A sail drowning accident occurred a Loch Lomond on Sunday evening. The victim was F. T. Allan, a New York gentleman of distinctions of distinctions and Herbert C. Creed. gentleman of distinguished appear-nce. Mr. Allan went out in a boat about 8.30 o'clock, and the boat was afterwards seen empty.

When the body was recovered yes terday morning it was plainly seen that Mr. Allan had fallen overboard while dropping the anchor, for the rope was tangled around his feet, and in this way he had met a swift an ellent death.

Mr. Allan, who was a man about 65 years of age, arrived here with his wife last Tuesday, and registered at the Dufferin. He made the trip her on account of ill-health, and on Thursday went to Loch Lomond to the house of Mr. Brayden. On Sunday evening he and his wife went out on the lake in the boat. Finding it chilly, Mrs. Allan asked to be put ashere, and he husband rowed her to the beach. She got out of the boat and walked up the road towards the house. Happening to look back, she saw the boat empty, and, divining an accident had happened, she gave the alarm. S. H. Barker went out in a boat and found Mr.
Allan's boat with the oars lying in it, the anchor dropped, and Mr. Allan's pipe on the seat. He concluded that Mr. Allan had failen overboard while casting out the anchor, and this view proved correct, for yesterday morning when he found the body he was obliged to draw the anchor up with it, so en-tangled was the rope around the legs of the unfortunate gentleman.

Coroner Berryman was notified, and he went out about noon to hold an inquest. After Coroner Berryman reached Loch Lomond he decided an inquest was unnecessary, and gave permission for the body to be removed. It was brought to the city yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Allan. E. T. Grif-fing of New York, of the firm of Ham-liton and Griffing, will arrive here this morning to look after the forwarding of the body to New York.

OTTAW, Aug. 23.—It appears that when the adjournment of the international conference to Ottawa was first proposed the report was industriously circulated in Quebec that there was no first-class hotel accommodation in the capital. It was Enquiries at the Quoddy elicited the Saturday to Monday, when she took the boat to Boston. She told Landlord Buckman that she was tired of farm life in this country and was going back to Minneapolis. She had wearied of the treatment she had received at the hands of her husband and had left him forever. While she was at the hotel an excursion party from Calais visited Eastport, and a number of the excursionists called at the Quoddy for their supper. Mrs. Mowatt asked Mr. Buckman where the excursion was from. He told her it was know me," she replied. Mr. Buckman told her that if she did not want to be seen by them she could remain in the parlor until the dining hall was cleared, when she could have her supper. She said she would do that. Buckman was considerably surprised when she entered the dining hall a few minutes afterward, when the guests were in the middle of their meal. No one appared to recognize her. next morning she paid her bill and departed by the Boston boat. Mr. Buckman was positive that the woman was Mrs. Samuel Mowatt, but when shown Mrs. Mowatt's photograph and her handwriting a short time since he was not so sure about her identity. His clerk is positive that the photograph is not that of the woman wi stayed at the notel, nor is the handwriting on the register the same as that which appears on letters writte by Mrs. Mowatt. The name on the register is spelled Mowat, while in the letter it has two t's.

A Miss Gertle Russell, whose motor returned boarding house in Boston, return from there not long since and she told Norcross' friends (who had become interested in the case through reading it in the Beacon) that she had met a young woman in Boston whose description agreed with the missing Mrs. Mowatt. She said that she had run away from a cruel hus-band in New Brunswick, and was in Boston earning her own bread and butter. She had evidently done more than that, for she was able to do a lot of driving about. This woman gave her name as "Jennie King," which is said to have been the baptismal name of the Mowatt woman. Miss Russell said she knew this woman could be found in ton. This story seems a little far fetched, but there are some who be-approached the pitch at Union point. Francis stood erect in the bow, skilsat in the rear. Bow on they headed for the pitch. Slowly, but with evered the watery declivity, while the spectators held their breaths and excitedly awaited the result. The Inmans seemed to be intent only on steadying the canoe and keeping it bow on. As it neared the pitch the current caught it and it fairly leaped forward with a wild plunge over the pitch. A cry arose from the crowd "They're gone!" but they were not The light craft had actually got over form the feat successfully, when suddealy the canoe went down in an other pitch and was then shot up al-most out of the water. he is," was heard, and he was seen struggling in the raging, foaming water fifteen feet away from the canoe, with only the paddle for support. All eyes were centred on him as he made a great struggle to keep above water, and it was thought for a brief period that he would reach a rope that some workmen that are repairing the Cantilever bridge threw down. He drifted towards the spot, when he suddenly held the paddle in the air and sank. He rose again almost under the Cantilever bridge close to where the rope was suspended, but was apparently too far gone, for he sank again and was seen no more. Meanwhile the other still clung to the canoe, and a lucky fate drifted the craft closer in towards the cove. It drifted out of the pots and got into calmer water. The Indian urged it in this direction, as well as he could by swimming, and soon he was out of danger of being carried down under the bridge. He continued to push the canoe in ,and after a while George Dalton and Herbert Sweet put out in a boat and rescued Mitchell, for he turned out to be the lucky fellow. They took hold of him to pull him in, but he told them to tow him ashore which they did. As he approached still holding his canoe the crowd cheered, and the Indian's face lit up with a smile as he saw that he was saved, and he waved his arm and cheered faintly back. His face lightened with sad surprise, however, when told that his companion was drowned. He and another Indian, John ed. American Manufacturers, American Mechanics and American Machines

Crowding Their English Rivals in the Home Market to an Alarming Extent.

(From the Sheffield Daily Manufachurer.)

It is no new thing to be told that the Americans are coming to the front as rivals in industries which up to a few years ago were regarded as peculiarly the possession of Great Britain. Sheffield manufacturers who have reme back thoroughly convinced that the home producers are certain to be pressed more closely than ever trans-Atlantic firms. "From what I have seen on my frequent visits to the States," said a leading Sheffield manufacturer to us the other day, "more particularly on that visit from which I returned vesterday, it would not take much to induce me to remove the whole of my manufacturing business there, and do my work for England with American machines, by American workmen under the more advantage-ous American conditions." Under the latter head he includes the easier taxation in the States. There the Income Tax is unknown; there are no Workmen's Compensation Acts adding to the cost of production: and even the Trades Unions are worked under regulations which do not handicap the anufacturer so much as with us. In this country the Trades Union rules are often expressly framed to restrict production, so that the machine may not be used to its fullest capacity lest it limit the labor of the men. This, indeed, was at the root of the great engineering strike, which wrought such tremendous damage both to em-States the Trade Unions have no such arrangements. They allow the maworth. THE WAY THE BRITON IS BEATEN.

As to specific cases in which the American is beating the Briton, these were given at once. "We are fond," said one of the informants, "of speaking about Sheffield as the steel capital of the world, but at this very moment the American is sending us very heavy consignments of the cheaper grades of steel. A single firm in London is now receiving United States steel at the rate of 40 tons per month. That is chiefly for bicycle work. American steel is also being sent into Birmingpright drawn steel for bleycle pur-poses (round and hexagon), for nuts, screws, bolts, or anything that can be made in large quantities with auto-natic machinery, the American not-only beats us in price, but in the uni-form temper which enables the work-men to work it smoothly right through to the end and with much less wear to the end, and with much less wea on the tools. The workmen themsel ves prefer generally to work with advance of the American is being viewed with considerable concern by some of the manufacturers. At the last meeting of the Elbow Wale Steel Iron, and Coal Company, limited, Mr. Henry Davies, one of the directors stated: "I think it will have to be anxiety for some time in connection with the steel works, what with the rew appliances and the improved methods in America and on the continent, and the keenest of competition." Mr. Charies Allen, another director of the company, and better known as a principal in the great steel establishment of Henry Besse mer and Company, limited, Sheffield, attributed the serious period of de-pression which had fallen upon the Ebbw Vale Steel Works as being due to the flow of steel from America to this country. "All such undertak ings," he said, "have to contend with sudden and unexpected changes in the flow of trade. There has been an pity to see such splendid material as we are producing sold without profit." This, of course, suggested the question was readily forthcoming at the same meeting. It was because their means or production were antiquated and out-of-date. WILES BRASS RODS &c "Files," said another manufacturer, 'are also articles in which we are get ting 'left' by the American." He had previously shown me large consignments of American-made files, several of which in the finer and smaller sizes are only made in this country at very much higher prices. The American file seemed the lighter of the two, and the local objection to it is that it canrot bear recutting; but files are so cheap nowadays that few people bother about sending them to be recut. Then, as for price. As everybody connected with the trade knows prices in the file trade are governed by discounts. The Sheffield price is considerably higher than the American, in most of the sizes, and many of the workers on brass, iron and ste livered in London and Birmingham the great distributing centres, as well as in the districts where the textile trades are clustered. In two other trades outside the Sheffield industries the experience was the same. In brass rods, for making brass unions, &c., out of the solid rods (round or hexagon), it is claimed for American-made brass for working in automatic ma truer than the English, that it can be worked with much less trouble and greater economy. It is further claimed for it that it is not only superior ish maker can supply. Here and other respects the railway rates help the foreigner, the rate from New York to Liverpool being positively lower than from Liverpool to Sheffield in LABOR-SAVING MACHINES. As for American labor-saving machines, they are to be found in almost every workshop, and in London the are doing great business all over the country. That business is going to be larger than ever. At present there is a big "boom" on in the States, but when that is met, as it soon will be, the American manufacturer will be ever here more resolutely bent than ever on capturing the European market. It is increasingly clear that the march of the American has only just begun, and in a year or less he will open the eyes alike of the home employer and the home workman. Several of our ablest and most sucessful manufacturers who know New York as well as they know London, all of cur great shipping firms has noted that the fine vessels of his line go out less laden with English manufactures, but come back fully freighted with the other way about, but the change, so significant of the transition in British industry began a considerable time ago, and is being more acutely

Lively Times in Ohester, Mass, where a Live Stock Train Was OHESTER, Mass., Aug. 21.-Everybody here has been on a hog hunt. They have found it a more profitable and not less exciting pastime than the annual fox hunt. There were 800 hogs that escaped from a live stock train that broke apart and was wrecked have been in seclusion in the woods or feeding on the fertile gardens in the neighborhood. fences or in their doorways.

The church services today were but slimly attended, and while the congregations were dispersing they met a squad of men and boys in pursuit of a black porker, which charged in on the church-goers, upsetting several. He was finally captured on the church porch. A large number of railroad employes organized a company to hunt hogs. They have been hard at it for two days, and they were a tired look-ing lot as they sat on the station

"Sure, an' hog is it?" said one. "It's Spaniards they are. The regular business session opened at 3 p. m. in the Baptist church, after devotional exercises and reading of the minutes. The secretary's report is as follows:

Our report for the past quarter must necessarily be brief, as many of our White Ribbon women have been and still are absent from the city. this reason St. John W. C. T. U. deemed it advisable to forego the regular meetings during the months of July and August, in lieu of which a special committee was appointed to transact any business which might arise during that time. The work of the various departments has been carried on as usual. The Union has subscribed $25 in the interests of the plebiscite campaign.

The evangelical superintendent reports ten meetings held with female prisoners in the jail, who were very attentive and seemed to enjoy the service. Twelve visits were made to the male prisoners. Especially sad does it seem to find so many young boys in this gloomy place. Five hundred and four papers and one hundred and fifty leaflets have been distributed. Clothing has been given to some of the prisoners and visits made to their homes. Five gospel meetings have been held in the Seamen's Mission on Sunday afternoons and several

St. John North has continued to hold weekly meetings, though the attendance has been small on account of absence and other causes. Our president and a few faithful workers have been at their posts all through the hot summer days. One mothers meeting has been held, weekly visits have been made to the hospital, and fruit and delicacles have been given to the sick. In June we had a lecture in Union hall from Mrs. Barney, but on account of an unfortunate error as to time of meeting the attendance was not so large as such a speaker should have had. One delegate was sent to the convention, who brought a full report of proceedings. Literature. St. John North has continued to the convention, who brought a full report of proceedings. Literature has been supplied to the hospital and Seamen's Mission. On account of illness of the superintendent only one meeting has been held at the Seamen's Mission. About six years ago the W. C. T. U:

W. C. T. UNION.

The St. John County Convention of their leader, Mrs. W. W. Turnbull, so long president of the Maritime Union, established a Home for Little Girls in our city. An industrial home or school for boys had been founded through the instrumentality of Lady Tilley, and the members of our Union felt there was still a great and crying need unsupplied, while many neglected little girls roamed the streets, without any "bringing up," but simply growing up, like Topsy. Consequently this plain and unpretentious though comfortable home was provided through the liberality of Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull, who have given it yearly, rent free.

Al matron takes charge of the children, of whom we have six or seven on an average in the home all the year round, though they are taken out for adoption frequently, being replaced by newcomers.

The parents or guadians are expect-

by newcomers.

The parents or guadians are expected to sign papers of release, giving up entire control of the children to the members of the W. C. T. U., who assume the whole responsibility of their welfare, providing for all their wants in the home till suitable places can be secured, references being in-variably required before parting with any of the little ones.

A report for the past year with regard to this institution must be rendered with deep thankfulness that the work has been blessed of God, obstacles removed and assistance often youchsafed in the most opportune and unexpected moments. That we have had trials and difficulties to encounter med scarcely be mentioned. Who has ever undertaken to advance the king-dom of light that has not experienced the opposition of the kingdom of darkness? In more than one case the ingratitude even the antagonism of the mothers of these little girls has had to be endured.

Again, in two or three instances, when we thought good homes had been secured for them, after spending a year or two in the home they have been returned to us for various rea-sons, in some cases those who had adopted them having discovered they were too small to be useful in the daily work of the farm, and in one in stance, owing to the ill health of the lady, the child was felt to be a burden and a care too heavy to be born We have had three different matrons during the past year, the first and second being requested to resign after a short probation. The third and last seemed to win the hearts of the little ones, but owing to ill health became incapacitated to fulfil her duties, and another has just been appointed to take her place. It is a position requiring a consecrated Christian woman to fill it successfully, endowed with com-mon sense, tact and good nature. She should also possess a practical knowledge of housekeeping and have a fair English education in order to be able to instruct and guide the children aright At present there are six litt girls in the home, ranging from five to ten or eleven years of age. The matron, Miss Elliott, has taught them to sew and trained them in habits of usefulness. The older ones attend school in the Aberdeen building in th orhood, one of the public schools of our city.

Miss Hutchings, secretary-treasurer of the Home, has most kindly given the children an outing, having ther with her in her summer cottage on the St. John river for a fortnight, a visit which was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by them all. Can we dou' that the smallest act of kindness done for the least of one of these little on will be accepted by the loving Lord as service unto Himself?

Fourteen children have been sheltered during the year, four have been adopted into good homes we believe, one has been taken on trial, two have been taken back by their relatives, and one has been received into the Father's house above, leaving six in the Home at present. This effort of the W. C. T. U. is "a work of faith and labor of love," demanding the sympathy, the prayers and the heart; co-operation of all Christian women. and especially of the mothers, who realize the many mercles and privi-leges of their own dear ones, "to whom much is given."

The meeting then adjourned to the basement, where the ladies of St. Martins had spread a bo inteous tea.

The evening session opened at 8 p.m. After Scripture reading and prayer Mrs. Murray sang a solo, One Sweetly Solemn Thought. The president gave an address on The Rise and Development of W. C. T. U. work. A solo was given by Mr. Titus and four five minute ad irresses on the plebiscite five minute ad iresses on the plebiscite were given by Malames Hanselpeck-er, Vaughan, Fownes and Masters A duet was rendered by Mrs. Murray and Trueman, after which address were given by Revs. Messrs. Gen. Kitchener is the youngest man of his rank in the British army. He has made no mistakes and now has a perfectly equipped army of 25,000 men of all arms, 1,700 miles from his starting point, and ready to deliver the last crushing blow upon the enemy. There has been no fuss, and this fact has lulled foreign suspicion as to the aims of British policy in the Soudan.

If the French think about the matter at all they assume that General Kitchener will clear out of the Soudan as soon as the dervishes are finally deteated. The assumption is unfounded, whatever the British government may have said a year or two ago. The intention now is to keep the Sougovernment may have said a year or two

On Friday last he placed a huge box of explosives in a boat that was put in charge of a Tunisian prisoner, who was chained to the boat. The boat was then towed to Korori by the steamer Ismailia. When the party reached that point, the Tunisian was unstructed to sink the mine in a position where any British vessel passing would be certain to hit it. While the prisoner was sinking the mine it exploded, shattering the small boat, and blowing the ismailia to pieces. Many dervishes were killed.

(Montreal Gazette.) Few vessels coming to this port have eccived more recognition from busi-ness men than the Beaver line R. M. S. Tongariro, commanded by Captain Robert Miller. While she has been in port, large crowds have visited her. and the concensus of opinion is that she is well adapted for the St. Lawrence trade.

The night before sailing of an oc liner is always a strong magnet to citizes, but last evening his worship the mayor, the council of the Board of Trade and several prominent citizens visited the boat. They were met by D. W. Campbell, general manager, and after having been shown through the vessel, they were enter-tained at dinner. Although the affair was of an informal nature, Chief Stewart Caffrey was equal to the oc-casion. After the toothsome delicacier had been done full justice to, the usua sponses were of a congratulato aracter, and many kind things we

The latter gentleman, in a short, appropriate speech, fook occasion to speak of the facilities offered by the company and concluded by expressing his thanks for the large attendance of citizens, and of the many flattering remarks, and coming from practical men, he felt sure that the old Beaver line would get its share of the St. Lawrence trade.

3. Because the liquor traffic is the real cause of much crime and immorality which are yearly costing our country an enormous sum of money.

4. Because from 10 to 25 per cent. of the working time of men who are addicted to drink is lost to themselves, their families and their employers. 5. Because a few men who are doing nothing, and far worse than nothing, are becoming rich on the honest earnings of the sons of toil

6. Because hundreds of thousands of dollars that should go yearly into the till of the grocer, the butcher, the baker, the dry goods merchant, the life insurance company and the savings banks, go into the pockets of eighty rum sellers in the city of St. John.

7. Because there were more arrests for drunkenness in the city of St. John in 1893 per 1,000 of its population than in any other city of the dominion, and we have nothing to prove that the ratio has changed. The records of our colice court show that drunkenness alone furnishes over 60 per cent, of all

8. Because from a purely business standpoint we cannot afford to allow the license saloon to continue. It must not continue if we desire permanent prosperity and financial sucthe idea that the liquor traffic pays the taxes. The liquor traffic pays no taxes. Those who consume the liquor, and only these, pay a proportion to the revenues of the country.

The people of this dominion pay about 40 millions for dring and, after expenses are paid, add about 6 millions to the revenue. Forty millions of dol-lars is a large amount of money. This amount of money, if made into five dollar gold pieces and placed edge to edge, 41 to a yard, would form a belt of gold over 110 miles in length. If rlaced one upon another, 15 to an a.ch, they would form 100 columns, each column 444 feet high. If made into a pavement of solid gold they would cover a surface equal to 4,660 square yards. This amount of gold pavement, if placed in St. John, would make us think that we had arrived at that city whose streets are paved with gold. What a splendid business speculation and financial enterprise it vould be for St. John to vote solid for prohibition on the 29th day of next September. The drink does no man any good. Vote for prohibition.

A BETTER ANNEXATION.

The report that there is an agitation in Jamaica in favor of annexation to the United States has no sound basis of fact. The petition said to be in circulation praying the imperial government to order a plebiscite on the ques tion, has been located in some obscure plantation far from the centres of population. So secluded is the lo cality that it is impos firm or deny the report that such a petition exists, or even that it may have two or three names to it.

Canadians may have almost forgotten that three years ago some New York papers contained sensational accounts of an annexation movement in Canada. There were in fact annexationist clubs in the do-Professor Goldwin Smith belonged to one, and was, we believe a sort of honorary president. The Canadian annexationists established an organ, a daily paper, which lived more than a week. Mr. A. E. Macdonald, at one time a prominent municipal politician in Toronto, was the editor. But as no one would advertise in his paper, and no one saw any reason to buy it, a vacancy soon appeared where the continental union organ had come to stay. Professor Goldwin Smith is supposed to have pocketed the deficit.

But for months the New York Sun contained long and glowing accounts of the Canadian annexation movement. Mr. Francis Wayland Glen, Mr. Edward Farrer, Mr. Nimmo, the Bystander, and other writers told how the good work was ging on. Mr. J. V. Ell's offered occasional words of encouragement. Douotless there were thousands of innocent readers who this seriously, and believed that there was some such thing as an annexation sentiment among people of Canada. In the same way to suppose that there is an annexation movement in Jamaica. The New York Sun favors the alleged agitation wit a column leader. Nothing less could be expected from a journal which thought the supposed Canadian movement worth many columns.

Mr. George Johnson, the dominion statistician, puts forward in a letter to a citizen of Ottawa a better annexation programme for Jamaica. He advocates the inclusion of the British West India Islands in the dominion of Canala. This programme is not new. It was discussed a decade and a half ago by the press of eastern Canada as a practical proposition. We see no reason why it should not still be within the range of practical statesmanship, and agree with Mr. Johnson that such a union would be mutually beneficial. The Sun would go further and include the whole of British North America, also British Gulana.

The British West India Islands about a market are troubled for sugar. Canada more than offers a constantly growing market. If we include Demerara in the scheme there would still be a Canadian market for nearly the supply. Under the stinulus of better ommunication the dominion would also consume a large part of the fruit product and a fair share of the coffee and spices. The West India provinces would furnish a market, which under the new conditions would be almos dairy products and meat. We wo share with Newfoundland the fish market of these prospective provinces but would, of course, hope to have Newfoundland a member of the same

The difficulties of administration might be more or less serious, but there is no reason to suppose that they would be greater than those met and overcome by the British American statesmen of the last generation. The nadian people would, we are sure, be ready to undertake their share of the task, whereby they would not only gain commercial advantage but would make this country a still more important and influential portion of the British empire, and assist in the solution of a pressing imperial problem We venture also to think that the British American union would offer better opportunities to the British col- Russia would be supreme. onies to the south than can be had in the present circumstances, or could be obtained by annexation with a country whose tropical and semitropical possessions are already suffielent for purposes of supply.

THE WHEAT POLICY.

It is probable that the area sown to ext year than this season. Many mers are bitterly repenting that they gave heed to Mr. Emmerson and dopted his wheat policy. Years ago the farmers of New Brunswick discov ered that while wheat was a fairly safe crop in some localities it was decided ly uncertain in others, and that on the whole it was not wise to risk too much of the best land on it. The experience of this season is perhaps unusually evere, but it is in line with the long experience on which the New Brunswick farmers have restricted their wheat acreage.

We cannot argue on wheat growing in the same line as on hog raising or heese manufacture. These were lines of farm production which had not een prosecuted extensively and ther largely abandoned. Cheese making on the co-operative principle was practically a year or two ago almost a nove enterprise in most parts of the provnce, and the same might be said of the manufacture of creamery butter. The development of the bacon indus has placed hog raising on a new basis But there has been no change in th conditions of wheat growing requiring worled out the wheat problem with all the facts before them, as clearly as they had worked out anything in farming. Nearly all of them could appeal to a range of experience and to opportunities of observation sufficient for practical purposes. So far as ther has been a wide departure from these teachings during the present year the farmers have probably on the whole lost by it.

The government is not to blame for the weather, but so far as the government has encouraged the farmers to take large risks in wheat growing it has done some of them a serious injury. The suggestion of a wheat boun ty, the distribution of seed wheat which was represented to be better and more reliable than the farmers had been growing, the promise of bet ter grist mills, and the argument from the high price of flour and wheat which

The price of flour was abnormal and ould not continue, but the farmers could not be expected to know as much about market conditions as a member of the grain exchange. The govern ms to have turned out worse than the home grown seed. There is rea son to hope for better things from the new flour mills which are receiving a that the farmers will next year ac cept political advice on wheat husbandry for what it is worth. Wheat will probably be grown as it has been in the past, for a select crop in many districts and as a regular crop in certain localities, but the average farmer will be apt to keep in mind that land which will grow wheat is pretty safe for other grain, whereas land that will grow other grain is not so safe for wheat. The few acres that the average New Brunswick farmer has in ndition for a first class grain crop represents a heavy outlay, and he will not take too heavy risks with it.

A LOGICAL PROPOSAL.

The appearance of Count Mouravieff with an olive branch will probably recall to many a diplomatic mind the wise cynicism of that immortal son of rope has sent out to the world so many fair propositions and promises as St. Petersburg. "With as many lies as a Czar," says the chief character in Tennyson's poem, recognizing a trait, not of one ruler only, but of the traditional Russian foreign office. Swearing that they had no intention of occupying frontier posts in Central Asia the Russians occupied them. Declar ing that she has no designs in China Russia is accomplishing her design there. No other nation could gain so much as Russia by an agreement for a gen met an equal foe in fair fight and got off without a beating. But in the struggle to get an advantage by diploatic strategy, by intrigue, by bribery and freachery, Russia has beaten every competition. It also includes Li Hung Chang. The rest will follow as a matter of course if another European power does not intervene. There is but one intervenion that can stop the onward march. A naval demonstration now impending in the Northern Pacific indicates the method of procedure. TO THE POINT

Lieutenant Governor McInnes has made public his side of the British Columbia story. He says that the late premier tried to get him to sign objectionable warrants by mixing them up with other papers, and that one attempt was made to get him to sign blank warrants. The exsserts that June 18 "T. R. McInnes the governor's son and private secrefary, told him that the way out of his difficulty was to give to W. W. B. Mc-Innes, M. P., a cabinet position and he (W. W. B. McInnes) would resign from the dominion house, bring in one or two opposition members to join Turner's party, and that W. W. B. McInnes confirmed the proposition." It is said that the lieutenant governor describes Mr. Turner's last disclosure as "an impertinence." On the contrary, if it is true, it seems to be exceedingly pertinent.

The authorities might have interfered in time to have prevented the tragedy that took place at the falls Friday morning, but it is a question tion if many people thought the Indians were serious in their declaration that they would attempt to shoot the rapids. In fact, the entire country is up in arms against the Washington authorities, and the situation has actually become so sericus that the republican leaders are getting alarmed lest the brutal and neful treatment of American soldiers by their own government nullify e prestige, the natural outcome of the war, and bring about a crushing defeat in the elections this fall. The cry has gone up from nearly every newspaper office in the country demanding an investigation. Secretary of War Alger naturally comes in for resent there is a growing feeling that he alone is not to blame for the deplor able condition of the regiments, many of which have been partially obliterated for lack of proper food supplies management of the transport service. COLD STORAGE V. ORDINARY CARGO ROOM.

Prof. Robertson in his report says: One shipment of apples was sent forward with 37 packages, sent in cold storage, and 116 packages sent as ordinary cargo. The fruit arrived in good condition. The apples shipped were of the Baldwin, Ribston Pippin, Cranberry Pippin and Northern Spy varieties, and were wrapped in paper. They were reported as sound and firm on arrival. The same varieties shipped as ordinary cargo and packed in the same way arrived in fair condi-tion, but were reported as "not so solid and firm as the apples shipped in cold storage, and showing some signs of early decay." Where a spot or scab existed, signs of decay were seen under the skin. All the fruit from the cold storage on the steamship, while sound and firm, showed moisture on the surface when removed from the cold storage, while the fruit shipped as ordinary cargo in the hold of the vessel was quite dry, but not so firm and solid as the other. The moisture was no doubt produced by condensation from he air by the sudden change of tem-

His company was stationed at Fort Keogh, Montana, when the order came that ultimately took it via Tampa, to Siboney, Cuba. They were taken from Tampa in the transport San Marcas, No. 18, and landed at Siboney, on the 24th of June in small boats without accident. They were twelve miles from Santiago, and as soon as the troops were landed commenced the celebrated march toward the city. Between the troops and San Juan were three lines of barbed wire fence to be overcome. These were swept away by the ploneer corps, who kept about 100 yards in advance. They cut the wires with large nippers and before their work was completed near-ly all of them were either killed or wounded by the Spanish.

The advancing line reached Juan at 9.45 a. m., July 1st, and threw up breastworks. The firing line consisted of the 6th, 13th, 16th and 24th nfantry. Then began the battle which ended when Cervera with his fleet left the harbor, and the Spanish sent out

Fighting was resumed on the 10th. Two shots were fired from the enemy's lines, one of which landed in the rifle pit of Co. A, 2nd infantry, killing Captain Rowell and a private, and wounding another. The infantry re-turned the fire as the artillery was too far in the rear, silencing the en-

Mr. Van Wart said that the general opinion among the troops was that Shafter is a coward at heart, as he never approached nearer than six an attorney to be sued in the city not liked by the men, nor was he concourt of St. John. Mr. Van Wart said that the officers distinguished themselves for their bravery were three in number. They were Colonel Roosevelt, Colonel Wyck-off, who was shot at the head of his brigade, and Lieut. Col. Worth, was wounded and who is now laid up at Fort McPherson.

Roosevelt and the Rough Riders were all right, and the best hearted men he ever saw. He said that the were always rough and ready. NEW YORK, Aug. 29.-Kid McPartland of this city got a well-earned decision over Jack Daly of Wilmington after fighting twenty-five rounds before the N. Y. A. C. tonight. The last time these two men met Daly got the lecision on a foul in the seventeenth round, at the Lenox Athletic club, and since that time McPartland has always claimed that he had Daly whipped then. He insisted that on whipped then. He insisted that on their next meeting he would demon-strate his superiority over the Dela-ware man. Both men were in splen-cid form, and showed they had train-ed carefully when they stripped for the ring. The bout was devoid of foul work and was one of the cleanest and work and was one of the cleanest and eleverest exhibitions ever given under the Horton law. There was little to choose between the men at the end of the go, but as McPartland had done more leading than his opponent, the referee's decision in his favor was fair. Daly's friends lost a lot of money on the result, and a few bets were made in the early part of the fight at 2 to 1 on the Delaware puglist. At no stage of the contest were these odds warranted, and it was evident at the end of the twelfth round that the fight would go the limit.

All Europe Startled by the Czar's Proposition

For a General Disaramament of the Nations and the Furling of Their Battle Flags.

Text of the Note Which the Emperor's For eign Minister Has Addressed to the Foreign Diplomats at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 28.-By order of Emperor Nicholas, Count Muravieff, the foreign minister, on the 24th inst. handed to the foreign dipomats at St. Petersburg a note declaring that the maintenance of peace and the reduction of the excessive arma-ments now crushing all nations is the ideal for which all governments ought to strive. The Czar at this present noment is favorable for the inaugumoment is ravorable for the mangu-ration of a movement looking to this end, and invites the powers to take part in an international conference as a means of thus assuring real and lasting peace and terminating the progressive increase of armament.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Czar's proposition for an international confer nce for the purpose of securing real and lasting peace among the powers, and the termination of the progressive increase in armaments, as conveyed in a note from Count Muravieff, the Russian foreign minister, to the foreign diplomats at St. Petersburg, is likely to croduce a sensation throughout Europe, and coming from such a quarter and with such evident sincerity of purpose, it is likely to have important effects. There is no doubt that, with Russia taking the lead in such a step, Germany, France and the other nations will be ready to follow.

The text of the note follows: 'The maintenance of general peace and the possible reduction of the excessive armaments which weigh upon all nations present themselves in existing conditions as an ideal toward ity of recognizing our paramounte, which all governments should direct their efforts. The humanitarian and magnanimous views of the Emperor my august master, have been won over to this view by the conception that this lofty aim is in conformity with mate views of all the powers; and the imperial government thinks the present moment would be very favorable to seeking the means.

"International discussion is the best means to insure such a conclusion; to bring an end to the progressive de-velopment of the powers. "This has grown especially with the civilized nations, and the preservation from her present position."

It would converge into one powerful focus the efforts of all states sincerely seeking efforts of all states sincerely seeking to make the universal peace triumph over the elements of trouble and discord; and it would at the same time cement their agreement by a corporate consecration of the principles of equity and right, whereon rest the security of states and the welfare of peoples."

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Shanghai says it is reported there that the Russians at New Chwang are trying to compel native owners of land to sell their holdings at absurdly low prices, and that in consequence of this the Chinese are on the verge of an anti-Russian outbreak. The local mandarins are, so to speak, between the cross fires of the Russians and natives, and are LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Standard, speaking editorially of the czar's proposal, says: "In England at least, respect and sympathy will be feit for the proposal. The nations are not likely to cast away the sword until they have better warrant than til they have better warrant than paper protocols and conventions.
