrete.

SOLDIERS TAKE HAND IN FIGHTING THE FOREST FIRES

Portland, Ore., Aug. 16.—United States troops have invaded Canada, but their expedition was spangled a common foe—forest fires. Soldiers dispatched from the American lakes manouevres to the republic of Washington, followed the roundabout railroad route passing through Canadian territory. Their destination was the Colville reserve, where a line of fire fighters fifteen miles long is being maintained.

Several delays have occurred in moving the soldiers, and the recent shipment of equipment from the forts. During this time millions of feet of timber have been destroyed. The soldiers are expected to be on the field in the Colville reserve to day.

One Leg and Part of Another Foot Torn Off by the Explosion—Inquest Brings Verdict of Death by Accident

A sad accident occurred last evening about 7 o'clock at Grand Falls, in which a Fredericton man, John Ryan, employed with the firm of Johnson Bros., contractors, lost his life in an explosion of dynamite. He was employed to do some work in connection with blasting, in which the use of the explosive was necessary. He was working over a creek of the dynamite, while smoking a pipe, but it is not known exactly whether this had any bearing on the accident or not.

The dynamite exploded, and Ryan was thrown some distance into the air, and his body badly mutilated. One leg and part of another foot were blown off. Dr. Puddington was hastily called, but the man was beyond the power of a physician, and in very few minutes, had breathed his last. He had been in Grand Falls about two years. He was about thirty-five years old.

The Methodist mission board, who have the largest corps of workers in the Japanese field, have received a cable supplementing one sent the other day notifying the board of the floods. The most recent cable states that the Canadians were all safe.

The safety of the missionaries and their families was due to the fact that this is the holiday season, and they had all returned, called Karizawa from which place the cable was despatched. The welcome cable was sent by Dr. D. R. McKennis. All inquiring friends and relatives of the missionaries are being acquainted with the news.

WOMAN TRIES TO STAB LEADER OF A CHARITY CONGRESS MEETING

Copenhagen, Aug. 16.—A sensation was created at the meeting of the International Congress on Private Charity and Public Health here by an attempt by a Russian woman delegate, named Zakarowiska, to stab Commandatore Jenson, W. Rome, the acting chairman of the congress, and Dr. Lode, of Paris, one of the speakers. Dr. Lode was slightly injured, but the president official was not hurt.

Mrs. Zakarowiska tonight was lodged in an asylum. Her grievance against the chairman grew out of his refusal to allow her to address the meeting. She is notorious for similar attempts upon the life of the late Jean Casimir-Perier, formerly president of France, and upon delegates to former congresses held in Berlin and Milan.

MR. DODWELL'S REPORT

The report of Engineer Dodwell on the paving matter is a herring drawn over the trail.

Mr. Dodwell was not correctly informed. His report is not based on accurate information. The trouble in this whole matter is not that Mr. Carleton as inspector came to grips with the contractors, but that he finds the city engineer and the city council acting as if they were special pleaders for the contractors, against their own inspector.

Here is the proof: Engineer Dodwell says the broken stone for the foundation is laid loose to a depth of six inches, and the voids between the stones are then filled with grout, which is a gravel-like mixture of cement, sand and water, poured over the stones until the voids are filled; and that after this mixture has set for nearly an hour the foundation is rolled.

If this is the process Mr. Dodwell saw, it is not the one against which Mr. Carleton protested. Mr. Carleton objected because after the stones were laid they were rolled hard, before the grout was poured over them. Anybody can see what the effect would be. By running the heavy roller over the loose stones they would be jammed together, and the spaces between them would be so much smaller that much less grout would be required. Less grout means less cement and a cheaper and poorer job. One does not need to be an engineer, or even an alderman or mayor to see the force of this statement. It was against this that Mr. Carleton protested. If after he resigned the contractor used more grout, that means a better job, he did the city that much service, and should receive credit for it instead of being denounced as a meddler and incompetent.

From first to last Mr. Carleton has been acting in the interest of the taxpayers, while the city council seems to have acted as the taxpayers' interests were regarded as of secondary importance. It took the city engineer a week to notify Mr. Carleton of the resolution of the council, and during that week the paving work was rushed along at top speed. There has been unnecessary delay at every point in connection with the investigation that should have been ordered the moment the city's inspector protested and resigned.

PROVINCIAL PROGRESS

When the conference of New Brunswick editors and St. John business men was held in this city last spring it was suggested that another such conference might be held during exhibition time. It is true that the visiting journalists will be very busy, and have much to see, but it is also true that more provincial newspaper men have promised to be in the city on press day than have ever been gathered here at one time. They will be given an opportunity, no doubt, to express their views on provincial matters, but it would be a good thing if a conference such as that held in the board of trade rooms last spring could be repeated, with the addition of newspaper men from other provinces. There can be no doubt that the first conference had good results. It was good for St. John to hear the views of trained observers from other towns, and there can be no doubt that the advertising committee of the board of trade was stimulated by the conference to take more active measures to arouse local enthusiasm. It is also a fact that a more optimistic spirit has been awakened throughout the province in the last six months. There is a more confident tone in the utterances of the press generally. The first step in a forward movement is to get public interest aroused, and there can be no more effective way of doing it than to bring business men and newspaper men together and have them discuss matters relating to provincial progress. Hence, if the visitors will come prepared to state their views from the local standpoint, and tell of their experience, and what in their opinion would still further develop the progressive spirit in the provinces, the results will be very beneficial. The effect, moreover, would be lasting. The matter is worthy of the thoughtful consideration of business men.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

More people and money will pour into St. John in the ten days, Sept. 3 to 12 inclusive, than in any ten consecutive days in the history of the city. With the opening date of the Dominion Exhibition less than three weeks distant it becomes the duty of the citizens, and especially the exhibitors, and all who will be associated with the exhibition, to make the most of the time that remains for preparation. The city never had so fine an opportunity to make a favorable impression upon so many people. Never before has it been made as easy for so many people to come to the city at moderate expense. All indications point to an unparalleled influx of visitors. There has never been so great an attraction. All former fairs were small compared with this, nor did any of them offer such varied features of interest. Those who come will be delighted with the exhibition, and the citizens should do all that is possible to create as favorable an impression with regard to the city itself. It is a golden opportunity, that should be seized with intelligence and a determination to present the city in the most favorable aspect as a centre of industry and commerce, and a goodly city in which to live. From this date until after the exhibition gates are closed let everybody boost St. John, and the province of New Brunswick.

AN ONTARIO EXAMPLE

The good roads movement is making progress in Ontario. At a conference of representatives of the city of Toronto and the county of York it was decided to ask the city, the county and the provincial government to grant $100,000 each, or $300,000 in all, to put fifty miles of roads in the county, running out of the city in various directions, in first-class condition. It was estimated that the cost would be about $6,000 per mile, and the conference approved a plan to follow the rebuilding of the first fifty miles with sixty-two miles more, making 112 miles, at a total cost of $670,000, of which city, county and province each would pay one third.

There is good reason to believe that this proposition, which received the enthusiastic endorsement of the representatives of the city of Toronto, the county of York, the board of trade and the Ontario Motor League, will be approved by the city and county councils, and that work on the first fifty miles will begin next spring.

A significant resolution adopted by the conference will, if approved, take the work out of politics and place it in the hands of a joint commission. The conference resolved to "recommend that the county of York, the city of Toronto and the provincial government each appoint a representative, who would practically constitute a commission, to have charge and supervision of the expenditure of money which were given by the different municipalities and the government in connection with the improvement of highways."

What one of the papers describes as "a pleasant surprise" at the conference was the statement of a representative of the Ontario Motor League, who stated that auto owners were so eager to see better roads that they looked with favor on a proposal that they be taxed 50 cents per horse power. This tax, if imposed, would yield $40,000 or more annually to be spent on the roads of the province.

It will be observed that these Ontario people recognize that the roads should be taken out of politics, in order to get good results for large expenditures. It is also to be noted that Toronto recognizes it to be good business for the city to contribute toward the upkeep of the roads that lead into the city, and that town and country alike derive benefit from the maintenance of good roads. These are general principles which deserve a wider recognition.

WHITE'S GOVE NEWS

Death of Mrs. Durost After Brief Illness—Looks Better for Friday

White's Cove, Aug. 15.—The weather during the last week here has been very fine, much to the delight of the farmers in getting in their hay, as nearly every one was away behind. A good many are not nearly done on the highland. Some are going to the intervals to begin to-day.

A deep gloom was cast over the quiet neighborhood on Saturday evening last when Mrs. Wm. Durost died suddenly, having been sick only twenty-four hours. Her husband, who is building a wharf at Clifton, was summoned by telephone, and arrived only two hours before she passed away. Besides her husband, six children are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. She leaves her father, R. L. White, of White's Point, and four brothers, and four sisters. Wm. Malcolm and Clarence of St. John and Theodore of the Narrows. The sisters are: Mrs. Merri Strang, of Carleton Place; Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Wright, of St. John, and Mrs. D. A. Ferris, of Mill Cove. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment in the Methodist cemetery.

THREE TIMES THREE

Boyhood, with its bloom of grace,
Shines upon his freckled face.

Morning, with its argent eyes,
Sparkles in his laugh-light smile.

Musie of the sunshine plays
Through the honey of his lips.

Awkward, bashful, all his hair
Tousled in a boy's uncare;

Still, that freshness and that joy
Of the spiritual spell of boy

Saves him for us with a charm
That can every fear disarm.

Barefoot, with the freedom pent
In a heart still innocent.

Sunburned, with his home the rose
In each wildwood lane he knows;

Hunt of bird or hive of bee
Share with him their mystery.

Noon enfolds him, night leans there
With her lips upon his hair.

Starry hosts around his sleep
Vigils of great loving keep.

Hoysen-tongued, as yet untrained
In nice language, but unstained

With the purple sin of things,
Nature in him laughs and sings.

Nature in him, at her best,
Builds the sinews of that breast,
Combs his hair with winds that lay
Loving hands on his today;

Bathes him with the dew that still
Shimmers as he climbs the hill,
And completes him with the spell
Of her wild bloom of the dell.

Boyhood, with its bloom, ah me!
Hats off to you, Three Times Three!

"The Best-Loved Bird in the Balmore Sun."

IN LIGHTER VEIN
PHYSICAL AID.

Needham—"Will you give me a lift, sir?"
Snuggum—"Certainly, but am I strong enough?"
Needham—"I think so. I'm trying to raise a $500 mortgage from my home."

STUCK.
Mother House Fly—"Have you seen Big Ben, your father?"
Child House Fly—"Yes, ma, but he wouldn't speak to me—he was busy with a paper."

MEAN OF HER.
Miss Howells—"Since I had typhoid fever, I haven't been able to sing at all—seem to have lost my voice entirely."
Miss Kunning—"Typhoid is a queer disease. I've often heard that if you recover from it it improves you in every way."
Catholic Standard.

THE ANSWER.
One of the best stories of the late Senator Quay was received by a religious evangelist, who plastered the hills of Pennsylvania with Bible quotations and religious notices. One fine fat rook, alongside a popular highway he painted these words:
"What will you do when you die?"
An enterprising advertising agent came along, and he painted underneath that question: "Use Wichita Oil—Good for burrs."

Paderewski's Insurance

The attack of neuritis which prevented Paderewski playing at the Queen's Hall, recently recalls the fact that each of his fingers, thumbs, eyes and toes is separately insured. Some time ago a slight splitting of one of his finger nails prevented him from playing, and an insurance company paid him £1,000. The famous pianist is very careful about allowing persons to touch his hands. He will not allow admirers to shake him by the hands, and he never accepts bouquets for fear he may prick his fingers with the encircling wire. —Tit-Bits.

WILL HALIFAX GET THE C.N.R. STEAMERS?

(Montreal Herald.)

What will be done with the Royal Edward and the Royal George of the Canadian Northern Royal Line from Bristol to Quebec and Montreal when winter comes and the season of navigation on the St. Lawrence is at an end?

This is the perplexing question which steamship men have been wondering about since the ships arrived and as the warm nights give place to colder ones and the passenger traffic begins to take its usual fall slump, the steamship men are led to wonder more and more what trade the vessels will be in.

That they will go to Halifax and St. John one story says while New York and the Mediterranean are both considered as destinations for the new liners. Boston has also been considered by the public who arrange such things for Messrs. MacKenzie and Mann.

But of all these services, Halifax seems to be the most likely. In speaking to the Herald of the matter a Toronto official, high up in the company's service told that he had good reason to believe that the ships would go to Halifax.

"We have our railroad in the east and we want to give what business we can to the carriage of mails and if we were to go from the Canadian service this contract would have to lapse. Of course, the ship could choose an easier service than the winter run across the North Atlantic and perhaps we could find a more profitable one, but this business has to be developed and now is the time to begin."

That the ships will be kept going on this North Atlantic service seems more

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

TWO BIG COAL BURNERS THE quantity of coal used by locomotives in 1909 is shown in official black and white in the railway statistics of the Dominion. But the quantity credited, or charged, to the household heater is really the quantity of hard coal imported. But as hard coal is used practically altogether for keeping people warm in winter the comparison seems fair enough.

GREAT FAITH IN STABILITY OF CANADIAN INVESTMENTS

Toronto Business Man Brings Home Cheery Report From England - Believes Canada Should Not Press For Preference; Let Britain Offer It

Frederick B. Robins, president of Robins, Limited has just returned to Toronto after his annual visit to Europe, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Margaret Robins. This year he has made a longer stay on the other side of the Atlantic than usual and his extensive journey has included a tour through France, Germany, Switzerland and Great Britain.

Mr. Robins certainly appeared to have derived beneficial effects from his long trip. "It has been an occasion," he remarked, "during which business has been combined with pleasure, and from both points of view it has been eminently successful. I made quite a long stay in England, where our firm has now a large connection, which will shortly be further developed. Trade in the old country shows an improvement and there does not appear to me to be any lack of capital. I observed an increasing tendency to invest in propositions outside of the United Kingdom, and my experience was that sound investment in Canada was receiving greater attention than ever and for such there was no difficulty in securing capital. Nothing pleased me more than to see the faith in the stability of Canadian investments. I am certain that we have only to put forward sound financial enterprise and capital will flow from the old country in this direction."

Knotty Tariff Problem In reply to a question on the subject of preference Mr. Robins remarked: "That is too complex a matter to discuss now. My view for preferential treatment in Great Britain, if it is not offered to them, is that it is a difficult one in the old country, and the attitude adopted of allowing Great Britain to work out her own salvation without pressure from us, I think, the correct one. I can see a form of protection in the old country which might weigh heavily upon consumers. On the other hand, one cannot help thinking that the British people would be better off if they had a more equitable tariff. I believe that a tariff of 10 per cent would be a fair one to propose, and I believe that the British people would be better off if they had a more equitable tariff. I believe that a tariff of 10 per cent would be a fair one to propose, and I believe that the British people would be better off if they had a more equitable tariff.

Germany is, of course, a keen commercial rival; but far more serious than the competition in trade is the rivalry of building Dresdenought. The manner in which armaments are being piled up in Germany is an efficient navy for Great Britain is absolutely essential, but in introducing the budget in the house of commons recently the chancellor of the exchequer pointed to the enormous growth in annual expenditure on the part of England, and the millions that are required for battleships, and social reforms, and a visitor from the colonies to Great Britain experiences a pang when he observes some of the social conditions.

We must not forget that England is an old country, and it is difficult to break away from ancient traditions. Revolutions are not popular. The national temperament is not conducive to pulling up by the roots, and it is impossible to admire the spirit of conservatism and patience which one observes, and to applaud the efficiency of local government such as that which has made London a beautiful city with its expensive parks and open spaces. The efficiency of local administration is very marked in all the great towns in the United Kingdom.

Referring to London and social conditions, there is probably no city in the world so wealthy and so fascinating. At the same time, it may be said there is no city presenting more terrible contrasts. At night may be witnessed on one hand the rich glow of wealth and on the other the misery of poverty. I know of nothing more depressing than a stroll along the Thames Embankment - one of the finest thoroughfares in London - at night. At one end are the Houses of Parliament. At the other, the entrance to the city.
