Lactated Food the Physicians Favorite.

For many years, Lactated Food has received the highest endorsement of the best physicians, because of its great life-giving and flesh-forming qualities. It sustains infant life in the hot summer weather when all other foods are rejected. Lactated Food is retained on the weak stomach when even lime water and milk is rejected. Try Lactated Food for your baby, dear mother, it may be the means of saving its life.

MEETS DEATH IN A STRANGE GUISE. Boy Killed by a Stone Set in Motion by a Flying Bicycle.

Chicago, June 30.—Three-year-old Ernest Schlickewein, the son of Franz Schlickewein, a German truck farmer, living about four miles southeast of Hinsdale, met his death in a manner hitherto unheard of. Just as dusk he was following his mother along a path beside the roadway which fronts their home, when they were passed by a wheelman riding very fast toward them. Shortly afterward Mrs. Schlickewein missed her son. Hastening back, she discovered that her son had fallen to the ground at the point where he had fallen to the ground. It had been snapped from under the wheel of the scorching cyclist with sufficient force to cause death. The wheelman, who was, of course, entirely ignorant of the accident, passed on to his home, leaving the remains of the boy.

All-Night Fight.

A Hot Debate in the British House of Commons

Closure Applied—Lively Passages Between the Party Leaders.

London, June 30.—The House of Commons sat throughout the night debating the Agricultural Land Rating Bill, intended to lessen the taxation on agricultural land. The debate proceeded quietly until 2 o'clock in the morning. The Government kept its forces well in hand, insuring a majority of over 150. After midnight the excitement increased and the different clauses were carried under the closure rule. The Liberal leader, Mr. William Vernon Harcourt, denounced the methods which the Conservative leader, Mr. Balfour, was adopting in order to extricate the Government from the mess into which it has fallen through making too many election promises and overweighing itself with important bills, which, like the Educational Bill, recently shelved for repairs, it has been unable to pass in spite of its overwhelming majority. In fact for which the leadership of Mr. Balfour has been greatly blamed.

Mr. Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, angrily retorted that the Opposition was the most factious ever seen, and asserted that its tactics were rapidly reducing parliamentary proceedings to little more than a farce.

Mr. James H. Dalglish, Liberal, accused Lord Hugh Cecil, Conservative, fifth son of the Marquis of Salisbury, of deliberate and organized interference with the debate.

The Speaker, Right Hon. William Court Gully, was appealed to, but he declined to interfere, beyond exhorting the members to be more orderly during debate. A little later Mr. Dalglish characterized Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's speech as being "impertinent," whereupon there were cries of "withdraw." The Speaker suggested that Mr. Dalglish had no intention to be offensive in his remarks, and after some more skirmishing another clause of the bill was closed.

This brought forth another storm of derisive shouts from the Opposition, and Dr. C. K. D. Tanner, Irish Nationalist, was heard to shout "Gag." For this the doctor was warned by the chairman. After 5 o'clock in the morning the members began to get hungry and thirsty, and things generally became quieter. When the sun rose the Government leader was still at his post, apparently as fresh as when he entered the House on the previous evening, and evidently ready to fight it out all day if necessary.

The Liberal leader was also standing by his guns; but he showed the effects of the wear and tear of the night.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, who is generally in the thick of such a fight as this, was absent. He was present, it is true, at one division, but apparently not caring to face the storm he saw approaching, he disappeared from the House, and enjoyed a good night's rest, while his fellow Cabinet Ministers fought it out throughout the long and dull hours between night and morning. The bill was finally reported to the House at about 8 o'clock this morning, and the third Reading of the Agricultural Land Rating Bill was fixed for Wednesday.

The Aberdeens.

Will Visit London in September and Attend the Fair.

A Public Reception on Behalf of the Local Branch of Council for Women to be Given at the Residence of Mrs. E. W. Hyman.

The regular meeting of the Women's Council, was held last night, at which considerable business was dealt with. Mrs. English presiding.

A telegram announcing the coming of the Governor-General and his wife, was read. Lord and Lady Aberdeen will be in London on Sept. 16 and 17 next, to attend the Western Fair, and while here the local branch of the National Council of Women will hold a public meeting and reception.

Lady Aberdeen will be at the public meeting on the night of the 16th, and on the evening of the 17th she will be invited to a reception at the residence of Mrs. E. W. Hyman.

Committees were appointed to arrange matters and use every effort in their power to make the affair successful. Officers of federated societies will receive invitations to the reception, while any members can obtain invitations by applying to their presidents. A badge to be worn by members of the Council, was adopted. It is in the shape of a lover's knot, in dark and light blue, and has the Golden Rule inscribed on it.

City Council.

The Mayor Receives a Check for the Syndicate Employees.

A New Cold Storage Seeks an Opening in Town.

City Engineer's Office to be Moved Downstairs.

The Proposition Causes a Heated Discussion.

In Which Motives Are Imputed—The Car Shops Matter.

Mayor Little delivered a very important verbal message to the aldermen at last night's meeting of the council. He first officially acquainted them with the intention of Thomas Robinson & Sons, of West Hartlepool, England, to establish an egg and provision business in the city. Then he spoke of the car shops matter, and said that from what the Grand Trunk visitors said there seemed to be no question whatever about the car shops going on, and that immediately.

The next intimation will be cheering indeed to a score of more families between London and Port Stanley. When the Miller "Syndicate" threw up the case of the L. and P. S. they owed $750 to their employees. The liability of the city has long been a subject of dispute. Legally it was proven that the corporation was not responsible, while morally the aldermen thought they were. Mayor Little took the matter up and arranged with the Walkers, who own the L. E. and D. R., to pay the amount for the lease of some land which recently passed into the city's hands at Port Stanley.

The mayor received the check for the amount on Saturday. As soon as the claims are in, he proposes to call a special meeting of the Port Stanley Board to deal with the matter.

The mayor's last communication was a veritable item of news to the aldermen. It was the application of the Dominion Cold Storage Company, Montreal, for certain concessions preparatory to establishing a cold storage warehouse here, equipped with all modern appliances and an ammonia refrigerating plant. The capacity of the warehouse will be 500,000 cubic feet, building and plant to cost between $100,000 and $125,000, and work to commence within three months after the passage of the necessary by-law. The number of hands to be employed will be from 12 to 20, according to the season.

The concessions asked for are as follows:

1. Total exemption from taxation.
2. Exclusive permission to lay an ammonia pipe under the streets for conveying their refrigerant to packing houses and other establishments requiring refrigeration.
3. The right to convey water from the river Thames to the warehouse by means of a pipe laid under the streets, the city to lay the pipe free of expense to the company, except the actual cost of the pipe itself. This would be only necessary should the water pipe now used and controlled by the Grand Trunk Railway not be found available or sufficient for the requirements of the company.
4. Permission to make switching connection, and to operate same under arrangement with the London Street Railway Company.

The communication further states that the trade of the whole district will be stimulated, and the production of such articles as eggs, butter, cheese, poultry, etc., will be enormously increased, and while glut in the market may, by means of the storage, be bridged over, prices to the citizens generally will be uniform throughout the year.

The applicant stated that the different railways had offered free sites, but the company thought the interests of the city would be better served by a location near the market, and suggested that the city might buy a site and lease it to the company at a nominal rental.

"I understand they have purchased property in Brantford," said Ald. Pritchard.

"But Brantford won't have any railways to carry the stuff away," retorted Ald. Powell.

The matter was referred to No. 1 committee.

Ald. Carrothers, Ald. Skinner and Ald. Garratt were absent. The latter came in before the meeting concluded, but Ald. Skinner is absent in Windsor attending the bedside of a sick brother. The communications included:

The W. C. A.—For remission of taxes on Wellington and Victoria street property, No. 1.

John D. O'Neill—Re Labelle vs. Howell, No. 1.

Wm. Moorehouse—For remission of taxes, No. 1.

Edward Walsh—For remission of poundage fees, No. 1.

Geo. Wyatt—Re personal property taxes, No. 1.

George Oliver—For sidewalks on parts of Wellington street and Hellmouth avenue, No. 2.

M. J. Hall—For extension of the inclosing Carling's Creek at Central avenue, No. 2.

James A. Cairncross, et al.—For a tile sewer on Wolfe street, No. 2.

John Bland, et al.—For an asphalt pavement on Wolfe street, No. 2.

Dean Innes, on behalf of the Humane Society—Re exposure of horses to the weather on Market Square, No. 3.

Alex. Lowrie—For permission to peddle fruit without a license, granted.

George H. Belton—Re circus license fee, filed.

The report of the band concert committee recommending that $35 be allowed for each band concert, band to consist of 30 men and a leader, was adopted, and the committee discharged.

The clause in No. 3 committee's report, recommending that horses be taken from market wagons within five minutes after coming on the market, aroused a great deal of opposition.

In this connection, Dean Innes' letter on behalf of the Humane Society, containing a similar recommendation to that of the market clerk, was read. "I think," said Ald. O'Meara, "it is time to tell these societies to mind their own business, and not interfere with that of others."

The clause was struck out. A great deal of talk was also indulged in in connection with the coal tenders recommended by No. 3 committee. Finally the matter was referred back for further consideration.

The debate of the evening arose over the proposition of No. 2 committee to move the city engineer's office down to the ground floor of the shop now occupied by Hugh Sharkey as a barber shop.

"I will move that that get a six-months' hold," said Ald. Douglass. "Second it," said Ald. Dreauey.

"Was any amount set apart for this in the estimates?" asked Ald. Taylor. "There has been," answered Ald. Parnell.

"But no notice has been given the tenant," said Ald. Taylor. "Only 30 days' notice will be required," answered Ald. Parnell.

"What is the object at this late time of the year to dispossess a tenant?" asked Ald. Taylor again.

"There is no object," replied Ald. Parnell. "Other than to benefit the engineer's department and to place it on a basis with the other offices of the city. It is the intention to set apart a portion of the down-stairs office for the mayor. This will prevent the climbing of stairs by aged and infirm people who have occasion to go to both the engineer's and mayor's offices."

"The object may be all right," answered Ald. Taylor, "but the intention may not be so perfect."

"It is a useless and wasteful expenditure of money," said Ald. Pritchard. "There is something peculiar behind this that is being kept from this council, some secret understanding that is not right."

"I never had any question to consider that really savored more of an ugly aspect than this very question," said Ald. Powell. He said that the originally favored the move, but if rumor was correct politics was said to be actuating it, and because of that he could not then countenance it.

"For one, I repudiate any political motive," said Ald. Armstrong. "I don't see how politics can have anything to do with the moving of the offices downstairs. There is only one motive, and that is to facilitate business."

Ald. Bennett supported the change and Ald. Parnell assured the aldermen that there was not the slightest foundation for the rumors of political motives.

Ald. Pritchard—I can prove it. Mr. Sharkey they appeared within the railing and asked permission to say a word. This was granted.

Mr. Parnell's friend, Mr. O'Gorman began Mr. Sharkey.

"Now, Mr. Mayor," expostulated Ald. Parnell, "I know nothing about this. I am not going to be dragged into it."

"Mr. O'Gorman told me," continued Mr. Sharkey, "on the night of the election that I had 30 days' notice to quit and he would see that it was attended to."

"I think," said the mayor, "I ought to take my full share of the responsibility in this matter as I did to record my vote with the yeas. I have no desire to injure any man's business in any way, shape or form. You are all aware that months ago, as far as I am concerned, I was in favor of this move, and that I spoke to a good many aldermen about it. I am satisfied that it is in the best interests of the city from every point of view. So far as doing this as a punishment for anybody for saying that they have been taken, I repudiate that as being unworthy of honest people. If thought such an attempt was being made I would do all in my power to defeat and prevent it. So far as I am concerned I was in favor of it last year and am in favor of it this year, and I will be in favor of it as long as I have a vote. Surely if a landlord thinks proper to use a building for any other purpose he has a perfect right to do so."

The division was as follows: Yeas—John Heaman, O'Meara, Wm. Heaman, Armstrong, Dreauey, Innes, Nukins, Parnell, McCallum, Geary, and Mayor Little—11.

Nays—Pritchard, Taylor, Powell, Douglass, and Cooper—5.

Ald. Dreauey voted with the majority so as to give notice of motion for a reconsideration.

Under the head of inquiries Ald. Powell asked if any effort had been made as to locate the person who had been poisoning dogs in the park.

Ald. Parnell replied in effect that he had questioned the suspected party, who had denied the act. Ald. O'Meara said that a man who would poison dogs would poison a man.

Ald. Cooper moved for an electric light in the corner of St. James and Adelaide streets.

Before adjourning, the bylaw forming the new Court of Revision was passed. The council appointed ex-Ald. Jones and the mayor Mr. Angus M. Gunn, valuator of the Ontario Loan Company, while the sheriff is a member of the office. The salary was placed at $25.

The council then adjourned until the first week in August.

Beyond Hope.

No Chance of Saving the Imprisoned Miners.

Water Pouring Into the Slope May Drive Out the Rescuers—Newspaper "Enterprise" Checked.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 30.—The rescuers in the mine yesterday afternoon encountered a new difficulty. Water is pouring into the slope, and threatens to drive the men at work out. Supt. Law thinks it is water from the surface, and that it will soon cease to flow into the mine. There are others of a different opinion. They think the water comes from the Susquehanna River, which is near by. If it is river water the whole mine will be flooded in a short time, and it would take months before the bodies could be gotten out.

A party of newspaper artists received permission from Supt. Law to go into the mine to make sketches, but Inspector McDonald protested, and said he would allow no man to enter the mine who was not a practical miner. "There are enough lives lost now," he continued, "and there is no use in increasing the number." One of the artists offered to donate $1,000 to the relief fund if allowed to go down the shaft, but the offer was refused.

At a late hour last night the situation was unchanged. There is no hope of saving life.

A NASTY TONGUE

Is Proof Positive That You Are in Danger.

Thousands Die Each Year From Liver Trouble.

Paine's Celery Compound Promptly Cures This Insidious Disease.

The liver is the great housekeeper of our health. On its right and proper action depends our enjoyment of life. One of the simplest indications of a disordered and diseased liver is a nasty tongue—furred and coated. The coated tongue is proof positive that your liver is not working well. Other symptoms are as follows: nauseous taste in the mouth, pains under the shoulder blades and in the region of the kidneys. The mental symptoms of liver trouble are often far worse than the bodily ills. Sufferers experience mental anguish, gloomy forebodings, melancholy and a general feeling of disgust with life. When the bodily and mental troubles are experienced, your liver tells you it wants help. If help is not given at once, sickness and death must result.

Thousands have found Paine's Celery Compound a sure and certain cure for liver disease. It always acts promptly on the great biliary system and restores that healthy and natural action that the liver must have at all times. Paine's Celery Compound drives from the system all the poisons that have accumulated, and the sick one regains his old-time vim and energy; the muscles and tissues are made hard and firm, the blood clear and fresh, so that perfect health is the result.

Read this letter written by Mrs. George Durant, of Elma, Ont. No stronger proof can be given of the virtues and powers of Paine's Celery Compound in the cure of liver troubles:

"For many years I have been a sufferer from liver trouble, and have been doctored with several physicians, but only found relief for a very short time. My husband advised me to try your Paine's Celery Compound. I did so, and found so much relief from the first bottle that I continued, and I am now using the third bottle. Your Compound has done more for me than any physician. For months before using the Compound I never had one night of sound sleep; but now I can go to bed and sleep soundly and naturally, and feel like a new creature in the morning."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier

Lord Aberdeen Has Recommended that the New Premier Be Knighted.

Leading Liberals Confer With Their Chief at Montreal.

Premier Fielding May Be a Member of the New Cabinet.

Sir Charles Tupper Still Holds on to Office, but May Resign Before Saturday.

MEETING THE NEW PREMIER.

Montreal, June 30.—Mr. Laurier arrived in town yesterday afternoon from Arthabaska. He was met there on Saturday by Premier Fielding, of Nova Scotia, and Mr. J. Isaac Tarte, and the political situation was discussed. Mr. James Sutherland, M. P., the Liberal whip, joined the party here. Mr. Laurier and Premier Fielding were the center last night around the Windsor, which was crowded with politicians. Mr. Fielding's address here last December in Windsor Hall, created a fine impression, and many visitors last night admitted that he would be a great source of strength if he joined Mr. Laurier's Cabinet. As he has come this time with Mr. Laurier, the probability is that he will be one of the new Ministers. Premier Blair, of New Brunswick, and Premier Mowat, of Ontario, are expected here tonight.

A great deal of talk took place here over the report that Sir Charles Tupper would not resign until defeated in the House, and that there was a plan to capture a number of the seats now held by Liberals. One of these seats is Argenteuil, and it was reported that Mr. Abbott had been elected by 64, and a deputy returning officer at a poll was said to have had a majority did not initial the ballots. The report, however, was untrue, as a messenger from the latter last night says the returning officer has declared Mr. Christie, Liberal, elected by 73.

Montreal Conservatives are unanimous in saying they hope that Sir Charles will accept the inevitable and resign.

St. John, N. B., June 30.—Hon. H. L. Davies passed through here yesterday afternoon en route to Montreal. At the depot a very large crowd of prominent men met the Maritime Province leader. He was given several hearty cheers as the train moved out of Montreal.

PORK AND BEANS GO UP.
Chatham, June 30.—Two of Kent county's greatest products have risen in price considerably since the election—beans being quoted 5 cents a bushel better, while pork has gone up 25 cents a hundred. Large quantities are being disposed of, and the farmers are feeling considerably happier and richer, thus proving that it is not a calamity that the Liberals have been asked to take the reins of government.

OFFICIAL DECLARATIONS.
—Vancouver, B. C., June 30.—Following are the majorities of the members-elect of British Columbia:
Victoria—Prior, 202; Earle, 102; both Conservatives.
Vancouver Island—McInnes (Lib.), 197.
Burnaby, including Vancouver City—Maxwell (Lib.), 418.
New Westminster District—Morrison (Lib.), 355.
Yale—Cariboo—Bostock (Lib.), 247.
It is reported that a protest has been entered in Victoria. The evidence of bribery and corruption is sufficient to unseat both the Conservative candidates, and possibly to disqualify one.

Winnipeg, June 30.—Saskatchewan and Selkirk returns are still incomplete, but the Liberals claim that both seats will show a majority in their favor. Delay is caused by the non-arrival of ballot boxes from the lake points.

Frank Oliver, the new member for Alberta, is named by the Calgary people as Minister for the Northwest in the new Laurier Cabinet.
Ridgeway, June 30.—The official count in the West Elgin election gives Mr. George E. Casey, Liberal, a majority of 726.
Southampton, June 30.—The official count for North Bruce gives McNeill, Conservative, a majority of 19.

THE YOUNGEST MEMBER.

Amherst, N. S., June 30.—Saturday was declaration day here, and H. J. Logan, Liberal, was declared elected by a majority of 155 over the Hon. A. R. Dickey, Minister of Justice. The official figures are: Logan, 3,462; Dickey, 3,307. Cumberland sends probably the youngest member of the new House, Mr. Logan having just passed his twenty-seventh birthday. He is a barrister by profession, being a graduate in law from Dalhousie University, and he enters political life under most favorable circumstances, having won the great county from his opponent after 4 years of Tupperism, notwithstanding the most corrupt influences used against him. The Conservative majority has always been very large, Mr. Dickey having been returned as a member in 1901 by 410 and in 1892 by 220 of a majority.

THAT RESIGNATION.

Ottawa, June 30.—Sir Charles Tupper says that the Governor-General will return to the capital on Thursday. When asked whether this implied the immediate resignation of the Ministry, the Premier replied by no means, that until such time as the period for holding accounts had elapsed the Government would certainly not step out. It is understood, however, that the Government will resign before the end of the week.

The interesting report is in circulation today that Mr. George A. Cox, of Toronto, is the prospective Finance Minister for Mr. Laurier.
A KNIGHTHOOD FOR LAURIER.
Montreal, June 30.—Your correspondent learns upon excellent authority that Lord Aberdeen lost no time, as soon as it became known that Hon. Mr. Laurier had carried the country, in recommending the Liberal leader to her Majesty for knighthood, and that it is the impression in viceregal circles that when the new Canadian Prime Minister takes his place at the Speaker's right in the House of Commons he will do so under no other title than that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

NOTES.
Liberals should demand a recount before the judge in every constituency where the majority declared against them is small.

A private telegram received here today from Victoria, B. C., says that there is evidence of the grossest corruption against the Government men, and the return of Col. Prior and Mr. Earl will be protested at the earliest moment.

It is averred, and on authority unquestionable, that never in its history was the International Governmental Railway used as a party machine to such an extent as in the present contest. Three passes were dealt out from Conservative headquarters all over the province without stint. So glaring was the abuse that it is likely an investigation will be demanded when Parliament convenes.

NOTICE TO "ADVERTISER" AGENTS.

Ratz Is the Man

For Whom the Majority of North Middlesex Electors Voted.

Two Hundred and Twenty-Four Rejected Ballots, But Most of Them Marked for Ratz—A Recount Demanded.

Special to the "Advertiser."
Allan Craig, June 30.—Believe it or not, the official returns for North Middlesex, as compiled by the returning officer, have been demanded by the friends of Mr. Ratz, and will take place on Friday. They are confident that he will be elected. The number of rejected ballots—224—is unprecedented. Of these over 100 were marked for Mr. Ratz in the space allotted for his name, and only 109 were so marked for Mr. Hutchins. The intention of these voters is perfectly clear, and it is believed the judge will decree the ballots good. The great majority of the rejected ballots are marked for Ratz in one way or another.

The official returns by subdivisions are:

Are You Tired?

All the time? This condition is a sure indication that your blood is not rich and nourishing, as it ought to be, and as it may be if you will take a few bottles of the great blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands write that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured them of that tired feeling by giving them rich, red blood.

HOOD'S PILLS act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

The New Woman Not in It.

With all her frills and fads, the "New Woman" does not commence to enjoy the same comfort with her mannish clothing that a man does. For she will almost always sacrifice comfort for style and effect, while with a man comfort comes first. Men's suits and overcoats are made to suit the changes in style, that the main question is to get a becoming color, and for severe weather, to make them warm enough, without too much bulk or weight. And here man takes advantage of the many feminine appropriations of their styles and borrows the invaluable Fibre-Chamois, on which such extensive sleeves are safely built, using it in winter coats and vests for the sake of the healthful warmth it gives, a comforting warmth, which neither wind nor rain will penetrate.

Sir Charles Pleased.

The G. T. R. President and the Liberal Victory.

Prosperity Will Begin to Dawn—He Has Studied Mr. Laurier.

Montreal, Que., June 30.—Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson left Montreal yesterday for New York, whence he sails for England. In an interview Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson stated that while the Grand Trunk Railway has been no part in the elections, yet he was bound to say that so far as he was concerned, he was very well satisfied, and he would say pleased, that the Liberal party had been returned to power. He had no doubt, whatever, he said, but that certain interests had been protected, and he believed that a modification of some of the high duties would be of great benefit to the community at large. So far as he had watched Canadian politics, and more particularly the utterances of Mr. Laurier, he believed that sound legislation would be enacted, and as soon as the Presidential election in the United States is over, when election, he said, generally causes in some degree a suspension of business in that country, consequently hurting the Canadian market, he believed that business would at once begin to improve, and that, providing the country was blessed with a good harvest, prosperity would at once begin to dawn.

The Sting Within.
It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never-failing remedy for this kind of affliction. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and see no other.

your child

You note the difference in children. Some have nearly every ailment, even with the best of care. Others far more exposed pass through unharmed. Weak children will have continuous colds in winter, poor digestion in summer. They are without power to resist disease, they have no reserve strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is cod-liver oil partly digested and adapted to the weaker digestions of children.

Western Advertiser.

F. B. Sargeant, the grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, in a recent address at Toronto, made some interesting remarks about General Manager Hays, of the Grand Trunk Railway. He said as a result of an intimate railway acquaintance with the new general manager, Hays could not be called a hard body. Mr. Hays was stern, but not a bit of employer, and the men cooperated upon being dealt with honestly and fairly. Mr. Hays personally investigated every case in which employees' position was at stake, and if a man was doing his duty he would not be fired. Sargeant might have added, demanding that there shall be no shirking. He said the cause of the disaster is neglect of duty, disaster is certain to come. The keenest a business man can be more fully he recognizes the fact.

A BROTHER'S ERROR.

CHAPTER I.
It was some years after the great civil war, though that it was not long after that the fact that the railroad had as yet laid its iron tracks across the great plains from Missouri to the mountains. The cattle heads of the ranchers had not yet taken the place of the swarms of black buffalo on the tamps. There were no settlements along the rivers where the stately cities rise, and the only means of conveyance and transportation were the saddle and the prairie schooner, as the great canvas-topped wagons that conveyed the immigrants, goods and family were then called.

It was an evening in early June. The setting sun was throwing a shadow from the giant mountains to the westward over the clear tributaries of the Missouri, when a large train went into camp in a valley that afforded abundant water and pasture for their cattle and horses, while the slopes of the surrounding foothills were covered with fuel, only necessary at this time for cooking purposes. This was known as Dr. Blanchard's train.

Dr. Blanchard was a handsome man of middle age, who up to the time of his going westward had lived, as his forefathers for many generations before him, near Wheeling and what is now West Virginia. The civil war, in which the doctor did not take part, though, unlike most of his family, his sympathies were with the Union, had left him impoverished, and what was worse, without friends where he should most expect them. His wife had just died—it might have been a broken heart. At the beginning of the war Mrs. Blanchard had two brothers, Frederick and Valentine Weldon.

Frederick Weldon, or Fred, as he was called, strongly favored secession, and his brother strongly opposed it. One night, Valentine, who had come from Charleston, whither he had ridden on horseback with his brother. The brother never returned, but some months later his body was found down the river which could not be recognized except by its tattered garments, and from these it was believed to be the corpse of Frederick Weldon. The skull was fractured, and an impression went abroad that he had been killed by his brother. This impression was strengthened by the fact that immediately after the disappearance of Frederick, Valentine and his wife, two little sons and a baby daughter, suddenly disappeared, and was never heard of again in that land's yard.

One night, Valentine, who had been advised for, through the death of his father, who died without knowing that one of his sons was dead, a large estate was left to the two brothers.

Dr. Blanchard's wife was a sister of the Weldons, but had been entirely ignored in her father's will, a fact that no doubt added to the unsettled condition of the doctor's mind and forced him to go westward with his children. These children were a son, Howard, at this time a tall, handsome, young man, of two and twenty, and two daughters, Alice and Clara, aged respectively 17 and 19.

For the purpose of protection, a number of other wagons had joined Dr. Blanchard's train at Omaha, and before setting out they had elected the doctor to be their chief and a man known as Capt. Brandon to be their guide. Capt. Brandon was a tall, bronzed man, with a grizzled beard, one eye, and a very quiet manner. Though evidently in the prime of life, his hair was snowy white, which, added to a slight deafness, made him appear much older. There was a livid scar running from his right brow to the chin, it had severed the eyeball, destroying the eye, and left an unforgivable gash on the brown cheek.

Among the people in the caravan there was a very general impression that the scar and the lost eye were chargeable to the military services in which this strange man had won his rank. Capt. Brandon's reserve amounted to positive taciturnity, which gave him the appearance of coolness and strength that attaches to most silent men.

Being averse to speaking about himself, there were plenty of imaginative and volatile people to speak for him. According to these authorities, Capt. Brandon had lived time out of mind on the western plains or in the snow mountains beyond. What he did not know about hunting and Indians was not worth knowing, and there was a very general belief among them that he could walk blindfolded from the Atlantic to the Pacific without once making a mistake.

But Capt. Brandon was not the ideal scout presented to us by the writer of western fiction. His dress was not that of a hunter, but was plain, suitable to his work and well fitting. And then, more remarkable still, he spoke with the accent and language of good education, though there was in his speech a noticeable softening of the letter "r" which is peculiar to the more cultured class in the Southern States.

To this remarkable man, Dr. Blanchard felt himself drawn from the first, but while his advances were not rudely repulsed, he was met with a well bred coolness that told very plainly that Capt. Brandon wished to be to himself. Curiously enough, this silent man was very fond of children. During the long rides across the rolling prairies, he usually had one before him on his saddle, and during the Sunday halts he gathered wild flowers for them and bright sea-shells in the rocks, where they had been left high and dry by the great salt sea. Eight prairie schooners carried the women and children, with the household goods and the food that would be necessary till they could harvest their own crops. The route of this little party lay over the Black Hills and on toward the wondrous country of the Yellowstone. With the delight that thrills the sailor when, after long watching the dim shores of the prayed-for land comes in sight, the people greeted the first glimpses of the blue mountain to the west, and with thankful hearts they beheld the verdant streams and the verdant valleys that mark the foothills of the great Rockies.

Alice and Clara were as beautiful semi-blondes as one could meet with, and it was impossible that they could belong to a party in which were single men without attracting attention. Ten days before reaching the mountains the train was joined by two young men—"hunters," as they called themselves. They were clad in the typical picturesque dress of the dandies of their class, and one of them, apparently the elder, was a strikingly handsome young man of four and twenty. He was of medium height, finely built, and an admirable horseman. He introduced himself as Henry Kyle, and his burly companion as Pont Robb.

These young men said they were going into Northern Idaho to prospect during the coming fall and winter, and they asked to be permitted to accompany Dr. Blanchard's party, the doctor at that time having in mind Washington Territory as his destination.

As Henry Kyle and Pont Robb were well mounted and good hunters, who could find game if there was any within reach, they were permitted to remain, and at once, with an easy western familiarity, proceeded to make themselves at home.

CHAPTER II.

There was a time when the hunters and trappers were the real heroes of the far west. These, even at the time when I write, had given place to adventurous miners and to a class of men who were as bold in their defiance of law as were the hunters and trappers. Henry Kyle and Pont Robb were men of this class, and were well known to Capt. Brandon by reputation, but for reasons that will be given hereafter, he permitted them to accompany him, and though he knew that they were stealing away in the dead of night—a most unnecessary proceeding by the way—Dr. Blanchard did not raise a word of objection. They rode through the mountains all day, when Henry Kyle took his friend's hand and said:

"Here we part for the present, Pont. It is nearly a year since I have seen the old folks, and I am going home."

To be continued.

About the Liver.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof.

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope, until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle, and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

I can certify to the above in every particular.

The Globe replies editorially to the remark very commonly made that the Laurier Government will experience the greatest difficulty in framing a tariff that will give general satisfaction. Ever since the story of "The Old Man and His Ass" was published in the second book, the uselessness of trying to please everybody has been admitted. But the Globe does not regard the task confronting the Liberals as a Herculean one, to be to himself.

Curiously enough, this silent man was very fond of children. During the long rides across the rolling prairies, he usually had one before him on his saddle, and during the Sunday halts he gathered wild flowers for them and bright sea-shells in the rocks, where they had been left high and dry by the great salt sea. Eight prairie schooners carried the women and children, with the household goods and the food that would be necessary till they could harvest their own crops. The route of this little party lay over the Black Hills and on toward the wondrous country of the Yellowstone. With the delight that thrills the sailor when, after long watching the dim shores of the prayed-for land comes in sight, the people greeted the first glimpses of the blue mountain to the west, and with thankful hearts they beheld the verdant streams and the verdant valleys that mark the foothills of the great Rockies.

Alice and Clara were as beautiful semi-blondes as one could meet with, and it was impossible that they could belong to a party in which were single men without attracting attention. Ten days before reaching the mountains the train was joined by two young men—"hunters," as they called themselves. They were clad in the typical picturesque dress of the dandies of their class, and one of them, apparently the elder, was a strikingly handsome young man of four and twenty. He was of medium height, finely built, and an admirable horseman. He introduced himself as Henry Kyle, and his burly companion as Pont Robb.

These young men said they were going into Northern Idaho to prospect during the coming fall and winter, and they asked to be permitted to accompany Dr. Blanchard's party, the doctor at that time having in mind Washington Territory as his destination.

As Henry Kyle and Pont Robb were well mounted and good hunters, who could find game if there was any within reach, they were permitted to remain, and at once, with an easy western familiarity, proceeded to make themselves at home.

CHAPTER II.

There was a time when the hunters and trappers were the real heroes of the far west. These, even at the time when I write, had given place to adventurous miners and to a class of men who were as bold in their defiance of law as were the hunters and trappers. Henry Kyle and Pont Robb were men of this class, and were well known to Capt. Brandon by reputation, but for reasons that will be given hereafter, he permitted them to accompany him, and though he knew that they were stealing away in the dead of night—a most unnecessary proceeding by the way—Dr. Blanchard did not raise a word of objection. They rode through the mountains all day, when Henry Kyle took his friend's hand and said:

"Here we part for the present, Pont. It is nearly a year since I have seen the old folks, and I am going home."

SERIOUS BUSINESS.

Christian Scientists Charged by a Coroner's Jury With Manslaughter.

Toronto, Ont., June 30.—In the Christian Science investigation, held before the coroner's jury last night, in connection with the death of Adelaide Maria Gradson, a verdict of manslaughter was returned against the father and mother of the deceased, and against Mrs. Eliza Beers, the Christian Scientist, who treated the deceased. Deceased died, and the post-mortem examination showed that she had died from pneumonia and heart failure. She was treated by Mrs. Beers for several days with her own consent and that of her parents, and died shortly after the coroner's jury returned its verdict of manslaughter was returned once previously against Mrs. Beers in connection with the death, from diphtheria, of a child she had treated, but the grand jury threw the bill out at the assizes.

THE ONLY HELP.

A Victim of Bright's Disease for Many Years—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Neepawa, June 29.—(Special).—Mrs. F. H. McKee, formerly of Listowel, came here as a last resort. Had suffered ten years with Bright's disease. Reported to be past hope of recovery, reappeared on the street in apparent good health, was a pleasant surprise. The explanation given was that her little boy had insisted that she should use Dodd's Kidney Pills and prophesied that they would cure her. She says: "From the first few doses I began to feel better, and after taking four and a half boxes, I say it with heartfelt gratitude, I am perfectly cured."

Dodd's Kidney Pills is the only medicine in the world that has ever cured a case of Bright's disease at such a stage.

A strand of spider-web is, proportionately, stronger than a six-inch hawser.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron says: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than a half bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Near the Caspian Sea there are several "eternal fires," so-called by the natives, where natural gas issues from the ground and has been on fire for ages.

SLEEPLESSNESS is due to nervous excitement. The delicately constituted, the dancer, the business man, and those whose occupation necessitates great mental strain or worry, all suffer less or more from it. Sleep is the great restorer of a worn brain, and to get sleep cleanse the stomach from all impurities with a few doses of Farmacia's Vegetable Pills, gelatine-coated, containing no mercury, and are guaranteed to give satisfaction or the money will be refunded.

A Church Strike.

Wallaceburg Methodists Lock Out Their Pastor.

They Do Not Want Mr. Buggin but They Have to Put Up With Him.

Wallaceburg, June 30.—The Rev. Mr. Buggin, present pastor of the Methodist Church here, arrived in town on Saturday night last. There was a strong protest against his coming here, and on Sunday morning the church door was locked and there was no service. As Conference has sent Mr. Buggin here, and as no change can be made for a year at least, the congregation will in the end have to yield and accept him.

Remember these Directions for using Cottolene.

For shortening never use more than two-thirds as much Cottolene as you would of lard. When frying with Cottolene always put it in a cold pan, heating it with the pan. Cottolene produces the best results when very hot, but as it reaches the cooking point much sooner than lard, care should be taken not to let it burn—when hot enough, it will delicately brown a bit of bread in half a minute. Follow these directions in using Cottolene and lard will never again be permitted in your kitchen or in your food. Genuine Cottolene is sold everywhere in this country with trade-marks—Cottolene and deer's head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin.
