September 5, 1913—Malta captured by British, September 5, 1800.

Might we again ask that you kindly shop in the early morning hours; as soon as possible after 8.30. The staff is then at its best. The noon hour is untimely; half the sales force is at lunch, and the result means unsatisfactory service for you, and tiresome waits. In your own interests, wont you please shop early?

Veils that are New

East and West, the veil holds its own; from the yashmak of the Oriental to the motor veil of the Western woman.

Whatever antiquity may have to say as to its origin, who are women know that it owes its adoption, in the first instance, to the fact that it is universally and incurably becoming!

Especially is this true of the dainty newcomers in face veiling.

Soft, sheer, transparent effects take the lead, and because of this, those of Oriental finish are more popular than ever.

Silky, open sheldanes in tan, lavender, old blue, violet and black.

The yard, 25c.

We have about 80 odd pairs left over from last season—perfectly good in every particular, but we want to make room for the new arrivals, so we are going to reduce them.

They comprise Scotch, English and Canadian makes, all-wool, as well as a few pairs of union (mixed wool and cotton).

We have marked them all 25 per cent less than the old selling price—what means that you obtain a double saving.

They are nearly all double-bed size.

Down Quilts

A few odd patterns that we have selected from regular stock. Filled with good quality down, covered with chintz or figured saten.

Colors—reds, greens, pinks, blues.

Sizes: 6 x 8, 6 x 10, 8 x 10.

Former prices, $5 to $8.50.

Sale prices, $3.50 to $6.50.

Blankets and Down Quilts

THE BLANKET sale is particularly timely in view of the fact that blankets are advanced in price. They are from 10 to 15 per cent higher than last year.

F. B. Beckett, a Merchant of Great Yarmouth, England, has just celebrated his Silver Wedding with his second wife—He had 11 Children by his First Marriage and 22 by his Second.

What is believed to be a domestic record may be claimed by Frederick Bush Beckett, a Great Yarmouth baker and retired armorer—sergeant from the old volunteers, who has just celebrated his silver wedding with his second wife. Mr. Beckett was first married when 19, and is now 64. He has had in all 33 children, of whom 19 are still alive and 10 are living at home. He had 11 children by his first wife and 22 by his present wife. Mr. Beckett was unable to recall the names of all his children. "But," he said, "I can show you what some of them have done. After displaying a number of bills, he produced a bundle of photographs which, when spread out, almost covered the table. "These," he said, "are photographs of a few of them. Every night we have a roll-call to see that all the children are all in." With the assistance of his wife and reference to a bundle of birth certificates the following list of Mr. Beckett's children and grandchildren was compiled:

Out of 11 children by his first wife the following are living:—
 Annie Maria, m. 44; Frederick George, m. 43; Wm. Edward, 38; Albert Victor, s. 37; Meard Elizabeth, m. 36. Of these Anne has five children, Frederick six, and Meard three, so that Mr. Beckett has 14 grandchildren from his first family.

The children by his second wife are: Frederick Silvester, m. 24; Neville George, s. 23; Arthur Blomfield, m. 22; Dorothy Charles, s. 21; Alfred, m. 20; Mildred Maud, s. 19; James I.; Sidney Stephens, 18; Elsie Winifred, 16; Lottie Maud, m. 15; Harry; Edith Blomfield, 12; Stanley Charles, 11; Gordon Harold, 10; Spencer B.; Leslie Percy, 8; Noel, 6.

There were four more children who died before having been named. Frederick and Arthur have each one child, which are the last of Mr. Beckett's grandchildren to 16.

A MODERN UTOPIA.

Enviably Social Conditions of the Island Dominion.

It is an open question whether the present enviable social condition of New Zealand is due more to the quasi-social type of its government, or to the fact that women have the vote and an equal voice with the men in all matters affecting the public welfare. At any rate the wave of reform, which has made the country an example to all communities striving for true democracy, dates from the grant of suffrage to women less than twenty years ago. They did not ask for it; it was given to them as a political move. At first they hung back, but they soon found that much could be done by their use of the vote in the way of social reform.

One notable result of their work is that there is no white slavery on the islands and no houses of ill fame even in the cities. Commercialized vice is unknown though, of course, immorality undoubtedly exists in secret. Poverty is understood in other countries; there is not a beggar in the whole country except a few blind men playing organs, nor are there any unemployed. In fact the demand for labor is rather serious, and constant supplies are being sent out from England. The working people find the islands a paradise, for a well-to-do woman gets from $2 to $2.50 a day and factory hands work in beautiful light buildings.

Some of the measures secured by women are of interest. A man cannot will his property away from his family or give away large sums of money during his life without paying a crippling stamp duty. There is a sort of inter-state traffic in deserting husbands between New Zealand and Australia, which now also has conferred. They are shipped back, sent to jail and made to work for $2 a day, which is said to be the lowest in the world—$2 a thousand. That of Russia, for instance, is 988 a thousand.

There is an eight-hour day and a quarter of an hour off both in the morning and afternoon, when the men work and the girls make tea in their clean and airy rest rooms. The output is as large as ever and the health of the workers much better. Home work is forbidden now unless the worker is crippled and unable to get to the factory.

Education is compulsory and the schools are the finest in the world. Boys and girls are educated in the same classes and all learn politics just as they do history. The hotels have been reformed, for the sake of the country teachers who have to live in them and each house must be in charge of a domestic married couple.

The women know just as much about politics as the men and gradually certain departments of administration have been left to them. The treatment of dependents is considered the most advanced in the world. Idiots are no longer shut up in asylums, but are segregated on the farms, where they work in the open air. The world jail and asylum have been abolished in favor of reformatory and hospital. The world illegitimate has also been forbidden in government documents and a law is forced to provide for his legitimate child until it is fourteen years old and also in his will.

Hotels and public houses are closed on election day 24 hours before election day no newspaper is allowed to publish any biased opinion. As a result there is absolutely no election bribery.

All this reform hasn't interfered with prosperity, nor kept business out of the country. The number of factories has increased in years from 1,200 to 5,000, with 70,000 employees. The invested capital is now $50,000,000 instead of $6,000,000, as it was years ago. Agricultural production is $74,000,000 instead of $30,000,000, and population has grown from 60,000 to 1,000,000.

Bad Stuff in Shakespeare.

Poor George III, has been quoted as saying that "Shakespeare is bad stuff." What George did say to Fanny Dursey was: "There is bad stuff in Shakespeare. What! Is he not a man and stuff? But one mustn't say so. Which is really another thing and a terrible opinion. Nay, one would be doing injustice to Shakespeare's magnificent pages if one did not deprecate his several—well, his few—well, his one or two—little bits of 'stuff'—London Standard.

Meeting Eyebrows.

Some hold that it is a good thing to have meeting eyebrows, as such a person will never have trouble. The Greeks admired those eyebrows which almost met and Thompson scribbles to O'Connell "the charms of meeting brows." In Asia the women aid nature by artificial means, joining the eyebrows by black pigment when they do not grow together.

Ruskin and Chrysanthemums.

Mr. Ruskin was asked if he did not admire chrysanthemums. Now he liked nothing abnormal or artificial, and he regarded the production of chrysanthemums as an unwholesome attempt to grow flowers at a season when nature meant that there should be no flowers, and so starting an answer came, "I hate chrysanthemums."—Westminster Gazette.

Selling Stonehenge.

Sir Edmund Antrobus is selling his Whitehall property, which includes the famous druidic remains of Stonehenge. He has made the sale conditional on Stonehenge being preserved for the nation.
