THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Opened With Highly Imposing Ceremonies.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra Occupied Their Thrones.

France Sends an Important Message to Her Consul at Caracas, Venezuela-Col. Lynch, M.P., To Be Arrested.

London, Jan. 16.-King Edward opened parliament this afternoon with ceremonial in all essential respects similar to that of February last. The procession to the House of Lords was of the same character as that witnessed on the occasion of the opening of the first parliament of King Edward's reign, while within the upper house was seen the same state of pageantry, the same historic dresses. and the same revival of ancient forms.

After robing, King Edward and Queen Alexandra entered the House of Peers, and occupied their thrones, beneath a canopy, with the Prince and Princess of Wales on either side of them. The other members of the royal family were seated on chairs at the foot of the steps leading to the thrones. The gentleman usher of the black rod, General Sir Michael Biddulph having summoned the speaker and the members of the House of Commons. his majesty read his speech from the

The speech was not an important utterance. His majesty referred in gratified terms to the world-tour of the Prince and Princess of Wales, expressed regret that the war in South Africa was not concluded, said he trusted the decision of the sugar conference would lead to the abandon ment of bounties, and noted the conclusion of the Isthmian canal treaty. M. Secrestat, when he reached La Guayra, was on his way to Caracas, in try order to protest there against the seiz-

London, Jan. 16.-The Vienna correspondent of the Times says one the principal reasons for Mr. Chamberlain's unpopularity on the continent is the fact that he has done more than any other living Englishman to further the cause of imperialism in the British to inspiring the British people with confidence in their own strength and resources, which confidence naturally makes them feel more independent of continental alliances. In years past, says the correspondent, efforts were made to induce Great Britain to join the Triple Alliance. Contrary to general expectations abroad, the Boer war has not brought home to the British people a sense of helplessness. On the contrary, it has enabled them to realize the extent of British might available is case of emergency. Chamberlain's latest speech in particular was disapwho had been looking forward to findpointing to those foreign statesmen who had been looking forward to find ing Great Britain more amenable to sentimental alliances. Consequently he has incurred the displeasure of those reckoning without their host.

AN ALL-BRITISH CABLE. In the Times today there is a letter, signed "G. R. N." which deals with Sir Sandford Fleming's advocacy of an all-British cable, with a five-cent-a-word rate. "G. R. N." says the answer to such a proposal is as simple as elementary arithmetic. The writer promises that the suggested cable would practically get nothing but de-ferred messages. It would offer no advantages in the price charged, and could not in point of speed compet for urgent messages with the exist ing companies. London, Jan. 15 .- The following further details have been received here regarding the recent attack on troops searching farms in the Ermelo district: The 14th Mounted Infantry, on coming up to a farm which was known to have been occupied by the Boers, found that the enemy had left. These pluckily held out for 50 minutes. The Boers rushed the hill three times, but were each time driven back, until at last more came up and swamped the little party. Major Bridgford, the officer in charge of the force, escaped one lot of Boers, but unfortunately rode into another party, and was captured. Our casualties were 5 officers wounded (three of whom have since died), 5 men killed and 30 men wounded. There were also a number of men captured, but these, after being relieved of most of their clothes and possessions, were allowed to depart. Annual Report at Meeting Last Evening.

The 35th annual report of the London Horticultural and Agricultural Society was presented by the president, Col. Leys, at the annual meeting last night. Touching upon the work of the year, the report said:

"Continuing in the practice which has prevailed for years past, the directors joined with other societies in advancing the interests of the Western Fair of 1901, all their funds, after the current expenses were paid, being handed over to that association to augment the prizes given to the hor-ticultural and agricultural departments. The exhibits of these departments were well up to the standard. Particularly so was the case in floriculture, a most excellent display being made. Exhibits of fruit, grain and other products were well maintain-Very favorable comment was made upon the artistic manner in the various exhibits were arranged. This was made possible by the rearrangement or consolidation of the buildings in 1899, every inch space being well conserved, and at the same time exhibits shown to the best possible advantage. The directors were pleased to be able to report that membership of the society was never in so flourishing a condition, numbering 200 for the present year—the largest in its history. NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY

London H. and A. Society Is in Has Dawned Upon the First Congregational Church.

President Col. Leys Presents the Pastor Expresses His Satisfaction and Gratitude at the Annual

> The annual meeting of the First Congregational Church was held last night, the pastor, Rev. D. S. Hamilton, presiding.

Mr. Hamilton took occasion to express to his congregation his great satisfaction at the loyal support he has received from them, and at the new life which has been infused into the affairs of the church.

The report of the deacons complimented the pastor on the success that had attended his vigorous work, as shown in the increased membership, which now numbers 121. The financial condition of the church was also given by the deacons' board, of which Mr. J. L. Dixon is secretary. The year's receipts were $2,169 78, all of which was paid out with the exception of $19 92. During the year all charges were met. The liabilities of the church at the present amount to $11,654, and the assets to $20,134 92. leaving a surplus of assets of $8,480 92. A new scheme for raising the interest on the mortgage has been adopted, the idea being to spread the payments by the members over the entire year and thus make them more easily met. The amount required for interest for the twelve months has been divided into shares of $1 80, for each of which 12 coupons for 15 cents are issued, a coupon to be handed in every month. It is expected the scheme will prove very satisfactory. The directors desired to express their Consumption is Infectious?

Every precaution should be taken to prevent the spread of the "white plague." Persons coming into contact with consumptives should inhale catarrhozone several times each day, as it is a powerful destroyer of disease germs, and renders them inocuous. Catarrhozone is a most efficient preventive and may be thoroughly relied upon to promote expectoration, soothe the cough, and benefit in toration, soothe the cough, and benefit in many ways too numerous to mention. A New Catarrh Cure Secures National Reputation in Less Than One Year. Throughout a great nation of 80,-000,000 it is a desperate struggle to secure even a recognition for a new article to say nothing of achieving popular favor, and yet within one year

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, the new catarrh cure, has met with such suc-cess that today it can be found in every drug store throughout the United States and Canada. To be sure a large amount of advertising was necessary in the first instance to bring the remedy to the attention of the public, but everyone familar with the subject knows that advertising alone never made any article permanently successful. must have in addition absolute, unde-niable merit, and this the new cetarrh cure certainly possesses in a marked degree. Physicians who formerly depended upon inhalers, sprays and local washes or ointments, now use Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because, as one of the most prominent stated, these tablets contain in pleasant, convenient form all the really efficient catarrh remedies, such as red gum, blood root and similar antiseptics.

They contain no cocaine nor opiate, and are given to little children with entire safety and benefit.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

ROBERT B. MANTELL TONIGHT. A most popular engagement at the New Grand is that of Mr. Robert B. Mantell, who returns tonight in a handsomely-staged production of his great success, "Richelieu." The modern drama has been so persistently presented for the past few seasons that the advent of a classical production is looked forward to with more than or-dinary interest. Mr. Mantell is supported by a competent company under the management of Mr. M. W. Hanley.

MRS. SARAH COWELL LEMOYNE. Mrs. Sarah Cowell LeMoyne comes to the New Grand next Friday evening in a new play, "The First Duchess of Marlborough." Mrs.LeMoyne occupies a high place in the roster of American actresses. The impression she made during her first starring tour in Greatest Thing in the World," was favorable, and her presentation of Browning's "In a Balcony" was pronounced one of the highest achievements of American dramatic efforts in recent years. Her new play will interest not only lovers of the drama, but will appeal strongly to students of hiswho know how worldly personages and events may be depicted in their realism by artists of the first rank. Of all the characters in English history, that of Sarah Jennings, the first Duchess of Mariborough, is one of the most interesting. The wife of John Churchill, the first captain of his time, the woman was as powerful at the court of Queen Anne as her husband was in his sphere. The character of the duchess and her relations to the queen suggest the attitude of the great Richelieu to Louis XIII., as Bulwer presents him. The scenes the highly dramatic, and the developments of the story of commanding interest. The play is richly mounted, the settings, costumes and accessories historically correct, and the atmosphere of the time carefully preserved. "THE DAIRY FARM." Eleanor Merron, who wrote the successful domestic play, "The Dairy Farm," is a bright, capable woman, and an actress of much ability. She has appeared in the support of many American stars, and has made for herself a reputation as a playwright by the success of "The Dairy Farm." The play tells a charming love story, and is interpreted by the quaintest characters, costumed in the period of the play, 1854 to 1856. No more tangible proof of its success could be given than the long runs which are credited to it, that of having been played in New York 109 nights, 137 in Philadelphia and 133 in Chicago and 133 in Philadelphia and 133 in Chicago and 134 will be Chicago. This charming play will be presented at the New Grand next Sat-

KELLY'S LADY MINSTRELS. Thos, P. Kelly's Big Lady Minstrels, who come to the London Opera House on Saturday next, matinee and night, have been for years a favorite organization with the public. Lovely women, pretty costumes, bright and catchy music; beautiful stage settings and clever comedians, singers and dancers, go together to make up the bill as presented by the Big Lady Min-strels. The curtain never goes down, strels. The curtain never goes down, and from opening to closing it is one round of applause and a continuous laugh, as one novelty or new sketch follows another. The management guarantees the production as thoroughly refined and pleasing to ladies and children. Reserved seats are now on sale at popular prices.

St. Andrew's Concert.

Probably not since the opening night has the New Grand Opera House accommodated so large an audience as that which last evening listened with delight to the sweet old songs of Scot-land as sung by Jessie Niven Mac-lachlan and other well-known musicians. The concert was arranged for a benevolent purpose by St. Andrew's Society, and never before has greater success attended the charitable efforts of that very active organization. President Pringle, of St. Andrew's Society, who introduced the programme, laughingly expressed surprise at the discovery that so many Scotch people dwelt in London.

The performers who assisted Miss Maclachian were Mr. MacGregor, Scottish baritone; Alice Calder Stock, soprano soloist of the First Methodist Church; Mr. Masterton, tenor, and Misses Susie McGill and Ina Riddell, dancers. The accompanists were Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Hewlett and Piper Thos. Macdonald. Miss Maclachlan met with a most flattering reception; indeed, it is doubtful whether a London audience was ever more demonstrative in its approval. Time and again she was compelled to respond to enthusiastic encores, and each succeeding performance served only to whet the appetite of the audience for more. The climax of enthusiasm was reached when she sang an old ballad in her native Gaelic tongue. The secret of Miss Maclachlan's success as a singer of Scottish songs, lies not alone in the power and range of her voice, but in the dramatic force of her work as well. She is a beautiful woman, with dark eyes in which there sparkles all the fire of the North Country. In the stirring martial songs which for centuries have roused the blood of Scotchmen, she is at her best—such songs as "The March o' the Cameron Men.!' Into these she threw so much dramatic feeling, such impassioned expression, as to profoundly stir her audience. During the even-ing Miss Maclachlan was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses, and a like compliment was paid to Mrs. Stock.

Although a resident of London, Mrs. Stock made her first appearance in the Grand Opera House last night, and no London singer ever received a more kindly welcome. Mrs. Stock possesses a voice of exceeding sweetness and unusual power, and her singing so de-lighted the audience that they recalled her several times. Among her num-bers, the pretty little song, "The Merry Miller," was perhaps most en-

Mr. MacGregor and Mr. Masterton both sang very acceptably, and were recalled several times. The former has a powerful voice, and sings with much expression. The latter possesses a pure tenor voice of pleasing quality and good register, and his Scotch accent is perfect. He headed the list in 1900 in competition open to Scotch tenors. The dancing of Miss Susie McGill and Miss Ina Riddell made a pleasant diversion, and both little performers were warmly applauded.

THE GREAT LIFE WORK OF TISSOT.

An Opportunity to See the Famous Pictorial Representation of the Life of Christ.

'At St. Andrew's Church, tomorrow night, a collection of Tissot's pictures of the life of Christ will be shown, and as there is no admission fee being charged, they should be seen by a large number. The collection is the only one in Canada, and is known to be exceedingly beautiful.

Tissot has said of his preparation for his life's work, that he spent ten years in the Holy Land, going to the places where Christ went, and absorbing the local color for his paintings. He studied the Gospels until he knew them by heart, and as it was necessary for him to restore the Temple of Jerusalem, in order that he might put the child Jesus there, he had to study the Talmud of the Jews as well as the Old Testament, and examine the ruins of the ancient buildings found beneath

"I have found it necessary." Tissot has said, "to put aside all of the pic-tures of Jesus painted by the great artists of various ages, not because they were not great paintings, but because they were not the Christ. It is impossible to go back 1,900 years in east and try to reproduce the life of that distant period with accuracy; but in the Orient where customs change slowly, where progress has been almost entirely unknown, it was not impossible, having before me the descendants of the very people among whom Christ had lived, to paint the pictures of their ancestors."

The pictures are grouped in several sections, devoted to the "Holy Child-hood," the "Ministry," "Holy Week,' the "Passion," and the "Resurrection.' "Holy Child-

Acute and Chronic Rheumatism are equally influenced by the almost magical pain-subduing power of Polson's Nerviline, equal in medicinal value to five times the quantity of any other rheumatic remedy. Nerviline cures because it reaches the source of the disease and drives it out of the system. Nerviline is an unusually good rheumatic cure, and makes many unusual cures. Just rub it in the next time you have an attack. The immediate result will surprise you. 25c.

Rub Omega Oil on your feet if they are sore and tender, or if they itch, burn or swell. In all your born days, you never saw such a comforting, soothing and pleasant thing for the feet as this wonderful greencolored liniment from Switzerland. Bathe your feet first in warm water, wipe dry, and then rub on plenty of the Oil. Rub hard and long, and then your feet will be as sound as ever. Omega Oil is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for.

You can make the body strong so that it can supply almost any demand if you take Powley's Liquified Ozone. Miss Francis Lamson of Woodstock, tells an interesting story.

Gentlemen: For some time back I have felt my physical condition very much impaired from weak stomach and also general weak-ness. I had a friend who had tried Powley's Liquified Ozone, and it heiped her so much that I concluded to try it. I had not taken more than half of the bottle when I felt such a remarkable change in my condition that I was almost amazed at myself. I noticed my color growing much clearer and I felt better in every way. I recommend every young lady to use Ozone.

Church Membership Has Increased

Accomplished.

The annual meeting of the King Street

Presbyterian Church was held last even-acting as chairman, and Mr. W. A.

The past year has been one of progression in Mr. Wilson's church, as the both pastor and people feel that they have reason to be grateful for the suc-

many who should contribute but do not, as, out of a membership of 347, there are only 215 regular contributors on the books. It is, therefore, earnestly impressed on the members and adherents of the congregation by the board of managers that they read and carefully note the amounts contributed by each

The Nine Dominion Bye-Elections

Yesterday.

Nine bye-elections for the Dominion House of Commons were held yesterday. To sum up at once, the result is that the Laurier Government gain one seat-West York-which gain means two additional seats for the Government on a division; and, if West Durham is counted, it means four on a di-

Two Opposition constituencies, Addington and West Hastings, yesterday returned candidates of the same political complexion as formerly.

St. James' Division, Montreal, gave a Liberal majority for Ald. Brunet (Liberal), of 720, notwithstanding differences among friends of the Government. All's well that ends well.

L'Islet, also in Quebec Province, eoes into the right column; as does Laval (Que.); and as did Beauce Que.), by acclamation, a week ago. n Kingston Mr., now Judge, Brit-, is succeeded by Hon. Wm. Harty, ntil a few weeks ago a member of ne Ontario Government. His oppont. Mr. Metcalfe, formerly representd Kingston in the Dominion House. and possessed many elements of strength. But Mr. Harty comes in ahead with the majority of 753. A recount will not be necessary. Down in Prince Edward Island, the Laurier Government holds its own by electing Hon. D. Farquharson by an increased figure.

West Durham again chooses Robert Beith (Liberal).

West York is redeemed by Mr. Archibald Campbell, our old Kent fighter, after a most interesting campaign. This was the seat held at the time of his lamented death by Hon. Clark Wallace, and the seat for which the late Conservative member was elected by a majority of 752. Mr. Campbell's opponent yesterday was the late Clark Wallace's brother, who, on sympathetic and other grounds, was The Language Question in Greece. conceded to be the strongest man the Opposition could bring out. Mr. Campbell yesterday turned the former ad-majority of 156. The net results of yesterday's numerous bye-elections-a little general election, as it were-is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier not only holds all he held before, but his majority is four votes greater than before on a division. The constituencies have thus again spoken words of cheer to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues, bidding them go on with their great task of upbuilding, uniting and developing our prosperous and happy land.

"The French-Canadian."

Mr. Byron Nicholson, of Toronto, has in preparation an important book under the above title. Mr. Nicholson is a sympathetic observer and capable writer, and his book will be well worthy of a place in the library. Perhaps we cannot do better than give a few extracts from the author's prospectus:

"The only apology which the author wishes to offer the public for the appearance of this little work is the earnest hope and sincere desire which he entertains that it may help to correct ature, "pure" some misapprehensions, and to soften, if not remove, some prejudices which, unhappily, prevail all too extensively amongst a certain class of Englishspeaking people in various parts of Canada concerning the French-speaking people of the Province of Quebec. He himself, born and educated in Ontario, once had similar misapprehensions, and was subject to the same prejudices. But actual intercourse with the people of the Lower Province, during a residence amongst them of some twelve years, has convinced him that he was mistaken; and he is persuaded that these people are much misunderstood, and are accused of holding certain obnoxious opinions which they have never entertained, and are not given credit for many a virtue which they undoubtedly possess.

"Believing that the continuance of this state of things, particularly if fomented by unprincipled partisans for unworthy purposes, must be followed by disastrous consequences in the not distant future, he determined to do what he could towards correcting it, thus helping to supplant feelings of racial strife and bitterness, by those of national brotherhood and a common citizenship between the two great peoples to whom Providence seems to have committed the shaping of the destinies of this wide Dominion.

"In so doing he has tried to avoid giving his readers an unduly favorable opinion concerning those of whom he writes, or to represent them as being in every way the most admirable and lovable people that can be imagined; for, indeed, human nature, as seen in them, is very much like human nature as seen in others-and, besides, the millennium is still in the future. But he has made an honest effort to sketch the French-Canadian as he is seen today in the Province of Quebec, feeling assured that if the man were only better known than he is, he would be ular, but in the 'literary' dislect, which more fully trusted and more highly es-teemed by a not inconsiderable portion ing." Hence, there was no need to habit.

of his English-speaking fellow-sub-

"The writer has also endeavored to ignore everything of a purely partisan character, to eschew partyism of every description; for his desire is to obtain an unprejudiced hearing from all fairminded people-no matter what their politics, their nationality, or their religion-who may do him the honor to read what he has written."

The author's object is a patriotic one and deserves support. Orders for copies of the book, or requests for further particulars, may be addressed to Mr. Byron Nicholson, 571 Ontario street, Toronto.

The Senate Rapidly Becoming Liberal.

It is now stated that when the Dominion Parliament meets, the Liberals will number 38 votes in the Senate, as against 43 Conservatives. This is a nominal majority for the Opposition of five only; but it is little more than a iominal majority, as a number of the Conservative members are of an age so advanced that they are tally likelier to be absent than present. For practical purposes, therefore, the Liberals will control the Senate during the coming session. Throughout the term of the previous Dominion Liberal Administration, Mr. Mackenzie never had a fair chance to govern the country to the best advantage, nor to fulfill his various pledges, because of the hostile majority in the Senate. Many of Mr. Mackenzie's most important measures were ruthlessly destroyed by partisan opponents in the Second Chamber. What it amounted to was this-Mr. Mackenzie was in power in the House of Commons, while Sir John A. Macdonald, through his Conservative majority, retained blocking power in the Senate. Even since the accession to power of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on more than one occasion the Opposition Senators have made it awkward for those intrusted in 1896 by the country with the responsibility of governing. The startling changes wrought by time are shown in the fact that in five years and a half, the Laurier Government have made 30 appointments to the Senate, as against 41 appointments by Conservative Ministers in eighteen years.

An effective Liberal majority in the Dominion Senate is of importance to the smooth working of the machinery of government and therefore to the well-being and advancement of Can-

We read a little time ago of riots in Greece over the translation of the fantastic course that pleases them. verse majority of 752 into a Liberal New Testament, but brief telegraphic reports do not give a full and satisfactory account in matters of that kind. The outburst is a thing that has been prepared for and involves a variety of motives and interests. Mr. Walter Leaf, who writes to the Times, takes sides strongly against the academic leaders. Here is his account of the three languages of Greece:

> "There are in Greece three languages -first, the ancient classical Greek, which is as dead today in Athens as it is in Marseilles or Naples; secondly, the spoken vernacular, differing from ancient Greek much as ern Italian differs from Lat-in — a strong and flexible tongue, spoken by all Greeks, with the differences of dialect inseparable from all living languages—the tongue of the home, and of that rich treasure of popular poetry in which Greece is second to no other country; and, thirdly, there is a strange bastard jargon, a thing to set a linguist's teeth on edge, founded on the classical Attic, but altered in many of its grammatical forms, and hopelessly deprived of its vitality.
> This is the official language. It is facetiously called the "literary" or pure" language-"literary" because it has practically destroyed Greek liter-ature, "pure" because it is an artificial mixture of the classical and the vernacular, adapted to modern use by the liberal infusion of French phrases badly translated. It is only intelligible to the modern Greek so far as he has been laboriously taught it at school; it has been produced, not by any process of natural development, but from the inner consciousness of pedantic

According to this authority, the conflict was one between the real natura language of the people and the "jargon" of the professors. One would think that such a question would settle itself quietly by the natural and irresistible development of the people's life. But we are told the professors abandoned argument and appealed to prejudice; riot was called in to crush reason. Well, if that is a true statement, these so-called learned men will have to pay the penalty of misleading the people, when, as the result of their action, Athens was given up to a frantic mob, blood was shed and the Prime Minister nearly assassinated. But how could this happen over a legitimate dispute? Note the points: (1) Mr. Pallos, a wealthy and patriotic Greek, published in the Acropolis of Athens, a translation of St. Matthew's gospel in the vernacular. (2) The Queen, finding that the wounded soldiers in the late war were wholly unable to understand the gospels in the original Greek, interested herself in a modern version. (3) But the Queen is a Russian princess, and hence, in doing this pious thing, she was working for Pan-Slavism and would destroy Hellenism. Further, it was said that Mr. Pallos was a paid agent of the Queen in this nefarious scheme. But note on the other side, Mr. Pallos is a partner in one of the wealthiest firms in the world, and better able to pay the Queen than she is to pay him. "The translation in which the Queen interested herself was not in the vernac-mix the Queen up in the business. But when people, professor or others, forsake the path of calm reason and appeal to passion, things always get worked up. But it will be the duty of the leaders in Greece to straighten them out and to see that intellectual battles are fought by intellectual weapons alone.

Another Vindication of Free Trade.

We cannot here discuss the work of the international conference on sugar bounties, or examine the whole question of bounties, but we may point to the instructive fact that this business of sugar bounties has worked itself to such a pass that the different European powers feel that something must be done. The lesson is that governments should hamper as little as possible trade in the people's food. For example, in France the tax on homeconsumed sugar is very near six dollars per hundredweight. This tax is levied on a certain estimated yield. The increasingly rich yield from the beet greatly reduces the actual proportion of excise paid, but the manufacturers base their prices to the public on the full rate of excise. This gives them an extra profit, which comes under the head of "indirect bounty." Besides they receive a bounty on the sugar exported. Other countries in Europe have something similar, so they must have a conference to straighten matters out. It is this state of things which leads the Times correspondent to say, "Free traders will see a triumph of their doctrines in the labyrinth of complexities and inconsistencies which have gradually grown up under an attempt to stimulate by artificial means a particular brand of industry, and to force trade into a certain channel because there is sufficient capital embarked in it warrant, in the protection-ist's eyes, state intervention. As in most movements of this kind, experience seems to show that the consumer has had to suffer without corresponding benefit to the producer. If exports have risen in countries adopting the bounty, other trades have had to suffer in proportion. A homely illustration is seen in the fact that English jams made with Belgian bounty-fed sugar are purchased in Belgium at actually a lower rate than the ordinary household sugar. Yet to the average workingman the former is a mere luxury, the latter a neces-was recently introduced into the United States House of Representatives for the purpose of giving mechanics and factory employes an opportunity to vote on election days without loss of time. The bill provides that on election days, the hour for beginning work shall not be earlier than eight o'clock, and that not more than eight hours labor shall be required of any person on such days. The right to vote is now an inalienable right of every citizen, and the new bill, should it become law, makes the opportunity of exercising such a duty consonant with the right.

A Sensible View.

[Hamilton Times.] Speaking of the absurd objections of some egotistically "self-respecting" sheets to Canadian cities accepting library donations from Mr. Carnegie, the London Advertiser says: Mr. Carnegie's givings are cosmopolitan, and go out to all parts of Great Britain as well as the United States. His splendid recent gift to the Scottish universities will be recalled by all. If Great Britain is willing to accept large gifts from Andrew Carnegie, why should not Canada accept them? The kick usually has been that rich men do not do enough in the way of benefactions towards public objects." That is a very sensible way of reviewing the matter. And it is dollars to dough nuts that the same persons who affect to regard the acceptance of Carnegie's donations to libraries as "degrading" would snap at a chance to be degraded did he make an offer of a few thousands to them personally.

London's Scare.

[Boston Herald.] The reports published yesterday of the excitement in London on account of an outbreak of smallpox in the metropolis are possibly exaggerated, but no doubt there is much anxiety. Nine hundred cases in the city are quite enough to emphasize the need of active precautions, especially if at ordinary times the city is virtually free from the disease. We do not see why, even if there be a considerable increase of cases, the fact should prevent persons who have been vaccinated within a reasonable time from going to London to behold the spectacles that will occur at the time of the coronation. What is vaccination worth if it does not practically make one immune in such dangers? We had supposed that, despite the great population of London, its sanitary forces were so ample and had so large authority that they could be depended upon to prevent a contagious disease of this kind from getting the upper hand. Further reports will be watched for with inter-

St. Thomas, Ont., Jan. 16.-The Journal's Melbourne correspondent writes under date of Jan. 14: "A telegram arrived this morning containing the sad intelligence that Mr. and Mrs. Thompson had been burned to death in their home in the Western States. Mr. Thompson was a son of George Thompson, Longwood road, Caradoc, and Mrs. Thompson was formerly Miss Mabel Saxton, adopted daughter of Mr. Erret, of this neighborhood. They were married a little over a year ago and went west to make a home for themselves. The young couple were highly esteemed by a large circle of carry sadness to many hearts." WORRIED BY THE TALK OF GOS-

SIPS. Peterboro, Ont., Jan. 16.-Word has been received here relating to leath by suicide of Lottie Taylor, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Tho Taylor, a well-to-do and respectable farmer of Belmont, near Havelock. The young lady, in committing the act of self-destruction, took a dose of strychnine on Saturday night last, and left a note beside the spoon and bottle containing the poison, which indicates that she was wounded by talk, having recently attended a social gathering, and having been escorted home by a young man who was said to have been the worse of liquor. A doctor who was called to attend the case states that he could discover no motive for the young girl's awful deed.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY. Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 16. - A ghastly discovery was made yesterday morning when some neighbors, hearing cries coming from the residence of Vincent Vencelsick, a Pole, broke open the doors and found the bedroom of the house saturated with blood. The three children were asleep, and the father rushed to their bed, and rained blow after blow upon them. The Preference Shown by Thinking People for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine - Record Sales Last Month.

Considering the large number of remedies for coughs and colds that are now offered to the public, and in view of the fact that nearly every druggist has a preparation of his own which he makes an effort to substitute for the medicine asked for, it seems truly remarkable that the de-mand for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine should increase by such leaps and bounds.

During October the sales Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine exceeded by several hundred bottles the record of any previous month in its history. When it is remembered that this preparation receives very little newspaper advertising the evi-dence seems to be conclusive that it makes its way by sheer force of merit. Thinking people recognize the harmulness and danger of using strong drugs which are said to cure a cold in a few hours. They prefer to cling to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, which they know beyond a doubt to be a thorough and effective treatment for coughs, colds, croup bronchitis, whooping cough, throat

Do you suppose that the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine would be more than three times that of any similar preparation if it was not the most effective remedy that money can buy? An outbreak of smallpox has taken place among the Saints, and they refuse on any terms to be vaccinated, saying they will go to jail first. The local authorities have quarantined them, and have asked Dr. Bryce if the law does them. Dr. Bryce has replied that the use of force is quite justified under the circumstances, and interesting developments may be looked for.

New cases of smallpox are reported The case is one of unusual interest, from widely extended areas, one of the most serious items of news being that a smallpox suspect under observation in a hotel at Huntsville has escaped. Smailpox has resulted in the closing of several schools in Toledo.

Manager Carr and Committee Could Not Make Terms

In the Matter of Street Railway Company's Proposition To Do Street Watering-Deal Not Off.

The sub-committee appointed to deal with the street watering proposition of the street railway company-Mayor Beck, Ald. Winnett and Ald. Mc-Mechan, met Manager Carr this morning. A settlement was not reached. Manager Carr's offer is that for $2,182 he will water four times a day, 9 7-10 miles of streets. To do this he would have to cover twelve miles, and therefore he would be willing to do the extra two miles for the same money, but these two miles are not included in the street watering area and the ratepayers there pay nothing for street watering. The members of the sub-committee wanted a lower price, which they suggested to Mr. Carr, and it is understood that he was willing to meet them part way, but not to a sufficient extent. The conference con cluded rather abruptly, but the negotiations are not all off. Mayor Beck will go into the matter further Mr. Carr and it is possibly that a deal will yet be made. In fact, Mayor Beck said after the meeting that it had to go through. He wanted the street watering done that way, even if it cost more than it did last year. In this he differed from Ald. McMechan, who at the meeting of No. 3 committee last night said that he was on the economy wagon this year, and was not at all inclined to favor an increased expenditure on the street watering account this year.

HOCKEY.

The Tecumseh hockey feam had the best practice last night that they have had since the beginning of the season. Good coaches were on the ice, and made the boys work hard. The team is getting combination down pat, and can shoot expertly. Bishop had a hard time defending the nets from the onslaught that was made on them. The team that will meet Guelph in opening championship game will be stronger than the team that went to Waterloo, although the latter played a better game than the score would indicate. The Woodstock team has written for a game, and it is likely that they will be accommodated at an early date. New men are springing up all the time, and before long the Tecumseh team will be in much better shape. Another practice will be held on Friday night, and all the boys are expected to be on the ice sharp at 6 o'clock.

It is not improbable that the question of arbitration may go to the National Civic Federation, though those prominent on both sides of the present strike do not admit the possibility of such action.

'TIS WELL TO KNOW A GOOD THING, said Mrs. Surface to Mrs. Know-well, when they met in the street. "Why where have you been for a week back?" "Oh, just down to the store for a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil," and Mrs. Surface, who hates puns, walked on. But she remembered, and when she contracted a weak back there was another customer for Eclectric Oil. Pile Gure. Mrs. Aaron Medron, of Savannah, Ga., writes: "I had piles and rectal trouble for years until it was unbearable any longer. As I had often seen Pyramid Pile Cure advertised I determined to try it and for two years have never ceased to congratulate my-self that I did so for I have been entirely cured of rectal troubles and two packages of the Pyramid did it." The Pyramid Pile Cure contains no cocaine, opium nor any injurious drug whatever, and is absolutely safe, painless and never fails to cure piles in any form.

GOT HIS PORTFOLIO

Hon. James Sutherland, M. P. for North Oxford, Sworn in as Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 16.-Hon. James Sutherland, who has been minister of the Dominion Cabinet without portfolio, since 1899, was at 12 o'clock today sworn in by Lord Minto at Government House as minister of marine and fisheries-a portfolio which has been vacant since the appointment of Sir Louis Davies to the supreme court bench. Mr. Sutherland has been acting at different times for ministers, during their absence, since he became a member of the cabinet. He acted for Postmaster-General Mulock when in Australia; for Hon. Mr. Sifton, when the latter was in England; and has presided over the marine and fisheries department ever since Sir Louis resigned. It is understood that later on there will be a shuffle in the cabinet, and that the marine and fisheries' po-sition will go to British Columbia. The nomination for Mr. Sutherland's re-JOHN S. MORGAN'S CASE election takes place on the 29th inst.

INDIAN AFFAIRS. The annual report of the department of Indian affairs for the year ending June 30 was issued today. The deputy minister of the department, Mr. Smart, says that the Indians throughout the year continue to be law-abiding and contented, and to be more self-support-were 2,333 births and 2,557 deaths, making an increase over the previous year of 146 in the number of births, and a decrease of 317 in the number of deaths. The increase is distributed all over the different provinces. The total Indian population for 1901 was 99,527, an increase of 517 over the previous year.

TEN MILLION CONSUMPTIVES

Startling Statement Made by an Eminent St. Louis Physician at a Meeting of the St. Louis Medical Society.

The season is here for the usual epidemic of coughs and colds, and when spring arrives, the already large list of consumptives will, as a natural result be greatly increased. For that reason it is worth while to carefully consider the statements made by some of the most eminent physicians and tuberculosis specialists.

At a recent meeting of the St. Louis Medical Society, William Porter, A.M. M. D., physician in charge of Mt. St. Rose Throat and Chest Hospital, declared that ten million people now living in the United States and Canada will die of tuberculosis. The Ottawa health report for the past year states that 125 adults died from con-sumption, and 102 died from pneumonia. The Canadian Practitioner and Review, a well-know medical journal, states in the November issue that the autopsies performed by Dr. Councilman has revealed the presence of tuberculosis in 17 per cent of the cases which were supposed to have been free from that disease. This may mean that almost one-third of all civilized people are tuberculous. The people themselves are directly responsible for this state of affairs. they get a cough or cold they neglect it, instead of using ordinary commonsense precautions, and ridding themselves of this fore-runner of consump tion, before it gets a firm hold and undermines the throat and tissues. Sometimes they do make a cough or cold by the use of some cough mixture. Cough mixtures generally contain opiates or narcotics which simply allay the trouble for a short time and, when spring arrives, the patient has either developed a case of chronic bronchitis or consumption. The sooner people learn that these so-called "simple troubles" must be properly taken care of at the very beginning of their existence, the sooner will we be able to stamp out the dread disease, consumption, which is every day becoming more powerful in its ravages. The medical profession is devoting the greatest attention to ever-increasing disease, and many claim to have discovered a cure for it. A preparation that is largely prescribed by physicians and used in the hospitals for the treatment of throat and lung diseases, especially those of tuberculosis nature, is made from a refined petroleum, and is fast superceding other preparations. This remedy is called Angier's Petroleum Emulsion. The refined petroleum combined with hypophosphites of lime and soda and being odoriess and practically tasteless agrees with the weakest stomach-an important point to consider when treating chidren's diseases. Besides, it soothes, heals and cleanses the diseased membranes, aids digestion, and thereby builds up health and strength by improving the power of assimilation and nutrition. recently this remedy was sold only upon doctors' prescriptions. Now every druggists sells large quantities of it to the general public, and report an ever-increasing demand for it. Though largely advertised, this preparation is not a "patent medicine," and the manufacturers make no false claims

Miss Quickstep. "Kept me dancing attendance on you all the evening, and when I tried to talk to you, as I did several times, you turned your back on me. Is that the way all young women treat the men they're engaged to marry?" "Yes, if the men are too fresh."
"Was I too fresh?"

"Did you want to humiliate me be-fore all these people?" "Oh, no," she said lightly. "But you needed the treatment-or suppose we call it an operation-and I had to per-

Park Lions Play Football.

[New York Sun.] Visitors to the Iton house in Central Park menagerie have noticed that Dewey and Manila, the two-year-old lions, have developed a great interest for football, and Director Smith has given each of them a wooden ball to play with. The two occupy adjoining cages, and when they get warmed up to the sport they make more noise than is to be heard in an East Side bowling alley, and apparently they get more fun out of this than players in a Harvard-Yale football As soon as one starts rolling the ball the other one jumps up in its cage and does likewise. Dewey, the lion, gives the ball a whack with his right paw and the ball strikes the side of the cage with a great bang and bounds back, when he tries to catch it. He has great muscular power, and the force of his "kicking" would make a from him. The playfulness of the two animals is very unusual, Director Smith says, for lions of their age. THE great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to RAN OFF THE TRACK. A 117-ton Southern Pacific engine, being taken to the property of that railway, ran off the track at Hyde Park last evening, while being pulled into a siding. No trains were delayed.

A CLEVER DEVICE.

The illuminated bill board placed in front of the New Grand Opera House by Mr. J. F. Cairns, the local manager, is an excellent mode of outdoor advertising. It is a remarkably clever way of displaying a three-sheet lithograph in the evening. Electric lights placed back of the paper makes the reading matter easily discernible. The different shows will be advertised in this way. Besides this extra clever scheme of advertising, Mr. Cairns has arranged with the tenants of the Complaints having been made at the unreasonable length of time some persons monopolize the daily papers, to the delay of the busy man, who only wants a few minutes, and cannot wait an hour for it, the committee resolved to experiment with one stand containing the principal daily papers. They will have the chairs removed and the stand raised higher, so that the papers must be read while standing. The members present were Chairman James Egan, Talbot Macbeth, E. Manigault, Dr. A. O. Jeffery and J. C. Judd.

THE SPEECH OF THE KING

Gratified With the Results of the Royal Tour.

Reference to the War in South Africa Disappointingly Indefinite - The Sugar Bounty Question and Canal Treaty Touched.

THE SPEECH OF THE KING. London, Jan. 16.—The King's' speech at the opening of parliament opened with a reference to the tour of the Prince and Princess of Wales.

"They were everywhere," said the King, "received with demonstrations of the liveliest affection, and I am convinced their presence served to rivet more closely the bonds of mutual regard and loyalty, by which the vigor of the empire is maintained."

Referring to Great Britain's relations with foreign countries, the King "My relations with the other powers continue to be of a friendly character."

Contrary to expectation, the King's reference to the war was just as indefinite as the statements on the subject made in the last half dozen messages from the throne. "I regret," said his majesty, "that the war in South Africa is not yet concluded, though the course of the operations has been favorable to our arms, the area of war largely reduced, and industries are being resumed in my new colonies. In spite of the tedious char-acter of the campaign, my soldiers throughout have displayed a cheerfulness in the endurance of the hardships incident to guerrilla warfare, and a humanity, even to their own detri-ment, in their treatment of the enemy, which are deserving of the highest

"The necessity for relieving those of my troops who have most felt the strain of war has afforded me the op-portunity of again availing myself of the loyal and patriotic offers of my colonies, and further contingents will shortly reach South Africa from the Dominion of Canada, the Common-wealth of Australia and New Zea-

In regard to the sugar conference, the speech says: "I trust its decision may lead to the abandonment of the system by which the sugar producing colonies and the home manufacturers of sugar have been unfairly weighted in the prosecution of this important industry.' Then came the following clause: "I have concluded with the President of the United States a treaty, the provisions of which will facilitate the construction of an inter-oceanic canal under guarantees that its neutrality will be maintained and that it will be open to the commerce and shipping of all nations."

Next followed references to the Anglo-Brazilian treaty, to the referring of the British Guiana-Brazil boundary questions to the arbitration of the King of Italy, to the necessity for the continuance of famine relief measures in India, and to the death of the Ameer, "whose son, Habib Ullah, has expressed an earnest desire to maintain the friendly relations of Afghanisvith my India

After announcing that the estimates have "been framed as economically as due regard for their efficiency renders possible in the special circumstances of the present exigencies," the speech concluded with mentioning proposed legislation, of solely domestic interest, with the exception of a bill to facilitate the sale and purchase of land in

The decision of the municipal authorities of San Sebastian (Spain) to suppress the annual popular holiday consisting of tormenting bulls, occasioned serious rioting on Wednesday, during which many persons were injured, and much property was sacrificed. A mob stoned the town hall, the residences of the municipal officers and the barracks of the gendarmes. A powerful attack on the government's management of affairs in the Dutch East Indies continues to be made by Heit Volk, the Socialist organ of Amsterdam. The charges include the accusation that the Acheen war is being conducted by the Dutch army on lines of cruelty and barbarity. It is also said that gross venality has been discovered in connection with the Jambi war, involving high civil and military officials.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The Western Pickle Packers' Association, including repre-sentatives from Illinois, Indiana, Mich-igan, Ohio, Iowa and Missouri, are considering an advance in prices. It is declared that there might be a pickle famine before next summer, knowing the increase of $1 50 a barrel over the prices of a year ago. The crop of cu-cumbers was 600,000 bushels below the average, which means that pickle packers would be 200,000 barrels short. Henry Williams, of Detroit, Mich., one of the packers, said he would not be surprised if the supply gave out entirely be-fore the close of summer.

"But who would venture—"
"It is this mill people. Just look at this, and guess where I found it."
She handed him a tract, at which he looked with a puzzled air.

"What is all this, aunt? Is this the twopenny trash' that people talk of?"

"You see what it is. But you would never think I found it, not in the hands of a mechanic, but actually in one of my own cottages. You see how this rank peison is spreading. "Oh, a man from London—ome friend of Sir Francis Burdett and Lord Cochrane, no doubt. But he has money, and that's what they want."

"Do you know who it is?"

"His one is prescot, they say."

"His one is conting ween here."

"Do you know anything of him, aunt."

"Do you know anything of him, aunt." "I am glad to see you. Hugh," she said, in a voice that was grave and pleasant, but rather of the kind that women acquire, together with their Italian caligraphy, and which is too conventional, too lady-like, in fact, to express much character.

"I hope there is nothing wrong, aunt, that you called me down?"

"Oh, no; but we'll talk of that presently. I suppose you're hungry?"

"I certainly shan't be sorry to get something to eat. You are better, I hope?"

"As well as I can expect to be now. I have been out several times lately. But now, go and have your dinner, I had mine early, as usual. I have no doubt you will find it all ready for you. You will find me here when you have done. By the way, I have a visitor staying with me."

"Indeed! Anyone I know?"
"Well you do and you don't"

"Well, you do and you don't."
"That sounds mysterious, aunt. Is is male or female?"
"For shame, Hugh! It is Miss Raymond, of New Court."
"What! Alice? By Jove! I wonder what she's turned out. She ought to be nice, from what I remember when I was a boy."

Miss Clare smiled. "That is so very long ago, is it not? But you shall see and judge for yourself when you have had your dinner. I like her very much, but of course that is no reason that you will. Old ladies and young gentlemen don't always agree about those things. Now go and get your dinner."
"How is it she's here? I thought she was out of England."
"So she was, till very lately. But she has come back, and, of course, wanted to look at her own place—her old home, poor girl; so I asked her to stay with me. But now, do go and get your dinner. Miss Raymond will not run away; and, besides, I have something to say to you before I introduce you to your old acquaintance."

But Hugh, hungry as he was, instead of just washing his hands and sitting down at once to the good things provided for him, went to his own room and vided for him, went to his own room and made a regular evening tollette. He might, he thought, appear before the visitor to the best advantage while he was about it.

At last, however, having amply satisfied his hunger and thirst, he returned to the drawing-room. But Miss Clare was still by herself; so he sat down near her, and disposed himself to listen dutifully to what she had to say.

"You know there's to be a general election, Hugh?"

"I should think so. Nobody is talking of anything else." of anything else."

"Do you know anything of him, then?"
"I should think so. He's a great man with all that lot—as well known as any one in town. He's a banker, and as rich as a Jew. He's an awful rascal, I fancy, but tremendously good-looking; and he can talk, too, they say. By Jove! every woman in the place will turn Whig as soon as he's been an hour in it, if all's true I hear. Poor old Tom won't have a chance."

soon as he's been an hour in it, if all's true I hear. Poor old Tom won't have a chance."

Now "poor old Tom" was a certain Captain Johnston, a harmless old gentleman, who had represented the Clares in Parliament for the last thirty years—who was, in fact, the objectionable "Tory nominee."

"That is just what I think too. I feel that Captain Johnston will be no use to stand a serious contest. And so what I wanted to say to you is, that you must come forward yourself."

"My dear aunt!"

"You are of age, you know."

"Why, Prescot would thrash me worse than Johnston."

"Not at all. You are a Clare, you know, in all but the name, and master of Earl's Dene."

This was not bad reasoning. The electors of Denethorp might object to be any longer represented by a "warmingpan," as the phrase is; but the heir of Earl's Dene was their representative by nature. Hugh felt the force of the argument at once. He certainly did not enter into Miss Clare's views as to his candidature with much enthusiasm; for he feared, and not without reason, according to common experience, that being in the House would probably be more troublesome than pleasant, and he was not ambitious. But still he did not for a soment dream of combating them. Whatever his private inclinations might be, supposing that he was capable of considering the matter as presenting an alternative he would feel himself bound as a gentleman, to do whatever might be expected of him as the future head considering the matter as presenting an alternative, he would feel himself bound as a gentleman, to do whatever might be expected of him as the future head of a great county family, and as one of the Clares of Earl's Dene. "Noblesse oblige." Every great house has its traditions, which are respected and accepted by its own county, and must be respected and accepted by its own county, and must be respected and accepted by its own county, and must be respected and accepted by its own county. The hear of the county is own the same degenerate member of it, crush the apostate with their fragments. The heir of Earl's Dene was far too sensible—if such a word can be used to express what was in reality the result of instinct—not to observe to the full the traditional policy of his family in every essential particular. It would have seemed to him to be treason to act otherwise. And so he submitted to become the candidate for Denethorp with the best grace in the world, and without farther protest—with the same readiness to do what he could to win, and with the same zeal for his side that he was in the habit of bringing to bear upon more congenial contests.

"And now you see," said Miss Clare, "why I sent for you so suddenly. No time must be lost. Captain Johnston's address is out already, to say he does not mean to stand, and your own is prepared. You must ride over to Denethorp tomorrow and talk to White." "What does White think of things?" "Well, he always speaks candidly to me, and he is not sanguine. But I am. We must not be beat, Hugh." "And we won't aunt-not if I can help it." "That's right. Hugh. Pluck-I like the

"That's right, Hugh, Pluck—I like the word—must win; and no Clare, or Lester either, has ever wanted that." She sighed, however, as she made her boast. "I fear it will be pluck against pluck, though, and money against money." "Then blood will tell."

"But, from what you say, London is making itself felt in the place; and there blood doesn't seem to tell much.

"My dear boy, Earl's Dene will always be as good as London in Denethorp, which is in —shire, and not in Middlesex."

"Well, I will see White tomorrow, by all means. And don't fear that I won't do all I know."

"Not fearing that, I fear nothing."

"I wish I could speak like Prescott, though."

"Much better not. The best erator is, after all, the man who says nothing but what is in him, and that can always be said in a very few words. You will speak well enough; and, indeed, I think that a gentleman should not speak too well. Speeches are the weapons of demagogues, which a gentleman should scorn. No—I should no more like to see you the match of a man like Mr. Prescott than I should like to think you could use your fists like a prize-fighter. Tomorrow you shall tell me all the London news. Now I will introduce you to Miss Raymond. She has been taking a turn on the terrace while I was talking to you. No, don't move; I would rather call her myself."

The remainder of the side stakes is to be posted as follows: Five thousand dollars on signing of articles, $5,000 on July 1, and the final $5,000 on the night before the race.

A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ.

If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stom-ach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digeon and nutrition, are cured also.

THE NEW SCHISM IN THE SALVATION ARMY

Why Founder Booth's Daughter and Her Husband Joined the Chicago "Faith-Healer."

London, Jan. 16.-As was stated yesterday, Booth's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Booth Clibborn, and Percy Clibborn, have resigned from the Salvation Army and joined the sect of John Alexander Dowie, of Chi-

The Booth-Clibborns demanded the right to preach the Dowie doctrines of faith healing while remaining in the Salvation Army. This demand was refused by General Booth, who sent his most trusted lieutenant to Holland to win them back, but in vain, and their formal resignations reached the London headquarters of the Salvation Army Sunday. Leaders of the army say their secession will cause a serious split, as hardly any salvationists are followers of Dowieism.

New York, Jan. 15 .- "Leaves of Healing," Dowie's Chicago publication, contain a letter which throws light on the resignation of the Booth-Clibborns. The letter is dated Nov. 30, 1901, and was written from Zionsheim, Switzer-Booth-Clibborn writes Dowie: "I have decided to offer myself to you, dear doctor, for Zion, and do so firmly believing it to be the will of God. I had thoughts of starting a separate mission until I got light about the Elijah matter, as that was the great obstacle. To me it could only be a gigantic error or a gigantic truth filed with unspeakable solemnity, even though Elijah was a man with pas-sions like ourselves. I take it that you come in the spirit and power of Elijah and as the herald of the second com-ing, the Baptist of the Millennial

Dawn."

Owing to being superseded in command of the Salvation Army in America by his brother-in-law. Booth-Tucker, Ballington Booth and wife seceded some years ago and formed "the Volunteers of America," Father and son have never become reconciled, although "Gen." William Booth has visited the United States since the secession movement and repeated efsecession movement and repeated efforts have been made to heal the

RIGHTS OF FATHERS

To the Custody of Their Children-Interesting Decision by Justice Lount.

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Justice Lount yes-terday gave judgment in a curious case, in which J. J. Gillen, of Hamilton, sued for the custody of his 18year-old daughter, Veronica, who has been living with her maternal grand-mother, Mrs. Warnock, of that city. Mrs. Warnock resisted the applica-tion in filed affidavits, in which it was alleged that Gillen never attended church, went to cock fights, even on Sunday, gambled and drank to excess sometimes.

Gillen countered on this with evidence as to his general moral character, and pointed out that his mother lived with him and would care for his daughter, who would be properly supported.

The judge, in giving judgment entrusting the custody of the girl to Gillen, said that a man was the natural guardian of his child, and very strong evidence of his misconduct must be available before the law would take his child from him. Such evidence had not been given in this case. If persons who attended cock fights, plays cards, and occasionally drink to excess were, although otherwise of good moral character, not fit custodi-ans of their own children, there were very many children in the wrong cus-

Saved Madame Guimond Much Pain and Trouble and She Has Shown Her Appreciation.

Advice is often tendered with the very best intention which it is not wise to follow. It is so easy to advise and suggest, and one of the greatest annoyances sick people have to endure is the careless suggestions of those who mean well but do not understand. Almost anyone who has not had stomach troubles of his own can tell a dyspeptic just how to be cured. The only advice a sick person should follow is that of one who has suffered in a similar way and who has found

Madame Amanda Guimond, of Grand Metis, Quebec, had suffered from Dyspepsia for years. Many suggestions were made and many treatments tried, but she got no better till a friend who had been cured of Dyspepsia by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets advised her to use them. She did so, and soon was free from any pain or distress. The relief came with the first dose, and a complete cure with the fourth box. Now Madame Guimond never tires telling her friends what Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have done for her. She is also very grateful to the friend who gave her such excellent advice.

Madame Guimond advises all who suffer with Stomach Trouble to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and her advice should be worth your attention, for she has experienced both the pain you now endure and the cure you may secure if you will but do as she advise secure if you will but do as she ad-

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

East Middlesex Farmers Meet at Thorndale.

Discussion on Dairy Cows, Poultry and Fruit Trees.

Very Important Addresses by Messrs. Elmer Lick, G. R. Cottrell and D. Drummond.

East Middlesex Farmers' Institute was held yesterday afternoon and evening, at Thorndale. The attendance in the afternoon was somewhat smaller than it would otherwise have been, owing to the absence of a K.C., M.G., should attract a large audience. The subject is interesting and the lecturer an able speaker. Sir number of farmers at large Mrs. Brock, whose sudden death occurred on Monday. What was lacking however, made up by the enthusiasm with which the yeomanry of East Middlesex discussed the various points and questioned the delegates in regard to the methods of their calling.

Mr. E. Nicholson, of Thorndale, president of the East Middlesex Association, was chairman, and in a few prefatory remarks introduced the speakers. He referred to the vast strides farmers' institutes have made in the estimation of the people, so that now they occupy a very prominent position as the farmers' normal school. The attendance at the various institute meetings held last year totaled 131,652, hens should be fed bran mash—all they meetings held last year totaled 132,653. pers read, or addresses delivered. The delegation present was composed of Messrs. D. Drummond, of Myrtle, Ont.; G. R. Cottrell, of Milton, Ont., and Elmer Lick, of Oshawa, Ont., fruit inspector of the eastern part of the Breeding and Care of Dairy Cows." He had heard of the reputation of this county in regard to live stock, but was always of the opinion that the farmers of Middlesex were more interested in Shorthorns and in fine breeds ord, will be pleased to learn that he of sheep than in dairy cattle. He was feeding purposes, stale bread has been chosen for the highest posi- glad to learn that he had been labortion in Brantford City Council, next to ing under a misconception and that the mayoralty—that of chairman of his hearers were taking a deep interparticular to his subject, the speaker stated that it was necessary to know precisely the type of cow, or breed, one was aiming at. It was not advisable to cross or change off from one breed to another. "The law concerning breeding, namely, the law of se-lection, is entirely under our control. The law of like producing like is quite true, but is not under the control of In breeding dairy cattle, we man. must endeavor to find out all we can about the foreparents, the sire and the dam. In making a proper selection, the wisest way is to use the best milkers as the dams of your future stock.'

The speaker stated that it was far more difficult to find a good sire for dairy cattle than for any other kind of cattle. It is a comparatively easy matter to select a proper sire if the desire is to produce beef; the fleshy parts are on the outside and may be easily seen. If you get the sire as like the dam as possible, there is a danger of breeding down hill; a proper sire must possess strong masculine characteristics. Those characteristics are to be seen in the head, and particularly in the eye more than anywhere else. A good sire shows its strength in the head, neck, and shoulder, and is wide between the eyes. It possesses a reasonable but not excessive breadth across the hip-

Speaking on the subject of breeding, Mr. Drummond thought the proper age to breed dairy heifers was from 2 to 1/2 years, so that they bear the first calves before being turned upon grass in the spring, or about the middle of April. After they are bred is the critcal period for dairy cattle. Our dairy cattle today are not natural animals; they are artificial; in the natural condition the dam was supposed to give enough milk to feed her young. By artificial means that amount has been greatly increased. The speaker here referred to White Floss, the heifer shown at the Chicago exhibition. He pointed out what had been accomplished by this specimen, owing chiefly to the extra skill that had been exercised in her development. Five or six months after the animal had been bred a little extra food should be given, increasing until the time she should drop her calf. Care should, however, be ex-Victoria, B. A kind of food that will keep the bowels working well should be fed.
The first milk drawn from the heifer should be used to feed the calf. At this time comes what the speaker termed the educative period or the period when heifers should be educated to become persistent milkers. The length of time from the first to the second calf should be from 13 to 14 months, and, the speaker went on to state, the heifer should be milked, if only a very little, up to within five or six weeks of the time for the second calf. The average milch cow gives milk only about five or six months.

The next sub-topic taken up was feeding. The speaker did not advise the feeding of ensilage to heifers during the growing period; he preferred roots. After the animal had become fully developed, he would advise then the feeding of ensilage, which, he said, was your good in its place. He here was very good in its place. He be-lieved also that ensilage should not be fed excessively to bulls that were intended for any very extensive ser-

In conclusion, considerable discussion took place in regard to silos and ensilage. Mr. Drummond contended that the proper time to cut ensilage corn was when the kernel was just becom-ing glazed. He advised the growing of several varieties of corn. He explained the process of the pollen fertilization; how the wind would carry the dust or pollen from the top of the stack to the pistils of other stacks. Sometimes a very high wind would carry the pollen away so that the process of fertiliza-tian was not properly done, and scrub-by, half-filled ears were the result. By growing several varieties of corn, it was possible to obviate this, that is, by growing varieties that mature at different periods.

Mr. G. R. Cottrell dealt with the Mr. G. R. Cottrell dealt with the subject, "Poultry for Profit on the Or-dinary Farm." He began by dilating on the possibilities of the old country markets, which, he said, were practically unlimited. He spoke on what he called a great necessity, namely, a proper poultry house. This should be constructed for use and need not be A meeting under the auspices of the and well ventilated. Of the materials for the construction of a poultry house. Mr. Cottrell preferred either wood or cement to stone. No aspect in connection with the poultry industry requires greater emphasis than that of securing better varieties of poultry. The Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes present the best appearance when dressed; as broilers, the Wyandottes are a little the best. But there is very little difference between the two varieties as winter layers. The speaker impressed upon his audience the necessity of keeping hens in an active condition. "Unless," said he, "one keeps hens in an active con dition, they will never pay. At them. After chickens were hatched he advised that they be removed to a gable-shaped coop. Chickens should not be fed until 48 hours after they were hatched. The speaker stated that no more chickens should be raised than it was possible to handle properly and prepare for the markets in due season. When the chickens are three and a half or four months old is the time to prepare for the market. Mr. Ruddin, of Liverpool, paid 9 and 10 cents a pound for dressed poulty in Toronto. Continuing in regard to the fattening process, Mr. Cottrell sid that hens should be shut up in crates of the following dimensions-164 feet long, 16 inches wide and 20 inches high. Each crate should be divided into compart-ments. The object is to prevent the fowls from developing their muscles. The length of the attening period should be about thre weeks. Care should be exercised o as not to over-

Considerable disussion followed, which brought out many interesting points on the subjet.

Mr. Elmer Lick, ruit inspector, was the last speaker. Ie complimented his audience as being nen who were thoroughly interested n their calling, and who were anxiousto seek all the light possible. Mr. Lic's subject was "The Production of Frit of Good Quality." The time had core, he believed, when farmers should the better care of their orchards. An aple dealer in Eastern Ontario, speakin of this western part of the province, said that the care bestowed on the chards was much the same as that given to the woods. The speaker asked he farmers if any of them ever cultrated their orchards for the purpose of retaining the moisture in the soil. It went on to point out the kind of citivation for trees of bearing age. he land should be plowed about the nd of May or the begin-ning of June. The process of cultivation should t kept up until the middle of July, when the orchard should be sown wit rape or buckwheat. Every four orfive years the orchard might be son with a crop of clover. which shoul be plowed under in June. A good coa of manure, about ten to twelve loas per acre, or plenty of straw, as rulch, would also be a good thing for a orchard.

The farrer is troubled with two curses—fir, the agent who sells him different vrieties of trees, and second, the so-caed professional pruner, who goes aroud from farm to farm, purgoes aroud from farm to farm, purporting t be an expert in the art.
"Under of condition," said the speaker, "should more than one-quarter of the top f a tree be taken out in any one seash." It is a mistake to cut out the cenal or terminal limb of a tree, as is to often done by the so-called

Mr. Jck went somewhat at length into th methods of pruning. The month)f June is the very best time for prining for those who have the time; or the busy farmer the month of Mah is very suitable. Trees should be pried a little every year.
