

LIBERALS CANNOT DEFEAT DECISION TO AID EMPIRE

Premier Announces Three Dreadnoughts to be Laid Down by Britain Will be Purchased by Canada and Placed at Empire's Disposal—Lively Debate Marked Parliament's Closing Day—Premier Condemns Laurier.

OPPOSITION LEADER MAKES SORRY SPECTACLE DEFENDING HIS POLICY.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, June 6.—Parliament was prorogued this afternoon with all the pomp and ceremony that the ages prescribed. At fifteen minutes to five it was all over, the second session of this parliament had come to an end. The day was hailed down from the mausoleum of the main tower, a battery of guns roared out a last salute. A bugle call re-echoed from somewhere down the line of march.

In the absence of H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, parliament was prorogued by the administrator, Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of Canada, who read the speech from the throne.

The last day saw a thin house and the arrival of the red coats on Parliament Hill saw a rather smaller crowd than usual.

Black Rod arrived at the door of the Commons at half past four, knocked loudly at the door, was admitted, and solemnly delivered his summons, bowing three times on the way in and three times more on the way out.

The guard, which stood on Parliament Hill, was a detachment of the Governor General's Foot Guards, and an escort of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards accompanied the administrator's carriage. These were the usual arrangements. But elsewhere there was a change. For the first time since parliaments have been prorogued in Ottawa the salute was not fired from Nepean Point. The guns are ancient twenty-four pounders and are much the worse for wear. It was found necessary to fire the salute from modern shielded quick-firers outside of the armatures on Carleton Square.

The ceremony in the Senate was brief. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick occupied the throne, the consuls in front of him, a knot of the officers of the headquarters staff to his right, and the members of the Commons before the bar. Premier Borden stood in front of the staff officers in his privy councillor's uniform. The speech from the throne briefly outlined the legislation passed during the session.

Determined to Aid Empire.

The determination of the government to continue its efforts to provide for Canadian co-operation in the common defence of the empire was declared by Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden in the course of a vigorous reply to an ill-considered question by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Commons. The leader of the opposition attempted a gibe at the administration, because it had not succeeded in convincing parliament that there was such an emergency as was described in the speech from the throne in November last. He demanded to know what were the intentions of the government under the circumstances. He learned, and in such emphatic terms, he seemed somewhat taken aback.

Laurier Starts Trouble.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier called to the attention of the Prime Minister the fact that the government had placed in the mouth of the Governor General a statement, at the beginning of the session, to the effect that there were circumstances which made it imperative that there should be help given to the naval forces of the Empire. To that end a measure had been presented and introduced, but the government did not succeed in convincing parliament that there was such an emergency as was described in the speech from the throne. He demanded to know what were the intentions of the government under the circumstances.

Premier Borden's Reply.

Right Hon. R. L. Borden said the question was one which certainly deserved serious consideration and a plain answer. He appeared, he said, to have failed to obtain the consent of parliament to the measure which was brought down by the government. We obtained the consent of this House of Commons, which represents the people; we did not obtain the consent of certain gentlemen in another chamber who were merely the echo of the expressed intention of the right hon. gentleman, because it was announced by the members from the other side of the House, before the bill left this House, that it would be defeated in the Senate, and, notwithstanding the protestations of the right hon. gentleman everyone, including his own followers, admits that. He has referred to the Senate as the upholder of democratic institutions and the liberties of the people. I want to say that, according to his own expressed interpretation of the British North American Act over ten years ago he deliberately violated the constitution of this country. That is a strong statement to make, but I challenge him to deny it, and I will prove it out of his own mouth.

Laurier Condemned.

The Premier then quoted the words referred to in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier said in 1896 "I charge here against him and his party (Sir Charles Tupper and his followers) that in so far as the Senate of Canada is concerned, they have all along for the last eighteen years disregarded the constitution of Canada in regard to the appointments which they have made to that branch of the legislature. It was one of the understood principles of Confederation that if the Senate was not elective, and if it was to be appointed by the Crown, then both political parties should be equally represented on the floor of the Senate. The hon. gentleman has forgotten that rule in practice although it may not have escaped his memory."

"That," said Mr. Borden, "was his

SPECIAL PRIZES TO BE AWARDED AT TRAINING CAMPS

Special to The Standard. Quebec, June 6.—The Minister of Militia and Defence has authorized the awarding of the following special prizes for good shooting at the annual training camps of the militia this year: To the best shot in each squadron of cavalry, company of infantry and field troops and company of engineers, three dollars. For 2nd prize in each of the same, two dollars. For these prizes officers are not eligible and the prizes will be given additional to any other already given.

BULGARIA IS WITHOUT A CABINET

Resignation of Ministry Confirmed—Are Bulgars Preparing for Another Balkan War?—Much Anxiety.

London, June 6.—The resignation of the Bulgarian cabinet is now officially acknowledged. According to the semi-official Sofia Miru usually well informed, the resignation took place as long ago as May 30, as soon as the news was received in Sofia of the signing in London of the draft of the peace treaty.

Confirmation of the resignation of the Bulgarian cabinet has caused anxiety at Belgrade and Athens where the feeling is growing that Bulgaria is preparing to undertake a new campaign against Greece and Serbia.

If the resignation of the ministry took place before the interview at Tsaribrod, on the Bulgarian frontier between the Bulgars and Servians, the present time from undertaking a proposed meeting between the four Balkan premiers said to have been fixed for June 21, probably will not take place.

The Greek delegates attended the meeting on Tuesday, but Mr. Curks remained stubborn. The refusal of Mr. Curks, however, reached an agreement on the following points: To grant full amnesty to all combatants in the late war for a period of three years; to allow Ottoman living in annexed territories to arrange to emigrate, if they desire to do so; to allow the Ottoman to resume postal and telegraphic communication between Turkey and Bulgaria.

and all advice given to the Senate following his counsel is intensely humiliating to the people of this Dominion. (Laurier from opposition members.) "I repeat, intensely humiliating," said the Premier. "It prevents Canada at the present time from undertaking a duty which is not only vital but destructive to the stability of the people of Canada for the time being. I have no official communication on the subject—that the British government has undertaken the duty which I think ought to have been discharged by Canada at this juncture under the provisions of the Naval Aid Act."

Hon. Mr. Pugsley—"A telegram from Windermere. Mr. Borden—"I don't know who the press correspondent is and cannot answer for the accuracy of the despatch but it seems to have been accepted generally and for the time being I assume that it is correct."

"Now the defeat of this measure by the Liberal majority in the Senate at the dictation of the right hon. gentleman, prevents us at present from arranging that the British government shall proceed with the construction of the 'Canada' Canada. Technically the parliament of Canada has refused this aid; in reality this aid has been refused by a partisan majority in the Senate at the dictation of the right hon. gentleman without any responsibility whatever to the people of Canada."

Right the Present Wrong. "But in view of the fact that these proposals were made by the government of Canada on information received from the British government, it is not possible in the future to make right that which has been made wrong at present by the right hon. gentleman and his irresponsible friends in the other chamber."

"The construction of these ships is apparently to be proceeded with, it is quite out of the question for us to make Continued on page two.

MAWROOSE A PAPER OUTRAGED

U. S. Senate Committee Would Get Back at Canada.

EXPERT CALLED TO GIVE HIS OPINION.

Mr. Norris, Head of Publishers' Association, Advises Against Such an Amendment—Canada Controls Pulp Supply.

Washington, June 6.—For several hours today, the Senate finance subcommittee, of which Senator Johnson of Maine is chairman, discussed the party's schedule of the Underwood tariff bill, and it is reported tonight that an amendment to put a retaliatory duty against Canada on printing paper valued at more than two and one-half cents a pound is being seriously considered.

Because the majority of the subcommittee is opposed to this view, they summoned from New York John Norris, chairman of the paper committee of American newspaper publishers' association who, today, reiterated opposition to the imposition of any countervailing duty.

No action was reached, but it was learned from an authoritative source that the matter hangs in the balance, with the leaning toward putting on the countervailing duty.

In the Underwood bill, retaliatory duties are imposed on higher grade papers, valued at more than two and one-half cents a pound. The import tax is fixed at 12 per cent. ad valorem, and the countervailing duty is directed against Canada because of restrictions on other subdivisions of pulp. The proposal of the American paper manufacturers is that the added tax be extended to all printing paper, wood pulp, or wood for use in the manufacture of wood pulp.

Print paper in the Underwood bill is on the free list, and the amendment being considered would provide that if any country, dependency, province or other subdivision of government shall impose any export duty, export license fee, or other charge of any kind whatsoever, whether in the form of additional charge or license fee or otherwise imposed on printing paper, wood pulp, or wood for use in the manufacture of wood pulp, there shall be imposed upon printing paper when imported either directly or indirectly from such country, dependency, province or other subdivision of government, a duty equal to the amount of such export duty or other export charge imposed by such country, etc.

Mr. Norris, in his argument before the committee, contended that every measure the United States had directed against the Canadian provinces had reacted against the American paper industry and that instead of providing work for the American paper industry, it would not adjust.

"Nothing can be done," he argued, "by compulsion or tariff threats to provide work for the American paper industry. That day has passed. Canada controls the pulp wood supply, and we must adjust to that fact with a reasonable basis."

FARMER KILLED WHILE PLOUGHING IN FIELD

Aylmer, Ont., June 6.—Joseph Darlington, a farmer residing three miles west of this town, was killed in his field today by a runaway team. He was helping his son William in the field ploughing, the father being just ahead of the son when the whiffletrees of the son's horses broke and the team bolted. They struck Mr. Darlington in the back and threw him over the plough, the force being so great that he was killed almost instantly.

SENTIMENT STRONG IN JAPAN ON LAND OWNERSHIP BILL

Tokyo, June 6.—Interest in the Japanese land ownership legislation continues to be the paramount topic of conversation among all classes. Several mass meetings of protest are being arranged. Tatsu Yamamoto, Minister of Agriculture and Commissioner, in a statement today declared that the Japanese government was desirous of participating in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, but owing to popular feeling on the California land question, it felt obliged to wait in order to determine public sentiment before completing its plans.

A NEW TRIBE IN ONTARIO POISON CASE

Wife of Man Supposed to Have Died from Overdose of Salts is Arrested on Charge of Murder.

Woodstock, Ont., June 6.—A sensational turn was given to the poisoning case of Drumbo today, when Detective Reburn, of Toronto, went to the Beemer home, near Drumbo, and arrested Mrs. Grace Beemer on a charge of poisoning her husband. She was brought to Woodstock and was formally arraigned on the charge, being remanded until the 14th.

Frederick E. Beemer, a well known Blenheim farmer, died at his home on March 25, following what was supposed to have been an overdose of salts. He had taken several doses for an illness from which he was suffering, and these were said at the inquest to have been administered by his wife.

Dr. Andrew MacKay, coroner, and the jury, brought in a verdict of death from strychnine poisoning. The stomach had been sent to the government analyst and the analysis showed several grains of strychnine in the organ. Sensational developments are expected when the preliminary hearing comes on.

FOUND NOT GUILTY OF STUFFING BALLOT BOX

Impersonation Had Been Practiced but Deputy Returning Officers Proved They Were Not Aware of It.

Ottawa, June 6.—Three deputy returning officers at polling subdivisions in the last municipal elections, Napoleon Boly, Joseph Remy and Eliezer Alaire, who were committed to jail in police court on charges of ballot box stuffing on election day, were tried at the county court yesterday and today, found not guilty and honorably acquitted. In each case it was found that impersonation had been practiced to a considerable extent but it was not proved that the deputies were aware of it.

PUGSLEY'S BLUFF WAS VERY QUICKLY CALLED

R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, Challenged Member for St. John City to Resign Seat With Him and Thus Test Opinion on Naval Bill—Pugsley's Courage Fleed.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, June 6.—A challenge was thrown out to Hon. Mr. Pugsley in the Commons today by the brilliant young member from Calgary, R. B. Bennett, who invited Mr. Pugsley to resign his seat in St. John county and Mr. Bennett would resign in Calgary, and thus test the opinion of the east and west on the Borden naval policy. It was a good challenge badly taken. It came in the midst of a rambling speech on the naval question by Hon. Mr. Pugsley, who, with a great air of bravado, was denouncing the Borden government to go to the country, it afforded a chance for Mr. Pugsley Sensational Developments in Case of Strangled Infant Found in Clump of Bushes at Fredericton Junction—Believe Child was Killed Here and Body Carried to Junction in Suit Case.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER TO BE BROUGHT HERE FOR TRIAL.

That the infant baby boy born to Miss Violet Reid, of Fredericton Junction, was murdered in St. John, then carried to Fredericton Junction in a dress suit case, and thrown into the bushes in the rear of a barn, is the belief of persons who have been connected with the case since the young woman was arrested on May 17th at the home of her father, a farmer, at Fredericton Junction. The crime in itself is a heartrending one from the start to finish. The unfortunate mother is but 23 years of age, and had for some time been keeping company with a Percy Scott, a railroad fireman. The young mother claims Scott is the father of the child.

Coming to St. John on March 21st last Miss Reid was admitted to the Salvation Army Evangeline Home on St. James' street where she gave birth to a healthy and well developed baby boy. It was on the 16th that the Reid girl left the home, and on the night of that date she arrived at her home in Fredericton Junction. On her trip to the Junction Miss Reid carried a heavy dress suit case but persons who saw her on the train did not see an infant with her.

BABY'S BODY FOUND IN BUSHES.

About a week after the young woman had arrived home a youth found the body of the baby lying in a clump of bushes in the rear of a barn. Clutched in one hand is said to have been a piece of twig and around the baby's neck was a cord tightly fastened, and which is believed to have been used to suffocate the infant.

PARLIAMENT'S CLOSE FREES R. C. MILLER

Canada's "State Prisoner" Technically Released Upon Prorogation—Future of His Case is as Yet Uncertain.

Ottawa, June 6.—Richard C. Miller, of Montreal, prisoner of the Canadian parliament since February 21, last, was "released" from the common jail of Carleton county at 4:45 p. m. today. Technically, he was free at 4 o'clock (m. l. d.) on the prorogation of the parliament, but on being notified decided to remain in the jail until the sun had gone down, so as to enable him to escape the battery of cameras which had been gathered in the vicinity.

At 5:45 p. m. Miller came out a side door of the jail. The light was on dim for photography, and the camera men were, perforce, unable to snap him. He would speak to no one and entering a carriage was driven rapidly away down a side street.

His counsel, R. Pringle, ex-M.P., states that Miller left on the evening train for his home in Montreal.

On leaving the jail Miller would discuss no phase of the situation arising out of his incarceration at the command of parliament for refusing to answer the question as to how he spent $4,000 of the money of the Diamond Lighting and Heating Company of Montreal in securing government contracts. He had always declared he would tell no one else what he would not divulge to parliament, and in this, so far he has been successful.

The "state" prisoner looked somewhat pale from his long confinement, but his peristaltics were unshaken, and his attitude to those who were at the jail, on release, was one of unshakable comradery.

No special order was made for Miller's release. Automatically, with the closing of the session of parliament, his friends came. Parliament has no further power in such cases. Chairman Middlebro, of the public accounts committee, was undecidably tonight as to what further action would be taken in the case at the next session of parliament. Further action may depend on the decision in the case before the courts at Montreal.

Chief Rideout in City.

Chief George Rideout arrived in the city yesterday morning and registered at the Victoria Hotel. Later he visited the Evangeline Home where he stayed for quite a long time while interviewing those in charge, and there is no doubt but that the official was working on the murder case. After leaving the home Chief Rideout went to the police court where he is said to have laid a charge of murder against Violet Reid, and this further said that he alleges that the infant was murdered in St. John.

any advance or to approach them under the conditions created because, technically, this measure has been defeated by the parliament of Canada although, in reality, only by a few partisans, and the decision of that body does not represent, in any sense whatever, the true desire and wishes of the Canadian people.

Canada Will Pay.

"So that, as these ships are being proceeded with by the British government and are to be constructed and to be of the same character, and strength, and value, as those which we proposed and are to be for the same purpose, namely that of the common defence of our empire, such as we had in mind, I say that it is the intention of this government if it remain in power—as undoubtedly it will—bring down at a later date a proposal for the acquisition or construction of three battleships as was proposed in the Naval Aid Bill of 1912 and we hope in that way before the completion of these ships to be in a position to say to the British government: We shall now do what the parliament majority in the Senate prevented us from doing. We shall take over and pay for these ships and place them at the disposal of His Majesty the King for the common defence of this Empire." (Loud and continued applause.)

Laurier's Rambling Reply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, said: "Though my right hon. friend has done his very best to be severe upon the Canadian Senate, he must admit that his efforts in that direction have fallen far short of the purpose. Severe as his language has been it does not appear at all to impress one. One would suppose that the Senate had committed some great error almost akin to crime, whereas the rights of the Canadian people." (Opposition cheers.)

"If I have to follow my right hon. friend in the line of argument which he has taken I will say that the Senate has done nothing to offend the rights of the people against a servile majority in the House of Commons. What has the Senate done? It has done nothing to offend the rights of the people against a servile majority in the House of Commons. It has done nothing to offend the rights of the people against a servile majority in the House of Commons. It has done nothing to offend the rights of the people against a servile majority in the House of Commons."

Denies Emergency.

"This contribution which was suggested by my right hon. friend under the pretence of an emergency which has never existed, a contribution which is altogether opposed to the historical traditions of the country, has been well justified if they had thrown it aside. But they would not take that course. Sir Wilfrid resolutely refused the idea that the resolution of the Senate was in any way dictated to the Senate, declaring that the Liberals in the House were not to follow the suggestion of any body. As to the suggestion that the Senate should be reformed, he said that I have stated, he said, that the constitution of the Senate is far from satisfactory, but the difficulty has always been to find a remedy. Perhaps my right hon. friend will be as good as his word and reform it, but we shall be willing to give him our help. But according to his view the Senate is to be constituted, not according to the manner in which they exercise their powers. If the Senators are good boys, if they consent to be simply the recording machinery to register their vote at the will of the majority of this side or that side of the House of Commons, then their constitution will be maintained. They are an old institution, but if they have the audacity to have a will of their own, to exercise their own judgments and to pit that judgment against the majority of this House, down with them. This is the basis upon which, apparently, Senate reform is to be operated, but let me repeat that the Senate has simply asked that this bill should be referred to the people."

Laurier Contradicted.

Sir Wilfrid went on to taunt the SCALES, DANDRUFF AND ITCHING

Head so Itchy Could Hardly Stand It. Dandruff Showed on Coat Collar. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in One Month.

223 Elizabeth St., Montreal, Que.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me permanently from dandruff and scalp itch which I was suffering with since over a year. I had an inflammation of the lungs and a very strong fever. When I recovered, my head was covered with scales and dandruff, and it was so itchy I could hardly stand it. The dandruff showed on my coat collar. I had used various medicines without relief. I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them, and I am very glad to say, because I am perfectly cured, I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap. It took one month to cure me. I take pleasure in recommending Cuticura Soap and Ointment to anyone who is suffering with scalp or skin disease." (Signed) Hector Ferras, Dec. 30, 1911.

ST. JOHN FASHION HALL

57 King Street

Premier with refusing to face the people, saying that the people were the masters. An hon. member—"But not the master of the Senate." The leader of the opposition also made reference to Mr. Borden's utterances in regard to consulting the people if parliament did not pass the bill and in regard to the prime minister's claim to hold a mandate from the electors of 1911. He had actually done that in the presence of the Postmaster General who was the absolute sanction of that proposition. On the question of reciprocity the two sections of the Conservative party had been united but not so in regard to the navy. Mr. Pelletier had said that Canada owed nothing to Great Britain. Hon. Mr. Pelletier made further allusions to the election battle in the Province of Quebec and the action of certain members of the Conservative party in circulating literature of LeDevoir, and remarked that this sort of thing would not have been done in the Province of Ontario. He said that the Canadian people should send three ships to Great Britain.

The leader of the opposition also dismissed the charges made against him of being a separatist and declared that the fathers of confederation had laid themselves open to the same charge. "Our policy," he said, "is a Canadian navy; our policy is to take our share of defence by a navy built in Canada, manned in Canada, and equipped in Canada. On that question we have taken our stand, upon it we stand today and I invite my right hon. friend to give us the opportunity of putting it before the people."

The Irresponsible Senate.

Hon. W. T. White, referring to the denial of Sir Wilfrid as to having dictated to the Senate his declaration that the Senate was a body not responsible to the people, or they would not have dared to reject this measure. He asserted that the constitution of the Senate was not in keeping with the principles of British representative institutions and the time would come when such action as this would mean that the Senate must be changed and the upper chamber brought into accord with the principles of constitutional government. The leader of the opposition said that members of the Senate were said to have pledged themselves to parliament and the country to bring such legislation down.

More Attention to Immigrants.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, acting Minister of the Interior, gave the more attention should be given to the immigrants when they reached the shores of the Dominion. The policy should be to guide the new comers to their destinations rather than to send them to the ports. He said that the new regulations regarding the new immigrants were being considered and that it was his duty to regard it as a duty. This Prime Minister said that he had been given the legislation of reasonable kind which would aid in the prosecution and punishment of persons concerned in the traffic. He pledged himself to parliament and the country to bring such legislation down.

Mr. Pugsley Sensitive.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley rose to a question of order and on being pressed to state the words he objected to, he referred to the phrase "to hide the shame." Hon. Mr. Hazen left there was nothing improper in the allusion and the Speaker ruled the point as not being well taken. The Minister of Finance then entered into a general defence of the government's financial policy, declaring that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had lost the chance of his life in not acquiescing thereto and also echoed the assertion of Mr. Borden that the subsequent position was a humiliating one for the country.

Laurier's Disloyalty Scored.

Hon. Mr. Pelletier took exception to the declaration made by the leader of the opposition that he had said that Canada owed nothing to Great Britain. "The right hon. gentleman and his back benches," said Mr. Pelletier, "might go everywhere and anywhere where his speeches were reported and they would never find that such an utterance had fallen from him." "On the contrary," he had said over and over again, that Canada owed a great deal to England and in this opinion he never varied. He wished to tell Sir Wilfrid Laurier that he had no right in the dying hours of the session to try to send over Canada the impression that one of his loyalists in this house had uttered such disloyal sentiments. While I am standing here to help the British naval power," said the Postmaster General, "my right hon. leader of the opposition tells this country that I am disloyal whilst he with all his loyalty stands up and votes against the very thing which would help the Empire."

Referring to aspersions made as to broken pledges, Hon. Mr. Pelletier said that such aspersions came with very bad grace from the gentleman who throughout his own political career had ignored the most solemn pledges and who belonged to the party which was known through the country as a party of broken pledges. He saw men in the house who, at a certain moment in the history of the country, had refused to send men to South Africa and then made a most complete somersault in 24 hours.

A Loyal Stand.

Another newspaper lie that he wished to nail down was that in regard to the plebiscite. "I have been true to my word," said the minister, "I never said that we would have a plebiscite or referendum on an emergency or temporary policy. Consequently I am not breaking my pledge or promise." "But I say, even if I had said before either in the Province of Quebec or anywhere else that we should not have a navy without a referendum, that after I had seen and heard what was to be seen and heard in the Mother Country last summer, it was my bounden duty as a Canadian to come back here and stand the stand I do irrespective of what I had said before." In regard to statements to his relations with the Hon. Mr. Pugsley, he said that he had never broken a pledge.

letter said that he was justified in taking the circumstances of the day and exercising his judgment and liberty of action in the light of events of the day and not in regard to what had happened ten or fifteen years ago. As to his connection with LeDevoir it appeared that he had been held up as a criminal because of that connection and Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a great man because he had joined them in killing the bill. Mr. Pelletier further taunted the Liberals with wanting the support of speaking of Mr. Pelletier as "skulking and running away."

Senate Kills Two Acts.

When the House resumed at three o'clock the supply bill was passed and the House had insisted upon its amendments to the highways bill and the government broader act, thus defeating both measures. Andrew Broder called the attention of the House to the need for protecting female immigrants coming into Canada. He said that large numbers of girl immigrants were unaccounted for at their destination. There should be a provision for their protection. He said that he had been given the legislation of reasonable kind which would aid in the prosecution and punishment of persons concerned in the traffic. He pledged himself to parliament and the country to bring such legislation down.

To Fight White Slave Trade.

Mr. Borden stated that the question was one deserving the most serious consideration. The government had taken it up with Col. Sherwood several times during the year, and in the vote passed yesterday there was an appropriation of money to be devoted to carrying on the work of protecting these immigrants. There had also been provision for the criminal code for the punishment of persons concerned in the practice complained of. "There is no keeping with the principles of British representative institutions and the time would come when such action as this would mean that the Senate must be changed and the upper chamber brought into accord with the principles of constitutional government. The leader of the opposition said that members of the Senate were said to have pledged themselves to parliament and the country to bring such legislation down."

Do Your Looks Quite Satisfy You?

If Your Color is Bad, if You Suffer from Pimples, Here is Good Advice. Fine Results in Two Weeks.

Miss Nettie E. Callaghan, a well-known young lady in Middleton writes as follows: "I was affected for two years with a rash, and ugly looking pimples that spread over my face. My color was poor, and my blood evidently completely out of order. Certainly it was a most despairing sort of case, because various treatments did but little to help me. A friend of mine in Toronto, Ont., advised me to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills so I sent at once for five boxes. In two weeks I felt like new—looks improved, spirits rose, and I felt I was getting well. I have used this remedy for a long time, and now wouldn't be without it." "You are in ailing health, have blood disorders, stomach trouble, or headaches, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will help you quickly. All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c per box, five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by the Cataracton Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

PROFITABLE MEN TO PURSUE THE TECHNICAL EDUCATION REPORT

Chief Superintendent of Education, W. Frank Hatheway and W. S. Fisher Unite in Pronouncing Ideas Submitted to Government of Great Importance to Development of Canada.

"The recommendations of the Royal Commission on Technical Education, and the Federal Government's bill to provide assistance to agricultural education, are from the educational point of view, two of the most important matters before the government at the present time," said W. S. Fisher, Superintendent of Education for the province, yesterday.

"The importance of agricultural and technical education is now generally recognized, and the recommendations if carried out should prove of great benefit to the workers, manufacturers and farmers. It would mean about $100,000 a year for ten years for New Brunswick."

A Most Important Step. W. S. Fisher, who, for several years has been deeply interested in pre-vocational and technical training schools, expressed the opinion that it was the most important step taken along the educational line and the benefits that would accrue to Canada, if the plan were carried through, would be worth untold sums to both employers and employees.

"Professor Robertson, the chairman of the commission, and those identified with him, have gone into the matter in a most comprehensive manner," said Mr. Fisher, "and have spent several years in compiling statistics before they drew up the report presented to the government. I believe that pre-vocational education, such as it does, is the fundamental principle of any trade or industry that the young men decide to take up, will result in every man becoming an expert in his own line, a state of affairs which will undoubtedly result in a higher grade of work being turned out and an intelligent interest taken by the workmen."

"Such a system which will teach young men to take a creative and intelligent interest in their work is absolutely necessary for the further development of Canada. "In the United States the need of such institutions was recognized some time ago and while the U. S. government did not take the matter up, many of the larger firms built and operated their own schools. Many societies have been formed in the United States with pre-vocational education as their chief object, chief among them being the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education. This society has done much excellent work and is responsible for many of the schools now running."

Mr. Fisher was optimistic of the future of the bill, and felt that the young men and educational authorities would enter heartily into the spirit of the venture.

SUMMER SKIN TROUBLES

Sunburn, blistering, and irritation are the commonest forms of summer skin troubles, and Zam-Buk ends these very quickly. It works in two ways. As soon as applied, its anti-septic powers get to work and kill all the poison in a wound, a sting or a sore. This generally ends the smarting and the pain. Then Zam-Buk begins the healing process, and fresh healthy tissue is built up. For sore, blistered feet, sore hands, heat rashes, baby's heat spots, sore places due to perspiration, etc., you can't get Zam-Buk. It also cures cuts, ulcers, abscesses, piles, and all inflamed and diseased conditions of skin and sub-skin.

THE SHIPS WILL BE BUILT.

Parliament ends with the Prime Minister's ringing declaration that Canada will not allow the British taxpayer to foot the bill for the three necessary Dreadnoughts which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Senators have tried to withhold from the defence of the British Empire. That declaration will cause great satisfaction throughout Canada.
The situation is that the Naval Aid Bill is dead, and that Canada is deprived of immediate resources where-with to order the ships. They are needed, the Government and the people are anxious to set the hammers beating on them; but the money and the authority have been withheld by the action of the Senate at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's order. They are needed; by 1916 the world-defence of the British Empire will be imperilled if they are not forthcoming; and so the Admiralty will order them at once. If ordered within the next few weeks, they should be ready, possibly in the second half of 1915, more likely in the first half of 1916. Now the Borden Government announces that it will next session renew its demand for authority to obtain these ships, and getting it will take them over from the Admiralty. The situation is humiliating enough, but it is no longer dangerous. The ships will be built in spite of the resistance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal party in the Commons and Senate. The disingenuous plea that there is no emergency is smashed. The ships are needed; they must be built, and they will be built. Mr. Churchill said that in March last, and he, the Asquith Government, and the British Parliament repeat it today. Liberals may quibble as long, and as much as they like—the navy will be dangerously weak without the ships, and the ships will be provided. It only wanted Sir Wilfrid Laurier's words yesterday to show how hollow the Liberal contentions are. It will not be an emergency, there will be no need, he says, until war is actually declared, until the actual shooting is going on; and then Canada is to send, not ships, not trained seamen, but a crowd of unskilled, untrained volunteers. Here are his words: "If there had been an emergency, from the shop, the farm, the lumber camp, the mining pit, our young men would have come forward by the thousands, and they would have asked to be sent forward to take their place in the firing line."
The passage shows the Liberal Leader's ideas on naval defence and on Canada's duty to the Empire. In the period of preparation she is to do nothing. When the war actually begins, she is to send untrained volunteers to man ships which require men of five or six years training. The young men from the shop, the farm, the lumber camp and the mining pit are sturdy and courageous, but they are not trained to manage guns and torpedoes, and they are not seamen. If any government were mad enough to rush them to the firing line as Sir Wilfrid Laurier suggests, they would be sea-sick.
The man whose ideas of naval defence are so shallow has done his best to prevent real aid being given to the Empire. He presented his plan—a preposterous one—and when he could not procure its adoption, undertook to say that no plan must be adopted. It was a dastardly playing with the safety of the Empire to gain a party advantage and to vent party spite. His efforts have been foiled. Mr. Borden once more has shown coolness and dexterity in leadership. He has outflanked the Liberals, and has caused the will of the people to prevail. The ships will be built; the people of Canada will provide them; and the Liberal attempt to thwart the will of the House of Commons comes to naught.

THE HIGHWAYS BILL.

The Highways Bill was again discussed in the House of Commons on Thursday and was sent back to the Senate with their amendments rejected. It is to be regretted that the Senate has prevented the country from having the benefit of good roads because some members of that body thought fit to obey the commands of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his discredited minority in the House of Commons. The country will suffer all the more, as one of the demands and needs of the Dominion is a good roads system. The Opposition based their support of the Senate amendments upon the contention that the provinces should have the expenditure and control of the grant, rather than the Minister of Railways and Canada. It was a narrow exhibition of partisanship which will put the Liberal party back many years into the wilderness of opposition. They have not proven themselves worthy of the great trust reposed in them as representatives of the interests of the Dominion.
WILLIAM GORDON (Liberal), stated in the House that he had absolute confidence in the integrity and honesty of the present Minister of Railways and Canals in the administration of public funds, and straightaway voted against allowing him to administer the good roads grant. The Liberal policy is founded on mistrust and suspicion. They have no great conception of what might be good for the people. Their only desire right to the end of the session is a mad scrambling for power and prestige.

It is only fair to ask if the Liberal contentions are sound. But an examination of the facts shows that the provincial governments in certain cases have not shown themselves capable of taking proper care of the roads within their jurisdiction and it is time that the federal government stepped in and took the matter under its control.
It is plain that the opposition is playing a game political in its significance. They wish that the administration of the good roads grant be left in the hands of the provinces so that the Liberal provincial governments in Quebec, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia get the credit of giving the money and so remain in power and attack the federal government which has been responsible for the grant. In fact, it has already been pointed out by several members from Quebec that the provincial Minister of Agriculture in Quebec stated in public meetings that he had been the donor of certain agricultural grants made by the federal Minister of Agriculture. It is not to be wondered at that the government wishes to protect the interests of the people by keeping the administration of the good roads grant in the hands of the federal minister. It is a proper thing to do. The present issue is not a constitutional one but merely, as was pointed out by Mr. Andrew Broder, a representative of the farmers, that something should be done for the people.
Canada wants at the present time, as much as anything else, an effective road system. What more advertising advertisement could there be than that of possessing good roads? It is a well known fact that the roads of Canada are a reproach among travellers from the United States. There are few good roads for travellers in Canada. Motorists cannot come into this country with any assurance of safety. And while their considerations should not be urged beside those of the farmers, yet if the question of good roads is taken up at all it is bound to have a correspondingly good result in the improvement of the roads for the farmers.
Canada is devoting much of her resources to the question of railroads. It is time that the great natural highway also be looked after and the fact that the Senate has, by pernicious amendments, attempted to kill a bill for the improvement of those highways will not be overlooked by the farmers of Canada, when they come to cast their votes in an election. They will be able to distinguish who are the real friends of the people. Those friends are not the Liberal party led by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir George Ross.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

The rapid advancement that is being made in aerial navigation is nowhere more strikingly emphasized than by the announcement that Baedeker has added to his already long and excellent list of guide books a new series of volumes giving a bird's eye view of German cities as seen from the aeroplane.
Frankfurt, Berlin, Leipzig, Baden, Hamburg, and Dusseldorf are all to be described in this series as their simultaneous lights and shadows will appear to the traveller by aeroplane or balloon. The birdman has already claimed a place all his own in war, having demonstrated his value to military and naval strategists during the recent clash of arms in Europe and Africa. In the United States he is to be added to the peaceful brigade of forest-fire-fighters, it having been estimated that he will do the work of one hundred forest rangers and in the opinion of experts furnish the only practical solution of the great problem of protecting the vast forests of that country. His services are to be at the disposal of those persons who may hope to derive a new pleasure from skinning over the cities of the Fatherland. To these Herr Baedeker will now act as conductor in his usual instructive and interesting manner.
New Company Formed.
Randolph Crocker, Walter H. Crocker, David E. B. Crocker, John E. B. Crocker, Northumberland county, and Dr. J. Burton Crocker, of this city, are applying for incorporation under the name of the Milleron Silver Block Company, Ltd. The capital stock of the company is $25,000 and the head office will be at Milleron.

DIARY OF EVENTS

HISTORIC DAYS IN CANADA

The reciprocity treaty between Great Britain and the United States, negotiated by Lord Elgin, regulating the relation between Canada and the States in regard to trade, fisheries, etc., was concluded fifty years ago today. It was notable as being the first of such treaties, involving a modification of tariff rates, into which the United States has entered. This reciprocal trade in certain commodities, principally raw material for handicrafts and products, continued until 1866, when the treaty was terminated by the United States. Hopkins, in his History of Canada, points to this treaty as "the one diplomatic development in the history of British America wherein Canadian interests were fully and adequately guarded." The abrogation of the treaty, which was largely due to anti-British feeling in the United States, was afterwards a source of regret in that country, and too late Uncle Sam realized that he had "cut off his nose to spite his face."
Goldwin Smith, famous educator, essayist, editor and historian, died in Toronto three years ago today. For nearly forty years Prof. Smith was one of the most brilliant figures in Canadian literature. During that period he edited the Canadian Monthly, The Week and The Bystander, contributed to the great reviews of England and America, and wrote many volumes dealing with history, biography, philosophy, religion and ethics.
Forty-seven years ago today about 1800 Penans crossed the boundary into the Eastern townships of Quebec, but on learning of the concentration of a force of a thousand regulars and militia at Huntingdon, backed by a reserve of 5000 at Montreal, the leaders decided not to give battle, and the invaders dispersed.

FIRST THINGS

Y. M. C. A.

The first international conference of the Young Men's Christian Association convened in Paris fifty nine years ago today, with delegates present from England, Canada, the United States and several countries of continental Europe. The Young Men's Christian Association originated in an invitation extended by George Williams, a London history merchant, to his young men employees, to meet in an upper room of his store for a period of Bible study and prayer. This was in 1844, and ten years before the movement so started blossomed into a world congress. The meetings were so successful that other young men were invited to join. Similar associations were formed in other districts. In 1853 the movement reached America, that year witnessing the formation of Y. M. C. A. branches in Montreal and Boston. This was the first of the associations in the world, of which 2192 are in North America. They have a total membership of 475,000, own 750 buildings, valued at $60,454,236. They employ 3633 secretaries and other paid officials. World headquarters are maintained in Geneva, Switzerland.

THE PASSING DAY

EARTHQUAKE DAY.

If any one day of the year is entitled to be called "Earthquake Day," that tragic destruction belongs to today for many of the worst seismic disturbances in history have occurred on the result of the earthquake which occurred in Canada—greatly exaggerated though it was in some of the press dispatches—is to be accepted as a warning of severe shocks to come, has created a lively interest in the subject of quakes. The North American continent has long been free from serious shake-ups of this character—for, of course, it is now generally understood that the San Francisco disaster of 1906 was simply and solely a local phenomenon.
The deadly earthquake of the seventh of June, 1872, which inundated the city of Callao, Peru, was inundated by a tidal wave following a series of quakes, and thousands perished. A few years later, on June 7, 1892, occurred the terrible Jamaica earthquake, by which the city of Port Royal was utterly wiped out and all its houses and its 3,000 people were buried in water forty fathoms deep. On June 7, 1783, the town of Santiago, Guatemala, with its inhabitants, was swallowed up. Forty thousand people lost their lives in the seismic disaster at Kaschan, in northern Persia, on June 7, 1776. The same date in 1819 a series of earthquakes commenced in Iceland, continuing two weeks, and 2,000 were killed. "Thousands perished in Asia Minor on June 7 and succeeding days in the year 1859, and in 1867 Java suffered from a series of shocks that began on June 7 and did not cease until the eleventh. In Sicily there were several tremors on June 7 and for ten days following in the year 1879.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

EX-EMPEROR OF MEXICO.

Carlotta, ex-Empress of Mexico and a sister of the late King Leopold of Belgium, was born seventy-three years ago today. Although it was forty-six years ago that she was crowned, she has since then lived a life of quietude. She has been a brave and a frugal woman, and her name is ever on her lips. When the empire was at the height of its glory, the ambitious Carlotta was a butterfly, flitting from one pleasure to another, from one triumph of pomp and display to another. Then came the revolution, and Carlotta fled to Europe, vainly seeking aid from royal relatives to bolster up her tottering throne. When the news came that Maximilian was being executed, she was so shocked and awoken with the glare of insanity in her eyes. A mad woman she has remained through all the years, a pitiful and tragic victim of ambition.
Puzzled.
Newspaper—Did you spend so much money as this before I married you?
Mrs. News—Why, yes.
Newspaper—Then I don't understand why your father went on so when I took you away from him.

OPHELIA'S SLATE

IN LIGHTER VEIN

THE GADDER.

(By L. T., in Chicago Tribune).
Among the folks who write me,
From 'Frisco to Cape Ann,
Is one from whom I often hear,
And whom, I hope, I sometimes cheer,
The pleasant Travelling Man.

His lot is far from being
An iridescent dream;
And yet, I nearly always find,
He holds a happy state of mind,
With cheerfulness his theme.

Despite the dreary cooking
With which he must contend,
Despite the beds as hard as bricks,
And absence from his wife and chicks,
Sometimes for weeks on end—
Though night is void of music,
And care infest the day—
He greets existence with a smile,
And scatters cheer with every mile
That marks his treadmill way.

And if he sometimes writes me,
A note to give me pain,
I guess the reason for his knock:
He had to rise at three o'clock
To catch some dismal train.

He roves the country over—
Beersheba unto Dan,
May heaven's blessing light on him
And keep him sound in mind and limb:
The pleasant Travelling Man!

Grin and Bear-it.

By Blanche Tremor Heath.
My uncle Joe will often say
A thing that first sets you laughing,
But when you come to go away
And think it out, most any day
You'll find he wasn't chaffing.

I asked him what he used to do
When everything went burry-scurry,
And how he kept from getting blue,
Because the more he tried to do
The bigger seemed to grow the worry.

"There's just one way," he answered me,
"When Worry shows its face,
Go to the house of Grit," says he,
"And ring the bell, and ask to see
Two little men named Grin and Bear-it."

These plucky chaps will sprit along
With you through any wind and weather,
They'll laugh and joke and sing a song,
And nothing can do really wrong
If you and they just keep together."

He makes me laugh, my uncle Joe!
But all the same, when lessons bother and things get wear-ah, I'll go
Where Grin and Bear-It live, you know.
And we'll sprit on with one another.

FAITH IS CALF LIFE

Practical and Theoretical Not Necessarily to Be Pursued Apart.

The Worship of the Golden Calf Still Exists — The Importance of Provincial Responsibility Ignored.

Brooklyn, June 2.—Last night the Rev. Dr. Robert MacDonald, pastor of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, preached a notable sermon on "The Worship of the Golden Calf." The text was from Exodus xxxi:24: "I cast it into the fire and there came out this calf." Dr. MacDonald said:

"The instinct of worship is constitutional in man. The motives, through which it has expressed itself are, either fear of some external supernatural, hostile power or else some unattainable need which some kindly supernatural power can satisfy. Both instincts characterize Israel. Fear, then, Moses is sent up into the mount to talk with God. The people exclaiming, 'Let not Jehovah speak to us lest we die.' Also need, Moses had remained away longer than they expected. For Moses to be absent meant for God to be absent, so they thought. True, Aaron was left to counsel and comfort them. And he stood very near both to Moses and to Jehovah. But they did not trust him as an adequate intermediary between themselves and God. Lacking the strong personality of Moses he found it impossible to manifest a dignified, amiable, patient and realistic to satisfy their demand. They must have a god more tangible and visible than Aaron can personify. He must therefore create a god, who taking the place of their own deity, Jehovah, and assuming the functions of their various leaders, Moses, should go before them through the wilderness. Aaron yields to their demand. Calling for the golden calf, he melted them in the fire and molds the molten metal into a calf, ascribing to it the attributes of deity by building an altar unto it.

This was no original idea of Aaron's. The calf possessed historical significance. It was one of Egypt's patron gods. It represented Oairis, the God of God, as witnessed in the sun, and its manifestation in the fertility of nature. You realize how universal was this calf worship among the Egyptians when you visit the tombs of the Sacred Bulls in Sakkara, Egypt, and behold twenty-four huge sarcophagi, each hewn out of a solid block of granite weighing 200 tons, each sarcophagus being 15 feet long, 7 feet wide and 11 feet high, and deposited in tombs hundreds of feet under the surface. The wealth of a king was lavished upon these tombs, but what expense too great for the entombment of a god. And I recall when in Cairo a few years ago what excitement there was among the Egyptians over the discovery of a sacred cow with the crown of upper Egypt between her horns and the figure of Queen Hathor kneeling between her legs drawing heavenly wisdom from the cow's teats. The Israelites never altogether threw off this idolatry, their Egyptian bondage. Jeroboam, you remember, long after the time of David and Solomon, set up golden calves at Bethel and Dan as substitute worship for Jehovah and the temple at Jerusalem. And even the eighth century prophet Hosea fell of denunciation for the calf-worship of Israel. In demanding of Aaron a golden calf they were asking for what they had seen the most influential and religious of the Egyptians worship. In fact, they themselves had no doubt worshipped the Egyptian sacred animals, and now felt very much astray and ill at ease in being forced to leave behind them all visible and tangible representations of deity. As we knew it was Egyptian idolatry, but the consecration of that calf by ecclesiastical formula lifted the transaction, so Aaron thought, from all appearance of wrongdoing, and made it valid. Was he not high priest? The very sanction of Jehovah in the realm of right and wrong? Long before it was enunciated to Peter that whatever he should bind on earth should be bound in heaven, and what soever he should loose on earth should be loosed in heaven, the high priest of tabernacle and temple claimed and practiced that privilege. The world has not suffered more under the erroneous principle that might makes right than it has under the fallacy that priest and Church have power to define right and wrong. The moral principle is rooted nowhere save in the nature of things. Even the holy of holies cannot change the evil into the good, a sinful into a righteous act. The aetetic soul is always a weak soul. Spiritual communion does not necessarily enhance moral excellence. Mysticism is vastly more than the forced blossom upon the withered plant of asceticism. It is rather the sun-kissed flower, the heaven-scented fragrance of the plant named righteousness. That is the truth, and with the presence of God, Aaron embodied, to all appearance, the mystical element in religion, but it was a mysticism of star mist and moonshine. It was not rooted in righteousness. He was more contemplative than efficient. Had he confined his mysticism to the inside of the tabernacle his would have been an exemplary life, but outside, surrounded by a multitude of barbarous, idolatrous peasants, he was as clay in the potter's hands. By Moses' side, hold of Moses' nature has remained practically stationary throughout the whole length of human history. It is from Socrates, Plato, Confucius and Buddha, to show indications of intellectual and moral character quite equal to our own, while our environment and manifestations as shown by their wars and love of gambling were no worse than corresponding immorality of our day. In successive chapters he treats of unsanitary dwellings, and life-destroying trades, of adulteration in food, of whored and grand bribery, gambling, of deaths from alcoholism, drugs, suicide and infant mortality, and concludes his awful arraignment in these deliberate, carefully-chosen words: "Taking account of these various groups of undoubted facts many of which are so gross that they cannot be overated, it is not too much to say that our whole system of society is rotten from top to bottom, and the social environment as a whole in relation to our possibilities is the worst that the world has ever seen."

Is all this a reflection upon Christianity? It is a sad reflection upon Christianity in all economic and social relations. Like Aaron we have thought that religion was one thing and business another, and that they could not be joined together except to the detriment of both. Like the high priest of old, we have tried to keep the two apart, and the result has been a failure. We have tried to keep the two apart, and the result has been a failure. We have tried to keep the two apart, and the result has been a failure.

And what shall we say of the religionist whose tabernacle is his church and whose holies is his denomination, with his faith imposed in nothing more divine and vital than a manufactured creed. This must we say, that however strong he is while entrenched within the charmed circle of sacred rites, he becomes weak and feeble as Aaron, when forced out into the wilderness, where material force and religious skepticism holds sway.

For the seduction and strife of the wilderness you need faith as vital as was the faith of Moses, a faith that remained in the struggles and conquests of experience rather than in the sacraments and privileges of the altar, a faith that is reinforced by the presence of Jehovah notwithstanding the clamor of religious compromise on the one side and the thundering of Sinai on the other. True, Aaron had much in him to commend. He was rich in the passive virtues, meek, amiable, patient and realistic to satisfy their demand. They must have a god more tangible and visible than Aaron can personify. He must therefore create a god, who taking the place of their own deity, Jehovah, and assuming the functions of their various leaders, Moses, should go before them through the wilderness. Aaron yields to their demand. Calling for the golden calf, he melted them in the fire and molds the molten metal into a calf, ascribing to it the attributes of deity by building an altar unto it.

The S. S. Lesson by Evangeline.
June 8th. Gen. 45:7-15.
Golden Text.—Behold how pleasant it is brethren to dwell together in unity.

Judah's torrent of passionate intercession for Benjamin went straight to the heart of Joseph. We read in the opening verses of the 45th chapter: "Joseph could not restrain himself before all them that stood by him and he cried, 'Cause every man to go out from me—and the Egyptians heard and the house of Pharaoh heard.' And he said, 'I AM JOSEPH. Doth my father yet live?'"

At the tent he was able to throw out and change, and he came safely through, with no greater harm than the discomfort of his frozen garments. Such accidents are likely to teach caution. Mr. Fry is very fond of the Eskimos, and they are greatly attached to him, and the example of his devoted life will have a great influence upon them, and it is confidently hoped that their united influence may be the means of bringing civilization to the Eskimos of Victoria Land. These are estimated by Stefansson to be about 2,000, scattered over a wide area, but all accessible from Coronation Gulf. When Mr. Fry returns in 1914, we shall hope to have much more intimate information regarding them.

Suddenly and most unexpectedly will the revelation take place when He to whom all power is committed shall flash upon them "as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shall smite even unto west." He shall not wait for them to fall at His feet and sue for mercy, He will extend to them the pierced hands, and say "Come near to me I pray you." How often would I have gathered you as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings but ye would not.

It was a dastardly crime to have betrayed a brother who had come to them loaded with blessings—but God overruled it for good in that it proved the guilt of the crime. Reverse came to his brothers and forgiveness of the wrongs done him—Joseph suffered but his brothers suffered more. They were conscience smitten whenever they got into trouble. They always thought it a divinely sent punishment for their treatment of their brother. They were "troubled" when they discovered that "the Saviour of the World," "the Revealer of the Secret of Life," was the one whom they despised and rejected, and when the Jews will "look upon Him Whom they have pierced" they shall mourn for Him as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness

M'CURDY & CO'S FINANCIAL LETTER

(F. B. M'CURDY & CO.) Montreal, June 6.—The past week has been the worst experienced in the stock market in many years. A break took place on the first day of the week which it was thought at the time had carried stocks to rock bottom. This, unfortunately, was not the case, more especially in Montreal Power, which fell off on Wednesday to below 204, as against 204 on Monday. In the case of C. P. R. the low price on Monday was 214, this being the low point of the week. Several local stocks struck their worst on Wednesday. R. & O., after being down to 101 on Monday, recovered slightly on Wednesday, the low point being 102. Brazilian on Wednesday went slightly below 88, this being a little below Monday's price. Textile struck its low point of 77 1/4 on Wednesday and Canadian Cotton preferred fell a little below 74.

Some good news came out on Wednesday on Montreal Power, the directors having met and announced a new stock issue of $1,700,000 to shareholders at par and a new issue of $200,000 to employees at par. The ratio in the case of shareholders was one in ten and the rights were figured at around $10 a share. As a consequence of this act and also, no doubt, because of the market being stimulated in other directions the price of Power immediately jumped to 208 and afterwards 214, around which figure it still holds.

Steel Corporation was in a very bad way for a while, being down to 43 1/4. Later the price strengthened up a point and on Friday active buying in the forenoon put the market to 45 1/2. The annual statement of the Company was made known on Friday and the result was that after the sinking and depreciation of interest on the bonds had been met the balance applicable to Preferred and Common dividends amounted to $2,372,867, as against $2,131,715 a year ago.

The stimulating effect of the announcement of a further reorganization of the R. & O. Navigation Company was observed in the instance of the stock going from 101 on Monday to 108 1/2 on Friday. It was announced that a new organization will take over the R. & O. the Canadian Interlake, the Chicago & St. Lawrence and some smaller lines on the Quebec routes and in addition the Quebec Steamship Company, which operates between Montreal and Pictou, and another line from New York to the West Indies and Bermuda. This gives the company connections with all British possessions on this side of the Atlantic. It is generally believed among those in a position to know that the basis of the exchange will be one share of seven per cent cumulative preferred stock and forty per cent of common stock in the new company for every share of R. & O. exchange.

Quebec Railway experienced a weak turn also selling down to 14 and afterwards at 13 1/2, the weakness being due, it was thought, to the difficulty in the matter of payment of interest on bonds of the Company. A new issue for Laurentide is also being spoken of but it is thought this will not actually take place until later in the season, owing to the money string over the technical position of the summer months.

NEWS SUMMARY AFFECTING MARKET

(F. B. M'CURDY & CO.) The London market is highly sensitive but talk of a panic is unjustified. The belief prevails that strong interests have taken over the weak positions and a hopeful feeling begins to assert itself. The announcement of a 4 1/2 per cent dividend by the Standard Oil Company of New York is expected today. Information channels favor a conservative position. Irregular fluctuations with some tendencies toward recovery in standard issues may be seen today. U. P., Sp. R., and Acp. are well taken on setbacks around present levels. U. S. Steel is offered on rallies. Moderate investment purchases are seen in GN, Q. NP, and St. These issues are directly concerned with the Minnesota rate case decision. Pa and Con are well bought. BO and CO are sold on recoveries. American Tobacco is sold on talk of government action.

DOW JONES & CO.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER FROM RANDOLPH

(F. B. M'CURDY & CO.) New York, June 6.—As a whole the afternoon's market has had the best recovery in a week. Led by C. P. R. all the active speculative stocks recovered considerably, although there were many stocks that lagged behind the general market, stocks in which there is little or no short interest. There was no special reason for the recovery, other than the market at the low level developed a power to absorb liquidation and short sales, and when liquidation ceased, prices rallied quickly on shorts covering and bullish traders buying for a turn. The possibility of a favorable decision being handed down by the court in the Minnesota rate case next Monday may have been a factor in inducing this rally. There was also a considerable recovery in the bond market. Reading rose over two points, U. P. 2 points, the Tobacco stocks advanced about 4 points and C. P. R. some 5 points above last night's finals. The close was at about the best levels of the day.

E. C. RANDOLPH.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

(J. C. MACKINTOSH & CO.) New York, June 6.—The early stock market today reflected a vague uneasiness based upon the fear that something was overhanging the situation that had not yet been disclosed.

Pressure, however, came largely from bear interests. Attempts to precipitate another wave of liquidation failed of success. After showing a considerable degree of weakness early, the general list developed a rallying tendency and while the subsequent recovery was not particularly impressive it nevertheless revealed a stronger position than was generally believed to exist.

The introduction of a bill in the United States Senate embodying the taxation ideas of the attorney general on the tobacco industry was a matter of much adverse comment and was one of the sources of uneasiness referred to. On the other hand foreign advisers were cheerful and London bought as many stocks here as could be sold.

The Canadian issues reflected this improvement by a substantial recovery. Bearish sentiment persists despite the stronger showing today, the feeling being that there are further weak spots in the situation which must be eliminated before any recovery of consequence can occur.

REAL WORK ON BRIDGE ON MONDAY

Contractor McVey will then have Big Gang of Men Preparing for Removal of Rock. Excavating for the approaches of the government passenger bridge across the Reversing Falls will commence on Monday when contractor McVey will put a gang of men to work shovelling the earth off the rock so that operations can be carried on in earnest. When the earth is removed blasting will materially assist the advancement of the work. At present the workmen are busy erecting sheds to protect the concrete and to keep the weather and when this is finished the real work will begin. S. R. Sprenger, the government engineer in charge, stated last evening that although the bridge when finished will be of spanned construction, it will be erected along cantilever lines, and for this reason the approaches will be of unusual strength, so that the strain of the overhang when the steel is being put in will be taken up. It is expected that the excavating and masonry work will be completed by fall and that the Dominion Bridge Co. will erect the steel arch during the winter.

AGREAT BELIEVER IN FRUIT-A-TIVES

Well Known Ontario Merchant Has Faith Because "Fruit-A-Tives" Cured Him.

Mr. James Dobson. Bronte, Ont., March 1, 1912. "Fruit-A-tives has made a complete cure in my case of Rheumatism, that had attacked five years standing before I commenced the treatment. The trouble was principally in my right hip and shoulder, the pain from it was almost unendurable. Not being able to sleep on that side, if I chanced to turn on my right side while asleep, the pain would immediately awaken me. This kept up until I started taking 'Fruit-A-tives'. I started by taking one or two tablets with a large glass of water, in the morning before breakfast, and experienced pronounced relief very shortly. After a continued treatment for about six months, I was cured and am now in first class health. This I attribute to my persistent use of 'Fruit-A-tives' and I heartily recommend your remedy to any Rheumatic sufferers."

AFTER EFFECT OF FEVERS

Following wasting diseases such as typhoid, many people find it difficult to regain their former strength. They become breathless and tired at the least exertion; their appetite is feeble and they often feel as though they were starting them in the face, a trouble lies with the blood which does not return to its normal condition and is lacking in the red corpuscles without which good health is impossible. It is at a time like this that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills prove of great tonic value. Every dose helps to make new, rich, red blood which means health and vitality. Mrs. Theodore Foley, Athens, Ont., says following an attack of typhoid fever she was left in a very weak and distressed condition. The smallest exertion left me worn and tired out, I was hardly able to get around, and I naturally felt depressed. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they proved of the greatest benefit to me. I am now strong and healthy, and can do all my own work, but saying that there is much to be said for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

She Suffered for Four Years, but Doctor Could Not Help Her, But Dodd's Kidney Pills Gave Her a New Lease of Life.

Porton, Carleton Co., N. B., June 6. (Special)—"I find Dodd's Kidney Pills the best kidney medicine I have ever used. They have been of untold benefit to me."

The speaker is Mrs. John S. Dickinson, of this place. She is enthusiastic in her praises of the great Canadian kidney remedy, and not without reason.

"I suffered from kidney trouble that started in a cold," she continues, "and for four years I was never free of it. I was treated by a doctor, but he did not seem to be able to do me much good."

"I had rheumatism and neuralgia, and my joints were stiff; my muscles cramped, and I was always tired and nervous. I perspired freely with the slightest exertion. I was depressed and low spirited, my limbs swelled, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins."

"Nine boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of me. My kidneys were cured. I am now strong and healthy, and can do all my own work, but saying that there is much to be said for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

GREEKS MAKE GREAT FINISH; DEFEAT ST. CROIX IN LAST INNING AND BANGOR HERE TODAY

About 500 fans saw the most exciting finish of a baseball game on the Marathon grounds yesterday afternoon...

The game slipping out of his grasp and fearing that Conly would not be strong enough to win his game, although that pitcher had twirled a good steady game, the St. Croix manager benched Conly and placed Lee, their star pitcher in the box...

After taking four games straight from the Bangor aggregate and triumphing the trappy St. Croix team by a slashing rally in the ninth inning, the Marathons are feeling in fine fettle over their well-earned capture of the league leadership...

When the game commenced Joe Tarbell went into the box and he had a bad first inning. Lynch was the first Maine batter and he knocked a long, easy fly to Riley in centre field, and Riley dropped the ball just as easy as it came to him...

Many players and fans present expressed themselves that Manager Doyle made a bad move in benching Conly and putting Lee in when he did as Conly had been doing well and it was thought could perhaps have pulled out a victory...

The following is the box score and summary of the game: Marathons. ABRHTBPOAE O'Brien 3db . . . 5 2 3 6 1 0 0

Black singled to centre and went to third on Watt's two-base hit to right field. Bien fled out to right field and Black was caught trying to reach the plate. While Pitcher Conly was winding up, Watt managed to steal home. Waterhouse singled to centre and was left on first when Riley hit out to first.

In the seventh inning, with two men out, Lynch hit with a ball which bounded off his bat and the batter was knocked out for a short time. When he had been attended to by Dr. Bentley, Lynch resumed the play and managed to beat out a hit to the pitcher, but was left at first when McPherson fled out to left.

With the score five to four in St. Croix's favor the latter team was blanked in the ninth and it was up to the Greeks to do something and they did it with "Nolan" to bat. He beat out a single to third. Manager Doyle of the visiting team saw visions of

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN FOR JUNE WEDDING BREAKFAST

One is often puzzled in planning a menu for the wedding breakfast or refreshments at the reception following the wedding. Below is given a menu with accompanying recipes for the help of anyone who is arranging such an affair.

Menu—Belmont chicken, lettuce sandwiches, molded salmon, reception rolls, praline ring, strawberry ice cream, lady fingers, macaroons, bride's cake.

Belmont Chicken—Melt one fourth cup of butter, add one third cup of flour and stir until well blended; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, one cup of chicken stock. Bring to the boiling point and season with one and one half teaspoons of paprika and one teaspoonful of salt; then add one cup of heavy cream, one and one half cups of chopped fowl, and two thirds cup of parboiled sweetbread cubes. Let stand in top of double boiler to season 20 minutes.

Lettuce Sandwiches—Put fresh, crisp lettuce leaves, washed and thoroughly dried, between two slices of bread, having a teaspoonful of mayonnaise on each leaf.

Molded Salmon—Put the contents of one can of salmon in a strainer, rinse thoroughly with hot water, and separate fish into flakes. Mix one half tablespoonful of salt, one and one half tablespoonful of sugar, one half tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of mustard and a few grains of cayenne. Add the yolks of two eggs, slightly beaten, one and one half cups of melted butter, three fourths cup of milk and one fourth cup of vinegar. Combine last two mixtures and cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add three fourths cup of granulated gelatin, soaked in two tablespoonfuls of cold water five minutes. Strain and add to flaked fish. Turn into a mold, chill and remove to lettuce leaves. Serve with cucumber sauce.

Cucumber Sauce—Beat one half cup of heavy cream until stiff, and add half a cup of sugar, a few grains of pepper, and, very gradually, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar; then add one cucumber, pared, chopped and drained.

Praline Ring, Strawberry Ice Cream—Put one cup of sugar in a small saucepan, place on hot part of range and stir constantly until melted and of the color of maple syrup. Care must be taken that sugar does not adhere to sides or bottom of pan. Turn carefully into a greased ring, prepared in a large dripping pan, cool and roll. Beat two cups of heavy cream until stiff. Soak three fourths cup of granulated gelatin in one and one half cups of cold water until gelatin has dissolved. Add gelatin to cream, then add one third cup of Jordan almonds (blanched, roasted in a hot oven until brown, and chopped), one fourth cup of powdered sugar, one and one half teaspoonfuls of vanilla and one eighth teaspoonful of salt. Fill ring mold with mixture to overflow mold, adjust cover, pack in rock salt and freeze crushed ice, and let stand two and one half hours. Remove to chilled serving dish, pile strawberries and cream in center and garnish with a bunch of selected strawberries and their leaves.

Bride's Cake—Cream one half cup of butter and add gradually, while beating constantly, one and one half cups of fine granulated sugar, then add one half cup of milk alternately with two and one half cups of flour mixed and sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one fourth teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Beat whites of six eggs until stiff and add to first mixture. Flavor with one half teaspoonful of almond extract. Bake in a moderate oven. Cover with cream frosting. Decorate with ornamental frosting, or not, as you like.

THE TRIALS OF A HASTY MARRIAGE

All the world loves a lover. Girls in particular are enamored with them. When a young man commences to call regularly on a daughter the parents are not wont to trouble themselves at the outset of the affair. They consider that it's only a fleeting admiration, which each has for the other.

The young folks consider their romance in a different light altogether. They are quite sure that they fell in love with each other at first sight. They are sure, too, that during the following month in which they have seen each other every day that they are so much in love that they simply could not live without each other.

This is considered to be love's delirious stage. Under its influence young men ordinarily sensible have been known to throw prudence to the winds, to propose marriage to the object of their admiration while out for a walk, declaring that they surely will not survive unless the wedding takes place at once. There are whispered words of undying affection, hastily spoken. The girl listens, her heart races instead of her head, and she allows herself to be cajoled into an immediate marriage then and there.

Of course, there is consternation in the home. Perhaps the young man has wed on a very meager salary. Thus he has not enough to save for his own keep let alone for that of a wife. Once in a while these thoughtless, hasty marriages may turn out well. But as a rule the glamor is quickly dispelled if the girl's folks refuse to forgive her and she is obliged to turn to hubby for support in rearing her. The young fellow may love her devotedly. But in no possible way can he stretch out his slender salary to twice the amount. He wastes up suddenly to the realization that marriage brings with it many obligations; that he should not have pleased with a sweet young girl to marry him without having a home to bring her to, or having made some arrangements for his future.

Few maidens are philosophical to meet the situation, but their should be to the wheel of circumstances. It is too late that the thoughtless marriage was imprudent. Besides it lost them the pleasure of the sweetest occasion in life, a year's courtship, during which they could be planning and saving for the event. Young people cannot help loving, but they can help when they are unprepared, the rushing into matrimony.

There is nothing that is as solemn in this world as marriage; no step which needs more consideration and earnest counsel. The parents of the girl, those who have given the best part of their lives in rearing her, have a right to be considered. If he loves her sufficiently he will wait for her. No girl ever lost a lover for refusing to marry him upon short acquaintance and the spur of the moment. The young man who insists is doing an injustice to the girl. Of course she is taking him for better or worse; but none wants the "for worse" to commence immediately.

The girl who would take such a foolhardy step will not prove the best wife in the world for a poor man. She will not make the best of managers, as assuredly is not one to look and plan ahead. There's truth in the old saying: "Marrying in haste is repenting at leisure."

SMALL COURTESIES

Sufficient attention is not given to the little every-day courtesies, the trifles which help to smooth the way and help to win the good will of others.

A pleasant bow, a cordial greeting, a word of thanks expressed at the right moment, a friendly clasp of the hand, these are not difficult things. An important small courtesy is the cultivation of a memory for faces and names, to be able to "place" people, as the saying is, to remember just where one has met them and with what occasion or sport or event they were associated. To speak immediately of something in connection with the last meeting, or of something personal in order to show interest, is sure to give pleasure.

A very necessary courtesy is to least, as a hostess wishes to know on whom she may depend and to have time to fill places of those who cannot come. It is a small courtesy and at the same time a mark of true friendship and obligingness for a friend to accept with cordiality when asked at the last moment to fill a vacancy.

In home life the small sweet courtesies need to be practiced. We must be polite to the members of our household and not save manners for guests only. Too much is taken for granted in the home circle. Relationship does not entitle anyone to make rude, sarcastic, critical speeches. If one has called attention to an error or correct a fault it may be done gently. When advice has to be given it is best to give it privately.

FAVORITE RECIPES

Coffee chocolate cake—1 cup sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup coffee, 3 1/2 cup flour, 3/4 cup butter, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 each of cinnamon and cloves, 1 square grated chocolate. Sift flour, spices, and soda well together. Mix alternately with flour, coffee, etc.

Peppermint creams require no cooking. Take the whites of eggs according to quantity one wishes to make. Two makes a good number, and in a bowl mix in enough icing sugar to make paste not too thick, then add a few drops of essence of peppermint (to taste). Mix well and then so on adding icing sugar until you can knead flour with icing sugar, and roll out to about 1/4 inch thick and cut into any shapes and put on plate to dry. After they have stood a few hours they are generally solid enough.

Sugar cure for meat—1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1/2 cup black or white pepper, 1/4 cup saltpetre, 1/2 cup soft water, 2 quarts fine salt. Rub well on all sides of meat; if hams are large repeat in ten days. Don't let meat lay longer than ten days after cured, then it may be smoked or put in cotton sacks and hung up.

Prince of Wales cake—Dark part: 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sour milk, 2 cups flour, 1 cup chopped raisins, 1 teaspoon molasses, 1 large teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon each of nutmeg, cloves, and cinnamon; yolks of 2 eggs.

Light part: 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup white sugar, 1/2 cup sweet milk, whites of three eggs well beaten, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoonful lemon extract, 1 large teaspoon baking powder. Bake as marble cake.

MARSHMALLOW FROSTING

Two cups granulated sugar, 1/2 cup of water, whites of 4 eggs, 1/2 pound of marshmallows, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

Put the sugar in a smooth saucepan and stir to it the water; put over a slow fire and stir carefully until dissolved. Do not allow it to boil until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. When the syrup is clear, set it over a hot fire and boil rapidly, without stirring, until it will spin a thread, or if the sugar thermometer is used, until it registers 240. When the syrup first begins to boil, cover closely for two or three minutes to allow the sides of the dish to wash down. The grains from the sides of the dish may be removed by wetting a clean cloth in cold water and running it around the sides.

When the syrup will spin a thread, pour in a fine stream on to the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and beat vigorously until all of the syrup is used. After the first half of the syrup is used it may be poured on the egg whites a little faster. Set in a cool place or in a pan of cold water and continue heating until the mixture is just lukewarm, then add the marshmallows which have been cut in quarters with a pair of sharp shears. Stir the marshmallows well into the frosting and let it stand until the frosting is of such consistency that the marshmallows and frosting will not run from the cake when it is put on. Cover the cake sides and top with this frosting and allow to stand several hours or overnight. Cut in any shape desired. If the frosting is too warm when the marshmallows are put in the marshmallows are melted and lose their form and it makes the frosting sticky—Woman's World.

WORTH KNOWING.
Wood ashes mixed with kerosene will remove rust from iron.
Jelly cake should have the edge pared off carefully to make it roll easily.
Fresh mint may be always at hand for cooking purposes by growing it at home in a glass of water.
Butter will keep sweet much longer in a crock jar with tight fitting cover than in any other way.
The small end of a potato should be pricked, before it is put in the oven to bake, to keep it from bursting.
A clean cloth dipped into hot water and then into a saucer of bran will speedily clean white paint without injury.

DON'T TELL.
Don't tell anyone your children's faults even to relatives. If you need to get it privately. Morning children creates bitterness in their untrained hearts and estranges them from you.
Don't tell your own age or ask for figures concerning others.
Don't tell your neighbor that you disapprove of his or her ideas. By so doing, you will find how soon you will be forgotten by them.
Do not tell that your children cannot be induced to read, for this is largely your own fault. Educate their tastes in reading by your own interest in books. You will find that, as children grow older, their tastes in literature will change for the better. If one child likes a certain kind of reading do not compel another to listen to it, but give all an equal chance.

NEEDLE NOTES.
Before cutting buttonholes, if the material is thick, measure an inch back from the shoulder seam, fold the armhole together and place the inner seam of sleeve at front fold of armhole. For a very stout person, measure two inches.

ST. LOUIS GIRL SUCCEEDS IN FINDING A "NEW" COAT

Something new in the way of a fur coat for a young woman arrived in New York recently, entirely surrounding Miss Callista O'Neill, of St. Louis, a passenger on board the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, of the North German line.

Quite irrespective of the fact that the day was rainy, the coat attracted attention due to anything so unusual as that particular coat.

Miss O'Neill described herself as an art student and the garment as the expression in fur of the most impressionistic conception in art. She said she had been compelled to design it herself, having been unable to find a fur equal to the task of making out of the whole fur (or of the composite fur, the coat being made of many specimens of the mink anything which was not exactly like every other coat from the dawn of history down to the present day.

"I fashioned it," said she, "in imitation of a cloud floating, and therefore the least part of it is nearest the ground. More than a score of women have asked me this morning how I get in or out of it. I replied that I cannot tell except while I am putting it on or taking it off."

And as Miss O'Neill wore it ashore and was last seen still wearing it into a cab no one who looked on is yet the wiser.

THE PROBLEM

The problem is to count the circles. Every circle is complete and intersects or touches one or more other circles. There are no parts of circles or shams or deceptions of any sort in the puzzle. In the event that no one counts the exact number the prizes will be awarded for the nearest correct solutions. Accuracy and patience are the main requisites for arriving at the correct or nearest correct count. Those who display these qualifications to the best advantage will solve the puzzle best.

How to Enter

This contest is restricted to people residing in the Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

A payment on subscription to The St. John Standard of from $1.00 to $5.00 entitles the contestant to submit a solution of the puzzle. The amount of money paid in will cover the subscription price for the paper according to the regular rate, whether the rate be for city delivery or by mail.

AS MANY DIFFERENT SOLUTIONS MAY BE SUBMITTED AS THE CONTESTANT DESIRES UPON MAKING AN ADDITIONAL PAYMENT WITH EACH ONE, BUT NOT MORE THAN $5.00 CAN BE PAID WITH ANY ONE SOLUTION.

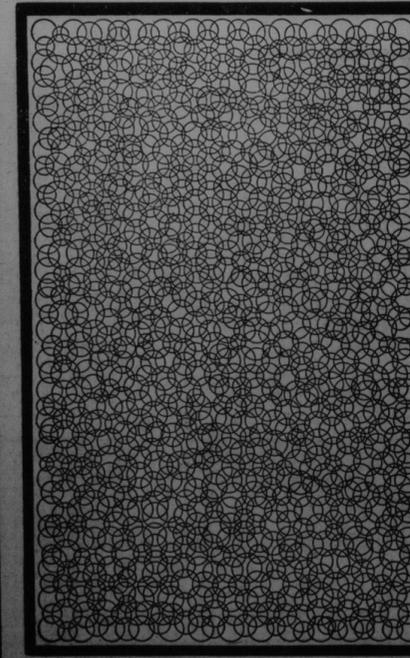

It is not necessary to pay the same amount with each solution if more than one be submitted.

As the main prizes have an added value according to what is paid in on subscription with the winning solutions, contestants should familiarize themselves with the DIVIDEND schedule before sending in their subscription and solutions.

Remit by check, money order, registered letter or in 1 or 2-cent stamps.

What ever is paid, whether on one or a number of solutions, will apply on a continuous subscription to The Standard.

Solutions unaccompanied by cash subscription will not be registered. This contest is open to both old and new subscribers within the territory designated.

DECIDING TIES

In case there are ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions. For instance, if ten people tie on the correct solution, they would receive the first ten prizes, and those having the next nearest correct answers would receive the remaining prizes.

If there should be more ties than there are prizes offered a second puzzle will be presented. No money will have to accompany the solution of the second puzzle. The second puzzle will be practicable and solvable.

In the event of ties on the second puzzle, a third will be presented to those that have tied. The second and third puzzles will be used only in case of ties. Their purpose will be merely to decide ties, so that in the event there is a tie, the prizes can be awarded without having to divide them or without resorting to chance.

However, only three puzzles will be presented, and in the seemingly impossible event of still another tie, the prizes will be equally divided. If there are no ties, there will be only one puzzle.

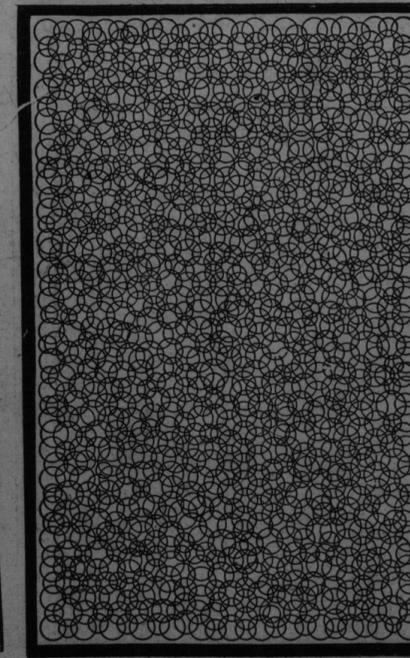

AS TO DIVIDEND PRIZES.

Same will be divided between those who have the correct or nearest correct answers. ALL DIVIDEND prizes will be divided pro rata according to the amount paid in by the winner.

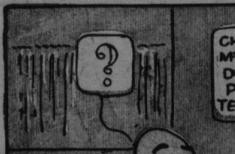

For example, if there are two contestants who tie having the correct or nearest correct answer, they will divide the first and second prizes of $100.00 and $75.00, giving them $87.50 each, and will also be entitled to DIVIDEND prizes, which is forty times the amount paid in for the first prize and twenty times the amount paid in on the second prize, the two tying will then be entitled to divide sixty times the amount they have paid in, making thirty times the amount paid in on their subscription.

Now, if one paid $2.00 and the other paid in $5.00, the one paying in $2.00 would receive thirty times the amount paid in or $60.00 as his DIVIDEND prize, while the one paying in $5.00 would also receive thirty times the amount paid in, or $150.00 as a DIVIDEND prize.

This same rule and example will be followed throughout in the awarding of prizes in case of ties.
